CBC Toronto struck

TORONTO (CP) — Technicians in a wage-contract dispute with the CBC went on strike here Thursday in the latest of a series of cross-country rotating strikes.

Announcers on radio and television refused to work with management personnel operating the service, a CBC spokesman said, and newsroom staff refused to cross picket lines set up outside the corporation's downtown headquarters.

The CBC said there were minor interruptions in service on the radio and television networks. Management personnel Thursday night wrote the news reports, announced programs and did work normally done by the technicians.

The CBC here said technicians in its Calgary radio outlet, CBR, also walked out late in the day and announcers there refused to work. It said a similar situation prevailed in Windsor radio station CBE.

In Calgary, a union spokesman said four of eight technicians were working at the time. He declined to say when those who walked out would return.

The CBC has 35 technicians in Calgary but 23 of them were television employees who remained on the job.

Ulster super-march planned despite ban

Chow knowhow

An army marches on its stomach, and WO Frank (Red) Huse, left, makes sure it is a well-filled stomach. WO Huse, who hails from Waterville and North Hatley, is attached to the 1st battalion, Royal 22e Regiment, the famed Vandoos, in Lahr, West Germany. Red Huse, a Service Corps cook, is responsible for feeding 500 hungry soldiers of the battalion when they are out on exercises or manoeuvres. He is the son of Mrs. Albert Scott, R.R. 2, Waterville, and is married to the former Arlene Elveridge of Magog.

BELFAST (CP) — Another march that could end in the jaws of death loomed in bloodsoaked Northern Ireland as Roman Catholic civil rights demonstrators defied appeals and called for a huge procession Sunday in the little border town of Newry.

Organizers said Thursday the march will be a silent, peaceful protest against internment of terrorist suspects without trial and as a tribute to those who died for democracy during a similar march in Londonderry last Sunday.

In an off-hand manner, they suggested at a news conference that the outlawed Irish Republican Army should stay away. But those who have witnessed similar spectacles are convinced the IRA will be present and that a test against British military barriers will take place.

The IRA seeks to unite the predominantly-Protestant North with the mainly-Roman Catholic Irish Republic to the south.

British Prime Minister Heath had appealed to William Cardinal Conway, Roman Catholic primate of all Ireland, and John Cardinal Heenan, Roman Catholic spiritual leader in Britain, to use their influence to call off the march and avert another tragedy.

A source close to Heath suggested that world leaders, including Prime Minister Trudeau, should also appeal to the marchers to withdraw their challenge against banned demonstrations.

But a Civil Rights Association spokesman said the association has received no request from the religious leaders.

INFLUENCE LIMITED
In London, a spokesman for Cardinal Heenan said the cardinal will continue to work for a just and lasting peace but indicated there is little the cardinal can do to influence Roman Catholic extremists in Northern Ireland.

The Northern Ireland government appealed "in the name of Christian charity" for a cancellation of the scheduled demonstration.

VC reject peace bid

PARIS (Reuter) — The Viet Cong rejected President Nixon's eight-point peace plan Thursday but offered to enter into direct negotiations with Saigon provided South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu resigns immediately.

The Viet Cong in what they termed an elaboration of the first two points of their own seven-point plan, also called upon Nixon to set a date for the withdrawal of all U.S. troops and equipment—a date by which all prisoners of war on both sides would be released.

U.S. reactions to the Viet Cong rejection of Nixon's proposals and new "elaborations" differed in Paris and in Washington.

In Paris, U.S. delegation spokesman Stephen Ledogar said there was no change in the Communist position. He added, "It is clear that there is no change in their goals."

In Washington, however, State Secretary William P. Rogers told correspondents the United States considered it noteworthy that the Communists had not flatly rejected the Nixon plan.

Quebec in focus

Sherbrooke director named

OTTAWA (CP) — Thomas Boudreau, director of social medicine at the University of Sherbrooke, has been appointed chairman of a special committee to study the role of nurse practitioners.

The announcement Thursday by the federal health department said the committee will define the roles and functions of nurse practitioners in providing primary health care services. It would also propose guides for developing the necessary skills.

Nurse practitioners are nurses who receive special training enabling them to work more as a kind of doctor's assistant.

All health science centres in Canadian universities now are involved in planning some type of education program to prepare nurses for an expanded role in Canadian health services.

Hog subsidies okay

QUEBEC (CP) — Agriculture Minister Normand Toupin said Thursday he is satisfied with announced subsidies for Quebec hog producers, but he hopes there will be larger grants for egg and broiler chicken producers.

Mr. Toupin referred to Prime Minister Trudeau's speech Wednesday night to the Co-operative Federée de Québec in which he announced subsidy payments of $5 per eligible hog up to a maximum of 200 hogs to Canadian producers after prices slipped to "disastrous levels" in 1971.

In Montreal, the president of the Catholic Farmers Union said in a statement that Mr. Trudeau did not correct the "flagrant injustice" of feed grain prices paid by farmers in the east.

The prime minister "has recognized this injustice but he did not decree differentiated payments as a compensation for Quebec hog, egg and turkey farmers," Albert Allain said.

Independents oppose chain

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec's 2,000 independent grocers have filed a formal protest against an application by a large grocery chain for permission to sell apple cider.

Steinberg's Ltd., in an application two weeks ago to the Quebec Liquor Board, has asked for licences to sell alcoholic cider in 21 Montreal-area stores.

In its protest the 2,000-member Association des Détaillants de l'Alimentation du Québec, which represents the bulk of the province's independent grocers, said chain stores should not be granted licences to sell cider, manufacture of which became legal last November.

Sale of cider has been confined to stores licensed to sell beer. Such licences are limited to independent grocers as government policy to equalize competition.

Vallieres job jeopardized

MONTREAL (CF) — The Superior Court judge who authorized Pierre Vallieres's release from jail last week said Thursday the 33-year-old author may have to request changes in his conditions of release if he intends to work outside Montreal.

Mr. Justice Roger Dumont said he believed he had ordered Vallieres not to leave the Montreal judicial district as one of five conditions of his release pending a March 6 court appearance on charges of counselling to commit murder and kidnapping.

Vallieres said Thursday he feels free to go anywhere in Canada and believed the wording of the condition of residence meant he agreed to have a Montreal residence.

Arson "50 per cent"

MONTREAL (CP) — A report on a fire at the Canadian Liquid Air building which took five lives last week says the probable cause of the blaze was "50 per cent negligence and 50 per cent arson."

A spokesman for the fire investigation bureau, which is expected to issue the report today, said that unless someone confesses to setting the fire, investigators may never know the exact cause.

Queen marks 20 years on throne Sunday

LONDON (CP) — A shy, sensitive girl thrust suddenly into one of the world's toughest and most exposed jobs celebrates 20 years on the British throne Sunday. Most of her 35 million subjects in this country would agree—whatever their views on the monarchy—that she personally has come through the testing years of a King's reign.

From the withdrawn, rather stiff young woman of 25 abruptly recalled from a 1952 Kenya holiday on the death of King George VI, Elizabeth II matured into a strong, stable personality who has done much to strengthen the world's oldest throne in a time of world-wide political change.

In the two decades since that slim figure in black came nervously down the aircraft steps at wintry London airport to assume her globe-girdling inheritance, Elizabeth has presided over a period of swiftest development than any of her 39 predecessors.

Her reign as England's sixth ruling Queen has spanned six prime ministers from Sir Winston Churchill in the era of post-war rationing back to Edward Heath in the age of Europe's affluent Common Market.

ATTITUDES CHANGE
She has also seen the Commonwealth change out of all recognition and her own influence sharply recede. When she ascended the throne, Indian independence was only five years old, colonial Africa had not yet begun its march to self-rule and the old British Empire remained much as before under a new name.

Today, all but a handful of dependencies are fully-fledged members of the United Nations.

Public attitudes towards monarchy have also changed dramatically, in Canada and other Commonwealth countries as well as in Britain. Here it has gone from the over-adulation of the "second Elizabethan age" to a comfortable, taken-for-granted attitude by most of the population.

In the mid-1950s, a peer who criticized the Queen's speeches was hit in the face in a busy London street by an outraged monarchist. In 1971, the respected Spectator weekly magazine felt able to publish an article freely speculating on Princess Anne's sex life.

Crowds for the Queen's public appearances are smaller these days, and the young are mostly indifferent.

"We just don't think about the Queen," said one London teen-ager.

NOT BORN TO THRONE
Like her father, Elizabeth was not born to be sovereign. Thrown into the succession by the astounding abdication of her uncle, Edward VIII, now Duke of Windsor, Elizabeth early learned her responsibilities but was deprived by her father's early death of being coached in the mysteries of monarchy.

Historian Sir Charles Petrie, assessing the Queen's first 20 years, says Elizabeth was "condemned to learn by experience, which may have been the best teacher in the long run, but which was certainly the hardest."

Elizabeth, who calls herself "a country person" and is plainly happiest in the domestic circle at Balmoral or Sandringham, may well prefer that history had taken a different course.

The one overriding characteristic she inherited from her father is a powerful sense of duty. She has also found immense strength and support in her husband, Prince Philip, and in the Queen Mother, who skilfully absorbs many arduous royal duties and can advise her daughter from years of experience.

MONARCHY LIVES
Philip's aim, says historian Petrie, has been to "make the monarchy alive to the people in a way that King Edward VIII tried, but did not give him self time, to do."

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — "I am strongly in favor of a candidate and when the election is over I will give you his name, the winner," Joseph R. Smallwood said Thursday as he arrived in St. John's and prepared to hand the reins of the Newfoundland Liberal party to a new leader who will be chosen Saturday.

The party's leadership convention opens at 2 p.m. today with four candidates in the running.

More than 1,000 are expected to attend, including about 780 voting delegates and ex-officio party members.

The candidates are Edward M. Roberts, 31, health minister in the former Liberal government, Tom Burgess, 38, who rejoined the party last Monday, Vincent Spencer, 44, a Windsor, Nfld. businessman and Rod Moores, 22, a second-year student at Memorial University.

The winner could be known by 5 p.m. Saturday.

Mr. Smallwood, 71, who had been on vacation in Clearwater, Fla., since resigning the Liberal government Jan. 18 after 18 years in office, is scheduled to officially step down as party leader Monday.

A battle over whether the party should accept Mr. Burgess, returned as New Labrador party leader in the Oct. 28 provincial election and Hugh Shea, Progressive Conservative who also joined the Liberals Monday, could develop if a former cabinet minister goes ahead with plans to ask delegates to reject both.

OPPOSES ACCEPTANCE
Clyde Wells, a Corner Brook lawyer who quit as minister without portfolio in 1968 after a disagreement with Mr. Smallwood, said Tuesday the two should not be accepted.

The Liberal caucus voted Wednesday to admit Mr. Burgess and Mr. Shea, elected as a PC in St. John's South with a majority of 2,630.

Under the party's constitution, the delegates could reverse the caucus decision.

The switch gave the Liberals numerical superiority in the 42-seat legislature. Standing now is Liberal 21, Conservative 20 and vacant one. The vacancy was created by the resignation of Liberal Augustus Oldford, elected in Fortune Bay.

In the election Premier Frank Moores' Conservatives won 21 and the Liberals 20.

Mr. Smallwood's government remained in office until the Liberals lost a legal battle over a disputed seat.

Mr. Roberts said in an interview Thursday the Liberals would not attempt to bring down the government when the legislature meets in mid-February as long as the PC administration acted in the best interests of the province.

Mr. Burgess announced three weeks ago he would sit as an NLP member after promising in November to support the PCs, then rejoined the Liberals Monday and entered the leadership race. He had originally been a Liberal party member.

Mr. Shea, who announced he would sit as an independent PC before deciding to join the Liberals, said earlier he thought his district should be represented by a cabinet minister.

Back home, and the music is better than ever

By JOHN DINNING

SUTTON — A new company has emerged on the Eastern Townships scene. Floyd Ling, president of Colony Records Regd., said recently they hope to have a recording studio operating here by early summer.

Floyd and his wife, Joan, are the only active members of the company at present. Both are local musicians. Joan, nee Davis, is from Mansonville, while Floyd is a native of Knowlton.

Colony released their first label last week, a 45 r.p.m. stereo. The numbers are Day, Night, Day and Dark Clouds. That master tape was produced in Trenton, Ont., and pressed at the RCA plant at Smith's Falls. It has been released to radio stations and juke box operators.

Music and lyrics are by Mrs. Ling's brother, Arnold Davis. Mr. Davis is presently appearing on the television show Nashville North and expects to be reunited with Colony in approximately five weeks.

DEVELOP TALENT
"Our aim is to develop and support Canadian talent," says Floyd. "We will have over 80 original numbers ready when the studio gets operational. These will be available for other artists' use."

The Lings got together four years ago and made their musical debut at the Beaver

Pond Inn in West Bolton, Joan, at that time, was untried as a musician, but Floyd taught her to play bass. "Her voice was natural and improved with time," he says.

They lingered in the Eastern Townships, playing engagements at Glen Sutton, and then headed for the brighter lights of Ontario. "I guess we played 80 per cent of all the hotels in Ontario," said Floyd. "From Kapuskasing to Windsor, Toronto, the Soo, Belleville — golly, you name the towns and cities!"

While in Ontario he got the bug to learn all he could about recording techniques. "Most of it by osmosis I guess."

They had made the Day, Night, Day tape and nothing had been done with it during an eight-month period. "That was when I decided we should take a flyer and try and get our own records pressed. This ultimately led to the idea of creation of the tapping studio in Sutton."

HAVE UNIQUE DRUMMER
Day, Night, Day was done by Floyd, Joan, Arnold and "Ralph," their electric drummer.

Ralph got his sobriquet on a phone-in show on a television outlet in Maddocks, Ont. "People were calling in requests and they could see only Joan and myself," says Floyd. "They kept asking where the drummer was."

We rigged a pair of cowboy boots covered with a four-foot sombrero and introduced him as Ralph, the drunken drummer who couldn't stand or walk."

At the moment, the Lings are using another recording studio. They plan on the finest of recording equipment and will insist on finest pressing. "A good 45 will play at least 3,000 times a side, and we want to ensure ourselves and any artists who avail themselves of our facilities of the finest," Floyd says.

DECRIES OVER-EXPOSURE
"It is our fondest hope to encourage local groups in any way we can. The CRIC decision on well-known artists has undoubtedly created over-exposure such as in the cases of Anne Murray and Gordon Lightfoot. Development of other home-grown talent would alleviate the situation."

Day, Night, Day, was described as a combination of Buck Owens and Creedence Clearwater Revival, while the flip side, Dark Clouds is touted as half Funk and half Buck Owens.

"Our most important mailing was to station WWVA, Wheeling, W. Va. If it goes there it will be a great help in ensuring the future success of our studio," concludes Floyd.

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19): Guard against sudden action in personal affairs, while driving a car, or in making decisions.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Aspects excellent for dealing with older people. Visit shut-ins; telephone long distance; write.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Accent is on altruistic efforts. Give of yourself as well as of material offerings where possible.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Financial situation should be a little more relaxed now and you can enjoy a few luxuries.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Nerves are affected by too much tension and over-activity. Try to relax during much of the day.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You now have a better opportunity to separate the good from the bad. Your judgment has improved.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Your imagination highly stimulated, but bring ideas down to practical level before giving them a test.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Recognizing one's faults is one thing, correcting them quite another. A good time to start on the latter.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): An active day, with emphasis on social doings late in the day. Get some rest before noon.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Even though you have surplus energy, don't go to extremes that can be detrimental to your health.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Let your imagination roam. You'll be surprised at the pleasant paths along which it may lead you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Go straight to the point instead of hemming and hawing about what you should or shouldn't say.

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19): Splits with loved ones are possible if you abandon the course of prudent expression of your opinions.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Don't "bite" on a get-rich-quick scheme presented to you, perhaps over the telephone. Be wary!

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): General business trends optimistic in most Gemini charts. A word of caution: Be careful about giving advice.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Be discreet; avoid secret attachments. Do nothing you wouldn't want reported in the newspaper!

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Accent is on the practical as opposed to the whimsical today, yet you tend toward the latter.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): If you find that you underestimated your expenses, you may have to re-budget entirely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Some past injury may show drastic improvement rather suddenly, and you are unable to account for it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Don't daydream on the job. Lack of attention to detail could result in serious error, perhaps in injury.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Cater to your mate when he or she isn't feeling up to par and you'll get like treatment in reverse situation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Be careful not to lose your temper as you might lose a good deal more in the long run. Cool it!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): If concerned about a problem, try to recall what you did about similar situation in distant past.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Home will be a pleasant, peaceful place when you return to it with the bacon and eggs tonight.

Townships report

THE SHERBROOKE RECORD — FRI., FEB. 4, 1972

DRIVERS RECEIVE AWARDS — A total of 36 drivers from the Eastern Townships Regional Transportation System were presented with awards yesterday for safe driving. There hasn't been a serious accident to a student on an ETRTS bus since the new

ETRTS boasts fine driving records

LENNOXVILLE (LH) — When high schools in the Eastern Townships were reorganized on a regional basis a few years ago, one of the main problems to overcome was that of transporting the students to their new schools, in some instances up to 40 miles away.

Last year the 83 drivers working for the ETRTS transported some 6,500 students twice daily to 15 schools in the area. The drivers log some 1,147,000 miles yearly, servicing an area of about 6,500 square miles. The net result after two years — one sprained ankle caused by horseplay between two students.

PRESENT AWARDS

Mr. Hodge is proud of his drivers and yesterday he and Eastern Townships regional director of education Ian MacLeay and Alexander Galt Regional High School principal Frank Boushel presented 16 drivers with safe driving awards. A total of 42 drivers clocked "chargeable" free accident years last year and 36 drivers have had chargeable free years for the past two and three years.

The term "chargeable free" refers to the fact that none of these drivers has had damage to his bus extensive enough to report to the insurance company — spotless records.

"This shows the high quality of our drivers," regional director MacLeay said during the presentation of the awards yesterday.

But not all the drivers deserving awards were on hand for yesterday's presentation. Many were still on the road completing the day's rounds and for Mr. Hodge, the day doesn't end until the last student has been safely transported to his destination.

Maplemount priorities, costs change

HUNTINGVILLE — The annual meeting of the Corporation of Maplemount Homes Inc. took place Jan. 30 at Huntingville Christian Church. All members and friends were welcomed by the chairman of the board of directors, Dr. W.J. Klinck.

A word of thanks was extended to all for their continuing interest and help in the work of Maplemount. Dr. Klinck explained that Maplemount Homes Inc. is run by a board of directors consisting of five members — Dr. Klinck, chairman; Lynwood Taylor, treasurer; and Dr. Robert Paulette, secretary, as well as H. Munkittrick and J. Klinck. R.J. Gurnett continues to serve under this board as administrator, and Mr. Gurnett was commended for his fine leadership in this capacity.

Dr. Klinck said there are presently 26 children under the care of Maplemount Homes Inc. and he added a special vote of thanks to all members of staff for their fine contribution and devotion to the work. These include the administrator and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gurnett, and those serving as houseparents during the year 1971 — Miss Doris Pitman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seale and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Miller. Also helping as foster parents were Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Sparkes.

TOOK NEW TURN

In 1971 the work at Maplemount Homes Inc. took a new direction, with the phasing out of the Maplemount property in Cookshire, to a cottage set up in the community of Huntingville. The Cookshire property is being rented until a suitable sale of the property can be made.

Following these general remarks, Dr. Klinck called on the administrator to give his report and financial statement. Mr. Gurnett prefaced his remarks by saying that a total of 135 children have now passed through the doors of Maplemount since the Home was opened in 1962.

He then used various charts and diagrams to make several interesting observations:

— In the past five years the yearly budget for Maplemount Homes Inc. has increased from $22,000 in 1967 to $49,000 in 1971.

— Government contributions to the project continue to make up 50 per cent or more of the annual budget.

— The average cost per child in 1967 was $1,020, in 1971 the average cost per child was $1,900. This increase in operating costs is due to increased capital investment and increased salaries for staff to meet minimum wage requirements of the government.

CITES DISADVANTAGES

Mr. Gurnett was then asked about the disadvantages in continuing to use the Cookshire property. He said the government is becoming increasingly unhappy with institutions run on such a large scale. The experience of Maplemount Homes Inc. this past year has proven that the cottage-style structure results in a slightly reduced overhead per child, as well as providing better all-round care for the child.

A question was asked about the schooling of the children at Maplemount. Mr. Gurnett replied that those of public school age were attending Lennoxville Elementary School. Those of high school age were all going to Alexander Galt Regional in Lennoxville.

He said 13 high school student mid-year reports only three would be considered below average and he felt this was most encouraging. There are now three or four children in Grade 11, and plans are now being made to further their education beyond high school.

The question of placement of Maplemount Homes Inc. children in private homes was raised. Mr. Gurnett said this had been successfully attempted in two homes in the area; however, each placement had to have government approval. He went on to say that more children could be placed in this way if more people volunteered to open their homes to such children.

SAYS NEED PARENTS

Mr. Gurnett was then asked about the immediate needs of Maplemount Homes Inc.

There is an immediate need for houseparents for one of the cottages, he said, because Miss Pitman has left to return to the missionfield in Angola, Africa. Mr. and Mrs. Gurnett are filling in on a day to day basis.

Also, there are always financial needs in terms of long-range planning, Mr. Gurnett feels that the Corporation should aim at building smaller cottage units to house fewer children — four or five at most.

The ideal for each cottage would be a married couple with one or possibly two children of their own looking after four or five Maplemount children. The husband could have full time employment of his own, and then only the wife would be on the Maplemount payroll, thus reducing staff salaries.

To conclude the meeting, Dr. Klinck called on each director and each housefather present to comment on the work. All participating had the highest words of praise for the outstanding leadership exhibited by Mr. Gurnett and his wife.

CHANGE FOR BETTER

Several comments were made about the evident change for the better in the lives of many of the children under the care of Maplemount Homes Inc. Another very significant evaluation of the work being done among the children was that here was institutional care of children being carried out with the utmost efficiency, without the children themselves feeling that they were being institutionalized. It was suggested that Mr. Gurnett should write up his experiences, so that this information could be passed on to other organizations involved in child care.

The final item of business was the call for a motion to name the auditors for the financial statement of Maplemount Homes Inc. for the year 1971. It was moved by Rodney Brand and seconded by R. Rublee that the audited financial statement be done by McDonald Currie and Co.

The meeting was closed in prayer by Arnold Reynolds.

New cattle executive forms

LEVIS — A good representation from the various sectors of production attended the general meeting of the Quebec Cattlemen's Association held in Levis Jan. 15.

The new executive is formed of president R. Laberge of Danville, and vice-presidents E.

Watson of Bury and G. Gauvin of Ayer's Cliff, as well as directors N. Fontaine of St-Marc and George Goggin of Plessisville. In choosing the directors, the various economical regions were represented as much as possible.

The proposed program for the year includes a membership campaign, the study of the possibility of affiliation with the national association, as well as a study of marketing which would include public auctions and the sale of dead animals. The directors also foresee the organizing of information days on cattle production.

After obtaining its charter this spring, the Association will hold a second general meeting. Those interested should contact the secretary, David Fontaine, at the 871 Ontario Street, Sherbrooke.

Bedford

The flowers in St. James Church on Sunday were in memory of Mr. Arthur Lampman given by his family.

Mr. Clayton Crelier is a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, where he has recently undergone brain surgery.

Mrs. Otis Blair is spending some time in Hamilton, Ont., with her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. L. Farr.

The death took place on January 26 of Mr. Philippe Charbonneau of Henryville, at Hospital Lagace, where he had been a patient for a time. The funeral was held on Friday at ten o'clock from the Dion Funeral Home to the parish church at Henryville.

Issue report

BROME (LH) — An all-electric model home will be on display to the public in Brome from Sunday, Feb. 6, to Sunday, Feb. 13, a spokesman for the exhibition said yesterday.

The home, constructed by Eastern Townships Construction Co. Ltd., will be on display every day between 1 p.m. and 10 p.m., and there is no charge for admission.

A drawing will be made for a water heater, and organizers are hoping that a good number of persons will visit the "noelectric home" at 118 Chateauguay Street.

Quebec crops up

SHERBROOKE (LH) — The agricultural section of the provincial office of statistics recently issued estimates of the output of Quebec's main crops in 1971. Production figures are based on yield reports as of Oct. 15, 1971, from crop correspondents and the agronomists of the Quebec department of agriculture and colonization.

The 1971 production of oats is estimated at 37.9 million bushels as compared to 34.6 million bushels in 1970, an increase of 9.6 per cent.

About 4.2 million bushels of mixed grain were harvested as compared to 3.5 million bushels in 1970.

A considerable increase in the area in which corn is sown to grain caused total production to grow from 7.3 million bushels in 1970 to 10.4 million bushels in 1971, an increase of more than 43 per cent.

The potato crop rose from 8.1 million cwt. in 1970 to 8.9 million cwt. in 1971 due to an increased average yield per acre.

The hay crop, at 6.9 million tons, is about the same as last year.

Average yields per acre are higher than last year, except for rye and dry beans, which made a slightly lower showing. Average yields of tame hay are about the same as last year.

March of Dimes campaign backed

STANSTEAD (IH) — The planning of events for the months of February and March took place at the Feb. 1 meeting of the Auxiliary of Stanstead Frontier Branch No. 5.

The president, Mrs. Helen Heald, presided and the meeting was opened in the usual manner with prayer.

Mrs. Heald asked for another two members to solicit for the March of Dimes campaign now on at the Three Villages. This house-to-house canvas will continue until mid-February. Members of the Legion are canvassing businesses.

As several young persons have expressed a desire to "do something" for the campaign, it was agreed to allow them to have a tag day Feb. 12. The girls will be carrying properly marked cans and solicit at least a dime for a tag.

The Auxiliary voted a sum of $25 for the March of Dimes. WILL SERVE FIREMEN

Members agreed to serve a dinner Feb. 19 for the Rock Island Firemen's annual get-together.

Mrs. Heald reminded members of the seminar workshop Feb. 19 at the Coaticook Legion Home for the district. This will be directed by personnel from Quebec Command, Montreal, on Legion development and leadership.

Primary plans were made for the March 18 St. Patrick's sale and tea at the Legion Memorial Home from 3 to 5 p.m. Committees were named for the various sale tables. That evening a dance will be held for members and guests in the hall, with Les Beaulieu's orchestra engaged to play.

The next meeting will be March 7 when hostesses will be Mrs. Aline Roy, Mrs. Vernice Middleton, Mrs. Ada Curtis and Mrs. Doris Belanger.

The Sister Sue gifts were distributed, thus revealing the mystery of the past year. Names were again drawn for another Sister Sue year.

Buffet refreshments — almost a banquet — were served by Mrs. Hazel Westover, Mrs. Cora Emslie, Mrs. Sylvia Bronson, Mrs. Dorothy Blake, Mrs. Enid Cooke and Mrs. Marjorie Davis.

Repeat?

On Dec. 28, 1971, Prime Minister Trudeau used an hour of television time to defend the economic policies of his government and to argue that the Canadian economy had been performing better than any other in the industrialized world. Inflation, he said, had moderated. Canada's growth rate had been more rapid than that of its foreign competitors, even Japan. Given the troubled state of all nations, he was well satisfied with his management at the end of last year. But within a fortnight things suddenly changed.

While the prime minister was speaking, the December retail price index, presumably unknown to him, had surged upward to stand five per cent above its level a year earlier. And the new year had hardly opened before the labor unions in many of the nation's largest industries were demanding wage increases which, if granted, would keep prices rising at the 1971 rate, or faster.

In the light of these developments, Mr. Trudeau's remarks at the old year's end are worth rereading now as an indication of his future policy in a situation that he did not then foresee. After he had justified the government's measures against inflation, in 1969 and 1970, Mr. Trudeau was asked whether he would repeat them under similar circumstances, knowing their social cost in unemployment. He replied:

"I think I would take the same line of conduct. I rather think that other elements in the economy would realize the consequences of not co-operating with the government's fight on inflation and would say, 'we'd better go along with it and show some restraint, otherwise no government can be successful in keeping inflation down completely and without co-operating having no cost to pay in terms of unemployment. So it's a choice. I think if we had to go through it again, I rather think there would be more sympathy in those sections of the economy who didn't co-operate.'"

Precise language is not to be expected in a television interview but the meaning of the prime minister's rambling syntax is clear enough. He says, first, that "some elements in the economy" did not co-operate in the government's struggle against inflation, and though he does not identify them, he is obviously referring to the labor unions. They alone refused to accept the government's wage guidelines while business management as a whole accepted its profit guidelines. The prime minister says, second, that "if we had to go through it again" — in other words if inflation recurred in serious form — he would expect "more sympathy" from the unions.

Two weeks after this statement the price index showed that inflation had recurred in a form which every consumer will regard as very serious, even if the government does not. A five per cent rise in the cost of living over a single year, with more to come, means that the nation already has started to "go through it again." But what "sympathy" is the government getting from the unions? Are they saying, as Mr. Trudeau anticipated, that "we'd better go along with it and show some restraint"? On the contrary, the wage demands of 1972 are generally as high as those of previous years and in some major industries much higher.

Now that Mr. Trudeau's hopeful forecast has been denied by the price index, and industrial bargaining is already under way, what does the government propose to do? This question might be considered academic when the prime minister spoke on Dec. 28 last, and so he seemed to consider it then. It is not academic today as every housewife knows when she goes shopping and as every Liberal candidate will know when he seeks her vote in this year's election. For the government, prices are becoming the most practical question in politics and, of course, the most serious threat to the economy.

The government has given no answer to that question because it was not foreseen, until recent weeks, as more than a remote possibility. Thus the schedule of politics called for an election in spring or autumn on the assumption that prices would not rise much in the meantime, that the voters would not be unduly disturbed and that the government's good works would be appreciated. But if the schedule is not changed, the economic assumptions are, and the political assumptions look equally dubious.

How does the government intend to deal with a situation easily foreseeable and yet unforeseen? Has it any anti-inflation policy at all? None has appeared yet. The government refuses to consider economic controls and has abandoned its original guidelines. It is not even seriously urging restraint on wages that will be paid in prices later on. It may argue that the Conservative Opposition has no policy, either, and this is quite true. But it offers no comfort to the consumer and no assurance of stable growth in the economy. Atrid, for purely political reasons, to face the underlying problem of wages and costs, hoping to get past the election before they have to face it, both parties are falling a nation which apparently must "go through it again."

Opinion from the French press

Ottawa Le Droit: A large number of doctors have never fulfilled their responsibilities on the non-medical use of drugs in Canada and the LeDain inquiry commission states that not only do many doctors not fully understand the drug phenomenon but they do not seek to understand it. The profession has, in a general way, more or less abandoned this field of activity to non-medical personnel.

Quebec Le Soleil: Will the air traffic controllers strike pave the way for the institution of binding arbitration? One may well wonder after the return to work by the controllers, since the work stoppage did not give the strikers what they expected and since the controllers have agreed to accept arbitration and the arbitration will be enforceable.

Whatever the case, this 11-day war will surely leave sequelae as much for the airlines as the general public. During the strike, American airports close to the border, such as at Buffalo, Burlington, Syracuse, Rochester etc. were overflowing. Halifax served as a takeoff for European air liners which took on passengers affected by the strike.

The traveller was able to go anywhere if he had to; if he didn't, he could wait. Other transportation companies did a thriving business while Canadian airlines were temporarily shut down. The bus and train were a great help to the travelling public and we saw that pressure was exerted for the permanent re-establishment of some train runs which have been closed down. Such strikes put their thumb on the problem of the exclusiveness of services — such as airlines and in other fields such as radio and television the public is frustrated by exclusive contracts granted to public companies affected by general or rotating strikes.

Although in the case of transportation the problem of private companies is less pressing. Crown corporations are everybody's business. Air Canada says it lost $1 million daily throughout the strike, not to mention what the 11,000 or so employees laid off have lost.

Indeed, what can an airline do when planes are not flying? What can airport employees do, or those of public services tied to the airline industry. What can hotels and ports of call which live off the industry do?

It would be surprising if Air Canada can enjoy a better year financially this year than last. In fact, Air Canada has already announced a five-per cent increase in fares. Last year, according to statistics of the International Air Transport Association, airlines whether public or private, lost more than $300 million or North Atlantic routes alone. Prolonged work stoppages will surely not add an element of prosperity.

In negotiations with the air traffic controllers, Prof. Noel Hall, the federal mediator from Victoria, must resolve salaries and hours of work.

But the malaise has not ended. They say other technicians may soon strike, paralysing some airports, crippling others. It is to be hoped that the strike by one will serve as a lesson to others; if a first strike had to be settled by binding arbitration, it would be logical if other unions skipped the costly preliminary strike and proceeded directly to binding arbitration. All parties involved would thus be winners, not to mention the public — A. Tremblay (Jan. 31)

Sherbrooke La Tribune: The Prevost commission, charged with leading an inquiry into the administration of justice in Quebec, revealed several months ago what many citizens knew already—that organized crime was well and truly implanted in la belle province.

But there is quite a difference between stating that organized crime exists and making it disappear. The Prevost commission suggested that an efficient way to conduct the fight against this scourge of modern society was to hold a public inquiry. Experience in the past has shown that organized crime has obtained its strength from within the political and judicial system. Indeed, organized crime cannot function without the support or participation, direct or indirect, of persons high up in society, whether in political, business or judicial life.

Jerome Choquette, Quebec justice minister, has revealed that the government will follow the commission's recommendations in giving the Quebec police commission a mandate to inquire into this thorny question.

It was an encouraging announcement.

The battle thus appears to be off on the right foot, especially since the justice minister has announced other measures destined to improve the situation in Quebec. The government will establish an office to study bankruptcies and frauds and thus fight economic crime, one of the underworld's principal sources of income. The government will also introduce legislation to permit unification of the judicial system and a real surveillance of judicial power.

All these steps have been certainly greeted favorably by everyone, except, of course, organized crime — Alain Guilbert (Jan. 29) with William F. Buckley Jr.

JERUSALEM — It is much easier to talk here about the mid-east problem than it is in New York City. One gentleman, for instance, on whose judgments Israeli security heavily depends, told me most calmly that he does not in the least blame the Egyptians for being hostile to Israel, in the light of the events of the past 25 years. And a best-seller here by Amos Elon — The Israelis, Founders and Sons — savors the abundant ironies that Israel, spawned by nationalism and persecution, should now find itself the instrument of the persecution of a minority which is historically blameless of harming the Jews; and threatened by a bitter nationalism which Israel had a hand in catalyzing.

So? So there is something called "Israeli intransigence." Mrs. Golda Meier rolls the phrase on her tongue, and asks: "Isn't it better to be alive and intransigent, than dead and accommodating?"

There are rumors here that the old warrior is getting ready to make concessions which will affront some of her supporters as a fissure in the great wall of intransigence; but the concessions will most likely be formalistic: better jaw jaw than war war. Churchill is forever quoted as saying, and he was half right. The Six Day War of 1967 did not settle anything permanently, but the kind of jawing that preceded it was spiritually exhausting, because the hostile Arab world had Israel at bayonet point, threatened by the Egyptians in the Sinai and in the Negev, by the Jordanians in the Jordan valley, and by the Syrians in the northeast, at the Golan Heights.

Now, occupying all these areas, Israel can afford to jaw, unafraid of a blitzkrieg's putting an end to a republic in which are congested more human dreams — spiritual, social, and political — than in any area of the world of comparable size.

Israel isn't going to risk her survival on anybody's say so. "American president after president has made guarantees to Israel," Mrs. Meier will tell you, "and I put a lot of faith in the word of an American president. But I know how the world works. There isn't any American president who is going to give me command of the Sixth Fleet. I was in New York during the invasion of East Pakistan. You call the U.S. ambassador in desperation. He calls the State Department. The State Department calls the White House. The White House calls the UN ambassador. I watched it all on television when I was in New York. Malik making long speeches. The Chinese laughing. Everybody talking. Days go by. Israel could be dead in days. Look at East Pakistan."

The thing to avoid, if you can, is historical moralizing. Otherwise you will run the danger of sounding like one of those dreary Mensheviks, who palisaded every conversation for 50 years by going on about what might have been done to make the Russian revolution go right, and who was at fault.

The point is: Israel is at war with nations which made war on Israel. Now Israel is in operational command of territories which were used to wage war against her. Israel isn't going to give up those territories in response to plausible and exquisitely symmetrical proposals that spring out of the mind of Mr. Jarring, or Mr. Rogers, or even Buckminster Fuller.

They are resourceful polemicists, in these parts, and one of them reminded me that it was 25 years before the U.S. returned Okinawa to Japan, and that on the occasion of doing so, our Secretary of State remarked that the return of captured territory is "very rare," but that the Japan of today is different from the Japan of Pearl Harbor, which is quite true, but of course the Egypt of today, though different from the Egypt of 1967, is not quite that substantially different.

Israel will take her own measure of the developing situation in Egypt, and — in the description of one Israeli official — will look for a "process" to begin, not an "act" to consummate reconciliation. I cannot help but meditate on how much better off we would be if we had used the same yardstick in our dealings with the Soviet Union.

Not all the resolutions in the world will move Israel. Only experience will. Peering over the barbed wire at the Suez Canal, at an Egyptian soldier on the opposite shore, I asked the lieutenant whether they ever waved at each other. No, he said "But it's better than a year ago, when we cursed at each other." That's progress, in these parts.

History today

Rush for gold on

Gold was discovered in the Fraser River area of British Columbia 114 years ago today — in 1858. Tens of thousands of men headed for the West Coast. Hundreds of ships jammed with gold-seekers worked their way across the Gulf of Georgia to the Fraser, then made the dangerous trip up the swift-running river. Hundreds died without ever seeing a speck of gold dust but others made it and panned fortunes from the sandbars at such places as Hope, Boston Bar and Barkerville. When the gold fever died, thousands of prospectors stayed to found businesses and industries.

1963 — The resignation of Canadian Defence Minister Harkness precipitated the collapse of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's cabinet.

1957 — A federal grand jury in New York indicted Jack and Myra Sobel and Jacob Albam on charges of spying for the Soviet Union.

1955 — Prime Minister Mohammed Ali of Pakistan announced at a Commonwealth conference that his country would become a republic within the British Commonwealth.

1954 — Queen Elizabeth II became the first reigning sovereign to open the Australian Parliament.

1906 — X-rays were demonstrated for the first time at McGill University, Montreal.

A new game of pin the tail

Kissinger is big news

WASHINGTON — Dr. Henry A. Kissinger is big news nowadays. The two national news magazines had him on their respective front covers last week, for example. But even their vast staffs do not seem to have got to the inner essence of the man, which also explains his peculiar relationship with President Nixon.

The essence can be put in four words: Balance of power politics. The fact is that both the president and Henry Kissinger broadly believe that the world balance of power is the mainspring of history. Although younger, both belong to this reporter's generation, and we had a good, hard lesson about that.

The lesson was simple enough. The British and French, who had the main responsibility in those days, let things slide until Germany's rearmament under Adolf Hitler had caused the balance of power to go to hell in a handbasket. Whereupon the British and French inevitably discovered that they had no remaining choices, except to fight like cornered rats, or to give in.

Fortunately for every one of us, the British particularly chose to defy the apparent odds, and to fight with measureless courage. The British left-wing intellectuals, symbolized by that virtuous old fool, George Lansbury, were responsible for the silly slogans that largely produced the second world war, such as "Arms races cause wars." Some British right-wingers, symbolized by the Marquess of Halifax, also played their own sordid roles, now revealed by the publication of the Cabinet papers.

At any rate, this was the central experience, in very different ways, in the lives of Richard M. Nixon and Henry A. Kissinger. It brought the United States into the second world war. Thank God it did, too. For where should we be today if the United States had stood aside and successful Nazi Germany had been the first to develop a full panoply of nuclear weapons?

It is this odd, very differently shared experience, in turn, which underlies the relationship between Richard Nixon and Henry Kissinger. The two men, so different in all other ways, nonetheless talk the same language — the balance of power language that most American intellectuals no longer understand because they never read history.

These two men's shared belief in balance of power politics further explains just about everything that President Nixon has done in the foreign arena, with Dr. Kissinger's advice and help. Take the Vietnamese war, as the most important example.

When President Nixon was elected, he asked Dr. Kissinger to explore every possible American course of action — including what would have amounted to abject surrender. In 1969, even the most abject surrender would have been loudly applauded.

Matter of fact
with Joseph Alsop

But the president and Kissinger concluded that such an American surrender would have disastrous effects on the overall world balance of power. They further concluded that these effects would be widely felt, in Israel, for example, where the Soviet threat was already grave. So they decided on the middle course of Vietnamization.

The same theme runs straight through the Chinese story. In 1969, the Soviets approached the White House, pretty directly, to ask whether we would look the other way while they undertook the nuclear castration of China. President Nixon replied with a very loud raspberry — not at all because he had illusions about Communist China, but because China's nuclear castration would have caused (and may still cause) a most unfavorable upset in the world balance of power.

By the same token, balance of power considerations played the decisive role in the arrangements for the forthcoming Nixon visit to China. The Chinese Communist leaders are still deathly afraid of nuclear castration because of the enormous Soviet investments in a vast additional military buildup on their frontier since 1969. The president, and Dr. Kissinger, too, are still afraid of the same upset in the balance of power that they feared three years ago.

So the true object of the Nixon visit to Peking will be to deter the Soviet attack on China, if this can possibly be done. And the same theme even ran through the much misrepresented White House management of the Indian crisis.

The president took great risks in the Indian crisis, both at home and abroad. Either you must suppose that he is irrational, or you must believe that he credited the intelligence that the Indians were getting ready to dismember and destroy West Pakistan, under the aegis of the Soviets. Balance of power considerations therefore required him to take the risks he did take, with the result that the Soviets called the Indians off.

The balance of power is in truth the key to the Nixon-Kissinger relationship.

Scouts in action

By GORDON HARMER

Third Sherbrooke Cub Pack had a most enjoyable outing last Saturday and snowmobile rides and sleigh rides highlighted the activities.

Akela Deborah Chilvers wants to thank all those who loaned snowmobiles and helped in any way to make the party a huge success. The Ashley Hatcher Farm in Lennoxville was the site, and all those who attended report they had a terrific time.

At the last meeting of the Third Sherbrooke Cub Pack there were 27 boys in attendance.

Four badges were given out, three for skiing and one for house orderly. Gary Budning, Lorne Harmer and Robin Moore were happy to receive their skiing badges, and Noel Bolicuc was awarded the house orderly badge.

Instruction was given in Blue Star 8 and Green Star 13, covering the map of the community. The national anthem and the Scout left handshake were discussed, and a dodge ball game was enjoyed by the boys.

Points were: Grey: 59; Red: 59; Green: 57; Blue: 56; Tawny: 55; and White: 54.

Named to Bishop's group

LENNOXVILLE — V. O. Marquez, chairman of the board of Northern Electric Company Limited, has accepted the chairmanship of the advisory committee to the division of business administration of Bishop's University. It has been announced by the principal and vice-chancellor Dr. D.M. Healy.

The committee is composed of 12 prominent businessmen and industrialists acting in a consultative capacity. Mr. Marquez succeeds retiring E. W. Gilbey, formerly chairman of the board of Union Screen Plate of Lennoxville, now a division of Canadian Aviation Electronics.

Bishop's University grants a bachelor's degree in business administration. Twenty per cent of the students are enrolled in its courses first established in 1958. The division is under the direction of professor R.E.G. Duval.

PC vote condemns forces unification

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative party delegates support more government assistance to the Canadian publishing and newspaper industry and suggest morale in the armed forces could be improved by restoring three distinctive services.

The party released Thursday the final policy votes by delegates to last December's convention here. Among other things, they support greater action on urban problems and transportation, a bigger role for science, more government initiatives in preserving economic independence and steps to ensure the country's sovereignty.

The party's parliamentary caucus is not bound by the views of delegates.

The results of the voting, in this latest list of policy papers, shows that 33 per cent of delegates favored establishment of a

IMPORTANT WARNING TO CONSUMERS

Since July the 21st, 1971, The Consumer Protection Act has prohibited the establishment and operation of pyramid sales systems, and participation in any such system. Therefore, by a judgement of the Supreme Court for the Province of Quebec, dated December 9, 1971, the Promotion et Succes Ltee. company was ordered to cease its operation of the pyramid sales system.

This judgement applies to the company itself, as well as to all persons who buy the personality courses sold by the company and who in turn, sell these courses.

The Consumer Protection Act prohibits this type of sales in order to protect consumers who, in the majority of cases, never recover their initial payment, which in effect, becomes a complete loss.

You are therefore requested to report all activities of the Promotion et Succes Ltee. company to the following addresses:

Eastern Townships annual church meeting reports

Rock Island: Stanstead South

ROCK ISLAND — The annual meeting of Stanstead South church was held on Monday evening, January 31 in the church hall. Rev. G. Joyce, the pastor presided and opened the session with prayer.

The annual reports of all groups of the church were presented and indicated the year 1971 to have been a good one in all aspects.

Allen Nourse, secretary, gave the Sunday school report. This school serves two churches, Stanstead South and Centenary. There are 158 students registered and are taught by a staff of 28 teachers. There are also 36 assistant teachers who "fill in" as needed. The average attendance is 144 which indicates the interest shown.

Mr. Nourse noted extra enjoyments of the students, such as sleigh rides, picnic, Rally Day, Christmas Party and a special White Gift Christmas service. It costs about a thousand dollars a year to operate the school.

The Senior Citizens activities were noted in a report. The Canusa Unit have a membership of 18 women and held ten meetings. They contribute to the work of the church and otherwise in the communities and abroad in two countries, the United States and Canada. They support a Foster Child. Mrs. A.S. Judd, Jr. giving the report noted the Club endeavors in 1971 which were many but perhaps the highlight was in conjunction with the Helping Circle to entertain over 100 Senior Citizens from the Montreal areas last spring and served a noon dinner. So successful was the day that the Montreal people wish to return again this year in mid May.

Mrs. Lloyd Selby gave a brief Helping Circle report. Mrs. Harry Goodall gave the leaders and treasury report of the Ladies Aid, noting their activities and projects. In the summer months there was fellowship as the women met a few times to complete a quilt on request.

Lloyd Selby gave the church treasury report and Rev. Mr. Joyce gave Walter Curtis Memorial Fund report. It was noted that from the Memorial Fund bibles had been purchased for the Sunday school. It was recommended that another carton of the new hymn books be purchased and paid from the Memorial Funds. These to be placed in the church as Memoriams to church people in whose name money has been given.

Rev. Mr. Joyce gave his report. This was much the same as that of Centenary. He spoke about the Community Center and its achievements. In 1971 year the Center was able to complete its payment of the $2,500 loan to the Home Mission Board. This has been paid in two years and not four as planned. The Center is used by the A.A. Association, the Red Cross, the Clothing Pool, and Rock Island fire department as well as others by request and the Sunday school use the facilities each Sunday for some of their classes.

During the year Rev. Mr. Joyce officiated at 14 funerals, 17 weddings and 9 baptisms of people connected with Stanstead South Church.

The reports of the nominations committee is as follows: Session, one year, R. Nourse, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Aldrich; two years, Gordon Johnston and Mrs. A.S. Judd, Jr.; three years, T. Walsh, Wayland Ladd and Roger Beadle; four years, Walter Curtis, A.S. Judd, Sr. and Carroll Smith.

Board of Stewards: One year, Harvey Gardyne, John Flood, A.S. Judd, Jr., Fayne Hovey; two years, Ronald Nourse, Raymond Curtis, Urban Flynn and Roland Curtis; three years, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodall, Lloyd Selby, Treasurer, and Robert Darby, envelope secretary. Four years, C.R. MacLean, Bruce Lafae, Gordon Johnston and A.S. Judd, Sr.

Representative to Presbytery, Walter Curtis with Carroll Smith the alternate. Ushers, Rudolph Racine, chairman. Missions and Service, Mrs. Mary Rumery.

Board of trustees, A.S. Judd, Sr., L.O. Selby, Robert Darby, Carroll Smith. The name of A.S. Judd, Jr. was also recommended to this board and will be placed before the trustees at their next meeting in March.

A very hearty vote of thanks was given to be sent to Mrs. Alice McHarg, choir director, and to the Town of Rock Island for snow clearance, remarks of appreciation were also spoken by Rev. Mr. Joyce and others to the many who work in all branches of the church work.

Plans were briefly discussed about the Board with assistance from the women's groups to have new sinks, faucets and counter covering in the church kitchen.

After the benediction, John Flood showed an educational film of the ethnic Netsilik Eskimos and their way of life.

Committees of the Ladies Aid and Helping Circle served coffee and delicious home made assorted doughnuts.

Frelighsburg: Bishop Stewart

FRELIGHSBURG — In his report to the annual vestry of the Bishop Stewart Memorial Church, the Rector, Rev. R.W. Toase referred to a slight increase in the average attendance, at Services during the year.

Referring to the sharing of the Church, with the Roman Catholic congregation of St-Francois d'Assise, following the fire which destroyed the interior of their church, last February, Mr. Toase said he and the wardens found the meetings with Father Bernard Fontaine and the wardens of that congregation, most amicable. With a cooperative spirit, the representatives of both congregations dealt with the practical matters, during the months that followed. "The St-Francois d'Assise congregation have renovated their Church and we wish them God's blessing," he said.

Two special services were held last Fall. On September 11, the Federated Charities of St-Hyacinthe launched their appeal for funds, with Bishop Sanschagrin celebrating the Mass at 5 p.m., according to the Roman rite. Archdeacon Desmond Rowe of Granby, delivered the sermon in English. After the service, a reception was held at Camp Garagona, which is operated by the District of Bedford Association for the mentally retarded. The camp, located a quarter of a mile from the Church is now receiving support from the Federated appeal.

On October 17, the Deanery of Bedford held Evensong at 7:30 p.m. The Deanery clergy took part in the service and the St. Helen's School choir led in the singing. The ladies of the Parish served tea in the Church hall following the service.

Mrs. Nellie Whitcomb, a faithful member, had almost completed her 50th year as organist, when she became ill last September. She is presently convalescing at the Foyer St. Antoine, at Eccles Hill. Good wishes were sent to Mrs. Whitcomb from the vestry, for her continued recovery.

The Christmas Sale and tea was the most successful yet. It was the sixth consecutive sale.

Early in the year, the Parish Council, consisting of representatives from Dunham and Frelighsburg, in accordance with Canon Law, met and elected two lay delegates to Synod.

In closing, the Rector thanked the members for their support, cooperation and personal kindness shown him throughout the year.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Nettie Leavitt, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Reports were given from the Helping Hand Society, Church School, Financial, Cemetery and people's warden.

The treasurer, Mrs. Nettie Leavitt reported that a donation had been received towards the cost of mounting Bishop Stewart's bell in the nave of the Church. Thanks were expressed to Edmund Borden for mounting the bell and to Mrs. Norma Young for supplying the historical write-up hanging beside it.

There being no further business for 1971, the election of officers followed for the ensuing year. Rector's warden — Weldon Hadlock; People's Warden — Eric Corey; Treasurer — Mrs. Nettie Leavitt; Envelope Secretary — Mrs. Mabel Westover; Auditors — Mrs. Norma Young and Mrs. Grace Miller; Vestry Clerk — Miss Joyce Burt; Parish Council — Mrs. Myrtle Tait and Mrs. Penny Murray.

Building committee — (chairman) Edmund Borden, Lawrence Goodhue, Duncan Tait, and Cecil Mahannah.

Cemetery Committee — (chairman) Lionel Tait, Kenny Corey, Asa Stote, Calvo Soule and Ivan Robinson.

Sidesmen — Fred Holland, Duncan and Lionel Tait, Ivan and Charles Robinson, Kenny and Clifton Corey, Sherman Young, Cecil Mahannah and Mike Murray.

After completing the remaining business on the agenda, Mr. Toase closed the meeting with prayers and refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by the ladies present.

Cookshire: St. Peter's

COOKSHIRE — The annual Vestry meeting of St. Peter's Anglican Church was held at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 23, in the Parish Hall, with ten members present. After opening the meeting with prayer, the chairman, Rev. A. Fairbairn, appointed Mrs. Colin Standish as secretary, who then read the minutes of the meeting, which were ratified.

Mr. Malcolm Fraser presented the Church warden's financial statement, which showed a credit balance, after all expenses had been paid. It was decided to transfer part of the John W. French legacy to the endowments, and to use the balance as a working float.

Prior to the election of Church Wardens, a summary of the regulations now in force in the Diocese of Quebec, affecting the duties of Church Wardens, including Canon XI, which spells out particular duties, was presented by the Rector.

The chairman spoke of the work the previous Church Wardens had performed, thanking Mr. Reginald Hodge, who had served as Rector's warden for many years, and nominated Mr. Malcolm Fraser as warden for 1972.

With much regret, the meeting accepted the resignation of Mr. Wallace Matthews, who had served most faithfully as People's Warden, and elected his son, Mr. Garnet Matthews, as his successor for 1972. As Mr. Garnet Matthews is under 21, Mr. R. Hodge kindly agreed to serve as honorary warden, until such time as the age of majority is lowered to 18, expected to take place later this year. The members of the Vestry promised their full support of this young man in this task.

Mr. Colin Standish and Mr. Malcolm Mowle were re-appointed auditors, and Mr. James R. French was reappointed convenor of sidesmen.

The new constitution of the diocese requires that each time before voting for the election of a lay representative to Synod, those voting make a declaration in writing that they are members of the Anglican church of Canada, belong to no other religious denomination, and are entitled by the rules now in force to vote at such an election. After signing this declaration, the members of the Vestry elected Mr. Malcolm Fraser as lay representative to the 1972 Synod, with Mrs. Donald Standish as substitute.

The chairman informed the meeting that the corporation had decided to set up temporary vestries at the back of the church during the heating season, and to shut down the furnace in the parish hall, except when actually needed, noting that this action had resulted in a saving in fuel costs of about $20.00 per week.

Mrs. Malcolm Fraser reported on the work of St. Peter's Ladies Guild including a donation 'over and above' that promised to the Church wardens, for a total of $345.00.

In deciding on a contribution to the Diocesan Budget for 1972 of $300 the Vestry again decided to withhold $25.00 in protest against the action of the General Synod donating church funds to the American War Deserters Committee. The $25.00 will be sent, instead, directly to the Bishop of Calcutta to help the Pakistani refugees.

The Rector announced that Father Porter would be joining the parish, coming to live in Marbleton parsonage, the expenses of both parsonages are shared between the five congregations of the parish on the same ratio as the stipend.

It was noted that the subscriptions to the Quebec Diocesan Gazette would be $2.00 for 1972, and it was decided to send a circular to all readers in St. Peter's congregation, asking for their subscriptions to be paid as soon as possible.

Discussing the congregational budget for 1972, it was noted that the only anticipated increase over last year was the stipend increase, voted by the 1971 Synod, coupled with the 'years of service' increment introduced by the 1970 Synod. As the stipends are shared between the five congregations, it was felt that this increase could be handled.

There being no further business, the chairman closed the meeting at 4 p.m.

Stanstead: Centenary United

STANSTEAD — The 1971 year of Centenary United church, Stanstead, was a feature of the annual meeting held on Wednesday evening, January 26 in the church hall.

Rev. G. Joyce, chaired the meeting. In his report he said that 1971 year has been another in which it has been proven the value of linking the three congregations of Centenary, Stanstead South and Wesley Churches of Stanstead, Rock Island and Beebe.

Special highlights of the year were noted. These included the Wednesday mornings of prayer and Bible reading and sharing together in fellowship since October with rarely less than 20 people attending.

At Beebe, the great event was the coming of Rev. James Brooks and Mrs. Brooks who are assisting so much in the work of the Beebe and Graniteville churches as well as being keenly involved in every church project.

Rev. Mr. Joyce said, "We do not know what changes are ahead for us, but I am confident we have in these three churches people and structure able to adapt to any that may come."

Reports were those of G.A. Colt, church treasurer, the financial report of the church trustees by A.E. Curtis, Jr., and the Bugbee Library fund.

Officers reported for the Afternoon Unit and the Allegro Unit, women's societies of the church who have had a most successful year. Their obligations were all fulfilled, they are supporting a foster child, are engaged in community work and are most active within the church.

Mr. Joyce read the report of the Sunday school which is most active.

During 1971 Rev. Mr. Joyce officiated for 44 funerals of which seven were people of the Centenary church, at 27 weddings and 20 baptisms—four weddings and eight baptisms in Centenary church. The church has a total of 179 members of which 68 are non-resident.

The latter part of the year two women assisted to serve Communion. This is the first time this has been done in Centenary Church, although Mrs. Clare Brown had previously assisted the men.

The following officers were elected: Board of Sessions; Mr. and Mrs. B.W. Brown, Mrs. Clare Brown, Bernard Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aikman, Howard Aikman and A.P. Gordon, recording secretary.

Board of Stewards: H.M. Cass, Patrick Deslandes, J.D. Ferguson, Edgar Hill, Malcolm Morrison, Russell Wallace, Richard Wallace, Mrs. Howard Aikman, and Gerold Colt, the treasurer and envelope secretary.

Property Committee: Patrick Deslandes, Edgar Hill, Charles Merriman, Malcolm Morrison.

Board of Trustees: B. W. Brown, G.A. Colt, C. Merriman, L.F. Tilton, Sr. and A.E. Curtis, Jr., treasurer.

Representative to Presbytery, Howard Aikman.

Several motions of appreciation were recorded for the many people who are active in the life of the church.

Prior to the annual Palm Sunday Easter Festival of Music in March, the interior of the church will undergo minor repairs and a paint job. Tenders were submitted and that of a local person recommended to the Board by the people gathered. The Board will make arrangements for the work to commence in mid February.

After the meeting members of the Afternoon Unit served coffee and doughnuts.

Preventing botulism Making voluntary precautions law

Consumers are concerned about the safety of all foods including canned foods. They want reassurance that food is safe. What is industry and government doing to insure the safety of food?

Since 1925, four deaths have been reported from the consumption of commercially canned foods in the United States (one death occurred in 1941, two in 1963, and one in 1971). These four deaths occurred over a period during which consumers ate the contents of more than 775 billion containers of canned food.

By contrast approximately 700 deaths occurred since 1925 by botulism contracted from home canned foods.

Botulism is a rare but lethal poisoning caused by the ingestion of botulin, the toxin produced by several types of the botulinum bacterium spores. Botulinum bacteria are common spore producing organisms but the organisms themselves are not hazardous. They are of no significance in acid products such as fruits and tomatoes. It is only in a low-acid environment (vegetables, meats, fish, etc.) in the absence of air that lethal toxins are produced, usually accompanied by gas production. The sterilizing heat process applied during canning destroys the botulinum spores if present.

Beginning in 1919 and continuing to the present the research laboratories of the National Canners Association have conducted intensive studies on the prevention of botulism. This research resulted initially in circulars which detailed the processing to be used for various products and in January 1930 the sterilizing processes to be used for various non-acid foods were collected and published as Bulletin No. 26-L "Processes for Non-Acid Canned Foods." The tenth edition of this publication was released in 1966. Copies have been distributed throughout the canning industry, food technology departments of universities and government agencies. A companion bulletin covering glass packed food separately, No. 30-L "Processes for Low-Acid Canned Foods in Glass Containers" was first published in 1948 and the fourth edition released in July, 1971.

The result of continuous research and educational programs is an excellent record of preventing botulism in commercially canned foods. The four instances since 1925 of botulism from commercially canned foods were due to failure to utilize existing knowledge on processing.

Each canning plant has its own quality assurance program. In most companies highly trained research and quality control personnel continuously monitor the canning operation and analyze the product. Samples are taken both before and after processing. Visual observations of accurate mercury in glass thermometers are supplemented by automatic recording of time and temperature so that the process for each batch can be checked after the processing is completed. In the event of a serious problem the canning operations are halted and an investigation of the problem and its causes is initiated. Operations commence again only when the problem is solved and corrective measures taken.

In the rare case that canned food capable of causing botulism leaves the processing plant, immediate steps are taken by industry and government to recall the suspect product. Consumers and retailers are notified through various media and are supplied with relevant information such as the code number on the containers, the product, the brand name and the areas of distribution.

This is the ultimate control a company and the government has on a product. Recently there have been a number of recalls of canned and other foods. Traditionally, recalls were requested only in situations of serious hazard to health. Gradually, the scope of the recall program was broadened to include less serious violations not involving a health hazard.

The House Government Operations Committee recently conducted hearings on the recall procedures of the Food and Drug Administration. It reported: "The recall is a valuable enforcement tool, but its over use by FDA in recent years has reduced public protection. FDA has been remiss in not promulgating recall regulations and has not consistent policy in determining when to seize and when to recall." The day after the Committee report was released, there occurred a recall of green beans which were later found to be completely safe.

The recall is an alarming and expensive process to the taxpayer and to the processor. Overzealous use of the recall and adversary journalistic reporting of it has, in part, helped to shake consumer confidence in our nation's food supply. Thus, the Congress and the canning industry are taking steps to regain this confidence and reassure the consumer of the safety of processed foods.

Consumers deserve to be spared needless fears, they should realize though, that the vast majority of food-borne diseases are the result of mishandling or improper storage in the kitchens of homes, restaurants and institutions.

Numerous proposals have been introduced in the Congress calling for the reorganization of the Food and Drug Administration and the United States Department of Agriculture meat and poultry inspection services as well as provision of more extensive enforcement powers.

For example, Congressman Patten (D-N.J.) has introduced a bill, H.R. 10817, which proposes annual registration and inspection of all food manufacturers and processors. By January 1 of each year food processors would be required to register their companies' names and all plants with the Secretary of HEW. By law each plant would be inspected at least once a year.

The safety and quality of foods cannot be assured by government alone, government has to work with industry. The meshing of industry's quality control programs and government regulatory activities will enable consumers to use food products with confidence." (Alvin H. Randall, President of NCA)

The National Canners Association has taken an unprecedented step and proposed to the Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration a program to ensure safe processing procedures for canned foods through the formalization of many presently voluntary practices. The canning industry "Better Process Control Plan" would require every canner to register with the FDA his company name, principal place of business and all plant locations. In addition, each commercially processed canned food would be marketed in code to indicate when and by whom it was processed, already a voluntary practice.

Each processor of low-acid canned foods would be required to file a description of his processes specifying the type of cooker to be used, the minimum initial temperature and the time and temperature of processing for each food in every container size. Canners would be required to follow the processes as filed. In addition, the code on containers of low-acid foods would be permitted to inspect and copy the required low-acid processing records to verify adequate processing. If the processing records should reveal inadvertent under processing, the lot involved would have to be set aside for further evaluation.

Students are the world's 'lost cause'

HALIFAX (CP) - The president of Mount St. Vincent's student council says students are "no longer the moral crusaders of the world," but are "its chief lost cause."

Margaret Doring of Halifax, who plans to study law, said in the last decade students have fought "beyond the bounds of reason" for a better system, and now must seriously question the value of things they demanded a few short years ago.

Writing in the university's new publication Insight, Miss Doring said students demanded change but did not always know if change was for the better.

She questioned whether students were really qualified to lead crusades. "Have we not become so complacent about our morals that we have begun to believe that, because we are students, we are different?"

She said students should seriously question their ability to decide "great moral questions," because they were not educated enough to do this.

Miss Doring, a member of the university's board of governors, believes that students still have a role to play as crusaders, pacifists, idealists and political activists, but these roles must be superseded by a search for themselves.

MUST BE REALISTIC
"First, we look at ourselves and realize we are not the self-appointed saviours of mankind."

"We must be idealistic only in terms of what is possible. We have a duty to ourselves and to all who come after. We can no longer be satisfied with seeing what is wrong; we must know what is wrong."

"... We have to carry our concern further than our graduating years and to do that our knowledge must be expanded, deepened and more firmly embedded in our lives."

Miss Doring, who is active in student affairs, said people regard students with a feeling "that runs somewhere between scorn and hate."

The reason was because students had enjoyed their "holier-than-thou attitude."

"We've looked down on and tried to intimidate a system that has made us what we are."

Students could prove themselves by ceasing to be stereotypes of the student activist and becoming real people.
"We must touch those things in our world that we dislike the most. We must make an attempt to align ourselves with the raw reality and dissociate ourselves from the idealistic image we have drawn."

Woollerton's: over 30 years of service

Some 30 years ago, Howard Woollerton took over the Customs Brokerage business then located in the Whiting Block on Wellington St. north in Sherbrooke from Robert Seiveright.

The original office space was rented from George Stevenson for $12.50 per week and typists were paid between $8 and $12 a week.

Both Mr. Woollerton and the Customs Brokerage business have come a long way since then.

Mr. Woollerton acted as Secretary-treasurer of the Quebec Provincial Dominion Chartered Customs House Brokers Association from 1948-1968 and was elected its president on August 1, 1971. He was elected Secretary-treasurer of the Dominion of Canada Branch of the Chartered Customs House Brokers in 1955 and is still serving in this capacity. He is also the representative on the Board of Directors of the Quebec Provincial Division.

Mr. Woollerton is the founding member of the Canadian Customs Housing Brokerage Institute. He served as a Commissioner on the Lennoxville school board from 1959-1968 and is a past director of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Woollerton has been in the customs brokerage business over 30 years, his secretary treasurer Robert H. Woollerton 19 years, the computing clerk, Dorothy Smith, 26 years, typist Vivian Hutchison 10 years and book-keeper Valerie Aulis 3 years.

The staff in the Woollerton Customs Brokerage Business have been with the firm an average of 17.8 years, a testament to the success of any business.

Take its Mini-Hemi engine for starters... great performance and economy. Then check out some standard features like the adjustable steering column, the reclining buckets, the disc brakes up front, the flow-through ventilation and there's more. In fact about the only extras you can add are a radio and automatic transmission. Colt comes in a 2-door hardtop, 2-door coupe, 4-door sedan plus a roomy 4-door station wagon. Quality engineering, economy and surprising performance... some baby.

Dodge Charger - sporty... at a family man's price.

From the Charger SE to the Charger Coupe, here's sports car looks and family roominess. Standard engines are a 225 slant six or a 318 V8, but you needn't stop there. Naturally Torsion Bars up front, Unitized Construction and 7-stage rustproofing are also standard. '72 Dodge Charger, the racy good looks you want while staying within the budget... Count on it.

Dodge Challenger - extra "Specialty Compact".

Nobody could call this baby a conventional car, it just isn't built that way. But if you want a sure-footed stance, torsion bars up front, tower back buckets, full instrumentation, in other words a little more excitement out of life, then Challenger or Challenger Rallye should be your choice... you'll want no other.

Count on Dodge.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Headache has many causes

Dear Dr. Lamb - Will you please explain and comment on tension headaches. I am 36 and have had constant headaches since my menopause seven years ago. I have been to three doctors and have had hospital check-ups and tests. All say it is tension headache and I will have to learn to live with it. I haven't learned yet. It is getting the best of me. I have two friends who take estrogen shots and get along fine. Do you think estrogen would help me and do you recommend it? My doctor has never prescribed it and I can't tell a doctor what to do.

the term tension headache is often used.

In individual attacks aspirin, massage and local heat are often helpful.

It is difficult to know whether estrogen would help you or not. In general, it is thought that this is contributing to tension headache the best form of treatment is to get at the source. Thus, if a person has a sinus problem that causes headache the most satisfactory treatment is to correct the sinus condition. If you are having menopausal symptoms that contribute to nervousness and in turn cause you to have muscle contractions which lead to muscular headaches, then no doubt the administration of estrogen could help.

Not every woman needs estrogen after her periods have stopped. There are other sources of estrogen in the body besides the ovaries. Sometimes these sources are adequate. This explains in part why some women tolerate the change of life better than others.

A doctor can tell whether a woman has enough estrogen or not by doing a special examination on a vaginal smear and studying the characteristics of the cells. They are different if there is not sufficient estrogen. There are other ways, too, of measuring estrogen level, but you could certainly ask your doctor to either do or have such an examination done. It might be well to go to a gynecologist for this purpose.

Dear Reader - Headache is a very common complaint.

Possibly 90 per cent of the population has headache at one time or another. There are a variety of causes for headache including sinus problems, dental problems, the vascular type headaches, the migraine headaches and those which are related to muscle soreness. The latter group are often called tension headaches. Any of the muscles around the head or the back of the neck that remain in sustained contraction for prolonged periods of time may cause headaches.

Individuals who are tense or have other factors which cause them to have prolonged muscle contractions are prone to these headaches. Because nervousness or tension is often associated with tensing of the muscles around the head and neck

HUMAN KINDNESS

Dear Margaret Brookfield: I'm a widow who was married for 46 years. I never thought my life would be like this. I know what loneliness is now and believe it's the worst disease imaginable. I have a daughter, my only child, whom I educated to the best of my ability. She has a master's degree and is a guidance psychologist. Although we live in the same town, I only go to her home when I'm invited. I work part-time and want nothing whatsoever of my daughter, only the milk of human kindness. I know I must be doing something wrong, because we're not very close. I cannot come up with the answer as to why I'm not a satisfactory mother. If you could tell me how to be a better one, I would be grateful. H.B., Miami Beach, Fla.

Dear H.B.: Perhaps you were counting too much on your daughter's help in dispelling your loneliness. You don't indicate if she has a family of her own, but certain demands on her time and her energies. Therefore, you should not construe - as a form of unkindness - her inability to be fully involved with you. Why not try a fresh approach? First, develop some other friendships and activities so you're not so lonely. Second, think about what you might do to make your daughter's life more pleasant, rather than what she might do for you. Your own life could be more pleasant as a result.

BACK TO WORK

Dear Margaret Brookfield: I'm 49 years old and my children are grown. After being a housewife for 28 years, it seems as though I don't fit in with the workaday world anymore. It's like being an adolescent all over again. But I do want to go back to work. How can I bridge this terrible gap? C.R., Brattleboro, Vt.

Dear C.R.: If it's any consolation, you're not alone. Many mature women have trouble getting back into the swing of things. Because of this, our Information Center has developed a reading list for women interested in returning to work or business. You can get a copy by sending a self-addressed - and stamped - envelope to the Information Center on the Mature Women, 3 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019. Other readers can also receive a copy, by coming the same.

gilt-edge slam your banker would lend you money on.

A studious South would cash three top cards in every suit but diamonds while watching the fall of cards from the East and West hands. He would note that West showed out after two leads of each major suit and had discarded two diamonds while East would have chucked a spade on the third club lead.

This would tell him that West had been dealt exactly two spades, two hearts, four clubs and five diamonds. The count of the East hand would show that it had been dealt just two diamonds.

Therefore, the odds would be 5-2 that West would hold the diamond queen and a mere counter would finesse against West. A person who knows how to count to fullest advantage would know that West's last four cards were three diamonds and one club. He would have planned his play to win the ninth trick in his own hand and would simply throw West in with that club. West would be forced to lead a diamond and it would not matter who held the queen.

There is a lot of counting in today's hand. South counts 22 points and opens two no-trump. North counts 14 more and raises to six. West opens the 10 of clubs. South looks at dummy and counts 11 top tricks. He can score a 12th if either clubs or hearts break 3-3. If neither of those suits behaves nicely South still has a two-way finesse for the queen of diamonds. All in all it is the sort of

Young swimming hopefuls aim at $3,000, Olympics

By LEWIS HARRIS
SHERBROOKE — No one is laughing at Gilles Quenneville any more.
 When I first started the team in 1967, the coach of the Sherbrooke Swim Team said yesterday, "I told them 'we're going to be champions.'"
 "Everybody laughed at me but I didn't laugh along with them. I gave some towels to the 13-year-olds with the words 'Sherbrooke Swim Team' marked on them and told them to keep track of them because in a few years they'd be worth something and people would want to buy them."
 About a month ago, young Michelle Eedard of the Sherbrooke Swim Team broke the provincial record in the 200-metre freestyle for girls aged 9-10 with a time of two minutes 49.8 seconds. She was one second off the Canadian record then, "and I clocked her in a time of 2:46.0 tonight," Quenneville said yesterday.

Another Sherbrooke swimmer, Paul Beaudoin, owns the provincial mark in the 200-metre freestyle for 11-12-year-old boys.
 Quenneville, who starts with about 10-15-year-old boys in 1967, last year restricted the team to the best 100 swimmers among the 250 who asked to try out.
 On Sunday, the team is holding a swim-a-thon at the Montclair School pool to raise money. "Each participant will swim at least one length of the pool, and a maximum of 100 lengths, which he will gladly do whether he is sponsored for 10 cents or up to $1 per length."
 The team, Quenneville explained, receives no government assistance at any level. The team members pay for pool rentals themselves and supply their own equipment.
 "The kids are capable of swimming up to 200 lengths," Quenneville says, "but we're afraid we might frighten off potential sponsors. It might get too expensive."

In the past week, the youngsters have been going from door to door, seeking out sponsors and promising to swim "up to 100 pool lengths."
 "We've collected $1,500 so far. That's more than we had all last year," Quenneville said yesterday. "We're aiming for $3,000 but considering that the kids are going door-to-door, $1,500 is quite good."
 The swim-a-thon will take place in the Montclair School Pool on Portland Street between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Sunday. The Sherbrooke team will keep 75 per cent of the proceeds, while the rest will be equally divided between national and provincial swim associations.
 Where does a 28-year-old native of Magog learn how to coach record breaking swimmers? In Indiana.
 Quenneville, currently a professor in the University of Sherbrooke's physical education department, spent 1969 earning a masters of science degree in physical education at the University of Indiana.

LEARNED FROM VET
 The University of Indiana, Quenneville says, is renowned in world swimming circles and attracts top-notch swimmers from many countries. The Indiana coach, Jim (Doc) Counsilman is considered a world authority.
 "One day, Doc asked me if I'd like to coach some of the kids, and I told him it would be an honor, that I'd do it for free."
 Quenneville brought back to Sherbrooke what he learned in Indiana and though it took "about a year" to put into practice the sophisticated training tactics he learned in Indiana, the Sherbrooke team's recent successes show that his patience has paid dividends.
 Quenneville still visits Indiana every summer where he is working on his doctoral thesis on "fluid mechanics as applied to human motion in water."

"One of our objectives is excellence," Quenneville points out. "If a kid's good enough to make the Olympics," then that's where he should be. If he's only good enough to make the provincial championships, then that's all right too. But we want to get the best out of our kids. I don't like mediocrity."
 Quenneville plans to step up recruiting among the English-speaking population in the Sherbrooke area and says, "The English-French thing is not really a problem."
 "About 20 per cent of our team is English, and I'd say they're among our 30 best. We've got quite a few from Lennoxville."
 A Sherbrooke swimmer at the 1976 Summer Olympics being held in Montreal? "A hell of a job. We may need a small miracle. We won't even have the proper training facilities until 1973."
 But five years ago Quenneville told his swimmers they'd be champions, and they laughed at him then.

SNOWMOBILES OPEN UP THE GREAT WINTER OUTDOORS TO SPORTSMEN

Sees advances in snowmobile production

VALCOURT — Laurent Beaudoin, president and general manager of Bombardier Limited, manufacturer of Ski-Doo and Moto-Ski snowmobiles, says he is highly satisfied with the accomplishments of the Moto-Ski division since its acquisition last March.
 Moto-Ski met with its distributors in Washington and in St. Louis in December, and Mr. Beaudoin attended the meetings. Their purpose was to present the 1972 line of motorcycles and to unveil some of the snowmobile models for next year.
 Jean-Paul Gagnon, president of Moto-Ski Ltd., and Leo Soucy, marketing vice-president of the same division, said that they were delighted with the way the distributors reacted to this presentation.

 "The work accomplished by the research and development team, both as regards engineering and design, is really outstanding," Mr. Gagnon said. "Such achievements are made possible only by the team spirit we have here at the moment. Engineers and technicians, designers and marketing staff have joined in a common effort to enable us to produce a first-class motorcycle. There is no doubt that, in its class, our Moto-Skeeter will be one of the best on the market, and we hope to double our sales figures in this field during the coming year."

 Moto-Ski will offer its dealers three models of motorcycles.
OBSERVED REACTION
 Mr. Soucy said, "In the case of the snowmobiles, the engineers and marketing specialists wished to observe the distributors' reaction to some of the 1973 models. And the reactions came thick and fast."
 "The distributors have been agreeably surprised by the orientation already given to the division. Major changes were revealed in the orientation of the division as well as in the machines themselves and our distributors are highly enthusiastic about the future."

 Following the meetings, Mr. Beaudoin added, "This is good news. We are convinced that Moto-Ski division will attain its objectives. The team has been in place for less than a year, and it is already clear that this division is going to be a major threat to competitors, and an important source of profit in a few years' time. These were precisely the objectives we had in mind when we acquired Moto-Ski."

 "It seemed to us then that this division could considerably increase its share of the market and its profits within a reasonable period. We do not anticipate any profit in the first year of operation, but we do hope to meet our costs. If the reaction of our distributors at these two meetings is any indication, I am convinced that from next year the effects of the change in management will really become apparent."

Hibbard even in Seagram curling title competition

ASBESTOS, Que. (CP) — Art Williams of Pointe Claire skipped his rink to a 8-5 victory over Russ Smith of St. Hubert to maintain first place in section A play after the sixth draw of the provincial seniors curling championship here Thursday. His record is 4-0.

Ron Wright of Hudson maintained his rink's undefeated second place, scoring 15-9 win over the Olivier Samson foursome from Quebec City, to boost his team's record to 3-0.
 In the B section, Gord Symons Royal Montreal team picked up a 9-4 win over the Pierre Greco Quebec City team while Bob Burr's Montreal Glenmore foursome won 10-9 over the John Darby Baie Comeau rink.

 Both wins boosted the teams from their second-place 2-1 record to a three-way first-place tie with the Ken Weldon Montreal Caledonia rink. All have a 3-1 record. Weldon's rink drew a bye in the sixth draw.
 A pair of upsets featured Thursday's play in the fourth draw of the provincial seniors curling championship.
 The first came when Jean-Paul Gauthier of Alma romped to a 12-8 victory over favored Bob Burr of Montreal's Glenmore club. The second was by John Hibbard of Sherbrooke as his rink downed Ken Weldon of the Montreal Caledonia Club by an 8-5 margin.
 Weldon's only loss was to John Hibbard of Sherbrooke in the fourth draw.
 Standings after the sixth draw:

Winner heads west to play

ASBESTOS (LH) — The provincial curling championships are in full swing at the Asbestos Curling Club and, barring a tie, this year's provincial champion will be awarded the Pierre Seagram Trophy tomorrow at 7 p.m.
 Over the past year, 185 curling clubs throughout Quebec have been competing for the right to represent their district in the Asbestos meet.
 Sherbrooke Curling Club is being represented in the tournament by a rink skipped by John Hibbard.

The Drummondville rink from the Celanese Curling Club is representing the northern Eastern Townships region. This rink is made up of M. Nicholson, H. Lockwood, Leo Gerard and skip Louis Bouchard.
 Tomorrow's winner goes on to represent Quebec at the national championships being held this year in Prince Albert, Sask.

The provincial championships are being sponsored by the Seagram company under the auspices of the Quebec Branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club.
 Montreal's Terry Harper went out with a cut hand and Kings goalie Rogatien Vachon suffered a knee injury.
 Hodge suffered his ankle injury when he was hit by a puck or stick, a team spokesman said. He was taken to hospital for x-rays and the ankle was placed in a cast.
 The right winger will be lost to the club four to six weeks.
 At Los Angeles, Vachon hurt his knee trying to stop a shot by Larry Pleau that went for the only Canadiens' score. Vincent Carter, Kings' team doctor, said Vachon apparently tore a ligament in his knee which was to be x-rayed today.
 Vachon said he was deked out of position by Jacques Lemaire who then passed to Pleau.

Three hurt in NHL play

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
 During the last few seasons, Boston Bruins have been noted for their high scoring and hard hitting. This year they've added a new ripple—defence—and it may become fashionable in Boston for years hence.
 For the second consecutive night Thursday, the Bruins' defence was near perfect as they beat Minnesota's North Stars 6-1 and maintained an eight-point lead over New York Rangers in the National Hockey League's East Division.

The night before goalie Gerry Cheevers and his team-mates shut out the Rangers in New York 2-0. Against Minnesota, it was goalie Eddie Johnston's turn.
 In other games Thursday, the Rangers beat Buffalo Sabres 4-2, Philadelphia Flyers edged Detroit Red Wings 5-4, Pittsburgh Penguins downed St. Louis Blues 4-3 and Montreal Canadiens skated to a 1-1 tie with Los Angeles Kings.
IT'S BAD NIGHT
 It was a costly night of NHL action as the Bruins lost Ken Hodge with a fractured ankle.

Dutch skater, Red skier cop first golds

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Sports Editor
SAPPORO, Japan (CP) — Ard Schenk, the Dutchman with the flashing skates, and a Russian soldier, Vyacheslav Vedenin, won the first two gold medals of the Winter Olympic Games Friday while Norway's skaters and skiers snatched the other four lesser medals.
 Schenk, 27-year-old holder of six world records, started out early on the Makomanai outdoor skating rink and raced against the clock for a winning time of seven minutes 23.61 seconds in the men's 5,000 metres, the first speed skating event of the 11-day Games.

Norwegian Fred Maier at Grenoble, France in 1968. But it was nowhere near Schenk's world record at 7:12.0, set last March in Inzell, West Germany.
 Vedenin, a wiry 30-year-old Nordic skier, won the gruelling 30-kilometre cross-country race, equivalent to 18.6 miles, but had to hang on gamely to head off a late Norwegian surge.
 Vedenin, silver medalist in the 50-kilometre race four years ago at Grenoble, defeated 59 skiers from 19 countries in one hour 36 minutes 31.15 seconds.
 The 5,000-metre and cross-country races were the only finals on Friday's program but there was plenty of action in other events including figure skating, bobsledding, luge sled-racing and ki jumping.

 Also, the hockey tournament was in the process of weeding out the teams that will oppose the world champion Russians in the six-country round-robin championship tournament.
 Norway's strong team, defending the unofficial title it won four years ago, took two silver and two bronze medals in the 5,000-metre and cross-country events.
 Skaters Roar Gronvold was second in the 3½-mile final in 7:28.18 and Sten Stensen third in 7:33.39.
 Goran Claesson of Sweden finished fourth in 7:36.17 and Willy Olsen of Norway fifth in 7:36.47.
 In the hockey tournament, the United States defeated Switzerland 5-2 and advanced to the main championship tournament.

Winter Games test on

SHERBROOKE (LH) — On Saturday Feb. 5, competitions to decide the four Sherbrooke representatives to the Eastern Townships finals in the skating competition will be held at the Sherbrooke Sports Palace between 10:30 a.m. and noon.
 The Eastern Townships skating finals will be held in Coaticook on Feb. 12.

All-star line-up going to gate

SHERBROOKE (LH) — Three more names have been added to the growing list of celebrities attending Sherbrooke's Sports Celebrity Dinner at the Wellington Hotel Tuesday, Feb. 15.
 Harness racing fans will be treated to three of the sport's best when Marcel Dostie, Benoit Cote and Bob Pare line up at the starting gate for the annual event.
 Dostie, a native of Megantic, trains horses for the successful Miron farm as well as driving them and has promised to give hints to aspiring drivers straight from the horse's mouth at the upcoming event.
 Dostie copped last year's driver of the year award at Blue Bonnets Raceway in Montreal and is the only driver in the history of Blue Bonnets to win this award twice.
 Cote and Pare will also be answering the call to the post at the Celebrity Dinner. Cote won the driving championship for Montreal in 1970 and placed second to Dostie in the 1971 driver of the year award.
HAS SOLID BACKGROUND
 Though Pare is only 30 years old, he has spent 15 of those years working at Blue Bonnets raceway in various capacities before becoming a driver a few years ago.
 Bearing any last minute scratches, the sport of kings will be well represented at the dinner.
 Service clubs in the Sherbrooke area are organizing this year's event, and discussions are being completed with Montreal Expos baseball and Montreal Alouettes football teams for representatives from those sports.
 As in years past, the sports celebrity dinner is a father and son evening, and the evening's organizers urge that fathers bring their sons along or "adopt" one for the night.
 An adult ticket costs $10, while children's tickets are $5, with all proceeds going to the mentally handicapped.
 All tickets are being sold in advance. Anyone interested in attending the evening should contact Fred Richardson at 569-4133.

Races Sunday

LENNOXVILLE (LH) — Winter carnival snowmobile races are being held Sunday in Lennoxville, and organizers hope the afternoon will be a family event.
 The races start at 1 p.m. over slalom and obstacle courses, and refreshments will be offered.
 The entrance fee is $1. Further information is available from John Mitchell, 415-2584.

BOUNDARY (IH) — Butterfield's here at the Boundary are again sponsoring a photographers' contest for pictures taken at the Rotary Club Sled Dog Derby Feb. 12-13.
 There will be a total of $75 divided into five prizes for the best black and-white snaps entered. The competition is open to amateurs only.
 There is no limit on the number of entries from any individual. The deadline to submit them is March 15. They should be mailed to Photography Contest, Butterfield's, attention Mrs. Joyce Audet, Rock Island, Que., or Derby Line, Vt.
 Competent judges will select the top five, and the winners will be announced. All pictures properly identified will be returned, but the winning photos will be retained to be used for the 1973 Derby.
 The prize money will be distributed $25 for first, $20 for second, $15 for third, $10 for fourth and $5 for fifth.

Biologist to visit

SHERBROOKE (NN) — Benjamin Simard, wildlife service biologist, will visit Sherbrooke Monday.
 Mr. Simard will present a color film and talk on the restoration of the caribou in the Laurentide Park undertaken by the Quebec wildlife service. There will also be an opportunity for hunters and other interested parties to ask questions about the caribou and moose.
 The meeting will take place at the Club de Raquette Dollard, 2534 Raimbault Street, Monday, Feb. 7, at 8 p.m. No admission will be charged and everyone is welcome to attend.

Hatley

Mrs. Wm. Cutler

Montreal spent several days at their home here.

On Wednesday morning, Jan. 26 fire completely destroyed the two tenement home of Mrs. H. L. Moulton here in the center of town. Mrs. Moulton who resided in the upstairs apartment was spending the winter with her relatives in East Falmouth, Mass. The ground floor apartment was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bolton and little daughter, Carolyn. Mr. Bolton was at work at Kilgours in Coaticook but Mrs. Bolton and Carolyn escaped in their night clothes. The voluntary firemen and truck were at the scene within minutes and kept the fire under control and from spreading to the nearby homes. Both families lost all their possessions.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith of Montreal spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Gary Drew in Sherbrooke. A large crowd attended the benefit dance for Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bolton in the Town Hall on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Lester Drew and children spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Gary Drew in Sherbrooke. A large crowd attended the benefit dance for Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bolton in the Town Hall on Saturday evening.

Mrs. H. L. Moulton is spending an indefinite time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cutler being called here by the disastrous fire which destroyed her home and contents on Jan. 26.

She was a faithful member of the LOBA and this lodge held a service Wednesday evening Jan. 5.

The funeral was held from the Webster-Cass Funeral Home, Lennoxville for service at St. George's Anglican Church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon Jan. 6. Archdeacon Sydney Meade officiated. The organ music was played by Mrs. Pennington and the choir sang into the Hills a favorite hymn of the deceased. The church was almost filled with relatives, friends and neighbors who came to pay their last respects. The flowers were numerous and beautiful. She was laid to rest in Malvern Cemetery.

The bearers were Tom Beattie, Garland Morissette, Harold Nutbrown, Kenneth McCrea, Willie Minnaugh and Francis Campbell.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, two daughters and two sons. Edna (Mrs. Ernest Smith) Richmond, Que., Freda (Mrs. Eugene Raymond) Concord, N.H., Harold of Burford, Ont. and Alton of Lennoxville, also two sons-in-law and one daughter-in-law, one brother Raymond of Palmerston, Ont. and one sister, Gertrude (Mrs. Herbert Little) McIndoes, Vt. She also leaves 14 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

One brother and three sisters predeceased her. Ivan Sept. 6, 1960. Marry Ellen Dec. 31, 1894. Olive Maggie Apr. 15, 1944, and Clara Mae Feb. 11, 1957.

Relatives and friends attended the funeral from Palmerston, Ont., Burford, Ont., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Concord, N.H., McIndoes, Vt., St. Johnsbury County, Vt., Lisbon, Vt., Derby, Vt., Derby Line, Vt., Woodsville, N.H., Anchorage, Alaska, Montreal, Ste. Agathe de Lotbiniere, Windsor Mills, Kingsbury, Milby, Richmond, Danville, Sherbrooke, Huntingville, Waterville and Lennoxville.

MRS. ERNEST GAGE of Stanbridge East. A highly respected citizen of Stanbridge East, Mrs. Ernest Gage, passed away on December 28, 1971, at the Lagace Hospital, Bedford, after a lengthy illness, which she had borne with the utmost of christian patience.

Mrs. Gage, who was in her 74th year, was the eldest daughter of the late Alfred and Janet Turner, and was born, educated and lived her entire life at Stanbridge East. She married the late Ernest Gage in 1926, who predeceased her in 1968.

After the death of her husband, owing to her infirmities and frail health, Mrs. Gage was obliged to leave her home, and went to the Foyer St. Antoine at Freilshurg, where she remained until she entered the Lagace Hospital, a short time prior to her death.

The funeral was held at St. James Anglican Church, Stanbridge East, of which she was a member, with the rector Canon Willis, officiating. The hymn, Abide With Me was sung at the service with Mrs. Hayes as organist. The interment took place in Hillside Cemetery, beside her late husband.

The bearers were Messrs Stanley Black, Earl Turner, Wesley Gage, Gordon Gage, Leslie Lackey and Denis Braut. Mrs. Gage is survived by an only brother, Abraham Turner, one nephew Earl Turner, one niece (Stella Turner) Mrs. Stanley Black, one step-daughter, Laura (Mrs. Gordon Ewing), one step-son, Richard Gage, eight step-grandchildren and several step-great-grandchildren. She was predeceased by one brother, Charles Turner, and two sisters, Misses Eleanor and Margaret Turner.

MRS. ROBERT C. NUTBROWN of Lennoxville. The death of Mrs. Robert Clifford Nutbrown occurred Jan. 2, 1972 at Concord Hospital, Concord, N.H.

Mrs. Nutbrown, the former Ella Myrtle McCrea was born March 18, 1901 at Nelson, Que., one of seven children born to Robert James McCrea and his wife Ellen Longmoore. She received her education in Nelson and Leeds. On June 27, 1923 she married Robert Clifford Nutbrown of Leeds where they made their home on the farm. Of this union four children were

The remains rested at the J.H. Fleury Funeral Home, Adam St., where the funeral took place on Saturday at 2 p.m. Jan. 8. The long cortege proceeded to Holy Family Church for service. A guard of honor was formed at the church entrance by members of the Knights of Columbus. The funeral was largely attended by many who came to pay their respects to a fine citizen.

The casket was borne by members of the Garde Paroissiale de Valcourt. The honorary pall bearers were members of the Knights of Columbus - Omer Guimond, Conrad Chailoux, Robert Jean, Jacques Viger, Omer Gagne and Leo Bouchard. The flag was carried by the standard bearer Bertrand Davignon.

The body was received at the

OBITUARIES

MR. ROMEO A. MARCOTTE of Richmond. There passed away suddenly on Wednesday, January 5, 1972, at his home on College St. one of Richmond's highly esteemed citizens and a retired well known business man throughout the Eastern Townships, Mr. Romeo A. Marcotte, at the age of 78, after a lingering illness which hospitalized him several times in the Montreal and Sherbrooke hospitals. Although his sudden passing was unexpected his death came as a shock to his family, relatives and his many friends. He will be greatly missed as he took a very active part in all community affairs.

He was born in 1893 at Grande Claire, Manitoba, son of the late Mr. Alexandre Marcotte and his wife the late Rose Delima Desfosses. He came at an early age with the family to St. Felix de Kingsy, Que., where they purchased a farm and he attended the village school. Later as a young man he took a special course in dining car operations in Montreal after which he became a chef on a C.P.R. dining car, operating between Vancouver and Winnipeg, making his headquarters at Calgary, Alta., where he remained for some time.

In 1916 he was united in marriage to Miss Annette Painchaud, well known school teacher of St. Felix de Kingsy, after which they left for Calgary to reside. Of this union ten children were born. A few years later he discontinued working on the C.P.R. and they came to L'Avenir, where they made their home on a rented farm. After a few years they left for Woonsocket, Rhode Island, where NOTICE By-law No. 2127. Notice is hereby given that a meeting of property owners of zones A-25, A-60, A-61, A-62 and B-61 for the approval of by-law No. 2127 amending the zoning by-law of the City of Sherbrooke, will be held at the City Hall on February 15th, 1972, from 7:00 to 8:00 P.M.

NOTICE. Notice is hereby given that a meeting of property owners of zones A-25, A-60, A-61, A-62 and B-61 will be held at the City Hall on February 15th, 1972, from 7:00 to 8:00 P.M.

By-law No. 2127 forms a new zone (G-22) within zones or part of actual zones A-25, A-60, A-61, A-62 and B-61 and will permit beyond permitted use by article 233 of by-law 1071, a Regional Shopping Center governed by the planning criteria stipulated in the annex 1 of by-law 2134. Zone G-22 touches lots or part of lots 102, 103, 104, 105, 111 and 150 of the Township of Orford, the whole as it appears on a plan kept at the Clerk's Office and that can be consulted during the normal working hours.

Property owners in zones A-25, A-60, A-61, A-62 and B-61 who wish to oppose this by-law must attend the meeting. Property owners from zones A-25, A-60, A-61, A-62 and B-61 can request to take part in the consultation by sending to the undersigned within the next five days, a petition signed by at least twelve property owners of said adjoining zones. Me Jacques Besre, City Clerk Ad Interim.
