AMERICAN PRESS PRAISES GENERAL SIR SAM HUGHES

NEW YORK PAPERS ARE UNANIMOUS IN DEPLORING THE RETIREMENT OF CANADA'S GREAT WAR MINISTER AND LAUD HIS WORK.

New York, Nov. 15.—With remarkable unanimity, the New York morning papers this morning editorially deplore the retirement of Sir Sam Hughes from the Department of Militia and Defense.

Under the caption "Canada's great war Minister," the World, says:

"The great work that General Hughes was engaged in may have wrought upon him to cause temperamental diversions in speech or judgments which possibly irritated the royal side of the Dominion government or did not quite suit the Ministry's ideas of its own importance. But to throw down the organizer of Canada's great part in the war for any such causes would seem to indicate that England's capacity for war blundering had finally begun to reach out to the colonies."

The Sun concludes a lengthy editorial thus:

"The British Empire cannot well forget the services that General Hughes rendered it. In Canada he ably seconded the efforts of Lord Kitchener in England. At the outbreak of the war, by his energy and indomitable industry he despatched stores of supplies and a force of men greater than Great Britain had asked. Canada, through his vigorous efforts, was thus the first of the overseas Dominions to declare its allegiance to and active support of the Imperial ideals. Canada loses from its official life a vigorous and resourceful man by the retirement of General Sir Sam Hughes."

The New York Times deals at some length with a discussion of the former Minister's personal character, but pays high tribute to his military achievements. It says in part: "Sir Sam Hughes sent England more soldiers than she asked for. They were equipped, they were drilled. There are no better men in the trenches, as to physique, morale, spirit and knowledge of their business than Sir Sam Hughes' Canadians. With inexhaustible vigor he pegged away at his task. He is now in part the victim of that vigor. The armies he called forth are a record and a monument which no mistakes of his, no squabbles this side or the other of the water, no protuberance of his will, or self-assertiveness, can impair. His manner to his colleagues a certain arrogance of tone, all his peculiarities and disagreeabilities, his positiveness, heat, and loudness, all these may be granted. What he has done is noble and memorable. A salient and angular, a forceful personage."

VISCOUNT BRYCE IS ADVOCATING LEAGUE OF PEACE

ISOLATION FOR THE UNITED STATES IS NO LONGER POSSIBLE.

London, Nov. 14.—Viscount Bryce, the former British Ambassador to the United States, and Professor Gilbert Murray, of Oxford, were the principal speakers today at a meeting of the Mayflower Club, which is composed of British and Americans and has as its object the perpetuation of the memory of the Pilgrims. The meeting was held in the reception room of the House of Commons, and among these present was the American Ambassador, Walter H. Page. In his address, Lord Bryce said:

"Question as to the exercise of belligerent rights have always arisen and must always be expected to arise between belligerents and neutrals in naval war. Those that have arisen between the Allies and the United States are happily such as can be disposed of by pacific negotiations and need not affect the permanent friendship of people attached to one another by so many ties. At this moment the friendship of our two nations is of more importance, not only to both of us, but to the whole world, than perhaps ever before."

"For what is the State of the world? This war has brought upon it more widespread calamities than any previous war. We are asking ourselves whether we must expect such calamities to go on recurring in the future. Is all this suffering to have been in vain? After the war will international fears, hatreds, and suspicions return, and will great armaments—a still heavier burden to already impoverished peoples—have again to be maintained?"

"The only method suggested for preventing these things is a combination of peace loving nations to be formed after the war and after the treaty of settlement for the purpose of establishing a permanent peace. The simplest way of doing this is to require that every international dispute shall be submitted to arbitration or conciliation before any resort to arms. Such a plan could not be carried out without the co-operation of neutral nations, and especially of the greatest of the neutral nations."

"The United States has hitherto stood apart in isolation, but isolation

Beaucourt-Sur-Ancre Is Captured By General Haig's Men—More Than 5,000 Prisoners Have Been Taken To Date—Another British Success Is Recorded Near Bapaume—Germans Shell French Positions—Activity In Rumanian And Macedonian Theatres

The British drive begun early Monday morning amid fog and rain in the region of the Ancre river in France has netted them another village—Beaucourt, on the north bank of the Ancre. The capture of this village makes three that have fallen into the British hands since the advance began, the other two being Beaumont-Hamel and St. Pierre Divion. There is no indication that the offensive has ceased at any point along the five mile front.

In the drive the British thus far have taken more than 5,000 Germans prisoner, and, according to the latest report, more captives are being brought in.

Aside from the gains in the Ancre region, the British also have made an advance to the east of the Butte De Warlencourt, about three miles south-east of the important town of Bapaume.

To the south of the Somme the Germans are busily engaged in shelling French positions in the region of Pressoire and on the sector of Biaches-La Malonnette, with the French vigorously replying. On the remainder of the front only bombardments have occurred.

With comparative quiet still reigning on the Russian and Austro-Italian fronts, the Rumanian and Macedonian theatres continue the focal points of interest. The Austrians near Orsova and the junction of the Austrian, Rumanian and Serbian frontiers have cleared the right bank of the Danube of Rumanians, a victory which probably means a lessening of the impediments the Rumanians have placed upon the navigation of the river in this region.

Again the Rumanians in the Alt valley of Transylvania have been pushed back by the Austro-German forces, who also have captured in the Jial valley the village of Bumbeshiti and forced the Rumanian left wing near Dragoslavele to give way. Up in the north the Russians have been compelled to retire from the Gyergyo mountains to the Rumanian frontier.

The situation in Dobrudja still remains to be clarified. Just what the Russo-Rumanian troops and the forces of the Central Powers are doing there is not known. Berlin, Petrograd and Bucharest say merely that the situation is unchanged.

On the Monastir plain of Serbia and north of the Cerna river troops of the Entente Allies are attacking the German-Bulgar lines. The battles have not reached a decision, according to Berlin.

Aside from artillery duels in the Treantino region and desultory artillery activity along the remainder of the line, quiet prevails in the Austro-Italian theatre.

The artillery duel between the Russians and Austro-Germans along the Narayuvka river in Galicia continues. Otherwise only unimportant engagements have taken place on the eastern front from the Baltic to the Carpathians.

BELGIANS WANT REVENGEFUL VICTORY.

Havre, Nov. 14.—The Belgian cabinet, terming itself "the authorized organ of a nation condemned to the silence of death," today sent to King Albert on the occasion of the fete day of his paternal saint a telegram of felicitation. The message said the present time was particularly painful to their unfortunate country, as the war continued to be more and more odious and cruel. Despite the sufferings of the people, the message added, the cabinet was confident of "a revengeful victory."

The members of the Belgian Chamber of Deputies also sent a congratulatory telegram to the King. It likewise condemned the acts of Germany in Belgium.

EVENTS AT ATHENS.

London, Nov. 14.—The French War Minister, General Roques, has arrived at Athens and had a conference with King Constantine, according to a Reuter despatch from the Greek capital. The main subject of the discussion was the Allied demand for the establishment of a zone to avert collisions between the Royalist and Venizelist armies.

BULGARS COUNTING CHICKENS.

Paris, Nov. 14.—A despatch to the Temps from Saloniki, says:

"It is semi-officially announced from Sofia that the Bulgarian government will take over the administration of the Dobrudja region of Rumania, consequent upon an agreement with the Central empires recognizing Bulgarian sovereignty over the occupied region."

is no longer possible. Every country is now affected and its safety is threatened by the anti-democratic aggression. The United States has avoided entangling alliances. But a league of peace would be no entangling alliance. It would be a smoothing down and straightening out of difficulties that threaten to embroil the world.

"Already many leading statesmen have proposed such a scheme as I have outlined. Both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes have given it their hearty approval; public opinion in both parties alike is daily growing in its favor. Here in Great Britain we cannot take practical steps till this war has been—as it certainly will be—fought through to a decisive victory. But meantime we may begin to consider what those practical steps should be, and we can assure our friends in America of our sympathy with their scheme and our willingness to co-operate in a work to which our common ideals turn. We are both peace loving peoples, we both desire to respect the rights of every nation, small or great. Neither of us seeks to dominate the world either by war or in commerce. We both love freedom and wish to see it everywhere prevail.

"Let us try to realize these common ideals and let us consecrate our friendship in an effort to secure for mankind the blessing of an enduring peace."

Professor Gilbert Murray gave an interesting review of the American attitude towards the war as he learned it during a recent visit to the United States. He declared that the war would result in the perpetuation of hatred between the belligerent peoples. He also approved of a league for maintaining peace between nations.

MINIATURE RIFLE RANGE FOR 171ST

MEMBERS OF QUEBEC RIFLES
PRACTISING ON RANGE IN DOORS.

The days are passing very agreeably at the Barrack of the 171st Battalion, Immigration Building, where a miniature rifle range has just been installed. Lieut. Sewell has been placed in charge and it is safe to predict that under his guidance the members of the Quebec Rifles will all become efficient marksmen before the Battalion leaves for overseas.

Recruits are coming in steadily every day. The strength of the Battalion yesterday was eight hundred. It is the ambition of the officers to add two or three hundred to this number by the end of the month when it is expected that the Regiment will leave for the Maritime Provinces. The medical officers are still conducting the final examination and the fact that there has been only a comparatively small number of men rejected in the final exams. speaks volumes for the health of the men.

The Weather

Toronto, Nov. 14.—The depression which was south of the Great Lakes last night is now off the Nova Scotia coast, while pressure remains decidedly high in the Pacific States. Snow has been general today in the Maritime Provinces and a few light local snowfalls have occurred in Ontario and Quebec. In the Western Provinces the weather is turning milder.

AWARDED D.C.M. FOR SAVING GUN

MONTREAL SOLDIER REACH-ED QUEBEC YESTERDAY
MORNING ON SS. NORTH-LAND.

Sgt. B. Stevens D. C. M. of Montreal, a member of the original Princess Patricia Regiment with 94 other N. C. O's, and three officers arrived here yesterday morning on board the White Star-Dominion Line steamship Northland from Liverpool. Sgt. Stevens is the only one in the party of returned Canadians who has won the Distinguished Conduct Medal.

He was awarded this decoration for sticking to a machine gun during a severe German attack at Ypres on May 8th, 1915 and subsequently carrying the gun to safety within the Canadian lines under heavy fire of the enemy.

During the terrific bombardment by the Germans Sgt. Stevens and the crew operating this gun were buried under by the explosion of a shell. All six men succeeded in extricating themselves. Three were wounded and all of them suffered more or less from shell shock. The holder of the D.C.M., considers himself extremely fortunate in not being wounded, for after ducking down behind the parapet to escape a shell before they were buried in, he also managed to carry the gun to safety under fire without receiving a scratch.

After this heroic act he was recommended for the D. C. M. and was awarded the medal in June 1915.

Sgt. Stevens spent five months in hospital suffering from the effects of his forced interment. The treatment both in and out of the hospitals in England was excellent he said. The women over there irrespective of wealth or social standing are all doing their utmost in helping in the cause by their work in hospitals, convalescent homes, etc., this Montreal boy, declared Sgt. Stevens is home on leave of absence.

The officers in the party included Capt. Short, Capt. Bishop and Capt. Henry, Nursing Sister Willis also returned.

The Northland, which is in command of R. O. Jones, left Liverpool on Nov. 4 and made good time considering the unfavorable weather. She carried 246 passengers, 93 cabin and 153 third class.

Quick, Safe Way to Remove Hairs

(Toilet Talks).
Keep a little delatone powder on your dressing table and when ugly, hairy growths appear, make a paste with a little of the powder and some water, apply and let remain on the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. This treatment is quite harmless and rarely more than one application is required, but to avoid disappointment care should be used to buy the real delatone.

IMMIGRATION TO THIS PROVINCE

MR. A. SAUVE INQUIRES ABOUT WORK OF MR.
GODFREY LANGLOIS.

Wishing to know what steps have been taken and what has been achieved by Mr. Godfrey Langlois, representative of the Province in Belgium, in the way of inducing Belgians to come and settle here, Mr. Arthur Sauve, Leader of the Opposition, has moved for the production of copies of all correspondence between the Colonization Department and Mr. Langlois since July 1st, 1914 to date.

Speaking on his motion which he proposed yesterday afternoon Mr. Sauve remarked that it was not his intention to criticize; all he wanted to know was what an intelligent man had accomplished in three years in the way of encouraging Belgian immigration to the Province of Quebec. It had been contended that it was impossible to induce the French and the Belgians to come and settle in this Province and he wanted to know if the situation might be changed with an organization such as Mr. Langlois was capable of arranging.

Sir Lomer Gouin, replying to the Leader of the Opposition said that all that had been done in the past three years was preparatory work and in view of the prevailing conditions in Europe one could not expect many immigrants. The member for Montmagny in the preceding Legislature had asked for the correspondence in question and as its preparation entailed a large amount of work, he had agreed to go to the Department and peruse the original and was satisfied with what he had read.

The Premier said that copies would be prepared as soon as possible and he hoped that the work by Mr. Langlois thus far would prove satisfactory to the Leader of the Opposition.

Ministers' Travels.

The travelling expenses of the ministers of the Provincial Cabinet for the past fiscal year amounted to the sum of $8,138.68. This was brought out in a reply to a question asked yesterday by Mr. A. Sauve, Leader of the Opposition. The answer was as follows:—

Sir Lomer Gouin	$ 800.00
Hon. J. E. Hamel	804.00
Hon. W. G. Mitchell	1,194.33
Hon. Jules Allard	900.00
Hon. Honore Mercier	1,915.00
Hon. Jos. Ed. Caron	1,894.16
Hon. J. A. Tessier	481.19
Hon. L. A. Taschereau	150.00
	$8,138.68

Loans Effected.

The information sought by Mr. Sauve's question as to the loans effected by the Government since 1908, was supplied by the Hon. Mr. Mitchell, as follows:

Permanent loans for Good Roads: January, 1913 $1,949,586.67; July, 1914, $3,991,722.73.

For St. Maurice River Water Storage, $600,000.
Special Short Term Loans: $6,000,000.00 in April, 1915, and $4,000,000.00 in June, 1916.

Temporary loans: $1,450,000.00 on 1st November, 1913, renewed on 1st May, 1914, and paid 1st August, 1914, $4,000,000.00 on 1st December, 1914, and paid 3rd May, 1915.

Sir Lomer Gouin informed Mr. Sauve in reply to a question that the government was studying the request made by a delegation to establish an "Air Fund" for the suitable interment of soldiers and sailors of the Province of Quebec who had fallen in the present war.

Third reading was given to Sir Lomer Gouin's bill to oblige coroners to send a copy of each verdict rendered to the Attorney-General, as well as his bill to define what position the assistant Chief Justice will hold in order of precedence.

Mr. P. D'Auteuil, Conservative member for Charlevoix-Saguenay county, asked if the Legislature had the power to Legislate on this matter and the Premier expressed the opinion that they had.

The Premier's bill concerning the publication of electoral lists in Montreal, Quebec, Three Rivers, Valleyfield, Sherbrooke and Maisonneuve has for object to eliminate the high cost of publishing the complete lists by limiting the publication to the names which are to be struck from the lists.

Another bill of the Premier's concerns the adjournments in certain prosecutions for penalties and extends the time of adjournment allowed from eight to thirty days, while still another bill of the Premier's is to direct the payment of security in cases of appeal to the clerk of the Court of Appeal instead of to the Prothonotary. The last three bills were given second reading and referred to the Legislation Committee.

Petitions.

The petitions received at the sitting yesterday were the following: Mr. Desaulniers: Incorporation of St. Vincent de Paul Society, of Montreal.

Mr. Bullock: To erect the village of Granby as a City under the name of the City of Granby.

Mr. Bercovitch: Concerning the corporation of Spanish and Portuguese Jews, "Shearith Israel," of Montreal.

Mr. Desaulniers: Incorporation of the Junior French-Canadian Catholic Association, of Montreal.

Mr. Hay: To incorporate Jacobs and others, of Montreal, under the name of the Grenville, Harrington & Northern Railway Company. The capital

Insomnia

WE can live without food, but not without sleep. Many will recall Dr. Tanner's 40 days without food, but who could live a single week without sleep and retain their reason?

It is during sleep that the nervous system is restored, and the nerve force, consumed by the activities of the day, is replaced.

Sleeplessness is one of the first and one of the most torturing symptoms of nervous exhaustion.

With sleeplessness you find nervous headaches, tired, wornout feelings, indigestion, lack of energy and strength. You are nervous and irritable, and cannot compose yourself to rest or sleep.

The nerve force in the body is at low ebb, and the feeble, wasted nerve cells must be nourished back to health and strength by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

You must not confuse this food cure with drugs taken to produce sleep, for it works in an entirely different way. It is not a quick relief, but a restorative, upbuilding treatment. As the nerves are revitalized sleep comes naturally with its soothing influence and hastens recovery.

Sleeplessness

Mrs. Edson Brock, Tremholville, Que., writes:—"I want to state that I have never taken anything to do me so much good as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I am never without it in the house. I was so nervous I could not sleep, but now I sleep soundly at night and wake up feeling refreshed and ready for the day's work. I used the Nerve Food for months, and found that it just suits my needs, and has built up the system wonderfully. I know it is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that has brought about the great change in my condition, and I am thankful for it."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations disappoint.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

stock of the company will be $750,000, and the line is intended to run from the village of Grenville in Argenteuil county to a point near the village of Labelle in Labelle country.

Mr. Beaudry: Concerning the L. H. Hebert estate.

Private Bills.

The first sitting of the Private Bills Committee of the Assembly was held yesterday morning with Mr. J. N. Francoeur, the new president, in the chair. Mr. Francoeur thanked his colleagues for the high honor which they had conferred on him and declared his firm intention of carrying out his duties with impartiality and justice. The bills concerning the towns of Lasalle and St. Leonard de Port Maurice were passed.

KILLED BY A BULLET

MEANT FOR ANOTHER

Man and Wife Arrested for Murder of Man at Northville, N.Y.

Gloversville, N.Y., Nov. 14.—John Elkington and his wife are locked up in the Fulton County jail at Johnstown in connection with the shooting of Edward Ostrander, proprietor of the Riverview Hotel at Northville. Sheriff William J. Shepard says both have confessed that Elkington fired the shot that killed Ostrander shortly before midnight, as he stood in the hotel office talking with John Beiring.

According to the Sheriff, Elkington admits quarrelling with Beiring yesterday, and the bullet that killed Ostrander was intended for Beiring.

The shot was fired by some one on the outside of the hotel, and crashed through the glass of a front window, struck Ostrander in the back of the head, killing him instantly.

Elkington was arrested at 2:30 A.M. at the point of a revolver at his home on the river road. According to the Sheriff, he had a rifle in his hands when the officers entered his home. He and his wife were taken to the Riverview Hotel, where they were put through a grilling over the body of the dead man and the alleged confession obtained.

CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN BORDEN AND GEN. HUGHES

CREATION OF OVERSEAS MINISTER AND COUNCIL.
PRECIPITATED THE CLIMAX—SIR SAM WANTED MAX AITKEN AS HIGH COMMISSIONER.

(Special to The Chronicle.)

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—What brought about the dismissal of Sir Sam Hughes from the portfolio of Militia is detailed in the very voluminous correspondence made public this afternoon by the Prime Minister on the authority of the Governor-General.

A series of letters, covering a period of upwards of two weeks, were exchanged between Sir Robert Borden and Lieut.-General Hughes, and a perusal of them shows that as the correspondence proceeded the situation became more and more critical and the relations between the Premier and his Minister were exceedingly strained. Finally the breaking point was reached and Sir Robert demanded Sir Sam's resignation in a letter under date of November 9th. The General acceded to the order in a letter written on Saturday, and which was delivered on Monday afternoon.

Lieut.-General Sir Sam Hughes communications were characteristic of the man. His statements and allegations were as usual couched in vigorous and in some respects offensive language.

Sir Robert at first attempted to reason with his colleague, but when this failed he took the drastic and seemingly inevitable course of dismissing him from his post.

What Precipitated It.

As stated before, there are various antecedent factors that led up to the situation, but what precipitated the climax was the creation of a Minister and a Council to administer the affairs of the Canadian troops overseas. Sir Robert Borden, recognizing the great magnitude and importance of the work, now that the forces are mainly on the other side, proposed to appoint a responsible member of the Government to exercise careful supervision and a Council to act in an advisory capacity.

Sir Sam's Condition.

Lieut.-General Hughes at first saw no necessity for such a course. He took the position that it was no more required among the forces in England than among those in the various training camps at home.

Ultimately he became acquiescent on one condition. If Sir Max Aitken were made Overseas Minister, and in that connection created a Privy Councillor, he was willing to consent. The General was glowing in his eulogy of the recently created Baronet, who for many months has been subject to himself and administrator of the inner affairs of the Canadians in England.

The General wanted his friend "Max" as he referred to him familiarly, created High Commissioner. Sir Robert's scheme under such conditions would have been wholly acceptable to him, but his opposition was unalterable if the job went to Sir George Perley.

Created Council Minister.

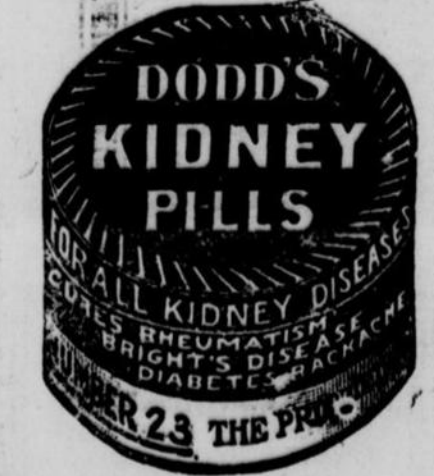

When in England last summer Gen. Hughes took it upon himself to create a sub-militia council on his own initiative. When taken to task for it he explained that the organization was a theoretical one, the intention being to try it out and if results were satisfactory to have it formally ratified by his colleagues.

The Prime Minister evidently did not regard it. He took it as an attempted usurpation by Gen. Hughes of an authority which belonged exclusively to the Government as a whole.

In the subsequent correspondence Sir Robert Borden alluded to the fact that when his time was urgently required with other matters much of it was occupied in smoothing out situations created by the Minister.

Climax Came Nov. 1.

Finally the climax came on Nov. 1st, when Lieut.-General Hughes addressed to the Premier, in terms both emphatic and sarcastic, a long letter in which he practically gave the lie to Sir Robert. The Premier had said that "So far as I am aware, you exercised the same control and direction over the forces in Great Britain during the first year as subsequently." Lieut.-General Hughes told the Prime Minister that he, Sir Robert, knew the statement was incorrect.

Referring to his failure to secure authority by Order-in-Council for a sub-militia council, the Minister said that the Premier conveyed the idea that this had brought about the proposed appointment of Sir George Perley. He went on to say that "both you and I know to the contrary. I knew early in August that Sir George Perley had planned something along these lines. You have also admitted that as early as the first week in September you had this matter under consideration. I understand that it was under consideration by you and Sir George Perley earlier."

Resignation Demanded.

The tone of this letter caused the Premier to demand forthwith Lieut.-General Hughes' resignation. The Minister's attitude was described by the Premier as "wholly inconsistent with the subversive of the principle of joint responsibility on which constitutional government is based. You must surely realize that I cannot retain in the government a colleague who has addressed to me such a communication. I regret that you have thus imposed on me the disagreeable duty of requesting your resignation as Minister of Militia and Defence."

The Premier alluded to the fact that Lieut.-General Hughes seemed actuated by a desire—and even an intention—to administer his Department as if it were distinct and separate from the government itself.

"On many occasions, but without much result," said Sir Robert, "I have frequently cautioned you about this course, which has frequently led to well founded protests from your colleagues, as well as detriment to the public interest."

Sir Sam's letter of resignation dated November 11th, says that his letter of November 1st, made it impossible for him to remain in the Cabinet unless the Premier concurred in its correctness.

He went on to say that he had retained the Portfolio of Militia only that he might the better help the soldiers in training and at the front and to do the best he could towards winning the war.

"I have closed my eyes," he said "to the petty intrigues and ambitions about me."

Alluding to the Premier's statement that he had done the utmost to support him in his administration, Sir Sam said sarcastically, "This is pleasing news to me but I learn it now for the first time."

He similarly characterized Sir Robert's references as to how his time had been taken up in removing difficulties created by the Minister. "If you mean your time was given up to listening to the complaints of disappointed or overstrung people, I can understand it," commented the Minister.

In another thrust, Sir Sam says it is difficult for him to recall where the Premier actively supported him in the passage of any order in council concerning the upbuilding of the Militia, "when opposed by two members of the cabinet usually antagonistic to anything proposed by me."

Sir Sam concedes that Sir Robert Borden asked him to submit orders in-Councils where possible, before encouraging large expenditures, but the reason assigned was not protested over his action, but to set an example so as to assist the Premier to control others. Sir Robert, the General says, had instanced the post office, railway and public works departments as undertaking projects without authority of orders in council.

Meddling and Intrigue.

"I have known and experienced for a long time the meddling and intrigue which had been going on," says Sir Sam. "More than a year ago, I understand, you had it in contemplation to get Sir Geo. Perley in control in England. I was assured in April last that the plans which you have now carried out were under contemplation. I was further assured the first week of August of this year that the plans were practically completed. However, as you had not spoken to me about it, as in honor bound, I did not credit the story."

Last July's Cable

As to Sir Robert's cable of the 31st. of July, telling the Minister that all members of the Government had a right to be consulted in regard to the proposed council, Gen. Hughes comments "It is my belief that had you been actuated by the best interests of the force, instead of favoritism, that cablegram would not have been despatched."

Alluding to Sir Robert's statement that this cablegram had been disregarded, Sir Sam says "this is a grave error of which the Premier must now be convinced. He proceeds 'you were notified the very first instant any conclusion was arrived at. I am not aware that the principle of joint responsibility upon which constitutional Government is based requires that any one should be privileged, even unintentionally, to mis-present facts concerning another."

Spraking of Sir Robert's strictures upon the tone of his letter, General Hughes says "it might be well if we could all possess your soft mannerism, but I am very much afraid that human liberty and progress would not make much headway under such diplomatic forms and utterances."

Then the General proceeds: "Your action and manner to me at any period in the past, excepting when you would be in trouble in the Opposition days and since, while as a rule courteous, have never been apparently Frank or Loyal."

Even in the early opposition days, when a very few of us repeatedly stood by you and overthrew the agitators against you, you rewarded loyalty by preferring those who had been untrue to you."

As a parting shot the Minister concludes that he has always been frank and honorable to the Premier. When he had heard that Sir Robert was to become High Commissioner or Chief Justice, or to go to the Privy Council he had always advised him and received his explanations or denials. Recently he had heard on excellent authority that the Premier had in contemplation to retire to the Supreme Court, by arrangement with the present Chief Justice, and hand over his post "to another under whom it is well known I would not serve. Surely you would not be a party to any such manipulation but would face the electors and stand or fall by the result."

The General winds up by saying that he, "unhesitatingly" tenders his resignation to take effect as soon as his belongings can be removed.

In the future he will be pleased to act in every way for the successful protection and welfare of the soldiers.

THE RUSSIAN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

Thursday Night at the Auditorium.

In an interview with Modest Altschuler, conductor of the Russian Symphony Orchestra, which appears here on Thursday evening, the famous Russian leader stated that: "Only Russians can interpret Russian music. That may sound bad, but it is true." So these are the foundations for his statements.

If you press a key on the piano, you get a musical note. You press several notes and you get harmony or discord. But the result is music. The reason our music has a flavor of its own is that it is the outgrowth of depression. Our people have suffered. The hand of destiny has weighed upon them heavily. There had to be some compensation for all that suffering and that compensation has been our music. It takes people who were born and have lived in Russia to interpret our music."

In the Russian Symphony Orchestra all the players have been born and lived in Russia. They know how to get all there is in their native music. They are proud of their composers works, and since the Russian Symphony Orchestra has been in existence they have striven to get Russian music its true interpretation. In many ways it is the most novel and unique orchestral organization in this part of the world. One thing is true, Mr. Altschuler and his men have been instrumental in bringing to the American musical public more new music than any other organization.

There is every reason why the music loving folks of this city should turn out and hear this wonderful band of players. Mr. Altschuler has prepared several novelties for his program on Thursday. Seats are going fast at the Auditorium box office.

WHITE HORSE SCOTCH

BRITISH REPLY TO THE LATEST AMERICAN NOTE

CLAIM POSITION ON BLACKLIST IS JUST AND FOUNDED ON LAW.

Washington Nov. 14.—The British reply to the latest American note protesting against the trade blacklist, made public tonight by the State Department, denies that rights of neutral traders under international law have been ruthlessly cancelled, defines the blacklist measures as a municipal regulation plainly concerning only the British government and British citizens and contends that it is designed to shorten the war.

The note fails to meet the American demand that the names of American firms be stricken from the blacklist, but attempts to convince the State Department that the British position is just and founded on law. It leaves open the door for further negotiation, which is expected to follow.

The note was subscribed by Viscount Grey, the British Foreign Minister, and was addressed to and transmitted by Walter Hines Page, the American Ambassador at London.

A part which attracted much official notice dealt with the subject of peace, based on the cry that one American contention had been that there exists no military necessity for the blacklist, that it is unnecessary for the Allies to prejudice neutral commerce and that nothing which happens in neutral countries can influence the result of the great conflict.

"If that really were the position," says the note, "it is possible that the measures taken by His Majesty's government might have been described as uncalled for, but it is not. We may well wish that it were so. Even though the military situation of the Allies has greatly improved, there is still a long and bitter struggle in front of them, and one which in justice to the principles for which they are fighting imposes upon them the duty of employing every opportunity and every measure which they can legitimately use to overcome their opponents."

"One observation which is very commonly heard is that certain belligerent acts, even though lawful, are too petty to have any influence in a struggle of such magnitude. It is, I know, difficult for those who have no immediate contact with war to realize with what painful anxiety men and women in this country must regard even the smallest acts which tend to increase, if only by a hair's breadth, the danger in which their relatives and friends daily stand, or to prolong, if only by a minute, the period during which they are to be exposed to such perils."

Prolongation of War.

"Whatever inconveniences may be caused to neutral nations by the exercise of belligerent rights it is not to be compared for an instant to the suffering and loss occasioned to mankind by the prolongation of the war even for a week."

In its argument the note points out that German business houses throughout the world have furthered the cause of Germany in the war, and have been active agents "for the dissemination of German political and social influence and for the purposes of espionage."

Many Bases of Supply.

"In some cases," continues the note, "they have even been used as bases of supply for German cruisers, and in other cases organizers and paymasters of mercenaries employed to destroy by foul means factories engaged in making, or ships engaged in carrying supplies ordered by the Allies."

Such operations have been carried in the territory even of the United States itself, and I am bound to observe, what I think will not be denied, that no adequate action has yet been taken by the government of the United States to suppress breaches of neutrality of this particularly criminal kind, which I know that they are the first to discontinue and deplore.

"In the face of enemy activities of this nature it was essential for His Majesty's government to take steps that should at least deprive interests so strongly hostile of the facilities and advantages of unrestricted trading with British subjects. The public opinion of this country would not have tolerated the prolongation of the war by the continued liberty of British subjects to trade with and so enrich the firms in foreign countries whose wealth and influence were alike at the service of the enemy."

Neutral Traders.

The note is based largely on the argument that there is no assumption by Great Britain of power to interfere with neutral traders, but that the blacklist is a matter of municipal law enjoining British subjects from trading with persons found to be assisting or rendering service to the enemy. It disclaims any intention of imposing penalties or disabilities upon neutral trade.

"I can scarcely believe," it says, "that the United States government intend to challenge the right of Great Britain as a sovereign State to pass legislation prohibiting all those who owe her allegiance from trading with any specified persons when such prohibition is found necessary in the public interest. The right to do so is so obvious that I feel sure that the protest which Your Excellency has handed to me has been founded on a misconception of the scope and intent of the measures which have been taken."

The note says the British government readily admits the United States contention that neutrals have the right to trade with belligerents, but that the United States must also admit the right of one belligerent to stop this trade by lawful means, as seizures of contraband or a blockade. But this particular legislation, it goes on to say, is not of this character.

A Sovereign Right.

"It is," says the note, "an exercise of the sovereign right of an independent State over its own citizens and nothing more."

It is pointed out that even firms in Allied nations are being placed on the list where there is reason to believe that British subjects should not trade with them and the assertion made that the measure is not one against American trade in particular but a part of "general belligerent operations designed to weaken the enemy's resources."

Answering the American contention that there is serious danger to neutral commerce generally in the British ability to extend the list where it seems expedient, the note says that this is true, but that the American government may rest assured that "this system of prohibitions will not be carried further than is absolutely necessary."

"It has been forced upon us," continues the note, "by the circumstances of the present war. To extend it beyond what is required in order to secure its immediate purpose—the weakening of the resources of our opponents—or to allow it to interfere with what is really the genuine neutral trade of a country with which we desire to have the choicest commercial intercourse, would be contrary to British interests. The advantage derived from a commercial transaction between a British subject and a foreigner is mutual."

Referring to exclusion from ships using British coal in carrying goods belonging to blacklisted firms, the note argues that there can be no legal objection to such a refusal which is merely denying the use of British coal to carriage of goods to persons actively assisting Great Britain's enemies.

It points to the destruction of tonnage by German submarines and says that if no other factor entered into the question the British coal supply should be conserved to be certain that there is enough for ships supplying the Belgian Relief Commission.

Mindful of Obligations.

Discussing the argument that there is apprehension that potential control of transportation by one nation might be used to disrupt the trade of the world in its own selfish interests, the note asserts:

"His Majesty's government, therefore, take this opportunity to declare that they are unmindful of the obligations of those who possess sea power nor of that traditional policy pursued by the British Empire by which such power has been regarded as a trust and has been exercised in the interests of freedom. They require no representations to recall such considerations to mind, but they cannot admit that, in the circumstances of the times, their present use of their coal resources, a use which only differs in extent from that exercised by the United States in the Civil War in the case of vessels proceeding to such ports as Nassau, is obnoxious to their duties or their voluntary professions."

Attention is called to instructions to British merchants issued by Lord Russell in 1862 regarding trade with the Bahamas advising that the "true remedy" was to refrain from this trade.

"His Majesty's government do not ask the government of the United States to take any such action as this,"

BRITISH AVIATORS EULOGIZE BOELKE

WREATHS DROPPED IN MEMORY OF "BRAVE AND CHIVALROUS ADVERSARY."

Berlin, via Sayville, N. Y.—A wreath and two letters from the Royal British Flying Corps have been handed to the parents of Captain Boelke, the noted air fighter, who was killed recently at the front in France, says the Overseas News Agency, which describes the sending of these testimonials as follows:

"A British aviator dropped a package behind our lines with two letters. One of the letters bore the inscription: 'In memory of Captain Boelke, our brave and chivalrous adversary.—The Royal British Flying Corps.'"

"The other letter runs: 'To the officers of the German Flying Corps on this front—we hope that you will find this wreath and are sorry that it comes so late. The weather prevented us from sending it earlier. We mourn with Captain Boelke's parents and friends. We all recognize his bravery. Kind regards to Captain Evan and Lieut. SIR SAM HUGHES.

Whatever mistakes Sir Sam Hughes may have made he will remain the biggest Canadian figure in the war. Most enthusiasts are apt to run to extremes at times—and especially so when suddenly faced with unforeseen and enormous problems of organization and administration—but it was a splendid thing for Canada that she had an enthusiast like Sam Hughes as Minister of Militia at the outbreak of the war. That he was the right man in the right place has been most emphatically proved again by his tremendous record of achievement. No one can rob him of that and when the history of Canada's part in the great war is fully written his name cannot fail to bulk large in it. From the very outset he estimated most correctly the sentiment of the country as regards the great conflict and, great though his responsibility was in a time of extraordinary emergency, he did not shrink but threw himself, body, heart and soul, into the herculean task which confronted him and immediately achieved a pronounced success, doing what Canadians a few months before would have considered the impossible. His work has been recognized and appreciated not only in Canada but also in Britain and France, while it has called forth much admiring comment in the United States also. It fell to his lot in August of 1914 to raise, drill, equip and transport the first Canadian contingent. How well he did it every one knows. Even his political enemies have to concede that he worked a miracle in a few weeks at Valcartier. Always confident, optimistic and energetic, he had the faculty of inspiring others with the same inspiration. The volunteer armies which he raised have proved themselves second to none in valour, coolness, initiative and aggressiveness. The Bloody Angle at Ypres and the reddened battlefields of the Somme bear witness to these facts. General Hughes trusted the method of Canada and it did not fail him. When so many of our Canadian politicians, no matter to what cause they belong, content themselves with mere words, it is refreshing to find a man who will get out and battle and do something, putting his whole conscience and energy into the service of the State and never yielding in the face of any discouragement or doubtful and trying situation; placing his duty to his country and the Empire before every personal and party consideration, whether it be health, private affairs or political future.

It is said that Sir Sam did himself harm through sticking to his friends. Undoubtedly he did, but it is a big trait just the same, a very big and admirable trait and one that is unfortunately only too rare in political life where treachery, insincerity and ingratitude so frequently abound.

There can be absolutely no doubt that the verdict of history on the career and accomplishment of Sir Sam will differ altogether from the criticism and vilification of his personal and political enemies. The dominant fact remains that in a time of crisis and pressing necessity he proved a tower of strength to the Dominion.

HEARST IS SORE.

The decision of the Canadian government to forbid the facilities of the Canadian mails to the Hearst newspapers of the United States and to make it a criminal offence for any person in this country to have a copy of any of these publications in his possession after a certain date has not come a moment too soon. The action of the Ottawa authorities is a natural sequence of the recently announced decision of the British government forbidding the Hearst papers or the International News Service, which represents them, the use of the British Press bureau or the cable lines between Great Britain and the continent of North America.

Hearst was caught in this way: The Allies control all the means of communication between the continents of Europe and North America except the German wireless systems, which land at Sayville, N.J., and Tuckerton, N.J. Every cable dispatch filed from London by the correspondent of the foreign or even of a Canadian newspaper must first be passed by the Press Bureau and receive the O.K. of that authority. Certain dispatches appeared in Hearst newspapers, notably the New York American, which had plainly been altered on this side of the Atlantic.

When passed by the Press bureau they had been satisfactory, but on reaching New York they had been altered so as to fit in with the anti-British views of Mr. Hearst. In other words, he was guilty of practising fraud upon his readers by the publication of dispatches which ostensibly came from London, but the entire sense and meaning of which had been altered for the purpose of working up sentiment in favor of the Teutonic powers.

This anti-British sentiment of Hearst's is no new thing. It dates back at least to the time of the South African war, when he curried favor with the big German element in the United States and also with the Irish factions by the yellows and violence of his attacks against the Empire.

And there are many fair-minded journals in the United States which know the true inwardness of the Hearst feeling for the British Empire. Here is a recent sample from a Chicago publication:

"Hearst has been hit and he is hitting back, and no wildness of theory or extravagance of statement stops his furious pen as he slashes into the hide of John Bull.

"Yes, Hearst is sore; he has had hate of the head, hate of the hand, hate of the heart, and all the other varieties of Teutonic hate for Britain for years. Why? Because the Britons refuse to take him seriously, except once in a while, when they kick his dirty sheets out of Canada, or stop his cable privileges in the Old Land. At most other times they laugh at him. He has spent millions trying to be a Force in journalism; the Britons see him only as a Farce. They refuse to accept his lurid, grotesque interpretation of American living and thinking as the real thing, because they know better. Hearst tells his readers Britons look with contempt upon Americans. This is the usual Hearst lie. They do not; but they would if they believed that the Hearst press represented genuine American sentiment and civilization."

The Winnipeg Tribune in a recent article named Hearst as the most notorious newspaper liar on this continent. We would go farther than that and would award him the place of the biggest newspaper liar in the world, not even excepting the Berliner Tageblatt or the Cologne Gazette.

The decision of the Canadian government to bar out of Canada entirely the newspaper publications of this man is therefore greatly to be commended. No good can come of permitting the circulation of Hearst lies in this country. Loyal Canadians do not want to read them; others who would do so should not be given the opportunity.

A lively attack on the Pan-German agitators is printed by the "Frankfurter Zeitung," which, despite its occasional eccentricities, manifests an almost fatherly regard for the Imperial Chancellor.

"Why did France enter on the war? Simply because a great number of Frenchmen believed that Germany intended to attack France. That belief was not even dispelled by a long period of peace and by reiterated pacific assurances."

"Why not? Because in Germany there existed a group which, by its words and by its writings, constantly fed this belief. This group is that of the Pan-Germans, who though they never actually directed German politics, were, nevertheless, believed in the belligerent countries to exercise powerful authority over us."

"There is certainly no denying the fact that it is these bloodthirsty amateurs who, deaf to all political considerations, have set the whole world on our backs."

The Cologne Gazette has made the new discovery that the despatch of German submarines across the Atlantic concerns not the United States, but Canada. In an article headed "The Submarine War on the Canadian Coast," the Cologne Gazette exclaims:

"Among Germans everywhere, not less than among our allies, satisfaction, pride and joy will hail the news which has been flashed all over the world—that the German submarines have begun the naval war on the Canadian coast."

The Cologne Gazette proceeds in the usual strain about the past achievements of German submarines, and declares that they are now going to "smoke out the holes whence the enemy obtains abundant help, so that the weapons may become more equal in this unequal fight."

Recently the British Government announced that an agreement had been reached with the German Government for the exchange of civilian prisoners over 45 years. By the repatriation, the British will surrender about 7,000 Germans and receive in return about 600 Britishers. From a numerical point of view, this is a tremendous concession, and very probably will work out to Germany's advantage in other ways. For instance, Germany is hard pressed for labor. It could place the repatriated civilians at work which would relieve others for army auxiliary services. In Brandenburg men between 55 and 60 are to be called to the colors. The Berlin Tageblatt vouches for that. Is it not likely that many of the returned Germans will be found working against the Allies? It is true that the British Government has stipulated that none who wish to remain shall be forced to go, and perhaps many of the interned prisoners in Britain may prefer not returning to the Fatherland. But the heavy odds paid to get back the British civilian prisoners illustrate what British citizenship means. Every possible protection is thrown around British subjects in foreign, and even enemy, countries. The Germans will, in a way, be rewarded for their cruel harsh treatment of prisoners-of-war. The starving, beating, and dragging of prisoners in the German camps has produced a feeling of horror in countries unaffiliated with Teutomania, and made the British Government willing to pay a heavy price to liberate the sufferers. Thus German frightfulness scores temporarily, but finally will have to face a reckoning that will settle it decisively. — Toronto Mail.

A preacher in Boston recently announced that he had discovered a prophecy of the coming of the automobile, in these words, found in Nahum ii. 4, "The chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall jostle one against another in the broadways; they shall seem like torches, they run like lightnings." The Chronicle's Herald of Macon, Mo., now claims priority of discovery, for the Rev. G. E. Edwards, of that town, who cited the verse in a sermon more than a year ago.—Christian Science Monitor, Boston, Mass.

That more than one of our slang expressions can be traced to Shakespeare is not a new discovery, but it is gratifying to find a college student making it for himself, and a college press bureau deeming the fact worthy of a place in its news bulletin. What motive prompted this student to look into the First Part of "Henry IV" does not appear—we can only conjecture that it was to be played in the town or at the college—but he came across this passage:

Worcester:
I'll read you matter deep and dangerous.
As full of peril and adventurous spirit
As to o'erwalk a current roaring loud,
On the unsteady footing of a spear.

Hotspur:
If he fall in, good night!

So this was Shakespeare! The student turned the pages with a zest hitherto aroused only by Kipling and Conan Doyle, and at last was rewarded with another gem of poetry in "The Comedy of Errors," where Luciana exclaims: "Fire! Beat it hence!" Continued search revealed new oases in the desert, but the lucky undergraduate's regret at not having paid closer attention to the course in Shakespeare is mitigated by his mingled wonder and resentment over the failure of the professor to lay emphasis upon the poet's best lines.—Exchange spread over them, and no this layer eggs are also placed, and the tub is filled in this way until there are six layers of rice and five of eggs, making 500 eggs in all in the tub.

Every twenty-four hours the rice has to be heated, and for this purpose the eggs have to be removed, the bottom layer this time being replaced on top and the other layers one row lower down, the eggs that occupied the central position in the tub now being placed at the edges.

There is some difficulty in gauging the exact time at which the eggs will hatch, and unless care is taken some of the young ones are likely to be smothered. This is, of course, the point at which the ability of the expert is shown.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
 By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.
 You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, silky, glossy, and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

COUNCIL REFUSES SIX WARD DIVISION

BOUCHARD MOTION DEFEATED BY VOTE OF FOURTEEN TO FIVE.

After considerable debating at a special meeting of the City Council convened last night to discuss the motion of Ald. Bouchard to divide the City into six Wards instead of eight, as already decided by the Council, the six ward proposition was voted down on a division of 14 to 5, as were also two motions of Ald. Dussault (Belvedere) to have the residential ward which he represents maintain its integral identity as a ward of the City.

As a result of the decision of the Council last night the eight ward division stands, as far as the Council is concerned and unless some higher authority intervenes, as has been intimated, the next elections in February 1918 will see the City with eight wards instead of thirteen and the number of aldermen eight instead of twenty-five.

The eight-ward division which has been approved by the Council is as follows:—

- 1—Champlain and St. Peter's with a part of St. Roch's and Jacques Cartier as far west as Bridge street.
- 2—The remainder of St. Roch's and Jacques Cartier Wards as far west as Boulevard Langelier.
- 3—St. Valier with part of St. Malo ward.
- 4—St. Sauveur with the remainder of St. Malo ward.
- 5—Limoulin Ward.
- 6—St. Louis, Palais and parts of St. John's and Montcalm Wards as far west as St. Augustin streets.
- 7—St. John's Ward west of St. Augustin street with the part of Belvedere Ward north of St. Foye Road.
- 8—Montcalm Ward, west of St. Augustin street, with the part of Belvedere Ward south of St. Foye Road.

Ald. Verret, who had adjourned the debate at the previous meeting on the motion of Ald. Bouchard for the six-ward division, had the floor last night when the meeting opened. Pro-Mayor Bedard presided over the meeting in the absence of Mayor Lavigne, owing to the death of his infant daughter.

The Leader of the Council argued in favor of the six-ward division maintaining that it was more equitable and that with a lesser number of aldermen more practical work would be accomplished. Taking up some statements made by Ald. Dussault (Belvedere) at the previous meeting, Ald. Verret affirmed that the City had carried out all its promises to Belvedere Ward and up to last spring had spent $450,000 in that division instead of the $250,000 agreed at the time of the annexation of the Town of Montcalm.

Alderman Galibois, Dussault (St. Louis) and Martin spoke in favor of the eight-ward division.

As the vote was being called Ald. Dussault (Belvedere) moved seconded by Ald. Mercier, in amendment to the Bouchard motion, that the City be divided into seven wards with Belvedere as the seventh ward. Speaking on his amendment Ald. Dussault (Belvedere) reaffirmed what he had stated at a previous meeting that if Belvedere did not remain an integral division it would mean the tearing up of the contract which the City had made with the Town of Montcalm and the Council would thereby deny its signature. He quoted figures to show how the revenue from Belvedere Ward was increasing and stated that the City had not spent the sum of 450,000, mentioned by Ald. Verret, on Belvedere Ward alone.

Ald. Verret reaffirmed that the sum of $450,000 had been spent on Belvedere Ward up to the 1st of May last, and, besides, the City had paid the apparent debts of Belvedere which had amounted to $230,000 and other debts which had come in after annexation which brought the total debt of the new ward paid by the city up to $307,000.00.

Ald. Dussault and Ald. Mercier, the mover and seconder of the amendment to have Belvedere as a seventh ward were alone to support their amendment, and the Bouchard motion for six wards was also defeated as already stated.

A notice of motion was then given by Ald. Dussault (Belvedere) that the Mayor petition the Legislature to have a nine-ward division with Belvedere as the ninth ward. A motion to adjourn the Council until Friday, the 24th, which would mean the postponement of Ald. Dussault's motion for more than a week, was strongly opposed by the representatives of Belvedere Ward, but the Council decided by a vote of 13 to 3 to adjourn to the 24th, instant.

Condole With Mayor.
 On motion of Ald. Verret seconded by Ald. Fiset a resolution of condolence was passed extending the sympathy of the Council to His Worship Mayor Lavigne and Madame the Mayoress in the loss which they have sustained through the death of their infant daughter.

WANTS INFORMATION.
 Council Delays Payment of Bonus to City Controller for Extra Work.

At the meeting of the City Council last night, Ald. Fiset objected to the report of the Finance Committee recommending the payment of a bonus of one hundred dollars to the City Controller for extra work. The representative of St. Valier Ward said that the Committee had acted on a letter received from the Controller and had granted him a hearing before the Committee when another employee, whom the controller attacked, had not been granted a hearing. He moved that the report be sent back to the committee and that both employees be heard.

The contract with the Harbor Commission concerning water rates was ratified.

TODAY IS BIRTHDAY OF BELGIAN KING.

Today, November 15th, is the Birthday of King Albert of Belgium the Sovereign of that nation of noble men, who when the German Army swept into Belgium two and a half years ago, drew his sword and said, "For us there can be no other answer."

King Albert and his consort are still in the field, he at the head of his shattered little army, she, doing the work that only a woman can do. Isolated from this king and his army are seven million of his subjects—mostly women and children, the women and children, of Belgium's soldiers—subjected to German Rule, being starved, mal-treated and driven slowly toward death. Among them is another army, the army of Belgium Relief workers, attempting to save their lives. These workers and Belgian's king expect the allies of this little nation to help these people.

Let our answer be as prompt and effectual as that uttered by him the day the Germans began their march towards Britain, the advance which he and his men defeated. Let us draw—not the sword, but the purse strings—and also say, "For us there can be no other answer but to help." The Belgian Relief Committee in Quebec, or the Central committee, 59 St. Peter Street, Montreal, awaits this decision.

WEDDING BELLS.

A pretty wedding took place yesterday morning in the New St. Patrick's Church, Grande Allee, when Miss Katie Murphy, daughter of the late Mr. James Murphy, became the wife of Mr. Phillip Farrell. The bride, who wore a brown travelling costume, was given away by her brother, Mr. Arthur Murphy, of Montreal, while the bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Robert Farrell. Subsequent to the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Farrell left on a honeymoon trip to Pittsburgh and Montreal. The happy couple were the recipients of a large number of beautiful wedding gifts.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 13.—Charles H. Weeghman was re-elected president of the Chicago National League Club at its annual meeting here today. It was said that the question of a club manager was not raised at the meeting, which was taken to mean that Joe Tinker would serve again in that capacity.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.
Philadelphia, Pa.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.
Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The man facturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in a most every family." W. Brunet & Co. sell it.

Judgments—Insolvency.

Barbeau vs. Paquet et al. Judgment against defendants, jointly and severally, for $10.15, interest and costs.
Quebec County Realty Company, Limited, vs. Simard. Defendant is condemned to pay plaintiff $230, interest and cost.

By Hon. Justice McCorkill:
Armand Lavergne vs. The Chronicle Printing Company. Whereas plaintiff alleges, in substance, that he is a member of the Bar of the Province and resides in Quebec, that he is a peaceful citizen, enjoyed and enjoys the esteem and consideration of his fellow citizens; that defendant publishes said newspaper, "The Quebec Chronicle," which has a circulation in the city and district of Quebec; that on the 17th of May, 1916, an injurious article was published against him, said article published without reason or provocation, it attacks him outrageously and injuriously; that said article is of a nature to do great injury to plaintiff's reputation and that it has injured him in his reputation and caused him damages, which for the purposes of said case, and with his said purpose of rehabilitating his honor, he reduces to the sum of $100.00; whereas defendant contests the action, denying that plaintiff is a peaceable citizen and enjoys the esteem and consideration of his fellow citizens; on the contrary, it avers that because of plaintiff's public utterances on the subject of enlistment for the war and subscriptions to the Patriotic Fund, reproduced in the press of the Province, plaintiff does not enjoy the esteem and consideration of a large number of the citizens of the Province, and that said utterances have brought down upon him the well-merited condemnation of large numbers of people. Doth dismiss defendant's plea; doth maintain said action and doth adjudge and condemn defendant to pay and satisfy to plaintiff the sum of $100, with interest from the date of service of the action, and doth condemn defendant to publish in his said journal, on the editorial page thereof, a full report of the present judgment, with costs against the defendant.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More.

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Most thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are, when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, much of the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal, amount of fat, the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can probably best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a careful combination of six splendid assimilative agents. Taken with meals they mix with the food to turn the fattening strength-giving material of what you have eaten into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and the blood and its rapid effect has been in many cases reported remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by all druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

If you find a druggist who is unable to supply you with Sargol send $1.00 money order or registered letter to the National Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, and a complete ten days treatment will be sent you postpaid in plain wrapper.

SUBMARINES KNOWN IN 17TH CENTURY.

Alexander Used Under Sea Craft During the Siege of Tyre—Also Utilized in 1537.

According to researches which have been made by a French professor, it would appear that submarines have almost as hoary a past as aeroplanes, which, as is well known involved ideas which are centuries old. It appears that submarines were built as early as the beginning of the seventeenth century. The origin of the invention is older still. Aristotle tells how Alexander the Great made use of submarines during the siege of Tyre, more than three hundred years before Christ.

A Dutchman named Cornelius Van Drebbel astounded London in 1620 with a submarine that held twelve oarsmen and some passengers, among whom was King James I.

Previous to this, in 1534, a monk suggested the idea that a ship be constructed of metal so as to be watertight and able to resist the pressure of water. A submarine was constructed according to the monk's idea and was shown to be practicable to a certain degree.

LINER ARRIVED HERE
YESTERDAY WITH PAS-

Two hundred and forty-six passengers, including three officers and 94 of other ranks, Canadians on active service arrived on the White Star-Dominion Line SS. Northland

the fact that stormy weather was encountered the vessel made a fairly fast trip from Liverpool. The port she left on the 4th. The Northland is in command of Captain R. O.
Jones. This, her last inward trip of the season, to Quebec, was made without any unusual incident.

The Northland proceeded to Mon-

WELL KNOWN SHIP CAPTAIN IS DEAD.

Commander of Allan Liners Passed Away in Scotland.

Large numbers of Canadians, whose experience of ocean travel extend back more than six or seven years, will hear with regret that Captain Andrew G. Braes, best known here through his long connection with the Allan Line as commander of the Parisian and Tunisian, died at Fernhill, Pollokshields, Scotland, on Saturday, October 28th. He came into the service of the Allan Line when the latter purchased the State Line running between Glasgow and New York. He had been commodore captain of the State Line, being in command of the State of California up to 24 years ago, and he had been with the State Line from its inception in 1880. Afterwards he was in command of the Allan liner Mongolian, and with this steamship he spent a year and a half in service connected with the Boer War. Then he commanded in turn

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know someone who is troubled with head noises, or Catarrhal Deafness, cut out this formula, and hand it to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness.
Recent experiments have proved conclusively that Catarrhal Deafness, head noises, etc., were the direct cause of constitutional disease, and that salves, sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporize with the complaint and seldom, if ever, effect a permanent cure. This being so, much time and money has been spent; of late by a noted specialist in perfecting a pure, gentle, yet effective, salve that would quickly dispel all traces of the catarrhal condition from the system.
The effective prescription which was eventually formulated, and which has aroused the belief that deafness will soon be extinct, is given below in an understandable form, so that any one can treat themselves in their own home at little expense.

Secure from your druggist 1 oz.
Parment (Double Strength), about 75c.
worth. Take this home and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved.
Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking,
etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat, are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrh poison, and which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety-nine per cent. of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh; therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial.

Important Note: In ordering Par-ment always specify that you want double strength. Your druggist has it or he can easily get it for you. If not send 75c. postal note or money order, to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, Que., Can., and they will supply you.

The Parisian and the Tunisian until five years ago the health of his wife more than his own decided him to retire. If he had remained it is an open secret that he would have commanded one of the Allan Line's most modern steamships. About three years ago he became ill, and it was discovered that he had heart trouble.
The final end was therefore not unexpected.

Captain Braes had an enviable reputation with the travelling public.
According to men who knew him he was so markedly a man and a gentleman that his society was sought by men of good taste. He had a host of friends, and he was always ready to act the part of a friend. He died at about 70 years of age.

Running Colds Cured!
Sneezing Stopped Instantly

The worst of a cold is how suddenly it comes. No time to hurry to the drug store, croup develops, the lungs are affected with pneumonia or tuberculosis and it's too late. Keep Cattarhazone on hand—it kills colds instantly. Something magical about the way it cures catarrh and bronchitis. Catarrhazone is the best remedy because it cures in nature's way;
it heats, soothes and restores permanently. Carry a Catarrhazone inhaler in your pocket, use it occasionally and you'll never catch cold—that's worth remembering.

Beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Cattarhazone which is sold everywhere, large size containing two months treatment, costs $1.00; small size, 50c;
sample size, 25c.

Closing Letters
By the Can. Press

(Canadian Press)
New York, Nov. 14.—Rails were almost the only laggards in today's broad and active market, being held in check by a renewal of the threatening attitude of the railroad brotherhoods. A few specialties, mostly of the semi-dormant variety, also displayed a reactionary tendency, particularly American Linseed issues, the pfd. losing eight points after announcement of the restoration of dividends on a 3 per cent basis and the common four points.
Trading during the first half of the session was marked by a series of declines and advances, which again denoted the uncertain temper of the professional element. In the final hour, however, the entire list rose briskly, even rails regaining much of their loss. The recovery was led by United States Steel at an extreme gain of 2-7/8 points to 123 1-2, with heavy buying of motors, the shipping shares, coppers and equipments, chief among these being New York Air Brake, which made an advance of 14 3-8 points on reports indicating a substantial disbursement to shareholders.
The more important new recoveries of the day, embraced Lackawanna Steel at 98 1-8, Atlantic Gulf and West Indies at 122, Miami Copper at 43 5-8, American Writing Paper Pfd. at 62 5-8, Union Bag and Paper at 128 1-2, Detroit United Railways at 120 1-8 and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore at 129 1-2.
Central Leather was again the weak feature of the opening, adding 3-8 points to its new recent reversal at 102 1-2, but recovering to 109 3-4 and closing at a 2 3-8 net gain. The rise in Mexicans had its basis in reports of improvement in the Mexican situation, American Smelting gaining 3-8 with four for Mexican Petroleum and 2-1/2 for Texas Company.
Virginia Iron, Marine's, United Fruit, Crucible, Sloss Sheffield and Gulf States Steel's and Ohio Gas scored gross gains of 2 to 7 1-2 points. The movement in the motor group served to dispell recent rumors of over-production in that industry. Total sales 1,700,000 shares.
Bonds were irregular at the outset, but strengthened later, the feature being a 4 1-2 point rise in American Smelters 6's. Total sales, par value, amounted to $5,300,000.
United States coupon 4's declined 3-8 of one per cent.

NEW YORK MARKET.
(By Bruneau & Dupuis)
The local market was quite satisfactory this forenoon, the opening being about at the level which last night's market closed, and thereafter firmness developed in a number of issues and after the first hour the tendency of prices was rather upward toward the close, some issues were a little below the high of the day, but practically all were above the opening prices. Steel of Canada made a strong demonstration and steamships was being actively purchased. Detroit United advanced to 119 and closed at the top. Dominion Steel gained a full point from the opening. Wayagmack Pulp closed 2 points above the low of the day. The action of the market this afternoon caused much satisfaction to holders of stocks. The firmness of the later forenoon was held and prices of Dominion Steel were bettered as were those of Steel of Canada and others.

Nov. 14th.—The stock market during the early hours was under pressure, but declines were limited. The Mexican stocks were higher. Rails sold off 1 to 1 1/2. In the last hour buying orders came in and prices recovered all along the line. U. S. Steel was a feature 3 1/4 points from the low. Shorts bought and rails rallied sharply. Air Brake was up 15 points and Atlantic Gulf West Indies Shipping Company was 6 1-2. Market closed strong at the top.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Wheat—Talk about an embargo is plentiful this week. It would seem reasonable to expect the 1916 crop to be adequate for domestic food and seed requirements at or above the present level of values, because of reduced consumption, due to high prices. We think an embargo, before we have cleared 120,000,000 bushels of wheat would be premature, unfair to the producer and therefore, improbable.
Corn—Bulls are counting on present scarcity of supplies on a serious car shortage during the winter months. We can not feel that the maintenance of dollar corn during the winter is either reasonable or probable.
Oats—Oats are relatively the cheapest of all grains.

New York, Nov. 14.—The market opened weak but soon after the initial dealings it commenced to be whispered around that great discrepancies had been found by the official count in California and later on it was asserted that the state had gone for Hughes by 7,000 votes.
This caused the market to stiffen up materially and at present writing it is still strong, with all sorts of rumors of bets being made in favor of Hughes once more. The writer fears that, wonderful and desirable as such a result would be, but the story is neither accurate or well founded. Would that it were. Certainly, it would mean a great deal to the country.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Quite a little trading is going on off the exchange in a number of issues which have been making a good showing of late. It is understood that considerable interest is being taken in Wabaso Cotton quotations on which are given as ranging from 20 to 22.
There also is some interest in St. Maurice Valley six per cent bonds at around 77 1-2 to 80.
St. Lawrence flour has dropped away for the time being. Considerable flour seems to be offering at 40 but buyers do not seem prepared to concede more than 36. Abitibi issues are strong, with 67 1-2 to 70 quoted for the common and 89 to 91 for the Preferred, with 21 p.c. accumulated dividend up to the end of the year.
Holders of Howard Smith Common are asking 80, the price of the new issue, but buyers are looking for the stock at 78 1-2. The Preferred, with 7 p.c. cumulated dividends now due, is quoted at 100 asked, although it is understood that some has been bought at 95 and under. Asbestos issues are strong, particularly the Preferred upon which it is rumored a dividend may be forthcoming before a great length of time. Ten days ago it was 41 and 50 is now being bid. The common is about 25.

the dealings were attributed to professional operations. From the action of the market it was apparent that sentiment was still in a rather confused state with but little demand for stocks from public sources. Indications pointed strongly to a continuance of the wavering attitude on the part of outside interests, which attitude has taken definite form since the outcome of the National political election. We look for the market to continue irregular, pending opportunities for quick profits only.

THE FIRE INSURANCE
RATES IN QUEBEC

A Gross Exaggeration of Facts as Reported in "Le Soleil"

Quebec, Nov. 11th, 1916.

Editor, Chronicle:

Dear Sir,—In the columns of your esteemed contemporary "Le Soleil" of the 3rd inst., there appeared a report of a meeting under the presidency of Ald. Verret, in which a glowing but unfortunately, a grossly misleading account of the reduction in the fire insurance rates was declared. Le Soleil reporter no doubt gave a faithful report of the proceedings, but the statements cited are mere fabrications as I shall prove, and apparently intended to justify Ald. Verret and Ald.
Lockwell to bolster up their plea for the further expenditure of $15,000 for more fire equipments. The article in Le Soleil is headed: "Insurance
Rates: For Some Years Insurance Rates Greatly decreased—a reduction of 40 per cent."

Further on the article states:
"Figures have been produced at the request of Ald. Lockwell, incontestably establishing that a diminution in the rates annually amounted to $50,000 or in four years to $200,000, which is tantamount to a reduction of $40 per $100 in the rates." Talk about throwing dust with a vengeance in the people's eyes! Where does the 40 per cent. reduction come in?

I defy any insurance man and Ald.
Lockwell and Ald. Verret to boot, to show that there has been a reduction of more than 10 per cent., and I consider it an extraordinary state of affairs that Ald. Lockwell should hold the position of president of the Fire Committee, associated as he is in that capacity with the Fire Underwriters and as a member of a Fire Insurance Agency. Ald. Lockwell cannot serve two masters—he cannot serve the Quebec Public and at the same time serve one of the worst trusts existing in this country—The Canadian Fire Underwriters Association.

It is said on very conservative authority that the premiums collected in this city yearly by these Fire Insurance Companies are at least $500,000.
If a reduction of 10 per cent. thereon has been given for the $2,000,000 expended on the Fire Brigade and on the water mains there would have been a yearly decrease in the rates of $50,000—which is an absurdly inadequate reduction considering the extensive improvements carried on within the last ten years; and considering, too, the autocratic and arbitrary demands of these Fire Underwriters. An all-round reduction of 50 per cent. when these vast improvements were to be effected was what the Underwriters' emissaries promised when they visited Quebec. This 50 per cent. reduction would have constituted a rate even higher than that charged in all the cities of New England States, the premium rates charged there being half of what is imposed on Quebec policyholders.

I will now conclude by asking one very pertinent question from Aldermen Lockwell and Verret. Why does not J. E. Bergeron, the accountant, Quebec Fire Department, give the premium income of the companies as well as the insurance losses? No fear of that. The Fire Underwriters have peremptorily refused the Secretary of the Board of Trade to furnish the income received in Quebec. If these Underwriters showed what was the income and what the outgo in Quebec
I have not the shadow of a doubt it would confirm my convictions many times expressed in your journal that

AT THE VICTORIA.

Splendid Features for the Balance of
This Week Today and Tomorrow,
"ONE DAY."

The most beautiful love romance ever written sequel to Elinor Glyn's famous "Three Weeks."

If you saw "Three Weeks" it is an extra reason why you should see
"One Day."

Week-end Friday and Saturday, Pauline Frederick will be seen at her best in "Ashes of Embers."
It would seem to the casual observer that it was quite enough to ask of any motion picture star that she play two roles at once on the screen. Not only did Pauline Frederick accomplish this difficult feat in the Famous Players-Paramount production "Ashes of Embers" in which she is starring at the Victoria Friday and Saturday. This is what she did all at one time in her dressing room while this production was in progress—interviewed a reporter, posed for an artist to sketch her profile, entertained a visitor, instructed her maid concerning the gowns she was to wear that day, gave her chauffeur orders about her car and coached Maurice and Florence Walton in the art of making up for the screen preparatory to their first appearance in motion pictures in "The Quest of Life." The rest of her time was her own.

Quebec City is one of the richest harvest fields for their exploitations. I shall, in another letter, produce documentary evidence of the methods devised by the Canadian Fire Underwriters to levy exorbitant rates on Quebec property holders. I shall also submit the remedy that the Ontario Government is about to adopt at its next session against the injustice and tyranny practiced by the Canadian Fire Underwriters Association.
That Ald. Verret who posed as a preacher of civic thrift and economy before his election and appointment as President of the Finance Committee should now, like Ald. Lockwell, be so very generous with other people's money, to wit, the taxpayers, and be ready to vote away $20,000 more for flying machines, motorcycles, etc., when a huge deficit in our civic finances has been declared, is scarcely to be wondered at.

Our Fire Department as presently manned, equipped and maintained, is adequate for any city of 200,000 population—but that won't satisfy Ald.
Lockwell, the obedient servant of the Fire Underwriters, and, at the same time, paradoxical as it may appear,
President of the Quebec Fire Committee.

Yours truly,

M. MONAGHAN.

Every Wage Earner

Should Answer Question

Himself or Herself

WHAT DOES THE FUTURE
HOLD FOR YOU IF HEALTH
GIVES WAY?

In dollars and cents, what is the worth of the brawn of your arm;
what is the value of the staying power that permits continuous labor—what are they worth to you?

Suppose you did something so foolish as to reduce your strength, vitality or judgment one half, and it were impossible to get them back—how much would you pay to regain the lost portion?

When you let yourself run down,
you reduce your chances for success in life—if sleeplessness comes you score lower still—should appetite or digestion fail, you are stared in the face by physical bankruptcy.

Don't let it go so far, take Ferro-zone, it has cured thousands and it will cure you; it builds up bodily strength, makes muscles like steel, replaces Spring tiredness by energy and new life. Ferrozone rebuilds sick folks because it contains the strengthening elements that every run-down system requires.

Especially before the hot weather comes, everyone needs a purifying tonic—Ferrozone fills the bill exactly —nothing known that juvenates and uplifts so fast.

At once the appetite improves. You rest well and arise next morning feeling fit and fine.

Headaches disappear, weakness gives way to the vigor that only Ferro-zone can supply. Try it, results are guaranteed, 50c. per box or six for $2.50 at all dealers or by mail to any address if price is remitted to the Catarrozone Co., Kingston, Ontario.

RETURNED HERO IS

Huntsville, Ont., Nov. 13—"Bert" Bell, son of W. T. Bell, of this town, who left his home in a canoe on Saturday night, is thought to have been drowned in Vernon Lake. The upturned canoe was found today. Bell was a member of the first Canadian contingent and came back invalided some months ago.
