CLAIM JAPS EVADING IMMIGRATION OFFICERS Venizelos Outlines Stand To Be Taken By The Greeks

If Turks Press Demands, Greece To Follow Suit

Former Premier Venizelos of Greece Appeared Before the Financial Sub-Committee of Allied Delegates Considering Turkish Counter-Proposals—If Turkey Persists in Demands for War Indemnity, Greece Will Present Similar Demand for Destruction Caused by Kemalists Troops, as Well as for Indemnification for Smyrna Fire and Expense of Caring for Million and a Half Refugees Who Were Forced Out of Asia Minor by Turkish Authorities.

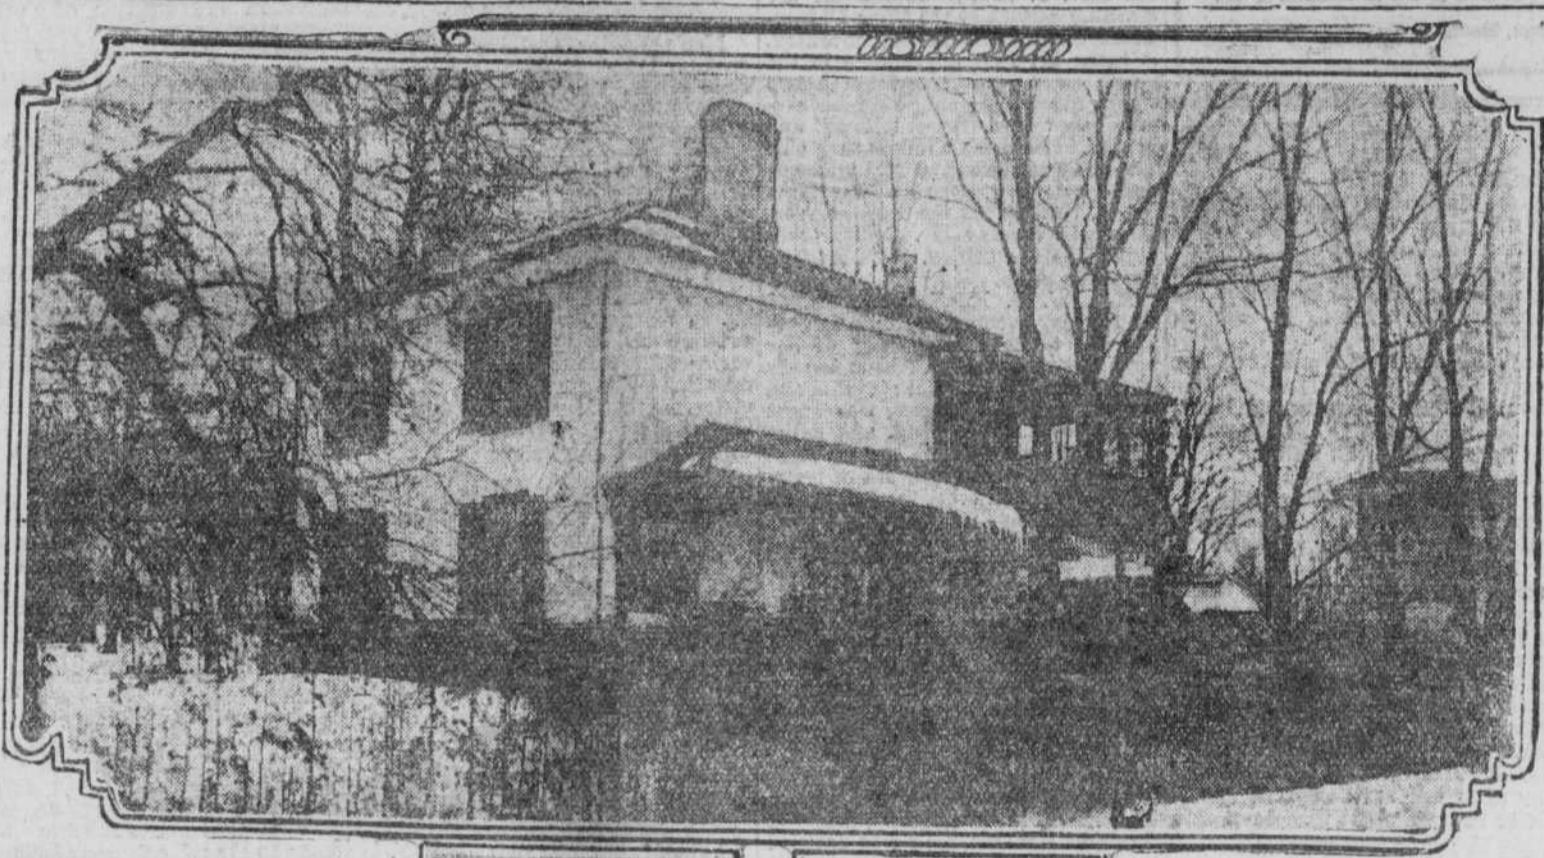

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, March 24.—Former Premier Venizelos, of Greece, appeared today before the financial sub-committee of the Allied delegates who are considering the Turkish counter-proposals to the Lausanne peace treaty draft, and gave the Greek Government's views concerning the various financial clauses and the Ankara Government's reiterated request for indemnification for the damage caused in Anatolia by the Greek army.

While no official information is available respecting the precise character of the veteran statesman's remarks, it is believed he informed the Allied representatives that if Turkey pressed her claim for a war indemnity, Greece would present a similar demand for the destruction caused by the Kemalists troops, as well as for indemnification for the Smyrna fire and the expense of caring for the million and a half refugees who were forced out of Asia Minor by the Turkish authorities.

It is understood that Venizelos also told the sub-committee that if the Turks refused to renounce their claims for indemnity, Greece would further demand compensation for her contribution to the Allied victory in the Great War, as well as indemnity against the cost of the Smyrna occupation, Greece having undertaken this occupation at the request of the Allies.

The Allied view is that the Greeks and the Turks should mutually renounce their claims for reparations—the Greeks as victors in the Great War, and the Turks as the conquerors in Asia Minor, falling which, both sides should submit their rival claims to a neutral arbitral tribunal.

Prince of Wales Again Demonstrates His Democratic Tendencies By Dancing At A Public Dance Hall Among Merry-Makers

Strains of Jazz Music Proved Too Much for the Prince, and He Descended to Floor of Hall, Where He Danced with Britishers and Citizens of United States—Expressed Himself as Having Enjoyed the Affair Immensely.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Mar. 24.—The Prince of Wales last night again demonstrated his democratic tendencies by dancing at a public dance hall among merry-makers, attended in costumes ranging from fancy dress and extreme evening gowns to suits that included brown shoes and red neckties.

The occasion was a dance given by the London Post of the American Legion to raise funds with which to extend its activities in London. The Prince, accompanied by George Harvey, the United States Ambassador, arrived at the dance hall at ten o'clock. Thousands of Londoners had gathered in the outskirts of the city, where the dance was held, to greet the Prince.

It was with difficulty that the party got through the crowd and into the hall. Finally they succeeded in entering and took seats in a box in the balcony, from which they watched the throngs of dancers for more than half an hour.

Then the strains of jazz music proved too much, and the Prince descended to the floor of the hall, where he danced with Britishers and citizens of the United States. The Prince chose as his first partner Mrs. C. Cobb, wife of the assistant commercial attaché of the United States embassy. As the Prince and Mrs. Cobb came out upon the floor the crowd surged around them until his bodyguard was forced to beg the Prince's well wishers to make room so that he might enjoy the dance.

"Wales" expressed himself as having enjoyed the affair immensely.

Charles A. Rheault, of Cobourg, Ont., formerly of D'Israeli, Que., ex-"Mountie" officer, was married to Miss Rosamond Bradley, Boston heiress, on March 19. The upper picture shows May Villa, Cobourg, where the couple will reside.

ORIENTAL IMMIGRATION DISCUSSED AT CONSIDERABLE LENGTH IN THE COMMONS; $600,000 VOTE PASSED

An Appropriation of Six Hundred Thousand Dollars Was Voted for Assisted Immigration in Connection with the Empire Settlement Act of Great Britain—Contended by Members from British Columbia that the Japanese Coming in on Their Ships Found It Comparatively Easy to Evade Immigration Officers.

(Associated Press Despatch)
OTTAWA, March 24.—Immigration, Oriental and Occidental, was again the chief item of discussion yesterday, and with that discussion it became increasingly evident that expenditures under this heading are to be subjected to close scrutiny by the members of both sections of the Opposition.

Beginning with a debate on Chinese and Japanese immigration, in which the Acting Minister of Immigration, Hon. Charles Stewart, stated that Chinese residents of Canada were endeavoring to bring many Chinese children into the Dominion before the proposed Chinese Act became effective, and the Prime Minister stated that modifications of the Immigration treaty between Japan and Canada were being negotiated, the discussion covered a wide range.

Party Leaders Take Part in Debate.
Immigration buildings, expenditures for exhibitions to advertise Canada abroad, the Empire settlement scheme and similar matters were all covered. In some cases, as the $600,000 vote for participation in the Empire settlement scheme and $1,850,000 for grants to Colonization Associations, the items were allowed to stand when members asked for information which the Minister did not have available for them.

Dealing with Japanese immigration, the Prime Minister said this was restricted under a commercial treaty. If Canada thought it wise to sacrifice trade with Japan, Canada could easily denounce this treaty. In any case, he said, negotiations looking toward modification were under way.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen did not subscribe to the theory that trade must be sacrificed to control immigration. He had never heard it suggested that Japan had broken faith in the matter of immigration.

Asked for more particulars, the item of $600,000 for participation in the Empire settlement scheme brought a request from Robert Forke for full details, with a suggestion that the item stand until full information was available. The item stood, but was taken up later

LLOYD GEORGE TO ISSUE NEW PROGRAMME

Much Discussion Regarding Position Created by Setback to Liberal Reunion.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, March 24.—There is much discussion in political circles regarding the position created by the setback to Liberal reunion, which, it is generally conceded, is at present dead.

There is reason to believe that Lloyd George will shortly launch a new programme which the National Liberals hope will win over to Lloyd George some of the Asquithian Liberals and possibly also some Coalition Conservatives.

Any idea that the Conservative ex-ministers will join the Bonar Law administration has been definitely abandoned. The fierce attack made by Lord Birkenhead on Lord Salisbury in the House of Lords last night is regarded as indicating resentment on the part of the Conservatives who served in the Lloyd George coalition ministry against the Government as at present constituted.

Daring Band Of Robbers Rounded Up

French Police Claim to Have Rid Europe of Its Most Important and Daring Group of International Crooks.

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, March 24.—By the arrest early this morning of an American, by the name of Morton, and his band of nine alleged accomplices, the Paris police declare they have ridden Europe of its most important and daring group of international crooks.

The police of the French capital, have been on the look out for some months for a band which has been devoting itself almost exclusively to American and English visitors, using the method known here as a L'Americaine—the pushing of the victim by a part of the gang, while others steal or exchange his baggage.

Profits from the gang's thefts are tremendous, the police state. One victim lost half a million francs and another one hundred thousands. The police also declare that it was Morton who recently robbed an American in London of a valise containing two millions of francs in jewelry. Morton, they state, dived between the victim's legs, throwing him heavily to the ground, while an accomplice made off with the booty.

PIGGLY-WIGGLY STOCK TODAY IS PRICELESS

President of Stores in Statement Utters Defiance to Wall Street.

(Associated Press Despatch)
MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 24.—Shares of class "A" Piggly-Wiggly common stock, held by Clarence Saunders, president of Piggly-Wiggly stores, and badly wanted by "short" sellers who were caught in the jam on Tuesday when a bear raid on the stock was repelled, were priceless today.

Of this stock, which yesterday the Piggly-Wiggly head quoted to shorts at $100 per share, Thursday at $150, until three o'clock in the afternoon, and for a time thereafter at $250, Mr. Saunders declared in a statement uttering defiance to Wall Street:

"I have no price of any kind to offer any further short interests. Even one thousand dollars a share would not buy from me a single certificate for a 'short.' My offer of $100 was for one day only and will not be extended.

"Wall Street got licked bad," Mr. Saunders added, "and then called for 'mamma.' Of course, 'mamma,' the New York Stock Exchange, heard the cry for its petted child."

Out of approximately 25,000 shares, which Mr. Saunders said were due him, just one hundred and forty were delivered to him yesterday, he said.

"The licking they got in Piggly-Wiggly," continued Mr. Saunders, with regard to Wall Street tactics, "is merely a spanking compared with what is to follow, for there is going to be a revelation in stock exchange methods that will send like a cyclone when the public knows and understands."

"Of all the institutions in America, the New York Stock Exchange is the worst menace of all in its power to ruin all who dare oppose it," he continued, "a law unto itself, they say, an association of men who claim the right that no king or autocrat ever dared to take, to make a rule that applies one day on contracts and abrogates it the next day to let out a bunch of welchers."

"I expect to enter suit against the New York Stock Exchange and if there is any law now that will render justice on this flagrant violation of all ethics—there will be an action."

Mrs. Peter A. Palmer, Salt Burn, Sask., writes: "Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely relieved me of eczema and pain. I also used this Ointment for my baby, who broke out in eczema. A few applications were all that was necessary in her case. Dr. Chase's Ointment has been worth a hundred dollars to me—before using it I had spent a great deal more than that in unsuccessful treatment from doctors. We have also used Dr. Chase's other medicines, the Nerve Food having restored my health after suffering from severe nerve trouble when a girl."

SULPHUR CLEARS UP ROUGH OR RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur. declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray-streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mossy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

"My Boy was Starving to Death" "As He Was Getting No Nourishment He Was Gradually Wasting Away."

"Here's a story which will interest every mother. Before my boy was born, I was in such delicate health that the doctor didn't think I could survive the ordeal. For weeks after he was born my life was despaired of, so I couldn't feed him and the poor little fellow was left to the care of friends. He wasn't naturally strong. No care was taken in choosing his food and his poor little stomach became so weakened that he couldn't keep anything on it. As he was getting no nourishment from his food, he was gradually wasting away. Finally, in desperation, we sent for a child specialist and he said that my boy was starving to death. He gave him some medicine and advised a certain diet. The child did improve but somehow couldn't seem to get strong. This went on for four or five years and the boy still continued weak and puny looking. He could not play like other children without having to lie down and rest. My sister who lives on a farm near the sea, said that she could fix him up if I would send him to her. While I hated being separated from him, I was ready to make any sacrifice to get him strong. He was away from me for three months and it was with feelings of great excitement that I awaited his return as my sister had written me that I would be surprised when I saw my boy. When my sister got off the train, I could not believe that it was my own boy that she was leading by the hand. I never saw such a change in any child. He was fat and rosy and full of life with a happy smile! 'What on earth have you done to him,' I said. 'Why,' she replied, 'I simply made him live out of doors, gave him good food—and here's the real secret, I gave him three bottles of Carnal. Before he had taken half a bottle his whole appearance had changed. He got heavier, his face took on a colour and he would run round for hours at a time.' The change in my boy is the most wonderful event in my life. I am a regular fan of Carnal and never lose a chance

BRIDGE NEARLY FINISHED. The new Dufferin Bridge is nearing completion and before very long, traffic will be crossing the structure. Plank footpaths have been placed along both sides, although only the east side is open this morning. The centre of the bridge has also been planked along the east side, and it is expected that wheel traffic will cross today. There remains to be done only the final touches. All of the rivetting has been completed with the exception of a few bolts at the railings.

SPRING ACTIVITIES. The spring thaw has made wonderful strides during the past three days, the snow disappearing in a most gratifying manner. The streets and roads are in the usual breaking-up condition, and water, sand and ice form a foundation that keeps people busy watching their step. It was reported last evening at 10.58, from authentic sources, that more people had fallen in the streets during the day, than at any time during the same period since the spring thaw commenced operations. In bright contrast to the dingy streets are the shop windows which announce the interesting fact that the bunnies, chickens and Easter eggs have arrived. The two former are shown in various materials, from wool to candy, and the last is largely displayed in unsweetened chocolate highly decorated and in all sizes.

UNITED EVANGELISTIC SERVICES. Last night the Congregational Church was very well filled for the United Church Service. Rev. B. E. Brown took charge of the Song Service, after which Rev. D. W. Terry read the Scriptures and the Congregational Choir rendered a very fine anthem. On being called on to give the address of the evening Mr. Terry took as his subject "The Last Judgment." The speaker very earnestly and with much feeling expressed his views on Christ's Great Picture, and made a strong appeal for those present to make a decision that would mean continuance of life. The meeting this evening will be at the corner of Wellington and King Streets, when members of the Ministerial Association will meet with the Salvation Army workers in their open air service. After which all will go to the Salvation Army Citadel for the regular meeting.

SHERBROOKE COUNTY COUNCIL ELEC. OFFICERS. The annual meeting of the Sherbrooke County Council was held recently. The secretary-treasurer of the county, Mr. George Borlase, presided in the absence of the warden and opened the meeting. Those present were Mayor George Rabbin, of Compton Village, Mayor F.

G. Gale, of Waterville, Mayor E. Gosselin, of Ascot Corner, Mayor Andre Mailhot, of the Township of Ascot, Mayor Alphonse Martin, of Rock Forest, Mayor Andrew Faith, of Orford, Mayor George Valiere, of St. Elie d'Orford, and Pro-Mayor P. Bureau, of the Township of Compton.

Routine business was despatched, and the election of officers for the year was held resulting in Mayor Euclide Gosselin, of Ascot Corner, being elected County Warden, while Mayor Andrew Faith, of Orford, and Mayor Andre Mailhot, of the Township of Ascot, were elected county delegates. The new warden then took the chair and new business was discussed. The members of the County Council decided that they were not in favor of daylight saving.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ORFORD WOMEN'S INSTITUTE. The March meeting of the Orford Women's Institute was held at the residence of Mrs. W. J. Armstrong, Victory Highway, on March 21st. Mrs. Faith presiding. The reports of the secretary and treasurer and chairmen of the business committees were read and routine business conducted.

This being the annual meeting, Mrs. W. J. Armstrong was asked to preside during the election of officers. The election resulted in the choice of Mrs. J. J. Crawford as Honorary President; Mrs. Andrew Faith, President; Mrs. Andrew Crawford, 1st. Vice President; Mrs. J. M. Hamer, 2nd Vice President; Mrs. W. J. Armstrong, Treasurer; Miss Evelyn Faith, Secretary and Mrs. J. M. Hamer, Reporter.

The secretary read the annual report showing that the Institute had closed another very successful year. Plans were made for a sugar social to be held at the residence of Mrs. Andrew Faith, on Friday evening, April 6th. Cards, dancing etc., will be the order of the evening. Work on the Institute quilt was carried on during the afternoon.

Mrs. Armstrong served refreshments assisted by Mrs. Andrew Crawford. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. M. Hamer.

THE SYMBOLIC PALM. Tomorrow, one of the greatest church festivals will be fittingly observed by special sermons, music and decorations in the churches, especially the Anglican and Roman Catholic.

It marks, in biblical history, the triumphal entry into the Holy City of the Saviour, and the adulation of the multitude which was so soon turned to scoffing and mockery. The palm, used elaborately in processions, was one of the most ornamental trees in that country, and it is stated that there are more than one thousand species of the tree. Besides being ornamented, they are useful, among the best known being the date, cocconut and esago palm; while palm oil, honey, and wine are common products. The leaves of some species are used in making baskets.

The date palm is the one used in religious ceremonials, and the most prize ornamental specie is the royal palm. In the Canadian churches evergreens are used in the same manner as the palms, many children carrying a bunch of evergreen, while older ones wear a small sprig, which is not only a symbol of Palm Sunday, but of spring which arrives in Canada in close proximity to Easter.

BENEFIT NIGHT AT THE PRINCESS. A most enjoyable musical programme was given last evening at the Princess Theatre, arranged as a benefit night for the Masonic Temple Fund.

Those contributing numbers were Mrs. F. H. Bradley, who sang a southern "Mammy" song, and responded to an encore; Mr. Harold McConnell and Mr. Ernest Armitage both gave vocal solos; Mr. J. G. Watson sang two of his jolly songs, the second number being the popular "Lucky Jim"; and Mr. Fenwick Parker in his impersonation of Harry Lauder entertained his audience "right royally." Mr. Parker not only has the Highland costume, but he has caught the Harry Lauder accent, the jolly laugh, and his voice is well suited to the impersonation of the famous Scotch singer. Mr. Gault Parker was the accompanist for the singers, and Mr. Ralph Giff with extra players provided attractive numbers during the time set apart for the special programme. Mrs. Dolloff, Mrs. Dunbar, Mrs. Gordon Wilson, and Miss Ethelyn Moore acted as ushers; Miss Moe was in charge of the ticket office, and Messrs. Dolloff and Barlow were at the door. The usual run of pictures was given, and the attendance was exceptionally good.

CANADA'S MOST INTERESTING CITY.

It stands alone in its particular individuality, and there are indeed few spots to be compared with it in beauty of environment. Nature and the art of man have signalized, and history has emphasized Quebec with such charms and attractions that it challenges the attention, and invites the presence of all who love the one or are impressed with the other. From no place on the American Continent can such a panorama of beautiful scenery be surveyed as that seen from the King's Bastion. A sunset from Dragon Summit in Arizona is immeasurably finer; the Valley of the Rio Grande, as seen from the heights of the Grand Canyon is more imposing; the precipices and narrowing chasms of the Sierra Nevada are more rugged, as seen from Tehachapi, but from none of these can be seen at one glance such a panorama of natural beauty, wedded to human civilization, as from this coign of vantage beneath the frowning guns of old Quebec. EASTER HOLIDAYS

There is nothing like travel to open the eyes of the mind. Human beings long for change, for movement, for a broadening of their range of vision. Thus does wise old Mother Nature provide for the proper development of her children. The spring full moon brings Easter, when all the world takes a holiday. By means of the Canadian National Railways one may travel with comfort in any direction. Go to beautiful Ottawa, the Capital of the Dominion, and visit the stately Houses of Parliament. See Montreal where an enormous business is carried on according to the most up-to-date methods in an atmosphere redolent of the romance of the old French regime. See Quebec, Canada's Ancient Capital and one of the most interesting cities on the American continent. Toronto, Kingston, Belleville, Hamilton, Brantford, Woodstock, London and Windsor are cities full of interest. All are easily reached, being on the route of the International Limited, Canada's train of Superior Service. For those who wish to travel in another country, the Canadian National Railways make it a simple and delightful matter. Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo and Portland, Me., New York, Boston, and many other great centres of industry of the United States are reached by their lines. Niagara Falls, where the tremendous cataracts and mighty rapids have been skillfully harnessed to supply power to industrial plants all over the country; the Green and White Mountains, with their chasms and cataracts and towering heights are other places with innumerable attractions Arrangements can be made to deliver tickets to persons out-of-town by depositing the value of same with Canadian National Railways Agent. Passengers will consult their own convenience by purchasing their tickets early.

COUNCIL MEETING MONDAY.

An adjourned meeting of the City Council will be held on Monday evening when a number of important matters are scheduled to come up for discussion. The budget requirements may possibly be disposed of, while the affairs of the gas and electric department will most likely be on the tapis.

A special committee meeting was held last night, and it is understood dealt entirely with matters relative to the budget. At Monday's meeting, Alderman S. R. Newton will probably be absent, as he is now in Fort William on business. The centre ward vacancy, to be filled by Mr. F. Honahan, will be officially occupied on Tuesday only.

LEST WE FORGET

It has been said (it should have been whispered) that here in Sherbrooke the Victorian Order of Nurses is struggling for existence; not because there is any lack of interest on the part of officers, members, or workers connected with the Order, but from lack of funds.

Money pours into the treasury of some organization; it is earned by untiring workers for others, while gifts come from those who always give their tithe, whether large or small. Sometimes the organizations that have been in existence for several years suffer through that fact, and it might possibly be one of the reasons why the Victorian Order of Nurses has to make appeal after appeal for financial aid to carry on the work that is growing all the time, and entirely out of proportion with the funds coming in.

The Order in other cities has the same problem, but Sherbrooke's problem regarding health is her own, and when it is remembered that the V. O. N. is the mother of child welfare work, which has done so much for the children of the city, it stands out clearly as an object to which financial aid may be generously given.

The well-to-do city of Sherbrooke and town of Lennoxville have, each succeeding year given to the cause, and it is hoped that this year's donation will far exceed former donations. It will mean broader lines of public health work, and an increase in the clinic work, while it will always remain a fitting tribute to the memory of Victoria the Good and to Florence Nightingale, "The Lady with the Lamp."

Boy Scout News

On Saturday afternoon, March 17th, a meeting of the board of examiners (Mr. C. H. Bowen, chairman, and the scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters of Sherbrooke) was held, at which seventeen scout badges and one scout badge were passed.

The badges passed were as follows 2nd Troop: Laundryman, C. Hammond, R. Gustafson, G. Duff; Gardener, C. Hammond; Engineer, B. Lyon; Ambulance Man, H. Grundy; Musician, R. Gustafson, D. Bishop; Pathfinder, R. Gustafson; Horseman, D. Bishop. 3rd Troop: Engineer, L. Rosenbloom. 4th Troop: Engineer, F. Shaw; Beekeeper, F. Shaw; Starman, O. Soles; Farmer, F. Shaw; Farmer, O. Soles; Missioner, J. Dean. 4th Troop Cubs, House Orderly, G. Banks.

A further meeting of scout officers was held recently and the chairman, the district scoutmaster, presented a programme for the proposed spring scout rally, asking the meeting to make any amendments thought advisable. After some discussion and a few minor adjustments the programme was definitely decided upon. The provincial commissioner, Major Ewing, K.C., has been secured as chief speaker, while the local troops will give several demonstrations of scouting.

IMMIGRATION PROBLEMS.

The discussions in the House of Commons provide some very interesting reading matter relative to the immigration programme sponsored by Mr. Stewart, which calls for an increased expenditure in this department of $700,000, compared to the previous year.

Never before in the history of the Dominion has immigration proven of such vital importance as under the present circumstances and never has Canada been afforded such a golden opportunity of attracting the people of the Old World, hungry for land and avid for opportunities to establish homes and secure an assured living.

It is asserted, with more truth than fiction, that the Dominion's future depends upon her ability to hold the natural increase and incidentally acquire a large and continuous influx of population. According to a statement made in the House yesterday, Mr. O. R. Gould, Progressive member for Assiniboia, the immigration and emigrations statistics dealing with Canada and the United States, for the years 1911-1922 inclusive, show that Canada was the net loser by 39,000 souls.

The continuance of this condition in which the inflow is counterbalanced by the outflow is impracticable and must ultimately result in disaster. With the decrease in population, there is a steady increase in taxation and the public debt assumes larger proportions than ever before. Failure to advance synchronizes with retrogression and it would appear as though the determined effort made, in certain quarters, for better and larger immigration represents the expiring effort to preserve Canadian nationality.

CANADIAN EXHIBITION TRAIN.

Whether manufacturing concerns of the Eastern Townships will be represented in the travelling exhibit of Canadian products which will tour France during the coming summer is a matter which is arousing keen interest in many quarters.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the Canadian exhibit will be made under the supervision of the Department of Trade and Commerce and the main principles involved will be similar to those which were associated with the French exhibit of goods and produce which toured the Dominion last year.

While the French exhibition train in Canada was of the usual railroad type, the French Government has suggested that, owing to the unsuitability of the French railway trains and stations, the Canadian exhibit be carried in a motor convoy. Forty large motor trucks are being constructed by the French Government, thirty of which will contain exhibition cases containing an attractive arrangement of manufactured products, as well as the produce of Canadian farms, mines, fisheries and forests. The other ten trucks, accompanying the convoy, will carry all necessary equipment.

A splendid itinerary has been planned and the opening of the show will be held at Bordeaux on June 15th to correspond with a large exhibition being held there on the same date. The convoy will then visit thirty of the largest cities of France and at the completion of the tour the exhibits will be set up in the L'Orangerie, near the Place de la Concorde, Paris, for a period of two months.

PRESS COMMENT

QUEBEC'S WATER POWER.

(Montreal Herald.)

In Quebec Province the present development in terms of coal represents 8,000,000 tons a year, at a very conservative valuation of $80,000,000, and as only one-fiftieth part of the commercially available water power of the province has been developed, it will be seen how great and valuable are our water powers and how important it is that the province should pursue its present policy of leasing them rather than of selling them outright.

THE TEACHING PROFESSION.

(Brockville Recorder and Times.)

The statement of Premier Bracken of Manitoba, that he is convinced that more men are needed in the teaching profession and that until that stage is reached education in this country will be inefficient and inadequate, is certainly blunt. Perhaps a larger proportion of male teachers is needed, but it is not necessary to slight the work of thousands of thoroughly efficient teachers. Perhaps it would be more to the point if the parents and taxpayers were to take a greater interest in school affairs.

THEN AND NOW.

(Ottawa Journal.)

The excavators at Luxor have unearthed relics of a civilization 30 centuries before Christ that are the envy of our day. But the misfortune of the chief excavator in being stung by a beetle or other Egyptian insect serves to emphasize the progress that has been made since Tutankhamen held sway over the Valley of the Nile. Lord Carnarvon's wife and physician started out to get to him from London in three or four days by airplane. They would have succeeded but for the lady's illness. It would have taken the Pharaoh's physician a good part of a year to make the trip even had he been able to find the route and overcome all the obstacles in his way.

SHAM OF ANTIQUES.

(Christian Science Monitor.)

Time cannot deter the accomplished manufacturer of counterfeits. The most skillful will create antiques that will all but defy detection. The professional expert would be wise to admit the fact. The artist is necessarily the best art detective, but if he is really an artist, he will often refuse to pronounce upon the genuineness of a painting or piece of sculpture submitted to him unless it is by a master with whom he has worked, or of whom he has made a long and special study. If the expert can be deceived, however, what escape is there for the ordinary individual? The one course open to him is simple. For any relics from the Valley of Kings he may want, he must go solely to a reliable source; just as, for pictures or prints, if he distrusts his own judgment, he goes to the reliable dealer who would be the last willingly to mislead him.

OIL IN ALBERTA.

(Edmonton Journal.)

The fire at the Illinois-Alberta oil well near Okotoks, has been extinguished and the loss is not heavy. The report which was made on this earlier in the week by Mr. Slipper, the petroleum engineer of the Federal Government, justified the claim which has been made that the strike there is the best that has been made in the province. It is capable of producing from forty to eighty-five barrels of gasoline daily, which from a purely gasoline standpoint is estimated to equal a crude oil output of from two to five hundred. This experience in a field, which has already been well tested over a lengthy period, must give encouragement to those who are continuing the search for oil in other parts of the province.

NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN.

(Quebec Telegraph.)

A Parisian critic is reported to have made a demand for the censoring of movies for anachronism and supports his stand by the statement that he recently saw Napoleon—in an American film—sign his abdication with a fountain pen. But were there no such things as fountain pens in Napoleon's time? The Encyclopaedia Britannica says that portable "fountain inkhorns" or fountain pens are heard of so far back as the beginning of the 18th century; but according to this authority, it was not till the end of that century that inventors like Bramah seriously applied themselves to the construction of such writing instruments.

A journal of 1750 called "The Country Housewife's Family Companion," has an advertisement of a dealer in Stratford-on-Avon offering fountain pens for sale. A "Dictionary of Arts and Sciences," issued in 1764 gives a detailed description with illustrations of a fountain pen made of silver or brass. It is thus established that the fountain pen was in being and on sale at least a hundred and seventy years ago.

and other towns throughout the County, we hear discussions about more revenue for the Government and various other arguments too numerous to mention, all in favor of license; but we hear very little mention made of the economic value of prohibition, which is made clear and forced upon us in many ways.

Some of the best brains in the world are now engaged in producing and selling intoxicating liquor. All voters in this election have it in their power to settle the liquor problem and we hope that they are convinced that the arguments of the prohibitionists are sound. All the world should try to eliminate waste. Liquor wastes capital, wastes earnings, also wastes man-power, food-stuffs, human efficiency, as well as human life.

Liquor is wasting food. In 1917 in the United States the waste amounted to 7,000,000 pounds of foodstuffs, and yet no one has the right to let some people starve by making others drink. They are also wasting labor. About 300,000 men are engaged in the manufacture, sale and distribution of liquor, in breweries, saloons, and other places as brewers, bar-tenders and waiters. The labor of these 300,000 men is worse than wasted. No possible good can come of it, but much harm is done. Nor does this take into account the many thousands who produce the materials that are used in making liquor.

Human life is being wasted. It is estimated that among brewery workers and waiters in saloons there is an average loss of six years of life on account of their occupations. Therefore if the 300,000 men who make and sell liquor lose six years of life, it makes a total of 1,800,000 years of life. The average man works about thirty years, so that the liquor traffic is using up the equivalent of 60,000 men in each generation. This is too great a price for any nation to pay for three good honest reasons. First, because of the waste of food; second, because of the waste of labor; and third, because of the waste of human life, and the voters have a right to demand that the liquor traffic be abolished.

No man who works can afford to drink if he hopes to better his condition or will allow the demand of drink to steal away his health and strength, leaving him a prey of disease, want and poverty. We read with amazement that the Philippines has voted dry and hope our town and the others will do likewise.

CHECK SYSTEM MAY BUILD UP ENGLISH BUDGET

English Using Checks More and More Instead of Cash.

LONDON, March 24.—The English are beginning to believe their habit of using checks more and more, and cash less and less, to pay their way through life has been one of the factors in the recent spurt of the pound in its race to catch up with the dollar. Of course, it has not reached the point where people write checks indiscriminately, just as a matter of national pride, but all the newspapers have been giving serious consideration to the thought that the check-writing habit, ever becoming more common, has helped improve the financial situation.

The idea appeared in print the other day when the London Bankers' Clearing House announced that of the sums now paid into city banks, only seven-tenths of one per cent. come in currency and coin, all the rest being transfers of credit by check. Not many years ago the percentage of cash deposits was several times higher than today.

stead of cash allows banks usefully to employ perhaps larger sums than otherwise might be possible in piling new stones upon the nation's economic structure.

The English, so their newspapers say, are more given to the check habit than other people, and this despite the fact that each check is taxed twopence. A check-book cannot be had for the asking, as in America; it must be bought and paid for. Even housewives make general use of checks when they go to market, and as many of the larger banks have hundreds of branches, there is usually a bank within walking distance of the home. The high fees for postal money orders make it cheaper to remit by check for amounts over one pound, and this, too, has encouraged the check habit.

Psychologically, some observers question whether the habit is a good one from the standpoint of thrift, since many people who would think twice before spending a certain sum out of their pockets do not hesitate to write a check for the amount; just as it often seems easier to tell a store clerk to charge a purchase to one's account than it is to shell out the actual coin. But others contend that the increasing bank clearings—they amounted to more than 37,000,000,000 pounds sterling in London alone last year—show not only economic betterment, but also that the average Englishman has preserved his own honesty as well as his belief in the honesty of his countrymen.

TORONTO, March 24.—The resignation of Hon. Colonel Carmichael as a member of the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission which was tendered to Premier Drury on March 23, 1922, "bore fruit yesterday at the parliament buildings in the beginning of an exhaustive inquiry into the Chippawa Canal construction by the Gregory Commission.

Colonel Carmichael tendered his resignation because he had to tell the Legislature last year that the estimated cost of fifty-five millions for the completion of five units, of three hundred thousand horsepower of the canal, which he had given a year previously, would be exceeded by $14,000,000. He thought that proved that the hydro engineers were incompetent or dishonest. Instead of accepting the resignation, the Drury Government appointed the Gregory committee.

"The Crimson Hour"

(By Sidney Warwick)

CHAPTER XXXVI.

They slipped down the street in the opposite direction, unnoticed by Vail who was furiously explaining to a policeman how the lorry had run into him, as he was driving away from Garthorne Mansions; that the man was driving in a drunken, reckless fashion, and that he meant to prosecute him. The collision had put one of the wheels of his car completely out of action.

"Fenn Vail—I wonder if it could have been Vail who knocked at Carfax's flat?" Jim said to himself. The fugitives made their way quickly down the none too brilliantly lighted side-street almost in silence. Once the woman gave a little shiver, and a deep sobbing breath of relief, as if almost amazed after the long intolerable strain to find herself free of that trap—a trap that would have held her relentlessly but for this man by her side whom in the past she had treated so badly.

She stole a glance at his face in the light of a passing lamp. It was stern and set, the eyes full of a bitterness they could not hide—a bitterness, not so much against the woman as against circumstances, the circumstances that had led him into that disastrous marriage for which he had paid so dearly, and had still to pay.

Husband and wife still—but as far as sundered as the poles! They turned into a main thoroughfare.

"You'd like me to call you a taxi?" he said, coldly courteous.

"Yes," then suddenly: "Jim, I'm sorry," she broke out impulsively. She was a woman who all her life had seldom thought of anyone or anything but herself, her own selfish interests; but a sudden feeling of gratitude lent her voice for once a deeper note of sincerity.

"You were decent to me tonight, a white man, Jim and I owe you a lot," she went on. "We never hit it off together in the past, and—well, I wasn't your sort, was I? We were fools to marry—you straitlaced and I—she shrugged her shoulders cynically—"the other thing! But I've always been sorry that through me you got suspected in that New York affair. I want you to believe that."

He nodded, without speaking. "Jim," she went on quickly. "Now that we've got safe away, who's to know—anything? You needn't fear I shall trouble you; you can go on your way as if I'd never existed. Just tell yourself that Lucia your married is dead—went down in the Rosetta. You need never fear that she'll come to life for you again. I'm grateful enough to promise you that."

He halted a passing taxi. Just before she got in, Lucia held out her hand. "Just for luck, Jim, before we go finally out of each other's lives. Then sudden as that day any flat, when I bluffed you into believing I wasn't Lucia, do you remember how I told you that you were heaps too good for the girl you married? Well, so you were, Jim. Well, she's dead, and you're free of her—quite free, don't forget that. Good luck—and Good-bye!"

The taxi drove away. Jim Ferrers walked back to Jardine's facing the ruin of his hopes and dreams, the barren vista of his altered future.

One of the wheels of Vail's car had become a casualty under the impact of the motor lorry. The Honourable Ferrer stood fuming and exasperated, whilst his worried chauffeur labored to remove the damaged wheel and fit the spare wheel in its place. Some men in the circumstances would have lent a hand; Vail did not happen to be that sort of man.

A couple of men had just turned in at the entrance of the building where some 20 minutes previously Vail had received no answer to his repeated knocking at Carfax's flat. As his eyes followed the two figures indifferently, the thought struck Vail that something about them suggested policemen in plain clothes—which happened to be a very good guess.

That curious telephone message from Carfax had piqued Fenn Vail's interest when, on his return to his flat the man-servant had delivered it.

"He spoke as if it was most urgent, sir."

Why should Carfax, with whom he was on the very worst terms, have sent so odd a request? Vail's first impulse was to ignore it. But he felt curious, and his car was waiting outside. He was going to motor out to his father's house at Richmond that night. It would be easy to call at Carfax's flat on the way.

At Garthorne Mansions it had puzzled him that his repeated knocking had brought no answer. Then at last Vail had lifted the flap of the letter-slit and looked through, in time to catch sight of a man's face peering out from the door of one of the rooms of the flat.

"I wonder what Ferrers was doing in Carfax's flat, and why no one came?" Vail said to himself now. "Looks a bit queer."

Ferrers' face in that momentary glimpse he had caught of it, had looked oddly watchful and anxious. Why the devil hadn't he come to the door? A queer business altogether Vail thought. He turned to his chauffeur to ask angrily if he was going to be all night over the job of getting the wheel replaced.

Meanwhile the two men he had seen enter Garthorne Mansions had made their way upstairs to Carfax's flat. And their business with Oliver Carfax was to arrest him on suspicion of being actively engaged in illicit trafficking in cocaine. For a long time the police had suspected him, without being able to verify their suspicions. At last one of the smaller fry in this ugly trade, caught red-handed at a night club with a dozen packets of cocaine in his possession, had given Carfax away.

knocked again and again at the door, but without result.

"Wonder if the man's in, and isn't going to open the door?"

The speaker put his ear to the letter-slit and listened, then took a small electric torch from his pocket. He thrust the glass bulb through the letter-slit and sent a long beam of light quivering through into the dark hall of the flat, putting his eye to the opening at the same time.

Then a startled exclamation broke from him.

"Good Lord! So that's why we got no answer! Look!"

That penetrating finger of light had fallen through the narrow hall, to pick out from the shadow something outlined under a table-cloth—something that could only be a human form, for protruding beyond the red folds of the cloth was a hand, stiffly outstretched.

"Looks like a case of murder!"

The speaker's voice held a startled thrill.

The two men held a rapid consultation. It was clearly no time to stand on ceremony. The bigger of the police officers charged the door with a hefty shoulder. For some time it resisted his effort; then at last the lousy door yielded to the repeated strain, with a crash of splintering woodwork about the lock.

One of the Scotland Yard men drew the red tablecloth away, looked down at the white, stiff face revealed there, with the terrible wound on the temple that had fractured the skull.

"Carfax himself!" one of them said, his voice a little shaken.

The sound of the crashing in of the door had brought the tenant of the opposite flat on the scene. He stood in the doorway, staring in with a white scared face.

One of the detectives turned sharply.

"Who are you?" he demanded.

"What do you want?"

"I'm the occupant of the flat opposite."

"I see. Heard anything unusual in this flat during the last hour?"

The man shook his head. He seemed too full of startled horror to find his voice.

"Well, this is a bad business. Glad if you'd go down and find the hall porter, and tell him to come up at once."

The man hurried downstairs on his errand. The detective-inspector was stooping over the seemingly lifeless man whom he had come to arrest, feeling the pulse and the heart.

"I fancy there's still a flicker of life in him—but only just," he said suddenly, after that first conviction that Carfax had been killed outright.

The second Yard man was hurriedly ringing up the nearest police station on the telephone to inform them of this discovery, and to ask for the divisional surgeon or some medical man to be sent immediately.

Meanwhile the tenant of the opposite flat had rushed downstairs. The hall-porter was on the pavement outside, having strolled out again to watch operations, as Vail's chauffeur was finishing his job over the changed wheel of the car.

The man with the scared face ran up to him, crying out in a wildly excited voice:

"You're wanted at once! A couple of detectives are in Mr. Carfax's flat, and they've found Carfax himself murdered!"

"Mr. Carfax murdered!" broke almost incredulously from the startled hall-porter.

THE HUNTER knows the value of MINARD'S

ELLISON Gray, a well known Nova Scotia guide, writes:

"I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT in my home, hunting and timber camps for years and consider it the best white liniment on the market. I find that it gives quick relief to minor ailments, such as Sprains, Bruises and all kinds of wounds. Also it is a great remedy for coughs, colds, etc., which one is liable to catch when log driving and crossing during the winter and spring months. I would not be without MINARD'S LINIMENT and cannot recommend it too highly."

MEN AND HORSES

How closely related is man to the more intelligent of the animals is seen in many of the ailments to which both are prone and the remedies to which they answer.
 Doctors and veterinarians are oftentimes surprised to learn of the similarity of their methods of handling the ailments of man and beast.
 Sprains, burns, scalds, scratches and many other minor injuries, many everyday ailments, too in men and animals take the same course, and both answer immediately to the same treatment—Absorbine Jr.
 Absorbine was first discovered by a very close student of the horse, W. F. Young, and by him, devoted to its cause. Its very exceptional benefits, however, were promptly seized upon for the human race and, in a milder form, the preparation is sold all over the continent today as Absorbine Jr. It is used for men, women and children everywhere as a positive germicide—a germ killer—and a prompt and certain healer of all hurts. It is useful not only for all the purposes served by ordinary liniments and embrocations, but as a mouth-wash and for anything else where a germicide is needed. Don't wait until you need it. VESSEL LIFTED COMPLETELY OUT OF OCEAN

Found San Felix Island Much Smaller and Completely Barren of Animal Life.

(Associated Press Despatch.)
COQUIMBO, Chile, March 24.—Captain Campbell, of the steamer Martha, who has just returned here from a lobster fishing expedition to the uninhabited islands of San Ambrosio and San Felix, which lie in the Pacific Ocean about three hundred miles west of Chancamal, says that on March 4th, when nearing San Felix, the Martha met with a tidal wave thirty-five metres high, which rose from a calm sea, lifting the vessel completely out of the ocean.
 Arriving at San Felix, Captain Campbell noticed that the island was much smaller than previously. Anchoring, he found the water tepid and the rock bottom changed to sand. Heavy sulphur fumes pervaded the air. Landing, he found sea fowl dead in their nests and thousands of dead fish covering the island. Lobsters, which previously had been abundant, were very scarce.
 The captain is of the opinion that the earthquake of last November and subsequent shocks had their centre near San Felix and San Ambrosio, both of which are now completely barren of animal life.

INCREASE FUND TO SAVE NELSON'S FAMOUS FLAGSHIP

Sum of £50,000 Donated by a "Well Wisher of the Navy."

(Associated Press Despatch.)
LONDON, March 24.—The fund to save Nelson's famous flagship the "Victory" has been swelled by a gift of £50,000 from a "well wisher of the navy."
 For some time the old wooden man of war has been rotting in her drydock at Portsmouth, but the work of restoring her will soon begin, so that she may ever be a symbol of wave-ruling Britannia. It is expected that the craft will be kept in a drydock dedicated to her use alone, although the suggestion has been made that she be placed at the base of the Nelson Column in Trafalgar Square.
 Nelson's "Victory" the fifth ship of that name in the British navy, was laid in 1759. She saw thirty-four years of war.

LIBERAL IDEAL ENUNCIATED BY SIR JOHN SIMON

Liberalism Regards Peace as Necessary Foundation for All Social Advance, He Tells Assembly.

(Associated Press Despatch.)
LONDON, March 24.—Sir John Simon, one of the Independent Liberal leaders in the House of Commons, in an address to an assembly of Liberal candidates who had been defeated in elections, enunciated very dogmatically, as he himself expressed, the guiding Liberal principles and the Liberal foreign policy. Liberalism did not regard peace merely as the first of British interests, he said, but as a necessary foundation for all social advance and for equal liberty at home.
 An essential principle of liberalism, Sir John said, was that the British Government should so conduct its relations with foreign states as to avoid all entangling alliances and all complications and understandings that might at a later stage involve Great Britain in obligations which she had no intention to undertake.
 Great Britain should have an undiscriminating sympathy with other countries and put to the forefront her constant aim to substitute international co-operation for national groups and rivalries.

C.S.E.T. Notes

Again there has been a very busy week for the C.S.E.T. groups in the city, all being very active with different features of the programme.
Men of David—"Star Camp."
 After the regular routine business at their meeting on Wednesday the question of expansion was taken up and it was agreed to form a Wanderers Group. This corresponds with the Trail Ranger groups already active in the city. A group of the younger members being present, the camp members helped them to organize with the following officers: Morris Cutler, temporary mentor; Mayll Edgar, chief; Morris Echenberg, sub-chief; Willie Miller, tally; Harry Mosel, guard. Morris Cutler, agreed to be temporary complor.

"Snook Camp"—Trail Rangers.
 The regular Sunday and mid-week meetings of this group were well attended, as also three special classes for woodwork. At the confirmation service to be held on Friday the Lord Bishop of Quebec will confirm nine of the Rangers, which will mean that all initiated members will be communicants of the church. Five new members will be admitted to the camp on February 7th, having completed a period of probation. Arrangements have now been completed for a series of four weekly talks on "First Aid," commencing on March 29th, while there is also under way an entertainment to be given soon after Easter by the boys, at which handicraft work done by the class will be exhibited. It is also of especial interest to note that another Trail Ranger Group is being formed in connection with St. Peter's Sunday School.

Orion Square.
 Instead of the regular meeting of the Orion Square, a visit to Allatt's Bakery was arranged for, when the members of the Square were introduced to the mysteries of a baker's shop by Reggie Allatt showing them the different stages in breadmaking.

Council Notes.
 At a meeting of the Tuxis Council held in the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday, March 31st, the question of a rummage sale was raised, and it was agreed to ask two members of St. George's Square, with two members appointed by the council, to look after the booth at the market. It was also agreed that boys from the Methodist Church, Lennoxville; Christian Science Church, Sherbrooke; boys from the Church of the Advent be invited to the conclave on April 13th in the Methodist Church. Letters were then read from Mr. Hodgson showing the standing of C.S.E.T. work in the province and referring to summer camps. It is proposed to have a camp for leaders only in the Laurentian Mountains, a district camp at East Angus and one in the vicinity of Sherbrooke for Eastern Townships boys. Regarding the last camp it was agreed that the matter be taken up in the different squares on Sunday, and reports be brought in at the next regular meeting of the council. Suggested amendments to the constitution were then considered and adopted.

Mainly About People

Now do the learned men in London discuss man and his whiskers and why the twain did separate.

Man, as a matter of fact, has been striving for ages in vain to eliminate the hair from his face. But, though he cut it off every morning, it grows again every night.

The struggle has been hesitant and intermittent. At times he has regarded it as his greatest pride, and thought himself disgraced if it were removed or even pulled. The ancient Egyptians, even more advanced than we are in the direction of artificiality, adopted a curious compromise, which, like most compromises, possessed the disadvantages of both customs. They shaved clean and then put on a false beard.

The pendulum of fashion is swinging strongly once more towards the hairy side, and we are as the "mutton chop." It amounts at present to no more than a slight tuft of hair hardly going below the cheek bone. But it is the first step that counts. What mad excesses may not be impending? Once again the land may be flamboyant with dandies bearded like the pard.

Will Vogue Set by Valentino, King Alfonso, and Prince of Wales Lead to Bearded Excesses? For Some Men Sideburns Mean Salvation; to Others a Calamity—It's the First Step That Counts.

This first step is now admitted by fashion, and soon may be decreed.

At the recent marriage of a popular actress in London, it was noted that the bridegroom as well as each of his best men wore this faint suggestion of a side-whisker. Note of this was instantly taken by the devotees of the latest fashion, and the reporters made haste to interview the best-known coiffure of Mayfair. He solemnly predicted the speedy coming in of the side-burn, although he added the warning: "It is not sufficient for the man of fashion to have side-whiskers. The essential thing is to know how to wear them."

As an expert, of course, he was prepared to give advice to young elegants to whom Jove, in his next commodity of hair, might send a beard. It is said that he has prepared a series of carefully designed models in wax, showing the various arrangements of whiskers permissible.

In the chaste vernacular of the stock market the present situation would be summed up something as follows: "Whiskers, preferred, advanced sharply on receipt of the news from London and Madrid. Safety razors common dropped several points, well below the level of the check bone. Panic was reported in the offices of Messrs. Gillette, Colgate and Mennen, as the bulling process proceeded."

Of course, in Alfonso's case, it may be a bid for popularity. Since the bull-fighter is the national hero of Spain, his Majesty may well be excused for affecting the toreador's trimmings. Henry of Navarre once soliloquized that Paris was worth a mass; so, to Alfonso, Madrid may be worth an inch and a half of unclean shave.

But in the Prince of Wales' case, if the reports of his hirsute ambitions are true, it is more difficult to assign a motive. His royal highness has no cause to woo popularity; he suffers from an excess of it at every turn. Perhaps, in fact, he is seeking a disguise behind which to take refuge from the wiles of would-be first-aiders to Cupid.

However, the side-burn is here to stay, and upon Canada's leading citizens it devolves to set an example for tumbler citizens.

Sir Adam Beck, it is true, sported two well-defined patches of fungus alongside his ears, when he returned from England some three years ago. But they soon languished, and to-day are as defunct as the late unlamented radial grab.

There is Premier William Lyon Mackenzie King, to whose rotund visage side-burns would lend a touch of dignity, turning him into a stout, fox-hunting English country squire.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen's austerity of countenance would be the more accentuated by the new fashion; he is a shade too lean for an ideal butler, but might by fattening up fit well into a footman's role.

His Worship Mayor C. Alfred Maguire—look him over, as he stands with his trowel.

Rev. C. W. Gordon, better known by his nom de plume, "Ralph Connor," is reincarnated as the sternest of his Covenantor ancestors.

Sir Robert Falconer becomes a pedagogue of the old school—which, as Dickens remarks, means the school which never was young.

And others, ad infinitum.

If your favorite statesman is not among those pictured here, an ordinary painting brush or a lead-pencil is all that it required to embellish the portrait you cherish most.

For some men side-burns mean salvation; to others a calamity. It is the same with a beard.

We have all seen clean-shaven men who appear almost as if making an indecent exposure of their character.

There is the story of Gibbon, allowing Mrs. de Deffand, who was blind, to finger his face, but she found his features so repulsive that she instinctively cried out: "Why, this is a bad joke!"

A stout hedge of beard would have prevented that. And there are plenty of men whose friends ought to advise them not to stop with incipient side-whiskers, but to cover up as much of their faces as they can.

Too Many White Collar Boys for Country's Good

B.C. Premier Arrived to Take Up His New Duties, Wearing Home-Knit Red Mitts.

When the British Columbia legislature opened in January, 1906, one bewhiskered member arrived from the country wearing heavy home-knit red mitts.

A newspaper writer named McConnell, who had recently left Toronto Saturday Night to try his fortune on the coast, saw in the mitts a subject for a newspaper yarn. So he supplied to the Vancouver World a humorous sketch not devoid of ridicule running into half a column.

The item was widely reprinted, but it had no effect on the member, who continued to "sport" the red mitts throughout the session. Even when the returning sun had taken the chill out of the ocean breeze the M.L.A. might be seen hurrying along to the House with the mitts sticking out of his pocket.

He has gone a considerable distance in the politics of his province since the 1906 session—he is now the Hon. John Oliver, prime minister—but he is as little influenced by the mandates of fashion now as when he first entered the House.

Speaking in Hamilton while on a tour of Ontario this winter, the Hon. John declared that there were too many white collar boys for the good of the country. He had, he said, dug ditches with a Chinaman working on each side of him and would not object to doing it again.

One of the Kitchener travelers declares he can't sleep at home unless they throw cinders in his face and rock the bed.—Kitchener Record.

Vain as a Little Child is Enver Pasha About His Pencil Sketches of People

His Portraits Incredibly Bad—But Arrogance Is Pleasing to Him—Liberal in His Opinions About Women—Three Dominating Characteristics are Bravery, Hauteur, Recklessness.

The latest worshiper of Napoleon is Enver Pasha. Louise Bryant, a distinguished American correspondent in Moscow, says that "his only hero is Napoleon." A friend of Enver's for a number of years, she has included him in intimate sketches of the leaders of the Russian Revolution in her new book, "The Mirrors of Moscow."

"Enver has a passion for making pencil sketches of people he meets," she writes, "and always goes about with a pencil and a pad of paper in his pocket. In the house where we lived he made sketches of all the guests and all the servants. He made, in all, six very uninteresting portraits of me."

"One morning when the tea was more tasteless than ever and the bread especially sour and muddy so that I felt I could not manage to eat a single bite, I could not help feeling unpleasantly resentful to see Enver busy with his sketches and full of enthusiasm. And while I sat staring at the terrible meal, he proceeded to make a life-size portrait of me which was incredibly bad. I remember that I wondered where on earth he ever got such a large piece of paper in Russia.

"When he had finished the sketch he signed his name with a flourish and presented it to me. I took it but said nothing. Enver has the curiosity of a child, and, after a long silence, he asked me if it was possible that I did not really like it. I said that I thought that he had no talent for drawing. He became suddenly quite angry and said in a low voice, "But do you realize I have signed my name to it?"

"Your name doesn't mean anything on a picture," I explained. "If it was an order for an execution or an advance it would be another matter. You can't make a good drawing by just signing your name to it."

"He frowned and then grew cordial as suddenly as he had grown angry. He rose and bowed to me in a most courtly way. 'You can't imagine,' he said, 'how pleasant arrogance is to me.' His three dominating characteristics being bravery, hauteur and recklessness, he imagined that these motives also guided the actions of his friends.

"He does not drink or smoke and is devoutly religious."

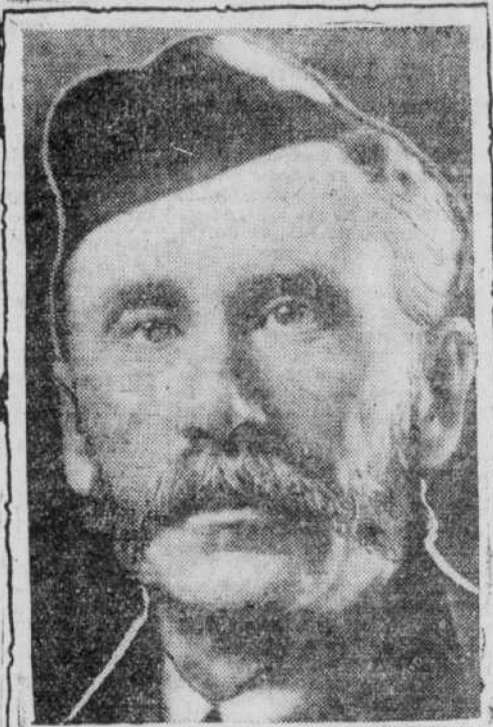

"He likes any discussion which reveals another person's deepest emotions. If he cannot rouse one any other way he does so by some antagonistic remark which often he does not mean at all.

"For example, he is extremely liberal in his opinions about women and does not think that they should be excluded from political life. Nevertheless, he said to a young actress at tea one afternoon in my apartment, when they were talking about woman suffrage, that she would be better off in a harem. Being an ardent feminist, she rose and fairly shouted at him: 'Enver Pasha, you may be a great man in the East, but just listen to me! I am one of the first actresses of my profession. In my world it is every bit as great and important for me to remain an actress as it is for you in your world to remain a warrior or a diplomat.'

"Enver took his scolding in very good humor. Afterwards he told me that he had never liked this actress before. 'Independence is a great thing in women. Our women lack it and many of them are just puppets on this account.'

back in the nineteenth century again so far as masculine hirsutal foliage is concerned.

The side-burn is with us once again. It has existed, more or less sparsely, of course, for some months past; since, and even before, the languishing Mr. Valentino pointed the way for us. But now the vogue has been set by the glass of fashion and the mold of form by no less potent arbiters than King Alfonso of Spain and the Prince of Wales.

WAS NOT PAYING FINES FOR SNOW ON HIS SIDEWALK

PROF. A. E. LANG, the genial librarian at Victoria College, Toronto, has had the unique experience for a professor of having been summoned to appear in police court on a charge of having neglected to keep his sidewalks clear of snow. His neighbor, Dean Pakenham, who had received a similar summons, called him up in some agitation to know what they should do about it. "Can't we settle this out of court?" asked the dean. "We can't go down there."

"Well," said Prof. Lang, "I'm going down. Arrived at the city hall, a big policeman directed the professor where to go to pay his fine. "Fine, nothing," demurred Mr. Lang. "I'm not paying any fine. I've come down here to see this thing through. I want to see the magistrate."

When the case against him had been stated, Prof. Lang in defense explained that he had cleared his sidewalks of snow that very morning before going to a lecture, and that the snow of which the policeman had complained had fallen in the interval. The magistrate in those days was Judge Kingsford, who had a reputation for being rather hard on transgressors. However, when he heard the Victoria professor's defense, he merely remarked: "No man could be expected to do more than that," and dismissed the case. Before he left the courtroom, Professor Lang, who had been amused to see a number of his friends occupying the back benches, had the fun of hearing the crier announce in stentorian tones: "The following have settled out of court—William Pakenham, etc." So that while Mr. Lang went blithely on his way Dean Pakenham had a charge registered against him and a fine of two dollars to pay.

HAPPY MEDIUM FOR SKIRTS

MR. HARVEY, the American ambassador, is nothing if not witty.

Over in the States a hot discussion has been in progress regarding the length of women's skirts; or, to be strictly accurate, their lack of length.

During his recent flying visit to Washington, Mr. Harvey was interviewed by a deputation of austere, middle-aged ladies. They were, they explained, against short skirts, and they sought to elicit from him an expression of opinion favorable to their views.

But Mr. Harvey was non-committal. He reflected gravely for several seconds. Then he delivered his verdict.

"A lady's skirt," said he, "should be like an after-dinner speech—long enough to cover the subject, but short enough to be interesting."

Whole Fishing Fleet Admires F. W. Wallace

Canadian Writer of Sea Stories Slept Fifteen Days on Hardwood Locker Without Mattress.

FREDERICK WILLIAM WALLACE, the great Canadian writer of sea stories and incidentally, the organizer of the Canadian fishing industry through the years which brought it into being as an economic and political entity, is noted, as they say along the coast, more for the feat which is recounted here than for all his writing, navigating and public work.

This is the time when he went to the Banks on a winter voyage, and slept the whole fifteen days on a hardwood locker without a mattress or pillow.

The vessel he had come down to join had a full crew of men and no spare bunks. The skipper advised Wallace not to make the trip, but to wait and join another vessel. Wallace had made up his mind, however, and accordingly threw his kit and oilskins aboard.

They put into Westport, Brier Island, for shelter, after leaving port, and the skipper and Wallace scouted around for a mattress there, but to no avail. Again the captain advised him to give up the voyage, and again he refused.

In Wallace's own words: "It was pretty to go at first for a spare man with no excess padding anywhere, but eventually I got so used to sleeping on that hardwood bench that Osemoors failed to enthuse. A coil of tarred buoy-line made an excellent pillow, even though one got up in the morning with the imprint of rope across one's face. And what made me prouder than anything, was the fact that the old hooker couldn't throw me off that wooden ledge no matter how she buck-jumped in the big seas."

When Wallace left the packet for home, the whole fleet had heard of his voyage, and he was greeted by hard-shelled sailormen with positive admiration, as "the guy that went to Brown's Banks bunking on a cabin locker without a mattress or a pillow."

So is fame acquired among Banks fishermen, but Wallace remarks that all the same, "a straw tick is mighty comforting!"

PRINCESS MARY'S DOCTOR IS PARTICULARLY SHY

MR. HENRY SIMSON, the prominent English physician, who attended on Princess Mary at the birth of her son, is perhaps the most eminent man in his own branch of the medical profession in England to-day.

"As the husband of that really great actress, Miss Lena Ashwell, who left the stage all too soon," says a distinguished English journalist, "I met him on many occasions at theatrical charities. He always seemed particularly shy and very anxious to hide himself in the shadow of Miss Ashwell."

"I once heard a lady journalist ask him at the Mansion House whether he thought actresses made good wives. The eminent Mr. Simson blushed. Then he turned pale. "I suppose so," he stammered, "but really I don't know much about these things. You had better ask my wife. She's over there."

GETTING READY FOR EASTER

(To be colored with paints or crayons. Whenever you come to a word spelled in CAPITAL letters use that color.)

SUSIE is sitting on a little BROWN footstool and she wears a pale GREEN dress which has frills and sash of light YELLOW. Her hair is YELLOW, too, but a bit brighter than her dress trimmings. She is fixing her dollies for Easter. Dolly Prim, who is leaning against her BROWN trunk, is insisting that the big floppy PINK (use RED lightly) hat on her little BLUE dresser is more becoming than the LAVENDER (use light PURPLE) bonnet trimmed with ORANGE color (RED and YELLOW mixed) flowers and long GREEN ribbon streamers that Susie holds in her hand. The dresser has PINK knobs.

"I gave that hat to BROWN bear because it matches his BLUE eyes so nicely. Just see him sitting beside it now with his cute little PINK booties on!"
"Oh me, oh my!" cries Dolly Prim. She is fixing her dollies for Easter. She is leaning against her BROWN trunk, is insisting that the big floppy PINK (use RED lightly) hat on her little BLUE dresser is more becoming than the LAVENDER (use light PURPLE) bonnet trimmed with ORANGE color (RED and YELLOW mixed) flowers and long GREEN ribbon streamers that Susie holds in her hand. The dresser has PINK knobs.

"If I were a girl, it would be different." And he winks his BLUE eyes at Susie, who smiles gratefully. "Your tie is RED," says Susie, "and I'll put RED braid on your Easter suit in place of the white." The daffodils stand in a BLUE bowl. The window curtain is LAVENDER. Susie has a big BROWN straw sewing basket with a big RED tomato stuck full of pins in it. There's a big GREEN needle book, too, and a pair of GOLD handled shears (use YELLOW if you haven't GOLD). The wall is SALMON color (use YELLOW with a little bit of RED in it, but use both colors lightly.) The carpet is dark GREEN and the woodwork BROWN. Dolly Prim's shoes and socks are PINK like her cheeks. Sailor Boy wears TAN shoes (BROWN and YELLOW mixed.) Susie's are YELLOW. Her cheeks are PINK. So are Sailor Boy's. The border is light GREEN. You can paint it solid behind the lettering which will be left BLACK.

Uncle Jim's Letter

Dear Corner Family:
Every one has been enjoying the warmer weather, though it is rather hard getting about in the water, soft snow and ice. About the only thing people can do while on the streets is to watch their feet, so they won't fly away. It is not pleasant anywhere, but we must submit to it, for it means the coming of bare ground, the flowers and the return of the birds.
We are pleased to have niece Marion from Western Canada with us today, but I am very sorry, Marion, that there are no more pins for the bird club. I will add your name to the list that is growing all the time, and hope you will look after the birds. Do some of the cousins know if I have the birds Marion mentions? I think we have most of them here. About the cowbird, I found a little story about her in a paper, and I will tell it to you. A naturalist says, "It is amusing to see how cleverly some birds outwit the cowbird when she lays her eggs in their nests." He says that when the egg is found the bird will push it to the bottom of the nest and a new lining is placed above it, so it is not hatched. This, of course does not always happen; if it did there would not be any cowbirds, but it shows that birds study out problems as well as animals. You will find the rules for the contest in today's corner. You must remember them, or cut them out, as I do not want to put them in again. I have sent out all the J.R.C. badges I had, and have written to Mrs. Shaw for more. When they arrive they, too, will go out. Until Monday, best wishes from larks, white-winged blackbird, cowbird, and the red-winged blackbird. Last summer there were four bird nests near our house. We found three white-winged blackbirds' nests down by the railway track last summer. The cowbird is a lazy bird; she tries to steal other birds' nests in which to lay her eggs. OTTAWA ROMPED OFF WITH THIRD GAME OF SERIES

Senators Carried Off the Honors After a Hard Battle, Scoring Winning Goal in Third Period.

(Associated Press Despatch) VANCOUVER, B. C., March 24.—Ottawa Senators took a step ahead of Vancouver Maroons here last night in their Stanley Cup semi-finals. The National Hockey League champions deserved their victory. They reversed the judgment of local fans, formed at last Monday's game, and played better hockey than the locals. The score was Ottawa 3, Vancouver 2, and better combination both in goal-getting and defence won.

The Maroons seemed stale last night in comparison with the Easterners, who strengthened as the game went on and dictated the play in the final period almost entirely. True, it was a gift goal which Neighbor picked off of a clear sky before the final stanza was well away, that won the game. It was scored while most of the players were bunched in the corner, but having got the lead the Senators gave a brilliant exhibition of how to hold it; and not all the speed and cunning of the brilliant Vancouver forwards could equalize. So it is that the odds against Ottawa were considerably lower as the fans trickled home to bed, and Monday's game may see the last hope of Vancouver Maroons to glimmering.

The chief factors in Vancouver's defeat perhaps were that Mackay, their chief goal getter, was not up to standard; and that Skinner, playing splendid hockey as he did, was inclined to be rough and spent too much time on the bench. The factors in Ottawa's success were, in order, namely: Benedict, Broadbent, Neighbor and Boucher. These combined the prevent the sure win which fans had marked down for locals and they gave fans in exchange an exhibition of concerted hockey which brought unstinted applause.

Last night's game was under Western rules and the visitors felt foul once or twice of the rule against packing the defence, but on the whole the game went smoothly. The fourth game of the series will be played here on Monday night.

Summary of game results: Ottawa 3, Vancouver 2. Goals by Benedict, Broadbent, Neighbor, Boucher, Clancy, Hitman.

Football results: Vancouver 5-32, Ottawa 1-05, Broadbent 8-05, Mackay 16-47, Neighbor 2-13.

LENOXVILLE WON THE MAYOR MORRIS TROPHY

Lennoxville Juniors Were Defeated by Sons of Ireland 4 to 3, But Won the Series by 7 to 4.

Starting right in and showing a complete reversal in form from their first appearance in the home-and-home games, the speedy Sons of Ireland completely upset calculations by beating the Lennoxville Juniors by the score of four goals to three at the Minto Rink last night before a capacity house. This was the game of the series for the Mayor Morris Trophy, emblematic of the Junior Championship of Sherbrooke and District. The defeat of the Lennoxville boys was their first of the season and the Irishmen have every reason to feel proud of themselves in accomplishing the feat. As the Lennoxville team won the first game by the score of four to nothing the series ended in favor of Lennoxville seven goals to four.

The brand of hockey was well up to championship standards and the closeness of the score and the game-overcome the four goal lead served to make the battle an interesting one from start to finish. It was not, however, until the closing minutes of the last period that the final score was notched after a furiously fought conflict when Emmett Kenalty and Francis Mitten, on a snappy play of combination, came down the ice, Francis slamming the disc into the net from a couple of feet out. Though the Sons of Ireland deserved their victory, showing more aggressiveness and better finish in their work that their over confident opponents, the defeat was a hard one for the Lennoxville boys. They had started off at a terrific clip and when the first period was over they were standing two goals up, but they fell down completely before the harsh onslaught of the Irishmen who rammed in three counters while they could only locate the net once. With the last period to play, and the score tied, the Irishmen came out resolved to win. They worked hard and showed their shifty opponents that they had already come from behind to tie and were determined to get the winning goal.

The first stanza was productive of good hockey. Both teams showed plenty of fight, the Irishmen paying strict attention to Howard Grant and Clayton Sterling while they themselves managed to break away quite often. Young Towne finally gave the house something to enthuse over when he shot from well out and the puck bounced and rebounded finally beating Stoyles. The Lennoxville boys spurred on by this success attacked vigorously and Sterling notched another counter just before the whistle blew.

In the second period, the Irishmen showed a decided change in their tactics. Kenalty, Mitten and Hebert figuring prominently in attack after attack on the Lennoxville goal. Some brilliant hockey was seen in this period and the Lennoxville boys were called upon to play as they never had done before. Finally Kenalty scored on a pass from Mitten to the delight of the Irishmen's supporters. Scarcely had the cheering died away than the same pair, working like fiends, found their way again into the Lennoxville defence and Mitten scored. Howard Grant, Sterling and Arnold each performed in turn, showing excellent stick-handling and combination, but their efforts were all in vain. Again Mitten gave the Irish followers a chance to give vent to their feelings when he scored a beautiful goal after a lone rush down the left wing. This seemed to enervate the pace and the Villagers sprang into the attack, Sterling scoring on a shot which Stoyles partially cleared.

In the final period the Irishmen started out at a fast clip and maintained the pace throughout the period. The Irishmen were truly playing their best and were cleverly out-playing the Lennoxville boys who seemed to lack the dash they had shown in former games. While Lennoxville failed to score in this session, they certainly missed some golden opportunities and were finally forced to acknowledge defeat when Mitten beat Bennett for his third counter of the evening. In winning this game, Sons of Ireland have accomplished something that has only been done once in three years on Lennoxville ice. Hughie O'Donnell handled the game in a very impartial manner. Upon conclusion of the game, the players and officials of both teams congregated at centre ice when Mr. Wm. Breckenridge, President of the League, handed over the Mayor Morris Trophy to Mr. McMurray, President of the Lennoxville Club. The teams lined-up as follows: Sons of Ireland: Bennett, Goal; Stoyles, R. Grant; Defence: Kenalty, Towne; Forward: Almond, H. Grant; Forward: Mitten, Sterling; Forward: Hebert, Arnold; Forward: Thibault, McMurray; Subs.: Petrie, Giroux. Referee—Mr. H. O'Donnell.

SPORTING NOTES AMATEUR WRESTLING CHAMPIONSHIPS WINNIPEG, Man., March 24.—Only one championship was decided at the National Amateur Wrestling and Boxing Championships here last night, Thomas H. The bouts will continue on Monday.

CANADA'S PLANS FOR THE OLYMPIC GAMES IN 1924

Programme Is Outlined—Special Olympic Trials Will Be Arranged.

(Associated Press Despatch) WINNIPEG, March 24.—Canada will be represented at the Olympic games to be held in Paris in 1924 in ice hockey, speed skating, figure skating, skiing races and jumping, track and field events, rowing, lawn tennis, swimming, boxing, gymnastics, cycling and wrestling, it was suggested at the meeting of the Canadian Olympic held here yesterday. The committee will not necessarily send representatives in all these various sports, unless sufficient merit is shown by the competitors to entitle them to a chance at the Olympic. Entries for the competitions must be made through the Canadian Olympic Committee.

A recommendation from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association that the Toronto Granites, Canadian amateur champions, represent the Dominion in the hockey events to be staged at St. Moritz, in the French Alps, between February 2nd and 10th, 1924, was accepted, provided the same decision holds at the fall meeting of the C. A. H. A. It was decided to ask the Amateur Athletic Club of Canada to grant a sanction to the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto for competitions in gymnastics, the same to be held on their sports day in September.

At the request of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Union, it was decided to apply to the International Olympic committee to have Canada's National game included in the official Olympic programme. In this connection it was said that more lacrosse was played in Australia than in Canada.

Special Olympic trials will be arranged for wrestling, from which the winner showing prominence will be selected to represent the Dominion. All provincial associations will be asked to hold elimination trials in track and field events, to be followed by eastern and western meets. The suggestion from Manitoba that special Olympic days be observed through the Dominion, in connection with Provincial tests, was favorably received.

It was officially stated that no coach to the Olympic team had been appointed, the matter never having been formally discussed.

The general committee includes A. W. Cory, St. John; John Degruyck, Toronto; A. Murphy, Fort William; Captain Maple, Ottawa; and C. E. Racine, Montreal, allied members and delegates at large, including representatives of each body affiliated with the A. A. U. of C. This committee was empowered to appoint an executive of select committee of five, who will organize sub-committees thoroughly representative of the whole of Canada, to assist in the work now delegated to the executive or select committee and will be responsible finally to the general committee.

J. H. Crocker, Y.M.C.A., Toronto, will have charge of the track and field sub-committee, each branch being asked to nominate a representative on this committee. Chairman P. J. Mulqueen, Toronto, and W. E. Findlay, Montreal, will go into the question of transportation. It was further urged that the various branches organize their own provincial committees, working in conjunction with the general committee.

PROTESTANT COMMITTEE IS TO MEET HERE

Spring Session Will Be Held in Sherbrooke on May 25—Text Book Report Was Adopted—School Holidays Unchanged—Aid for School Libraries.

(Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, March 24.—(Special) The Protestant Committee of the Council of Public Instruction will hold its spring meeting in Sherbrooke. The date will be Friday, March 25th, as decided at a meeting of the committee held in Montreal yesterday. The coming meeting in Sherbrooke will, it is believed, be the first ever held outside of Montreal or Quebec.

School Holidays. The proposals relative to school holidays which came before yesterday's session were not adopted. The regulations relative to school holidays therefore, remain unchanged. A change was made, however, with regard to the date of the annual June examinations. These at present start on Monday, the 12th, or on the first Monday following the 12th. This year they begin on the 18th.

The change is that in future they will start on the 16th unless this date falls on a Saturday or Sunday in which case they will start on the following Monday.

Text Book Report Adopted. The report of the Text Book Committee was adopted. The changes will go into effect next fall. The list of text books and course of study were accompanied by a report in which the text book sub-committee said:

"The aim of our Sub-Committee has been to make changes only where these are desirable and necessary, particularly in such subjects as English, French and Latin where the texts for reading should not be used for a longer period than four years at the outside. Yet even in these subjects much of the old matter (indeed the greater part of it) has been retained. "It has also been the aim of our Sub-Committee to enrich and strengthen the course in so far as this could be done without imposing to great a burden on the pupils. "The changes that call for notice are as follows:

In English. "The work in this subject has been slightly increased by the addition of more reading matter in practically every grade. This will account in part for our recommendation for the authorization of the following text books in this subject: "The Golden Staircase Poetry Books," Part 1 and 2. "Tales of Romance." "Tales of the Round Table." "Selections from Dickens and Ruskin." "Narrative and Lyric Poems," second series. "Treasure Island." "The Deserted Village." "The Merchant of Venice." "Macbeth." "Richard II." "Selected English Short Stories," first series. Gage's "Selections of Prose and Poetry." "Henry Esmond." "Selected English Essays." "About half of these are replacements; the others are additions. "The several parts of Renouf's Easy Exercises in English have been used in the Montreal schools for some time, and it is now proposed to authorize them for the whole Province. These text-books will take the place of the grammar and composition which has hitherto been in use and will mean a saving for the pupils in at least five grades which will quite make up for the extra cost of the new text-books added to the course in English as already stated.

In History. "It is proposed to introduce the teaching of World History in Grades X and XI instead of continuing the study of Canadian History beyond Grade IX. West's 'World Progress' is recommended as the most suitable text-book, covering the ground which we have been able to find.

In Geography. "The Elementary School Geography which is now in use is not considered satisfactory, but the publishers have agreed to bring up to date by inserting new European maps and by revising the textual matter referring to European countries, which has to be changed as a result of the Great War. In view of the fact that there are no suitable elementary school geographies published in Canada, your Sub-Committee thought it well to continue the one at present in use, with the necessary revisions, rather than authorize another which would not be as good, and also because of the fact that the Ginn Publishing Company are now engaged in writing a Canadian Geography along modern lines, following the plan of the Frye-Atwood Series at present widely used in the United States. The new geography will be written from the Canadian point of view as the Frye-Atwood was from that of the United States, and will only be recommended for authorization after it has been thoroughly examined, and approved by expert authorities. In the meantime, pupils who have to purchase a new text-book in this subject will be able to purchase the one now in use revised and brought up to date for the same price as before, and those who still have the old book will be supplied with the revised matter (maps and texts) either free of charge or for a trifling figure. "In the first two grades of the high school course we recommend for authorization Cornish's Canadian School Geography published by Dent & Sons. This Geography is written on modern lines and is well adapted for the grades in question one and perhaps both of the grades which follow in the next two years and may thus replace Tarr's Physical Geography which is now used in these grades. "On account, chiefly, of the price of the arithmetic at present authorized which has been increased from 70 cents to 88 cents, your Sub-Committee do not recommend its continuance, especially as there are other text-books which they consider better adapted for our purpose. They, therefore, recommend the adoption of the Public School Arithmetic compiled by Smith & Roberts for use in the lower grades and the Dominion High School Arithmetic in Grades VIII and IX. In order that pupils will not be obliged to buy a new text-book in this subject in all grades, it is proposed to introduce them this year in Grades IV and V only, thus making provision for the working out of the other text-books in the course of time. "In this subject it is proposed to bring about uniformity between the Montreal and suburban schools and those outside by allowing the introduction of Curtis & Robert, Part I in Grade III, as in the city schools, and authorizing Part II as well as Part I in Grade IV in cases where Part I had not been covered in the preceding year and so working up through the different grades until at the end of two years all schools will complete Part VI in Grade VIII. In Grades IX, X and XI, four new text-books have been introduced, namely, "Cricquette," "Le Tresor du Vieux Seigneur," "Les Braves Gens," and "Les Quatre Contes Choisis," these being better adapted for the teaching of French by the direct method than those which are now used. "It is proposed to substitute Virgil's Aeneid, Book 11 for Book 1 in Grade XI for the session 1924-25, and to add two or three of the "Lives of Cornelius Nepos." As a preparation for this the whole of the prescribed work in Caesar will be read in Grade X next year. "With the exception of the new Elementary Geography, revised, which is recommended for authorization for two years only, and certain text-books which are being continued only till worked out and replaced by new ones, all the text-books named in the printed list, except "Lectures Faciles" which is there in error, are recommended for authorization for a period of four years. "The following recommendations were also adopted: "In connection with the work of our superior schools, your Sub-Committee, believing that every encouragement should be given to the teach-

BELIEVED MAN HAS SCORE OF WIVES LIVING

(Associated Press Despatch) WILKESBARRE, Mar. 24.—Charles W. Davis, alias Taylor, aged seventy-three years, veteran Luthario, held here on a technical charge of larceny, has not less than eight wives now living, according to reports received by county and city authorities. Police officials are inclined to believe that the number will have mounted to a score by the time all sections of the country are heard from. Pictures of the much wedded man have been prepared by the state police and are being distributed in all sections of the country in order to check up on his activities in the various places in which he has been located. He is known to have corresponded with dozens of women and all of the marriages concerning which the police have definite knowledge were the result of correspondence developing from a matrimonial bureau agency. Following a publication of the unusual circumstances concerning his arrest, which came about after he returned to this city to marry his own wife, thinking her to be another woman, letters began to pour into police headquarters from all parts of the east. Davis was arrested here when he returned to Wilkesbarre last Saturday to marry Mrs. Emma Seeger, his wife whom he deserted, and who later advertised through a matrimonial agency, using her maiden name, with which he was not familiar.

"We beg to recommend also that the revision for each quadrennial period be completed and published one year before the new course will go into effect so that all parties concerned may have ample notice of impending changes.

WATERLOO NEWS AND PERSONALS OF INTEREST

Reports of Meetings and General News of Interest from Waterloo and District.

WATERLOO, March 24.—Mrs. Newell, who has been with friends in Granby for the past month, returned to town on Saturday. Mr. Leonard Moore, of Sherbrooke, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Miller.

The members of the Methodist Church choir were very pleasantly entertained at the home of the Rev. Mr. Howitt and Mrs. Howitt on Tuesday evening. Miss Graves, the organist and leader, is preparing special music for the Easter service. Among the selections are, "They Have Taken Away my Lord," by Stainer, and "I know that my Redeemer Liveth." At the close of the practice, delicious refreshments were served and a social hour was spent.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was entertained at the home of Mrs. Nutting on Tuesday afternoon with a fair attendance. The president, Mrs. E. A. Savage, presided and the usual devotional exercises opened the meeting. Among the items of business was the arranging for the lecture which is to be given by the Rev. W. I. Pierce, of Granby, in the Methodist Church on Monday, March 26th. On motion it was decided to circulate a petition, to be presented to the mayor and councillors, asking that permission for further boxing matches be not granted, believing that they have a demoralizing influence, particularly upon the young.

The special subject for the afternoon's consideration was "the drug evil" and a number of interesting readings and clippings relative to the subject were read, among which was a very able article from Mrs. Judge Murphy, "Janie Canuck," and read by Mrs. A. C. Miller. At the conclusion of business a social half-hour was spent when the hostesses served a very refreshing cup of tea.

The butter market was steady with a tendency towards lower prices and choice dairy sold at fifty cents a pound while the best creamery sold two and three cents a pound higher.

In the vegetable market, supplies were plentiful but prices displayed little tendency to fluctuate.

A year ago hay sold in this market at $28.00 to $29.00 per ton in car lots ex-track or over double the price it brings today, while in New York it was ago No. 2 Timothy only brought $25 to $26.

DAIRY PRODUCE

Montreal, March 24. BUTTER.—The tone of the market was firmer and prices recovered 1-2c per lb. of the decline noted on Tuesday which was attributed to an increased demand from both local and outside buyers for small lots and the fact that stocks in first hands on spot were light.

Definition of Dry Cleaning

Dry Cleaning of fabric means cleaning by solvents free from water, such as gasoline, benzine, naphtha, benzol, chloroform, ether etc. These solvents do not affect the fibre, will remove soil held in leash by oils, and also kill all germs thereby improving sanitary conditions.

Garments cleaned in any of these solvents, though immersed in them retain their form in every way, whereas the same garments immersed in water lose their fit and form at once.

We have the only Dry Cleaning plant in the Province outside of Montreal and Quebec Cities.

LENTEN SERVICE HELD THURSDAY AT COWANSVILLE

Sermon Given on "The Alchemy of Influence," by the Rector.

COWANSVILLE, March 24.—As usual, the Lenten service was held in Trinity Church on Thursday evening. The slides which were expected to illustrate the lesson for some reason did not arrive, and as substitute the rector read one of the sermons by Dr. Drummond, of Scotland, entitled "The Alchemy of Influence." "We become like those whom we habitually admire, all men are mosaics of others, therefore if we desire to develop the highest and best in our nature we must cultivate an admiration for it and seek the companionship of those possessing the best gifts, for it is a well-known fact that, under certain influences we are at our best. If this be true of earthly companionships, what bounds can be set to the influence of Christ. We see the disciples so transformed that their companions are led to exclaim, "They have been with Jesus." Friendship is a spiritual thing. What we admire is not what we see, but the qualities of mind and heart. This is proven by the influence which extends into eternity after the body has passed away. A few minutes each day spent face to face with the spirit of Christ will transform His humblest follower into a person of far-reaching beneficial influence."

General Notes.
There is a great demand for houses which will grow greater if the Premier Silk Mills extend their plant, which they would like to do if satisfactory arrangements can be made. A Building Society has been formed and the prospects are that a number of houses will be built this summer. At the present time the silk company is sending it goods to St. Catharines, Ont., to be dyed, and they would like to erect a plant for this purpose here.

MAY ADD LAND TO NORTH END OF ST. JOHNS

Meeting Was Held to Discuss Annexation Problems.

ST. JOHNS, Que., Mar. 24.—A meeting was held in the city hall on March 15th to discuss the proposed annexation by the city of some one hundred and twenty acres to the north end of the city. Mr. Morin, Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs was present.

The meeting was not very largely attended, the Mayor and Councillors Bousais, Rheume, Racicot, Perrier and Cloutier, with Jacques Cartier, Advocate, representing the city; Messrs. Stanislas Poulin and Geo. Savoy the Board of Trade and Mayor

D. Hebert and the farmers whose property would figure in the annexation, represented the parish and the owners of the property.

Mr. Cartier presented the case for the city, outlining the reason why it was necessary to extend the city limits in that direction, the sewer running through Jackwood Creek, partly in the present city limits, and partly in the parish, would then come under the city entirely, and as a matter of hygiene was necessary, also that the city had no district in which to extend in the residential building line, and in order to prevent buildings being erected on the land which would be required for the promulgation of the streets which would be necessary some time when the limits would have to be extended, it was desirable that annexation should be sanctioned at the present time. Other reasons were also advanced, and supported by the speakers.

On the other side the Mayor of the parish opposed the annexation of parish lands to the city, and the occupants of the land at present, declared that they were farmers pure and simple and the taking of the land would put them out of business.

The Deputy took a hand in the discussion, asking many questions, pro and con, and advised those present that he would take the matter under consideration, but also advising them that it would be to their mutual advantage to try and come to some understanding before he gave his decision.
