

SEVERAL SMALL ENGAGEMENTS ONLY HAVE BEEN REPORTED

Bulgaria Receives a Reverse at Adrianople. Servian Army is Steadily Advancing. Greeks Have Captured Dessikata. Big Battle Expected Near Town of Servia. Unconfirmed Rumour Says 20,000 Turks Have Surrendered at Kirk-Kilisseh.

Belgrade, Servia, Oct. 22.—(Special)—Four Servian armies are advancing slowly into Turkish territory but are meeting with stubborn resistance from Turkish troops, according to official reports reaching here from front.

The first Servian army operating in the direction of fortress of Uskup has reached the vicinity of Kumanova, only ten miles away from that place.

The Servian troops to-day captured outlying positions around town and general attack on town itself is expected to be made to-day.

The Servian army approaching Prishtina, along River Ibar, had serious engagement yesterday with strong force of Turkish troops and Arnaut irregulars, who were estimated by Servian commander at 40,000 men, with ten companies of Turkish reserves and four batteries of artillery. Fight took place in Herestidol Pass in the vicinity of Servian town of Raspa and Yenipazar on Servian frontier.

The Servians took offensive yesterday morning and captured the entrance to the pass after some very heavy fighting. The Turkish troops then retired and the Servians were able to pass through on to the plains of Kosovo.

Losses of Servian troops were considerable while those on Turks are believed to have been heavy.

London, October 22.—The war news is still the story of comparatively uninteresting small engagements involved in manoeuvring for position, while the Turkish and Balkan forces are assembling and preparing for big events.

When the allied states declared war it may be assumed that Turkey had by no means concentrated her troops. Moreover, Turkey was still hoping to detach Greece from the confederation. Her failure to do this undoubtedly necessitated some change in the strategic plans and she still needed time to transport her troops to the required positions; hence the falling back of the small Turkish garrisons from numerous frontier posts is of no great significance.

The Servian army is steadily advancing and now has its headquarters at Vranja in the movement against Uskup. The Greeks have captured Dissikata, from which position the Turks retired on the town of Servia where a big battle is expected shortly.

According to a Constantinople report an important battle is imminent at Adrianople. Meanwhile, the rival fleets are both active, the Greeks blockading the island of Lemnos and the Turkish bombarding Kavarna and Varna. The report of the sinking of a Bulgarian torpedo boat is discredited at Constantinople where it is stated that the Turkish warships in the Black Sea fired at torpedo boats, but the latter took refuge in port, the warships not venturing to follow for fear of mines.

The Greek consul at Cardiff, acting under instructions from his Government, is laying claim to all the Greek tonnage entering that port. Every vessel so commandeered between the property of the Greek Government, and the captain an officer of the Greek Navy. Ship owners have requested the British Foreign Office to protest against this procedure.

RUMOR SAYS 20,000 TURKS SURRENDERED.

Sofia, Oct. 22.—There are renewed rumors here that Kirk-Kilisseh has fallen.

London, Oct. 22.—Sofia correspondent of the Daily Telegraph reports that the Bulgarians have captured Kirk-Kilisseh, which lies to the east of Adrianople, where 20,000 Turks surrendered and communication with Constantinople was cut. It is added however, that there is no official confirmation of this.

The fighting at Jlava, which was captured Sunday by the Montenegrins was very severe. According to a Cetinje despatch to the Standard the Albanian population fought desperately and retired only when the place was in flames. Nine hundred Albanians were killed, including many women and children, who were found dead with arms in their hands.

BULGARIAN REVERSE.

Constantinople, Oct. 22.—Official information concerning a Bulgarian reverse says that the Bulgarians concentrated at Hanlar in the Dospat region, were induced to advance into Ottoman territory by a feigned retreat of the Turks. A strong Turkish force then suddenly attacked the left wing of the Bulgarians, who suffered heavily.

GREAT BRITAIN AND GERMANY

Balkan War May Bring About Better Feeling

MARKED AMELIORATION OF SENTIMENT TOWARD THE TEUTON IN ENGLAND.

London, October 22.—With the opening of the Balkan war have disappeared many of the tremors that preceded it. The general European outlook is now regarded almost optimistically. While the great political powers of Europe have been unable to prevent hostilities, the great financial powers of the world have succeeded in removing most of the fears with which the outbreak was associated. The prevailing view is that the war will be localized, and while opinion is fairly divided as to the pro-

CANADIANS ARE VERY LOYAL

Duke of Connaught Addresses Toronto Canadian Club

THERE WAS NOTHING TO THE BOGEY OF DISSENSION BETWEEN EAST AND WEST.

Toronto, October 22.—The Duke of Connaught yesterday spent an hour in Toronto as the guest of the Canadian Club at a luncheon given at the King Edward Hotel. Referring to this tour of Canada, the Duke said he had covered about 10,000 miles, and had learned many things. I feel glad, he said, that no more loyal people than Canadians exist in the British Empire. Of course, Canada is a democratic country, and none the worse for that, but it is in her retaining the principles of the old-established monarchy across the seas that one of the greatest problems of modern times was solved. I felt as I travelled through the country that the people I met were imbued with the idea of the future prosperity of Canada.

One thing came foremost in its influence on him out of all the tour. It was the importance of education. The bogey of dissension between East and West was dismissed in one terse sentence by the speaker.

BECKER TRIAL NEAR AN END

Expected That Defence Will Rest Case To-Night.

ACCUSED EX-POLICE LIEUTENANT WILL NOT GO ON STAND AS ANNOUNCED.

New York, October 22.—What Sam Schepps told his friends in Hot Springs, Ark., about the murder of Herman Rosenthal was read into the records yesterday at the trial of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, who is charged with instigating the crime.

"I don't want you fellows to think we killed a man who was of any account," Schepps told Postmaster Johnson, of Hot Springs, according to Mr. Johnson's testimony before the commission sent to Hot Springs to examine him and other persons. "That fellow Rosenthal was a dirty cur. He should have been killed. I don't want you fellows to think of me as a common murderer."

Mr. Johnson's testimony was read by John W. Hart, Becker's lawyer.

Thirteen witnesses, few of whom remained more than a few minutes on the stand, testified yesterday, and brought the case swiftly towards its close. Indications at adjournment last night were that the defence would rest without placing Becker on the stand, notwithstanding previous announcement by the accused policeman's lawyers that it had been decided to have him testify.

ROOSEVELT STOOD JOURNEY VERY WELL

Arrived at His Home in Oyster Bay To-Day

PHYSICIANS SAY HE SHOWED NO ILL EFFECTS OF LONG TRIP FROM CHICAGO.

Pittsburg, October 22.—Although ex-President Roosevelt was weary from his all-day ride from Chicago to Pittsburg he showed no other ill-effects on his arrival here last night and the physicians who are accompanying him were confident that he would reach Oyster Bay in almost as good condition as when he left Mercy Hospital, Mrs. Roosevelt and the physicians, while believing that the Colonel had sufficient strength for the trip, were nevertheless concerned as to the outcome when the time came for his departure, and during these few hours they watched the patient closely for any signs of a setback. As the day wore on and it became plain that he was resting easily on the big brass bed in his state-room, the tension was relaxed and last night everyone on the Colonel's car was breathing more easily.

AT NEW YORK.

New York, Oct. 22.—The train arrived in New York at 8.08 a. m. and the Colonel's car was taken directly to Oyster Bay so that he was in bed by ten o'clock.

TRURO, N.S., HAS $40,000 FIRE

McKay Block, in Heart of Town, Wiped Out.

LAMP UPSET IN MILLINERY DEPARTMENT STARTED THE BLAZE AND FIRE SPREAD RAPIDLY

Truro, N. S., October 22.—Truro had a $40,000 fire last evening, when the McKay block, in the heart of the town was wiped out. The blaze began with the upsetting of a lamp in the millinery establishment of Madame Lunn. The flames seemed to break out in the street in a moment. The stone building of the Bank of Nova Scotia on the north stopped the progress of the fire in that direction, but it extended southward, destroying the premises of half a dozen firms. The fire department had a hard fight, but by 11 o'clock they had the conflagration under control.

CITIZENS' APPEAL NOT ADVANCED

A Committee Will Consult With City Attorney re Amendments.

ALD. McMANAMY ATTACKS THE BOARD OF TRADE AND REVIEWS HIS WORK FOR MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

The question in which the citizens are interested, namely, Civic Management by Commission, was not far advanced at last night's Council meeting. A petition of 700 citizens had laid this matter before the Council. A majority of the Council had met in two informal conferences with the Citizens' Committee and had decided upon a course of action, and directed the Mayor to have the notice recharter amendments given.

Alderman McManamy, who absented himself from the conference, took the floor last night and attacked what had been done and continued with one of his characteristic assaults on the Board of Trade with its two hundred and fifty business men of the city, which he characterized as the greatest menace Sherbrooke had to deal with to-day. He referred to Sherbrooke as a "one-horse town," which some people seemed to think ought to go ahead as fast as Boston or New York. He did not omit his usual review of the municipal ownership fight and though no question was before the Council, was allowed, without being called to order by the Mayor, to go on with his attack on a body of Sherbrooke citizens who were striving to improve civic conditions, and who in the question at issue represented actually over 700 business men of the city.

The trouble began when the question of amending the charter was brought up. The Mayor called on Mr. E. W. Farwell, President of the Board of Trade, to address the Council along the lines of the amendments asked for. Briefly Mr. Farwell referred to the fact that the citizens asked that the charter be amended so as to allow the appointment of two Commissioners, by the Council, with extensive powers; also that the recharter provision be included.

The speaker also referred to an error in the notice given by the Council that amendments would be asked for. This notice contained the clause "To give subsidies to the Board of Trade." This was not asked for by the Board of Trade. The Council was asked to get power to vote money for advertising purposes. The Board of Trade had sufficient money to carry on their interior work, but did not have the necessary money for outside publicity.

Mayor Hebert followed and told of the two informal meetings held by the Council, at which were present a majority of the members of the Council and a committee of citizens. At the last meeting held it was unanimously decided that the Mayor was to see the City Attorney and have him prepare a notice to the effect that amendments to the charter be asked for. It was understood that the general notice would then go over the proposed amendments and thence to the Mayor.

Ald. McManamy—"I would ask if the Council has decided to amend the Charter?"

Mayor—"This was decided at an informal meeting."

Ald. Thompson—"I don't think that is quite right, Mr. Mayor."

Mayor Hebert—"This Council asked the Finance Committee and myself, at the informal meeting, to make arrangements for giving the formal notice. This has been done, and whether right or wrong was done at the request of a majority of the Aldermen. The question was up, and had we put off giving the notice it would have cost us an extra $200."

Ald. McManamy—"It will cost you from $500 to $1,000 if you do amend it now."

At this point Ald. McManamy began his oft repeated oration on the wonderful fight he had made for municipal ownership. He then turned his attention to the Board of Trade, and until Ald. White finally appealed to the chair, maintained a steady stream of attack. In referring to the clause in the proposed amendments asking for the right to control buildings on certain streets, he said: "We have no right to say what kind of buildings should be put up; let the people decide that. You would think that this was a city like Boston or New York, instead of a one-horse town."

When Ald. McManamy resumed his seat the aldermen hardly knew where they were at, and after a brief discussion Ald. Jenckes moved that the city exercise their powers and appoint two Commissioners. Ald. Thompson seconded the motion.

Ald. Ledoux informed the Council that he was of the opinion that the notice could be legally given, and then the Council would decide on what changes were necessary.

Mayor Hebert pointed out that Ex-town Mayor Cate had expressed the opinion that the Charter, as at present constituted, did not give sufficient powers to the Commissioners.

Ald. McManamy stated that he would like to see two good men appointed as Commissioners, one for inside work and the other for outside.

Ald. Ledoux moved that the matter be left on the table.

Ald. White moved that Ald. Jenckes, Ledoux and the Mayor be appointed.

THE ORIGIN OF THE "LONDON TIMES"

Was Born out of Bankruptcy, and Is now Great Power.

CELEBRATED ITS FORTY-THOUSANDTH ISSUE A FEW DAYS AGO.

A few days ago the London Times celebrated its forty-thousandth issue by a special edition dealing particularly with the printing and mechanical improvements of the period covered by the lifetime of this great newspaper. It is really a historical number, and will be treasured in every library whose owner takes the slightest interest in printing.

There are special articles by authorities on the various branches of the arts that are called upon to contribute to the issue of a great newspaper, and among the many admirable contributions it is difficult to select the one of most importance to the general public. Choice is made, however, of the sketch of John Walter, the man who founded the London Times and thus established one of the greatest political and social influences of the nineteenth century. Walter died before he knew what the Times was to become.

Its real maker in a literary sense was his second son, John, but of the first John we learn enough to know that his brilliant son must have inherited some of his most prominent traits, and in studying the father we learn about the son, who was one of the greatest, if not the greatest, produced in the earlier decades of modern journalism.

BORN OUT OF BANKRUPTCY.
Nearly every founder of a newspaper or magazine is a literary man who desires to control a vehicle for the expression of his own ideas, or a politician who seeks through the press to influence public opinion.

From neither of these sources was the Times derived. It came as a result of bankruptcy proceedings brought on by the American War of Independence, and produced as a means to an end. John Walter the First had no idea of founding a great newspaper.

He was interested in a particular process of printing, and buffeted on every hand, he sought to prove it by applying his method to a daily newspaper that it had advantages over the methods then in use. Nor was he a printer, even, although it became necessary for him to study the craft late in life, and he did, in fact, become an authority, whether the method he advocated had any particular advantages over the old style which he so vigorously assailed.

LOGOGRAPHY.
Walter was a coal buyer on a large scale who branched out into the underwriting business, and suffered great losses through the war with the United States. Thus it has been said that had it not been for the American Revolution there would have been no Times. Lord North was a friend of Walter, and had he not been retired from office, the probability is that he would have given his friend a civil service position, and the world would have never seen the "Daily Universal Register," as the Times was first called.

Falling upon evil days, however, Walter became acquainted with a printer named Johnson, who had discovered or adapted a new system of printing. This he called logography. Briefly described, it consisted of a system whereby the letters of the type were cast in complete words or syllables instead of separately. Johnson argued that a typesetter who wanted to set up the word "altogether" would have to make ten trips to his case under the process then in use, there being ten letters in the word, whereas under his system he would pick up the complete word already cast, and thus save nine-tenths of the time. On the whole he figured that his process could be carried on in one-sixth of the time required by the old method.

WHERE THE METHOD FAILED.
The chief objection to the process was that as there are only 26 letters and ten figures in the alphabet, the printers who used the old system could have all their type in comparatively few cases before them, whereas there are thousands of words; and opponents of the idea said that the time a printer would save by finding a word already set up for him would be lost in hunting for the word.

After a good deal of labor Johnson had reduced the 90,000 words in the English language to some 5,000 by eliminating obsolete and unusual words, and by further disintegrating the words into syllables, roots, prefixes and terminations. Walter was able to arrange all his type in four cases each six and a half feet by four and a half. He soon bought out Johnson's interest in the business and sought to influential men in his venture. Among others he secured the approbation of Benjamin Franklin, himself a practical printer, and a number of other prominent men. Walter realized that if he could get the patronage of the King all would be well.

THE TIMES FOUNDED.
This attempted to do, but he failed, and it appears that rival printers had something to do with the cold reception he obtained from George. It is also hinted that the fact that he numbered Franklin as one of his patrons had something to do with and in the face of combined opposition his failure. At any rate he failed, and from the leading printers of the day Walter sought to demonstrate the value of his method by applying it to the printing of a daily newspaper. Thus was founded the "Daily Universal Register," underneath whose title were the words "printed logographically."

The first issue was on January 1, 1785, but in three years the cumbersome title was abandoned, and the matchless monosyllabic name of the Times substituted. In a few years more reference to the method of printing was abandoned, and presently it was the newspaper rather than the system that held general attention. Some eighty years later the logographic process was revived, but oddly enough it was opposed nowhere more stoutly than in the Times, unmindful of its own origin. The modern invention of the linotype method of printing had made logography obsolete, whatever its merits may once have been, and only students of printing are aware that such a method was at one time in use.

AN EXPLANATION.

Two country youths were on a visit to London. They went into the British Museum and saw a mummy, over which hung a card on which was printed, "B.C. 87."
They were mystified, and one said: "What do you make of that, Sam?"
"Well," said Sam, "I should say it was the number of the motor car that killed him."—Harper's Bazar.

For three days next week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the Casino management has secured the Nat Goodwin production of "Oliver Twist" in motion pictures. "Nat" takes the part of Fagin in Dickens' best story supported by the original company as played at the New Amsterdam Theatre in New York City. This production is a portrayal of the characters of Bill Sykes, Nancy, Oliver and Artful Dodger and the others dear to the heart of Dickens readers. The pictures are so aptly labelled that the continuity of the story is ably maintained and one wonders whether in days to come folk will not do their novel reading by means of moving pictures.

Hand and Young. Speeches and songs followed and refreshments were served, the greatest good feeling prevailing.

LECTURED ON JAPAN.
Last evening in St. Peter's Church Hall, Bishop Heber Hamilton, the second of the bishops of the Church of England in Canada, appointed to a foreign field, gave a short address with some lantern slides, giving some idea of the work done in Japan. Bishop Hamilton has just been consecrated Bishop of the newly formed Diocese of Mid-Japan, a district, which though only 300 miles in length with an average width of 50 miles, is the home of six million souls, almost three-quarters of the population of the great Dominion of Canada. Canada has taken the responsibility of this diocese. There are now eight Canadian clergy and five Japanese, but two or three more are badly needed. Bishop Hamilton has lived in Japan for twenty years and understands it thoroughly. He says that though Shintoism and Buddhism are by no means dead, the worst enemies the missionaries have to be encountered are religious indifference, gross materialism and Japanese nationalism. There is no religious teaching of any kind in a Japanese home, though there may be formal worship. Many professional men had said to him, "I like your religion and would be glad to believe, but I don't seem to have anything to believe with." The Sunday School is therefore one of the best fields of work, beginning with the children of work, and even improving upon them. The late Emperor gave the country a constitution and was a most progressive ruler, and his son will probably go even further. Both the Dowager and the present Empress were shown on the slides in European costume. The climate is by no means tropical, in the more mountainous districts away from the coast, snow falling to the depth of several feet in winter, and pictures were shown of winter scenes in Japan that might have been photographed in Canada, but for the pagoda roofed houses, almost covered with a heavy fall of soft wet snow. Photographs were also given of many of the Canadian missionaries, taken at the scene of their labors, in many cases surrounded by groups of workers and converts one of the most interesting being a group of young girl workers in the cotton factories, with Miss Archer, a lady who is devoting her life to this special branch of the work. There are six dioceses in Japan, each has its own synod, and every three years there is a General Synod where all meet, and it was in 1911 that the decision was made to form this new diocese and give it over to the care of Canada. In the various parts of the mission there are now ten churches.

The audience was a large one and most interested in Bishop Hamilton's account of the life and work for the Church in this far-off country.

The Germ that Causes Dandruff And Loss of Hair is Destroyed

BY USING NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The dandruff germ is a busy little microbe constantly at work and always doing the same thing. Apparently, with fresh intelligence, it burrows down into the hair follicles, destroys the hair life and finally crowds out the hair, causing baldness.

There are two sure ways of stopping the harmless career of this invisible microbe growth. One is to wait until the germ has induced incurable baldness, after which the atrophied hair follicle offers no sustenance to the germ, the other is to USE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE. The dandruff germ cannot exist where Newbro's Herpicide is used intelligently. By killing the dandruff germ, it thus checks further accumulations of sear skin and prevents the hair from coming out.

While many imitations and substitutes are offered for Newbro's Herpicide, there is nothing "just like it" or "just as good."

Get genuine Herpicide. Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

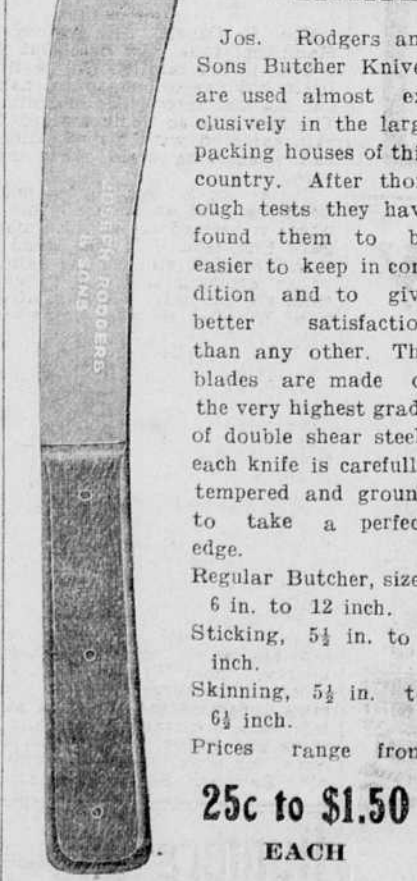

Send 10c. in postage for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

TREATMENT OF IVY POISONING.

INFLAMED SKIN SHOULD BE WASHED WITH LUKEWARM WATER.

Poisoning the skin by poison ivy (Rhus toxicodendron) is frequent in the summer and in the early autumn. Some fortunate persons are not susceptible, but most are poisoned if they come into direct contact with the plant.

This disorder causes discomfort always, and sometimes suffering. It shows itself within a few hours, with redness, heat and irritation of the skin, swelling and the formation of small vesicles. These vesicles may occur in great numbers. Often many of them coalesce to form blisters, and they also break and exude a yellowish sticky serum.

The best way to treat ivy poisoning is simple. The inflamed skin should be copiously washed with lukewarm water and a soap that does not irritate.

BOY'S FOOT BADLY SCALDED

MOTHER SAYS ZAM-BUK ACTED LIKE MAGIC!

Mrs. E. Capell, 31 Sydney Street, Hamilton, tells how beneficial Zam-Buk proved in her family. She writes: "My little boy, aged one and a half years, put his foot into a pot of boiling water. The foot was so badly scalded that the skin came off with his stocking, and he had a shocking scald, from instep to toes."

"I at once sent for a supply of Zam-Buk, and as soon as this was applied, it seemed to act like magic and gave him ease. It was good to tell that Zam-Buk stopped the pain, because up to applying it I had to nurse the child all the time, but soon after I applied Zam-Buk he was anxious to get on the floor and go on with his play!"

"I only used four boxes of Zam-Buk, and the scald was then entirely healed, so I consider this the best investment I ever made. I believe Zam-Buk would have cured the scald even more quickly had the boy been lying down all the time, but after beginning with Zam-Buk it made the sore so easy that he was soon on his feet and playing about again."

"I might also tell you that my next boy to him, aged five years, had some bad broken chilblains. We used Zam-Buk on these also, and it cured them. For sores of any kind I shall in future use only Zam-Buk."

Houseskeepers everywhere speak similarly of Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, rashes, ringworm, chapped hands, scurvy, heat rashes, cuts, lacerations, discharging sores, abscesses, piles, inflammation, festering and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box, all drug-gists and stores, of Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. This Home-made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply at Small Cost.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough instantly, and will usually cure the most stubborn case in 24 hours. This recipe makes 16 ounces—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir two minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This recipe perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medicinal value of pine in treating asthma, bronchitis and other throat troubles, sore lungs, etc. There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualic acid and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been limited often, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

PRESIDENTS HAVE SUFFERED AS WELL AS CROWNED HEADS

Assassination has always been one of the dangers to which personages prominent in the political world have been particularly exposed, and hardly any country can boast itself free from that crime. King Frederick of Denmark could wander so freely about the streets of a foreign city as to be unrecognized when he fell dead from natural causes in a public thoroughfare, but rulers and ministers are blameless as he have been shot down at the very moment that they seemed most secure in the affections of their countrymen.

Abraham Lincoln, the first of the three American Presidents to be murdered, was assassinated as he was celebrating the triumphant close of the civil war. On Good Friday, April 14, 1865, just as the North was rejoicing at the end of the long struggle with the South, he attended Ford's Theatre in Washington, to see a performance of "Our American Cousin." An actor, John Wilkes Booth, crept to the back of his box soon after the curtain had risen, and shot him from behind. Then, leaping on the stage, he brandished a dagger, shouted "Sic semper tyrannis!" and escaped through the stage door. Lincoln was carried across the street to a small house and died there at 7 o'clock the next morning. At the same time an attempt was made to assassinate Secretary Seward in his own house.

The next President to be slain was James A. Garfield. On July 2, 1881, a few months after his inauguration, Charles J. Guiteau, a disappointed office seeker, shot him down in the Baltimore & Potomac Railway station in Washington. The avowed purpose of the assassin was to secure the succession of Vice-President Arthur, who, he believed, would be more favorably disposed to the "Stalwart" wing of the Republican party. Garfield lingered for more than two months. He was taken from Washington to Elberon, N.J., and died there on September 19.

WM. MCKINLEY FELL.

William McKinley fell a victim to the doctrines of anarchy. Like Lincoln he had been re-elected, and seemed to be about to inaugurate a new and important policy in regard to foreign commercial relations. He went to Buffalo to speak at the Pan-American Exposition, and there, as he was holding a reception, he was shot down by Colgoz. The man approached him in the line of citizens, holding a revolver concealed by a handkerchief. As he reached the President, apparently intending to shake his hand, he fired with fatal effect. McKinley was carried to a nearby house, and lived for eight days after his wound.

Foreign countries have had their full share of such assassinations as these and in many cases death has overtaken a ruler on a state occasion, when he was making a public progress to perform an important function. Of course, the presence of a member of a ruling house may at times rouse the frenzy of a fanatic for a perfectly purposeless crime, as was the case in the attempt to slay the present Czar Nicholas when as a tourist he was journeying in Japan in 1890; but most of the successful attacks upon crowned heads have been made on public occasions.

So, on March 31, 1881, the Czar Alexander II. of Russia was blown to pieces by a bomb as he was on his way to the Winter Palace. He had been distinguished by his liberal views and his desire to ameliorate conditions in his empire, but he was struck down through a conspiracy of nihilists. So, too, a few years ago, a plot in army caused an artillery salute in honor of the present Czar to take the form of a discharge of loaded pieces directly in the direction of the Imperial household.

President Carnot of France was the only head of a foreign republic beside President Borda Idiarte of Uruguay, to be assassinated of late years. He met his death in Lyons, at the hands of an Italian anarchist Caserio, who shot him on June 24, 1894. He had gone to the Exhibition of Arts and Sciences, and had been enthusiastically greeted on the way. Just as he stepped into his carriage on his departure from the building, Caserio sprang up on the step, waving a paper as though it were a petition. The guards permitted him to approach the President, and he drew a dagger and stabbed him in the body. The wound was mortal, and Carnot died the next day.

One of the most terrible of political assassinations was that of King Alexander and Queen Draga of Serbia on June 11, 1902. That little kingdom had been torn with internal strife, and King Milan had been forced to abdicate in favor of his son.

Alexander believed in drastic measures, and in a country seething with revolutionary and liberal feeling attempted to make the power of the Crown more and more absolute. In particular he offended his subjects by his marriage.

On the evening of June 10, 1902 a military conspiracy came to a head. A number of officers forced their way into the palace, aided by their comrades, who were supposed to be on guard. They reached the royal chamber and were faced by King Alexander with the Queen in his arms. They demanded his immediate abdication. He refused, and immediately a storm of bullets fell on the royal pair. They were shot down and the throne given to Peter of the house of Karageorgevitch, the present reigning monarch.

KING HUMBERT.

The assassination of King Humbert of Italy on July 29, 1900, on the other hand, was inspired by an archaic feeling. A band of anarchists with headquarters in Paterson, N.J., selected Angelo Bresci to slay the King who had already, three years before been exposed to anarchistic bullets. The King went to Monza to present the prizes at a gymnastic competition. No special danger was feared and no particular precautions were taken; but as he was leaving the hall and stepping into his carriage, Bresci fired three times, one of his shots finding lodgment in the King's heart.

King Carlos of Portugal, and the Crown Prince Luis fell victims to a revolutionary conspiracy on February 1, 1908. The Kingdom had been in a ferment for some time with the republican feeling which led a year or two ago to the abolition of the monarchy. The royal family had been at Villa Vicosa, and it was known that they were about to return to their palace in Lisbon. As they drove through the streets the conspirators opened fire upon them with carbines. The King and the Crown Prince fell dead, but Queen Amelia and Prince, now ex-King Manuel escaped.

Of all the assassinations of crowned heads of recent years perhaps the most dastardly was that of the Empress Elizabeth of Austria at Geneva on September 10, 1898. The Empress had lived a blameless life, and had known more than her full share of sorrows. She was famed for her charities, and her love of travelling was regarded with respect and affection by all who came within her influence. But as she was staying at Geneva and was walking quietly in her hotel the French-Italian anarchist Lucchiani attacked and killed her.

Of attempts to assassinate crowned heads there had been a very large number. Even so beloved a sovereign as Queen Victoria was exposed three or four times to the shots of would-be murderers, who were generally shown to have been insane. King Edward was the victim of an attack while travelling in Belgium. But the most sensational assault on royalty was committed upon King Alfonso of Spain and his bride, the Princess Victoria of England, as they were driving home after their marriage ceremony. A bomb was thrown at the royal procession, and the carriage in which the newly married pair was driving was so badly shattered that they were forced to complete the journey in another, but neither the King nor Queen was injured.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A FARMERS' COLLEGE RIGHT HERE AT HOME.

Editor Record.

Sir—Farming is by far the most important industry in Canada. It is the solid foundation on which all the prosperity of the country depends. The farmer of to-day wants to be up-to-date, and to put into his business the best methods and the best scientific knowledge. The farmers want to get together and exchange ideas, and to work with their brother farmers for mutual instruction and benefit. We propose to do this at Cookshire by organizing a "Farmers' Club."

We mean to have a meeting once a month all through the winter, at which live practical subjects will be discussed by live practical men. The first meeting will be held on Friday, Oct. 25th, in the parish hall behind St. Peter's Church. The chief speaker will be Mr. E. C. Harrison, principal of Macdonald College, that great farming school which is famous all over the world. He and other speakers will address the meeting on "Farming and Education." We shall then organize for the winter. Other subjects will be "Beef Cattle and Sheep," "Dairy Cattle and Milk Production," "Horses and Horse Breeding," "Soil and Seed Selection," "Roots, Alfalfa, Corn and Silos," and last, but not least, "Farming on Business Principles."

One or two of the best experts in Canada will be present at each meeting, and the farmers themselves will ask questions, tell their own experience, and both learn and teach. Here then is a great opportunity for the farmers of Compton County. We cannot all go to an agricultural college. We wish we could, but here is the College coming to us. We shall learn what a splendid store of information and practical, common sense instruction can be got from the great school of agriculture at St. Anne de Bellevue, through the far-seeing generosity of Sir William Macdonald, and the result will be that we shall want to send our boys and girls there, to be trained in the best methods of agriculture, and to be taught that the country life is the happiest life after all, and that the farm can employ men and women of the keenest intellect and the highest training.

The winter's programme is of the best; it is up to the farmers to use it to the best advantage. First meeting Friday, Oct. 25th, at 7.30 p.m.

FEWER LIVES LOST AT SEA.

The toll of the sea is gradually falling. In 1894, 1874 masters and seamen and 1,197 passengers, making a grand total of 3,071, were lost, as compared with 997 masters and seamen and 24 passengers (a total of 1,021) in 1911—figures which appear in a British mercantile marine return just issued. The proportion of mariners lost in 1894 was one in 116; last year it had fallen to one in 248. Nearly 250,000 seamen are returned as serving in British seagoing merchant ships last year, as against less than 220,000 fifteen years ago.

It is noticeable that of last year's over 230,000 were engaged on steamships as against only 15,000 on sailing vessels. In 1894, 58,537 seamen worked under sail, against 159,257 under steam.

AN ACCEPTABLE POEM.

The highest price ever paid for poetry was £375 a line, James Smith, of "Rejected Addresses" fame, being the fortunate recipient. One evening at dinner he met Richard Strachan, the king's printer, who, although badly crippled with gout, conversed so brilliantly that Smith sent him the following tribute:

Your lower limbs seemed far from stout
When last I saw you walk,
The cause I presently found out
When you began to talk.
The power that props the body's strength
In due proportions spread,
In you mounts upward, and the strength
All settles in the head.

On receiving this Strachan added a codicil to his will, leaving the author £3,000 as a reward for his poem.—London Chronicle.

CURIOUS WELLS
A curious form of water hole is found in the deserts of western Australia, dry by day but yielding an abundant supply of water by night. The flow of water is preceded by hissing and sounds of rushing air. The phenomenon is discussed by Dr. Malcolm McLaren, who has located and examined one of these wells.

He found that the water supply occurred in a long, narrow trench, at the bottom of which was a thin plate of gneiss, separated by a cavity from the main rock mass beneath. Apparently the heat of the day causes this plate to expand in the form of a depression, into which the water retreats. When it cools and contracts at night it forces first air and then water back into the trench.—Scientific American.

—King George of England has been granted a patent upon a stove that will serve as an open grate in one room of a house and to cook meals in the ordinary way in another.

"If I could use that floor upstairs I could double my Profits."

An Elevator in a Garage makes all floors equally useful.

Bringing Down Garage Costs

HOW many floors do you pay rent for? How many do you use? Is each floor equally valuable to you?

These are questions which every Garage owner should ask himself.

A Freight elevator puts all floors on the same level; makes every square inch of floor space equally valuable. It enables you to arrange your tools, machinery, parts stock, and accessories in the most convenient order to ensure economic operation; so that useless hauling, shifting and moving are eliminated and their unnecessary cost goes to fatten your profit account.

An Otis-Fensom Elevator, suitable for your requirements, will cost you very little in proportion to what it will pay you. If you are using more than one floor you will find that it will double the value of every dollar you have invested in your building, or which you pay in rent, and will save you a large sum every month in labor charges. Don't think an Otis-Fensom Freight Elevator necessitates a large investment.

You will probably be surprised how little the right kind of an equipment will cost you.

Send for our book, "Freight Elevators and Their Uses." It tells the whole story. It is free. Use the Coupon—NOW.

CITY NEWS

The friends in Sherbrooke, Portland, Me., and many other places of the late Montague Brown, who lost his life while hunting, about a year ago, will be interested to know that a brass eagle lecturn was recently dedicated to his memory in St. Andrew's Church, La Tuque. Mr. Brown was manager of the mills of the Berlin Pulp & Paper Company, and took a keen interest in the parish, during the first years of its existence.

The death of Miss Lea Labadie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Labadie, occurred at an early hour yesterday morning. Deceased has been ill with a trying and mortal malady for some two years, and had undergone two operations at the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, which did not avail to save her life. Her sweet and amiable disposition and lovely character had endeared her to a wide circle of friends and her early death is deeply regretted. The funeral will take place Thursday morning at St. Michael's Cathedral.

BANQUET TO MR. MCCREA. Arrangements have been completed for the Banquet to be tendered to Mr. McCrea, M. P., by the Sherbrooke County Liberal Association. It will take place in the Art Hall on October 29th.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Hon. Sydney Fisher, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Hon. McKenzie King, and other prominent public men are expected to be present.

DANGER OF WOOD ALCOHOL

ATTENTION ATTRACTED TO THE POISONOUS NATURE OF THE STUFF.

The scandal caused by the death of ten Quebecers in Montreal recently, as a result of drinking wood alcohol, has attracted attention to the poisonous nature of the stuff. There has been considerable difference of opinion as to whether the poisonous effect of this substance is actually due to the alcohol itself or to some impurities which are almost invariably present in all except the most refined products. There is a scarcity of facts regarding the actual behavior of wood alcohol in the animal body, so that the underlying cause of its extremely poisonous character are by no means clearly understood.

With respect to grain alcohol, the component of ordinary beverages, the facts are better understood. Ordinary alcohol is when taken in moderate quantities rapidly burned up in the body. This fact has been demonstrated by numerous experiments. With wood alcohol, however, the case seems to be different, according to the recent investigations in the institute at Berlin. It has been shown that when wood alcohol is administered to animals it may not be eliminated completely even at the end of two days. The repeated ingestion of considerable quantities of wood alcohol may lead to a dangerous accumulation thereof in the body. This factor has heretofore not been duly appreciated. These subtle dangers associated with the use of wood alcohol deserve widespread notice because of the increasing danger of its unsuspected entrance as an adulterant of the cheaper grades of distilled liquors and certain medicinal products. The insatiable demand for cheap liquors among certain of the degraded classes, and the difficulty with which the admixture of the inexpensive wood alcohol is detected, provide a constant temptation to the unscrupulous dealer and a menace to the life and health of certain classes. However objectionable adulteration may be on general principles, it becomes far worse when some subtle danger is harbored therein.

TURKEY OFFERED CRETE TO GREECE

HAD FOR OBJECT TO DRAW GREEKS AWAY FROM BALKAN ALLIES.

London, Oct. 22.—The Turkish Government was ready to agree to the annexation of Crete to Greece if Greece would withdraw from the Balkan alliance before the declaration of war. It has just been made known that this was intimated to Greece and also that Turkey was ready to assent to the junction of the Greek and Turkish railway systems, a project which had until then been strongly objected to by Turkey. Greece refused point blank to accept the proposition.

PERKINS RISES UP IN HIS WRATH

Did Not Underwrite Roosevelt Campaign.

ALLEGED IN SENATE THAT HE HAD DONE SO TO EXTENT OF $3,000,000.

Washington, Oct. 22.—George W. Perkins yesterday denounced as a "unmitigated falsehood the charge that he had underwritten the Roosevelt's re-election campaign this year in the sum of $3,000,000. He testified that his total contributions were $122,500. Rising from the witness chair before the Clapp committee and shaking a clenched fist, Mr. Perkins shouted: "Among the long list of unmitigated lies throughout this campaign that statement perhaps should be placed at the top, because it is largest. I was in hope that Senator Penrose would be here this morning. He made that statement on the floor of the Senate and he ought to be required to prove it, or, like a gentleman, he ought to take it back. There is not a scintilla of truth in it, from A to Z."

"Just a minute," interrupted Chairman Clark. "All that is necessary is that you deny it. All that the committee can do is to determine that proof or the absence of proof."

AMERICAN WOMEN AT THE POLLS

Will Vote in Six States for President.

CHOICE OF PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT MAY DEPEND UPON THE VOTES OF WOMEN.

Washington, D.C., Oct. 22.—(Special)—In the general election two weeks from to-day women will vote in six States, California, Washington, Idaho, Colorado, Wyoming and Utah, a fact which campaign managers of the various parties have taken into consideration.

According to the last census California has a total of 671,386 women eligible to vote. For the other five states the figures are as follows: Colorado 213,425, Utah 85,729, Washington 277,727, Idaho 69,818, Wyoming 28,840.

That the choice of a President and Vice-President of the United States in the coming election may depend upon the votes of the women in the six States named is easily within the range of possibilities.
