DEATH TOLL IN EUROPE PASSES 1,500

World News In Brief

Seoul, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor arrived today and began a round of briefings prior to launching a personal survey of his new command — the 8th army.

The famed paratroop "jumping general" of the Second World War flew in from Tokyo shortly after outnumbered South Koreans drove off 650 attacking North Koreans on the frozen eastern front. The battle line elsewhere was quiet.

U.S. Sabre jets patrolled MIG alley but for the first time in 16 days failed to flush any communist planes.

Paris, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Gen. Edouard Jean Requin, 73, who held important French military posts in two world wars, died yesterday at his home.

Kidsgrove, England, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Six men were killed and one was injured in an explosion here Monday night in Burchall's Colliery, one of Britain's handful of privately-owned coal mines.

Moscow, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The Soviet Press reported President Eisenhower's State-of-the-Union message briefly in 50 words today.

Stratford, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A 24-year-old army paratrooper was charged with murder yesterday, four hours after his former girl friend was shot and killed on a busy city street.

Income Tax Act Changes Urged

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Income taxes are being charged where they shouldn't be charged, a joint committee of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants and the Canadian Bar Association said today.

The committee made its representations to Finance Minister Abbott and Revenue Minister Mc Cann, and recommended a considerable list of changes in the Income Tax Act and its administration.

It said the Act, and the government's assessing policy, are "upsetting long-established ways of doing business and causing great concern and even alarm among both large and small business firms."

"Sound accounting principles are not being followed in computing income for tax purposes and, in many cases, taxes are being exacted on more than the true profits for the taxation year."

A spokesman for the chartered accountants gave an example. He said distributors of dairy products have to pay tax on receipts from milk tickets sold to the year's end, without any deduction being allowed for the cost of the milk which has to be supplied for the tickets in the following year.

As a result, many companies "find it necessary to change policies which are perfectly sound from a business point of view so as not to pay out on unearned profits."

"One large company went as far as to stop selling milk tickets in the last week of 1952."

Finance Minister Abbott Sets Feb. 19 Budget Date

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The budget is coming down Thursday, Feb. 19, it will tell Canadians whether higher or lower taxes are in store and possibly give a clue as to the possibility of an election.

Finance Minister Abbott announced yesterday in the Commons that he will bring down on that day the government's annual financial statement. It is one of the earliest dates in many years and two months ahead of last year.

Hopes for tax relief hinge on the generally-accepted belief that this is the last budget before a general election. Pre-election budgets often mean lower taxes. That was the case before the 1949 election.

Mr. Abbott has said that lower taxes depend on increased production. That statement, coupled with the buoyancy of Canadian economy, has engendered predictions on Parliament Hill of decreased levies, especially in personal income tax.

Mr. Abbott's budget announcement occupied only a few minutes. In other business members unanimously pleaded Canadian help to Britain, Holland and Belgium, beset by disastrous floods during the week-end.

US Applauds Eisenhower Proposals

Washington, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Speedy approval of President Eisenhower's plan to repudiate any secret agreements with the Kremlin was forecast today in a Congress applauding his decision to free Formosa Nationalists for raids on Red China.

Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, the Republican leader, said he sees no reason why Congress can't act quickly to pass a resolution proposed by Eisenhower in his State-of-the-Union message Monday.

The President said the resolution should make it clear that "this government recognizes no kind of commitment contained in secret understandings of the past with foreign governments" which permit "enslavement" of any peoples.

Eisenhower didn't say what agreements he had in mind, but the general assumption in Congress was that he had been speaking of Yalta, where the U.S. and Britain made concessions to Russia to persuade her to enter the Pacific war. The state department during the Truman regime said the Yalta pact has been fully public since 1947, two years after its signing.

Representative Charles McNair, Rep.-Wis., introduced a resolution he said was designed to nullify the Yalta agreement.

Senator Richard Russell Dem. Ga., after the voice of the Majority of southern Democrats in the Senate, said such a resolution would have "tremendous propaganda value in the world," and that he would support it.

Republicans have criticized that Yalta conference of February, 1945, in which the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin, participated, as having led Russia's position of power in the Far East and in former Nazi satellite states.

Eisenhower's proposal was regarded in Congress as a first move toward carrying out his presidential campaign promise that the U.S. will move in ways short of war to bring about the liberation of captive peoples in Russia's satellites.

While the congressional reaction to the repudiation proposal was almost all favorable, some Democrats voiced dissent for Eisenhower's offer of unfreezing the Formosa Nationalists for any raids they may be able to make on the mainland of Red China.

Eisenhower said he is issuing instructions that the U.S. 7th fleet Communist China Red's fleet former President Truman's 1950 order for the fleet to prevent any military excursion from Formosa.

Eisenhower said nothing about the companion part of the order, which directed the fleet to guard against the Red's attack. Thus presumably it will stand.

Senator Estes Kefauver Dem. Tenn., said he hopes the decision doesn't mean "we are going to back up landings by the Chinese Nationalists."

Holland Counts 991 Dead — Aid Is Rushed To Stricken Countries.

Amsterdam, Feb. 3.—(CP)—Grim and weary searchers on both sides of the English channel and the North Sea pushed the total known dead in Europe's greatest storm-and-flood disaster in centuries above the 1,500 mark today as the continent rushed aid to stricken Britain, The Netherlands and Belgium.

Additional bodies by the hundreds were reported from Dutch villages isolated by the sea waters that rushed in some places 40 miles inland. Rain, snow flurries and near-freezing temperatures added to the horror for thousands still huddled on rooftops or high ground for the third day without food water or medicines.

This was the latest count of the dead, compiled from both official reports and reliable unofficial sources:

Britain, 514.
Holland, 991.
Belgium, 22.
Total, 1,527.

There were no reports of Canadian dead so far. Canada's largest community in Britain, the 1,000-strong No. 1 R.C.A.F. fighter wing at North Luffenham in Rutland was not touched by the floods.

Sidelights On Europe's Great Flood

Snettisham Beach, England, Feb. 3.—(AP)—"Keep out, it's no place for sight-seers," said a constable who stopped a station wagon entering this flooded-ravaged community Sunday.

So Elizabeth II, Queen of England, and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, who were in the station wagon, ordered the chauffeur to turn about.

The constable had not recognized the Queen, and he was ruddy with blushing when told today whom he had turned back.

The Queen saw a great deal on her tour of the devastated region and learned that the greatest need of flood sufferers was wood for their fire places to dry out homes. She ordered that wood be sent from her Sandringham estate.

Hamelin, Germany, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Forty-five Canadian engineers, equipped with power-driven assault boats, headed for The Netherlands today to help in the fight against the floods.

A detachment under Capt. Fred Huxtable of British engineers will proceed to the low-lying disaster areas.

The Canadians will use their five assault boats to tow barges carrying equipment for building Bailey bridges. They will also staff vital drinking-water facilities in stricken areas.

The Canadians are from the 58th Independent Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Engineers. They have been standing by since Brig. J. E. C. Pangman, commander of Canada's 27th Brigade in Germany, offered help to The Netherlands government.

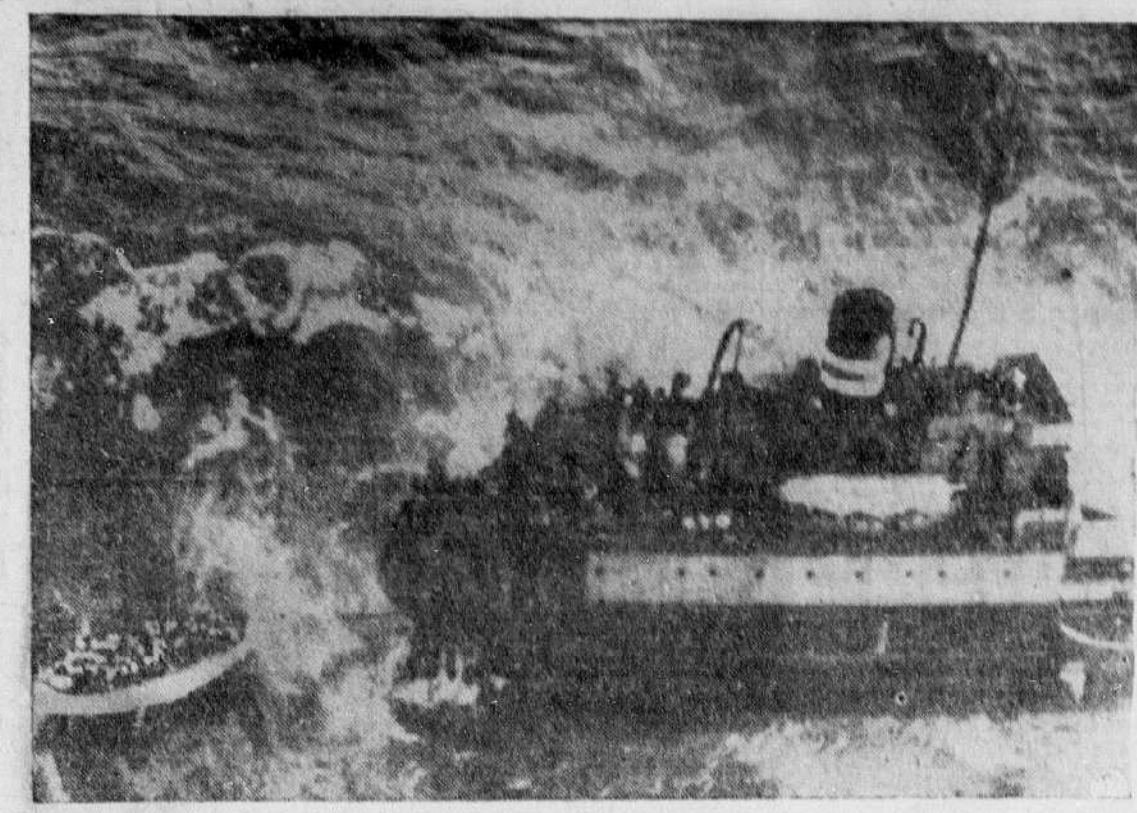

Vatican City, Feb. 3.—(Reuters)—Pope Pius is praying for the flood victims in Europe and has given orders that his message of comfort should reach the stricken populations.

The Pontifical Relief Commission has already started mobilizing its worldwide organization and is mapping out a program to rush emergency help to the disaster areas.

Capetown, Feb. 3.—(Reuters)—The South African House of Assembly today expressed sympathy for Western Europe's flood victims. It passed unopposed a motion put by Prime Minister Daniel Malan, who said the countries affected were not only those on friendly terms with the Union but were also considered the mother countries of the people of South Africa.

The Hague, (Reuters)—So many gifts of clothing and blankets are pouring in for flood victims that they threaten to disorganize the

Staggering Total Of 514 Dead Counted In Britain And Many Others Missing

London, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The toll in Britain's worst hurricane and flood in history hit the staggering total of 514 dead today. Thousands of troops and civilians, wet and exhausted, fought the English channel and North Sea in a great battle to save other lives and lands still threatened.

Estimates of the number of Britons missing ranged between 600 and 1,000. About 35,000 were homeless and 250,000 acres of land had been flooded. Property damage ran into the millions of pounds.

With the toll growing hourly, there was fear that the spring tides due in two weeks would smash again through the weakened sea defences.

Around the clock, in sleet, rain and snow at scores of villages along the east coast, men frantically laid sandbags and piled drift. Others continued the search for survivors.

Just across the channel, in even harder-hit Holland, nearly 1,000 dead had been found and the toll was rising hourly.

Possibly 300 of the missing Britons lived on Canvey Island, in the estuary of the Thames. Canvey's 25 square miles took the country's hardest blow when the ancient dikes crumbled early Sunday and the seas gushed over.

Police said at least 100 died there. Early today there were still some 3,800 persons on the stricken island. Many of them—some possibly because of the shock—refused to leave their homes. Nearly 7,000 others were rescued by a hastily-mustered fleet of small boats.

Eleven Americans including three U.S. air force men, three wives and five children were dead. Seven others were listed as missing and presumed dead. Most of the U.S. casualties occurred in the flooded town of Hunstanton, near the big U.S. air base at Sculthorpe.

No Canadian casualties were reported. The RCAF's No. 1 fighter wing with 1,000 officers and men is located at North Luffenham, 50 miles away from the stricken area.

Prime Minister Churchill called the flood a "national responsibility." Queen Mother Elizabeth, in a broadcast message this morning, appealed to the country to contribute clothing and bedding for the homeless. Dozens of drives were underway for money, clothing, medicine and relief workers.

While the nation mobilized for relief, the fight went on to bulwark the dikes against future floods. Four million sandbags were issued by the army alone to fight the "battle of the gaps." The giant operation was led by thousands of Royal Army Engineers, air force men and sailors.

The town council of Great Yarmouth, almost in the centre of the stricken area, ordered emergency measures "on a full wartime basis" as the four-mile tidal basin threatened to burst its walls. Many small breaks already had been plugged by 20,000 sandbags.

Aid Pledged For Victims Of Disaster

By The Canadian Press

The aid of Canadians was pledged yesterday to flood-devastated Britain, Holland and Belgium.

As mounting reports of the week-end have continued to reach Canada, members of Parliament at Ottawa unanimously expressed "the earnest desire of the Canadian people" to send help as soon as the stricken countries can say what would be best.

Other volunteer moves to collect flood-aid funds were started independent across the country.

Leaders of the many Netherlands who have emigrated to Canada formed a special relief committee to raise money across the country among fellow countrymen. The money will be sent to the national disaster fund in Holland.

It is anticipated that most Canadian aid will be channelled through the Canadian Red Cross, which has already offered its stockpile of clothing, bedding and flood-fighting equipment stored at Geneva, Switzerland.

Premier Bennett of British Columbia offered the province's aid to Britain.

Manitoba, which received widespread international help during the 1950 Red River floods, looked for some way to return that aid. Premier Campbell telephoned the British foreign office to express his province's sympathy and learn first-hand about some of the havoc.

All members in the Commons supported the motion of sympathy and promised aid moved by Prime Minister St. Laurent and seconded by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader.

It expressed "the earnest desire of the Canadian people to manifest their sympathy to the sufferers in such concrete form as, after more accurate information is available about the exact need, will prove to be the most helpful."

Through the reigning monarchs of the United Kingdom, The Netherlands and Belgium it expressed sympathy to those stricken by "the appalling disaster."

Spokesman for all parties recalled the help given by those countries to Canada at the time of the Red River flood and in other disasters.

Mr. Drew suggested that the Commons speaker, Hon. Ross Macdonald, be named at once as chairman of a committee to co-ordinate relief campaigns across the country. This could hasten aid once it becomes clear what form the aid should take.

British Fear US Decision On Formosa

London, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A host of British misgivings over President Eisenhower's decision to denounce the island of Formosa awaited State Secretary John Foster Dulles of the United States today.

Dulles was due in London shortly before Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to voice to an aroused House of Commons Britain's deep concern over the lifting of the U.S. 7th fleet's protective blockade of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese forces on Formosa.

Eden planned to meet Dulles later at the foreign office and diplomatic sources took it for granted that the talk would be pretty plain. Some reliable informants said the British government planned to present an oral protest to the U.S. secretary of state.

Dulles comes here after three days of conferences in Paris. He was reported to have told Premier Rene Mayer that Eisenhower's decision is expected to draw Chinese Communist troops toward a front facing Formosa, thus relieving pressure on Korea and easing the threat of Chinese participation in the Indo-Chinese civil war.

He also was quoted as saying that the United States does not intend to support Chiang Kai-shek in any "reckless action" against the Red-held Chinese mainland.

Dulles arrives in London at a moment of considerable tension in Anglo-American relations. Much of the British press today expressed editorial concern at the Eisenhower Policy. Their comment followed similar expressions of anxiety — mainly by members of the Labor party — in the House of Commons yesterday.

In addition to queries about Formosa, it is expected that Dulles will be told of secret British plans to link British forces in Europe with the projected European army. Official sources said these plans would be applied only after Britain was asked formally to associate itself in a practical way with the six-country European defence community.

The chief object of Dulles' trip obviously is to hurry along this project for linking the troops of France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg into a unified defence force.

From Prime Minister Churchill down, British leaders have been documenting arguments on three other main problems to be discussed during Dulles' 42-hour visit. These are:

1. Britain's desire for early talks with the U.S. on a new program of economic co-operation among Europe, the Commonwealth and the Americas, both north and south.

2. The uneasy situation in the Middle East. Britain is anxious to have firm U.S. support in her disputes with Iran over oil and with Egypt over military bases in the vital Suez canal area.

3. The rearmament programs of the 14 Atlantic pact allies. Foreign ministers of these countries are scheduled to meet in new arm targets for 1953 and 1954 at a May meeting in Paris.

The independent London Times said Chiang's nuisance value for harrrying the Chinese Communists "is small and fleeting at best when compared with the wider political and strategic dangers that are being run."

Eisenhower Has Closed One Dispute And Opened Another

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Feb. 3.—(AP)—By his order releasing Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa to attack the Reds, President Eisenhower has closed one long and bitter dispute, but has almost certainly opened another.

For a major question which now confronts the Eisenhower administration is whether and to what extent the United States should support and assist Chiang Kai-shek in mounting sea and air raids and help him fulfil his avowed determination to invade the Chinese mainland.

State Secretary John Foster Dulles is reported to have told nervous French officials in Paris yesterday that Washington does not intend to support Chiang in any "reckless actions." All indications here are that Eisenhower intends:

1. To let the Nationalists make whatever raids they can with present limited capabilities, and

2. Protect their island meanwhile with the U.S. seventh fleet.

Diplomatic authorities believe Chiang will not be satisfied with this, and will begin pressing for large-scale U.S. help to mount a major invasion of Red China. Up to the advent of the new administration the disagreement here had been between those who wanted action by the Chinese Nationalists, and the Truman Administration which wanted no active war in that area.

Horror Of Canvey Island Is Overwhelming

By JOHN DUDMAN

Canvey Island, Eng., Feb. 3.—(Reuters)—I wished today that I had never become a reporter as Canvey Island gave up its dead from the grey floods. The horror was overwhelming.

From first light the little boats went out on the lake that only a day or two ago was a flourishing community at the mouth of the Thames.

Then the horror began as the boats roared back with the bodies. One by one they were found—floating in the front gardens, sprawled along the shattered sea wall, some still in their beds.

A boy who returned to the island this morning in search for relatives saw something white floating in the front garden of his cottage home.

White-faced and trembling he plunged into the water, forced down the fence and cried, "It's my mother."

One of the men threw a rope into the bushes beside another house and gave a tug. A hand appeared above the surface. From a finger came the gleam of a wedding ring. It was a young man still in his pyjamas.

It was slow, terrifying work. Slow because the boats were hampered by the fences around the houses. They had to knock many down to reach the windows and peer in, fearing of what they would find next.

Some of the bodies had already floated out of the doors and the windows. A woman still in her nightgown was found sprawled in the mud of the sea-wall.

Everywhere were smashed windows, gates hanging half off their hinges, doors blown down by the tremendous force of the tidal wave that smothered Canvey Island, making it the hardest hit of all Britain's flooded areas.

Officials shook their heads when asked to estimate how many bodies they expected to find.

The islanders want to start again though the authorities would like to seal off the island. Tradesmen returned to their shops. Notices went up "Open as usual."

One sign hanging from the window of a baker's shop spoke for the 15,000 islanders—"Canvey will rise again."

FEUDIN' SISTERS BURY HATCHET; DIG FOR SCENE TO DO TOGETHER

Hollywood—Exclusively Yours. Olivia de Havilland and Joan Fontaine on the screen together for the first time?

Hollywood wasn't big enough for the two feudin' and tusslin' sisters until they buried the hatchet recently, and now, if producer Lester Cowan is persuasive enough, they may do a scene together in "From Main Street to Broadway."

Cowan is currently combing the literary woodpiles for material and answers rumors that Olivia is holding up production by being "difficult" with.

"She's been very cooperative. The delay in filming her scene boils down to finding the right material for her or for Olivia and Joan together. We've discarded a number of ideas, including a scene from 'Romeo and Juliet.'"

Hollywood legal wizards are telling actor agents that the 18-month tax exemption law for Americans working abroad will be changed next month. Only $25,000 of any person's income outside the U.S. earnings will be tax exempt—the rest will be subject to standard tax laws. If the limitation is applied, a number of top stars now in Europe will wake up screaming.

A Hollywood producer was approached by someone close to Bette Davis on the idea of co-starring Bette and Tallulah Bankhead in a movie. Then he consulted Tallulah. Her answer was a big "NO!"

There's a crowd. If there's a feud between Betty Grable and Marilyn Monroe, the girls will have to forget it. They're both slated for Fox's "How to Marry a Millionaire," with Lauren Bacall as the third co-star.

Rod Cameron's medics have changed their minds and he's been given the green light to leap back into action films. His next will be for Eddie Small, "The Steel Lady."

Marvin Miller, typed as an Oriental menace, will play a U.S. gangster with Tony Curtis in U.S. "Drifting." The locale of the film: the Orient. Lloyd C. Douglas' "The Big Fisherman" will be the third movie to utilize the massive sets and expensive wardrobe that are adding up to a $5,000,000 production cost on "The Robe." Michael Rennie will be the star.

George Sanders hasn't read the script of "Duo," the picture he's about to do opposite Ingrid Bergman for Roberto Rossellini. There is no script!

Vivien Leigh isn't kidding about wanting to do a "Road" picture with Bob Hope and Bing Crosby.

Loretta Young is still saying no to the national magazine editor who offered her a mint to write her life story. The same editor sent out one of his top writers to collaborate with Loretta a few years ago and got a tongue-lashing from her for not taking her at her word.

Reason: Cornel Wilde changed agents was that he tried to reach his high-powered, 10 percent three times by telephone and was given a runaround by a private secretary. Cornel was wild!

Cy Howard may not know it, but he won't be able to keep that "Miss Ruby Stevens" title on the television series he's hatching for Gloria Grahame. The monkey happens to be Barbara Stanwyck's real name and she doesn't like the idea one penny's worth.

Don't know how Zsa Zsa Gabor feels about it, but her brother-in-law, Tom Conway, is co-starring with Hungarian-born Eva Barok in "Park Plaza 605" in London. Eva is reported to have said:

"Zsa Zsa is giving Hungarians a bad name."

Rosemary Clooney will do a "Suspense" radio thriller Feb. 23. The marriage of MGM's Bob- by Van and Diana Garret was one of Hollywood's best-kept secrets. Even close pals blundered over the announcement. Kathryn Grayson in a shimmy dance will be a surprise sequence in "The Grace Moore Story." Grace did the hip-wiggling as a chorus girl on Broadway in "Hitchy Koo."

Rotary Club Of The Boundary Holds Discussion On International Service

Derby Line, Feb. 3. — The first of a series of four meetings to be devoted to different aspects of the object of Rotary, and designed to acquaint the members of the club with the background facts of the four avenues of Rotary Service, was held at the regular Monday evening meeting of the Rotary Club of the Boundary. The meeting took place in the Del Monty Hotel with president Rene Monty presiding.

International Service was the topic discussed by the members, and the discussion was led by Earl Heath, chairman of International Service for the club and also District International Service chairman.

Mr. Heath started by quoting the fourth phase of the object of Rotary: "To encourage and foster the advancement of international understanding, good will and peace, through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service." The chairman continued by saying, "International service is simply an extension of community service. People all over the world have more points of likeness than they have points of difference. The world today is one large community. Rotary is present in 84 different countries and geographical regions, in the democratic countries of the world. For that reason, world peace and good will are logical objectives for the organization."

The discussion of international service continued through ideas suggested by members of the club in response to questions by Earl Heath. It was felt by the members that more programs stressing this feature of Rotary would stimulate interest, and that the plan of corresponding with clubs and club members in other countries would also be beneficial. Bringing in students and teachers from other countries to tell about their homes, taking advantage of opportunities to get speakers with knowledge of international affairs were other ideas that were suggested. The continuing study of the United Nations was felt to be a very worthwhile project in the high schools, and having young people present at the meetings, as well as talks from those who attended the sessions of the Model United Nations Assemblies that are held in Plymouth, N. H., were felt to be worthwhile to the club.

Maurice Gerrard summed up a number of ideas by saying that he felt helping the young children in your own home learn more about other countries and other people was a very practical idea that virtually every Rotarian could put into practice.

Latest news from Ealing Studios states that Anthony Steel will leave London on January 25 for Africa where he will film the opening sequences for a sequel to "IVORY HUNTER," this time called "WEST OF ZANZIBAR" in Technicolor. Starring with him in "WEST OF ZANZIBAR" will be Dinah Sheridan and William Simons who were also in "IVORY HUNTER."

That perennial scene-stealer, A. E. Matthews, has done it again. But with a difference this time. He didn't know he was being filmed.

The director, Jack Lee, called "Cut."

Matty came back, apologized and said he didn't know what was going on.

Jack Lee told him not to worry as the scene stays in all the same. The backward glance at Joan Collins' legs proves that beauty is still appreciated at 83.

204,396 cheques like this met urgent needs in 1952

During 1952, The Great-West Life made 204,396 separate benefit payments to policyholders and beneficiaries—amounting to over $38,000,000. Sharing this huge sum were elderly people who had saved for an independent retirement; widows and children to whom the payments were of vital importance; and many others whose share, often coming in an emergency, was of special significance.

In addition to benefits paid out, a further $28 million was added to the funds held for the future benefit of policyholders.

In every other phase of Company operations, progressive achievement was apparent. Great-West Life representatives carefully planned and arranged new protection amounting to $327 million for more than 45,000 people. Great-West Life policyholders now own more than $2 billion of life insurance and annuities in the Company. Assets, which are soundly invested in productive enterprise, grew to $446 million.

Ald. Thibault's Views Are Subject Of Statements At Council Session

The large crowd of ratepayers who gathered in the Council Chamber of the City Hall last evening in the expectation of witnessing a display of verbal fireworks were not unduly disappointed, with two of the aldermen expressing their displeasure with the remarks made by one of their colleagues on the question of municipal finance.

Ald. Henri Labonne, chairman of the general administration committee, read a lengthy prepared statement in which he reviewed the forthcoming loan by-law authorizing a loan of $1,660,000 to finance an extended list of civic improvements and sought to answer some of the criticisms voiced before a Proprietors' League meeting by Ald. Eugene Thibault. The latter's opposition to the $100,000 grant to the Fair Share campaign for the local seminars was attacked by Ald. Leo Cadorette in another prepared statement.

Naturally Ald. Thibault gave his side of the dispute but his remarks were milder than those usually forthcoming from the Center Ward alderman.

Aside from these declarations, the meeting adopted one routine report and would otherwise have adjourned within five minutes of its opening.

After an extensive preamble, Ald. Labonne offered a denial to charges of Ald. Thibault that $329,500 of the money asked in the loan by-law had already been spent. Due to tighter accounting methods adopted in 1952, it had been possible to cut down on various projects when it was found that they were nearing appropriation established in the loan by-laws or in the budget with the result that sidewalks had cost $45,767.55 in 1952 as compared with an estimate of $52,500, paving has amounted to $199,248 as compared with estimates of $209,470 and underground work had cost $385,857.62 against estimates of $421,600. This year appropriations for paving, sidewalks, etc., had been cut to $140,000 as compared with $500,000 in the 1952 public works by-law.

The only money spent in advance of by-law 783, to be voted on next Tuesday, Ald. Labonne stated, was for equipment for the gas, electric and waterworks departments. In these particular cases, he said, there was great delay in the delivery of equipment and it had been found desirable to place orders for transformers, sub-station, etc., in August and December, 1951, as delivery on the items was two years or longer. In a move to prevent similar situations arising in the future, the Council had taken double-barrelled action during 1952.

First, it had engaged a firm of consulting engineers to examine the electric system and outline a comprehensive plan for future development. Secondly, the Council had received authority from the Provincial Legislature to borrow $200,000 annually for three years to meet urgent expansion costs in the electricity service.

He expressed surprise and indignation that Ald. Thibault had seen fit to discuss budget matters in public before the budget was presented to the Council. He did not share the view of the Centre ward alderman that the budget would show a deficit of $513,000. The figures used by Ald. Thibault have been based on preliminary estimates by department heads and the alderman had spent long hours in pruning unnecessary items from the proposed appropriations. He also demanded that Ald. Thibault be less vague and more explicit on certain other charges to the effect that things were not as rosy as they seemed in the municipal finances.

Explaining the heavy loan by-laws of recent years, Ald. Labonne said that from 1939 to 1952, Sherbrooke's population had increased by 65 per cent, while for six years 1941 to 1946, many projects had been deferred due to wartime conditions. In these years expenditures had averaged $170,784 for sidewalks, paving, sewers and water mains, while since 1947 the average expenditure on these items had been $637,323.

Ald. Eugene Thibault repeated his claims that $329,500 had already been spent and that money was being thrown away right and left at the City Hall. The money raised by the sales tax—of which he had been a supporter—had been squandered on such items as $55,000 for a new valuation system that only meant the addition of three more permanent employees to the City Hall staff.

He said he had used the budget figures to justify his opposition to the $125,000 swimming pool by-law and the $100,000 donation to the Fair Share campaign. The citizens, he maintained, had been kept in the dark on municipal finances by the system of Star Chamber discussions, which hid the real activities of the Council.

Ald. Cadorette entered the discussion to claim that most of the sales tax revenues had been eaten up by increased wages to the municipal employees. The failure of the City to develop the Two Miles Falls power site in 1937 was costing the city $325,000 a year or over $4,000,000 in the thirteen years it had lain idle since that date. He also criticized the inefficiency of the stone crusher and asphalt plant operations.

Ald. Thibault replied to the effect that the city had a surplus of power in 1937, that the stone crusher could not be operated efficiently as it was an old-fashioned machine for the aging municipal employees and that the city had some unpleasant experiences with letting out asphalt paving work to private contractors.

Justifying the $100,000 Fair Share grant, Ald. Cadorette said that in six years the city had spent over $600,000 for sports and recreation and it was only right to vote $100,000 for education. The value of this contribution, he continued, was reduced by $20,450 because the grant was payable over eleven years, this representing the discount on a 4 per cent basis. The city could derive $40,000 from sales tax on the materials used in the construction of the Seminary and had received land from the Seminary on Seventh Avenue that could be sold for at least $27,000. Thus the actual donation, he said, was $12,550.

The delegation asking the increase in the grant from the original $50,000 to $100,000 had included such prominent citizens as Judge Cesaire Gervais, Hector Lanctot, Dallas Grant, L. P. Rheault, Edgar Genest, Alphonse Gauthier, Lucien Belanger, Dr. Richard Gaudet, Gedeon Nadeau and J. Emile Blais.

Red Cross Makes Campaign Plans At Lennoxville

C. LaDue Norwood was named chairman for the coming financial campaign by the Lennoxville Red Cross at a special meeting held at the work room. Provincial director L. F. Mercier, of Montreal, was the guest speaker.

Plans were made to organize a house to house canvass from Feb. 21 to March 8, with an objective of $2,000. The campaign objective is based on the estimate of the minimum operational cost of the Red Cross services for the coming year.

In view of the diversity and scope of the Red Cross program, its cost is surprisingly low. This is due to the fact that the Red Cross is able to operate with a very small personnel of salaried technicians and administrators because more than 95 per cent of the work is done by volunteers.

Health Unit Nurse Tells Of Work Here

The hope that the public will become better acquainted with the Sherbrooke Health Unit and the work it is doing was expressed last night by Miss A. McKenty in an address to the local Lions Club.

Miss McKenty is health educator at the local unit and her interesting address was followed by an open forum during which answered questions asked by members of the club.

This is national health week and Miss McKenty said that the slogan of the week is: "Water and milk—friend or enemy?"

While the emphasis this year is on pure water and unadulterated milk, Miss McKenty said that in public health there is much more than water and milk to be considered.

She referred to pre-natal care and child health clinics, both of which are part of the service of the Sherbrooke unit which, she said, has been described as the youngest unit in the province but rapidly becoming one of the best.

Members of the health unit have been described as "sentinels of health" and their function is to provide a public service, just as the police and fire departments do. The health unit is not a charity organization. Its services are available to everyone.

"We are here for safety's sake," Miss McKenty said, "and we will be able to do more if more people get to know about us and the reasons why we exist. We can't do much if people don't know we are there in the first place."

Medical director of the unit is Dr. E. Poisson and there is a staff of 11 nurses, whose main function is home visiting.

The work is essentially preventive and educational, freeing the doctors of some of this type of duty but not replacing them.

Infant mortality and the incidence of diphtheria are still too great in this province, Miss McKenty said, and the health unit can provide the services that will reduce the toll—through its pre-natal clinics and by inoculations.

Introduced by Dr. Georges Saine, Miss McKenty was thanked by Ossie Goyette.

One of General Eisenhower's greatest hopes is that his administration will be able to make the world "a better place for young people everywhere."

This objective was not voiced in his State of the Union message to Congress yesterday, but in a letter written by the President's executive assistant to a 12-year-old Sherbrooke girl.

PATRICIA FORTIER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fortier of Cambrai Street, wrote the newly-elected President to congratulate him on his victory in the United States elections.

SPEAKS TONIGHT—Dr. D. Kennedy who will outline reasons for pasteurization of milk in a broadcast tonight over station CKTS at 7 p.m. This is one of a series of national health week broadcasts.

Dr. Kennedy will be assisted by Dr. Eric Marquardt, president, presided.

Movies on the filtration of the water that is supplied to Montrealers were shown following the address.

Dr. Dechesne pointed out that people should take care of their health throughout the whole year—not just during health week. "Health is a very important matter."

Health week is being held in Sherbrooke from February 2 to 7. Introduced by Paul Nadeau the speaker was thanked by Jacques Laliberte.

Gerard and Oscar Jean, of Weedon, will be sentenced on February 10 instead of today as scheduled. Both men were found guilty by a Court of Queen's Bench jury on a charge of rape.

Oscar Jean will be sentenced by Mr. Justice Cesaire Gervais while Gerard will receive his sentence from Mr. Justice L. P. Cléche.

50 First Aid Stations For Quebec Planned

Montreal, Feb. 3.—Approximately 55 first aid stations will be set up in Quebec province in connection with its civil defence health service, Dr. Leo Lynch, director of provincial civil defence health services, said Monday at a three-day regional conference here.

He said one of the first objectives of the service is establishment of from 25 to 30 first aid stations which were originally scheduled to be in operation last July.

Seventy-five representatives of Quebec, Ontario, Maritime and United States civil defence units are attending.

Dr. Lynch said 80 physicians from Quebec had been specially trained at Camp Borden, Washington, and a special course here. As well, some 2,733 nurses had attended a 12-hour course on nursing aspects of atomic, biological and chemical warfare.

The meetings here are the second in a series of regional conferences. The first was held in the West and the Maritime conference will start next week.

Maurice Gingues Will Accept Local Nomination If It Is Offered To Him

The Progressive Conservative party is unable to find any real issue on which to overthrow the Liberal Government and was forced to resort to half-truth and misrepresentations in its efforts to gain power, Hon. Alcide Côté Postmaster General, told the annual meeting of the Sherbrooke County Liberal Association held in the City Hall auditorium last evening. Its campaign was based on four points, he said—extravagance by the administration, over-taxation, the Currie report, and the necessity for a change.

The address by the Minister was the highlight of the meeting which saw Donat Jacques re-elected for his seventh term as president, with the other members of the executive being Gerard Berard, secretary, Philippe Pepin, assistant secretary, Leon Lefebvre, treasurer and Benoit Turmel, legal adviser.

The gathering also welcomed with cheers a statement by Maurice Gingues, M.P., that his health was now excellent and that he would seek re-election if the nomination is offered him.

The Liberal party, said Mr. Côté, represents the moderate ideas in Parliament and was interested in the welfare of every element of the Canadian population.

"We do not claim," he said, "to have a monopoly on perfection and virtue, but we have guaranteed prosperity since 1896 and we have good reason to believe that the electorate, impressed by our accomplishments, will return us to power in the next election."

He claimed that charges of extravagance were overdrawn and were based on false promises. The Opposition claimed the Government had bought so many neckties for the armed forces but did not say how many were in the services, active and reserve.

Taxation policies had been designed to reduce the national debt during times of prosperity, with the result that Canada's financial position was now the strongest of any nation in the world.

Dealing with the Currie report, he said this investigation had not been ordered by Parliament but by the Minister of Defence who had had the courage to inform the public of certain short-comings in his department. Those guilty of crimes had been punished and the reforms suggested had been implemented. It was a tempest in a teapot, he indicated.

The demand for a change for the sake of a change would not be taken seriously by the Canadian people, he concluded.

Mayor Ovila Bergeron Re-Elected In Municipal Contest At Magog

Magog, Feb. 3.—Mayor Ovila Bergeron and three aldermen were re-elected to office yesterday while three former aldermen were defeated in one of Magog's most keenly contested elections.

Mayor Bergeron polled 1,726 votes, an overwhelming majority of 1,183 over his rival, Maurice Theroux, who had 543 votes. Mr. Theroux lost his deposit.

Mayor Bergeron will hold office for the next three years.

The aldermanic fight was much closer. Former Alderman Gilbert Pelletier got only 75 votes for seat No. 1 and lost to Jean Losier, who polled 168. The two other candidates for the same seat, Hector Gauvin and Alphonse Pomerleau, polled 63 and 12 respectively.

Laurent Girard was re-elected to seat No. 2, receiving 260 votes compared with 146 for his opponent, L. A. St. Jean.

J. M. G. Viens was also re-elected to seat No. 3, polling 411 votes, compared with 128 for his opponent, Lionel Beaudoin.

Five men competed for seat No. 4 and the result was that former Alderman Elver St. Jean was defeated and Armand Pouliot was elected. Incidentally with the exception of the new alderman, Mr. Pouliot, the other candidates were all former aldermen. The votes went accordingly: Eugene Bégin, 62; Elver St. Jean, 131; Adélard Lacasse, 55; Edgar Bournival, 99; and Mr. Pouliot, 136.

Albert Simard was re-elected to seat No. 5 with 266 votes while Albert Simoneau polled 99.

Roger Longpre won out by a very close margin for seat No. 6 with 95 votes compared with 70 for former Alderman Leo Ledoux, Donat Viens, another contender, had 88 votes.

Roger A. Boudreau, secretary-treasurer of the city, acted as returning officer.

OUT TO PASTURE

The United States has two ex-presidents, one a Republican and one a Democrat. But there is no provision for assuring them of financial independence for the remainder of their lives nor is there any plan whereby their experience as "elder statesmen" may be utilized by Congress.

It is paradoxical that the United States has such elaborate retirement benefits awaiting its admirals and generals when they are superannuated from the armed services, but when a president or vice-president returns to private life, he is "on his own" again. Of course, he can always write his memoirs, which in Mr. Truman's case would bring in a considerable sum. But except for a pension he draws from the army Mr. Truman is without income to support himself and his family. The argument is entirely academic since there are many courses open to him which would be highly remunerative, but whether his talents should be permitted to cease to be at the service of the state is a matter of great importance.

Surely, non-voting seat in the senate, with an office and staff to maintain his prestige, would be a minimum reward from a grateful country. Moreover, a lifetime annuity would solve financial worries for the less affluent of ex-presidents. Some are actually in need of funds when they leave office. General Grant was compelled after leaving the presidency to pledge his souvenirs of office for a loan.

Ex-president Herbert Hoover, out of office for twenty years, not only has made valuable contribution to American affairs through his widespread humanitarian work during this post-presidential period, but gave excellent service when appointed by President Truman to organize food relief in Europe, Asia and Latin America following the Second World War. It is likely that despite his years, Mr. Hoover will be a source of inspiration and guidance to President Eisenhower.

As far as the financial provision for ex-presidents is concerned, most of them, like most Canadian ex-prime ministers, have been financially independent. But provision for cases where such is not the case is surely a token appreciation of arduous service. It does seem callous to turn out of office a man who has been elected to the most difficult position in the world today without some provision for his future requirements.

But much more important is the experience gained by men who have held the office of president. At the present time when experience counts for so much, it is regrettable that Mr. Truman should be permitted to pass from public service through lack of legislation for retaining him in some advisory capacity, if, of course, he is willing to serve. Canada may be faced with the same problem, since public office is becoming more and more a full-time position, eating into private financial reserves as well. It will be interesting to watch the American solution.

ABUNDANCE BY DECREE

A recent press story from Warsaw announced the abolition of rationing in Poland. According to the decree by which this was accomplished, rationing was found to cause a restriction in free buying and thereby a reduction in "economic incentive for increases in production of labour," which in turn "lowered the standard of living of the working class." It also caused waste and high running costs and led to bureaucracy and black markets.

It is rare for us to have occasion to commend the actions of a communist-dominated government, says Industry, the bulletin of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, which continues. But while we do indeed commend their action, we must obstinately maintain our churlish insistence that their reasoning is as faulty as ever.

We live in the eternal hope that one day they will produce not just one but many actions with which we will be able to stand in line but as yet, whenever their present mode of reasoning produces actions worthy of acclaim, it is still for us a matter of surprising coincidence. It always seems to us that, for some reason or other, they can never bring themselves to make a mental journey from Danzig to Gdynia without going round by Lwow.

Rationing doesn't cause shortage. Quite obviously, it is shortage which causes rationing. Rationing is the attempt to give fair distribution to a commodity which is already in short supply. If the Polish government could publish a decree which would assure the abolishment of shortages, they'd not only rid themselves of rationing and all the things they say that rationing has caused, but a host of other things to boot.

In a recent article on price controls, we pointed out that there are two ways and no more by which shortages can be abolished. One is to produce more, the other to consume less and, since none of us truly likes to deny himself things, it all resolves itself into a matter of producing more.

Produce enough and you have no shortage. That is the simple lesson which all of us, including, it appears, the Polish government, must learn by heart if we're really desirous of prosperity.

THREE WILSON SPEECHES OF 1951 ARE SEARCHED FOR HIS VIEWS

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington — (NEA) — New Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson says it was three speeches he made in the fall of 1951 which probably led to his appointment to a cabinet job.

After he had made the first speech, but before delivery of the other two, the General Motors president sent copies of all three speeches to General Eisenhower.

Within two weeks the general wrote back to Mr. Wilson, commending him for demonstrating that we can and must produce national security without falling into national bankruptcy. That was the beginning of the contact that led to the President's appointment of Mr. Wilson to the top defence post.

Washington today is studying these three speeches to get a better grasp of the ideas which the new Secretary of Defense may be putting forward as his policy.

Highlights of the three speeches include:

1. A plan for "dual purpose" manufacturing plants, capable of being shifted rapidly from civilian to defense production or used simultaneously for both.

2. An end of direct government controls over prices and wages and the substitution of indirect controls over money and credit supply to end inflation.

3. A justification of the General Motors-United Auto Workers wage formula which includes periodic cost-of-living adjustments and an annual improvement increase of 2½ per cent a year.

Proposed Dual-Purpose Defense Plants

Mr. Wilson's first point was covered in a "Preparedness Policy" speech before the American Ordnance Association in Cincinnati. Its main argument can be summarized in oversimplified form like this:

Americans want peace with a stable economy and an ever-improving standard of living. In solving this problem we must preserve American free competitive society. Maximum flexibility must be retained to convert rapidly from peace to war. Since 1945, the U.S. has not had a practical industrial mobilization plan.

At the end of World War II the defense production plants were liquidated or converted to peacetime use. Examples given are the Ford Willow Run plant, the Chrysler engine plant at Chicago, the Cleveland bomber plant of General Motors.

Mr. Wilson therefore proposes that defense plants be designed for dual, peace-or-war production on at least 10-year contracts, made renewable for several generations if necessary.

Either plant would use the same offices, cafeterias, power plants and hospitals. The greatest advantage would be in the use of the same labor force without dislocation.

Mr. Wilson would use the present government plan for accelerated tax amortization of these plants, leaving them for private-industry operation.

Saw Economy Imperiled By Controls

Mr. Wilson's economic views were outlined in his second speech before the Dallas, Tex., Society for Advancement of Management.

The U.S. faces two major problems today, he said. The first is possibility of a third world war. The second is the danger of losing our free society in the process of preparing for war.

At the present time, he said, the U.S. has resorted to a system of wage, price and production controls in the name of stopping inflation. He was specifically critical of rent controls, government production of synthetic rubber and its steel allocation program.

"The military program must not be expanded beyond the minimum needed to defend the country," he summed up. "We must adopt indirect controls that will avoid inflating the money supply. We must act as quickly as possible to get rid of direct controls which interfere with individual initiative and personal rights."

In justification of the GM-UAW five-year labor contract plan, frequently criticized by other big manufacturers, Mr. Wilson delivered his third address on "Wages and Economic Stability" at Michigan State College.

In it he expressed his conviction that the business cycle could be controlled and a drastic depression such as occurred in the early '30's avoided.

His formula here was a repetition of the principles given in his Dallas speech, plus the use of his wage plan. He says it will double the standard of living every 25 or 30 years.

"SHORT COURSE"

Foreign Affairs

Stalin's "Short Course" keeps appearing in revised editions as the greatest, dulllest and most mendacious best seller in the history of literature. But he himself has streamlined the Great October Revolution further and further, until the latest version to appear, in the Chronology in the back of the corresponding volume of his own "Collected Works" actually reads:

October 24 (November 6, New Style). Lenin arrives at Smolny in the evening. Stalin briefs him on the course of political events.

October 24-25 Lenin and Stalin lead the October uprising.

1,000 GRIZZLIES

Regina Leader-Post

Fort Walsh, southwest of the present town of Maple Creek, was "famous before Regina was known". In 1883, the Mounties made their headquarters in Maple Creek, patrolled from the South Saskatchewan to the U.S. border and prevented the Cree Indians from joining their fellow Crees up north in the Riel rebellion. In the earlier days in the nearby Cypress Hills, more than 1,000 grizzly bears were killed in one year alone.

Britain Considers Installing Parking Meters In London

London, Feb. 3.—(Reuters)—Britain is thinking of installing parking meters in the heart of London.

The immediate effect might be to ease traffic congestion in the twisting streets of the biggest city in the world. But judging from the experience of large American cities, as long as the cars are on the streets the traffic problem remains—parking meters or not.

So the main idea would be to stack the pennies and sixpences from the meters to finance construction of huge underground garages.

Trafalgar square, for example, at a given moment during the rush hour may be clogged with as many as 50 lumbering double-decker buses and dozens of automobiles circling around the lowering Nelson column. Parking meters in the surrounding streets would not check the crawling flow of traffic, but a garage under the bustling square could take more than 10,000 of these cars out of circulation.

The traffic problem is increasingly urgent for London. Since the war the city has been spreading out and more and more people are commuting to work by car.

Parking lots in unrepaired bombed sites provided a stop-gap solution but they are now being filled in by new buildings.

A committee has been studying the city's traffic problem ever since 1951 and is expected to file its report soon.

"The broad purpose of the report," Transport Minister Alan Lennox-Boyd said recently in the House of Commons, "is the building of underground garages in certain selected London squares."

If the idea works in central London it could be extended the other British cities, such as Birmingham, Manchester, Newcastle.

The transport minister said the government was willing to take the lead in the parking garage plan. Meanwhile the public—already forced to slip coins into meters for gas and electricity—would have to be "educated," he said.

TAKE ANY TIPS A CHAMP

WILL GIVE

Many of this country's leading tournament stars will gather in the Master's Individual Tournament. In this type of tournament you play only a few hands with each partner. By the time the tournament has ended you have played with forty or fifty different experts and can therefore tell stories for weeks about the crimes of each partner.

Just as in any match point game, the bidding is often highly competitive, with many close decisions for both sides. In today's hand, played in last year's Individual Tournament, Harry Fishbein, famous New York expert, wisely decided to sacrifice at five spades when his vulnerable opponent bid up to five hearts.

West opened the queen of hearts, and East overtook with king in order to return the queen of diamonds through declarer. Fishbein won the second trick with the ace of diamonds, after studying the situation thoroughly. It was clear to declarer that he had to lose one trick in each red suit and at least one club. It was therefore impossible to make the contract, but it was still important to get the best possible result.

If South attacked the clubs by himself he was bound to lose two tricks in this suit. For example, if South led the ten of clubs, West would cover with the queen, thus forcing out dummy's ace. Dummy's jack would then be trapped, and the defenders would surely make two club tricks.

The only way to avoid the loss of two club tricks was to make the defenders attack that suit. After winning the second trick with the ace of diamonds, therefore, Fishbein drew one round of trumps, ruffed his last heart in dummy, and then gave up a diamond trick to the defenders.

It didn't matter which defender won the trick. If the opponent on lead happened to return a diamond or a heart, dummy could ruff while South discarded a club loser. And if either defender attacked clubs, South could surely hold the loss in that suit to one trick.

By playing the hand in this way, Fishbein got an excellent score with a loss of only 100 points. At many other tables East was permitted to play the hand at five hearts and made his vulnerable game for a score of 650 points.

A—Bid one no-trump. You have only 14 points in high cards, so that you have a minimum opening bid. Since you have balanced distribution and some strength in each of the unbid suits, a rebid of one no-trump is a perfect way to tell your story.

On Canasta

RIGIDITY CAN RUIN CANASTA

"We have frequent debates about the best way to play Samba," writes a Cincinnati correspondent. "As you know, this is the game in which you play with three decks and are allowed to meld sequences that are worth 1500 points."

"It seems obvious to some of us that the sequence canasta, or samba, is the really distinctive feature of the game. If you want to go after seven of a kind, which is also possible, you might just as well stick to ordinary Canasta instead of playing Samba."

"Some of the members of our club differ with this opinion. They like to play to meld out quickly. They make very little attempt to meld a samba, but concentrate on pure and mixed canastas of the ordinary kind. Sometimes they win, and sometimes they lose, but it gets the rest of us annoyed in either case."

"We feel that a player should play the game that he is supposed to be playing. If the name of the game happens to be Samba, he should go out for sequence melds, instead of just trying the hit-and-run tactics of making ordinary canastas."

"Please give us your advice on this matter."

"I'm afraid I cannot agree completely with either side in this dispute. Most of the big thrills in Samba come from making the sequence melds that count such big scores. It is also thrilling, however, to meld out quickly just before your opponents are able to complete a samba."

Perhaps I can explain by comparing it to the game of baseball. It is very exciting to see a player hit a home run with the bases loaded. It is also exciting to see a good pitcher strike out a dangerous batter when the bases are loaded. In short, there is such a thing as brilliant defensive play as well as brilliant offensive play. We cannot afford to sniff at either one.

A Samba player who always tries to meld sequences will do well on many hands but will lose a large number of points on other hands. Similarly, a player who always tries the defensive maneuver of melding out quickly will lose many high-scoring opportunities.

The expert does not try to force the cards into a prearranged pattern. He tries to meld out quickly when he has a hand suited to that purpose, and he goes after sequences when his hand provides opportunity for high scoring.

Once Vast Estates Now Collective Farms

Berlin —(Reuters)— East Germany's vast Junker estates were split up by the communists in 1946 to "give land to the peasants." Now they are being reassembled on the Soviet pattern as collective farms. The government has announced that 1,100 collective farms—or kolхозes, as the Russians call them—have been formed.

East Germany, the last of the "people's democracies" to collectivize farming, needs kolhoz farming to conserve its inadequate labor force and to improve food production.

Collectivization, when efficient, reduces the labor required and increases production by concentrating crop cultivation in most favorable regions.

East Germany badly needs more hands in industry for her five-year plan, 1950-55, which aims at doubling industrial production. Labor is so scarce that west Germans estimate there are 200,000 acres lying idle in east Germany.

In November, the government announced details about one major collective project where a group of farmers pooled their land, to which the state added some, to form one large farm. Each farmer is left about one acre for his personal use.

SHORT STORY

Five Hours Dead

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

Obadiah Little was dead. There were plenty who would be glad to hear that news. There were a great majority of others who did not care a rap. Obadiah was a mean old man who lived alone on a farm 10 miles west of Fairview. Everyone hated him because he drove a sharp bargain and foreclosed mortgages on the minute.

That was the situation that confronted Owen and me when we drove up to investigate.

Preliminary investigation revealed the following facts: Obadiah had been killed by a rock thrown through a window near which he was sitting there reading because Moses Morris, a neighbor had passed by in the early evening and noticed the light in Obadiah's window, and noticed Obadiah sitting beside it. Moses had gone up the road looking for a cow and started back and noticed that Obadiah had shifted his position.

Something about the way the old man looked aroused Moses' curiosity, and he went up close Obadiah was a mean old man . . . everybody hated him. And saw blood on Obadiah's temple. Moses went on home and called the police.

We corroborated this by talking to neighbors who had heard Moses calling the cow, and by discovering footprints and hoofprints outside the window, and by the fact that Oscar Jones, another neighbor, had come by while Moses was looking in the window.

So we discounted Moses as a possible suspect, and went to work on the others who had hated Obadiah. There was, for example, Roscoe Norbert, who lived a mile away, and who had been helping Obadiah with his hay.

A neighbor had heard Obadiah and Roscoe quarreling over wages that very day.

So we called at Roscoe's house and struck a snag. Roscoe hadn't been home all night. That looked bad, or good, depending on what side of the fence you were on. I sent Owen to hunt up Roscoe, and returned to Obadiah's farm.

Quite a crowd had gathered outside. Lights from automobiles illuminated the house and grounds. Among the cars I noticed Doc Orion's little coupe.

He was inside, and had already begun his investigation.

"How's it look?" I asked him. "Let you know in about an hour." He glanced up and returned to his work. I scowled

Social Evening Planned By Local Home, School Assn.

The Executive of the Sherbrooke Home and School Association met recently to discuss the program for the next general meeting of the Association and other matters.

It was announced that R. C. Allnutt, administrator of the Sherbrooke Hospital, had kindly consented to speak to the Association at the High School on February 16.

Following the usual group discussion of Mr. Allnutt's talk, mixed dancing will be indulged in for about an hour, after which refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

The next item of business before the Executive was the discussion of plans for a dance to be held in the High School to raise funds for the presentation of prizes to pupils of Mitchell and East Ward schools at the close of this term. This event is now scheduled for April 18, music to be supplied by Les Beaulieu's orchestra, and round and square dancing to be featured.

It was moved and seconded that G. McClintock and Hector McRae be appointed representatives of the Sherbrooke Home and School Association to the Regional Council to be formed in this district.

It was also decided to ask the general meeting to vote a sum of money to G. McClintock to purchase library books for Mitchell and East Ward school libraries, and, further, to ask the general meeting to vote on the holding of a tag day to finance next year's activities.

There being no further business the meeting then adjourned.

enue are raised, lowered or kept flat depending on what portion of the gross national production Mr. Abbott thinks the government should get to meet estimated expenditures.

Last year Mr. Abbott estimated gross national product between $22,600,000,000 and $22,750,000,000 during 1952-53. For the 1953-54 fiscal year there are signs it may total $23,000,000,000.

In addition, revenues may exceed expenditures during the present fiscal year by between $100,000,000 and $125,000,000. This compares with Mr. Abbott's estimate of a surplus of $9,000,000 in the last budget.

for an associate defence minister, the Progressive Conservatives, CCF and Social Credit members supported George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, in an unsuccessful attempt to amend the government's bill.

Mr. Drew moved a similar amendment while the Commons was considering the government's plan in committee. He urged appointment of an air minister but the Commons adjourned before any action was taken.

In opening the debate, Prime Minister St. Laurent said the world is in a "twilight zone" between peace and war, but the government feels it should not yet use emergency action without parliamentary approval.

He made the remark in reply to previous arguments by Mr. Drew that the government did not need to change the Defence Act to appoint an associate defence minister. The power already existed to make the appointment under the emergency Powers Act.

Mr. St. Laurent said the proposal for an air minister would be costly and cause overlapping. The new minister would concentrate on administration and Defence Minister Claxton on international defence relationships.

The government has designated Solicitor-General Campbell as associate defence minister.

Mr. Drew said the government plan does not clearly define the responsibilities of the new minister. The result would be continuation of the present "inadequacies" in defence administration.

Mrs. Earl Dawson gave the report for Island Brook, in the absence of the treasurer, H. V. Burns. A. Cook, treasurer, reported for Cookshire, and both Island Brook and Cookshire reports showed favourable balance.

Mrs. Earl Parker was re-elected recording secretary, and A. Cook was re-elected Missionary and Maintenance treasurer. Mrs. Donald MacRae was elected a representative to Presbytery, also Mrs. L. O. McLeod.

A resolution was passed that the 1953 salary as set by General Council be met in this charge.

Opera Festival To Open In Toronto Feb. 11

Toronto, Feb. 3.—The fourth annual opera festival which opens here Feb. 11 will have interest for families spread all across Canada. Members of the Royal Conservatory Opera Company include top-ranking singers who come from many parts of the country.

On opening night, when Giacomo Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" will be presented, with the Governor-General in attendance, the leading role of Cio Cio San will be sung by Irene Salema, whose parents still live in Weyburn, Sask. Irene, now studying in Montreal, was brought here for the role and will sing opposite James Shields, who was brought up in Vineland, Ont. Joan Hill, who sings Suzuki, comes from Winnipeg and Sharpless will be sung by Irene Bouchard of Ottawa.

Two former Winnipeg girls, Louise Roy and Mary Morrison, will alternate as Fiordiligi in Mozart's "Così fan Tutte" with Sylvia Grant of Calgary singing Dora. Ferrando is being sung by Edward Johnson, a former Hamilton tenor who has been studying in New York, and Guglielmo by Donald Garrard of Vancouver. An drew McMillan, whose parents live in Montreal, will alternate with Jan Rubes as Alfonso.

A new departure for the company will be the presentation of "The Consul," the third work on the festival program. It is a contemporary opera by Gian-Carlo Menotti which had a successful Broadway run and has dramatic as well as musical appeal.

All the singers of leading roles are professionals and paid as such, while the chorus is made up of undergraduates at opera school of the Royal Conservatory of Music.

Members of the Opera Festival Association, who have taken over the administration of the opera company, feel that since it can attract capacity houses for 10 days with full-scale operatic productions, they have the beginning of what might be in the future a truly national opera company.

The Doctor Says

PROMPT DIAGNOSIS. TREATMENT OFFERED FOR LOBAR PNEUMONIA

By Edward P. Jordan, M. D.
Perhaps there is nothing which so astounds a physician who was in practice even as recently as 20 years ago as what has happened to lobar pneumonia. This formerly common infection of the lungs used to be known as the "old people's friend" because it so often proved an easy and painless final illness.

Today, lobar pneumonia is almost a rare disease, and when it does occur recovery is the rule. The speed with which this occurs is amazing to all those who remember what it used to be.

It is interesting, and even now important, to discuss this disease. A typical case starts suddenly with a severe chill which may last for as long as half an hour. Soon after the chill, the temperature begins to go up and it rises rapidly to around 104 or 105 degrees. At the same time a person coming down with pneumonia may have general aches and pains with headache.

Pain in the chest or side like that which is present in pleurisy, is also common. Cough which produces pain, and does not bring up much mucus, starts early. The breathing becomes rapid and each breath is shallow.

These symptoms can be confused with other conditions, but are certainly suspicious of lobar pneumonia. Examination of the chest by a physician and especially taking an X-ray film generally bring a diagnosis early.

Unless steps are taken to treat the condition promptly, the typical signs develop by the second or third day. By this time cold sores around the lips are likely to be present, the facial expression shows anxiety, the pain in the side or chest is severe and the breathing is rapid. Cough brings up a fair amount of sputum which is likely to be tinged with blood. The temperature stays high, at 104 or 105 degrees.

Penicillin brings relief. Penicillin and its relatives almost always bring remarkable improvement in a short time. A quick fall in temperature and relief of Each guest was presented with a Flower Pot, which was a corsage of Baby Mums, which each

A nice feature during the afternoon was when the telephone rang and her sister, Alice, Mrs. Harry Kezar, of West Charleston, Vt., and her youngest sister, Bernice, Mrs. J. L. Curtis, of Burlington, Vt., had called to convey their birthday wishes and to wish her Many Happy Returns of the Day.

Before departing for their respective homes they joined in singing for "She Is A Jolly Good Fellow."

Legion Auxiliary Officers Installed At Meeting In Rock Island Armoury

Rock Island, Feb. 3. — The installation of the Ladies' Auxiliary officers for the ensuing year was the highlight of the regular meeting of Stanstead Frontier Branch No. 5, of the Canadian Legion, held on Wednesday evening, January 29, in the Rock Island Armoury, and attended by a large number of comrades, both ladies and gentlemen.

Comrade G. J. Couture, president, was in the chair and officially opened the session, with Comrade F. Stanton, chaplain, repeating a prayer. Comrade R. R. Wallace read the minutes of the last regular meeting and that of the executive, both of which were approved.

The applications of two comrades were accepted, and they became members of the branch, Comrade Wilfred Fortin and Comrade Gaston Lajoie, both of Rock Island. In the absence of the treasurer, Comrade H. Slack, Comrade Couture gave the report of the auditor, Comrade L. McGill. This was most satisfactory, with all bills paid the branch has a balance on hand of $332.49, plus securities.

Comrade George Hatch reported that plans were progressing nicely for the presentation of the three-act comedy, "To Kill a Cat," by the Mazo Home and School Association. This promises to be a comedy well worth seeing. The date set is February 27 and tickets will be on sale in advance of the date. Comrade Couture urged all the members of the branch to cooperate and make this play a success.

At this point of the meeting the ladies were installed, with Comrade E. J. Struthers as the installing officer and Comrade J. Alec Bacon as the presenting officer. The ladies, all wearing corsages to correspond with their attire, were: Sgt.-at-arms, Comrade Ada Curtis; president, Comrade Lillian Clark; first vice-president, Comrade Genevieve Lyons; second vice-president, Comrade Ivy Hatch; treasurer, Aldora Watson; secretary, Comrade Aileen Arbery.

Remarks were made by Comrade E. J. Struthers and Comrade Couture pertaining to the good work of the Auxiliary in the past year, and of the officers in their help to the veterans of the community as well as to the Senior Branch. Comrade Struthers presented the gavel to the incoming president, Comrade Clark, who thanked the outgoing officers for their work in the branch and asked for the continued co-operation of the new officers. She also thanked the Senior Branch for the work of entertaining the ladies and to Comrades Struthers and Bacon for their work of installation.

Returning the gavel to Comrade Struthers, he in turn gave it to Comrade Couture who closed the meeting in form.

Comrade Struthers gave a brief talk on the greatness of the Canadian Legion. All the governor-general's have come to Canada, he said, have considered it an honor to serve the Canadian Legion as honorary members. No other organization has been so honored.

"It is a big thing we are a part of. The British Empire Service League, with which we are associated with is an organization of other countries, where we meet with veterans of other nations, with whom we have served in war. This helps create better feelings among neutral countries."

Comrade Struthers spoke of the benefit of the Poppy fund for the veteran and his family, and of the "Ships poppy fund," of the veterans civil service commission, from which the Veterans gets a fair deal, the pension cases, which have worked out very well for the veterans. There is no politics in the Legion, said Comrade Struthers. He referred to the educational service for the discharged veterans of the past war, from which many service men benefitted by attending universities across Canada who have received their degree of engineer, doctor, bachelor of commerce and many others. The country is also benefitting from these men of education as much as the veteran.

Every veteran should join the Legion for what he can put into it and he will get out of it just as much as he or she puts into it, was Comrade Struthers' closing remarks.

Refreshments were served by the Senior Branch. Comrade Hubert Pepin and Comrade Frank Hudson conducted a chess auction, which was a great deal of fun and brought the Senior Branch total of $4.40.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CINE Mrs. Roy Petelle was hostess to the Home Demonstration group of Derby Line at her home on Monday evening, January 26, with six members and two guests attending. Later the two guests became members.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Wilson Howe, the new president, and plans were made to have a food sale at Caswell's store on February 21. Mrs. Lawrence Moore was named chairman of this project.

Mrs. Ann Aldrich was the guest speaker at the meeting and she gave a very interesting talk on "First aid" as well as demonstrating the method of artificial respiration, used in case of drowning, etc.

Plans were made to have the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Leo Lord on February 23, the subject to be "Furniture Refinishing."

The hostess, Mrs. Petelle, assisted by Mrs. Wilson Howe, served delicious strawberry shortcake and cake, thus concluding a very pleasant evening.

BREAKFAST PARTY Mrs. Alton Hull, of Derby Line, entertained eight ladies of the community at her home on Wednesday morning, January 28, to a breakfast party. The hostess served coffee, doughnuts and buns. The entertainment was a Stan-

Pirates Visit Richmond And Aces Travel To Waterloo In Important Tilts As Teams Battle For Spots

The hotly contested battle for second position in the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League continues this evening with two games slated to take place.

Cliff Gouppille will lead his Magog Aces to Waterloo to tangle with Ab Norris and his Maroons in the first part of the twin-bill while down at Richmond Coach Jimmy Planché will have his Phantoms ready to receive the visit of the Drummondville Pirates.

Victoriaville Tigers, who hold a slim one point lead out in front, are idle this evening and stand a chance of losing the favored spot in the O'Donnell circuit. If the Aces can continue their hot pace they stand a fair chance of slipping past the Vigneau club into first spot if they can take the Maroons on their home ice.

At Richmond the Phantoms will continue their determined bid for a playoff spot and if they can down the Pirates and the Maroons down their tilt they will close to within a single point of the Norris squad with the same Olsen of games played. Waterloo has a total of 13

Things Upside Down As Usual In Boxing Business; Frenchman Fights For American Middleweight Title

New York, Feb. 3.—(P)—Every-thing is normal in the boxing business. Upside down as usual. A 27-year-old Frenchman, Pierre Langlois, is one of the 11 "American" middleweights fighting for the "American" middleweight title.

Langlois and Rocky Castellani of Lausanne, Pa., open the elimination tournament Friday night in a 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

The Frenchman, veteran of 67 fights, got in the tournament because his match with Castellani was signed before the New York State athletic commission and National Boxing Association set up the elimination series. If Castellani should lose to Langlois, the tournament would look strange without Pierre. So he was included in.

This is Langlois' third trip to America within a year. He first came over last March, winning two in a row before he was stopped by Johnny Bratton in Montreal.

Langlois' record shows 52 won, 10 lost and three draws since he started in 1947 in his home town, Pont au Mer in Normandy.

At Melbourne, J. Cain, Premier of Victoria, sent a cable Monday to Avery Brundage of Chicago, International Olympic Committee president, inviting him to Melbourne to inspect the grounds.

There has been much discussion on determining the Olympic site. Brundage, irked by Australia's uncertain preparations, has hinted that the games might be transferred to some other city. He mentioned that Rome and Los Angeles were "practically ready" to handle the games.

The conference estimated the cost of holding the games in Melbourne at £850,000, about $1,912,500.

The Commonwealth government will raise half of this and the Victorian government, along with the Melbourne city council, will share the remainder.

Meanwhile, the Melbourne Cricket Grand trustees have agreed to extend accommodations to handle 120,000 persons.

Bobby Shantz Signs Two-Year Contract For Slightly More Than $50,000 For Top Hurler Salary

Philadelphia, Feb. 3.—(P)—Bobby Shantz signed a two-year contract Monday to pitch for Philadelphia Athletics for a total of more than $50,000.

The five-foot-six-inch southpaw, most valuable player in the American League last season, thus becomes the highest-paid pitcher in the history of the Philadelphia American League baseball club. That includes Robert Moses Grove, long since voted into baseball's hall of fame.

The 27-year-old Shantz, smallest pitcher in Major League baseball, signed the new pact with club general manager Arthur Ehlers.

"Now I can stop worrying about money and concentrate on baseball," commented the little southpaw.

Asked about his left wrist, the one broken by a pitched ball last September, Shantz said: "I've forgotten all about that. It feels fine. I haven't thrown full speed yet, but that shouldn't be any trouble." The break was about four inches up from the wrist on the forearm. Shantz is confident that he can equal or better his 24-7 record of 1952.

Ehlers ventured the information that Shantz was the highest paid pitcher in the club's history. "You can say that Grove signed a two-year contract in 1932 that approached $50,000, and Bobby is getting more than that."

Ehlers added that he explained to Shantz exactly what the gamble was on both sides. "I told him flatly that he might have an even better year in 1953, and that on a one-year basis he could come here and sock me again. He decided to go for two years."

"We don't feel we've taken much of a gamble," said Art.

Nation Is TV Viewers Not Fight Fans, Says Editor Nat Fleischer

Jameson, N.Y., Feb. 3.—(P)—Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring Magazine, says 42 per cent of the small boxing clubs in the United States have folded in the last year. He blamed television.

"We've become a nation of TV viewers, not fight fans," Fleischer told a sports dinner Monday night.

924 Fans On Hand As Sydney Blanked 2-0

Sydney, Feb. 3.—(P)—Goalie Roy McMeekin of Halifax Atlantics racked up his first shutout of the season in 60 starts here Monday night before 924 paid fans, blanking Sydney Millionaires, cellar-dwellers of the Maritime Major Hockey League, 2-0.

It was a wide-open affair, both clubs skating fast and Sydney trying in the last period.

Bob Bowness tipped home a goal-mouth pass from Frank King for the first goal at 18:55 of the opening period. After a scoreless second frame, captain Bill Watson stickhandled to the Sydney defence, used them as a screen and backhanded a shot past goalie Nick Pidsodny.

Millionaires' outshot, Halifax 33-26 and were the victims of some tough luck around the crease. In the second period after McMeekin made one hard save, Alex Birukov lifted the puck over the body of the sprawled goalie. Joe Lepine skated in behind the goalie and cleared before it rolled over the line.

Sydney had some big chances when Lepine, Kenny Lauffman and Dugger McNeil sat out minor penalties and they managed to organize some strong power plays, but McMeekin won full credit for the shutout with some fine saves.

Style Changes Made In New Oldsmobiles

Completely new in frontal appearance and offering other styling changes inside and out as well as many mechanical advances, the 1953 Oldsmobile models are introduced today by General Motors Products of Canada. Among the important improvements in the new models, are further increases in efficiency of the "Rocket" engine, resulting in increased fuel economy and performance; compression ratio raised to 8 to 1, which also boosts the horsepower; and a more efficient 12-volt ignition system.

Frigidaire car conditioning that cools the car interior in the warmest weather is available on the Classic "98" series as an option at extra cost. "Pedal Ease" power brakes, to provide faster, safer stops, are an option at extra cost on all models.

Two popular items first introduced in 1952, GM power steering and the Autronic Eye headlight dimmer, also are offered again as optional extras. Hydra-Matic Super Drive, the pioneer and most proven of automatic transmissions, also is on the optional list. Directional signals are standard equipment on both 1953 series.

Two series of Oldsmobile cars are presented in 1953. The Classic "98" series has been extended to 215 inches in length and is built in three body styles—the four-door sedan, Holiday coupe and convertible coupe. Four body styles are available in the popular Super "88" series—four-door sedan, two-door sedan, Holiday coupe and convertible coupe. Both the "98" and Super "88" are powered by a 165-horsepower "Rocket" engine. Wheelbase is 124 inches on the Classic "98" series and 120 inches on the Super "88" series.

OLDSMOBILE FOR 1953 is completely new in frontal appearance, has a host of styling changes inside and out and features many mechanical advances including a more powerful "Rocket" engine. Two series, the Classic "98" and Super "88", offer a total of seven body styles in a wide array of new solid and two-tone color combinations. Frigidaire car conditioning, that cools the car interior in the warmest weather; and a safety-padded instrument panel, are options at extra cost on the "98" series. Directional signals are standard equipment on all models. Both series offer, as extra options, "Pedal Ease" power brakes, for faster, safer stops; Power steering; the Autronic Eye, an automatic headlight dimmer; and Hydra-Matic Super Drive. Shown here is the Oldsmobile Super "88" four-door sedan.

Distinguishing the 1953 Oldsmobile is a new front bumper and grille assembly. The bumper and grille have been gracefully redesigned, with two distinctive oval ornaments serving as supports for the upper bumper bar. The name Oldsmobile is inscribed on this bar in metal letters. Parking lights under the headlights are in new round recesses.

Both the Classic "98" and the Super "88" are enhanced by a new narrow sash, stone shield and decorative chrome trim on the rear fender and quarter panel. This accentuates the long, low lines that characterize the 1953 Oldsmobiles. The rear end of the 1953 Super "88" has higher fenders and a higher contour on the deck lid that emphasize the horizontal lines of the car.

Color combinations and upholstery options on the 1953 models are the most varied in Oldsmobile's history. The widest choice ever of solid and two-tone combinations is offered to buyers. Nylon cloth, gabardine and broadcloth are among the upholstery materials available in the "98" and Super

"88" series. Setting off the interior styling is an entirely new instrument panel, which has two circular recesses on either side. The instrument cluster is located in the left-hand recess in front of the driver, giving ready visibility for the gauges, speedometer and Hydra-Matic Drive indicator. The latter has been transferred from the steering column and is electrically actuated.

The right hand recess of the instrument panel houses the electric clock, also the radio speaker when a radio is ordered. The glove compartment is located in the direct center of the panel and is flanked on each side by a convenient ash receiver, which is readily accessible to any passenger. When the door of the glove compartment is down, it can serve as a handy tray. A safety-padded top for the instrument panel, made of flexible non-reflecting plastic over foam rubber, can be ordered, as optional extra equipment on the "98" series.
