BRITISH MINISTRY REQUEST FREE
HAND IN DEALING WITH PROBLEMS

Premier MacDonald Visited King This Morning to Keep Him Informed on Latest Political Developments Tending Toward a General Election the Latter Part of Month—Cabinet Will Meet Monday to Prepare Manifesto—Prime Minister's Decision Viewed as Challenge to Labor Executive.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald again repudiated by the Labor executive of his constituency, said today he would run for re-election to Parliament from Seaham Harbor if Labor leaders of either officials or unofficial organizations invited him to be a candidate.

His decision was viewed as a challenge to the Seaham Harbor Labor executive, which reiterated its decision to support another candidate last night after he had explained his reasons for heading the National Government and asked for its endorsement.

Under any circumstances he would have a tough battle in his present constituency, it was believed. The Conservative and Liberal candidates polled only 12,000 votes there in the last general election as compared with his 35,615 as Labor candidate. Mr. MacDonald visited the King this morning to keep him informed on the latest political developments tending toward a general election the latter part of the month. The Cabinet will meet Monday to prepare a manifesto which is expected to appeal for "a free hand" for the Prime Minister and his ministry in bringing the nation out of its present difficulties.

SNOWDEN CLAIMS BRITAIN IN NEED OF CAPITALISM

LONDON, October 3.—Ignoring the bores and hisses from the Labor benches and casting his vote with the Government majority to pass the Finance Bill, which provides supplementary budget into effect, Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden declared he would not put into the bill proposals for the abolition of capitalism. "I'll leave that to somebody else," he said. "But I know you that any foolish attempt to abolish capitalism will bring far greater disaster to the people than that under which they are suffering now."

Mr. MacDonald left town last night and went up to Seaham Harbor to speak for the first time since the inception of the National Government, before the constituents whom he represents in the House of Commons. Not long ago they voted by a narrow majority that his resignation as their representative be demanded, and his speech did not change their attitude.

He will be back today and probably will see the King. Sir Herbert Samuel, a cabinet minister and acting leader of the Liberal party while Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George is ill, talked with the King yesterday. Thereafter the odds and ends of Parliamentary business will be cleared up quickly and Parliament will adjourn on Wednesday.

The Cabinet will not meet today and probably there will be no important activity over the week-end. Mr. MacDonald, on the way north by train, was cheered by groups of railwaymen and others at the several stops on the way to Seaham. Several of the men who were his colleagues in the Labor party went up by the same train and he talked with them in the dining car.

Mr. Snowden was in fine form in the House. There were no sentimental regrets at the prospect of leaving the arena. Instead his rasping voice shot taunts which drew howls of protest from the Opposition and cheers from the Government benches. A previous speech by an Opposition member, he said, reminded him of "speeches in an amateur debating society from which the honorable member evidently had graduated."

Referring to a statement that the Labor Party was a unit in opposition to his Finance Bill, and pointing to the half empty Opposition benches he demanded:

"Where are the 240 Labor members? Certainly it does not look as though they are a unit in opposition this afternoon."

SHOULD ENCOURAGE MEN TO JOIN LEGITIMATE UNIONS

Riots at Estevan Probably Due to "Irresponsible Form of Union Organization," States Tom Moore.

EDMONTON, Alta., Oct. 3.—Riots at Estevan probably were due to the irresponsible form of union organization, and falling prey to Communists "instigating trouble," declared Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada here yesterday. He is on his way east after attending the annual convention at Vancouver.

It was a mistake to say that men involved in the Estevan riots were Communists, said Mr. Moore. The Communists, however, were always on the job when conditions became disturbed. To check such troubles, employers should encourage their men to join the legitimate trades unions of this country.

CANADIAN DOLLAR OPENED AT EIGHTY-SEVEN TODAY

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 3.—The Canadian dollar opened at eighty-seven cents on local exchanges today, half a cent below yesterday's closing quotation. The pound sterling today fell seven cents as local foreign exchange markets opened, and was quoted at $3.84.

LAST OF PRETENDERS TO THRONE DIES IN EXILE

Don Jaime of Bourbon Stricken While Motoring to Chantilly—Died at His Home in Paris.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—Don Jaime of Bourbon, last of the Carlist Pretenders to the Throne of Spain, died in exile last night after a heart attack. He was sixty-one and unmarried.

He was stricken while motoring to Chantilly with two of his associates and was brought back to his home in Paris. A priest and a physician were summoned and he passed away several hours later.

His death came only a week after it was announced that he and former King Alfonso, his distant cousin, had ended their life long rivalry and henceforth would labor together for the restoration of Spain. Alfonso's associate emphasized that the reconciliation was a family affair and did not involve the rights to the throne.

Don Jaime was the son of Don Carlos, grandson of the first Carlist Pretender, and of Princess Maricristina of Parma. His claims to the throne dated back to Ferdinand VII who was succeeded by his daughter Isabella. When she abdicated in favor of her son Alfonso XII, the original Don Carlos asserted his pretensions as a brother of Ferdinand.

BUREAU CASE TAKEN EN

QUEBEC, Oct. 3.—The appeal case of Alphonse Bureau, of this city, was taken en deliberé by the Court of Appeals, and an opinion will be rendered by the judges some time next week. Bureau, who has already had two trials and has been found guilty and condemned to death for the murder of Alice Poulin whose body was found anchored to the bottom of Lac des Aulnaies, near St. Raymond, the summer before last, is seeking to have this conviction quashed, and is fighting for a new trial.

DEATH OF SIR THOMAS LIPTON IS CAUSE OF EMPIRE-WIDE MOURNING

From Exclusive Confines of Royal Yacht Squadron to the Slums of His Native Glasgow, "World's Finest Loser" Is Honored in Death as He Was Respected in Life—Arrangements Being Made for Interment in Family Lot in Glasgow on Wednesday Afternoon.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Oct. 3.—A wave of regret swept over Ulster today with news of the death of Sir Thomas Lipton, its friend and benefactor.

Viscount Craigavon, Premier of Ulster, said he was profoundly grieved at the loss of a personal friend and characterized him as an outstanding business man who would be remembered for the high qualities of sportsmanship which he ever displayed.

Cardinal Macarty referred to him as "a great sportsman and a fine lovable type of Irishman." Clones, his ancestral town on the Ulster border, to which he had promised a park when he brought home the America Cup, especially was stricken with grief.

His loss was felt also in the little town of Bangor, headquarters of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, where he was known personally by almost every adult and was the idol of every schoolboy. He was recalled as a genial, kindly man who had made their yacht club famous around the world.

MUCH SPECULATION AS TO EXACT EXTENT OF ESTATE

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The death of Sir Thomas Lipton, who was the "world's finest loser" as a yachtsman, was mourned today by Britons from the exclusive confines of the royal yacht squadron to the slums of his native Glasgow.

As plans for his funeral went forward, there was much speculation as to the size of his estate and who would inherit it. He never married and was the last of his family. The old rumor that he had set aside a large sum of money years ago to be used in carrying on the assaults against the America Cup after his death was rejuvenated but it was too early for definite information.

The reports were current that several charitable institutions would benefit by his will but they apparently were based on remembrances of his philanthropic disposition and his gift of nearly £200,000 to the poor of London on the occasion of Queen Victoria's jubilee.

In accordance with his wishes, Sir Thomas will be buried beside the

WASHINGTON

Administration Appeared Headed Up for Blow Against Armament and for Economy in That Line as First Means of Attack on World Distress.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 3.—The spotlight in Washington swung more across the foreign and domestic policies of President Hoover's administration as difficulties in both fields were intensified, this week threw disarmament into sharp relief. Still confused, the labyrinthine ramifications of finance and commerce stood in the background, while newspapermen were given definitely to understand the president would not permit any hasty-panky on the part of big navy interests.

The administration appeared headed up for a blow against armament and for economy in that line as a first means of attack on world distress. The navy department announced a cut of six destroyers from its building programme. The president, it is understood, does not ask elimination of units authorized for construction but does demand economy and will fight with all his power against any increase in building.

The navy department announced a cut of six destroyers from its building programme. The president, it is understood, does not ask elimination of units authorized for construction but does demand economy and will fight with all his power against any increase in building.

The demand of the railways for a ten per cent increase in freight rates, a demand which few suppose will be granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission, was made as an alternative to a wage cut. The ten per cent cut in the steel industry has so far provoked no open strike between the employers and workers despite denouncement by William Green, head of the Federation of Labor, but it is doubtful whether railway workers would be as passive as the steel men. The position of agriculture has not improved, temporarily, except for an outburst from the national grain against beer, the return of which is held to endanger the dairy market.

But the dairy market, which farmers have not been so vociferous of late weeks.

WILL CONTEST
ELECTIONS IN MANY RIDINGS

Although Attitude of Wholesale Contestations Does Not Meet With Approval of Conservative Party, Disgruntled Defeated Candidates Will Seek Annulment in Twenty-Three Seats.

MONTREAL, Que., October 3.—Despite the fact that the house leader of the Conservative opposition, Maurice Duplessis, of Three Rivers, branded the proposed wholesale contestations against the Liberal members elected on August 24th, as "an insult against the honesty of the electors of the province, and an insult to the province as such," and although this attitude of retaliation does not meet with the approval of the Conservative party of the Quebec Legislative Assembly, contestation actions will be entered today against the twenty-three members whose elections have been reported as of September 3rd.

The Liberals, in turn, are taking action for the annulment of the elections of Paul Jean Sauve, member for Two Mountains, and of Maurice Duplessis, M.L.A., for Three Rivers.

The caucus of the elected members yesterday, it is learned unofficially, did not discuss the proposed contestation of Mayor Camille Houde. The caucus, it was learned, also unofficially, was ready to express thanks to Mr. Houde for the energy which he has shown as party leader, but no decision could be reached as to an expression of loyalty of a nature to tie the party to the leadership of Mr. Houde for the future. Therein lies the whole issue, which will have to be settled later on.

In view of the unsettled situation arising from the official announcement as to the leadership of Mayor Camille Houde, the fact that it is known that the Liberals will retaliate at the proper dates for all Conservative candidates, Maurice Duplessis, Conservative M.L.A., for Three Rivers, was asked for an expression of opinion as to whether he was a member of the situation brought about by the decision to enter the contestations.

"Were it not that certain publicity has been given to the fact that the party, as such, intended to enter wholesale contestations, I would be silent, but in view of the fact that it has been officially declared that the Conservative party will have contestations entered, I wish to make it clear that I disengage myself from this matter," said Mr. Duplessis. "I fully respect the opinions of others, but as far as I am personally concerned I am emphatically against the project contemplated."

"First of all," he said, "this has never been done in any province in Canada, nor in England, where

TO ENCOURAGE

Monday Will Be the Chance to "Give a Hand" to That Which We Have and Must Hold—Asking for Fixed Taxation on Extensions.

Sherbrooke people are to vote on two by-laws on Monday, by-laws which give rather than take from the people.

Canadian Silk Products, Limited, one of Sherbrooke's proudest young industries, propose making extensive additions to their plant and their buildings. It is an industry which is ably conducted.

Ames, Limited, are to build an abattoir which will encourage the coming of a cattle market on the outskirts of the city. These two well-known and highly-thought-of industries are not asking for any bonus or for any money from the people, but under the Quebec laws they must have the endorsement of the freeholders when they ask for a fixed assessment on their extensions. This assent can be given by simply attaching an x to the ballot papers.

The citizens have a chance to show that they will accord fair and generous treatment to their own home industries.

There should be no dissent to this viewpoint. Both companies will pay more taxes than they do now, but the by-law gives them the assurance that they will not have their taxes or assessment raised for a period of ten years. In thus treating such industries as have grown up through our own young men, and have been for years with the city, the natural inference of factory-site lookers will be that they can settle in a city where the people are friendly and generous.

LETTER TODAY

Cited "Frenzied Race of Armaments" as Primary Cause of World's Distress and Advocated "Crusade of Charity and Succor" for World's Unemployed.

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 3.—Pope Pius XI, in an apostolic letter to the priests of the world today cited the "frenzied race of armaments" as the primary cause of the world's distress, and advocated a "crusade of charity and succor" for the world's unemployed.

The financial crisis, he writes, is the "new plague which menaces humanity." Priests of the church everywhere must give all they can to relieve those in need, the Pontiff writes, and if they need more they must get it from their superiors.

He wrote his letter yesterday, choosing that time because it was the feast day of the guardian angels.

The stricken people of the world, he says, ask only the privilege of earning their bread, but many of them are unable to do so "in these days of hatred and of implacable war."

He attributed the world's misery to "rivalry of the peoples" and to "enormous expenditures from the public purse." The race for superiority in armaments he characterizes as one of the most important factors in this "extraordinary crisis." There are three contributing agencies to relief, he asserts—"prayer, preaching and the press"—all of which may spread the gospel of a crusade to aid the innocent.

"And now," the letter says, "winter comes with its sufferings and privations to the poor and the tender infants. Every day the plague of unemployment, already grave, becomes worse and worse."

The Pontiff views the situation with "trepidation" and appeals to "all those with faith and Christian love" to join the crusade to propose.

TWO CABINET MEMBERS TO CONFER WITH FINANCIER

Sir William F. Coaker, Minister Without Portfolio, and Hon. Dr. Arthur Barnes, Minister of Education, Expected in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Oct. 3.—Two Newfoundland cabinet members are expected to arrive in Montreal Tuesday. Next to confer with Sir Richard Squire, Prime Minister of that Dominion, and other officials who are here in connection with Government financing. The two additional officials expected are Sir William F. Coaker, Minister without portfolio, and Hon. Dr. Arthur Barnes, Minister of Education.

Sir Richard Squire and his Minister of Finance, Hon. Peter Cashin, have been in Montreal for some time. They have been in conference with Sir Percy Thompson, of England, who came out to assist the Newfoundland Government in reorganizing its financial structure, and R. J. Mager, Montreal business man who has also been retained by Sir Richard as business adviser to the Newfoundland Government.

NO CONFERENCE BETWEEN CANADA AND WEST INDIES

Preoccupation of Government With Internal Questions Cause of Postponement.

MONTREAL, QUE., October 3.—Owing to the preoccupation of the Government with internal questions there will be no conference between Canada and the British West Indies colonies this year. At the headquarters of the Canadian West Indian League in Montreal, H. Collier, secretary, announced yesterday that the League has received definite information that the conference will not be held.

In the early part of the year a colonial conference was held in the island of Trinidad when a suggestion was made that the Canadian Government should call a meeting before autumn of this year. As time went on and no announcement was made the possibility of a conference grew less likely and now comes the definite statement that it will be postponed.

VERY CONFUSED
SITUATION IN STOCK MARKET

Industrial List Depressed by Liquidation—Bright Feature of Week Was Robust Rally in Gold Leaders.

TORONTO, Ont., October 3rd.—Acute weakness in Canadian dollars at New York, with discounts of as much as 14 per cent against Dominion funds, and further unsettlement in sterling exchange, bond prices and the stock markets present a confused picture of the financial situation in Canada this week.

Stock exchanges at Toronto and Montreal remained in the semi-artificial state during the week. Such issues as Brazilian Traction, International Nickel, C.P.R., Ford of Canada, "A" Walkers and the oils show net losses for the week in nearly every instance.

The bright feature of the week's trading on the stock exchanges was a robust rally the gold leaders on Friday, a movement that carried these stocks well above their levels of the preceding day.

But the industrial list was depressed by almost uninterrupted liquidation, brought on by the persistent weakness of the New York market and by the absence of important indications of trade recovery this year. It was doubtful whether the Canadian list was called upon to absorb much forced liquidation, yet holders in many instances became nervous over the excessive weakness shown by important stocks, and threw their shares on a market already overburdened by selling orders. The result was a decline by Walkers to a new record low of 3, with subsequent recovery to 5½ against 3½ last week. A decline by Canadian Pacific Railway from 17 to 16 and a further loss by

Sentences of Ten, Eight and Six Years Imposed on Three Robbers Who Held Up Bank at Lambton—All But a Few Hundred Dollars Recovered.

ST. JOSEPH DE BEAUCHE, Oct. 3.—Maurice Forest, of Three Rivers, Rosario Malo, of Montreal, and Georges Brouillette, of Joliette, appeared before Magistrate Godbout on an accusation of organizing and carrying out an armed robbery on the Banque Canadienne Nationale at Lambton on September 11th last. The three prisoners pleaded guilty to the charges and heavy sentences were imposed. Forest was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, Malo received eighty years, while the third companion, Brouillette, will spend the next six years behind the bars for his part in the hold-up.

The closing chapter was thus written to a drama which started this district. The robbery occurred about nine o'clock during the evening of September 11th, when the three culprits forced the bank manager's daughter, Miss Marcelle Guertin, to open the vault. Nearly five thousand dollars formed the robbers' loot. The only clue accorded police was a battered license plate. The trail led to Three Rivers, where Chief of Police Jules Vachon, of the Trifurcation city, found the automobile used by the thieves to make their getaway.

The arrest of the three men followed quickly, and all the money except a few hundred dollars recovered.

BRIDGE SPANNING OTTAWA
RIVER NEARLY COMPLETED

New Interprovincial Structure Between Grenville, Que., and Hawkesbury, Ont., to Be Called Perley Bridge.

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—The new interprovincial bridge over the Ottawa River between Grenville, Que., and Hawkesbury, Ont., fifty-five miles east of Ottawa, is to be called the Perley Bridge, it was stated today. The name will be in honor of Sir George Perley member of the House of Commons for Argenteuil since 1904, in appreciation of the great interest he has taken in the general welfare of that section of the country. The bridge, about a half-mile in length, and creating a new link between Quebec and Ontario, will be completed within the next two weeks.

An impressive ceremony will mark the official opening, the date of which has been set tentatively for October 20th.

The cost of the bridge, approximately $500,000, is being shared by the federal and two provincial governments.

DISABLED MOTOR VESSEL
TOWED INTO PORT TODAY

Rex II. Safe After Being Adrift With "Dead" Engines—Towed to Halifax by Government Steamer.

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 3.—In tow of the Government steamer Lady Laurier, the motor vessel Rex II arrived safely in port this morning and docked at the marine department's wharf in Dartmouth. The Laurier was not expected to reach harbor until this afternoon, but a head wind calmed away, and the Government steamer beat her scheduled time.

The Rex II with a crew of nine, out of Lunenburg for St. Pierre, sent out distress signals Tuesday night from a point off Sable Island, where she was drifting with disabled engines. The Lady Laurier sailed to assistance on Thursday after the signals had been tracked down to their source. The weather was moderate during the Rex II's three days adrift.

SEEKS GREATER SUCCESS

In the summer of 1922 I completed my big net, having over 5,000 feet of area in it. One trap-door is one hundred and twenty feet long, one eighty feet and another forty feet. All three are dropped by the one trip-wire.

Even if I had the time I could not give you a detailed explanation of how my goose-trap, trip and trap-doors, and so forth, are arranged. But if you want to catch wild geese for tagging purposes (and I hope you do) come to my home the first fifteen days in July, when the pond is dry, and get my plans, which have proved to be a success. Then you can go home and add to them.

That fall, 1922, about three hundred geese came back, but there was not much water as the spring was very low. Yet on December 5 I caught fifty-three, and on Saturday, April 21, 1923, I caught two hundred and seven. Some catch! "Let man have dominion over all." Now I have caught three hundred and twenty-one in one year.

We had two hundred and seven wild geese and had only one hundred and twenty tags. When we got these all on, Dr. Sloan wiped the perspiration off his face with his goosy hands and said, "Jack, let's let the rest of the bunch go without any religion."

It will be plainly seen that we haven't had time to hear from many of the three hundred and twenty-one that were caught during the last year or so; but out of the one hundred and nine that I caught between 1915 and 1921 sixty-two have been reported killed, and forty-nine of the tags are back in my possession. Thirty-six are posted at Hudson's Bay; one from Hamilton Inlet, Labrador; fourteen from North Carolina; two from Maryland; one from New Jersey; four from Virginia; one from Illinois; one from Indiana; and one from the Ottawa River, thirty miles north of Montreal, Quebec.

Game protection is discussed by Jack Miner in the next article.

Dealing with the four types of men shown in the story, the robber, the wounded man, those who pass by on the other side, and the Good Samaritan, the preacher illustrated the helpfulness and beauty of true fraternalism. At the conclusion of the church service, the two lodges marched to the cemetery, where, on a plot owned by the Odd Fellows, a cross was erected, as the foot of which, as the name of deceased members of the two lodges were pronounced, a flower in the memory of each was deposited. AN ATTEMPT TO TAKE LIFE OF TURK PREMIER

One Man Arrested and Companion Attempted to Commit Suicide Following Unsuccessful Attempt on Life of Premier Ismet Pasha.

ISTANBUL, Oct. 3.—Police revealed that Premier Ismet Pasha escaped an attempted assassination on his departure for Greece.

Suspicious of two men who arrived from Greece by steamer the police arrested one of them who gave the name of Agopi, but the other locked himself in a washroom. When the door was broken down it was found the fugitive was half-choked. This attempt at suicide was successful as the man died several hours later.

Agropi told police that he and his comrade, whose name was Verant, had been commissioned by the Armenian society "Tashnak" to murder the Premier in Greece. They feared the Greek police would be too watchful and so came to Istanbul, the police said.

Verant was identified by police as a notorious criminal whom the Tashnak Society sent to Russia a year ago to assassinate Low Mikhailovich Karahan, Soviet diplomat. That attempt was never carried out.

Year in—year out at breakfast, dinner, tea, supper, H.P. Sauce —as a matter of course—finds a place on the table simply because of its unique flavor, appetizing qualities, appeal to all palates, and suitability for all dishes. Why! Even those "left-overs" become enticing.

So economical too. You just pour a little H.P. Sauce on the side of your plate—or add a few drops to stews, soups and made dishes. It ensures everything being eaten up with the utmost enjoyment. You never tire of H.P.

If you always keep the corners of your mouth up you will never be sad, but will ever look glad.

WHO WILL BE THE NEW PROVINCIAL TREASURER?

The Hon. Gordon Scott, one of Canada's foremost financiers, has definitely withdrawn from the field of politics, and will no longer hold the portfolio of Provincial Treasurer for Quebec.

That is final. It is decisive. Rejected in two constituencies, where mediocrity was preferred to brilliance, Mr. Scott does not feel keenly his rejection, for he prefers private life, and had only accepted the call in the spirit of service to his native province.

Though not an Eastern Townships' man, to whom the financial portfolio is accorded by tradition, the Hon. Mr. Scott was interested directly in business here, and was quite acceptable. Indeed, he had been offered the nomination in two counties in this district.

That the choice of a successor to the vacant portfolio now falls within the purview of the Eastern Townships through its undivided allegiance to the Taschereau Government is generally accepted. Since Confederation the understanding is unqualified that the English Protestant minority shall have a representative in the Cabinet. Custom has accorded the Treasury to that representative.

The choice of Mr. Taschereau is thus narrowed down to three men. There are, therefore, three possibilities:

Charles B. Howard, M.P.

Col. R. F. Stockwell, M.P.P.

Edward Duffy, M.P.P.

The possibility of Mr. Howard giving up his present position as Federal member, and accepting a call to the post has been discussed for some time. He is one of the astute and able politicians in the Federal field, and in the first session in Opposition at Ottawa marked him as the big man who had been kept out of preferment by the diminutive and envious in his own party. From the City of Sherbrooke's viewpoint his selection would please. In conjunction with Mr. Emery Fortier this city would have two able men at Quebec to guide favourable consideration for Sherbrooke. Mr. Howard could have a choice of one if not two of the adjoining counties, and would no doubt be accorded an acclamation.

Col. Stockwell, of Brome, represents a county which has sent many able men to the Councils of the nation and the province. Since Confederation and until recently the eleven collective counties have had favorite sons in the high office. The Colonel is new to election, but like all the live young men of the Townships he has made a study of politics since boyhood in Richmond County and Danville. But as the saying goes we only know what we do not know when we go to the Capital and begin to understand. Yet this lack of experience does come to the man who is bright, resourceful and energetic. It is often a work requiring more experience than knowledge, and even men of intellect have been overcome in trying to conquer inexperience.

Edward Duffy has said that he would prefer to be a private member rather than ascend to the heights before he had the opportunity to know. His election was an acquisition to the Taschereau administration, and he feels that he is young enough to gain a ripe experience. Yet there must be within him the ambition to succeed to the fame of an illustrious ancestor who sat in the Seats of the Mighty.

There are three eligible candidates herewith presented to the Premier by the people of the Eastern Townships, a large body of electors, and the largest representation of English voters than there is in any other eleven constituencies in the province.

The former Liberal Prime Minister of the House of Commons lost the Eastern Townships largely through ignoring the inherent rights of the Counties, and Premier Taschereau always profits by the errors of others. He will cement the unanimous endorsement of his Government in concrete form.

Questions may arise as to how Mr. Howard can enter the Provincial Government when he was elected for the Ottawa House. Should he receive the call on the strength of his business ability and his political experience there would be found an opening for him in some other county. There would be no thought of disturbing the popular Fortier. But others there are who find the burden of office heavy and who feel they have served their county and their people, and would prefer other avenues. Mr. Howard has an equal facility in both languages, added to an intimate knowledge of all counties gained through his activities at home and without, and also the experience in seven sessions in the House of Commons. His call would undoubtedly open Sherbrooke in the Federal House, and an English Conservative could be elected if he were both popular and well-known. And every industrial city should back up the Canada First policy which in good time will restore the industries on a solid foundation.

BRITISH ELECTIONS MUST COME AT ONCE.

The October election in Britain is practically assured despite the repeated efforts of the Prime Minister to postpone the calamity which has overtaken himself and his former followers.

It will be a two-party fight. Lloyd George has so bedevilled the Liberals that they are practically wiped out of existence. Should any present themselves and in any way try to trifle with Imperial Trade preferences they, too, will walk the plank which leads to political oblivion.

There will be a straight contest between Conservatives and Labourites, or the Union Jack and the Red Flag.

The Liberals will gradually disappear, and the sober second thoughts of the British workingmen will see the fallacy of following the half-wits of Bolshevism. There can be no doubt about this.

The triumph of sound Conservatism will do more to restore British currency to its world reputation of par value than could aught else.

With Canada and Imperial Trade Unity it is a recurrence of the old adage, "United we stand, divided we fall."

With the drop of the hat for the political race in general elections the Crusaders for Empire Unity will show their mettle, and it is fortunate that we have in London a native Canadian who stands at the newspaper helm, one who has the versatility and vigour to teach and to exhort. This is a rare combination.

Delay is dangerous. Dallying with the issue is like playing politics when the Armada is approaching the Coast.

JACK MINER MAKES MANY FRIENDS OF OUR READERS.

Jack Miner addresses the Editor: "We are getting ten and twelve letters a day from readers of the Sherbrooke Record, telling us how they enjoy reading my book in serial form. Such lovely comments naturally make us all happy in our home in Kingsville, Ontario." With his bird sanctuary Jack enjoys life, and in private life he is a manufacturer of sorts with a large brickyard. So that we acknowledge to-day a bouquet from a brick, for in the language of the sailor song "Jack's a brick" who knows the trick of saying fine things in a homely way.

We propose to present some of the other writing of the born woodsman, who like Henry Kidd, of Bishop's Crossing, combines woodcraft with writing his inmost thoughts in a lovable way.

How many of our readers would hold up both hands and chip in a dollar admission each to have Jack Miner come to Sherbrooke and tell us some of his later stories of the feathered wilds of Canada? We believe he would come, if the invitation were a hearty one and the results would pay his expenses and leave a little surplus for the birdies in their nests and in his home.

CHANGE IN THE DATE OF THANKSGIVING.

Reverting back to the olden days of the "Harvest Home," which was the genesis of Thanksgiving Day, the Canadian authorities have decided to have the holiday fixed about the middle Monday in October, and thus remove from it all the sad thoughts which give a mist to Armistice Day.

This year the chosen Thanksgiving Day is Monday, October 12th, but eleven days hence.

Most people will agree with the change, for Thanksgiving Day has ever been a day of rejoicing with unalloyed gladness.

The staff of the Record will holiday on that day, but the paper will be published on Armistice Day, for we must not subtract from the days of publication and thus deprive our readers of their evening enjoyment.

DEBATERS OPEN ACTIVE SEASON AT UNIVERSITY

Interesting Debate on Use of Tobacco Inaugurated Activities of Bishop's University Literary and Debating Society.

An activity of major importance got away to a good start last evening at Bishop's University when the Literary and Debating Society members met for the first time this session in the College Common Room. Quite a large number of the student body, including many of the new men, were present to reach a decision on the motion, "Resolved that the greatest benefit from tobacco is derived when smoked in a pipe." Mr. Eric Osborne led the supporters of the motion which was seconded by Mr. C. H. Gibbs. The opposition leader was Mr. Herbert Hall, B.A., who was supported by Mr. Gordon Rothney.

Mr. John Aikens, the new president of the society, welcomed the newcomers and expressed his confidence that the year would be successful.

Several interesting speeches from the floor of the House brought forth a great deal of new material on the subject. Dr. Boothroyd and Dean Carrington were among the speakers from the floor, and both were very entertaining.

A vote of the House saw the motion carry. Mr. Aikens thanked the students and members of the Faculty for their support, and hoped they would attend the weekly meetings of the society.

The society has an ambitious programme for the year, with three inter-Faculty debates and Inter-University encounters as the special features. From the talent which was displayed among the new men in last night's discussion, there is every prospect for a successful year.

CITY BRIEFLETS

MONTREAL STREET SITE FAVORED FOR PROPOSED BRIDGE

A valuable suggestion in connection with the proposed high level bridge across the St. Lawrence river was made to the special committee of the Chamber of Commerce by W. R. Webster. Mr. Webster submitted plans made by the MacKinnon Steel Company, which presented a bridge suitable for Montreal, Court or Moore streets. The steel company, in a letter to Mr. Webster, stated that, after careful study had been made of the three most suitable sites, Montreal street was the most logical situation in their opinion.

However, Mr. Webster suggested that a representative delegation be named to appoint an engineer to investigate the feasibility of the three thoroughfares, and his proposal met with the approval of the members.

No further particulars have as yet been received in regard to the sudden passing of Mr. Kerr, who prior to his departure for the West was boarding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nutt, Montreal street.

Y.M.C.A. SUMMER SCHOOL ACTIVITIES REVIEWED

The activities of the Y.M.C.A. summer school, which was organized about fifteen years ago to give Canadian secretaries an opportunity of coming together and discussing the various problems which face them, were reviewed last evening by Mr. C. O. Chamberlain, physical director of the Sherbrooke Y.M.C.A., at the regular meeting of the H-Y Club.

Up until last summer, explained the speaker, the school was strictly confined to those who studied their different problems and at the same time enjoyed a vacation at Lake Couchiching, one of the most beautiful spots in Ontario. This year, however, a summer school for Y.M.C.A. secretaries was organized, with joint sessions and lectures each day, but with separate schools for those subjects that related to the different groups.

Under the leadership of Dr. E. M. Best, said Mr. Chamberlain, a strong faculty was brought together and in an interesting programme carried through.

At the close of the address, the H-Y club president thanked the speaker on behalf of all members present.

SIXTH TROOP HELD INTERESTING MEETING

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of the Sixth Troop last evening and a very interesting and instructive programme was staged under the direction of A.S.M. Loke and S.M. McGregor. After the singing, a new method of patrol inspection was introduced. The new way proved very popular and the Crows obtained perfect points. Two games were played under the supervision of the patrol leaders, and the troops then dispersed to patrol corners for the instruction period. A.S.M. Loke presented each patrol with picture problems and, after corners, two short boxing matches were staged between junior members of the troop. The meeting was brought to a conclusion with a sing-song.

Several important announcements were made during the session. The troop members were informed that there would be a boxing elimination competition for the troop championship in December, and that the bird house competition is to be extended until Tuesday, October 6th. SEPTEMBER WAS FAVORED WITH GOOD WEATHER

Meteorological Report Shows High Temperature Recorded—Two Average Marks, Temperature and Rainfall, Were Shattered.

One record was established and two average marks were shattered during the past month, according to the meteorological data issued by the Dominion Experimental Station at Lennoxville for the month of September. The highest temperature recorded for September in seventeen years occurred on the thirteenth day of last month when the mercury climbed to ninety-three degrees, while both the monthly temperature and rainfall were higher than the average.

According to this report, the average temperature for the month was 58.6 degrees, higher than for the same period last year. The monthly average for the past seventeen years is 55.82, 2.82 degrees below last month's figure. Before the thermometer reached ninety-three degrees on September 13th, the highest temperature previously was 90.4 degrees, set on September 15th, 1915. The lowest mark reached last week was twenty-five degrees, which were recorded on September 19th. The record low is sixteen degrees, set on September 25th, 1926.

There were 158.2 hours of sunshine last month. This total was 5.8 hours more than Old Sol appeared in September, 1930, but thirty-six minutes less than the seventeen-year average. The mark fell far below the high monthly sunshine record in 1922 when the sun made its appearance for 208.1 hours. The lowest record of sunshine for September is 103.2, a mark set during September, 1918.

The rainfall for the month under review was 5.05 inches as compared with 1.73 inches in September, 1930. Only four times in seventeen years has the September rainfall been higher. These years were 1916 with 5.64 inches; 1918 with 8.55 inches; 1924 with 6.54 inches and 1925 with 7.40 inches. The heaviest rainfall since statistics were kept by the Lennoxville Station was in September, 1918, when the fall was registered in 1921 when 1.49 inches fell. On September 29th last almost as much rain fell, 1.15 inches, as did throughout the whole month of September, 1921, but the amount was 2.25 inches lower than the figure of 2.25 inches which fell on the day during the month in seventeen years on September 13th, 1925.

SASKATCHEWAN MINE DISPUTE IS AT STANDSTILL

Death of Three Miners as Result of Battle With Police Delays Negotiations to Settle Strike—No Further Disturbances Expected.

ESTEVAN, Sask., Oct. 3.—Refusal of the striking miners to meet their employers until after they have buried the three who died as a result of their battle with the police today, eliminated hope of ending the strike Monday.

Leading strikers discussed the situation at a meeting last night at Estevan and made the decision known to W. J. Perkins, special counsel to the Royal Commission investigating miners' grievances.

The miners said they would meet the operators Tuesday or later, but not before.

It had been hoped they would agree to resume negotiations at a meeting of operators arranged for today. The funeral of the three dead miners is to be held Sunday and the strike committee said they did not think they should have any dealings with the mine owners until this was over.

No further disturbances, such as filled the streets of Estevan with flying bullets and bricks Tuesday, are looked for. While the strikers are bitter, still there is a feeling of the violent stages of the strike are over with, and that when the complaints are made and thoroughly aired before Judge W. L. R. Roy, Commissioner, the situation will be cleaned up. The judge begins his hearings Monday.

BARN AT BEEBE BADLY DAMAGED BY EXPLOSION

Liquor Smugglers Blamed for Cowardly Act Committed on Farm of W. C. Church.

BEEBE, Que., Oct. 2.—The dynamiting of a barn belonging to W. C. Church, who resides near Bebe, is believed to have been the work of liquor smugglers. The explosion which caused slight damage followed a mysterious fire which destroyed a barn nearby owned by Peter Roby, of Newport.

Church was warned several months ago that his barn would be burned unless he denied customs border patrolmen the privilege of using his property for observation purposes.

Since that time the officers have secreted themselves elsewhere but on Thursday night they seized a van load of liquor near the Church farm. The explosion is believed to have been in retaliation.

The explosion was of sufficient violence to be heard in Derby Line. Residents there believed there had been a tremendous explosion in Newport. And, according to residents in the vicinity, the person responsible was connected with a gang that sells liquor to rumrunners just over the border in Bebe.

Although Mr. Church had no connection with the seizure of a liquor laden truck which fell into the hands of customs patrolmen Tuesday night not far south of his farm, the dynamiting was clearly a gesture of revenge.

Last year the government officers used the farm land of Mr. Church as a hiding point for their activities on this highway, and to stop this procedure someone sent Mr. Church a message of warning. The threat declared that unless the patrolmen were denied the use of his property for observation purposes, they would burn his barn.

Many months have passed since any government man occupied the farm land of Mr. Church, but Wednesday night a valuable truck of liquor destined to a New York market was seized just south of the Church farm. The seizure resulted only from the stupidity of the smuggler in starting south with a loaded moving van.

It is clearly evident that the smuggler, or persons connected with the smuggling venture, believed the officers would not be on the farm. This, however, was not the case. The patrolmen followed the moving van several miles without lights.

The explosion took place when Mr. Church had retired for the night. Mrs. Church had not yet gone to bed. They declared later that the explosion sounded nearby, but they didn't believe their own barn had been dynamited.

When Mr. Church arose to do his chores, he found a hole blasted in one side of his barn. Evidently, it was said, the sticks of dynamite had been used. The explosion ripped away some boards, but did not ignite a pile of hay inside.

Mr. and Mrs. Church are elderly people who live alone on a farm south of Canada. Both are highly respected and law-abiding citizens.

WOMEN SHOW A TENDENCY FOR MANY HOBBIES

Real Variety of Exhibits Features Tenth Annual Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 3.—Everything from pie-baking to international politics is featured at the tenth annual exposition of women's arts and industries.

Despite the depression, women are continuing to go into new fields and to launch new business ventures. Mrs. Oliver Marriam, chairman of the exposition, said today.

Mrs. Frederick Fox, wife of a physician, adds to the lengthening list of vocations for women—that of milk-raising. She started her milk farm last season at her country place in Westchester County, N.Y., to encourage milk-raising among farm women desiring to add to their homes.

Mrs. Francis D. Gilbert, of Westfield, N.J., has a rabbit farm and already is doing a large business raising these animals whose skins are so widely used for jackets and trimming on women's apparel.

Sixty-five women inventors are showing models of their designs at a special exhibition of inventions patented but not yet marketed.

These inventions include a hygienic dish mop, a hair curler, a cover to protect motor cars, designs for a sleeping car, a device to turn mattresses, a kitchen fork and a weather stand for wet umbrellas and rubbers.

Beauty culture for business women, music, foreign languages, city sanitation, birth control, disarmament, temperance, anti-prohibition, and the homelier arts of household management and cookery are on the programme for discussions at the convention.

BRILLIANT AERIAL FIREWORK DISPLAY LAST EVENING
Citizens of Sherbrooke and the immediate vicinity were treated to a beautiful display of aerial fireworks last evening. It marked the first time that a spectacle of this nature has been witnessed in this city and thousands of people were perched and stationed at points of vantage during the fiery exhibition. Captain Bernard Martin, popularly known as "Peck's Bad Boy of the Air," piloted the machine which performed the manoeuvres. Martin performed various stunts while his plane emitted brilliant sheets. Martin's plane was cleverly outlined against the moonlit sky and, with the heavens as a suitable background, the brilliant flashes, maintained imprint in the sky while the plane sped to its landing base at Compton airport.

DEATHS REPORTED

FRANCIS SMITH, RICHMOND-RICHMOND, Que., Oct. 3.—In the death of Mr. Francis Smith which occurred Friday, September 25, Richmond lost a highly respected citizen and a merchant who had been in business in the city here almost continually for seventy years. The funeral took place on Monday, September 28, when a short service was held at his late residence for the family and relatives, by Rev. E. W. S. Coates, pastor of Richmond-Melbourne United Church, of which the deceased was an honored member. A public service was afterwards held at College Street Church by Rev. Mr. Coates, assisted by Rev. George A. MacLellan, secretary of the Quebec Branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and Rev. S. Gorley Brown, minister of Chalmers' United Church. The burial took place in the family plot in St. Anne's cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. W. E. McIver, John McMorine, George Gilchrist, W. J. Ewing, Thomas Hart and W. Edgwood.
The deceased leaves to mourn his loss the widow, Mrs. Smith, a daughter, Miss Emily Smith and one son, Mr. Hugh Smith.
Among those from out of town in attendance at the funeral were Mr. Hugh Smith, Peterborough, Ont.; Mrs. Hugh Gunning, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Christian, of Drummondville; Mr. and Mrs. J. Bourque, Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. J. Pender, Mr. Ed. Pender and Mr. J. Quinn, of Windsor Mills.
Francis Smith was the eldest son of the late Joseph Smith and his wife, Anne Hall. He was born in Alloway, Scotland, on January 9, 1846. In 1861 he came to Canada with his parents and other members of the family. Their destination was Oakland, Calif. When they arrived at Richmond en route, the elder Smith looked up an old friend, a Mr. Stewart who was in business here, and was persuaded by his friend to leave with a good opening for business in Richmond. Mr. Smith decided to go no further. A short time after he opened up a business as grocer and furniture dealer in the property which has continued in the possession of the family ever since.

With the exception of about three years which were spent in different places in the United States, Mr. Smith was associated with his father till 1874. On the retirement of his father, he acquired the business and has been carried on in his name up to the present time.
He was a charter member of Court Myrtle No. 5 I.O.F. and secretary of the order since its inception. He was also a charter member of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends, No. 247, and also secretary of the same from its beginning.
Always deeply interested in education, he served for many years as a member of the school commission and was honored by that body by being made chairman for a succession of years.
In 1889 he was united in marriage with Catherine M. Urquhart, eldest daughter of the late Hugh Urquhart, who for thirty-six years was divisional road master on the old Grand Trunk lines. There were born to Mr. and Mrs. Smith, three sons and one daughter, Willie, deceased in 1909; Harry, deceased in 1918; Hugh, of Peterborough, Ont., and Emily, at home.

JOHN HUGH CAIRNIE, OF RICHMOND.
RICHMOND, Que., Oct. 3.—After a brief but painful illness, John Cairnie, druggist, of Richmond, passed away on September 10th, 1931. The funeral took place on September 13th, and was largely attended by the citizens and friends of Richmond, Melbourne and Coaticook, where deceased had been in business for a long period of years. The services were held in the United Church, Melbourne, where deceased had been a member of the Sunday school in his boyhood days and were conducted by Rev. E. W. S. Coates, pastor of the congregation, assisted by Rev. E. A. K. Grant, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Melbourne.
An impressive service was held at the grave by members of Asler Lodge, No. 31 and St. Francis Lodge, No. 15, Richmond, under the leadership of Past Master H. Lovell, of Coaticook.
The pall-bearers were Messrs. H. E. Bieber, E. C. Atkinson and John McMorine, of Richmond, and Messrs. J. Hall, P. Baldwin and B. Robinson, of Coaticook.
Deceased leaves to mourn his early and sudden death, Mrs. Cairnie and son, Gordon Cairnie, of Cambridge, Mass.; two sisters, the Misses Bella and Jean, and a brother, Mr. Lorne M. Cairnie, all of Montreal.
John Hugh Cairnie was born in Melbourne, Que., on January 22, 1867, a son of the late John Cairnie and his wife, Agnes Gault. He received his early education in Melbourne and St. Francis College, Richmond. Graduating from the College of Pharmacy, Montreal, he went to Coaticook in 1893 and entered business. He continued to reside in Coaticook till 1930. Early in this latter year, he came to Richmond and acquired the pharmacy of Mr. A. J. Bedard, which he conducted successfully until the time of his demise.
In 1894 he was united in marriage to Miss Mattie Maria Child to whom was born one son, Gordon, now of Cambridge, Mass. Cairnie died in 1920 and in 1924 Mr. Cairnie married Miss A. Lamothe, formerly of Coaticook, who now mourns his loss.
In the passing of the late J. H. Cairnie, Richmond loses a good citizen and an enterprising business man.

Movie Screen Attractions

"Party Husband," a sophisticated comedy-drama of marriage and modernity, will head the double bill at the Premier Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.
Dorothy Mackaill, who takes the leading feminine role in this picture, is cast as an ultra-modern bride who believes that she should keep her individuality though married—should take a place in the business world—and fraternize with the people who are congenial, whoever they happen to be. All goes well, at first, for her husband is of the same opinion. They agreed to the right of each to live life as seems best at the moment.
Laura gets a job with a publishing house, and her husband arranges programmes for radio broadcasting and all seems well—till a busy lady by the name of Bee—succeeds in faintly stinging Laura's pet theory by bibulous attentions to her husband.
"The Avenger," a vivid, tempestuous drama of the colorful days of '49, with Buck Jones in the leading role, will be the second picture on this programme.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday next the Premier Theatre will present another double bill, featuring "Up for Murder" and "Dug-an of the Badlands."

Lew Ayres and Genevieve Tobin, two of the most popular of the present-day screen stars, appear in "Up for Murder," which is a powerful love drama, told against the seething activities of a great newspaper office. The story is a constant succession of dramatic situations brought about by the existence of "the eternal triangle," in which the cub reporter and the society editor are unmarried, but the publisher is not.
It is when the young reporter, having fallen desperately in love with the conductor of the society column, discovers the existing situation that he takes matters into his own hands and brings about a tragedy that seriously affects each one of the three principal characters.

HUSBANDS MUST GIVE APPROVAL TO INVESTMENT

THE BUILDING OF TRADE SCHOOLS IS ADVOCATED

Montreal Judge Ordered Brokers to Return Money Under Community Property Law.

MONTREAL, Oct. 3.—Married women, who are common as to property with their husbands, cannot enter into transactions on their own behalf or on behalf of the community with express consent of the husband. A blanket authorization from the husband is of no value; the authorization must be specific for each transaction.

This statement of the law affecting community of property was made yesterday by Mr. Justice Lamer in condemning Redpath and company, stock brokers, to pay Samuel Golik $4,375 which his wife paid the brokers for shares of Nickel and Brazilian stock. The law has been applied before in cases of the same nature, but other cases continue to be taken and Mr. Justice Lamer wrote at some length in his judgment in order to make the purpose of the Civil Code clear and distinct.

COAL MINERS REFUSED TO JOIN ESTEVAN STRIKERS

Union Officials Reported to Have Men Declare Strike, But Miners Refused to Repeat Action of Two Years Ago.

DRUMHELLER, Alta., Oct. 3.—Wayne coal miners turned deaf ears to pleas that they go on strike in sympathy with the striking miners at Estevan, Sask., it was learned yesterday. Union officials, it was reported, attempted to have the men declare a strike but the miners apparently refused to repeat their action of two years ago.

In 1929, the Wayne valley was tied up by a strike. Orders that would have gone to the miners were turned over to Drumheller and East Coulee fields. Production has started now in Wayne Valley Mines and the men are taking no chances of losing their orders to other fields.

Fourteen Multi-Millionaires Said to Be Ready to Give Half Their Fortunes to Relieve the Present Crisis.

NEWTON SQUARE, Pa., Oct. 3.—Fourteen multi-millionaires representing $5,000,000,000, General Smedley Butler asserts, stand ready to contribute half their wealth to relieve poverty and furnish widespread employment. He refuses to name them but says they have pledged support to a plan he has formulated to educate youth of the nation to build a stronger Union.

In an interview here, Butler outlined his plan whereby between 50,000 and 60,000 trade schools would be built by the Government. No one under nineteen years of age would be allowed to work but would be educated in the federal schools. Dependents of youths would be supported by the Government.

With the building of the schools, labor would be necessary, he said, and building material would be needed in large amounts. Thousands of teachers of all types would be employed.

Aviation and other industries would be subsidized, invention expanded and supported by a bureau which would encourage "every form of new appliance, machinery or other inventions of modern science."

Real estate men would be ordered to tear down tenement houses and other crowded living quarters. Homes modern in every respect would be built.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 3.—Salaries ranging from $200 a month and board down to $65 a month less board will be paid to the engineering and clerical personnel of the organization formed to put through the trans-Canada highway scheme, according to a schedule issued by the Department of Northern Development.

Under the system provided, four divisional engineers and twelve resident engineers will be employed.

GERMANY PLANS TO CHECK LOSS FROM EXCHANGE

All Foreign Exchange Obtained by Germans Will Henceforth Be Concentrated at the Reichsbank.

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—Within the last week the Reichsbank lost nearly $18,000,000 in gold and $100,000,000 in foreign exchange. During the same period the volume of discounts advanced and other credits it extended increased by $196,000,000.

The strain was caused by the withdrawal of foreign bank deposits released under the Passa freezing agreement on the one hand and by normally increased credit demands of the end of the third quarter on the other. The development is therefore not regarded as inflationary in financial circles.

All foreign exchange obtained by Germans will henceforth be concentrated at the Reichsbank. It was decreed that all foreign exchange including amounts obtained through exports must be offered to the Reichsbank while heretofore only already existing stocks of exchange had to be offered for sale.

Only amounts below $50 are free while heretofore the limit was $250. Furthermore the purchase transportation or sale of gold bullion must be permitted first by the Reichsbank and traffic in gold will be permitted only for manufacturing.

The Reichsbank thereby obtains complete control over the movements of foreign exchange. Even those who have obtained exchange from exports went heretofore free to pay off debts abroad without the permission of the Reichsbank. It is hoped the Reichsbank will soon be able to fill up its dwindled reserves of foreign exchange as exports still are far exceeding imports.

Since the middle of September the Reichsbank lost $79,000,000 in gold and foreign exchange. It was permitted by the Basel agreement would total anywhere between $70,000,000 and $80,000,000. The great demand for the Reichsbank's exchange has also been partly due to the desire of German business to benefit by the pound's depreciation by paying off English debts. The growth in domestic credit volume is in the line with the Reichsbank's policy to lighten the pressure of deflation as much as possible.

Growth in the amount of bills circulating along with the decline in gold exchange reserves brought the coverage of currency down to 51 per cent. It is pointed out, however, in financial circles that the percentage of gold coverage has no significance as long as the currency is not inflated. The growth in circulation is considerably below that of the same time last year and corresponds to normal needs at the end of September. There is general agreement that the Reichsbank can go far towards extending the volume of credit circulation without the danger of inflation as long as the balance of trade remains favorable and the loss of gold exchange is due only to paying off debts which in turn improves the balance of payments by diminishing interest.

WILL CONTEST ELECTIONS IN MANY RIDINGS

(Continued from Page 1.) There is the mother of Parliaments, and we must admit that our ancestors recognized their business, and responsibilities. To contest the results of the counties on a wholesale scale constitutes an insult to the honesty of the electors of the province as a whole, and also is an insult to the province as such. We, of this province, are in a minority, and this decision for a wholesale contestation is not of a nature to enhance respect for us in other provinces, and in other countries.

"What will other people think of us?" By making a public move of this nature it means to imply that this province and the electorate is dishonest en masse, something which I refuse to believe, and do not believe. It is most unfair to the electors, and to the good reputation of the province, and I say, with pride, that our good reputation is well deserved."

Mr. Duplessis said he wished to make it clear that he did not oppose a contestation in any particular county where it was found that extraordinary conditions had prevailed. That, he pointed out, was a matter for electors who found themselves aggrieved. It was the whole movement by the Conservative party, as such, to which he objected, and that he held meant a wholesale insult.

"These contestations will entail a great deal in the way of heavy expenditure, which money could be better employed for more useful purposes," he said. "We are going through severe crisis, a crisis of the nature to make every thinking man ponder as to what may happen, and one which certainly demands the best of brains and energy, as well as co-operation, irrespective of party. The result of these wholesale contestations will be that the attention of men will be distracted from the urgent problems of unemployment, and brains and ability which should be urged towards bringing alleviation of present conditions will necessarily go into these battles."

CHAPEL HILL, N.C., Oct. 3.—Empress Eugenie hats among the co-eds at the University of North Carolina have brought on a revolt among the men students, resulting in the appearance in classes of numerous neophyte beards. "If the women are going back to Eugenie then we've got a perfect right to fall back on Van Dyke and Franz Joseph," said the announcement of the formation of a new group of men who styled themselves the Anti-Shavers.

DULL MARKET THIS MORNING AT MONTREAL

Interlisted Stocks Held Their Own—Nickel Led in Early Activity and Eased Off 1-8 to 9 1-8.

MONTREAL, QUE., October 3.—Interlisted stocks held their own in the market when the Montreal Stock Exchange opened this morning for the short Saturday session. Nickel led in early activity and eased off 1/8 to 9 1/8. In the first half hour, other interlisted stocks were unmoved.

Cockshutt Plov advanced to 4, a gain of 1/2 over the previous close and new low at 3 1/2. Canadian Pacific was steady at 15 1/2, only one-quarter point above the new low. Montreal Power was unchanged at minimum price of 38. Canadian Car, Winnipeg Electric and others were unchanged from yesterday's closing prices.

IRREGULARLY LOWER TREND AT NEW YORK EARLY TODAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Stocks opened irregularly lower today. American Can, American Tobacco and American Telephone were down 1-4. American Telephone eased half a point and U. S. Steel was off 1-8. Atchafalaya declined 1-4. Lambert rallied 1-4. American Power and Light and New York Central rose 1-2. General Electric and Standard Oil of New Jersey were unchanged.

DEATH OF SIR THOMAS LIPTON IS CAUSE OF EMPIRE-WIDE MOURNING

(Continued from Page 1.) members of his family in Glasgow. The body will be taken there by train Tuesday night and the funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon with services in Saint Columba Church and London Abbey.

This afternoon U. S. State department official Charles G. Dawes conveyed President Hoover's sympathy to the death of "a distinguished British subject whose spirit of true sportsmanship and whose friendship with the United States won the whole-hearted respect of the American people."

"WE HAVE LOST A GREAT MAN," SAYS HARRY LAUDER

GLASGOW, SCOTLAND, October 3.—With tears in his eyes, Sir Harry Lauder paid tribute this afternoon to his old friend, Sir Thomas Lipton.

"I knew him for thirty years, travelled many thousands of miles with him, and I learned that his greatness lay in his simplicity," said Sir Harry. "I never heard him swear, never saw him take a drink, and saw him smoke but seldom. He never went anywhere without taking pictures of his parents, and his mother's bible was always at his bedside. We have lost a great man."

VERY CONFUSED SITUATION IN STOCK MARKET

(Continued from page 1.) Noranda, which declined from $15.25 last week to $13.10 this week, Noranda sold below the $13 level, but recovered under renewed buying pressure in the week. Brazilian Traction was sensitive to fluctuations of the New York market, but rallied to the $10 level, although closing sales in Toronto yesterday at that price reduced the net decline for the week to a point of a point. International Nickel, active leader of the interlisted group, was sensitive to fluctuations of the New York market, but rallied to the $10 level, although closing sales in Toronto yesterday at that price reduced the net decline for the week to a point of a point. International Nickel, active leader of the interlisted group, was sensitive to fluctuations of the New York market, but rallied to the $10 level, although closing sales in Toronto yesterday at that price reduced the net decline for the week to a point of a point.

Oil slumped with industrial stocks and there was no indication of revived demand for these issues as the week drew to a close. British American Oil shares were sharply lower at 8 1/4, after touching an extreme low of 8, while Imperial Oil lost ground at 9 1/4 against 10 1/4 last week, and International Petroleum prices were reached by International Petroleum prior to Friday's upturn.

No significance was attached to the movements of shares that have been "pegged," since these issues can only be traded at or above their levels of discount of 12 1/2 per cent. The trend of the market has been definitely downward, however, so that "unchanged" prices for these issues do not necessarily indicate their actual valuation in the minds of traders. Power and utility shares show narrow fluctuations for the week, and they have been traded in light volume.

Aside from the stock market situation, attention has been centered on the action of the Canadian dollar. While Canada is not officially off the gold standard, the Canadian dollar is at a discount of 12 1/2 per cent in New York, with the result that the "temporary" weakness of Canadian funds forecast by some observers when the dollar first slumped, has proved more than a brief sinking spell. In turn, Canadian bond prices have been highly unsettled, particularly in the case of some government issues, and the general trend of the bond market is downward. No gold shipments from Canada to the United States have been announced this week, and as yet, the dollar exchange situation shows no sign of corrective moves. Sterling funds, both at Montreal and New York, are also fluctuating irregularly, with no tangible indication as to the level at which sterling will settle.

Joseph, said the announcement of the formation of a new group of men who styled themselves the Anti-Shavers.

DISORDERS IN GLASGOW HAVE BEEN CHECKED

Police Successfully Swept Streets and Put End to Demonstrations Staged by Jobless Men as a Protest Against Dole Reductions.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Oct. 3.—The most persistent rioting and looting in years, extending intermittently over two nights and a day, came to a climax early today when police swept the streets and restored order.

Resuming about 8.30 last night, the battle between jobless men demonstrating against dole reductions and the forces of the law raged for more than six hours. An undetermined number of the rioters and several police were injured and upwards of one hundred arrests were made.

The melee began when police charged a body of about one hundred men who were holding a demonstration outside the jail in which John McGovern, Labor M.P., and his lieutenants were being held for Thursday night's outbreak. Almost simultaneously trouble started in the Gallowgate, Glasgow Cross and other sections of the city.

Far outnumbered, the police tried to foot and horseback to disperse the mob. They charged time and again with loaded batons and the rioters replied with hammers, hatchets and makeshift weapons of every description. A variety of missiles thrown from neighboring houses added to the confusion.

As the demonstrators were driven off the main streets they darted into alleys and formed for renewed attacks. Throughout the night and early hours they broke into countless shops and carried away great stocks of food and other merchandise. The damage was estimated at thousands of pounds and the loss in foodstuffs was considered incalculable.

The police finally got the upper hand and mounted patrol over streets that were littered with loot and the debris of battle. Scores of marauders were taken into police stations with bloodstained clothing and broken limbs within the privacy of their homes.

The outbreaks apparently were not organized like those of the previous night and seemed to lack leadership. They occurred in all parts of the city without warning and were stamped out only to reappear when the police relaxed their vigilance. Their object seemingly was the theft and destruction of property as much as a protest against the government's economy measures.

This morning forty-eight men arrested in Thursday night's fighting appeared in court and were remanded until Wednesday.

John McGovern, Labor M.P., who was among the forty, protested that he was the victim of a "frame-up." Another of the prisoners was Jean Gibson, a seventeen-year-old girl, who was released later on $25 bail.

Women in the court room screamed hysterically as the young woman was led away with the rest of the prisoners and court attendants had difficulty restoring order. Meantime police took extra precautions to guard against a renewal of the disturbances.

ECONOMIC SITUATION IN EUROPE REMAINS PERPLEXING PROBLEM

(Continued from Page 1.) French political policy. In Hungary, in Jugoslavia, French diplomacy has acquired new activity. The proposed Austro-German Customs Union is ended, but France feels the world slump. Her unemployed may be only one-seventh of the British total, but France's imports are substantially exceeding her exports. One-sixth of her merchant fleet is idle. The failure of the Banque Nationale de Credit, suffering both from bear attacks on its securities and depreciations in the shares of concerns in which it was invested, was averted only by the combined action of the French Government and other French banks.

After its early fall the English pound has been slowly climbing again on the foreign markets, and everybody is now wondering what the next step will be. Will Britain remain a floating standard, or will she, as France did, with the franc, stabilize the pound at a point lower than the old value? If she does stabilize it, at what point will it be? And while the pound fluctuates financial experts argue and the bimetallic press the advantage of the dual standard of gold and silver and this is met with the argument that bimetallicism would do nothing to remedy the underlying causes of sterilization of gold. Suggestions of a new international currency accompanied suggestions that South Africa, Canada and Australia should sell gold only to the Bank of England or the British treasury, and a new gold currency could be established for the British Commonwealth.

In all the welter of argument Britain herself presents a curious phenomenon. While the depression deepens her savings increase. Until three weeks ago every week this year saw heavier purchases of national savings certificates than the corresponding week of a year ago. In the first six months of the year the purchases were nearly $18,750,000 higher than last year while encashments in the same period increased by only $5,000,000. At the end of the financial year the total of savings certificates sold had the enormous cash value of $4,010,000,000.

DOMINION HAS LOST HEAVILY THROUGH FIRES

During Past Ten Years, Property Loss by Fire Has Almost Reached Half-Billion Dollar Mark—Human Toll Also Very Large.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 3.—During the past ten years 386,000 fires in Canada have destroyed property valued at $413,000,000, and in addition 3,926 lives have been lost and 9,868 persons injured seriously by fire. These figures were given out here last night by J. Grove Smith, Dominion Fire Commissioner, in the course of an appeal for observance of fire prevention week. This will commence on Sunday, October 4th. Last year 39,200 fires were reported, with a property loss of $46,110,000.

NAUTILUS NOT STRONG ENOUGH TO STAND TRIP

Chief Engineer Aboard Submarine Believes Underwater Dash to North Pole Could Easily Be Made With Right Kind of a Submersible.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 3.—Arthur G. Blumberg, chief engineer of the submarine Nautilus, returned yesterday on the liner Berengaria convinced that an underwater dash to the North Pole would be feasible with the right kind of submersible.

The Nautilus, he said, could reach a depth of only 250 feet. A submarine specially built for such an expedition, he declared, could go down five hundred feet and easily reach the North Pole.

A double hull would be necessary, he believed, for the precipitation of moisture in the Nautilus during its cruise around Spitzbergen when the temperature outside went below freezing made the crew extremely uncomfortable. The expedition was not a picnic, he declared. It was "terribly cold" at times inside the submarine.

The Nautilus, an old submersible formerly owned by the United States navy, will be sunk in the North Sea as virtually worthless. It developed many mechanical defects on its journey across the Atlantic. Further troubles followed during its trip into the Arctic.

LACK OF STRATEGY A FEATURE OF STIRRING GAME WON BY ST. LOUIS

If Athletics Had Come Through to Beat Cardinals in Ninth Inning After Catcher Wilson Threw to Wrong Base on Moore's Strikeout, St. Louis Backstop Would Have Been Nominated for Place With Fred Merkle Among "Goats" of Baseball History—Old Master, Connie Mack, Criticized.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 3.—Not since Fred Merkle failed to touch second base nor since Gene Tunney took the "long count" has the sports world found more to argue about than the strategy, or lack of it, in the second game of the World Series.

If the Athletics had come through to beat Hallahan and the Cardinals, with the bases full in the ninth, after catcher Wilson threw to the wrong base on Jimmy Moore's strikeout, the St. Louis backstop would have been nominated for a place with Merkle among the "goats" of baseball history. But the Cards survived this brain slip, winning the second game by two to nothing, which victory deadlocked the series, and the second game today took none less than the old master, Connie Mack, to task for questionable tactics.

Mack made the same mistake twice, many seasoned baseball men declared, when he allowed George Earnshaw to take his turn at bat, instead of sending in a pinch hitter with the tying run on third base and others in the offense. Connie explained afterward he had confidence in Earnshaw's hitting ability, especially against a left-hander, but the facts were, first, that big George hit into a double play with the bases full and, second, fanned in the seventh with men on first and third. The Cards led only by one to nothing both times. Even a long fly would have tied the score in the fifth, and as late as the seventh, with Hallahan in rare form, it looked to many observers as though the better part of strategy was to nominate a hitting replacement.

"What was Mack worried about?" asked a veteran manager. "He didn't have to save any of his pitchers. They all get two days' rest before the next game, anyway, and the A's needed one or two runs much more than they needed the distinction of having Earnshaw finish out his assignment. Without any runs it didn't make any difference how good Earnshaw was going. He was already one run behind. But that's the gamble. If Earnshaw had come through, Mack would have had the last laugh."

The Athletics, all hands agreed, will have to speed up their control of the Cardinal base runners, especially "Pepper" Martin, if they are to stop the National League from galloping away with the series. Right under the noses of the finest defensive club in the American League the Cardinals yesterday ran wild. Watkins as well as Martin made an extra base on an ordinary single, due to slipshod work in the outfield by Haas and Simmons. On top of that Cochrane's aim was far from his usual accuracy, whether or not a perfect throw would have nailed Martin on each occasion he stole a base.

DETAILS OF THE PLAY

FIRST INNING

Philadelphia—With the call three and two, Bishop grounded to Frisch and was thrown out at first. Hallahan then delighted the home fans by fanning both Haas and Cochrane. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on base.

St. Louis—Bishop threw out Flowers, but Watkins singled to center and raced to second as Haas handled the ball slowly. Frisch hoisted to Haas in left center and Bottomley also flied out to Haas. No run, one hit, no errors, one left on base.

SECOND INNING

Philadelphia—Simmons led off with a long fly to Haefey, and Frisch threw out Fox, while Miller fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on base.

St. Louis—Haefey was out Earnshaw to Fox on a high bouncer. Martin came through with a long hit to left field and slid safely into second base as Simmons juggled the ball and slipped before throwing. Martin then promptly proceeded to steal third, sliding into the bag face first. Wilson flied out to Haas and Martin scored easily after the catch. Gilbert followed with a single to right, but Hallahan struck out. One run, two hits, no errors, one left on base.

THIRD INNING

Philadelphia—Dykes popped to Flowers. Williams fanned and Earnshaw grounded out Frisch to Bottomley. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on base.

St. Louis—Flowers flied out to Haas in deep center, but Watkins came through with another hit over second base. Frisch popped to Williams and Bottomley grounded out, Earnshaw deflecting the ball to Bishop for the throwout to first. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left on base.

FOURTH INNING

Philadelphia—Bishop fouled out to Flowers and Haas flied to Haefey in short left. Cochrane was the first Mackman to reach first base when he worked Hallahan for a free ticket, but he was forced at second by Simmons. Gilbert to Frisch. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left on base.

St. Louis—Haefey fanned and Martin was out Dykes to Fox on a fast play. Wilson was thrown out at first by Williams. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on base.

FIFTH INNING

Philadelphia—Fox walked and went to second on Miller's single to right. Dykes bunted to Bottomley and was tagged out as the runners advanced. Hallahan intentionally passed Williams to tackle Earnshaw with the possibility of a double play. The move proved successful for Earnshaw grounded to Frisch for a double killing. Frisch to Gilbert to Bottomley. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left on base.

SIXTH INNING

Philadelphia—Bishop fanned, but Haas hit sharply into left for a single. Cochrane flied out to Watkins, who made a sensational catch of the drive as he bumped into the pavilion wall. Simmons grounded to Flowers and Haas was forced at second. Flowers to Gilbert. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left on base.

St. Louis—Bishop threw out Watkins, but Frisch hit from the left field line for two bases. Earnshaw batted down on Bottomley and fanned the Cardinal first baseman, while Haefey grounded out, Dykes to Fox. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left on base.

SEVENTH INNING

Philadelphia—Fox hit the first ball over Frisch's head for a single, but Miller grounded to Gilbert and Fox was forced at second. Bottomley reached over and grabbed Dykes' pop foul directly in front of the Athletics' bench. Williams walked and on a wild pitch Cochrane scrambled to third, but Hallahan fanned Earnshaw. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left on base.

St. Louis—Martin led off with a hard single to left field for his fifth hit of the series, and promptly proceeded to steal second, from where he moved on to third while Bishop and Fox were retiring Earnshaw. Gilbert bunted to Earnshaw and Martin scrambled home. The pitcher's toss to Cochrane was high and Martin slid safely across the plate. Hallahan bunted to Fox, whose throw missed Gilbert, but Hallahan was nipped on the relay to first. Flowers was out Bishop to Frisch. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left on base.

EIGHTH INNING

Philadelphia—Bishop popped out to Frisch and Haas lined to Haefey. Cochrane walked to first on four wide ones, but Simmons ended the inning with a high fly to Gilbert. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left on base.

St. Louis—Watkins fanned and Frisch flied out to Simmons, who made a pretty glove-hand catch on the run near the wall. Bottomley received the first pass issued by Earnshaw, but left stranded when Haefey hit a high fly to Haas. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left on base.

NINTH INNING

Philadelphia—Hallahan got away to a bad start by walking. Fox, Miller flied out to Haefey, but Dykes also received a free ticket to first. Williams fanned, and Moore was sent in to bat for Earnshaw. Moore fanned, but reached first when Wilson dropped the ball and threw to third base, apparently thinking the game was over. There was a riot of confusion as the Cardinals were galloping off the field. They were called back and the bases were filled. Bottomley raced over against the field boxes in right field and made a spectacular catch of Bishop's foul, and that ended the game. No runs, no hits, no errors, three left on base.

WILSON DID NOT REALIZE MOORE SWUNG AT BALL

St. Louis Catcher Was Centering His Attention on One Thing, the Two Base Runners, Who, He Believed, Intended to Attempt a Double Steal.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 3.—Jimmy Wilson, the Cardinal backstop, threw to third base in the hectic ninth inning of the second World Series game because he did not realize Moore, pinch-hitting for Earnshaw, had swung at so bad a decision for the third strike. That, at least, was the explanation today of Manager Gabby Street after a night of argument over one of the most unusual finishes in baseball.

Wilson, when that pitch was on its way to the plate, was centering his attention on one thing—the base runners. "He saw Fox and Dykes had broken away from their bases and he was intent on breaking up a possible double steal. Therefore, as I saw it, Wilson, when he went down to pick that pitch off the ground did not see Moore strike at the ball. Jimmy apparently thought it was a ball and so threw to third to try to nail Fox instead of realizing a throw to first automatically would retire Moore."

Whatever Wilson's reactions were in the situation, baseball men agreed that the retirement of Max Bishop, the last batsman on Boston's fine catch, possibly saved the catcher from being a "goat." Hallahan was forced to pitch to the extra batsman after registering a strikeout for what should have been the third and last out of the game.

RIGHT HANDERS GET CALL IN LITTLE WORLD SERIES

LEXINGTON PARK, St. Paul, Oct. 3.—Two right hands were selected by managers of the St. Paul and Rochester clubs today to battle their respective clubs to victory in the third game of the Little World Series here.

William "Slim" Harris, elongated Saint mainstay, was selected by Manager A. J. Leifield to take the mound for the American Association champions. Bill Southworth, director of the destinies of the Rochester team, placed his faith in Ray Moss, former hurler for the St. Louis and Boston teams of the National League.

Both teams have grabbed off a victory in the all-important series from which will emerge the champion of the minor leagues. The Saints took the first encounter Wednesday by four to nothing, while the International League title winners came back the following day to tie the series with a five to two win.

MISSSES ORCUTT AND KIRKHAM TO MEET IN FINAL

Semi-Finals for Ladies' Golf Title Produced Keen Contests—Miss Orcutt Defeated Miss Van Wie on Eighteenth Green and Miss Kirkham Eliminated Mrs. Fraser by Two Up.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 3.—Of the ninety-seven women golfers who teed off Monday morning in the qualifying round of the twenty-sixth Canadian women's open golf championship two remain in match play competition today for the Dominion title and the Duchess of Connaught Cup. They are Miss Maureen Orcutt of Englewood N. J., the defending champion, and Miss Margery Kirkham, of Montreal, present holder of the Canadian closed golf championship.

The two champions advanced to the final round today by virtue of their victories in the semi-finals yesterday in which Miss Orcutt defeated Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, one up on the home green and Miss Kirkham eliminated Mrs. W. G. Fraser, of Ottawa, Ont., two up.

Miss Kirkham's victory accorded her the honor of being the first Canadian to enter the final for the Dominion open crown since 1926 when Helen Paget and Ada MacKenzie battled in the final at Winnipeg. Two years later, in 1928, the Montrealer made her first appearance in the open championship and this week, after four years of major competition, she reached the heights of an increasingly brilliant golfing career.
