Goldbloom says

May take years for ET cleanup

By PAUL TROLLOPE

NORTH HATLEY — The state of Eastern Townships lakes and rivers leaves "much to be desired" and it may be "years and years" before they are all cleaned up, Dr. Victor Goldbloom said here Saturday.

Addressing the annual conference of the Eastern Townships Regional Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Goldbloom, provincial minister without portfolio responsible for the state of the environment, said that his government will be studying three Eastern Townships lakes—Brome, Memphremagog and Massawippi—this summer, and that modernized, coherent laws providing fines and directives are required to rectify the problem of pollution.

"But this is not enough," he said. "There is a point of no return awaiting us sometime in the future — we have not passed it yet, despite what some people say—and we must solicit the cooperation of everyone in order to combat pollution."

At the same time, though, the minister admonished the chamber that anti-pollution action must not be done "in a haphazard and emotional way...it is not enough to declare that 'the picture is bad and leave it that...the department has to go beyond this kind of thing."

Dr. Goldbloom said that the population of the area must assume the responsibility for eliminating the pollution they have created, and encouraged the work of such lobby groups as citizens' associations, chambers of commerce and water protection associations.

"We must primarily assure that our water quality is safe for maintaining human health," he added.

Dr. Goldbloom went on to explain the handicaps his department faces in battling pollution, since he has a staff of only 200, compared to 2,000 in Ontario and the federal government department's force of 13,000.

Also, he said, there are many important gaps in our knowledge of harmful substances, and this particular problem is in need of an "urgent approach."

E.T. REPORT

Driver robbed by hitchhiker

WINDSOR (PT) — All police forces in Sherbrooke and region are on the lookout for a hitchhiker who robbed a man of his wallet containing $20, identification and credit cards, when the latter stopped to give him a ride.

At about 11:30 p.m. Friday night, a motorist who was travelling with two companions stopped in Bromptonville to pick up a hitchhiker. Shortly afterwards, the driver and his friends were menaced and threatened by the youth, Windsor police told The Record.

The incident occurred within the town limits of Windsor, in the area known as St-Gabriel.

The identification and credit cards of the other two passengers were also stolen.

Although it is not known whether the hitchhiker was armed, Windsor police were told that he made continual menacing motions with his arm, as if he had a gun concealed inside his jacket.

There was no violence involved in the incident. The unwelcome rider ordered the car stopped and fled in the direction of Richmond.

Casualties still recovering

SHERBROOKE (PT) — Three out of eight of last weekend's traffic casualties are still in hospital. Five have died.

Still recovering from their respective accidents are Fernand Prinsence, Francis Brousseau and Mme. Jeanne Laventure.

Prinsence and Brousseau were involved in a Sunday-night accident on route 50 which killed two persons. They are in satisfactory condition at the Centre Hospitalier Universitaire.

Mme. Laventure, injured in the three-death Rock Forest accident on Bourque Boulevard last Saturday morning, is in good condition at St-Vincent-de-Paul Hospital.

At least two of the three survivors are expected to be released from hospital very soon.

Accident claims man's life

MAGOG (PT) — A Magog sexagenarian lost his life early Friday evening on the Eastern Townships autoroute while walking across the highway to get to his garden, situated on the opposite side of the road from his home.

At about 8:00 p.m., Albert Seymour, 68, was hit by a car driven by Paul-Andre Faucher, 21, of Magog.

Seymour was pronounced dead on arrival at La Providence Hospital in Magog.

Two injured in mishaps

ROCK FOREST (PT) — Two accidents caused as many injuries Friday here, the first of which occurred when a car struck a five-year-old girl in front of 5089 Fontaine Street.

Carol Frappier, of that address, was taken to St-Vincent-de-Paul Hospital in Sherbrooke, where it was determined that she had suffered a mild hemorrhage. Her condition is not serious.

Serge Simoneau, 30, of 515 Desranleau in Ormerville, was on his way to work when the girl ran across the road. Apparently, he said, she had been called to supper by her mother.

One of her friends told her not to cross before the school bus had passed, and Carole obeyed, but evidently did not look to see if any other vehicles were approaching. The collision was inevitable.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT

William Wood, 22, of R. R. 1, Cookshire, also suffered bruises when he was hit by a car about an hour later on Bourque Boulevard, in front of the Cine-Parc Rock Forest.

He was transported to Sherbrooke Hospital by ambulance.

The accident occurred when the driver of the car in which Wood was a passenger had to stop the vehicle because smoke was coming out of the radiator.

Wood got out of the car to open the hood of the car and was overpowered by a very strong gas, which caused him to fall onto the highway, where he was hit by an oncoming car.

Vernon Packard, 56, of 33 Lorne Street, Lennoxville, was driving the second car, and said he could not help hitting Wood.

ALL THAT REMAINS — Town of Brome Lake, Cowansville and Waterloo firemen were called out at 11:15 a.m. Saturday when a fire broke out at Mountain View Lodge, a summer tourist resort in the Town of Brome Lake. The blaze broke out at the rear of the building near the kitchen area. Firemen could not save the structure which was termed a complete loss.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONFERENCE

Social security expected to override other issues

VICTORIA (CP) — Despite an outward atmosphere of calm, tension gripped the federal-provincial constitutional conference Sunday night on the eve of its formal opening.

Several senior delegates said that the nub of the conference is how far Ottawa feels it can go to meet Quebec's demands for full jurisdiction in the field of social security.

And how much Quebec might be prepared to settle for.

Premier William Davis of Ontario and his attorney-general, Allan Lawrence, strolled in snappy sports clothes in the lobby of the Empress Hotel.

They chatted warmly with other premiers and delegates as they arrived.

Upstairs, Prime Minister Trudeau prepared to entertain the premiers at dinner in his suite.

The dinner might well decide the outcome of the conference, but when it broke up Sunday night, there were no statements from the prime minister or the premiers.

Mr. Davis said he had nothing to add to his previous comments.

Premier Robert Bourassa stayed later than the others, but he also left the suite without further comment.

Mr. Trudeau worked most of the weekend here at a private residence with Gordon Robertson, secretary of the federal cabinet.

Conference sources said that if Quebec gains control of social security—family allowances, health services, old age pensions, unemployment insurance and the like—other provinces would expect the same.

If both Quebec and Ontario set up their own social security systems, a Maritime delegate said, Ottawa would lose interest in keeping up its system in the less wealthy provinces.

It would be worse than that, a senior Ontario source said.

It would mean that Ottawa would no longer be able to set national standards in social services and, in effect, would be emasculated.

Quebec is insisting that it needs control over social security problems to maintain and develop the French culture. A Quebec spokesman said the province is not asking other provinces to join it or set up their own systems.

Social security may come up at the conference as early as Tuesday and Claude Castonguay, Quebec social affairs minister, may open the discussion.

Mr. Castonguay is reported to be taking a hard line with the federal government and with the other provinces on the main Quebec demand.

Mr. Trudeau has promised co-operation with any province wishing to set up its own social security system. But he has also said that

Ottawa cannot abandon its role of setting national standards in this field.

Mr. Trudeau maintains that the federal government must have the authority to make direct social security payments to all Canadians.

The social security issue is, as expected, overriding the technical problem before the conference: the precise wording of a constitutional amending formula and of several items to be entrenched in a repatriated constitution, including civil liberties and language rights.

Nearly every delegation said it intends to play the conference by ear.

"We'll wait and see what Quebec says," was an oft-repeated phrase.

Mr. Trudeau arrived here Friday night. Most other delegates came in Sunday.

Three Atlantic Liberal premiers—Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia, Joseph R. Smallwood of Newfoundland and Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island — travelled here with four federal cabinet ministers. The latter were Justice Minister John Turner, Regional Economic Expansion Minister Jean Marchand, Works Minister Arthur Laing and Senator Paul Martin, government leader in the Senate.

Temporary injunction forces workers back

MONTREAL (CP) — Labor Minister Jean Cournoyer was to meet with Hydro-Quebec officials today following a court injunction Friday which forced striking hydroelectric workers to return to their jobs.

The full force of 12,000 workers were expected back on the job today. The partial weekend staff returned without incident Saturday.

The striking workers were ordered back when Mr. Cournoyer announced the signing of a temporary injunction forcing them to return. The injunction, effective until Thursday, ordered "an immediate stop to all illegal acts, walkouts, strikes or slowdowns."

Officials of the Canadian Union of Public Employees met Sunday and claimed the impending meeting as a victory for the union.

"We know the minister will meet the opposing parties and we expect to see the results of his intervention by the end of the day," the CUPE said in a statement.

RULED ILLEGAL

The strike, ruled illegal because the current contract does not expire until December, began

Tuesday when 4,200 installation and maintenance workers represented by the CUPE, walked out to protest lagging negotiations over job reclassification.

They were joined by other employees in subsequent days until Friday when Hydro-Quebec gave a holiday to the few who did report to work.

The CUPE statement expressed delight over solidarity shown by different workers at the public utility. The installation workers are affiliated with the Quebec Federation of Labor, while their white collar counterparts belong to a union affiliated with the Confederation of National Trade Unions.

News Saturday that repair crews were beginning work in Montreal and the Laurentians was welcomed by hundreds of families, some of which had been without electrical power for four days.

Although the repairmen's union promised to maintain reduced emergency repairs, Hydro-Quebec reported that strikers were interfering with attempts to restore power to areas hit by blackouts.

Four infants remain

SYDNEY, Australia (CP) — Three of the seven surviving Brodrick nontuplets died Sunday night, and the condition of three more is causing concern, it was announced today.

A bulletin released by the Royal Hospital for Women in Sydney said those who died were two boys and a girl.

The two boys were the fourth and fifth born and the girl was the seventh born.

Two of the nine babies born early Sunday to Geraldine Brodrick, a 29-year-old Canberra housewife, were still born.

The four surviving infants are three girls and a boy.

They weigh between one and two pounds. Their mother is well and "catching up on some sleep," doctors said.

She has not seen the babies who are in incubators.

The five boys and four girls were born naturally in 32 minutes just before dawn Sunday in what was described as a record multiple birth. Two of the boys were stillborn.

Mrs. Brodrick had taken fertility drugs to correct a hormonal disorder.

Doctors would not comment on the chances for the survivors.

Soon after the births, Dr. John Greenwell, medical superintendent of the hospital, said: "Danger to the babies is not small. The next 48 hours are critical."

Mrs. Brodrick and her meat-salesman husband Len, 32, have two other children — Belinda, 5, and Jacqueline, 4 — both born by Caesarean section.

Quebec policies reviewed by ET Liberal association

DRUMMONDVILLE (PT) — Three hundred Liberals from eight counties in the Bois-Francs region of the province assembled here Saturday for a congress which had as its theme Let's Build Together.

Participants engaged in discussion in four workshops, entitled Agriculture, Social Affairs, Political Affairs and Regional Economic Development.

The guests, members of the various provincial departments, had to answer a barrage of questions from citizens who wanted first-hand information on various government policies.

Some 200 persons were present at the agricultural workshop, presided over by the minister of agriculture Normand Toupin, who explained the purposes of animal sickness insurance.

He also justified the position his government has taken vis-a-vis Bill C-176 (agricultural marketing).

Marketing problems and their effects on different types of farming were also discussed.

For his part, Dr. Robert Quenneville of the ministry of social affairs explained to members of the Liberal associations present the path the government was taking in the health insurance plan.

Questioned as to what demands minister Claude Castonguay will submit at the Victoria federal-provincial constitutional conference this week, Dr. Quenneville said that the demands presented would do no more or less than "respond to the particular needs of the people of Quebec" and "prevent an increase in costs."

In the meantime, under the chairmanship of member for St-Jean, Jacques Veilleux, the workshop on political affairs also raised the question of Quebec's representations to the federal-provincial conference.

Participants in this seminar on the whole favored the principle of distribution of federal funds following the equalization system, rather than the recuperation of funds by the provincial governments.

By the recuperation method, they calculated, Quebec would lose from $40 to $45 million per year. According to the delegates, Quebec is a "poor" province which stands to gain most from the equalization method.

The association members also realized that making French the working language of the province would not solve the language problems presently existing in the province, nor would it necessarily ensure the survival of the French language and culture in Canada.

They decided that by respecting and making others respect the French language in their everyday life, the Quebec people would ensure the survival of their language.

Finally, in the workshop discussing regional economic development, minister Gilles Masse and deputies Marcel Ostiguy (Rouville), Benjamin Faucher (Yamaska) and Fernand Cornilier (St-Hyacinthe) clarified various portions of Bills 20 and 21, which attempt to help the establishment of new industries in local areas, or the expansion of existing enterprises.

Minister Masse emphasized that along with these governmental measures, it is essential that local chambers of commerce and other organizations show a progressive, dynamic nature which is conducive to economic development.

For his part, Rouville deputy Marcel Ostiguy, who has spent the past year pushing for the legalization of cider-making, announced that the first Quebec cider factory, La Cidreterie du Quebec Ltée., has just been established in Rougemont.

According to Mr. Ostiguy, the creation of this company, worth about a million dollars, will directly create some 200 new jobs, and indirectly open up more than 1,000.

The assembly was closed by Lise Bacon, president of the Quebec Liberal Federation, who congratulated the liberal delegates for having turned out in such numbers in answer to the party's call.

Miss Bacon said that the desire of citizens to participate in the affairs of their province is very conducive to the idea of holding regional rallies such as the one in Drummondville, and hoped that all Quebecers would take an example from their fellow citizens of the Bois-Francs region to take an active part in the life and future of Quebec.

NEW TOWN DESIGN — Fermont, the new community being designed and built for Quebec Cartier Mining at Mont Wright, Quebec, is an advanced concept in northern town plan-

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19) — Live on decisions on someone else's say-so. Search out your own facts diligently and in unlikely places.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — An unexpected compliment gives your morale a welcome lift and you're ready to "show the world."

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Discuss the possibilities of advancement as opposed to the advisability of making a change right now.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — Routine should go along fine, but this is not a particularly auspicious time to launch new projects.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Stimulating conversation will liven up the evening. Take a nap before going out so you'll be full of pep.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Take extra pains to avoid controversial subjects, especially with stubborn, hardheaded people.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — It's time to move up in the world and Librans are ready for the big chance if they have the nerve.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Some problems with locating things, such as lost objects, shopping lists, misplaced tools and equipment, and the like.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Physical endeavors under better aspects than mental activities for the moment. Wind up manual chores.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — You'll be surprised with recognition for something you weren't even aware that others knew anything about.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — A spell of quiet when you can take time to plan for summer ahead. Schedule activities for youngsters, vacation, etc.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Be prepared for the unpredictable. Quick thinking is a must today if you are to cope with numerous surprises.

Oswald: "Today's hand illustrates a very simple, but important feature of bidding. It is that you should raise your partner's major-suit opening with three trumps even though he may have opened a four-card suit."

Jim: "This does not mean you always raise immediately if your hand is strong enough you can afford to bid another suit first and raise your partner later. But if you plan to make just one bid it is better to raise the major suit with three trumps than bid a new suit."

Oswald: "Today's hand illustrates this clearly. South belongs in four hearts. With the club finesse right he will make 10 or 11 tricks, depending on whether East holds up on his ace of spades."

Jim: "When I watched this hand played, North responded one spade. South could find no better rebid than two hearts and North passed. He wasn't strong enough to raise to three."

Oswald: "If North had just raised directly to two hearts, South would have been able to jump right to game."

Jim: "Some reader will wonder what would have happened if South had bid on a four-card heart suit. The answer is that he would pass with a minimum and probably make his contract. With a big hand he probably would have found some bid other than four hearts and the partnership could have reached a better game contract if there was one."

Immigration officer retires

DERBY LINE — Immigration Inspector William H. Witherell, at Beebe Plain, Vt., since 1967, retired on May 31, 1971 after more than 35 years of government service. Mr. Witherell began his duties with the Border Patrol at Boston, Mass. on September 24, 1944, and was assigned to duty at Chateaugay, New York.

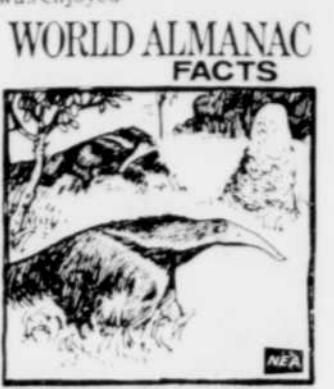

He attended the Border Patrol academy at El Paso, Texas, in 1945. He was detailed for temporary duty at New York in 1948 and transferred there as an immigration investigator in 1949.

In 1957 he was transferred to Kennedy International Airport as Immigration inspector, then transferred to Derby Line in 1963 and to Beebe Plain in 1967 where he remained until his retirement.

Plans were also made to hold an ice cream social on Tuesday, June 22. This will be a joint Bill and his wife Mary plan to remain in Newport until alterations are completed on their home in the Catskills at Saugerties, N.Y. They plan to spend winter months in warmer climates. They have one son, William, who with his wife and three children reside at Dix Hills, L.I., N.Y.

At an informal ceremony at the Beebe Plain office on May 27, 1971, a certificate of Appreciation for his years of dedicated service from Raymond F. Farrell, Commissioner of Immigration was presented to Mr. Witherell by Richard Foster, Deputy District Director from St. Albans District office and a billfold of money from associates was presented by W.F. Norton, Supervisory immigrant inspector at Derby Line, Vt.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The anteater is a mammal native of Central America and northern South America. The World Almanac says it has a sticky tongue about a foot long which it uses to catch ants, termites and other insects which comprise its diet. It has no teeth but has long, sharp claws with which it tears open ant and termite nests.

New Long Distance rates for DIAL DIRECT* calls within Ontario and Quebec

Evening/night/Sunday discounts replace "Family calling time"

Customers who have been using the "Family calling time" rate—10 minutes for the price of 5, after 10pm and all day Sunday—will generally find that calls of over 5 minutes will cost them more, with our new Long Distance schedule.

However, you can now dial direct any evening from 6 pm onwards, and get 1/2 off the new regular rate, or 1/2 off after 11pm and all day Sunday.

These new discounts apply to calls of any duration, including our new one minute minimum call.

*If Direct Dialing service is not available where you live, or in the community you are calling, the operator will place your call for you at the same Dial Direct rate.

Bell Canada

These new rates, effective June 6th, 1971, supersede all previous rate schedules, and apply within Bell Canada territory in Ontario, Quebec, Labrador and North West Territories.

At regional C of C annual conference

Stiffer pollution control measures urged

By PAUL TROLLOPE
NORTH HATLEY — Roger Lague was re-elected president of the Eastern Townships Regional Chamber of Commerce at its annual conference held Saturday at Hovey Manor and David Moore and Cyrille Beaugard, of Magog and Farnham respectively, were elected first and second vice-presidents.

Although 10 local chambers in the Eastern Townships are members of the regional chamber, only four were represented at the conference: those of Farnham, Massawippi, Upper Yamaska and Cowansville, and journalists outnumbered delegates throughout most of the day's proceedings.

A resolution calling for the establishment of a permanent organism to deal with the problem of pollution of the Yamaska River was presented by Jean-Louis Masse of the Chambre de Commerce de Haut-Yamaska and endorsed unanimously by the regional chamber.

The problem is becoming urgent, Masse explained, and asked for this special body to be established by the department of natural resources as a pilot project to correct the situation.

The chamber also resolved to take "all useful actions" to press the local authorities for more stringent pollution control measures.

At the same time, one member said that government representatives with whom he had talked were "so officious, it is unlikely we will see anything done about this request."

Noting that the Yamaska Basin waters are the property of over 2,000 private owners, and not the public domain, chamber members realized a strong effort coupled with "lots of publicity" will be needed if their anti-pollution resolutions are going to have any effect.

Other subjects of discussion at the conference included an attempt to define the role of the local and regional chambers. The regional chamber has held several conferences, sending out in some cases, up to 22 invitations with only four chambers eventually sending delegates.

Suggesting that the regional chamber is at present ineffectual, members called for the establishment of a permanent secretariat and a higher percentage of attendance at meetings.

Another idea was put forth to do away with the regional chamber altogether, but most members agreed that what strength the local chambers of the area do have in effecting changes lies in their regionalization.

They did agree that the local chambers should be the most important element in the regional chamber's entity.

The proposed annexation of the Brome-Missisquoi-Perkins Hospital was discussed. The Upper Yamaska (Granby) Chamber of course supporting that proposition made by the Castonguay-Nepveu commission.

Representatives from the Cowansville chamber pointed out that when the extension to the BMP Hospital is completed, it will have several more beds than the Shefford General Hospital in Granby. This extension, as well as numerous items of equipment added to modernize the hospital, have all been paid for from private funds and women's organizations.

Although Cowansville has a smaller population than Granby, the representatives claimed, the BMP is a bigger and more central hospital. "It was not built to be a convalescent home and would suffer severely if it became such," they explained.

They are therefore petitioning the Quebec department of social affairs for the regionalization of hospitals to be effected at Cowansville, not Granby.

Chamber delegates were also optimistic about their chances for success in this venture, claiming that Cowansville has a "better council and chamber of commerce which will prove

Thefts continue

SHERBROOKE (PT) — A wave of tape recorder and car cassette machine thefts has hit Sherbrooke, and the end doesn't seem to be in sight yet.

Friday morning, yet another victim had the unpleasant surprise of discovering that his car tape machine and cassettes had disappeared during the night. This sort of theft has been going on for several weeks now.

Sherbrooke police have several cases of this kind to solve, and strongly recommend that car owners lock the car doors when leaving the vehicle. They also advise owners against leaving tempting objects in plain view of passers-by.

A local newspaperman also had his briefcase stolen from his car Friday. The case, bearing the words Institute of Psychological Research, contained reports and other documents which could not possibly be of value to anyone but a journalist.

Where are you going ladies—maybe the right clothes are at Fleur Ange.

SHERBROOKE (PT) — City council will take a holiday tonight, in keeping with their administrative reorganization which requires only that the council sit publicly on the first and third Mondays of the month.

Local lawyer appointed to association

LENOXVILLE (PT) — Local lawyer and town judge Rene Monty has been appointed chairman of the committees on ethics and grievances and on court administration for the North American Judges Association (NAJA).

His appointment was announced last week by the association president, Judge David L. Golden of the Highland Park Municipal Court, Michigan.

The North American Judges Association is an international association of judges of courts of first jurisdiction in Canada and the United States.

It has over 1200 members and is recognized as the voice of all courts of first jurisdiction.

Retired Justice Tom C. Clark of the United States Supreme Court has hailed NAJA as the only international judicial association representing "the most important courts in the land," in that they serve over 90 per cent of all the people who come to court.

The Honorable Andrew Rene Monty resides in Lennoxville, Quebec and sits on the bench of that town. Married to Theresa Monty, his jurisdiction extends to Lennoxville and area.

He is also a practicing lawyer in the City of Sherbrooke, and lectures business law part-time at Bishop's University.

BRIEFLETS

WATERVILLE

Anniversary Supper

Waterville United Church Hall, Saturday June 19, 5:30-7:00 p.m. $1.50 and 75 cents.

BURY

Bury ACW will hold their annual Strawberry Supper on June 23, 5:00 - 8:00 p.m. at the Armoury. Adults $1.50, children 75 cents.

Other Mondays, or any other days of the week it pleases, council can choose to hold special public meetings.

In any case, it would not seem necessary for the council to meet today since a special meeting was held just last Thursday, at which several items of some importance were settled.

The regular council meeting of June 21 will be the last regular meeting of the City Fathers, at least as far as the coming summer is concerned, since the city charter provides that all regular meetings during the months of July and August are suspended.

Special meetings may, however, be held any time during the summer months.

To undertake new project

SHERBROOKE (PT) — The Progress Club has decided to undertake a new charitable project—that of recreational activities for the handicapped.

Up until the present time, the club has confined themselves to distributing milk to needy families in the area. The new project was ratified by the members of the club in a general assembly held last week.

The first move the club will make in their new endeavor is to make available to some 30 handicapped people tickets for the magic show to be held at the Sports Palace on Tuesday.

The club will be collaborating with a local club concerned with providing activities for handicapped people, of which the president is Daniel Dube.

Kiwanians hold successful day

SHERBROOKE (WC) — People who had their radio tuned to one of two Sherbrooke radio stations listened to announcement after announcement but they didn't mind.

They all knew that the money paid for the commercials was going to a worthy cause.

The Sherbrooke Kiwanis Club held its major fund raising project, a radio day Club members moved into radio stations CHLT and CKTS from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

For nearly a month, the club had been busy selling ads to local merchants and business establishments. It all came to a climax Saturday when they announced, played records, delivered the news and weather.

Conduct local survey with Youth grant

SHERBROOKE (PT) — Six Sherbrooke students have been granted $6,240 to make a study of the parks, playgrounds and green areas of the City of Sherbrooke. The money was allotted to them under the federal government's Opportunities for Youth program.

The study, which started last Monday, is being conducted to determine the extent to which each local park is being used, and to assess their importance to the area of the community they serve.

The City of Sherbrooke's parks and recreation service did a study on local parks a year ago, but this survey will enable authorities to determine which activities are most in demand at parks in each area of the city, in order to satisfy citizens' demands.

Divided into three stages, the plan has been scheduled as follows:

June 7-8: establishment of working plan and critical path schedule.

June 21-August 25: actual study. Each park will be visited 10 times—every morning and afternoon for one week, Monday through Friday.

August 30-Sept. 3: preparation of reports and statistics.

Child clinics

SHERBROOKE (PT) — Child care clinics will be held from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m. on the following dates, at the specified locations:

Monday, June 14: Ascot North, Deauville.

Tuesday, June 15: St. Elie d'Orford, Eco Desjardins.

Friday, June 17: St-Therese d'Avila and Notre-Dame de l'Assomption church halls.

Clinics will also be held from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. on the following dates:

Thursday, June 17: Ste-Famille Church hall.

Child care clinics are also held at the health units on Galt Street West between 2:00 and 4:00 p.m. every day.

This year's project brought in over 25 per cent more money than last year. Ray Gilbert a club member told The Record.

Last year the day's gains amounted to over $2,000. This year they surpassed last year's profits by over $600, totalling $2,600.

Most of the money that was collected will be used to provide winter clothing for underprivileged children in the Sherbrooke area. Last year, over 110 children received winter clothes courtesy of the Kiwanis club.

The Kiwanis club is also involved in other community efforts. The club sponsors a team in the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville Little League.

Financially supports the McKay Crippled Children's Camp and the Sherbrooke Sea Cadets.

"Most of the men involved had not finished working before 1 a.m. during the last two weeks. Tom Cadman, Jack Drummond, Ashley McLellan and Roger Lamoureux have worked hard to make this day a success but they did it because they wanted to help those who need it," Ray Gilbert, one of the organizers, concluded.

Court briefs

SHERBROOKE (PT) — Three individuals Friday were given penalties varying from four years imprisonment to a period of probation for having committed a series of burglaries of summer cottages in the area.

Gaston Cloutier, 26, Lucien Hermann, 31, and Jean-Louis Letourneau, 19, all of Sherbrooke, admitted breaking into nine cottages and stealing goods worth $7,500, of which over half has not been recovered.

Cloutier received four years in penitentiary, Hermann, two years in jail, and Letourneau, two years probation.

Cloutier and Hermann had previous criminal records, while this was Letourneau's first offence.

Judge Benoit Turmel, in handing down sentences to the trio, noted that at least two of them have a record which shows no respect for the property of others.

He deplored the fact that "poor and hard-working citizens" who have managed to buy or build cottages "by the sweat of their brows" have been victimized by the youths.

Judge Turmel defended his heavy sentencing of the three by pointing out that previous jail sentences had not put a stop to their criminal activities.

The Crown was represented in the case by prosecutor Jacques Page.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Gaston Desmarais of the Court of Queen's Bench Thursday postponed until the next session of Assizes court the trial of Jean-Marie "Gandhi" Hamel, 29, of Sherbrooke.

Hamel was appearing in court to answer charges of intent to commit theft by breaking and entering into Marche Montour on May 20.

Defense counsel Raynald Frechette produced medical certificates attesting that Hamel was in no condition to undergo trial at the present time.

Crown prosecutor Pierre Boily made no objection to the postponement.

A topless dancer was ordered to pay a $25 fine by Judge Benoit Turmel in Sessions Court Thursday following her appearance there with lawyer Laurent Dube.

Danielle Imbeau, 22, of Montreal, admitted her participation in "an indecent, immoral and obscene" show presented in a commercial establishment in Cleveland township.

Miss Imbeau was arrested by Quebec Police Force morality squad agents.

Gerald Gagnon, a bearded, long-haired youth accused of drug trafficking, Thursday chose a trial by judge and jury to rule on charges which could jail him for life.

Appearing before Judge Benoit Turmel, the 25-year-old Gagnon, a Sherbrooke resident graduating in the fall from the University of Sherbrooke, was told his preliminary hearing would take place June 16.

The youth was arrested for possession of 11½ ounces of marijuana, a quantity sufficient to make over 1,000 "joints."

Roger Marcoux of St-Fortunat yesterday was acquitted of charges of receiving stolen goods, namely a black and white bull valued at $250.

Appearing before Sessions Judge Benoit Turmel, Marcoux was declared not guilty after a veterinary testified that the bull in question had scars which were caused by a wound, not by a congenital defect.

Roger Dube, who had a similar animal stolen from his pasture, told the court he recognized the scars on the Holstein bull's knee.

Marcoux had bought the animal from Lorenzo Laberge several days before the presumed theft.

Another witness testified that the bull was injured on the knee while riding in a truck.

Marcoux was represented by lawyer Louis-Rene Scott, who unravelled for the court the somewhat complicated story of the black and white bull.

Tax Strategy

On the night of June 18 the federal government's grand tax strategy for Canada will begin to unfold. The government will bring down the budget and hope that Parliament will approve it within a fortnight or so before a summer recess. Or, if debate is prolonged, the recess will be postponed.

In any case, by an ancient convention, the tax changes proposed in any budget always take immediate effect, before Parliament has ratified them. The long-term tax changes in the final version of the white paper — also to be brought down that night — are, or should be, a completely different matter. For surely the government cannot expect Parliament to approve so vast and complex a scheme without months of study.

Unless Parliament is to be kept in session all summer, its members too tired and cranky to give the scheme anything like adequate consideration, the debate will be delayed until autumn after a refreshing holiday. The Toronto Globe and Mail suspects, however, that the tax reforms will be delayed still longer, until after an election.

If this is indeed the grand strategy it has obvious political attractions for the government. As the Globe and Mail says, the tax reforms, whatever else they may involve, will certainly reduce the burdens of the lower-income groups or exempt them altogether — a desirable and highly popular move among hundreds of thousands of voters, and an admirable setting for an election before Christmas.

All that the strategy requires is an opposition blockade of the government's proposals to justify, at a convenient date, the sudden dissolution of Parliament and an appeal to the electorate. If the government wins the election against the internally divided Conservative and socialist parties, then, says the Globe and Mail, it will claim that it has a mandate to carry through all the complicated tax legislation without the public understanding what it means.

Such a strategy might well succeed in politics but it could demand a high price in economics. Even if the less fortunate people of Canada are given some tax relief, which they deserve, there will be no substantial or durable improvement in their lot unless the economy improves to provide more jobs and increase the nation's total wealth. Thus, as the Globe and Mail puts it, "the government could win the election on those income tax cuts and lose the country, because the great bulk of its incomprehensible tax program was destructive and unworkable theory which set more than Quebec on a course for separation. We hope the government does not plan so to dupe Canadians; but we are worried."

The provinces, the business community and all thoughtful citizens are worried, too, and for good reason. They know that any tax program remotely resembling the white paper must sacrifice actual economic growth to theoretical equity and thereby damage in the end the very people whom it is designed to help.

Half-shut door

There was a time, within memory of most of us, when Canada was looked upon by people abroad as an open-door country, a growing land of opportunity where there would always be room for newcomers willing to work. This was no less true in the United Kingdom than elsewhere, and many people of English, Scottish, Irish and Welsh blood came to these shores to make their home.

But the picture has changed. No longer does Canada woo immigrants in other countries with glowing pictures of what can be expected here. And perhaps it is just as well to eschew colorful promises in favor of the more sober truth.

In current advertisements there is no mention of employment opportunities. Instead, they talk about Canada being "rich in resources, largest country in the Commonwealth, second largest in the world" and having "years of even greater growth ahead." It also mentions the incontrovertible — and safe — fact that Canada is only a few hours away by air and six days by sea.

The purpose of advertising at all, apparently, is simply to keep the idea of Canada in the mind of potential immigrants, so that presumably when things do pick up here and our doors are open a little wider, would-be immigrants may come to Canada instead of Australia and New Zealand — neither of which appears to be having any immigration problems. As the writer concludes, somewhat wryly: "Yes, there is always Canada, if Canada wants you."

Loubier looks in the lead

The Record today begins a four-part series on the five National Union leadership candidates. Gabriel Loubier, the favorite, is profiled today. Tomorrow, readers get a look at Marcel Masse.

By DON MACPHERSON

QUEBEC (CP) — Gabriel Loubier has to wait until June 10 to find out whether he will win the official Opposition Union Nationale party's leadership contest, but he is already at the top of the UN's hit parade.

Mr. Loubier, 38, is the only one of the five candidates who has had a record released as part of his campaign.

The 45-r.p.m. record features an anonymous singing group belting out the candidate's theme song Loubier, C'est la Cle — Loubier's the Key — on one side and a brief speech by Mr. Loubier himself on the other.

His campaign symbol, a stylized key, is outlined in black on the bright orange label, and his publicity has included a photograph of him, grinning widely and holding a large key. His face also appears on an orange-and-purple poster.

Aside from the flash, Mr. Loubier has also made an attempt to get across some substance to the delegates who will meet here June 18-19 to choose a successor to former premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand.

His organization is distributing a series of booklets in brightly-colored covers explaining different aspects of Mr. Loubier's platform.

In the booklet entitled Loubier, C'est la Cle d'un Quebec Debout — Loubier's the Key to a Quebec on its Feet — Mr. Loubier says:

"Quebec has been denied the instruments and prerogatives which would facilitate the solution to its problems and which in themselves would permit it to ensure its collective will and destiny."

He dismisses the present Canadian constitution as "a desperately deteriorated and spoiled form" which has allowed the federal government to move into fields which should properly be under provincial jurisdiction.

The result was that Quebec was forced to administer its own affairs "on a day-to-day basis" at the mercy of "God the Father in Ottawa."

Between the "assimilating unitarism" that "threatens to lead us French-speaking Quebecers to genocide" and the "separatism of isolation," Mr. Loubier opts for "a lucid nationalism" and "the immediate and rapid renegotiation of our association with English Canada."

He calls for a new constitution recognizing Canada as being made up of "states which are autonomous and sovereign in their jurisdictions and in their sources of revenue."

For Mr. Loubier, Quebec nationalism is "as legitimate and as positive as English-Canadian nationalism." They should "join instead of cancelling each other out and fighting," he said.

However, if negotiations fail to give Quebec a constitution that corresponds to "the legitimate needs and aspirations of French Canada," Mr. Loubier would want to hold a referendum to decide Quebec's future.

He sees firmness as a prime requisite for the party leadership. This has given him a reputation as the "law-and-order man" in the contest and also reflects his admiration for the late Maurice Duplessis, legendary strongman premier of Quebec during the 1940s and 1950s.

In another booklet on party affairs, Mr. Loubier describes Duplessis as a man whose "contacts with the middle classes made him profoundly human and attached to the small people."

Mr. Loubier says the Union Nationale needs a leader "from the people, close to the people" who is "not a dreamer, but a realistic and firm man who remains profoundly human."

The candidate himself is a wealthy owner of several firms in the metal business, reputed to be a millionaire, as well as a practising lawyer.

Mr. Loubier, first elected to the Quebec national assembly in the 1962 general election to represent the eastern Quebec riding of Bellechasse, was re-elected in 1966 and last year.

He was appointed minister of tourism, fish and game from 1966 until last year in the former government of the late Daniel Johnson and Mr. Bertrand, and was also named minister of sport in 1968.

The only way to measure it

By LEE MUELLER

At a time when men are flying to the moon and city girls are parading around near-naked in costumes called "hot pants," the question is again posed:

How you going to keep them down on the farm?

It was asked before—in a song after World War I. At that time, America was mostly a rural society, filled with people who liked to crank out homemade ice cream in the backyard and bake apple pies. But the war gave many farmers their first chance to see the world and, somehow, after Paris, a milk pail never looked the same.

Now it's the Department of Agriculture asking, "And nobody is about to write a song about it."

"It's a serious matter," said a department representative. "The day might come when there are no more farmers—or when we all have to grow our own food again."

The average age of the farmer in the United States is getting higher and higher. It's 52.2 now—compared to the average age of the American business executive, which is 35. Many, many young people are leaving the farms. And, for certain, you just can't find farm workers, any more—not for love nor money.

Earthy statistics bear this out.

There were 131,669,000 people in the United States in 1940, more than six million of whom were farmers. Thirty years later in 1970, 200,251,326 persons included only 1.8 million farmers.

One of these men is Robert Weverstad of Yankton, S.D., a 32-year-old graduate of South Dakota State who operates a 1,400-acre farm just north of town near the airport. "The planes don't bother his cattle," he says.

Weverstad was recently named the "Outstanding Young Farmer" in South Dakota by the state Jaycees.

"Young farmers are few and far between around here," he said. "Most of them have moved out—for several reasons."

"In the first place, the opportunity for a young man to start just isn't there unless he's been able to start in with his parents. It's hard to find any land available. Most of it is already rented up. I know that in Yankton County, there are quite a few farmers who have up to 2,000 acres.

"If it's true farmers are fewer, it also is true that farms are getting bigger."

Department of Agriculture figures support this theory. Modern machinery has helped the farmer take up much of the slack. Of the 2.27 billion land acres in the U.S., 1.12 billion were used last year for farming. This is only a few million less than were utilized in 1940.

"Another thing, of course," said Weverstad, "is that most people don't seem to want to put in the hours that go with farming. Punching a clock or working an eight-hour day probably sounds pretty attractive to most people compared to the 14-16-hour days we sometimes put in during the summer."

The spoils of farm labor have never been that lucrative, either. Weverstad says the prices of farm produce will have to keep step with inflation in order to attract new blood.

"It's the one thing that will help," he said.

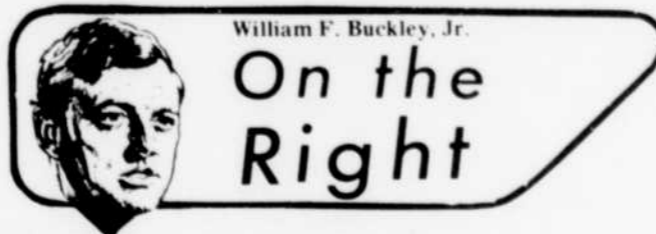

For himself, Weverstad will continue to rise at 6:30 each morning, dress in jeans and T-shirt, feed his 500 cattle, pat his wife and two daughters, and work.

"It's something I've always been interested in," he said. "I majored in animal husbandry in college. I knew what I wanted. And I enjoy it."

"We make a good living—nothing terrific—and it gives me a lot of satisfaction, being able to do something that I know how to do. I don't see any other way to measure it."

"Givens . . . ? — Hellyer . . . ?"

William F. Buckley, Jr.

On the Right

An editor of the Boston Globe was so thoughtful as to send me the text of the speech given last month by John Kerry to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Mr. Kerry is the young veteran, disgraced Bostonian, and Yale graduate who led the veterans' protest in Washington.

The headline, in the Boston Globe's magazine, reveals that the Globe is the only newspaper which has twice published in full Mr. Kerry's remarkable address. I fear that the publication of it was intended to suggest that Mr. Kerry's statement was important other than in the sense in which I judge it to be important. It is very important.

Consider the words that made John Kerry famous. Consider, first, the haunting resonance of its peroration.

"(We are determined) to undertake one last mission, to search out and destroy the last vestige of this barbaric war, to pacify our own hearts, to conquer the hate and the fear that have driven this country these last ten years and more, and so when in 30 years from now our brothers go down the street without a leg, without an arm, or a face, and small boys ask why, we will be able to say, 'Vietnam' and not mean a desert, not a filthy obscene memory but the place where America finally turned and where soldiers like us helped it in the turning."

"Where America finally turned" One needs to ask: where America finally turned from what?

Mr. Kerry, in introducing himself to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, made it plain that he was there not to speak for himself, but to speak for what he called "a very much larger group of veterans in this country." He then proceeded to describe the America he knows, the America from which he enjoined us all to turn.

In Southeast Asia, he said, he saw "not isolated incidents but crimes committed on a day to day basis with the full awareness of officers at all levels of command"

A grave charge, but the sensitive listener will instantly assume that Mr. Kerry is using the word "crime" loosely, metaphorically, as in "he was criminally thoughtless in not writing home more often to his mother." But Mr. Kerry quickly interdicted that line of retreat. He went on to enumerate precisely such crimes as are being committed on a day to day basis, "with the full awareness of officers at all levels of command."

He gave tales of torture, rape; tales of Americans who "randomly shot at civilians, razed villages in fashion reminiscent of Genghis Khan, shot cattle and dogs for fun, poisoned food stocks, and generally ravaged the countryside of South Vietnam in addition to the normal ravage of war."

Mr. Kerry informed Congress that what threatens the United States isn't "Reds," but "the crimes" we are committing. He told us that we have "created a monster, a monster in the form of millions of men who have been taught to deal and to trade in violence, and who have returned with a sense of danger."

And indeed, if American soldiers have been called upon to rape and torture and to exterminate non-combatants, it is obvious that they should be ashamed, less obvious why they have not expressed that shame more widely on returning to the United States, particularly inasmuch as we have been assured by Mr. Kerry that they have been taught to deal and to trade in violence.

Are there extenuating circumstances? Is there a reason for being in Vietnam?

"To attempt to justify the loss of one American life in Vietnam, Cambodia, or Laos by linking such loss to the preservation of freedom...is...the height of criminal hypocrisy, and it is that kind of hypocrisy which we feel has torn this country apart."

It is then, we reason retrospectively, not alone an act of hypocrisy that caused the joint chiefs of staff, and the heads of the civilian departments engaged in strategic calculations, to make the recommendations they made over the past ten years to three presidents of the United States: it was not merely hypocrisy but criminal hypocrisy. Underlaying that hypocrisy? Mr. Kerry had the answer to that too. "All that we were told about the mystical war against communism."

The indictment of John Kerry is complete.

OBITUARIES

MR. E.M. GOODFELLOW
of Sherbrooke

It was with deep regret that the citizens of this community learned of the sudden passing of Edgar M. Goodfellow in the Sherbrooke Hospital on May 11, 1971, following a heart seizure at his home.

"Eddie", as he was known to his numerous friends, was born in Valcartier, Que., on January 8, 1900, the son of the late James Goodfellow and his wife, the late Elizabeth Smith. At an early age the family moved to a farm at St. Elie d'Orford and later to the Scotch Road.

In 1925 he was married to Annie Jane McElrea, also of Sherbrooke. Of this marriage one daughter, Marjorie Elizabeth, was born.

Although of a quiet disposition, "Eddie" was very fond of people and was always ready to give a helping hand whenever he could. The Goodfellow farm became a welcome meeting place for old and young, and was a home for all, in the true sense of the word.

The largely attended funeral was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on May 13, where Mr. Goodfellow had been a faithful member for many years. In the absence of Rev. Donald Campbell, the service was conducted by a close friend of the family, Rev. Alex M. McCombie of Inslington, Ont. An augmented choir led the singing of the Twenty-third Psalm and Miss Thelma Crawford sang "The Lily of the Valley" — a favourite hymn of the deceased Mr. Wright Gibson presided at the organ.

Six nephews acted as bearers, namely, Angus, Charlie, Donald and Robert Goodfellow, and Alton and Angus McElrea. Interment was in Elmwood Cemetery.

Besides his wife and daughter, those left to mourn include two sisters, Mrs. Hilda Walters, Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Irene McGenty, of Sherbrooke, three sisters-in-law, Mrs. Frank Goodfellow, Mrs. James Goodfellow, and Mrs. Colin Goodfellow, a brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McElrea, a brother-in-law, Mr. Gordon McElrea of Bulwer, besides many nieces and nephews. Three brothers and one sister predeceased him.

AUSTIN W. FOLLETT
OF Cookshire

After a short illness, the death of Mr. Austin W. Follett occurred at the Sherbrooke Hospital on May 17, 1971.

Mr. Follett was born in Newton, Mass., on Feb. 15, 1882, the son of the late Mr. William Follett and of his wife, Nellie D. Woodbridge.

He received his education at Lawrenceville Academy and Yale University, and for a number of years was in the wool business in the United States.

In 1938, he left the United States and came to live in Canada — in Sherbrooke, and at his summer home in North Hatley. He took charge of the management of Sturdy Chain Company, later known as Forstner Chain Company in Sherbrooke.

In 1959 he went to live in Cookshire with his step-son, George (Bill) Chisholm and family, and remained there until his death.

Mr. Follett was an ardent sportsman, and had been a member and past president of various Fish and Game Clubs; he was a Life Member of St. George's Club, and a governor of the Sherbrooke Hospital.

His wife, Katherine Loring Chisholm predeceased him in 1946. He is survived by his step-son, George Chisholm and his wife, Andrea and daughter, Lee, and other distant relatives.

The remains rested at the Webster-Cass Funeral Parlour in Lennoxville, where the funeral service was held on Wednesday, May 19, 1971, at 2 p.m., with the Rev. A.B. Lovelace officiating. Relatives and friends from Sherbrooke and district paid their last respects at this time to a very fine old gentleman.

Cremation followed the service.

Mr. Wheelock was born at Mansonville on June 14, 1902, an only child of George and Salome (Lamorey) Wheelock. He grew up and was educated there.

In 1932 he was united in marriage to Mildred Wootten, all their married life was lived in Rock Island. Mr. Wheelock entered the employ of the Union Twist Drill Company, Butterfield Division, in 1928 and was retired as foreman of the Cutting Off division in December, 1967.

He was a member of St. Andrew's South Church and had through the years been active on the church boards, at the time of his death he was a deacon; he was a life member of St. John's Masonic Lodge, A.F. and A.M., Mansonville, a member of the Golden Star Chapter, O.E.S., Stanstead, and of the Butterfield Quarter Century Club. Mr. Wheelock was well liked by all who knew him, he was generous for all good and worthy causes. His hobby was carpenter work.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, May 22 at two o'clock at St. Andrew's South church in Rock Island, from Cass Funeral Home in Stanstead.

Rev. G. Joyce officiated, speaking words of tribute to Mr. Wheelock and sympathy to the family. Mrs. Maynard Rollins played the organ music. The bearers were Alfred Aldrich, Gordon Johnston, Theodore Holt, Ronald Minor (both of Magog), Gerald Colt and Arthur Judd Sr. Interment took place in Crystal Lake cemetery, Stanstead.

The Friday evening before the service, the last rites of the Masonic Fraternity took place at the funeral home conducted by Brethren of St. John's Lodge, Mansonville.

In addition to the many floral pieces, there were memorials to the Cancer Research with his name inscribed in the Golden Book of Memories, Montreal, to the Cancer Society, Shriners Hospital in San Francisco, Calif., and others.

Mr. Wheelock is survived by his wife, Mildred, their son, Owen, daughter-in-law, Daphne and two granddaughters, Debra and Karyn, of Richmond and a host of friends.

Friends attended the funeral from Mansonville, Montreal, Sherbrooke, Magog, and points of the Townships, Vermont and Boundary Villages.

DISCUSS ISSUES

more effective than that in Granby.

Representatives from the four local chambers present outlined for the conference what had been accomplished over the past year, and president Laque submitted a written report on the conference and activities he had attended on behalf of the regional chamber.

Farnham chamber had recruited 78 members during the course of the year, had offered three extension education courses and had conducted industrial visits as well as an extensive promotion campaign on their own behalf.

Cowansville chamber had recruited 80 members and formed eight committees, to deal with such matters as publicity, public bodies, library, industrial and socio-cultural affairs.

They have also been concerned with the problem of water purification in the area.

Lake Massawippi chamber, represented by Capt. W. E. Brown of Ayer's Cliff, since its inception in 1965, has been instrumental in having tolls reduced on the Eastern Townships Autoroute, and has helped to prevent establishment of tolls on the new sector of the road, from Magog to Stanstead.

They have created exits from route 55 to North Hatley, and improved the exits and approaches to Ayer's Cliff from that highway.

Also responsible for having route 5 re-paved, and for the information booth at the junction of routes 5 and 50 during the summer of Expo '67, this chamber has helped to form Massawippi Water Protection Inc., which is now conducting an antipollution campaign, and hopes eventually to get the whole Lake Massawippi area cleaned up.

The conference of the regional chamber also devoted some time to considering their public image, realizing that they cannot afford a bad image if they are to attract active support from more local chambers, and achieve the confidence of local businessmen.

Later in the evening, Provincial Chamber of Commerce president Gilles Champagne presented the regional chamber's trophy for most active local chamber of the year to the Cowansville Chamber of Commerce, represented by Louis-Philippe Vincent.

The presentation was made at a dinner during which Dr. Victor Goldbloom, provincial minister without portfolio responsible for the state of the environment, addressed the assembled delegates and their wives.

NEED APPROACH

One idea uniquely his, Dr. Goldbloom said, which has been presented to Premier Robert Bourassa and members of his cabinet, is to ask the United Nations to declare an international year of study on the environment.

Each country could then inform the others that "we have accepted this sector of environmental research to work on this year," he said.

In this way, he explained, Quebec could benefit from "a synthesized coherent body of knowledge" so that the province could "plan more intelligently."

In answer to those who claimed that nothing is being done in the realm of pollution control, Dr. Goldbloom retorted that a plan of action must be carefully thought out and gradually executed, otherwise chaos would result.

He pointed to the recent typhoid epidemic in Bouchette, Quebec, and said this is the type of problem that shouldn't happen in the 20th century.

A committee has been struck to prepare a report on locations in the province where this type of situation could happen, and the report is expected as early as next weekend, the minister said.

Another reason that things are not going as fast as some people would like is that the department has very little equipment, which must be used across the province.

Pollution has already had detrimental effects on the health of the population, Dr. Goldbloom told the conference, explaining the relationship between air pollution and respiratory maladies.

Reiterating once more his department's policies on pollution, the minister assured the chamber that the government is taking action. "Already we have issued directives to each region of the province, and in four years these will have been issued to 90 per cent of the industrial polluters in Quebec... we are intending to intervene," he assured the audience.

He also emphasized the importance of municipal and private pollution of local waters, and said that this is perhaps the most important problem to be faced immediately.

"We have probably 15 years' work ahead of us," he concluded. "We must all pitch in and do our share."

Bank of Montreal
The First Canadian Bank

You may feel shy about asking your Bank of Montreal manager for a loan. You needn't be. If a loan will help you out, your branch manager is sure to understand perfectly.

At the Bank of Montreal, we're flexible about granting loans. Each application is judged on its merits. And, when you get your loan, it amounts to more than just dollars and cents. You get your money's worth in financial advice, follow-up services, and straight information about how to handle your banking affairs.

Rich people are always getting advice from their bank manager. We see no reason why you shouldn't have that advice, too. You may not become wealthy — although you might — but you certainly would know how to get the most for your money. And that means you'd more than likely do better than you're doing now. We want you to get your money's worth.

Three loan applicants: Who got their money's worth?

He owed too much money:
Robert M. is a carpet salesman. Last year, when his wife became ill, Robert found his medical coverage was insufficient. He felt he needed to borrow $2,500. His Bank of Montreal manager loaned him $3,500 to pay all his bills. Consolidating these debts reduced his rate of interest. Robert feels he got his money's worth.

He wanted to "hit the road":
Joe G., a T.V. repairman, loves the country. A mobile camper was his dream. His Bank of Montreal manager lent him $4,000 to buy a camper and showed him how to dovetail the loan with a savings plan. Joe now takes his family on weekend campouts, has a good time, and his savings are growing steadily. He got his money's worth.

She got more elbow room:
Ann B. is a suburban physio-therapist. Recently, she decided her treatment room wasn't large enough. She asked her Bank of Montreal manager for $2,000 to enlarge it. He lent her $3,000. The extra would allow her to enlarge her waiting room, too. Her patients are now more comfortable and her business has increased.

By Ann Landers

She can sleep where she likes

Dear Ann Landers: This is the first time I got so mad I knew I had to write to you, although I've been tempted several times. I am furious at that dame who signed herself "First Class Secretary." If you ask me she is a lousy secretary. I strongly suspect her interest in her boss goes beyond business.

I am also employed by "a wonderful guy" but he is married which means he is off-limits so far as I am concerned. It doesn't make a particle of difference to me how many times a day his wife telephones him. It's my job to put the calls through. If he doesn't want to talk to her he can tell her so. It is also none of my business how much time the boss' wife spends at this office. If she wants to bring a bedroll down here and sleep on the floor, it's O.K. with me.

If the secretary who wrote wants to be "first-class" she can start by learning to keep her nose and her mouth out of her boss's family affairs.

—Twenty Years on the Job Without Trouble

Dear No Trouble: One of the cardinal rules for being a first-class person—as well as a first-class secretary—is to M.Y.O.B. I am not surprised that you have been "Twenty Years on the Job Without Trouble." Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband, who is a handsome, virile, intelligent and gifted. Count your blessings, lady—especially blessing number two. Some of those "lookers" can only look.

Dear Ann Landers: Our grandson will be five years old soon. My husband is crazy about the child. We are having an argument over the boy's birthday gift. My husband has selected two fancy toy guns from a catalogue. I am opposed to guns for children. In my opinion, there is too much violence on TV, in the movies—everywhere one looks.

My husband says cops and robbers and Indians and cowboys are as American as apple pie. He insists it is a healthy way for kids to get rid of excess energy. What do you say?

—Against It

Dear Ag: I say banana oil. Games and sports are much better outlets for youthful energy than make-believe killing. I suggest swimming, hiking, roller skating, bicycling and ping-pong. I am appalled by games that make murder "fun."

—Numb

Dear Numb: He doesn't need an answer. He has one. It's dirty pictures. But you aren't going to change him, so give up. In your opening sentence you say he is "handsome, virile, intelligent and gifted." Count your blessings, lady—especially blessing number two. Some of those "lookers" can only look.

Such games desensitize children and teach them to accept violence and killing as part of their everyday lives.

THE FAMILY

Joan Clark Daniel Flynn

The marriage of Joan, daughter of Mrs. Charles W. Clark and the late Mr. Clark of Sherbrooke to Mr. Daniel Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Flynn of Montreal, took place recently in St. Patrick's Church, Sherbrooke, the Rev. Douglas Daniels officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Mr. John Codere played the wedding music.

Pink and white snapdragons decorated the altar.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. William Olivier of Ottawa, was in a floor-length gown of pink tulle with matching veil. She carried a bouquet of pink orchids, stephanotis and ivy leaves.

Weddings

Daniel Gleason of Montreal was best man and the ushers were Graham Heast of Montreal and Michael Leveque, cousin of the bride, of Brossard.

Following the reception at St. George's Club, the newlyweds left for Spain. On their return they took up residence in Montreal.

Dora Cook Ken Kirkpatrick

The marriage of Miss Dora Cook of Cowansville, daughter of Mrs. Daisy Cook and the late Tom Cook of Cowansville, to Mr. Ken Kirkpatrick of Ste. Adele, Que., took place Saturday, June 5, at the Sutton Kingdom Hall.

The bride and groom left for a brief honeymoon to places unknown. They will be taking up residence at Ste. Adele.

Friends and relatives all wish them well.

Linda Johnston Ronald Smith

Mr. and Mrs. John Johnston announce the marriage of their only daughter, Linda Cheryl Hazel, to Mr. Ronald Graham Smith, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Smith, all of North Hatley.

The wedding took place on May 25 at the Waterville United Church. The Reverend James Brooks officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The attendants were Miss Claudia Smith, sister of the groom and Mr. Richard Hatrick.

Following the service a family reception was held at the Rolling Hills Motel.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Would you please explain uremic poisoning of the kidneys? My brother had it this summer and we were sure he was going to die. He was just that bad and the doctor had given him up. But he got over it and got to go home. He's been home about three months. But people say it will come back. Is this true? If so, how often do they have these attacks? And would the antibiotics be as effective next time?

Dear Reader—Uremic poisoning refers to a build-up in the body of urea, the waste product from metabolizing protein. The protein can come from the diet or, if the person is not eating enough, from the actual use of body protein. It is normal to have some urea in the blood but excess amounts are filtered out by the kidneys.

Anything that causes the kidneys to decrease their function in filtering out waste products can cause a build-up of urea. A person with high blood pressure and kidney disease may gradually develop uremic poisoning. A young man with an injury to his kidneys can develop it. Kidney failure can follow prolonged shock if the kidneys don't get enough blood. A number of toxic agents can affect the kidneys and cause them to fail. Of course, there are infections and inflammations that cause nephritis that may result in kidney failure. Even a mechanical obstruction in the outflow of urine can cause the problem if it is not corrected.

It is not possible to tell if a person is going to have a recurrence of uremia or not without knowing what caused it in the first place.

Your comment about antibiotics suggests that the doctor thought an infection caused your brother's uremia. The fact that he has recovered suggests he will be able to have adequate kidney function for quite some time and perhaps not have any more trouble.

I am optimistic about helping people with kidney failure if it is not caused by disease of the arteries involving other parts of the body. There are many medical centers now using artificial kidney devices that can often be used once a week to restore the normal chemical balance of the body.

BON MARCHE BUYS TOP QUALITY LADIES' WEAR STOCK

Sherbrooke's thrift store, Au Bon Marche, has done it again and this time the merchandise being offered is the complete bankruptcy stock of Toni Dress Shop of Coaticook.

This well-known store carried first quality merchandise only, ladies' dresses, coats, wedding dresses, sportswear and accessories.

Due to the large stock involved, over $66,000 worth, the Bon Marche has decided to hold this special sale at the warehouse, 121 Depot Street, where dressing rooms have been installed for customer try-ons. Extra staff will be on duty.

Knowledgeable buyers will recognize the famous brand-names of the nationally-advertised merchandise and when the saving of one-half to three-quarters (off regular prices) are taken into consideration, this is an extremely important event for Sherbrooke and Eastern Townships buyers, one that should not be missed.

The sale will begin Wednesday at the warehouse, 121 Depot Street, this newspaper will carry an advertisement tomorrow.

Women's group news

The June meeting of the Milby W.I. was opened in the usual way. The minutes were read and approved.

This being Grandmothers night there were three ladies dressed as their grandmothers might have. Each grandmother was presented with a corsage. The Roll Call was told where your grandmothers were born.

It was decided that the club room committee go ahead and have the club room painted.

The treasurer gave her report. Citizenship - Mrs. Archie Fairbrother read an article on citizenship and also mentioned last week was citizenship week and also Golden Age week. She also made mention of the Census.

Welfare - Mrs. Stewart Cairns reported cards sent to shut-ins and Mrs. Chapman read an article on drugs.

Mrs. Roy Sutor gave a report of the County meeting. Cards were signed for shut-ins. We were pleased to have Mrs. C. Hyatt and Mrs. Russell Nichols join our group.

The meeting was adjourned and Mrs. Roscoe Patrick had a contest knitting with match sticks. First prize went to Mrs. Robert Sutor and second to Mrs. William Sutor. The mystery parcel was won by Mrs. Roy Sutor.

Lunch was served by the executive.

At Home on Anniversary

An "At Home" will be held at the Municipal Building, Bishops, on June 19 from 2 to 4 and from 7 to 9 p.m. for Mr. and Mrs. Oral Downes on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Sunday School awards

DANVILLE — The official closing of the Sunday School of St. Augustine's Church was held on May 30 with the children attending the service and receiving their prizes. Silver dollars were presented to those who had perfect attendance, and to those who had only missed one or two Sundays.

Receiving this prize were Bonnie LeRoux, Cindy LeRoux, Laurie LeRoux, Barbara Cook, Susan Cook, Shelley Cook, Cheryl Morrill, Tracy Morrill, Larry Gillim, Brian Gillim, Steven Pye, Glendon Pye, Warren Duffy, Shirley Duffy, Donald Duffy. The Oxford Book of Carols was awarded to Shelley Cook for interest, work and progress in the Junior Choir.

Mr. Wendell Duffy, Superintendent, expressed his sincere appreciation for the assistance given him by all of the teachers since he took over his duties at the beginning of this year.

After the service the families all adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Taylor, where they enjoyed a picnic lunch and then the variety of games planned for them by Mr. and Mrs. Duffy.

Races were held according to age groups and winners were: 2-3 years old - Steven Pye; 4-5 years old - Glendon Pye; 5-6: Martha Robinson; 8-9 years - Cheryl Morrill; 9-10 years (boys) - Shelley Cook; 9-10 years (girls) - Randy Robinson and Warren Duffy; 11-12 years - Karen Patterson.

Three-legged race 8-9 years - Donald Duffy and Danny Robinson; 10 and up - Warren Duffy and Randy Robinson. Tug of War - Wendy Smith, Tracy Morrill, Shelley Cook, Cindy LeRoux and Randy Robinson. Treasure Hunt - 7-8-9 - Deborah Taylor. Scatter peanuts - 3-4 years Larry Gillim - open - Susan Smith.

RICHMOND FOYER RESIDENTS AT GOLDEN AGE FESTIVITIES

Richmond Foyer celebrates Golden Age

RICHMOND — The Golden Age weekend festivities were held at the new Richmond Foyer Residence, Gouin Street, on Saturday and Sunday, May 29 and 30, with Open House to a very large number of attending friends and relatives.

They were received by Mrs.

Gilles Fontaine, the matron, assisted by Mrs. Grant Campbell, a resident who was attired in a Victorian outfit of black tulle with matching bonnet, and Mr. Arthur Lacombe also a resident, was attired in a suit of the same period and wore a stovepipe hat.

The Foyer was prettily decorated with baskets of summer flowers. In the afternoon several sales tables of fancy articles made by the residents were quickly disposed of and the proceeds were very gratifying.

Sunday afternoon a number of relatives and friends were entertained and escorted on tours of the Foyer.

Monday was reserved for the residents. At 10 a.m. Rev. Father Maurice Cloutier celebrated an old fashioned mass in Latin. All the residents and staff were attired in old fashioned clothes. After the service a dinner was served at noon after which the Daughters of Isabella visited all the residents and presented each one with a carnation and extended best wishes and good health.

The residents repaired to the reception room where games were enjoyed and each winner was presented with a prize. Afternoon tea was later served.

After a rest period a delicious buffet supper was served which was prepared by the staff. A social evening was then enjoyed.

The following program was rendered: a guitar selection played by Mr. R. Gagnon accompanied by his daughter, Miss Carmen Gagnon, on the electric organ; Mrs. Armand Hebert sang several selections in English and French and led a group of residents in a sing-song of old favorites, also in French and English; Mr. Gilles Fontaine performed several of his magic tricks; Mrs. William Perreault sang a song composed by herself which was quite humorous, especially written for the Foyer residents. All those who took part in the enjoyable program were heartily applauded and encored.

Mr. Alcide Fontaine, a well-known entertainer led in dancing which was much enjoyed by the many guests present.

At the close of the evening Mayor Roger Trudeau, administrator, expressed thanks to Mrs. Gilles Fontaine and Mrs. Denise Lupien for organizing such a successful event, to the artists who so kindly assisted in the program and to the staff for their co-operation and help to make this Golden Age such a memorable occasion.

Dr. M. Chaput, president, also congratulated Mrs. Fontaine and Mrs. Lupien, receptionist, and the staff and wished the residents many long years of health and happiness as residents of the Richmond Foyer. The evening was then brought to a close by the serving of refreshments.

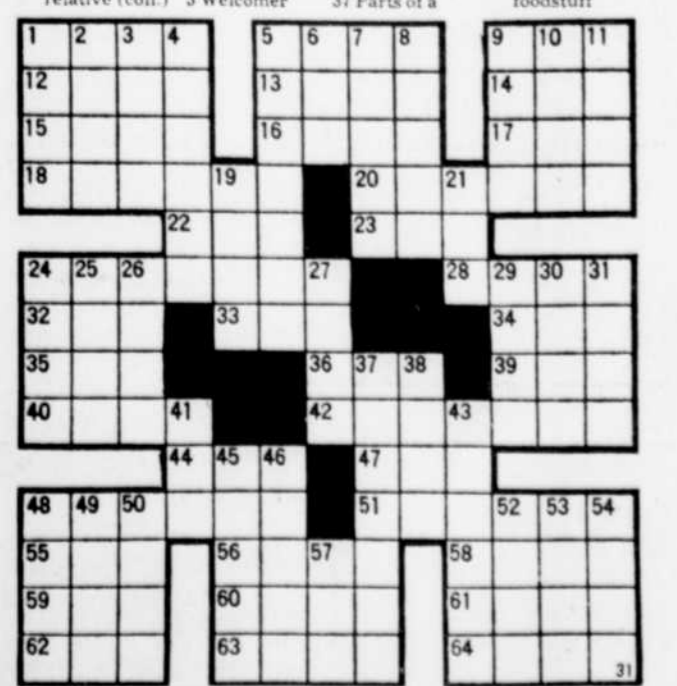

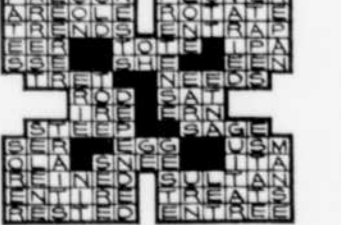

Tuesday at 2 p.m. the pupils of Grade II of St. Patrick's Convent visited the Foyer and while there they rendered several songs. Mayor Trudeau introduced each pupil to the residents.

Wednesday at 4 p.m. Rev. Father M. Kelly of Philadelphia conducted mass in English. This was Father Kelly's first visit to Canada. While here he was the guest of Rev. Father Robitaille, parish priest of Holy Family Church.

Canadian Legion Auxiliary

STANSTEAD — There were 21 members of Stanstead Frontier Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion who gathered at the Beige room of the Memorial Home on Tuesday evening, June 1 for a pot luck supper of many good things to eat.

Afterwards, a business meeting took place. The first Vice president, Mrs. Vernee Middleton presided. The president Mrs. Helen Heald with her husband, Jack, who that day had undergone major surgery at the Sherbrooke Hospital.

The meeting was opened in the usual manner. Reports were heard and communications read. Final plans were made for catering for a wedding reception on June 5 Mrs. Heald has sent a message of appreciation to everyone who had assisted at the serving of a Bowling banquet in May.

It was noted several members of the Senior Banquet were ill and to be remembered with cards, also two Auxiliary members confined to hospital and home.

Two student bursaries are to be given in the autumn. They will be $50.00 each and all applications should be sent to Mrs. Ivy Hatch, Rock Island, Children of Auxiliary or Legion.

members of War Veterans are eligible. A summer project is taking place to meet this and should be a success there might be a third bursary given.

It was noted the District meeting will be held on June 20 at the Legion Memorial Home in the afternoon and plans were made to serve supper.

A request to cater for a wedding reception in August was turned down due to the fact that the Auxiliary will be inactive in the months of July and August.

The Beige room will be redecorated during this time and plans for this are in the hands of the Legion and Auxiliary House committee.

There will be a return visit made to Flanders Branch in Montreal on June 19, anyone planning to attend should put their name on the bulletin board announcement at the Memorial Home.

A sum of $10.00 was voted in support of the Walk-a-Mile on May 29, to sponsor five children of Auxiliary members in this worthy cause.

Applications were received for two new members, they are Mrs. Nina I. Esperance and Mrs. Maude Bacon. Both were approved.

The next meeting will be in September.

Ladies Aid to hold drawing

WINDSOR — Lower Windsor Ladies Aid held their June meeting at the home of Mrs. William Paterson on Tuesday evening, June 1, with 12 members and two guests present.

The report of the card party held May 22 was given. Six card parties had been held throughout the winter, all had been successful both socially and financially.

A drawing was held on an Esmond blanket with Miss Carol Patterson being the winner. Mrs. Delbert Watson offered to have the September meeting which will feature a bring and buy sale.

There will not be any meetings during July and August but plans were made to hold a picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Farquhar on Sunday, June 20.

Members were reminded about the sale of tickets for the handmade quilt, the drawing of which will be held at the picnic.

Following adjournment, the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Expos victimized by surging Dodgers

MONTREAL (CP) — Rookie third baseman Bobby Valentine socked his first National League home run—a three-run blast in the second inning—and went four-for-four at the plate Sunday to lead Los Angeles Dodgers to a 7-1 victory over Montreal Expos.

The Expos had grabbed a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning when Ron Hunt came home on Bob Bailey's fielder's choice. But the Dodgers, who have won five of six games with Montreal this season, quickly erased the deficit.

Wes Parker smashed a one-out single and after Steve Renko, 7-5, walked catcher Duke Sims on four pitches, Valentine cracked a pitch over the left field fence 340 feet from home plate.

The Dodgers increased their lead to 6-1 with three runs in the top of the fifth.

Valentine led off the inning with a single and took second when winning pitcher Claude Osteen, 7-4, stroked a single to right.

Maury Wills tripled both runners home and scored when Willie Crawford singled to right.

The Dodgers added a run in the eighth when Valentine singled Parker home from second.

Earl Williams couldn't crack the lineup when Clete Boyer was at third base for Atlanta Braves. Now he's making the most of his opportunity.

Atlanta's rookie infielder knocked in six runs with two homers Sunday, leading the Braves to a 9-0 shelling of Houston Astros.

"You have days like that," said Williams, who always seemed to play his best as a till-in for Boyer, the slick third baseman released recently after a squabble with management.

When Boyer was sick earlier this year, Williams played third during a three-game National League series with Philadelphia Phillies and had a party at the plate with three homers among his seven hits.

Pittsburgh Pirates ripped the slumping St. Louis Cardinals 8-4. Los Angeles Dodgers clouted Montreal Expos 7-1. San Diego Padres nipped Philadelphia 9-8. Cincinnati Reds stopped Chicago Cubs 4-3 in 11 innings and New York Mets edged San Francisco Giants 5-4 in 10 in other Sunday action.

Chicago defeated Cincinnati 5-2. San Francisco stopped New York 5-1. Philadelphia blanked San Diego 3-0. Los Angeles clouted Montreal 5-3. Houston edged Atlanta 3-2 and Pittsburgh downed St. Louis 4-3 in Saturday's play.

Williams crashed his first circuit blast in the second inning off Don Wilson and capped Atlanta's scoring with a three-run drive off Buddy Harris in the seventh.

In between the Williams power display, Hank Aaron lashed homer No. 19 and the 611th of his career. Pat Jarvis fired a five-hitter for his second victory in a row after seven losses.

Richie Hebner's three-run homer completed a five-run uprising in the ninth to help Pittsburgh hammer St. Louis and maintain first place in the East Division by 2½ games over New York St. Louis, which dropped 3½ games behind in third, has lost six straight and 10 of 13.

Pinch-hitter Bob Barton drove in two runs with an eighth-inning double to pull San Diego from behind to decide a slugger's battle with Philadelphia.

Lee May singled home the winning run in the 11th, sparking Cincinnati's success. May's game-winning hit off Ferguson Jenkins scored Pete Rose from second and handed the Cub ace from Chatham, Ont., his sixth loss in 16 decisions.

The Reds had tied it 3-3 with the eighth. Jimmy Stewart opened with a pinch single, went to second when Jenkins bobbled Dave

Royals sustain assault on first place

The red-hot Kansas City Royals made it six straight over Boston Sunday with a 4-3 victory that dumped the Red Sox into third place in the American League East Division, five games behind Baltimore Orioles and one-half game back of Detroit Tigers.

The Royals have won five in a row and 11 of their last 12 and pulled within five games of Oakland in the West as the Athletics bowed to New York Yankees 5-1.

Elsewhere, Baltimore edged Chicago White Sox 2-1 as Mike Cuellar posted his eighth consecutive triumph. Cleveland Indians blasted Milwaukee Brewers 11-0 behind Sam McDowell's two-hit pitching. Washington Senators beat California Angels 5-2 and the Tigers tripped Minnesota Twins 9-5.

In Saturday's action, Milwaukee dumped Cleveland 4-2. Minnesota nipped Detroit 5-4. Oakland throttled New York 13-3. Chicago drubbed Baltimore 7-3. Kansas City rapped Boston 7-0 and Washington took California 3-2.

The Royals, who started Boston's slide with a three-game sweep in Fenway Park two weeks ago, kept it going with three weekend victories, giving the Red Sox four straight defeats and 11 in their last 14 games.

The Royals stole four bases Sunday, giving them 44 in 56 attempts. Freddie Patek swiped second and third in the first inning to set up a run and Ted Savage stole third in the fifth and scored on a single by Patek.

The Royals broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning and pinned Sonny Siebert with his third straight setback.

Sylvio Belanger cards 75 to win field day honors

LENNOXVILLE — Top honors of the third ETGA field day of the season held Sunday at the Lennoxville Milby Golf Club went to Sylvio Belanger of Drummondville.

Belanger carded a 75 over the par -73 course for a two-stroke win over Arnold Baker of Sherbrooke Country Club. Cliff Goodwin followed up with a 79 while Paul Lindell garnered an 80.

Bracketed at 81 were Pierre Lessard, Jim Goodwin, Gerard Bernier, Doug McEwen, Gilles Dube and Gerry Leblanc.

Low net of the tourney went to Lennoxville's Valmore Lacasse with a 66.

Normand Bergeron snatched the Class B laurels with a score of 79 for a five-stroke edge over Allan Giard.

Roger Drouin came in third with 85 followed by Normand Bolduc who carded an 86.

Valmore Lacasse's round of 86 was more than enough to take the Class C division honors.

A total of 154 took part in the Lennoxville field day, uniting some of the best golfers in the region.

Little League
 By Ted Anderson

The official opening of the Sher-Lenn Little League was again blessed with fine weather and everything went as planned. To all those who donated convertibles and helped out in many other ways, the executive of the league wish to convey their thanks for helping to make it the grand opening it was. Thanks also go out to the Sea Cadets and to the Sherbrooke Police Force for their fine contribution.

Last week's games did show a better brand of baseball. The teams are now getting used to each other's play and competition is getting keener. Great pitching and clutch hitting has been the factor in recent games.

Outstanding pitching performances have been delivered by Gaetan Doucet of the White Sox, Rejean Cabana and Richard Menard of the Indians, Bernard Boutin and Charles Lizotte as well as Rocky Sayers of the Yankees. All have been serving up good stuff. In the hitting department, among the leaders are Denis Caya, Jean Grenier and Claude Grenier of the Indians, Franco Zol and Jacques Ellyson along with Donald Dupre of the Red Sox Sayers and Rocky of the Yankees.

In the League standings, the Orioles have 16 points in nine games, Red Sox have 13 points in nine games, the Prioles 12 points in nine, Senators have 10 points for nine, and White Sox have 10 in eight games, while in the second division the Yankees have six points, the Tigers four and the Twins one.

It seems as if the plans for the provincial playoffs are going along well. All committee chairmen have listed their progress so far. There is still a lot of planning to do and another meeting of the committees is planned for next week. Listed below are the committees and respective chairmen: Tournament President Harry Kouri; secretary Pauline Batrie; treasurer Marcel Bergeron; publicity — Keith Morgan, chairman, along with Ted Anderson and Jean-Paul Ricard; public relations — Henry Crochetiere, chairman; Ground Committee — Gaston Lebrun and Jean Chouinard; Bob Jarjour will be in charge of billoting for the visiting teams. Ted Anderson will be in charge of billoting for the visiting teams. Ted Anderson will act as official scorer along with Jean-Guy Provençal and will be in charge of umpires and ground conditions. The social chairman is Denis Kirby. The souvenir program is in the capable hands of Roger Codere. Further details on playoff arrangements will be published later.

No-hit no-run games highlighted last week's games and for the stars of the week it has to be Gaetan Doucet, Richard Menard and Rejean Cabana with honorable mention to Claude Grenier.

It takes people to plan...so you're ahead

Lots of people, with many different skills. Thousands to work on research and development, to make plans. Tens of thousands to turn those plans into reality. To keep Canada, and you, ahead in the wonderful new world of communications.
