CENTENARY ATTRACTS HUGE CROWD

A Brilliant Military Scene Featured The Colors Presentation

Two and a Half Hour Ceremony of Presentation of Colors to Sherbrooke Regiment and Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke by Lieutenant-Governor Patenaude, Which Took Place Saturday Afternoon, Enhanced by Black Watch (Royal Highland Regiment) of Canada and Les Fusiliers Mont Royal.

Five thousand people were thrilled by the solemn and impressive ceremony of the presentation of colors to the Sherbrooke Regiment (M. G.) and Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke at the Exhibition Grounds Saturday afternoon.

Sherbrooke was honored for this event by the presence of Hon. E. L. Patenaude, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec, who presented the colors to the two local units. The two and a half hour ceremony, enacted under a hot, scorching sun, was enhanced by the Black Watch (Royal Highland Regiment) of Canada and Les Fusiliers Mont Royal, garbed in their colorful pre-war uniforms.

The colors of the Sherbrooke Regiment, the gift of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, were consecrated by Lt.-Col. the Ven. Archdeacon Scott, of Quebec, assisted by Major H. M. Shore, chaplain of the Victoria Rifles, while those of Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke were blessed by Colonel the Rev. Canon Sylvestre, of Montreal, assisted by Major Jean Ducharme, of Les Fusiliers Mont Royal, and Major the Rev. C. E. Chartier, chaplain of Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke.

Many prominent officers of the Canadian militia were in attendance, and the presentation was one of the most impressive military displays ever witnessed in the Eastern Townships.

Held in conjunction with the week-end Centenary celebration festivities, the presentation added dignity and glamor to the already attractive programme that continued the city's jubilee fete.

Hon. E. L. Patenaude and Mrs. Patenaude, accompanied by Lt.-Col.

D. B. Papineau, late of the R.C.R., as aide-de-camp, arrived in Sherbrooke shortly after noon. They were met in Richmond by Mayor Emile Rioux, Miss Marthe Rioux, First Lady of Sherbrooke, and Col. the Hon. Johnny Bourque, Provincial Minister of Public Works, and Mrs. Bourque.

Thousands Cheered King's Representative.

The thousands who crowded the spacious grandstand to view the ceremony cheered the Lieutenant-Governor as he arrived at three o'clock.

Mr. Patenaude was received by the Guard of Honor, after which the Sherbrooke Regiment formed up to be inspected by the Lieutenant-Governor and his military escort.

Accompanying the Lieutenant-Governor for the presentation of the colors were his aide-de-camp, Lt.-Col. Papineau, Major J. W. H. G. H. Van Den Berg, D.S.O., M.D., No. 4, Col. B. W. Brown, D.S.O., M.C., General Staff Officer, M.D., No. 4, Mayor Emile Rioux, Col. Sam Echenberg, O. C. 10th Infantry Brigade and former O. C. of the Sherbrooke Regiment, and Col. M. W. McNulty, O. C. Bishop's C. O. T. C.

The colors were unrolled and placed upon a temporary altar formed of piled-up drums. In this ceremonial, the King's Colors were carried by Major Lee Watson, second in command of the Sherbrooke Regiment, and Major B. Lyon.

The ceremony concluded with a

Demonstrators Force Postponement Of Trial Of German Rebel Minister

German Government Announces Trial of Rev. Martin Niemöller Has Been Postponed to "Further Examine Evidence" After Congregation Staged Riot.

Berlin, Aug. 9.—Trial of Rev. Martin Niemöller, Protestant Confessional leader, was postponed today after several hundred church-goers had paraded in the streets of Suburban Dahlem against a ban on prayer meetings for the "Rebel Pastor."

Niemöller was to have gone on trial tomorrow charged with resistance of Nazi church policy.

The eleventh-hour postponement was explained cryptically in official quarters as due "to the necessity for further examination of the evidence" against the wartime submarine commander.

Church circles, however, envisaged the delay as the aftermath of the passionate outburst of resentment by Niemöller's congregation in Dahlem.

Protestant churches had arranged to toll their bells when the trial began as a city-wide beckoning to prayer meetings for the Pastor.

French Attitude May Hinder Any Anglo-Italian Agreement

Agreement with Russia May Force France to Block Practical Working Agreement Between Great Britain and Italy—May Accept Long Range View of Complete Settling of Accounts of Two Nations with Italy.

London, Aug. 9.—Possible French objections to a practical working agreement between Great Britain and Italy arose today as diplomats began preparing Britain's case for the Rome friendship talks scheduled to start at the end of September.

Diplomats were compelled to keep in mind that a four-power western pact to replace the abandoned Locarno—reliably reported as a possible outcome of the present situation—would raise a storm of protest in the French Popular Front, which makes up the French Government.

France is bound by a pact with Russia. On the other hand, it was felt likely that France would realize that in the long run, she would stand to benefit as much as Great Britain by settling accounts with Italy.

Foreign office experts, therefore, have set themselves with enthusiasm to the task of preparing the groundwork for the talks in which Foreign Secretary Eden and Count Galeazzo Ciano are expected to meet.

EXPULSION OF THREE NAZI NEWSPAPERMEN PROTESTED BY REICH

London, Aug. 9.—Germany protested formally to Great Britain today against the expulsion of three Nazi newspapermen, of the Berlin Lokalanzeiger, and the younger writers Franz Otto Wiede and Wolf Dietrich Langen, working for a new agency which reports news and opinions of Germans abroad, were ordered to leave England by the Home Office last week-end. There was no explanation of the order.

Dr. E. Woermann, Charge D'Affaires of the German Embassy made the protest today at the Foreign Office. It was described as couched in "restrained terms."

The protest followed conferences of German diplomats at Renfrew, Scotland, where German Ambassador Joachim von Ribbentrop is on holiday.

MONETARY TALK IS APPROVED BY EIGHT NATIONS

Two Reported to Have Rejected Proposed Inter-American Conference that Would "Endeavor to Bring About Monetary Stability."

Washington, Aug. 9.—Eight nations have approved and two have rejected a proposed inter-American monetary conference, the Pan-American Union disclosed today.

The parley was suggested at the Inter-American Peace Conference in Buenos Aires last year. It would endeavor to bring about monetary stability and the termination of the system of exchange control.

Affirmative replies have been received from Mexico, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Uruguay and Bolivia. Chile and Venezuela have said such a conference would not be opportune.

Although the Union dispatched inquiries on the conference proposal last March, answers have not yet been received from the United States, Argentina or Brazil.

STRONG PROTEST QUINTUPLETS WAS SENT DIRECT TO REBEL CHIEF

When British Crew Took to Boats, Spanish Insurgent Planes Swept Low and Used Their Machine-guns Against Sailors.

London, Aug. 9.—Instructions to protest to the Spanish insurgent regime at Salamanca against the bombing of the tanker British Corporal on Friday have been sent to Sir Henry Chilton, British Ambassador stationed at Hendaye, France, it was learned today.

All newspapers were indignant over the Mediterranean bombings, which involved French and Italian merchant vessels as well as the British ship. The captain of the Italian vessel was killed.

Sir Henry's protest direct to General Franco will be identical to that delivered to the insurgent authorities at Palma, Mallorca, by Rear-Admiral L. V. Wells.

Although an Admiralty report on the bombing had not yet been received here, sufficient information was held to have been contained in the report of the British consul-general at Algiers.

This document said three planes with identifying marks suggesting they belonged to the insurgent forces dropped about forty bombs near the British vessel about thirty miles west of Algiers. When the crew of the British Corporal took to the boats, the planes swept low and used machine-guns against the sailors, according to the ship's captain.

Newspapers of all shades of political opinion joined in condemning the attacks.

"Piracy" was the heading over the Times editorial, which suggested that the interested powers should combine to stamp out the "modern Corsairs."

General Franco and his lieutenants "have learned to take no notice of protests from Great Britain," said the Daily Herald, Labor organ.

A non-intervention control agent from the Netherlands who was aboard one of the bombed vessels, the 6,113-ton Italian steamship Mongolia, was convinced the attacking planes belonged to the insurgents, the Times recalled.

This attack on an Italian ship, the newspaper said, was a "curious return for kindness received." The British Government, the Times added, seemed to be in no doubt as to the allegiance of the airman.

The Times said there was clearly a strong case for authorizing war vessels of all interested nations "to fire on any airplanes actually seen by them to be firing at merchant ships."

These nations, officials said, there is little chance a conference will take place.

Public Visits to Dionne Family Suspended as Dr. Dafoe Reports Youngsters Have Mild Colds—Condition Not Serious.

Callander, Ont., Aug. 9.—The Dionne quintuplets have developed mild colds their physician Dr. A. R. Dafoe said today. Dr. Dafoe said that Emilie, who had been "under the weather" for a week with a sore throat, is now well, but her four sisters—Yvonne, Annette, Cecile and Maria have slight colds and the five will not be visible to the tourist public for two or three days.

Dr. Dafoe emphasized that no anxiety is felt, and said it is not likely Dr. Alan Brown, Toronto child specialist, will be called in for consultation as he was in Emilie's case. The quintuplets have been feeling in the heat and are "not quite up to the mark," so the daily inspection by tourists has been suspended for the time being.

No change has been made in their diet and they are allowed the run of the play yard as usual but under discretion of the nurse in charge, who guards against their getting too tired.

"Emilie is now quite well," the doctor said, "but there's no point in bringing one of them out alone to look at the crowd. Besides, the others would be lonesome."

The quintuplets are not confined to bed except for their normal sleeping hours.

Dr. Dafoe said that the statement issued last week in connection with Emilie—it attributed her illness to an outside source—"holds for the others at this time."

BEE CAUSED FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

Dorval, Que., Aug. 9.—A buzzing bee brought death to a woman and injuries to two persons yesterday near this Montreal suburb.

The bee was flying about inside an automobile, and as the driver attempted to chase it out, the automobile ran into a ditch. Mrs. S. Jackson, 28, of Montreal, died instantly of a broken neck.

William Pastor, 27, the driver, was held as a material witness for the inquest.

REICH SPEEDING WAR SHIPMENTS TO INSURGENTS

London Herald Correspondent Reports that Docks Reserved for Shipments to Insurgent Spain Are Working Day and Night.

London, Aug. 9.—German shipments of war materials to insurgent Spain have been speeded up in the last few weeks, a special correspondent of the Daily Herald, Labor organ, said today in an article based on observations during a trip to Hamburg.

"I have just returned from Hamburg," the correspondent wrote, "and can give details of the heavy traffic carried out from that port, despite strict precautions to maintain secrecy about the loading and unloading of ships bound for or returning from Spain and Portugal."

Docks reserved for trade with insurgent Spain have been extremely busy since June, the Herald writer said, adding that during July work became so heavy that picked Blackshirt guards, previously used exclusively for loading work, were supplemented by ordinary stevedores.

The latter, he said, were sworn to secrecy before being given the work. During this period the work was carried on openly by day, instead of only at night, as previously.

CLAIMS CHINESE ARE FOLLOWING "WORST POSSIBLE" COURSE

Tokyo, Aug. 9.—General Gen Sugiyama, Japanese War Minister, said today that unless China quits moving troops to the Hopei Province area "we will be obliged to use force."

The Chinese, he said, are following the "worst possible" course.

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—With Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett remaining at the helm, the Conservative party prepared today to launch a nationwide organization programme in preparation for the next general election.

That Mr. Bennett, improved in health, was willing to devote his efforts to public service and retain active leadership of the party for the time being was indicated Saturday following a meeting of Conservative members of the Commons. Ever since he suffered a serious illness in 1935 the possibility of his retirement has been more or less prominent in the minds of party members.

The text of a resolution adopted unanimously which made no direct mention of leadership or of party organization was the only official statement given out after the meeting, attended by thirty-seven of the thirty-nine members of the House. "This meeting," the resolution read, "of Conservative members of the House of Commons, assembled to greet our chief, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, has decided that he should continue to lead the party."

Daring Rescue By R.C.M.P. Ship Of Ice Bound Arctic Supply Crew

Rescue Effected of Entire Crew and Fourteen Eskimo Passengers Aboard Sinking Ship in Arctic Circle—All Saved as Boat Cracked Under Them from the Ice Pressure.

Coppermine, N.W.T., Aug. 9.—Twelve persons, including five children, were brought ashore here Saturday from the wrecked Hudson's Bay Company auxiliary schooner Fort James which, crushed in ice, sank early Friday off Chatter Island near Bernhart Harbor, one hundred miles northward.

Captain R. J. Summers, of Brighton, England, his crew of four and an Eskimo family of seven were rescued from the sinking vessel by the crew of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police schooner St. Roch, which was fast in the ice and in imminent danger herself.

The Fort James, bound for Taktoyaktik near Mackenzie, became icebound on July 27 in Dolphin Strait and drifted in the pack until August 5, when terrific pressure lifted her, turning her on her side, shearing away the keel and splitting her rudder.

As she heeled over a galley stove upset, setting fire to the woodwork, but the crew quickly extinguished the blaze. At 9.30 p.m. Thursday the ship filled partially but held atop the ice until one a.m. Friday when she sank in ten fathoms of water. All hands worked frantically to get the Eskimo family out of the hold as water poured in and men from the St. Roch, under command of Sergeant J. U. Eddy and Henry Larsen, rushed over the ice to help in the rescue. There was no cargo aboard except a few boxes of walrus fox skins which were submerged before they could be removed.

Crew members lost all possessions except the clothes they wore. The officers, Captain Summers, Mate Bill Starkes, of Nippon Harbour, Nfld., and Chief Engineer Larry White, Port Union, Nfld., remained aboard till the last.

When the Fort James survivors got aboard the St. Roch the police ship, which had been subjected to severe punishment before it got clear of the ice, broke away from the pack and headed for this Coppermine.

Fear Latest Clash Might Prove Tinder

Clash Between Japanese and Chinese Forces at Airdrome May Touch Off Hostilities in Shanghai Region — Jap Conquest of Hopei Completed.

Shanghai, August 9.—A clash today at Hungjiao airdrome between Chinese militia and Japanese marines, resulted in one fatality on each side, threatened to touch off the tinder of Sino-Japanese hostilities in the Shanghai region.

Earlier reports said the clash at Hungjiao had involved Japanese dressed in civilian clothes.

Although the road to the airdrome was barricaded and information hard to get, it was learned the incident occurred when several small truckloads of Japanese marines approached the field and ignored orders to halt.

All Japanese shops in the city promptly closed down in anticipation of further developments.

CIVIL GOVERNMENT IS PROVIDED FOR HOPEI

Tientsin, Aug. 9.—The Japanese army completed its conquest of northeastern Hopei today while Japanese administrators moved slowly toward establishment of a permanent civil government in the rich Chinese region.

A Japanese brigade of three thousand men marched into the city of Peiping yesterday with fifty trucks, ten heavy and five light tanks, and considerable cavalry, took the ancient capital of China's Manchu emperors under its protection and made it, for all practical purposes, a Japanese city.

The Japanese troops, commanded by Major-General T. Kawabe, paraded along the boulevards and upper arches of triumph that proclaimed Imperial China's glories. Then the various units deployed throughout the city, taking up their garrison duties.

In Tientsin, army headquarters of the Japanese who have wrested northeastern Hopei from Chinese troops in a month of undeclared war, the judiciary, police and communication administrations were brought under complete Japanese control.

The crossing was made in twelve hours and two minutes.

The Cambria's time was just under that of her sister ship, the Caladonia, on a similar flight and was the fastest west-east crossing of the current series of exploratory hops being made by British and United States planes.

RODRIGUE AND GRIMARD CASE IS APPEALED

Application for Bail Made Before Montreal Court of Appeal for Two Local Men Sentenced to Penitentiary for Conspiracy to Defraud.

An inscription-in-appeal, accompanied by an application for bail, was filed in the Court of Appeal in Montreal by Attorney Charles de L. Mignault on Saturday on behalf of Lionel Rodrigue and Louis Rodrigue, both of this city, who were sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Judge J. S. Couture in the Magistrate's Court last Friday when convicted on a charge of conspiracy to defraud.

The amount of bail is expected to be fixed by the Appeal Court on Wednesday. In the meantime the two local men remain incarcerated in the Sherbrooke jail.

Grimard and Rodrigue, two well known real estate agents, are charged with having conspired to defraud a number of Eastern Townships farmers.

Sentenced at their preliminary hearing to stand trial before the next term of Court of King's Bench, the accused opted for a speedy trial and were found guilty by Judge Couture, who condemned them to two years in the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary.

ABERHART ASKS MINISTER FOR RESIGNATION

Attorney-General Requested to Quit Cabinet Because "He is Out of Harmony with Social Credit Movement."

Edmonton, Aug. 9.—Attorney-General Hugh's resignation from the Alberta Social Credit cabinet was requested because he has "felt himself out of harmony with the movement," Premier Aberhart said last night.

"For some time it has been apparent that Mr. Hugh felt himself out of harmony with the movement," the Premier said.

"The welfare of the people and the cause we represent demands the displacement of those in authority who find it impossible to give one hundred per cent service in the performance of their functions."

Mr. Hugh handed in his resignation before he left Saturday night to attend the Canadian Bar Association Convention in Toronto. He will represent Alberta at the convention. It is not expected his resignation will be formally announced until he returns.

DEFENDS ACTION ON BANKS

Edmonton, Aug. 9.—Premier William Aberhart in an address last night to the Edmonton Protestant Bible Conference declared the Alberta Government has no intention of interfering with the regular business of banking, but desires "an investigation into the usurped right of monetizing our credit and holding a monopoly in that regard that is detrimental to our citizens."

"Surely," he said, "the banking institutions cannot claim to be above and beyond all direction and control in connection with the provincial law and civil rights. If so, something is desperately wrong."

"If they declare our acts unconstitutional or if they disallow them in the face of our strongly expressed will of the people to the contrary, surely the welfare of our people is not being considered by those who would thus act."

(The Aberhart Government last week passed legislation providing for provincial licensing of bankers.)

DETROIT MOTOR WORKERS SIGN NEW AGREEMENT

Terms of Five-Point Agreement that Returned Twenty-One Thousand Men to Work Has Not Been Made Public.

Detroit, Aug. 9.—Twenty-one thousand automobile workers idle since last Wednesday because of a Plymouth Motor Corporation labor dispute returned to work today.

A five-point agreement whose terms were not disclosed was reached over the week-end by representatives of the Chrysler Corporation and the United Automobile Workers of America.

The agreement ended a production blockade that climaxed quarrelling between members of the U.A.W. and those of the independent Chrysler Employees' Association.

Lieutenant-Governor's Address.

Prior to the ceremony of the presentation of colors Saturday afternoon, Hon. Mr. Patenaude gave the following addresses:

"It was a great pleasure for me to accept your invitation to take part in the celebration of Sherbrooke's centenary.

"Your city's history is inseparable from that of the Townships so fertile and so beautiful, in the midst of which it rises as a queen.

"The various elements which, from time to time, contributed to its birth, development and prosperity have added further charm to the beauty of the region and to the interest of its history. This variety, representing a faithful summary of the whole history of our country, seems to me worthy of inspiring our best efforts in promoting progress and good understanding."

The meeting appointed committees to get the nation-wide organization under way. In every province committees will function and eventually the organization will be centralized under a national office at Ottawa.

The ship's loss won't deprive the northern outposts of supplies as the St. Roch will be available to carry R.M.P. freight and the Hudson's Bay Company has chartered another ship, the Audrey B. which is already loading freight at Tuktoyaktuk for Coronation Gulf ports.

HEAT CAUSES A LULL IN MAJOR OPERATIONS

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 9.—Embattled Spanish Government pushed its Albarracin sector line north today and dug into positions blocking the insurgent threat to the Cuenca-Teruel highway, key to Communications linking Madrid and Valencia.

Government scouts reconnoitered the towns of Guadalquivir and Villa del Cobo, advancing the government vanguard within sight of Griegos, westernmost point of the insurgent salient now the centre of civil war operations.

Both sides were digging in for trench warfare such as has ranged around Madrid for more than nine months. The Government also took advantage of the lull in major operations to fortify positions south of Terol, tip of the finger-like salient.

Insurgent dispatches said that heat prevented strenuous activity, but that insurgent battalions were resting in preparation for new advances.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's attack, insurgent officers declared, was being organized into an offensive aimed at paralyzing the entire Government communication system east of Madrid which fans out from Cuenca.

They declared an insurgent advance guard was pressing on Salavacane, Teruel-Cuenca highway city, which would bring the insurgents within thirty miles of Cuenca if they took the city.

Salavacane is about 120 miles east of Madrid.

Both insurgent and Government reports declared internal fighting had broken out within the other's ranks.

The Government asserted sharp fighting had broken out in Toledo where some of the revolutionaries had taken refuge in the Archbishop's Palace.

Persistent reports of renewed street-fighting in Barcelona came from insurgent sources, which said anarchists and members of the P.O.U.M., proletarian extremists, were battling in the Catalan capital.

The French Rightist press asserted that more than thirty leaders of Barcelona political groups had vanished during recent days and declared that Catalan Leftists were in a state of chaos while General Sebastian Pozas attempted to end internal dissension.

The St. Roch, one of the sturdiest vessels on the Arctic coast, is bound for Vancouver after wintering at Cambridge Bay, Victoria Island.

The 100-ton Fort James made the voyage from St. John's, Nfld., in 1934 through the Panama Canal, via the Pacific Coast through Bering Strait into the Western Arctic. She wintered in Dease Strait and was travelling light when struck by the ice pack.

The ship's loss won't deprive the northern outposts of supplies as the St. Roch will be available to carry R.M.P. freight and the Hudson's Bay Company has chartered another ship, the Audrey B. which is already loading freight at Tuktoyaktuk for Coronation Gulf ports.

The Fort James won her last hard battle with ice last autumn. She delivered supplies to the Cape Minto post just at freeze-up, relieving a food shortage there.

Captain Summers, veteran Arctic navigator, was second officer aboard the Baychino, ghost ship of the Arctic, which lost in the ice in 1931 off Point Barrow, Alaska, showed up in the pack two years ago.

Careful Training Is Reflected In Pageant

Crowded Grandstand Greeted First Presentation of Historical Pageant Depicting Growth and Development of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships—Rapidly Changing Scenes Feature of Performance.

For several months past, a group of fifteen hundred Sherbrooke citizens have been diligently practising for the ambitious presentation of a "Century of Progress" pageant in fifteen episodes and twenty-two scenes designed to review the history of the city and to a certain extent of the district. The initial presentation of this feature of the Centenary celebrations at the Centennial Amphitheatre on the Fair Grounds last evening offered a never-to-be-forgotten spectacle, the whole exceeding the greatest hope of its sponsors.

From beginning to end the three hour programme went off without a hitch or a delay, while the individual and mass scenes showed the benefits of careful training. The presentations were as varied as the time which they were supposed to cover, the scenes ranging from the sublime to the ridiculous. The silence engendered by the solemnly scene of the celebration of the first mass gave way to roars of laughter at the arrival and departure of the stage coach. Patriotic fervor nearly reached the breaking point with the presentation of the Fathers of Confederation and the tribute to the Canadian Great War dead.

The musical programme was also of a high order and won hearty applause from the thousands of spectators who jammed the grandstand to its utmost capacity. The music comprised several vocal choruses by the English and French choirs under the direction of Prof. Roger Havard and Georges Sylvestre, presentations of the Chanteclers directed by their founder Hector St. Pierre with instrumental music by the Harmony Band under the baton of Director Charles Delvenne. The new outdoor organ in the first of its kind to be used in the Province of Quebec, was capably handled by Miss Bertha Allen, B. Mus., and Prof. Eugene Caron.

Adding to last night's programme was the presence of Lieutenant-Governor E. L. Patenaude and Mrs. Patenaude, whose arrival was marked by the playing of the National Anthem. His Honor was accompanied by Mayor Emile Rioux, of Sherbrooke, and Miss Rioux, Col. Hon. J. S. Bourque, Minister of Public Works and Mrs. Bourque.

Although billed as the Evocation of a Century of History, the drama actually covered somewhat over two centuries, while its prologue dated back to the coming of the Christian era. Interspersed among the acts were a number of ballet and minuet numbers which did much to add to the impressiveness of the scene.

The Pageant opened with the mass scene, Humanity in Chains, depicting the fight of the people of early times to free themselves from bondage and work upwards to the Christian era. Then came the scene of Christianity and mankind, formerly shrinking together in fear and darkness, received the light and began this upward climb. The mass scene in this prologue proved one of the most impressive of the evening and quickly brought the audience into the spirit of the drama.

From then on the scenes rapidly blended one into another. First came the Redman which opened with a tribe of Abenakis Indians located on the site of future Sherbrooke where they went about the business of pitching camp and proceeded unconcernedly about their tasks until the arrival of a war party with a captive who, in accordance with the best of Indian custom, was duly tortured, scalped and then burned at the stake. Added interest was lent to this scene by the fact that the entire light was provided by the village campfires.

Then came the first white man to visit the place where Sherbrooke was to be later established. In January 1690, Francis Hertel, was dispatched from Three Rivers by the Count de Frontenac with a detachment of French soldiers to raid the English villages along the Connecticut River. This French leader is depicted passing the Great Forks on his way to raid the villages and on his return with a number of English prisoners.

Follows the Race to Death, the famous Indian legend of the warriors who raced to exhaustion around the Lone Pine Rock to determine possession of the vast hunting grounds of the Eastern Townships. The scene then shifts to 1750 when Major Robert Rogers, leading a British raiding party, is seen arriving at the junction of the Magog and St. Francis rivers after wiping out the Indian village at the mouth of the St. Francis.

A vision of the Sherbrooke of the future was seen in the dream of Pierre de Sales Laterrière, explorer and adventurer who in 1786 stopped over at the Grand Forks on a canoe trip from Quebec to Boston to write his medical examinations. In this dream, he saw a vision of waving wheat field depicted by an excellently arranged ballet.

Then Sherbrooke is born. Gilbert Hyatt, popularly credited with being the founder of Sherbrooke, is shown arriving on the scene of the future city leading an ox-cart containing a few rough tools and agricultural implements. He is accompanied by his six brothers and two sisters who immediately proceed with the task of erecting a log cabin.

Closely linked with this is the Meeting of Protest held by the original settlers of the district at Missisquoi Bay when a protest was presented to the Governor against an order-in-council opening the lands of the district to general settlement. The signers of this petition were Jesse Pennoyer, who was charged with presenting it to Lord Dorchester, Samuel Willard, Calvin May, John Ferguson, Gilbert Hyatt, William Barnard, Josiah Sawyer, Ebenezer Hovey and Daniel Brunson.

Soon regular communication is established with the outside world and the next scene depicts the arrival of the weekly Quebec to Boston stage coach at Sword's hotel in Sherbrooke—now the Magog House. In this scene, the lighter side of history is portrayed with the interchange of greetings between the travellers on the north and south-bound coaches which meet here and the actions of some villager who had celebrated the arrival of the coach rather unwisely. The first coach arrived in January, 1811.

Shortly after the settlement had been established, the first mass was celebrated by a Roman Catholic priest in the residence of Hon. W. J. Felton in 1816 and the scene was depicted with impressive solemnity by a group of pageanters. Also shown was the first Anglican service conducted by Rev. C. F. Lefevre in 1822.

The visit of Sir John Coape Sherbrooke in 1817 to the little village was the cause of great rejoicing and his arrival in state was next portrayed. Then followed the opening of the first law court with Justice John Fletcher in charge and the opening of the first school.

A hush fell over the audience with the depiction of the famous picture, the Fathers of Confederation. In quick succession were shown the Reception to the Prince of Wales by Hon. Alexander T. Galt in 1860, the enthronement of Bishop Racine in 1874, which brought the pageant up to modern times.

The Great War broke out and a typical battlefield scene was shown with its war, dead and maimed in "On the Field of Honor." Then came Peace and a Tribute to Modern Progress. The curtain falls and the pageant proper closes.

The Chanteclers appear on the scene and a short musical programme is presented after which the epilogue follows. Miss Canada arrives on the scene accompanied by her ladies-in-waiting. She is followed by Miss United States and Miss Quebec with their courts. As the grand finale Miss Sherbrooke is seen approaching. She is welcomed with open arms by the queens and presented with costly gifts typical of the many advantages bestowed on the city.

The principal characters in the different scenes are:

Indian Chiefs—Godfrey Cote and Arthur Fortier.

Francis Hertel—Dr. Valmore Olivier.

Robert's Rangers—Major Rogers, Col. M. W. McNulty; Lt. Dunbar, Michael Stenson; General Amherst, Col. Leopold Chevalier.

The pageant was under the direction of Mr. Frank Hemmingway and the ballet and minuet were directed by Mrs. Hemmingway.

At last the visitor grew impatient, and getting up from the table she discovered the girl talking in a corner with the other waitresses. "Why haven't you brought my fish?" queried the hungry customer. "What fish?" replied the girl. "Why, the whiting I ordered, of course." "Oh," was the astonishing answer. "I didn't know you ordered anything; I thought you said you were just sitting down 'whiting'!"

WATERLOO FAIR
It is three years since the Shefford County Agricultural Society celebrated its Centenary. Little wonder that Waterloo Fair directors should regard with a tolerant smile Sherbrooke's effort to celebrate a mere hundred!

The Waterloo Fair lasts but three days but it will be three days packed full of action — no waiting around for someone to start something. The rodeo alone is worth going a long way to see and the Fair officials are to be commended on their enterprise in securing for the Eastern Townships this splendid opportunity of seeing these hard riding masters of theariat.

ORFORD WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETING HELD

The highlight of the August meeting of the Orford Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. Emmerson Smith, Stanley avenue, was Miss Kay Thompson's interesting review of the county meeting held at Cherry River on August 3rd. Miss Mary Mills was joint hostess with Mrs. Smith.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Andrew Garth, and the treasurer's report showed a satisfactory balance on hand. The name of an article for a "Medicine Cabinet" was the answer to the roll call.

After the meeting, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by the Misses Geraldine Smith and Beryl Sweet, the latter of Montreal. Several visitors joined the meeting at the tea hour.

GARDEN PARTY AT HOWARD FINE

Howard Fine will be on fete next Saturday for the Garden Party under the auspices of La Ligue de la Jeunesse Feminine. The Lieutenant-Governor and Madame Patenaude have graciously given their patronage to this affair.

The organization of the garden party is under the presidency of Mrs. Ashton Tobin who, with her committee, is putting forth every effort to make this event a brilliant success.

La Ligue de la Jeunesse Feminine was founded in Montreal by Madame Pierre Casgrain in 1929, the object being the grouping of young society girls to educate them in several different spheres of social service work. The local branch was created in 1931 and is at present under the presidency of Miss Marietta Cabana, who extends a most cordial welcome to all to attend the garden party at Howard Fine next Saturday afternoon.

RECEPTION AT MONT NOTRE DAME

The Sisters of Mont Notre Dame were signally honored Saturday afternoon by a short visit from His Honor Lieutenant-Governor E. L. Patenaude. The Hon. Mr. Patenaude was accompanied by Monsignor Letendre and Rev. Canon Pilette, of the Bishop's Palace. His Worship the Mayor, Col. Emile Rioux, Hon. Johnny Bourque, Minister of Public Works, and the Governor's aide-de-camp.

Seated with His Honor were also Rev. Mother Provincial Sister St. Mary Stanislas, Assistant Provincial Sister St. Gertrude, Prefect of Studies, Rev. Sister St. Adolphe, Rev. Mother Superior of Mont Notre Dame, Sister St. Alfred Le Grand, and Assistant Superior Sister St. Mary Josephine.

Monsignor Letendre gave a short address of welcome, and Rev. Canon Pilette, chaplain of the convent, also addressed the gathering. In part, after thanking His Honor for his courtesy in visiting the convent that when His Eminence Cardinal Villeneuve was here recently, he granted the Reverend Sisters a cardinalial holiday of three days.

The Governor graciously replied, complimenting the Sisters on their renown as educators of young girls, and concluded his remarks by granting the Sisters a three days royal holiday.

Previous to the call at the convent, the Lieutenant-Governor paid a short visit to the Bishopric where he was received by His Lordship Bishop A. O. Gagnon and members of the local clergy. From the Bishop's Palace he journeyed to St. Charles Seminary where he was received by Rev. Canon Victor Vincent, Superior of the college, Rev. Canon Marcotte, and Rev. Canon Napoleon Codere. His Honor, casting aside all formality, enjoyed a social hour with the reverend gentlemen.

Many Events Featured Week-End Jubilee Fete

Presentation of Colors to Sherbrooke Regiment and Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke, Military Ball, Fairytale Parade and First Presentation of Historical Pageant Outstanding Events on Sherbrooke Centenary's Week-End Programme.

The Sherbrooke Centenary programme—featuring the presentation of colors to the Sherbrooke Regiment (M.G.) and Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke by Hon. E. L. Patenaude, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Quebec, the visit of three thousand snowshoers from various Canadian and American cities, the Fairytale Parade dedicated to the children of the Eastern Townships, and the initial performance of the historical pageant, attracted many thousands of visitors to this city over the past week-end.

The success attained on the occasion of the inauguration of the centennial fete the previous week-end, when tribute was paid to the memory of Gilbert Hyatt, Sherbrooke's founder, and the city was honored by a visit from His Eminence Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Primate of the Roman Catholic Church in Canada, was duplicated Saturday and yesterday as the five-week festivities were continued.

The impressive ceremony of the presentation of colors to the two local regiments inaugurated the week-end activities. Several thousand people occupied the grandstand on the Exhibition Grounds to witness this event, a thrilling military display such as Sherbrooke has never previously seen. Color and glamor were added to the ceremony by the presence of the Black Watch (Royal Highland Regiment) of Canada and Les Fusiliers Mont Royal. These two Montreal units, spectacular in their pre-war uniforms, acted as the Guard of Honor for the Sherbrooke Regiment and Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke, respectively.

Numerous prominent members of the Canadian militia were in Sherbrooke for the occasion. Saturday night the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Patenaude, who were entertained over the week-end by Mayor Emile Rioux and Col. the Hon. Johnny Bourque, Provincial Minister of Public Works, attended the Military Ball at the William street armory.

Following the church parade yesterday morning, the four regiments marched to the Fair Grounds, with Hon. Mr. Patenaude taking the salute at the market place. The two Sherbrooke regiments entertained the visiting soldiers at dinner on the Exhibition Grounds.

Snowshoers Invade City

The international convention of the Canadian Snowshoe Union and the American Snowshoe Union, held in this city over the week-end, attracted no less than three thousand visitors belonging to various clubs from scattered Canadian and American cities.

This convention had originally been planned to be held in Montreal, but Sherbrooke was decided upon so that it could be held in conjunction with the Centenary fete. The snowshoers were entertained at different local snowshoe clubs Saturday night, and yesterday morning attended an open-air mass celebrated on the centennial amphitheatre.

The streets were lined with thousands of children and their elders yesterday afternoon for the Fairytale Parade organized by Leon Tremblay specially for the kiddies of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships. This colorful spectacle, that reproduced many legendary characters and figures from modern comic strips, proved a huge success, and delighted the many spectators—adults as well as youngsters—who lined the route of the parade.

The week-end's attractive programme was climaxed by the first presentation of the historical pageant on the new amphitheatre at the Exhibition Grounds last night.

This performance, in which no less than 1,500 people took part, reviewed the founding and development of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships in fifteen episodes and twenty-two tableaux.

No Public Reception For Lieutenant Governor

In accordance with his own wishes, no public reception was held for the Lieutenant Governor over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Patenaude were entertained at the homes of Mayor Rioux and Col. Bourque, and last night, after attending the pageant, the distinguished guests left for Col. Rioux's summer residence on the shore of Lake Memphremagog. They departed for Quebec this morning.

Refreshments will be served.

Come early and inspect the Home and Farm. Personal invitations are not being mailed this year. Do come and bring your friends.

Union Did Not Endeavor To Resume Work Today

Fear of Strikers' "Strong-Arm" Squad Caused Members of L'Union Ouvriere de L'Industrie Textile to Reverse Decision to Attempt to Break Through Picket Lines this Morning—Quiet Reigned at Drummondville and Magog.

The expected whirr of mill machinery did not resound in the local plant of the Dominion Textile Company this morning as three hundred members of L'Union Ouvriere de L'Industrie Textile, who have remained loyal to the company in opposing the strike authorized by the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers, delayed endeavoring to return to work until they could be guaranteed adequate police assistance to get through the picket lines ringing the mill premises.

All remained quiet on the local textile front. Likewise, no disturbances were reported from Drummondville and Magog, the two other Eastern Townships centres affected by the walk-out declared in the textile company's eight Quebec Province mills and a subsidiary. Ten thousand workers, including about three thousand in the Eastern Townships, today entered upon their second week of idleness.

Two other local plants, the Quebec Rayon mill and the Classon Knitting Mill, were still confronted today with a serious shortage of material usually obtained from the Dominion Textile Company, and although these two companies managed to continue operations this morning, it was feared that they would be forced to shut down completely unless cotton could be obtained from some source other than the textile mills. The Quebec Rayon and the Classon together employ about two hundred people.

The three hundred members of L'Union Ouvriere de L'Industrie Textile had planned to return to work this morning in defiance of the picketing National Catholic Syndicate strikers.

EFFORTS TO SETTLE DISPUTE ENDED IN DEADLOCK

Montreal, Aug. 9. — Government effort to settle the province-wide textile strike that has kept 10,000 workers idle for a week ended in deadlock today with no immediate settlement in view. Labor Minister William Tremblay said after a conference with Managing Director G. Blair Gordon of the strike-fettered Dominion Textile Company.

The Minister said afterwards the next move was up to either one of the parties.

"It would be better for all concerned," Gordon said after his interview with Tremblay, "and that of a strikers' 'strong-arm' squad resulted in the union reversing its earlier decision to send its three hundred members back to the plant today."

Friends Again.

Signor Mussolini has replied to a personal letter from Mr. Chamberlain in dulcet notes that sound strange issuing from the Duce. He is reported to have reiterated the friendly sentiments of the British Prime Minister and declared Italy's intense desire for a renewal of Italo-British friendship.

Il Duce may mean what he says. Britain and Italy had been friends for a long time until the Ethiopian question was raised. Britain's trust in the League of Nations at that time made Mussolini mad and the featuring by the British press of the Italian defeat in the Guadalajara battle made him madder. He got so mad, indeed, that he ordered all Italian journalists in England to return home and forbade reporting of the Coronation by Italian newspapers.

But Britain is growing stronger now and this makes a renewal of friendship more desirable. The Italian journalists are being sent back to England and expressions of mutual respect and admiration are being made on both sides. All we can hope is that this international billing and cooing has a background of sincerity which will prove helpful to cooperation and world progress.

Best Risks In Marriage.

A study group at Cornell University has been delving into the question of the sort of people who have the best chance for marital success. It has come to a number of conclusions, among them these:

Girls who have quit jobs to get married have the best chance of making a success of marriage.

The poorest bet of all is the girl who, after finishing school, stays at home with no responsibility either in the home, on a job, or in the community.

Husbands with a record of regular employment are one and a half times more likely to have a well-adjusted marriage than husbands with a record of irregular employment.

A couple with similar social and cultural backgrounds are likely to have marital happiness, and husbands and wives who were affiliated with a religious group before marriage have better chances for success than those who belong to no church.

Children of happily married parents are likely to have happy marriages.

The facts on which the study was based and from which these conclusions were reached came from 326 couples married from two to six years. It seems a rather brief span of married life to afford a really adequate basis of study, but one argument in justification of it is that the greater number of divorces in the United States occur apparently in the first few years after marriage.

These findings seem to fit in with commonsense reasoning; but what value they have beyond possible contribution to discussion it is rather difficult to see. If marriage were contracted in the United States—and in Canada—as they so often are in France, by arrangement, the information might be of value, assuming the continued general disregard of wealth or dowry. One doubts if it would be made use of in France, for what Frenchman would choose a working girl without a "dot," for instance, merely because working girls generally make the best wives, if he had an alternate well-dowered choice? But under our ways of marriage, calculation enters seldom and little into the process. Cupid plays his game with young man and young woman giving small thought to what sort of person to choose as married partner for "marital success." They believe always that happiness lies ahead and no amount of statistics will alter that belief.

Don't Soak The Rich.

Grenville Kleiser.

"Death and disease are at the heels of the idle rich," says a philosopher. This may be quite true, but the idle of any class, rich or poor, are the devil's tools, and death and disease are a common heritage of mankind.

"Soak the rich" is a convenient and cunning phrase used by those who have nothing to share and with no intention of working diligently to accumulate a competence. It is a cheap phrase, intended to divert hard-earned money from the industrious into the pockets of the indolent. It can't be done—successfully.

The big business man does not limit his hours of work by the whistle. He toils unceasingly, carries heavy burdens, and earns all that comes to him, despite the angry protestations of loud-mouthed agitators and demagogues.

To meet payrolls promptly, many an employer sits up late into the night to devise ways and means, while his employees enjoy their recreation and sleep. It is erroneous to think that the road of the rich is strewn with roses.

The business of making money is not a sinecure. It involves much self-sacrifice, financial risk and times of grave anxiety. It is heavily weighted with personal responsibility.

When a man paints pictures of gloom, failure is just around the corner. Nothing of any value has ever been built upon a foundation of fear and pessimism. When a business man stops planning and advertising, when he ceases to radiate hope and good cheer, he is qualifying as a candidate for bankruptcy.

Those who rail against the rich often simply give way to prejudice that has no basis in fact. Envious of those who have outstripped them, they join in the common cry to take from the rich and give to the poor, without considering either its fairness or desirability.

"Soak the rich" is a phrase that will gradually wear itself out, since it is both unjust and impracticable. No self-respecting people will long tolerate the suggestion to confiscate the property of any class of people, in order to put a premium on discontent and idleness.

LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE.

(London Free Press)
A few years ago a group calling themselves Technocrats told how things could be improved if engineers took over both government and industry. They pointed out that otherwise more and more people would be put out of jobs by the increasing efficiency of industry. The technocracy had passed, but the technological unemployment, as the displacement of men by machines is called, persisted. In the United States the National Resources Committee was appointed to study the problem.

This body has recently issued a 388-page report, which has prompted President Roosevelt to remark that labor might pay a very heavy price in unemployment between now and 1960 for the country's scientific progress. He considered the adoption of recommendations of scientists in making his government should attempt to foresee and plan for the social and economic consequences arising from some of the mechanical inventions which have recently made their appearance.

Another picture of the future from the viewpoint of a scientific dreamer who has been remarkably successful in making his government come true was presented by Charles F. Kettering, vice-president of General Motors in charge of research, and one of the greatest mechanical wizards on the continent.

Dealing with his own field of motor mechanics, and related problems, Mr. Kettering pictured the development of ribbon towns along highways, or of more numerous small communities, of public parking spaces to replace street parking, of a whole new system of highways which would handle the enormously increased traffic with safety, of better controlled cars, and numerous safety devices.

These views of the future may seem visionary, yet they have great practical value. If we can have some idea of what is coming, and take intelligent steps to meet it, we might avoid many costly blunders.

A GREAT BOOK.

(The National Review, London)
A book has just been published in Germany, though not in Germany, which deals with the profound disturbance caused in Europe by modern German policy. The writer is Dr. Franz Foerster. . . . He is a patriotic German who, profoundly convinced that his country is taking a path which will be fatal to her, has refused to be silenced. Of an honorable and lettered Prussian family, with no Jewish affiliations and no poverty and exile to silent acquiescence in the living death of Germany. His thesis is set forth in this book: "Europe and the German Question" (Europe und die Deutsche Frage). It is a complement to the other admirable works of Herr Foerster, which are the fruits of his concern about his country's condition. His thesis is well known. It is that the German people, under Prussian guidance, taken the wrong turning. Her proper share of world power is to act as a bridge between Eastern and Western Europe. According to Herr Foerster, the Holy Roman Empire served the true purpose of the world, bringing together the Roman of Latin spirit and the powerful genius of the German people. Prussia put an end to this development. Herr Foerster brings plenty of proof to support his case. The book is a great one. It is to be hoped that a great publisher will be found for so remarkable a work.

LOOKING AHEAD.

(Daily Express)
If looking ahead is what distinguishes civilized people from savages, this country is not very civilized. Looking ahead, in Britain, you can plainly see that unless purchasing power rises with productive power we shall sooner or later start piling up unsaleable goods. What will happen then? Slack days in the factories, unemployment, wage cuts, from the politicians' view of what is called Economy—and no doubt a search for another "National Savior" to put the job across. If you do not want to return to the dreary days of 1931, join the movement for higher wages.

COMMENTS BRITAIN'S POLICY

(La Presse, Montreal)
Like France, Great Britain intends to spare no effort in giving her people the advantages of physical culture. The Government, doing its share, has recently voted the sum of $9,950,000 for this purpose. And local authorities everywhere are striving to provide the young of the country with means of obtaining strength and vigor, by encouraging the enterprises which will bring them.

Sports have always been popular among the English people. There are numerous examples offered in the world of football, where frequently 70,000 or more people gather at a single game. These numbers are not surpassed in American football or baseball.

But in Great Britain now the object is to have everyone take part, and not to content just to watch. The nation has come to believe that unless a special programme is put into effect, there will be general physical degeneration.

Let us wait, and we shall find out if our British friends will show the same tenacity in physical culture as they have shown in other phases of national life. It will require patience, time and method. Let us hope that John Bull's first attempt reveals the correct method.

Sir Francis Floud, who returned recently from an eight weeks tour of the West, says that with the re-opening of immigration, the majority of the people coming to Canada will be from the British Isles. But do not let us get too long. Sir Francis states, for the population of England is diminishing. The time is coming when she will try to keep her citizens.

This decrease in the English population is a point too often ignored. In the same manner as France, England is suffering birth rate crisis. For a long time she has concealed it by reducing her death rate. But it seems now that the mortality rate has about reached its minimum, while the birth rate has not, and tends to decrease each year.

Letter To The Editor

MAPLE INDUSTRY PASSING

To the Editor,
Daily Record,
Dear Sir:

An article in the Montreal "Standard" of April 10 reports Mr. John Grimm as stating that "studied care in the production of maple sugar in Canada could result in an output of ten times that which is now derived." The Hon. Frank Carrel speaking recently in the Upper House, Quebec, referred to the maple industry as a "gold mine in our midst" and asked, "are we making the most of this heritage?" The Hon. E. Roberge, speaking in the Federal House February 9, 1935, said, "The maple industry in Quebec is at about the lowest ebb that it had ever known, maple sugar selling from three to five cents per pound." The Hon. B. Fisher, speaking in the Quebec House recently, is reported saying that "maple groves throughout the Eastern Townships are being ruthlessly depleted. To have these groves cut down," he said, "is a provincial crime."

While the foregoing is true to fact, they offer no remedy, yet sufficient is said to lend a very discouraging outlook for the most exclusive and delicious wholesome Canadian food-product, particularly to many farmers who in recent years were persuaded to spend millions on modern equipment, being promised tremendous high prices following the passing of the Maple Act in 1915. Prices did not materialize, leaving them loaded with costly equipment for which some could not pay and in some instances were made bankrupt.

Now, the unprogressive maple industry in Canada from the student's viewpoint is attributed solely to the Maple Act of 1915. Those in close touch and most vitally interested have at various times asked that the said legislation be removed. In the year 1921, the farmers of the most important maple sugar section of Canada went so far as to persuade the late Hon. Henry Blanc, member for Beauce, to frame and present a bill at Ottawa asking Parliament to repeal or amend the Maple Act, being convinced after six years trial that the Act had worked injury rather than a benefit. Later the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada at a Dominion convention passed a resolution asking their Dominion executive to use every endeavour to have this clause of the Maple Act eliminated. The Government's response to this was to amend by adding to rather than to repeal the Act, which was at least in sympathy with the farmers. By Mr. H. T. Buckle in his History of Civilization in England in which is pointed out that the most beneficial laws have been the abolition of former laws. However, it is believed that if the actual facts are clearly presented, legislators will see to it that the Act is rescinded and the issuing of the Maple Act replaced by a free expansion of the industry, so vital to the farmers of Quebec and the country at large.

To arrive at a true picture of the subject at the outset, it is necessary to set aside sentiment, visionary hopes, extravagant unverifiable claims and even departmental findings as more or less befogging. The crucial point to ascertain is the average price farmers were actually paid for this product covering a period of years and the environment that surrounded prices at the time. This may be had only from books and records of the large buyers that have and are handling two-thirds of the maple crop. The most important of these are the Cary Maple Sugar Co., St. Johnsbury, Vermont, the Macdonald Bros., Granby, Que., and Burlington, T. Beaudoin, Broughton Station, Quebec, all of which are highly responsible, whose maple buying activities extend back over half a century.

To fix as accurately as possible the status that maple sugar held in the middle of last century and earlier, we refer to Bulletin No. 285, Department of Agriculture, Washington, Page 14, which reads: "For most part maple sugar was bartered in local shops, such as was shipped was sold not on its merits but for less as a cheap substitute for an adulterate of West India brown sugar." Following this period, refined cane sugar gradually decreased in price reaching a parity in cheapness with maple sugar between the years 1885 and 1895, which averaged about four cents per pound. To verify these prices, see letter by G. Cary in Burlington Free Press, February 2, 1927, and Redpath Refineries, Montreal. Granulated sugar being so much more convenient to use that it largely replaced maple even in the homes of maple sugar makers around 1890, the most depressed period for the maple in the nineteenth century, the cost of production at this time being about five and a half cents per pound.

However, about the year 1890, the fact began to be appreciated that the true worth of maple sugar did not lie in its sweetening properties, but in its flavour when blended with other milder flavoured sugars and worked up into the form of cream, blended table syrups, candies and so forth. The Canadian Maple Exchange Company was organized in 1894, the first concern in Canada devoted exclusively to processing and packing maple products for the Canadian and foreign markets and particularly specializing in maple confectionery, blended table syrups, etc., using a percentage of the darker rich flavoured grades of the Quebec maple as a base and exclusive flavour, much along the lines now being carried on in the United States. Results were phenomenal. Other large processing concerns entered the field and with hundreds of employees were turning out a number of carloads daily as early as 1905.

The product prepared was of a nature so delicious and meritorious that in competition with the world was awarded gold medals and diplomas from such important centers as Osaka, Japan, London, Paris, Glasgow, Ottawa and Chicago. (To verify, see issue of the Canadian

GOAT-GETTERS

Grocer, December 30, 1904.
"Maple Creams have received the highest awards in nearly every country of the world."

"Maple specialties have been commended on every side throughout the Dominion," said the Ottawa "Free Press." "Maple chocolate creams did fair to become world famous," said the Ottawa "Evening Journal." The demand for maple sugar from this new field of use helped to offset the shrinkage in the market that maple had lost to granulated for household use and lent such added impetus to the large maple industry to maintain the old time volume of production. In fact the average yield during the fifteen years just prior to the passing of the Act show an average greater than that of the fifty years that preceded this period. (See Bulletin No. 2B, Trade Dept. Ottawa) and the price of maple was enhanced over 100 per cent, from four cents per lb. in 1895 to 84 cents in 1910. To verify, we refer to a letter from Macdonald Bros., Granby, dated January 4, 1915, which reads in part: "Average net price paid the farmers through our agents, etc., in the year 1912 and 1913 was 84 cents per pound." T. Beaudoin also states in a letter that the average price he paid the farmers during period just prior to the passing of the Act—1911, '12, '13, '14—was eight cents per pound. Cost of production at that period was estimated at 6 1/2 cents per pound, as computed by the Department of Agriculture, Washington, Bulletin 216. This left the farmer 1 1/2 cents clear above his labour, fuel, etc.

This leads us to the last lap of the twenty-two or more years under the Act, which came into force under the most favourable conditions in that many years of hard pioneering work had been done. Through private enterprise only Canada's maple had been familiarized and made popular at home from coast to coast as well as over a good portion of the world. Further, extreme high was prices greeted the issuing of the Act. Further, the federal and provincial governments were induced to carry on an extensive campaign of spending to as late a date as 1935. Many thousands of boxes of maple sugar were given away by the Government in Europe and Western Canada.

Let us now turn to the maple industry in Canada in view to bolster the industry, yet in spite of all this prices continued to drop and production shrink, reaching 3 1/2 cents per pound in 1933, the lowest in history. T. Beaudoin, in a letter dated December 5, 1935, stated that the average price he paid the farmer during the four past years, 1932, '33, '34, '35—was 7.05 cents per pound. Approximately eighteen per cent less than that paid during four years just prior to the passing of the Act. Further while the price of maple sugar gradually decreased, the cost of production continued to increase until it exceeded far exceeded price obtained. (See Bulletin No. 292, Vermont Agricultural Station, Burlington.)

It has been estimated by competent parties that the actual loss to Canada within the past twenty years is several hundred millions resulting from restrictions applied by the Act to the natural industrial development and trade expansion together with allied industries effected. This finding is borne out by the Hon. Frank Carrel in a letter, February 9, 1937, in which he said: "Quebecers were losing millions by failing to grasp this situation." Worse still has paralyzed Canada's best advertising medium by obstructing the output of Maple Confectionery Specialties, which cannot be made in Canada and at that same time conform to the Act.

Results are that the little surplus of maple now produced in excess of home consumption is forced to the United States, where it is sold in possible, packed in large cases similar to that used to ship piglets or asphalt, the American processors fixing the price, there being no competition. (See Outlook, Page 58, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.) "Export of maple for the year ending 1936 was 6,108,599 pounds, the greater part of which went to the United States. Facts are that about ninety-eight per cent went to the United States. There it is converted into delectable candies and principally, blended table syrups. (See Bulletin 285 Agricultural Station, Burlington, Vt.) "The blending industry has become one of considerable concern and absorbs large quantities of maple sugar more particularly of Canadian origin."

Large quantities of said product finds a brisk and appreciative market in Europe, particularly the British Isles. This fact is borne out by the Hon. Frank Carrel's statement in a recent letter, 1937. "I found it difficult to obtain Canadian maple products in London, although I could buy those coming from the State of Vermont in all the leading shops."

Now the marketing of our surplus maple in our Mother Country through United States channels appears to the economist as a wanton perversion. Firstly, the Canadian farmer pays four cents per pound plus freight to place it in the United States. Cans and processing costs are higher in the United States. Transportation to England is higher and duty entering England from the United States is just double that of the Canadian maple. To one conclusion, that Canadian maple products will never command its full worth if restricted from being blended or used as a flavour. For it is as impossible to make good cream fondant, fudge, various candies, maple butter, cake, icing, etc., exclusively of maple sugar as it is to make good pies or cake exclusively of wheat flour. Every conceivable article on earth, consumed or used by man, is mixed, blended, veneered or alloyed. Maple cannot remain an exception and thrive.

Therefore, the student finds that the Maple Act is due to be rescinded or revised. This does not mean as apparently some suppose, lowering the bars to those fraudulently disposed. Standards would remain; maple sugar and syrup would be as now, bought and sold as maple sugar. But, the blending of maple, corn, or cane sugars, and other shortening materials necessary to produce various confections should be void of any restrictions or limitations when the accurate percentage of maple used is clearly designated, its true character declared. This might be applied to many other commodities, in the interests of just trading. An instance, one strawberry may be added to a jar or barrel of apple, then processed, labelled as legally sold as apple and strawberry jam. (See Food and Drug Act, Section 7, Paragraph 13.)

It is generally conceded that maple has an exquisite flavour, that it is largely an exclusive Canadian product, therefore, it escapes what all other farm products are subjected to, i.e., the keenest competition from all quarters of the world. And if extracted from the morass of what might be termed the most wanton, prevailed conglomeration of regulations, "The Maple Act," and left to stand on its merits, just granted the freedom that all other farm products enjoy, it should again grow and thrive without the aid of Government restrictions, or protection, or, re-statement in the important place due to it, even more advanced and important than that held thirty years ago, or prior to the Maple Act, its proposed protector, which has apparently served it and the country badly. In fact it is fast delegating the maple grove in Canada to the lumber and wood yards, they, from a strictly economic standpoint, have now far the larger claim. Intelligent farmers cognizant of this fact are on a large scale cutting down beautiful maple forests that were, prior to the Maple Act, profitable revenue bearing. The economic grove cannot reconcile this condition continuing for long in view of the fact that most governments are today busying themselves with reforestation.

BIG FAIRYTALE PARADE ENJOYED BY THOUSANDS

Numerous Characters from Legendary and Modern Children's Books Represented in Glamorous Parade that Was Feature of Week-End Centennial Celebration Yesterday Afternoon.

From out of the pages of legendary tales and modern children's books stepped scores of famous and amusing characters—Cinderella, the Three Wise Men, Farmer Brown, the Wooden Soldiers, Jack the Giant Killer, Little Red Riding Hood, Puss-in-Boots, to mention only a few—to take part in the Fairytale Parade that delighted thousands of kiddies, as well as their elders, yesterday afternoon.

This Fairytale Parade was one of the many Sherbrooke Centennial attractions which drew hordes of visitors to this city over the past week-end.

The route of the parade, particularly King street west, Alexander and Wellington, was lined with thousands of wide-eyed, excited boys and girls who received the thrill of their young lives as the colorful procession passed by.

First they were awed by the appearance of six heralds at arms riding their proud steeds. Then they thrilled to the military music of the White Mo'ntains girls' band from Berlin, N.H., following which came the Three Wise Men and mandarins carrying lanterns.

The kiddies shook with rollicking laughter and shouted their glee at the appearance of the funny clowns who rolled and somersaulted on the hard pavement, turned handspins, cartwheels and indulged in other antics.

A squad of Roman soldiers, carrying spears and shields, was followed by "Farmer Brown," whose horse insisted on lying down at the most inopportune times. A number of girls dressed as Wooden Soldiers preceded beautiful Cinderella and her escort, who were riding in a splendid carriage. Behind Cinderella came her three sisters, a "pirates" band, composed of Memphremagog Band musicians, and Irish lads and lassies. Cowboy music was supplied by the Warwick Band.

Then came Jack the Giant Killer, Little Red Riding Hood, Puss-in-Boots, and Little Lord Fauntleroy, who were followed by the more modern Tarzan and his band of Zulu warriors.

The King's Soldiers marched to the music of the Victrola Band, and next came an Indian Chief leading his warriors and less aggressive squaws.

A group of girls attired in Centennial costumes followed at the parade, with a tiny youngster and his equally tiny sister driving an electrically-driven miniature automobile.

The parade, organized by Leon Trepanier, with the characters portrayed by members of the various snowshoe clubs, was acclaimed a huge success, and contributed largely towards the success achieved in the Centennial's week-end programme.

DEATHS REPORTED

FUNERAL OF MRS. B. LEACH, DUNHAM.

Dunham, August 9.—The funeral of Mrs. Barnaby Leach was held in All Saint's Church on Monday, August 2nd, at three p.m., Rev. Mr. Asch, of Freilighsburg, officiating. Mrs. Leach, who, before her marriage, was Glenna Baker, only daughter of the late Arthur Stevens Baker and Helen Goff Baker, died at her home in Tampa, Florida, on Tuesday, July 27th, after a year's illness.

The bearers were Messrs. MacIntosh Bykert, A. E. Selby, L. G. Rogers, J. F. Watson, William S. McElroy and W. A. Doherty. Interment was in All Saint's Cemetery beside her late father and mother.

She is survived by her husband, Rev. Barnaby Leach, superintendent of the Seamen's Mission, Tampa, Florida, and one daughter, Miss Dorothy Leach.

In the passing of Mrs. Leach, the musical world loses an outstanding figure. Rev. Mr. Leach was for a number of years rector of St. Ann's parish, Richford, Vt., and Mrs. Leach conducted the Leach School of Music. At that time she was also instructress of music in New York and organist at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, for ten years. In April of this year she had charge of Music Week in Tampa, Florida.

Among those from a distance to attend the funeral were Mrs. Homer Goff, Prof. and Mrs. A. R. B. Lockhart and Mr. Donald Lockhart, of St. Anne de Bellevue, Mrs. Sheldon Boright and several others from Richford and Mrs. C. L. Cotton, Mrs. Winsor and Messrs. Frank and Cedric Winsor, of Cowansville.

FUNERAL OF MRS. ALEXANDER BURNET

Cowansville, Aug. 9.—The funeral service for Mrs. Alexander Burnet was held at the Brigham United Church on Wednesday afternoon, August 4, Rev. R. W. Carr, of Cookshire, assisted by the student pastor, Mr. Burns, officiating.

Interment was made in the family lot in Brigham Cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. E. Martin, H. M. Taber, M. Martindale, F. Tison, F. Dougal and E. Dougal.

The deceased is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Violet Burnet, one granddaughter, Miss Marjorie Burnet, and a sister, Mrs. Robinson, of Montreal.

Mrs. Burnet passed her eighty-eighth birthday a few months ago. Although in rather poor health for the past few years, she was able to be about until approximately six weeks prior to her death.

She was tenderly cared for by her husband, daughter and granddaughter and everything possible was done to ease her suffering.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnet lived most of their lives in Brigham and they came to Cowansville eighteen years ago.

When her health permitted Mrs. Burnet was an active church worker and exerted an influence for good by her kindly disposition. Many beautiful floral offerings covered the casket.

The deceased was a charter member of Prosperity Rebekah Lodge.

He married Cynthia Bachelor to whom were born three children: D'Arcy, Margaret and Harlow. The latter predeceased him several years ago.

Mr. Patterson spent the greater portion of his life on the lake shore at East Bolton until fifteen years ago when he sold his farm and moved to California.

Five years ago he went to Burlington, Vt. He entered into rest in his seventy-fourth year.

These left to mourn his passing were his widow, two children, Mr. D'Arcy Patterson and Mrs. Harry Paige and six grandchildren, besides nieces and nephews.

The bearers were Messrs. Bert Kimball, Kenneth Patterson, Donald Patterson and Leonard Jackson.

Rev. J. Atkinson, of St. Luke's Church, Magog, read the funeral service. The funeral service was held at Burlington. Anne de Bellevue, Mr. and Mrs. Cy. Bachelor and daughter, Ruby, of Sherbrooke, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Farrell, of Pittsfield, Mass., Messrs. Bert Kimball, Kenneth Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter Marsh and son, Clyde, of Knowlton, besides others from Georgetown, Fitch Bay and Beebe.

CANON G. T. HARDING
South Durham, Aug. 9.—It is with sorrow that the news was received of the passing of Rev. Canon George T. Harding, retired Anglican clergyman, who passed away at St. Bartholomew's Church rectory, Riviere du Loup, on August 4th, at the age of ninety-two years.

He was born at Saint John, N.B., and was educated at Bishop's College, Lennoxville.

When a young man he and Mrs. Harding came here and lived in Durham.

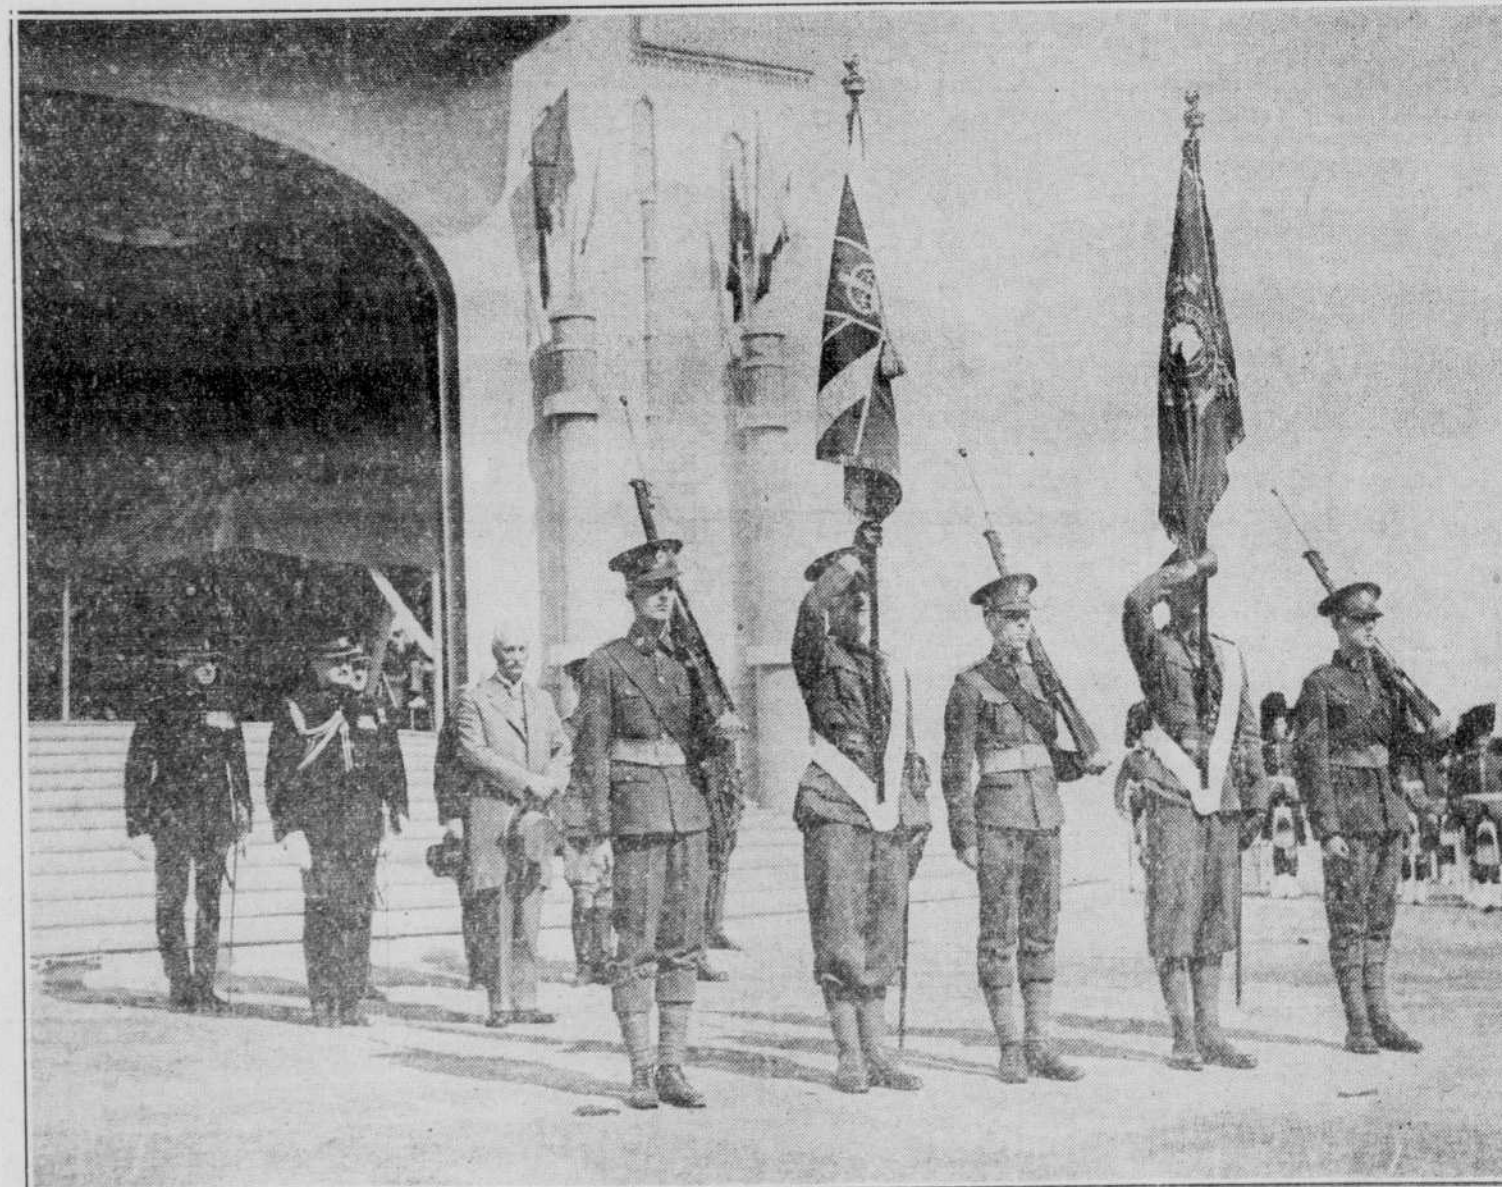

He was ordained in St. James' Anglican Church by Bishop Williams and served this mission as pastor from 1876 to 1887.

To his wife and family the sincere sympathy of St. James' parish is extended.

CHERRY RIVER LADIES' GROUP HELD MEETING

Members Met for Special Meeting to Discuss W.I. Affairs—Personals and News Notes.

Cherry River, August 9.—The Cherry River Women's Institute met at the home of the president, Mrs. Charles Fields, for their regular session.

The meeting was opened in the usual manner by repeating the Club Women's Creed.

Roll call was answered by each member present with the name of a favorite Canadian author.

The minutes of the June meeting were read and adopted.

The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $130, with all expenses paid. Several bills were brought forward and ordered paid.

Thanks were received from Mrs. John Fields, Mr. Charles Fields and Mrs. Howard Buzzell for fruit sent them during their illness.

A very interesting letter was received from the president of Oxford County Institute, England.

Each convenor present read papers on the following subjects: "For Hens in Pens," Mrs. Ferns Quilliams; "Textile Mills," Mrs. George McKelvey; "First Teacher," Mrs. Wells; "Building of the Nation," Mrs. E. J. McKelvey; "Best Lesson for the Dominion," Mrs. G. Turner.

A special meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Fields on July 20, concerning Women's Institute work. Mrs. G. Turner acted as delegate at the county meeting, which was held in the Ladies' Aid hall at Cherry River, August 3rd, with Cherry River branch ladies as hostesses.

A letter of acceptance was received from Miss Hazel B. McCain, of Macdonald College, for the invitation to attend the county session, but she was unable to attend.

The sunshine committee reported that ten lots of fruit and one funeral spray were bought during the past two months.

A card of sympathy was sent Mrs. Clarence Catchpugh after the sudden death of her brother, Mr. Earl Dwyer.

A report was given on the ice cream social by Mrs. G. Turner, $8.50 being realized from this social affair.

The work committee discussed making a quilt for sale, but further plans will be made at the September meeting.

The sunshine committee has been dropped for two months except in a case of a severe illness, Mrs. E. J. McKelvey and Mrs. Wells volunteered to attend this matter if a serious illness occurred in the community.

The regular programme was on publicity.

After adjournment, lunch was served by Mrs. Fields, assisted by Mrs. Ella Chase and Mrs. Nelson Catchpugh.

They were discussing the factors that make for success in life.

"There's nothing like force of character," said Green. "Take Jones for instance—he's sure to make his way in the world. He's got a big asset. A will of his own."

His companion shrugged his shoulders.

"Young Brown has something even better than that," he replied.

"Better?" echoed Green. "What might that be?"

"A will of his uncle's," the other explained.

South Durham, Aug. 9.—A team of Church Army Crusaders, under the leadership of Captain R. L. Morrell, conducted a two-day mission of help and renewal in St. James' Church.

Arriving here on July 31st, Captain Morrell, with Cadets Connor and Bratt-Perring, spent some time visiting the homes of the parishioners.

They preached on Sunday morning, July 1st, and also in the evening. The services were well-attended, more particularly the special service for women on Monday afternoon and the evangelistic service of witness on Monday evening, bringing the mission to an end.

Rev. A. V. McLaren extended a vote of thanks to Capt. R. L. Morrell and the cadets.

While in town the Crusaders enjoyed the hospitality graciously extended by the members of St. James' congregation.

CANADIAN AND AMERICAN MET IN FRATERNITY

Approximately 2,500 Snowshoers from Over Hundred Clubs Met in Sherbrooke—Held Big Parade Through Streets—International Executive Met.

Adding further color to an already picturesque week-end, hundreds of snowshoers from Lewiston, Rumford, Biddeford, Chisholm and Brunswick, Me., from Berlin, Tupper Lake and Manchester, N.H., and from Montreal, Quebec, St. Hyacinthe, Drummondville and Victoriaville invaded Sherbrooke on Saturday to join in the Centennial celebrations and participate in the annual joint convention of the Canadian and American Snowshoe Unions.

The colorfully-costumed visitors had a gala time throughout their sojourn here, their programme including a round of entertainment and parades Saturday night and yesterday morning.

Charles C. Cabana, chairman of the International Union's ex-presidents, was at home to the former presidents of the Union and to the international executive committee, at his club-house and on Saturday evening presided at a banquet at which were present, besides the ex-presidents, Dr. L. O. Geoffroy, of Montreal, president of the Canadian Union, Eugene Boivin, of Rumford, Maine, president of the American Union, J. O. Fortier, of Sherbrooke, first vice-president of the Canadian Union, Roger Lebel, first vice-president of the American Union, Joseph Allaire, of Levis, and Joseph Dumont, of Berlin, N.H., second vice-presidents of the unions, J. Ernest Pelletier, of Quebec, and A. C. Poulin, of Chisholm, Maine.

The outstanding business at the short meeting held at the conclusion of the banquet comprised arrangements for the 1938 convention and the annual Winter Carnival to be held next winter in Montreal.

The snowshoers plan to inaugurate a scheme designed to encourage snowshoeing among school children and to invite them to a special series of races to be held in conjunction with the North American championship meet in Montreal.

Chairman Cabana welcomed the visiting officials and assured them that the civic officials were pleased to have them among us at this period of public celebration. The presidents of the Canadian and American Unions paid tribute to the City of Sherbrooke in this, the hundredth anniversary of the city as an industrial center.

J. O. Fortier seconded the welcome address of Mr. Cabana, speaking in behalf of the four Sherbrooke clubs. Remarks were also made by A. Lacroix, of St. Hyacinthe, and by the secretaries of the unions.

In the gala parade through the city the picturesque summer uniforms of the snowshoers blended in brilliant color schemes with the decorations which adorn the streets. Particularly smart in appearance were the Berlin, N.H., contingents, the St. Hyacinthe Club, the club from Rumford, Maine, and the local Tuque Rouge aggregation.

Following the parade, a series of receptions were held in the club-houses of the Gounod, St. Francis, Tuque Rouge and Dollard Clubs, at which the snowshoers and their wives renewed old acquaintances and made new friends in the spirit of camaraderie and fraternity for which all snowshoe clubs are noted.

On Sunday morning the delegates paraded for service at the Exhibition Grounds, taking their departure from the Lansdowne Market. Yesterday afternoon the snowshoers were free to do as they pleased, most of them witnessing the Fair Tale Parade, organized for and dedicated to the children of the Eastern Townships.

Late Sunday afternoon and evening the exodus of snowshoers began. The convention has now passed into the history of the International Union, and will be remembered as one of the most enjoyable ever held.

Special credit should be given to the local organizers of the convention, namely: C. C. Cabana, J. O. Fortier, president of the Tuque Rouge Club, John Goderre, president of the Dollard Club and the Sherbrooke Union, Oscar Henaire, president of the St. Francis Club, and Jean Bourget, president of the Gounod Club, for the efficient manner in which the convention was planned and carried out.

Respectfully Dedicated To MINNIE HALL-OWELL BOWEN, Sherbrooke.

Gentle Lady, whom the Muses Have inspired to lofty song, Luring us, by rhythmic ruses, To the heights for which we long; Gaining from the fountains drifting On the tide of common thought Gems of beauty bright, uplifting To the plane we long have sought.

Yours the winsome task to furnish Subtle links for tender ties; Impulse that will smooth and burnish Friendships that are dulled with sighs; Yours the power to sift sweet savour Into musty lives of doubt, Clipping them in Faith's firm favour Ere the threads of hope wear out.

Lady, sing your songs of beauty To this wasteful world of pain, Cleansing thoughts to higher duty In the toil for Wisdom's gain; Sing of hope and peaceful rifting Of the blackened clouds of strife; Of the ravaged puzzles lifting From our way to nobler life.

Poetress of poetic measure, Fashioner of symbolic speech, Gainer of the mystic treasure Hid beyond the common reach; Lift for us the curtains hiding Deam-hopes some may never see Until questing skill abiding Bares their seeming mystery.

J. R. Andrews.

Bishopston, P. Q.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said an English judge, as he concluded his charge, "if the evidence shows in your minds that pneumonia, even indirectly, was the cause of the man's death, the prisoner cannot be convicted."

An hour later a messenger came from the jury-room.

"The gentlemen of the jury, your Lordship," he said, "desire information."

"On what point of evidence?"

"None, your Lordship; they want to know how to spell pneumonia."

Wild West Show Will Be Feature — Wallace Brothers' Midway Will Be Present — Marathon Sand-bag Race to Be Held.

Waterloo, Aug. 9. — Under the presidency of W. H. Miner, of Granby, with a large number of enthusiastic directors, Shefford Agricultural Association is making unprecedented preliminary arrangements for one of the best exhibitions ever seen on the new grounds at Waterloo.

From Saturday, August 14 to 18 inst., inclusive, the gates will be open for all workers, exhibitors or pleasure seekers.

During all five days, Hindle's Texas Rangers' Wild West Show will give exhibitions with fifty trained horses and cattle and twenty-five artists.

The midway, operated by Wallace Brothers Shows, of Toronto, will be in full swing on Sunday, August 15.

On Monday the exhibition people will be ready to welcome all visitors. Judging of all farm products, and beef cattle will take place.

An interesting feature of the first day will be a judging competition in which members of the Young Breeders' Clubs will be the participants.

A unique feature which will stimulate much interest in the events of Monday will be a sandbag endurance contest. The competitors will start at the Waterloo Town Hall when each one taking part will be required to place a bag of sand on one shoulder and another on the exhibition grounds and there walk as many times as possible around the race track. A purse of seventy-five dollars is provided for this event, being divided into five prizes.

Some splendid horse racing will be seen on the afternoons of Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and attractive purses are offered for this feature.

Judging of all registered cattle and horses will take place on Tuesday morning. A grand parade of all prize winning animals, led by the band, will take place at one p.m. on Tuesday.

The G.O.T.C. Band, of Montreal, with thirty-five musicians, has been secured for the exhibition days. Several of the members will furnish orchestral music for dances in the town hall each evening.

In anticipation of a record attendance a complete aisle of fifty feet has been built onto the grand stand. Cattle sheds, horse stalls, pig pens, sheep pens and poultry buildings have been augmented.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

SOUND SACRIFICE PENALTY

Opponents, "Fixed," Fail to Make Best Defense for Grand Slam, Losing Two Possible Tricks

By Wm. E. McKenney, Secretary, American Bridge League.

In duplicate players can easily compute the exact number of tricks they can afford to lose to make a paying sacrifice. Thus if their estimate of available tricks is right, they can gauge with great exactness the range of profitable overbidding.

In the recent Adirondack championship tournament, one of the events provided a hand which offered North and South a slam in hearts, provided East and West did not sacrifice by taking a paying penalty playing for a grand slam in diamonds.

East and West made a very sound sacrifice, as they could win at best one diamond trick against a six heart contract, so even a loss of five tricks was justified, as the value of a

LOCALS DROPPED THREE CONTESTS OVER WEEK-END

Drummondville, Sorel and Three Rivers Chalked Up Victories Over Sherbrooke — Former Gained a Full Game on League Leaders.

Sherbrooke's hopes of catching the leaders in the Provincial Baseball League pennant chase received a rude jolt over the week-end, the locals taking it on the chin on no less than three occasions.

Playing on their home diamond on Saturday evening the locals were handed a four to nothing whitewashing, and they dropped two more decisions yesterday away from home, Sorel nosing them out to the tune of three to two and Three Rivers taking a six to three decision.

Sherbrooke garnered twice as many hits as did Drummondville in the game here on Saturday, but the visitors made their hits count while the locals' bingles all went for naught. It was a hard game for Lee, the Sherbrooke twirler, to lose, he yielding but five hits.

Sunday at Three Rivers Sherbrooke were again turned back, this time by a six to three count. Young Mallette was relieved by Nippy Joyce after giving two runs in the first. Thus Three Rivers jumped into a lead and were never headed.

Clyde Humphreys' pitching for Three Rivers, was backed up by good pitching and fielding, and though J. Crowley smacked a homer for Sherbrooke in the sixth, the local boys were both out and out-played to go down to a six to three defeat.

Sorel just managed to squeeze out a victory, over the Sherbrooke aggregation in the local second game yesterday, the final count being three to two. This game was limited to six innings.

DETROIT'S NEW CATCHER IS MAKING GOOD
Washington Aug. 9.—A broad-shouldered Cherokee, gobbling pitches for Detroit, has put a grin on Mickey Cochran's face where there had been worry wrinkles over the Tigers' catching problems.

Rudy York has caught the last six games for Detroit and looks like a permanent fixture.

"York will do," I think," Manager Mickey said. "He has everything a catcher needs and he can hit."

A first baseman a year ago for Milwaukee, York is six feet, one inch and weighs 210.

More than one-third of Rudy's hits this year have been home runs—and that's a higher percentage of four-base clouts than home run leader Joe DiMaggio, of the Yankees, can boast.

Many species of fish inhabiting deep waters have no eyes.

SPORT FLASHES

New York, August 9.—Madison Square Garden stock has soared two and a half points since the Mike Jacobs deal was announced.

Pie Traynor (who is having his troubles) make take a tip from Bill Terry and make a third sacker out of Arky Vaughan.

Night baseball is on the down-grade in old "Zinninati."

Henry Armstrong, who is following Tony Canzone's example and playing the small boxing clubs, will have $40,000 to show for his summer's work.

It seems to be his legs, instead of his arm, that is causing most of Bob Feller's troubles.

Red Ruffing was the first major league hurler to chalk up fifteen victories.

Col. Jake Ruppert has served notice on the Yanks he won't go out to see them play until they have a twelve-game lead, Haw!

Our pick in the Hambletonian is Schnapps with Desota second, and Twilight Song, third.

Bob Feller recognizes class when he sees it, all right. He passed Joe DiMaggio three times the other day.

Believe it or not, the Dodgers have a perfect record. They've played four baseball games at night—and lost 'em all.

If Jimmy Johnston doesn't land that World's Fair sports promotion job, he'll bob up as a promoter at Ebbets Field next summer—and you can bet on that.

Some months back this corner dubbed Bill McKechnie, of the Boston Bees, one of the smartest managers in the majors. Well, he's proving it.

CUBS STRETCHED THEIR MARGIN OVER GIANTS

Chicago Took Both Ends of Double-Header from Boston — Red Sox' Winning Streak Snapped at Thirteen.

All over the baseball map they're clamoring aboard the bandwagon for a Yankees-Cubs World Series this fall, and the way things shape up now that's not a bad guess.

A lot of applicants can be upset in the ten weeks still to go before they start commuting between New York and Chicago for their penants, hot dogs and homers, particularly in that National League race, but at the current pace of the Cubs and Yanks it's going to be tough to turn the trick.

Standout possibility to kick over the dope bucket are the New York Giants. For one thing, they always have that annoying habit of riding along within shooting distance of the top until the final weeks, and then belting the ears off everything in sight.

So it's not going to be any too much of a dead cinch for the Cubs at best, despite their current five and a half game lead. The Cubs knocked off Boston's Bees in both ends of a double-header yesterday, by scores of three to nothing and three to two on a one-hit pitching performance by Tex Carleton in the opener and a clouting comeback by Phil Cavarretta in both games.

The win win boosted the Cubs' lead by half a game, since the Giants could get no better than an even break with their favorite "stooges," the Pirates. They won the opener by ten to two, but Jim Weaver's three-hitter blanked them by three to nothing in the nightcap.

It's far easier to settle the American League business in advance. Nine and a half games in front, the Yankees look like a shoo-in from here. They squeezed through with a six to five win over the Cleveland Indians yesterday for their eighth success in a row.

The Boston Red Sox, in second place, stretched their undefeated run to thirteen games by taking the White Sox by seven to six in the opener, but then had the string snapped with a thirteen to nothing wallop in the nightcap.

"Ducky" Medwick belted two homers in the first game and the cards took a three to two decision from the Phillies, but the best they could get was a six-six draw in the nightcap, despite "Ducky Wucky's" third round-tripper of the day. The Reds and Dodgers also went to a nightcap deadlock, at one to one, after the Reds won by six to four in the curtain-raiser.

The Tigers topped the Senators by five to one in a game out to five frames by rain. The Athletics surprised with a double triumph over the St. Louis Browns by scores of five to four and seven to three.

GOOD PITCHING PERFORMANCE IN LEAGUE.

The Baltimore Orioles are having a lot of fun. They won't catch the Newark Bears, International League leaders, but right now they are getting almost as big a kick out of knocking off the teams that beat them in their lean weeks of the current season.

The flock flew low in April and May. Now they've risen to seventh place. The Birds walloped the Toronto Maple Leafs yesterday in both ends of a double bill, five to three and six to five. Smoky Joe Martin, who may be the man Bill Terry is looking for to fill that Giant third base job, smacked three homers in the nightcap, his third in the eighth winning the ball game.

MISS F. BRADLEY NEW CHAMPION AT MURRAY BAY

Jackson Dick, North Hatley Player, Gained Final of Men's Singles.

Miss Freddie Bradley, well known Eastern Townships tennis star, gaining new laurels last Saturday by defeating Mrs. F. P. Ryan, of New York, 6-0, 6-0, in the final of the Manoir Richelieu tennis tournament.

By winning the ladies' singles title at Murray Bay, Miss Bradley carried through successfully her first invasion of the summer tennis tournaments, arranged annually at seaside resorts on the lower St. Lawrence. These tournaments usually have some fine American and Canadian players partaking in them, so Miss Bradley's victory reflects credit not only on herself, but on the high standard of women's tennis in the Eastern Townships.

Jackson Dick, North Hatley summer resident and runner-up last year in the North Hatley tennis tournament, made a fine showing in the Manoir tennis tournament this year. He won through to the final of the men's singles and was only beaten 4, 8-6 by Bill O'Brien, No. 2 ranking player at McGill. Dick was also in the semi-finals of the mixed doubles and men's doubles.

Our pick in the Hambletonian is Schnapps with Desota second, and Twilight Song, third.

Bob Feller recognizes class when he sees it, all right. He passed Joe DiMaggio three times the other day.

Believe it or not, the Dodgers have a perfect record. They've played four baseball games at night—and lost 'em all.

If Jimmy Johnston doesn't land that World's Fair sports promotion job, he'll bob up as a promoter at Ebbets Field next summer—and you can bet on that.

Some months back this corner dubbed Bill McKechnie, of the Boston Bees, one of the smartest managers in the majors. Well, he's proving it.

So it's not going to be any too much of a dead cinch for the Cubs at best, despite their current five and a half game lead. The Cubs knocked off Boston's Bees in both ends of a double-header yesterday, by scores of three to nothing and three to two on a one-hit pitching performance by Tex Carleton in the opener and a clouting comeback by Phil Cavarretta in both games.

The win win boosted the Cubs' lead by half a game, since the Giants could get no better than an even break with their favorite "stooges," the Pirates. They won the opener by ten to two, but Jim Weaver's three-hitter blanked them by three to nothing in the nightcap.

It's far easier to settle the American League business in advance. Nine and a half games in front, the Yankees look like a shoo-in from here. They squeezed through with a six to five win over the Cleveland Indians yesterday for their eighth success in a row.

The Boston Red Sox, in second place, stretched their undefeated run to thirteen games by taking the White Sox by seven to six in the opener, but then had the string snapped with a thirteen to nothing wallop in the nightcap.

"Ducky" Medwick belted two homers in the first game and the cards took a three to two decision from the Phillies, but the best they could get was a six-six draw in the nightcap, despite "Ducky Wucky's" third round-tripper of the day. SHERBROOKE DEFEATED NORTH HATLEY

Sherbrooke tennis players were entertained yesterday afternoon by the North Hatley Canoe Club, and won a stubbornly contested series.

Johnny Hibbard, winner for the past two years of the Eastern Townships tennis championship, and playing No. 1 for Sherbrooke, defeated John Bassett, Jr., last year's North Hatley champion, 5-3, 3-6, 9-7. This match was in doubt until the closing rally, and lasted for over two hours. Hibbard's extra steadiness won for him in the end.

Three of the seven matches required extra sets before they were settled. Mac Dunsmore beat D. Dunne, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1 in one of the best matches of the afternoon.

After the contest, the players were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. William Edgar, of New York and North Hatley. It is hoped that this match will be but one of many between the two clubs.

The results in detail follow: Singles: John Hibbard, Sherbrooke, won from John Bassett, Jr., North Hatley, 5-3, 3-6, 9-7. Samuel Rembert, North Hatley, defeated Connie Gregoire, Sherbrooke, 6-2, 6-4; M. Dunsmore, Sherbrooke, defeated D. Dunne, North Hatley, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1. F. Ransom, North Hatley, defeated A. W. Reid, Sherbrooke, 6-2, 6-4.

Doubles: F. Ransom and S. Rembert, North Hatley, won from John and Ashley Hibbard, Sherbrooke, 6-1, 6-4; M. Dunsmore and C. Gregoire, Sherbrooke, defeated M. Van Fleet and W. Edgar, North Hatley, 7-5, 6-1; Ashley Hibbard and Albert W. Reid, Sherbrooke, defeated J. Ten Eycke and B. Stoddard, North Hatley, 8-6, 5-7, 6-3.

his twenty-ninth and thirtieth home runs.

The Newark Bears trimmed the Rochester Red Wings twice, eight to four and four to one. Steve Sundra won his fourteenth victory in the opener with his mates getting seven runs in the first five innings. Joe Gordon, Sundra and Bob Seeds hit for the circuit on the offensive side of the ledger.

Vito Tamulis' five hit pitching was good enough to subdue the Wings in the second game. It was the southpaw's fifth win in a row and his thirteenth of the campaign.

Two top notch pitching performances gave the Buffalo Bisons as many victories over the Syracuse Chiefs by scores of five to nothing and one to nothing. Trust Sewell and Art Jacobs pitched the opener and "Hard Luck" Bill Harris changed his luck and beat Lloyd "Whitey" Moore, of the Chiefs, in the nightcap.

Hall Lee's single in the thirteenth inning gave Jersey City a late even split with the Montreal Royals. The Giants won the second game on Lee's hits by one to nothing, after losing to the Royals in the opener by two to nothing. Glen Gabler won on Lee's blow over Crip Polli. Gabler's relieved Rookie Mike Radon in the thirteenth. Henry Johnson's four hit pitching was too much for the Giants in the opener.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Outstanding players in yesterday's major league games were:

Tex Carleton and Phil Cavarretta, Cubs; Carleton pitched one-hit game, fanning six, in blanking the Bees by two to nothing in a double-header opener; Cavarretta hit a double, driving in two runs in opener and double and single, sending two more across in three to two nightcap win.

Bob Johnson, Athletics: Johnson's homer with one on base won opener against Browns by five to four.

Ducky Medwick, Cardinals, and Earle Browne, Phillies: Medwick walloped three homers in a double-header, winning the opener by three to two and helping tie the nightcap six to six; Browne hit a homer and a single, driving in three runs in nightcap.

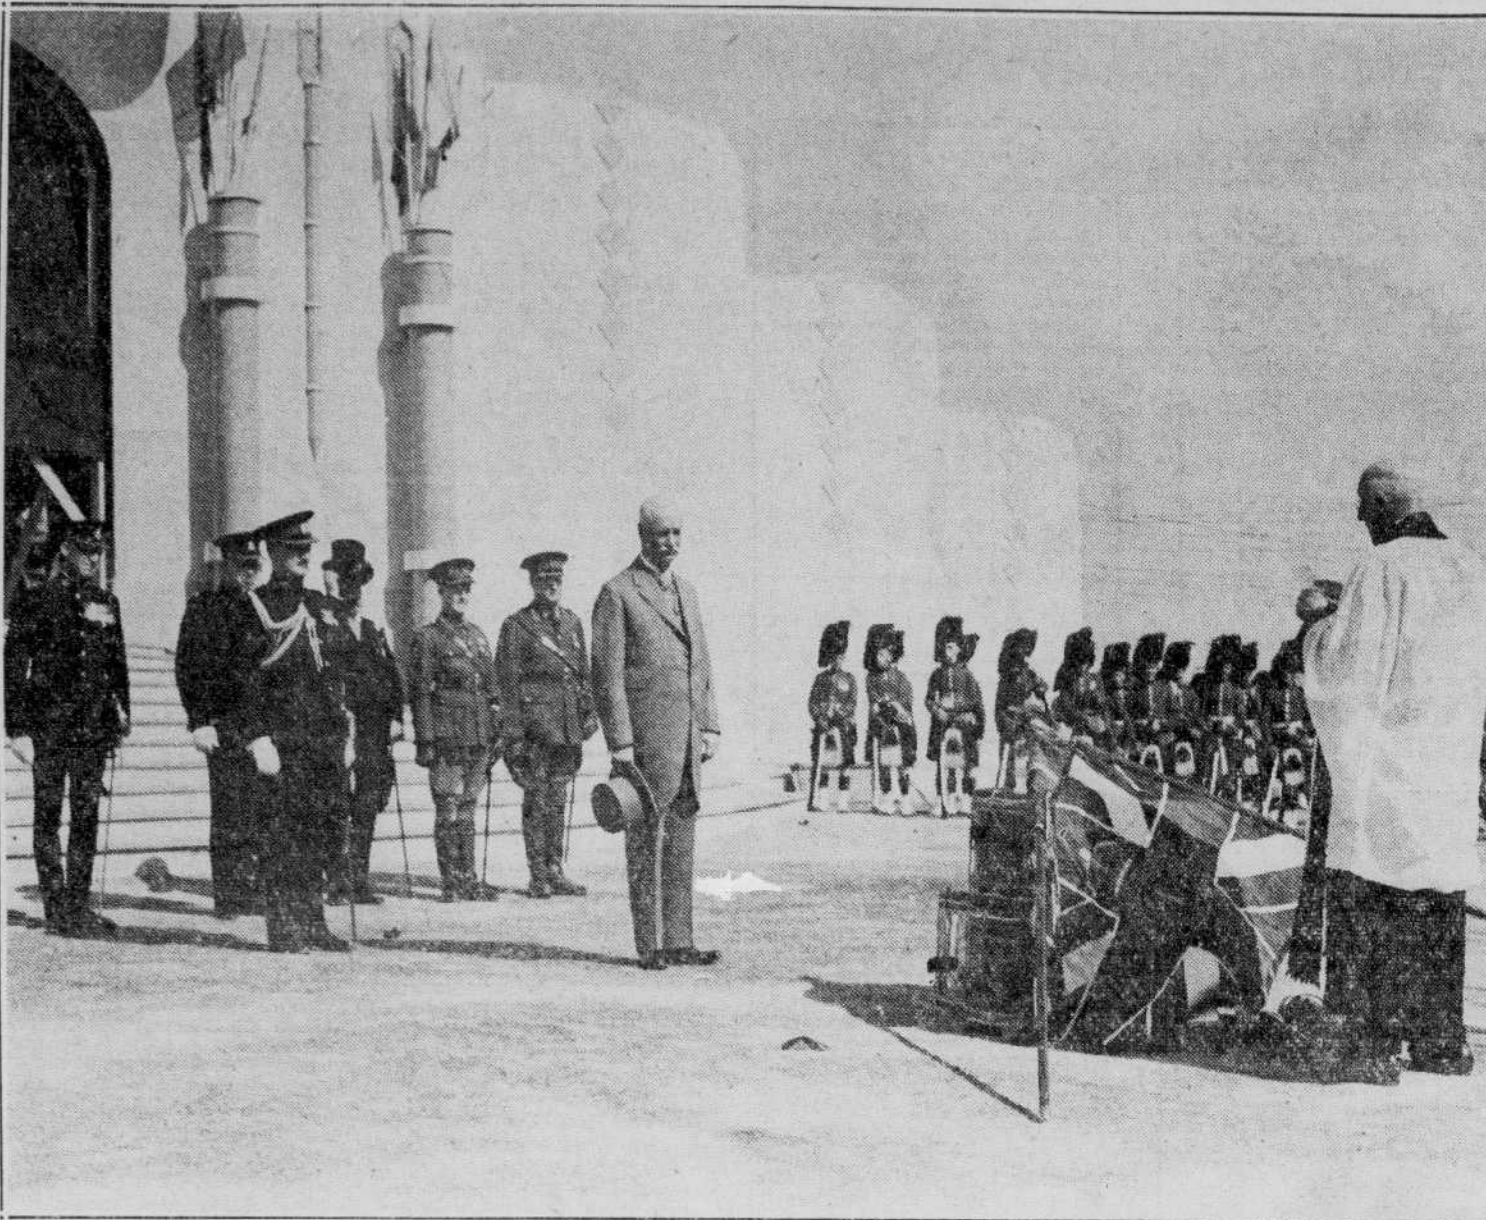

Johnny Marcum, Red Sox, and Johnny Whitehead, White Sox: Marcum saved seven to six first game victory with four-hit, one-run half; Whitehead pitched the nightcap six to six; Browne hit a homer and a single, driving in three runs in nightcap.

Poof Poffenberger, Tigers: Whipped Senators by five to one with four hits.

Joe Cascarella, Reds: Held Brooklyn hitless in one inning relief stretch to hold six to four winning edge.

SHOOTING

MAJOR RIFLE CONTEST INAUGURATED TODAY

Connaught Rifle Ranges, South March, Ont., Aug. 9.—An international contingent of more than 450 riflemen were ready to start competition today in the premier shooting event of the country, the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association's annual meet.

One woman, Mrs. J. Neal Down, of Saint John, N.B., and a Chinese, Frank Ho Lem, of Calgary, were among the entrants from Australia, England and the United States.

After spending nearly all yesterday cleaning and getting their shooting equipment in order, the numerous youngsters entered this year, as well as veterans, eagerly were awaiting their turn to start one week of competition that will be climaxed by the Governor-General's match, carrying a gold medal—the King's Prize of Canada.

Returning from Bisley just in time to file his entry, C. M. S. Geo. Emslie was ready to defend honors he won last year in a shoot-off with Sgt. Jim Kier, of Vancouver, and Capt. A. W. Hunt, of Winnipeg.

GOV. GENERAL PARTAKES IN STRANGE PICNIC

Lord Tweedsmuir Shared Luncheon Cooked by Millionaire Harry Snyder, with Sick Eskimo Women.

Eldorado, N.W.T., Aug. 9.—Lord Tweedsmuir left this northernmost mining camp for Fort Smith, en route to Edmonton, after enjoying Saturday what was probably the world's strangest picnic on which Lord Tweedsmuir partook.

The Governor-General was taken by Harry Snyder, Montreal and Chicago millionaire and big game hunter, for a picnic on the barren lands, 650 miles north of here, and he visited the R.C.M.P. beat St. Roen which rescued Captain R. J. Summer and eleven others aboard the Fort James. His Excellency congratulated Captain Summers on his escape.

Amphibians then took off for an unnamed lake in the middle of the Barrens where they landed and took ashore arm chairs and lunches.

Snyder cooked a beefsteak and the menu included bread and butter, blueberry pie, tea and coffee cake. Lord Tweedsmuir remarked "blueberry pie is the best pie in the world and if I've found nothing else that alone would have been worth my coming to Canada."

Around the tarpaulin on which the food was placed sat such northern notables as Leigh Brinell, general manager of Mackenzie Airways; Mrs. Brinell, pilots Stan MacMillan, Marlow Kennedy, and Flight-Lieutenant Dave Harding.

Others present at the picnic were a sick Eskimo woman being flown to Fort Smith Hospital for a serious abdominal operation and "Wide Angle" Allam, one of two Eskimos decorated in 1935 with the King George V Jubilee medal for outstanding service.

Daniel Boone is buried at Frankfurt, Ky.

G.O.P. HOPE OF GAINING POWER RUNNING HIGH

Split in Democrat Ranks Over Supreme Court Reform Sends Republican Hopes of Winning Off-Year Elections Soaring.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Much can happen before the 1938 off-year elections roll around, but it is becoming apparent that Republican hopes of recapturing substantial ground in the United States Congress are the highest in several years.

Moreover, visions of a return to power in 1940 began to arise in the minds of the minority men when they study the possible indications of the rift in the Democratic ranks and the passions stimulated by the Court Bill fight.

Political observers are on the alert to catch the first hint from the White House as to the President's plans for answering the challenge of his leadership involved in the Democratic revolt over the court measure.

He has never accepted in terms the surrender in that fight—a capitulation negotiated by Vice-President Garner.

If Roosevelt carries to the country, as many of his political lieutenants expect him to do, the fight for "objectives" of his administration, including reorganization of the Supreme Court, that issue will cast its shadow over every Democratic primary race. Whether or not there are to be definite "reprisal" efforts by the administration to unseat party rebels in the Senate, many of them seem certain to face opposition by "100-per cent. Roosevelt" candidates.

Private administration check lists on Democratic Senators up for reelection mark them down as for or against the President in the Court bill fight. Of the thirty-two Senate seats up next year for reelection, twenty-eight are held by Democrats and only four by Republicans. Yet administration strategists declare that of the twenty-eight Democrats, nineteen were openly or tacitly supporting the defeated court bill and only nine opposed.

Nor is the reprisal cry all on one side. From supporters of the White House in the historic struggle come charges of undercover campaigns against them by party conservatives

HOUSE SPEEDING TO ADJOURNMENT

Washington, Aug. 9.—The United States Congress settled down today for a two-weeks' grind toward adjournment, but the normal legislative positions of the Senate and House of Representatives were almost reversed.

The Senate, its calendar cleared of most major bills, waited for the House to dispose of such important measures as housing, wage-hour legislation and the court procedure bill.

Speaker Bankhead said the House probably would agree quickly to the modified court procedure bill which passed the Senate Saturday.

Unless unforeseen complications arise, leaders said, legislative action on the measure—all that is left of the contentious Supreme Court reorganization bill—can be completed early this week.

Johannesburg, Aug. 9.—Found guilty of vagrancy, Joseph Devine, elderly European who lived in a deserted tank, protested intrusion, saying "I was as happy as a lark in my tank, so why worry me?"

GIRL FLOGGED MAN FOR SPREADING LIE

Seventeen-Year-Old New Orleans Girl Defends Whipping of Forty-Seven Year Old W.P.A. Worker.

New Orleans, Aug. 9.—Pretty Eloise Willis, seventeen years old, accused of publicly flogging Oscar Kay, forty-seven year old Works Progress Administration worker, after her relatives had tied him to a tree, defended her action today by saying Kay had spread "lies" about her.

The girl said Kay circulated "false tales" after she went to a hospital for an appendicitis operation.
