Huntingdon Plans Complete for "Army Week"

Canadian Legion Convention Held at Drummondville

President Thinks Leaders Have Not Explained Manpower Question to Quebec

The Canadian Legion held its annual convention at Drummondville, Quebec, on Friday and Saturday, June 19th and 20th, and Mr. Cecil Stark was the local delegate to the convention from the Chateauguy-Huntingdon Branch, No. 81.

The President of the Canadian Legion delivered a stirring address to the delegates, reminding them of the men who crossed the sea 25 years ago to fight the same enemy as we are again facing today. Sixty thousand of our brothers gave their lives in that first great battle for Canada's freedom, he said. Today they rest in Flanders Field, and the vast cemeteries in which they lie, and the great memorials we built in their honour, are in the hands of the same old enemy we fought until he cried "Kamerad" a quarter of a century ago. Many of us who came back to this day, bear the scars of wounds inflicted upon us by German bullets, German shells, German bayonets and German poison gas. All of us have known war, with all its horror, filth and privation. The speaker said he thought that the Canadian Legion had a right, in fact a duty, to let their voices be heard when the things that they fought for were again being desecrated.

Our call for total war was presented to the Prime Minister and his Cabinet last fall. It has been sounded by the Legion ever since. It has been charged, especially here in Quebec, that the Legion's call for total war places too much emphasis on manpower for the Army. A careful study of the call will show that this is not so. We, of the Legion, realize better than anyone else the vital necessity for arms, ammunition, planes and ships. We have vivid recollections of the months and years in France when our field guns could only fire 20 rounds a day because of the shortage of shells, when we had only four machine guns to a battalion against the Germans' 12, and so on.

The speaker went on to say that the question of the country's manpower had not been tackled in a manner commensurate with the desperate issues at stake.

He then said, I know full well I am touching on a subject which, in the Province of Quebec particular-

Burn Mortgage at Howick United Church

The Howick United Church was the scene of an interesting and historic occasion recently. The congregation celebrated the seventeenth anniversary of its coming into being, and the fourteenth anniversary of the opening of its beautiful stone church. In addition, "the burning of the mortgage" took place. An appropriate celebration was held, to signalize the greatness of the occasion. Proceedings were opened with a worship-service conducted by the pastor, Dr. E. H. Gray. There followed a general programme, at one point in which the actual burning of the mortgage was conducted by two of the oldest members, Mrs. James McKel and Mr. Archibald Cameron. Guest speakers were the Rev. Donald Morrison of Montreal and the Rev. Thomas Knowles of Huntingdon. The Outlets Sisters, of St. Laurent, contributed several much-appreciated vocal numbers, and the Choir, in special selections, added greatly to the success of the evening. Tea was served by the women of the congregation.

Disastrous Fire at Trout River

Much Damage Caused, But No Loss of Life

The large brick block, an outstanding landmark at Trout River Lines, and the former McCaffrey store, were totally destroyed by fire Tuesday morning.

The bakery of J. B. Faubert occupied the ground floor and the fire is believed to have been caused by an overheated oven. Mr. Faubert and three young boys, asleep in the upper story, narrowly escaped with their lives. About 4:30 Mr. Faubert was awakened by the smoke and managed to reach a window, shouting for help.

Across the street some neighbours were observing a wake for Miss Catherine Bray, who had died that day. Mrs. Lawreson Lunan heard the cry and went home to rouse her husband and other neighbours.

Officer R. Hawley and U.S. Officer Agen placed the reflection of flames on the glass and hastened to the fire. The aroused neighbors were able to place a long ladder to an upper window by which the inmates reached safety just a moment before the interior of the building collapsed in flames.

Mr. Faubert has suffered a considerable loss in the destruction of a fine building as well as very valuable baking equipment.

The McCaffrey store is now the property of Henry Hawley. Some furniture was lost but the building was unoccupied at the time.

Stories of adventure and romance are linked with the history of the destroyed property. Back about 1870, Jed Martin returned to his native town, Trout River, after striking it rich in California gold mines. He seemed to be need for a hall so Jed Martin erected one, copying the structure and name from one in which he had spent happy times in California.

It was announced before adjournment that the municipality of Valleyfield had withdrawn its application for an order directing the New York Central Railway to operate passenger trains leaving Valleyfield at 12:30 p.m. daily except Saturday and Sunday, and leaving Montreal between 9 and 10:30 a.m.

Malone Rail Line Service Reviewed

The Board of Transport Commissioners reserved judgment Monday afternoon after reviewing the situation in respect to passenger train service on the New York Central Railway line between Malone, N.Y., and Valleyfield and Montreal.

After hearing last February the railway company's application to cut off six trains from this service, the board gave judgment in April granting the company's petition. On reconsideration from municipalities between Valleyfield and Montreal the board was requested to reconsider the matter.

Monday's evidence on behalf of the municipalities was to the effect that considerable inconvenience would be suffered by commuters, particularly between Chateauguy and Montreal, if the board's order was carried into effect. It was submitted that the three trains now running from Montreal between 4:30 and 6:30 are adequate, and that it might be possible to consolidate the morning service to meet the requirements of passengers coming to work in Montreal.

H. J. Curtis, vice-president of the Provincial Transport Commission, stated that because of war exigencies, his company was not in a position to do anything to relieve the traffic situation in the Valleyfield-Montreal area. Co-operating with the transit controller in order to conserve gasoline and rubber supplies, the Provincial Transport Company had curtailed its bus service where it competed with railway trains, and many buses had been transferred to war services exclusively. If six trains were taken off the New York Central railway between Malone and Montreal, Mr. Curtis added, his company would not be able to meet the greatly increased demand for bus transportation between Valleyfield and Montreal.

John T. Hackett, K.C., appeared for the New York Central Railway Company, and the local municipalities were represented at the hearing by Maxime Raymond, K.C.

It was announced before adjournment that the municipality of Valleyfield had withdrawn its application for an order directing the New York Central Railway to operate passenger trains leaving Valleyfield at 12:30 p.m. daily except Saturday and Sunday, and leaving Montreal between 9 and 10:30 a.m.

Ups and Downs of Towns.

Trout River was a thriving center in those days with three or four hotels, several stores, tannery, woollen and carding, blacksmith shop, etc. The original survey for the New York Central Railway was through Trout River. It is said that Dr. Cameron, who then lived in Athelstan, used his influence to have the line diverted slightly south.

When the railway was built Trout River declined. In these later years the international motor road has brought a partial revival, Athelstan suffering in turn, a corresponding decline.

Today, the restriction of motor travel will again effect the fortunes of Trout River that has only recently benefited by the erection of two palatial Customs Houses, to take care of motor traffic.

The death of Catherine Brady at the age of 92 breaks another long link with the past in this locality. She was a sister of Mrs. McCaffrey, who conducted the general store for many years.

The thought has been expressed by more than one person in Trout River that owing to the "wake" a great tragedy was averted and four people are still living today.

Chateauguy Valley Rates High

Enrollment in the armed forces now numbers 639 persons who have enlisted from the Chateauguy Valley with a view to help to maintain the flying high of the Union Jack. No doubt our enlistment records are not 100 percent complete, consequently we would appreciate your cooperation in supplying us with such data.

Good photographs of those enlisted, wearing military uniforms, would be appreciated.

Soldiers Will be Royally Entertained by Civilians

Dominion Day Promises to be a Real Festive Occasion—Block Dance to be a Feature

With this issue of The Gleaner, we present the special "Army Week" number that has been devoted principally to items of news of special significance in connection with the celebration to take place next week.

The week of June 29th to July 5th has been set aside as a week in which the public will honour the Boys in Khaki. Plans have been completed whereby the citizens of Huntingdon and district will entertain the soldiers of the Chateauguy Barracks, during next week.

Citizens will be welcomed at the Barracks during "Army Week" and will be given an opportunity to inspect the same, and to see for themselves how our soldiers live, and the quarters they occupy. On Wednesday, Dominion Day, a field day will be held at the Barracks under the auspices of the local branch of the Legion. Sports and entertainments will be conducted and it is expected that softball games will be played on all five diamonds. During the evening of Dominion Day a "Block Dance" will be held in the town, on Chateauguy St. This dance will be under the auspices of the "Soldiers' Club." Special lighting effects, dance contests and exhibition dances will feature this event. The Chateauguy Barracks Dance Band will supply the music.

On Thursday evening, Mr. D. J. O'Connor, M.P.P. has kindly donated a full evening's moving picture entertainment for the troops at the Barracks, or other soldiers in uniform. No civilians will be allowed to attend this show.

On Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, the civilians will entertain the soldiers in their homes. Saturday afternoon, a sports programme of base ball and softball is in the making. In the evening the soldiers are organizing a programme of wrestling and boxing which will take place in the Drill Hall.

American soldiers will visit us here at Huntingdon, on Dominion Day.

A special Drumhead service will be held at the Barracks on Sunday morning, July 5th, for the Protestant congregations, and a similar arrangement of the Roman Catholic faith are being made, and an outdoor Mass will be celebrated that morning at 10:00 o'clock on the grounds about the hospital, home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. O'Connor, Captain Leblond of Chateauguy Barracks has been away on sick leave, but if he is well and able to be back for Sunday he will celebrate the Mass, otherwise it will be in charge of the Rev. Fathers Berthiaume and Pigeon.

Thus, it will be seen that a full week has been planned for "Army Week" in Huntingdon. Citizens are asked by the Town Council to fly their flags and decorate their premises for the occasion and during the entire week.

A Salute to the Soldier

NEXT week we celebrate what will be known as "Army Week". The idea behind this is that we take this opportunity of honoring the Canadian Soldier, of trying to show him that we think just as much of him as we do of the Sailor and the Airman. The idea has caught on like wildfire in Huntingdon and throughout the Chateauguay Valley, as it has all over the Dominion of Canada. Already plans of all kinds have been made to entertain the boys in khaki during "Army Week".

Since the beginning of the war, we have been wont to praise our production men, our navy and merchant marine, and our airmen, but the soldier has rather taken a back seat. This has not been because we have thought any less of the man who donned a khaki uniform. Far from it. The main reason as far as we can see, is because the soldier has not figured very largely in this war so far. Canadians, especially, have had little chance to show what stuff they are made of when it comes to fighting on the battlefield, although our airmen and navy have produced good results. However, the soldier has had a great opportunity to be well trained in all branches of the science of warfare and will no doubt be all the better for it. He should be ready for all that he may be called upon to do in the very near future, and will, we feel sure, discharge his responsibility with efficiency and dispatch.

Conferences now going on between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt would seem to indicate events that perhaps will prove startling in the immediate future. President Roosevelt has promised Russia that there will be a new European front this year. Such an event will mean that soldiers will get their chance to show what they are made of. Upon them, will very likely depend just what turn the war will take. Whether we win or whether we must face the invasion of Britain and ultimately an invasion of our own Canada. If our soldiers can do battle with Hitler's legions and beat him back to Berlin, as Sir Stafford Cripps has said must be done, will be something we shall proudly await and hope for. We feel that our boys in khaki can do it, the same as they did at Vimy Ridge, Ypres and Argincourt. What glory our Canadian boys brought to themselves and to Canada in those last months of 1918. As the song which the Americans have coined for themselves says, "We did it before, we can do it again," but it will mean the Canadians. We feel sure our soldiers will show the world that they are the best fighters and will be successful in finally bringing about a victory.

Yes, our soldiers lost their chance at Dunkerque, they lost out at Hong Kong, but the soldiers now have gained that additional amount of training, it has been a more rigorous training, they have been toughened up more, they are using more advanced weapons. We have commandos, that real tough bunch of men who fear nothing; and we have the paratroops, who drop from the air on oftentimes unsuspecting enemies and create havoc. Our machines of war have already been tested on every front in the war to date, they have proved their worth and their efficiency. But we have not yet had the real chance of meeting the enemy on a fair and equal footing with a view to fighting it out. Give our soldiers that chance and they will show us that they can do it and with results that will not give the enemy much opportunity for rejoicing.

So, "Army Week" has been designated for the period from June 29th to July 6th, in order that a national opportunity will be given the people of Canada to honor the soldiers of our land. To make them feel that they are in this war, too, that we are proud of them, that we are as much behind them as we are behind all other war efforts. For a whole week the soldier will be tops with everybody, he will get the breaks he is entitled to, he will be entertained and nothing will be left undone that will make this week the best he has had since he joined the army.

But, we must not just leave it there. Why honor the soldier for just one week? Is it fair to do this for one week and then promptly proceed to forget he ever existed? No. It is our patriotic duty to see that the soldier gets his share of our thoughts and attentions at all times, this week, next week and every other week. Now that this movement has been started, it has to be continued, not perhaps on such an elaborate scale, but certainly continued. Why could we not extend the hand of welcome to the soldier on other occasions besides just "Army Week"? If he is good enough during such a period, why is he not good enough on other occasions as well? Some mother, or some wife, may be very grateful to some other party for trying to make her boy happy and cheerful while he is away from home. Your boy, or your husband, may be miles away from home, he may be just a little fed up with camp life and longing for a little home environment. Some home may be opened to him and be the means of cheering him up. The outstretched hand of welcome does much in wartime to help the soldier who is away from home, that welcome sign on the doormat can do much to cheer him on his way and leave a host of cherished memories with him. Therefore, let us try to make a complete success of "Army Week" and let us keep the spirit of that week continuing into other weeks. Thus we can dedicate this opportunity as a Salute to the Soldier and may we prove worthy of the sacrifices he may be called upon to make on our behalf for freedom and liberty. We know we can depend upon him to defend these precious rights with all the ability, vigor and courage at his command, he will defend us with his life if necessary. "Greater love hath no man, than that he lay down his life for a friend."

Serving the Public

SERVING the public is no easy job, it is very often a thankless one. The more you are in contact, the harder it becomes; the higher the position, the more thankless it is.

The job a newspaper has in serving the public, is one that brings much wrath around its ears. Those in charge of disseminating the news are particularly prone to the wrath of the public. It may be in the quoting of what a person has said, it may be due to dissatisfaction of seeing something in print which reflects discredit on some person because of the action of the person. There are all kinds of different things which can bring the wrath of the public on the publishers of a newspaper. But if the newspaper fails to publish the news of its territory, the public is still dissatisfied. Thus it would seem, that it is an impossibility to satisfy the public anyway.

If a newspaper is serving its purpose truthfully, without fear or favor, and giving the public all the news it possibly can, it must face the responsibilities that it will bring and also the wrath of persons who will become irate over some article which has appeared. It must also take with a smile, contemptuous remarks on the amount of news it prints, the matter of the articles it carries, the way the articles are written and so forth. It must also be prepared to accept advice as to what should be printed, how the news should be gathered, or whether this or that article should have appeared or not. Those responsible for the editing of the news are also expected to be mind readers and be able to interpret what a person means even though the meaning is not there. Some people would also require that articles to appear in a newspaper should be presented to them for censorship or otherwise.

Yes, it is a tough world. The newspaper world is a tough one, too. But we believe the Gleaner is doing a real good job of news gathering and dissemination. To the best of human ability, it is trying to give the people of the Huntingdon-Chateauguay district a true picture of what is happening in the district and elsewhere. Mistakes are made, but a newspaper is operated under human auspices and where is the human being who has never made a mistake. Such a person would make news indeed. If there is one, will you please give us the opportunity of the scoop, for it would be headline news. So, if the newspaper does make a mistake, please be tolerant, in this you will be helping the newspaper to serve the public better.

Not all times is the newspaper the only sufferer from the wrath of the public. Sometimes persons in official capacities are subject to criticism, and sometimes, too, these persons cannot take it as well as the newspaper. Oftentimes it is the job of the newspaper to do what the officials have said, and in so doing, invite the wrath of these persons also. They forget that they, too, are serving the public; they forget that what they say in public, is public property. They sometimes hint that what they say should be glossed over and softened down so that it will not be as hard as they said it. Sometimes it is hinted that the press should be excluded from public meetings, so that officials can say things which they would not like the public to know about. Yet the public has a perfect right to know of these things. These officials are serving the public in the same way that the newspaper is serving the public, in many cases they are more responsible to the public than the newspaper, because they are directly handling property and matters belonging to the public. The newspaper is merely reporting the proceedings and happenings and has no real direct responsibility to the public other than as a news gathering agency.

The Gleaner has not, and will not misquote any person intentionally, but it will continue to give the public all the news in its power and feel at liberty to quote remarks made which can be considered of public interest, or which give body to the news of articles published. In this, we feel that we are serving the public faithfully and well.

A Set-back in the Near East

JUST as we are about to celebrate "Army Week" in Canada, news comes of reverses in Libya. The British troops have fallen back towards Egypt. Tobruk which has held out for a long time against the German forces, has fallen to them. With this fall about 25,000 men's fate is not as yet known, neither is it known if the supplies and war machines were saved, or had to be left behind. A convoy which recently arrived at Tobruk, no doubt unloaded its cargo before the fall of that point, but it is not known at this time just what happened to it. It is quite possible that it may have fallen into the hands of the enemy. If this is the case, the big battle in the Mediterranean a short time ago, will have been for naught.

There is much indignation in British circles at the fall of Tobruk and the falling back on Egypt. Officials in England say that this should not have happened as there has been ample time for plenty of equipment and men to have been moved to this point to hold it against attack. If the garrison was not strong enough, then troops sent to India should never have been sent. One speaker said that the fate of Egypt and the Suez may depend upon the turn of events in Libya now that Tobruk has been evacuated.

Those who are depressed by the initial success of the Japanese in the Far East should remember that Italy also had a run of luck after first entering the war. Today the Italians are under double defeat, having been conquered by the British and enslaved by the Huns. Anyone who is not cheered by that thought, should buy war savings certificates, subscribe to the Bomb Victims' Fund, work for the Red Cross, or enlist in the Forces.

DUNCAN McMILLAN, St. Anicet.

Our first teacher was Patrick McGregor; second, Alex. Crawford, who had been clerk to McAlpine, the ship-builder at Corbach, and fond of drink; 3rd, Weaver, Duncan Cameron, who was lame and had learned trade at Paisley. They went from house to house to teach, and this began very soon after we came. I was with Major McGilbon's Co. at Huntingdon in '38, and stood sentry above village, when Col. McDonald with Gleanery men, very few, and Indians came on. It would be about noon, Indians had feathers in head and some had like kochaber axes. They whooped and yelled as they passed. Cheshley was with them. The Gleanery men had crossed at St. Regis.

I was at Knights Pt. when force crossed for Beauharnois. The Nep. made two trips. The day was dry, but very cold and roads very bad. I was not at Baker's. In 1837 I went to Quebec to see sister who was sick. When she died I could not bring body with me, owing to state of country. I came back by land, and the stage took two days and one night to get over road. The burial place near Murchison's was first. It was on a gore and Indians gave a lease for burial place. Mrs. Grant was first buried there, and I think Phillip the second. I saw men who were out in the 45. When heir of Lochiel came back from France he was poor as a mouse, and to get money would give renewal of lease on tenants paying £10 or more pounds. When these leases at nominal rents lapsed, they had to emigrate, for children had been brought up shiftless. The lumbering was an injury to me and all who tried it. Better had we stuck to land. There was little oak left when I came but there was lots of the best of pine. No fire of consequence here in Miramichi year, but on Seigniory it was terrible. Ormstown concession and Tullochgorum just a slash, from trees falling in windows whose roots had been burned.

JOHN FERNS—I came from Ireland in 1835, and left Montreal for the States. I was at Albany in the fall of 1837, and attended a meeting called by Van Ranssaeler for men and means to assist Papineau. It was held on State street and there was an immense crowd. When cheers were being given for the "patriots", one of our number called for three cheers for Queen Victoria. Strange to say, nothing was done to us, and no condemnation uttered. I agreed with a companion to go to Montreal and help the loyalists, of whose sufferings exaggerated reports were coming in by every mail. Two others joined us, and being too poor to go by stage, we bought an old horse and sleigh and with a store of dried beef and bread started. I should say, that Van Ranssaeler's appeal had little effect so far as recruits were concerned, for I don't think a single man left, but it would have been easy to have raised a regiment to assist the loyalists. The Irish Protestant element was strong about Albany then. We kept by N.Y., going up the west side of Champlain from Whitehall. It took us 9 days to reach Montreal, where my companions enlisted in the volunteer companies then being raised. I went to my uncle's, who had a rented farm next Hugh Brodie and went with a team of Brodie's with stores for troops at St. Eustache, where I arrived the day after the fight. I had been sent out to warn the cavalry but they did not get half-way before all was over. After that I went to my uncle's on the Chateauguay, near its mouth, who lived between the bridge and the mill.

WEEK IN OTTAWA

The debate on the amendment to the mobilization act has been much more placid than expected. Of course extremists on the conscription question are poles apart. There cannot be any reconciliation in their opinions. But the debate in parliament which may wind up within the next few days has, for the most part, been conducted quietly and rationally with not too much emotionalism. Placating forces as far as anti-conscriptionists are concerned have been the firmly repeated assurances from the government that the bill under debate is not a bill to impose conscription. It is simply "enabling" legislation. Louis St. Laurent, minister of Justice, J. A. Bradette from Northern Ontario and Ernest Bertrand, member from the Laurier division of Montreal have been among the French speaking members who have supported the bill, expressing sympathy and understanding for the attitude taken by so many of their compatriots, but pointing out that this is Canada's war and that Canada's very existence is at stake. The government's hands must be free to deal with the demands of war. Mr. Bertrand warned his compatriots that the defeat of the government would mean the formation of a national government with conscription "the first article on its program." Did the anti-conscriptionists want that to happen? Ministers of the cabinet have taken the stand that conscription of manpower for overseas must be kept in its true perspective. The war effort must be balanced. As put by Mr. Howe, the question is "How we can best use our total manpower towards the winning of the war, in the light of our responsibilities to the United Nations." Mr. Crenn and Mr. Thorson have argued on the same general line. The problem is (Continued on page 11)

These Recipes Use Less Sugar

Fruit Dessert
1 pint raspberries
1 cup white grape juice
6 eggs
1 pound macaroons
1-2 cup sugar

Sweeten raspberries and set aside. Beat yolks of 6 eggs until light, add sugar, stir in grape juice, gradually. Place in double boiler, cook a few minutes stirring constantly until it coats the spoon. Set aside to cool. Place in a dish a layer of macaroons, raspberries and custard alternately, until dish is full. Cover with stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Brown slightly in oven.

Rhubarb Sauce
Wash, cut off leaves and stem ends of rhubarb. If tender, do not peel. Cut in 1-2 inch pieces. To 4 cups of rhubarb, take 2 cups sugar; or pour boiling water over rhubarb, let stand 5 minutes, drain, and use only 1-2 cups sugar. Place in saucepan with just enough water to keep it from burning; cook until soft. Flavor with the grated yellow rind of an orange. Or, boil 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water to a syrup, add rhubarb, let boil few minutes until tender but not broken.

Apple Macaroon
1 tablespoon butter
1-2 cup sugar
1 well beaten egg
1-2 cup flour
1-2 tsp. baking powder

Mix into a batter. Then slice 4 large tart apples onto a shallow dish, add 1-2 cup sugar and sprinkle well with cinnamon. Spread batter over apples and bake 30 minutes in moderate oven.

Prune Fritters
Pit stewed prunes and fill centers with pieces of cheese. Dip in slightly beaten egg then in dry bread crumbs and repeat. Fry in deep fat, heated to 390 deg. until golden brown. Serve hot.

Fig and Apple Mix
Boil dried figs for 5 minutes in water to cover. Drain and cut with scissors into strips. Combine with an equal amount of diced apple, and half as much cut celery. Add French dressing, and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise as garnish.

Macaroni Mold
3-4 cup macaroni
1 cup cream
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1-4 cup butter
1 tsp. green pepper
1 tsp. salt
1-2 cup grated cheese
1 tsp. chopped parsley
1 tsp. onion juice
3 egg yolks
3 egg whites

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender, drain, and add scalded cream, add other ingredients in order given. Beat egg yolks until light before adding them. Lastly fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Set baking dish in a pan of hot water and bake about one hour. Serve creamed ham or other diced meat over this.

No Sugar Need to Can Rhubarb

There are various year-round ways of stretching the sugar ration, at the same time keeping monotony out of the wartime menu.

Rhubarb, now at its tender best, may be canned without sugar, and in this form will take less of sweetener when used in puddings and pies next winter.

Here is the method recommended by the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture:

Wash rhubarb thoroughly. Drain. Cut stalks in one-inch pieces. Do not peel. Place in preserving kettle, covering with close-fitting lid. Set over low heat, or in the oven, until sufficient juice is extracted to cover the rhubarb, which takes about 20 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars, adjust rubbers and tops. Partially seal. Sterilize in a water bath for 16 minutes, or in the oven 20 minutes at 250 F., then seal.

Strawberries, raspberries, blueberries, cherries, currants, plums and rhubarb can be packed in jars—crushed until the juice overflows, then sterilized. (A strong spoon measure is sufficient.) In sterilizing allow five minutes longer than the time required when syrup is added. Fruit put down in this way is excellent for pies and puddings.

Bread Baking Contest at Maple Leaf Grange

State Deputy Master Roy Hapgood made his official visit to Maple Leaf Grange on Tuesday, June 16. He complimented the organization on the splendid advance in six months.

The hall has been newly decorated and the committee received many compliments. New members admitted were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cooper, C. H. Pease, Mrs. A. Windie, Bernice Murray, G. Kearns, Lillian Murdoch, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bergvein, Thos. McFarlane and Marjory Wilson.

Mrs. W. L. Carr gave a review of the activities, showing very satisfactory progress with membership 110.

Maple Leaf Grange Baking Contest will be held in the Hall at Kensington, Tuesday, June 30th. All members of this Grange are eligible.

The following have donated prizes: Donald E. Black, M.P., D. J. O'Connor, M.P.; Pringle, Stark & Co., 50 lb. bag flour; The Huntingdon Gleaner Inc.; W. K. Philips; Wm. Wilson; Jas. Fortune; Chas. J. Kyle; W. E. Barrie; J. A. Langevin; Gordon McHardy; W. S. Brown; Fred C. Moore; Clifford McHardy, roast.

The winner of the first prize in bread will be eligible to enter the Franklin County Baking Contest to be held at Adirondack in September. The first prize winner at this second competition will be eligible to enter the States of New York Baking Contest which will take place at the State Grange Session in the Fall.

CONTEST RULES

Each contestant is to enter one loaf of bread baked in single loaf tin about 9 x 4 x 4.

Miss Isabel McEwen, B.H.S., is to be the judge and the standard score card for state contest will be used.

Mrs. H. T. Wilson, Trout River, convener of Hospitality Committee will accept entries in the competition up to June 29th, and all entries must be in the Hall by three o'clock on the 30th June. Additional prizes are offered for the following:

Entry of 2 dozen doughnuts.
A committee was appointed for young people—Raymond McFarlane, Gordon Anderson, Jean Barrie and Marjory Elder.

Cherish the lipstick containers you now have on hand, girls! These and other such fancy devices as vanities, mascara cases, rouge and powder compacts are going to be mighty scarce. So are cold cream jars and bottles with metal and plastic tops.

The supply of most cosmetics themselves will probably be adequate if women use no more than they need, but the necessity for use of nearly all kinds of metals in the war effort requires that jars be made only with paper, or other non-permanent lids. Old containers that can be used over and over again for refills are now among the "musts" on the personal salvage list.

Fats are vitally necessary. From 20 lbs. we get 2 lbs. glycerine, which produces 4 lbs. nitroglycerine, which in turn supplies enough cordite to throw a shell at an enemy submarine.

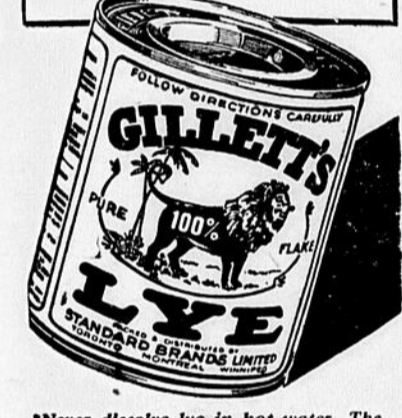

The grand total of salvage collection and contribution is the result of individual good work, but, sad to say, it may be marred by individual human frailty. This is especially true in the rural community where everybody knows everybody else. Somebody with the necessary capability and energy does marvellous work in some line of public welfare but, alas! pursues a blameworthy course in another direction.

His Mother ...

I've been watching a train go out to-day—
The train that has taken my boy away—
Taken him far from my care, and ken,
Into the battle, like other men.
But I'm not going to hang my head and repine,
Because they have need of this son of mine.
No. Can't you see, by the good Lord's grace,
I'm wearing a smile all over my face.

I'm proud of the fact that he gave his all—
Youth, brains, and strength at a country's call;
And, because he is oh so dear to me,
I would I were just what he'd have me be—
Sending the home fire's tender light
Into his heart through the darkest night;
Standing beside him, brave and true,
Carrying on, and smiling through.

I'm not going to fuss if my heart's woe break,
I, too, have a task for my country's sake.
Nor am I with folded hands to sit
While there's work to be done, or a sock to knit.
I've enlisted to-day in an army brave—
The army of mothers who toll and save,
And I must be patient, and quick to give,
That war may end sooner because I live.

No one will know if my sight grows dim,
When I long for his voice, and his laughing eyes,
And I think of the horror that sweeps the skies,
When I think of this war, as it really is,
And the part in the fray that will soon be his;
And my soul cries out for the time, now fled,
When I kissed him "good night" in his little bed.

But shadows will fade at the silver dawn,
When another day, full of hope is born,
I might get a letter, or maybe two,
And the sun will shine, and the sky be blue.
And so will I be, whilst the nation's fight,
The prayer on my lips, both day and night—
That may be aided, by low diving,
And I may prove worthy, this son of mine.

ENA CONSTANCE BARRETT
Curling, Newfoundland.

DAHLIA'S WHATNOTS

Salvage Still—
After making her contribution in the salvage drive, the housewife perhaps breathes a sigh of relief with a sense of duty well and completely done. But will there be no more such efforts?—no more needed? It would be grand to be able to say "No more, for the war is soon to be over." But alas! the war clouds seem blacker than ever and we shall be safer to keep right on collecting as heretofore, or rather more assiduously.

A letter from Ottawa says, in part: A lot has been heard about rubber salvage; a great deal more is going to be heard. Almost every major war project would stop if all the rubber necessary to it were withdrawn. And the effect of the Pacific war is perilously close to that. Luckily, there is a way to mitigate the loss of rubber imports. That way is salvage of all rubber articles possible. Here is a list of some such articles: Stair treads, mats, rubber overshoes, gum-boots, heels and soles, gloves, aprons, bathing caps and suits, syringe bulbs, sponges, garden hose, dolls, toys, animals, furniture casters. These and other things more readily thought of will make a valuable contribution to the war effort.

Canada is asking for 30 lbs. waste paper per family per month. We are warned that, to avoid fire hazards, waste paper should not be stored in moist or thick piles.

Tinfoil is needed more than ever. Grocers are reminded to save it from around cheese. The Ottawa War Refugee Committee pays freight on unsorted foil from any point in Canada.

Scrap iron and steel are urgently required. Old German guns will help show Hitler what the Allies mean. The one which stood in front of Havelock Town Hall has gone to help win victory.

Even one newspaper from every Canadian home every week for a year would provide enough fibreboard to pack 5,000,000 2-pounder shells for tanks. Paper, rubber, and rags, can be used over and over again.

White cotton rags are essential for use as machine wipers in war plants and also in airplane service depots. The letter says of such rags, "They are terribly important."

Fats are vitally necessary. From 20 lbs. we get 2 lbs. glycerine, which produces 4 lbs. nitroglycerine, which in turn supplies enough cordite to throw a shell at an enemy submarine.

The grand total of salvage collection and contribution is the result of individual good work, but, sad to say, it may be marred by individual human frailty. This is especially true in the rural community where everybody knows everybody else. Somebody with the necessary capability and energy does marvellous work in some line of public welfare but, alas! pursues a blameworthy course in another direction.

GOOD GODDESS

Hindu deities can take legal action against humans. Not long ago an author wrote unfavorably about a prominent goddess. The temple priest appointed a Calcutta lawyer. Through him, the goddess sued the writer for slander.

British statistics inform us that from November till July over 1,550,000 tons of material was salvaged by local authorities and sent back to industry for $14,000,000, and outside of these figures there is a large amount of other voluntary work.

In Winnipeg 1700 voluntary workers collected in one month 10 carloads of paper, more than 2 1/2 carloads of iron, two carloads of broken glass, a carload of bottles, a carload of rubber; more than 14 tons of rags, and more than 12 tons of bones.

The Master Plumbers' Association of Ottawa have planned to ask customers to donate broken plumbing, etc. So far they have gathered over 50 tons of metal.

In one city school children made $130, by collecting rags.

In St. Paul's announcements are made from the church pulpit from time to time instructing parishioners on salvage details.

A new motto put out in connection with the salvage effort says: She that relaxes helps the Axis.

SOLDIER FINDS HIS FATHER'S OLD PONTIAC ENGINE IN AUSTRALIA AFTER JAP RAID

St. Louis Falls, S.D.—A South Dakota soldier found a familiar piece of scrap iron in Australia after a Japanese air raid.

Curtis Ewing, former state highway patrolman, wrote home: "Picked the engine of a 1929 Pontiac out of the back end of one of jeeps after a Jap raid. It has the name Ray Ewing on it. Guess pop should have hung onto the old wreck until we quit selling scrap to the Jap."

Veal is Plentiful And Adds Variety

Most of the veal on the Canadian market comes from calves of dairy herds and is usually plentiful at this time of year. It lends itself to a variety of dishes, hot and cold.

Contrary to a widely held opinion, searing does not keep in meat juices. It does give brown colour in beef, pork and lamb, but veal should not be seared because of the surface becoming dry and unpalatable.

Here is a suggested menu with veal for the meat dish:

Roast shoulder of veal
Brown gravy
Mashed potatoes
Spinach
Whole wheat bread
Red currant jelly
Strawberry tarts.

Stuffed Shoulder of Veal

Have bone removed from a 5-lb. shoulder of veal. Wipe with a damp cloth. Fill the cavity with bread or potato stuffing. Roll and tie in place. Place on a rack in roasting pan and roast in a moderately slow oven (325 F.-350 F.) Allow 25 to 35 minutes to the pound. This roast should be basted several times in cooking. If there is not sufficient fat in the pan baste with melted fat. Yield 6 to 8 servings.

PRESERVING REGULATIONS ARE GENEROUS

The regulations of Wartime Prices and Trade Board permitting extra purchases of sugar for preserving of canning on the basis of half a pound of sugar for every pound of fruit for preserving in light syrup, and three-quarters of a pound for every pound of fruit for jam or jelly refer, it has been learned, to the weight of the fruit before it has been prepared, rather than when hulls, stones, etc., have been removed.

Health Notes

SUNBURN IS DANGEROUS

Sunburn is among the dangerous seasonal ailments according to industrial medical authorities who state that during summer months it causes a greater loss of working time than any other ailment. Dr. Gordon Bates, General Director of the Health League of Canada warns. This year due to the urgency for wartime production in Canada's industries and farms, medical men suggest that people should be on guard against excessive exposure, especially on week-end outings and picnics.

For those who are only moderately sunburned, medical men suggest use of a tannic acid jelly preparation or application of tannic acid solution in packs to burned parts. This can be used liberally and is an inexpensive remedy. Solutions should be used while still fresh or prepared with distilled or sterile water.

Physicians warn against the use of grease, especially in badly burned cases, because in case of infection the doctor must first remove the grease, a process which may be painful to the patient.

WE ARE BEHIND THE MEN BEHIND THE GUNS

MINISTER OF NATIONAL DEFENCE

OTTAWA.

To the Citizens of Canada.

It has been decided to mark the period from June 29th to July 5th, 1942, as "Army Week". The purpose is to give the people of Canada an opportunity of expressing their pride in the Canadian Army and honouring the Gentleman in Battledress, the Nursing Sisters and the Members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

During Army Week, citizens will have an unusual opportunity of seeing the Army at work. Each day has been set aside for some specific purpose. Monday, June 29th, for instance, has been made "Soldier's Day" when the public will be invited to send gifts and parcels to the men overseas and when they can entertain the men at dances and other special entertainments. The next day, June 30th, is "Civilians' Day", when civilians will be asked to prepare meals on a food ration system and restaurants will serve meals identical to those served to Canadian soldiers. On Dominion Day there will be garrison parades and special military demonstrations. The 2nd, 3rd and 4th of July will equally be devoted to enabling Canadians to learn at first hand various phases of Army activities.

Army Week will wind up on Sunday, July 5th, when the public will be invited to attend church services in Army camps and barracks, and special prayers will be offered for the members of the Armed Forces. On that day, camps will be open to the public and demonstrations and displays of barracks and camps will be arranged.

As Minister of National Defence, I am intensely proud of the men and women in khaki and of the women in Nursing Service blue who are serving Canada. I am sure that my fellow Canadians feel just as I do. I extend a most cordial invitation to all of you to express this well deserved appreciation by joining in the events of Army Week.

Yours very truly,

ONE OF THE ARMY OF "MOCO" WORKERS

Pretty Helen Lalonde, of Valleyfield, smiles as she goes about her work of "drawing in ends" at the Montreal Cottons plant here in Valleyfield. The yarns on which she is working will come off the loom as aircraft fabric for our front-line fighting planes and bombers. Miss Lalonde is just one of the thousands of Valleyfield citizens who are helping to win the war by conscientious attention to her daily work. (Public Information Photo)

Ormstown Cadet News.—With the end of the school year, No. 1017 Ormstown High School Cadets have completed a full year of diversified training in compliance with the new regulations of the Cadet Services of Canada. Since last September the Corps has completed over 100 hours of training of various sorts including fieldcraft, squad, platoon and company drill, physical training and small arms training. Associated subjects such as signalling, first aid, knots and lashings, aircraft recognition and map reading were also taken up during the year. The corps at full strength numbered 48 cadets under the command of Cadet Captain Wilbur Hamilton, with Lieuts. Douglas Macdonald and John Sloan as platoon commanders. Erskine McClintock was the Company Sergeant-Major. After the school closes, about twelve members of the corps are to attend the Cadet Camp at Mr. Bruno from June 29 to July 4. The Cadets are to be under the command of their instructor, 2/Lieut. Thos. Chadsey (C. S. of C.), with Cadet-Lieut. Jack Sloan as leading Cadet. Scout and Guide Farewell Camp Fire.—The Ormstown Scouts and Guides held their annual Campfire and Get-together last Saturday evening on the property of Mr. Charles Moe. The two groups met near the post office, divided into two groups, and were given the first clue as to the route they were to take to the camp fire; other clues were to be picked up en route. Both parties arrived at the rendezvous within a few minutes of each other, all out of breath. The festivities were simple, and therefore the more enjoyable. A number of songs, both old and new, were sung; among these were "The Good Old Summer Time" and "The Artillery Song." Scouts John Moffat, Archie Moe and Thomas Chadsey put on a rather off-key version of that old favorite, "Johny and Juliet." The Guides countered by a group song. Skits were put on by both groups. Carita Orr and Shirley Parkinson dramatized "South of the Border" while a short skit on doctors and their absent-mindedness was put on by Scouts John Taylor, Merrill Stalker, Bill Gartshore and Stuart Duncan. A feature of the evening's performance was the presentation of farewell gifts to Guide Captain Mary MacPherson and Scoutmaster Thomas Chadsey, who are both leaving their respective groups. Troop Leader John Moffat presented Scoutmaster Chadsey with an engraved silver cigarette case from the Ormstown Troop and Committee, while Shirley Parkinson presented Miss MacPherson with a silver dish from the Guide Local Association, and Carita Orr presented her with a gold Guide Pin from the Guide Company. Mr. Cullen, chairman of the Scout Committee, was also present. Among the recent promotions in the Ormstown Troop are those of Patrol Leader John Moffat to Troop Leader; Patrol Second Merrill Stalker and Willard Greig as Patrol Leaders of the Duck and Moose Patrols respectively, and Bob Younie as Patrol Second of the Otter Patrol. During the past month, John Moffat and Merrill Stalker also qualified for their King's Scout badges.

AGRICULTURE MARCHES WITH OUR ARMED FORCES

Behind the lines where men and women are risking life to defend home and country, other men and women are toiling to supply the materials of war—ships, planes, tanks, guns. These manufacturers—management and workers alike—are thus fighting shoulder to shoulder with our armed forces.

But what about the farmers? They are doing a work of equal importance. They too are marching to battle, by toiling early and late to persuade nature to increase food and other essential supplies on which the issues of the fight so greatly depend. The farmer marches side by side with the soldier and his armourer.

Farmers who are doing their bit to help Canada's all-out war effort may find it necessary to borrow money at the Bank. You should not hesitate to discuss your requirements with our nearest branch manager. Your business will be regarded as strictly confidential.

Canadian Dental Corps Develops Unique Mobile Clinic For Use by Armed Forces

Travelling behind the German lines on the Western Desert after Rommel's Army had been pushed back again by the British Forces in Libya, war correspondents were amazed to come upon completely equipped dentist's surgeries fitted with elaborate chairs.

This equipment, modern as it was reported to be, is not one whit better than the mobile clinics of the Canadian Dental Corps, designed and produced in the Dominion, which combine portability and ease of operation with innovations not yet conceived by the German High Command.

Production of these clinics on wheels is another tribute to the scientific approach to military problems so brilliantly exemplified in the person of Lt.-General A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the 1st Canadian Army.

The original plans were prepared by the Canadian Dental Corps headquarters and these were improved upon on consultation with Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps experts. Now the mobile dental clinics have been authorized by the Department of National Defence for use in the field and organizations and communities are vying with each other for the honour of presenting clinics to the Dental Corps.

MANY PROBLEMS SOLVED

In order to put a complete dentist's surgery on wheels, many problems had to be solved by Col. Frank Lott, director of Dental Services for the Canadian Navy, Army and Air Force, and his staff.

They had, first of all, to consider that one of the dominant characteristics of the present war is movement.

Each unit of the armed forces must be able to move rapidly for long distances, and on short notice. The original ideal of the Canadian Dental Corps was to bring dental treatment to the troops close to the line. But, it was not long after the outbreak of the war when it began to be apparent that there might be no line and that continual movement might be necessary.

Consequently, the original ideal had to be modified. If the troops might be constantly moving, the Dental Corps must be prepared to move with them. And so, by the summer of 1940, from trucks that would carry the dental personnel and their kits to new quarters, the conception changed to mobile clinics that would not only move the operators, technicians, assistants and orderlies to new fields, but would themselves serve as clinics, laboratories or X-ray darkrooms upon occasion when those fields were reached.

GRANTED AUTHORITY

National Defence Headquarters granted authority for the construction of a pilot model. An investigation was made as to the relative merits of trailers and trucks. After consideration of the experience of known types of travelling dental clinics and having in mind the demands of war, the truck was unhesitatingly favoured.

Among problems that had to be solved were the obvious ones of providing water, light, heat, ventilation, electric power and thermal insulation. Experts of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps were called in and their enthusiastic co-operation and experience in vehicle designing solved all the problems involved.

The mobile dental clinic chassis is a standard army type with four-wheel drive and a winch operable from either end to pull it out of any predicament too serious for the four-wheel drive to handle. The vehicle is equipped with a 2,500-watt gasoline-driven generator, equipment using the electrical supply of the country or district in which the clinic is operating. The output is sufficient to activate the operating light, operating motor, sterilizer, etc., for the operator. If the truck is being used as an X-ray laboratory, it is sufficient to activate the X-ray machine. This generator is lifted out of the vehicle and operated on the ground to prevent the possibility of unpleasant vibration for the dental operator.

The unit is known as a "mobile" dental clinic. In justification of this term, it should be noted that all equipment can be packed and the clinic be under way in less than five minutes.

The generosity of many friends of the Corps in providing these clinics has been greatly appreciated. Although they have been authorized but a short time, several have already been donated by various dental groups, welfare organizations and private individuals.

The tea and food sale held on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. G. Gibson, was favoured with splendid weather, enabling the ladies to hold the affair under the shade of the trees on the lawn. The address by Miss Dorothy Douglas carried her listeners with her to the far-away island of Formosa, with its beauty and fine native Christians, where everything is dominated by the Japanese, even all lucrative positions being held by them. Should a native Formosan succeed in obtaining such a means of livelihood, by any chance, he is surely dismissed before he might become eligible for a pension. Preparations for post-war missions and prayers today for our brother Christians were asked. Rev. W. H. Brown followed Miss Douglas with brief and earnest words of appreciation. Proceeds amounted to $23.56.

STILL CARRYING LOAD

General Summerwell, commander of U. S. Army supply services, told in New York that U. S. production of airplanes, tanks, guns and munitions now exceeds Germany's, or would shortly. That is good news. But as yet, Britain's production is greater than that of the United States. The British Empire, which has carried the load for two and a half years, carries it still.

During "Army Week" and always, make it your business to give the boys in khaki a welcome hand.

LIVELY LUNCHES

Here are some attractive suggestions about keeping Dad well nourished and pleasing his palate even though war work may force him to take his lunch on the job. He can't be a good war worker unless he's well fed, especially at lunch time, according to food experts. What follows has been endorsed by leading dietary experts, including Dr. E. W. McHenry, chairman of the Nutrition Division of the Health League of Canada.

- Invigorating Sandwiches:
 Minced beef with salad dressing.
 Peanut butter with lettuce and marmalade or jam.
 Minced liver with salad dressing.
 Salmon loaf with salad dressing.
 Chopped egg with salad dressing.
 Grated cheese with salad dressing.
 Cabbage and carrot salad with salad dressing.
 Grated cheese and peanut butter with salad dressing.
 Mashed baked beans with catsup.
 Cottage cheese with marmalade.
 A fruit paste made from raisins or dates.
- (Confidential P.S.—Spread the fillings thick and don't hold back on the butter—and spread a little wheat germ on peanut butter sandwiches; he won't notice it and it'll do him good. Wheat germ has the "Z" or "Zip" vitamin.)
- Fruit—Oranges, apples, prunes, dried apricots, or any fruit you have handy. Put in lots of it.
- Vegetables—Raw carrots, crisp and clean, prevent night blindness. Or celery if you can't sell him on carrots.
- Milk—At least a half pint in a handy container.
- Nicknack—End on a high note with something he really goes for, such as a piece of cake or a slab of pie.
- Clip this article for reference, and look for next week's wartime nutrition article. Write to the Health League at 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, for a free vitamin chart suitable for framing in your kitchen.

Obituary
THE LATE
REV. HARRY WALKER,

On May 31st, 1942, there passed on to his eternal reward a fine and noble soul in the person of the late Reverend Harry Walker, S.T.L., B.D., brother-in-law of the late William F. Stephen of Huntingdon and Ottawa.

Rev. Mr. Walker came from attendance at East Keswick College near Leeds in the year 1888, together with Rev. George Mossop, now of Aymer East, Que., and I. Nelson, now of Clarenceville, to enter the work of the Methodist ministry in Canada. Having graduated in the Wesleyan Theological College and in McGill University he entered upon the work of his chosen career. During his probationary period he served the church in Kensington, P.Q. in the Montreal Conference where he met Miss Margaret Stephen, which lady was destined to share with him the labors and triumphs of the Christian ministry. After his ordination they were united in the bonds of holy matrimony and thus began that blessed career of service which continued unbroken for forty years. Most efficiently they labored in many fields in Ontario and Quebec, greatly beloved by all their respective peoples. On their retirement from the work in Canada at this time they elected to cross the seas for a while to the scenes and to the church of youth. They were appointed in a supernumerary relation to serve the Wesleyan Church at Skerton, where three most delightful years of service were rendered. At the close of this period Mrs. Walker's health began to be undermined. After some time of increasingly growing feebleness she passed on to join the choir invisible, leaving behind her a very lonely man. Life together with them had been one of perfect bliss, hence the pain of separation. They had fully intended returning to Canada to lay down their armor in the closing days, but it was not to be.

Mr. Walker became very actively connected with the General Ministerial Association of the city where they resided under the continued presidency of the Bishop of the Anglican diocese. In this close and friendly fellowship of the Bishop, in his labors as chaplain of the infirmary, he found great delight and satisfaction and continued therein up to a short time before his passing, on Sunday, May 31, 1942. He was laid to rest beside his beloved on the 4th of June, the day his Canadian Conference completed its labours for another year.

Mr. Walker was a man of fine mind and keen intellect, whose pupil deliverances always appealed to the mentally alert, and, sharing his sweet assuring messages of grace with one and all. There remain to survive him two brothers, ministers of the Methodist Church of England, the beloved people he served on his English field and the many friends and brethren in the ministry in Canada, who knew so well his real worth. "Servant of God, well done. Thy glorious warfare's past. The battle's fought, the race is run And thou art crowned at last." I. NELSON.

GARDEN FOR VICTORY
 Grow Vitamins at Your Kitchen Door

If June has come with no seeds sown, there is still time to have a flower garden. Suppose you demanded a combination of flowers which would germinate in five days (in warm weather) and flower in 30 to 40. Here are some you might get. Zinnias, ageratum, alyssum, candytuft, centaurea, clarkia, cynoglossum, annual sunflowers, morning glories, annual pinks, leptosyne, linaria, marigolds, poppies.

Such a list might be very much enlarged by including varieties which will germinate in a week or ten days. But it would be interesting to see what sort of garden could be made of just a few flower families, seeking interest by using different colours and types.

Take zinnias for example—they could hardly be omitted from a garden of annuals. There are the small-flowered singles, the staminal liliptub doubles, the intermediate or "pumila" type and the giant flowered varieties. They give an abundance of pink, red, orange and yellow varieties with a few lavenders. A whole border might be planted mostly to zinnias, provided one used enough ageratum, cineraria and cynoglossum to introduce the needed blue tones.

Then there are the nasturtiums.

NASTURTIIUMS ARE EASILY GROWN AND WILL FURNISH BOUQUETS UNTIL FROST.

Flowers are finest in the last half of the season, usually improving until frost arrives.

For VICTORY which will be ours when the boys in khaki get into the fray. That is why we are to honor them during "Army Week." Let's all do our part and make this week a real success here.

CLEAR TELEPHONE LINES FOR All-Out Production

Canada's Airpower Takes Right-of-Way

Airpower will win this war... airpower plus navy — airpower plus army — airpower plus total resources.

The Commonwealth Air Training Plan is producing airpower at top speed: 4000 training planes flying a million miles a day from 92 training centres; 5000 more being delivered this year from Canadian factories; soon 25 Canadian squadrons in Britain, more to follow.

This vast programme means literally thousands of additional telephone calls, urgent calls, calls that must get through promptly if the job of fitting wings to Empire is to proceed without delay.

Perhaps your telephone line doesn't carry messages directly concerned with Canada's production of airpower. But avoiding delays on your line helps clear others that do, because yours is part of an interlocking system. So... avoid delays, use War-time Telephone Tactics and help speed Canada's wartime production.

WARTIME TELEPHONE TACTICS

- BE SURE you have the right number... consult the directory.
- SPEAK distinctly, directly into the mouthpiece.
- ANSWER promptly when the bell rings.
- BE BRIEF. Clear your line for the next call.
- USE OFF-PEAK hours for your Long Distance Calls.

These things may look trifling, but on 6,500,000 daily telephone calls, they are very important.

Howick

Mr. Henry Hadley of Lachute, is visiting with relatives at Georgetown and Howick.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was dispensed in the Georgetown Church on Sunday. Preparatory service was held on Friday previous, four new names were added to communion roll.

The June meeting of the W.M.A. met in the United Church, on Tuesday, June 15, at the usual hour, with Mrs. Gray officiating. The devotional exercises were taken by Mrs. James McKell and the scripture lesson was on the 23rd Psalm. It is the most loved of all the Psalms and is some times referred to as the "Nightingale", because of its beauty and comfort. Mrs. John Greig in her temperance notes gave an account of the early life of Mary Slessor; her work later on as a missionary, and her fight against liquor, due in part to the trouble caused by drink in her own home. Mrs. Cameron gave the current events. Mrs. Gray then read a short address written in honour of sixty years of service in the Women's Missionary Society by Mrs. James McKell. Mrs. McKell became a member in 1882 and served many years as secretary. She has also served as president and corresponding secretary, which position she still holds. In the early days meetings were only held every three months and alternately at Georgetown and Knox Church. Mrs. McKell was asked to come forward and Mrs. E. R. Ness presented her with a Book of Psalms, bound in leather, to which Mrs. McKell made a suitable reply, recalling some of her earlier experiences. Mrs. Robt. Roy had with her a copy of the first minute book used in 1882 and read from it many interesting excerpts. The meeting closed with prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Barter of Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Kerr. Miss Ruby Rember was a week-end guest of her friend, Miss Norma Rolison.

Shower For Bride-to-be.— On Saturday evening, June 20th, the Misses Mildred and Norma Rolison and Mrs. Ralph Logan entertained at a miscellaneous shower, at the Rolison home, in honour of Miss Reta Robertson. A decorated wagon was drawn into the room by June Rolison, upon which were many beautiful and useful gifts. The bride-to-be then responded in a few well chosen words. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by their mothers and Mrs. Wallace Logan.

The boys in khaki are tops this week and every week.

Let's give them a good time during "Army Week."

Athelstan

The Woman's Missionary Society met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gardner. The programme topic, "Bales Go A-Travelling", was interesting and helped to make the members realize how much happiness the contents of these bales brought to so many. The missionary lesson was on China. A temperance item was given by the secretary. The meetings will be discontinued for the months of July and August. A bale of summer clothing was packed for the Supply Department, Montreal. The hostess served refreshments.

The regular monthly meeting of the Sunshine Mission Band was held on Sunday with Mrs. W. Dawson in charge. The Missionary story for the day was a most interesting one, pertaining to a Chinese lad who worked his way through life and has now become one of the outstanding missionaries in China today. The usual temperance story was also given.

Miss Mary Munro returned on Saturday from Lava des Rapides, where she has been visiting friends for the past few weeks.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Bouthillier were Mr. and Mrs. George Roy of Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burgess and Mr. Hugh Burgess of Verdun, Mr. and Mrs. H. Legaré and daughter, Miss Jacqueline Prevost, Miss Jean Prince, Mrs. Robert Wallace and Messrs. Jas. Heron, F. Prud'homme, W. Charbonneau and Walter Smith, all of Montreal.

Aubrey-Riverfield

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Walker, nee Hattie Clyde, of Calgary, who have been visiting friends at Lachute, Valleyfield and Huntingdon, recently spent a day the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goundrey. Week-end guests at this home were their son L. A. C. Alan Goundrey, of St. John's, Que., and his friend, L. A. C. Douglas Renton, of Brandon, Man., who also visited his brother who is training in Huntingdon.

Douglas Cameron, of Verdun, is spending his holidays at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Geo. Robb. Week-end guests at this home were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cameron, Mildred and Kenzie, Mrs. Grace Lewis and Mr. Keith Robb, all of Verdun, Que.

Kilbain

Miss Savage of Montreal, is a guest at the home of Mrs. James Smythe.

WEEK AT OTTAWA

not the simple one—which did apply in large measure in the last war—of getting men for overseas. Not only must our war effort be balanced, said Mr. Howe in his speech to parliament, but we must give special attention to matters "in respect of which our geography and climate impose special obligations." The training of airmen is one of these and Canada has certainly lived up to its obligations in air training. Mainly because of our huge water power resources Canada is manufacturing about 40 per cent of the aluminum used by the allied nations. We mine 95 per cent of the world's nickel, so important in war industry, and our task in producing essential foods is being well done. There are now about 800,000 engaged in war industry, one out of every six being a woman, and there are more than 500,000 in the armed forces. About 28,000 are going into industry each month and another 20,000 into the armed forces. Canada's manpower is coming to the point of some strain. Mr. Thorson told the house that with the present call of single men from thirty to thirty-five years of age for compulsory training, the time is approaching when no more single men or widowers without children will be available for the armed forces.

There is at the same time a grim-jawed demand for conscription from many quarters. Mr. Ross Gray of Lambton is one of its exponents. The crucial period he has said, is the year 1942. "That is not my opinion. It is the opinion of military experts of the United Nations." It is the stand being taken by most, if not all, of the Conservative members but the exact alignment of opinion in the commons on the controversial subject of conscription, its efficacy, the time it should be adopted if at all, has not yet been fully clarified. Many French Canadian members are opposing the bill to free the government's hands, "because," as one member expressed it, "it leads fatally to conscription."

and "Conscription" for a variety of reasons has become to some people about as friendly and agreeable a word as "rattlesnake." As the minister of justice said in the course of his speech, "No thinking person can have any objection to the government resorting to conscription for overseas service in the event of absolute necessity." If the bill passes it will be the responsibility of the government to say when such a situation has arisen.

There is nothing permanently fixed about the oil regulations. They are certain to change from time to time in response to changes in conditions of transport, but for the present the gas unit has been lowered from 5 to 4 gallons in Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia, with the prairie provinces remaining at 5 gallons. In the maritimes the present 2 gallon unit will, it is hoped, be raised by the end of the month to 3. The situation in regard to oil heating in homes has been eased to some extent but private car owners who use their cars for pleasure alone will find themselves placed in a new category, double A instead of A, with a reduced allotment of gas.

This is the week of a new budget, but a budget these days has come to be accepted stolidly, however grim may be the tidings it brings. The reason for this is that Canadians have become accustomed to, though naturally far from pleased with, the growing financial burdens of the war, and have very considerable confidence in the administration of the country's financial affairs. Annual war costs are now about $3,000,000,000, which with the $500,000,000 for non-war expenses will have to be covered by taxes and loans, roughly one half by each.

If it is not already on its way to Rationing Headquarters you should

MAIL YOUR APPLICATION CARD FOR COUPON RATIONING AT ONCE!

After July 1st no one will be able to purchase sugar for regular domestic use without turning in a ration coupon.

Application cards for coupon rationing for sugar have now been mailed to every household in Canada. But, in an undertaking so vast, some homes may have been missed, or some cards may have gone astray. So, no matter where you live, whether it is in areas served by letter carrier or not, if your application card is not already on its way to Rationing Headquarters, you should wait no longer.

After filling in the card, according to the instructions on the pamphlet which was delivered with it, just drop the card in the nearest mail box or post office. It needs no forwarding address.

IF YOU HAVE NOT RECEIVED AN APPLICATION CARD you should get one at the nearest Post Office at once.

The ration cards being issued for use July 1st are for sugar only, and good for 10 weeks. At the end of that period a coupon ration book good for 6 months will be issued. Under the new system of coupon rationing, you are allowed the same amount of sugar as at present—1/2 lb. per person per week. The same provision as at present for additional quantities for preserving and jam and jelly making will be continued. Special voucher forms for this purpose are being supplied all retailers.
