Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's cheering to old movie fans to learn of a star who is giving up television for films, instead of vice versa.

The star: Fred Astaire. No other personality has won so many TV Emmys. Ironically, he was never nominated for a movie Oscar, but was given an honorary one for his contributions to the screen.

But honors have never swayed 60-year-old Fred. Though TV continues to pay him homage, he's through with the medium—for a while, at least.

GIVES VARIETY

"I've had fun doing television," he says. "It gave me the chance to do some things I never could do in films. For instance, in the last show, I worked with Count Basie, which I've long wanted to do. I had wanted to do a number, Miss Otis Regrets, and I did improvise 75 per cent of the dance—things like that.

"I wouldn't say that I have done everything I wanted to do. But I think I will let TV go for a while. I've done three shows in the last three years, and they take up a good part of the year. "Now I'd like to devote myself to movies before I get too decrepit to do them any more. Movies have been good to me, and I've been lucky in the last few years to have done films that have been interesting for me and have been successful.

"I don't have any plans. And I won't make a film just to make a film. But I'm available."

Fred now is finishing up The Pleasure of His Company, postponed eight months by the actors' strike. It's his first non-dancing comedy (he did the dramatic On the Beach), and he's enjoy-

ROTARY INTERNATIONAL was the theme of Tuesday night's weekly Sherbrooke Rotary Club meeting. Description of life in England highlights Rotary Ladies' Night

It was Ladies' Night at the Sherbrooke Rotary Club Tuesday night and Rotarians brought along their wives to listen to what Rotarians called one of the most delightful speakers the Sherbrooke Rotary Club has ever had.

Ninety-six Rotarians, and their wives heard Miss Jeanette Cooper a 23-year-old Rotary Foundation Fellow Miss Cooper, born and raised in Uckfield, Sussex, England told the Rotarians of her home town, and England.

The Rotary Foundation Fellowship plan provides one year of post-graduate study abroad to well-qualified and carefully selected college graduates.

Miss Cooper is reading for a post-graduate diploma in Pedagogy at Laval University in Quebec.

"Only when you are away from your own country do you really appreciate it" Miss Cooper said. With vivid descriptions and a bubbling sense of humor Miss Cooper described her part of England.

"England is the country of flowers and Sussex is the garden of England," she said. "Nothing is more picturesque or more peaceful than a small village in Southern England."

Sussex, she said, is a farming district. She described the oak trees, ash trees, patches of heather, and the white cliffs of Dover.

"Sussex is famous for its seven kinds of fish and some are only found in the streams around Sussex. We have no big industries like the pulp mills at Grand Mere, but we do have a beer and elder industry and the fields and fields of hops are a sight to see" the speaker said.

"The only way to understand England," she said, "is to stay and visit a tiny village and get to know the people in that village. The people, you will find, are peaceful and friendly."

"One of the strangest things about the villages in England are that there are as many pubs as there are churches. If there are eleven churches in a county, sure enough there will be eleven pubs. It's not unusual to see a church on one side of the street and a pub on the other. I do believe it was arranged that way for community spirit," she said with a chuckle.

Mrs. Lois Blanchette played two violin solos accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Irene Leveque.

Mrs. Lois Blanchette and Mrs. Irene Leveque were presented with corsages by Tom Keeley, director of the music committee and past president Bert Lyon

To reveal extension of modern United Store

Residents of Sherbrooke will get their first glimpse tomorrow of the modern extension of the United Store at 124 Wellington St. North.

Mr. Denis Turgeon announced today that the temporary partition had been removed between the old store and new building exposing an ultra modern floor area, beautifully lighted, wide aisles and pleasing colour combinations.

The workmen are working around the clock to complete the downstairs section of the new building which will be opened before Christmas for the convenience of district shoppers.

United, always known as the Christmas toy center, will this year have three times the space to serve its growing clientele.

Early in January, the old section of the store will be completely modernized and once this is completed, the building will feature complete air conditioning and a new and much larger lunch counter.

The continued support of the Eastern Townships shoppers has made the enlargement of this store possible. Mr. Turgeon and his staff look forward to steady growth and expansion while at the same time offering their customers tremendous values and convenient shopping in an ultra modern and air conditioned building. It is the closest store to the Webster Parking Garage.

Hits lack of sidewalks, speeding on Portland section

Lack of a sidewalk on one section of Portland Boulevard and speeders along the whole length of it have been condemned as ever-present menaces to the lives of children who use the street to go back and forth to Sherbrooke High School.

A sidewalk on the south side of Portland Boulevard between Ontario and Argyle Streets is a must for the smaller children living in that area. B. C. Westgate, chairman of the Safety Committee of the Sherbrooke Home and School Association said Monday in an interview.

He estimated that between 30 and 50 children have to cross Portland Boulevard unnecessarily twice each day in order to reach Sherbrooke High School because of the lack of a sidewalk on this section of the street.

"This includes four and five-year-olds since kindergarten classes are now held in the high school," he said.

A petition calling for immediate action in this regard, signed by 117 adults representing about 210 children living in that area has been sent to city council. The petition notes that there has already been one fatality along this stretch of boulevard and that ever-increasing traffic also increases the danger for children who are forced to cross the boulevard because of the lack of a sidewalk.

By MALCOLM DAIGNEAULT
 (Record Staff Reporter)

Mr. Westgate pointed out that they were not entirely guiltless. Their cardinal offence is jay-walking, and according to him, they do so because they are influenced by their parents' actions. Both groups must receive a safety education, he said.

A final point made by Mr. Westgate concerned the markings of buses used on a temporary basis to transport school children. At present, two are in use and it is the feeling of the Safety Committee that the fact they are school buses is inadequately indicated. The Committee suggests that when they are in use as such they should be prominently and clearly marked, he said.

Don't throw out old dolly, firemen can give her new life

By SANDRA PICKFORD
 (Record Staff Reporter)

"It is better to give than to receive." And at Christmas time this old proverb takes on special meaning.

All over Canada and the United States, children have been giving their old, battered, but cherished toys to firemen who in turn give them to the needy.

Let's make the trip from house to a Sherbrooke fire station along with an old doll.

When she is discarded by her mistress she is nothing more than "I don't want it any more."

First the doll is taken to the nearest Shell Gas Station where she will stay until local firemen pick her up and take her to Station No. 4 for first aid.

At Station No. 4 she will be cleaned, have her arm glued on and given new stuffing.

"Sometimes it takes three dolls to patch one good one up," said Captain Leo-Paul Lessard.

WIVES HELP

From there she is sent to Station No. 5 where the firemen's wives comb and style her hair, and make her a new dress. Now she is ready to be sent to delight the heart of a little girl who will really appreciate her.

Not only dolls go through this process. At Station No. 5 sleds are painted in bright colors, wheel barrows are given a final coat of bright red paint, and wheels on trucks of all sizes and shapes, doll carriages, kiddie cars and bicycles are given a coating of black paint, donated by local merchants.

Starting six years ago in Sherbrooke, the Firemen's Association have repaired and painted almost 4,000 toys per year. And this year, in an all-out effort local firemen are asking for 5,000 toys to be donated. Donors are asked to leave toys at nearby Shell Stations or taken them to Station No. 4, corner King and Murray. Toys will be collected until December 20.

Magog Lions present check to the CNIB

Lloyd McClintock of Montreal, Field Service Supervisor of the C.N.I.B. was guest speaker at Tuesday's Lions meeting.

He reviewed progress in education of the blind, and discussed the invention of the braille system. He said that much depended on groups working in giving aid to the blind, and for the prevention of blindness. Clubs like the Magog Lions Club he added, have contributed generously to making the part of the sightless more pleasant.

Mr. McClintock congratulated President Lemieux for his work in this year's Magog Lions sponsored drive for the CNIB, and recalled the excellent work done in the past by this club, when their efforts to aid the sightless were headed by William H. McKenna.

Past-president Roger Charpentier introduced Mr. McClintock who was thanked by past-president John Cunningham.

Four new Lions, Kenneth Whittier, Andre Messara, Harry Southerland and Gilles Garre were inducted last evening, to bring the club's total membership to thirty-nine.

Exporting jobs

Canadians in all walks of life are expressing justified concern these days over our "export of jobs".

By this they mean our rising unemployment at home in the face of increased prosperity abroad.

They reason that we are helping to create this foreign prosperity at the expense of our domestic industry — by buying low-cost imported goods in preference to domestic products. By our persistence in doing this, they warn, we are creating employment abroad and unemployment at home. Or, more simply put, we are exporting jobs.

And the logical outcome of this, they warn, is the eventual export of workers.

A graphic illustration of what can happen in this regard came last week from Spain.

There, the government company making Pegaso trucks had been languishing for some time for want of orders. The final 500 workers were given notices of dismissal — with a difference.

If they would hand in their resignation they would be given emigration permits allowing them to seek work in prosperous and labor-short West Germany. They leaped at the opportunity.

And it could happen here.

Interesting municipal experiment

Sherbrooke, like many other Canadian cities, will look with interest on the experiment now underway in Ottawa where the collection of garbage has been turned over to a private company.

In the Ottawa arrangement, the city pays the company a flat fee for performing this service, the company being entitled to any salvage that might result in the garbage collection operations. The agreement has a one-year limit, subject to renewal, to assure that the service is carried out to the satisfaction of the citizens and the aldermen.

A few years ago, Sherbrooke studied a similar proposition but for reasons not directly associated with the merits of the plan itself, the project was turned down and the collection was continued by the city.

The prime purpose for turning over garbage collection to private interests is the reduced cost to the city. By using go-carts, which will permit the crews to serve several houses at once before returning to the truck, and other modern equipment, the Ottawa company hopes to reduce its costs to the point where it can make money even by charging the city less than it would normally pay for doing the work itself.

But the changeover might sharply reduce the wear and tear on the nerves of the aldermen, who would be freed of angry telephone calls from irate householders complaining of delays in collecting their waste and of the littering of their lawns by debris as a result of careless collection methods.

Worthy of honor

A 13-year-old Stanbridge East Boy Scout Tuesday was one of eight Canadian Scouts and Cubs awarded the movement's Gilt Cross in ceremonies at Government House in Ottawa.

David Marc Hebert was honored "for his persistence and determination in rescuing Brian Gage from drowning in the Pike River."

David, although he could not swim, jumped into the river after his friend had lost his balance on a breakwater, and pulled Brian to safety.

After the incident, David was as concerned about his wet clothes as about what had nearly happened.

David would be the last to call himself a hero. There was little of the spectacular in his actions. Yet, there can be no doubt that he saved a life through quick thinking and unconcern for his own safety in a time of crisis.

These qualities are worthy of honor. They are more valuable than flashy heroics and loud talk. And when the chips are down, they are more effective.

Press Comment

'MURRAY FOR BOOKS'
(Ottawa Journal)
This week is most likely a good many other "weeks" but it does happen to be "Young Canada's Book Week" and that must be the happiest thought of the seven days. The people who organize this benign little campaign have hit precisely the right note with their slogan which is simply an uninhibited jump for joy: "Hurray-For Books!"

The slogan sets a guiding tone for anyone exposed to the cry "Read me a story" or who enjoys buying books for others to read to children. And it is a good motto for children who read for themselves.

Children's books are not only more numerous than they have ever been. They are also better, as a whole. This won't go down too hard with the devotees of LEAR or MILNE or BURGESS or BELLOC, of "The Wind in the Willows" or the fairy tales of the brothers GRIMM if it is quickly added that there is still nothing really better than these. Moreover, these are still as available as ever.

But the art of making books for children is in full renaissance. The problems of the reader and the buyer, the problems of prosperity though they may be, are more complicated than ever. The greatest danger is that the whole business of reading will be taken too seriously. And that's just a short step from believing that children should read or listen to what's good for them — the greatest heresy of all.

"Give your children," the ad men say, "the most precious gift of all—knowledge." There are "Stories to Live By" and "Books for the Young Scientist." There are books on how to tell the time and how a post office works. We quarrel not with knowledge, but with dullness. The great danger of this heavy-handed approach is that, however well-intentioned, it leaves children with the notion that reading at best is a sugar-coated pill, that it is something "good" for them. That is not only bad aesthetics, it is bad strategy. It is the kiss of death.

The main thing about children's books should be that they start out being fun for children (and the adult reader).

er). They should quicken young imaginations and delight young minds. The slogan is right: "Hurray For Books!"

TEENAGE CULTURE
(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

There is no doubt that the teaching of music in the schools, the formation of school bands and orchestras, and the presentation of semi-classic symphony programs such as is done in New York under the direction of Leonard Bernstein, is doing an immense amount of good, notwithstanding the rock 'n' roll vogue.

A New York man reports that he was in a crowded subway train in which were many high school students going home and a teen age lad remarked to his girl friend: "Sorry to see that Dimitri Mitropoulos is dead." The girl nodded acquiescence.

Of course that may be one of the advantages of living in a large city, but radio and television almost put all young people on an equality.

How many people, young or old, in Ontario, know who Dimitri Mitropoulos was? Who guesses "a professional wrestler?"

He was an internationally famous orchestral conductor who died on the podium of a concert hall in the Italian city of Milan.

'Merely a little cog' — Eichmann

NEW YORK (AP) — "I carried out my orders," says Adolf Otto Eichmann, the former SS officer who herded millions of Jews to their death in wartime Nazi Germany.

He says in his personal memoirs that he was "merely a little cog in the machinery" that handled the mass executions.

"With us an order was an order," he says. "If I had sabotaged the order of the one-time fuhrer of the German Reich, Adolf Hitler, I would have been not only a scoundrel but a despicable pig."

The first installment of Eichmann's memoirs is published in the current issue of Life magazine.

The memoirs were obtained from a German journalist, Wilhelm Sassen, who had assembled more than 900 pages of handwritten notes and transcriptions of tape-recorded interviews with Eichmann in Buenos Aires starting in 1955.

Life says it spent six months in editing and translating the material and in research confirming its "absolute authenticity."

Eichmann, abducted from Argentina last spring by secret agents, now is awaiting trial in an Israeli prison.

"Where I was implicated in the physical annihilation of Jews," he says, "I admit my participation freely and without pressure.

"After all, I was the one who transported the Jews to the camps. If I had not transported them, they would not have been delivered to the butcher."

As head of the Gestapo's department in Jewish affairs, he says his job was to round up Jews in Germany and conquered European countries and ship them by train to their final destination.

"It would be as pointless to blame me for the whole final solution of the Jewish problem as to blame the official in charge of the railroads."

"At heart I am a very sensitive man."

His department's activity originally was limited to tracing Jewish ancestors, deporting Jews, confining them to ghettos and forcing them to wear yellow stars, he says. But Hitler in 1941 ordered their physical annihilation.

The liquidation plan was discussed by Gestapo generals at a special conference in Berlin Jan. 20, 1942. At its close, he relates, the participants drank, sang songs and climbed on tables and chairs to offer toasts.

Eichmann tells of witnessing his first mass execution of Jews at Minsk, where 5,000 men, women and children were slain. He says they walked in groups to a pit—"they were not driven"—and jumped in.

They then were riddled with rifle and machine-gun fire.

The system of mass gas-chamber executions was developed soon afterward.

He says his transport trains brought in as many as 10,000 units a day for execution at the Auschwitz camp. He describes his first tour of the camp with its commander, Rudolf Hoess, saying: "At the end he took me to a grave where the gassed Jews lay piled on a strong iron grill. Hoess's men poured some inflammable liquid over them and set them on fire. . . . I can still see that mountain of corpses in front of me."

Eichmann insists he is not anti-

EXCEPTIONS TEST BIDDING SKILL

You can use Jacoby, Blackwood, Gerber, San Francisco, 1936-Culbertson or any other system to ask for aces, but you should bear in mind that there are plenty of hands that call for some other approach to the expected slam.

South's hand is almost worth an opening two bid and after his partner's immediate raise, South certainly is interested in a slam. How should he go about bidding it?

The first thing South should note is that the ace of clubs is not too important. He does not intend to bid seven in any event and he can make six without finding his partner with the ace of clubs and go down at six even if his partner holds that card.

If South wants to jump right to six and gamble the hand out I would have no real quarrel with him although I would think he was overbidding a trifle.

Instead South should pull another bid out of his bag and just rebid to three hearts. North can afford to jump to four spades over that three heart bid and that should be enough for South to go right to the slam.

Letter To Editor

Dear Sir:
On behalf of the Sherbrooke Unicef Committee I would like you to know that your kind assistance did much towards making our Unicef drive the tremendous success that it was.

A final total of $1076.51 was forwarded to Unicef headquarters. We of the Committee realize only too well that it was because of your generous support and promotion that the interest of the public was aroused. The cooperation which we received from anyone whom we approached to assist us was truly outstanding. It is with great pleasure that I thank you all for your share in making the Sherbrooke Unicef drive not only a financial success but also a fine example of remarkable cooperation and goodwill.

Sincerely yours,
(Mrs. K. R. Willis)

In rounding up Jews for shipment, he says he kept his men under orders to avoid all unnecessary harshness. He notes that he once reprimanded a soldier for beating a frail, old Jew with a club.

Advocates easier money

TORONTO — An easier money policy was advocated today by John S. Proctor, president of the Imperial Bank of Canada, in his address to the bank's annual meeting.

Such a policy, Mr. Proctor said, would narrow the differential between interest rates in Canada and the United States, weaken the incentive to borrow abroad, and reduce somewhat the premium on the Canadian dollar.

"The stimulus which this would bring to Canadian producers for both foreign and domestic markets, might well be more important, in the present circumstances, than the more general effects, usually expected from lower interest rates."

Mr. Proctor said it is surprising that under present circumstances, measures to limit inflation have not given greater way to steps coping with unemployment.

Unemployment, he commented, is relatively high among male workers whose trade skills don't permit them to shift to jobs requiring a higher level of technical training. There should be no pessimism about "our power in the long run to employ our growing labor force," but he suggested application of specific remedies to increase occupational and geographic mobility.

Mr. Proctor's comments were contained in an address made available to the press in advance of delivery.

RUSSIAN RUBLE — Sherbrooke businessman Bernard Desile's brought this Russian five-ruble note back from Russia. The bill wider but shorter than our dollar bills, is of many bright colors. The familiar hammer and sickle is seen in the upper-middle of the bill. When Mr. Desile's was in Russia five rubles equalled one American dollar for the common people but tourists were given special rates: 10 rubles to one dollar. However, recently a change in rates took place. Now one ruble is equal to $1.11. The ruble is supposedly now worth more than the United States dollar in Russia.

Boston And New York Must Move Soon If They Are To Be In Contention For National Hockey League Playoffs

If New York Rangers and Boston Bruins are to challenge for a playoff spot in the National Hockey League this season, they'll have to start moving soon.

Both clubs have been unimpressive so far with one-quarter of the league's schedule already played.

The two teams clash in a home-and-home series, starting tonight in New York. They meet in Boston Thursday.

A double victory for either club would help but a split would still leave the teams way out of contention. Bruins now occupy fifth place in the league standings with 14 points—nine fewer than fourth-place Chicago Black Hawks. Rangers have only 11 points.

The Black Hawks are engaged with Montreal Canadiens, Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings in a torrid battle for first place. Only one point separates the four teams. Montreal, Toronto and Detroit have 24 points each and Chicago 23.

TOP FOUR IDLE

The top four teams are idle tonight. Thursday Detroit will be at home to Montreal while Toronto goes to Chicago.

The Rangers' cause was dealt a crushing blow Tuesday when they lost the services of centre Brian Cullen for six to eight weeks.

Cullen, having his best season since coming to the NHL with Toronto at the start of the 1956-57 season, suffered a fractured bone in his left hand during a practice session.

He had averaged a point a game this season, scoring six goals and collecting 13 assists for 19 points in 19 games.

Cullen came to New York last season after playing three years with the Leafs.

In an effort to bolster a woefully weak defence the Rangers recalled defenceman John (Junior) Hanna from Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League for tonight's game.

Hanna, 25, of Sydney, played regularly with Rangers the last two seasons but was sent to Springfield at the start of the season. He was called up for one game late in October and sent back down again.

The Rangers have allowed 78 goals in 19 games.

ROUGH RIDERS Sell Most Of Cup Tickets

OTTAWA—(CP)—Ottawa Rough Rider officials reported Tuesday that most of the eastern Canadian championship team's allotment of some 3,300 Grey Cup tickets have been sold.

An official said about 800 tickets remain but fans were still drifting to the wickets. All the choice $10 tickets were gobbled up almost as soon as they were put up for sale earlier this week.

Prices of the remaining tickets are $5, $6, and $7.50.

Coach Milt Schmidt even broke up the Uke line of Bronco Horvath, Vic Stasiuk and Johnny Bucyk last week in an effort to find some scoring punch.

The Ukes have played together for the last three seasons, accounting for 84 goals last year. Bruins have won only four games so far—all on home ice. They have scored only 54 goals in 20 games, compared with 67 at this stage last season.

The goalies' problem became more acute Tuesday when Don Simmons reaffirmed a decision to quit the Bruins rather than accept a demotion to Providence Reds of the AHL.

Simmons, who was in his fifth season with the Bruins, was ordered to report to Providence last week when Boston called up young Bruce Gamble to replace him in the nets.

TALKS WITH PATRICK

He conferred with General Manager Lynn Patrick Tuesday and then told reporters: "I feel I've been playing well enough and if I played badly I wouldn't mind going down. But if I go down and the Bruins don't win and they bring me back and the club still doesn't win, I'm gone again."

Patrick confirmed this and said that, in Simmons' presence, he telephoned two unidentified general managers who said they were not interested in Simmons. He did not identify the general managers.

Patrick said he'd try to deal with a third club but meanwhile Simmons is suspended.

The development left the Bruins with no experienced NHL goalie. Gamble, 22, has played only four league games, two with the Bruins last weekend. He allowed seven goals as the Bruins won and lost.

HOW COULD HE MISS — Irene St. Hilaire, number ten, is seen shoving the disc out of Joe Lacoursiere's reach but he pushed it by the open net to miss a golden scoring opportunity.

REMEMBER WHEN ...

The National Hockey League was organized at a meeting in Montreal 42 years ago today with Frank Calder as president and secretary-treasurer.

The teams for that season were Montreal Canadiens, Montreal Wanderers, Ottawa Senators and Toronto Arenas. Toronto won the Stanley Cup with Dick Carroll as coach and Charles Querrie as manager.

Eks Upset Victory Over Blue Bombers Causes Sudden Switch In Plans For Transportation As Fans Head West

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos' victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Western Interprovincial Football Union final may have surprised many fans and the transportation companies but arrangements have been changed quickly to handle a mass exodus of fans from Edmonton to the Grey Cup game in Vancouver Saturday.

Edmonton fans will be joined by football supporters from all over Western Canada in the festive trek to Vancouver.

These include an unexpected number of disappointed Winnipeggers, many of whom did not foresee Edmonton's victory but who will attend the classic anyway.

Both Canadian National Railway have added cars and equipment to their regular trains to the coast. They have also scheduled special trains from Winnipeg and Edmonton.

Trans-Canada Air Lines will have extra flights to Vancouver from Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, in addition to flights from Eastern Canada carrying Ottawa Rough Riders fans.

The CNR special leaves Winnipeg tonight with about 400 fans aboard, along with the Winnipeg police pipe band and a group of entertainers. It will add one car and 30 to 40 persons at Saskatoon and another at Jasper, then hook up with the six-car special from Edmonton Thursday.

Two other CNR specials leave Edmonton later Thursday. The last special, leaving about 8 o'clock Thursday night, already is solidly booked, but some space still was available on the other two specials, a spokesman said Tuesday.

FOOD PLENTIFUL

The CNR had ordered 1,000 pounds of filet mignon, 600 pounds of beef ribs, 500 chickens, 750 pounds of bacon, 1,000 pies, 200 pounds of coffee and 600 loaves of bread to accommodate the expected 1,500 fans aboard the specials.

Army Gets Set For Navy And Bellino Saturday

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—"Operation Bellino" is underway at Army today where the name is on the lips of very cadet.

Joe Bellino is the outstanding Navy halfback. Army's hopes of upsetting the favored midshipmen in their 61st football meeting Saturday at Philadelphia rest squarely with slowing down "Joe the Jet."

If Bellino is generally recognized as the finest Navy star in many years he's downright infamous within this Hudson River fortress. He scored three touchdowns in last year's 43-12 rout.

The name Bellino is snarled on the practice field, featured on "Beat Navy" banners hung from dormitory windows, chanted by the corps en route to meals, lampooned in the school paper.

Loss Drops Beavers Into Third Spot, Meet With Rockets Tomorrow Evening, Irene St. Hilaire Gets Lone Tally

The Drummondville Rockets made their breaks count last night to post a 3-1 decision over the Sherbrooke Beavers and extend their lead over the pack in the E.T. Intermediate Hockey League. In the other fixture at Three Rivers the Granby Vics rolled to a 5-2 victory over the Lions.

The Rockets' power-play paid off for the Poliquin squad as they registered two goals while the Beavers were short-handed. Hamelin and Michelin and Maurice Boivin tallied for the Rockets while Irene St. Hilaire saved the Beavers from a shutout.

Two games are on the agenda tomorrow evening with the Three Rivers Lions visiting Granby while the Beavers will hook-up with the Rockets in Drummondville.

It was the third straight win for the Rockets over the Beavers, who seem to have trouble playing against the league-leaders. The locals were minus Guildor Levesque, Ray St. Cyr and Richard Doyon leaving them in a difficult position. Coach Dube was forced to dress Marcel Fournier and reshift his lines.

The Beavers blew some wonderful scoring opportunities in the first period and this proved costly in the long-end. Marc Bouverette and Normand Dussault missed good chances. Dussault's shot hit the goal post while St. Hilaire missed the side of the open net.

In the final minute of play in the opening period Hamelin tallied the first goal with St. Hilaire in the sin-bin for hooking. In the second stanza it was Michelin who registered what proved to be the winning tally with Bourassa in the cooler.

Irene St. Hilaire came up with Sherbrooke's only tally when Dussault and Biggs were in the sin-bin. This seemed to give the Beavers a new lease but the Rockets were skating all out to protect their slim lead.

This stood up for the rest of the session although both clubs had good scoring chances. In the third frame just after the start

M. Boivin picked up a loose disc at the side of the net and showed it behind Andy Pratte to put the Rockets out in front 3-1.

Pratte came up with a nice save to rob Hamelin of a sure goal as the Drummondville player broke away from a Sherbrooke gangling play. The fans, following suit of Granby, littered the ice a few times when the referee's decision didn't meet their approval but this failed to change things. Bourassa was tagged with a misconduct for over-stepping his rights as assistant-captain.

First Period
1—Drumville, Hamelin (Biggs, St. Jean) 19:10
Penalties: St. Hilaire.

Second Period
2—Drumville, Michelin (Lahaye, Biggs) 5:05
3—Sherbrooke, St. Hilaire (Drouin, Fortin) 9:24
Penalties: St. Hilaire, Hamelin, Bourassa (minor and misconduct), Dussault, Biggs, Robidas.

Third Period
4—Drumville, M. Boivin (Michelin, Aubry) 6:03
Penalties: Robidas, Dube.

ST. HYACINTHE—The newest member of the Yamaska Valley Basketball Assn., the Waterloo Panthers, had little trouble winning their second straight victory 67-35, over the St. Hyacinthe Lions, in a game played Tuesday night in St. Hyacinthe.

After Lions took an early 4-0 lead, the Waterloo boys began to roll and by half time led 36-13. Topping the scorers for the Panthers were Vince Hall and Larry McCullough with 15 points each, followed by Wallace Tibbitts, 14, and John Talbot, 13.

SKIING AT HILLCREST By PAUL BLAIS

The ski-minded citizens of Sherbrooke responded generously by turning out for the Ski Fashion Show held last week at the Hotel Sherbrooke. Well over 500 were on hand for the event and they certainly had an enjoyable evening looking over the latest ski fashions for men and ladies.

The majority of the models were members of the Hillcrest Ski Club and success is due to the untiring efforts of the different committees. Georgia Trew and Suzanne Rousseau did a fine job in describing the various customs.

The film describing the new system of skiing "Wedeln" was greatly appreciated by the fans and no doubt as soon as the snow arrives some of our members will try it out.

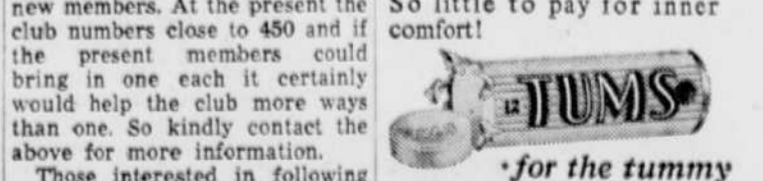

Albert Gagne, Fernard Robert and Dr. Neil Dinning, who are in charge of the membership committee expect to sign quite a few new members. At the present the club numbers close to 450 and if the present members could bring in one each it certainly would help the club more ways than one. So kindly contact the above for more information.

Those interested in following the school of instructions should give their names to Raymond Fortier as soon as possible. It is hoped it will commence next month.

Please don't forget to turn in your tickets for the "bean supper" which will be held Saturday, Nov. 26, and a social evening is also on the agenda as well. So don't forget Saturday night and turn out in large numbers to put across this event.

Cleroux And Chuvalo Clash For Title Tonight

Meet For Canadian Heavyweight Crown In Montreal, Champ Favorite To Retain Championship, No TV or Radio

MONTREAL (CP) — Bob Cleroux drilled for three weeks to shorten his punches, but look for him to throw as many looping haymakers as ever tonight in a rematch with Toronto's George Chuvalo, the man he stripped of the Canadian heavyweight crown last summer.

The 22-year-old Montrealer is a mauler along the lines of Yvon Durelle, the one-time world lighthweight contender from New Brunswick.

Like Durelle, Cleroux spends little time thinking in the ring. He likes to throw punches and doesn't pay much attention to row.

His manager, Al Bachman of New York, brought in trainer Whitey Bimstein to tutor Cleroux and eliminate the wasted energy expended in wild swings.

But Bob is the type of fighter who has difficulty putting into practice what he has learned in the gymnasium.

GOT UPPERCUT TIPS
Before the match with Chuvalo Aug. 17, Bimstein's partner, Freddie Brown, worked with Cleroux for a month showing him how and when to throw a right uppercut.

Cleroux climbed into the ring with Chuvalo at the Delorimier Stadium and didn't throw a right uppercut in 12 rounds. He scored often enough with roundhouse rights and lefts, however, to gain a split decision and the title.

Chuvalo, 23, while a shade more scientific, is also a sluder and packs a knockout wallop. He's more familiar with the jab and has greater mobility.

Cleroux is a top-heavy favorite and there has been little betting action on tonight's 12-rounder at the Montreal Forum. It starts at 10 p.m. EST.

REFEREE NAMED TODAY
A referee was to be named by the Montreal Athletic Commission today at the noon weigh-in, but he will not score the fight. Three judges will score on the five-point must system, giving five points to the winner of each round and grading the loser from four down.

There is no radio or television coverage. Bachman and Jack (Deacon) Allen, Chuvalo's manager, have both said they will seek a shot at Henry Cooper's British Empire title if their boy wins tonight.

A capacity house at the 15,000-seat Forum would provide a $100,000 gate for promoter Eddie Quinn. Twenty-five per cent of the net receipts go to each fighter.

Cleroux has a 24-1-1 record and Chuvalo 13-5-1. Since the August bout, Cleroux has scored two knockouts, while Chuvalo has been inactive except for training.

Tobin Rote May Not Return To Argos In 1961

TORONTO (CP) — Tobin Rote, who threw a record 38 touchdown passes to pace Toronto Argonauts to the 1960 Big Four title, has indicated he may not return to Toronto for the 1961 football season.

"I gave myself an out when I signed with the Argonauts a year ago," Rote said Tuesday. "I knew I would have business opportunities coming up and that at my age, business would have to come before football."

Rote, 32, says he has until Dec. 18 to make up his mind whether to quit football. He came to Toronto this season after 11 years in the National Football League with Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions.

Minnesota Aims To Avenge Honor In Rose Bowl

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rags to riches Minnesota aims to avenge Big Ten honor when the Gophers battle Washington's Huskies in the 47th Rose Bowl Football game at Pasadena Jan. 2.

Cellar dwellers in the conference last year, the maroon and gold won Tuesday night's bid to oppose the Huskies who whipped Wisconsin 44-8 last New Year's Day.

Girls Aspiring For Miss Grey Cup Title Measure Up To Lot Of Women, 9 Seek Crown Held By Miss BC Lions

By JIM PEACOCK
VANCOUVER (CP) — Taken collectively, they measure 319-210-315. And that's a lot of woman.

As a matter of fact, that's nine women — the nine representing every major professional football team in Canada in the Miss Grey Cup competition being staged here this week in connection with the national gridiron classic.

They come from the cities of the Big Four and Western Inter-provincial Football Union. By Friday night one of the nine will be selected queen of the festival.

She'll be crowned in Empire Stadium ceremonies Saturday, just before the champions of East and West meet for the football title, and she will reign until the 1961 final when she will crown her successor.

The present ruling Grey Cup Queen is Anna Finlayson of Vancouver, a 19-year-old blonde 36-24-36 university student who won the title a year ago in Toronto.

PYJAMA PARTY
Miss Finlayson helps the girls on their rounds of press conferences, dinners, luncheons, shows and tours that precede the Miss Grey Cup final and dance Friday night.

A get-acquainted dinner and private pyjama party are scheduled for Wednesday and preliminary judging and a night-club date with Dennis Day are set for Thursday. On Friday they meet singer Jimmy Rodgers at the airport, appear on television and then have a late dinner before the Friday night finals.

In between are several press conferences, a tour of the city and a series of unofficial functions.

Saturday morning they appear in the Grey Cup parade, then head for the stadium. And after the pre-game ceremonies, they can stay for the game itself.

Here's how the nine competitors stack up:

Miss Montreal Alouette: Janet Sauve, 20, 5'9", 128 pounds, 35-25-34, brown hair, blue eyes and a member of the Montreal Alouette majorettes.

Miss Ottawa Rough Rider: Marion Daley, 18, 5'3", 110 pounds, 35-22-35, blonde hair, blue eyes and a high school student.

Miss Toronto Argonaut: Beryl Thomson, 20, 5'6", 128 pounds, 36-25-36, grey eyes, and leader of the Argo majorettes.

Miss Hamilton Tiger-Cat: Rose Gierschmann, 17, 5'2", 110 pounds, 35-21-35, blonde hair, green eyes and an equipment sales employee.

Miss Winnipeg Blue Bomber: Patricia Little, 17, 5'3", 110 pounds, 35-23-34, blonde hair, hazel eyes, and a university student.

Miss Saskatchewan Roughrider: Lee Oakenfold, 20, 5'4", 105 pounds, 36-23-34, blonde hair, blue-green eyes and a university student in Saskatoon.

Miss Calgary Stampeders: Gail Leonard, 19, 5'7", 118 pounds, 36-25-35, blonde hair, blue eyes and an oil company employee.

Miss Edmonton Eskimo: Mary-Jo Powell, 19, 5'8", 125 pounds, 36-24-36, brown hair, green eyes and a university student.

Miss B.C. Lion: Barbara Wolsey, 18, 5'4", 118 pounds, 35-24-36, dark blonde hair, brown eyes, a Vernon, B.C., native now attending school in Calgary.

Bettors Install Eskimos As 6 1/2-Point Favorites; Jackie Parker Could Set All-Time Scoring Record, 6 Points Shy

VANCOUVER (CP) — The gamblers have listed the odds; hotel lobbies have been cleared; police are studying their plan; fans are buying their tickets; the coaches are racing their brains—the Grey Cup stage is being set.

This is the situation as Vancouver prepares for its most uproarious weekend since 1958, when Canada's professional football classic was last held here.

Ottawa Rough Riders, eastern representatives, arrived Tuesday and stepped off the plane on to a white carpet of snow, giving coach Frank Clair, a noted warrior, another problem.

"We haven't played a bad weather game this year," he said. "I don't like wet weather and mud. Too many unpredictable things can happen."

A few miles away, at Empire Stadium, groundskeepers were also fretting. But they assured all concerned that they were in constant touch with the weather office and have yet to be caught with their tarpaulin up.

Edmonton Eskimos, picked as favorites by the oddsmakers, also arrived on the coast but chose to train in the more sedate surroundings of Victoria.

ESKS FAVORED
Western money has made Eskies 6 1/2-point favorites. Eastern oddsmakers favor them by 3 1/2 points.

Clair says his three greatest problems at the moment are the weather, Jackie Parker and Edmonton's defence.

The elements forced Riders indoors for their first practice session here and Clair says that's where they'll stay until conditions allow otherwise. This does not include Saturday when Ottawa will appear at 4:30 p.m. EST for the game come rain, sleet, snow or fog.

A long-range weather forecast predicts overcast skies and temperatures in the high 40s for the game.

Regarding Clair's problem of how to stop Jackie Parker: Most coaches would say it would be easier to harness the atom.

In three Grey Cup games Parker scored 24 points. He is within six points of the all-time Grey Cup scoring record of 30, held by former Toronto Argonaut great Joe Krol.

Edmonton's defence, Clair's third problem, held Winnipeg Blue Bombers to a stingy seven points in the last two games of the best-of-three Western Inter-provincial Football Union final.

"They may lack size, but they've got a tough defensive line," said the Ottawa coach. "In fact, they have an outstanding defence."

Others here also have problems, notably hotel managers preparing for an estimated 10,000 visitors.

Today at the noon weigh-in, but he will not score the fight. Three judges will score on the five-point must system, giving five points to the winner of each round and grading the loser from four down.

Bachman and Jack (Deacon) Allen, Chuvalo's manager, have both said they will seek a shot at Henry Cooper's British Empire title if their boy wins tonight.

A capacity house at the 15,000-seat Forum would provide a $100,000 gate for promoter Eddie Quinn. Twenty-five per cent of the net receipts go to each fighter.

Cleroux has a 24-1-1 record and Chuvalo 13-5-1. Since the August bout, Cleroux has scored two knockouts, while Chuvalo has been inactive except for training.

Another hotel has added plastic glasses to each room.

USING THE MILKING MACHINE — Mr. Ride demonstrates the machine which milks three cows at a time. Three of his prize Ayrshires assist in the demonstration (Record Photo by Doug Gerrish)

Production of milk big operation

Planning, organization required from the cow right to the dairy

Four hundred quarts or 1,000 pounds — which ever way you look at it that's a lot of milk. Tom Ride's dairy farm at Hatley produces this quantity every day.

His farm is one of the many in the Townships that specialize in providing milk to local dairies. A great deal of organization and effort precedes the arrival of one of those quarts of milk in your home.

Mr. Ride for example has acquired 90 head of Ayrshire cattle, but they represent only part of the outlay necessary to produce half a ton of milk a day.

Four hundred acres of land are another essential part of Mr. Ride's dairy industry. Mr. Ride uses some of the land for pasture and some for crops. He raises all his own oats and barley.

Once the cattle's food is ensured, other problems arise. The stock has to be provided with cover, and the cows have to be milked. Mr. Ride has built a huge barn which holds all his Ayrshire herd as well as three pure bred Belgium mares and several families of pigs.

By ALISON SCHOENFELD (Record Staff Reporter)

Attached to the barn is Mr. Ride's office where the records of all his pure bred cattle are kept and ribbons they have won are displayed.

The apparatus which milks three cows at a time is kept in an adjoining room as is the bulk tank which stores up to 3,000 pounds of milk.

The milk is strained into this refrigerated tank which is stirred continuously so that the butter fat does not settle to the bottom. From the tank the milk is piped directly into the milk company's truck and taken to Sherbrooke.

The milk company takes a bacteria count and tests the butter fat content. The bacteria count has to be extremely low and the butter fat content approximately 3.8 per cent for it to be top quality milk. These are the standards to which Tom Ride adheres day after day.

Once having achieved these standards, Mr. Ride's worries are not over.

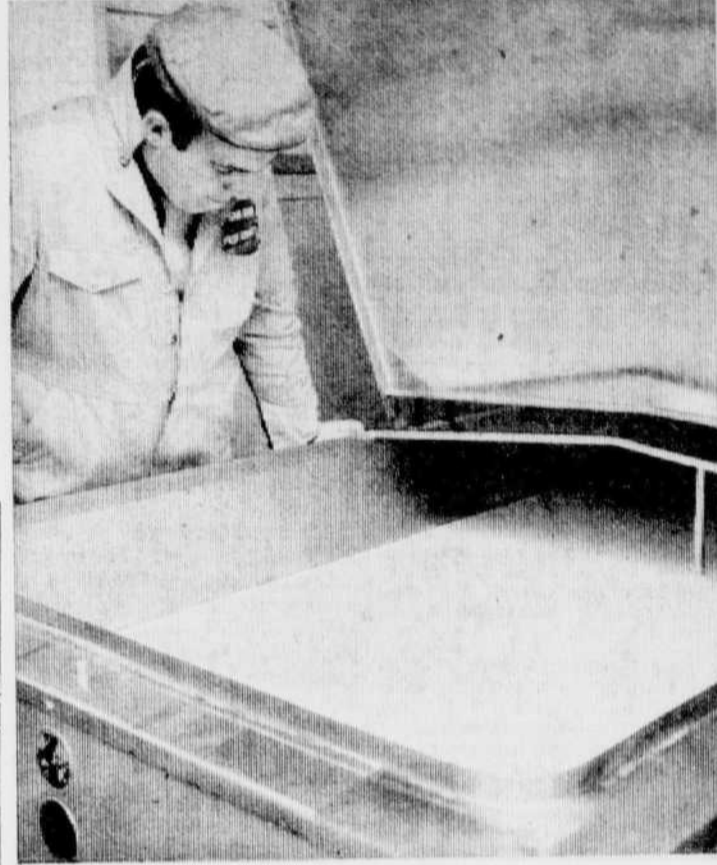

There are other problems as well.

Disease is one of these. It can wipe out a herd, stop the flow of milk or cut down the cow's productivity. In the summer the weather has to be taken into account. Cows like the same weather people do. If it rains all one summer, the cows milk will not be as rich. Then there is the other end of the scale. Sometimes too much milk is produced, and there is the problem of what to do with the surplus.

In spite of all these considerations, Mr. Ride's son, Jack, maintains that farmers have much more leisure than they used to and their standard of living compares much more favorably with that of town dwellers than it did ten years ago.

Dairy farming is an expensive proposition, but the Rides take great pride in their herd and feel that it is a good investment. The herd represents an initial outlay of at least $12,000 and though the Rides are now breeding their own replacements the cost of starting a dairy farm is quite sizeable.

1000 POUNDS OF MILK — Every day the Ride's dairy farm produces half a ton of milk which is stored in this giant refrigerated tank until it is piped directly into the milk company's truck. Mr. Ride's son, Jack, checks the level of the milk. (Record Photo by Doug Gerrish)

Ayer's Cliff group makes plans for salad tea, sale

AYER'S CLIFF — Final plans were made for the annual Christmas sale and salad tea, which will be held jointly with the Woman's Association in the United Church Hall, on Nov. 25, at the meeting of Beulah Evening Association, held in the Church Hall on Nov. 17.

Arrangements were also completed for catering to Jespersen-Smith wedding reception. The treasurer, Mrs. Clair Libby, reported that the sum cleared from the noontime dinner was $39.74.

It was reported that the rummage has all been moved to the basement of McHarg's store and after Jan. 1 the shop will be open the last Friday evening of each month, and the following Saturday afternoon when the group will be selling good second hand articles.

Annual donations were voted to the M. and M. Fund, Women's Missionary Society and the Sunday School and it was agreed to purchase a first aid kit for the Church Hall.

Mrs. S. True, Mrs. F. Brooks and Mrs. L. Thompson agreed to act as nominating committee for the 1961 officers.

Mrs. R. G. McHarg, led the devotional period and Mrs. Ruth Waite conducted the business session. A basket lunch was served and a jolly evening spent.

Battle at the bridge table if you will, but be genteel

Telling husbands and wives that they shouldn't argue at the bridge table is about as useless as telling a couple of small boys that they shouldn't fight. Both commands go against human nature.

If you are going to play bridge with your husband or wife there will be times when each of you is going to wonder how the other can be so stupid.

You'll either give vent to your feelings or turn into one of those nice-nice couples who say to each other in sugary tones, "That's all right, darling, it's only a game"—a remark guaranteed to make couples who are more honest with each other, as well as more explosive, just a trifle sick.

So we'll concede the fact that you are going to get annoyed may be able to accept a criticism of the way he played one hand with good-natured tolerance. But when you bring "always" into it, you are calling him (or her) a stupe. Only a stupe makes the same mistakes over and over.

Never use sarcasm instead of an honest, forthright attack. "Would you, please, tell me what you doubled on?" is much more insulting than, "I don't think you had a legitimate double."

And last, but most important, try to end the evening on a pleasant note by commenting on the masterful way your partner played one hand instead of again unearthing the one he (or she) threw away.

Beauty Tips

You can often get rid of a day's weariness by being kind to your feet. Give them an alternating hot and cold foot-bath. Sit on the bathtub edge and dangle your feet under a faucet. Alternate hot and cold water once mixer valve is set for a not-too-hot flow.

Fashion Co-ordinator

Gives helpful tips to home sewers

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
TORONTO (CP) — In sewing, which comes first—the fabric or the pattern?

Pat Dwyer, a fashion co-ordinator for McCalls pattern firm, says either may be selected first but she advises buying the pattern so that the amount of material can be determined.

"Search for the fabric first but don't buy it until a suitable pattern is found."

Outfitted in clothes she makes herself, Pat tours Canada about three times a year helping women with their sewing and styling problems. Caught in Toronto between trips, she discussed some of her ideas.

To have the garment fit properly, go by the bust size, she said. "The bust size is the difficult part of a pattern to fit. The waist and hips are easily adjusted."

Patterns come with fabric suggestions on the back and it is usually best to stick to these suggestions, she added.

Corduroys, velvets, velveteens and some wools have a nap and need to be placed properly on the pattern. If a pattern was not meant for the material being used, it might not specify which way the material should be placed. The nap should run up.

The new fabrics, such as shags and mohairs, should be treated as real fur with the pile going down. A simple design with a few seams and darts as possible is recommended.

If a pattern, plaid or stripe is chosen, two extra widths of the pattern are necessary for matching.

Buy the suggested amount of fabric instead of placing the pattern pieces on a smaller area, says Pat. This keeps the grain of the material as it should be with the horizontal lines straight across the bust, waistline and skirt. The pieces of fabric don't always fit together properly if the pattern is not laid out properly.

Lining a garment makes it look better and it will wear better and look new longer. The lining material can be cut at the same time as the fabric for the costume and inserted as the garment is sewn, or a separate lining can be made and joined at the waist. The lining should never be longer than the top of the hem of the skirt.

Many fabrics are suitable for linings but don't use material heavier than the fabric in the garment.

If the bodice of the garment is to be lined, cut it with the garment fabric and insert as the garment is made.

In picking a pattern watch for objects that might emphasize the things you want to minimize. Wide belts, boat necklines and pockets usually add width. Front or side buttons and V necklines give a long lean look.

"To be line-wise is to be design-wise," Miss Dwyer says.

Slip covers rejuvenate old chairs

By KAY SHERWOOD

This is slip cover season. Autumn is the time we take ourselves to the piece goods department to find a rejuvenating fabric for an old chair or sofa.

A good, solidly constructed upholstered piece of furniture will live through many changes in costume. By the same token the slip cover is a quick and effective way of giving new life to an old, too-familiar chair. It's also an easy way to camouflage a living room side chair that's more needed in the boudoir or family room.

Slip covers need not be simple shrouds. They can be pleated, ruffled, shirred, made in contrasting fabrics, trimmed in eye-catching ways.

Fabric favorites are solid-colored or printed chintzes and linens, but some of the new blends are giving them competition.

The new Dacron-cotton blend weighted for slip cover and drapery use is now widely available and brings a promise of few wrinkles, little ironing and easy stitching. The colors of this fabric, which is sold in solids only, are as clear and lovely as those we expect in dress weight blends.

Solid colored slip covers sometimes look too plain and a little trimming will do wonders. Flat braids in classic designs such as the leaf or Greek key provide a contrast when used to outline a chair seat or back or both.

Thick cotton fringe or a contrasting waltzing pepes up plain colors, too. Dressmaker details which include buttons and tabs or bows across the kick pleats are devices I've noted that interior decorators use.

Another treatment was the use of a scalloped band of provincial print just below the seat of a solid-colored sofa slip cover. This same print is repeated in a removable cover for the top of the back. This back piece, also scalloped, is designed to catch the major soil and be readily removable for washing.

Extra "slip covers" for arm and back slip covers are considered too much trouble by many home-makers but they do bear the brunt of wear and prolong a cover's presentable life. Our lounge chair slip covers in a printed linen, is literally worn through on the arms while the rest is still in good shape. That's why the new cover we're making will have the extra pieces.

An old chair takes on new life with a new slip cover in a Dacron-cotton blend. The same fabric which the girl is cutting will slip cover another chair to fit into room scheme.

Recently I've had letters from homemakers who complain that chair upholstery is wearing thin on the edges of seats although the backs are fine. A different type of slip cover may help in these cases until a chair can be reupholstered.

I mean the skirtless slip cover which is fitted as tight as a skin diver's suit and looks almost like same as upholstery. This type of slip cover is usually made in a tightly woven fabric or a heavier weighted texture, with self-covered cording around the bottom edge to insure a taut, straight line.

Billion dollar project

FASTER THAN THE SUN — Slowed for a while by a spending cut, work is now progressing on the Air Force's B-70 Valkyrie bomber. Photos of wind tunnel models, above and below, show the plane's unusual streamlined shape. Like the Wright's original craft, the B-70 will fly with its tail in front — but with a difference. It will be powered by six huge jet engines in the rear and be capable of 2,000 m.p.h. at altitudes up to 100,000 feet. It will fly faster than the earth revolves. It will be capable of flying 8,000 miles nonstop and could make a Los Angeles to Moscow hop in three hours. Being constructed by North American Aircraft, the first B-70 is expected to fly in 1963, forerunner of a planned fleet of 250 Valkyries. Cost of development for the first model: one billion dollars.

The Doctor Says

SURGERY OFFERS NW
By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN

I sometimes think that parkinsonism is the heaviest cross the patient and his family can be asked to bear. Known also as shaking palsy and paralysis agitans, this cruel affliction is one to which the victim rarely succumbs; from it, he rarely recovers.

In parkinsonism, the damage is done to a relatively small area in the mid-brain. In young patients, the damaging agent is usually a virus. The particular virus is usually the organism that is associated with epidemics of what is called "sleeping sickness" (lethargic encephalitis).

In the older patient, parkinsonism is most often the result of hardening of the arteries that bring blood and nutriment to this small mid-brain area.

We do not know why virus or arteriosclerotic process elects to strike this tiny and protected area with such devastating intensity any more than we know why a tornado follows a certain path. We do not know why either of those agents of destruction chooses to strike this person and not that. If we possessed this information, we might discover preventive measures.

In general, those who treat parkinsonism encourage their patients to continue those activities in which they participated before their illness.

More specifically, they prescribe exercises and drugs. Many of the latter are quite helpful but, since each has one or another type of side reaction, some member of the household may be required to assist with medication.

In 1952, a new and promising approach to the more lasting control of parkinsonian rigidity and tremor was discovered when Dr. Irving S. Cooper of New York University observed improvement in a patient after a small artery of the affected region was tied off.

Following this lead, Dr. Cooper perfected a technique for blocking the same region by chemical injection (chemopalpation or chemohalamectomy).

A few months ago, Dr. Cooper reported the results of 1,000 of these procedures performed at St. Barnabas Hospital in New York.

Against an operative mortality of 2 per cent and of post-operative complications of about 3 per cent, the procedure succeeded in bringing relief to 85 per cent of those who submitted to surgery.

Many of these patients have continued to lead relatively full and comfortable lives, with little or no dependence on drugs, for as long as six years.

While there are limitations, as well as risks, to the surgical approach, the procedure surely merits the consideration of affected patients, their families and their medical advisers.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Leavitt are feted on 25th wedding anniversary

BRILL — Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Leavitt, of Knowlton were guests of honor at a reception held on Saturday evening, Nov. 12, at the Brill United Church Hall, the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary as well as the birthday, on Nov. 11, of Mrs. Leavitt.

The event was arranged by their son, Keith, and daughter, Doreen, Mrs. Malcolm McPherson.

Lured to the church on the pretext of attending an anniversary party for friends, they were surprised to find themselves the honored guests. Upon their arrival they were met at the door by Mrs. McPherson, who presented a corsage of yellow mums to her mother, and Keith, who presented his father with a carnation boutonniere.

Following felicitations, cards were played at several tables, the prizes going to Mrs. Leon Bennett and Mr. Gordon Duboyce. The hall was attractively decorated for the occasion with pink and white streamers and wedding bells.

Miller, niece, of Rock Island, who had made and decorated a pretty birthday cake, and poured tea at the lace-covered table in the dining-room. Assisting were Mrs. Ethel Wiggett, of Dixville, Mrs. Murray Thompson, and Mrs. William Robinson.

Autumn flowers were used about the rooms and Mrs. Thompson was presented with a beautiful basket of 'mums, and varied gifts.

June election issue faces another test

QUEBEC (CP) — The bitter campaign waged prior to the Quebec general election June 22 has been revived in Joliette and Rouville, two constituencies where by-elections will be held Tuesday.

The Liberal and Union Nationale parties are conducting an all-out battle for the seats. Facing their first test of strength at the polls since they ended a 16-year Union Nationale reign, the Liberals are anxious to increase their slim working majority in the legislative assembly.

The Union Nationale, restive in opposition benches and wracked by internal dissension, is anxious to show it is still a force to be reckoned with in Quebec provincial politics.

The standing in the 95-seat assembly:

Liberal 51; Union Nationale 41; independent 1; and vacant 2.

BARRETTE SEAT VACANT

Three candidates are contesting Joliette, a seat made vacant when Antonio Barrette dramatically resigned last September as leader of the Union Nationale and as a member of the legislature. The candidates are C. E. Hetu, Union Nationale, Gaston Lambert, Liberal, and Marcel Ostiguy, independent.

Mr. Barrette, the Union Nationale's third leader in less than six months, said he could not serve under the thumb of Gerald Martineau, party treasurer, Joseph Begin, party organizer, and Jean Barrette, a Union Nationale member of the legislative council. The Barrettes are not related. A party caucus censured Mr.

Barrette for his statements and decided to contest the by-elections.

Mr. Barrette represented Joliette in the legislature from 1936 and was re-elected with a majority of 6,000 votes in the June election.

Observers say the imponderable in the constituency is the stand Mr. Barrette's many followers will take. Will they vote for the Union Nationale candidate despite Mr. Barrette's opposition?

SAYS HE'S LIBERAL

Mr. Ostiguy, the independent, describes himself as a Liberal who feels he should have been chosen the party's candidate instead of Mr. Lambert. Liberals say, however, that Mr. Ostiguy campaigned for Mr. Barrette in the June election.

In Rouville, it is a straight two-party fight between Francois Boulais, Liberal, and L. Paul Frechette, Union Nationale. The seat was made vacant by the resignation of Laurent Barre, agriculture minister in the former Union Nationale government and a member of the legislative assembly since 1931. Mr. Barre, 74, gave ill health as the reason for his resignation. He defeated Mr. Boulais 5,915 votes to 5,306 in June.

Both sides in the two constituencies have been referring to what Attorney General Georges Lapalme has described as a giant counterfeit money hoax aimed at discrediting the Liberal party.

Mr. Lapalme said men with criminal records concocted a story that counterfeit money had been delivered to prominent Liberals for use in the June election campaign, and the Union Nationale had fallen for the story.

Daniel Johnson, former hydraulic resources minister who is running the Rouville campaign, retorted that Mr. Lapalme knew of the alleged counterfeit plot in September and planned to delay any announcement until the eve of the by-elections. But the Union Nationale had also heard of the plot and had demanded an investigation by the RCMP before Mr. Lapalme made his announcement.
