MONTREAL CITIZENS ELECT MEDERIC MARTIN AS MAYOR

Alderman Named in Judge Cannon's Report Beats Major Stephens by 5,000 Votes---A Reactionary Administration

Montreal, April 7—Returns from the whole of the 31 wards of the city with only thirteen out of about 900 polls to hear from today, show that only half-hearted support was given in yesterday's civic elections to the slate backed by the Citizens' Association, which helped largely to clean up Montreal after the Judge Cannon graft inquiry some years ago. Major George W. Stephens was badly beaten by the French voters, his opponent, Mederic Martin, M.P., who was named in Judge Cannon's report, having a majority of five thousand over the ex-Chairman of the Harbor Board. The figures for Board of Control are:

Thomas Cote, 28,614.
E. N. Hebert, 27,404.
Joseph Ainey, 26,568.
A. V. Roy, 18,899.

Tramways' Candidates

The latter two were endorsed by the Citizens' Association together with the runner-up, Duncan McDonald, who received 17,215 votes and who was "knocked" in his campaign by the Graham papers, who put up the sixth man on the list, P. W. St. George, who had 16,544 votes. Supporters of the Citizens' Association claim that Cote and Hebert, with St. George, were practically nominees of the Montreal Tramways Company, which is seeking a renewal of franchise for forty years. In any case, say these supporters of the cracked slate, the net result of the elections is the return of a reactionary administration.

A SENSATION IN N.B. LEGISLATURE

OPPOSITION MEMBER MAKES GRAVE CHARGES AGAINST PREMIER FLEMING.

Fredericton, N. B., April 6.—A sensation was sprung in the legislature when Mr. Dugal, one of the Opposition members for Madawaska gave notice of motion for Thursday next that having formulated charges against the Hon. J. K. Fleming, Premier and Minister of Lands and Mines, which he is credibly informed and believes he can establish by satisfactory evidence, he demands a committee of investigation. The charges are that the Hon. J. K. Fleming, through the agency of William H. Berry, chief superintendent of scalers of the Crown Land Department of this province and under the direct control of the said Hon. J. K. Fleming in the year A. D. 1913, did unlawfully extort from divers large lessees of Crown timber limits within this province a sum of $15. per square mile of their timber limits to the total of about $100,000, and failed to account for these monies.

HELP FOR SEALERS.

Halifax, N. S., April 6.—St. George's Society at its annual meeting here tonight sent a cablegram of sympathy with the people of Newfoundland and a contribution as first instalment $125 towards distress fund in behalf of sufferers from sealing disasters.

NEW GERMAN CANAL TO BALTIC OUTLET.

Berlin, April 6—Schleswig-Holstein government has ordered that steps be taken preliminary to the construction of a canal between Eckernforde and the Kaiser Wilhelm canal, of a canal between the broad part of the Cehlei and Eckernforde and of a harbor at Eckernforde.

This indicates the probable consummation of long considered plans for a second outlet from the Kaiser Wilhelm canal to the Baltic, which would be chiefly of military value.

PROSECUTOR FABRE MUST SEND IN RESIGNATION

Paris April 6.—A morning paper understands that the Minister of Justice has requested the public prosecutor, Victor Fabre, to send in his resignation, and adds that in the event of his refusal he will be retired M. Fabre is entitled to a pension of $1,200.

President Poincare's deposition is being widely discussed, and all agree that it is of great importance. While some are of the opinion that it proves beyon doubt the grave provocation to which Mme Caillaux was subjected, and thus diminishes the grarity of her act, others contend that it establishes clearly premeditation and that it further adds to the responsibility of M. Caillaux. President Poincare personally guaranteed the loyalty and straightfordwardness of M. Calmette, it is pointed out, yet M. Caillaux broke off the conversation with the President by the threat: "If he does that, I will kill him."

HALIFAX SEALER JAMMED IN ICE

STEAMER "SEAL" HAS BEEN HELD FAST FOR A WEEK.

Halifax, N. S., April 6.—The Halifax steamer Seal is jammed in the ice in the Gul of St. Lawrence, five hundred miles from Entry Island, according to a wireless message received by her owners tonight. The message said that the steamer, with 6,000 seal skins on board, had been held fast for a week and that there was no immediate prospect of her release.

The owners of the Seal suggested that the intimation of the ice conditions in the waters about Newfoundland might warrant some slight hope that the missing Sealer Southern Cross had not been wrecked but was caught in the ice. The Southern Cross, however, had left the Gulf of St. Lawrence and was off the southern coast of Newfoundland when last sighted.

CONSOLIDATED RUBBER COMPANY'S STATEMENT.

Montreal, April 6.—It is understood that the annual statement to be submitted to the shareholders of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company today will show a surplus of approximately $140,000, allowing dividends at the rate of 7 per cent on the $2,000,000 Pfd. and 4 per cent on the $2,800,000 Common stock. This compares with a surplus of $233,838 the previous.

SECOND READING FOR HOME RULE BILL IN THE BRITISH HOUSE

An Amendment to Reject it Is Defeated By a Majority of Eighty---O'Brienites Did Not Vote---Speeches Are More Conciliatory

London, Monday April 6.—By a majority of eighty an amendment for the rejection of the Home Rule Bill was defeated in the House of Commons tonight, and without division the bill was given for the third time its second reading in the House.

Reduced Majority.

The announcement of the figures evoked louder cheers from the Opposition than from the Ministerialists, the Opposition interpreting them as gratifying proof of a dwindling government majority. But the diminution is accounted for to some extent by the abstention from voting of the O'Brienites.

Speeches Conciliatory.

The speeches today were generally much more concilitary in tone than those which marked the bills earlier passages. John E. Redmond, the Nationalist leader, who opened the debate, again held out the olive branch to Ulster in a speech of great eloquence, but insisted that it was impossible for him and his colleagues to agree to the permanent exclusion of Ulster and to abandon in principle "Ireland a nation."

Law Makes Overtures.

Andrew Bonar Law, the Opposition leader, though preferring in certain passages of his speech, to see hardly any hope of a peaceful settlement, and predicting that civil war was certain if the government persisted in pushing the bill through, declared that he and his colleagues would gladly accept a proposal for a renewal of the conversations with the government leaders, but feared nothing would come of it.

Birrell Is Optimistic.

Augustine Birrell Chief Secretary for Ireland was most optimistic. Despite all adverse criticism he was certain that great progress had been made towards a peaceful settlement, and civil war, he declared, was impossible.

The second reading of the Home Rule Bill was carried the first time by a majority of 101, and the second time by a majority of 98. Tonight O'Brienites abstained from voting and two Liberals voted against the government. One Nationalist was absent, and Charles F. G. Masterman, who had previously voted as a member of the government, lost his seat in the election for Bethnal Green last February.

Sir Edward Grey's departure from London has no political significance. He is merely taking a holiday, which he arranged for some time ago.

Irishmen Celebrate.

A large gathering of Irishmen, all carrying green flags, assembled outside Parliament tonight to celebrate the passage of the bill. They cheered wildly when the result of the vote was announced, and gave ovations to the members of the government and the Nationalists leaders as they left the House.

PROCEEDINGS IN HOUSE.

Redmond, Carson, Bonar Law and Birrell the Speakers.

London, April 6.—"I think in the present circumstances there is nothing for the House of Commons to do but proceed with the Home Rule for Ireland Bil as it stands."

This was the closing sentence of a speech delivered today in the House of Commons by John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists, who made his final speech on behalf of the Nationalist party on the second reading of the Home Rule Bill.

The vote of the House on the measure was arranged to be taken tonight.

The day's proceedings in the House were opened by Mr. Redmond, who pleaded that the present stage of the controversy was so critical that all energies must be devoted to facing a settlement of realities. He continued: "The country as a whole is sick and tired of the Irish question, and it must be settled here and now," emphasizing that it was impossible for the Irish Nationalists by agreeing to the permanent exclusion of Ulster from the operation of the Home Rule Bill to abandon the principle of "Ireland a nation."

Mr. Redmond added: "The real question of the moment is how far each side is prepared to advance toward an agreement.

Mr. Redmond said he was in sympathy with the general proposal of the scheme of Federation, but vague talk on the subject he declared was mischievous and could not solve the present difficulty.

Amid great cheering on the Ministerial side of the House, Mr. Redmond then summed up his view of the situation, saying that although he would not do or say anything to preclude the possibility of fair and honorable peace, he thought there was nothing else to do at the present than proceed with the Bill in its present form.

Sir Edward Carson.

Sir Edward Carson then repeated his offer that if the Government would agree to allow Parliament to decide at the end of six years period of exclusion whether or not Ulster should have the continued right of local option, he would call an Ulster convention and submit the question to it.

The only solution declared Sir Edward, was to leave Ulster out of the Bill until her consent to inclusion had been won.

Bonar Law Replies.

Andrew Bonar Law, the Opposition leader, said that the government was pushing the bill through under a system which was virtually a one chamber government. He recalled the phrase of Sir Edward Grey's that "a single chamber government meant damnation and disaster," and said that the prophecy was been fulfilled. He himself had done his best to make it come true.

Ready for Sacrifice.

At the same time, contiued Mr. Law, the Unionists were ready to make every reasonable sacrifice to avoid the calamity of civil strife. There were only two ways whereby that could be averted; one was the exclusion of Ulster from the bill, the other an appeal to the people. If the proposal were made for a renewal of the conversation between the leaders of the two parties, as Sir Edward Grey had suggested, the Opposition would accept it, but he feared that nothing would come of it while Mr. Redmond exercised the power to vote any proposals put forward by the Opposition.

In the opinion of the Speaker, the situation was never more replete with danger than at present. If the government chose, it had the power to ruin Ulster and its own country, but it would never succeed in compelling Ulster by force, and against its will, to go outside the protection of the British parliament.

Civil War Impossible.

Austine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, wound up the debate. He argued that civil war was impossible. He was amazed at the patience displayed by the Catholics and Nationalists in Ulster in great provocation. It showed, he said, that there was no need of civil war to effect a settlement of the question. Ulster must be won; her opposition must be overcome, but it could not be by force; hence the government proposals.

Mr. Birrell made pointed reference to the strong objections in Ireland to the permanent exclusion of Ulstre, and appealed to the Unionists not to press the government too hard in the matetr of time limit.

Government Majority Reduced.

The government was shutting no door to a settlement and was keeping open every proposal which had been made.

Closure was carried by a vote of 356 to 272, and the amendment for the rejection of the bill was defeated 356 to 276. The announcement of the figures, showing a reduced government majority, was received with loud Opposition and cheers and cries of "where is your independent majority."

GREEK DESERTER SERVED HEROICALLY.

Paris, April 6—"The only punishment I should like to see impose is that he serve France as he served Greece" was the announcement today of Government Commissary Alix, at the court martial of John Corinthious, a Greek, who desrted from the Foreign Legion to fight for the land of his birth in the Balkan war. At the conclusion of the war he returned to the Foreign Legion, having served heroically. The court agreed with the prosecutor and unanimously acquitted him.

AMERICAN SENATE WANTS PUBLICITY ON TOLLS DEBATE

SENATOR O'GORMAN DECIDES ON OPEN SESSIONS AT THE OUTSET.

Washington, April 6—Publicity for the deliberations on the bill to repeal toll exemption for American ships passing through the Panama Canal was determined upon today by the Senate Committee on Inter-Oceanic Canals, which tomorrow will begin consideration of the controversy in all its aspects.

Senator O'Gorman, chairman of the committee, decided upon open sessions at the outset after a conference with his colleagues. Whether hearings are to be held has not been decided, but this will be determined when the House repeal bill and various compromise Senate measures are formally taken up. How long the committee will deliberate on the issue before making a report to the Senate no one would predict tonight, but administration leaders let it be known that any effort to prolong the preliminary consideration would be opposed even to the extreme of moving to discharge the committee from consideration of the subject.

Senator O'Gorman, leading Democratic opponent of the repeal, and others who join with him in the fight still insisted, however, that there would be no effort to delay in committee. When the issue reaches the floor of the Senate various forces at work to complicate the situation make it improbable that a vote can be reached for several weeks.

Republican for Senator.

Senator McCumber, Republican of North Dakota, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, who steadfastly refuses to join the party opposition to President Wilson's policy, addressed the Senate at length today in support of the repeal bill. He flatly declared that toll exemption for American ships was a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, and that it was against the spirit of the Senate when the treaty was ratified. For the Congress to insist upon toll exemption for American coastwise ships, he said, was to hide behind the American flag while burglarizing the Treasury for the benefit of "a coastwise shipping trust."

Senator McCumber's argument was one of the most extensive yet presented in the Senate on either side of the controversy. He talked for three and a half hours virtually without interruption and at the conclusion of his speech he appealed to all "right thinking men in the Senate" to support the lofty stand the President has taken, regardless of party or political expediency."

An Economic Mistake.

The Senator devoted his address to the two reasons given in the President's message urging repeal, that exemptions constituted a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and that it was an economic mistake.

Reading from the Clayton-Bulwer and Hay-Pauncefote conventions, the Senator also went deeply into the debates in the Senate and the correspondence with Great Britain to show that the provisions of the latter treaty had been understood on both sides of the Atlantic to place American ships, coastwise or foreign, on the same footing in the canal as those of any other nation. He characterized as ridiculous the contention that exception of American coastwise shipping was a necessity to keep down the rail rates from ocean to ocean. The Inter-State Commerce Commission had full power to regulate railroad rates, he insisted, and it was folly for the government to seek to "ransom itself from piracy, to hire a competitor."

Likely to Carry Unamended.

Administration Senators tonight seemed to be more confident than ever that the House repeal bill would carry in the Senate unamended, maintaining that several Democrats who had been classed as doubtful, positively would support the President and that the majority on the final roll call in favor of repeal would be at least ten votes. Eight or nine Republican Senators are now counted upon to support the repeal, despite the effort of their leaders to unite the minority against the measure.

Senator Brandegee of Connecticut at the conclusion of Senator McCumber's address today introduced a resolution requesting the President, if not incompatible with the public interest, to give the Senate all information records and correspondence relating to negotiations of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

Senator Brandegee favors repeal.

The Grand Jury.

At this time 30 years ago, the Grand Jury in making their presentment at the assizes said:—We are of the opinion that Grand Juries should be maintained. 1st because the unanimous decision of twelve men is less ligely to be biased than that of our public prosecutor; 2nd the exoneration of an accused by such a jury is the safest guarantee of innocence; 3rd the exposure of a useless trial is thereby rendered unnecessary and the character of the guiltless remains unstained.

Special Jury List.

A case which occupied the attention of Chief Justice Meredith and a special jury, as well as many others in the City, terminated at this time 30 years ago., in favor of the plaintiff, Mr. Terrence McLaughlin, against the Quebec Permanent Building Society. The damages of $250.00 were awarded the plaintiff in consequence of the defendants having illegally served a notice on Mr. McLaughlin's tenants forbidding them to pay him their rents. By their contract with Mr. McLaughlin, the Building Society had covenanted not to serve any such notice unless Mr. McLaughlin should be in arrears of four months' instalments to the Society, and this he was not when the notices were served. A HUNDRED YEARS AGO TODAY

Europe Versus France.

The columns of the allied armies continue their advance on all sides, and have penetrated deeply into France, perhaps deeper than may have been prudent from a military point-of-view. The German papers, however, represent their progress as a continued succession of triumphs. The Islands on the Elb near Haarberg have been taken, in consequence the speedy fall of that place is anticipated, and it is said that Davoust has offered to capitulate in Hamburg. The Emperor of Austria is now on French territory and the King of Prussia is following him, Gen. Barclay de Folly, with a Russian reserve of 40,000 was marching in the same direction. The French have been driven through Epinal to Charmes and have lost many men as prisoners. Wittgenstein on the other side has pursued another under the Cannon of Strasburg. The accounts from French Flanders are favourable. And we are pleased to hear in the accounts from Italy of strong parties supporting Gen. Nugent, who attacked and carried two positions which were held by the French. The Cordon is daily drawing nearer to each other with the enemy somewhere in the centre, ther can only be one conclusion.

MAORIS AND AGRICULTURE.

There has been established at Mananui, in New Zealand, an agricultural college for Maori boys, which consists of some 200 acres of first-class land, about 70 of which are already under cultivaton. Practical as well as theoretcal training is given, and dairying is to be a prominent feature of the institution, at which the boys live and which is under the principalship of a clergyman of some considerable experience in practical agriculture. Adult Maori settlers, it is interesting to note, are realizing the possibilities of prosperity in dairying. The majorty of those who take it up seriously use milking machines.

SPARROW PEST IN ENGLAND.

Are Caught In Nets And Used For Food.

In certain country places, especially near towns, a new source of food is being exploited. At one stockyard after another you may see village laborers stretching foldnets for sparrows, and the birds are being caught simply for food. They keep down the butcher's bill.

The number of sparrows is now immense, probably greater than it ever has been. The regular winter population of one small stockyard near London is estimated by farmer at over 2,000. These 2,000 mouths he fills largely with his grain. The sparrows have completely driven away almost all other varieties of bird except a few finches.

The sparrow is said by the trappers to make an excellent stew, or pie, or soup. It is a clean feeder, subsisting all the year, except for a month in the spring, on grain, and it takes from the farmer an enormous toll. Considering the enormous population of sparrows, it is not surprising that this source of food is being tapped.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More

A Physician's Advice.

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victim of malnutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving, fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by good druggists everywhere and very package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution:—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.

BORDEN GOVERNMENT SURPLUS OVER THIRTY-SIX MILLIONS

Worst of Financial Stringency Now Over---Exports Increasing---The Railway Situation---Outlook for Future is Good

(Special to The Chronicle.)

Ottawa, April 6—Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, was today able to announce to the House that despite a world-wide stringency, the Government had a revenue over ordinary expenditure of thirty-six and a-half millions. The revenue for the fiscal year just closed, he estimated at $163,000,000, and the ordinary expenditure one hundred and twenty-six and a half millions, leaving a balance on the right side of the ledger of thirty-six and a-half millions.

Capital Outlay $57,000,000.

Including nineteen millions in railway subsidies, the capital outlay of the year totalled fifty-seven millions, so that the debt had been increased by nineteen millions. Had it not been for the abnormal railway subsidies the revenue for the year would have covered both current and capital expenditure. As it stands today the net debt of the Dominion is actually six million dolars less than it was when the Borden Government came into power. Mr. White pointed out that so slight an increase in the debt under such trying circumstances must be regarded as eminently satisfactory, as in 1908, after a much less trying period, the debt was increased by no less than forty-six millions.

Financial Situation.

The Minister of Finance, in giving a most comprehensive review of business of the country, took an optimistic view of the future.

"So far as the financial stringencies are concerned, we may consider that the worst it over," he said. "From this time forward until the culmination of the next economic cycle, we are, on the economic experience of the past, justified in looking for much more normal monetary conditions. Bankers and business men unite in the opinion that while it is a time for prudence and caution it is also time for confidence and courage. The strength of Canada lies in her vast natural resources. That is the rock upon which our prosperity is soundly based and founded. Any depression, generally speaking, can be but temporary, in character, until such time as normal money conditions, joined with business confidence, again restores the wonted activity of the nation."

The Railway Situation.

Mr. White made a brief reference to the railway situation in Canada. He pointed out that the country had been passing through a period of considerable inflation, and that the railway policy had resulted in the building of two vast new systems within the past dozen years. Construction upon the main lines of these two systems was now nearing completion, but with the constant building and rebuilding that would contiaue, it was not possible to look for any cessation of railroad construction.

Question of Real Estate.

The Minister of Finance gave some attention to the question of real estate in Canada. He believed that on the whole the readjustment which was going on in real estate conditions throughout Canada was inevitable and would be salutory in character. Conditions would, he believed, improve materially with returning confidence and easier money.

Reviewing the financial stringency of the past year, he emphasized the fact that it had been world-wide in character. Many events had entered into this. World-wide trade expansion, great demands upon loanable capital, in the world's money markets, constantly increasing expenditure upon militarism and armament, personal and public extravagance, speculation and price inflation had all co-operated to bring about the financial conditions under review.

The Minister pointed out as a hopeful sign that since the first of the year the Bank of England rate had fallen to three per cent. And the outlook for easier money conditions was more favorable than at any time in the past two years.

Trade Statistics.

Hon. Mr. White regarded the way in which Canadian trade had held up through all the stringency as a really remarkable feature. Trade statistics for the fiscal year just closed would show that the total exceeded the trade of the proceeding year which reached the record figure of over one billion dollars. He also remarked as particularly gratifying that the exports had increased in a greater ratio than the imports.

Dominion Appropriations.

Dealing with the year now entered upon Mr. White said that the total main appropriations recently laid before the House provided for $146,786,124 on consolidated fund and for capital expenditure $43,949,050. There would be supplementary estimates later in the session, but they would be small in amount. The revenue for the year just closed would be about one hundred and sixty-three million dollars. The revenue for the present year would depend very much upon the trend of business throughout Canada. There had been a falling off in revenue during the last few months, but it was to be anticipated that these declines would be smaller in amount with the coming of spring and probably by fall, conditions would be such that all losses of the earlier part of the year would be regained. In any event, he was confident that the revenues for the year would provide fully for consolidated expenditure and in large measure for all capital and special outlays.

TARIFF CHANGES OF FINANCE MINISTER ARE UNEXPECTED

Assistance to Iron and Steel Industry and a Cut on Agricultural Implements.

THE NATIONAL POLICY.

No Free Wheat and No Free Bounties—Details of New Items.

(Special to The Chronicle)

Ottawa, April 6—Assistance to the iron and steel industry in Canada, a cut in one class of agricultural implements and increases in duties on building stone, caustic soda and brass were the important feature of the tariff changegs announced by Hon. W. T. White in his budget speech today. No free wheat, no free bounties and a prohibition of entry of aigrette plumes after January 1, 1915 were other feattures of interest.

The changes while not extet sive are exceedingly important as they affect two of the chief Canadian industries.

Agricultural Implements

There was perhaps no item on the list awaited with greater interest than that of agricultural implements. The Finance Minister dealt with this question at considerable length. He said a most careful enquiry had been made for over a year into the cost of producttion of agricultural implements on both sides of the line and as a result of the investigation it had been decided to make a cut in the duty on harvesters, reapers, binders and mowers from seventeen and a half per cent. to twelve and a half per cent.

Hon. Mr. White pointed out that this reduction in duty was a two and a half per cent. greater than had been proposed by the famous reciprocity pact and that with the drawback enjoyed on the iron and steel used in the producttion this class of implements would be placed upon practically a ton per cent basis.

The announcement of the cut in agricultural implements was received with Conservative cheers, ministerial supporters calling across to the Liberals, "Why don't you cheer?" The Liberals replied, "Take it all off."

No Bounties Granted

The Minister announced that there would be no bounty granted to the iron ore industry, there being insufficient information before the government upon which to base legislative action. To meet this condition the Mines Department would make a thorough enquiry this year into all conditions entering into the question. A similar investigation will be made into the flax fibre industry before an application already made for a bounty is decided upon.

Free Wheat Question

Mr. White dealt at length with the question of accepting the countervailing offer in the Underwood tariff of "Free wheat and free flour." He analyzed the whole situation as affecting Canada and said that having regard to the great railway development and the opening of competitive routes by Hudson Bay and the Panama Canal the Government did not consider it advisable to accept the offer, but was disposed rather to await the outcome of the developments now under way and in the meantime to do all possible to improve conditions with regard to freight rates, etc.

Reaffirms National Policy

A feature of the speech of Hon. Mr. White was his reaffirmation of the National Policy as the ground upon which the Conservative party still stands.

"I desire to affirm," he said "the adherence of the government to a fiscal policy of reasonable protection to Canadian industries, including of course, the great basis industry of agriculture.

That policy is the historic National Policy of Sir John A. MacDonald Under that policy Canada has prospereed in the past and will continue to prosper in the future. We believe it to me the true policy for Canada and for every part of it if we are to regard as desirable stable conditions and a diversified national life throughout the Dominion.

QUEBEC AUTO CLUB ELECT OFFICERS

NOT MUCH CHANGE THIS YEAR—MR. CARREL PRESIDENT AGAIN.

One of the largest gatherings since its formation three years ago, attended the annual general meeting of the Quebec Automobile Club, held in the chamber of the Recorder's Court last evening.

The meeting was presided over by the President, Mr. F. Carrel, who read a report of the doings of the club during the past year which was followed by statements from the Vice-Presidents and Secretary-Treasurer. The latter report was of especial interest to the members in view of the fact that a surplus of $850 was declared, which is very encouraging when it is considered that the Quebec Auto Club is just beginning to bud out from its infancy.

Following the financial statement the election of officers was next proceeded with and resulted in the following being unanimously chosen, the majority of whom were on last year's board:—

Hon. Patrons—Sir Francois Langelier and Sir Lomer Gouin.

Hon. President—Sir George Garneau.

Hon. Vice-Presidents — Mayor Drouin, Hon. L. A. Taschereau and Dr. Casgrain.

President—F. Carrel.

Vice-President—J. H. Fortier.

Secretary-Treasurer—L. Beaupre.

Directors—M. Dion, W. H. Leonard, Dr. LaRue, Aug. Pion, A. E. Pfeiffer, Geo. A. Tessier, G. H. Paquet, Jos. Devarennes, A. Lavigueur, W. J. B. Brunet, C. Kirouac, F. Campbell, J. Laurin, Jas. McGowan, Dr. V. Martin.

Auditors—A. Hutchison, Eugene Julien.

When the suggestion was made that he be re-elected for the third consecutive term, President Carrel stated that he favored the appointment of another active member of the club to the office in the person of Mr. J. H. Fortier, but the main motion carried.

The Club's Season.

The club's slogan for the auto season just opening is "Boost the Membership" so that it will not be surprising, if at the next annual meeting the club is double the strength it is at present.

One of the main topics brought before the meeting was the question of paying tolls within short mileage on the South Shore, Mr. Martel raising the point. He was told by the Secretary that the matter had been taken up by the club but that the Turnpike Trust did not see their way clear to exempting motor cars. An effort will be made by the club to have the tollgate people accept an annual fee so that members and other auto owners will not have to stop up when passing these gates.

Prof. Vhery, of the Quebec Technical School, Dr. LeBel, J. H. Fortier, Dr. LaRue, W. J. B. Brunet, A. E. Pfeiffer and others spoke, the vote of thanks to the officers for their energetic efforts being proposed by Dr. Martin.

SAYS PANAMA CANAL WON'T PAY ON COST.

German Professor Insists That Even Two Per Cent. Upon Outlay Is Hopeless.

Berlin, April 6—Lecturing before the German South American Society today, Dr. Lutz, formerly at the Panama Polyteshnic, declared the Panama Canal could not economically justify its enormous cost. "It can never compete with the Suez Canal," Dr. Lutz said, "for even to Manila the route from New York through the Panama is further than that by way of Suez. Europeans are apt to forget the immense distances across the Pacific."

Dr. Lutz considered it hopeless to expect that the Panama Canal would ever pay even 2 per cent. on its cost to build. "Whether the western coast of South America," he said, "will ever develop into a valuable economic region is a question for the future. At present there is little to be gained there."

That the canal is mainly a feature of the American colonial policy was another of the doctor's observations but he claimed that, owing to the narrowness of the canal, it was likely to prove an obstruction in American naval development.

Commenting on this observation the Tageblatt says the narrowness of the canal may prove an unmixed blessing to the American Navy Department, because even the British Admiralty is not disinclined to check the growth in size of its battleships.

Dr. Lutz paid a warm tribute to Col. Goethals, who, he said, was the strongest force connected with the construction of the canal. Dr. Lutz described the popularity of Col Geothals with his workmen, and illustrated their trust in him by quoting the application of their wives to exert his influence to keep their husbands away from drink.

The sale of tickets for the wrestling match at the Auditorium Treatre next Saturday night will open at the treatre box office on Thursday morning.

HON. L. P. PELLETIER IMPROVES LOCAL STEAMSHIP SERVICE

Provides for Better Connection with the North Shore---Connection with Riv. du Loup and New York

Ottawa, 4th April, 1914.

The Hon. L. P. Pelletier, who always takes a deep interest in all that concerns the district which he represents in the Government, has succeeded in making new and very satisfactory arrangements for the opening of the season of Navigation.

In the first place, he has provided for a mail passenger tourist service to the North Shore which will be very satisfactory for the merchants and the people of this City and fo rall the residents on the North Shore. This service was heretofore performed, as everyone knows, in a spasmodic way, and with boats which could not give as much satisfaction as the service rearranged by Mr. Pelletier will give. The contract will be performed this year by The Canada Steamship Line and the steamers which will be put in the service will be the one called the "Saronic but whose name may be be changed to "Labrador" or some other suitable name. This is a splendid ship and fast enough to go twelve knots at sea. The ship will have accomodation for 110 first class passengers and it has 2500 tons freight capacity. The service will be from Quebec and will be a weekly one. This ship is equipped with Wireless telegraphy and it has refrigerator space for 250 tons of fish. The run will be every week to Natashquan and once a month to Harrington Point and it will stop at Escoumains and all other remote points along the coast.

The other fine boat also belonging to the same company, the "Cascapedia" will help in the service, when it is needed for the long trips to Harrington Point. The "Cascapedia" is well known as it has performed the service for some years between Montreal and Prince Edward Island. The "Cascapedia" will make its first trip leaving Quebec for Natashquan and Harrington Point on Thursday next and stop at all intermediate points. The "Saronic" will only come into service when she can come down through the canals after the ice has completely disappeared.

Riviere du Loup Service.

Another thing which Mr. Pelletier has been able to accomplish at the same time and which will be much appreciated by the Quebec people as well as by the Riviere du Loup population is that the Richelieu & Ontario service which used to be given some years ago between Quebec and Riviere du Loup and which was cut off under the late Government, will again be re-opened. It is arranged that the two fine boats the "Tadousac" and the "Murray Bay" will go twice a week to Riviere du Loup wharf, leaving Quebec on Wednesdays and Saturdays at eight a.m., arriving at Riviere du Loup between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. This has rendered it necessary that the "Tadousac" and the "Murray Bay" will not go to St. Simeon but as Mr. Pelletier does not want to deprive the County of Charlevoix and and the parish of St. Simeon in particular of some advantage to the benefit of Riviere du Loup, he has made an arrangement under which the "Saguenay," will this year stop at St. Simeon going and returning. As the "Saguenay" leaves Montreal every Tuesday and Friday evening, the people of St. Simeon will have a service equally good, if not better, than the one they had last year.

New York Service.

It is also practically decided that through the efforts of Mr. Pelletier a new splendid steamship service will be started between Quebec and New York. The "Trinidad" will start in this year on this service, but as she is only a 13 knot boat she is not considered fast enough to give a very good and efficient service. It is very likely, however, that it will be possible to enter in this Quebec-New York service the "Bermudian" which is an 18 knot boat. If, as we hope, this is accomplished, a very great improvement in the interest of Quebec and this district will have been obtained.

REBELS EXPEL SPANIARDS

Juarez, Mex., April 6—Northern and Central Mexico, it is said, are being thoroughly cleared of Spanish residents by the Constitutionalists. The latest news of wholesale expulsion of Spaniards was brought here by Gen. Gudierreo, commander of rebel forces in the state of San Luis Potosi. Every consideration has been shown them, General Gutierrez said. They have been given plenty of time to carry away with them their household effects and other possessions, but not one of them has been permitted to remain inside the rebel lines.

Justification for the wholesale deportation, it is said, is found by the insurgent chiefs in article 33 of the Mexican constitution—the famous "pernicious foreigner" law which gives Mexican authorities the right to deport undesirable aliens.

"THE RED ROSE" IS WELL PATRONIZED

CAPACITY HOUSE PLEASED WITH LAST NIGHT'S PRESENTATION.

"The Red Rose" Musical Company, opened to a capacity audience last night at the Auditorium, and the performance from the rise of the curtain to the drop after the final act, was interesting in catchy music, song and comedy and the usual scenic splendor that goes to make up a pleasing entertainment by a well-balanced company of pretty girls, excellent comedians and "skit" specialties that sent the gods into ecstacies of enthusiastic appreciation. One of the features of the entertainment, not registered among the numbers printed on the program, was a vocal solo during the third act by Mr. Henri La Bonte, who sang with sweet cadence expression and sympathetic effects Sclazo's "Un Peut d'Amour." Mr.La Bonte is the possessor of a well cultured tenor voice of excellent range, and his solo was a revelation to a critical audience, who insisted on two encores which were graciously and generously responded to.

The musical opened with the scene and art school and sung by Mr. Henri La Bonte, followed with song, chorus and dancing, in true Bohemian spirit. The art school is staged in Paris and among the students is a young American "Dick Lorimer," who falls in love with "Lola," an artist's model, who returns the affection. The father of Dick, a gay American millionaire, arrives to bring back his son. In the meantime, a French Baron, in quest of a substitute for his daughter, who was kidnapped in her infancy by the gypsies, also appears, and "Lola" is made to believe that she is the lost child. The Baron is in need of a daughter to enable a settlement of rich estates to which his daughter is heiress, and he is willing to enter into a plot that will enable a settlement. "Lola" and "Dick" are very much in love, and every effort is made to interfere, without avail, and in the end it is discovered that "Lola" is in reality the Baron's daughter, and notwithstanding all things to separate them, she marries "Dick."

Miss Sylva Jason as "Gyp," her own master, a very young actress, who is the soubrette of the musical, merits special mention. She is an artist at flirting, and easily captivates the visiting American millionaire with her Parisian Bohemian wiles, that finally captivated the hearts of the gods. She is pretty and pert, and full of charming vivacity, and her girlish songs and dances made her one of the favorites.

Miss Lottie Kendall, a pretty, well developed and vivacious actress, who sings and dances well, assumes the leading role as "Lola," and her graceful stage movements contribute to the success of the performance. Maurice Darcy, as Alonza Lorimer, American millionaire, is a most pleasing comedian and kept the audience in good humor throughout the evening, and was well supported in comedy parts by George Graham as Silas Plant, another American millionaire, and Carl George as "Ludwig Spiegel, while E. McHaffie made a good "Hon. Lionel Talbots," an English character, who could not check his love.

The company on the whole is well balanced, and the chorus singing excellent. The costumes worn by the strong aggregation of female characters and scenic effects and staging in the second and third acts by the company's own scenery, was pleasing in spectacular setting. The music is catchy and every one of the leading characters above the average, and it was very evident by the storms of applause and calls for curtain rising, that the performance was greatly appreciated by the numerously large audience that filled every seat in the Auditorium.

QUEBEC, APRIL 7, 1914.

LAURIER AND THE SHOPS

How Sir Wilfrid Laurier loves the workingmen of Quebec East! For thirty years or so he has sat in Parliament as their representative and after all this time what have they got to show for it in the way of public improvements or progress? For thirty years he has tried to feed them with flapdoodle and "bunco" them with his reckless promises which neither he nor his friends ever kept. Year after year he has made fresh pledges and kept putting off everything till even his own stalwarts grew disgusted and raised their voices in protest, as we proved the other day by quoting a letter written by the late Mr. Roger LaRue.

Where are our representatives? What are they doing? Who ever hears of them? These were the complaints made by Liberals and Conservatives alike during the fifteen years of graft and mismanagement which brought dishonor to the fair name of the Dominion.

There is no doubt but that Laurier and his friends were badly scared at the general election or 1911 when it was apparent that the local boot and shoe industry would be jeopardized by their anti-national plot to hand over the country to the Americans.. This fear soon took concrete form as is instanced by the scandal associated with the withdrawal of Sir Wilfrid's opponent from the struggle and his own election by acclamation. It was very evident that some of Laurier's friends did not want to take any chances and were not very particular as to how his election might be assured.

Not content, however, with having treated his loyal constituents with neglect, apathy and almost contempt in the past, Sir Wilfrid has shown himself even worse in opposition than he was when in power, and with true dog-in-the-manger spirit has tried to block the works of progress which have been instituted under the Conservative regime. He it was who raised his voice against the change in the Harbor Commission, evidently preferring that matters should go along in the same sleepy old way for years more rather than they should be conducted with such rapidity and efficiency as has been the case since the personnel of the Commission has been changed. Possibly he hates to think that Quebec should owe anything to a Conservative Government and does not lke to see the contrast between the Quebec of today under the Borden Government and the neglected Quebec that existed under his own own somnolent blighting regime.

But this is not all by any means. Sir Wilfrid now strongly objects to have the N. T. R. workshops situated in his own constituency where they will afford employment to the laboring men of St. Roch and St. Sauveur. He has put himself on record as wanting them to be placed about eight miles away where they will be near some of the real estate which is in the hands of a few of his political favorites. Mayor Drouin and other prominent Liberals very rightly appreciate the benefits that will accrue to the city and its residents by putting the shops at St. Malo where they will mean the distribution of hundreds of thousands of dollars among the workmen and merchants of Quebec and where they will support a thriving population, increasing the property of the city and extending its limits.

VILLA'S VICTORY AT TORREON

There are a good many miles between the revolutionists and the capital of Mexico, but the blow which they have just struck at Torreon will set them farther on their way than any previous achievement. It may not be the deciding blow in the conflict, but it looks very much like the beginning of the end. The facts in the Mexican situation on both sides have been so much obscured by the conditions of the country and the difficulty of obtaining accurate information that it is impossible for the average outsider to form anything like a precise idea of the resources either of the revolutionists or of the dictator. But it is safe to infer that if Huerta could have saved Torreon he would have done so, and that his failure to send it adequate relief indicates that he is very hard pressed both for men and money. Indeed, one seems justified in expecting as a consequence of the signal victory at Torreon the speedy disintegration of the Huerta despotism.

One point that is made evident is that the general estimate of Villa must be revised to a certain extent: The eleven-day battle which has been concluded between the revolutionists and the Federals was of the most desperate and determined character on both sides, and as far as fierce courage and persistence are concerned would have done credit to the soldiers of any nation. The spirit shown sets at rest the idea that the Mexicans will not fight as bravely as any other people. If the United States had gone into Mexico, they would surely have overrun it and been able to dictate its policy and government! But it would have been no child's play to do it, and their losses in men and money would have been enormous. It must be admitted that we can no longer class him as a mere bandit, at the head of a few outlaws, and capable only of guerilla warfare. He has shown himself able to lead and handle with success a very considerable force probably numbering more than 15,000 men, and his movements and dispositions in the Torreon campagn display genuine military ability of no mean order. He is evidently a born, if not a trained, commander, and the strongest military product of the revolution and probably represents more nearly than any other the demand of the Mexican masses for the land reform which has been a prominent factor in popular discontent for many years.

MEXICO'S FUTURE

Speculation as to what the future may hold in the way of political development for Mexico when ordered government is once more restored to the country, does not offer any very hopeful outlook. Whichever faction eventually triumphs, the victors will find themselves face to face with a situation which might dishearten the highest and most prudent statesmanship, and to grapple with which is more than likely to prove beyond the powers of any man or group of men who may obtain control.

When Mexican troubles first became acute it was estimated that not less than $1,000,000,000 of American capital was invested in Mexican properties. Holdings by all foreign nations were figured as high as $5,0000,000,000 and it is certain that today a great fraction of these enormous investments has been destroyed. The income on a much greater fraction has been suspended for a long time and bids fair to be indefinitely suspended. When the time comes that reasonable order shall be restored in Mexico, foreign powers will naturally and legitimately demand restitution for the severe losses suffered by their citizens, unless the new Mexican government shall itself provide a means of recognizing such claims, and that the account thus rendered for payment will be far in excess of Mexico's ability to meet no reasonable man can doubt.

Mexico long ago almost sold herself into the hands of foreigners. The ruling class obtained or took possesson of the rich natural resources of the country and then coined them into dollars for their own advantage. The recent disorders have destroyed the property of those who bought and paid for industrial opportunities in the past. Those who are responsible for the damage have no means of making it good, because they were long ago deprived of all they possessed or might have possessed. They cannot repay the losses of foreign citizens under the existing economic conditions. This means that Mexico's future must be one almost of slavery for the great mass of the people, overburdened as they will be by the necessity of restoring property of whose value they have little idea, and which they have not hesitated to destroy.

The only alternative is that of completely reconstructing the economic system of Mexico with a view to rendering its inhabitants more productive by giving them a fairer share in the results of their own labor. This economic revolution, followed by the introduction of a new order of things, is probably in the long run the most significant outcome to be expected from the occurrences of the past two or three years. Should it occur, it will merely parallel the events which followed the French revolution, and which resulted in abolishing the system of property owning, whereby a small favored class monopolized the access to the soil and practically all opportunities for profitable production. In Mexico there has for many years past been a gradual process of concentration of the soil in a few hands. The great estates, owned by a limited number of holders give occupation at bare living wages to thousands of peons who are bue one step removed from slavery. Little inducement is offered to them to seek the restoration of order since they have nothing to gain or lose under any condition or society.. Such a state of things tends to anarchy whenever an opportunity occurs. The experience of all nations shows that to create a sound social structure a sufficient portion of the population must be given a stake in the country. Political order and stability in Mexico as elsewhere must rest upon a sound economic foundation and in Mexico all the more because the immediate future of the country is so intimately bound up with its capacity to meet the claims of foreign investors.

PRESS COMMENT.

A history of French-Canadian family names has been published by Dr. N. E. Dionne, Professor of Archaeology in Laval University. The work, necessarily, is voluminous, exceeding six hundred large octavo pages. Necessarily also it partakes of the nature of a dictionary by reason of its frequqent change of subjects. For all that, students of the French language will find it a fascinating literary curiosity. Dr. Dionne in his preface deals briefly with the origin of surnames in the Empire of the Franks, and their gradual approach during the Fifteenth Century to modern custom. A great number of surnames were taken from place-names. For example, the name Baillargeon, well-known in the Province of Quebec, is a deerivative from the town of Barjon. The syllable "lar" was doubtless added for purposes of euphony, and to give a "Frenchier" cast to the word, So, Galipeault, the surname of a lively young member of the Quebec Legislature who may yet accomplish something in politics, is derived from the City of Gap. The "eau" termination was to be expected, the internal addition of "li" was not unexpected, if euphony was to be considered. The name Gapeau would be less pleasing than Galipeault. But aside from place-names Dr. Dionne finds family names from the Old Testament or from theology, such as David, or Mathieu. Mr. Papineau Mathieu, Conservative organizer of Montreal, is therefore, an Evangelist by name as well as by nature. There are names taken from titles or dignities. This may account for the military manner of Mr. L. T. Marechal, a commander of the faithful. From the weather, from colors, from the animal or vegetable kingdom, such as Cochon (the pig,) from buildings, materials, from foods, or from professions many names are drawn. The diffusion of names through French Canada has been extraordinary. For example, the author cities the name Gagnon. This may be derived from De Gueugnon commune of the department of Saone-etLoire in France. The first families to bear the name in Canada settled at Chateau-Richer. Now there are Gagnons in every town. Two very eminent ones are in Quebec, M. Ernest Gagnon and M. Phileas Gagnon, the former architect and musician the latter archaeologist and bibliophile. Generally Dr. Dionne submits two possible sources for each name. For example the Postmaster-General may be Louis Phillipe, of Pellautier, a town in the Upper Alps, or he may be Louis Philippe, the fur-trader. Premier Gouin may be Lomer of Gouin in Normandy, or he may be Louis the Foxy, or the Adroit. We incline to the latter derivation. One may realize the amount of work involved in such a study as thus. Apparently the work has been done carefully and well and Dr. Dionne deserves well of his countrymen for carrying the task to completion. There are many distinguished famiiles in Quebec, the Taschereaus, the Girouards, the Casgrains, the Chapleaus, Scions of these races have been in the law courts for generations. Seigneurs once, they are still aristocrats to the manor born. —Toronto News.

Not very long ago some of the Western cities were threatened with the loss of their fine old pioneer names such as Moose Jaw and Medicine Hat: they were to be abolished in favor of names more in keeping with the modern tone. Now the Mayor of Quebec (as if the ancient city had not been enough in the limelight lately) is reported to be anxious to change the name of the historic St. John's Gate to that of Connaught Gate; and the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Quebec has adopted a resolution of protest against the proposed change. The French-Canadian society would seem to have taken a highly proper stand, not only to preserve the historic name, but to protect Canada's royal guest from the importunities of Bumbledom. Such painful anxiety to attract the attention of His Royal Highness the Governor-General, is not confined to Quebec, and is not pleasant to see. Perhaps the root of the trouble is to be found in the very restricted scope of the British honors list. A new Order of Snobocracy, to be conferred upon all and sundry who strive to perpetuate snobbery in Canada, would perhaps have a salutary restraining influence on many manoeuvres at present unaccountable. —Ottawa Citizen.

MOTHER! GIVE CROSS SICK CHILD ONLY "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

If peevish, feverish, tongue coated, give "fruit laxative" at once.

No matter what ails your child a laxative should be the first treatment given.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign your "little one's" stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in just a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless fruit laxative. Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a fifty-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

QUEBEC AND OTTAWA FISHERIES DISPUTE

ESTUARIES OF SALMON RIVERS OFF ST. LAWRENCE SAID TO BE INVOLVED

Laws which are said to date from a period anterior even to the time when King John was forced by his barons to sign Magna Charta will, it is rumored, be invoked in the clash of jurisdiction over the fisheries question between the Province of Quebec and the Ottawa Government. The matter, which is likely to affect the Maritime Provinces also, has arisen out of the recent case between the Attorney-General of BBritish Columbia and the Dominion where by judgment given in December last, it was established that the Federal authorities have jurisdiction over everything in tidal waters. That is to say that Quebec may lose her jurisdiction over the esturies of salmon rivers along the St. Lawrence, and especially along the North Shore, the estuaries of the Moisie, Natashquan and Godbout being likely to be affected. This will not apply to the salmon angling, contrary to the impression which has evidently been created in certain quarters, but will probably apply to the netting rights, some of which have been leased to Americans. Even should Ottawa take over the estuaries, there is a Dominion law to the effect that netting cannot be carried on within so many hundred yards of a river mouth.

His Twin Brother Told Him The Cure

Why J. C. Mapp Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

He Suffered from Kidney Disease, Lumbago and Rheumatism for Five Years—Now he is a Well Man Again.

Boileau P. O., Ponsonby, Que. April 6.—(Special)—J. C. Mapp, a well-known farmer living near here, who suffered from Kidney Disease for five years, is once more a well man, and in a statement given to the press he gives all the credit for his cure to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"My trouble started with a cold about five years ago," Mr. Mapp states, "and developed into lumbago and rheumatism. I had a bitter taste in my mouth in the mornings and I was terribly nervous. I was depressed and low spirited and found it difficult to collect my thoughts, while at times I was troubled with stiffness in the joints. My appetite was fitful, and I had heart flutterings that added to my fears. My twin brother, who had used Dodd's Kidney Pills and got great benefit from them, advised me to use them. The first two boxes did me so much good that I got two more, and they completed my cure. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the right remedy for Kidney trouble."

Every person who has two or more of Mr. Mapp's symptoms has sick Kidneys. The right remedy for sick Kidneys is Dodd's Kidney Pills. If you don't know it out of your own experience, ask your neighbors.

WILL ARMSTRONG'S HAVE LEVIS PLANT?

DELEGATION FROM LEVIS WILL ASK FOR A GOVERNMENT SUBSIDY.

Mr. A. Gravel, president of the Levis Board of Trade, and member of Quebec Harbor Commission, received a letter from the British shipbuilding firm of Sir W. Armstrong Company, Limited, yesterday in connection with the proposal made to that company, in regard to the establishment of a branch of the firms' shipbuilding industry at St. Joseph de Levis. The letter received by Mr. Gravel, refers to plans requested by the British company, which is being made ready through the efforts of Mr. Bernier, M.P.P., and Mayor of Levis, which will be forwarded to England as soon as completed.

The members of the Levis Board of Trade, Quebec Board of Trade and Mayor and members of the Levis Municipal Council, will organize a large delegation to wait on the Hon. L. P. Pelletier, when he arrives in Quebec, and urge upon him his favor with the Federal Government to obtain a subsidy in aid of the projected shipbuilding industry at Levis.

The President of the Levis Board of Trade and Mayor Bernier, are working in accord to further the business interests of Levis, and induce the Sir W. Armstrong Company, Limited to erect a big shipbuilding plant at Levis, that will be but the beginning of a new era of shipbuilding in the St. Lawrence. The Quebec Board of Trade, it is pleasing to note, not only endorses the efforts of the Levis Board, but is ready to give the weight of its influence to secure the proposed industry.

TRIAL TRIP OF THE STR. CASCAPEDIA

TO TAKE PLACE TODAY—VESSEL OVERHAULED AND THOROUGHLY RENOVATED

The steamer Caseapedia, Captain P. Hearn, of the Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., will be taken out of winter quarters today to undergo a trial trip to test her machinery, etc., before leaving for Esquimaux Point and way places on Thursday next.

During the winter months the Cascapedia, which is a miniature ocean liner, has been completely overhauled from stem to stern and from keel to truck, and is now as staunch and seaworthy as when she left the hands of her builders, the Thomsons, of Dundee, Scotland.

The work executed on the vessel has received the closest attention and inspection; nothing being overlooked or hurried. All the cabins and staterooms were newly painted and renovated, and her saloon and dining room presents a fresh and bright appearance, while her state-rooms are cosy and well ventilated; nothing to add to the comfort of the occupants being neglected.

The saloon and dining-room are handsomely carpetted and furnished with great taste and will, no doubt, be much appreciated by all who travel on the vessel.

The Cascapedia has a promenade deck extending almost her entire length which the passengers will be afforded an ample view of the beautiful scenery of the St. Lawrence River and Gulf.

All precautions for the safety of passengers and crew have been taken, such as boats, life rafts, fire appliances collision mats, wireless telegraphy, etc.

The Cascapedia leaves here on Thursday for north Shore ports, with passengers, mails and general cargo and will continue on this route until another steamer belonging to the company arrives from the upper lakes to replace her, when she will be transferred to her former route between Quebec, Montreal and the Maritime Provinces.

The following is a list of the Cascapedia's principal officers:

Captain, P. Hearn.
Chief Officer, Wm. Tremblay.
Second Officer, L. Lacombe.
Chief Engineer, E. Richards.
Chief Steward, Mr. Trudeau.

Captain Hearn is a veteran mariner who has served in all parts of the world, while Messrs. Tremblay and Lacombe, though young in years, have had considerable experience in their profession and have proved their worth. Mr. Richards, besides having served on ocean steamers, was Chief Engineer of the Dorchester Electric Light Co., from which he resigned some time ago. Chief Steward Trudeau has been on the Cascapedia four years, one of which as Chief Steward and always gave entire satisfaction.

SEALING STEAMER WAS BUILT HERE

"NEWFOUNDLAND" WAS CONSTRUCTED ON BANKS OF ST. CHARLES RIVER.

The sealing steamer Newfoundland, is a Quebec built ship. The Newfoundland was built in the Baldwin ship yard, on the banks of the River St. Charles, for the Quebec Gulf Port Steamship Company in 1872, and for some years after being launched was owned by the Allans, Rae Steamship Company, that utilized her as a collier, and othere miscellaneous purposes, and was afterwards sold to Mr. J. A. Farquhar, of Windsor, N.S.

The Newfoundland was built as a wooden screw steamer, 212 feet in length, 29 foot beam and 23 feet of hold. She was 919 tons gross register and 568 tons nett. She was also fitted with new machinery in Quebec and then had two cylinder engines, one 39 x 3½ each, 57-inch stroke x 36-inch stroke. Her nominal horse power 162. She was a wooden vessel strong of build, and when launched was considered a staunch and time-saving craft. There are quite a number of old-time Quebec river men who remember the building of the Newfoundland, 42 years ago, and her service afterwards in the St. Lawrence shipping trade.

SPORTING NEWS

SENIOR LACROSSE HERE THIS SUMMER

MR. ARTHUR DEROME IS CONFIDENT ABOUT QUEBEC'S CHANCES.

Mr. Art. Derome, Manager of the Quebec Arena, who is seeking to secure a franchise for a Quebec club in the Dominion Lacrosse Association is well pleased with the success his efforts have been meeting with and is confident of seeing senior lacrosse here this coming summer.

The management of the different clubs in the Big Four were seen in regard to having Quebec enter a team, and the majority of them, he announces, are favorable to a local club being admitted. According to the Quebec promoter senior lacrosse is assured here even if Ottawa does not enter a team. Judging from the following it does not seem likely that the Senators will reorganize.

Ottawa, April 6—It is impossible to ascertain the names of the local men who are supposed to be behind the reorganization of a lacrosse club to represent the Capital in the Dominion Association. Though Harry Murton is credited with saying that he has sufficient backing, it is certain that none of the former Capital officers are interested. Alex. Bannerman, Lon Payne, George Duncan and others, who were the Capital mainstays, say that they have heard absolutely nothing about the venture.

Mr. Foran does not credit the story, and Petie Green, who coached the Capitals for many years, says that to put a Big Four team in Ottawa would be throwing money away. "Lacrosse will be a curiosity here within a few years," predicted Green. Some of the players have been approached and the general opinion is that the plan will peter out.

"The clubs seem anxious to get us know that they have seen the error of their ways," said one of the oldest officers of the defunct Capital Club. "Two or three years ago they made up their minds to drop Ottawa and did so. I for one would never consent to work hand in glove with the men who knifed us when we needed their support in the worst way."

Jack Shea may go to the Coast to play. He is anious to join the Vancouver Club and may do so now that the agreement has terminated.

McCafferty May Buy Out Tecumsehs

Toronto, April 6—In view of the fact that the Toronto Canadian League baseball team will hold forth at the Island as well as the International League club, there is a chance that President McCaffrey of the ball club will purchase the franchise of the Tecumsehs and run double-headers at the Island when lacrosse and baseball clash. Querrie is quite willing to sell. Both of the local clubs are favorably disposed towards the admittance of Quebec and Ottawa into the league.

President Caron of the Montreal National Lacrosse Club was in the city on Saturday talking over the lacrosse situation with Charlie Querrie and R. J. Fleming. He expressed himself as being in favor of the expansion of the Big Four if Ottowa and Quebec can show the necessary backing and players.

Mr. Caron also said that it was probable that the Irish-Canadians would not have a team, as Kennedy had lost his grounds and the Shamrocks and the baseball people wanted prohibitive rentals for their grounds. He would like to see the Shamrocks back into the fold again.

FINAL ACT IN KRAFCHENKO TRIAL.

Attempt to Prove Alibi Not Very Successful.

Morden, Man., April 6—The final act in the Krafchenko trial will open tomorrow. Today J. D. Suffield, the counsel for prisoner, closed the case for the defence, and tomorrow morning Mr. Suffield will commence his address to the jury.

At the conclusion of the hearing of the defence witnesses, Mr. Suffield asked the court's permission for his client to make an unsworn statement to the jury, a statement which would not be subject to cross-examination, although the Crown Prosecutor could answer it. His Lordship denied the application. Mr. Suffield then consulted with Krafchenko, who decided not to take the stand.

This morning David Davis, of Aiken street, Winnipeg, was called by the defence and testified that the accused, whom he identified, called at his house at 4 o'clock on December 3rd, and enquired for a room.

The Plum Coulee murder took place at noon, December 3rd, and as Plum Coulee is too far from Winnipeg to make the journey in four hours, Davis' evidence was in the way of an alibi. Under cross-examination, Davis proved doubtful as to whether he saw Krafchenko on December 4th.

OPERATION REMOVES BADGE AND APPENDIX

Surgeon Looking For the Ornament, Discovers the Latter to Be Dangerously Diseased

Chicago, April 6—The fact that Harry Spieckerman, employed in the general auditor's office of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, swallowed a "safety first" badge pin in all probability insures his living to a ripe old age.

He was operated on for the removal of the badge from his stomach, and when the incision was made it was found that his appendix had developed to three times its natural size and had hooked partly around the colon.

Dr. H. A. Moje, who performed the operation, stated that if the appendix had not been removed at once Mr. Spieckerman probably would not have lived a month.

STREET RAILWAYMEN SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Toronto, April 6—Richard Levoy, 231 Broadview avenue, and Michael Sullivan, 237 Ontario street, Toronto, were seriously injured this afternoon by falling from the "bridge" of the Toronto Street Railway Company's wagon. The bridged swayed while the men were repairing a broken wire at the inter-section of Spadina avenue and College street, and they fell to the ground, a distance of twenty feet. Both were removed to Grace Hospital unconscious. Levoy's injuries were regarded as critical.

SCHOONERS COLLIDE.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., April 6—With the rigging considerably damaged as a result of a collision outside the harbor late last night, the schooners Pochasset and James L. Maloy, put in here today for repairs. The Pochasset was bound from Nantucket for New York and the Maloy from Gloucester for New Bedford.

CHRIST UNRECOGNIZED.

A waif upon the cheerless, wintry street,
Breasted the driving snow, the scathing sleet;
Hungered, with pale, wan face, and shoeless feet;
I heard a whisper: "Help her! Pity her!"
I passed her by!

A little lad treaded the city's ways,
Guileless of heart, with pure and trustful gaze,
Yet heedless of the countless snares that maze
Concealed, "O speak to him!" the whisper said,
I passed him by!

My neighbor lay on a couch of pain;
Through weary days and sleepless nights in vain
She longed for gentle ministry, for strain
Of soothing song, for breath of fragrant bloom.
I passed her by!

And yet, "Oh had I wealth beyond compare,
Or noble talents, Lord, or genius rare,
Some glorious work how gladly would I dare
To prove my ardent love for Thee!" I cried.
Mistaken I!

That night in dream my Saviour said to me.
"Thou lovest Me? Alas! how can it be?
Thrice hast thou passed Me by! Can'st thou not see
That, in the humblest little one, Myself
Thou passes by?

HAIR ALL FELL OUT
RINGWORM ON HEAD
Also on Neck, Big Bare Spot on Crown of Head. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

198 Chapleau St., Montreal, Que.—"When my brother and I went to school we got ringworms from the other children and our hair all fell out. We had them on our heads and on our necks. For months I had a big bare spot on the crown of my head the size of a fifty-cent piece. Mother tried everything, all kinds of ointments, to cure us but everything seemed no good until one day she saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It was Cuticura Soap and Ointment that cured us." (Signed) Mrs. M. Blake, May 31, 1913.

ITCHY RASH ON HANDS

Fergus, Ont.—"Cuticura Soap and Ointment completely cured me of a rash on my hands. The rash was red like water blisters, very itchy and sore. Scratching made them sorer. The irritation was bad at night. I tried many remedies which did not do any good. I used Cuticura Soap as a wash in warm water night and morning with Cuticura Ointment and in less than a week it was all gone." (Signed) Mrs. Isabella Gibson, May 22, 1913.

The regular use of Cuticura Soap for toilet and bath not only tends to preserve, purify and beautify the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but assists in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads and other unwholesome conditions of the skin. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For a liberal free sample of each, with 32-p. book, send post-card to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. D, Boston, U. S. A.

INFANTILE MORTALITY.

Quebec, April 4, 1914.

To Editor of The Chronicle.

Dear Sir,—The following is from Mr. Woodsworth's lecture on "Social Problems," delivered at the Y.M.C.A. last Thursday evening. Regarding the rate of infantile mortality, the lecturer went on to state that Montreal was extremely high in this respect, and was higher than any other part of the world with the exceptions of Russia and Chili,

Chili	326
Russia in Europe	263
Montreal	250
Austria	222
Roumania	218
Hungary	212
German Empire	197
United States	165
Italy	161
France	148
Great Britain and Ireland	139
Finland	133
Sweden	96
New Zealand	76

Please be good enough to give me the infant mortality rate for Quebec. Mr. Woodsworth asked what it was and no one could tell him.

Yours thankfully,
INTERESTED.

Ans. Apparently no one at the City Hall can supply those figures. The information can be procured from Dr. Elz. Pelletier, No. 9 St. James street, Montreal.—Editor, Chronicle.

APPLICATION FOR POSITIONS.

Quebec, April 3, 1914.

To Editor of The Chronicle.

Dear Sir,—A couple of English immigrants, man and wife, very well recommended and bearers of the best certificates, have applied to me for a position; the man as gardener or general utility servant, and the wife as cook or servant-maid. Those in need of such help, could communicate with me at once.

Another married couple, a very well recommended French chef from Geneva, Switzerland, is willing to come and take charge of some hotel kiktchen, while h iswife could be employed also in the hotel as chambermaid or otherwise.

Hoping these may be of interest to some of your readers and suit their requirements.

Believe me, dear sir,
Yours very truly,
THEO. HAMEL,
Can. Gov. Agent.

MAKE THEIR OWN LIGHT.

Power of Many Plants and Animals One of Marvels of Nature.

Among the mos remarkable of all nature's phenomena is the marvelous light-giving power of many of our common plants and animals.

Under certain conditions nasturtiums, sunflowers, dahlias, tuberoses and yellow lilies may be seen to glow with a soft radiance, varying in color and intensity. Only those flowers that have an abundance of yellow or orange shades exhibit this phosphorescence. The best tme to see the light is after dark, when the atmosphere is clear and dry. The light is sometimes steady, but often intermittent and flashing.

Often in the early Fall the ground will be illuminated by the glow from the dead leaves. The Australian poppy is the most remarkable of all the luminous plants, for it has been found to send out a light of its own of quite notable brilliancy.

Mushrooms growing on decayed wood often have a degree of brilliancy that, when they are placed on a newspaper, will enable one to read the words in their vicinity with no other light. One species of mushroom in Australia, 16 inches in diameter, was of such brilliancy that, seen from a distance, its light frightened the natives.

More interesting than the luminous plants are the luminous animals. The Pacific coast, famous for its many curious specimens of plant and animal life, is the home of many of them.

Of all these the Ascidians are most noteworthy. One of them, the Pyrosama, was seen first as a blaze as big as a bucket. When captured it was found to be a foot long and open at one end, at which there was a faint light. When touched the light at once blazed forth into a vivid silver phosphorescence. One of the animals kept in a dark room furnished enough light for the reading of medium-sized print.

The creatures are of almost indescribable beauty, and by their radiance when moving about under water near-by fish can be discerned. Bibra, the British naturalist, utilized the animals for light, and a half-dozen of them at one side of a small room would furnish sufficient light for the reading of a newspaper at the other side.

Crabs are notable light-givers, and the Salpa, of California, is the most wonderful of all. Bodies of water 20 miles square have been seen glowing with them, and in the Canta Catalina Channel one naturalist reported that as far as the eye could see the creatures lay gleaming like gems in the sunlight.

Many luminous frogs have been discovered from time to time, and any frog may be made luminous by inoculating it with certain bacteria which produce this phenomenon.

Many theories have been brought forward to explain the phenomenon of luminosity, but as yet very little is known about it. In many instances, such as the cases of dead leaves or decayed wood, luminosity is evidently due to fungous growth, but in other cases, where no growth can be seen, the riddle remains unsolved, along with many other marvels of nature.

LIMIT TO HIGH BUILDINGS.

Indications That Skyscraper Rivalry Will Shortly Cease.

Metropolitans in the United States have been wont to deal in pleasant jest with the restrictions on the height of buildings imposed in European capitals, and have pointed vauntingly to architectural and structural limitations as the only bounds on the loftiness of skyscrapers in this country. The Woolworth Building, of New York city, shoots starward to an altitude almost realizing the predictions of earlier days that the country would see inhabited structures quite as high as Eiffel Tower. Its 750 feet are proof that architects and structural engineers have not reached the limit.

But a practical reason interposes a bar in the United States, where neither the law nor man's deficiency steps in. The Wall Street Journal informs us that extremely high buildings are going out of style, except, perhaps, as advertising novelties, for the very sufficient cause that people don't want to occupy their upper stories. There is as much detachment and remoteness from the zone of activity on the forty-fifth floor of a skyscraper, it would appear, as in a location miles away from the heart of the congested district.

Long elevator journeys, isolation and dread of altitudes all play a part in the growing unpopularity of high buildings in the American metroplis, the Wall Street Journals says. It is declared on competent authority that few buildings of more than 21 stories in New York city pay a creditable dividend. One building of more than 30 stories, that earned 14 per cent. for the first few years, hardly makes expenses now. The same authority relates that in another high building it is difficult to rent space above the fortieth story.

The conclusion of those who have observed the distance of the renter for upper floors is that the ideal skyscraper will be from 15 to 20 stories high. In a very few districts of the most popular cities the effect of a restriction of this kind will be to increase rents or to reduce office space and make quarters more compact, or, on still another hand, to perfect interior planning so that there will be much less unutilized space than there is today.

The economy of interior space in modern buildings is interesting. Long corridor vistas and much waste space marked the older buildings before the era of steel structures, and in the earlier steel-framed lofts there was an unnecessary devotion of space to corridors. Today the distribution of elevators and the evolution of wings minimize the need of corridors, either for passage or for lighting. It is not improbable, however, in view of the conclusion concerning the inutility of very tall buildings, that further economies of space will be obtained.

BROUGHT PHIL MAY TO TIME.

Phil May, like most geniuses, was erratic, and it was not easy to get him to deliver his drawings on time. Carmichael Thoma, who had commissioned some special drawings for The London Graphic, secured their delivery in a strikingly original and highly successful way.

When May woke up in the morning he found a company of sandwich men pacing up and down before his flat carrying boards that announced Phil May drawings in a special number of The Graphic. Wherever May went that day the sandwich men followed him. When he chartered a hansom they chartered hansoms, and finally, as May told the story, he was driven to taking the first train down to the seaside. When he arrived there he got another jolt, for the first thing that met his eyes were the Graphic sandwich men parading outside his hotel. He went inside, sat down and finished the drawings.

Thus importunity and Carmichael Thomas conquered.

Saskatoon, Sask., April 6.—The Cairns building, occupied by several retail merchants, was destroyed by fire tonight. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

INSURE YOUR HEALTH

The practical, far-seeing person covers all obvious risks by insurance. You insure against fire, against accident, against death, against labor risks, against burglary, etc.

BUT an insurance you neglect very often, and that is to insure your health against disease and sickness which can be done by using the best and purest aerated waters, such as soda water, ginger ale, ginger beer, etc.

When you require a pair of boots, you don't go to a blacksmith for them, naturally you go to a shoe store for them. When a lady wants a hat she won't go to a grocers for it, she will go to a millinery store for it, as she knows that is their specialty and they keep the proper style and quality.

AERATED WATERS is our specialty and our sole business, our thoughts by day and our dreams by night. We have made them for 45 years and pretend to know how to make them right.

All our aerated waters are made with our celebrated CLAIRE FONTAINE spring water which forms the base of good and pure drinks, all our drinks are made from extracts made by ourselves from the raw materials. We use the best Jamaica ginger root, crush it and make our extract of ginger from it. Our cream of Tartar is 99% pure, and our Vanilla extract is made with Mexican vanilla bean.

All grocers keep them, but Beware of the fakir offering the just as good kind. There is no just as good.

SLAVER SUSPECT SLAIN BY YOUTH

ARKANSAN, ACCUSED OF KILLING BOY'S FATHER, IS SHOT IN QUARREL

Blytheville, Ark., April 6—T. H. Musgrove, aged 50, several times married and under indictment on a charge of white slavery, accused of enticing young girls to his lonely plantation on the Mississippi River nine miles from here, was shot and killed this afternoon by John Walker, 15-year-old son of John Walker, a neighbor Musgrave is accused of having killed several years ago.

The killing resulted from a dispute between Murgrove and P. Allen, a neighbor, over the timber on government land on which Musgrove lived. Young Walker was present and became involved in the argument. Musgrove is said to have told the boy to keep out of the argument or he would kill him as he had killed his father.

Walker then went to Allen's house, obtained a shot gun and shot Musgrove three times. The boy surrendered to Blytheville officers.

Circuit Court is in session here now and the prosecuting attorney consented that the boy be released on a bond of $25,000 furnished by business men.

Girl Has Case in Court Now

There is a case now on in the Federal Court, in which Miss Cuela Roth of Wilkeesbarre, Pa., is suing Musgrove for $50,000. She alleges that he enticed her to his plantation through misleading advertisements in the newspapers. After her arrival there, Musgrove tried to kill her, she says, when she would not consent to his wishes.

Musgrove is alleged to have tried to kill his wife some time ago and ran her away from home. She too, as four before her had done, sued him for divorce and alimony. The case is pending in the court. His present wife, Frieda Musgrove, now lives in Memphis.

Lured Two from St. Louis

Ten years ago Musgrove lured two girls to his plantation from St. Louis and would not permit them to depart, keeping them guarded by negroes. They finally managed to slip away to the boat landing and escape. They brought suit against him and were given a compromise judgment.

In the last five years it is said he has lured twenty girls to his plantation through advertisements.

At a late hour tonight, it was learned that Musgrove's body was still lying in the road where he fell only a few hundred yards from the spot where the boy's father was killed.

T. H. Musgrove was known in St. Louis as he formerly bought general merchandise stock here for his country store, but for several years he had not come to St. Louis on account of court proceedings brought against him by young women who were sufferers through his "help wanted" advertisements.

One of his St. Louis victims sued him in 1905, alleging mistreatment on the Musgrove plantation when she went there to acceept a clerical position. A feature of his advertisements as disclosed in this case, was that a photograph of the applicant was demanded with the application. It was also shown in court that only good-looking young women received favorable answers.

Musgrove once sued an afternoon newspaper of St. Louis for libel, after the newspaper printed a story told by one of the girls.

"SOUTHERN CROSS" IS STILL MISSING

HOPE HAS BEEN PRACTICALLY ABANDONED—KYLE HINDERED BY STORM.

St. John's, Nfld., April 6—The sealing steamer Southern Cross, with 173 men on board, is still missing. The steamer Kyle, sent in search of her by the government, was lying to in a heavy gale tonight well out on the Grand Banks with all observation cut off by thick snow. She had been in communication during the day with the United States revenue cutter Seneca, on the ice patrol. Neither had found any trace of the missing vessel.

Although the underwriters have said they would post the Southern Cross as lost with all on board if she remained unreported at sundown today, the Kyle was ordered to continue a search for two days more.

Hope for the missing steamer has been practically abandoned.

So thick was the storm tonight that the Furness Liner Eagle Point, was obliged to give up her trip to Halifax.

VISION OF HIS MOTHER MAKES HIM CONFESS

Son of Wealthy Family Tells of Having Forged His Father's Name to a $400 Check

Denver, April 6.—A vision of his dead mother, who pointed an accusing finger at him in his dreams, was responsible for Phillip F. Perna, eighteen years old surrendering himself to the Denver police and confessing to the forgery of his father's name on a check for $400.

Perna claims to be the son of a waelthy Philadelphia building contractor. He entered Police Headquarters and asked to be locked up. He claims he forged the check last September and his conscience has troubled him since the deed throughout his six month's flight.

Perna says his father's name is Joseph Perna and that the family home in Philadelphia is at No. 334 North Sixty-fifth street. He estimates his father's wealth at about $500,000.

"I went to bed," Perna said "and my mother seemed to stand over me. She didn't say anything. She just pointed her finger at me and her face bore a look of unspeakable contempt. I jumped up and screamed and covered my eyes with my hands.

"Finally I ran out of dors and walked miles. I knew the vision would come back tonight and every night unless I cleared myself in her eyes. So I decided to give myself up."

Perna was penniless when he entered Police Headquarters. He declared that prior to his flight he had been a student at Villa Nova College and also at Mount St. Joseph's Academy, near Baltimore.

FRENCH LADY SCIENTIST CREATES NEW MICROBES

Paris, April 6—Mme Victor Henri, a bacterioligist, has succeeded in creating a new species of microbes, the action of which has developed a new form of disease. She subjected the bacilli of anthrax to ultraviolet rays, which changed them from rod shape to spherical. The transformed bacilli were injejcted into guinea pigs the result being a slowly developing disease of a totally differenet nature from that of anthrax.

Mme Henri deduces from her discovery the possibility of evolution in the bacterial world, as in the animal world, and expresses the opinion that the multitudes of existing species come from a few primitive forms, which have undergone transformations under the action of light and have engendered the varieties of ferms responsible for the disease known to science.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP SALE

Our store has literally been invaded by a record crowd and all indications are that this will be repeated every day this week.

IT IS TRUE THAT TO GIVE
25%
ON A $300,000 ASSORTMENT,

A sum which far from being exaggerated, is much below the real value of our large stock,

Was sufficient to attract many purchasers, and to discontent our competitors, but to do this we have a reason that counts.

Seeing that Mr. Myrand, one of the associates, whose health is somewhat bad, is forced to retire from business to endeavor to regain his strength by taking a well-merited rest, the dissolution was inevitable.

On the other hand Mr. Pouliot, who also would have sought quietude in retirement, but who had not such grievous reasons to abandon business, and the direction of the firm of Myrand & Pouliot, which for 26 years was an honor to the City of Quebec, had necessarily to continue the business.

Mr. Pouliot must realize A LARGE SUM for the dissolution, and the only means at his disposal was to make AN UMPRECEDENTED SALE.

It is therefore a regular liquidation which has been started and which will continue until perfect settlement.

WHAT WE LOSE YOU WILL GAIN.

Come in crowds this week ; the opportunity will not be offered soon again. Let it be well understood that the reduction of 25 % is on the entire assortment, with the exception of the goods which will be reduced to fixed prices,the cotton goods, which we shall sell at THE MANUFACTURERS' PRICE, and several other lines which we shall SACRIFICE BELOW COST.

KAISER LOSING HIS INFLUENCE OVER THE CZAR

RECALLS HIS CONFIDENTIAL EMISSARY TO ST. PETERSBURG COURT FOR FAILING TO AVERT STORM IN PRESS

St. Petersburg, April 6—Until the past few weeks it has been an axiom here that the Imperial Courts of Russia and Germany had a fundamental understanding, one that has held on during times when most other important elements in the two Empires were at cross purposes. Its publis expression appeared in the provision of the Potsdam treaty of 1911, which stipulated that "neither Empire would enter into a combination directed against the other," meaning that neither would give an aggressive turn to their existing treaties.

This special relationship between the two Courts dated from a step taken by Emperor William nearly ten years ago, when the Russians suffered their first reverses at the hands of Japan. The Czar had to face the necessity of moving great numbers of troops from his western provinces to the battlegrounds in Manchuria. This decision opened for him a great risk from across the German frontier; and while he was still hesitating Emperor William took the dramatic initiative of appointing the Russian Military attache in Berlin to be a member of his own military suite attached to the German Imperial household.

It struck the eye as a chivalrous token of comradeship and sympathy for a brother Emperor from the War Lord of Central Europe, an assurance that advantage would not be taken of Russia's military misfortunes.

Czar Responds in Kind.

The Czar answered by appointing the German Military Attache to Russia to be an officer of his personal suite. Other staff officers were appointed to do the regular attache work in the Berlin and St. Petersburg Embassies, and the two promoted officers, the Russian attached to the German Emperor's suite and the German attached to the Czar's householdfi, became confidential agents for the correspondence, verbal and written, of the two Sovereigns. These officers were soon replaced by men of high social standing, who had free personal entree at the two Courts.

The arrangement disconfited the reguar diplomatic corps in the two capitals. It opened a continuous political channel direct between the two Emperors which did not flow through either Foreign Ministry or leak into the world of European diplomacy.

The latest of these special agents at he Russian Court, Count Dohna-Schlobitten, took final leave of the Czar recently and is to be succeeded by a young man, Gen. von Helius. It is reckoned against Count Dohna-Schlobitten—a wealthy old noble with large hunting estates in East Prussia, where he entertained royally many of the Russian nobility—that he did not prevent the present recrimination and back talk between the Russian and German press. After Bosnia was annexed by Austria in 1908 one of the predecessors had similiarly to pay the price of Emperor William's speech about his "sharp-pointed sword" and his loyalty to his Austrian ally.

But the departure of count Dohna-Schlobitten is a more serious matter, because it does not follow on any overt act which Russia could construe as an aggression against her interests. Its real significance is that from the German point of view the Russian Imperial Court is getting out of hand.

"Hypnotist Masseur" Is Blamed.

In the eyes of most experienced observers in St. Petersburg the Court is "out of hand" all round—with its own bureaucracy, with its international policy, and most assuredly with the pople at large. The the "hynotist masseur," Gregori Rasputin, who continues to be the undisputed dispenser of rain and fine weather for everybody at Tsarskoe-Seloe. More likely he is the conscious medium in the ruthless vendetta for the control of the Russian Government machine.

It is a mistake to look for any thought-out and calculated intention in the varying course that is steered isunder the Czar's personal name. It is rather that he mentality of the Court is subdued to the methods of star-gauzers and augurs and the occult, but all the same it is lifted outside the range of receptive pressure exercised by a personal agent of the German Emperor. Hence the impunity that attends the unbridled language that Russians and Germans are printing about each other.

The traditional Russian attitude, shared by plain people and upper class Slavs alike, toward Austria has been: "We would worry you if it were not for that dangerous dog which is your kennel mate."

But the Russian champions of racial antagonism have had no chance of separating Germany and Austria. They have been rejoiced and Germany has been dismayed to see Austria in the last eighteen months pressed down increasingly by debt, unemployment, economic troubles and military strain. And this process is stretching on to the time when Russia and Germany must conclude their new commercial treaty. If Germany gives material help to Austria now by that much she weakens her chance to maintain her present favorable tariff with Russia. Her commercial treaty with Germany is the basis of Russia's whole foreign economic policy. The interests that claim a good international business situation are more powerful in Germany than in Russia, but here they are more reckless, more prone to a precipitate gamble.

Revolutionary Spirit Revives.

It is the recklessness of their choice of weapons that has brought on the Russians the deep anger of such wide-apart elements in Germany. The aggressive factors in Russia, which the Imperial Court has failed to silence, have decided to ignore the precept that he may not boast who putteth his armor on as he that taketh it off. This boasting has ranged against them at one and the same time the German merchant and manufacturer and the German military officer, who rarely share the same political sentiments. And with these there are unquestionably the non-Russian races in the Russian Empire—and the Finns most dangerously so— who are eagerly hoping for the worst. The revolutionary spirit that burst out after the last war is warming up again, but there are very few signs that the army would welcome a European war.

SCREAMED WITH THE TERRIBLE PAIN

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured Distressing Kidney Trouble

St. Thomas, Ont., April 1st, 1913.

"In 1911, I was laid up with Kidney Trouble and not able to get out of my chair. Had tried many kidney remedies without satisfactory results. The pain was excruciating and my screams could be heard on the street. One day a friend from Ottawa came to see me, and when he found me in such poor health, said he would send me a sample of "Fruit-a-tives" which he did and I commenced taking them. The results were so apparent with the first few doses that I continued to take "Fruit-a-tives" and was completely restored to my normal state of health. I would strongly advise anyone suffering with Kidney Trouble to take "Fruit-a-tives" and cure themselves" CHARLES CALVART.

$2.00 COAT CONTAINS $1,000.

St. Louis, April 6—When Mrs. Sol Meyer, Jr., of this city sold one of her husbands's old coats for $2 a few days ago, and told her husband, he reminded her that the coat had been the family safety deposit vault for a long time. Mrs. Meyer frantically asked the police to find the old clothes man, the old coat, and the jewelry valued at $1,000, which was hidden in the garment.

VELASCO LEFT PLACARDS IN HOSPITALS—EXCUSE FOR RUNNING AWAY

Juarez, Mex., April 6—George C. Carothers, special represenetative of the State Department, who has been through the Torreon engagement with General Villa, returned here tonight to assist in negotiations looking to the welfare of the six hundred Spaniards ordered out of Torreon by the rebels.

Mr. Carothers was too greatly fatigued after his trip from Torreon to give more than a brief outline to reporters.

"The rebel loss," said Mr. Carothers, "was six hundred killed and 1400 wounded. We don't know the Federal loss accurately, except that Villa found in the hospitals 805 of their wounded."

Asked why Velasco evacuated the city, Mr. Carothers said the Federal leaders one excuse was that he had run out of small arm ammunition.

"However," Mr. Carothers said, "I think he was mistaken about that for when he started burning his ammunition we could hear the riffle cartridges popping and it seemed to me as if there must have been two million.

"I am convinced that the real reason was that Villa's tireless hammering wore down his men until they could no longer fight.

"It was not until after the evacuation on Thursday that the rebels permanently occupied any position in the city. Villa attacked repeatedly from the outside, but he never retained a position, until after the flight of the Federal troops.

"When General Velasco fled he left placards on his hospitals saying he left the wounded to the kindness of the five consuls and to the mercy of General Villa."

MAXIM GORKY CURED BY ROENTGEN RAYS.

Application to His Spleen Effective, the Novelist Says in a Published Letter.

St. Petersburg, April 6—Maxim Gorky, novelist, has been cured of tuberculosis by applications of Roentgen rays to his spleen, he asserts in a letter to the newspaper, Russkoe Slavo. The news has caused astonishment, no less than rejoicing, among the revolutionary writer's friends who gave him up for dead when he went to the South of Europe some months ago.

Gorky says that his release from consumption was accomplished by Dr. Manuhkin, who in examining him at Capri, last October, found that both of the lungs had become affected. The X-rays were used four times, a preliminary application being made to ascertain the nature and extent of the involvement. As soon as this was determined by an X-ray picture of the lungs it was resolved to turn the rays on the spleen. There was a screen test of the tissues, and as Gorky inhaled in front of the machine the treatment was carried on.

The theory of the doctor was that the X-ray emanation intensified the natural elements into therapeutic agents.

Gorky who was born in 1868, in North Russia, and who attempted suicide in 1888, wrote his first novel in 1892. In 1905 he was arrested at St. Petersburg, then exiled. When he went to Rome last fall, broken down and despondent, he was accompanied by Mde. Andreyema, a friend. Then his wife went to Capri and nursed him.

The Czar pardoned him in January last. He returned to Moscow. He says he is getting back his flesh.

WILSON'S BRO. HAS JOB WITH FIDELITY COMPANY.

New York, April 6—Jos. R. Wilson, brother of President Woodrow Wilson, has become superintendent of the development and promotions departments of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company of Baltimore.

This is the company whose bonding of State and city contracts in New York has been divided between Chas. F. Murphy, Jr., nephew and namesake of the Tammany boss, and the insurance agency of Jas. K. McGuire, former mayor of Syracuse, and for years the Democratic boss and State committeemen for Onondaga county. It is also the company whose business in the western end of the State was handled by John J. Kennedy, of Buffalo, until he became State Treasurer on January 1, 1911.

CLARK'S SPEECH IN DEMAND.

Washington, April 6—The outer office of Speaker Clark is a very busy place these days. Piles of newspapers containing the full text of the Speaker's speech in opposition to the repeal of the tolls exemption clause of the Panama Canal Act are numerous. Today four "volunteers" were busily engaged in mailing out newspaper copies of the speech to Clark admirers in Missouri and elsewhere throughout the country.

Printed copies of the Clark speech also are being mailed out under frank. The call for this speech is so great that Representative Mott of New York, (Republican), today introduced a resolution providing for the printing of 30,000 copies for use of members of the House.

Constituents of Mr. Clark in the 9th Missouri district, are writing him that practically everybody in that section of the State is with him on the tolls question after reading his speech in the St. Louis newspapers. Some Pike county Democrats and voters in other Ninth District counties, who a few days ago were counted among the supporters of President Wilson in the tolls fight, have swung around, according to advices which have reached Clark's office.

It's True

"Speakng of the harmful effects of baker's white bread, Dr. Edson Smith says: 'Baker's bread is an abomination to the stomach. Its fine flour, its yeast and its undextrinized starch make it largely undigestible. Only the well-baked outer crust is fit to eat.'"—Rutledge Rutherford in Nat'l Food Magazine, February, 1912.

Some 17 years ago there was orginated a food designed to avoid the objectionable qualities of white flour products.

That food is

Grape-Nuts

It established a standard of digestibility and food value hitherto unapproached in any cereal food.

This object was attained---

By building Grape-Nuts from the two greatest of food-grains—wheat and barley—and baking and rebaking it until the starchy parts were converted into dextrose (grape-sugar) or so thoroughly dextrinized as to require but little effort to digest.

Grape-Nuts digests usually in about one hour

(White Bread requires about 3 1-2 hours for digestion)

In the milling of white flour, nearly all the "vital" mineral salts of the grain (such as phosphorus, lime, iron, sulphur, etc.) are thrown out with the bran-coat, just to make the flour look white and pretty.

These phosphates, or mineral salts, are positively demanded by Nature in order to build normal bodies, brains and nerves, and in their lack physicians find one great cause of impoverished blood, listlessness, nervous prostration, kidney disease, etc.

Grape-Nuts, on the other hand, retains ALL the vital phosphates so richly grown by Nature in wheat and barley, as well as ALL the other nutritive elements of the grains. It provides these well-balanced values in a convenient, appetizing food, ready to eat from the package, fresh, crisp, and untouched by human hand.

A ration of Grape-Nuts with regular meals supplied admirably what white bread lacks.

13 YEARS UNDER FALSE NAME, DIES UNDER HIS OWN

DR. IRELAND HAD BEEN KNOWN AS DR. GREY, WHO REALLY WAS HIS CHUM, AND DIED IN A STRANGE MANNER

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 6.—The man who was found dead in the Blossom House in Kansas City on the morning of March 9 was not Dr. H. H. Grey, but his right name was Dr. William M. Ireland, the name under which he had registered when he went to the hotel. He had been known here during the past thirteen years as Dr. Grey and the fact that he was masquerading has only leaked out during the past twentyfour hours, although it was suspected by some of the physicians here.

When the physician came here and opened an office he hung up a diploma showing that he was Dr. Henry Hedd Grey and that he had been graduated from Trinity College of Toronto, Canada.

It has since become known that there was a Dr. Henry Hedd Grey, but he died more than twenty years ago in Canada under peculiar circumstances. He was the boyhood companion of William M. Ireland, the man who afterward took his name. This man, a reputable physician, an active member of a church and widely known in Oklahoma City as a lecturer, is now known to have fled from Canada more than twenty years ago. Why he had fled and why he assumed the name of another man are not known, but it is known why he registered at the Kansas City hotel under his right name.

William M. Ireland was a native of Trenton, Ontario, where his father was Mayor and of an old and aristocratic family. He was educated in the schools there, spoke English and French and when a young man was sent to Trinity College. With him went Henry Hedd Grey, a boyhood companion and a member of another old family of the Dominion.

Deep Mystery in His Friend's Death.

The two young men were graduated from Trinity in 1890. They began the practice of medicine together and were always close friends. About that time Dr. Ireland married a girl to whom the members of his family objected, but they only lived together a short time.

One morning Dr. Grey was found dead in his room and an autopsy showed that he had taken a drug. It was never charged that his death was due to anything more than a mistake in giving him the wrong medicine. But Dr. Ireland fled and became a wanderer.

He first went to Chicago and began to practice. Something caused him to leave and he went to San Francisco. There he registered with the State Medical Board under his own name. He acquired a good practice there, but in time the same mysterious thing that drove him from Chicago came up and he fled from San Francisco.

Although he did not know it at that time, his wife in Canada, from whom he had been divorced, had given birth to a baby boy and the infant was reared in an orphan asylum in Chicago.

When the physician left San Francisco he went to South Africa and became a surgeon in the British army. He participated in the Matabele rebellion and the Jameson raid, but left before the Boer War began. He went to New Orleans where he married the woman who is now his widow and the mother of their daughter, two years old. This child, Cecile Grey, is now a student at a technical college.

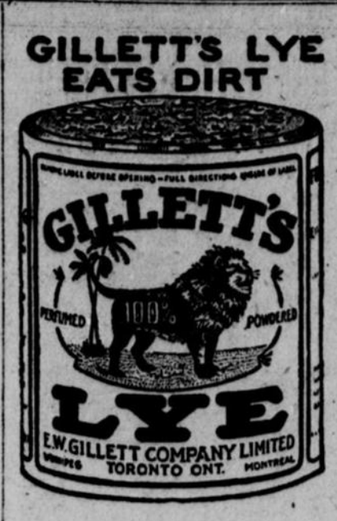
After he returned from South Africa Ireland learned of the action of his Canada wife in placing their baby in a Chicago orphan asylum. He found the boy after a long search and took him to the new home he had established. He moved to Beaumont, Tex., and from there came to Oklahoma City.

Why he fled from place to place is not known among those who have been investigating the past of the physician, but it is believed that he was avoiding his first wife. It was easy for her or any one else to find him in any State where he registered to practice medicine under his own name. It is believed that he assumed the name of Grey on that account when he fled from California.

Until a few days before his death Mrs. Grey, now the widow of the dead man, did not know that he had married her under an assumed name. Then he confessed to her that his right name was William M. Ireland and that some one in Oklahoma City had discovered his identity. He said he could no longer practice medicine under the name of Grey, and he decided to go to California and practice in Los Angeles, having already registered in California years ago under his right name.

The physician had started for California when he died in Kansas City. Having decided to use his own name, it is supposed that he began by registering under that name when he went to the hotel.

While the dead physician was not wealthy, he had for years been doing a lucrative business and had accumulated considerable property. He owned a handsome home here and some other real estate. The life insurance he carried, all of it payable to his widow, is said to amount to a sum between $20,000 and $30,000.



Something had turned the physician's hair as white as snow, although he was not an old man and had a youthful face. He was active in church work, and until a few weeks ago it was not suspected that he was using a name not his own.

The physician's boy by his Canadian wife enlisted in the navy three years ago, but has since deserted and is now with "Kelly's Army" in California.

Buried at Boyhood Home.

The body of the dead physician was taken back to his former home at Trenton, Ont., for burial, accompanied by his widow.

Before he left Oklahoma City the physician is said to have expressed the wish to be buried at his boyhood home. Those who knew the physician here do not believe that he committed suicide. Their belief that he died of heart disease is based on a telegram he sent to his wife the night of his death. He told her that he had decided to turn back on account of his heart trouble, and in a letter received by her after his death he explained more fully why he had decided to abandon the journey to California at that time.

WHEN TO BATH AND HOW TO DO IT.

According to James S. King, who writes in Modern Sanitation, most people who take regular baths go the wrong way about it. They take a hot bath when they should take a neutral bath, and a cold bath when they should not take a bath at all. They bathe three times where they should bathe once, and boast where they ought to blush. Otherwse, the practice of bathing is a proper one. Mr. King does not go the length of the physician who argued not long ago that baths were rarely necessary and generally injurious, but he believes that at the present time bathing has taken sudden bound into popular favor, that it is "the thing" to take a bath at present, and that persons unaccustomed to the hobby are rushing blindly into danger. So he endeavors to provide them with a chart by which they should steer their course through Turkish baths, shower baths, needle baths, neutral baths and cold plunges. His remarks should be interesting to those who bathe, if not to others.

When is a Bath Cold?

Probably most people who take a cold bath suppose that they are disporting themselves in water at a temperature some few insignificant degrees above freezing, but what Mr. King calls a cold bath is a bath in water at from 75 degrees to 80 degrees. Since we consider 70 degrees Summer temperature, it will be seen that the figures puncture the boast of the hardy souls who venture each morning to take a dip at the temperature of the water out of the tap. Those who try to take what he calls a full cold bath, that is, to sit down in a tub filled with cold water and more or less leisurely bathe themselves, should desist if they find any after-effects such as headache, depression, a heavy feeling in the head or general languor. The full cold bath is not for them. They ought to try the shower bath, which is less of a shock to the system. Should that provide too great a shock, it may be moderated by the bather standing in a hot foot bath. Still milder is the cold sponge bath, and even more so the alleged cold bath that is taken by wetting the hands in cold water and rubbing them over the body.

The Question of Hot Baths.

After all these baths there should be a quick rub down and a good test as to the usefulness of the bath will be found in the rapidity with which the body glows again with heat. The slower the reaction the less use is the bath. No one should take a bath at a lower temperature than 75 degrees, except upon the advice of a doctor. In fact there is just a range of 30 degrees in which a normally healthy person may bathe without a doctor's order, for to risk a hot bath above 105 degrees is to court ill-effects. Mr. King says that the practice of taking a hot bath at night is a mistake. People suppose that a hot bath will send them to sleep, but the fact is, according to Mr. King, that the hot bath it not a sedative, but a stimulant. Nothing will revive and refresh one more quickly than a bath about 104 or 105 degrees. The proper time to take it, he says, is after a man has had a hard morning and expects to have important business to attend to in the afternoon. He will find that a hot bath will act like a tonic, and send him about for the rest of the day feeling as fresh as when he arose in the morning.

The Bath for Insomnia.

Hot baths, in fact, baths of any kind, should not be taken without a couple of hours after eating a heavy meal. Nor should the taking of hot baths be permitted to become a habit. When one is weak or losing weight, the hot bath should be avoided, for it will reduce the weight, but only because the bodily strength is lowered. In health, hot baths will reduce weight for a short time, but the flesh returns as soon as the baths are discontinued. For everyday purposes, Mr. King says that the neutral bath is better than either the hot or cold bath. The neutral bath is taken in water which is at the same temperature as the body. When this bath is taken a sheet should be spread over the tub and quite close about the neck to keep off the air. There should be a cold wet bandage tied about the forehead, as is advised for hot baths, and the victim should remain in the tub for fifteen or twenty minutes, if he desires to arise ready to sleep. In some cases of persistent insomnia it has been found necessary to maintain the immersion for a couple of hours. The neutral bath has been used, with great success among patients with nerve or mental trouble.

Wet Sheet and Salt Rub.

One of Mr. King's favorite baths is the wet sheet rub. The bather should stand in a hot foot bath, and should be enveloped in a sheet wrung out in water at 80 degrees. Then the attendant takes a bucket of water at the same heat and pours it over the shoulders of the bather. This douche may be followed by rubbing or slapping the body, and afterwards the wet sheet should be exchanged for a dry one, in which the bather is dried. This bath should be taken daily, and, if desired, the temperature of the water may be reduced a degree each day until the danger line of 75 degrees is reached. A salt rub is another form of bath recommended by Mr. King. This consists of handfuls of wet salt being rubbed vigorously over the body. It is much more satisfactory when done by an attendant, though most people can give themselves a more or less beneficial treatment.

CIGARETTE SMOKING AMONG ENGLISH WOMEN INCREASING

Excesses Are Rare, but It Is No Longer Considered "Unwomanly" to Indulge in the Practice—Should Women Ride Astride? Kaiser's Veto Discussed.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, April 4.

ENGLISH women, unlike their Chicago sisters, have no desire to be cured of the cigarette habit. Clinics, such as have been opened in America for the treatment of feminine tobacco victims, are not needed in this country. At any rate, that is what I am led to believe.

"I rarely encounter cases of women who smoke excessively," said a prominent London doctor to your correspondent. "Women smoke quite moderately, as a rule. There is no doubt, however, that the cigarette habit is growing."

Five years ago the woman who smoked was associated with Shavianism and suffragism; she was called "unwomanly" and "not quite nice." To-day the most respectable of feminine suburbanites smoke as a matter of course. One used to see the warning, "Ladies are requested not to smoke" in most West End restaurants. To-day the legend is antiquated. Only in one or two places does the restriction linger.

Inquiries at West End tobacconists elicited the fact that women have long since passed the stage when they demanded "ladies' cigarettes." A well known tobacconist said that his lady customers smoked much the same brands as men. A hospital nurse told me that almost every member of her profession smoked—usually in their bedrooms—and that it required some ingenuity to evade the vigilance of the matron.

The Kaiser's veto on the wives of German army officers riding astride has aroused widespread discussion in London. There is no doubt that in recent years riding astride has become more and more popular with women. In the country it is quite common, while in Rotten Row some women may be seen astride most days of the week.

It is suggested in support of the Kaiser's command that the practice of riding astride involves risk of internal injury to the women who follow the practice, although the effect may not make itself apparent for a long time. This view, however, is by no means generally accepted.

One of the most famous riding masters of the day, Mr. Heap, the manager of the Regent's Park Riding School, told me the other day that he knows many women, including several doctors' wives, who have ridden astride for years, and are none the worse for it.

"Several of them," added Mr. Heap, "are mothers of families, and so far from having in any way suffered from riding astride they enjoy splendid health, and tell me they attribute it to regular exercise on horseback.

"It depends on the woman and it depends on the horse. I should not advise a heavily built, stout woman to ride astride, and I should advise no woman to ride a horse with a back like a table.

"But a tallish, athletic woman, up to ten-stone weight, will suffer no harm from riding astride, provided she has a suitable horse. Such a woman, trained to ride astride, would ride thirty miles astride more comfortably than one riding side-saddle, and riding easily would suffer no ill effects."

A young typist working in a certain city office received a great surprise the other day. Her employer called her into his room and said to her, "Oh, Miss W——, I want you, if you don't mind, to go out and buy a sachet, one of those French perfume sachets, you know. Go and get something really nice."

Delighted with her strange commission, the girl went out and returned with a sachet. "Excellent," said the business man, as he smelt it. "Now will you please write out for me a copy of this letter on this paper?" He took some hand made azure blue paper. "And write it in as sloping, unbusinesslike, 'womanly' hand as possible. When you have written the letter I want you to keep it for a day or two in your handbag, along with the sachet, till it is thoroughly scented with the perfume. Then post it."

The letter explained all this strange procedure. It was addressed to the chief partner of a well known retail firm, and explained that he adopted this method of getting in touch with them because ordinary business letters in business envelopes had apparently never reached them, or, at least, always remained without response, although he knew he was quoting lower terms than any other firm for a thoroughly good article.

"A letter such as I am sending you now," he wrote, "will not, I think, be opened and diverted, as I am inclined to fear previous ones have been. No one would venture to open it."

The typist posted the letter two days later, and a satisfactory response was soon forthcoming, so the stratagem was a complete success.

KING GEORGE DROPS IN ON THE TENANTS OF MODEL FLATS OWNED BY THE PRINCE

Lady Evelyn King is the eldest daughter of the Earl and Countess of Lovelace and a charming debutante of the coming season. Lady Evelyn was born in 1896 and will be eighteen this year. Lady Mary Hamilton is the eldest daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Abercorn, who will make her debut in the coming season. She will be eighteen this year.

England's Ruler Surprises Some of the Housewives at Their Work and Chats with Them Concerning the Interest He Is Taking in Endeavoring to Provide Comforts for the Lower Classes.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, April 4.

THE political situation, serious though it is, has not interfered much with the gayety of London life, except that it curtailed the King's and Queen's proposed stop of a week with Lord and Lady Derby to two days. The King would not have gone at all, but he disliked disappointing the humble subjects who had made great preparations for his reception at Port Sunlight, Birkenhead, Chester.

The King was constantly in touch with the government each night at Knowsley Hall, the residence of Lord and Lady Derby, and received telegrams, one being despatched from the House of Commons giving a summary of the proceedings, and another from Lord Stamfordham, who remained behind to watch events dealing in a more intimate manner with the political crisis.

The King's and Queen's most intimate friends were invited to Knowsley Hall to meet them. Included were Count Albert Mensdorff, Lord and Lady Essex, Lord and Lady Pembroke, Lord Durham, Lady Anne Lambton, Lady Mar and Kellie and Mrs. Leopold de Rothschild.

Before going north the King and Queen once more showed their deep interest in the people by a surprise trip to the cottages and flats at Kennington, where the Prince of Wales recently became a landlord of model dwellings housing sixty families. No hint of the journey was given. The monarchs first observed an aged charwoman polishing the brass knobs of a door.

Looks Over Son's Flats.

"Couldn't have believed my eyes," the woman said, "that they even were coming near us. A fine lady is Queen Mary."

The trip was productive of many amusing incidents, all enjoyed by the King and Queen.

Ascending to the first floor of one of the flats, the King tapped on a door in a simple, unaffected way and said to the housewife, "I've come to inspect the cottages and flats I've built for my son. May I come in?"

"Although I recognized the King and Queen at once," said Mrs. Charlton, who occupies the flat, "I remained glued to the spot for several seconds while they passed through all the rooms inspecting everything."

At another flat Mrs. Marshall was just clearing away her husband's luncheon and a comedy was played. On a table was a glass and empty stout bottle, which Mrs. Marshall endeavored to hide and, failing, apologized. The King and Queen laughed heartily, but the King kindly put the woman at ease, saying he was glad to observe that she attended to the comforts of her husband.

The King, practical in all things, inquired how the flats and cottages compared with the incomes of the tenants.

"I am anxious to make provision for the lower and middle classes," the King said. "I am anxious for the welfare of the working classes, but in London I have realized that these classes find it difficult to obtain a house within their means not too far from the centre. I had that in view when I decided to have these dwellings erected for my son, for this is a serious problem to hundreds in London today."

Charity Has a Share.

Royal and other society leaders are busy with works of charity. Under the patronage of Princess Christian and Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein an excellent matinee was held at the Victoria Palace in aid of the North London Home for Stray Dogs, established by the Dumb Friends' League.

Donna Augusta de Braganza, or Queen Augustine Victoria, of Portugal, as she is called by courtesy, performed the opening ceremony of the Royal Amateur Art Exhibition at Surrey House, surrounded by a great throng of notable women of society, who paid as much deference to her as if she actually were a reigning sovereign. She certainly looked very graceful in a black toilette, with a white fox muff and stole, long diamond earrings and diamond slides on her neck velvet. She wore a little black hat with aigrettes in front.

The Duchess of Somerset held a big sale of art at her house, in Grosvenor square, in aid of the International Hospital at Venice, founded by the late Lady Layard.

The Princess Royal, accompanied by Princess Maud, opened the new premises of the Church Army Medical Mission and presented comfortable garments to the patients and toys to the children. The Princess Royal accepted a bouquet from Mrs. Rollings, the oldest patient, much to her delight.

BRIDE'S SACRIFICE FOR HER PARENTS

(Special Dispatch.)
CALCUTTA, April 4.

SNEHALATA, the sixteen-year-old daughter of Babu Harendra Mukherjee, a broker of this city, burnt herself to death to save her father from ruin through the payment of an excessive marriage portion to her bridegroom.

Babu Harendra having asked a young undergraduate of the university in marriage for his daughter, the youth's father asked a price for him which for a time frustrated Harendra's hopes. After a second interview the sum was reduced to $5,000, two-thirds of which was to be paid in cash and the remainder in jewelry. Harendra decided to raise the money by a mortgage on his house.

Snehalata, who was a girl of exceptional beauty, thereupon resolved to sacrifice her life to preserve the fortune of her parents, and on the day before the transaction was to be closed she dressed in her best clothes and, climbing on the roof of the house, drenched her clothes with oil and set them on fire.

A Brahmin who happened to pass saw her and raised an alarm. The flames were put out with great difficulty, and Snehalata, still smiling, though enduring terrible agony, was conveyed to the medical college hospital. She died later in the evening.

Queen Mary Refitting Room at Windsor Like an English Manor

Collection of Wedgwood and Other China Ware, Together with Some Fine Old Jacobean Furniture, To Be Placed in the Renovated Chamber When Completed.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, April 4.

FOR some time Queen Mary has been engaged upon the formation of a new room at Windsor Castle that promises, when completed, to possess unique interest. While stopping there last summer the Queen found an unused room in one of the older parts of the castle, the oak panelling of which strongly appealed to her. She resolved to have this renovated and to convert it into a typical room of an English manor house, and the necessary work has since been carried out.

For some years the Queen has been making a collection of Wedgwood and other English china, this being now scattered between York Cottage, Sandringham—where the bulk of it is to be seen—Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle. It is now to be placed in this new room, where some fine old Jacobean furniture also is to be kept.

Prince Albert, the King's second son, has now started off on a cruise on the dreadnought Collingwood, which is expected to last for several months, the vessel being attached to the First Battle Squadron as flagship of Vice Admiral Sir Stanley Colville. This probably will be the last occasion upon which the Prince will serve with the fleet until he has undergone a two years' course at Cambridge, where, it is understood, he will be entered at Trinity College after the summer vacation. It is expected that when he severs his connection with the Collingwood the Prince will be specially advanced to the rank of sub-lieutenant as a recognition of the amount of hard work he has done since he entered upon his seagoing experiences.

The decorators are getting busy in Mayfair, for houses are letting well, therefore the optimistic, and those whom it would benefit, are hoping for a very full season after Easter. Futurist notions have spread even to the exteriors of houses, and the very latest cry is the black hall door with silver knocker and handles.

There is a new firm of lady decorators who are showing some amazing schemes for the outside of houses, one of which is in tones of yellow, from the palest primrose to deepest orange. Another is to be in purple and cerise, the blinds to be of mauve, while a third is of dark blue and tangerine color. If it is impossible to get natural flowers to tone with these effects they propose to introduce artificial blooms in window boxes.

Girls are doing much entertaining "on their own" this spring. The up to date young woman of the day is a very managing young person, who has very often a suite of rooms in her parents' house, after the manner of a royal princess, to which her family come only when they are invited. She gives tea parties and even little luncheons to her intimates, when her own maid does the waiting, and her mother is not often honored with an invitation, for, as she explains, "You would feel out of it, as only young people are coming." The society girl of the day knows scores of people who are not on her mother's calling list.

TO STOP BOGUS MASSAGE PLACES

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, April 4.

THERE is some prospect of definite and drastic action being taken soon to put an end to the scandal of bogus "massage establishments" which abound in certain quarters of London.

The London County Council (General Powers' bill, which has just passed a second reading in the House of Commons, deals a deadly blow at those women who have picked up a smattering of massage methods and opened luxuriously furnished salons for the "treatment" of imaginary invalids. For mademoiselle the masseuse and the charming "expert" in chiropody will alike be required, under the terms of this bill, to register themselves and their establishments, at the cost of $5 each, and to submit to the periodical calls of duly appointed inspectors, whose duty it will be to see that nothing improper is going on.

Some months ago attention was drawn to this scandal, but since then it has become accentuated rather than diminished, and Piccadilly has been painted red and yellow with bold lettered sandwich boards flaunting in the face of every passer by the allurements of So-and-So's massage establishment, or the excellence of Miss ——'s manicurist skill.

The authorities will have power to refuse to register any one whose moral character is open to suspicion.

Famous Castle on the Market

Ancestral Home of Chiefs of Clan Menzies Will Be Sold in London May 29.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, April 4.

The ancient, historical and sporting domains of Castle Menzies, extending to about ninety thousand acres, including the well known shootings at Castle Menzies, Foss, Rannoch Lodge, Craganour, Corrievarkie and other moors, are to be offered for sale by Messrs. Knight, Frank & Rutley, at No. 20 Hanover square, on May 29, unless previously disposed of by private treaty.

Castle Menzies, the ancestral home of the chiefs of the Clan Menzies, and one of the finest baronial structures in Scotland, nestles at the base of the Rock of Weem, in the fertile district of Upper Strathtay, known as Appin na Maynerich.

For centuries the whole district has belonged to the Menzies family. The scenery around Weem and Aberfeldy is world-famed, and immortalised in Burns' poem "The Birks of Aberfeldy," wherein mention is made of the Moness or Menzies Burn, with its cascades and wooded ravines.

The date of the building of the castle is not definitely known, but it is said to have been as early as 1661. Built of slate whinstone, it has defied the centuries, but certainly the inflammable portions were destroyed by Neil Stewart of Garth, in 1645, and restoration was carried out between 1671 and 1677.

The picturesque stronghold, with its original old iron barred door, ancient turrets, crow stepped gables, carved coats of arms and dormer windows, is in a remarkably good state of preservation and the outer walls are from six to seven feet thick. The royal arms, granted by Queen Mary, on her trip in 1564, appear in the front, and Charles II.'s cypher over the Old Gate commemorated his call after the battle of Worcester. The additions to the building were made about 1840, when the new wing and porch were added.

The reception rooms include the banqueting hall, now used as a drawing room, decorated in panels divided by mouldings of the Georgian period; Queen Mary's sitting room, with old Tudor mantelpieces, and ceiling with pendant centre, designed probably for the Queen's sojourn in 1563; the library, dining room and business room.

The bedrooms include Queen Mary's bedroom, where the Queen slept, and Prince Charlie's bedroom, in which he is said to have slept in 1745.

"Why?" asked the Old Fogy.

"So I could spend all my summers in cold storage," replied the Grouch.

Thackeray Year in Salesrooms

Autograph Collectors Are Interested in Manuscripts Soon To Be Sold in London.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, April 4.

Among autograph collectors, who become more and more numerous, this will be remembered as a Thackeray year, as last year was a Browning.

Though the most important Thackeray manuscripts are now placed all more or less permanently, there still remain some valuable ones to be snapped up. There are four appearing at Sotheby's rooms in the first week of next month. They belong to Thackeray's daughter, Lady Ritchie, and some of them fit in with others originally in her possession and sold from the wonderful Thackeray collection of Major Lambert recently in New York.

At that sale, for example, were nine drawings illustrating Thackeray's letters to Edward FitsGerald. They were only a few among many dated between 1829 and 1850, and FitsGerald gave them to Miss Churchyard, with the remark that they would prove valuable one day. At the Lambert dispersal these nine were bought for £350. The remainder, more than one hundred and fifty in number, were pasted by the translator of Omar Khayyam into a volume which he bequeathed to Lady Ritchie, and this is the volume that is to be sold in London next month.

Along with it will come a manuscript fragment of unpublished travels, more than seventy original drawings to illustrate "A Journey from Cornhill to Cairo"—some of them used from the book—and a quarto manuscript, "Notes for the Four Georges," running into a hundred pages, about a fifth of them in Thackeray's handwriting. Into this notebook the author brought anecdotes and other materials relating to manners and customs of the period under headings, also in his own writing, like "London Streets 140 Years Ago," "Beau Nash," "Account of Rice, Executed for Forgery," "Lies in History" and many more.

It is the autographic relics of Thackeray's pencil even more than of his pen that are keenly sought for. His great gifts as an artist, which Charlotte Brontë perceived, are only now being adequately recognised, as was seen in the large amount paid for drawings from the Lambert "Thackerayana."

"I'm not going to square myself," replied Senator Borghum. "I am simply going to round 'em up."

A Spanish Bomb-Dropping Aeroplane in Morocco

Guerilla warfare continues in Spanish Morocco, but a new turn of affairs is likely to be reached by the introduction of bomb dropping aeroplanes by the Spanish forces. The illustration shows the biplane and bombs used by two Spanish artillery officers during a series of operations carried out against the enemy in difficult country, where they were hitherto safe from attack.

How Shamrock IV. Is Built

British Cup Defender Will Have Metal Frames with Wood Skin—Other Details.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, April 4.

AS the time approaches for the completion of Shamrock IV. interest in all the details relating to the new challenger is increasing. Various rumors have been current during the last week or so, and with the view of obtaining the latest and most authentic information your representative called upon Mr. Charles Nicholson at Gosport, where the vessel is in course of construction.

Mr. Nicholson entered fully into all details, and further favored me with a view of the yacht, or as much of her as is to be seen at present.

Obviously, there are certain details to which it would be even yet unfair to refer, although as time progresses the need for strict secrecy becomes less urgent.

Shamrock IV. is of composite build—that is, metal frames with a wood skin. In this respect she differs from the three preceding Shamrocks, which were of aluminum, bronze and steel respectively. Mr. Nicholson explained his reasons for deciding upon the wood skin. He said that in the first place metal plates would be so thin that there would be great difficulty in getting the rivets to hold, as their heads have to be countersunk flush to give a perfectly smooth surface. Then, Mr. Nicholson believes that the lines of the vessel will be more truly preserved with the wood skin than with metal plating, as the thin metal plates are apt to buckle between the frames. In support of his contention he referred to torpedo craft, whose sides often present a wavy appearance, due to the buckling of the plates. Then, again, there is more resistance in wood, which is a point to be considered in a racing yacht. When a metal built vessel strains it means the loosening of some of her fastenings, but this is not necessarily the case when wood is used. It will be remembered by all who have followed the course of recent cup contests that in Shamrock II. the loosening of rivets was a constant source of trouble.

In the construction of the vessel methods very similar to those adopted in building small raters are brought into use. Moulds are set up to insure the frames coming to the exact form. The vessel is now up in frame, and a few planks from the garboard up are already fastened. The wood skin will be of mahogany.

Another interesting operation in progress at the Gosport yard is the making of the mast for the challenger. This will be of wood, and hollow, and in itself is quite a big undertaking. There are firms which make a specialty of mast building, but Mr. Nicholson, for this occasion at any rate, prefers to build his own. Two masts will be made, one to be ready in case of a "carry away," and they will be the biggest hollow spars ever built.

Needless to say, Shamrock IV. is a boat of extreme design, and no matter what the ultimate issue of the contests may be she will be a credit to her designer. It may be definitely stated that she will have a centreboard. Under the American rule of measurement extreme draught is heavily penalised, but a centreboard is not measured, so by its use several feet of draught may be obtained without tax.

Shamrock IV. will probably be ready for launching about the end of April.

England Losing Its Landmarks

Old Ship Inn, Near Hammersmith Bridge, and George Hotel, at Reading, About to Go.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, April 4.

STILL more ancient landmarks dear to Londoners and interesting to tourists are to disappear. A few weeks ago it was stated that as London had suffered a year ago because so little was done to attract American tourists to London during the season, an effort was to be made to keep them longer during the forthcoming season, and this is the way it is being done.

What with the closing of all places of interest owing to the growing danger of suffragette outrages and the demolishing of old buildings, there will soon be hardly anything in London worth seeing by tourists.

Great indignation has been aroused by the news that the Old Ship Inn, which stands on the Mall, near Hammersmith Bridge, is to be destroyed. This is one of the best known landmarks on the famous course between Putney and Mortlake, but the licensing magistrates have ordered the extinction of the license on the ground of redundancy.

The original Old Ship was built on the site of the present building nearly three hundred years ago. Part of the old structure still remains, in the form of a very fine portico of red brick. This is a subject of great interest to antiquarians, for it is one of the oldest examples of brickwork in the neighborhood.

During the latter half of the century there jutted out from the frontage of the house the original Hammersmith Pier, which was served by the "penny steamboats" that plied up and down the river. A private terrace leads from the house to the water's edge, and from this a magnificent view of the inter-university boat race can be obtained. On a fine morning the outlook is charming. Old Chiswick Church stands in the foreground, while in the distance are the hills of Richmond.

"If this building," said the landlord of the Old Ship, "is demolished it will, no doubt be replaced by a factory or some other eyesore. This is a very dangerous part of the river, and no fewer than twenty lives have been saved from my terrace during the last three years. Without us there would be no landing stage on this side of the river for quite a long distance. Many well known authors frequented the house in years gone by."

And the old George Hotel at Reading, is going, too. This ancient house was doing business in the days when the Abbot of Reading was one of the great men in the land, and it stands to-day in dignified repose in a busy street, not far from the gaunt ruins of the great abbey. High over its arched entrance, on a little shield, is the date of its foundation, 1508.

A Symptom.

"I notice it has taken to playing in the mud."

NEW YORK CLOSING LETTER

By private wire to M. L. Dohan, broker, Dominion building, St. Peter St., Phone 4748. Branch, Quebec Ry. Bldg., St. Joseph St., Phone 582.

New York, April 6—Today's stock market fulfilled all reasonable expectations by remaining dull and featureless in the absence of fresh news factors. The day's fractional fluctuations were occasion by a very small volume of purchases and sales and the general opinion seemed to be that there would be little or nothing for the rest of the week which is epected to end in a triple holiday. The comparatively firm undertone of prices, however, tended to confirm the view that the market as a whole is well liquidated and in a position to respond to favorable news. Western advices are beginning to be a trifle more optimistic as a result of the favorable crop outlook. It is probable that many developments of a favorable character would be followed by a revival of the spring demand for merchandise. With respect to the predicted increase of three per cent. in railway rates, statisticians figure that even that amount would materially increase the net earnings of the eastern roads. On Penna for instance, it is figured that a three per cent increase, based on the 1913 tonnage, would equal nearly two per cent. on the capital stock. New York Central is another system that would benefit largely from such an increase. Total sales 106,900.

NEW YORK CLOSING LETTER

Received over the private wire of McDougall & Cowan, Stock Brokers, 81 St. Peter St., Quebec. Tel. 246.

New York, April 6—The market today opened quiet and but little changed from Saturday's close with Alaska Gold the only feature. This stock on comparatively active trading advanced above 25. The general list soon became stiffened and fractional net advances had been recorded pretty generally throughout the list. Interboro pref. was rather notably strong and active, on renewed talk of a coming dividend, while the Copper stocks were strong on position of metal. Trading was on a very restricted scale and, after these initial advances, prices throughout the rest of the list fluctuated but very little and turns were extremely small. Great Northern Ore became comparatively active and weak on what looked like the liquidation of a line of stock. Very general small fractional gains were shown as a result of the day's dealings. C. P. R., which was an early weak feature, later recovered its loss. Sales 108,128; bonds, 2,037,000.

BROTHER NOVELTIES.

Silas and Joseph Hocking a Notable Example of Kin Geuiuses.

Under the title of "Famous Brothers," a recent issue of The Windsor Magazine contains a second series of portraits of well-known men of our time who belong to groups of two or more brothers of earlier parallel or divergent talents. In the accompanying letterpress the anecdotal biographer says:

"The laurels of the greatly successful novelties are shared by the two brothers, Mr. Silas and Mr. Joseph Hocking, whose novels enjoy an extraordinary popularity. They are Cornishmen, and are proud of their Celtic strain, to which they attribute in great measure their imaginative gifts. They were reared in a world of fancy, for their mother used to hold her boys spell-bound as she invented for them wonderful stories of the revels or pixies and fairies. Mr. Silas Hocking is eleven years older than his brother. He entered the ministry, and has held various pastorates. He has also twice stood for Parliament. But his vocation is preeminently that of the nevelist. When he was about seven years old "The Arabian Nights" fell into his hands. He read it in fear and trembling, for it was not approved of at home, and the book changed everything for the boy. It beat "The Pilgrim's Progress," and set him a thirst for more exciting adventures. At sixteen he competed for a prize offered for a temperance story. Of his MS. he heard no more. Since 1878, when he published "Alec Green," he has sent forth a constant succession of widely-read novels.

"His brother, Joseph, even as a small boy, dreamed of achieving fame as a novelist, but farming and surveying were his first occupations. Then he received an unmistakable call to the ministry; but the spell of the story was on him, and would not be denied. He began with 'Elrad the Hic.' a novel based on a tour in Palestine. Other stories followed, but his first solid success came with 'All Men Are Liars,' a story written as a counterblast to pessimism, which appeared in 1895. Since then Mr. Joseph Hocking, like his brother, has not missed a year, and sometimes he has published two novels within the twelvemonth. Although the work of Mr. Silas Hocking is often written 'with a purpose,' and that of Mr. Joseph Hocking is sometimes written upon a controversial theme, and, as such finds a large part of its apparel, both authors, can, when they choose, work with no less success along lines entirely unsectarian and rich in appeal to the general reader. Both writers are regarded with affection by a vast following."

BURNS CREATES RECORD.

It is exactly eight years since Mr. Balfour laid down the cares of office, and Sir Edward Grey and Mr. John Burns have been Foreign Secretary and President of the Local Government Board respectively for exactly eight years. They are the only two Cabinet Ministers now holding office who started in the same offices under "C. B." in 1905, and, furthermore, they are the only living men on either side who have held the same office continuously for so long a period. Mr. Burns has created an absolute record for not one of his thirteen predecessors at the Local Government Board, among whom were Mr. Balfour and Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, was president for more than six years.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS IF BLADDER BOTHERS YOU.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any god pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

COMMERCIAL NEWS

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

McDonald & Lesperance, stock brokers, private wire to New York and Montreal, Hochelaga Bank Building. Telephone 1227.

(Canadian Press Service.)

New York, April 6—The progressive slowing down of business on the Stock Exchange was carried further today, and much of the time the market was at a standstill. Speculative conditions were unchanged and no initiative was shown by traders on either side. Price movements were unusually narrow, and in only a few cases did they vary as much as a point from Saturday's close.

In spite of the small amount of buying there was still apparent the scarcity of stocks which has been a noticeable feature of the market for some time. To satisfy the scattering buying orders it was necessary to raise quotations slightly in nearly every case, and during the greater part of the day a fractionally higher level prevailed. Toward the close the list eased off slightly, so that last prices were barely changed. It was one of the slowest sessions of the year, and total transactions were not far above the 100,000 mark.

Almost the only evidence of public interest lay in the sustained inquiry for high grade bonds. Accumulation of idle money here, which is largely the outgrowth of a sluggish business condition, has progressed to a point where a large volume of funds is seeking employment. Money which ordinarily, at this season of the year, would be required for business is being diverted into bonds of the better grade, in which trading today was relatively more active than in stocks. The unexpected loss in cash shown in Saturday's bank statement checked the downward course of money rates, but it is not expected that there will be any permanent departure from current easy conditions.

A large number of railroads, operating in various sections, made their February returns today, and in almost every case severe shrinkages in earnings were shown. Bad railroad reports are such an old story, however, that these statements had virtually no effect on the stock market. Canadian Pacific showed some heaviness, probably on account of a slump in the London market. London was occupied with the settlement, and did virtually nothing here.

Prices of some bonds yielded, but in general the bond market was firm. Total sales, par value, $2,040,000.

United States 2's registered declined 1-8 on call.

FOR $100, WEDDING, HONEYMOON AND FURNISHED FLAT

IT IS A SALVATION ARMY BARGAIN OFFER, AND AT THAT THERE WILL BE $10 PROFIT, AS IT COSTS ONLY $90.

Washington, April 6.—Following the bargain funeral has come the bargain wedding.

For $100 cash the Salvation Army in Washington guarantees the following: A license, the ceremony, a two weeks' honeymoon, a four-room flat, furnished complete; one month's rent paid, honeymoon cigars for the bride.

"And on that," says Major Parson George Ivings, in charge of the industrial department of the Army, "we'll make a profit of $10 for gospel work.

"I've been thinking for a long time that matrimony was becoming too costly. It should be placed within the reach of all."

Sitting in his office at No. 121 Pennsylvannia avenue, N. W., the Major gave statistics to show where he "gets off" financially.

First off, a marriage license in the District of Columbia costs $1; dog licenses are higher for some reason.

The ceremony fee is indicated by the algebraic symbol X.

A four-room-and-bath flat can be found in Washington for $22.50.

It will cost $40. to furnish the flat from the industrial department of the Salvation Army. Among the down-and-outs who seek shelter are good furniture makers and upholsterers and in their hands old furniture can be made new—almost.

Out in Forestville, Md., not so very far from the Capitol, the "mission" owns a farm.

"Board for two people on the farm," said Major Ivings, "can be figured at $5 per week per person. That will set us back $20 for the honeymoon. The railroad fare there and back will be about $5.

"That makes $88.50. We add $1.50 for honeymoon cigars and sachet powder. If th bridegroom can't dig up enough to cover the rest of his expenses, he ought to go without. So, you see, we come out $10. ahead.

"What are we going to do with the $10. Well, a year or two ago we decided to build a sanitarium on the farm. The $10 will go into the building fund of that sanitarium.

"I will be the officiating minister and I donate my fee to the mission. Of course, it's best to get married in the summer time under this plan. We can provide for the couple now. Tell them to start early and avoid the rush."

POINCARE'S DEPOSITION

French President Tells of Visit Made By Caillaux on Morning of Tragedy

Paris, April 6—President Poincare's deposition in connection with the inquiry into the killing of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, by Mme Caillauv, was handed to M. Boucard the investigation magistrate, by the chief clerk of the Court of Appeal, who accompanied M. Forichon, president of the court, to Elysee Palace yesterday, and took down the President's words. A copy of the document also was sent to M. Labori, counsel for Mme Caillaux.

President Poincare's testimony had to do with a visit which Joseph Caillaux paid him on the morning of the tragedy, at which time the President and the then Minister of Finance discussed the campaign which M. Calmette was conducting against M. Caillaux. In his deposition the President says that he was so deeply impressed by the distraught condition of M. Caillaux, upon whom all his reasonings seemed to be ineffecttual, that he finally advised him to see M. Bernard, who had acted for him in his divorce proceedings. M. Bernard was a friend of M. Calmette's and would be in a position to ascertain if M. Caillaux's suspicions were justified, and, if so, might be able to stop the threatened publication of M. Caillaux's private letters.

The Minister thanked the President, but said he would be engaged all afternoon in the Senate and would be unable to see M. Bernard.

President Poincare then remarked that M. Bernard was an old friend of his and that he expected him to call at the Elysee Palace that afternoon. He promised to speak to him, which he did.

M. Bernard agreed to see both Caillaux and Calmette, although he was of the same opinion as the President that M. Calmette was incapable of publishing the letters. The President learned later that M. Bernard did see M. Caillaux at the close of the afternoon, but it was too late.
