NAZI BALTIC PORT GIVEN HEAVY BOMBARDMENT

Canadians Play Large Part In Latest Attacks

Smashing Night Attack on Rostock, Nazi Supply Port for the Finnish Front, Seen as Effort to Halt Flow of Munitions and Supplies to German Forces Battling Along Northern Sectors.

By ALAN RANDAL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
London, April 24.—(C. P. Cable)—Canadians helped the R.A.F. sow a whirlwind of bombs and blazing flames in a smashing night attack on Rostock, Nazi supply base for the Finnish front, it was revealed today.

Officials said that returning Canadians, part of R.A.F. formations, reported Rostock was "really blasted."

Authorities professed to see a tie-up between Rostock and the raid on Luebeck March 28 in which Canadians participated, as both are key points in the Nazi supply system. However, the authorities were loath, on the basis of preliminary reports, to term the night's attack as severe as the Luebeck operation.

"All we could see of Rostock was a square of fire as we headed home," said a Canadian. "The town was lit up from end to end. The flames were visible for sixty miles."

"Greyish smoke rolling up from the fires of Rostock was insufficient to blot out the town completely," said Sgt. R. W. Taylor, Victoria, B.C., navigator aboard a Whitley bomber.

Sgt. F. C. Annand, Milford Station, N.S., wireless operator-air gunner, saw the flaming city through the flare chute as he passed over the port on the bombing run.

Sgt. R. J. Heather, Toronto, navigator, described the river's reflection of the flames from the ack-ack guns. He said "the flashes from our bombs were outlined for a few seconds in the flames before they were swallowed up in great fires."

The Germans had been reported sending streams of war supplies from Rostock to the Russian-Finnish front.

"Four of our aircraft are missing," the Ministry reported.

The attack was "heavy and quite successful," authorities said.

British observers were quick to link the thrust with the mass assault March 28 on Luebeck which, like Rostock, is a vital base in Germany's war transportation routes.

Rostock lies between Luebeck and Stettin, another major Baltic supply port which has been a target of the R.A.F. offensive aimed at doing all possible to aid Soviet Russia.

A shipbuilding and seaplane factory centre as well as a supply base, it is situated on the estuary of the Warnow river eight miles from Warnemunde, a seaplane base. It is linked with Denmark by a train ferry.

Two German bombers were shot down over Britain in the night. A Dornier crashed in flames in an iso-

SOVIET NURSES NOW USING PARACHUTES

Berne, April 24.—(P)—The latest development on the Russian war front is a specially-trained parachute corps of Soviet Red Cross nurses.

The Berne newspaper Der Bund printed a photograph today of nine members of the corps, equipped with parachutes and first aid cases. Their function, a caption said, is to bring aid to wounded in difficult terrain where normal means of communication might prove too slow.

It said a considerable number of nurses had been trained for the work.

Germans Transfer Finnish Divisions To Kalinin Area

Russian Newspaper Declares that Russian Forces Have Captured "The Golden Range," a Menacing German Stronghold in the Crimea—Thawing Snows of Reoccupied Territories Yielding Huge Booty.

By EDDY GILMORE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Kuibyshev, Russia, April 24.—(P)—Red Star said today Russian forces had captured "The Golden Range," a menacing German stronghold in the Crimea, but there were reports that some Finns had moved South to bolster Nazi divisions on the Kalinin front.

The Golden Range, not specifically located in the Soviet zone, was said to have been taken after four days of sharp fighting. The Germans lost 300 killed, several big guns, fifty machine guns and dozens of trench mortars, said Red Star, the Russian army newspaper.

The Germans were said to have routed the Russians once from freshly-captured positions before finally capitulating.

On the Southwest front Red Army men found ten big guns and additional small arms abandoned with melting of the snows. Others encountered the grotesquely-frozen body of a German guard who wore a woman's garb over his uniform and his two Iron Crosses. Behind him was an ammunition dump of 12,000 shells.

(German) sent many women's coats to the Eastern front during the winter.

The Moscow radio broadcast a Pravda editorial saying:

"Deep snow that hindered the advance of our troops is melting in the sun. Conditions for an increase in the scope of our attacks as well as for guerrilla activity are becoming more favorable. The Red Army,

NETHERLANDERS NAZI HEADACHE

London, April 24.—(P)—Thirteen Netherlands have been shot within the past week for anti-Nazi offences in German-occupied Holland, and all Jews have been removed from coastal areas, the Free Dutch newspaper Vrij Nederland said today.

The newspaper quoted thirteen young Netherlands who escaped across the Channel to Britain to join the R.A.F.

"The Netherlands is a headache to the Germans," one youth was quoted as saying.

"Everyone except a few Netherlands Nazis plays a part in trying to upset the German war machine. Even the black market is organized on 'Robin Hood' lines—the poor get goods at bargain prices and patronage of the gigantic black market organization is regarded as patriotic because it disrupts the official market plan."

CHURCHILL BACKS MARSHALL

London, April 24.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill has received a message from President Roosevelt that he agreed with all the conclusions reached by U.S. Chief of Staff Gen. George Marshall, after his visit to Britain, an informed source said today.

CLAIMS ALLIED FLIERS BETTER THAN JAPANESE

Co-Founder of American Volunteer Group Reviews Observations of Fighting in Far Eastern Areas.

Cairo, April 24.—(P)—If the United Nations can get one-third as many planes as the Japanese into action in vital theatres of the Pacific, they "can knock them right out of the air and hamper if not stop altogether their land advances," William D. Pawley, co-founder of the American Volunteer Group now fighting in Burma, said today.

He emphasized, however, that a steady flow of replacements and spare parts is essential in any circumstances.

Pawley, who erected the first American airplane factories in China and India as founder-President of International Aviation, is en route to the United States. He expects to return to India in several months.

From observations, Pawley said the average Japanese fighter pilot is distinctly inferior to United Nations fliers, but Japanese bomber pilots with four and eight years practice in China are excellent.

Chinese fliers, when sufficiently trained, are more than a match for the Japanese, he added.

He said he had not as yet seen any Japanese planes comparable to those turned out by Britain and the United States.

Turning to the situation in India, Pawley said:

"It is inconceivable to me that the Japanese will make the mistake of trying to invade India. If they do I am convinced the Indian people will put up much greater resistance than is believed possible almost anywhere. I think the Indian contribution to the war effort from both a military and productive standpoint is much greater than generally realized."

Russian Stand May Bring Allied Victory By Winter Beaverbrook Says In Demanding Second Front

New York, April 24.—(P)—By holding the Germans in check, "possibly even by defeating them," the Russians may be the means of bringing down the whole Axis structure, says Lord Beaverbrook, Britain's former Minister of Production.

"Russia may settle the war for us in 1942," Lord Beaverbrook declared last night before the annual dinner of the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Calling for a great offensive by Britain in the West, he said: "This is a chance, an opportunity to bring the war to an end here and now. But if the Russians are defeated and driven out of the war, never will such a chance come to us again."

"Strike out to help Russia. Strike out violently. Strike even recklessly, but in any event such blows that real help will be our share and contribution to the Russian battlefront."

The British publisher, who recently left Prime Minister Churchill's Cabinet to come to the United States on a Government mission, said that he believed in the Russian theory that the best form of defence is attack.

Lord Beaverbrook made no effort to minimize the misfortunes Britain has been surviving on her present home front, and he also made an ardent defence of Joseph Stalin and his generals.

"We know that the Russians kill more Germans every day than all the Allies put together," he said. "We know they destroy more enemy tanks, bring down more enemy planes than any of us or all of us. Russia is the fighting front. . . . Com-

New Zealand Accepts Proposals For Creation Of Naval Command

Auckland, New Zealand, April 24.—(C.P. Cable)—Though the New Zealand press and public favored being subject to the jurisdiction of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command—an attitude Prime Minister Peter Fraser has made clear the Government supports—there is general satisfaction at the decision to place the New Zealand area under the command of a United States naval officer.

The New Zealand Herald, in a leading editorial said:

"Though President Roosevelt's decision runs counter to the wishes of the Government, it will be most loyally accepted and most fully supported. The Dominion is deeply sensible of the solemnity and sincerity of the United States promise to use all its immense resources in the defence of these islands."

"The reported appointment of so eminent an officer as Vice-Admiral Robert Ghormley is ample evidence of the naval strength that can be devoted to the South Pacific. Japan can invade these islands only if she can break the protecting naval cordon. If the United States decides New Zealand's defence is primarily a naval task, the argument for a separate naval command is strong, and is now accepted strategy."

United Nations Headquarters, Australia, April 24.—(P)—Prodded by the sight of thousands of untrained men, Americans and Australians alike, aimlessly killing time on Sundays, the Australian Government is about ready to apply a light cheering touch to the traditionally gloomy Sabbath.

The premiers of the six Australian states after a conference with Prime Minister John Curtin announced that Sunday entertainments definitely would be provided the troops.

Each state is to work out its own form of conditions, hours and possibilities. Sunday in a typical Australian city is no day for finding entertainment. There is a complete theatre shutdown and an almost complete restaurant closure.

Maj. Lynn Cowan, U.S. Army Entertainment Director, said: "Despite the protests of clergymen and others, we must remember that this is war, which the boys fight seven days a week. When they are off, they must and will be entertained."

WAR BULLETINS

Santiago, Chile — Moving swiftly after a reported protest by the Brazilian ambassador, the Chilean Government yesterday began prosecution of the "German Newspaper Supplement for Chile" for "a rude attack on the Brazilian Government and people and especially the Brazilian Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha." The Interior Ministry directed police to expel any "foreigners" on the staff of the afternoon propaganda newspaper published in the Spanish language.

Berne — Sofia is virtually without milk, meat and potatoes largely as a result of poor organization of supply facilities, the Swiss Telegraphic Agency reported today from the Bulgarian capital. The agency said the City's Food Commissioner had released three hundred tons of rice in an effort to offset the potato shortage and that milk henceforth would be delivered only to children and to the sick.

Melbourne — The Australian Government authorized today the expenditure of an additional $1,500,000 for air raid precautions work and the six State Governments set aside an equal sum, bringing the total now available to $9,000,000. The Commonwealth Government previously had appropriated $4,500,000 and the States Governments $1,500,000.

NEW MACHINES HAMMER JAPS

Washington, April 24.—(P)—United States forces "are hammering the Japs with autos," Price Administrator Leon Henderson declared in a radio address last night.

"The Japs killed our boys on Bataan with shrapnel scraps some of which were marked with the name of an automobile manufacturer," he said.

Tokyo was bombed a few days ago with steel that might have been used to make 1942 automobiles. We are hammering the Japs with our automobiles—not the scrap from old jalopies, but the new steel that might have been 1943 models."

It was the first statement by a Government official that American bombs had fallen on Tokyo. Thus far the War and Navy Departments have not confirmed Japanese reports of the bombing of Japanese cities last Saturday.

VANIER PRAISES SUPPORT OF CLERGY
Quebec, April 24.—(P)—Brig. Georges P. Vanier, officer commanding Military District No. 5 said in a statement issued yesterday that he wished to thank the clergy of the Province for "the generous and entire co-operation which they accord our recruiting officers."

"It is a proof of their patriotism and they will participate in victory which will give us peace. . . ."

Price Ceiling Policies To Succeed, Ilsley Tells House

Finance Minister Declares that Earlier Doubts About Success of Anti-Inflation Policies Have Disappeared in Face of Results to Date—Ralston Declares "Red Tape" Being Removed From Army.

By FRANK FLAHERTY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Ottawa, April 24.—(P)—With Ministerial assurance that the price ceiling policy is going to succeed and that the army is doing some radical things in the elimination of "red tape" before them, members of the House of Commons took time off today for the closing stages of the plebiscite campaign.

The House adjourned last night and will not sit again until Tuesday after the people have spoken on the question of releasing the Government from pledges restricting its methods of raising men for military service.

Attendance of members was slim yesterday. Many were absent so they could take part in the plebiscite campaign. Those who were in the House heard Finance Minister Ilsley make a statement on subsidies paid under the price ceiling system and Defence Minister Ralston answer numerous questions on army administration.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King promised a statement Tuesday on Canada's relations with the Vichy Government in view of developments resulting from the return of Pierre Laval to power.

The House gave second reading to two important post-war measures, and referred them to special House committees. The measures were the Vocational Training Bill sponsored by Labor Minister Mitchell and Pensioners Minister Mackenzie's measure for a veterans' land settlement scheme designed to care for 25,000 war veterans.

Dealing with the question of subsidies, the House gave second reading to a bill to give final reading today to a bill that would authorize the Provincial Government to agree with the Dominion Government to abandon the income and corporation tax fields for the duration.

The bill was given second reading by a vote of forty-three to eleven yesterday after the House adopted by the same vote the resolutions pertaining to the measure which must be given three readings by the Legislative Council, Provincial Upper House, before it can be sanctioned into law.

Maurice Duplessis, Leader of the Opposition Union Nationale Party, called for a vote on the resolutions and the reading after saying that "it is a mistake" he said, "to admit the Federal has all taxation rights. The Act is not as clear as that. That clause is unnecessary and should be dropped."

He asked what "maximum effort" meant in a clause which stated that "whereas in order to enable Canada to put forth in the prosecution of the war, a maximum effort, it is necessary, that the Parliament of Canada should alone exercise the power of direct taxation upon in-

Japanese Still Seeking To Determine Source Of American Raiding Craft

Declare that Washington Has Not Yet Issued Communique Because It Has No Means of Communicating with Planes Which Attacked Island Last Saturday—Japanese Reported Registering Gains in Burma.

AUTONOMY NOW DEAD ISSUE, SAYS BISHOP

Quebec, April 24.—(P)—Rt. Rev. Philip Carrington, Anglican Bishop of Quebec, told a service club luncheon in a St. George's Day address that "nations who value liberty, law, justice and freedom of religion can no longer today remain isolated."

"The old conception of imperialism has disappeared in this war," Bishop Carrington said, "and today the British Commonwealth constitutes a real League of Nations who believe in the same spiritual values—justice, right and liberty. Autonomy is a dead word. We are all members of a same humanity. . . ."

(By The Canadian Press)
Japan, still puzzled about the "mystery base" from which United States bombers raided Tokyo six days ago, asserted today that Washington had not issued a communique on the assault because "it has no way of communicating with the American warplanes which attacked Japan."

A Japanese spokesman, Tomokazu Hori, said this meant that none of the raiders had returned to their bases.

While Tokyo thus sought to draw information from Washington, Russia announced that one of the American bombers had made a forced landing in the Soviet Maritime Province, facing the Sea of Japan, and had been interned with its crew in compliance with international law.

Russia is still technically at peace with Japan, and Tokyo newspapers stressed that fact along with the hope that friendly relations between the two countries might be strengthened through "Russia's better understanding of the Greater East Asia war."

Tokyo's nervousness over relations with Russia stems in part from the extreme vulnerability of Japan to bombing and submarine attacks based at the Soviet port of Vladivostok, only 680 miles across the Sea of Japan from Tokyo.

So long as Russia and Japan remain at peace, Allied warplanes would be prohibited, legally, from using Vladivostok or other Soviet bases to attack Japan.

In Burma the capture of three key towns by Japan's armies sharpened the crisis for British-Chinese troops today, but British military quarters said British and Indian troops falling back from Taunggyi would be straightened the sagging Allied line "most skillfully."

Japanese forces, bolstered by fresh, rested troops and commanding an overwhelming superiority in planes and tanks, were reported hurling all their strength into the battle in an attempt to break through the Mandalay before the drenching monsoon rains begin in South and Central Burma.

In Australia Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported that Allied warplanes heavily bombed the Japanese base at Rabaul, New Britain, shipping barracks, warehouses and shipping and machine-gunning Japanese troops.

Enemy planes attacked bomb-scarred Port Moresby, Allied base in New Guinea.

Opposition Continues Criticism Of Transfer Of Taxation Rights

Quebec, April 24.—(P)—The Legislative Assembly is scheduled to give final reading today to a bill that would authorize the Provincial Government to agree with the Dominion Government to abandon the income and corporation tax fields for the duration.

Lewis Organizing Drive To Oust Murray From Position With Union

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, April 24.—(P)—Some of the labor movement's best-informed sources are conceding today the inevitability of a showdown between John L. Lewis and his estranged "right arm," Philip Murray, culminating not only in Murray's probable displacement as Vice-President of the United Mine Workers but in an attempt to expel him from membership as well.

Among significant recent developments are these:

1.—Three top officials of the United Mine Workers (C.I.O.) told Murray in a letter the Union would do some "house-cleaning" at its October convention.

2.—The miners continued to withhold per capita tax payments to the C.I.O., which Murray heads, while asking repayment of about $1,660,000 advanced to the C.I.O. in its fledgling days when Lewis was its chief. The overdue per capita tax now totals about $60,000.

3.—C.I.O. officers expressed the opinion the Mine Workers "did not and do not consider" the money advanced for organization purposes as a debt to be repaid in dollars and cents.

The "housecleaning" suggestion is interpreted widely as a threat of expulsion from membership, inasmuch as the miners do not choose their officers at conventions. That is done by referendum, the next of which will be held in December. Moreover, Lewis has the constitutional power to remove Murray from his $18,000-a-year job as Vice-President "for insubordination or just and sufficient cause."

United Mine Workers' sources already are speaking of John O'Leary of Pittsburgh as the next Vice-President.

After the A.F.L.-C.I.O. split four years ago William Green, A.F.L. President, was cited by the Miners' International Executive Board for "disloyal acts and continued opposition to the policies of the United Mine Workers." He did not appear for trial and was expelled for "aiding and abetting an organization dual in purpose and character to the United Mine Workers of America." Green subsequently became a member of the Musicians' Union.

Expulsion of Murray, authoritative sources agree, would mean an organic split between the United Mine Workers and the C.I.O., and hence a third labor movement. The

SERVICE CLUBS MUST WORK FOR NATIONAL UNITY

Guest speaker at the regular supper meeting of the Sherbrooke Y's Men's Club, held at the New Chateau last night, Dr. Rene L. Duberger spoke on the subject of "Service Clubs and National Unity," emphasizing the importance of union in sustaining morale and of morale as a means of winning the war. He pointed out that German undermining of French morale was the main cause of the collapse of France in 1940, and said "Morale will help us to look forward to the time when arms will be changed to wands."

Dr. Duberger said service clubs are important products of North American civilization which emphasizes the necessity of helping one's neighbor, explaining that the work of service clubs in peace time was concerned mainly with civic affairs but that in war-time they take their place with other war services in serving where they can do the most good, whether it be on the fighting front or the home front.

Members of service clubs find happiness in trying to provide it for others and it is the duty of service clubs to work for this happiness, it was pointed out, illustrating his meaning, the speaker told of three masons who were questioned on the work they were doing on a building. The first one could only see that he was cutting stone, the second could only see that he was paid seven dollars a day, but the third was interested in his work and knew that some day a magnificent church would stand as the result of their labor.

The speaker quoted instances of the distrust which some of the people of this country regarded their neighbors and thought that service clubs could do much to remove this distrust, which had been engendered by different temperaments and the historic 500 years of bitterness between France and England.

In this respect the teaching of history in schools was much to blame for keeping that feeling alive, he said. This was what service clubs had to combat, and by creating friendship between English-speaking and French-speaking Canadians would do much for the unity of this province.

Dr. Duberger exhorted all service clubs to a crusade of tolerance, emphasizing the danger of ignorance and apathy. He said that man's duty was to render service to his fellow-man and that though the world owed no man a living it certainly owed every man the opportunity to make a living for himself. Dr. Duberger concluded his talk by reciting Rudyard Kipling's "If," which he had learned under his father's guidance.

Ed. Baylis introduced the speaker and Henry Weinstein extended a vote of thanks on behalf of the club.

Guests at the meeting were J. P. MacLeod and Sam Lipin.

The sing-song was led by Cecil Howitt, with Stan Pearson at the piano. President Wes Bradley conducted the meeting.

REUBEN CLARK SUCCUMBS TO SEVERE BURNS

Bury Man Died in Sherbrooke Hospital Early Today from Body Burns Suffered When He Tumbled into Cauldron of Boiling Water.

Reuben Clark, 49, of Bury, died in the Sherbrooke Hospital early today as a result of severe body burns suffered when he slipped and fell into a vat of boiling water at Clifford Anderson's saw mill at Long Swamp, about five miles from Bury, where he was working, Wednesday morning.

Leonidas Bachand, Coroner for the District of St. Francis, said at noon that an inquest into the death of Clark will be held later today.

Burned up to the neck when he tumbled into a large cauldron, Clark was rushed by car to Cookshire, where Dr. Davidson ordered his removal to the hospital. Clark was in a critical condition since he was admitted to the local institution Wednesday morning.

NEWSY ITEMS

APPOINTMENT DUE THIS WEEK
Appointment of a recorder for the City of Sherbrooke will be made this week by the Provincial Government at Quebec City.

City Council a fortnight ago recommended three Sherbrooke lawyers, Albert Rivard, L. G. Lemay and Armand Rousseau, K.C., for the post left vacant by the recent death of Lionel Forest, who was Recorder since 1919.

BUILDING PERMITS STILL ISSUED
The City Building Department has been hearing rumors circulating to the effect that permits to build no longer will be issued.

"This is definitely not so," said Building Inspector J. O. Chartier today.

Subject only to regulations about licenses for homes over $5,000 and for business and industrial buildings, licenses to build homes and other buildings continue to be issued at the office of the City Building Inspector in City Hall as usual.

TWENTY-TWO CONFIRMED
Twenty-two boys and girls of St. Patrick's Parish were confirmed by Mgr. P. S. Deranclean, Bishop of Sherbrooke, at three o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Patrick's Church.

Mgr. Deranclean was assisted by Rev. Canon N. Codere and Rev. Canon J. C. McGee, Pastor of St. Patrick's Church.

CARS IN COLLISION
Colliding sides of four automobiles involved in two separate accidents were damaged slightly yesterday, police reported today.

Cars driven by Alphonse Laque, 37 Arras Street, and T. Tremblay, 214 King Street West, figured in a collision on King Street West near Wellington Street. Both cars were travelling from East to West on King Street, when the accident occurred.

Ernest H. Gervais, R.M.D. No. 4, reported to police that the car he was operating was in an accident with another auto at the intersection of King and London Streets.

He informed police that he did not know the name of the other driver. Gervais was proceeding from West to East on King Street, while the other machine was turning from London Street onto King Street West at the time of the mishap, according to a police accident report.

lated area, crew members bailed out before the plunge and were captured.

More than a dozen Britons were reported killed in the German attacks, and there was considerable damage to dwellings.

In one Southeast English town five persons, including three fire-watchers, were killed and three were seriously injured. A high explosive bomb which hit an institution in another area killed eight and injured others.

Rostock is understood here to be the home of the Heinkel aircraft works.

It previously was bombed on the night of September 11, 1941, when large fires were started.

Rostock is approximately sixty miles East of Lubeck, another Baltic port which was hard hit by the Royal Air Force March 28 in the peak raid of the spring air offensive. The blows at the Baltic ports were described as designed particularly to break up the German shipment of munitions and other supplies to the Russian-Finnish front.

Situated on the estuary of the Warnow river and connected by rail with Berlin, which is only 108 miles to the South, Rostock is one of the most important commercial ports on the Baltic.

It has been reported busily engaged in the trans-shipment of war materials from the German arms industry and in handling incoming food supplies — mainly from Denmark. The city has a population of about 90,000.

Like Lubeck, forty-five per cent of which was burned out by the R.A.F. raid there, Rostock is a medieval port town.

Pilots returning from the Lubeck raid said the German anti-aircraft batteries apparently shot themselves out of ammunition, leaving the city at the mercy of the last waves of raiders.

The German radio carried a DNB report that a British plane reached the approaches of Berlin but said it dropped no bombs.

On the home front, there was an attack during the night by a small number of aircraft concentrated mainly on coastal sections of South-west England.

The Government said there were some casualties, including a small number of deaths, and some damage.

Two of the invading bombers were destroyed. A Government communiqué announcing destruction of one bomber barely had been issued when authoritative sources said the score had been increased to two.

DEATH TOLL IS RAISED TO SIX IN PLANT BLAST

Another Victim of Waterloo Explosion Succumbs in Montreal

Twenty-year-old Wilfrid Wright, of Fulk, died yesterday afternoon in the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal, raising to six the death toll in the explosion which wrecked the mixing room of Macdonald Chemicals, Ltd., two miles from Waterloo, early Wednesday afternoon.

In addition to Wright, those dead are Rosario Larive, 19, of Granby, Edward Myhill, 31, of Sutton, and Norman Demers, 30, of Sutton, who were killed outright, Charles Max Townsend, 19, of Sutton, who succumbed in the Waterloo City Hall shortly after he was taken there for treatment, and Paul R. Farmer, 28, of Knowlton, who died yesterday morning in hospital.

Still in the Royal Victoria Hospital in a serious condition are Donald Star, 38, of Knowlton, and Paul R. Farmer, 28, of Knowlton, who were injured in the explosion. Both are being treated by Dr. Davidson, who died yesterday morning in hospital.

Admiral generally increased aerial activity, the army publication Red Star said the Russian air force had been supplied new type fighters and bombers and, although the enemy still was not smashed, "We now have everything necessary to win the fight for supremacy of the air."

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said the German-Finnish Allies' Kalinin front thrusts—made in a region where the Nazi 16th Army long has been encircled at Staraya Russa—developed fierce fighting on many sectors.

All the counter attacks were repulsed and the Russians pushed West again to capture another settlement, Pravda said.

Referring to operations on one sector, the Soviet Information Bureau said the Russians had repelled several counter-attacks, and "the Germans lost in killed alone 1,200 men and officers."

Speaking of the zone between the Kalinin and the Svir River fronts, the Soviet Information Bureau said: "Our units operating on separate sectors of the Leningrad front in two days of fighting killed more than 1,400 German officers and men. They destroyed twelve enemy blockhouses."

DAILY ATTACKS ON RABAU CONTINUING

United Nations Headquarters, April 24.—Allied planes continued their almost daily attacks on Rabaul, New Britain, by blasting shipping, barracks and warehouses at that Japanese base again yesterday, United Nations headquarters announced today.

The raiders swooped low to machine-gun Japanese forces on the ground, a communiqué said.

The bulletin said the Japanese made three bombing attacks yesterday on Port Moresby, New Guinea. Damage was negligible.

Eight bombers, escorted by fighters, participated in the first raid on Port Moresby about 10 a.m., the communiqué said. The second attack, an hour and one-half later, was carried out by three fighters and the third, in mid-afternoon, by two fighters.

Four Japanese Zero fighters attempted to intercept the Allied raiders, which attacked Rabaul, but failed to divert them from the target, the bulletin added.

Reporting on the situation in the Philippines, headquarters announced that Japanese infantry, reinforced by artillery and tanks, had effected new landings at Iloilo, Capiz and Antique in the Visayan group.

"Our forces are still engaged in delaying action," the communiqué said.

Corregidor fortress was reported under intermittent fire from Japanese batteries, to which it was replying with its big guns. Sporadic patrol action is continuing in Mindanao, headquarters said.

Price Ceiling

sidies, Mr. Healey said "This policy (the price ceiling) is a test of the capacity of this democracy to organize and discipline itself in such a way as to wage total war on the economic front."

"I had many misgivings at the outset as to whether we could succeed. I now believe we can and will. We can only do so, however, if Parliament approaches its task of criticism in the proper spirit."

In five months, Mr. Healey said, the Government had paid out $2,128,881 in subsidies to prevent price increases in certain commodities. The subsidies benefited consumers and not producers or dealers. The largest item was $1,387,630 on milk. Footwear subsidies totalled $584,355 and leather garments $2,777. All these were paid on domestic goods.

A total of $18,219 was paid on imported goods, the largest single item being $70,297 on grapefruit juice.

The subsidies, said the Finance Minister, were an integral part of the price control system. In some cases they were paid under constant review and efforts were being made to get away from them by standardization and simplification, to reduce costs. A tentative estimate of $50,000,000 had been made of the cost of subsidies this fiscal year.

Mr. Healey said the Government was convinced that it was necessary to keep a firm hand on prices if the ceiling system was to succeed. It was quite willing to see some non-essential commodities go off the market entirely rather than allow price increases or payment of subsidies on them.

Col. Ralston spoke about "red tape" in the army after Howard Green (Cons., Vancouver-South), supplied instances of officers being kept waiting for weeks for approval of transfers. The Minister said he knew of cases much worse than those Mr. Green cited.

"Slowly but persistently I think we are improving in this respect," he said. "Some of the most radical things have been done at headquarters with regard to cutting red tape. The trouble is the organization has grown so fast. There have been so many people appointed who have to look at a thing that it takes a long time to get around."

Answering other questions Col. Ralston said the army is doing its best to get the right man in the right job, to see that "A" men are not doing jobs which can be done by "C" men, to get men with mechanical ability and experience into tradesmen's jobs.

The Minister said enlistments in the army totalled 11,713 in January; 8,132 in February; 8,821 in March, and 7,070 this month up to April 18. The Navy enlisted 1,200 in January; 1,347 in February and 2,175 in March. The air force took on 5,774 in January; 3,104 in February and 4,153 in March.

He said if army enlistments kept up at the present rate they would meet requirements.

Strong Plea For "Yes" Vote Made At West Ward Meeting

French-Canadian residents of the West Ward last night filled the Howard Club on Alexander Street to overflowing at a meeting held in the interests of securing an affirmative vote in the plebiscite to be held on Monday.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. Rene Duberger, and addresses were delivered by Senator Charles B. Howard, Maurice Gingues, member of Parliament for Sherbrooke County, and Dalma Landry, K.C.

A clear explanation of the reasons for the plebiscite, through which the Government is seeking to be released from its promises with regard to the prosecution of the war, was given by the speakers, who discussed the consequences which will follow a positive or negative vote.

Mr. Gingues told his listeners that it would have been the easier course for him to join forces with the men campaigning for a "no" vote, but that his conscience and his sense of duty to his fellow citizens and his country compelled him to do all in his power to assure an affirmative decision.

After explaining the manner of operation of the plebiscite and speaking on the voters' lists and the way the voting will be handled, Senator Howard said it had been a great surprise to him to see so many public men campaigning for the negative group. He compared the speakers and leaders of the "no" party with the statesmen who ask an affirmative answer, and asked his listeners to draw their own conclusions.

Mr. Landry also spoke strongly in favor of a "yes" decision in the plebiscite.

Major J. Stewart Walford Appointed O.C. Of Rock Island R.C.A. Battery

The appointment of Major J. Stewart Walford as Officer Commanding the 74th Field Battery, R.C.A., of Rock Island, was announced today by Military District Headquarters in Montreal. Major Walford, who recently returned to Montreal after two years overseas, is a brother of Brigadier A. E. Walford, who was recently appointed to the newly-formed Headquarters Staff of the First Canadian Army.

A military career extending back to December, 1915, and the recent experience he gained overseas eminently fit Major Walford to lead the light anti-tank unit whose headquarters are in Rock Island.

Joining the old 58th Westmount Rifles as a private in 1915, Major Walford remained with the unit until its reorganization in 1920. He continued in the ranks of the Royal Montreal Regiment until 1924 and from 1925 to 1930 with the 7th Medium Battery, R.C.A.

Commissioned in 1930, he served with the 10th Medium Battery until 1936, when he was appointed a battery captain of the 5th Field Battery. He retained his post when the battery was mobilized in September, 1939, serving with it here in Sherbrooke and in Potawawa.

Preceding the 5th Field Battery to England to follow special courses, Major Walford rejoined the unit on its arrival in England in September, 1940, and a week later was detailed to attend the staff college at Camberley, completing his course he served as an acting staff captain until the end of March, 1941.

Appointed staff captain of a brigade in June, 1941, he was posted as a headquarters staff captain four months later, retaining this post until his return to Canada.

Brig. Walford, who went overseas in December, 1939, as a deputy assistant adjutant general, and Maj. Walford are both chartered accountants. Major Walford was a partner in the chartered accountants' firm which bears the family name, Alfred Walford & Sons.

Born in Montreal, Maj. Walford was educated at the Westmount High School and also attended McGill University. He is married and the father of two children, the family residing at 4368 King Edward Avenue.

ANNUAL MEETING ARRANGED Annual meeting of the Tenth St. Patrick's Group Committee will be held on Wednesday night, April 29, at the Academy. Officers will be elected, reports presented and plans for camp discussed. Parents and friends are cordially invited.

VIOLINIST GAVE FINE RECITAL AT UNIVERSITY

John Adaskin, well-known violinist and teacher, gave a descriptive violin recital at Bishop's "Little Theatre" last evening. A large number of students and friends attended this recital which covered the period of musical history from the year 850 to 1941.

He described the various stages through which music developed. Mr. Adaskin divided the time into four periods, illustrating each by a group of selections written at that time. The first section was entitled the "Primitive Section." This, he pointed out, is not so called because of the quality of the music, but rather because it was mostly vocal music.

He said that many modern instruments had not been developed and that the composers of the day had no way of measuring the time. The musical period lasted approximately 600 years.

Mr. Adaskin chose as selections to represent this period what is thought to be the first written music, "Song of the Sybil" (950). The other two were "Crusader's Song" by Walther von der Vogelweide (1200), and "Caniga" from the collection of Alfonso the Wise (c. 1252-84).

The Classical age was the next section into which the music was grouped. "This age lasted about 200 years and it is chiefly noted for the lack of personal expression," said Mr. Adaskin. "It was also in this period that the musicians could not go higher or lower than a certain degree."

Two selections from Bach were chosen to represent this era and they included "Adagio" from the organ toccata in C, and the "Praeludium in E."

The third period was known as the Romantic era and it lasted about 100 years. This period corresponds with the same periods in history and in literature and it has often been termed as the era of self-expression.

"Since music was also undergoing a change at this time it is often claimed that it was music that influenced the times," said the speaker. It was also pointed out that Beethoven was the first Romantic composer, having changed from the Classical age to the new one.

"The last section known as the modern or atonist period is only 35 years old, and it is now showing signs of developing into another age," said Mr. Adaskin. As an illustration for this section a Sonata (in one movement) by John Weinzwieg (1941) was chosen.

Miss Frances Marr accompanied Mr. Adaskin at the piano and the recital ended with the National Anthem.

Many Canned Products Will Be Discontinued After June 30th

The cutting of numerous canned food products due to tin shortage will send the Sherbrooke housewife back to the kitchen before the end of summer.

Local grocery and chain store managers today were advised by their main offices that after June 30 no more pork and beans, baked beans, spaghetti, macaroni, beets, carrots, apples, applesauce, potato chips and several other items will be canned by manufacturers.

It is apparent that Ottawa officials take the stand that the housewife can make her own pork and beans, her own spaghetti in tomato sauce; secure beets, carrots, potatoes and apples the year round for cooking or baking.

But, on the other hand, she can't get fresh Canadian tomatoes, peas, corn and string beans out of season, so they along with asparagus, tomato juice, mixed vegetables, mushrooms, pumpkin, spinach, baby and junior strained foods, condensed soups (but not ready to serve) will be packed, but most of them in larger cans, 20-ounce tins replacing the 16-ounce.

There are no restrictions whatever on quantities packed this year on the main staple vegetables such as string beans, corn, peas and tomatoes.

Food packers have notified chain grocery store managers that the Metals Controller is permitting them to pack apples, peaches, pears and plums without any restriction, but confines packs of berries, cherries and rhubarb, in syrup, to seventy-five per cent of solid pack (for pies.) Fruit salad and fruit cocktail from domestic fruit only may be canned.

Officials estimate that the proportion of tin used in a small can is three or four times as much as in a large one, so that saving is essential. The representative of one of the larger chain grocery stores told a Record reporter that Canada has fairly heavy stocks of tin on hand, enough to do, maybe, eight to ten more months, including stocks in retail stores.

He said that the Ceylon market has advanced further in view of competitive buying there. Tea boats continue to arrive in Canada and there is no rationing in sight.

"Conquests made by Japan in the East are likely to mean changes in sources of supply of food products in the future as well as in the container."

A notice he received from the company headquarters reads: "Chief tin supply is gone, but can manufacturers are working on a new container with what is known as the 'dendronizing process,' which does not require tin at all. This may be the can of the future."

He said that he learned various states in the United States and Southern American countries as well as British Columbia are experimenting with the production of spices which formerly came from Singapore, Java, Sumatra and Burma. The North American continent may in the not far distant future become self-sufficient as far as spices, at least, are concerned.

Word has been received of the safe arrival in England of Lieut. Russell J. Everett, R.C.A., son of Mrs. N. A. Everett, of Lennoxville.

LODGE PROTEST AGAINST MOBILE LUNCH COUNTERS

City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers said today that he was in receipt of a petition signed by fifteen restaurant, grocery and confectionery store owners on Galt and Alexander Streets in which the petitioners request City Council to prohibit the parking of mobile truck restaurants on these two particular streets, as it is affecting their business considerably.

In the petition the signers contend that they are losing big revenue due to the fact that hundreds of new bicycles have been sold in Sherbrooke and officials of the licensing bureau, prepared for a rush, said there is no doubt that tags will reach a new high of approximately 1,200 this year. There were 900 plates sold to owners of wheels during the past year.

The petitioners also set forth that they are unable to meet their expenses and pay their licence fees and taxes, as these vendors do not use electricity or gas.

It was explained by City Clerk Deslauriers that these vendors are licensed for $15 a year under a city by-law, which gives them permission to sell their products anywhere within the city limits.

However, the petition will be presented to the Aldermen at the next meeting of City Council and City Hall spokesmen said that there is a strong possibility the by-law will be amended.

EMPLOYEES ARE GIVEN TIME OFF TO CAST BALLOT

Managers of four chain variety concerns on Wellington Street announced today that they will not open their stores on Monday until ten o'clock in order to give their employees two hours' time to cast a plebiscite vote.

The managers of these stores, United, Woolworth's, Metropolitan and Zeller's, urged all their employees to vote between eight and ten o'clock Monday morning. It is expected that other business establishments in the city will follow this example.

The plebiscite regulations set forth that every employer shall, on polling day, allow every voter in his employ at least two hours time for voting, other than the noon hour, and shall not make any deductions from the pay of such voter because of his or her absence during this time.

Returning Officer Trudeau said today that all the ballot boxes—113 for Sherbrooke County—will be placed at all the polling divisions in the district during the week-end with the necessary last-minute instructions and return sheets for the deputy returning officers.

Following numerous telephone calls to the Sherbrooke County Plebiscite Headquarters at 6 Wellington Street North, Mr. Trudeau pointed out that persons who have moved from Sherbrooke County during the past several weeks will be unable to vote.

Residents of Sherbrooke and Sherbrooke County desiring to obtain further data concerning the plebiscite regulations, can get the information by telephoning Sherbrooke 218.

LENNOXVILLE

Every two weeks after the regular Sunday evening service in the United Church a social hour is spent in the Gertrude Scott Hall, at which a special programme is enjoyed as well as the singing of favourite hymns. This Sunday evening at 8:15 a talk on "Art," illustrated by lantern slides, will be given by the noted artist, Sir Wylie Grieg, to which everyone is cordially invited.

RESTRICTIONS ON ICE CREAM Ice cream manufacturers in Sherbrooke and in the Eastern Townships today received an order from the Dairy Products Board which forbids any person to sell or use in Canada during any one quarter of the year a volume of ice cream or sherbet greater than the volume sold or used during the corresponding quarter of the previous year.

The order also applies a similar limitation on use of milk fat in the manufacture of ice cream or sherbet.

May Be Able To Forward Mail To Prisoners Of War At Hong Kong

Lt.-Col. F. W. Clarke, National Defence Department officer specially charged with the care and welfare of prisoners of war, said in Ottawa today that he had advised next of kin of Canadians who served at Hong Kong that the International Red Cross may be able to forward mail for prisoners of war there within the next thirty days.

The news was particularly important to the Eastern Townships, inasmuch as no fewer than two hundred boys from this district formed part of the Royal Rifles of Canada, one of the two Canadian regiments to take part in the defence of the British garrison.

Col. Clarke warned, however, that present negotiations may fail to materialize.

"We realize that friends and acquaintances also would like to be included, but because of the lack of shipping space, the sending of parcels will have to be restricted to the next-of-kin as listed with the Department of National Defence," he said in a statement.

"The limited space that may be available over and above the mail and next-of-kin parcels must be utilized for shipment of needed medical supplies and essential foods, clothing and tobacco, which will be forwarded by the Red Cross.

"While we believe there now is reason to expect mail and parcels to go forward, we must point out that the present negotiations may fail to materialize.

"Letters and next-of-kin parcels, however, may be forwarded immediately as instructed in the letter, in anticipation of the successful completion of these negotiations."

The Canadian contingent to Hong Kong, mostly members of the Winnipeg Grenadiers and Quebec Royal Rifles, numbered 1,985 officers and men. The Japanese have announced that 1,689 were taken prisoner when Hong Kong fell and Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons some time ago that the other 296 are assumed to be dead or missing.

National Defence Department casualty lists have included the names of a handful of men who were killed in action or died after being taken prisoner, but information as to the fate of individual members of the Canadian garrison force has not become available yet.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHN'S-MANVILLE

NEW "FACE-LIFTING" STARTS UNDERFOOT

Your J-M Reporter had a curious experience a few days ago. Needing a pack of cigarettes, he strode through the doorway of his favorite neighborhood tobacconist—then stopped dead in his tracks! Was he lost? Was he dreaming? Surely this smart, modern shop couldn't be the old, familiar corner cigar store! But there, beaming beside a busy cash register, was the proprietor... "Sure there's an improvement," he said, "I've just had a Johns-Manville Asphalt Tile Floor installed."

Well, it wasn't a glaring change, but the entire interior of the shop was "toned up," lifted far above the commonplace. The J-M flooring contractor had selected just the right combination of color and tile pattern to add amazingly to modern appearance and customer appeal.

The whole story of J-M Asphalt Tile is told in a beautiful, color-illustrated book, "Ideas for Decorative Floors." For a free copy, write Canadian Johns-Manville, 199 Bay Street, Toronto, Ont.

A FINAL CALL TO CANADIANS

On Monday, the citizens of Canada are being called upon to cast their votes in the most important nation-wide ballot ever held in the history of the Dominion, the plebiscite to approve or reject the Government's appeal to be released from its pledge never to introduce conscription for service outside Canada or the territorial waters thereof. To this there can be but one answer—"YES."

There can be considerable difference of opinion as to the wisdom of the Government in calling such a plebiscite at such a critical time and there can be great division of sentiment on the wisdom of the pledge being given in the first place. But, now that the Government with the approval of Parliament, has ordered the vote, Canadians cannot but give an affirmative answer.

The issue is not only a domestic one. In fact, the international implications outweigh any questions of Dominion, or even Provincial, politics. The interests concerned are three-fold: Canadian, Allied and Axis, each of which have a distinct place in the set-up.

Insofar as Canadians are concerned, an overwhelming affirmative vote from all parts of the Dominion will be a definite charge to the Government to abandon half-hearted and dilatory measures. It will be a go-ahead signal, an order to carry out the concepts of total war to the very limit. It will be a charge to drop political considerations in the common desire to register a complete and crushing victory over the Axis forces of darkness at as early a date as possible. Canadians, in common with the other democratic nations, are prepared for a long and terrible war. They are willing to make every sacrifice required, but they do not want the conflict lengthened, the cost increased and the chances of victory reduced through inefficient and half-hearted methods on the part of the Government. An affirmative vote means instructing the Government definitely to go ahead. A negative vote means exactly the opposite. It is an indication that Canadians desire to ride to victory the easy way. It shows that their idea of a proper victory is one gained at the expense of someone else. It announces that they prefer being under obligation to the Britisher, the American, the Russian, the Hindu and the Chinese rather than standing on their own feet.

To the citizens of the Allied powers, to the members of the United Nations, "Yes" will be a sign that they will have the active support of the mass of the Canadian people in every branch of war effort, that the citizens of Canada are prepared to make every sacrifice required in the common cause. It will be an indication of the true war effort of the nation and should serve to answer attempts, unfortunately sometimes successful, to spread propaganda in other countries that this Dominion has not its heart in the war, that Canadians are willing to let someone else carry the burden of the fight for the preservation of honesty and decency in national and international affairs. A negative vote in a single day will offset every ounce of effort that Government and private organizations have expended in foreign countries, and especially the United States, to convince the other peoples of the world that this country is pulling its weight.

An affirmative vote, especially an overwhelming majority will be a blow to the hopes of the Axis powers and their propaganda agencies, who are waiting eagerly to seize upon a negative decision to proclaim to the wavering nations of the world—and especially Turkey, the gateway to the rich Middle East—that the proclaimed unity of the United Nations is only a bluff, that the hearts of their people are not in the war, and that it would be better for these nations to align themselves with the Axis and not depend upon the support of the democracies which is likely to fail them in a pinch. A strong affirmative vote might conceivably justify the plebiscite, in that it will be the first time that the people of the United Nations have had an opportunity to express their opinion directly upon the issue at stake unencumbered by any outside considerations. An affirmative vote would mean that the people of Canada, speaking for the other nations lined up in the fight against the Axis powers, want victory for their way of life and are willing to pay to the limit the cost involved.

This is a war of SURVIVAL and there can be no restrictions upon the price Canadians will pay for victory and to ensure that our political leaders and the world know this, each and every loyal Canadian must vote in the affirmative on Monday.

THE COMMANDO RAIDS

The significance of the astonishing British commando raid on the coast of France in the neighborhood of the important Channel port of Boulogne is the fact that the Britons encountered so little Nazi resistance that they were able to scout about for two hours and then withdraw. Now it would be rash to rush into sweeping conclusions on the strength of this circumstance, but it does tend to confirm recent reports that, because of the urgent demand for troops on the Russian front, the Germans have not been holding this vitally-strategic Channel coast in full strength. The Boulogne area is of the utmost military importance, and one would expect it to be about the last place the Nazis would leave with light protection, in view of their obvious fear the Allies are preparing for invasion.

This ancient port, through which a steady stream of troops passed during the long years of the last war, lies within sight of the cliffs of England, and is one of the harbors nearest the coast of Britain. German big guns, can easily drop their freight of death on British towns from there. The fact that the commandos found this sector fairly easy of access gives to wonder what the situation may be at less important points along the French and Belgian coasts. This is a point which the Allies are bound to be investigating in their search for an opening to get at the master gangster.

One of the great values of such a raid, of course, is to stimulate the Nazi fear of an invasion. There is a salty tang to the bold deeds of the commandos, and even their name rather reminds one of the devil-may-care buccaneers of the old Spanish Main. There is a sort of inevitability in their raids which you may be sure has its effect on the enemy morale.

A constant prodding of the coast by the commandos certainly would compel the Nazis to man the defences strongly, from Norway down the French coast to Brest, for fear that one of these black-faced expeditions might be the spearhead for a major landing.

This would have the effect of making Hitler defend two fronts at once—something which every commander dreads and which the Nazi chief especially fears in view of the terrific pressure from the Red army. In other words, the commandos are helping to create a pseudo-invasion which will force the Fuehrer to maintain on the Western Continental Coast strong forces which he desperately needs in Russia.

To this Allied advantage we must add the encouragement which these raids undoubtedly give to the rising revolt among the French people. That is a real threat to Hitler, as he clearly indicates in his slaughter of hostages in an effort to stem the sabotage and slaying of Nazi soldiers.

When we also take into account the fierce onslaught which the Royal Air Force is making on France and Germany, the cumulative offensive should prove of great value to the Russians, who have been urging that the Allies create a distraction which would lessen the German resistance on the Eastern Front. Word that American airmen and commandos are joining the British in these adventures against Western Europe can bring no joy to Hitler. Certainly it keeps him in constant fear of invasion.

Out of all this one would expect to see emerge a real invasion of Western Europe by British and American fighting men. That it will come sooner or later there can be small doubt, and we are safe in saying that it will be at the earliest feasible moment.

FROM THE RECORD FILES

Party alignments for the Provincial elections next month are virtually completed insofar as the Eastern Townships ridings are concerned. Filling up their ranks, the Liberals have chosen Dr. G. S. Gregoire in Frontenac, W. S. Bullock in Shefford and P. Tanguay in Wolfe. Both Premier Sir Lomer Gouin and Opposition leader J. M. Tellier plan to speak at various Eastern Townships points.

Among those taking part in a musicale given by the Young Ladies' Aid of Plymouth Congregational Church were Mrs. E. C. Irvine, Mrs. W. A. Farwell, Miss Mary Hubbard, A. E. J. MacCreary, Mrs. J. R. Sangster, Irwin Sawdon, F. L. Stone, W. B. LeBaron, Karl LeBaron and Mrs. H. H. Beach.

The following committee was named at the annual Vestry meeting of St. George's Church, Ayer's Cliff, to study the question of securing a more central site and moving the church building: Rev. T. G. Devitt, C. E. Standish, G. H. Davis, George Fish, J. McKee, A. E. Hurd, A. E. Neill and R. R. Whitcomb.

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of St. Faith's Guild of St. Peter's Church: Mrs. J. McBain, Miss A. Beckett, Miss Mary Twose, Miss K. Edgell and Miss Lomas.

The officers elected at the annual meeting of the patrons of the Silver Star Butler factory at Bedford were M. McNamara, George McGarry, Charles Fournier, Ernest Maurice, E. Descheneau, Nap. Rocheleau and David Leblanc.

The dwelling house occupied by Mrs. Louise Stone at Randboro and its contents were completely destroyed by fire but the work of the bucket brigade prevented its spread to the other farm buildings.

The contract providing for the entry of the Montreal and Southern Counties Electric Railway into Granby has been approved by the Council and will shortly be submitted to the ratepayers.

PRESS COMMENTS

BOMBERS OVER TOKYO?

Christian Science Monitor

Americans naturally are elated at reports from Japanese sources that Tokyo and Yokohama have been bombed. Though the story awaits confirmation from Washington, it is hardly possible to conceive Japanese reasons for spreading a false report in such specific detail.

It seems likely, therefore, that there has been an attack of some sort on a scale sufficient to warn the Japanese Islands that the United States can ultimately play a strong hand in the grim game that was started at Pearl Harbor.

Whatever satisfaction there may be in such exploits as this and the long-range sortie of thirteen planes into the Philippines, the picture should be kept in perspective. These are useful harassing actions while the main body of the Japanese Army and Navy are engaged in Burma and the Indian Ocean, but there still are enormous tasks of organization, of equipping, training, and transporting forces, before the attack can assume the tempo and proportions of an offensive. Heavy American losses in planes in Hawaii and the Philippines have to be made up. The tide of Japanese invasion which threatens to cut off China from her Allies has yet to be turned, and vast areas of sea and land have yet to be reconquered.

Little as one may relish the conditions which make bombing of cities a military necessity, the reported raid is an encouraging sign of enterprise on the part of the American armed forces. Loyalty and hard work at home must see that it is only a beginning.

KEEP UP SINISTER AXIS PROPAGANDA

Montreal Star

Sir Gerald Campbell, British Minister at Washington, is thoroughly justified in warning against Axis propaganda which is trying to split the United Nations. That such propaganda is being fomented actively by Nazi agents, and is being aided by antagonistic elements in the United States, is unfortunately only too true. These anti-British elements which were so sinister in their activities before America entered the war have not ceased to try to undermine the Anglo-American solidarity. They are still chanting the monotonous chorus about Britain fighting to the last American; still circulating insidious and baseless rumors

LONDON TOWN

"What is London like?" you ask.
Why London is a place, my son,
Of ancient works and modern task,
Of youth and old age all in one.
It is a town of smiles and tears
And all the little hopes and fears
Of children romping in the Park,
And windows twinkling through the dark,
Of cheering throats and lips that sing,
Of brave hearts beating for the King.

It is a place of truth and love,—
The home of courage strong and true,
Of changeful days and stars above;
Adventures I could wish for you.
Some day, my son, we'll go to see
The heart of England's constancy.
Some day, you'll see in London town
Why London Bridge did not fall down,
Why London Bridge means truth and right,—
A gallant sign of England's Might.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority.

FORCED RUFFING IS EXPERT DEFENSE

One of the interesting aspects of tournament bridge is the post-mortem after each session, when the players mull over the hands and decide how they should have been bid and played. I was interested in the discussion of today's hand, which turned up in the Goldman Pairs at the Eastern States Championships.

It seems most East players made four spaces easily. One player complained the defence against him left him no way to make the contract. The South player who starred was Ralph Hirschberg, present holder of the Metropolitan team championship.

Hirschberg opened the king of diamonds and dummy ruffed. Dummy led the queen of clubs for a finesse that lost to South's king. At this point most of the defenders, it seems, led the ace and eight of trumps, whereupon declarer made his contract easily.

Hirschberg instead led the queen of diamonds, again forcing dummy. The club ace was cashed, and seeing that he would have no later remedy to dummy, declarer had to try for another club trick in a hurry. He led the jack of diamonds, South covered with the ace, dummy ruffed and cashed the queen of clubs for a heart discard. But South ruffed the club and his two major aces set the contract.

IN THE WOMEN'S SPHERE

MRS. LEBARON RE-ELECTED AT NORTH HATLEY

Annual Meeting of Women's Institute Held at Home of Mrs. Nelson Pike—Year's Work Reviewed.

North Hatley, April 24.—The annual meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Nelson Pike, The President, Mrs. Grant LeBaron, presided.

After the usual opening exercises the yearly reports were heard. The Treasurer, Mrs. Glen Bennett, reported a balance of $71.08 on hand. Receipts for the year included proceeds from teas, food sales, parties and the "Elephant Sale," $164.72; regular teas $20.53; memberships, donations, special funds and sub-funds, refunds $84.05; bank interest twenty-four cents, cash on hand March 1, 1941, $23.14. Expenditures included county expenses, memberships, spelling contests, quarterly dues, Christmas boxes, wreath, skating rink, $35.20; war effort, seeds, self-denial fund, Queen's fund, Air Force, League of Women's Rights, $86.25; sunshine gifts to the sick, flowers, radio license, donations of jam to the Wales Home, baby blankets, scholarships, health prizes, $49.96; general expenses, $32.29. This branch also had a handicraft account of $22.70 and has purchased a War Savings Certificate of $20.

The Secretary's report showed that there had been a membership of fifteen with an average attendance of nine at each meeting. Eleven regular meetings were held.

Mrs. Roy Bowen, Convener of the Nominating Committee, reported that several resignations had been received. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Grant LeBaron; Vice-President, Mrs. J. A. Seguin; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Roy Bowen; Treasurer, Miss Alice Colt; Secretary, Mrs. Guy Kezar.

It was decided to hold the regular monthly meetings in the evenings, starting a week-end at the month of eight o'clock. Tea was served by Mrs. Pike, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Ham.

General Notes

Ruth Seguin, R.C.A.F. (W.D.), of St. Hubert, spent a week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Seguin.

Miss Marion Reed, of East Angus, spent a week-end at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. M. Reed. The many friends of Mrs. Reed will be glad to know that her condition is somewhat improved.

Mrs. Charles Knapp, of Sherbrooke, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Moody Merrill.

Mrs. Bertram Turner, of Sherbrooke, spent a week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Parker.

Miss Annie Riley, of Sherbrooke, spent a week-end at her home here.

Miss Jessie Gibson spent a week-end at Ayer's Cliff.

A largely attended shower for Miss Elizabeth Kezar, sponsored by the Ladies' Aid of the Universalist Church, was held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Seguin. Miss Kezar received many gifts which were presented by Miss Betty Kezar and Miss Betty McCrea, who were dressed as bride and groom. "Libby," in a few chosen words, thanked her friends for these gifts. Lunch was served by members of the Ladies' Aid, assisted by the Misses Priscilla Kezar, Ruby Allen, Frances Phillips and Donna Auger.

Prince of Wales Chapter No. 26, O.E.S., held a very successful card party at the Masonic Hall, proceeds of which will go to the Lord-Mayor's Fund. Bridge was played at eight tables and "500" at two tables. In bridge the prizes which were War Savings Stamps, were won by Mrs. J. R. Spier and Mr. William Woodard, and in "500" by Mrs. Alice Hart and Mr. Milton Gokey. These card parties for this worthy cause will be held once a month for some time.

Mr. Earl Woodrow, and Master Stewart Woodrow have returned to Ontario after spending a week at the home of his mother.

Mrs. Stanley Cuthbert spent a few days in Sherbrooke, a guest of her friend, Mrs. George St. Pierre.

Miss Marion Reed, of East Angus, spent a week-end at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. M. Reed. The many friends of Mrs. Reed will be glad to know that her condition is somewhat improved.

Mrs. Charles Knapp, of Sherbrooke, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Moody Merrill.

Mrs. Bertram Turner, of Sherbrooke, spent a week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Parker.

Miss Annie Riley, of Sherbrooke, spent a week-end at her home here.

Miss Jessie Gibson spent a week-end at Ayer's Cliff.

A largely attended shower for Miss Elizabeth Kezar, sponsored by the Ladies' Aid of the Universalist Church, was held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Seguin. Miss Kezar received many gifts which were presented by Miss Betty Kezar and Miss Betty McCrea, who were dressed as bride and groom. "Libby," in a few chosen words, thanked her friends for these gifts. Lunch was served by members of the Ladies' Aid, assisted by the Misses Priscilla Kezar, Ruby Allen, Frances Phillips and Donna Auger.

Prince of Wales Chapter No. 26, O.E.S., held a very successful card party at the Masonic Hall, proceeds of which will go to the Lord-Mayor's Fund. Bridge was played at eight tables and "500" at two tables. In bridge the prizes which were War Savings Stamps, were won by Mrs. J. R. Spier and Mr. William Woodard, and in "500" by Mrs. Alice Hart and Mr. Milton Gokey. These card parties for this worthy cause will be held once a month for some time.

Mr. Earl Woodrow, and Master Stewart Woodrow have returned to Ontario after spending a week at the home of his mother.

Mrs. Stanley Cuthbert spent a few days in Sherbrooke, a guest of her friend, Mrs. George St. Pierre.

COFFEE CUE

You won't be getting your coffee in vacuum tins much longer, but cheer up, for tried and tested and found to work wonders is the idea of keeping coffee in glass and storing it in the refrigerator. This preserves the flavor and aroma marvelously. Be sure, however, to give the glass jar a good wash beforehand in pure "extra-soapy" suds so that there will be no lingering taint of its previous contents to affect the coffee, and also be sure the container is completely dry.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hawkins announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Andrea, to Mr. J. Stanley Morse, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Morse, of Chatham, Ont. The wedding to take place in May.

The Aldershot Chapter I.O.D.E. is sponsoring this third annual "Spinsters' Supper" at the Chateau Frontenac on Friday evening, May 1st. The following have already subscribed to this popular dance, which is eagerly anticipated especially by the younger dancing set. Mrs. N. F. Darling, Mrs. R. H. Welsh, Mrs. W. J. Gordon, Mrs. S. A. Belmont, Mrs. Dean R. Bishop, Mrs. Cliff Bryant, Mrs. J. T. Hawkins, the Misses Jane Armstrong, Muriel Curphey, Ann Armstrong, Audrey Walker, Gwen Weary, Kathleen Hall, Ruby Hatch, Jacqueline Meloch, Kay Thompson, Norreen Lothrop and Norma Longeway.

Members of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid were entertained for this week's meeting by Mrs. C. F. Patton, at her home on the Drummond Road. Mrs. Arthur M. Edwards, President, presided, and tentative arrangements were discussed for a tea and food sale to be held in the Church Hall on May 20th, and for a rummage sale at the market on June 12th. At the close of the pleasant social hour which followed, tea and dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Edwards presiding at the table, which was centered with pussy-willows in a silver basket.

Under the convenship of Mrs. Wright W. Gibson, assisted by Mrs. T. F. L. Cohoon, Mrs. George Lothrop and Mrs. Garnet Ross, a delightful catered supper was given in Plymouth Church Hall last evening, under the auspices of the W.M.S. Mrs. George Lothrop, President, extended a cordial welcome to the guests as they entered, while Mrs. Walter Sutherland and Mrs. C. A. Beaton acted as cashiers. Tea and coffee were poured by Mrs. Alex Ross and Mrs. Andrew Samster, the table being attractively done in spring-time green. The convensers were ably assisted by Mrs. Alex Johnston, Mrs. A. H. Cross and Mrs. Z. W. Griffith. Mrs. W. O. Rothney, who was in charge of the check room, was assisted by Mrs. Gerald Spafford.

MARRIAGES

BLEAU-MILLAR
Sweetburg, April 24.—The marriage of Miss Ruth Millar, of Sweetburg, formerly of Sherbrooke, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Millar, of Sherbrooke, to Mr. Amedeo Bleau, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bleau, of Cowansville, was solemnized on April 24, at the Roman Catholic Church of St. Rose de Lima, in Sweetburg, Rev. Father Georges Gadois, parish priest, officiating.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Bleau left on a trip to Quebec, stopping at Sherbrooke and Montreal, where receptions by their relatives awaited them.

On their return the happy couple will reside in Cowansville.

INGALLS-DU FEU
Danville, April 24.—The marriage of Jean Frances, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Du Feu, of Sayabec, to Sergeant-Pilot Bruce Johnston Ingalls, R.C.A.F., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth S. Ingalls, of Danville, took place on April 16th, at the Church of the Messiah, Montreal, with Rev. Angus Cameron officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dressmaker suit of horizon blue with navy blue accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses and sweet peas.

Miss Elsie Du Feu was maid-of-honor for her sister, and the best man was Pilot Officer Bruce Miller, R.C.A.F., of Montreal.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for Ottawa and other points.

LUNDEBORG-ROY
Compton, April 24.—A quiet but pretty wedding took place in St. Therese Church, Beebe, April 14, when Miss Bertha Roy, daughter of Mr. Adolphe Roy and the late Mrs. Roy, of Beebe, was united in marriage to Mr. Roy Lundeborg, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lundeborg, of Compton. The church was tastefully decorated with tulips.

The bride wore a travelling costume of grey with navy blue hat and other matching accessories and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lundeborg, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Vallarcom, Mr. and Mrs. George Rabin and Mr. Gerard Roy, of Beebe, Mr. M. Rodriguez, Mr. Leopold Roy and Mr. Jean Paul Chapdelaine, of Compton; Mr. and Mrs. Paul-Emile Roy, of Moe's River; Mr. Pierre Fournier, Mr. Francois Lefebvre, Misses Alice, Jeanne and Juliana and Mr. Gerard Roy, of Beebe, and Lance Corporal Alfred Twyman, of Toronto.

The young couple were the recipient of many useful and lovely gifts, among which was a set of pyrex cooking utensils, from the manager and employees of the New Windsor Hotel, in Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Lundeborg left for a short honeymoon in Montreal, where they visited Mr. Stewart Lundeborg, who was unable to attend the wedding. On their return they will reside in Compton.

Sponge cake can be used in many different ways in desserts. Can you imagine anything more eye-taking than a layer of sponge cake topped with whipped fruit gelatin, whipped cream and fresh fruit slices—or canned fruit, for that matter.

Gelatin desserts, fruit flavored, served with whipped cream or honey custard, will save the sugar situation considerably.

Miss Margaret Sisco and Miss Helen Ross returned on Monday night from Ottawa, where they were guests for a week at the Lord Elgin.

Friends of Mrs. Arthur C. Carter, of Knowlton, will regret to hear that she is a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, where she underwent an operation.

LESS SUGAR MEANS HEALTHIER CANADIANS SAYS WESTERN EXPERT

By Katherine Middleton, Home Economics Editor, The Winnipeg Tribune.

This business of voluntarily cutting down our sugar consumption to 2 lbs. per week per person, can serve three purposes. It can contribute materially toward the necessary improvement of health of the Canadian people. It can save fifteen million dollars. And it can conserve the present sugar stock in Canada, to make it last longer.

Previous to the regulation concerning sugar rationing, we in Canada had increased our consumption of this sweet product to about 2 lbs. per week per person. In cash money this represents more than the cost of 2 lbs. of sugar. To this must be added the cost of other ingredients used in making sugar-rich dishes and beverages made in our kitchens, and purchased.

Actually, 3/4 lb. sugar per week is ample for the average individual. Sugar gives us energy. And we need energy. But sugar gives us nothing more. No vitamins—no minerals—no materials for building strong bones and teeth, for building and repairing muscles, for making rich, red blood—no materials for protection against disease. The foods that do give us these things, also give us quantities of energy as well. Sugar conservation should be no mere matter of substituting for sweet flavor, to the sacrifice of other more essential foods.

Peace or war, Canada needs a healthy population. Canada needs it more today than ever before, but Canada needs it for the future. If the health of the Canadian people was at its maximum, the following facts would not be true—

Forty per cent of the men volunteering for active service are rejected due to ill-health.

Over a 4-week period, the number of men hours lost through illness in Canadian war industry plants would make 45 bombers.

Dr. L. B. Pett, director of nutrition services, Ottawa, found in a survey of Canadian dietary habits, that 60 per cent of the families surveyed regardless of income or education, were not eating enough of the right kinds of food for good health.

More milk—more fruits and vegetables—more meats—more whole grain cereals—this is what we must eat to help improve our national health. The money we save on rationing down on sugar and sugar rich dishes, can be spent to our advantage on these foods.

Fifteen million dollars is a lot of money. It can pay for the making of a great many war materials. It can send a lot of food to Britain. If sugar rationing will cost just this sum. If we, the people, do the job voluntarily, we can save all this for war purposes.

This is the time for all the people to come to the aid of their country. Canada needs all of us—men, women and children. In uniform on the war fronts, or in civies on the home front, we've all got jobs to do. Are YOU doing yours?

NATURAL OR SIMPLE SWEETS

These foods or dishes yield energy, and satisfy the desire for sweets, yet use no or very little sugar:

DRIED FRUITS

Use in puddings, cookies, stuffing apples for baking, in muffins, etc.—add both flavor and food value.

PUDDINGS

Served hot, taste sweeter than when served cold, thus we can reduce the sweet content of many recipes.

MUFFINS

More muffins and fewer cakes—let this be the war policy for all Canadian households. Muffins use very little sweets, yet their other ingredients, such as wheat germ cereal, whole wheat flour, dried fruits, yield essential food values as well as flavor.

BLACKOUT SANDWICHES Emergency Food For Hungry Families

ALL the family will praise your sandwiches if you will just avoid "flat taste" by the addition of H. P. Sauce. This is the secret to appetizing sandwiches.

"Blackout" Sandwiches are the latest wartime "newie". To make them, whip together 1/2 lb. of cream cheese with 1 tablespoon of H. P. Sauce and 1/2 tablespoon of horseradish; then sauté a 3 1/2 oz. can of chopped beef and a tablespoon of butter until fried. Break up fine and add to cheese mixture. Spread on buttered brown bread.

H. P. is a fine old English type, thick, fruity sauce. It is economical because it is concentrated. Try it on meat, fish, fowl, salads, soups, stews, etc. You'll be surprised at the wonderful flavour it gives foods.

NEW ZEALAND INCLUDED IN NEW COMMAND

Prime Minister Peter Fraser Clarifies Relationship of Armed Forces to Command of General MacArthur.

Wellington, New Zealand, April 24.—(C)—Prime Minister Peter Fraser said that New Zealand and the neighboring islands, including Fiji, had been included in the South Pacific operations area under United States naval command.

"It was our desire that Australia and New Zealand should remain closely linked in one area under Gen. MacArthur," he said.

"We made representations accordingly, but strategic considerations as determined in Washington must prevail and we have accordingly concurred in the above organization."

Mr. Fraser said there would be "the closest co-operation" between the areas, "while the whole area of the Pacific will be co-ordinated by the combined Chiefs of Staff and the Pacific War Council in Washington."

(Mr. Fraser's statement clarified questions concerning New Zealand's position which were raised last Sunday, when Gen. MacArthur's headquarters in Australia issued an announcement saying he had formally

URGES REFORM OF STAFF BODY

London, April 24.—(C)—The Times pressed its editorial campaign for selection of a military specialist to direct Britain's Chiefs of Staff Committee.

"His appointment," it said, "would crystallize and not reverse the principles of staff organization."

The newspaper asserted that compromise among the chiefs of staff of army, navy and air forces in prosecuting the war is "the high road to defeat."

A White Paper issued by the Government Tuesday night following previous criticisms outlined the makeup of the Chiefs of Staff Committee and declared that, adjusted to meet war developments, it was functioning as a single, closely-knit unit.

RED CROSS AT BEEBE STAGED SALVAGE DRIVE

Sugaring-Off Party Also Held at Home of H. N. Holbrook with Profits Turned Over to Red Cross Refugee Fund.

Beebe, April 23.—Friday the seventeenth was Red Cross Day in Beebe. Early in the afternoon, four trucks loaned for the occasion and several school boys, gathered the salvage and stored it in the community building, where it will be resorted and packed for shipment to Montreal.

A sugaring-off party was held the same afternoon at H. N. Holbrook's sugar camp, where the sugar was provided by Messrs. P. Haselton and L. Miller and the sum of $6.70 was donated to the local Red Cross Refugee Fund.

In the evening a large crowd attended the Red Cross dance in the Town Hall. Much credit is due to the committee in charge. The net sum of $170 was realized.

REV. R. L. WEIS IN SERMON ON GREAT CRUSADE

Attributes World Conditions to Decline of Interest in Spiritual Matters in Huntingville and North Hatley Addresses.

In sermons on the theme of the Great Crusade for St. George and Christendom, for God and the Right, delivered in the Universalist Churches at North Hatley and Huntingville last Sunday, Rev. Robert Lewis Weis declared that the decline of interest in spiritual matters is the cause of the present unhappy state of the world.

Germany, it was pointed out, has been gradually going anti-religious for a century, and when loss of faith or a weakening of faith becomes almost universal, disaster awaits almost any people. "One nation pays in one way and another in another," Mr. Weis said. "Germany and the United States have suffered in different ways from the same cause, the former by becoming dedicated to the god of militarism and a false nationalism, the latter by having to suffer gigantic crime waves and the breakdown of the home as a Christian institution."

"The Great Crusade in Canada is an attempt not only to inflame the public with a passion to resist the ruthless Nazi and Japanese pagans, but to set our house aright so that we shall have a better society after the war—a better world. An English divine well says that 'No new form of reconstruction after the war will save us from a recurrence of the calamities we are enduring now, and perhaps worse, unless it be preceded by a spiritual revival that begins at the very foundation. God is the one necessity of His children, and without Him we wander in darkness."

"We are fighting the Devil, or, if you prefer, the forces of evil, in this Great Crusade, but if we live with so little thought of God, are selfish to His Church, are as spiritually dormant as many have been and continue to be, it can be only a matter of a very few more years when the Beast will strike again somewhere and take the lives and liberties of our children or children's children," said Mr. Weis.

"Hence the need of this Crusade, well timed to occur in the week which includes St. George's Day. While the Catholics throughout Canada are presumably doing their full share in this Great Crusade drive, which is heartily backed by their Cardinal, we do not expect to reach every Protestant, for obviously that is almost impossible. But we would ask the thoughtful, the conscientious, the Christian people who by their presence at Divine Worship attest their loyalty to Christ, His Church and His principles, to think in these things. Those who are with and for God can do everything; those who are against Him or indifferent to Him can do nothing. Let us take our stand with Him during and after the war that a better world may be created, that life may be more secure and happiness more general. It is up to each one of us to do his part in the Great Crusade."

Bell were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rowe, at Cookshire.

Brothers Who Fought At Hong Kong

The Eastern Townships can take justifiable pride in the number of families who have contributed two or more sons to the Canadian active army and pictured here are brothers from two Asbestos families who took part in the gallant defence of Hong Kong until that British garrison fell Christmas Day.

Standing at right are Rifleman Lorne C. Findlay (left), and L/Cpl. George K. Findlay (right), sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Findlay, of Asbestos. Rifleman Lorne Findlay is twenty years of age and enlisted with the Royal Rifles of Canada just five weeks before that unit left Canada for Hong Kong. Lance Corporal George Findlay joined the Royal Rifles in July, 1940, was married in September, 1941, to Newfoundland.

Pictured at top are, at left, L/Cpl. J. Graydon Heath, and at right L/Cpl. Harold S. Heath, sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Heath, of Asbestos. L/Cpl. Graydon Heath enlisted with the Royal Rifles in July, 1940. He was married in March, 1934, to Miss Leila V. Findlay, of Asbestos, and they have two children, Margaret, aged 7, and George, aged 5.

L/Cpl. Harold Heath, who joined the Royal Rifles in July, 1940, was married to Miss Helen Gallup, of Asbestos, in September, 1941.

They are brothers of Mr. J. Reed, Minto Street, Sherbrooke.

EAST ANGUS

The first meeting for March of the St. Mary's Guild was held at the home of Mrs. R. Martyn with ten members and three visitors present. A report was made on the food sale, which realized $14.50. A pleasant social evening was enjoyed, the members all busily engaged in knitting for refugees or the Red Cross.

The second meeting for March was held at the home of Mrs. J. Hayes with 7 members and one visitor present. A card party was planned, with a prize for each table. A third meeting was held so that the lunch and all details of the card party could be planned. This meeting was at the home of Mrs. A. Hall, with twelve members and one visitor present.

A very successful card party was held under the auspices of St. Mary's Guild. The tea table was decorated in Easter colors and the prizes were tied in mauve and yellow, carrying out the Easter motive. The President, Mrs. A. Rowland, assisted by the Vice-President, Mrs. R. Martyn, poured tea. Prizes were given for the highest score at each table. The Secretary, Mrs. Mitchell, reported that the sum of $36.85 was taken in. After all expenses were paid, the sum of $30 profit was realized.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heath, Miss Gertrude Heath, Master Gerald Heath, Mrs. Gerald Pelletier, Miss Ruby Heath and Miss Glenna Heath, all of Sherbrooke, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Heath.

Rev. J. O. Baron is ill, and the services were cancelled at the United Church on Sunday. All hope to see him about again soon.

YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD RALLY AT COWANSVILLE

Trinity Church A.Y.P.A. Entertains Groups from Lennoxville, Sutton and East Farnham—Fine Programme Enjoyed.

Cowansville, April 24.—With an attendance of nearly one hundred members and visitors, the A.Y.P.A. of Trinity Church and the Y.P.U. of the United Church entertained the societies of Lennoxville, Sutton and East Farnham.

Highlights of the programme were a talk by Mrs. W. Wright, Superintendent of the Brome-Missisquoi-Perkins Hospital, on Russia, vocal solos by Miss Thelma Crawford and Mr. Arthur Biler, of Lennoxville, a monologue by Wendell Scott, a sing-song led by David Christie; lantern slides on camps, Wantonapa and Cedar Lodge; vocal duets by Mrs. L. Stowe and Miss Ella Jones, and a helpful devotional period led by Miss D. Bridgette; games and refreshments.

Mrs. Wright gave a short sketch of the two and a half years she spent in Russia, first in St. Petersburg in 1912 and later in Yaroslavl and Rybinsk on the Volga in 1916, the year of the revolution.

Mrs. Wright, who is a native of Finland, went to Russia first to study the Russian language, which was a compulsory subject in her native land and later she took a teaching position in Rybinsk, where she met with great kindness from the people.

Mrs. Wright was heartily thanked by Miss Jones, President of the Y.P.U.

Miss Crawford, who is always a welcome guest here, sang two solos accompanied by Miss Leary.

Mr. Biler's contributions were also much appreciated.

Mr. Scott, who is an accomplished monologist, illustrated his story with selections on a bass cornet.

Mrs. Stowe and Miss Jones rendered two vocal duets during the devotional period, which were in keeping with the spring season.

Miss Bridgette gave a short sketch of the life of John Chapman, born in 1768, who conceived the idea of growing apple trees from seeds and traveling considerably in promoting the idea, which resulted in the extensive orchards in this country and the popularity of the fruit.

Several games were played, after which refreshments were served.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Alice Cady, who has been bereaved by the death of her mother, Mrs. Tracey, of Brome.

Mrs. Durrett, Mr. Herbert Durrett and Mrs. Gagnon, of Lennoxville, Mass., were called here by the death of the former's mother, Mrs. Tracey, of Brome. While here they were guests of Mrs. Durrett's sister, Mrs. Alice Cady.

Mrs. and Mrs. C. Buchanan attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Tracey, in Brome.

You'll never be satisfied with anything else once you see RINSO WHITENESS

THE wider your washing experience the more you'll be impressed by your first sight of Rinso-washed clothes. You'll agree, Rinso not only washes whiter, it gives the whitest wash. In fact, you'll say the only true standard of whiteness is Rinso whiteness!

Colored washables keep marvelously bright, too, with Rinso—even after dozens of launderings they're still bright—and fresh as new. Rinso helps to make all the clothes wear longer, you'll find, because its rich suds float dirt away without hard rubbing.

You've only to use Rinso once and you'll never again be satisfied with anything else. Order some for this coming washday. Get the GIANT package for extra economy.

YOUR FEEDING ADVISOR

This is the continuation of the article which appeared last Friday in the Sherbrooke Daily Record, dealing with your market pigs. Last week we got as far as "abortions." This week we will go into the causes of abortions, and ways and means to prevent it—plus the feeding of your sows and pigs.

In case of abortions, the program as outlined here for abortion must be carried out in its entirety. In last week's article, we talked about three pastures. All three of these pastures must be properly equipped with pastures in season, such as alfalfa, clover, bluegrass, sudan, barley, rye, etc., so as to have green feed as near all the time as practical. This is not an expensive process when once organized. The saving of feed and the improved condition of the sows will justify the little additional expense. Each pasture must be well supplied with water and shade in the summer, and shelter in the winter. By far the best way to control disease is to prevent disease through cleanliness and sanitation. Hogs respond to clean quarters. Disease germs multiply rapidly in filthy quarters, and spread diseases that take a heavy toll from hog raisers. Here are eight important points that you should have on your sanitation programme.

1. A few days before farrowing time, clean the farrowing pen thoroughly by hushing down all loose dirt and dust from the ceiling and walls, and scrape out all filth, old litter, and manure from the floor. Disinfect the house thoroughly with a solution of about half a pint of a creoline solution in one bucket of water (10 quart pail).

2. Use for bedding clean, dry straw—not too much nor too long—to cover the floor in farrowing pen. Little pigs won't get tangled up in finely chopped straw.

3. Scrub watering and feeding equipment thoroughly and disinfect with a solution same as above once or twice a month.

4. Prepare sow for farrowing by bringing her into the farrowing pen several days in advance. Wash her completely with soap and water and disinfect the udder with a solution of 1-3 pint of creoline to a 10-quart pail of water to remove worm eggs and disease germs which would otherwise be present to harm the young. The cleaning of the sow must be done outside the farrowing pen so as to keep the pen as clean as possible.

5. Ten days or two weeks after farrowing (providing weather permits) haul the sow and her pigs to a pasture that has not been used previously for hogs. If you must use the same field year after year, plow in fall and sow to some good pasture crop.

6. Keep sow and her pigs in clean pasture for at least the first four months, and for the entire feeding period of the pigs.

7. If pigs are bothered with lice, confine in a small pen and sprinkle with a solution made up of one pint of diluted creoline, three pints of kerosene and four pints of crankcase oil in four gallons of water. This makes up five gallons of solution.

8. Worm pigs when they are about ten weeks old. Confine all pigs wormed in a pen by themselves for about three days after worming, so that they do not spread contamination all over the place.

Contagious Abortions: Contagious abortion among sows takes toll of many litters of pigs each year. As the name signifies, this is a contagious disease that causes the pregnant sow to lose, or abort her litter before the normal time to farrow. Failure to breed pigs dead at birth, and difficult farrowing may also be symptoms of contagious abortions. In case of an abortion isolate the aborting sow, burn or bury the dead pigs and the afterbirth before any other hogs have access to them, then disinfect thoroughly with a creoline solution. I believe the only sure means of controlling abortions is by blood-testing all breeding stock and culling out the infected animals. The best time to test for abortion is just ahead of the breeding season, so that any reactors can be culled out before they are bred. If abortion is present in the herd, a consistent testing and culling programme will save the loss of many pigs. And avoiding the loss of just one litter of pigs will pay the cost of testing the entire herd for abortion for several years.

Good Feeding: Eighty-five cents (85¢) of every dollar spent in raising hogs goes for feed. Labor, housing and miscellaneous costs take less than 15¢ of the dollar. The time to begin thinking about extra money-makers in every litter is before farrowing. Not only can you put more pigs in the litter, but you can increase the size, weight and strength of pigs by feeding them before they are born. As sows are fed during gestation, so will they farrow. Should their feed be short in essential pig-making material, the sows are going to be short on pigs when they farrow. Sows should not be too fat at farrowing time, but in good condition. A sow in good condition will farrow stronger pigs and will suckle better during the nursing period than either a thin sow or a very fat sow. Consequently she will wean a better and more profitable litter of pigs. For a 300-lb. sow in fair flesh at breeding time, a gain during gestation of 80 to 100 lbs. is desirable. On the average, this will require about 450 lbs. total feed. Feeding once daily during gestation is most satisfactory; however, feeding should be done at the same hour each day. In addition to proper feeding, pasture and opportunity for exercise are always desirable for pregnant sows. It is always essential to have sows free of lice well before farrowing time. You can get your copy of the directions for lice control by writing to this newspaper.

I have devoted this whole column to the care and protection of the sow. I think that if you will sit back and go over the records that you have on hand concerning the amount of pigs farrowed, and then look at the receipts you have got on the sale of your pigs, you will find in most cases that at the very least you have lost 40 per cent of the pigs farrowed. If you stop to think for one moment about your losses, you can generally trace the causes for such losses right back to the sow. With our country and our Allies needing so much pork, cull out these undesirable "fifth columnist" sows so that we can sit back and say on market day: "We have done our job for victory—but we will not stop there!"

FORESIGHT OF CIVIL FLIERS COMPLIMENTED

U. S. Minister Stresses Importance of Early Work of Canadian Civil Aviation Authorities.

By R. K. CARNEGIE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, April 24.—(C)—Tribute to Canadian civil aviation authorities for realizing the potentialities of the air route connecting Edmonton and Alaska was paid by J. Pierrepoint Moffat, United States Minister to the Dominion in a speech delivered before the 22nd annual meeting of the Professional Institute of the Civil Service of Canada.

Mr. Moffat described the ready co-operation between Canada and the United States in the speedy decision to undertake construction of the Alaska highway which will connect the highway system of Alberta with the new air bases already in use and which at the Western end will link with Alaskan highways.

"Let me pay tribute," Mr. Moffat said, "to the vision of the Canadian civil aviation authorities for realizing the potentialities of this air route and to the wisdom of the Canadian Government in constructing these fields in time—more than that, for constructing them ahead of time."

Before the war started Canadian aviation officials—notably J. A. Wilson, Director of Air Services, and A. D. McLean, Controller of Civil Aviation, foresaw that sooner or later the United States would need an air route to Alaska over which its shorter range planes could proceed in convenient hops.

Both officials spent months in the North mapping the most suitable routes and chose the one from Edmonton to Whitehorse, Yukon, because of the weather conditions along it. Accordingly when the need for such a route became acute they were able to submit surveys and plans already made, and to start work on the bases almost immediately. Thus months of valuable time were saved.

It was to this foresight that Mr. Moffat referred to in his speech. He also cited the Alaska highway as an example to the world of how two nations proceeding in absolute confidence in the good intentions of the other could reach an agreement by which the United States is constructing the highway over Canadian territory.

It was a coincidence that at the annual meeting which Mr. Moffat addressed, the Society took the occasion to honor two of its members for outstanding contributions during the year and that these contributions helped the war efforts of both Canada and the United States. Each member received a medal.

One medal went to John Patterson of Toronto, Canada's weather man, head of the Dominion's Meteorological Service. Canada's weather service is tied in completely with that of the United States.

M. F. Goudge of Ottawa was the other medalist for his discoveries of brucella limestone in Quebec and Northern Ontario from which could be obtained practically an unlimited supply of magnesia. Mr. Goudge also invented a method of recovering high grade granular magnesia, together with other marketable by-products from the limestone.

GLEN SUTTON

Mrs. Louise Aikens was visiting her mother and sister at Dunkin for a few days.

Roland Needham was rushed by ambulance to the Royal Victoria Hospital. He had been very ill with pneumonia when he was taken with typhoid fever.

Mrs. Percy Needham is home after being a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital for several weeks.

Many of the residents of Glen Sutton have been inoculated against typhoid fever.

Miss Ethlyn Burnham, who underwent an adenoid and tonsil operation and was a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital for a week, is very much improved in health.

Mrs. Ernest Courchesne and Mrs. Eddie Adams, and son, Maurice, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Sargent, at Waterloo.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Warner, of Richmond, Vt., were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shover, on Sunday.

Mrs. D. Rutter was in North Hatley for a few days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tait.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Young and family were visiting Mrs. Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Murphy, at Highwater, for a few days.

BRESSETT'S CORNER

Mr. John Knutson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Olof Knutson spent a week-end in Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Knutson, Miss Geraldine Knutson and Mr. Franklin Knutson were guests in town.

Mrs. Gerald Knutson accompanied by her daughter, Geraldine, visited her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. William Cunningham.

Mrs. John Nelson visited Mrs. Annie Thwaites.

A very pleasant lunch hour was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wilson, when Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Davies and daughter, Margaret, and little son, Bobbie, of Waterloo, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Toop and daughter, Donna, of St. John's, Newfoundland, Mr. and Mrs. Rooney, of Rhode Island, U.S.A., and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Simcock, of this place, gathered around the table. In the evening all repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Simcock and after the arrival of fourteen other guests J. A. Toop showed pictures of Newfoundland and of the Southern and Western states. After the pictures, Miss Emma Wilson served sugar-on-snow to the guests. All felt they had enjoyed a pleasant and profitable evening.

POWDER PROVES SUBSTITUTE IN RAINCOATING

Munitions Department Announces New Composition Superior to Rubber for Army Raincoats.

Ottawa, April 24.—(C)—Raincoats made from cheap white limestone powder are going to keep Canada's armed forces comfortable in dirty weather.

The Department of Munitions and Supply announced that the powder, transformed by the chemist's art into a polymerized vinyl resin, is being used as a substitute for rubber in making raincoats for sailors, soldiers and airmen.

After the resin is dissolved, pigmented in navy, air force blue or khaki, and plasticized for flexibility, the coating composition is applied to a cotton fabric of suitable weight and strength. Several more coatings are added, obtaining a "better-than-rubber" fabric ready for sheeting or the tailor's scissors.

"The synthetic raincoat are not only just as good as rubber," the Department said, "they are said to be better."

"In the first place, they are lighter. Suitable waterproofing can be achieved with three to four ounces of coating for every square yard, whereas more than double that weight of rubber would be needed."

STANBRIDGE EAST

The April meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church was held with Mrs. Stephen Davitt as hostess.

In spite of the inclement weather, there was a good attendance of members and visitors. Extensive plans were made for a plant, shrub and food sale, to be held in the near future. Plans were also made for a banquet to be held on Saturday next in connection with the bowling club. After the business meeting, Mrs. Davitt served tea, assisted by the other members.

On Saturday evening last, the pupils of the Consolidated School staged a most interesting contest in the Memorial Hall, to a large and appreciative gathering. Much credit is due the teachers in their efforts in preparing this programme and the gratifying sum of $35 was realized for the benefit of the Junior Red Cross.

Mrs. Azro Callaghan, who has spent the past few months with Mrs. T. Husband, has now taken rooms at the home of Mr. T. S. Davitt.

Mr. Donald Blinn and Miss Brenda Kemp were in Montreal on Monday and Tuesday.

Among those home for the week-end were Miss Viola Boomhower, of Verdun, Pte. W. Lachapelle, Peta-wawa, Pte. H. H. Hodge, of Huntingdon, Pte. C. Beauchamp and Pte. D. Westover, of Montreal, and Mr. Arthur Brown, of Brownsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Stote were calling on the latter's aunt, Mrs. George Westover, on Sunday. Many will be pleased to learn that the condition of Mrs. John Perry spent a day at the "Ridge," at the home of her brother, Mr. Delbert Cough, who has been in very poor health.

A number from here attended the funeral of Mrs. L. Douglas, of Stanbridge Ridge.

Friends of Mrs. Lloyd Hodgson will be sorry to hear that she is a patient in a Montreal hospital, where she underwent an operation.

Mrs. Cedric Black returned from the Brome-Missisquoi-Perkins Hospital, Swetsburg, and spent a few days with her father, Mr. A. O. Westcott, later returning to her home at Stanbury.

NEW ROCKLAND

Miss K. Carruth, who spent the winter at the Wales Home, in Richmond, has returned to her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Converse and little daughter, Carol, of Melbourn, were guests on Sunday of Mrs. Converse's grandmother and uncle, Mrs. C. Jones and Mr. A. Jones.

Pte. Herbie Stevens, of British Columbia, Mr. John Slayens, of Waterloo, and Miss Bernice Stevens, of Richmond, were guests of their sister, Mrs. George Roster, and Mr. Roster.

Miss Irene Armstrong was a week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. Howard Oakley, of Richmond. Mrs. Oakley accompanied her sister home for a short visit.

Mr. Douglas Wheeler, of Sherbrooke, was the week-end guest of his mother, Mrs. Wheeler, at the home of Mr. Donald Davies.

BOLTON CENTRE

Miss Kathleen Davis spent the week-end at the home of her brother, Mr. L. Davis, and Mrs. Davis, South Bolton.

Mr. Kenneth Elston was home from Quebec, for a few days.

Mr. L. Peasley, of Sherbrooke, visited his parents here.

The Messrs. J. and L. Booth were home from Ayer's Cliff, over the week-end. Mr. D. Langlois returned to Ayer's Cliff with them.

Mrs. Leonard Eldridge and little sons, of Knowlton, have been the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McGill.

Weekly Letter to Farmers

OMER ALLARD, Supervisor of Illustration Station,
Dominion Experimental Station, Lennoxville, Que.

A letter was written a few weeks ago, recommending the use of more fertilizer. Another emphasized the importance of growing more grain on the farms this year.

If sufficient grain is grown on each farm to meet the requirements of the livestock, it naturally follows that better feeding will be the result.

The dairy industry is the basis of agriculture in many districts of Eastern Townships, as well as throughout the Province. Pastures provide one of the most important crops for milk production.

It is taken for granted that cows well-fed throughout the winter and given a small amount of meal after going to pasture will increase in production considerably. If the pasture is of good quality, however, the difference will be marked and it is relatively easy to increase the milk produced per cow by several hundred pounds, by giving the pasture the proper attention.

On Illustration Stations in the Central Quebec district through herd selection, improved feeding and principally through fertilization and improvement of three-quarters of an acre per cow of pasture, an increase of 1,046 pounds of milk and 38 pounds of fat per cow was realized between the years 1929 and 1941.

The pasture improvement practices are as follows:
1—Fertilization of old pastures, or old meadows being turned into pastures;
2—The breaking, fertilizing and seeding of areas for pasture that cannot be economically improved by fertilization alone.

An experiment conducted for two years on six farms showed that an application of 900 pounds per acre of 0-16-6 fertilizer produced 9 tons of green herbage, an application of 900 pounds produced 6.35 tons, 200 pounds yielded 5.68 tons and on similar unfertilized land, only 3.64 tons were produced. Similar differences were obtained when 2-12-6 fertilizer was used.

These results show conclusively the value of pasture fertilization. The recommended fertilizers are: 0-16-6, 2-12-6 and superphosphate, depending on local conditions. Applications should be made as early as possible in the spring.

Pasture fertilization assures increased revenue and aids in the war effort, by increasing production. The Federal Department of Agriculture pays a bonus of $2.00 per ton over the regular purchase bonus for fertilizer used on pastures.

A saller on leave was being pressed for stories, and at last he told his listeners of an adventure in the icy North.

"It was that cold up there," he said, "that one day I saw some sea birds suspended in mid-air frozen stiff and unable to fly or fall down." Said one doubting Thomas: "But what about the law of gravity?" "That was frozen stiff, too," said the saller.

"TIRED" ALL THE TIME

She felt miserable—draggily low in vitality—lower in spirits. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. At once she took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear headed energy and restful sleep. Headache, backache, lassitude and other signs of faulty kidneys disappeared. 112

For Bigger Profits
Save On Cookshire Chicks

ALL THE EGGS WE SET ARE BIG EGGS
Big hatching eggs in our incubators mean more money in your pocket. First, because a larger egg naturally contains more food material for the developing embryo, and so should hatch out a bigger, sturdier chick. Second, because the ability to lay large eggs is largely an inherited factor — so, if the eggs we set are laid by birds that lay big eggs, the pullets hatched from those eggs will tend to lay big eggs, too. Extra egg size means an extra premium in the price — and that means extra profit.

OBITUARIES

ORIN EDMUND ALLISON, BURY.
Bury, April 24.—There passed away on April 12, a highly respected and life-long resident of Bury, in the person of Mr. Orin Edmund Allison.

Although Mr. Allison had been in poor health for some time, he was only confined to bed for a couple of weeks.

Orin Allison was born in Bury on June 15, 1874, the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Allison. He was married on November 7, 1906, to Annie Kane, who survives him, as well as an adopted daughter, Laura Allison. He is also survived by three brothers, Levi and Herbert, of Compton, Alden, of Bury; three sisters, Alice, Mrs. Griffin, of East Angus, Axie, Mrs. Berwick, and Ella, Mrs. E. W. Burgess, of Bury, and several nephews and nieces.

The funeral service was held on April 14, Rev. W. J. Rowe said family prayers at the late residence and conducted the service in St. Paul's Church. The hymns sung were "The Old Rugged Cross" and "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

The bearers were W. H. Ross, R. Clark, C. Rudd, W. A. Cathcart, R. N. Mayhew and W. L. Mackay. Many beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Interment was in St. Paul's Cemetery. Among those from a distance to attend the funeral were Mrs. Alice Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rowland and Mr. and Mrs. Murray Labonte, of East Angus; Mrs. E. W. Burgess, of Montreal; Mr. Herbert Allison, of Compton; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Allison, of Bishopton, and Mr. Compton Taylor, of Island Brook. Sympathy is extended the bereaved family.

MISS MARTHA THOMSON, OF BEDFORD.
Bedford, April 24.—The death occurred on April 18th at her home on Clay Street, in the person of Miss Martha Thomson, after an illness of several weeks.

Miss Thomson, who was born at Pigeon Hill, was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomson, of the village and celebrated her eighty-fourth birthday last November.

Miss Thomson spent all of her long life in this district. For many years she taught school. About twenty-five years ago Miss Thomson, together with her mother, who reached the advanced age of ninety-two, moved to Bedford. Miss Thomson was an interesting conversationalist. Her birthplace was the scene of the entry into Canada of the members of the first Fenian Raid, which occurred when she was a young girl. Miss Thomson retained vivid recollections of that event. When past sixty, Miss Thomson fractured her hip but with great perseverance in the face of pain and difficulty she recovered from the injury, which would have crippled many, to the extent that she was able to get about with the aid of a cane. Miss Thomson was possessed of a bright and cheery disposition. She was a member of St. James' Anglican Church.

The funeral was held from her late residence to the church, the Rector, the Rev. H. V. Fricker, officiated.

SENATORS LOSE STARRY KNUCKLE BALLER

Dutch Leonard Breaks Ankle Crossing First

Eighteen-Game Winner Last Season Out for Indefinite Length of Time—Detroit Blanks Chicago 9-0 Behind Hal White—Yankees Donated 6-4 Decision and American League Lead by Philadelphia A's—Dodgers Still Winning.

The first serious casualty of the major league baseball season is Dutch Leonard of Washington Senators, whose luck seems to be going from bad to worse.

The round-faced right-hander stumbled while crossing first base after running out a grounder in the second inning of yesterday's tussle with Boston Red Sox and after he had been carried off the field his injury was found to be a broken ankle.

This means the big fellow who baffled the American League with his knuckle ball for the last couple of years, winning 18 games in 1941, will be out of action for an indefinite length of time and Washington's hopes of struggling toward the top of the second division probably will be out even longer.

The Senators won yesterday, 10-5, but the game itself was not a pleasing spectacle—there were 26 hits evenly divided and Boston made six errors to Washington's two—and the net result was nothing short of tragic for the Senators. The day proved more cheery for Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians, both of whom were as fearful of their pitching in the South as Washington was hopeful.

Hal White, the rookie right-hander Detroit brought up from Buffalo pitched his second straight shutout, 9-0 on five hits against Chicago White Sox. The Tigers tore into old Ted Lyons for 16 hits and had things their own way all afternoon.

For Cleveland Jim Bagby, the lean right-hander who ascended somewhat doubtfully to the Indians' No. 1 pitching berth vacated by Bob Feller, acquired his third straight victory, 9-2 over St. Louis Browns. Bagby gave nine hits but finished strong with a string of six scoreless innings.

The score was tied at two-all going into the eighth inning, but Ken Keltner lifted the lid with a double and before the Browns could close the door the Indians pushed seven runs across in the last two innings.

New York Rangers were donated a 6-4 decision by Philadelphia Athletics, who out-hit the world champions 9-8 but made six errors. The A's made all their runs in a big fifth inning barrage that shelled Rookie Hank Borowy off the mound. But they went down scoreless in the second after loading the bases and in the ninth Norman (Red) Branch fanned Pinch-hitter Mike Kravich with the bases again loaded and two out. On the other hand, Joe Gordon, who seldom fails in a pinch, came through with a single when the Yanks had the bases loaded in the eighth and knocked in two runs for the margin of victory.

Similarly Brooklyn Dodgers were helped to a 9-5 triumph at Boston by three Braves' errors and a lot of lax play. Each team made ten hits and seven pitchers saw service in the melee, which Brooklyn nailed down with a five-run flurry in the fifth, punctuated by Pete Reiser's two-run homer.

Cincinnati Reds staged their biggest rally of the year to score five runs in the seventh inning and beat Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3. Johnny Vander Meer pitched five-hit ball but until the Reds went on their spree, starting with a double by Bert Haas. They had been held to one hit in six innings by John Lanning.

Lou Novikoff, the big bust of Chicago Cubs last year, "busted" a six-inning home run to decide a pitching duel between Bill Lee and Max Lanier in favor of the Cubs 2-1 over St. Louis Cardinals. Each team made seven hits.

The New York Giants continued their timely hitting to down the Phils 5-2. They made nine hits, two less than the tailenders, but the Giants wasted only two blows out of side of scoring innings and three of their safeties were for extra bases.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Lou Novikoff, Cubs—Hit home run in sixth inning to provide 2-1 victory over Cardinals.

Willard Marshall, Giants—Collected two timely doubles to help beat Phils.

Pete Reiser, Dodgers—Drove in three runs, two of them on his first homer of year, to lead attack on Braves.

John Vander Meer, Reds—Held Pirates to five hits.

Joe Gordon, Yankees—Made three hits, including single with bases loaded in eighth-inning rally that beat Athletics.

Stan Spence, Senators—Led 13-hit offensive against Red Sox with triple, double and single.

Hal White, Tigers—Shut out White Sox with five-hit hurling.

Ken Keltner, Indians—Hit eighth-inning homer that broke tie and started Tribe to 9-2 triumph over Browns.

Odd—And some ends.

St. Peter's Rolls Total Of 3617 To Win Loop Title

With Ernie Taylor, Cecil Shufelt and Wyatt Johnson setting a hot pace, the St. Peter's quintette blew hot last night and blasted out a one-sided victory over St. Andrew's to win the championship of the Inter-Church Five Pin Bowling League at the "Y" alleys.

The Anglican five, taking over the crown worn last year by St. Andrew's, won last night's match, the second three-string joust in the six-string, total-pinfall series, by a margin of 416 pins, and the round by 567 pins, having captured the opening three strings by 151 pins.

St. Peter's put together three-string totals of 1,117, 1,252 and 1,248 for an aggregate of 3,617, the highest ever bowled in church league competition, coming close to the mark of 4653 set by Fairbanks in the "Y" five pin league.

Ernie Taylor had the high single, 343, and added totals of 235 and 299 for the best aggregate, 847, while Cecil Shufelt was the other "300" man, with scores of 306, 266 and 205 for 777. Wyatt Johnson also had 777, made up of 293, 232 and 252.

Art Jodel was the best man for the losers, rolling singles of 272, 206 and 224 for a triple of 702.

NELSON, HOGAN HAD MATCH ON LINKS IN 1924

Two Ex-Caddies Have Come Long Way Since Learning Golf on Dry Fairways Deep in Heart of Texas.

By BURTON BENJAMIN
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.
Pinchurst, April 24.—The year is 1924, and the two moppets are struggling along the fairway of the Glen Gordon Golf Club in Fort Worth with all the splomb of champions.

The occasion is Caddy Day in which members reverse places with the club-luggers. This is a play-off round—nine holes—between two of the club's youngsters.

Sub-teen, tanned, slight, typically Texan, their names are John Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan.

They shoot 41s on the first nine. A second nine is ordered. By Nelson down a long putt for a 39 to beat Hogan by a stroke. He wins a mashie for his efforts.

The year is 1942. The place, Augusta, Ga. The occasion, the Masters' Tournament, one of golf's blue-ribbon events.

Again a play-off is required. Again the gallery trails Texans Nelson and Hogan, and again Lord Byron is the winner by a stroke. This time he collects $1,500.

They have come a long way in 18 years, these two ex-caddies who learned their golf on the hard, dry fairways of the Lone Star State.

Old-timers still chant the praises of Harry Vardon, Walter Hagen and Bobby Jones, but Nelson and Hogan have reached heretofore unknown scoring levels.

The story of Nelson, who not a few veteran observers consider the greatest golfing machine the world has ever known, is one of sheer courage and dogged effort.

From deep in the heart of Texas, which was to produce not only him and Hogan, but the Mangrum brothers, Ray and Lloyd, Ralph Guldahl, Gus Moreland, and others, Nelson learned his golf the hard way.

He picked up the rudiments of the game as a caddy. When he grew older, he became a file clerk in a railroad office, hopped a street car at five each night to hustle to the club for practice.

SPORT FLASHES

When Roy Cochran, the former Indiana U. flier, reported back to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station after his triumphs in the winter track meets he was welcomed by Admiral John Downes, who remarked: "Congratulations. I wouldn't like to have you running after me."

Replied Cochran: "Sir, I'd hate to have you after me!"

course. They didn't realize he was making it do for lunch.

His first purse was $75 in the Texarkana Open, but when he hit the California circuit, his net was $12,500, earned in the Los Angeles Open.

Nelson had confidence in himself, however, and when he returned married Louise Shofner and became pro at Texarkana. Dick Grout and Bobby Cruickshank straightened out his grip and in 1935, when he moved to Ridgewood, N.J., George Jacobus made him use an upright instead of a flat swing.

Nelson became Lord Byron in 1937. He won the Masters, the $12,000 Belmont in Massachusetts, went to England with the Ryder Cup team and capped the qualifying medal in the P.G.A.

Nelson calls 1938 an off-year. He finished fifth in the National Open at Denver when he skied to a 9 on the fifth hole and a 7 on the 17th.

In 1939, Byron guided his top triumph when he won the National Open at Spring Hill in Philadelphia after a double play-off with Wood and Denny Shute.

He is professional today at Toledo, Ohio, Inverness Club, is spending a week at Pinelhurst making an instructional golf movie. The slim, ruddy-cheeked Texan with brown hair, nose features and laughing blue eyes is a serious business man at golf, visits the 19th hole infrequently, finishes his round and keeps moving. He is one of golf's more accomplished teachers.

Asked to name the most important factors in the game, and he'll call them off in this order: Patience, stamina, coolness, courage and competitive urge.

Rated by Tommy Armour as "the best I've ever seen," his iron game is particularly sound. He is usually string-straight off the tee and, although his putter was ice at Augusta this year, generally reliable on the green.

Had he been sharp on the carpet—he never was below 30 putts a round—Byron Nelson would have set a record for the Augusta National course that the masters would be shooting at for years to come.

MACON BLANKS SYRACUSE 4-0 FOR MONTREAL

Max Twirls Four-Hitter and Collects Two Safeties as Royals Take Measure of International League Leaders.

Max Macon, who a few years ago was regarded as one of the most promising left-handers in the St. Louis Cardinals organization and who since has played first base and the outfield for Montreal came back to familiar ground as he shut out the league-leading Syracuse Chiefs 4-0 in yesterday's International League headliner.

The former Card set the leaders down with four hits while his mates made the most of Ben Wade's wildness to put the game on ice early. In addition to giving a masterful performance, Max himself got two hits.

The defeat dropped the Chiefs into a virtual three-way tie with Jersey City and Baltimore.

Rochester Red Wings continued on their losing ways as Newark Bears pounded out a 6-4 victory. The Red Wings used four pitchers in a futile effort to stem the Bear's onslaught, with John Clay, who relieved Ira Hutchinson, charged with the loss. Randall Gumpert, although relieved in the sixth, received credit for the triumph.

Buffalo Bisons outsluggered Jersey City Giants to win their second game of the season 13-10. Floyd Giebel was touched for all of the Giants' hits and runs.

Al Ott came to his relief in the ninth to put down a Giant rally, but Giebel was the winning pitcher. Sid Gordon hit a homer for the Little Giants.

Big Mike Naymick allowed one hit, a home run by Grant Colman in the fourth inning, as Baltimore after his triumphs in the winter track meets he was welcomed by Admiral John Downes, who remarked: "Congratulations. I wouldn't like to have you running after me."

Replied Cochran: "Sir, I'd hate to have you after me!"

Goalie Russ Dertell Joined Port Arthur Club By Chance

Sensational Blocker Left in Lakehead City Last Fall by Red Dutton When Passport Negotiations Fell Through—Considered Sure Bet for Stardom in National Hockey League.

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Toronto, April 24.—(C)—The accident that left Russ Dertell of Saskatoon in Port Arthur to play senior hockey has been worth thousands of dollars to the Lakehead club.

Of course, there is no telling how far Bearcats would have travelled along the playoff trail without Dertell. They may have picked up another goalie just as good, although there are people in these parts today who will tell you that isn't possible. Dertell is the answer for much of the Ports' progress.

The story behind his transfer to Port Arthur is fairly well known. He tried out with Brooklyn Americans there last fall but couldn't get a passport when Red Dutton wanted to take him into the United States, possibly to Springfield in the American League.

So Red left him in Port Arthur, lyn, Sewell, Pittsburgh, and Beggs, Cincinnati, and Gumbert, St. Louis, and Lee, Chicago, 2-0.

That's what they tried to do in the last game, and they got a goal full of pucks for their trouble. . . . Marc T. (Montreal Gazette) McNeil told the other day how Frank Patrick of Canadiens figured the Toronto Detroit series. Patrick suspects the defeatist attitude of Sweeney Schriner and Turk Broda after Detroit's three straight wins were "inspired propaganda. . . . Designed to reduce the incentive of the opposition, lull them into a false sense of security."

Incidentally: Kenny Lindsay, Vancouver's smart bartender, boxer, is expected to come to Eastern Canada for a spot of fighting. . . . His title possibilities are still strong enough to promote arguments. . . . Ken (Edmonton Journal) McConnell put the finger on the Oshawa-Portage Memorial Cup final with a piece in his column that Oshawa would have to be good to open up against the Terriers and survive. . . .
