Federal party decides:

No support for candidates

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Social Credit party's decision to stay out of the Nov. 14 Quebec election has overshadowed the first political exchange of the campaign between Premier Jean Lesage and opposition leader Daniel Johnson.

The 26 Social Credit MPs from Quebec and 10 members of the Quebec provincial executive made the decision Tuesday night at a secret meeting held in Ottawa after reporters had been told it would take place in Hull, Que.

A party spokesman said candidates running in Quebec under the Social Credit label would not have the support of the Quebec wing of the federal party headed by Real Caouette. This represented a victory for the stand taken by Mr. Caouette who maintains the monetary measures needed to enact Social Credit policies can only be made at the federal political level.

Dr. Guy Marcoux, who said previously pressure had been put on him to lead a provincial slate of candidates, concurred with the party stand.

REPORTS NEW PARTY
However, there are continuing reports of efforts by Social Credit supporters to contest the Quebec election. The Quebec City newspaper Le Soleil says a new party to be known as "Le Credit Social Provincial" is being formed. It is not yet known what effect the Ottawa decision will have on these efforts.

With Dr. Marcoux officially out of the provincial race, it is reported Mayor J. A. Mongrain of Trois Rivieres will be asked to head a slate.

Mr. Mongrain declined comment on the report.

Premier Lesage lambasted the Union Nationale's election platform Tuesday in Quebec City, saying its promised tax cut couldn't be realized because it would cost the provincial treasury $40,000,000.

He said the opposition party's pledge to increase basic exemptions in personal income tax was deceptive and would help persons with high incomes more than those with lower ones. "The higher a person's taxable income," the premier said, "the more tax he pays."

Higher salaries persons would thus find themselves paying on a smaller taxable income, Mr. Lesage added after a reclassification as proposed by the Union Nationale.

Quebec Social Credit Members of Parliament may have decided to abstain from participation in the Quebec provincial election campaign but there is every indication that Creditist candidates will appear on the ballot papers in most Eastern Townships constituencies when electors go to the polls on Nov. 14.

At a meeting in Hull last night, the federal MP's endorsed the stand of Deputy Leader Real Caouette to limit their activities to the federal field but the more militant groups in local organizations have made it abundantly clear that they do not consider themselves bound by the caucus action.

Already the Social Credit forces in Compton have decided to enter a candidate and have announced that a nominating convention will be held in East Angus on Saturday.

A caucus of the county executive was held in East Angus last Saturday night in an effort to select a candidate but support appeared so evenly divided between three aspirants, all residents of East Angus, that it was decided the choice should be made at a general meeting.

A group of Creditist enthusiasts in Sherbrooke has announced its intention of defying a decision by the county federal association not to participate in the provincial race.

Following a meeting Monday night a spokesman for the group said that a candidate would be selected within the next few days.

The spokesman said that Social Credit governments were in power in Alberta and British Columbia and that the federal party would be reinforced by a provincial victory in Quebec.

He declined to outline the provincial program, saying a policy declaration might be made following a meeting of supporters from various parts of the province to be held in the near future.

Reports from other counties captured by the Creditists in the June federal elections indicate that the local groups favor the decisions taken by their Sherbrooke and Compton colleagues.

Meeting at the Reform Club last night, the Sherbrooke County Liberal Association endorsed L. P. Brousseau, retiring M.L.A., as official Liberal candidate in Sherbrooke.

The decision endorsed an announcement by Premier Jean Lesage that all retiring M.L.A.'s would be candidates automatically if they decided to seek reelection. Saturday Mr. Brousseau stated he would seek another term.

But Stansfeld M.L.A. Georges Vaillancourt has decided to go ahead with plans for a nominating convention to be held in Coaticook on Saturday.

With no opposition being apparent to his nomination, the meeting in reality serves as the official campaign opener and it is expected several top line speakers will address the gathering.

The statue-encrusted buildings of Moscow State University are considered by Russians to be symbolic of the future richness of Communism.

The great main building contains classrooms, auditoriums, as well as dormitory space for nearly half of the university's 20,000 students. Add to this a barber shop, shoe repair store, motion picture theater, four dining halls and a grocery store. Impressive.

However, to Western eyes, Moscow University falls short of the promised land of abundance.

In the grocery the Russian student finds no fresh vegetables other than potatoes, cabbages, onions, and perhaps peas. He will find no fresh fruit except lemons and, occasionally, small apples. Depending on the supply he will pay from 25 cents to 45 cents for one lemon.

If he is fortunate enough to there on a day when a new supply of eggs has been received he can buy small ones (10 eggs for $1.30) after waiting in line from 30 minutes to an hour. At the meat counter he will find several kinds of fish and a few poor cuts of beef and bacon.

His monthly stipend is between 40 and 90 rubles (a shortage continues to be one of the great problems. When Russians learned that I lived in the dormitory and had a room measuring 8 x 12 feet all to myself, they were invariably impressed. By their standards this is luxury.

Not all students have single rooms. In a great many cases there are two, or even three, students in the same small room. At night some of the lounges serve as bedrooms; mattresses are spread on the floor for students who have no rooms.

Still, the university building is one of the least crowded places in Moscow. Conditions there are so good by Soviet standards that school authorities must cope with the problem of friends and relatives of students living there secretly. Each student and faculty member is issued an indent-

Tension mounts

Negro student makes 3rd attempt to enrol

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — With the possibility mounting that federal troops will be used to enforce court desegregation edicts, Negro James H. Meredith plans to try today for the third time to enrol at the all-white University of Mississippi.

Governor Ross Barnett—who has twice defied federal orders in refusing to let Meredith enrol at Mississippi — was expected to fly to the campus at Oxford and attempt to block the 29-year-old Korean War veteran's admission.

Barnett refused to allow Meredith to register with the state college board at Jackson Tuesday. Four hours later the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals directed the governor to appear in court in New Orleans Friday to face contempt charges.

The university's registrar, Robert B. Ellis, said he would be in his office today to register Meredith if he appeared.

Ellis said he would act under direct orders from the state college board and federal courts.

Barnett has vowed to go to jail rather than desegregate the university where he received his law degree with honors.

He also has threatened to close the school.

In Washington, justice department sources said the department was determined to carry through with Meredith's enrolment. The sources refused to forecast the department's next moves, but they did rule out the use of federal troops.

Barnett brushed aside Tuesday a directive from the circuit court restraining him and virtually all of the state's peace officers from interfering with the registration of Meredith.

Barnett met Meredith at the door of the state college board office. He refused to accept copies of the court's directives and then read a proclamation asserting the state's sovereignty in the case.

Last Thursday, Barnett personally took over powers as registrar and refused to let Meredith enrol at the university.

Meredith left the state office building encircled by Mississippi highway patrolmen as a crowd of 1,500 hooped and jeered. He flew to New Orleans, docks as the helicopters flew in

200 dead in storm

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Two hundred persons are believed to have died in severe storms that struck Spain Tuesday night, reports received by the government said today.

These reports indicated 63 bodies have been recovered in Tarrasa and Sabadell, the two most important Spanish textile centres, where a number of workers were trapped by the collapse of factories.

The missing were estimated at 200, and the injured at not less than 1,000 in Barcelona province.

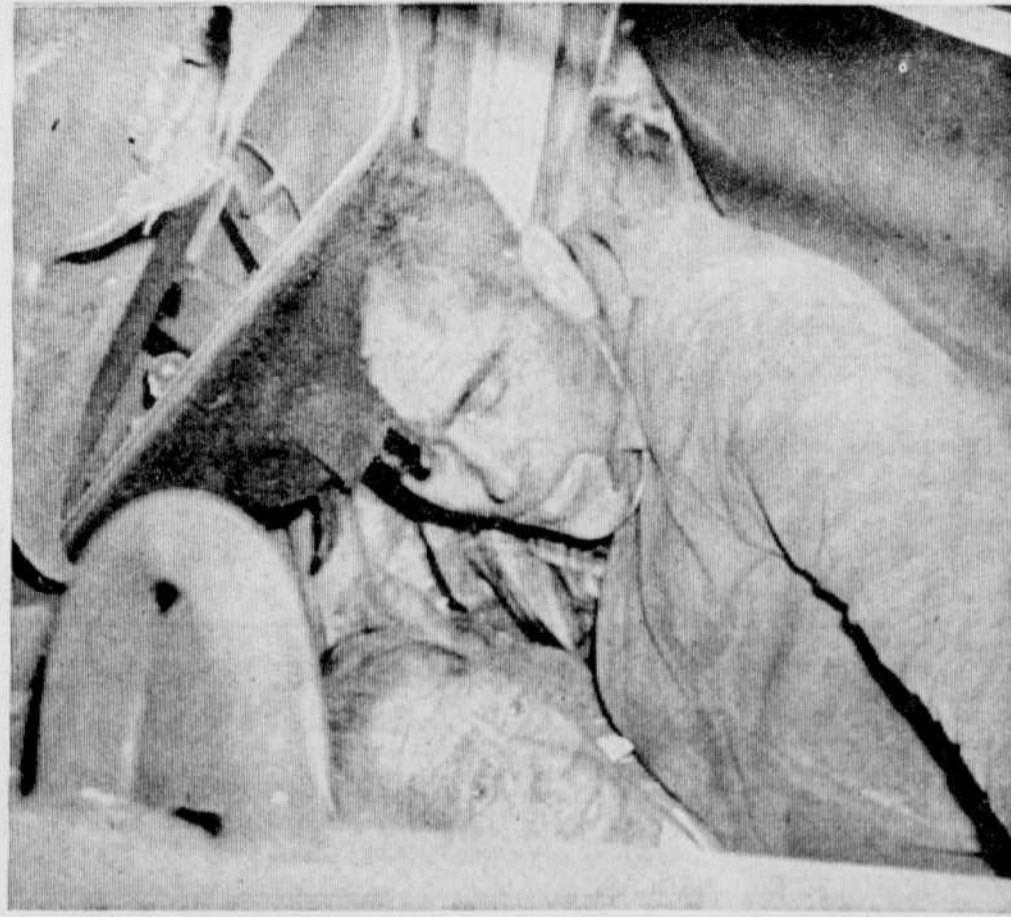

The victims included families who were sleeping at the time of the disaster. Their houses caved in and trapped them under the debris.

May act on proposals

OTTAWA (CP)—The government will act on some of the key recommendations of the MacPherson royal commission on transportation at the new session of Parliament, a reliable government source says.

Barring an early upset of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's minority government, Parliament will be called upon to tackle a series of complex and far-reaching legislative measures aimed at implementing some of the basic ideas of the royal commission report, the source says.

Indications are that a clue to the government's plans to resolve the financial plight of the big railways will be given in the throne speech Thursday,

Need hospital treatment

Plane crash survivors lifted off rescue ship by helicopters

CORK, IRELAND (AP)—Two RAF helicopters began lifting injured survivors of a ditched American airliner off the Swiss rescue ship Celerina today.

The first to be removed from the vessel in the hazardous aerial operation were three stretcher cases and four persons less severely injured.

The Celerina had radioed that 14 of the 44 survivors aboard—American servicemen and their wives—needed to be taken to shore hospitals quickly.

Ambulances, doctors and a police escort waited at the Cork docks as the helicopters flew in from their rendezvous with the Celerina 30 miles southwest of the Irish coast.

Most of those brought ashore appeared to be suffering from leg injuries. The injured were taken to Mercy Hospital for treatment.

One of the helicopter pilots brought an urgent call from the Celerina for medical supplies.

The Celerina also said it was in great need of 100 pounds of meat, 50 pounds of rice and 50 pounds of flour to feed its unexpected guests. Arrangements were quickly made to send the supplies to the ship.

The Celerina had radioed Tuesday night that two persons aboard were suffering from burns and needed medical aid.

The RAF dispatched two helicopters, an escort plane and a fast, sea-going launch to take off the injured. But whether the two were among the survivors of Sunday's forced landing or crew members were not known.

A spokesman for the air-sea rescue co-ordination centre at Portsmouth said the injured were suffering from second-degree burns but "there was definitely no fire on board the Celerina."

The Celerina is bound for Antwerp with 44 of the 48 American survivors, mostly servicemen and dependents who had been heading for Germany.

An Associated Press correspondent flew over the Swiss ship as she rounded the Fastnet Rock on the southwest tip of Ireland this morning and saw no sign of any damage.

The Celerina was pushing steadily through the Atlantic rollers with a cargo of Canadian grain bound for Antwerp.

SEA MODERATE
The sea was moderate and the sun shone brilliantly in contrast to the night of terror when the Flying Tiger airliner was forced down when three of her engines failed.

Meanwhile, the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure was reported delayed on her passage to Shannon, in southwest Ireland, to unload four more survivors from the Super Constellation that ditched Sunday night 500 miles west of Ireland. A Canadian Navy spokesman said the carrier now is due off Shannon Thursday, several hours later than expected.

The call from the Celerina added a new twist to the tragedy of the Flying Tiger plane which ditched in the Atlantic with the presumed loss of 28 American lives.

Russian aid to Cuba

Say port to be naval base

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. defence sources said today they believe the fishing port to be built in Cuba with Russian assistance is a camouflage for a naval base that could threaten the Panama Canal.

They said such a port equipped to overhaul, repair and supply Russian and Cuban trawlers also could serve as a support base for submarines and torpedo boats.

The plans to build the port in Havana Bay as headquarters for Cuban-Russian Atlantic fishing fleet were unveiled Tuesday by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Many of Russia's 3,000 trawlers are known to carry radar and other electronic equipment with which they have monitored U.S. missile test shots from Cape Canaveral, Fla., and have observed U.S. fleet manoeuvres.

The small flotilla of Russian trawlers which arrived in Havana last summer is equipped with electronic detection equipment.

Some military authorities said construction of a Russian port in Cuba appears part of a world-wide plan to position Soviet naval power where it could pinch off key Allied shipping routes.

Sources familiar with the movements of Russian fishing trawlers said they normally work along the Grand Banks.

"They don't get down that far in legitimate fishing," one officer said in referring to Cuban waters where the new base will be built.

Officially, the U.S. government kept silent on Castro's announcement. But privately, military officials were concerned.

"We can't allow this sort of thing to go on," said one highly placed officer. However, he and others indicated they felt there is little prospect of any direct U.S. preventive action now.

U.S. military strategists noted that the Russians already had taken steps that could put them in a position to cut off vital western shipping lanes in critical areas of the world.

The Russians have built a base in Yemen astride a lifeline through the Red Sea.

Sources said there are reports the Russians will construct a seaport for Morocco close to Gibraltar and the narrow passage connecting the Atlantic with the Mediterranean.

Added to this, the U.S. authorities said, Russia has supplied considerable military aid to Indonesia which lies close to Singapore and the strait of Malacca—a main course for vessels operating between Europe and Australia and New Zealand.

Mr. Desai indicated the power plant was one of several items discussed with Canadian ministers and officials during his two-day visit here on his way home from World Bank meetings in Washington.

GOOD CROP YEAR SEEN FOR FARMERS

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A veteran Saskatchewan farmer climbed down from his combine and with a look of undisguised delight on his face surveyed the wheat field his big machine had just finished harvesting.

"This is next year country, you know," he said. "I've been waiting for 'next year' ever since I started farming and this year is that 'next year'."

As farmers to top their profit and loss sheets following this fall's harvest, in many parts of the country it looks as though a goodly number will be able to share to some degree the pleasure enjoyed by the Estevan-area farmer at his abundant crop.

A survey by The Canadian Press indicates some farming areas may reap the best crops for many years and even where output is lower than usual few farmers will face a complete write-off.

Admittedly, much depends on the weather in the final days and weeks of the harvest. Already rain and frost are taking a toll with increasing reports of a deterioration of the quality of late-harvested crops.

The following is the fall farm outlook as seen in Quebec:

QUEBEC
A "propitious year" for crops throughout the province, says the agriculture department. Rain has delayed harvesting in some areas but in the south and west the grain crop has been heavy and of excellent quality. Yields of late potatoes also are reported excellent and harvesting of a good canning crop of corn is under way. Quebec farmers have taken in a fine tobacco crop and generally good yields for vegetables.

To be focus of lively session

Rough ride facing Diefenbaker over Commonwealth trade trip

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker faces a rough ride in Parliament over his recent Commonwealth trade trip to London.

His government's handling of the British bid to join the European Common Market will be the focus of one of the liveliest issues in the first session of the new Parliament opening Thursday.

But underlying the heated arguments will be the far larger question of the future shape of world trading arrangements and Canada's role in them.

On this subject of trade goals, there is an unusual amount of inter-party agreement, but deep differences remain on the path that should be followed.

The prime minister is expected to give the Commons an early report on the 10-day Commonwealth conference in London that studied the trade terms—many of them still hazy—being negotiated by Britain for its proposed membership in the six-nation European Economic Community.

In London Mr. Diefenbaker and most other Commonwealth prime ministers made clear their dissatisfaction with prospects for protecting their countries' export markets in Britain should the United Kingdom go behind the EEC's common tariff wall.

In Canada's case, terms are still uncertain for most of this country's vital exports including wheat, other grains and foodstuffs, processed foods and a group of major industrial raw materials.

Mr. Diefenbaker also presented, in the closing stages of the conference, his proposal for a free-world trade conference aimed at reducing tariff barriers. The other prime ministers gave this idea no support except in broad, general terms.

Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson called the proposed a "smokescreen" and Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson termed it a "stalling tactic"—a valuable idea but too late.

Mr. Pearson accused the government of making "carping criticism" of Britain when it should instead be helping the British government achieve a successful trade association with Europe.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, described as "fantastic" Mr. Diefenbaker's conference action in raising the question of whether North America might feel less obligated to share in Europe's defence should most of Western Europe come together in a major power bloc.

To all this criticism Mr. Diefenbaker has replied that he was doing his duty in seeking protection of Canada's legitimate interests.

Because of unruliness

Students are not allowed to use library for study

ROCK ISLAND — (Staff) — Unruliness by a group of students has closed the Haskell Free Library here as a place of study "until further notice."

"It got to be almost gang warfare the other night," said Dr. A. R. V. White, president of the library, commenting on the Sept. 20 incident which led to the trustees' decision to bar further studying in groups. "The librarian couldn't handle it."

The librarian is Mrs. Howard Wilding.

Dr. White said the building had been used evenings by both American and Canadian students as a place to get away from the home television set and concentrate on homework. The library had even installed a new oak table for them.

"But some of them turned it into a hangout," says Dr. White. He stressed that there is still a children's room in the library, and students are still free to come and borrow books, but not to stay and study in the building.

"Any student refusing to conform to the rules for quietness or guilty of mischief, will be asked to leave the premises," said the Haskell board of trustees' announcement.

The library building stands on the international border between Derby Line, Vt., and Rock Island, Que. It operates on an endowment and grants from the Quebec government and a local machinery firm.

"We want to do what's good for the community," said Dr. White. "We want to help the children out. We know they're children. This should serve as a reminder to parents, though, that they will have to behave. We can't keep a policeman on hand."

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised if after Christmas the decision is reconsidered."

Water and smoke damages are heavy at Plymouth Church

Sherbrooke firemen were hampered Tuesday afternoon by clouds of dense smoke while fighting a fire in the basement of the Plymouth United Church on Dufferin Street.

Assist. Director Charles Andet told The Record little fire damage was caused although smoke and water damage to a room and part of the basement was heavy.

He said the fire started in paint cans, placed in the Boy Scouts room of the basement.

Twelve firemen from Station No. 1, under the assistant director were forced to wear gas-masks to enter the basement of the church.

Fire officials said G. E. Morban, a caretaker of the church, noticed the fire and sounded the alarm shortly before 1:30 p.m. No one was in the church at the time of the blaze, firemen said.

Calls for frankness and honesty

Promises of French and English equality have not been kept claims J. J. Bertrand

"If Quebec is to remain in the Canadian Confederation, it must remain by choice. Confederation must not be imposed upon Quebec," stated Jean Jacques Bertrand, member of the Provincial Legislative Assembly since 1948, for the county Missisquoi.

Mr. Bertrand's address on The Re-Thinking of Confederation followed a banquet for 140 delegates to the national congress of the National Federation of Canadian University Students (NFCUS), hosted by the University of Sherbrooke.

The fiery Union Nationale representative, speaking fluent English, pointed out that French Canadians in 1867 had no choice but to enter into Confederation. Since then however, they have become a force to be reckoned with and their grievances must be heard, he said. They have begun to reconsider their position, feeling that the promises of French-English equality have not been kept.

He went on to outline some of the French Canadian objections, pointing to the lack of consideration for French minorities in certain provinces.

For example, to maintain their own schools, these people are forced to pay double taxation, whereas in Quebec, which is predominantly French, the English are treated on an equal basis, he said.

He also mentioned the reluctance on the part of the civil service to hire French speaking applicants.

"We are told that French is accepted, but we do not find this is true in practice," stated ed Mr. Bertrand. He emphasized that the French-English problems have been met in the past and will continue to be met in the future. They can be solved only by a "spirit of frankness and intellectual honesty." "We must live together in a spirit of bonne entente," he added.

Mr. Bertrand felt that if French Canada is to remain a part of Confederation these original promises of equality for the French must be kept. Confederation should be a "common market accepted by all, for the benefits of all."

Grime St. closing requested

Scrap yard permit transfer is approved by city council

A Sherbrooke scrap metal dealer asked city council Monday night to transfer the permit to store scrap in a Wellington Street South lot to his own company from a previous owner of the lot.

Council granted the transfer with reservations.

Daniel Heilig of the B. Cohen Corporation said that the lot had a high fence around it, was kept neat and was not very active. He had heard no complaints about unsightliness, he said, but he heard several councillors urge his firm to arrange to move its scrap storage away from the city thoroughfare.

Alderman Gerard Berard said council — especially South Ward aldermen — would like to see the eventual disappearance of such establishments as scrap yards from main commercial streets. He suggested the council might look more favorably on licensing the Cohen firm to store scrap elsewhere if it took steps to leaving its yard at 1022 Wellington Street South.

Council decided that it could not deny Mr. Heilig's firm the transfer of licence, however, and merely asked him for "co-operation" in keeping the main streets free of unsightly lots.

Edmund Barnard, a lawyer who was present merely as a "counsellor" to Mr. Heilig, said "I can understand the city's wanting to make something in the way of a bargain, but the scrap yard is in order under the zoning laws, and the Cohen Corporation bought the lot for scrap storage, which is essential to its business."

Mayor Armand Nadeau said he had heard it asked why the city permitted a scrap yard there, and he could only ask the Cohen firm to think in terms of eventually moving to more industrialized areas.

Mr. Heilig said he was only a "minority shareholder" but promised to pass the city's wishes on to the directors.

In another council discussion of street use, Ald. Everett Nicol expressed exasperation that a new request should come before the council for the closing of Grime Street at its intersection with Beckett Road.

The request came from Edmund Tobin. This closing had been ordered by the council and agreed to in writing by residents—and the council's "good faith has been abused," according to Ald. Carrier Fortin.

The matter was placed in the hands of the city's lawyer, Albert Rivard.

Council also examined architecs' plans for the Montcalm School, a project in which the city may participate jointly with the Catholic School Commission, using the attached swimming pool for municipal recreation.

The Montcalm school is to be built on Portland Boulevard between Frechette and Bouchette Street.

Architect Alphonse Belanger pointed out that the Olympic-dimension pool could be closed off from the classroom section of the school for strictly municipal use when wanted.

Ald. Paul Gervais said the school commission could report the council's impression of the protected pool-school to the provincial government as "excellent."

Council decided to go along with a plan of Montreal's Traffic Director Jean Lacoste to install traffic lights at corners between Jacques Cartier Boulevard and Radisson Street along King Street West instead of extending the reinforced concrete mall.

A report was tabled before council following a meeting of Police Chief Edouard Moreau, Ald. Everett Nicol, chairman of the protection committee and Mr. Lacoste. The plan to extend the mall was opposed by merchants of the area.

Nothing planned for election by B-M Socreds

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Social Creditors in both Brome and Missisquoi Counties have nothing planned for the upcoming elections, Normand Ruel, Socred candidate at the June 18 Federal election in these counties told The Record Monday. "We are not at all ready in Brome and Missisquoi counties for the coming election. Also, our policies cannot be applied on a provincial scheme, but only on a federal scheme."

The Missisquoi Liberal Association, headed by Andre Deragon, of Cowansville, said Monday that tentative date of a Liberal Convention for Missisquoi County has been scheduled for Sunday, October 7 at 2 p.m. at Bedford.

Only Liberal in Missisquoi County that has publicly announced he will run as a candidate at the convention is Cowansville publisher, Noel Parenteau. It is, however, believed that Gabriel Cloutier, a Farnham insurance broker will also run.

Slide lectures are scheduled at Rock Island

ROCK ISLAND (Special) — A series of three evenings of colored slides and commentary will be given at Stanstead South United Church, Rock Island, Que. The pictures and commentary were prepared by Rev. Carl Gustafson on a trip to Britain.

The pictures are quite varied and include British cathedrals, castles, remains of Roman civilization. One set has been prepared on well known writers and the places associated with them. Among these are included Robert Burns, Samuel Johnson, John Bunyan, Caedman, Bede, Robert Louis Stevenson, Scott and others.

Something of the variety is indicated in the fact that such places as Stonehenge, Devizes, Hadrian's Wall, Banbury, Cross, Runnymede, Glastonbury etc.

Two travel talks with pictures will be given each Friday evening at 8 p.m. in the following order:

Sept. 28th, Historic Places of the Christian Faith; Great Writers — Where they lived and worked;

Oct. 5th, Cathedrals of Britain; Odd and Interesting Places; Oct. 12th, Romantic Castles of Britain, Remains of Roman Civilization in Britain.

All are welcome to these lectures. An offering will be taken for Christian Education purposes. The ladies will serve coffee.

Montrealer refused bail

By PAT BOUGIE (Record Staff Reporter)

SWEETSBURG — The 28-year-old Montrealer that is charged with beating up a Cowansville restaurant owner and then attempting to commit suicide while in Cowansville municipal cells, was refused all bail by presiding Judge Patrick Delaney, when the man pleaded not guilty to three charges against him.

Jean-Claude Bourassa, of Montreal pleaded not guilty to attempted suicide, troubling the peace and assault and had his trial scheduled for October 9.

Crown Prosecutor Claude Noisieux, of Cowansville told the court Tuesday that even though Bourassa pleaded not guilty to the charges against him, he should not be released on bail because, "he is a complete undesirable and should not be given bail. He was just recently released from a penitentiary."

Police claim that Bourassa beat up Lionel Boissonneault, owner of the Gai Canton Restaurant at Cowansville two weeks ago.

"Won't $60 cover three steaks?" queried Brendon Doiron, of Knowlton who appeared before Judge Patrick Delaney here Tuesday on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Presiding Judge Delaney did not think so and sentenced Doiron to pay a $25 fine and court costs and post a $500 bond to keep the peace for one year.

Doiron pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace by swearing, fighting and molesting people May 19 at the Salois Restaurant at Knowlton.

Doiron told the court that he and two friends had ordered three steaks at the restaurant on that night. When it came time to pay, Doiron said, he asked Salois, the owner to put the price of the steaks against the $60 Salois owed him.

"Are not three steaks worth $60?" queried Doiron.

Crown Prosecutor Claude Noisieux however had a different version of the story. He said the young men entered the restaurant and ordered Bar-B-Ques and then refused to pay for them after receiving them.

"Trouble started and Doiron beat up the owner of the restaurant," he said.

"Twenty-five dollars fine and court costs," said the Judge.

Pleading guilty to a hit-and-run charge resulted in a $75 fine and court costs for Maurice Gilbert, of Granby, here Tuesday.

Gilbert pleaded guilty to hitting the automobile of Marcel Guillemette, of Granby, causing $150 damage and then continuing on his way.

The crash occurred September 22.

Real Moisan, of Granby was fined $200 and court costs here Tuesday when he appeared before Judge Patrick Delaney on charges of assaulting a five-year-old Granby girl.

In default of payment, Moisan will spend two months in jail.

Weather delays harvesting

Mild production is normal according to a telegraphic report on crop conditions in this area for September from the agriculture section of the Quebec Bureau of Statistics. The reports are based on information supplied by a group of official agronomists of the provincial department of agriculture and cover all districts in Quebec.

The corn crop, it is reported, has improved during the last fortnight. Due to cold nights, however, vegetables are only slowly coming to maturity.

A summary of crop conditions throughout Quebec reads as follows:

During the last fortnight, rainy weather has prevailed in most parts of the province. This has delayed harvest operations and brought about lodging in many cereal fields. However, in the south and the west, harvest is almost completed with grain crop being heavy and of excellent quality.

In the same parts of the province the second cut of hay is now underway and yields well. Meadows and pastures are good and make for cattle being in good shape and milk flow well sustained for this period of the year. The digging of late varieties of potatoes is beginning, with yields being excellent in spite of mildew having appeared in certain fields.

Ensiling of fodder corn is fully underway and yields are satisfactory. Harvesting of a good canning corn crop is going on.

Fall tomatoes are now being harvested.

Good yields are reported for vegetables in general. Sugar beets are growing normally and lifting is to start this week in St. Hyacinthe County.

The harvesting of a good crop of an excellent quality tobacco is now over.

In the Lake St. John area, the picking of blueberries is nearing completion.

Fall ploughing has started in several counties. In short, 1962 was a propitious year for crops.

U of S enrolment increases 19%

A preliminary report from the office of the general secretary of the University of Sherbrooke notes that enrolment of full-time students has reached 1,358, an increase of 19 per cent over last year.

The highest increase was in the faculty of science where enrolment is 266 compared to 128 in 1961-62. The higher registration was spread generally over the pure sciences, biology and chemistry, and the law and commerce faculties.

"Don't Go Too Far!"

Are Quebec Socreds disintegrating?

Perhaps there may be a degree of wishful thinking behind the belief held in many quarters that the Social Credit party, Quebec wing, rapidly is committing suicide.

Ever since the party's surprise sweep in the June federal elections there have been signs that the Quebec delegation is composed of too many rugged individualists — too many hopefuls who put their own ambitions ahead of the common good. The common good in this case, of course, is the long-term welfare of the party.

These disagreements have come to a head within the past few days over the issue of entering into the Quebec provincial election.

Despite differences between themselves on many major questions, including the desirability of forcing an early federal election, both National Leader Robert Thompson and Quebec leader Real Caouette have been united in the belief the Socreds should abstain from the provincial race.

But they seem unable to convince their Quebec followers of the wisdom of this policy which is designed to eliminate causes for misunderstandings between the two groups, federal and provincial.

Flushed with their unexpected victory, local groups, often at the urging of men who had hoped to be federal candidates and see an opportunity for self-advancement in the provincial field, are determined to contest the Quebec race.

Conceivably this might result in the complete breakdown of the party organization instead of strengthening the party's position for future battles.

People who have what it takes are okay until they take what other people have.

Drunken hunting should be crime

With the advent of cool, fall days, one of the keenest pleasures of the sportsman is duck hunting.

And now that the season is open, duck hunters are out in force in blinds all over the Eastern Townships.

Later on, hunting of other game will begin. Later on, too, accounts of innocent victims of hunting accidents will filter sadly back from the woods.

While duck hunting does not seem to take the toll of hunters that other kinds of hunting do, it is a good time now for sportsmen to keep in mind safety precautions and to practice them.

There are a number of them, and any hunter worth his salt knows them all. But one in particular seems to be more honored in the breach than the observance, and that is the caution against mixing alcohol with guns.

Every hunter knows that the amount of liquor consumed at many camps during a weekend outing would do justice to a bar on Saturday night. Too often, hunting is used as an excuse for these two or three-day drinking bouts.

If those involved would confine themselves to camp and the bottle, possibly no great harm would be done to anyone but the drinkers. Unfortunately, too many carousers feel that they must take loaded shotgun in hand and try their luck at some game. This applies to the duck hunting season just as much as to any other hunting season.

The result is a tipsy hunter crashing through the woods or the marshlands, unsteady hand on the trigger, just looking for something — anything — at which to shoot. Sometimes, it is another hunter or an innocent bystander.

We have stringent laws, generally well enforced, against drunken driving. But there is nothing on the statute books concerning drunken hunting. Perhaps there should be.

There's seldom any objection to listening to both sides when they're on a record.

Students discuss major problems

The National Federation of Canadian University Students has chosen the fledgling University of Sherbrooke as the site of its six-day convention during which time 140 delegates from 40 universities will discuss problems of international and national scope.

NFCUS provides valuable services for students by securing for them a wide range of benefits, including discounts at local stores and life insurance plans. But of more importance to the community at large, the association fosters open debate among its members on questions which have bearing on the future of the world and of Canada.

One aspect which is worthy of mention is the bilingual nature of the organization. Delegates represent both English and French-speaking institutes. The meeting of the two language groups to focus attention on subjects of student as well as general interest will add to the continuing improvement among Canadians.

The beautiful grounds of the University of Sherbrooke and its location in the rolling, green hills should provide the ideal setting for NFCUS sessions.

Other papers say:

Are world trade talks impractical?

If Prime Minister Diefenbaker's proposal of a world trade conference fails to fire the public imagination, one reason is that many people were half-expecting him to produce a dramatic last-minute offer to Britain — the much-discussed "alternative" to joining economic forces with the European Common Market.

Hints had been dropped that Canada's representative at the Commonwealth prime ministers' parley had a surprise up his sleeve.

There had been speculation that it might involve a new trade deal for the United Kingdom within her own family of nations.

By contrast, the suggestion of a world get-together in Canada sounds drab, ponderous and, somehow, unproductive of results, except speeches.

At the moment, the Common Market "Six" and Britain are engrossed in whether the Six will soon become Seven, Eight, Twelve, or just how many.

They are thinking of first things first — specifically, whether suitable terms for Britain to join can be arranged — and the idea of putting this slow-burning crisis on the shelf while the entire world trade picture is harangued at length is hardly something to cause outbursts of enthusiasm in Europe.

Such a trade conference, if held now in Canada, would be suspected by the Common Market nations. They would see it as a delaying tactic on Canada's part, a striving to salvage something out of the expected loss of trade by this country if and when Britain joins the Common Market.

Mr. Diefenbaker is certainly right in one sense: World trade negotiations will have to come, sooner or later, so that the Common Market and all other free-world nations can have the maximum opportunity to develop production and build up general trade.

But when a conference does come, it should be held at a time when the lines of the various nations and economic blocs are clearly drawn, when conditions have become more stabilized, when everyone knows where everyone else stands — and then the world can get down to serious give-and-take discussions.

Cardinal Leger writes

The entire conception of life subject of ecumenical council

Invited to provide an article about the 21st ecumenical council opening Oct. 11 in Rome, Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Montreal, a member of the council's central planning commission, supplied the following text.

By P.-E. CARDINAL LEGER
Archbishop of Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — The history of the various councils makes us understand that each one had a different character due to the times in which it was held.

To grasp fully what will happen at the next council, it is necessary to consider it in terms of the modern world.

In the world of today which, as John XXIII himself says, has undergone profound changes, the council will affirm that it is the will of the church to meet new needs so that it may fulfil its mission of salvation.

In past centuries, the bishops gathered under the pope's authority to define a point of dogma. Thus, at the Council of Ephesus, in 431, the fathers defined the divine motherhood of Mary. At the last Vatican council, in 1870, the definition of papal infallibility made explicit a belief that the entire church had always expressed throughout its life.

The forthcoming council will face a much vaster problem. It is no longer one or another point of dogma that will have to be clarified. Today, it is the entire conception of life that is at stake; life that is, in the Holy Father's words, completely turned "towards the mere enjoyment of the things of the world that modern scientific research now places easily at the disposal of men of our time." It is no longer a question of an error that must be fought; "it is the substance of human and Christian thought and life, of which the church is the trustee and mistress for the ages, that must be restored in value and in all its enlightenment."

Briefly, what will be involved at the second Vatican council will not be this or that truth, but rather the serious problem of the relationships in our modern world between nature and grace, between the natural order and the supernatural order, between the temporal life and the eternal life. This awareness of a responsibility that encompasses the world and mankind will not lead the fathers of the council into the temptation to return to a Christianity reminiscent of the middle ages. Pius XII himself clearly rejected this hypothesis when he said: "A return to the middle ages? No one thinks of it!"

The church will have to define very clearly the attitudes it must take and the means it must use to imbue the lives of men with Christian principles.

What must concern Christian opinion today is not only the problems dealing with the internal life of the church, but also all those which preoccupy contemporary humanity: world peace; co-operation among unequally developed peoples; the growth of population; the liberty of man in today's political, economic and social context.

In the light of humanity's present conditions, the council is taking on unsuspected dimensions. It becomes the council not only of believers, but of all men who believe in man and the moral values that make him great.

The forthcoming council wants to show the world the eternal youth of the church. It will concern itself with bringing up to date all that could be a factor of aging, if it was not renewed. It wants to adapt to the modern world certain aspects of the outward life of the church and permit the 20th century to play a vital part in the Christian Tradition by working towards the rejuvenation of the church.

The church must draw on tradition and pass it on unchanged from one generation to the next. But the Tradition (teaching of the church) is not the simple repetition of what is said always, and the simple preservation of ancient ways of life. It is, on the contrary, the descent of a living reality entrusted by Christ to the church's hierarchy. The best way of respecting Tradition is still to adapt it to each generation and enrich it with that generation's best.

The forthcoming ecumenical council, called by Pope John XXIII, will be in line with time-honored tradition and will be another perceptible manifestation of the vitality of the church. To prepare ourselves for the grace that will be given us, let us apply ourselves to a better knowledge of the forthcoming council and what it will mean for our century.

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON

with B. T. Richardson

WASHINGTON — (TNS) — This may have been President Kennedy's greatest victory in the United States Congress, as the Democrat leaders are saying, but it is also Canada's most compelling guidepost to future trade expansion.

No one is saying publicly that the new Trade Expansion Act is anything more than a program to prevent America from falling behind Europe in But it opens the door for Canada, and a good many other countries, to share the benefits of trade that is expected to multiply on the Atlantic lanes between North America and Europe.

This may well be the answer to the major objections registered by Canada, Australia and others against loss of the Commonwealth preference between now and 1970, as a result of Britain joining the European Common Market.

If President Kennedy plays his cards right, he will get a complete new deal with Europe that will open the vast European market of 265,000,000 people (if Britain joins, that is) to American exports. DOWN COME THE TRADE TARIFFS

HE WILL GET THIS by 1967, for the new five-year trade act gives him power to bargain down U.S. tariffs in return for concessions as much as 50 per cent and, in a number of key items of tremendous importance to Canada, as much as 100 per cent.

Tariff bargains to eliminate duties entirely would be possible where the U.S. government judges that 80 per cent of the world production comes from this country and Europe, including Britain.

Aluminum is one item mentioned as eligible for world free trade. On the basis of this feature of the Kennedy program, the new European tariff on it is 10 per cent.

That President Kennedy needed a win in Congress, where most of his major proposals have been stalled, has been obvious. The Senate finally gave its blessing to his Trade Act by 78 to 8, as decisive a margin as any president can expect.

Kennedy legislation has been running into a stone wall of Republicans plus southern Democrats. But only one southern Democrat and seven Republicans voted against the trade measure, and 22 Republicans voted with 56 Democrats for it.

This may be as far as Kennedy's luck carries him, though. The House has just cut the heart out of his Foreign Aid Bill.

THE SURVIVAL OF the Commonwealth can hardly be numbered among the principal aims of the United States. But the Kennedy trade program may serve that purpose.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, on two occasions at the Commonwealth Conference in London, called attention to the vast importance of the Kennedy program. It was still another example of the Canadian capacity to emphasize the realities of American influence in a world in which the Commonwealth must survive.

To put it bluntly, if America is determined that Europe shall not outrun it in economic expansion, then America must take along with it other countries of the free world.

The next step will be to open negotiations—and the proposal made by Prime Minister Diefenbaker for a general trade conference of the free world, in order to share the benefits of trade expansion, is the best way to do it. No reaction has come from President Kennedy on this point.

One example will show what is involved in terms of Canadian jobs.

Advantages of purebred dogs

Hello, folks! Once again we have Mrs. Alex Casgrain of North Hatley as our guest columnist.

Many people ask, why pay a lot more for a purebred dog, when you can get a mongrel for little or nothing?

There are many advantages in choosing and owning a purebred dog. When you choose a puppy of a certain breed, you can be sure what it will be like when it grows up; its general appearance, type of coat, and size. All puppies are charming but how many people looking for a small, smooth-coated dog, have chosen a cute little short-haired pup, only to be appalled seeing it grow into an enormous dog with a long bushy coat!

Then there is the important matter of temperament. Generations of pure breeds have developed certain characteristics which can be depended upon to assert themselves in a puppy. With the mixtures in a mongrel, you don't know what the disposition will be.

Purebred dogs are divided into six groups: sporting (subdivided into 1. Spaniels and Retrievers, and 2. Hounds, Terriers, Toys) and non-sporting. So if you want a dependable, loyal guardian rather than a stranger, one of the working group like the Collie or German Shepherd is your breed; if you prefer a lively, gay type, get a terrier, or if your choice is an affectionate dog who will be friendly with everybody, a spaniel, retriever or hound will suit very well.

For the small apartment owner there are the bright little toys — Pekingese, Chihuahua and others, and the variety in the non-sporting group has a dog to please almost everybody: Poodle, Chow-Chow, Bulldog, Dalmatian, etc. Of course, there are exceptions, with the occasional individual in every group which will not conform to the established characteristics of its breed, but on the whole it is an excellent guide, particularly if you buy from a reputable kennel.

There is a widespread notion that mongrels are harder and smarter than purebreds, because people see mongrels running the streets and coping with traffic. But owners of purebreds are less likely to let their pets run the streets, so they seldom see them unsupervised. A normal purebred, given the same chance (or neglect as it really is) to run loose in the city, could learn to man age just as well, with the same luck. And luck it is: for every dog you see dodging cars, there were probably a dozen others who did not survive — witness the canine corpses on our streets and highways: almost all mongrels, because purebreds are kept at home or on leash!

If mongrels were smarter, then they would be used for highly intelligent hunting, guiding the blind, police and army work, instead of the highly intelligent pure breeds used for these special jobs.

Another advantage in owning a purebred dog is that it can be replaced by an almost exact replica. No two mongrels are alike, so if you own a nice one — and there are many wonderful mongrels — you can never hope to get another just the same.

Time and again people have brought their mixed-breed dogs to Obedience Training Classes and have become interested in finding to their great disappointment, that they cannot complete in Obedience Trials. Showing a dog in a Breed Show is fun too, but the Canadian Kennel Club awards titles only to registered dogs. Next month I will have a few things to say about choosing and buying the puppy itself. Meanwhile, remember the S.P.C.A. welcomes contributions. Please help us by sending yours to P.O. Box 301, Lennoxville, Que.

JEAN C. FOURNIER, 49, HUOT PRESIDENT DIES

Jean C. Fournier, 49, died Sunday night at his home in the town of Mount Royal, following a lengthy illness. Born in this city, May 19, 1913, he was educated at Plateau school and the School of Higher Commercial Studies.

He was president of Huot Advertising; Moncana Inc., Moncana Construction Inc.; Canada Food Supply Ltd., and several other companies. Among a long list of social and welfare clubs he maintained membership in the Knights of Columbus, the Chambre de Commerce and the Canadian Club.

He is survived by his wife, the former Denise Dubar; his father, Camille R. Fournier; three brothers, Jacques Fournier Q.C., Guy Fournier, with Hydro-Quebec and Paul A. Fournier, Huot director, prominent industrialist and proprietor of Anjou Golf Club; two sisters, Marie and Madeleine (Mrs. J. G. Pelouin); sisters-in-law, Mrs. Jacques Fournier and Mrs. Guy Fournier and several nephews and nieces.

Prominent for many years as a publicist, Mr. Fournier was well-known to the radio and television audience as a commentator.

The cortege will move from Salons Deslauriers funeral home, 5650 Cote des Neiges road, for service Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, at St. Joseph de Mont Royal church. Burial will take place in Cote des Neiges cemetery.

tification card and pass which is checked at the entrances by sullen women who match the photographs with the students.

When it is suspected there are unauthorized people living in some section, a search is made of all the rooms at 3 or 4 in the morning to apprehend the offenders.

The university building is only slightly over 10 years old, but inside it looks more like 30. The wooden floors are in poor condition and the windows badly fitted. At least there is no need for a refrigerator; food can simply be placed next to the window during the cold months.

Each floor has a kitchen, gas stove, sink and tables. All married couples and many single students prepare their own meals.

Soviet efforts to educate the "new Communist man," free of faults, selfishness and full of love for his fellow man, are not succeeding noticeably.

Theft is just as great a problem in the Russian dormitory as it is in some U.S. schools. The fact that one key fits 20 per cent of all locks in the dormitory makes theft fairly simple. A special pass is required for any suitcase, large box or bag which is removed from the building.

Student drinking is no more prevalent than in the United States; one reason perhaps is the high cost of liquor. However, when the Russian student does drink, he often does it with determination bordering on desperation.

It should be clear already that he has much to forget. But the few material problems he has are perhaps less acute than the problems connected with his intellectual life.

Five senators are appointed

OTTAWA (CP) — Two of the chief behind-the-scenes shapers of Progressive Conservative policy — a newspaper man and a public relations expert — were appointed to the Senate Tuesday.

They are eloquent M. Gratton O'Leary, 73, president of the Ottawa Journal, and jovial and chubby Allister Grosart, 55, national director of the Conservative party.

Three other new senators appointed by Prime Minister Diefenbaker are Edgar E. Fournier, 54, of Iroquois, N.B., and Clement O'Leary, 46, of Antigonish, N.S., former Conservative MPs defeated in this year's general election, and Frank C. Welch, 62, of Wolfville, N.S., president of the Nova Scotia Conservative Association since 1953.

New Senate standings are: Liberals 62; Conservatives 31; Independents 2; Independent Liberal 1; vacant 6, total 102. The five Conservatives in the Senate when Mr. Diefenbaker came to power in 1957.

Mr. Diefenbaker also appointed the Speakers of the last Houses of Parliament to the Privy Council. This will permit former Commons Speaker Roland Michener, defeated in the June 18 election, and former Senate Speaker Mark Drouin to affix "honorable" before their names for life.

Commenting on the appointments, Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson said he will make known in the House of Commons next Monday "what I think of the propriety of appointments of this kind being made by a minority government which has not received a vote of confidence."

HITTING THE PAYDIRT

Yanks win their 27th American League title

The New York Yankees finally clinched the 1962 American League pennant Tuesday by beating Washington's last-place

Senators 8-3.

Two of the Yankees' long-time stars, left-hander Whitey Ford and slugger Mickey Mantle, fittingly led the Bombers to the deciding victory. Ford was the winning pitcher. Mantle paced the 16-hit attack with four singles.

Moments after the final out, and with the flag safely in Yankee possession, Cleveland Indians polished off New York's closest pursuers, the Minnesota Twins, 5-1. That left the Yankees 5 1/2 games in front with four to play.

For the Yankees it is the 27th league title, their 12th in the last 14 years and their third straight.

But it was a long time coming. Slowed down by injuries to Mantle, Ford and last year's relief standout, Luis Arroyo, and hampered by sub-par play on the part of several other key men, the Yankees were never really able to take charge. Dawdling along on their own, and forced to withstand the surprise challenges of the Twins and the Los Angeles Angels, what was expected to be a season-long romp became a season-long struggle.

Next for the Yankees is another World Series — this one against either Los Angeles Dodgers or San Francisco Giants, currently waging a stiff duel for the National League championship.

Elsewhere in the AL Tuesday night, Detroit nipped Los Angeles 3-2 when Al Kaline tripled

in two unearned runs after two were out in the last of the ninth inning and Boston blanked Chicago 4-0 on Bill Monbouquette's five-hit pitching. The Kansas City-Baltimore game was postponed because of threatening weather.

The Yankees picked up a run in the first inning against loser Bennie Daniels on Bobby Richardson's single, a passed ball and Mantle's first hit. Then, after the Senators pulled even, New York took the lead for good in the last of the second when Dale Long singled, stole second and rode in on Tony Kubek's single. The Yanks nicked Daniels for another run in the third and then iced it against Steve Hamilton with two runs in the fifth. Bill Skowron later added a home run to the night's output.

Ford was touched for a dozen hits, all singles, and allowed three walks but battled through to the end for his 17th victory against eight losses. Washington stranded 11 base runners.

Pedro Ramos, an ex-Twin, turned back Minnesota on seven hits and bested his fellow Cuban and former team-mate, Camilo Pascual, who was after his 20th victory. Harmon Killebrew shot the Twins into a brief lead when he hit his 46th homer in the top of the second but the Indians took command in their half of the inning on Woodie Held's two-run homer.

Then in a wild third, Pascual walked one run across and two others scored on a throwing error by Zoilo Versalles.

Giants two against the Cards and three against the Colts.

The winner will face New York Yankees, who clinched their 27th American League pennant — their third in a row — by whipping Washington Senators Tuesday 8-3.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati's defending champions nailed down third place by edging Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 as Bob Purkey posted his 23rd victory, and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn tied Eddie Plank as the winningest left-hander in major league history by recording his 325th career triumph, 7-3 over New York Mets. Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies were not scheduled.

Drysdale, who had pitched Sunday and was making his third start within six days, gave up a run in the first on a walk and errors by Maury Wills and Larry Burright. The Dodgers evened it in the sixth when Wills beat out a bunt, stole second, advanced to third on a grounder and stole home — his 99th theft.

The Colts moved ahead in the seventh on a run-producing triple by Spangler. Singles by Tommy Davis and Frank Howard and a sacrifice fly by John Roseboro got the Dodgers even and three against St. Louis, the loss left the Dodgers' pennant-clinching number at four. Any total of four Los Angeles victories and San Francisco defeats will clinch it for the Dodgers. Each team has five games remaining, the Dodgers two against Houston and three against St. Louis, the Senators 8-3.

Two of the Yankees' long-time stars, left-hander Whitey Ford and slugger Mickey Mantle, fittingly led the Bombers to the deciding victory. Ford was the winning pitcher. Mantle paced the 16-hit attack with four singles.

Moments after the final out, and with the flag safely in Yankee possession, Cleveland Indians polished off New York's closest pursuers, the Minnesota Twins, 5-1. That left the Yankees 5 1/2 games in front with four to play.

For the Yankees it is the 27th league title, their 12th in the last 14 years and their third straight.

But it was a long time coming. Slowed down by injuries to Mantle, Ford and last year's relief standout, Luis Arroyo, and hampered by sub-par play on the part of several other key men, the Yankees were never really able to take charge. Dawdling along on their own, and forced to withstand the surprise challenges of the Twins and the Los Angeles Angels, what was expected to be a season-long romp became a season-long struggle.

Next for the Yankees is another World Series — this one against either Los Angeles Dodgers or San Francisco Giants, currently waging a stiff duel for the National League championship.

Elsewhere in the AL Tuesday night, Detroit nipped Los Angeles 3-2 when Al Kaline tripled

in two unearned runs after two were out in the last of the ninth inning and Boston blanked Chicago 4-0 on Bill Monbouquette's five-hit pitching. The Kansas City-Baltimore game was postponed because of threatening weather.

The Yankees picked up a run in the first inning against loser Bennie Daniels on Bobby Richardson's single, a passed ball and Mantle's first hit. Then, after the Senators pulled even, New York took the lead for good in the last of the second when Dale Long singled, stole second and rode in on Tony Kubek's single. The Yanks nicked Daniels for another run in the third and then iced it against Steve Hamilton with two runs in the fifth. Bill Skowron later added a home run to the night's output.

Ford was touched for a dozen hits, all singles, and allowed three walks but battled through to the end for his 17th victory against eight losses. Washington stranded 11 base runners.

Pedro Ramos, an ex-Twin, turned back Minnesota on seven hits and bested his fellow Cuban and former team-mate, Camilo Pascual, who was after his 20th victory. Harmon Killebrew shot the Twins into a brief lead when he hit his 46th homer in the top of the second but the Indians took command in their half of the inning on Woodie Held's two-run homer.

Then in a wild third, Pascual walked one run across and two others scored on a throwing error by Zoilo Versalles.

Giants two against the Cards and three against the Colts.

The winner will face New York Yankees, who clinched their 27th American League pennant — their third in a row — by whipping Washington Senators Tuesday 8-3.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati's defending champions nailed down third place by edging Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 as Bob Purkey posted his 23rd victory, and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn tied Eddie Plank as the winningest left-hander in major league history by recording his 325th career triumph, 7-3 over New York Mets. Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies were not scheduled.

Drysdale, who had pitched Sunday and was making his third start within six days, gave up a run in the first on a walk and errors by Maury Wills and Larry Burright. The Dodgers evened it in the sixth when Wills beat out a bunt, stole second, advanced to third on a grounder and stole home — his 99th theft.

The Colts moved ahead in the seventh on a run-producing triple by Spangler. Singles by Tommy Davis and Frank Howard and a sacrifice fly by John Roseboro got the Dodgers even and three against St. Louis, the loss left the Dodgers' pennant-clinching number at four. Any total of four Los Angeles victories and San Francisco defeats will clinch it for the Dodgers. Each team has five games remaining, the Dodgers two against Houston and three against St. Louis, the

HEART OF THE HOME

Many homes built since World War II lack fireplaces. Homeowners who wish to add the focal point of family life can now do so at little expense and not tearing out of walls and building foundations. The solution is a packaged fireplace of steel that simply stands on the floor or hangs on the wall.

Melbourne couple

Mark 50th wedding anniversary

MR. AND MRS. DAN D. NIXON

MELBOURNE — Mr. and Mrs. Dan D. Nixon on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary, on Sept. 11, were at home on Saturday, Sept. 15, to their relatives and friends at the home of their son, Mr. Ross Nixon, and Mrs. Nixon, who was their former home.

The rooms were decorated with summer flowers, given by Mrs. Frank McCaw and Mrs. Clifford Taber. The diningroom in which they received was decorated for the occasion.

The table, with yellow tapers Nixon, and Mrs. Nixon, in crystal holders placed on golden doilies, was centered by the three tier wedding cake made by their daughter, Mrs. Clifford Taber, and decorated with golden leaves and 50th motif.

Mr. and Mrs. Nixon were brought to the farm by their daughter Mrs. Art Bowden, and Mr. Bowden, of Montreal, to be greeted by their family, relatives and a large number of friends.

Mrs. Nixon was presented by a corsage of red roses with golden bow, Mr. Nixon with a white rosebud boutonniere.

The celebrants received several gifts, including commemorative Prayer Books from the Guild and W.A. of St. Ann's Church, and a tea service trimmed in gold, from the Guild of Holy Trinity Church, Kirkdale, their former church, also money and many cards.

The guest book was in charge of Lucy Nixon their granddaughter. The 50 guests present were from South Stukely, Montreal, Ville Jacques Cartier, Lennoxville, South Durham, Richmond and Melbourne.

Mr. Nixon and the former Laura Copping were married at St. John the Divine Church, Boscobel, on Sept. 11, 1912, by Rev. Lummis. They lived on a farm at Valcourt a few years, later moved to Kirkdale, where they lived a number of years before coming to Melbourne.

They have three children: Emily, Mrs. Clifford Taber, of Melbourne Ridge, Ross, on the home farm at Kirkdale and Gladys, Mrs. Art Bowden, of Montreal, 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

HUNTINGVILLE

Recent guests of Mrs. E. Snow, were: Rev. George Robins and Mrs. Robins, of Marbleton; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Taylor, Mrs. M. Carroll, Sawyerville, Miss Edith Taylor, Quebec; Mrs. Laura Fish, Ayer's Cliff; Mrs. Persis Colby, Montreal; Mr. Stanley Nutbrown, and Mr. Edwin Prescott, Bulwer.

Many entries are received for stock fair

Visitors to the Sherbrooke Winter Fair, Sept. 29 to Oct. 4, will see a large display of meat producing animals. Entries are arriving in each mail. To date the secretary has received the following number of entries.

Aberdeen Angus cattle, 82; Hereford cattle, 78; Shorthorn cattle, 70; Market cattle 90; Pure Bred Sheep, 87, Market lambs, 36; Pure Bred swine, 29; Market Hogs, 38. The entries of several large breeders are expected in the mail, as they promised to exhibit. The directors are assured of a good display of beef cattle, sheep and swine. The pure bred classes of beef cattle are larger than previously. There are several new exhibitors such as Arellus Lavalie, Berthier, Gary Hodgins, Shawville.

The Sherbrooke Winter Fair is a Provincial Exhibition, open to exhibitors from any section of the Province, all counties in the Eastern Townships will be represented, in addition entries have been received from Argenteuil, Berthier, Pontiac, Val-de-Richelieu, Jacques Cartier, etc. counties.

The display of beef calves by the Junior Breeders Clubs will be one of the most interesting events at the fair. The Junior Showmanship Contest on Monday evening always creates a great deal of interest.

There will be judging all day on Tuesday and Wednesday. Wednesday evening the square dance competition, the parade of prize winning livestock, and the calf scramble, will take place. This program will be followed by a dance in the Arena Hall.

The big event on Thursday is the sale of market livestock and the champions, at one o'clock. This sale usually brings the largest crowd of the week. Meat producing animals are in great demand. Prices have been very encouraging to the breeders. It is expected that bidding will be very brisk at this auction sale.

Aided by Community Chest

YM wants to know what is expected of it

This is the first in a series of articles on organizations and services which operate with the help of the financial assistance they receive from contributions to the Sherbrooke area Community Chest Campaign. This year's drive runs from October 9 to 29.

By MALCOLM REID
(Record Staff Reporter)

The Sherbrooke YMCA has asked this year's community Chest for $7,000 — expecting considerably less.

But what it spends this and its other money on will depend on replies it gets to questionnaires it is distributing among school children and parents.

The Community Chest campaign takes place Oct. 9 to 29, and Arthur Wright and Forest Keene, YM president and secretary, say they hope to have questionnaires out soon, and their sounding of public opinion completed this fall.

The Young Men's Christian Association wants people to think of it as more than a pool and gym. In Sherbrooke as elsewhere, it would like to become a place where young people are trained for adult responsibility.

The questionnaires will ask parents what their present "image" of the organization is, and children what they want from the YM.

For the time being, there is a traditional program of activities going on at the organization's building on Dufferin Street — swimming, ping pong, and lodgings for young men away from home.

YM officials are not counting on their share of proceeds of the Chest drive to do more than make up their usual yearly PLANS — Forest Keene, left, who has acted in recent years as Sherbrooke YMCA secretary, confers with Art Wright, this year's YM president, on affairs of the association. working deficit—roughly $3,000, much on cash as on "im-ge." YMs all over North America are losing younger children to schools which more and more fill the sports needs that were once its domain. There are no swimming pools in schools, and the bulk of "Y" Teenagers too have strayed from the YM, though there is a dance every Saturday night at the Sherbrooke YM which is well-attended.

But long-term dreams and hopes are the Sherbrooke YMCA well-attended. Significantly, it is in under-

Thelma Gleena Hyatt marries Alfred Harold Middleton

STANSTEAD — The marriage of Thelma Gleena, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hyatt, Stanstead, to Mr. Alfred Harold Middleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Middleton, Stanstead, took place on Saturday morning, September 15, at ten-thirty o'clock at Christ Anglican church, Rev. A. L. Salt, officiating for the double ring ceremony and for the nuptial service of Holy Communion. Miss Elsie McFadden played the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Veronica Hall.
