School Board to Be Visited Soon By Parent Group

Committee of Five Named at Meeting Here to Examine Argyle School Question—S. F. Kneeland, Superintendent Outlined Plans for Junior High School—Many Parents Protest Move.

A committee of five was appointed at a mass meeting of the parents of pupils of Argyle school at the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Tuesday night to approach the Westmount School Board and ascertain exactly the status of the new school building, now nearing completion, and to clear up the many rumors concerning this new institution.

S. F. Kneeland, superintendent of Westmount Schools, was the principal speaker of the evening and he outlined, in an unofficial capacity, his ideas regarding the new Argyle School about which the meeting was called.

The new scheme, Mr. Kneeland pointed out, is to change Argyle from a simple primary school into a Junior High school. This could be done, he said, by placing the pupils of the seventh, eighth and ninth standards in the new Argyle.

Canada, Mr. Kneeland pointed out, is the only country in the world in which the old-fashioned method of education is still in existence in its main proportion. The junior high school, he said, is to be found everywhere else, and has been proved indubitably a success.

Under the new plan, he said, pupils otherwise never reaching university would be given a chance to study vocational subjects preparing them for careers in life after they had left school. "Only ten percent of students in the first year of High School ever reach college," he said. "Why must the others be forced to take the same course, leading to a college degree, when they will never reach there?

"The proposed vocational school would provide courses in vocational subjects as a commercial course for both boys and girls, household science for girls, and manual training and kindred courses for the boys. The junior high school should be made up of students in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades who are just entering adolescence and who are at the proper age to be set in their proper sphere of life.

"These children," he said, "could be recommended by parents and primary school teachers for either the classical, or college preparatory, course, or the vocational as proposed."

He had been asked to make a study of the new idea, he said, and will turn in his report on the matter at the next meeting of the Board, which is to be held Monday evening.

Chief objection to the scheme was voiced by parents whose children, now in primary grades, were forced to walk long distances and across dangerous main traffic arteries to study at Kings, Queens or Roslyn schools. They approved of the junior high school idea but objected to its being tried at the present time with its results on their children.

Following his address Mr. Kneeland answered questions put to him by perplexed parents as regards the new Argyle School. He admitted that it would lead to some confusion, but urged that as it was for the good of the community as a whole personal objections should not be entertained.

The committee was finally selected and appointed, the movement for nomination being proposed by Mrs. Henry Hays and seconded by Mrs. Harkness.

The committee as selected consists of: Mrs. Harry Hays, Major Beaton, Mr. J. Robinson, Mr. G. H. Kohl and Mrs. Sperber.

The committee, it was decided, will approach the school board following Monday's meeting to determine exactly their stand on the matter.

Suggestion was also made that re-zoning of the school districts be made to provide for better facilities, but this proposal was held in abeyance until the board had been sounded on its plans for the Argyle school.

Over 200 were at the meeting. Mr. Hugh Miller was in the chair.

POLICE CAPTAIN LOSES BROTHER

Owen Broden, Brother of Local Captain of Detectives, Called By Death.

The funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. Roch Church of Owen Broden, for many years on the porters staff of the Windsor Hotel and brother of Captain Detective James Broden of Westmount, many friends and relatives attending.

Known to many Montrealers and visitors from the United States and elsewhere through his 30-year connection with the hotel staff. Mr. Broden was born in Ireland and first came to this country in 1901. He was first with the Montreal Tramways Company and then served with the Montreal Police Department for over a year. He then went to the Windsor Hotel.

He was in his fifty-second year and a member of the Hibernian Knights and of the Catholic Order of Foresters.

Mr. Broden is survived by his wife, nee Agnes Graces and by seven daughters. Three brothers, all in Montreal, also survive.

LOCAL PASTOR HAS RETURNED FROM TRIP

The Rev. J. A. Johnston, of Westmount Baptist Church, was a visitor in Ottawa Monday when he was the principal speaker at a rally of the Baptist Young People's Societies of that city.

From Ottawa Rev. Johnston went on to Toronto where he spoke before a mass meeting of the Toronto Baptist men held under the auspices of a special committee headed by S. J. Moore and Dr. A. J. Vining, president of the Baptist convention.

From January 28 to February 3 the Westmount pastor led a successfull evangelist meeting conducted by the Calvary Baptist Church in Toronto, of which church he was minister some years ago.

Rev. Johnston will preach in his own pulpit at both services Sunday, and has announced that his evening subject will be "What the Promise of Christ's Coming Again Means to Me".

Appropriate music will be rendered under the direction of Mrs. F. J. Hodgson.

Wednesday evening separate devotional meetings will be held by the men and women of the congregation and their friends, the men meeting in the main auditorium and the ladies in the lower hall. All will gather for a social hour. Both meetings start at eight o'clock.

"OUR MODERN BOOK" IS CALVARY TOPIC

A most interesting program has been arranged for the regular weekly meeting of the Calvary Young People's Society to be held at 8.15 p.m. Monday.

The program is in the capable hands of Miss Edith Mannard, convenor of Literature, music and arts. The subject will be "Our Modern Book" and it is expected to prove very interesting.

Irvine Brown, the president will be in the chair. All visitors will be cordially welcomed.

HOSPITAL CHOIR

The boys of Westmount "Y" will meet at the corner of Cote des Neiges and Cedar Ave., Sunday morning at 9.30 and will sing to the sick children in nine wards of the Children's Memorial Hospital. This "Y" Boys Hospital show has been caroling for 45 years.

TALK ON JOURNALISM

At a meeting of the Young Men's Cabinet of the local Y. M. C. A. last night, plans were completed for the Young Men's Division Supper to be held on Friday the 22nd. An address will be given on Journalism, to be followed with a trip through the Gazette.

Five Other Offspring Keep "Quints" Parents Busy

Quintuplets or no quintuplets, the daily life of the Oliva Dionne family goes on much as it did before the famous "quints" arrived. Here is the family in their humble home during a pause in the daily routine, shortly before the parents left to visit "the States." Father Oliva holds Pauline, who is not quite 2, the only blond among their children. Left to right are Theresa, 6; Rose, 7; Ernest (the oldest), 8; Mrs. Dionne, and Daniel, 3.

CHURCH ENDS YEAR OF FINE ENDEAVOR

Small Deficit Reported by Congregation of St. Andrew and St. Paul.

A year of fine endeavor has just been concluded by the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul, its members were told Monday evening at the annual meeting, when reports of the various organizations were presented.

Reference was made during the meeting to the tenth anniversary of the minister, Rev. George H. Donald, D.D., and in thanking the congregation for its loyalty Dr. Donald told the meeting that he had refused to consider taking a vacancy offered him in Glasgow Cathedral, as nothing would induce him to leave his people in Montreal.

"If a church is to be measured by its missionary zeal, interest in the poor, the unfortunate and the sick, and interest in the youth," he went on, "then this church has indeed enjoyed a very active and successful year."

The financial statement showed that revenue last year from all sources amounted to $55,342.98, a decrease of $2948.37. The cost of running the church was $45,304.-20, a decrease of $2,374.26. During the year more than $10,000 has been contributed to missionary work. A deficit of $45.85 was noted.

The mortgage was reduced $10,-000, due to gifts of $4000 from the Women's Guild, $1000 from the building fund and $5000 from Lord Atholstan. The enrollment is now 1288, an increase of 37 added, it was said.

Rev. Dr. Donald occupied the chair for the first part of the meeting, followed by Shirley Dixon, K.C., chairman of trustees. Archie Macfarlane acted as secretary. Reports were presented by the following: Dr. A. R. M. MacLean, kirk session; Rev. H. M. Gilmour, junior service. Bible class, hospital aid society, girls' friendly club; John McCallum, Sunday school; Mrs. Gordon McL. Pitts, women's missionary auxiliary and mission band; Mrs. D. J. MacLennan, Dorcas and Ladies' Aid Society; Miss Mary Macgillivray, young women's auxiliary; Mrs. F. W. Walker, flower committee; Miss Charlotte Macfarlane, Girl Guides; Thomas C. Fraser, Boy Scouts; Miss Dorothy King, Wolf Cubs; George A. Donald, badminton club; Mrs. Leslie Skelton, women's guild. Archie Macfarlane, financial statement; Shirley Dixon, board of trustees.

The retirement of two trustees, Sir William Stavert and Winthrop Brainerd was announced, and C. D. Rutherford and D. G. Macpherson were elected in their places.

Regret was expressed at the death of Dr. Daniel A. Murray. S. W. Ewing moved a vote of thanks to F. H. Blair, leader, and the choir; G. Ogilvie, to the ladies of the flower committee; and A. Macfarlane, to the ushering committee. The women's guild and Lord Atholstan were especially thanked, and a tribute was paid to Miss Vittie, assistant secretary-treasurer, and to Allan K. Starke, for his work in the church office.

CALVARY CHURCH NOTES

A special service will be held in Calvary Church, Greene avenue and Dorchester streets, Westmount, on Sunday. At the morning service the minister Rev. T. W. Jones will preach on the theme evangelism in the realm of industrial life, which is the theme appointed for the date in the campaign of evangelism now being conducted in the churches throughout Montreal.

It is admitted that one of the points of greatest need and one of the most difficult for effective ministry is that which is presented in the subject. Can industry be Christianized, or must the church be defeated upon this point. Has evangelism a message for this area of life. Is modern industry a machine without a soul. What would the Christianization of industry involve? All these and more the Rev. Jones will try to answer during his sermon.

The Sunday School and Men's Own Brotherhood will meet at three o'clock in regular session.

The evening service at 7.30 will be the occasion of a great masonic church gathering when the members of four Masonic lodges, Concordia, Westmount, Isaac Henry Stearns and Connaught unite for divine service.

The members of these lodges and visiting brethren are requested to meet at 7 o'clock in the Sunday School Hall where the order of procession into the church will be formed. A Masonic quartet will render official musical numbers while the sermon on "Religion On The Square" will be delivered by the minister of Calvary, Right Worshipful Brother, the Rev. T. W. Jones, M.A., B.D., who for the past year has been Grand Chaplain of District number one of the Grand Lodge of Quebec.

EXTRA NAMES

The names of Harrison Bros., Canada Bread Company and J. J. Meldrum were inadvertantly omitted last week from the Oxford Park Masquerade story." These companies contributed largely to the success of the event.

ST. MATTHIAS NEWS — NOTES

A supper-dance will be held tonight in the new Parish Hall of the Church. With the "Privateers", a popular Montreal Orchestra in attendance, it is expected that this dance will be of even greater success than former social events of its nature.

Owing to the great success of the three-day run of the famous Shakespearian play, "Much Ado About Nothing", the Dramatic Guild of the Church have definitely decided on re-enacting it in the near future.

LOCAL RESIDENT WINS AWARD FOR CLEAR DICTION

The annual meeting of the (Central) Women's Christian Temperance Union was held in Stevenson Hall February 6 when, in addition to reports, a program of entertainment was arranged for those attending the mid-winter conference in session at the Y.W.C.A.

The feature of the meeting was a silver medal contest in elocution when seven young ladies delivered Nellie McLung's drama "The Second Chance" in seven parts, Miss Margaret Hamilton of Victoria avenue being awarded the medal for her clarity of enunciation.

The judges were Mrs. W. G. Menzies, Rev. W. Orr Mulligan, and Major N. R. Trickey of the Salvation Army.

Miss Olive Smith performed several pianoforte selections.

The provincial president, Mrs. Henry Wilson, was in the chair and expressed delight at awarding three life memberships, when pins were presented Mrs. Agnes Durman, in recognition of her many years' valuable work as city missionary.

Mrs. James Mahon, provincial treasurer, and Mrs. H. Murray Gardner, medal superintendent were appointted. Mrs. F. E. Dougall was again elected president of the Women's Central Union.

CAMP LACLOUWHI ANNUAL REUNION

Fifty Five Enthusiastic Campers Attended Event Saturday at Westm't. 'Y'

The regular annual turkey dinner and camp reunion of Camp Laclouwhi was held at the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Saturday evening when 55 enthusiastic campers enjoyed hugely the renewal of friendships formed at camp, a fine dinner, and the showing of camp movies and lantern slides by Bill Spinney and Phil Gurd.

Fred W. Whittet, owner and director of Camp Laclouwhi, spoke briefly. He stressed the improvements made in the camp for the 1935 season, notably the addition of a stone fireplace in the dining and recreation pavilion and the inauguration of canoe tripping as a feature of the camp. Henry Holden, who will have charge of the canoe tripping and who has had many years experience in this branch of camp life, then spoke of some of his experiences at this outdoor pastime.

It was announced during the evening that John Lockhead, who last year had charge of the junior section, will this year operate the intermediate division.

The names of winners of special camp awards, which will be presented at the annual reunion of campers at Victoria Hall March 30, include: for "all-round" campers: junior section, David Morrison, intermediate James Kennedy, senior Peter Gregory; for tennis, Douglas Rattray and John Cooper; for boxing Edwin Skelton and Carl Lockhart.

Alex R. Hasley Will Address Calvary Club

The regular weekly meeting of the Square Circle Club will be held in Calvary Church Hall, Corner of Greene Avenue and Dorchester Street, Westmount, on Sunday, February 17th at 3:00 P.M. The guest speaker will be Mr. Alex R. Hasley, and the subject of his address is "The Meaning of a Liberal Education. Mr. Hasley is very well known for his ability on the platform, and he will undoubtedly have something to say which will be of interest to everyone.

ANNUAL MEETING OF I.O.D.E. GROUP WAS HELD FRIDAY

Margaret Hingston Chapter Fourteenth Year Completed—Substantial Balance.

A substantial balance was reported in the treasurer's statement for the past year in the fourteenth annual meeting of the Margaret Hingston Chapter of the I.O.D.E. held Friday at the home of the honorary treasurer, Mrs. R. B. Dillon at 4379 Western avenue.

The principal contributions toward the endowment fund of the order, the motion picture talking machine for the St. Anne's Military Hospital, the Royal Edward Institute, Catholic Social Service Guild and the educational fund.

The main source of revenue is the Attic Shop, from which generous donations were received from members and friends. Mrs. R. B. Dillon and Mrs. Roy Geddes were thanked for regular service in this work.

The pearl necklace booth, also in their charge, with junior assistants, at tthe I.O.D.E. Carnival last November, was also a profitable venture. The activities of members included a team for Poppy Day in Westmount district under Mrs. Roy Geddes, Christmas dinners for British emigrants, necessities for mothers and babies in the Detention Home, and new shoes, rubbers, socks and books for school boys.

On Empire Day the regent Miss Barry at the invitation of the Royal Empire Society addressed the Argyle school.

Two new members were introduced and four subscriptions to "Echoes" were reported by the secretary.

The officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

Honorary regent, Lady Hingston; honorary vice-regent, Mrs. F. F. Rolland; Mrs. L. E. F. Barry, regent; Mrs. R. Geddes, vice-regent; Mrs. R. B. Hingston, second vice-regent; Mrs. John Gallery, secretary; Mrs. R. B. Dillon, treasurer; Mrs. H. P. Nightingale, educational secretary; Miss Nesta Low, Echoes secretary; and Miss Dorothy Fricke, standard bearer.

REV. C. J. SMITH AT BROTHERHOOD SUN.

On Sunday, February 17th the guest speaker will be the Rev. Chas. George Smith, of the Temple Baptist Church, and an Hon. President of the Men's Own.

Bro. H. H. Clark, the organist, will contribute several piano and organ duets to the programme.

Any man desiring to spend a pleasant and helpful afternoon, visit Calvary Church at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 17th., and will be welcome.

On Sunday, Feb. 10th, they were favoured with a visit by one of Westmount's own, Rev. Geo. Innes, pastor of the Westmount Lutheran Church. His message was the full significance of the Witness Meeting recently held at the forum, referring specially to the spirit of fraternity existing among the Protestant clergy. This meeting, the speaker said, was the expression of a longing in the hearts of men, both clergy and laymen, of the definite presence of the Holy Spirit. Bro. Innes felt its purpose had been achieved inasmuch as the Church was taking issue with unrighteousness in every department of life, but stressed the need of every member in the Church endeavouring to assist the minister in his task.

WESTMOUNT HIGH DRAMATIC GROUP STAGE CONTEST

Fourth Form Public Speaking Event Will Be Held On Thursday Evening.

The Dramatic and Debating Society of Westmount High School will hold a big entertainment next Thursday evening when the Fourth Form public speaking contest will be held.

Ten or twelve orators of the graduating class, both boys and girls, will compete for the silver trophies.

The remainder of the evening will be devoted to the performance of two short plays by the members of the third form. The first is entitled "The Gift That Fell"; while the second is a comedy by A. A. Milne, "Wurzel Flummery." Both have been in rehearsal some weeks by the young actors who are taking part.

Admission is free and it is expected that the parents and "old boys" will manifest their interest by their presence.

WESTMOUNT PARK ANNUAL MEETING

Reports Received And Officers Elected For Current Year.

The Annual meeting of the Westmount Park United Church was held Wednesday with the Minister Rev. J. Lavell Smith in the chair and Mr. Arthur F. Bell acting as secretary. The Chairman paid warm tribute to the loyal and efficient services of the officials of the Church, to the officers of the societies and to Dr. Herbert Sanders, the gifted choirmaster. Cordial expressions of appreciation were conveyed to the Minister by Mr. John Hyde.

The report of the Clerk of Session, Mr. Duncan McLellan showed a net increase in membership of 39, the total being now 784.

The finances were reported to be in a satisfactory condition, there being a slight surplus of receipts over expenditure for the year. The total amount raised for all purposes was approximately $24,-000.00 of which $6,500.00 went for Missionary and benevolent purposes. The debt on the Church property was decreased by $2,100.00 during the year.

Mr. Edward Stanway and Mr. Miles G. Walker were elected elders. Mr. C. S. Madill was elected a trustee and Mr. Norman Fletcher, C.A., auditor. The following were elected to the Committee of Stewards for a three-year term: Messrs George Henderson, L. G. Bowker, Frank D. Farvis, C. S. Madill, R. J. Paterson, R. Brock Thomson, A. S. Walbridge, Arthur H. Webster.

Among those reporting were: Mr. R. B. Thomson and Mr. F. W. Sharp for the Stewards; Mr. B. D. Rogers for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund; Mr. A. D. Evans for the Session Fund; Mr. W. A. Crammond for the Auxiliary Fund; Mr. Arthur H. Webster for the Building Fund, Mr. H. I. Cornell for the Sunday School, Miss Clara Grindley for the Junior Congregation; Mrs. G. D. Robins for the Women's Missionary Society; Miss L. Hendry for the Evening Auxiliary; Mrs. J. L. Smith for the Excelsior Mission Circle; Mrs. J. L. Smith for the Excelsior Mission Circle; Mrs. D. G. Carter for the Mission Band; Mrs. V. S. Rice for the Women's Association; Mr. C. S. Madill for the Men's Association; Mr. H. P. Meyers for the Young People's Society; Mr. Howard Richardson for the Trail Rangers; Mr. H. E. Pettingill for the Bowling Club; Mr. R. H. Dawson for the Badminton Club and Dr. Herbert Sanders for the Choir.

STAMPS

The boys of Westmount "Y" are particularly fortunate in having Henry Phillips as leader of the stamp club, which meets in the Board Room every Saturday afternoon. The boys are learning how stamps are made, and all about the latest issues.

The boys are particularly interested in Canadian stamps and are making real progress in the King of Hobbies and Hobby of Kings.

Gold and Unemployment

News that the number of unemployed in Great Britain has been reduced to two million shows to what extent recovery has been accomplished. Indeed, Great Britain now has probably fewer unemployed, compared to her population, than any other country in the world except Norway, Sweden, and Russia. Coincident with the latest unemployment figures from the old country came the warning from Mr. Reginald McKenna, the noted British financier, that recovery would be arrested were the country to return to the gold standard. What is the relation between gold and employment? The answer might found if we strip money of all its superfluous theories and get back its primal function—as a medium of exchange; and gold, a commodity. Traditionally free-trade England, finding her trade avenues blocked with tariffs, found also that her gold was leaving the country in settlement for goods purchased, because foreigners selling in the British market, established credits which were ultimately satisfied with gold, the normal exchange of goods for goods being impossible without considerable handicap due to their excessive tariffs. But when Britain left the gold standard, her creditors had to satisfy themselves with commodities other than gold. They had their choice of withdrawing from the British market entirely, or taking goods in exchange for the goods sold, which course they naturally adopted. Britain's foreign trade has consequently increased greatly the past three years. While it is true that Britain has, particularly since 1932, raised tariff structures of her own, these have been comparatively low and have had little other effect than to raise the domestic price level; they have never been high enough to shut out foreign made goods. On the other hand, they have been a source of considerable revenue to the government and have directly contributed to reduction in taxes, which condition has somewhat balanced the rise in the domestic price level. It is when traffic become a blockade that they begin to wreak economic havoc.

It may sound a bit absurd to midwesterners but cottontail rabbits are being shipped to parts of Pennsylvania in the effort to give the animals a start there. They are regarded as a potential source of food in that heavily populated area. In this part of the country the rabbits are looked upon as the worst kind of pest. Rabbit hunts staged in the western part of Kansas net thousands of the animals. In fifteen western Kansas counties approximately 79,000 of the rodents were slain last week. Huge roundups are staged and hundreds of people tramp over great areas, driving the rabbits into tight enclosures and killing them with clubs or shooting them as they appear. Rabbits are very destructive to crops and are warred upon by the farmer as a matter of self protection.

Reports from the clothiers indicate that men's clothes will be gayer, more colorful this spring. There will be lavender shirts, yellow ties, pink shorts, wool suits flecked with red, and gay hatbands, handkerchiefs and socks. A leading clothier contends that this is a sign of the times, that in bad times men retire into somber apparel but as conditions improve they become more gay in their attire. It seems, on the other hand, that the idea was once expressed that bright colors buoyed up the spirit and that when a man put on a bright costume, his spirit was lifted accordingly. Be that as it may, regardless of whether the man is lifted by the color of his apparel or he chooses gay clothing because he is in good spirits, the outlook, if we are to judge by the preseason guesses of the clothiers as to what men will buy and wear this spring, is very good indeed.

The Mexican government has put planes to work patrolling the United States border. The plane promises to be very useful in this work. The vast stretches of United States-Mexican border cannot be successfully patrolled by men on foot or horseback except at great expense. It is impractical to use motorcycles or automobiles because of the lack of roads. The airplane can make quick trips and frequent ones along the border and direct by radio the work of the ground forces when parties are detected sneaking across the border with contraband.

A missionary in China and his wife were murdered, but an infant was rescued and carried to safety. News now comes that the marauders who committed the crime were captured and the chief of the band, who having been wounded had died and been buried, was excavated, his head cut off and nailed to a post in Tunki as a warning. Progress of Christian teaching is, we should say, not well advanced in that entire region.

Isn't it a curious fact that the man who can never get into your office to ask if you want your umbrella fixed can call you up by telephone in your office no matter how busy you are. And you drop everything and must talk umbrella mending with him. How abject we are under the arrogance of the telephone bell.

In the recent commonwealth elections in Australia the government candidates for the Senate polled 1,744,144 votes and the Labor party 1,356-184 votes, but the government elected 18 men as senators while the Labor party elected no candidates. This complete denial of a voice in parliament of 42 per cent, of the nation violates the principles of representative government, to which most British people subscribe, and makes out a clear case for a reform of the electoral system.

THE BOOK

. . . . . the first line of which reads, "The Holy Bible," and which contains Four Great Treasures . . . . . .

by BRUCE BARTON

CHARACTER IS BORN

A million sermons have been preached about Adam, berating him for his lost innocence. Adam was innocent in the Garden, in the same sense that the sheep were innocent, and the sheep are just as innocent now as they were then. But Adam in Eden had no character, and character is the one good thing which God alone does not create. It is a joint product.

Bruce Barton

Just what the sin was which is recorded under the symbol of the tree and its fruit we de not know. It is an admirable symbol. The birds in Eden pecked holes in the fruit of that tree, as of many others. No fruit-eating beasts held it in special regard. Adam's sin was something which was wrong for him but not wrong for beasts and birds, some act of unbridled lust or bloody revenge; and having done it, he knew instantly that it was wrong. Somehow, in this new green universe, remorse and repentance entered into the soul of a living creature; and character began.

"A being such as I should be capable of something better," he said to himself.

Why did he say it?

What made him say it?

How was it that he knew himself to be different from the beasts that perish? Why was he so sure that it was wrong for him and not for them to use his brief opportunity for all it was worth? What persuaded him that God cared?

No matter if the story in Genesis be an allegory; no matter if it summarize in the experience of one man a process which worked itself out through generations or centuries. The central fact remains, that one day somebody stood out against a background of innocent and contented animalism and assumed the self-consciousness and reproach which go with a moral nature. To that somebody, that Adam, we owe a debt which we can never repay. He was earth's first great hero.

Adam in the Garden, fattening on the fruits that grow without labor, has had too much attention. We care little for that brief inglorious period in his existence. It could not last long. Let us rather remember the later Adam, contending with thorns and thistles, trying hard to govern the rising generation which perplexed him as it has perplexed succeeding fathers, the Adam who earned his bread with the sweat of his brow, the Adam whose eldest son killed his younger brother, the Adam who courageously, uncomplainingly carried and handed down to his descendants a nature capable of responding to law and duty. That Adam is the first in honor as well as in time. He and Eve sent down to us the qualities that lift us out of the dust from which they came and back to which we, like them, return.

Dealing With

Domestic Relations Problems

Conducted By

LYON W. JACOBS, K.C.

PROBLEM

M. S., Queen Mary Road — submits that she married a widower several years ago with three children, two boys and one girl, the youngest being not a year old at the time of her marriage. The children are now all grown up. Her husband has passed away. He left practically all his assets to his children. M.S. submits that she is destitute and moreover her late husband's children are threatening to break up the home. She desires to know what her legal rights are in this matter.

ANSWER — I sympathize with you very much in your predicament. In view of the fact that your husband did not leave an estate of any means, it may be somewhat difficult to obtain material results for you in this matter. You speak of a gift that your husband made in cash to his children. Was this gift made to them during his lifetime or did he leave a will. You will appreciate that it is impossible, with the limited information contained in your letter, to satisfactorily solve your problem. I shall be very pleased to meet you at my office for the purpose of further discussing this matter in the hope that I may be of some assistance to you. In regard to obtaining support from the children, I may state that according to our law, that you have no claim against the children of your late husband but have absolutely a claim against your own children born lawful issue of your marriage with your first husband.

E.D.—submits that he loaned some money and received a note in acknowledgement of this loan. E.D. submits that part of the loan has been paid by the debtor but the latter has refused to pay the balance and he desires to know what are his legal rights.

ANSWER — You have a legal right to sue the maker of this note and obtain judgment against him and in satisfaction of this judgment proceed to a seizure of the seizable portion of his salary or household effects. You should consult any reliable legal attorney in Montreal who will handle this for you.

I. J. G. — Is Major Trickey a court officer?

ANSWER — Major Trickey is the court representative of the Salvation Army and to my personal knowledge has rendered very valuable humanitarian and constructive services in aiding the administration of justice in our City. Major Trickey is highly respected by judges as well as court officials and has never hesitated to assist and aid the underprivileged before our Courts of Justice.

G. E. C. submits—That he was a minor but signed a contract for an accounting course. He made three payments on account of this course and then returned the same to the Institute, informing them that it was impossible for him to continue payments. The amount of the contract is $165.00. The Institute refuse to cancel this contract without a further payment of $12.00 being made to them. G. E. C. desires to know whether he should make this payment or leave the whole matter in abeyance.

ANSWER—According to law, a minor cannot suffer lesion. However, much will depend in this case on whether you were working at the time you contracted for the purchase of this course and whether the course was of actual educational value to you. I am of the opinion that in order to avoid unnecessary litigation, it may be advisable for you to pay the sum of $12.00 without admission of any liability and solely subject to the condition that the contract be cancelled. It is absolutely essential, however, that the cancellation of this contract be agreed upon before any payments are made by you in this connection.

Hands Torn In Pulley

Caledonia, N.S.—H. Percy Hunt of South Brookfield, employed at the factory of the Nova Scotia Woodenware, was severely injured when his sleeve caught in the belt of the machinery, drawing his left hand between the belt and pulley. The first finger was torn away at the first joint and the thumb gashed the entire length. Two other fingers on the same hand were badly cut, and several fingers on the right hand were torn in trying to free his left hand.

TAXPAYERS HIT

Canada, with one of the smallest populations in the world, has the largest railway system in the world. The government owns it and the taxpayers are billed for a deficit of about $250 for every minute that it operates!

—Walter Winchell.

WEALTH . . . . . a song

In my boyhood I used to hear my mother sing a song which had been popular in her childhood, the refrain of which went:

"For Uncle Sam is rich enough
To give us all a farm."

It seems to me that too many people today have the same sublime faith in the ability of "Uncle Sam" to make everybody rich. But what was literally true in the 1860's and '70's is no longer true.

The Government was giving away public lands to practically all comers in those days, but it wasn't giving away money. It was merely giving people opportunity to create wealth, which is, of course, the product of labor applied to natural resources and nothing else.

What Government is giving to people now is neither wealth nor opportunity. It is merely money, and money which represents no wealth that has yet been created but which, being borrowed against the future, must be made good by the labor of future generations.

CONGRESS . . . . . today

Representative Dewey Short of Galena, Mo., has made a strong bid for the word-slinging championship of the 74th Congress. As a Republican who was elected to succeed a Democrat he feels entitled to say what he thinks, so he amused his Democratic colleagues the other day by remarking in a speech on the floor of the House that:

"This body has degenerated into a supine, subservient, soporific, superfluous, supercilious pusillanimous body of nitwits."

Those are bludgeon-like words, but unlikely to break any Congressional bones. I have seen no reports of anything approaching the rapier-like wit of some of the debaters of former days.

For that matter, it has been a long time since there has been a real debate in Congress. About the only member of either House who is listened to seriously when he takes a position in opposition to the majority is Senator Carter Glass of Virginia. I don't recall who it was that first called him, years ago, a "red-headed snapping-turtle," but he usually lives up to that name. Whenever it is known that Senator Glass is to speak the galleries are always crowded.

ELECTRICITY . . . . direct

The announcement that a way has been found to transmit direct current over long distances more economically than alternating current is now transmitted may foreshadow a revolutionary change in many ways.

Nikola Tesla's invention of the alternating current motor was what made long-distance transmission of power possible; up to that time, when only Edison's direct current motor was available, there was too much "leakage" of current.

If direct current is substituted for alternating, almost every piece of domestic electric equipment will have to be changed over, as well as factory motors. It is said to be easy, however, to convert the direct current to alternating where that would serve better.

One result should be to lessen the danger from broken high-pressure transmission lines. Direct current, in theory at least, is less likely to kill than is alternating. That is why the laws in many states which provide electrocution for convicted murderers specify alternating current.

BILLBOARDS . . . and trees

The Supreme Court of my home state, Masachussetts, has given a long-delayed decision in the case of complaints against unsightly billboards which deface many of the beautiful scenic highways, particularly in my own county of Berkshire. To protect highway users, the court ruled, the police power may be used against billboards "even to the extent of prohibition."

Billboards, as the Old Bay State's court rightly says, interfere with the right of the traveller upon the highway to a peaceful and unannoyed journey. It holds that scenic beauty is a valuable state asset and that its protection is in the public interest.

I don't know the author of the parody on Joyce Kilmer's poem, "Trees," but I like to quote it:

"I think that I shall never see
A billboard lovely as a tree.
Perhaps, unless the billboards fall,
I'll never see a tree at all."

FUNDAMENTALS . . . now

It seems to be gradually seeping into the minds of an increasing number of people, including academic theorists, that there is one cause and only one for the world's economic distress. That cause is the war of 1914-1918, which involved almost the entire world and destroyed countless hundreds of billions of wealth, tens of millions of the ablest and most promising young men of all nations, and the morale — call it faith or hope if you like — of scores of millions more.

It wasn't the Wall Street crash, or the German inflation, or the Russian revolution, or the deliberate act of international bankers or anything except the impossibility of readjusting the whole world at once to a new state of things caused by the war that brought on this depression, which America was one of the last nations to feel, since we had more wealth in reserve and had lost less than any other nation.

If we would keep that understanding in mind, and realize that we, like the rest of the world, have got to go along for a generation or two on a poverty basis, until we can accumulate more wealth to replace what the war destroyed there wouldn't be so many dreams of performing the impossible task of complete recovery by artificial methods, over night.

Any way the world wags, this country is still in the best position to look to the future hopefully.

Cursing, Is Struck Dumb

Santander, Spain. — Fernando Gutierrez, a sick rebel held in a sanatorium here, was struck dumb while shouting curses at a bedfellow, Lino Crespo, whose injured ribs made him cry out in agony all day long. Doctors have examined Fernando and are nonplussed. No normal cause for the dumbness appears. Complete paralysis has affected only his vocal chords.

The Family DOCTOR

by JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

TO SAVE MONEY — BORIC ACID

An old, time-tried friend, this Boric Acid. Go to your druggist and buy yourself a pound — get the name right — Boric Acid. Not "borax',' nor yet "boracic acid." You want a pound of Boric Acid. It need not cost you over fifty cents—possibly not so much. It should be powdered, not crystals.

Then, what have you? It is one of my office "stand-bys."

Well, a first-class dusting powder for the whole family. It is the basis of most dusting-powders, sold at many times higher prices. You will have saved several dollars in one season by buying this way. It is a good application for wounds too.

And, you have the stuff to dissolve in water—and you have the very best and safest mouth-wash going; no high-priced mouth "antiseptic" approaches it in efficacy.

Dissolve a little in an ounce of pure, boiled water, and you have a first-class wash for inflamed eyes. Your doctor will agree that I am right. Eyes with red, angry lids, from excessive perspiration. Nothing better than boric acid solution.

Then, you've got a remedy for skin inflammations — nearly all kinds. Make up wet dressings with strong boric acid solution and lay them on the inflamed spots—you will be gratified.

Shall I say more? There is no better, safer powder for making a douche; the doctor can give you no better—and costs nearly nothing. Honest old boric acid! Wives and mothers love it.

There is so much quackery—humbug—these days; you had as well have service that costs you a cent or two, as to pay some oily-tongued blatherskite a dollar for the same thing.

Russian Fascism has made its appearance in the United States according to reports from foreign language labour organizations. At numerous meetings a leaflet in Russian is being distributed, which bears the headline "Call to Arms by General Headquarters of Russian Fascism." The text consists of denunciations against Russian Communism and its leaders.

Dr. William Brown of Oxford, a psychologist of the first rank, has written upon the psychology of war. He ttakes the state as man "writ large" and shows how its reactions to other states will be "powerfully but unwittingly determined by the unconscious tendencies of its citizens acting through their conscious thoughts and feelings." It is these unconscious tendencies, he goes on to show, which boil up unrestrained when war breaks out; they are dormant in peace times, but become re-enforced, fed and directed by current events, and so produce a luxurious growth of complexes which make international negotiations difficult. Unless we can find rapid and effective means of influencing the unconscious mind in the mass, we must be resigned for the present tto the provision of strong defensive forces. At the same time we must lift culture and science to a supernatural plane, sublimate the self-assertive tendencies, banish fear from the earliest years. But need we wait till then before we abolish the stupid instrument of war?

Lord Buckmaster who died recently was the last liberal to be Lord Chancellor. He made no mark as a speaker in the house of commons, but in the lords he became known as the most eloquent orator since Rosebery. A bishop once said that to speak in the house of lords was like addressing a number of gravestones, but Lord Buckmaster did not find his proper scene till he spoke there. He had a passionate desire to see the divorce laws reformed; he hated all cruel sports; he was a sound liberal to the end and in spirit not unlike Mr. Galsworthy. His friend Sir John Simon tells of him that he counted it one of the most wonderful moments in his life when as he was walking quietly in his garden a robin perched on his hand and sang his song.

"Of all the animosities which have existed among mankind, those which are caused by a difference of sentiments in religion appear to be the most inveterate and distressing, and ought most to be deprecated."—George Washington.

"Catholics, Jews, and Protestants must know one another, as we are all members of the crew of the same ship. Our co-operation as citizens is necessary for the safety of the ship, and every ignorance and every prejudice among us is a danger."—Newton D. Baker.

The Junior Caravan is the youth section of the New History society, which has headquarters in New York City. In it are being enlisted children of all lands, who will carry on correspondence with one another on a basis of good will and friendship. The Caravan's pledge is: "The earth is our home; therefore I pledge myself to help the boys and girls of every land."

The slogan of the movement is "The Caravan knows no frontier". Details may be obtained by addressing the Junior Caravan, 132 E. 65th Street, New York.

The Charity Organization society of New York made a welcome announcement this week when it stated that its family service department will in the future be called the "Institute of Family Service, C.O.S." In its statement the society says: "The most important reason for adopting this name is that the word charity creates peculiar difficulties for clients, whether they are seeking relief, advice or other services. . . . A continuing interest in practice and research in the problems of family life, as well as in student training, indicates the appropriateness of such a title."

Montreal City & District Savings Bank Presents Statement

W. H. SMYTHE

Gentlemen,

The Montreal City and District Savings Bank is the last of the financial institutions of the country to present to its shareholders and to the public the annual statement of its affairs which, to a certain degree, are a reflex of the economic condition of the country. For this reason, I feel justified in following in the lead of the official representatives of those important banking firms, were it merely to endorse what they have excellently said.

The expenses of Government in Canada weigh heavily on the taxpayers and hinder business recovery.

The deficits in our Federal, Provincial and Municipal budgets, our State railways, the millions needed for our army of unemployed and the vast sums which social insurance will cost show us clearly that taxes will go on increasing.

What other remedy for such a condition could be proposed but that of impressing upon our public administrators the essential taxation, as further borrowing only aggravates the situation by increasing the burden to be borne by posterity.

As the activities of our Institution do not extend beyond the district of Montreal, we are vitally interested in the proper administration of the City.

I have no doubt that our people will be willing to make the necessary sacrifices, but they wish to have the assurance that the powers that be will remain strictly within the limits of the civic revenue.

We venture to hope that the Legislature will see that a system of control is instituted that will henceforth safeguard the interests of the citizens.

The 88th annual report of this Bank, which we have the honor to present, differs very slightly from that of last year.

The number of our depositors shows steady growth; our profits are slightly higher and our reserves also show an increase.

The Bank's investments, composed almost entirely of Federal, Provincial and Municipal bonds are of the highest order and appear in our statement at a valuation considerably under the current market prices. At maturity, they will be replaced by others of a like nature, but at a lower yield.

On the other hand, a reduction in the rate of interest paid on deposits was decreed by the Minister of Finance in order to aid industry and commerce, but we venture to hope that this step is only temporary and that, ere long, a more liberal standard will prevail.

We might remind you here of what we said last year. During the crisis, the Bank never ceased to give employment to labour, either by the renovation of our existing branches or the erection of new ones. Since 1930, considerably over a million dollars has been expended on those works.

Up to last year, an arbitrary maximum limit had been imposed on us by law as to the amounts of deposits that we might accept from married women common as to property and minors. You will no doubt be happy to learn that, at the last session of the Federal Parliament, this restriction was removed.

I feel, therefore, that you will support the amendment which will be proposed at this meeting, so as to bring our by-laws into harmony with the special regulations of our charter.

The staff, during the year, showed untiring loyalty and devotion in the discharge of its duties. We are happy to tender them our hearty thanks.

REV. F. W. KERR TO PREACH SUNDAY

Pastor Will Be In St. Andrew's Church Pulpit Both Morning And Evening.

Rev. F. W. Kerr, D.D., of St. Andrew's Church, will be in his own pulpit at both services Sunday, and in the evening will continue his series on the future life that has been awakening a great deal of interest.

His topic will be "Can We Depend Upon Spiritualistic Mediums?" The subject will be of special interest as it will deal with the whole realm of the occult, crystal-gazing, fortune-telling and telepathic communication.

He will also raise a question as to how far Christian people should indulge in spiritualistic seances. Then he will discuss the possibility of a healthier and more satisfying communion between the living and those who have gone before.

At the morning service, as part of the united campaign of evangelism, Dr. Kerr will deal with the field of recreation, taking as his topic "Amusements and Recreations of Modern Young Folks—and Those Who Are Not So Young."

ANNUAL MEETING OF CANON SCOTT I. O. D. E.

Reports of Committees Were Read Tuesday—Officers Elected.

The fifth annual meeting of the Canon Scott Chapter of the I. O. D. E. was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. H. Ransom, 18 Melbourne avenue, when reports for the past year were presented.

The treasurer reported receipts of $437.28 for the year; while expenditures were $402.76.

The Chapter paid the fees of a girl attending High School until June and of two boys since December. Children of Hamilton street School were supplied with milk and cod-liver oil during the winter months.

Two girls were sent to University Settlement summer camp for two weeks, it was reported. Christmas baskets were supplied to three families. Altogether 363 articles of sewing and knitting were made and distributed to Child Welfare associations, V.O.N., Hamilton street school, Friendly Home, while four layettes were given to special cases. Donations of money were given to objects fostered jointly by I.O.D.E. Chapters.

Officers elected for the coming year included:

Honorary regent Mrs. J. J. Creelman; honorary vice-regent Mrs. R. R. deLong; regent Mrs. S. C. Scadding; vice-regents Mrs. N. E. Fletcher and Mrs. C. J. Fletcher; secretary Mrs. J. C. Webster; treasurer Mrs. R. A. Kirkpatrick; educational secretary Mrs. C. H. Neroutsos; Echoes secretary Mrs. Gordon Darling; and standard bearer Miss Marjorie Cornforth.

ALL EXPENSE TOUR TO ANCIENT CAPITOL

A large party from Montreal is expected to participate in the $9 all-expense tour from Montreal to Quebec Saturday and Sunday on the special pool train being operated by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

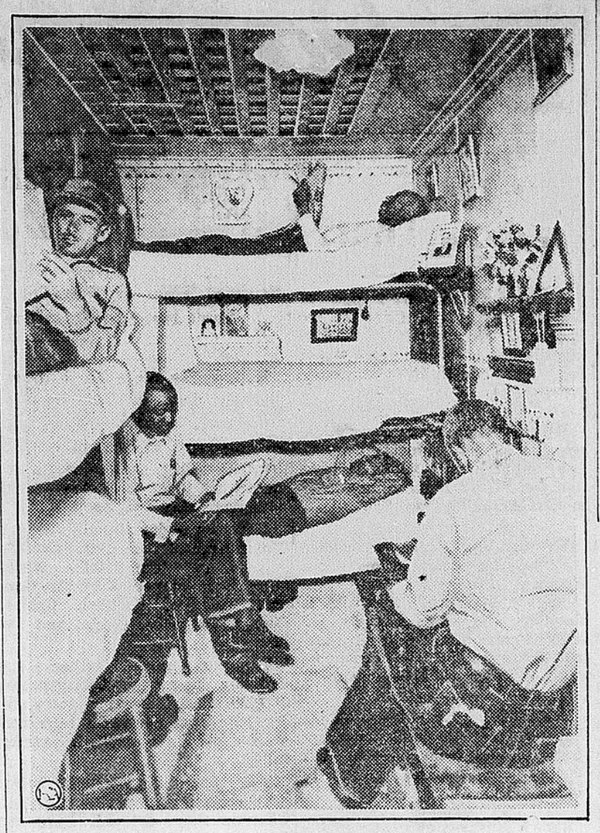

The single cost covers transportation, transfer to hotel, and four meals and a night's lodging at the palatial Chateau Frontenac, with toboggan slide and skating-rink privileges.

The trip will provide opportunity to visit the Legislature where important legislation is now going on, and opportunity for participation in winter sports for which the capital is famous.

Skating, skiing, tobogganing, curling are all convenient to the hotel, while there are also visits to famous battlefields and other spots of historical interest. Visitors will also have the opportunity of watching the best dog racers in the country tune up their teams for the forthcoming dog derby.

The special pool train leaves Windsor station Saturday at one p.m., Westmount 1.06 and Montreal West 1.12, and Park avenue at 1.28 p.m. The train will arrive back in Montreal Sunday night at Park avenue 11.59, Montreal West 12.15, Westmount 12.22 and Windsor Station 12.30.

One Answer to Prison Unrest

Striking support of the theory that American prison unrest and outbreaks are caused by congestion is given in this picture, of a "tank cell" in San Quentin, Calif., state prison, where a recent break attracted nation-wide attention. This cell, one of 48 of its type in San Quentin, is 7 2-3 feet by 11 2-3 feet, with an 8-foot ceiling, and houses five prisoners, although designed for two. There are no sanitary facilities, except buckets.

N. D. G. WOMEN'S CLUB FETED BIG SISTERS

Over 90 girls were present at the tea given in their honor by the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club at the Big Sister Association Sunday afternoon, when the largest attendance of the season was noted. Mrs. C. Neal, convenor, presented each girl with a handkerchief donated for the purpose at a handkerchief shower held previously.

Mrs. H. B. Meynell played the piano, and Mrs. R. H. Deckett gave a recitation. Mrs. Neal told the girls a story. Mrs. G. W. Latham and Mrs. E. B. Forrest poured tea. Assisting were: Mrs. T. C. Tayler, Mrs. C. Scott Webb, Mrs. T. Mitchell, Mrs. J. E. Armstrong, Mrs. A. H. Buckler, Mrs. F. P. Driver, Mrs. W. F. Cheesman, Mrs. M. H. Schade, Mrs. Walter Johnston, Mrs. C. B. James, Mrs. R. G. Bain, Mrs. M. Whalen, Mrs. A. D. Macpherson, Miss Agnes Morrin, Miss Agnes Bain, Miss Betty Simonds, Miss E. C. Neal.

LADIES' HEALTH CLUB

Mrs. L. W. Latimer of Argyle Ave., was recently elected President of the Y.M.C.A. Ladies' Health Club. Other members of the committee for the 1935-36 season are: Mrs. H. C. Sabloff, Mrs. W. H. Spearman, Mrs. P. A. T. Boulton and Mrs. K. V. Coombes.

With an enrollment of seventy the ladies program consists of gymnasium classes, badminton, swimming and health talks. Gymnasium class and swimming periods are held Tuesday and Friday mornings, 10 to 12.

On New Year's Eve, French, East Indian, New Zealand and Western Australian Scouts broadcast New Year's greetings to the Scouts of the world from a short-wave station to the accompaniment of tom-toms and French and Maori songs.

WELL KNOWN MEN AT WESTM'T HI-Y

The Westmount Hi-Y had, this this week, a very interesting speaker in the person of Mr. John Schofield, Head-Architect of the C.N.R. His was the first of a series of vocational talks to be given the club. Mr. Schofield, despite limited time, dealt very fully with his subject and left a deep impression on the members of the club.

Next Week a Girls' Night will be held, the Speaker—Rev. C. J. Smith.

Mr. E. W. Beatty, President of the C.P.R. will, in the near future, speak to the club on "The railway of Canada".

Westmount High Happenings

By S. E.

Plans and preparations for Westmount's 1935 Annual are now well underway. The new Yearbook looks very promising, in its infant stages. It is rumoured that drastic changes will be made this year in an effort to make the forthcoming periodical bigger and better than ever. Indeed, Westmount is to be congratulated on its success in "putting over" the magazine in the past few years when so many other schools have had to discontinue theirs.

The school is all agog these days over the prospect of Westmount winning all three Section Championships, and maybe City honours as well. And it's not only possible but highly probable Anyway, time will tell.

Meanwhile the "smaller fry" may be seen any day of the week playing inter-class hockey on the rinks in front of the school.

The Westmount High School Dramatic and Debating Society will hold their next meeting in the school assembly hall on Thursday evening, February 21. The meeting will take the form of a Public Speaking Contest between members of the fourth year. Six boys and several girls have already entered and it is safe to say that we will hear Hitler, Mussolini, Flandin and Roosevelt alternately cursed and praised by Westmount's budding politicians. Parents and friends cordially invited. Admission is free.

Those unsung heroes of the Leaders Corps go quietly and efficiently about their work of training for the Inter-Scholastic Gym Meet which is held annually about this time. Practices are held at 4 P.M. on Mondays and Wednesdays, if you want to see some really fine acrobatic feats.

Principal H. B. Parker delivered a very interesting and enlightening discourse on the subject of "Nails" to the members of the Westmount High Menorah Club at their last meeting on Tuesday, February 5.

The Westmount Hi-Y Club held a very successful informal dance at Victoria Hall last Friday night after the game. Jack Bain and His Boys outdid themselves in providing excellent music for the occasion.

Did you ever hear of a high school without marks? Yes, there is one in Paonia, a small town in Colorado. The grading system consists of two letters, S. and U., Satisfactory and Unsatisfactory, and over a trial period of three years this new system has proven itself much more practical than the systems now in use.

Congratulations to Dickie Ball, former Westmounter, and Pat Christie, present student, for distinguishing themselves time and again in skiing meets throughout the province. Keep your eye on those boys; they should go a long way.

Here are a few school-boy "howlers" gleaned from several sources:

J. C. Kemp, C. F. Hatton Received Promotions

J. COLIN KEMP

C. F. HATTON

The promotion of three Montreal executives to positions of primary importance in the organization of Dominion Stores, Limited, was announced Monday by Morley Smith, President. They are J. Colin Kemp, C. F. Hatton and A. J. Cox.

Mr. Kemp, formerly assistant to the president, was elected a director and appointed manager of the Montreal Division which embraces 215 stores in the territory East of Kingston, including Ottawa and the Maritime Provinces. He is in charge of this division of the company's operations.

Mr. Hatton, formerly divisional inspector of the Montreal Division and Assistant Treasurer, becomes Treasurer of the entire organization, and Assistant Manager of the Montreal Division. Mr. Cox, in charge of the Montreal Office and the accounting for this division, has been made Assistant Secretary of the company.

Other executive changes announced by President Smith include the appointment of W. F. Stewart, of Toronto, as Vice-President in charge of operations. Mr. Stewart was formerly Secretary and Treasurer of the Company. Although his headquarters are in Toronto, he will spend a considerable portion of his time in Montreal. F. R. Paget, of Toronto, becomes Secretary.

Mr. Kemp first became a member of the organization last October when he was appointed Assistant to the President. He was born in London, England, but has lived the greater part of his life in Westmount. He graduated from Oxford University and McGill University. Prior to his association with Dominion Stores he was in the Industrial Investigation Department of the National City Company, Limited. He served overseas with the 60th Battalion, Victoria Rifles of Canada and as Brigade Major, Third and Fifth Canadian Infantry Brigades and G.S.O. 3, Canadian Corps Staff. He was wounded, mentioned in dispatches and awarded the D.S.O. and M.C. For a number of years he has made his home at 70 Forden Avenue, and is an alderman of Westmount.

Mr. Hatton has been a member of the Dominion Stores Organization since its inception, more than 15 years ago, and has lived in Montreal for the past eight and a half years. He resides at 4663 Earnscliffe Avenue.

Mr. Cox joined the company in October 1923.

EXCELSIOR LODGE ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of Loyal Excelsior Lodge I.O.O.F., M.U., was held recently in the N.D.G. Community Hall when the receipt of the financial statement and the annual election of officers were chief items of the evening.

A very large gathering of members was present and the provincial secretary, Brother Wilkinson, was requested to take the chair. The financial statement of the Lodge showed the Funds in hand and investments to be nearly $19,000, with a gain for the year of $476, the Lodge having paid out during the past year in sick and funeral benefits the sum of $1040.

There was also a net gain in membership, it was shown, the Lodge thus maintaining its record and position as probably the most successful on the continent.

The election of officers resulted in Sister M. G. Cote becoming N. G., Brother Wilkinson secretary, Brother W. Christie treasurer, and Brother Brooks as V.G., with a very efficient staff of officers as well.

Many members and friends of the lodge were present at the annual banquet of the district in the Queens Hotel January 26, Brother Christie also being elected District officer.

The next meeting of the lodge will be held Wednesday in the N.D.G. Community Hall. This being the annual ladies' night great preparations are being made and it will undoubtedly be one of the most entertaining and successful evenings held. To celebrate the occasion of the election of the first lady N. G. in this district special surprises will be on hand, it is expected.

New members in this enterprising society with its sound benefits covering all classes, male, female and juniors are welcomed. Particulars may be obtained from members.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, February 17th, is "SOUL".

The Golden Text is:—"Set your heart and your soul to seek the Lord your God." (I Chronicles 22: 19).

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"My soul longeth, yes, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God. For the Lord God is a sun and shield; the Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will be withheld from them that walk uprightly." (Psalms 84:2, 11).

"Soul or Spirit signifies Deity and nothing else. There is no finite soul not spirit. Soul or Spirit means only one Mind, and cannot be rendered in the plural. Only by losing the false sense of Soul can we gain the eternal unfolding of Life as immortality brought to light." (Science and Health, pages 466, 335).

MRS. THOS. HODGE LEAGUE SPEAKER

Addressed Trinity Group On "Sound Thinking" Monday Evening Last.

The Trinity Junior League held its regular weekly meeting Monday evening, when the guest speaker was Mrs. Thos. Hodge, speaking on "Sound Thinking".

The speaker was introduced by Miss Gladys Havill.

Mrs. Hodge discussed during her talk the differences and gave the definitions of philosophy, science, psychology and religion. She showed how these four subjects played a prominent part in people's lives. The fascinating lecture closed with the problem "Study Yourself".

Next week an address will be given by Mr. H. Gaboury, a prominent young lawyer of the city. All members are requested to attend and bring their friends.

Can Of Milk Cost $1,000

Port Alberni, B.C.—Sale of a 10 cent can of milk cost this city $1,000. The milk was sold after the fixed closing hour and the city prosecuted the woman store proprietor. The charge was dismissed. The dismissal was sustained on appeal while costs, assessed against the city, included fees for two lawyers and several witnesses, transportation for one witness from Vancouver and bringing of a judge 150 miles to hear the case.

Giving New Lease of Life To Children's Lunch Box

The mid-winter season might be dalled the "zero-hour" when it comes to school lunch boxes—for those who pack them. If you must pack lunches every day, or even just occasionally, a new deal is probably in order. It has been long enough since the beginning of the school year for lunches to become monotonous to plan and to eat.

First of all, check the equipment. Do the necessary repairing or replace the old lunch box with a new one. Are the lids of jars, for liquids tight? If they have rusted, get some new ones. If there is a thermos bottle, it may need a new cork. Printed waxed paper and attractive paper napkins will help to brighten up the box, too.

After you have done the best you can for the equipment, consider the possibilities for variety in your lunch box menus. This is especially important if the lunch is not supplemented by a hot dish at school.

In the winter season the choice of fruits and vegetables is limited unless one lives in the larger cities. Stewed dried fruits or canned fruits are good and if small jars with tight fitting lids are used, can be packed satisfactorily. Give all the variety possible in canned fruit. The dried fruits may be made different by combining several kinds, such as apricots and prunes, or raisins, apricots and pears. Do not sweeten them too much. Drying develops the natural sugars of fruits so that most of them are sweet enough without adding sugar in cooking. Long soaking and little cooking will give firm fruit. Spices, such as cinnamon with a dash of cloves for prunes or apricots, nutmeg with pears give new flavors. Other fruit juices, especially lemon or orange, are good. Some of the grated rind should be used or a piece of the rind can be cooked with the fruit.

Sandwiches are ideal for packed lunches, but they do get monotonous. Fancy breads made with nuts and fruits are good for a change and a simple cheese filling or plain butter or jam is all that is needed with them. Don't overlook the possibilities of chopped, raw vegetables, such as carrots, radishes, celery and cabbage. These satisfy the craving for something fresh and crisp and can be used often without monotony.

Ready-to-eat cereals can be substituted for sandwiches occasionally. Some children enjoy a cereal lunch every day. Be sure the cereals are fresh and crisp. In damp weather toast them in a hot oven if the package has stood opened for several days. A wide-mouthed half-pint jar is good for packing. Fill the jar about half full, and cover tightly. If sugar is desired, it can be put right on the cereal. Milk or cream should be carried in the thermos bottle or in a container which can be kept in a cool place. Often, milk can be purchased at school. Hot milk is good with the cereals, too, and can be carried in a thermos or heated at school.

An important advantage of a cereal luncheon is that many children will use milk on cereal, although they do not like it to drink. Cereal and milk makes a satisfying luncheon which is nourishing and easily digested Some cereal lunch box menus and other suggestions are as follows:

Banana
Corn Flakes and Bran Cereal
Milk
Peanut Cookies

Vegetable Soup
Devilled Egg
Bran Bread Sandwiches
Chocolate Brownie
Milk

Whole Wheat Cereal
Hot Milk
Apple Sauce with Raisins

Spiced Prunes
Bacon Brown Bread Sandwiches
Hot Baked Beans
Milk

Fashion Hints

Betty Furness, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature player appearing currently in "Shadow of Doubt," is knitting as well as acting her way to fame! Her latest creation is a clever suede jacket in which the sleeves and scarf neckline are all hand knit in angora yarn. The jacket is natural chamois color and the sleeves and scarf in golden brown. A brown tailored skirt completes this smart ensemble.

Una Merkel, M-G-M featured player who recently appeared in "The Night is Young," took such a fancy to the quaint beauty of the bustle dresses worn in that production that she had a new evening gown designed and made featuring a modernized bustle!

The gown is fashioned from rose colored taffeta and features an old fashioned draped skirt and a medium sized bustle, held in place by a large velvet bow.

The latest evening dress gadget to be introduced by Mary Carlisle, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer featured player, is a tiny muff purse created in blue velvet to match her evening wrap!

The muff is shirred and corded and a tiny loop holds it to the wrist. Snuggled inside is a tiny satin purse containing compartments for change as well as all of the evening make-up aids, comb and mirror!

Rosalind Russell, Metro-Goldwyn Mayer featured player appearing in "West Point of the Air," has the last word in coiffure adornments. It is a shooting star fashioned of tiny diamonds. The star reposes at a spot just above the temple—a three jewelled tails extend from it to the back of the head. This ornament is especially effective on Miss Russell who is a decided brunette!

A new deal is assured, but we shall have to make up our minds whose new deal we prefer.

Two of These Six to Win 1934 Top Honors of Screen

Two of the six screen notables shown above will be named outstanding film performers of 1934, one man and one woman to receive the annual award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, the celluloid world's "Pulitzer Prize." The six on whom academy members have started balloting, results to be announced at the annual banquet in Hollywood, Feb. 27, are: Top, Norma Shearer and William Powell; large picture, Claudette Colbert; below, left to right, Clark Gable, Grace Moore, and Frank Morgan.

All About The Real Rudy Vallee

A Hard-Working Young Man Since College Days — A New England Yankee With A French Name — Would Like To Be The "Will Hays Of Radio".

Hollywood, Calif.—If Rudy Vallee, like old Omar the tent-maker, could remold the world to his own liking, he would do away with all rackets and all racketeering and he would set himself up as the "Will Hays of radio."

Rudy takes himself, his work and the world about him more seriously than does the average young man of his age. He has always worked and he has almost always made money at it. He paid his own way through Yale and had several thousand dollars in the bank when he finished.

He is a New England Yankee with a French name and a mixed ancestry. He is canny with money, generous with his friends, has a keen sense of right and wrong and keeps his ruddy complexion through the frequent use of sun lamps. Lindbergh is his idol.

In Hollywood, during the production of his first Warner Bros. feature picture, "Sweet Music", he lived in a house in Beverly Hills with three members of his orchestra. He has sixty people on his payroll, including twenty-three members of his famous band, the Connecticut Yankees, a secretary, a cook, a chauffeur. He is a strict disciplinarian and a glutton for work. And a master showman, in spite of his comparative youth.

As a boy he played leads in high school plays, worked in his father's drug store and spent one summer trying to save his fingers in a Vermont sawmill. He does not sing in the bathroom nor play his saxophone in the living-room of his New York apartment. He is systematic and thorough and has a hot temper.

He has had little time to play. He knows nothing about bridge or poker, wishes he could play tennis, but can't, likes to watch baseball, which he played a year or two in high school. He smokes cigarettes and dislikes the smell of a pipe. He sleeps late mornings, follows the "hay diet" very strictly and dresses well but not "too well."

NO SUPERSTITIONS

Vallee is almost without superstitions of any kind. He carries no good luck piece, collects nothing, fears nobody. He has been known to offer or accept a chance to settle a dispute with his fists. He attended the University of Maine for one year, where he joined the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and learned the famous Stein Song which he introduced to the world later via radio. His real name is Hubert Prior Vallee, shortened to "Rudy" by his fraternity brothers when he wouldn't stop talking about his personal hero, Rudy Wiedoeft, noted saxophonist.

He is impatient with people who move or talk slowly, likes to drive great distances at high speeds and was arrested for speeding on his second day in Hollywood, when on his way to start the picture "Sweet Music." That cost him eighteen dollars and made him late. He is seldom late, otherwise.

Rudy was born July 28, 1901, in Island Pond, Vermont. His father's name is Charles Alphonse Vallee, with the last name pronounced the French way. Rudy calls himself "Valley," as does the rest of the world. His mother, who has since died, was Kathryn Lynch. He has one sister and one brother. An early marriage was annulled and his separation from Fay Webb, his present wife, has been widely discussed in the newspapers.

Road hogs and affected society people irritate him greatly. He wears dark glasses much of the time and is not generally recognized on the street. He is tall and lean and his portraits do not do his good looks justice.

STARTED EARLY

Vallee started theatrical work early. He was usher in his home town theatre, for which he received seven dollars weekly, spent two years as a projectionist there and made money on the side singing with a quartette and with various glee clubs. He is interested in the mechanics of motion picture filming and projection and has extensive amateur equipment of his own. If he can't be the "Will Hays of radio" he would like to be a producer of motion pictures or a radio executive. He is his own business manager.

He plays the piano, drums, saxaphone and clarinet, and he can whistle. He is the author of one book, an autobiography, published several years ago, called "Vagabond Dreams Come True." Although he was not the first to croon into a microphone he is the most famous "crooner" and his voice is familiar, through radio and recordings, to several hundred million people. He was the first great radio star and the the first one to receive voluminous fan mail, most of which came from women.

In spite of this he is a man's man, in real life. He resents being overcharged for standard goods of any kind. He is an Elk and a member of the American Legion, having served in the Navy during the World War. His first motion picture was a musical short subject made for Warner Bros. in 1929. "Sweet Music" is his fourth feature-length picture.

His spoken voice is crisp and his words come quickly, in contrast to his rather deliberate method of delivering a song. His favorite color is blue. His favorite food is roast beef—and lettuce with Thousand Island dressing. He buys government bonds and Maine real estate and saves his money. It is believed he is rich.

Walter B. Pitkin's book, "The Psychology of Achievement", has had a profound influence on his life. He led the Yale football band in his senior year—but the season wasn't one of which the Yale team was particularly proud. Princeton beat Yale that season.

Vallee's college life was not as carefree and happy as some. He worked hard, frequently playing, with his oochestra, at parties where his wealthier classmates were guests. But he formed many friendships in school which have lasted. His secretary, and most of the people who are his close friends now, were in college with him.

He is serious about his desire to rid the world of rackets and racketeers. To that end he takes an active interest in politics. He is an excellent artist and a super-excellent business man.

Do You Know That?

Maureen O'Sullivan is one of the most expert "knitters" in the Hollywood picture colony and during filming of "West Point of the Air" has made three sport sweaters?

Robert Young made a complete airplane short subject with a small hand camera while on location for "West Point of the Air" in San Antonio, Texas?

W. S. Van Dyke assembled fifty veteran actors of old silent Westerns to play scouts in "Naughty Marietta," which he is directing, and found that he had directed each of the veterans several times in the days when he was a director of "horse operas"?

Ramon Novarro once operated a financial business in the City of Mexico, in his youth, and did a prosperous business in foreign exchange, changing money of various nations to American dollars for business houses?

Because Louise Fazenda was able to fire a pistol as a veteran, she landed her first motion picture contract, with Mack Sennett?

Stuart Erwin was born on a 1200-acre cattle ranch at Squaw Valley, California on St. Valentine's Day?

Virginia Bruce's mother, Mrs. Earl F. Briggs, was the woman's golf champion of North Dakota for three years?

At Local Theatres

WESTMOUNT

For many months now, the patrons have awaited the "Merry Widow", that gay, music-loving and singing, adventurous and daring young woman of the screen who has captured the heart of the world in the film and the play. Jeannette MacDonald has the leading lady's part, whilst the irrepresible, jovial and attractive Maurice Chevalier plays a role which might have been written for him. May we humbly suggest that everyone see this fine, outstanding picture, it is one which will live in your memory long after it has passed, and it is one whose haunting melody will inspire you when the week's labour seems heavy and tiresome. "The Merry Widow" is a bubbling, spontaneous vehicle you will enjoy thoroughly. "Cheating Cheaters", the added attraction, features Fay Wray and is a thriller of the first water. This program is a very good one.

SEVILLE

A short time ago Samuel Goldwyn, ace Hollywood director and producer, introduced Anna Sten in a picture which was a great success in America. In "We Live Again", the new celebrity has a chance to exhibit her powerful appeal to its fullest extent in the somewhat mournful and depressing story by Tolstoi. It is now a film calculated to inspire gaiety, but is one which presents a phase of life, however brutal in consequence and in perpetration. Frederic March gives a good showing as the male lead. The other picture on the bill, "The Pursuit of Happiness", is a picture which presents a story concerning the rather vague and elusive "bundling" theme. No one is quite sure of the definition of "bundling", but it is generally considered a form of the popular "necking" of today. Charles Ruggles and Mary Boland have the chief roles.

Use 400 Miles Of Rope

Vancouver.—Japan sends 2,225,000 feet or 440 miles of rope to Canada on its average yearly shipment of 300,000 bundles of Mandarine oranges. Seventy-five feet of rope is wound in neat criss-cross patterns across each bundle. The rope is made from rice straw.

Actors' Strike Threat May End In Talk

Without Help of Stars or A. F. of L., Supporting Players Can't Hope to Gain More Than Minor Concessions.

Hollywood,—With March 1, expiration date of the five-year peace pact between motion picture producers and actors, steadily drawing nearer, strike threats are emanating from the actors' ranks with increasing frequency.

However, there actually is no real danger of such a walkout. To succeed, an actors' strike would have to be supported by the Garbos, Hepburns, Coopers, Gables, Beerys, Dietrichs, Wests, and the like.

This was proved rather conclusively during the Equity strike of 1929, when the major stars under long-term contracts remained on the job. As a result, the strike failed.

The stars themselves, being pretty much in a position to get whatever they demand, have no kicks. And Hollywood never has been a community where the little fellow could get much help from the big fellow.

Consequently an actors' strike would have only one chance of succeeding. That would be through the support of the American Federation of Labor, with which the Screen Actors' Guild recently became affiliated. And so far there has been no indication that the A. F. of L. would give any great amount of support to the players.

May Gain Some Demands

This being the case, the threatened strike probably will wind up as nothing more than a hectic verbal battle between producers and actors. And the actors probably will win their demands for longer lay-off periods when they are required to work more than eight hours a day.

They also may be granted the privilege of having players represent players in disputes with producers, instead of having these matters handled by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, as in the past.

But when the subject of salaries comes up, that is likely to be a different story. To the outsider it may seem strange that our film actors should have any salary disputes. But they have, due to the fact that those huge pay checks we hear so much about are received by such a small minority of players.

According to a report made public last summer by Sol Rosenblatt, administrator of the NRA code for the motion picture industry, only 63 players receive more than $50,000 annually, 196 are paid between $10,000 and $50,000, 25 are paid between $9000 and $10,000 each year, 23 are in the $8000 to $9000 bracket, 38 earn from $7000 to $8000 annually, 42 earn from $6000 to $7000 and 64 receive between $5000 and $6000.

All the rest earn less than $5000 yearly and by the vast majority of them fail to average even $1000 a year.

It is this group which is making the most strenuous demand for increased wages—a demand which probably will not be met by producers, as minor supporting players can be secured by the carload.

This means that weeks probably will be spent in parleys—but there will be no strike.

Hard to Explain

Henry Wadsworth, the juvenile who carried on the romance with Maureen O'Sullivan in "The Thin Man," spends hours of his spare time at a window watching a bird bath through a pair of binoculars. So far he has counted seven kinds of birds in the bath—and once has been accused by a neighbor of "peeping."

Set Worthy Example

Halifax, N.S. — When the Bank of Nova Scotia officers, directors, and shareholders gathered at luncheon following the annual meeting there was no program. Those arranging the luncheon dispensed with speakers, chairman, and other formalities. It was emphasized that the informal atmosphere afforded a batter opportunity for those attending to make or renew acquaintanceship.

FISH STORY

Wrentham, Mass. — Edgar A. Dart hooked two fish—one inside the other. A member of the Wrentham Sportsmen's association, Dart caught a 2½ pounds pickerel and inside was an 8-inch trout.

FORBRA DESTROYED FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

Newbury, Eng., Jan. 26.—Forbra, winner of the Grand National steeplechase at Aintree in 1932 and fourth last year, today broke a fetlock during the running of the Winchester handicap steeplechase and was destroyed. Forbra was entered for this year's renewal of the great race.

Aimee Dressed for Conquest

Rivalling Sheba's queen in the splendor of her raiment, Aimee Semple McPherson is pictured here as she said farewell to her Angelus Temple aides and left for Seattle to start for the Orient. In luxurious white fur coat and toque, and hair elaborately coiffed, the evangelist is garbed for conquest on her world evangelistic tour.

MAKEUP

I have received so many letters from readers of this column, asking for the correct shades of lipstick, rouge, etc., to be used by certain types, that I feel the subject merits an "open letter" discussion.

Modern beauty science has made makeup a far more subtle beauty aid than it was in the past. There are so many different types of faces which require individual artistry that it is impossible to cover them all in one article, so, today, I will merely deal with the more general aspects of makeup in supplementing natural coloring.

For the light blonde, I would suggest natural powder, red geranium lipstick, brown mascara, and blue eyeshadow.

For the darked blonde, there is rachel powder, red coral lipstick, green eyeshadow, and brown mascara or black.

The medium type, between blonde and brunette, should use peachbloom or mauresque powder, red coral lipstick, blue-green mascara, and green or blue-green eyeshadow.

The brunette is again divided into two tipes. First, the one with lighter skin should use red raspberry lipstick, rachel powder, black or blue-green mascara, and blue or green eyeshadow.

The brunette with darker skin looks well in mauresque shade of powder, red geranium lipstick, and black mascara, or green eyeshadow.

Red haired women have a different problem. They can wear natural powder or rachel, or, when the skin is freckled, mauresque. They look best in red geranium or red poppy lipstick, brown mascara, and green eyeshadow.

Grey-haired women, with fair skin, will use a natural shade of powder, or, if they have dark skin, they should use rachel and crushed rose rouge, red raspberry lipstick, blue or gray eyeshadow.

HYPNOTIC SHOPPING

Copenhagen. — "Help!" cried a young saleswoman during the height of the rush hour in a large store here, "this woman is trying to hypnotize me!" The girl ran for assistance and alleged that the customer had been endeavoring to obtain a reduction of price by using hypnosis to influence her. An inquiry was held, but although the customer was known to be eccentric, she was released on the charge of attempting hypnotism.

TRINITY PLAYERS WILL BE SEEN IN ELMER RICE COMEDY

"See Naples and Die" is Title of This Year's Vehicle of Popular Group.

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Trinity Players will present, for the first time in Montreal, Elmer Rice's extravagant comedy hit "See Naples and Die."

This play, Rice's first essay as a humorist, was first produced under his direction at the Vanderbilt Theatre in New York in September, 1929, and drew tremendous audiences.

This highly amusing comedy, by the author of "Street Scene", deals with the romance of an American heiress who, having married a Russian prince in order to stop his blackmailing her sister, flees to Sorrento to escape him. Charles Carroll, an American business man is in love with the princess, but who is marking time with Kunegunde Wandl, Viennese actress whom he met at Sorrento. Mrs. Evans, an elderly lady, yet kind, is also at the Hotel.

An entertaining picture of Americans on the continent, combined with high adventure, "See Naples and Die" is well described as a "comic opera without music."

The play is under the personal direction of Basil Donn. Staging, scenic and lighting effects are under the supervision of Creighton Patton and Fred Chivers.

Shows Jury Heart-Beats

New Haven, Conn. — To prove his claim that removal of a rib through an accident made his heart-beats noticeable for 20 feet, Patrick Eustace bared his chest to a jury. The impressed jurymen awarded him a judgment of $33,000 against an express company whose automobile truck collided with his car last March.

Dog Revenues Increase

Regina, Sask.—Regina's canine population decreased slightly during 1934, city license department figures reveal, but the department closed the year with a revenue increase of $51. The reason? "More lady dogs," whispered Sam Lyne, license inspector.

Water From a Non-Freeze Lake Was Auto Anti-Freeze Mistake

Geneva, N.Y.— Farmer Dell had a great idea.

The more he thought of the idea, the better it seemed—to Farmer Dell. He confided in no one. He wanted to test it first.

The farmer's inspiration came from a peculiarity of Seneca Lake, one of the state's most famous beauty spots.

The lake very seldom freezes, despite the fact that surrounding waters are sheets of ice. Only in the most severe cold spells will the lake develop more than skim ice. There are various scientific explanations, including the great depth of tthe lake and its uniform year-round temperature. That didn't interest Farmer Dell. All he cared about was that the lake didn't freeze.

Farmer Dell's idea, as he later admitted, was to fill the radiator of his automobile with Lake Seneca water, and save the cost of purchasing non-freezing agents.

To his surprise, the water which would not freeze in Lake Seneca turned to ice so quickly during a zero cold wave that the radiator burst in several places.

Lady Who Dozed in Barber's Chair Loses a Lawsuit As Well As Hair

Paris.—Not only do French barbers have the right to talk customers to sleep, but they don't have to pay damages if they do a botch job while the person in their chair is dozing.

It has cost Mlle. Aurelia Branca, pretty French actress, her tresses and lengthy court action to learn that little lesson.

Because she is an actress, Mlle. Branca prized her hair greatly. She went to the barbers to have it thinned out, but she forgot to tell the coiffeur that she did not want it cut.

She sat down, forgot the matter and dozed off for a moment. When she awoke she found her hair had been cut.

She went to court and asked for 10,000 francs damages.

Now the court of appeals has upheld the barber's contention that he was given no instructions so he could cut the hair as he pleased as long as his customer did not object.

"She should have kept her eyes on what was going on," read the court decision.

CANINES 'PAROLED'

Falls Church, Va.—Two convicted canines were paroled recently in East Falls Church on "good behavior" by County Judge B. M. Hendrick. Warrants accused the two dogs of being "confirmed poultry killers." The dogs were convicted on the charges and paroled when their owners accepted responsibility for their future "good behavior." Under Virginia law, dogs which habitually kill poultry may be executed.

GUINEA-PIG'S RIVAL

Long Creek, Ore.—One of the most prolific mothers of the nation was a doe rabbit owned by Bill Crowley of Long Creek. She produced 10 litters, each of which totalled nine or more bunnies, during the year 1934.

LYRIC OPERATIC SOCIETY PRESENTS "HIGHWAYMAN LOVE"

Many Local Residents Will Appear in Sixth Annual Presentation of Group.

The Lyric Operatic Society, a group which is composed to a large extent of local members, will present as their sixth operatic offering the famed "Highwayman Love", a light, romantic operetta by W. H. Bullock, which will make its initial appearance under the auspices of the Lyric Society at the Victoria Hall on March the 21st., 22nd and 23rd.

Since the inception of this organization devoted to the production of musical romances in 1929, the cast and directors have been enabled to present a new play each year. Herbert Spencer's "The Cavaliers", and Gilbert and Sullivan's "Princess Ida", "The Mikado", "The Sorceror" and "The Gondoliers" have been given in order for the past few years.

As in each of the preceding presentations, the difficult task of direction and managing has been given to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norris, who are renowned throughout the city for their productions for the St. Lambert Operatic Company and other similar organizations, as well as their connection with the D'Oyly Carte Company of a few years ago.

A tremendous cast of over fifty-five persons take part in the operetta. The chorus is composed of thirty-six members. The selection of "Highwayman Love" by the Lyric Operatic Company for their sixth presentation is one which should appeal instantly to all lovers of light opera.

It is entirely new to Montreal audiences and, in fact, has not been performed previously in Canada. The society has already had ample proof that its choice is a happy one and that supporters of Amateur Operatics in this city have, for a long time, been looking for something of this nature and variety for many years.

The Society is very proud of the fact that, after only five short seasons, it has attained such high standards in performance as to warrant this new and somewhat arduous undertaking.

"Highwayman Love" was published in 1921, and is therefore comparatively recent. Its first appearance in England, under the personal supervision of the author and composer, was received with great enthusiasm by an audience who soon discovered that the new play was one which had more than usual romantic interest, while, at the same time humour was the keynote. Lovely melodies, written by one who has achieved the immortality of Gilbert and Sullivan, were woven into the story of implications and complications.

The story and plot is based on the Lovel legend, which, from earliest Elizabethian times, has been told of the Yorkshire house of Lovel. In the romantic days when George the First reigned as monarch, young Sir Harry, latest heir of the Lovel line, found his fortunes imperiled by the malice of a kinsman; how his betrothed, believing herself doomed by an evil prophecy renounced her happiness to shield her lover, and how Destiny, in the guise of a chivalrous highwayman, intervened in the nick of time, and the conclusion, where the adventuresome House of Lovel threads its way to a surprising, but a literal fulfillment.

Here is a story of rollicking, brigadiering, banditry and romance that will be loved by all. The following is the cast, many names of which are famous in Amateur presentations. Sir Harry Lovel, J. M. Stewart; Sir Jeffery Digby, W. W. Marshall; Major-General Mannering, Norman Dawson; Solomon Smug, Harry Groves; Sergeant Mustard, H. J. Atwood; Obadiah Blunt, A. McAlpine; John Bradlum, W. Cox; Dr. Flute, Arnold Colby; Diggory, James Patterson; Gaffer Jarge, J. C. King; Denis O'Neill, Harry Maude; Lady Lovel, Clare Stark; Bess Mannering, Florence Irving; Sophy, Phyllis Rowell; Peggy, Margaret MacLean; Prue, Gertrude Bareham; Apple-Woman, Mrs. J. Atwood; and Isobel, Iris Allton.

LET'S GET MARRIED

That Seems To Be The Prevalent Proposal Formula In Hollywood Just Now—But Movie Actors Are Just As Awkward At Popping The Question As The Rest Of The World.

Hollywood, Calif.—When it comes to "popping the question" movie actors are just as awkward and tongue-tied as the rest of the world.

As screen lovers the honeyed words the scenarists write for them flow from their lips in smooth and even fashion. But in real life, according to their wives and husbands, they stumbled and blurted through their proposals and acceptances like school children. And most of them admit it.

In several instances the man in the case lost his voice and his courage altogether at the crucial moment, and the girl had to come to rescue. It was that way, for example, with Joan Blondell when she and Cameraman George Barnes finally agreed upon marriage.

The story is that Joan picked George as her probable husband the moment she met him, and that was during the filming of the now almost forgotten picture "The Greeks Had a Name for It." George was a willing victim of Joan's wiles and proposed marriage outright in short order.

She Was Coy

Joan hedged. George kept asking and Joan kept putting off the decision. After a time George didn't ask any more and though he was quite obviously more in love than ever he seemed to drop the idea of marriage entirely. Meanwhile Joan had made up her mind to accept him the next time he "proposed".

When her patience was finally exhausted she took the initiative. "Do you still want me to marry you?" she asked — or words to that effect.

George is said to have managed a surprised "Yes."

"All right," said Joan, "that's settled."

Joe E. Brown has always contended that he never actually asked his wife to marry him. Mrs. Brown believes they came to "an understanding" one afternoon in San Jose when she and her mother were visiting Joe there.

However it was, Joe went back East at the end of that season and got himself another booking over vaudeville circuit. Then he wired Kathryn Frances McGuire in San Francisco as follows:

"HAVE ENOUGH MONEY TO MARRY STOP PLEASE COME EAST LOVE."

Miss McGuire went East and they were married one cold Christmas Eve in the New York City Hall. Joe's "money enough" was $140, plus the cost of the telegram.

And Jolson Shy

Al Jolson bombarded Ruby Keeler with big bunches of flowers and extravagant boxes of candy for weeks before he found the courage to suggest matrimony. When he finally did, he said: "Let's get married, honey. Right away."

And before he knew it, he was face to face with a justice of the peace in up-state New York. That particular magistrate was in the real estate business and he tried to sell the mammy singer a lot before tieing the knot. Jolson talked his way out of that, however, and the newlyweds got aboard a steamer bound for Europe that same night.

"Let's get married" seems to be the rather abrupt and direct method of proposal that most film actors have used instead of the more formal and formerly approved question, "Will you marry me?"

Harmon O. Nelson said it that way to Bette Davis after he had spent a lonely summer in Hollywood waiting for Bette to return from an Eastern personal appearance tour.

"Let's get married," he urged the first day she got back. "We can drive to Yuma tonight and—"

Bette outlined all the objections she could muster, but they didn't sound very important to either of them. "I know, I know," said Ham, "but let's get married anyhow."

"Yes," agreed Bette, "let's." So they did.

Eddie Was Fast

Edward G. Robinson asked his wife to marry him the second time he took her any place. They were eating dinner in a Hungarian restaurant when he reached across the table, took her hand and "asked her if she wouldn't marry me."

Mrs. Robinson was Gladys Lloyd, a successful actress, and she knew honest ardor when she saw it. So, eventually, she agreed.

Long ago George Arliss admitted publicly in his autobiography that it took a torential rain storm, a rain which drove both Florence Montgomery and himself into a church for shelter, to give him the courage to ask "the girl with the nice arms" to be his wife. How formal he was about it, no one knows. That was more than thirty years ago when all proposals were still more or less formal affairs.

James Cagney was led gently toward the altar by the red-headed little chorus girl who is now his wife. She was worried about him because he was so thin and so one night she asked him out to dinner. She paid for it, as well, because Jimmy had only twenty cents. And before either knew it or knew just how it happened, they were engaged. That was more than thirteen years ago - and it still holds.

The engagement of Ann Dvorak and Leslie Fenton took place under more romantic circumstances than most Hollywood proposals. It had been a whirlwind courtship, starting and culminating while both of them were working on the Warner Bros. lot.

"It was all very wonderful, very lovely," says the romantic Ann. "We walked to the top of a hill and watched the stars from there. I don't remember exactly what Leslie said - but I know I said yes."

Barbara Stanwyck was hurried into her decision to marry Frank Fay when he had a friend call her in New York from St. Louis, where he was acting as master of ceremonies at a theatre. The friend said Frank was ill and asking for her.

BARBARA HOOKED

Barabara, who was starring in a New York show, caught a fast train West and was surprised and perhaps annoyed, a little, to find Frank, apparently well and happy, at the station to meet her. She had only a few hours in St. Louis, but when she left to go back to New York and the show she was Mrs. Fay.

Dolores Del Rio met Cedric Gibbons at a dinner party given by Marion Davies. He had been trying to arrange such an introduction for three years, he says. He was attentive and made love to Dolores almost immediately.

"I loved it," she admits. "All women love a man like that, no matter how they pretend they don't. And I knew, mysteriously, that I loved him too." Six weeks later they were married in Santa Barbara.

Josephine Hutchinson is much too new a bride for anyone to expect her to tell just how James Townsend, her agent-husband, "popped the question."

"I don't exactly know how it happened," she explains. "It just happened."

Perhaps Mr. Townsend said just what so many other men in Hollywood seem to have said under similar circumstances;

"Let's get married!"

MRT WILL PRESENT "WHEN LADIES MEET"

Heralded by the critics as "simply grand" "an immensely satisfying piece" "outstanding play of the season" the continued popularity of Rachel Crothers' "When Ladies Meet" has fulfilled its promise both on stage and screen and make it a happy choice for the MRT's next major production to be presented in the ballroom of the Ritz Carlton opening on February 15 for a run of five nights. Admittedly a brilliant play it should achieve full value in the hands of the talented cast which has been chosen for the production under Martha Allan's direction.

A newcomer to MRT ranks will appear in the part of Mary Howard, the novelist in the person of Fredda Clarke, experienced English actress who played for several years with the Birmingham Repertory Theatre and with other companies in London and the provinces. In the comedy role of Bridget Drake, Martha Allan should find a congenial part and as Claire Woodruff, Eleanor Nichol, one of the most popular and accomplished actresses of the local stage has an excellent opportunity for some clever interpretation. Gerald Taylor, another newcomer from the Ottawa Drama League portrays Rogers Woodruff, Cecil Nichol, Jimmy, Cedric Hands, Walter and a lusty recruit from the French section in the person of M. Phaneuf plays the part of the excitable Pierre.

Gracefully and persuasively developed the plot of the play centres round the plot of Mary's new novel in which a wife and another woman debate the possession of an errant husband. Mary, infatuated with her amorous publisher, Rogers Woodruff, clearly identifies herself with the "other woman" in the book—but when the situation actually develops—"When Ladies Meet" in fact, from the theoretical. How the things depart most materially machinations of the irrepressible meeting is brought about by the Jimmy and how the ladies behave brings three acts of intriguing comedy with lights and shades of tensely human characterizations and gusts of breezy nonsense.

Jeannette MacDonald

Lovely Jeanette MacDonald may be seen at the Westmount theatre in "The Merry Widow," with Maurice Chevalier and a splendid cast. This feature is now playing until Saturday and will also be showing at the Seville Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Huffed, Puffed in Church Claiming Mystic Power

Oklahamo City.— Controversy in the Full Gospel church has caused a schism in the congregation and convulsed the court of Peace Justice Evert Crismore.

It all arose over "the power", the mystic feeling which seizes those members who feel the presence of divinity and are empowered to talk in the "unknown tongue".

The church is a small, unpainted shed near the swanky Nichols Hills residence section inhabited by wealthy families.

Rev. Chester Calvert contended that Clyde Jackson was "faking" when he groaned and mumbled that he was "under the power". According to tthe pastor, who had him arrested, Jackson did not speak anything in the unknown tongue.

The pastor thinks he was "possessed of a devil".

Jackson was convinced he was breathing fire, and could "blow down" anything. He threatened to blow the jail down, melt his handcuffs with a fiery breath, and according to Mrs. Calvert, "went around blowing in church members' faces."

When Jackson was chased out of the church, he threatened to "huff and puff" the Bible "right outa your hands," Mr. Calvert said.

When the congregation went outside to watch Jackson, Mr. Calvert called the police.

In court, before Judge Crismore, scriptural quotations flew thick and fast. Officials scratched their heads to remember all their Bible study, but tthe belligerents "blew them down" when it came tto handling the King James version.

Finally Jackson was released without fine on condition he stage no more "huffing and puffing" acts at Rev. Calvert's church.

But the congregation is not yet a unit on its decision as to whether he really was under the power, or "the devil had 'im," when the police were summoned.

Almost As Big

National league players say Charlie Conacher of Toronto Maple Leafs is the strongest wingman in hockey. He weighs 196 pounds. Harvey Jackson isn't rated a "big" player but he tips the scales at 193 for all that.

"THE THREE WISHES" AT VICTORIA HALL

Children's Theatre to Present Annual Play Saturday.

A capacity audience is expected at Victoria Hall Saturday afternoon when the members of the Children's Theatre will give their first production of the season, "The Three Wishes."

With special lighting and scenic effects, colorful costumes and dances, the performance which is directed by Dorothy Davis, is expected to be an outstanding one.

Lillian Wilkinson plays the role of the princess, while Maisie Wakeman, who will be remembered for her performance last season will play the prince. Marcia Getz will be seen as the princess' governess; Ann Campbell as Miss Linnett; Laura Mitchell and Lillian Lozogg as the ladies-in-waiting; Lillian Simons as Prince Ronald; Shirley Goodman and Jane Yates as the twins; Babsy Lee as Sally; Elika Spector as Miggs; Dorothy Kronoff as the matron of the orphanage. The other players include: Richard Davis, Leo Kostiner, Rhoda Yates, Cyril Berlin, Robert Stein, Eileen Mendelson and Barbara Walker.

Specialty numbers will be introduced in a novel manner by Baby Shirley Pearce, Doris Darou, Lois Astrof, Marjory Young, Martin Franklin and Babsy Lee.

Modesty is a very odd, subtle thing.—Miss Marie Tempest.

THE MONTREAL CITY and DISTRICT SAVINGS BANK
Eighty-eighth Annual Report

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS. MONTREAL, FEBRUARY 11TH, 1935.

Gentlemen,

Your Directors have pleasure in presenting the Eighty-eighth Annual Report of the affairs of the Bank and the result of its operations for the year ending December 31st, 1934.

The net profits for the year were $371,920.31 and the balance brought forward from last year's Profits Account was $479,234.04, making a total of $851,154.35. In addition to the usual quarterly distributions to its shareholders, the Bank contributed from this amount $6,500.00 to various charitable and philanthropic Funds — independently of the amount of $10,200.00, interest on the Charity Donation Fund, distributed as usual — and has carried $300,000.00 to its Reserve Account, bringing this to $2,500,000.00, and leaving a balance at the credit of Profits Account of $264,654.35 to be carried forward to next year.

It is with profound regret that your Directors record the death of their esteemed colleague Mr. A. P. Lespérance, which occurred on the 21st of September last. Mr. Lespérance had been for over half a century in the service of the Bank, of which he held the position of General Manager until his retirement in 1929, when he was elected to the Board. The high esteem in which Mr. Lespérance was held by all classes of the community, his integrity, ability and sound judgment were of much benefit to the Bank and we feel that you share our sorrow at his loss.

The vacancy on the Board has been filled by the nomination of Mr. Guy Vanier, K.C.

As usual a frequent and thorough inspection of the books and assets of the Bank has been made during the year.

The Report of the Auditors and the Balance Sheet are herewith submitted.

R. DANDURAND, President.

For A Team of Redheads Only Goaler Is Lacking

If a shock of red hair really denotes the pugnacity and aggressiveness always associated with this flaming color, the National Hockey League should not lack for these qualities.

The latest addition to the redheads of the Big Tent is Pete "Red" Kelly, a real sorrel-top from Montreal's Irish district. He learned his hockey in the Canadian metropolis and recently graduated from the Charlottetown Abegweits to St. Louis Eagles. He is a forward, and a pugnacious little battler. There's no mistaking the flaming tones of Kelly's hair.

Almost every team in the big leagues has a "Red".

Toronto Leafs have "Red" Horner, their boisterous defence player. This robust big youngster, a willing battler if the opportunity offers, came into the majors a few seasons back, fresh from amateur ranks, and has steadily risen to stardom. He has been prominent always in the penalty-lists.

Boston Bruins have "Red" Beattie, a scrappy forward, who survived a broken leg sustained in baseball to come back to the major hockey league. "Red" Jackson also has played, off and on, with Bruins this season.

New York Americans have "Red" Dutton, veteran Great War hero, and still rated one of the League's most useful defence players. "Red" Conn is one of the American forwards.

Americans seem to favor redheads. They had four last year—Dutton, Doran, Jackson and Conn. Only recently they recalled the stocky, thick-set Doran from the minors, and this hard-checking Irishman gives them three sorrel-tops on the present line-up, Dutton and Conn being the others.

Metz, who came up to Toronto Leafs this season from St. Michaels college, is another red-head.

Ott Heller, tall young defence player of New York Americans, has a thick thatch of decidedly reddish hair.

Swim Winners

SPORTS MOTORCYCLE CLUB ANN'L BANQUET

The fifth annual banquet of the Sports Motorcycle Club was held Saturday in the Place Viger Hotel when a record attendance was on hand.

Mr. Hannon, official representative of the A.C.U. in Canada gave a short talk on the motorcycle activities during the past year expressing his opinion that, from present indications, the coming year promises to be one of keen competitive enthusiasm.

The guest speaker of the evening was H. J. Gurney, British Trade Commissioner for Canada, who spoke on "The History and Development of The Present-Day Motorcycle."

Following hs address the trophies for the year were presented, great credit being given S. Davies who won the most trophies during the year.

Two Summer Camps Join For Season

Lower Canada College Camp, formerly situated at Lac L'Achigan, where many will remember the happy summers spent under the strengthening influence of Major Cuthbush, is now merged with Camp Lafond, situated on Lake Kae-Wa-Surito, property of Major R. T. Lafond, a resident of Notre Dame de Grace.

For many years Major R. T. Lafond has directed his camp successfully and is well known as a spirited leader and business man. Therefore, much may be expected of the joint work of two such capable men.

The union of these two camps will mean that many young men will be able to enjoy camping under a combination of excellent leadership and supervision.

The surrounding country at Camp Lafond is very beautiful, offering every possible natural facility for camp life.

The equipment is sufficient for 150 campers, but the management has agreed to limit the camp attendance to 75.

A Hawk Flies High

BILL MILLER

The Moncton, N.B. Hawks, winners in two successive years of the Allan Cup, which is to amateur hockey what the Stanley Cup is to professionals and the Davis Cup to tennis, are flying high, to distant points.

Still another member of this great team has made good at the first asking. He is Bill Miller, a versatile athlete who can play defence, left wing, or centre. He broke in with Montreal Maroons against St. Louis on January 29, and in his professional debut scored two goals, one of them on a lone rush the length of the rink, in which he swept around the St. Louis defence at high speed, cut in at an acute angle on Beveridge, and beat the goaler with a blistering shot.

Miller is a lean, hard-bitten blonde, weighing 164, and another addition to the ranks of Maritime-born players in the major loop. He was born in the little north-shore lumbering town of Campbeltown, N.B., on the shores of picturesque Baie de Chaleur, is a college man who played hockey for Mount Allison University at Sackville, N.B., and a player of rugged type. Miller skates straight up, sees everything, walks in fearlessly, and is a fine shot. He is 24 years old.

Bill "Busher" Hollett, the big Toronto Leaf defence player; Joe Lamb of the Eagles, and Eddie Wiseman, who has been up and down with Red Wings, are other Maritime-born players in the big league.

Miller was the sixth player to be lured from the Hawks by the professionals. Sammy McManus and Aubrey Webster previously were signed by Maroons. Bert Connolly is going well for New York Rangers. Dud James and Bill Gill are in the International League, being groomed for big league positions. The Hawks of Moncton were a great team, recruited from far and wide among the Dominion's amateurs. They made modern Allan Cup history by winning the coveted Allan Cup twice in succession, and it looks as though their units would carry on the Hawk traditions in select professional ranks.

This is the last week for 1934 auto licenses. And it looks to be just about th last week for some of the autos that are still wearing 'em.

Of course southerners still know that northerners are wrong, but they are a more placid race and write fewer letters to the papers about it.—Miss Rose Macaulay.

Maroons Will Attend Supper

Tommy Gorman, Manager of the Montreal Maroons as Guests to the Junior Club's Supper at Westmount Y to start at 6 p.m. (tonight) "Hooley" Smith and Conacher are expected.

HOCKEY

For the past six weeks four Clubs from the Junior Department of the Y.M.C.A. Boys' Division have been engaged in a strenuous Hockey schedule. The Bruins, without a single defeat, have won the League with the Maroons in second place. Senators and Maple Leafs have played well, but both fell before the attacks of the Bruin and Maroon sixes.

Baton Rouge, capital of Louisiana, is in the hands of troops. Apparently there's no rest for these little Balkan kingdoms.

SWIMMING MEET AT CENTRAL SATURDAY

On Saturday evening at 8.15 the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Senior Swimming Team will enter the Interbranch Y.M.C.A. Swimming Meet at Central on Drummond St.

Among the entries from the Westmount "Y" are: Alf. Mander, Jas. Mills, David Hobbs, Gordon Beall, Eddie De Wit, Guy Bowen, Keith Bowen and Gordon Berger.

A trophy for a 200 yard relay will be competed for. Another trophy emblematic of the Diving Championship and still another for the team winning the highest aggregate of points.

Teams from Central, Southwestern, North Branch and Westmount will enter.

Local "Y" Team Has High Hopes For Title Win

The P. of Q. Annual Gymnastic Championships will be conducted at Central Y.M.C.A. today. Senior and Junior competitions on the High Bar, Parellel Bars, Side Horse and Mats will be contested by gymnasts from McGill, Y. M. H. A., Y.M.C.A., and other Associations.

Local interest is centred on the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Team which this year is without its former star, Eddie Stoessel, who for the present is devoting his spare time to technical studies. Westmount has held the Senior Trophy for the past two seasons and on Thursday is relying on Bill Russell, Rudolph Koci and Stanley Egar to retain the Senior honors.

In the Junior Competition John Swift, Billy Reay and Eric Jones of the Y.M.C.A. Junior Leaders Corps, will endeavour to lift the trophy. Eddie De Wit, the talented tumbler, has been entered in the Senior Novice Competition.

Plans Progress For Kennel Club Showing

The Montreal Kennel Association will hold its annual winter dog show March 2 in the Mount Royal Hotel, when it is expected that representatives of every breed of dog will be exhibited.

This M.K.A. show, which for the past few years has been one of the best of the winter circuit, will be the last of the season. Every judge holds a Canadian Kennel Club license, and the judging is always of the best.

Special prizes are this year being offered in the novice class, one for males and females of every breed, and every dog never having won a prize before, except as a puppy, is eligible.

The spacious piazza of the Mount Royal will be open at two in the afternoon. The judging will start at 2.30, with a gorgeous fashion show at three, and the show will continue until ten o'clock.

All entry lists close Monday at district headquarters.

Special Swimming Class For Seniors Each Friday

On Friday evenings, a special swimming class for Seniors, under the leadership of Mr. Wm. Mander and his son Alfred, will start tonight, in the Westmount "Y" Tank. These young men—all advanced swimmers—are training to pass their 'Senior Master Swimmer' and 'Senior Master Life Saver' Tests of the Canadian Y.M.C.A.:

John Lewis, Eddie De Wit, Bruce Smaill, Doug. Scott, Stan. Egar, Tom Carnell and Hy. Phillips.

The Swimmers may qualify under No. 2 by assisting in the teaching of non swimmers to swim. On Mondays the boys from Lewis Evans and Gilson; Tuesday our "Y" Boys; and Friday the boys from Roslyn, Argyle, Kings and Queens Schools. Any Westmount boy 10 years of age or over, who cannot swim, is entitled to this privilege of free swimming instruction.

PAT SMITH HAS WINNING CHANCE

Pat Smith of Montreal, leading local entry in the Empress Midwinter Golf Tournament on the Victoria, B.C., golf course which starts Monday, is considered to have an excellent chance of lifting the E. W. Beatty handicap trophy in this traditional east-west international battle.

Players from Montreal to the coast have already entered and many are expected from U.S. cities. Victoria players have been set back two strokes by a committee ruling, giving the visitors added advantage over the local field.

The five days of medal and match play will last until Saturday.

After he has cut the size of the Legislature, Premier Hepburn might try his famous axe on the length of the speeches.
