World News In Brief

Berlin, June 30—(Reuters)—The West German news agency DPA said Russian troops today arrested two unidentified British soldiers at Staken, on the East-West Berlin border.

A British army spokesman said word of the arrests came from West Berlin police.

Rome, June 30—(Reuters)—Police said today they have rounded up Rome's "flat tire" gang, an organization with a new twist for looting tourists' cars.

This is the system: One member sneaks up to a parked U.S. car and punctures the tire with an ice pick.

When the owner arrives, the others rush out to help him change the tire, keeping him busy while another man lifts everything moveable from inside the car.

Police said they had caught all six members of the gang—ranging in age from 16 to 24. They had operated in the area around the ruins of the old Roman coliseum, a favorite tourist spot. Police estimate they had looted more than 150 cars.

Hong Kong, June 30—(AP)—The government today unexpectedly dropped sedition charges against two pro-communist newspapers and said it would not press for suspension of a third convicted of publishing a seditious report.

Solicitor General A. Hooton told the Supreme Court the government feels the object of its action against the three newspapers already has been accomplishd.

Sedition charges were filed against the pro-communist Ta Kung Pao, Wen Wei Pao and New Evening Post following publication of reports on riots here March 1. All three published a Red China news agency dispatch acussing the Hong Kong government of slaughtering and persecuting local Chinese.

The supreme court Saturday upheld fines of approximately $1,260 against the editor and publisher of Ta Kung Pao.

Kure, Japan, June 30—(AP)—About 10,000 Japanese workers at the big British Commonwealth base here began a 48-hour strike at midnight Sunday in a pay dispute with the Commonwealth command.

The walkout involved all Japanese employees except security guards.

The Japanese union charges the base cut effective pay about 30 per cent after the peace treaty came into force April 28.

The Commonwealth commander denied the charges.

The dispute centres around special allowances and bonuses to workers, many of them traditional in Japan and a frequent cause of pay disputes with foreign firms or agencies.

Delay In Suez Canal Talks Creating Fresh Political Crisis In Troubled Egypt

Independent Politician Asked By King Farouk To Form New Administration.

By L. S. CHAKALES

Alexandria, Egypt, June 30—(AP)—Turbulent Egypt today struggled with her third cabinet crisis in five months following the resignation of Prime Minister Ahmed Naguib Hilalay Pasha and the naming of another veteran independent politician, Hussein Sirry Pasha, to form a new government.

The 60-year-old Sirry Pasha, who has been Premier three times before, received King Farouk's mandate to form a cabinet last night and at once began discussions with political leaders.

The task was made more complex by the usual summertime dispersal of government activity between the court, in residence here for the season, and offices in Cairo. Politicians shuttled back and forth between the two capitals.

No official reason was given for Hilalay Pasha's resignation Saturday, but there was speculation that he had not moved fast enough with his announced program of cleaning up graft in the Egyptian government and winning Egypt's chief aims—to oust the British from the Suez Canal zone and to unify Egypt and the neighboring Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

(Dispatches on the cabinet crisis were subject to considerable delay. The cable and wireless office in London said in an Associated Press dispatch Saturday, reporting Hilalay's resignation, was held by Egyptian censors for 36 hours).

Hilalay, himself, refused to make any statement to newspaper men on his resignation.

An outgoing cabinet minister, however, said the government "had found several obstacles which have made our jobs impossible." His only other explanation was that "certain irresponsible persons" had approached the U. S. embassy in Caro in an effort to undermine Hilalay.

An embassy spokesman at once asserted that U.S. policy "is not to interfere with the domestic politics of another country, and this policy has been adhered to strictly by this embassy."

The Egyptian press recently had criticized the premier for the stalemate in talks with Britain on the Suez and Sudanese questions. The British unofficially have agreed to evacuate the Canal Zone by stages but still refuse to recognize King Farouk's sovereignty over the Sudan, which Britain now administers.

Farouk's sovereignty over the disputed territory—which Britain and Egypt technically had ruled jointly—who proclaimed last October by the government of then Premier Mustapha El Nahas Pasha and Parliament, which was dominated by Nahas Pasha's intensely nationalistic Wafdist party.

At the same time the Egyptians declared the joint British-Egyptian rule of the Sudan at an end and scrapped the 1936 defence treaty with Britain under which the British had garrisoned the Suez Canal Zone.

Britain's refusal to recognize these actions touched off a series of British-Egyptian clashes and anti-foreign demonstrations which culminated in the disastrous Cairo fire riots on Jan. 26.

A day later King Farouk dismissed the Nahas Pasha government and chose an independent Premier, Aly Maher Pasha. He held office a month before Walfdist opposition forced him out. Hilalay Pasha succeeded him on March 1.

Red Backer Appears In Ottawa Court

RAYMOND DAVIES

Ottawa, June 30.—(CP)—Raymond Arthur Davies, 44, Montreal writer and long-time associate of the communist party in Canada, appears today in Magistrate's Court on a charge of passport fraud.

Davies was arrested Saturday at Whitby, Ont., after a long investigation by the R.C.M.P.'s anti-subversive branch. He was charged with making an "untrue or misleading statement" to get a Canadian passport.

Born Rudolph Shohan of Polish parentage in Montreal, Davies has been associated for 15 years or more with the communist party. He was a former leader in the Young Communist League at Toronto and later became an executive of the Labor-Progressive party, the present political form of the communist party in Canada.

He is also author of several books — some of them on Russia —and contributor to several magazines.

The Toronto Telegram, in a news story from Montreal that did not identify Davies by name, said, "the man is definitely suspected of having maintained close contacts with persons known to be Russian agents."

Informants said the R.C.M.P. had investigated the possibility of Davies turning over information to Russian agents, but were unable to get evidence for a charge to that effect.

The passport charge, in itself, is not a serious one. Conviction under it carries a maximum penalty of two years. It was described as a "technical" charge.

The importance placed on the case, however, was shown by the fact that Justice Minister Garson personally anonunced the news of Davies' arrest.

Says Smaller Steel Plants Ask Contract

Youngstown, O., June 30—(AP)—Philip Murray said yesterday the heads of many smaller steel companies have been seeking him out, trying to bargain to end the shutdown of their plants in the country-wide strike of 650,000 steelworkers which began 29 days ago.

The president of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) made the statement yesterday in a speech at a union rally here. He said meetings were planned for today with some of the smaller producers.

Murray didn't name the firms but said managers of some of them had told him they were afraid of being blacklisted by the "Big Six"—the six major steel companies—from whom they buy ore or to whom they sell materials.

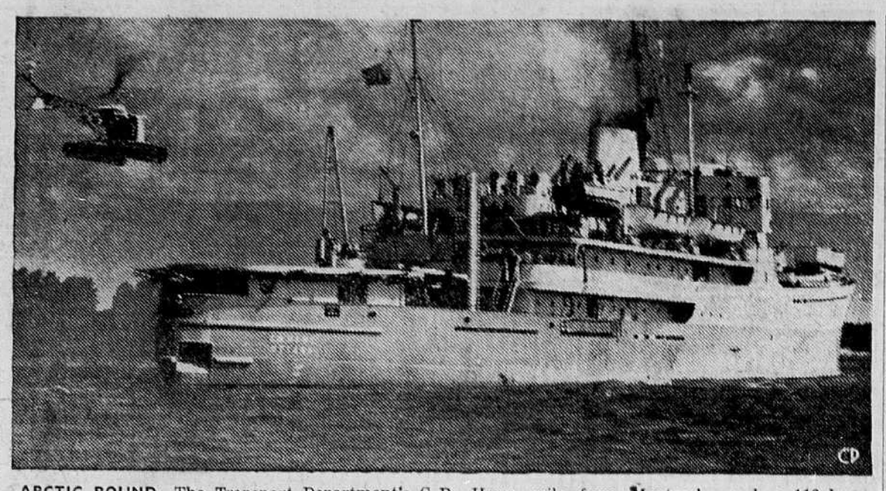

"The Big Six," Murray said, is "a conspiracy and its work has been dedicated to frustrating agreement."

The "Big Six" to which he referred are U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Jones and Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland, and they have nearly 70 per cent of U.S. steel-making capacity.

President Truman has said he doubts that an 80-day no-strike injunction under the Taft-Hartley Act would get the steelworkers back to their jobs.

Murray, in his speech here yes-

Contract Is Submitted To Strikers

Montreal, June 30.—(CP)—Striking employees of the Dominion Textile Company, members of the United Textile Workers of America (T.L.C.-A.F.L.), last night learned that their negotiating committee had agreed to an 11-cent an hour increase as one proposal in a basis of settlement reached last week.

A union announcement said the workers themselves, some 6,000 of them in fve plants in Montreal and Valleyfield, Que., will vote on the proposals in a secret, government-supervised ballot, Thursday, July 3. A favorable vote would end the three-month strike.

Besides the 11-cent boost, which becomes effective on signature of a contract, proposals calls for a 10 per cent boost retroactive to September last, when the contract expired, two cents additional for maintenance and skilled workers and an additional statutory holiday.

The contract would run for two years, with wage negotiations opened again at the end of the first year. Either side could break it at that time if disagreement arose.

A full report on the proposals will be mailed to employees who originally asked 25 cents an hour and later lowered their demands to a 13-cent an hour increase.

Some ten weeks after the strike began, Canadian Director R. Kent Rowley, Secretary-Treasurer Madeleine Parent and the entire Canadian executive of the union were dismissed for what was termed "communist leadership and irresponsible handling of the strike."

Sam Baron became Canadian director and Roger Provost Quebec director.

By BRUCE PHILLIPS

Calgary, June 30—(CP)—The Federal Government has turned down requests by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities for more aid to housing, civil defence, education and highway construction.

But it promised careful consideration to the removal of sales tax from goods purchased by municipalities, and the addition of some groups of municipal employees to those eligible for unemployment insurance.

The government's decisions were contained in a report read at the federation's annual convention, which opened here today.

Almost 300 delegates from across Canada and the United States registered for the four-day meeting.

The government report was prepared in reply to a brief submitted by the federation. It was in lieu of a speech by Prime Minister St. Laurent, who challenged plans to attend the meeting. The Prime Minister was kept in Ottawa by a heavy run of government legislation.

A foreword to the report said the contents were not "definitive" statements of government policy, but were detailed indications of the government's reaction to the federation's proposals.

In its brief, the federation asked for "more direct measures" to stimulate house construction. But the government said existing credit and mortagage loans available under the National Housing Act is "the most practical way in which the government can assist."

A suggestion for a federal-provincial-municipal conference on housing also was rejected. The report said municipalties should discuss their problems with provincial governments.

On civil defence, for which more financial aid had been asked, the government report commented that "expenditure of money is not the best measure of a civil defence program."

It said certain large Canadian communities have already developed excellent civil defence programs without any considerable expenditure of money.

Another request for financial aid toward provincial highways construction was rejected. The government said federal commitments on highways already total $25,000,000 annually.

"It would be difficult to contemplate any expansion of the federal government's financial contriubution to highways at present," the report said.

The government promised "careful coneideration" of sales tax removal on goods purchased by municipalities, which are not intended for re-sale.

Two chief factors affecting any decision were mentioned. They were the great number of claims for tax rebates on the wide variety of goods involved, and a drop in government revenue resulting from tax exemption.

The report said study also will be given to the removal of a regulation excluding some municipal employees from unemployment insurance.

At present, municipal employees paid on a monthly basis and who have been employed more than one year are not eligible for unemployment insurance.

"The Unemployment Insurance Commission feels the exception should be removed in the interest of employees and with a view to bringing all the employed population within the scope of the act, who can be insured without undue administrative difficulty," the report said.

Additional federal aid requested for education costs was refused. The report said education is a field in which the provinces and municipalities have exclusive competence. It added the government has made substantial contributions to education through the years.

A request for federal regulation of national charitable appeals was refused on constitutional grounds.

"No matter how desirable it might be to have national appeals supervised by some authoritative body," the report said, "in ordinary circumstances the control of such fund-raising efforts rests with provincial and local authorities."

Rhee Issues New Demand On Assembly

By WILLIAM JORDEN

Pusan, Korea, June 30. — (AP) — South Korea's political crisis neared a climax today as President Syngman Rhee handed the Assembly an ultimatum—adopt his proposed constitutional amendments quickly or he will dissolve the legislature.

"I will wait only a few more days," Rhee declared, then "I will take decisive action in compliance with the will of the people."

Rhee did not indicate how he would go about dissolving the Assembly. Korea's constitution makes no provision for such action.

The 77-year-old President and the National Assembly have been feuding bitterly since January. Rhee demands constitutional amendments providing for popular election of a president and a two-house legislature.

The one-house assembly elects the president. It was scheduled to do so last week, but Rhee supporters forced postponement of the election.

A few hours before Rhee's message was read to the Assembly, the President received an ultimatum from representatives of town and city councils and provincial assemblies, who strongly support him.

The provincial representatives warned Rhee that unless he dissolves the legislature immediately they will occupy the Republic's Assembly hall.

A third ultimatum was reported given a member of the United Nations mission to Korea. Baron Gerald Van Ittersum of The Netherlands said he had been warned by right-wing political elements to "get out of Korea or else."

Van Ittersum is a member of the U. N. commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea and is scheduled to serve as chairman next month.

The Dutch diplomat said he asked for and received a guarantee of personal safety from the South Korean Government.

New Road In Mountain To Open Tuesday

Dawson Creek, B.C., June 30.—(CP)—Canada on Dominion Day will breach the Continental Divide for the fourth time with the opening of the 274-mile John Hart Highway, connecting Dawson Creek with Prince George.

It won't be the official opening but the Peace River country, fighting for an outlet to central British Columbia and the sea for two decades, can't wait any longer.

The striped-pants affair won't be held until October or November when a steel bridge spans the Parsnip River. But a temporary wooden bridge has been thrown across the stream and that's good enough for the Dawson Creek Chamber of Commerce. A caravan will roll.

The Hart highway, named for the British Columbia Premier who had it built, links Southern B.C. to the vast Peace River bloc and to Alaska by way of the 1,523-mile Alaska highway from Dawson Creek to Fairbanks.

It brings Dawson Creek 924 road miles nearer to Vancouver. Previously, traffic had to travel over the southern trans - provincial highway or through Washington, Idaho and Montana and North through Calgary and Edmonton. Now traffic can move north 490 miles through the Fraser canyon and over the Cariboo highway to Prince George and on to Dawson Creek through Pine Pass.

The wooden bridge across the Parsniy was completed June 22.

The new highway provides an outlet to the Pacific for the more than 1000,000 persons living in the Peace River area. Prince George connects with Prince Rupert on the sea by both road and rail.

The John Hart highway also will be a major factor in planned construction of a $26,000,000 natural gas pipeline from the Peace River to Vancouver and Washington state.

There is only one community along the 157-miles—Fort McLeod, a trading post of 100 persons. Major obstacle in the construction was the Parsnip river and a permament bridge still has to be built.

The new road not only provides access from Southern B.C. to the wealthy gas and oil fields of the Peace, but it will open up thousands of acres of farming land and perhaps eventually tap coal deposits estimated at 2,000,000,000 tons.

Winnipeg, June 30—(CP)—A 30-year-old Winnipeg mother was fatally stabbed Saturday and her husband died several hours later from a bullet wound in his head.

Mrs. Ruth Schmouttz was found dead in the hallway of the couple's downtown rooming house.

Her husband, Louis, 38, was found lying in the basement, a .38 calibre automatic pistol beside him.

Police said the couple's six-year-old daughter, Caroline, may have been the only witness to what is believed a murder-suicide of her parents.

Schmouttz died in hospital. Medical authorities said he never regained consciousness.

Commons Rejects Proposals For Redistribution Board

Ottawa, June 30. — (CP) — The Commons today tackles the details of the bill redistributing federal constituencies. The debate is expected to delay until tomorrow at least adjournment of the present parliamentary session.

The Commons Saturday voted 82 to 37 against a Progressive Conservative motion asking for an independent commission to do the redistribution work now done by a parliamentary committee.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the commission would take politics out of changes in electoral constituencies.

His motion was supported by Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. members, together with J. L. Gibson (Ind—Comox-Alberni). Liberal and Social Credit members voted against the motion.

The Commons then gave the bill second reading and sent it to the committee on redistribution, which added a schedule outlining the boundaries of the 265 ridings—an increase over the present 262.

The redistribution stems from the 1951 census. Once approved, the changes will take effect with the next federal election.

Mr. Drew said that under the present system a parliamentary committee, with a majority of government members, decides on constituency boundaries after each decennial census.

Neither the Conservatives or Liberals could claim "any particular virtue" in the way in which redistribution had been handled in the past. The present committee could and did use its powers to liquidate political opponents by gerrymandering boundary lines.

He suggested an impartial commission be established to report to Parliament when it meets Nov. 20 for a new session.

No Cabinet Minister spoke on Mr. Drew's proposal although several Liberal members spoke against it.

Jean Francois Pouliot (L—Temiscouata) said he has been a "politician for 25 years" and has no complaints against the present system. George Murray (L—Cariboo) said the committee has been fair.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) said a parliamentary committee had personal interests in the job, and altered representation "according to whims and compromises."

Robert Fair (SC—Battle River) said the committee could do a good job if politics were left out.

John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre), whose Saskatchewan riding would be altered considerably under the bill, said the present system is archaic and dangerous. An independent commission would do away with bickering, prejudice and other things that "undermine our democracy."

This is how the seats will be divided in the next parliament, with the existing division in brackets:

Newfoundland seven (seven); Prince Edward Island four (four); Nova Scotia 12 (13); New Brunswick 10 (10); Quebec 75 (73); Ontario 85 (83); Manitoba 14 (16); Saskatchewan 17 (20); Alberta 17 (17); British Columbia 22 (18); Yukon-Mackenzie River two (one); total 265 (263).

During consideration of Agriculture Department estimates, Prime Minister St. Laurent said the federal government will build the South Saskatchewan river irrigation and power project if investigation shows it is a sound investment.

He said no recommendations have been received from a three-man commission studying the project. However, he said he hopes the commission approves the project.

Mr. Drew said the project is of concern to all Canada, and Parliament should have voted on it long ago.

More Romanians Sent Into Exile

Paris, June 30.—(Reuters)—The North Atlantic Council said today that as many as 300,000 Romanians had been forced from their homes in a communist drive against the former middle classes.

A Council report said it was not known where the victims were sent, but a group of Italians who had been expelled from the country claimed that "political prisoners and deportees are sent to forced labor on the Danube-Black Sea canal project."

Romania claimed the purge was a move to "decongest" urban centres.

Among those affected by the purge, said the report, were former industrialists and merchants whose property had been nationalized, landowners who had owned more than 10 hectares (24.7 acres), former magistrates and lawyers and soldiers who had been unreceptive to communist ideas.

The report also said the Council had received reports from Poland that deportation of "politically unreliable elements" to Russian labor camps had been resumed recently.

Munsan, Korea, June 30. — (AP) — The tightly deadlocked Korean armistice talks resume tomorrow after a three-day recess called by the Allies and protested by the communists.

The Communists today admitted responsibility for an anti-aircraft shell which landed 20 feet from the Panmunjom Conference tent a few hours before negotiators met Friday. It caused no damage.

U.S. State Secretary Renews Pledge Of Austrian Freedom

Vienna, Austria, June 30.—(AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States paid an official visit to this communist-ringed capital today and told the Austrians "the constant aim of United States policy is to hasten the day when independence will be given to Austria."

Coming here from Berlin—also surrounded by the Soviet military—Acheson was scheduled today to call on Austrian President Dr. Theodor Koerner, Chancellor Leopold Figl and Vice-Chancellor Adolf Schaerf.

Acheson's jammed schedule called also for lunch with Foreign Minister Karl Gruber, a reception in the evening by U. S. Deputy High Commssioner Walter Dowling and a state dinner by the Austrian government. Acheson and his party planned to work in a city sightseeing trip in the afternoon.

His "symbolic visits" to Vienna and Berlin aim to bolster courage in the beleaguered cities and to demonstrate to their free people that they are fully backed by the west.

Acheson will take off tomorrow for Brazil, where he makes an official visit before returning to Washington.

He said on his arrival here yesterday that Americans "admire and honor the patience and courage with which the people of Austria have borne the disappointments in not having had the liberty and independence promised them" during the war.

Cheering crowds thronged the square at Franz Josef station in the American sector of Vienna to greet him on his 20-mile train route through the Russian zone from Tullin air base. Thousands of other Austrians cheered him loudly despite Soviet soldiers and sailors along the way.

Austrian police were placed every 200 yards along the route of the special U. S. train. A police cordon was thrown up in the city along the Danube canal which borders the Soviet sector.

The threat of Red demonstrations failed to materialize, however, after 39 communists were jailed earlier in the week for smearing streets and walls with "Acheson, Go Home" signs.

Before leaving Berlin, the U. S. Secretary had assured the Germans that "we shall remain in Berlin until we are satisfied the city is secure." He reminded them "We shall regard any attack on Berlin from whatever quarter as an attack against our forces and ourselves."

He said he saw no immediate threat of Russian aggression although he did not underestimate recent pressure put on isolated West Berlin by the communists.

Acheson told a press conference in the former German capital that Russia is blocking the unification of West and East Germany, "but we are trying again now to see if we can find a basis for an agreement."

Party Leaders In Exchange Of Blasts During Week-End

Montreal, June 30.—(CP)—The ungava iron ore development, party versus welfare, housing and liquor laws, all came up in week-end campaigning for July 16 provincial elections by Premier Duplessis and Georges Lepalme, Provincial Liberal leader.

In Joliette Sunday, Premier Duplessis asked an audience in that tobacco growing centre to vote "not for those who work for the victory of a party but for men who work for the welfare and survival of Quebec province."

Labor Minister Barrette is running against Mr. Lapalme in Joliette.

The Premier said his Union Nationale party was mainly responsible for the prosperity which now reigned throughout the province.

"Providence had something to do with it, he said, "But it is better to vote for a party with Providence on its side. . ."

His government had encouraged prosperity by large loans to farmers and by money spent for land-drainage, rural electrification and increasing arable acreage.

Mr. Duplessis said that when the Liberals were in power in 1939 they increased interest rates on farm loans, and relinquished office leaving cheques outstanding without money to back them.

In Rawdon Sunday night, he said the Ungava iron ore development was such a good thing that "high Liberal chiefs" are trying to get credit for pushing the project ahead.

The Premier said Quebec Liberals criticized him bitterly for leasing "an infinitesimal portion" of a 311,000 square-mile area that was a wilderness until the ore-seeking concern opened it up.

At Rouyn, in northwestern Quebec, Saturday night, Liberal leader Lapalme said if elected he would act in co-operation with the federal government to put an end to the housing shortage in Quebec Province.

Ontario had taken advantage of the Federal Housing Act to provide adequate accommodation for workers, and "there is no reason why the government of Quebec should not beneft from this legislation."

He said he would also take immediate steps to provide a labor code.

"This code has been promised you for two years by Premier Duplessis, but you are still waiting for it," he said. "You can be sure you won't have to wait two years with a Liberal government, because the labor code is one of the principal planks in our platforms."

He attacked the road building program of the Union Nationale government and said he had seen much neglect in all sections of the provincse in his travels.

In Hull Sunday night, Mr. Lapalme reiterated charges made more than a year ago when he blamed the Duplessis government for what he termed flagrant violation of the Quebec liquor laws, in Hull and throughout the province.

"Although the member for Hull, Hon. Alexander Tache, denied the charges at that time, they have since been confirmed by the more than 800,000 persons who signed a public petition asking for more strict enforcement of the liquor laws," Mr. Lapalme said.

He said public morality no longer means anything to the Union Nationale members whose sole interest apparently was in making sure contributions kept pouring into the election fund.

EX-CHILD STAR'S ILLUSIONS GONE, SHE PUTS OK ON COMEDY ROLES

Hollywood — Guys and Dolls: Fear of how Hollywood would use her as a grownup star, Mitzi Green confessed, kept her off the screen until this year.

With roles in "Abbott and Costello Lost in Alaska" and "Bloodhounds of Broadway" to her credit now that she's over her jitters about Hollywood, the one-time child star told me:

"I had to break down some illusions about myself. I'd been a child star. And I'd been a star after that—in night clubs and on the stage. I think I saw myself as a Carole Lombard type. Now I know better. I'll be very happy just to get good comedy roles."

Mitzi to the "Did you make a fortune as a child star?" question:

"I made $400 a week at first. Then $650. But just when I was ready to hit the big money, $1250 a week, they let me go. I was too old! I was all of 11 years old."

Singer Turned Actor

Keith Andes, the ladies ' new heart throb—he plays Marilyn Monroe's boy briend in "Clash by Night" and just about steals the film—has shelved his singing career to manhandle movie dolls.

Swashbuckling it as the bare-chested hero with Linda Darnell as his lady fair in "Blackbeard the Pirate," Keith dismissed his warbling in a Broadway revival of "The Chocolate Soldier" and in "Kiss Me Kate" with:

"RKO hired me as a singer but I'm very happy about being turned into an actor. After I'm established as an actor maybe I'll sing, but I doubt it."

Keith spent a year under contract to David O. Selznick without facing a camera. Selznick spotted him in "Winged Victory." Then RKO signed him and another year went by before he was cast in "Clash by Night."

* * *

If Jean Simmons wins her battle to leave RKO this month, she won't sign on the dotted line with any other studio.

Not for a year or more, anyhow.

"I want to free-lance," gorgeous Jean—with the shortest hairdo this side of Jerry Lewis—told me on RKO's "Beautiful, But Dangerous" set. "I've been under contract to studios since I was 14. I'd like to be free for a little bit—just to settle down and get my feet where I want to put them."

Some of his other co-stars may not have liked Bob Mitchum, but Jean's jumping for joy at the chance to work with him and even calls him "a great actor."

"Why, the mug is wonderful in comedy," she gushed. "He's a kind of a Crosby actor—relaxed and casual. And that's the hardest kind of actor to be."

Shudders At Killer Role

Richard Widmark's shuddering about it, but he's Tommy Udo again.

Tommy, the maniacal killer with the unholy laugh created by Widmark for "Kiss of Death" in 1946, is back, but with another name for one of the five O'Henry stories in Fox's "Bagdad on the Subway.'

Except for the name Tommy's the same—black shirt, white tie, big teeth and that laugh.

"I didn't want to play Tommy again," Widmark confessed on the set of his new comedy-drama "Big Man," "because it's taken me so long to escape him. Repeating a character is not very effective. But the studio insisted on it and argued that it was only for a 20-minute sequence and not in a full-length feature.

"But this, I assure you, is the end of Tommy Udo. I'll NEVER play him again."

* * *

It's getting tougher and tougher on poor Maureen O'Hara—there just aren't enough derring-do lads around to qualify as leading men in her swashbuckling flickers.

Leaping, fighting, rolling Maureen, who's at the action stuff again in "Cattle Kate," makes most male stars look about as energetic as demonstrators of contour chairs.

And she's complaining: "Movies thrived on stars like Doug Fairbanks, Ronald Colman and Ty Power, who could take off their shirts, swing on ropes, leap from balcony to balcony and ride like blazes. So many actors these days can play in psychological dramas. But they can't do anything else.

"We had to hold off making 'Against All Flags' for two years until Errol Flynn was available. And do you know why? Nobody else could handle the role."

A movie kid who's crazy about submarines has named his Great Dane "Periscope." Goes around the studio all day shouting to the pooch, "Down Periscope."

The greatest part of the 7th range Sand Hill has been removed by a bull dozer. The 6th range has received this week $500 for road improvement. This money will be spent widening the bend at Hotel due Repas and Joseph Nadeau's hill.

The Lemesurier Dance hall was towed through Leeds by three trucks on its way to Glen Lloyd, accompanied by its owner Mr. Lloyd Rothney.

END OVER END FOR DOLLARS: An Irish Horan Lucky Hell Driver is shown above as he deliberately sends his car into an end over end crash roll as a part of the spectacular thrill program of the Lucky Hell Drivers who will be the attraction at the Exhibition Grounds tomorrow afternoon and evening.
There are several of the veteran drivers such as Buddy Toomey and Whitey Reese as well as some of the youngsters, Johnny Lipari and Bobbie Cable, who are all qualified for the deliberate crash roll feature.
The all new 1951 Horan thriller features all events in open cars which gives the spectator a clearer view of the action as the drivers send their cars over the elevations in such events as 4 car Hell driving; the Hi-skis; the Fire Barrier; and of course, the feature of features in which Buddy Toomey, star of the show, remains at the wheel of a roadster as it is catapulted from the mouth of a gigantic cannon.

Courageous Action By Mrs. Conway Avoids Serious Fire Damage In City

Prompt and courageous action by a local woman, who, fortunately, knew where her neighbor left her apartment key, Saturday night saved a three-floor building from serious damage by fire.

Heroine of the story, as related to us by the fire department, is Mrs. Austin B. Conway, of 80 Wellington street south.

Mrs. Conway and her husband, recovering from a serious operation of last August, which has temporarily affected the full use of his legs, were alone in the apartment on the third floor, shortly after eight o'clock in the evening when they noticed smoke seeping up past their window.

Quickly, Mrs. Conway figured the smoke must be coming out of the apartment of Lucille Gagnon who lives on the second floor of the building, the first floor being occupied by a store.

The door to Miss Gagnon's home was locked but Mrs. Conway, a good friend of her neighbor's, found the hidden key and opened the apartment, already filled with dense smoke.

In the meantime, a man living in the neighborhood had also noticed smoke but was unsuccessful in gaining entrance to the threatened apartment via a rear locked door.

Mrs. Conway made her way through the thick smoke and found that an electric iron had been left on the ironing board which was already in flames. The iron was plugged into the electric circuit.

She disconnected the iron and dumped it into the sink and partially put out the fire to the board. When the Fire Department arrived, they required only one gallon of water to put out the rest of the blaze.

Fire Lieutenant L. P. Harton believes the blaze might have caused serious damage were it not for the bravery of Mrs. Conway in that smoke-filled home.

St. Hyacinthe Band Received By Local Groups

The City Council and the Harmony Band played host yesterday to the Philharmonic Society of St. Hyacinthe, for one of the customary exchange visits between groups in the Amateur Band Association of the Province.

Prior to the concert in Portland Square which was the climax of the day's activities, two receptions had been tendered the visitors.

At the City Hall in the afternoon, members of the executive of both Bands were welcomed by Alderman Leo Cadorette, acting for Mayor Emile Levesque, and the guests were asked to sign the Golden Book.

Later all the musicians were entertained at dinner at the Social Club, with President Gaston Laliberte of l'Hermonie de Sherbrooke, acting as chairman.

He welcomed the visitors in the name of the Band, expressed his pleasure at the system of exchange concerts, and lauded the municipal council, Molson's and its representative, Michael Stenson, for the continued support given the local group.

In extending the civic welcome, Alderman Cadorette brought greetings from the population of Sherbrooke, expressed regret at the absence of the Mayor and said he hoped the visitors would consider themselves at home during their stay in the city.

He said that Sherbrooke owed a great deal to St. Hyacinthe, which in addition to ceding it some of its territory, had also given the city such great men as Bishop Larocque, the present Archbishop Msgr. Cabana, and the late Archbishop Desranleau, to mention a few. Although Sherbrooke had benefited greatly from St. Hyacinthe's generosity, he pointed out, there is no rivalry between the two cities but a deep and abiding friendship.

Mayor Ernest Picard, of St. Hyacinthe said he felt yesterday's visit would cement further the "bonne entente" already existing between the two, and thanked the city and the Band for the cordial hospitality they received.

"Bands are always intimately linked with the life of a town, in the patriotic, religious, social and civil sphere," he said. "In times of joy, the Band expressed our feelings, when we want to sing it joins us in religious ceremonies, when we are in mourning the Band's funeral tones accompany the deceased one to his last resting place. Without a doubt, the Band does some of the best work in the community and forges a strong link between all classes.

Mayor Picard, in closing, invited l'Harmonie de Sherbrooke to visit St. Hyacinthe for an exchange program, in August.

Following the successful concert, which was largely attended, an informal reception for the band members and their ladies, was held at the band headquarters on King street.

Brief addresses were given by both presidents, Mr. Laliberte, of Sherbrooke, and Ludger St. Amant, of the St. Hyacinthe Philharmonic, as well as the directors, Paul-Emile Cantin, of the visiting band, and Sylvio Lacharite, of l'Harmonie de Sherbrooke.

At the head table for the dinner were Mayor E. Picard, of St. Hyacinthe, acting pro-Mayor Leo Cadorette, Aldermen Felix Thibault and Paul Leclerc, Mr. St. Amant, president of the St. Hyacinthe Philharmonic, Mr. Laliberte, Sylvio Lacharite, Paul-Emile Cantin, Rev. Father Labrecque, Michael Stenson, Past Presidents O. Poudrette and I. Langevin, of Sherbrooke, Vice-Persidents Jean-Paul Belisle and Roland Brien, Sherbrooke, Vice-President Laurent Chicoine, Yves Bienvenue, Emile Bertrand, drum-major, Maurice Lemoine, librarian, Gilles St. Amant and Maurice Loranger, all councillors of the St. Hyacinthe Band.

Opposition Leader To Address Regional Rally At Arena Here Tomorrow Night

Political interest returns to Sherbrooke tomorrow evening when George Emile Lapalme, Provincial Liberal party leader, addresses a district rally at the Sherbrooke Arena at 8:30 o'clock in support of Jacques Lagasse, Liberal candidate in Sherbrooke County, and of Liberal candidates in other Eastern Townships ridings.

Mr. Lapalme will be supported by Joseph Mongrain, mayor of Three Rivers, who is a candidate against Premier Maurice Duplessis in his home riding, and several other senior members of the Liberal party hierarchy.

Prior to the meeting, a parade will be held through the city from the home of Mr. Lagasse on Queen Street to the arena.

With the visit of Mr. Lapalme to Sherbrooke, the Liberal election campaign in this district is expected to get into full swing and party organizers have indicated that several local rallies will be announced after the district meeting.

Union Nationale supporters in the meantime have been hard at work and tonight a rally will be held at St. Pierre Baptiste in Megantic county in support of Hon. Tancrede Labbe, candidate in that county, and at Stanbridge East in favor of Jean Jacques Bertrand, M.L.A. for Missisquoi who is seeking re-election.

Tomorrow evening, Mr. Labbe will hold meetings at Nelson, Kinnear's Mills and Lemesurier. Mr. Bertrand will speak at Clarenceville and Robert Bernard, M.L.A. for Drummond will speak at St. Jean Baptiste.

Premier Duplessis will be the chief speaker at a district rally to be held at Marieville tomorrow evening at 8.00 p.m.

They Are Greatest Service Organization In The World

"You belong to the best service organization in the world. You have everything to be proud of," it was stated Saturday night by Hugh Crochetiere, of Montreal, at the president's banquet of the Sherbrooke Optimist Club, held at Hillcrest.

Mr. Crochetiere, who takes over Wednesday as president of the Montreal Optimist Club, was present to install officially local President Erich Marquardt and the rest of the new Optimist executive.

As guest speaker at the affair, attended by 75 members, wives and other guests, he told the local club that clubs which are going ahead the fastest are those which have something tangible on which to work, some project which has continuity from year to year, such as Boy's Town which is sponsored each summer by Sherbrooke's Optimists.

The outgoing president, Jacques Laliberte, was master-of-ceremonies for the occasion. The creed was recited, from memory, by Mrs. Joseph Gilbert and Francoise Couture. Grace was said by Mrs. Paul Allard.

Alderman Leo Cadorette represented the City of Sherbrooke.

In a brief address, Ald. Cadorette said that after hearing the committee reports there was no comment to make except to congratulate the Club on the fine work it is doing among boys. "We can never do enough for the young people in this town," he said.

The meeting was enlivened considerably by the presence of the ladies. Mrs. George Garard took over the task of collecting fines for her husband who is sergeant-at-arms on the new executive. She was assisted by Mrs. Pierre (Pete) Blais, wife of the treasurer.

Mr. Laliberte later in the evening turned the meeting over to President Marquardt who thanked the members for "the great honor," in electing him president. He said the executive hopes to make a start on a permanent Boys' Town in the near future, if a suitable piece of land can be obtained. He said that under President Laliberte, the Club had risen to "great heights," and copped two of four trophies at the District convention. But, next year, he said, we want all four trophies to come to Sherbrooke.

He thanked Hugh and Mrs. Crochetiere (Ray) for coming to Sherbrooke for the fistallations. Past president Don Clowery presented a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Crochetiere and Constance Clowery presented a bouquet to the president for Mrs. Marquardt who was unable to attend.

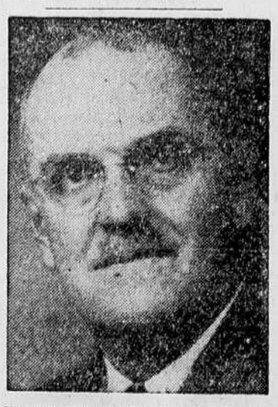

Charter president Joseph Gilbert inducted the two newest Optimists' Gilles Blais and Frank Edwards and presented the past president's pin to Mr. Laliberte. Mrs. Crochetiere presented a medallion to Victor Jarjour for bringing in three new members.

A vote of thanks to the outgoing executive was proposed by Mr. Gilbert. Mrs. Crochetiere pledged her help in helping form a Ladies' Auxiliary (Optimist Club) in Sherbrooke.

Two Persons So Far Reported Killed in Holiday Week-End E. T. Accidents

Two persons so far have been reported killed in the Eastern Townships over the week-end.

Gabriel Noiseux, 7, was fatally injured at Selby Lake near Cowansville early Saturday morning when he was struck by an automobile while riding a tricycle.

Roger Dupuis, 21, of St. Zacharie de Windsor, lost his life in an automobile collision on the road to Brompton Lake, also on Saturday.

Provincial Police Officer Paul Provost, of Cowansville, said young Noiseux was helping to round up some cattle at the time of the mishap.

Jean B. Cote, of Iberville, told police he saw the child and applied his brakes but the vehicle skidded and struck the rear of the tricycle. The child died in an ambulance which was taking him to hospital.

In the smash on the Brompton Road, Dupuis' 1938-model Dodge sedan was almost demolished when he lost control of the car and it went into the path of an auto driven by Simeon Stratford, 37, of Windsor Mills. Stratford's car will cost $250 to repair.

Dupuis died in ambulance which was taking him to Sherbrooke for hospital treatment. His companion in the car, Gilles Desmarais, escaped with bruises to one of his knees and is a patient in the Hotel Dieu.

Mr. Stratford suffered an arm injury and his eight-year-old son, Armand, was shaken up but neither required hospitalization.

Investigation was carried out by Provincial Police Officer Rosaire Daigle, Coaticook.

Leclerc Ruling Not Yet Received By City Clerk

The decision handed down by the Quebec Court of Appeals last Friday ousting Paul Leclerc as auderman for the North Ward has not yet been served upon the City Clerk's office, it was learned this morning at City Hall.

This is expected to be done within the next few days. Until then Leclerc will continue in his capacity as alderman, and tomorrow will begin his term as pro-mayor. Once the City Hall has received notice of the Appeals Court decision Leclerc must relinquish both these offices.

The deision reversed an earlier judgment rendered by Magistrate's Court, which installed Leclerc as alderman for North Ward Seat No. 1 on June 18, 1951, after J. L. Boulanger who had defeated Leclerc in the municipal elections in March 1951, abandoned his seat when faced with an action in disqualification taken out by Leclerc.

The magistrate's decision was immediately appealed by attorney for Mr. Boulanger.

With all five Appeals Court judges who heard the case being unanimous in their judgment, no further appeal can be lodged by Leclerc, and a new election to fill the seat must take place within thirty days after a copy of the decision has been received by the City Clerk.

U.N. PRESSURE NEEDED ON RHEE

United Nations statesmen and military leaders may be baffled as to what to expect next, both in the truce talks and on the battlefield in Korea. These matters, to put it mildly, are not wholly in their hands. But the United Nations need not be so puzzled about the course of internal affairs in Korea.

They are in dismal shape. President Syngman Rhee of South Korea, who is supposed to be the leader of a republic, is behaving like a dictator. Only the thinnest veneer of democratic form covers his arrogantly undemocratic performance.

Recently supporters of Rhee in the Korean National Assembly jammed through a resolution by a vote of 61 to 0, extending the President's term until a successor is elected and shall take office. Apparently that now means August 15, since a subsequent resolution fixed that date for an election.

But the Korean Constitution requires that the President be elected 30 days before the current term expires, which means balloting should have taken place June 24. Rhee is thus setting aside the provisions of the Constitution to suit his own purposes. What he does once, he may do again.

Where was Rhee's opposition in the Assembly question? Thirty-seven opponents were present but chose not to vote. Eleven are in jail — put there by Rhee. Another 74 simply stayed away.

This Assembly action was the climax of Rhee's growing effort to snuff out his opposition and keep a stranglehold on the "free" Korean government. Only sharp protest from the United States prevented him from jailing other Assembly members in wholesale fashion.

As it is, he has clamped a rigid censorship on the country, even barring the Voice of America because he deems it unfriendly.

The path of wisdom for the UN in this situation is not easy to discern. Korea sadly lacks developing leadership which might be groomed and sponsored to replace Rhee's reactionary government.

A country oppressed for decades by a foreign foe, as the Korean nation was by Japan, cannot suddenly emerge from slavery with full-blown, well-trained leaders.

For the short run, about all the United States and other UN powers can do is exert more pressure on Rhee to allow normal elective processes to operate in Korea. Any further demonstrations of autocratic behavior would carry with them the danger of mounting internal stresses and a possible political explosion in South Korea.

And where would be the noble purpose in a war fought to save South Korea against Communist tyranny, if it were merely to preserve that land for the uninhibited exercise of another kind of tyranny?

Everywhere in the world, men with aspirations toward freedom would look upon such a war with thorough skepticism.

It is our sincere purpose to stay out of other countries' internal affairs. But we cannot sit quietly by while a nation we are defending against slavery begins employing some of the very devices of slavery we are combatting.

ONE MOSCOW DRIVE FAILS

After the failure of Communists to get anywhere in France and Italy with political strikes, the World Federation of Trade Unions, a creature of Moscow, called a hasty meeting of its executive bureau in Vienna. There it has just begun to change the tune.

The Federation is a transmission belt between the Cominform and the Communist-dominated trade unions in free Europe. Its deliberations are kept to itself and the Cominform. What is announced about these deliberations comes out first in Pravda, after having been properly distilled.

What did come out, smoked up with a mess of Stalinist double talk, was an admission of failure. The program mapped out by Moscow for the Communists in France and Italy had fallen with a dull thud. Moscow apparently has recognized this.

The executive bureau of the Federation drew up an "appeal" to "workers of all the world." This time the appeal, while it had overtones of international politics, concentrated on the economic.

The usual cussing-out of "warmongers" was only a minor part of the appeal. Its main fire was directed at the "diversionists" inside trade unions. It was particularly angry about the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, which it called a tool of capitalist governments and reactionary enterprises. The I.C.F.T.U., incidentally, has been giving the Communists a bad time with well-directed counter-propaganda.

The entire appeal this time is based not on the contention that Moscow must be supported in its political war against the west, but on "the rights and goals" of workers. Unity of action, the hardy political rallying cry of the W.F.T.U., is used again, but this time it is applied to bread and butter.

The dismal failure of communist attempts in France and Italy to get the workers worked up to a feverish pitch against United States government policies, western international agreements and western defence plans, must have given Moscow much food for thought.

Six months ago the political strike technique was laid down by Moscow as the law for the Communists of France and Italy, despite their advice that the workers in their countries had no stomach for such action. Now, belatedly, Moscow is coming around to the view that the workers are interested primarily in keeping the pots bubbling on the family cookstove.

RIVALS FOR KING-MAKER HONOR SEEK 4-YEAR POWER, INFLUENCE

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Chicago—(NEA)—There's another race on at Chicago, in addition to the race for the Republican presidential nomination. It's the battle of the king-makers.

Who will be the men who swing the deals that swing the votes that throw victory to one candidate or another? Who are the men who will occupy the smoke-filled rooms where the final deals, if any, are made?

The rivals for this honor want it primarily for the power they hope it will give them in the next four years—if the Republicans win the election. And even if they don't win, the influence of even a defeated party's boss is supposed to be something.

The first place these would-be-President-makers turn up is in the states with large uncommitted delegations. Michigan's uncommitted 33 of 46 delegates and Pennsylvania's uncommitted 25 of 70 delegates are the big chips here.

If this combination of 58 unpledged delegates could be used to swing the full two-state slate of 116 votes, it could make or break Taft or Eisenhower. That is why many delegates like to hold back and play hard to get.

The key men in these two states are National Committeemen Arthur Summerfield of Michigan and Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania. Neither fully controls his state delegation.

Senator Taft claims 24 of the Michigan delegates, but has only six for sure. Eisenhower is given seven. The 33 unpledged hold majority control.

FIGHT COMING WITHIN PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATION

In Pennsylvania, Governor Fine has two powerful blocks to contend with. Some 20 delegates lean towards General Eisenhower. They are under the leadership of Sen. James H. Duff.

Taft is given 18 sure Pennsylvania delegates but claims 25 under the leadership of National Committeeman G. Mason Owlett. The fight within the delegation will be as dramatic as any waged on the convention floor.

Equal in size to Pennsylvania's delegation is California's 70 votes, pledged to Gov. Earl Warren. The governor is really his own political boss, but he has promised to make no deals.

On a somewhat lower level in point of view are Ex-Gov. Harold S. Stassen of Minnesota and Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland.

Gov. Stassen has 24 Minnesota votes plus two in Colorado. The general belief has been that he is in the race only for what he can get out of it later, or as a stalking horse for Gen. Ike. Stassen's trouble is that he does not control enough votes to be a real power.

The same is true of Governor McKeldin. Talk of a possible Fine-Summerfield-McKeldin alliance to throw the nomination has been denied by all three. But it is a possibility, if the going gets rough.

The party stalwarts listed above are the men who will be sought after by the managers and floor leaders for Taft and Eisenhower. In this contest, Taft is an able and experienced professional politician in his own right. General Eisenhower is a complete amateur who says he wants no part of politics and must rely on others for his manoeuvring.

HIS PLANNERS ARE NOT OLD HANDS

The general's principal board of strategy is a group of U. S. senators. They are able in their own rights but—aside from Senator Duff of Pennsylvania—not old hands at convention campaigning.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Massachusetts is national chairman for Eisenhower, but is not expected to stick to that job if Ike wins the nomination.

Sen. Frank Carlson and National Committeeman Harry Darby (a former senator) of Kansas make up the first team, with Lodge and Duff. Supporting them is Paul Hoffman, former Marshall Plan administrator, in politics this year for the first time.

The only two professionals on the Eisenhower team are Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and his former campaign manager, Herbert Brownell. They built up the organization that took the nomination away from Taft in 1948, and hope to repeat in 1952.

The Taft board of strategy is pretty much what it has been in past campaigns. It is headed by David S. Ingalls of Cleveland, a Taft cousin. Tom Coleman of Wisconsin is Taft's convention floor manager. Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio and B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee are big wheels.

Others include Ohio GOP Chairman Ray Bliss, former GOP National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton, Taft's (formerly Stassen's) campaign manager, Vic Johnson, and his secretary, Jack Martin.

These are the potential powers behind the now empty thrones—the wire-pullers and fixers to watch for at Chicago.

Patriotism Is Theme On 85th Anniversary Of Confederation

Dominion Day is the 85th anniversary of Canada's confederation, and public celebrations all over the land tomorrow will be preceded by traditional religious observances.

Canada's birthday as a nation is one of the few holidays that have not been switched to a Monday observance. Last year the date fell on Sunday, and the holiday was observed on Monday. But coming on Tuesday this year, the holiday may not see so large a toll of accidents as usually accompany week-end summer holiday celebrations.

While Canada's 14,000,000 people mark the day with outdoor celebrations and city observances from Newfoundland to British Columbia, their relatives and well-wishers will join them in many distant capitals where tribute will be paid to Canada's nationhood.

Servicemen far from home will observe the day—soldiers and sailors in Korea and Japan; soldiers in Germany and airmen in England. Besides the 25th infantry Brigade in Korea there's a reinforcement group in Japan and three Canadian destroyers in Korean waters. The 27th infantry brigade is in the British zone of Germany under the North Atlantic pact defence system, and fighter squadrons of the Royal Canadian Air force have been at North Luffenham, England, for some time preparatory to moving to the continent.

Their loved ones at home will mark the holiday in a variety of ways. The first Canadian-born Governor-General, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, will be host at the traditional Dominion Day garden party at government house, Ottawa, where 2,000 persons are expected to attend.

The Governor-General will also participate in the national network program being arranged by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Canadian radio stations, both CBC and privately-owned, will feature Canadian music and Canadian programs including the reading of verse about Canada or by Canadians.

The changes since the historic year of 1867 will be the theme of many a speech and sermon. The first confederation united only Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario. Manitoba entered in 1870, British Columbia in 1871, Prince Edward Island in 1873. Alberta and Saskatchewan were constituted provinces in 1905. Newfoundland became the 10th province in 1949.

In some future year the Yukon and the Northwest Territories are expected to increase the number of provinces.

But while Canada steadily grows in size and strength, Dominion Day affords a pause for tribute to the "Fathers of Confederation" who conceived the idea of the first self-governing member of the British Empire, now the British Commonwealth of nations.

Those Canadian statesmen of an earlier age brought their dream to reality in the historic series of conferences at Quebec, Charlottetown and finally at London, where the name "Dominion" was found from the Biblical quotation "he shall have Dominion from sea to sea."

BID PROBLEM CAUSED BY SOME POOR LOGIC

"Please tell us what went wrong with the bidding of this hand," requests a New York reader. "We held it in the tournament in New York on Decoration Day, and we've been arguing about it ever since.

"North says he couldn't bid with only an ace and a queen, especially when his only short suit was bid by South. He thinks South should have shown a strong hand by making a takeout double of one heart. Then, perhaps, the ace and the queen would have looked like useful cards.

"South says he doesn't like to make a takeout double when void of the opponent's suit. He thinks he showed a good hand by going to the level of three vulnerable without hearing a word from North.

"Who is right, and what are the reasons?"

Just consider the South bidding without looking at the South hand. South must have at least ten black cards, and therefore at most three red cards. Suppose that the ace of diamonds takes care of one of those three red cards, and that the other two red cards are losers.

North's only question is: How solid is South in the black suits? If two tricks must be lost in the red suits, can South develop the black suits without loss and thus make a game in clubs?

North doesn't know the answer to this question, but he doesn't need it. He can bid four clubs to let South answer the question. South doesn't have to guess; he can just look at his hand and see that there will be a good play for game opposite any hand that was worth a raise to four clubs.

If South had a slightly weaker hand he would pass at four clubs and would still be safe. It's hard to imagine that he would have less than king-queen of spades and ace-king of clubs, for example, and with that hand he would pass four clubs and make it.

With the actual hand South has no trouble making five clubs. He draws trumps and tries the spade finesse. The finesse and one spade ruff in dummy are enough to set up the suit, and South loses only two diamonds.

Coronation Dresses Arouse Speculation

London. — Members of London's big ten of fashion are wondering who will land the coveted order to make dresses for next year's coronation train-bearers and canopy-bearers.

Prior to the last coronation, Royal designer Norman Hartnell was summoned to the Palace after Queen Mother Elizabeth had considered three of his train-bearer designs. She finally chose a groundlength gown of duchess satin embroidered in wheat-ear design.

Hartnell also made the Duchess of Gloucester's gown but Molyneux, who has retired from the fashion arena, designed dresses for the canopy-bearers and the gown worn by the Duchess of Kent.

There is speculation that Hardy Amies or Victor Stiebel, who have both made dresses for the Queen, will step into Molyneux's shoes.

The coronation gown of Queen Mother Elizabeth, worn under her robes, was made and embroidered by a firm of court dressmakers in New Bond street. It is believed that the new Queen will follow her mother's example even to the princess styling with fitted waist and full skirt.

The Record Short Story

RASPUTINS CAFE

By CHRISTOPHER KING

The landlady led Sergt. Gilman and me up to the third floor of the old frame rooming house, and pointed to a closed brown door. "I'll not open it again, myself," she said, and hurried down the stairs.

I opened the door into the tiny, dingy room, four walls, none of them clean, a gray window, no rug, just a chair, wash basin, dresser, and bed. The body was on the bed.

Henry Radford had not long enjoyed his release from prison. After serving five years, he had been released three months ago, and now he had a permanent release. He was flat on his back, shot at least four times in the chest at close range. The killer had pulled the covers up over the body, up to the neck, but Henry didn't appear to be sleeping, not with his eyes open. He was fully clothed, and Bloodhound examined his clothes carefully. I put the call in to homicide.

Five years ago, Henry Radford and George Rampler had been sentenced to five years in prison. They were found guilty of a number of robberies, both had pleaded guilty, and some of the loot was recovered. However, the big portion of the fifty thousand dollar holdup of the bank messenger, in which both were involved, never appeared.

Both men named Louis Sorci as their partner, but Sorci vanished. George Rampler, who had died in prison two years ago, claimed that Sorci and Radford had held up the bank messenger, that he had only driven the car, that he had never seen a penny of the money. Radford and Rampler were picked up the next day. All during the trial, it was thought that Radford knew where the money was hidden. One newspaper columnist had suggested that Radford had hidden the money to keep it from his two partners, and was quite satisfied to go to jail, knowing he'd be able to dig up the money when he was released.

The story seemed incredible, but when Radford had come out of prison three months ago, it came out again. And now, his murder was a confirmation.

After calling homicide, I joined Bloodhound back in the little room. There was little to find in the way of clues. Radford's pockets contained nothing out of the ordinary, only seven dollars in cash. It looked like a case for Bloodhound's nose, but there seemed to be no starting point. There was nothing unusual for his super sensitive sense of smell to attack. He made a complete examination of the clothes in the closet, but found nothing.

When homicide arrived, I was glad to leave. On the way back to the station, Bloodhound admitted that he hadn't found a thing.

"A good case to let homicide handle," I said. "Even your nose didn't get a clue."

"If it did, I don't know it," Bloodhound said.

In the next two days, the newspapers devoted a good deal of space to Radford, and there was picture of Sorci on every front page, but the case was a tough one. The landlady knew nothing about Radford, said that he had been there for four weeks, seemed to have a job because he left the house at eight every morning, and paid his rent in advance. She had discovered the body when a woman ha dphoned, and asked for Radford. The landlady had knocked at his door, then opened it, and found the body.

The mystery woman got a big play in the newspapers, the woman who had phoned. Two days after we found the body, she appeared at the station, and her story turned out to be a dud. She had met Radford at a bar in the neighborhood, just one week ago. He had asked her for a date, but failed to show up. She phoned to find he was dead. Neither she nor the landlady could tell of any friends he had. The whole case seemed to depend on finding Sorci, but he had vanished five years ago, and it looked hopeless.

It was on Friday, three days after the murder, that Bloodhound got his brain in working order, and came up with the best clue. "We're going down to see Billy Hill," he told me. "I've just got a hunch about Hill. He knew all about Radford, and I wouldn't be surprised if he had tailed him when he got out of prison."

Bill Hill was a private detective with a bad reputation, and lost his license once. When we called on him, he tried to laugh his way out of Bloodhound's suggestion, but finally admitted that he had followed Radford.

"I tailed him for four weeks, and found out nothing. I think he knew someone was on his back, he moved to a new rooming house every week. I lost him before he moved into the place he was found. He had no friends, never saw anybody. I wasted my time, and ruined my stomach in Rasputin's Cafe."

"Rasputin's?"

"Radford ate there several times. Remember, I only followed the guy for four weeks, I don't know what he did the last two months."

It sounded like something could develop. It was our only lead. I was interested in seeing the Rasputin place, which was getting a wild reputation. It had been opened two years ago with a great deal of publicity. The owner called himself Rasputin, and he looked the part, wild eyes, a big mop of black hair, and a big black beard. However, trade dwindled off when people discovered it was nothing more than a lunchroom, serving bad food.

Bloodhound and I entered the cafe, and sat in the corner. Rasputin himself came over to serve us.

"No food," Bloodhound told him. "Information."

"Have I done something?" he asked. "You want to examine my hamburger to see if it is horsemeat?"

"Just want to ask you about Radford," Bloodhound said.

"Radford, do I know a Radford?"

"Stop answering me with questions," Bloodhound told him. "You know Radford, he was seen in here several times."

"I remember well enough," Rasputin said. "Radford worked here. I hired him as a cook four weeks ago. I don't know anything about him, but he did his work okay. I read that he's killed, but I can't tell you anything about the guy. What good do I do by running over to the station to tell you Redford worked here, when I don't know nothing about him?"

"Was he working when he was killed?"

"Sure, he was a pretty good cook."

"Ever know a man named Louis Sorci?"

"I read about him in the papers, but I never heard of him."

"Did Radford have any friends?"

"If he did, I don't know them. I don't think so. This is just a small place, me and the cook, and the dishwasher. I would have noticed anyone who visited him."

"You better lock the place up then," Bloodhound said. "I want you to come down to the station, make a statement, and sign it."

Rasputin tried to protest, but Bloodhound insisted, and the three of us took off. When Rasputin dictated his story, Bloodhound asked him if he had anything else to add.

"Nothing, I know nothing more."

"That's a shame," Bloodhound told him. "Your story is all wet. Radford never worked in your place as a cook. You didn't know how often we had seen him in your cafe, so you dished up a bum story. If Radford had worked as a cook his clothes would have smelled of the grease from your kitchen. I went over every bit of clothing he owned, no odor in any of them. You're going to get a shave and haircut, Sorci, and tell us the real story."

We got a barber in to give Rasputin the works. He was Sorci, and ready to sing. He told how Radford had hidden the fifty thousand, then gone to jail, thinking that he wouldn't have to split the money when he got out. Sorci, as Rasputin, tailed him and convinced him that he was going to get his share. When Radford picked up the money, Sorci was waiting for him and killed him.

Bloodhound's nose had done it again, this time by not smelling something, the grease that would have permeated Radford's clothing had he worked as a cook.

25th Anniversary Of Richmond Branch Of Canadian Legion Observed Saturday

Richmond, June 30.—The 25th anniversary of the Richmond Branch 15 of the Canadian Legion, was observed on Saturday and the event proved to be a big success.

Legionaires from Stanstead, Sherbrooke, Danville, Windsor Mills, Asbestos, Drummondville and the Vimy Branch, Montreal, attended.

Guest speakers for the occasion were: Provincial President M. Munich, of Montreal; Dominion Command Representative Al Heron, of Montreal; 1st Vice-President of the Provincial Command, Alex Solomon, of Montreal; John Kay, of Sherbrooke, 4th vice-president of Provincial Command, and John Murray, district commander, from Fitch Bay.

The activities on Saturday included a large parade through the streets in Richmond, ceremonies at the Cenotaph, where wreaths were laid and the Last Post was sounded and ceremonies in the Legion Memorial Hall.

S. A. Taylor, president of the Richmond Branch, welcomed the many guests and thanked them for making the anniversary a success.

L. R. Delaney, of Richmond, acted as master of ceremonies. V. R. Beattie and J. E. Lyness, of Richmond, introduced the speakers.

W. G. Husk, 1st vice-president from Richmond, read the history of the branch.

The speakers all congratulated the branch upon their success and wished them every success in the future. They pointed out that the Legion had practically reached it's limit in obtaining benefits for ex-servicemen and at the present time an all-out campaign is being launched to promote better community spirit and activities.

The Canadian Legion Command Revue, Montreal, a show consisting of some 40 talented and trained artists, was presented in the Myra Theatre on Saturday evening.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion served a buffet luncheon.

Founded on June 10, 1927, at which date they received the charter, Richmond Branch No. 15, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., is one of the oldest Legion branches in the Quebec Command, as its number indicates. Always an extremely active branch, it has made steady progress since the date of its charter, an dtoday numbers 130 members, as against the original 15.

Strictly a matter of coincidence, but a most unusual one, indeed, is the fact that the Richmond Branch of the Canadian Legion was founded with 15 charter members and was granted its charter for Branch, No. 15. Col. J. W. Harkom was the first president, and one of the original 15 charter members, 11 are still alive today.

Presidents since 1927 have been: Col. Harkom, 1927-1930; J. V. Brooks, 1930-1931; J. Cameron, 1932-1933; W. E. Campbelton, 1934-1935; A. L. Wood, 1936; G. W. E. Barton, 1937; H. W. Smith, 1938; F. J. Salway, 1939-1941; H. N. Becker, 1942-1943; C. S. Delaney, 1943; N. E. Ross, 1944-1946; J. L. Mackenzie, 1947; E. C. Nixon, 1948-1949; V. R. Beattie, 1950-1951 and S. A. Taylor, 1952.

Gala Program Is Arranged For Bury

Bury June 30. — Bury is going all out in its Dominion Day celebrations this year, with a packed and varied program.

Events get underway tomorrow morning at 9:30 with a baseball game between two pick-up teams.

The grand street parade, one of the highlights of the celebrations, is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. The parade will be headed by the Sherbrooke Legion Pipe Band which will be in attendance for most of the day.

The sports program starts at 2:00 p. m. at the Bury Memorial Park. Special events include the rolling pin throw, baseball throw, horseshoe pitching, married women's race, and the married men's race. A number of Scottish dances will also be presented during the afternoon by Miss Audrey Gordon, of Montreal.

The seating capacity at the Park has been increased to accomodate several hundred spectators, and refreshment stands will be in operation on the grounds throughout the day.

The evening program includes an amateur artists contest at 7 p.m., followed by a fireworks display at dusk.

A special prize will also be presented for best decorated property in the town, and the Victor Jewkes trophy will be awarded to the sports contestant from Bury Township who accumulates the highest number of points during the afternoon events.

Dancing at both the Armoury and City Hall to orchestra music will bring the day to a close.

Four Young Men Held In Series Of Robberies

Four young men have been arrested by police and are being held for questioning in connection with a series of robberies which have occurred recently at Thetford ,St. Pierre, East Broughton and around the Quebec City area.

On instructions from the Provincial Police force, Magog Municipal Police Capt. Maurice St. Jacques, arrested four men in Magog yesterday. They were taken to Thetford Mines jail and will appear for trial later in the week at either Victoriaville or Quebec.

Magog Police Chief Telesphore Lavoie aided in the arrest of the youths who are believed to have been the ring leaders in a crime wave around the Thetford Mines area during the past few months.

The R.C.M.P., whose anti-subversives branch has been investigating Davies for several months, imposed a curtain of silence around the case following the arrest.

Davies was driven here by automobile from Whitby and was first taken to the Justice Building where he was questioned for several hours. He was booked in a police station on the passport charge and was placed in Carleton County jail for the week-end.

Davies has travelled extensively in Russia and was a correspondent there during the war — the only Canadian one in Moscow at the time. He has contributed to several Canadian magazines and weekly newspapers. His first book, as a co-author, was "Soviet Asia," published in 1942. Others included "Canada and Russia" and "Truth about Poland."

In Toronto during the 1930's he was a leader of the Young Communist League and according to information here was known in the league as "Roy Davis."

Harry Blue's Golf Range Is Destroyed

Damage estimated at $2,000 was caused early Sunday morning in a fire which destroyed Harry Blue's golf driving range and restaurant on the Brompton Road.

The building, 12 feet high and of frame construction, was already beyond saving by the time the Fire Department arrived.

The Brigade was alerted by a Mr. Vezina, who was driving into Sherbrooke when he noticed the flames at approximately 3:15 a.m. Sunday. He drove down to the Station and reported the fire.

Firemen from number one station, directed by Acting Officer Theodore Lamoureux, immediately sped to the fire scene but the building was gutted by that time. All the firemen could do was put out the embers and extinguish a fire which had spread to an electric pole. Restaurant and golf equipment was also lost.

Cause of the blaze is unknown.

Elections Held By Industrial Experts Group

The Eastern Townships Industrial Management Association held its closing meeting at the RCEME Sergeant's Mess, 513 King Street West.

Two "Rating Films" were shown in which all the members participated. These training films are carefully designed to cultivate the ability to rate "operator pace" by the observing Timestudy man.

Following the showing of these films, the meeting was turned over to Mr. Peter Newdick for the balloting on the slate of officers for 1952-53.

The results of this election were as follows: Chairman, Harold M. Shephard; secretary-treasurer, Kenneth Strew; program, Kenneth Jackson; membership, Howard Gibson; publicity, John Gilchrist; entertainment, Douglas Jones.

The 1952-53 season will open on September 26 with an explanation and demonstration of Predetermined Motion Times. This new tool of scientific management is increasing in popularity in the industrial engineering field and promises to practically eliminate the stop watch in determining operation times in industry. As there has been a fair amount of controversy between the converts of this new method and the "Stopwatch" users, this promises to be one of the best evenings yet offered to the membership.

Says Smaller

terday, read a full list of smaller steel plants that have made agreements with the steelworkers since the strike started. The settlements cover about 25,000 of the strikers, and together with firms not hit by the walkout, give the U.S. about 15 per cent of normal steel output.

The latest company to make peace was Pittsburgh Steel, the 14th largest producer which turned out more than 1,000,000 tons of ingots last year.

Pittsburgh's agreement to grant the union shop, the union said, strengthened the steelworkers' insistence on that provision.

Murray held the union shop is not the main issue in the strike, but he declined to pinpoint the main issue.

nI defending the union shop, he said that when the union wins an election it bargains for all those in the industry. Those who do not pay dues, he declared, are free riders.

Under the union shop, all employees must join the union. The modified union shop in the Pittsburgh agreement provides that new employees must join the union but they have the option of withdrawing between 20 and 30 days aftr beginning their employment. The agreement also includes a 12½-cent hourly wage increase.

NOTICE

The Honourable Antonio Barrette, Minister of Labour of the Province of Quebec, pursuant to the provisions of Section 5 of the Collective Labour Agreement Act (R.S.Q. 1941, chapter 163 and amendments), hereby gives notice that he has received a request in modification to the decree relating to the barber and hairdressing trades which territorial jurisdiction comprises the district of Sherbrooke.

The notice of request of modification has been published in the Quebec Official Gazette of June 21, 1952, in the following manner:

The Honourable Antonio Barrette, Minister of Labour, hereby gives notice, pursuant to the provisions of the Collective Agreement Act (R.S.Q., 1941, chapter 163 and amendments), that "Le Syndicat des Maitres Artisans Barbiers du District de St. François" has submitted to him a request to be treated as co-contracting party to the collective labour agreement relating to the barber and hairdressing trades in the district of Sherbrooke, rendered obligatory by the decree number 918 of June 4, 1947.

During the thirty days following the date of publication of this notice in the Quebec Official Gazette, the Honourable Minister of Labour will consider the objections which the interested parties may wish to set forth.

GERALD TREMBLAY,
Deputy Minister of Labour.
Department of Labour,
Quebec, June 21, 1952.

The Doctor Says:

GOOD DIET IMPORTANT IN PRESERVING CHILDREN'S TEETH

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Not being a dentist, the writer of this column has said little about the care of the teeth. But the scope of the problem is enormous.

It is said that more than 22 million newly-decayed teeth develop each year among the 38 million children between 6 and 18 years of age in the United States. It is also claimed that 15 out of 100 grownups have artificial teeth, and another 20 out of the 100 should have them.

Everyone can help to reduce tooth decay. One measure which is particularly important for children is the maintenance of a good diet, which contains adequate amount of milk and milk products, fruits, vegetables, cereals eggs, lean meat, poultry, fish and whole grain bread.

In fact, anything which aids the body to keep in good health, including diet, also apparently helps to prevent tooth decay.

Mouth cleanliness is one of the most important measures. Food particles readily lodge in the teeth, where they decay rapidly, and in doing so injure the hard surfaces of the teeth.

The most desirable practice is to brush the teeth after each meal, but if this can't be done, rinsing the mouth carefully would help some.

Those grownups who do not already know it, should be instructed by their dentists as to just how their teeth should be brushed, and children should receive the same instruction as early in life as possible.

In some cases, too, dental floss can be used between the teeth to clean out food particles, but instruction in this, too, is desirable in order to avoid injuring the gums.

There is a good deal of evidence that sweets harm the hard tissue or enamel of the teeth. For this reason candy and other sweets should be taken in moderation and the mouth always washed or rinsed immediately afterwards.

It perhaps seems unnecessary to add that both children and adults should be taken regularly to the dentist who can identify small cavities or difficulties early and correct them promptly.

Save Dental Work Later

If this were done more commonly, it would save many from more extensive dental work later in life and save many teeth which may later have to be removed entirely.

All this indicates that healthy teeth are the responsibility of the individual, and even if the addition of fluorides to the public water supply proves as successful in preventing dental decay as many people hope and think, each person still has the responsibility of doing the best he or she can to preserve healthy teeth.

Square Dancing Calgary Orphans Are Hit In West

Calgary. — Sixty square-dancing orphans from the Calgary district have won themselves a spot among Canada's most colorful entertainers.

They are called the "Do-si-ettes," a new twist to the familiar square dance step, "Do-si-do and away we go." All are from the Woods Christian Home at Calgary or the Lacombe Home, six miles outside the city.

The Do-si-ettes have shot to fame in their own locality. Since their first appearance at the Calgary Stampede in 1951, they have been in demand for private appearances at banquets, conventions and similar functions.

Their greatest triumph to date was a performance before Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh during the Royal tour last year.

The Do-si-ettes are the brainchildren of Mike Hussey and Phillip Bourque of Calgary. In 1950 Mr. Bourque, then an executive of the Canadian shoe retailers' association, was asked to organize a western train for a convention in Montreal.

All the delegates dressed western style and learned to square dance. In Montreal they stole the convention. When they returned Mike Hussey, a veteran dance-caller, saw them. He and Mr. Bourque decided to teach the same thing to children.

Faced with a shortage of youngsters, they turned to the Woods Christian Home, where they found 30 willing recruits. Bourque and Hussey then decided they could raise money for the home through public appearances of the Do-si-ettes.

The venture was successful from the beginning. After the children's first appearance at the Calgary Stampede last year the home was richer by more than $2,000.

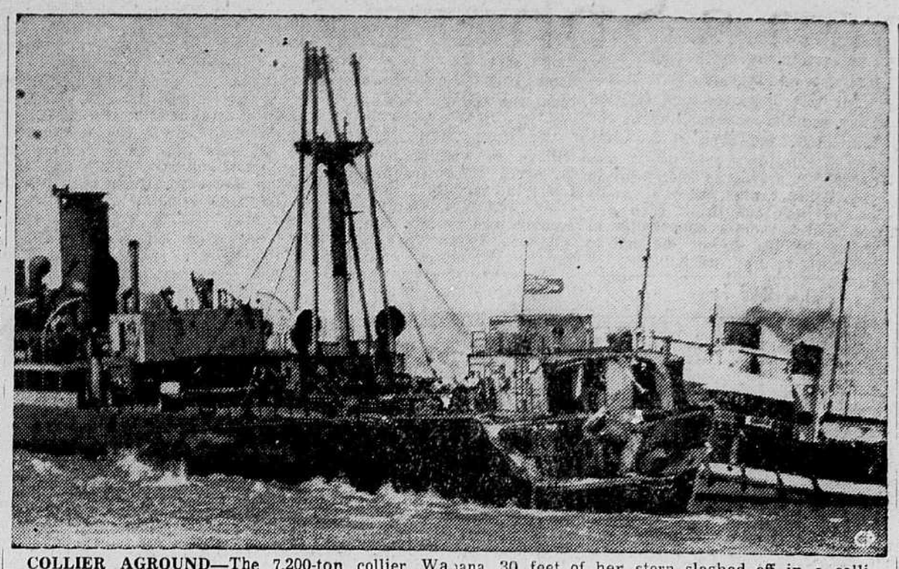

Calgary businessmen gave a hand. They donated or drastically reduced prices for the colorful old-time western costumes which the children wear when they dance.

The sponsors decided it would not be fair to give their attention only to the Woods Home, so last fall the Do-si-ettes were moved to the Lacombe Home and 30 new dancers chosen. The plan is to alternate between homes each year.

Already the second group of Do-si-ettes has raised enough money to furnish a classroom and provide a new truck for the home. But the material gains are not the most important thing.

The chance to square dance opens up a whole new world for them. It allows them to meet people and travel—things they were unable to do before.

Now with the 1952 Stampede approaching, the Do-si-ettes are busy rehearsing for their summer program.

COLLIER AGROUND—The 7,200-ton collier Wabana, 30 feet of her stern slashed off in a collision with the Cunard liner Scythia, gets into further trouble before reaching Quebec City. The collier, weighted with 9,000 tons of coal, went aground on a sandbar in Quebec harbor. After waiting for high tide it was yanked free by three tugs. (CP Photo)

PAST AND PRESENT—Governor-General Vincent Massey welcomes his guest and predecessor, Earl Alexander, Britain's defence minister, who came to Ottawa after a visit to Korea for talks with defence and government officials. The two men chatted on the grounds of Government House, official residence of Canada's Governor-General, which Earl Alexander left last February. (CP Photo)

Every child has a gift

If you judge your child on school marks alone, you may overlook the really great gifts he has, says "unorthodox" teacher Hughes Mearns in July Reader's Digest.

He tells how, for example, a budding inventor may be so absorbed in daydreaming that he neglects studies; how a born leader, retiring nearly to the point of "dumbness" in class, may show his initiative on the baseball diamond.

Learn how to discover your child's hidden talents.

What boosts a man's stock with people like these?

HIS BOSS

Invariably, employers like the kind of man who readily accepts responsibility. And they know that this attitude is suggested by a man's ownership of life insurance. So life insurance can be a "plus" to a man in any line of work.

HIS BANKER

Because bankers and others who lend money render such useful service, their opinion of a man is important. To them, ownership of adequate life insurance is often an important factor in establishing satisfactory credit.

HIS WIFE

Many a man is rated "the best husband in the world" by his wife. But if he owns life insurance—which provides his family with financial security—he enjoys extra laurels because of his concern for their future.

HIS FRIENDS AND NEIGHBOURS

When they know that a man owns life insurance, they know he's trying to achieve financial independence for his family and, perhaps, for his own later years. And because he's doing his share in this way, they regard him with respect.

Today, millions of Canadians are providing security for themselves and their families—and enjoying greater prestige—through owning life insurance!

AT YOUR SERVICE!

More than 50 Canadian, British and United States life insurance companies compete actively to offer Canadians the best possible plans for providing financial protection for their families and retirement income for themselves. A trained life underwriter from any of these companies will gladly help you choose the kind and amount of life insurance that will best fit your individual needs.

The Most Powerful Gasoline Your Car Can Use!

Get Activated!

Today's more powerful engines require a highly complex gasoline to deliver their full power. There can be as many as 1500 different chemical compounds in a gallon of gasoline.

To select the best of these chemicals, and to arrange them properly to fulfill the needs of your car calls for the last word in refinery equipment and scientific skill.

It is Shell's manufacturing policy to make "The most powerful gasoline your car can use." Shell activates gasoline by splitting and rearranging petroleum molecules.

The result—Shell Premium—the most powerful gasoline your car can use. See the Shell Dealer in your neighborhood.

MARRIAGES

GIBSON—WILLIAMS

Ottawa, Ont., June 30. — White gladioli, pink peonies and ferns decorated Bell Street United Church, Ottawa, Ont., on Saturday afternoon, June 21, at three o'clock, when Miss Naomi Edith Joyce Williams, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Fred Williams, of Carleton Place, formerly of Sherbrooke, was united in marriage to Mr. Howard Summers Gibson, son of Mrs. Henry H. Gibson, and the late Mr. Gibson.

Rev. Mr. Williams officiated at the wedding of his daughter, assisted by Rev. George G. Connolly. Mr. Wilfrid H. Hindle was the organist and the soloist was Mrs. Wilfrid H. Hindle.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Wendell O. Williams, the bride was attended by Miss Edith Crawford, of Sherbrooke, as maid of honor. Mr. C. B. Davis, of Toronto, was the best man and the guests were ushered to their pews by Mr. Arthur Fee and Mr. Robert Glass.

For her wedding the bride wore a strapless gown of Chantilly lace and net under a redingote of matching lace, featuring net panels in the skirt, long fitted sleeves coming to points over the hands and a small pointed collar.

Her fingertip-length veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white roses and gladioli surrounded by maiden hair fern.

The maid of honor was gowned in brown net over yellow taffeta, the skirt being fashioned of triple layers of net in both shades. Her headdress was a braided bandeau of net with a fluted edge and she carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli and Talisman roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. S. B. Williams, after which Mr. and Mrs. Gibson, left by motor for the United States on their wedding trip.

To travel the bride chose a two-piece rose linen suit, orchid straw hat, matching gloves and white accessories. Her corsage bouquet of gardenias completed her ensemble.

Among the out-of-town guests were, Rev. and Mrs. Fred Williams, Carleton Place; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Williams, Miss Carol Williams, South Dayton, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. E. Hurley, Sawyerville, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Lloyd, Miss Jean Lloyd, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Summers, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Summers, Mr. and Mrs. C. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. R. CLOW—LEGER

Montreal, Que., June 30.—The marriage took place in the Erskine and American United Church, Montreal, on Saturday afternoon, June 7, at half past four o'clock, of Bertha Lillian (Lee-Ann) Leger, daughter of the late Mr. Henry G. Leger and Mrs. Leger, and Mr. Richard Henry Franklin Clow, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. Clow, of Stanbridge East. The Rev. Dr. J. S. Thomson officiated and Mr. Robert Booth was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Charles M. Cameron, wore a ballerina-length gown of white embroidered nylon, the long fitted bodice having three quarter-length sleeves and flowing into a very full skirt. A crown of white lilacs held her finger-tip-length veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of iris and baby's breath.

Miss Margaret Ramsey, as maid of honor, and Miss Audrey Ashead, as bridesmaid, wore puckered nylon frocks styled similarly to that of the bride, and white hand embroided mohair picture hats. Miss Ramsey was in rose, and carried a nosegay of mauve sweet peas, and Miss Ashead, in aqua, carried pink sweet peas.

Mr. George Clow, of Stanbridge East, acted as best man for his brother, while the bride's cousin, Mr. W. R. Sutton, and Mr. F. Richard Palmer, brother-in-law of the groom, were ushers.

Mrs. Leger, mother of the bride, was in a rose beige satin back shantung suit with paddy green accessories and she wore a pink carnation corsage.

Snapdragons and iris with pink and white carnations were arranged throughout the rooms at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Cameron, Drummond Street, for the reception.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Clow left by motor for their wedding trip to Ottawa and the Gatineau Valley, the bride wearing for travelling a French blue suit with white accessories and a knot of Pinocchio roses at her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Clow took up residence in Valois Gardens upon their return.

Liver Will Be A Welcome Weekly Treat For The Children If Well Prepared

It is not always easy to plan the family meals so that they provide the proper nourishment for the younger members. For valuable help in planning and serving foods for children you must see "Body Building Dishes for Children," twenty-second title to be released in the twenty-four cookbook series being made available to readers of this newspaper.

Menus, diet guides, attractive illustrations to show how to serve to best advantage, and most important of all—delicious recipes of health giving foods—all headline Body Building Dishes for Children. Here, for instance is a recipe for that always necessary and important food—liver—which will take it out of the "must" class and put it into the favorite class for young and old alike:

BAKED LIVER

2 pounds beef or pork liver (1 thick piece)
4 slices bacon
1 onion, sliced
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons catchup
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
Salt and pepper
Hot water

Place liver in greased baking dish and cover with bacon slices. Add remaining ingredients, using enough hot water to nearly cover liver. Cover and cook in slow oven (300° F.) about 1½ hours. Remove cover for last 15 minutes to brown bacon slices. Serves 6.

Grapefruit Or Orange Rind Make Nourishing Candy For Youngsters

If you want to see to it that your candy-loving youngster is not suffering from an unbalanced diet you should follow some of the suggestions in "Body Building Dishes for Children," the twenty-second title in the Culinary Arts Institute series of twenty-four cookbooks that are currently being released to readers of the Record, a book-a-week.

This remarkable cookbook is designed to help mothers cook in the best possible way so that they will serve nourishing and attractive foods to their children. For instance, many mothers realize that their children eat too much cheap candy but they do not know what to do about it. Here is an excellent suggestion from Body Building Dishes for Children that turns the children's love for candy into a useful way to give them added vitamins and nourishment:

CANDIED GRAPEFRUIT PEEL

1 large grapefruit
Cold water
Sugar

Wash grapefruit, peel and cut the rind into pieces ½ inch wide. Cover with cold water. Heat to boiling and boil 5 minutes; repeat 3 times. Boil rind in a fourth water until tender, then drain and place in a fifth water, adding 1 cup of sugar to each cup of rind. Boil until the liquid becomes a thick syrup. Drain and roll in sugar.

The syrup may be flavored with a few drops almond extract.

CANDIED ORANGE PEEL—Use 4 large navel oranges instead of grapefruit rind and boil in 3 waters instead of 5.

TRACK AND FIELD ATHLETES SET SEVEN CANADIAN RECORDS

23 Placed In Olympic Team As Two-Day Meet Plays Big Hand In Selection; Leaves Next Week

Hamilton, June 30.—(CP)—Canada's bid for track and field honors at the Olympic Games in Finland will be centred on the runners.

The Canadian Olympic Association executive came up yesterday with a list of 16 men and seven women, selected on the basis of performance at the Dominion Championships.

Fourteen of the men and five of the women are runners. Before the Olympic executives reached their decision they indulged in an unprecedented show — an affair early Sunday morning without benefit of newspaper men — to decide who would make the girls' relay team.

The selection fell upon Rosella Thorne, well-muscled Negro speedster from Montreal, who will also compete in the women's broad jump and possible in the 80-metre hurdles.

Tiny O'Halloran and Donna Wilson, both of Toronto, were hustled over from Toronto, 40 miles away. Miss Thorne and Joan Wood of Montreal, were roused from their beds in a Hamilton hotel.

When the sunrise show was all over, Miss Thorne was the winner in a special 100-metre race. Her time was 12.5 seconds, 3/10 seconds slower than the Olympic standard set for the meet.

The Olympic officials said Miss Thorne, a member of Canada's British Empire Games team two years ago, will fit in with the girls' relay team, and her ability in the broad jump and hurdles will also bear watching.

The Olympic Association executives stuck largely to actual Friday-Saturday performances in the championships and trials in making their Olympic selections.

There were a few exceptions. Miss Thorne was one. Another was Doug Clement of Vancouver who placed third in the 400-metre race, but was picked for the relay team.

Breakers of the Olympic standards, set by the Olympic Association as a yardstick for those aspiring to make the team, didn't necessarily get the nod.

The girls suffered particularly. Mary Lawrence of Toronto, who broke the Canadian record for the women's shot put, and Joyce Brennan of Toronto, who cracked the mark for the discus throw, were not selected. Officials said the competition in Europe would be too tough for the Canadian girls to beat.

The disappointment of the meet was Don McEwen of Ottawa. McEwen, a husky youngster who stars for the University of Michigan at a mile and two miles, was a disappointment in the 5,000-metre race. Well up with the leader from the start, he collapsed from stomach pains and was passed up by the selectors.

Rich Ferguson, Toronto runner from Iowa University, rallied to win over an earlier lapse from the heat. Al Fisher of Victoria, leader most of the way in what became a three-man race, faltered under Ferguson's last-lap sprint.

In the debate over team selections there was no argument over little Shirley Eckel of Toronto, a blonde youngster of 20 who is a 97-pound package of spring dynamite. She wrecked the Canadian record in the 80-metre hurdles and will be used in Helsinki also in the 100- or 200-metre sprints and possibly on the 400-metre relay team.

The two-day meet brought out nine Canadian records. Roy Pella, University of Michigan's tosser from Sudbury, Ont., heaved the discus 157 feet, 3¼ inches against the old mark of 145 feet, 9¾ inches set by Eric Coy, of Winnipeg in 1937.

John Ross, of Oakville, another Michiganer, travelled the 800-metres in 1:56.6, to better the record of 1:52.0 made in 1928 by Phil Edwards, of Hamilton, and now of Montreal.

Estonian-born Hans Moks, who can't compete for Canada in the Olympics, hurled the javelin 225 feet, 11 inches, against the old record of 214 feet, 529 inches, made by J. M. Courtright, of Ottawa, in 1937.

Ferguson's time of 15:18.8 in the 5,000-metres broke the old mark of 15:23.6 set by Cliff Salmond, of Vancouver, in 1948, and also bettered the time of two other Canadians whose records are still to be applied for. Earlier this year Fisher went the distance in 15:20.2 and Valdo Lillikas, of Montreal, in 15.14.3.

Two of the meet records were set by Ferguson in his 5,000-metre gallop. For the distance he not only clipped Salmond's old mark but also beat the three-mile record. Ferguson was timed in 14.48.8 at three miles during his 5,000-metre trip against his own three-mile mark of 14:49.8, made two years ago.

Snead And Ferrier Cop Best-Ball Tourney

Toledo, O., June 30. — (AP) — Sammy Snead and Jim Ferrier blisted the par 36 back nine with a best-ball score of 28, eight under par, to route Lloyd Mangrum and Cary Middlecoff, five up, in the final round and win the first annual $18,000 Inverness All-Star Golf Tournament here Sunday.

The victory was worth $5,666.66 to Snead and Ferrier, who won the Inverness Invitation in 1950. It was the fourth victory here for Snead who won with Vic Ghezzie in 1938 and Ralph Guldahl in 1940 in addition ao the 1950 triumph with Ferrier.

M. Fortier, G. Harmer Place 7th At Rawdon

Marcel Fortier and Gordon Harmer, 8-handicappers from the Sherbrooke Country Club, tied for 7th place in the Rawdon Open yesterday with 83's.

Both golfers shot identical scores 41-42 and incidentally they both had the same scores at North Hatley 78 but their nine holes rounds were different on Saturday.

Professional Bill Kerr won the tournament with a one-under par 69 Vince Andrews, Royal Quebec, won the low amteur with a 74.

Over 10 golfers participated in the tournament open to amateurs and professionals. Only amateurs with 9 and under handicaps were accepted.

Maxim Receives Only $66,816 For Winning

Grossinger, N. Y., June 30. — (AP) — Joey Maxim, world light-heavyweight champion, said Saturday he received only 20 per cent of the gate receipts of Wednesday's bout with Ray Robinson, middleweight king. Robinson, Maxim said, received 40 per cent.

Previously it had been announced that Maxim and Robinson each got 30 per cent—an estimated $100,224.

Maxim thus received an estimated $66,816 for winning while Robinson received $133,633 for losing. Maxim made no mention how the TV money, $90,000, was divided. Prior to the fight it was said both would get 30 per cent of that.

Maxim, resting here, added that he would agree to meet Robinson again "only if I get the 40 per cent this time. My kids have to eat, too."

Red Ettinger Signs With Toronto Argos

Toronto, June 30. — (CP) — Donald (Red) Ettinger, place-kicking specialist with Saskatchewan Roughriders, has signed with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football League for the 1952 season.

He recently gained his release from Roughriders and will replace Buckets Hirsch, recently traded to Hamilton Tiger-Cats along with Don Durno for defensive middle Jack Carpenter.

Ettinger is rated one of the three best centres in Canada.

Piersall Farmed Out By Manager Boudreau

Boston, June 30—(AP)—General Manager Joe Cronin of Boston Red Sox said Saturday night Jim Piersall, colorful but erratic rookie outfielder, had been sent down to the Birmingham Southern Association Club at Manager Lou Boudreau's pleading request.

"Lou said time and again he had begged Piersall to behave himself but that he just got worse and worse every day," Cronin added.

Olympic Association Gives Final Approval To Full Team Of 113 As 20 Officials Named To Make Trip

Hamilton, June 30. — (CP) — The Canadian Olympic Association yesterday named 16 men and seven women to Canada's track team going to the Helsinki Games next month.

The Association also gave final approval to the full team of 113 —111 competitors plus one spare each in yachting and equestrian classes—and 20 officials.

Most had been previously announced and approved by the Association.

Following are those picked after the track and field trials here Friday and Saturday:

MEN

WOMEN

Luella Law, Vancouver; Eleanor McKenzie, Vancouver; Shirley Eckel, Toronto; Rosella Thorne, Montreal; Tiny O'Halloran, Toronto; Dawn Josephs, Victoria; Alice Whitty, Vancouver.

The C.O.A. also approved nine swimmers—five men and four women.

They are:

Kay McNamee, Victoria; Irene Strong, Vancouver; Lenora Fisher, Ocean Falls, B. C.; Gladys Priestly, Montreal; Peter Salmon, Vancouver; Gerry McNamee, Victoria; Leo Portelance, Ocean Falls; Lucien Beaumont, Lachine, Que.; and Allen Gilchrist, Vancouver.

The team will leave from Montreal on chartered planes. The first flight will leave July 5 and the Second July 9.

Arnold Baker, Country Club, Posts 73 To Win North Hatley Field Day; Dr. Brouillette Cops Net With 63

Arnold Baker, well-known Sherbrooke Country Club swinger, won the North Hatley open field day Saturday with a 73.

Baker fired a one-over-par 36 on the first time around the nine-hole sporty course and shot a 37 the second time around.

Some sixty-five golfers competed in the tournament and several good scores were turned in.

The low net for the field went to Dr. M. Brouillette, of Knowlton, who shot a 78 with a 15 handicap for a 63.

Willis Kirby, of Lennoxville, shot 38-36-74 minus a 7 handicap for a 67 net which was low in class "A".

Fern Fontaine, Lennoxville, shot an 81, 42-39, with a 14 handicap for a 67 net to win class "B".

Donat Gregoire, Sherbrooke Country Club, shot an 98 minus a 32 handicap for a 66 net to win class "C" net while C. Williams, Dufferin, had a 93 for low gross in "C" class.

Among those shooting low gross scores were: Kermit Grant, Lydonville, Vt., who had a 76, a pair of 38's; J. Bernier, East Angus, 39-39 for a 77; Gordon Harmer, Sherbrooke Country Club, 36-42-78; Marcel Fortier, Sherbrooke Country Club, 39-39, 78.

The tourney was played under ideal weather conditions.

Don McEwen, Ottawa's Brilliant Speedster Who Specializes In Mile, Fails To Make Track Squad

Hamilton, Ont., June 30. — (CP) — Don McEwen, Ottawa's contribution to the University of Michigan's brillant track and field squad, failed to make a place on Canada's Olympic Games team announced yesterday.

McEwen, who specializes in the mile and two miles, was reckoned almost a sure thing before the Dominion Track and Field Championships.

He was entered in the 5,000-metre race, a feature event on the two-day program that ended Saturday. He was up with the leaders all the way until little more than three laps were left. Then he staggered, clasped his hands to his stomach and for a while kept plugging along, dropping far behind Al Fisher of Victoria and Richie Ferguson, Iowa University runner from Toronto. He finally had to quit with little more than a lap to go.

Tom Lord of Montreal, national chairman of the Track and Field Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union, told reporters that the men's and women's relay teams have "excellent" chances of picking up points at Helsinki.

There was some surprise when Doug Clement of Vancouver was named as a possible member of the 400 and 1,600-metre relay teams but Lord said the Westerner was a "good relay man."

Inclusion of Montreal's Rosella Thorne as a possible member of the women's relay team also created surprise. Miss Thorne was not impressive in the sprints but Lord said she was a valuable relay-team member.

Mrs. Blankers-Koen Sets Mark In 100 Metres

Rotterdam, June 30. — (AP) — Fanny Blankers-Koen, Netherlands star of the 1948 Olympic Games, beat the listed world record for 100 metres Sunday by running the distance in 11.4 seconds, one-tenth of a second faster than the old mark.

Mrs. Blankers-Koen held the old record with Helen Stephens of the United States. Miss Stephens set the mark Aug. 4, 1936, and Mrs. Blankers-Koen equalled it June 13, 1948.

Mrs. Blankers-Koen, who won the 100 and 200 metre races at the 1948 Olympic Games, was running in the Netherlands Olympic tryouts.

Werner Lueg, Germany, Ties World Record

Berlin, June 30—(AP)—Werner Lueg of Germany Sunday tied the world record for the 1,500-metre run with a time of 3:43.0 in the qualifying trials for Germany's Olympic team.

Lueg's feat stamped him as a potential Olympic champion. He tied the record set by Gunder Haegg of Sweden July 7, 1944, and later matched by Lennart Strand of Sweden July 15, 1947.

Two other German runners turned in excellent times in the same race. Guenter Dohrow, whom Lueg dethroned as German champion, was second in 3:44.8 and Rolf Lamers was third in 3:47.8 set by Jack Lovelock of New Zealand in 1936.

MISS VINCENT CHOSEN REGATTA QUEEN

Valleyfield, Que., June 30—(CP)—Miss Therese Vincent last night was crowned 1952 Valleyfield Regatta queen. She was chosen from among 11 contestants, and her maids of honor were Miss Lucie Viau and Miss Rejane Veilleux, second and third respectively in the contest. The Valleyfield regatta will take place July 19 and 20.

Private Run Staged By Olympic Committee

Hamilton, June 30. — (CP) — The Olympic two-day track and field trials didn't end Saturday as everybody supposed. An unscheduled event was run off at nine A. M. Sunday to decide a place on the women's 400 metre relay team. It was private show. Newspaper men covering the trials were told about it after it was all over.

Donna Wilson and Tiny O'Halloran, both of Toronto, and Rosella Thorne and Joan Wood, both of Montreal, were driven to Civic Stadium to compete in a special 100-metre sprint. Miss Thorne was the winner in 12.5 seconds, 3:10 seconds slower than the Olympic standard set for the meet. The victory gave her a place on the 23-member track team, largely for the relay event. She will also compete in the broad jump, the event in which she placed second here Friday night.

Eddie Arcaro Climaxes Celebration With Win

Chicago, June 30—(AP)—Eddie Arcaro brought a climax to a celebration in his honor Saturday by piloting Woodchuck to a nose victory in the $34,650 Equipoise Mile at Arlington Park.

Four horses hit the wire, noses apart, and it requires a photograph to judge them. Ruhe, one of three horses entered by the Hasty House Farm, finished second, with a Chicago-owned speeder, Andy B. W., taking third and Oil Capitol fourth.

The 3-to-5 favorite, Spartan Valor, seeking his seventh consecutive stakes victory of the year, finished fifth.

Woodchuck, carying only 122 pounds, ran the mile in 1:37 1/5.

The crowd and prominent racing officials paid tribute to the 36-year Arcaro after the third race.

Arcaro mounted the stand in the winners' circle and received a sterling silver service, a silver plate and a motion picture of his ride last Tuesday on Brookmeade Stable's Ascent, which gave him his 3,000th victory, making him the first American-born jockey to attain that goal.

Durocher Suspended By President Giles

Philadelphia, June 30— (AP) — Manager Leo Durocher of New York Giants received word Sunday from league President Warren Giles that he was suspended for four days following a violent outburst in Saturday night's game which the Phillies won 7-2.

The episode which caused the fiery New York manager to explode came in the seventh inning after Del Ennis made a sensational running, shoestring catch on Don Mueller which resulted in a double play.

Durocher demonstrated with umpire Bill Stewart and threw dirt on him in an effort to show that Ennis had made a "trap" catch. There was no fine to the suspension.

Montreal Wins Two Of Three Ontario Titles

Toronto, June 30—(CP)—Montreal players took three of the four titles Saturday at the Ontario Tennis Championships.

Brendan Macken won the men's singles defeating Lorne Main of Vancouver, 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4; and then teamed up with brother Jim to take the men's doubles against Main and Don Fontana, Toronto, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Mrs. Hanna Sladek of Montreal defeated Mrs. L. Brown, Toronto, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2 in the ladies singles.

On Friday Mrs. Sladek and Brendan Macken won the mixed doubles title.

Braves Dump Cubs Twice In Week-End Fixtures As A's Duplicate Over Granby; Yanks And Canadiens Split

Quebec Braves consolidated their hold on first place in the Provincial Baseball League during the week-end, winning two out of three games from Drummondville Cubs. The Braves edged the Cubs 8-7 Saturday and split a doubleheader Sunday, winning the first game 12-4 and losing the second 3-1.

In other games St. Hyacinthe Athletics took two out of three against Granby Phillies, blanking the Phillies 2-0 Saturday and taking the first Sunday game 3-1 and dropping the second 2-1. Three Rivers Yankees downed St. Johns Canadiens 5-1 Sunday after taking the Saturday game 8-7.

At Quebec, the Braves got to two Drummondville hurlers for 12 hits and made only two errors. Big inning for the Braves was the fourth when five men got home. The Cubs touched Buchanan for 10 hits and made six miscues.

In the second game, played at Drummondville, the Cubs touched Georges Maranda for 10 hits and made only one error. Quebec got to Drummondville hurler Bryja for four hits and made two miscues.

The Athletics touched Granby hurler Costello for four hits and made five errors. The Phillies, playing errorless ball, got six hits off Don Murray.

The Phillies again played errorless ball in the second game, at Granby. They touched Bob Loranger for nine hits. The Athletics got to two Granby hurlers for four hits and made one error.

Amodio was credited with the win and Loranger was charged with the loss.

At Three Rivers, the Yanks played errorles ball, got to St. Johns hurler John Mullaney for 10 hits. The Canadiens got five hits and made one error.

Wingo, who went the route for the Yanks. was the winner. Mullaney was the loser.

Ontario Jockey Club Buys Two Race Tracks In Centralization Move; Bids For Third One Also

Toronto, June 30. — (CP) — The purchase of two race tracks and the proposed sale of another as part of a plan to improve and centralize thoroughbred horse racing in Ontario was announced last night by the Ontario Jockey Club.

The club disclosed:

1. It has bought Fort Erie and Stamford race tracks in the Niagara Peninsula. The price paid for each of the mile tracks was not given but was reported more than $1,000,000.

2. The proposed sale of Woodbine Park in Eastern Toronto to make way for a new traffic artery and housing developments.

3. Should the sale of Woodbine go through at a satisfactory price, the building of a modern plant outside Toronto with at least 56 continuous days' racing. The Park would seat 60,000 to 70,000 spectators.

4. Negotiators are underway to include the Hamilton Jockey Club in the centralization plan.

If the H.L.J. comes into the O.J.C. orbit it is believed the logical location for the new racing plant would be somewhere between Toronto and Hamilton. However, no property has been purchased as yet. Some 300 to 400 acres would be required.

The O.J.C. said it hopes to encourage holders of Ontario's racing charters to lease Stamford and Fort Erie when the present charters there are transfered to Woodbine or the new track.

The extra weeks of racing planned could be worked in by opening the Ontario season April 23 and closing Nov. 10. The 1952 season began May 1 and closes Nov. 3.

The O.J.C. now owns four charters, Fred Orpen of Toronto, five, and Toronto's Thorncliffe Track and Hamilton one each. Horsemen are allowed a maximum of 14 days racing for each charter each season.

The new park would have a broad racing strip with a three-eighth-mile straightaway and seven-eight mils shute; a training track; walking rings; outdoor and indoor paddocks and a large clubhouse, as well as other features.

SUNDAY WAS DAY FOR SWEET REVENGE FOR PEDDLED PLAYERS

Players Return To Haunt Former Mates With Sizzling Displays; Yanks Take 2; Dodgers, Browns Win

Sunday was a day of sweet revenge for a flock of peddled players and marooned managers who came back to haunt their old stamping grounds.

Tommy Holmes, fired a month ago as manager of Boston Braves, faced his former hirelings for the first time in the role of a pinch hitter — and cracked out a hit that drove in the run that gave Brooklyn Dodgers a 6-5 victory.

Freddie Fitzsimmons, fired as manager of Philadelphia Phillies six years ago to the day, took over the reins of New York Giants due to Leo Durocher's four-day suspension, and directed his charges to a 12-3 victory over the Phils.

Dick Kryhoski, traded off by Detroit last February, cracked a home run with two out and two on in the last of the ninth to give St. Louis Browns a 3-2 victory over to his former Tiger mates.

Howie Pollet and Joe Garagiola, battery mates sent by St. Louis Cardinals to Pittsburgh last year, combined to lead the Pirates to a 2-1 win over the Red Birds. Pollet pitched a two-hitter. Garagiola scored one run and drove in the other.

Eddie Robinson, a former Cleveland first baseman, doubled in a run and scored another in the Chicago White Sox first game 4-2 decision over the Indians and smashed a two-run homer in the second game that ended in a 10-inning 7-7 tie.

John Pramesa slammed a pinch-hit bases-loaded single to drive in the last two of Chicago's seven runs in the ninth inning that enabled the Cubs to overcome an 8-2 deficit and defeat his former Cincinnati mates, 9-8, in the first game of a doubleheader.

Hank Sauer, another former Red, kept the big ninth-inning rally going with a run-scoring single after two were out.

Bob Borkowski, who went to Cincinnati in the Pramesa deal last winter, smacked a pair of doubles, drove in two runs and handled seven putouts in centrefield to help Reds down the Cubs, 9-1, in the second game.

Irv Noren got only one hit but it was a first inning single that ignited a three-run rally against his former Washington mates as New York Yankees went on to sweep both ends of a doubleheader from the Senators, 5-0 and 3-1.

Veteran Allie Reynolds and rookie Bill Miller pitched the Yankee victories that widened New York's first place lead in the American League to 4½ games over the runner-up Boston Red Sox. Boston moved up two notches past Cleveland and Washington although idle.

Washington fell from second into fifth place as the Nats saw their five-game winning streak go up in smoke.

A violent thunderstorm not only ended Pittsburgh's seven-game losing streak but halted Stan Musial's 24-game hitting streak as the Pirates took the abbreviated five-inning game from the Cardinals. Musial walked and lined out to the shortstop in his two appearances at the plate.

Brooklyn And New York Will Provide 12 Players In National's All-Star; Eight Freshmen Cop Places On Squad

Cincinnati, June 30. — (AP) — Brooklyn and New York, running one-two in the National League pennant race, will provide 12 of the 25 players on the squad opposing an American Leauge outfit in the annual major league All-star game at Philadelphia July 8.

Make-up of the National League's all-star group was announced yesterday through the office of President Warren Giles.

Leo Durocher, as manager of last year's pennant-winning New York Giants, will pilot the All-Stars and under the game rules he'll be required to use in the first three innings the eight players selected in a vote of the fans.

Durocher picked the remaining members of the squad and all of the pitchers.

There will be eight "freshmen" to all-star competition on the senior loop's outfit. The "Old Men" of the team will be Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter of St. Louis Cardinals and Pee Wee Reese of Brooklyn Dodgers. Musial and Slaughter will be on the All-Star squad for the ninth time and it will be Reese's eighth appearance.

Here is the complete squad:

Pitchers—Sal Maglie, New York; Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons, Philadelphia; Preacher Roe, Brooklyn; Bob Rush, Chicago; Warren Spahn, Boston, and Gerry Stanley, St. Louis.

Catchers — Roy Campanella, Brooklyn; Wes Westrum, New York, and Atwell, Chicago.

Outfielders—Carl Furillo and Duke Snider, Brooklyn; Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh; Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter, St. Louis and Hank Sauer, Chicago.

Under that set-up the Dodgers will be represented by seven players, New York by five, St. Louis by four, Philadelphia and Chicago by three each and Cincinnati, Boston and Pittsburgh by one each.

Durocher named Manager Eddie Stanky of St. Louis Cards and Frank Shellenback of the Giants as his coaches.

Mal Whitefield Cops Final Tryout As Strong U. S. Team Chosen For Olympics; Many Champs Left Out

Los Angeles, June 30. — (CP) — Mal Whitefield, defending Olympic champion at 800 metres, won the 400-metre final tryout Saturday in the brilliant time of :46.9 as a powerful United States team was chosen to vie for world honors in the Olympic Games this summer at Helsinki.

Whitefield, who won the 800-metre tryout Friday, is considered the brightest U. S. prospect to come out of the two-day trials. He is believed to have the best chance to win and perhaps score a double victory.

An indication of the strength of the U. S. team, in comparison with past squads, is the fact that in two days of competition in 18 events, 13 meet records were set. It means this team excels the best of all previous teams in all but five events.

However, U. S. confidence is tempered slightly by the fact that the Russians will be taking part with little indication of how most of their athletes will stack up against the competition at Helsinki.

Whitefield and Ed Curtis Stone, former Penn State runner, are the only double winners of the meet here. Stone won the 5,000-and 10,000-metre runs.

Two others qualified in two events Horace Ashenfelter won the 3,000-metre steeplechase and was third in the 10,000-metre run. Jim Gathers tied for third in the 100-metre race and was third in the 200.

Bob Richards, who set a meet record with 14 feet, 8⅜ inches in the pole vault, is also expected to qualify in the decathlon tryouts next week. The old record in the pole vault was 14-8⅛. Richards has cleared 15 feet in past attempts.

Strong as the team will be, many champions were left behind through injury or accidents. Wilbur Thompson, 1948 shot put champion, failed to qualify. Other stars who missed out are Don Gehrman, Otis Chandler, Bernard Mayer, Dick Boyle and Jim Golliday.

Royals Take Two From Red Wings In Crucial Week-End Fixtures; Leafs And Orioles Divide Bill

Montreal Royals and Rochester Red Wings, currently the two leading teams in the International League, booked up an imoprtant week-end series and the Royals came out on top. They took two out of three games and as a result now lead the second-place Red Wings by two games.

After dropping Saturday's contest 9-7, Rochester moved to within a game of the Royals by taking yesterday's opener 11-6. But Montreal pulled ahead again with a 2-1 victory in the seven-inning nightcap.

In other games Toronto Maple Leafs and Baltimore Orioles traded 2-1 decisions and Syracuse Chiefs defeated Ottawa Athletics 9-2.

There were some fireworks in the Montreal-Rochester first game. Harry Walker, playing manager of the Red Wings, and Al Ronning, Montreal catcher, were ejected for fist-fighting after a close play at home plate in the fifth inning.

Walker and three other Rochester players had three safeties each as the Wings pounded for Montreal pitchers for 18 hits. Jackie Collum (3-5) was the winner and Mal Mallette (7-2) the loser.

Veteran Bob Alexander (4-2) limited Rochester to three hits in the second game and also squeezed home the winning run in the fourth inning. Bob Tiefenauer (5-3) was the loser.

At Toronto winning pitcher Russ Bauers (6-4) clinched the first game for the Leafs with a fifth-inning single that scored Neil Sheridan. Sheridan had previously doubled home Marv Rickert.

The Orioles rebounded in the seven-inning afterpiece with Danny Schell's two-run homer making Blix Donnelly (3-7) the winner and Fred Fahr (2-7) the loser.

Syracuse pounded out 14 hits behind Jack Griffore to tighten their grip on third place. Lorne Babe drove in four Syracuse runs with a two-run homer and a bases-loaded double as Joe Murray (3-2) took the loss.

The loss to Syracuse completed a sad week-end for Ottawa. The Athletics took a double setback, 5-3 and 2-1, from Baltimore Saturday. In other Saturday action Syracuse beat Toronto 3-2 and Springfield defeated Buffalo 3-2.

Louise Suggs Cops U. S. Women's Open Golf Championship As She Fires 284 For New Event Record

Philadelphia, June 30—(AP)—Little Louise Suggs, the cool, calculating shot-maker from Carrollton, Ga., won the seventh annual Women's United States Open Golf Championship yesterday with a new world's 72-hole women's golf record of 284 at the Bala Golf Club.

Miss Suggs, 27 added a final-rounds 75 to her first three rounds of 70-69-70 to win $1,570 first place money and break the old record of 288 established last year by Mrs. George Zaharais at Palma Ceia Country Club, Tampa, Fla.

Miss Suggs, one of only two Americans ever to win the U.S. and British amateur titles, outdistanced her closest competitors in the field by seven strokes.

It was the second time she has won the U.S. Women's Open. She topped Mrs. Zaharias, who watched this tournament from the sidelines because of a recent operation, with a 291 in 1949.

Behind Miss Suggs in the final standings came Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex., and Marlene Bauer, Sarasota, Fla., in a second place deadlock at 291.

Beverly Hanson, former U.S. Amateur Champion from Fargo, N.D., finished fourth with a 293, followed by Betty Mackinnon of Dallas, Tex., and Peggy Kirk, Ponte Verda, Fla., both with 295.

Defending champion Betsy Rawls, Austin, Tex., ended with 297.

U. S. Tennis Stars Face Tough Assignment To Retain Wimbledon Crown; Quarter Finals Slated Today

Wimbledon, England, June 30—(AP)—United States' male tennis stars, their roster cut to three by a week's play at Wimbledon, face a determined fight this week to retain the Wimbledon title, only one of the three major grass courts tennis championships still in U.S. possession.

After the surprising triumph of Big Dick Savitt of Orange, N.J., in these championships a year ago, the U.S. held all three titles. Savitt had won the Australian Championship early in 1951 and Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., was the U.S. champion.

Today, Frank Sedgman of Australia is the U.S. champion, Ken McGregor of Australia is champion of his country and Savitt is a somewhat risky bet to retain the title here. Larsen already has been eliminated.

In today's quarter-finals between the top eight seeded stars, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the U.S. ranking player and seeded third in this tournament meets Herb Flam of Beverley Hills, Calif., sixth-seeded.

Savitt, ranked fourth even though he is defending champion, will meet eighth-seeded Mervyn Rose of Australia.

In the other quarter-finals both the top-seeded Sedgman and fifth-rated McGregor should have their hands full. McGregor will have to battle against Jaroslav Drobny, expatriate Czech now playing out of Egypt and seeded No. 2.

Sedgman meets Eric Sturgess of South Africa, seventh-seeded.

Jamaica's Olympic Team Shows Up Well

Glasgow, Scotland, June 30.—(AP)—Jamaica's Olympic team had a warmup Saturday and showed up well against Australian and British athletes.

Byron La Beach of Jamaica won the 100-yard dash by three yards from Australia's Ray Weinberg in 10 seconds. Arthur wint of Jamaica won the 880-yard event in 1.55.8.

Herb McKenley of Jamaica won the 220-yard dash from teammates Lou Lain and La Beach in :27.7. George Rhoden of Jamaica won the 440-yard run in :47.6, a Scottish record.

The Jamaican team also won the mile relay by 40 yards from Australia in 3.15.8 Lain, Wint, McKenley and Rhoden formed the squad.

England's Bill Nankeville captured the mile in 4:13.7. Australia's Marjorie Jackson, the fastest woman sprinter in the world, won the 100-yard dash in :10.5.

N.B.A. To Hold Special Featherweight Tourney

Paterson, N.J., June 30.— (AP) — The National Boxing Association yesterday announced a speed-up in the featherweight tournament to select an acting titleholder while Sandy Saddler, the champion, is in the United States Army.

N.B.A. Commissioner Abe Greene said that in behalf of the District of Columbia Boxing Association, he has invited the winner of a bout between Willie Pep and Tommy Collins of Boston, scheduled for Monday in Boston, to attend a bout in Washington Wednesday night when two other contenders meet in the elimination.

The Washington bout is between Gene Smith of Washington, and Glen Flagan of St. Paul, Minn. Smith nosed out Flanagan in a bout several months ago but Saddler still was a civilian at the time.

Greene said a match between the winner of the Boston and Washington bouts will be sought.

He said efforts will be made to arrange a West Coast match between Fabela Chavez, of Los Angeles, and Frankie Almond, Canadian champion.

Greene said the aim of the N.B.A. is to attain a western hemisphere champion to meet Ray Famechon of France, recognized as featherweight champion of Europe by the European Boxing Federation.

Funds Still Lacking For Olympic Squad

Hamilton, June 30. — (CP) — A. Sidney Dawes, President of the Canadian Olympic Association, said Saturday there is still a slight shortage of funds necessary to send a team to Helsinki of the size that went to London in the 1948 Olympics.

He expressed confidence, however, that the necessary amount would be received.

"Two new sports have been included in the 1952 games, namely the shooting and the equestrian events," said Dawes. "In both of these sports, Canadians have had considerable international experience . . .

"The weight lifters, the oarsmen, the Yachtsmen and the canoers all expect to do well.

"The basketball team this year was selected . . . in the same way as Canada's ice hockey team has been selected, namely by choosing the winning team and substituting for its weaker members outstanding players from other teams who had shown up well in the eliminations. This not only insures the best possible team to represent Canada but also means that the whole of Canada is interested in the team."

Dawes also announced that a walker from Newfoundland and marathoner from the Maritimes will probably be included on the track and field team.

"There may be some heart breaks when the final selections are made and undoubtedly some competitors will feel they should have been included," said Dawes. "It should be remembered, however, that it does not do Canada any good to be represented by athletes who do not make a satisfactory showing in these international events."

Sports Roundup

By WILL GRIMSLEY
(For Gayle Talbot)

New York, June 30. — (AP) — Loose divots found in forgotten pockets after returning from the golf trail:

Gene Sarazen, the Squat Squire from Germantown, N. Y., has a formula for eliminating the constant gripes over courses picked for the United States National Open Championship.

"The U. S. Golf Association should get up a special committee of former well-known golfers, fellows like Francis Quimet, Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen, and let these men pick the course and help lay it out. They've played all the great courses. They know what constitutes a true and fair test.

"Today we're entrusting this job to a bunch of lawyers who know little or nothing about golf or golf courses."

Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and others were sharply critical of Dallas' Northwood Club after the recent Open. They said the course, less than four years old, wasn't ready for the big tournament, that long hitters were improperly penalized by narrowing the fairways.

"If you have to swing an iron from the tee on a par-four hole instead of a wood, what does it prove?" cautically asked Snead. "Only that a good putter can win the Open."

Sarazen is returning to the British Isles for the first time in nearly two decades to play in the British Open, beginning July 7.

"I think it's the dutv of American golfers to play in England and Scotland where the game is so revered," he said. "It's a great tragedy that such great American stars as Hogan and Byron Nelson never saw fit to play over there. The British would love 'em"

Nose-thumbing Ted Kroll injected a refreshing new personality into the normally staid, straight-backed links sport. He is the Eddie Stanky of golf.

After playing hide-and-seek with bullets on the Anzio Beachhead—and four purple hearts attest to the fact he couldn't duck them all—the 32-year-old New Hartford, N.Y., pro finds it difficult to get too serious about such a trifle as a golf ball.

He is a relentless needler. He carries on constant small talk with his adversaries and in his match with Cary Middlecoff in the P.G.A. at Louisville he had the tall Tennesseean biting his nails until Kroll won the match on the 38th.

Once when Middlecoff sank a 20-foot putt and Kroll dropped a 25-footer right after him, Kroll good-naturedly thumbed his nose at the Memphian.

Asked later by hard-to-convince reporters whether he was guilty of such an act, the diminutive, twinkle-eyed Kroll replied:

"Yeah, I did it—twice."

In the P.G.A. finals at Louisville with Jim Turnesa, Michigan's Chick Harbert hit only one out of the last 18 fairways. This provoked one press tent wag to remark that Harbert is the greatest recovery artist since the invention of upholstery. "He was afraid to hit the fairway," remarked the pundit. "He was afraid it might hit back."

And it took Charles Bartlett, eminent links historian of the Chicago Tribune, to finger the week's lousiest golfer. "It was the weatherman" said Charles. "He couldn't break 100."

Nine Teams Honored For All-Star Game At Philadelphia July 8 As Fans Pick Stan Musial As Tops

Chicago, June 30.—(AP)—Nine different teams are honored on the American and National League starting units for the All-Star baseball game at Philadelphia July 8, announced yesterday after a 22-day poll of nearly 4,000,000 fans.

The poll conducted by the Chicago Tribune was headed for the second straight year by Stan (The Man) Musial, brilliant St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, who bagged 1,291,532 votes in the far-flung balloting.

The first-place New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians dominated the American League with three starters each, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox landing one apiece.

The National loop's eight starters included two teach from the Cardinals, first-place Brooklyn Dodgers and runner-up New York Giants, and one apiece from Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phils.

Here's the way the 3,991,284 voting fans ordered Managers Casey Stengel of the Americans and Leo Durocher of the Nationals to start the All-Star teams.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

First base: Eddie Robinson, Chicago.
Second base: Bobby Avila, Cleveland.
Third base: Al Rosen, Cleveland.
Shortstop: Phil Rizzuto, New York.
Left field: Dale Mitchell, Cleveland.
Centre field: Dom DiMaggio, Boston.
Catcher: Larry Berra, New York.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

First base: Whitey Lockman, New York.
Second base: Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn.
Third baseman: Bobby Thomson, New York.
Shortstop: Gran Hamner, Philadelphia.
Left field: Hank Sauer, Chicago.
Centre field: Stan Musial, St. Louis.
Right field: Enos Slaughter, St. Louis.
Catcher: Roy Campanella, Brooklyn.

The 16 honored players will start the game and play at least three innings, unless injured or sick.

Stengel and Durocher, who automatoically became rival All-Star managers when they led the Yankees and Giants to 1951 pennants, will round out their 25-player squads with their own pick of pitchers and replacements for the 16 starters.

Boston's DiMaggio finished second to Musial in the individual vote-getting with 1,279,818 for the American League centre field job. Brooklyn's Robinson was third with 1,266,398, followed by Berra with 1,252,791, and Sauer with 1,241,094.

The total of 3,991,284 votes were channeled from 305 newspapers and radio stations in the United States, Canada, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Mexico, not to mention stray ballots from Germany, France, Korea, Japan, Cuba and Venezuela.

Clermont Vezina, Royal Quebec, Cops Duke Of Kent Golf Tourney As He Posts 147 For 36 Holes

Quebec, June 30—(CP)—Clermont Vezina of the Royal Quebec Golf Club Saturday won the 17th annual Duke of Kent Tournament with a total of 147, a three over par for the 36 holes.

Vezina beat a field of 53 contestants from all parts of the Province of Quebec.

R. H. (Sparky) Graham of the Royal Quebec Club placed second with 149. J. Turner of Hampstead was third with 150, and Dr. Pen Elley of Rosemere and Bob Spence of Kanawaki tied for fourth place with 151.

J. M. Guthrie of Royal Quebec, last year's winner, placed 21st with a total of 158.

DUPLESSIS

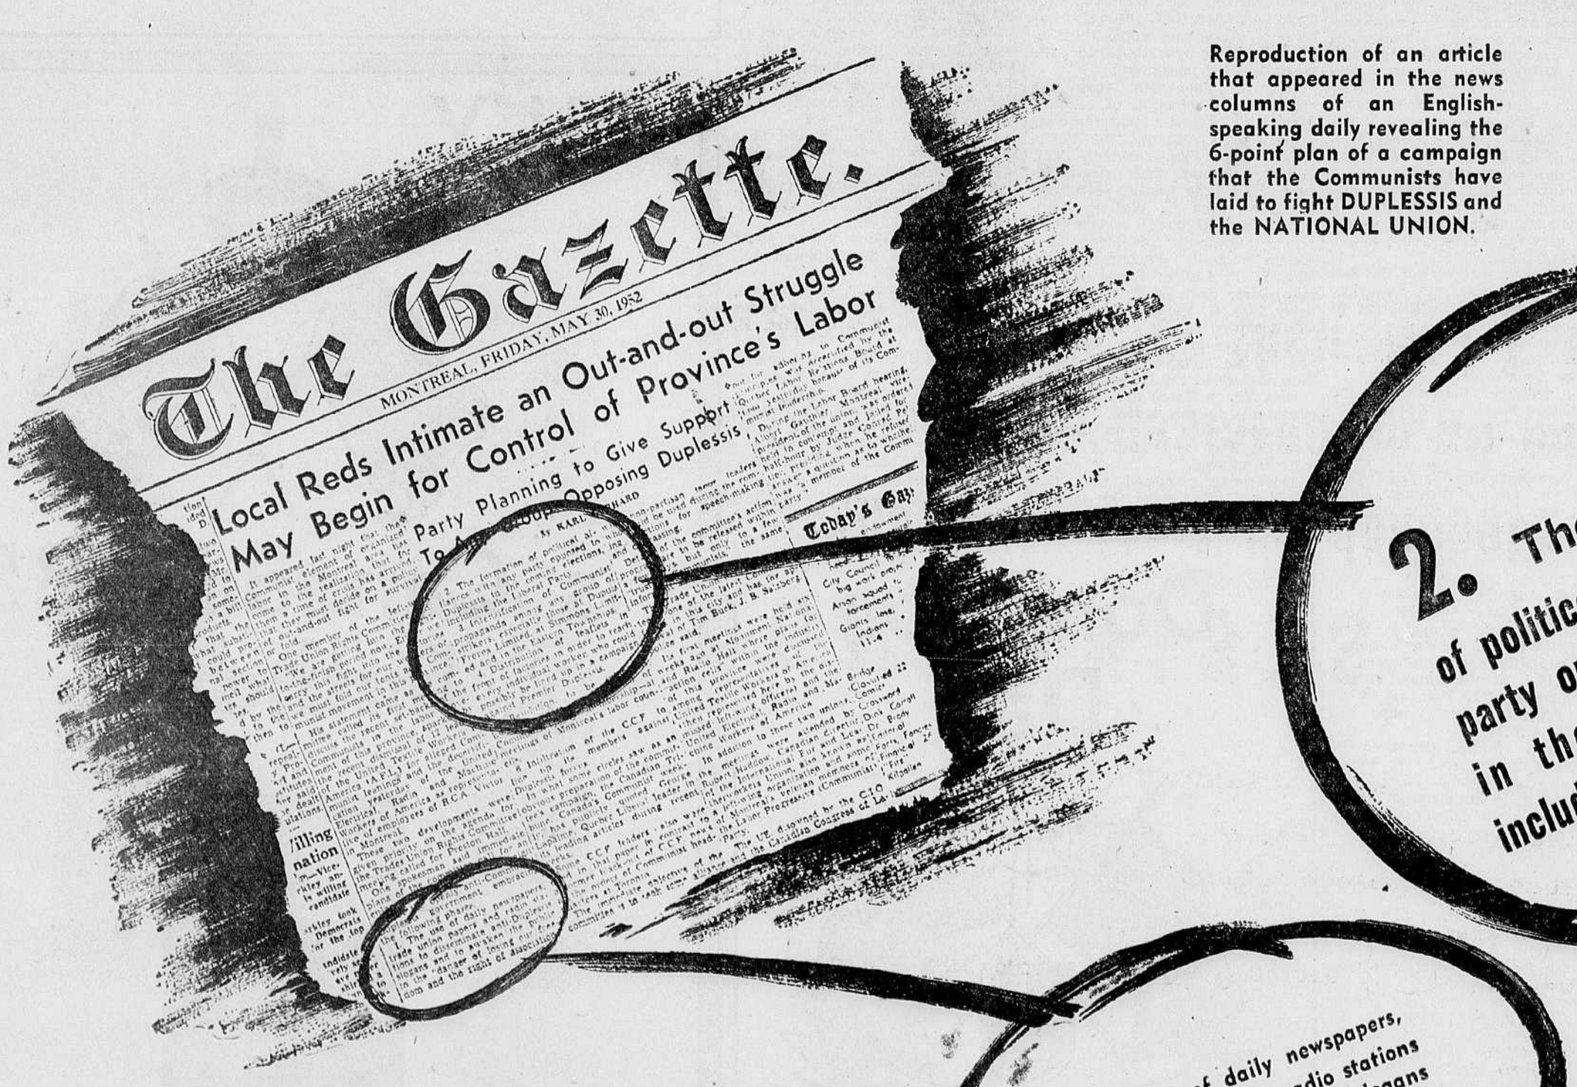

Takes Up The Challenge!

"The historical background of the Province of Quebec reflects the harmony and close understanding that exists between the two great ethnic groups, and the Quebec Government constitutes a bulwark against anything that threatens our democratic way of life" . . . and will remain so. (Duplessis, June 3, 1952.)

COMMUNISTS

in a supreme effort to dominate labor in Quebec have declared an all-out war against DUPLESSIS their No. 1 enemy

Reproduction of an article that appeared in the news columns of an English-speaking daily revealing the 6-point plan of a campaign that the Communists have laid to fight DUPLESSIS and the NATIONAL UNION.

2. The Formation of political alliances with any party opposed to DUPLESSIS in the coming elections, including the LIBERAL PARTY

1. The use of daily newspapers, trade union papers and radio stations to disseminate anti-Duplessis slogans and to awaken the public to the "danger of losing our freedom and the right of association."

COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA LINE

A scheme of alliances with the C.C.F. and Liberal parties in a last-ditch fight against DUPLESSIS, champion of autonomy and defender of the rights of minorities and their beliefs.

DUPLESSIS TAKES UP THE CHALLENGE and meets the Communist offensive with an unshakeable determination to banish forever from this province these fomenters of discord who receive and take their orders from Moscow . . . Communists, you'd better pack your baggage!
