City mum on industry flop

The Martos and Morin industrial project which left the city holding a check for $9,466.25 returned, marked "not sufficient funds" was not even mentioned last night at Sherbrooke council meeting.

Earlier in the day, Mayor Armand Nadeau said the situation would definitely be discussed last night.

As newsmen left the room, he was asked if it would be discussed during a closed session of council.

The mayor said he didn't have much to say on the subject.

Mayor Nadeau said yesterday morning, hours before the meeting, that the city could repossess the land it sold to Martos and Morin Inc., after the expenses incurred by the contractor were settled.

The city sold a lot to the development firm for $9,466.25, but the firm's check bounced.

Martos and Morin, Inc. were supposed to have built an industry which was to manufacture hospital equipment.

A local contractor, J. W. Roy, started to work on the project and invested a total of $78,109.82, interest included, in it.

He is presently suing the Martos and Morin firm for this amount.

If the city repossesses the land, it must pay these expenses to Mr. Roy because the law states that once a court action is taken and the land is sold, the action can continue against the purchaser.

Mayor Nadeau stated the land is worth $100,000 to the city.

He talked of repossessing the lot and using it for rental space for industries.

He said he would recommend this to council.

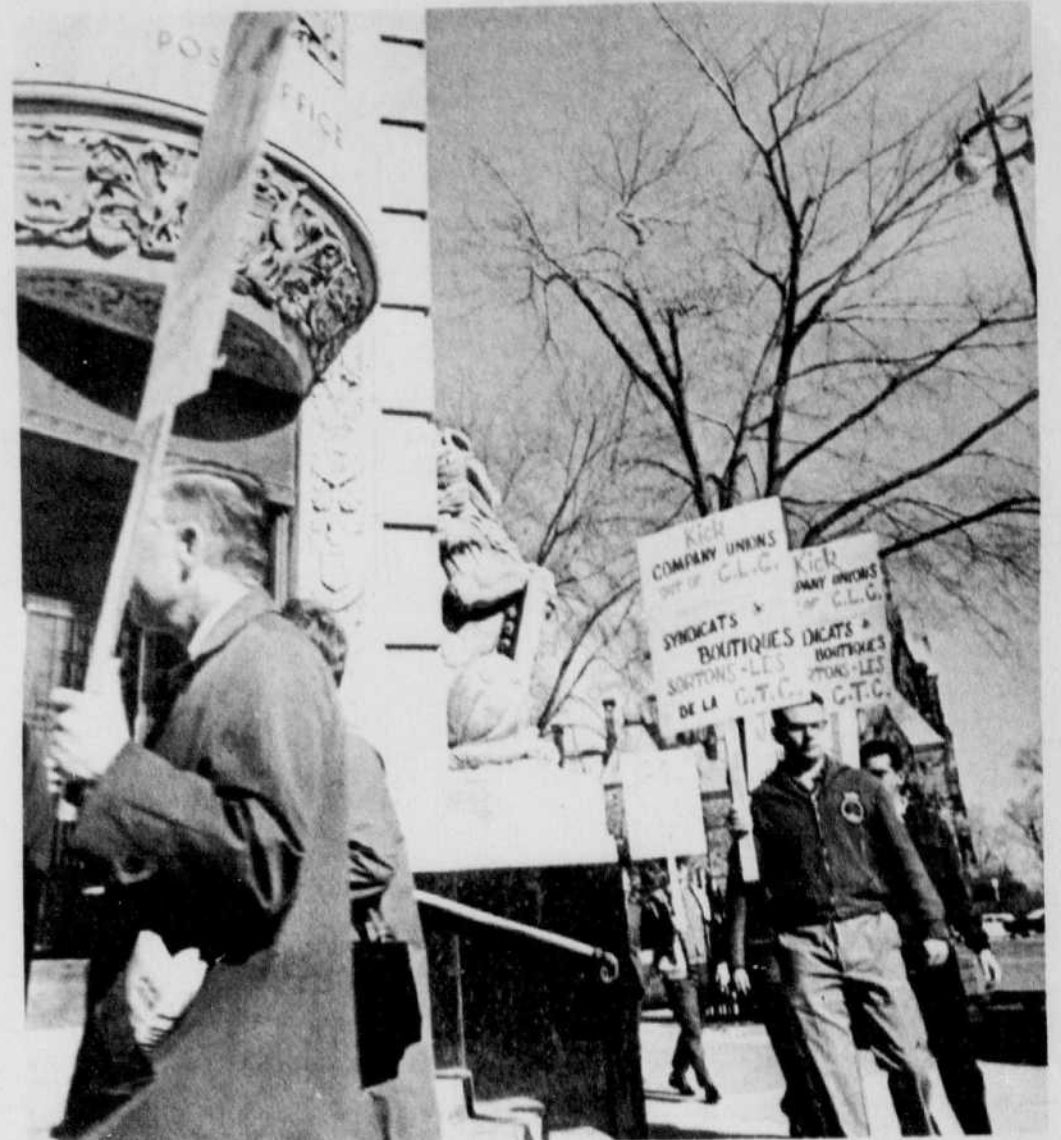

The city has a claim to the land because it is stated in the city's contract with Martos and Morin that if a factory is not built on the site in six months after the sale, the city may buy the land back for the amount it was sold.

However, now if the city does buy the land back, the city would be obliged to pay Mr. Roy his expenses.

Carrier Fortin, Mr. Roy's lawyer, said yesterday, "To repossess the land, the city must respect the legal obligation to pay the contractor."

The sale would have no effect on the court action he said, if the city bought the land.

PROTEST COLLECTIVE BARGAINING TRENDS — Ottawa postal workers picket Elgin Street post office in downtown Ottawa to protest collective bargaining trends.

In the federal public service, the picket lines, manned by off-duty postal employees, are of an "informational nature" and not designed to interfere with postal operations. The Canadian Union of Postal Workers and Letter Carriers Union of Canada have opted for the right to strike but most government unions have not sought the right to strike. (CP Wirephoto)

News in brief

Trapped

HOMINY FALLS, W. Va. (AP) — The call went out today for skin divers to aid in the rescue of 25 miners trapped inside a two-mile coal shaft by thousands of gallons of water.

The divers were due in from Philadelphia before noon to aid the miners trapped in the low, L-shaped mine shaft since noon Monday.

Seeking asylum

HALIFAX (CP) — R. M. Castleman, director of immigration operations in Halifax, said Monday a total of 22 defectors from Iron Curtain countries are seeking political asylum here.

Mr. Castleman said the group includes 15 Polish fishermen, four East Germans, one Estonian and two Cubans. Three of the defectors are women.

Launch rocket

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP) — A Canadian sounding rocket was launched early today by the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration from Wallops Island.

The flight was conducted to check some of the equipment to be carried later this year in Canada's third space satellite, and to confirm results of a similar launching last year from the research range at Churchill Man.

Nigerian talks

LONDON (CP) — Representatives of federal Nigeria and secessionist Biafra state met today Monday with Commonwealth Secretary-General Arnold Smith in a tentative step towards ending the Nigerian civil war.

The meeting, arranged by Smith for Sunday but postponed, took place despite an official statement issued in Biafra which charged that the Commonwealth secretariat has shown "it cannot be impartial in its approach to the present conflict."

Kennedy tested

WASHINGTON (CP) — Some 1,000,000 Indiana voters today are providing the latest and most important scheduled political exercise so far in the lengthy American process of picking a president.

Basically, it's a popularity contest between Democratic Senators Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota and Robert Kennedy of New York — their first direct encounter.

Long fight lost

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (CP) — Governor Lurleen Wallace of Alabama, who spent most of her 16 months in office waging a battle against intestinal cancer, died today in her sleep.

Mrs. Wallace, 41, the only woman governor in the U.S. and the first in the history of Alabama, died in the governor's mansion.

Tax scheme will now go to court

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson has taken up Mayor Jean Drapeau's invitation to take Montreal's new "voluntary tax" scheme before the courts to determine whether it is an illegal lottery.

Addressing a luncheon meeting Monday of the Montreal district Chambre de Commerce, Mr. Johnson said the provincial cabinet met Friday after Mr. Drapeau's invitation and decided to ask the Quebec Court of Appeal for a legal opinion on the scheme.

He said his legal experts believe the "tax" is illegal pending proposed amendments to the Criminal Code, but added that its collection will not be disrupted until the court hands down a decision.

Under the plan, contributors stand to win monthly cash prizes totalling $150,000 by dominating $2 to the city. Top prize is $100,000.

Mr. Drapeau has steadfastly maintained the plan is a tax and not a lottery because draw winners are asked a skill-testing question.

FAVOR LOTTERIES — Mr. Johnson said Monday all Quebec parties, including his own, favor lotteries, but the Criminal Code outlaws them.

The premier also repeated his claim that in accepting a direct invitation to recent French-language educational conference sessions in Gabon and France, Quebec was not invading federal government jurisdiction.

Canada is "a federation shared between two levels of government," he said. "And in education, Quebec has since 1867 possessed powers that are exclusive, and therefore sovereign."

Changing conditions demanded that the province extend its internal jurisdiction into an international arena.

If Quebec province were invited to send representatives to a similar conference of English-speaking educationists, the government "would have the duty to participate."

Redistribution outdates form charts in Compton contest

The new constituency of Compton, a rather hodge-podge affair created out of the former ridings of Compton-Frontenac and Stanstead, is one in which form charts offer little basis for predicting the outcome of the current election campaign.

It combines a queer conglomeration of districts, with widely varying political and economic philosophies.

The former riding of Compton-Frontenac has been represented since 1962 by Creditiste Henri Latulippe who won the 1965 election by a majority of nearly 3,000 votes over his closest opponent, Liberal Cecil Dougherty, with the Progressive Conservative candidate coming in a poor third and the

New Democrat trailing the field. On the other hand, Stanstead has a record of dividing its loyalties between the Liberals and Conservatives, with Yves Forest, Liberal, registering a majority of 1,131 over Conserva-

Liberal, 12,089; Creditiste, 10,094; Progressive Conservative, 8,623 and NDP, 2,353.

But under redistribution, predominantly Conservative Lennoxville has been transferred to Sherbrooke, basically Liberal Magog has been moved into Missisquoi and some of the Creditiste strongholds in Frontenac are in the new riding of Frontenac, which is based largely on the former constituency of Megantic.

So if nobody changes his or her vote and the new voters divide their allegiance on the same basis as the older electors it still would take a master computer to predict the outcome. Embroiled in the new Compton ridings are:

The towns of Coaticook, Cookshire, East Angus, Lake Megantic, Rock Island and Scottstown;

The County of Compton;

In the County of Frontenac: The villages of Lambton, St. Ludger and St. Sebastien; the parish municipalities of St. Augustine de Woburn, St. Sebastien and Val Racine; the township municipalities of Gayhurst, Gayhurst southeast part; Lambton and Marston; the united townships of R'sborough and part of Marlow excluding Range 1 of the township of R'sborough, and the municipalities of Audet, Frontenac, Milan, Nantes, Notre Dame des Bo's, Piopolis, Ste. JACOBY ON BRIDGE

West's one no-trump overcall showed the equivalent of an opening no-trump. North's two-heart bid indicated a poor hand with heart support. With a good hand, North would have doubled. East's three-diamond call was competitive, while South's jump to four hearts was the bid that anyone else would have made.

West opened the king of diamonds and continued with the ace. The late Sidney Silodor, who sat South, ruffed the second diamond and led hearts. West won the second heart and returned the suit, and Sidney was in dummy with two tricks lost and two more potential losers.

It would be simple enough to try both black finesses, but Sidney did not even consider that line of play. He simply counted up the points for a 16-18 no-trump and saw that West was marked with both the king of spades and queen of clubs. He had to find some way to eliminate one of those black losers.

One method would be to play his ace and queen of spades. If West held exactly two spades, he would be end-played then and there, but if West held two spades, East would hold five and would probably have bid some number of spades. So the spade play was out.

Only one line that could succeed remained and Sidney adopted it. He played ace, king and nine of clubs. He played the nine because it was just possible that, with an original holding of four clubs, West might decide that East held the jack and duck.

It wasn't likely that West would fall for this play, but it was likely that he didn't hold as many as four clubs. So Sidney played clubs and, when West took his queen, he had to lead away from his king of spades in order to avoid giving Sidney a ruff and discard.

City will pay for digging up land Equipment purchases approved by the Lennoxville council

Zinon Bachand caught Mayor Armand Nadeau in a good mood last night at council and saved himself $200.

Mr. Bachand and his wife were at council with their lawyer, Carrier Fortin, to settle a dispute over the sale of Mr. Bachand's property on Jacques Cartier Boulevard to Bertin Aubert, who was claiming the sale was made while Mr. Bachand was aware of a hidden sewage fault in the house.

Mr. Fortin said the sewer on Mr. Bachand's property oc-asionally blocked up and he would clean it out with a brush.

The brush was not included in the sale of the house he said.

Mr. Fortin stated the cost of digging up the land, finding the trouble and repairing it would cost $600, as calculated by engineers.

He said Mr. Bachand was willing to pay $200 of the costs if the city paid the balance.

Mayor Nadeau stated, since the property was built and the sewer installed before the boulevard was enlarged, the city would pay the entire costs of the project.

The trouble with the sewer started, Mr. Bachand said, when Jacques Cartier Boulevard was enlarged.

Council decided to present former Archbishop Georges Cabana with a wrist watch at a reception in the Armand Nadeau Pavilion on Friday at 4 p.m.

Mayor Nadeau said the gift was a token of appreciation for the Archbishop's long tenure in Sherbrooke.

Council approved the second installment of yearly grants to civic organizations last night.

The VON will receive $600, the Sherbrooke Library and Art Union will receive $625, the Sherbrooke YWCA will obtain $250, the Maison St. Georges receives $500 and the Sherbrooke Welfare Society will get $375.

Sherbrooke parking meters collected a total of $14,766.74 during the month of April.

The Webster Parking Lot meters clocked parking space time worth $5,380.50 and the Wellington South lot received $3,047.25 in parking fees.

Council approved lowering the level of Little Lake Magog to allow the Little Lake Magog Hunting and Fishing Club to clean the beach in early June.

The parks and roads department received the largest time slot during keypoint addresses by various committee chiefs of Lennoxville town council last night.

Guided by committee chairman W. S. Richardson the department received a green light for:

Telephone for the OTJ swimming pool

New truck for $3,436

Purchase of a new $1,620 tractor to cut grass with possibility of trading in present large tractor.

To keep fire tower intact until a future fire situation is given further study Committee chairman W. S. Richardson urged council members to accept the idea of a telephone by the OTJ pool for emergency purposes. Mayor Dougherty suggested an extension line could be used from the Roman Catholic school which formerly owned the land where the pool is located, and Lennoxville would pay a fee to L'Estrie School Board.

Deluxe Automobile Limited offered the lowest tender for the department of parks and roads truck. The old 1959 dump truck will be exchanged for one with a hoist but no box.

The department crew will build a box for the truck. The tender was lower than the others by $100.

Council also decided to purchase a new but smaller $1620 tractor to be used mainly for grass cutting if "it proves to be satisfactory." Ald. Richardson will also huddle with the parks foreman to see if the older tractor is still necessary.

Mayor Dougherty argued last night that the present tractor used to cut the grass in the parks is much too large to do a good job in the smaller areas.

Ald. Richardson reminded council they had received many complaints last year for uncut grass and that there would be at least "two more parks" this year.

On the suggestion of Mayor Dougherty council decided to leave the fire tower behind the town hall standing until a definite decision is taken on a new fire station.

There is the possibility the tower may be equipped with hoists and other equipment to dry the hoses. Work will go ahead for a new roof and eavestroughing for the tower.

thought all of the blasting for the pipe had already been completed. The mayor received immediate backing for the installation of the pipe from Ald. McLeod and Ald. J. Mitchell.

Appearing before Council, Earl Marshall was told he would be able to meet with Chairman of Roads W. S. Richardson to discuss the condition of his back yard which has been partly washed away by a town drainpipe that goes across his property.

Mr. Marshall said at one time he spent $200 for a retaining wall but it collapsed last spring.

Mayor Dougherty said the people were concerned about the number of dogs running loose and he wondered what to do with them when they're picked up.

Dr. McLeod explained the central body of the SPCA had been in the area several weeks ago and that they were seriously considering setting up a dog shelter for the whole region.

The salary of the spare-time Lennoxville municipal police officer will be increased from $1.50 to $1.75 an hour. An ordinary constable still receives a higher salary than the spare-time man.

It was reported the work to widen Depot Street as it crosses the CNR tracks "is progressing." It is hoped the town will receive a message from the Transport Commission in the days ahead indicating approval of an automatic signal system to operate at the railway tracks.

It was decided to test the two valves on either side of the new football field at Bishop's University, to see if they will cut the water off.

There is a water pipe travelling under the new field presently being constructed about 100 yards from the old one. Secretary Treasurer Herring suggested the field could become a lake if the shut-off valves weren't working properly.

Garbage card is set to decide collection

Alderman Romeo Quintal presented to Sherbrooke council last night a draft of a card to be sent to Sherbrooke taxpayers allowing them a choice of garbage collection systems in the city.

The card, which is bilingual, was supposed to have been sent through the mail in early June but council made no decision last night on the date it would be sent.

The card asks what method of garbage collection the taxpayer prefers — collected in the back yard by city employees or in the front of the house where the garbage would be placed by citizens.

It also states experts are "of the opinion that a change in the garbage collection method would reduce the cost of this service."

It says the city council wishes to be informed of the type of service the taxpayers prefer and points out if the garbage collection service is provided at the sidewalk, "your monthly bill could be reduced proportionately."

Mayor Armand Nadeau had previously stated the new method, if introduced, could result in savings of $200,000 to the taxpayers.

However, at last week's meeting, he seemed against the sidewalk method because if some people were against the service and did not benefit from it, it would be an act of discrimination on the part of the city.

Bertrand, treasurer and newly appointed director of the Council, Pierre Fournier, secretary and director, Jean Gaudreau, outgoing president, and Guy Champagne,

Welfare council has new chief

The first annual meeting of the Sherbrooke Welfare Council was held last night at the Social Club at which time it was announced that Guy Champagne of Sherbrooke would replace outgoing Director-General Jacques Johnson.

Mr. Champagne, a Laval University graduate, has worked in several welfare bureaus. Mr. Johnson is retiring to become a member of the University of Sherbrooke's Social Welfare Department.

The primary council activity of the year was the affiliation of several welfare organizations to form the new council.

Jacques Johnson in his annual report said the response to the appeal for unification of local welfare organizations into a common group was tremendous. More than 50 groups asked to join the council.

The annual campaign for funds received 85.7 per cent of its objective, an increase of 8.2 per cent over the total received in 1966.

The campaign goal was set at $175,000 and $150,182.67 was collected in the 1966 campaign.

Slightly more than $136,000 was collected in the 1966 campaign.

Paul Matras, former co-ordinator for the annual campaign, was replaced by Renald Perreault.

Two hundred persons who otherwise, because of physical incapacity, could not have enjoyed the wonders of Expo 67 visited it through the generosity of the provincial Ministry of Health and Welfare and the Sherbrooke Welfare Council.

In 1967, said Mr. Johnson, the Welfare Council worked strenuously on a plan to establish an institution for juvenile delinquents in Sherbrooke.

He said the proposed plans were accepted by Quebec and that the city should have the centre sometime in 1968.

Opening its doors this fall will be a centre for mentally deficient French-speaking children from the area, a plan also undertaken and completed by the Welfare Council.

Other activities were the studies made on the problems of physically and mentally handicapped persons in the area, steps towards a reorientation of the care of prisoners in Sherbrooke Winter Street jail, financial aid to Camp Savio on Little Lake Magog and several other studies of welfare problems.

The election of officers will take place at the next meeting to be held in a few weeks time.

Trudeau new Richmond mayor

RICHMOND — (Staff) — Roger Trudeau was elected the new mayor of Richmond following an election held here yesterday.

In a two-man contest, Mayor Trudeau defeated his opponent, J. E. Richard by 451 votes to succeed outgoing Mayor Georges Savoie.

Mayor Trudeau received 615 votes while Mr. Richard received 164.

As for what type of programs the two candidates would offer the electors of Richmond, Mayor Trudeau offered as his platform a plan to establish a committee to study housing problems.

As his platform Mr. Richard placed the accent on industrial, residential and tourist development for Richmond.

President of the election was Gilles Ducharme, secretary-treasurer of the town.

Statistics compiled by the president and secretary of the election, Miss Germaine Gagnon, showed that 65 per cent of the total number of Richmond property owners went to the polls yesterday.

A total of 16 votes were spoiled.

Out of a possible 1,222 eligible voters, 795 votes were registered.

As a result of the election an aldermanic seat was left vacant.

Mr. Richard retired his seat in council to contest the mayoralty.

One other aldermanic seat is also vacant.

Nominations will take place May 16, and if necessary, elections will be held May 27 to fill these two posts.

Early constitutional practices maintained

Our readers, and perhaps most politicians, may be as puzzled as we are about the meaning of the final phrase in the Royal Proclamation summoning the new Parliament of Canada to meet on August 1.

The phrase in question reads:

"... we ... summon and call together the House of Commons in and for Canada, to meet at Our CITY OF OTTAWA, on Thursday the first day of August next, then and there to have conference and treaty with the Great Men and Senate of Canada."

Just who are the Great Men whom the new Member of Parliament may expect to meet?

Certainly they are not the Prime Minister or the Cabinet ministers who are loud in their declarations that they are just Commoners who have been lucky enough to receive the endorsement of their fellow citizens.

Nor can the new parliamentarian expect to spend very much time in consultation with the greats of the military, the church or finance.

Actually the wording dates back to the 13th century when the King did not rely too much on the wisdom of the elected representatives of the people.

In those days he probably felt that the advice of a handful of great men in the church and in the nobility was much more practical than that he might receive from the uneducated citizens.

So when the British forms of proclamation were transferred to Canada a century ago, it was deemed advisable to retain the counsel of the Great Men along with that of the Senators.

No wonder some people want the constitution reformed.

Of course, grownups believe in fairy tales — who else reads garden catalogues?

To steal is to murder

Of the Ten Commandments, "Thou shalt not kill" is commonly associated with highway traffic, but there is another commandment, violated more frequently, which often results in death.

Most drivers steal, but this is not a reflection on the ordinary honesty of drivers — rather it means that most motorists who would scrupulously respect the property of others cannot be trusted to have the same regard for the rights of others on the road.

This widespread stealing ranges from petty pilfering to robbery with murder and it is carried out by ordinary citizens, most of them honest, decent and likeable.

Minor pilfering includes such things as stopping over crosswalks, depriving pedestrians of their right of way and inconsiderate parking.

Criminal larceny includes every type of driving that threatens others on the road — speeding, failure to yield right of way, and passing on hills and curves where there is insufficient visibility.

Space stealing is the most common offence. Every driver has the right to protective "cushion of space" in moving traffic. Maintaining it is not easy on crowded streets and highways at rush hours.

If you keep an adequate distance from the car ahead, somebody may steal your protective space by cutting in.

More dangerous and irritating is the tailgating driver who comes up from behind and follows a few feet from your rear bumper.

Years ago somebody brought out a bumper sticker that said, "If you can read this, you're too damned close," and one currently popular is, "If I stop, can you?"

How's your honesty rating?

You can always tell a new employee, but whether he'll pay attention is something else again.

Immediate outlook black

Pulp and paper industry is in temporary financial tailspin

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's multi-billion-dollar pulp and paper industry is in a financial tailspin.

Although everyone expects it to pull out safely by 1970 or 1971 at the latest, industry executives now use gloomy terms to describe the immediate outlook for the $2,300,000,000-a-year business.

They see it as dark, rough, tough, cloudy, even black.

For decades, drawing on Canada's vast forestlands covering more than 1,700,000 square miles, the industry ranked at or near the top of the country's producers in terms of employment, wages paid, new investment, value of output and exports.

Since 1913, the newspaper section of the industry has led the world in exports. It now provides more than 40 per cent of the world's newspaper needs.

A few years ago, based on glowing forecasts of renewed worldwide demand, the industry had planned to invest $2,500,000,000 by 1975 in new plants and equipment.

Last year, however, the situation turned around. The basic problems can be summed up simply.

COMPETITION TOUGHER

While the industry was starting up costly new additions to its productive capacity, competition got keener, especially from mills in the southern United States.

At the same time, the economies of most of the leading countries in the world slowed down.

These factors combined to leave the Canadian industry with serious, and expensive, over capacity.

Compounding the difficulties is a classic cost-profit squeeze.

The international competition and over-capacity tended to put downward pressure on prices, while the mills had to face steadily rising labor and material costs.

The squeeze has resulted in depressed earnings, and the situation is made worse by the industry having to absorb costs involved in its expansion program.

A few statistics highlight the industry's current woes. In 1967 net profits of 10 of the largest companies dropped about 25 per cent to $101,401,000 from $136,692,300 in 1966. Most of these companies' earnings were down even more sharply from the 1966 results.

PRODUCTION DIPS

The industry was working at a record 94.8 per cent of capacity in 1966, but last year the figure dropped to 86.6 per cent. Much of this excess is accounted for by new plants and equipment recently put into operation, but nevertheless total production fell eight tenths of one per cent in 1967 to just under 16,000,000 tons — and the unused capacity represents a worrisome cost to an already cost-conscious industry.

Huge capital investment programs announced boldly a few years ago have been quietly postponed or dropped. Some mills have been put on reduced operations and a few closed entirely. Some dividends have been cut to keep money available for operations.

The general gloom has been reflected in the stock prices of major companies, too.

The industry's index on the Montreal Stock Exchange declined 17 per cent in the first quarter of this year, shoving it down a whopping 44 per cent from the similar 1967 period.

Nevertheless, the industry feels its present troubles really represent no more than a firm base for future recovery and growth.

PAUSE NATURAL

R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, says the apparent difficulties of 1967 have to be kept in perspective.

"It must be remembered that 1966 was a year of extraordinary growth following several years of rapid expansion," he said in a recent interview.

"It is not surprising that a pause should come after a long period of fast growth and there should be no cause for surprise or alarm."

"The total production of this industry in 1967 was just under 16,000,000 tons of all products, down 125,000 tons from the peak year of 1966. That is a drop of only eight tenths of one per cent, which is surely only a minor ripple in the rising tide of production."

"Indeed, several segments of the industry showed creditable advances in 1967—papers, other than newsprint, and boards advanced by 3.8 per cent in volume and chemical pulp exports went ahead by 2.8 per cent. The main shortfall was in newsprint where Canadian production in 1967 fell by 368,000 tons or 4.4 per cent."

COMMON PROBLEM
J. V. Clyne, chairman of MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. of Vancouver, says there is nothing new about over-capacity in the pulp and paper industry.

"It was apparent four years ago that we would pass through this period of surplus capacity and low prices, and the condition will probably persist well into the 1970s."

"It's a world condition and is not confined to Canada, though much of the new capacity has been built in B.C. and was built prematurely, encouraged by grants of timber, the awarding of which was based upon the early commencement of construction with no regard to market conditions."

R. A. Irwin, president and chief executive officer of Consolidated Bathurst Ltd., says the industry may look pretty "stupid" to an outsider for building up capacity before demand matched it.

But, he adds, most people don't realize it no longer is possible to build a 100-ton-a-day mill and run it economically. It's got to be a 700-ton mill.

These mills cost plenty—$100,000,000 is not unusual—and take three or four years to bring into production.

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — The unmistakable revival of nationalism throughout the world raises mixed feelings. On the one hand, we generally applaud its resurgence behind the Iron Curtain where it prods the Communist regimes of Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Hungary to press for more independence from Moscow.

On the other hand, we are alarmed by what strikes us as dangerous nationalism in Quebec and West Germany.

This mixed reaction to similar effects of essentially the same phenomenon in different parts of the world is understandable. Behind the Iron Curtain, nationalism is helping to crystallize a political trend we welcome and approve of, while the growing influence of nationalism and its potential political consequences in Quebec and the federal republic of Germany fill us with forebodings.

In other words, our judgment is shaped by our desires and our fears. We regard nationalistic fragmentation of the totalitarian Soviet bloc as highly desirable, while nationalistic breakup of democratic Canada is not just an undesirable but a disastrous prospect.

And the spectre of reviving nationalism in Germany fills us with fear because in our collective mind German nationalism remains synonymous with the horrors of Nazism.

When Martin Niemöller, Germany's eminent churchman whose brave stand against Hitler won him worldwide respect, tells us that a Nazi comeback in today's Germany is impossible, we dismiss his assurances as utterly unconvincing, because after the experience of two world wars triggered by German chauvinism we think we know better.

Those who, like Niemöller, argue that politically, economically and psychologically the federal republic has accomplished a break with the past and deserves to be trusted to cope with its domestic problems, including nationalism, are automatically suspected of pulling wool over the eyes of the outside world.

Hard to shed animosity

People who know little about actual conditions in today's Germany and find it hard to shed their emotional animosity draw parallels with the Weimar republic and equate the rise of Nazism with the emergence of von Thadden's National Democratic Party (NPD) on the present political scene.

The obvious differences between the two situations—particularly the economic strength and health of the federal republic as a partner in the European Common Market, the political composition of its government, and its complete military integration with the North Atlantic alliance—escape them.

What the rabid anti-Germans see and hear on is the attraction of the NPD to former Nazis. This indeed makes von Thadden's party look like a menace. But if this is the criterion of danger, how about the attraction of Walter Ulbricht's Communist Party to former Nazis in East Germany?

The simple fact of the matter is that former Nazis are in all the German political parties. It can't hardly be otherwise for in the heyday of Hitler's regime no German could hope to survive in public life, the civil service or in business without joining the Nazi party.

The result was that after the war there were practically no qualified anti-Nazis or non-Nazis for the administrative tasks under the Allied occupation.

Why does a Rambler American cost $289 less than other compacts?

Could it be because there is no annual model change?

You can bet your boots it is!

Last year, when we announced the no-annual-model-change policy for the Rambler American we were able to drop the price.

This year, in the face of generally rising costs, we are still able to sell the American for at least $289 less than any other domestic compact.

Isn't it nice to know that somebody's trying to hold the line against inflation?

And from the state of our sales of Rambler Americans (up 79%), it seems that there are a lot of people who agree with our approach: that for a compact car, a car designed as basic transportation, the annual model change makes no sense. So they're buying Rambler Americans.

What are they getting for their money? A 6-passenger car designed and built for our kind of driving, our kind of weather, our kind of traffic. They're getting a car that will have a higher resale value because it's not going to change the shape of its sheet metal just because the calendar says so.

The 1969 Rambler American will be basically the same as the '68. There will be improvements... but no changes for the sake of change.

Before you take the spring-time plunge into a new car, take a look at the Rambler American, at your nearby American Motors dealer and ask yourself this question: "Is the shape of sheet metal worth an extra $289?"

THIS IS HOW RAMBLER AMERICAN STACKS UP AGAINST ITS MAJOR COMPETITION. TAKE A LOOK, TAKE A TEST DRIVE, THEN DRAW YOUR OWN CONCLUSIONS.

Group closes activities with combined meetings

Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish Council of the Catholic Women's League closed the year's activities with a well-attended membership evening combined with the regular meeting on May 1 under the chairmanship of vice-president, Miss Priscilla Tuite.

Miss Arlene Hand, recording secretary, read a report of the last annual meeting and gave a brief account of the year's functions.

Mrs. O. Leveque presented her financial statement which showed that over $1,600 had been spent on social welfare, parish work, education, hospital, missions and other benefits.

Mrs. M. Ferguson, corresponding secretary, stated that all messages including expressions of sympathy, congratulatory greetings, etc. had been sent on behalf of the council during the past year.

Conveners of the various committees were then called upon for summaries of their work.

Mrs. W. Veilleux, spiritual convener, listed the religious functions sponsored by the Council and mentioned the participation in ecumenical services which were organized by other groups in the city.

Education, Mrs. P. J. McKenna, reported that $95 had been spent on school prizes, bursaries, subscriptions and contributions to foreign educational programs in developing countries. She also mentioned that five pounds of cancelled stamps had been mailed to the Mission Stamp Bureau.

In her report on immigration, Mrs. William Steele stated that she had given 26 hours of time teaching English to an immigrant family.

Mrs. L. Broadbent presented her report on citizenship, which showed that members had contributed 188 hours towards community campaigns, blood clinics and other civic projects.

Mrs. Janet Bourgeois, captain of the 3rd. Sherbrooke Girl Guide Company gave a comprehensive report of all activities of the past year, and listed the various badges earned by the girls.

Miss Owenie McKeon, convener of radio, TV and films reported that she had written 100 letters to producers and sponsors commending their presentations of a religious, cultural or educational value; and had received replies of appreciation of her interest in good programs. She mentioned films attended in connection with her convener'ship, and promotional work to interest other groups in the diocese in this particular field.

Miss Ave Walsh, social welfare convener, stated that $1,500 had been spent by her committee on necessities for needy families.

Mrs. E. J. Wolfe, convener of social action, gave a brief report of the talk given by Mr. Jacques Johnson, General Director of the local Welfare Council, at the February meeting.

Stella Maris Convener, Mrs. L. Dion, stated that she had supplied the Catholic Sailors' Club in Montreal with books that had been contributed by members of the council.

Reporting for Indian Missions Mrs. D. Patton, said that seven boxes of clothing and Christmas gifts were sent to Mission posts in Northwestern Ontario and Manitoba.

Mrs. C. Clark, convener of the Cancer Clinic, reported that her group of eight workers had spent a total of 234 hours with a record of 7,137 yards of gauze and filler, 1,080 swabs and 3,964 bandages.

Speaking for membership and magazines, Mrs. C. Fortier reported an enrolment of 101, six of whom had joined the council in the last year. She paid tribute to the late Mrs. Irene Pechie.

The combined accounts of the hospital conveners, Mrs. F. E. Shelley and Mrs. C. Steele amounted to 128 hours resulting in approximately 500 visits to patients in the Sherbrooke Hospital and d'Youville.

The chair was taken by Mrs. E. J. Wolfe, who conducted the election of officers. By popular request, Mrs. M. Cloutier accepted the presidency for a third year, being re-elected by acclamation. Recording secretary, Miss Arlene Hand; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. Ferguson; and treasurer, Mrs. O. Leveque also agreed to hold office for another term, and a vote of thanks was proposed to these officers. Vice-presidents elected were Miss Priscilla Tuite and Mrs. John Hayes.

The following were appointed as councillors: Mrs. F. H. Baldwin, Miss Y. Campbell, Mrs. R. Ethier, Mrs. E. Hastings and Mrs. J. P. Martel.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of awards to seven valued members for their loyalty to League causes over a long period of time. Mrs. B. W. Murray, read the citation for Miss Ave Walsh, who was given a Life Membership. The testimonial paid glowing tribute to Miss Walsh's excellent record as president, convener of various projects, and particularly for the charity she had displayed in the field of social welfare, where she rendered such valuable service, not only to the Parish, but to the community as a whole.

A past president's pin was presented to Mrs. Rene Blouin with a citation from Mrs. A. L. Vallee commending her for the excellent work she had accomplished during her term of office.

Membership scrolls were received by Mrs. F. P. Kenalty, Miss Elizabeth Roy, Mrs. G. McDonough, Mrs. L. Dion and Mrs. J. D. Bourassa. The citations were read in the above order by Mrs. S. Sharpe, Miss H. Fitzgerald, Mrs. M. Ferguson, Miss A. Hand and Mrs. F. E. Shelley, each stressing the individual contribution made by the respective honored members.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Moisan presided over the ceremony and added his personal congratulations to the recipients. A pleasant social hour then ensued during which new members were welcomed into the group, after which coffee and refreshments were served.

Judge says married couples should have joint ownership

SASKATOON (CP) — Assets acquired after marriage should become the common property of both husband and wife, a magistrate court judge told the royal commission on the status of women.

In a personal brief to be presented at a morning public session, Judge Mary Carter said too often a wife who has "tolerated her husband for years for the sake of her children," finds she has nothing if she leaves him.

"If he has made no gifts to her, if all his savings and purchases were made in his name, then they are his," the brief said.

"A housekeeper, working all those years, would fare better, since the law assumes that she was working for a wage of some kind."

Judge Carter said she has seen women in her court "who have worked and saved for 30 years on a farm, putting up with drunkenness and brutality and complete indifference so that the children might be raised and some joint property acquired."

ORDER DENIED SOME

"When their children are at last on their own and their spirit nearly broken, they leave, often to be denied even a maintenance order."

She said such women cannot afford the court costs of divorce or judicial separation or the costs of getting maintenance orders from a judge.

Judge Carter's brief was released to the press in advance of her appearance before the royal commission.

The commission flew to Saskatoon Wednesday night after holding three days of hearings in Regina. Four hearings will be conducted in the commissioners wind up their 18-day western tour Friday night.

During Wednesday's hearing, W. S. Davis, program director of the Saskatchewan Federation of Labor, said unions are eager to get women to take top union posts.

But women unionists themselves seemed reluctant to accept responsibility above the local union or middle administrative levels.

Mr. Davis, a Saskatchewan MLA for the New Democratic Party, said Canada manpower programs tend to lag behind working women's needs for the future.

Right now the programs ought to be retraining older workers, particularly married women returning to the labor force, for the new jobs that would be required in a technological age.

Mary Ann Lavalley, from the Cowessess Indian reserve, 90 miles east of Regina, made an eloquent appeal to white society to support the Indian woman in her fight for emancipation.

IODE DESSERT BRIDGE

The Duke of Wellington Chapter IODE held a very successful dessert bridge on Tuesday, April 30, at IODE House, on Moore Street. The card party was very well attended and the chapter members appreciate the support of their project by the public, also those who donated door prizes.

Today's recipe

WILD RICE STUFFED SALMON

1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 cups boiling water
1 cup chicken broth*
1 cup wild rice
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Freshly ground black pepper
Dash monosodium glutamate
1 (5 to 6 lb.) piece salmon

Wash rice thoroughly. Combine water, salt and chicken broth; bring to a boil and add rice. Simmer until rice is tender and grains have split. Drain rice thoroughly. Return to pan and shake over low heat to dry rice slightly. Melt butter in heavy pan. Add celery, onion and green pepper; cook slowly about 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Add to wild rice. Add chopped parsley and sprinkle with seasonings. Stir lightly with fork.

Stuff salmon cavity lightly. Fasten with skewers or tie lightly with string. Brush top of salmon with melted butter or margarine. Bake in very hot oven, 450 deg. F., until salmon is tender, allowing 10 minutes per inch stuffed thickness of fish.

COAT- DRESS UNIFORM — The uniform of the guides of "Man and His World" was designed by Michel Robichaud, young Canadian couturier, who had previously designed the uniform of Expo 67 hostesses. Quietly elegant, the ensemble consists of an attractive coat-dress, a cape, a round beret and accessories such as bag, shoes, gloves in glacier blue, dark blue and white colors.

New uniform for guides of 'Man and His World'

The coat-dress, made of light worsted in a glacier blue color, has a very youthful look, with its smart double tab front closing adorned with silver buttons. The shirt collar and short sleeves are underscored by double tabs relating to the front closing and the belt. A silver buckle bearing the insignia of "Man and His World" fastens the belt.

For cool weather or rainy days, a lovely quilted cape in dark blue antron. This cape is fastened by silver buttons identical to those of the dress. A two-button hood, of the same material, will allow our lovely guides to brave any kind of inclement weather.

To complete this ensemble, we again find the dark blue bag and shoes, the white shawl gloves, as well as the popular tri-color beret of Expo 67.

Miss Solange Sylvestre, our Belle Canadienne, models the uniform.

Fashion Tips

Back in Spotlight

The shirt and blouse are back in the 1968 fashion spotlight, along with waistedlines, curves and snowy-fresh femininity. Fortunately, most of these up-to-date blouses and shirts are made of fabrics which have great wash-and-wear ability. Cotton and cotton blends lead in the sports-wear field, while Dacrons, nylons and linens in varying degrees of sheerness are favorites for afternoon and evening wear.

Triple status urged for French Canadians

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — Marcel Faribault, constitutional advisor to Premier Daniel Johnson, Sunday called for "triple status" for the French-Canadians.

In an address to the Sherbrooke chapter of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, the French Canadian nationalist organization, Mr. Faribault said a new Confederation should give French-Canadians equal status on the federal level, majority status in Quebec and minority status in the rest of Canada.

Mr. Faribault said he is convinced French-Canadian nationalism and Canadian federalism are compatible. Only the terms had to be thought out, and they would be in negotiations for a new constitution.

He rejected Rene Levesque's Mouvement Souverainete-Association, which advocates a sovereign Quebec with loose economic links with Canada, as being a contradiction in terms.

LOSES INDEPENDENCE
"It is obvious to anyone that any independent person who associates with another person loses part of his independence," he said.

Mr. Faribault said to say independence would not be costly because there would be an association with Canada, was pure rhetoric, as the last Mouvement Souverainete Association convention had shown in April.

Premier Johnson's constitutional advisor explained it had been impossible at that convention to solve the problem of the English-speaking minority in a separated Quebec.

Under Mr. Levesque's proposed system, English-speaking Quebecers would have one of three options: the rights they now enjoy, reduced rights or no special rights at all.

An English-speaking minority in a separated Quebec with the rights they now enjoy, would be a social injustice, he said, while an English minority with no special rights at all would probably leave, making Quebec a much poorer place to live in at the human as well as economic level.

GAVE LIMITED RIGHTS
The last option, Mr. Faribault concluded, would be limited special rights for the English-speaking minority. At the recent Souverainete-Association convention the delegates could not agree on the subject of which, if any, special rights the English-speaking minority would be allowed to retain.

"We must therefore reject any political movement which oversimplifies the most complex problem of the hour," he said, "that of sociological, moral, political and economical adjustment in Canada."

It was impossible to ignore the Canadian social reality of interdependence since there were more than 1,000,000 French-speaking Canadians outside Quebec and Quebec's own population was more than 15 per cent English-speaking.

Gets one day in jail on a charge of theft

A 22-year-old Lambton man was sentenced to one day in jail by Sessions Court Judge Roland Dugre after the accused pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering and theft.

Renaud Grondin was given the light sentence by Judge Dugre due to the odd circumstances surrounding the crime. The accused pleaded guilty to stealing two transistor radios, two cameras, a Polaroid camera, an electric drill and a woman's watch for a total value of $350 from Gilles Carrier of Sherbrooke.

Grondin said he was arrested in Lake Megantic on charges of theft of items similar to those he stole in Sherbrooke.

He said he did not commit the crime and that he stole the articles so that he could return them to the first victim.

When he appeared for trial in Megantic he was acquitted.

Stuck with the articles he pleaded guilty to the second offense.

He told Judge Dugre he had a job awaiting him "down East."

run.
The accused was driving without a licence when the accident occurred.

Cotnoir pleaded guilty to hitting a car owned by Leslie Wright on May 4 and leaving the scene without reporting the accident.

Mrs. Ernest Edwards had her arraignment postponed on charges of discharging a firearm with the intention to maim and causing damage to private property until psychiatric tests could be made to determine if the accused is mentally responsible for her actions.

The accused is 57 years old and from Danville.

The accused allegedly fired a gun shot at Julien Boissonneault and caused $300 damage to a car owned by Mrs. Roland Parenteau, both of Danville.

Marsboro native retiring from Ontario church

APPIN, Ont. — Rev. Donald Morrison, a native of Marsboro, Que., was honored recently, when over 100 members of Appin United Church families gathered in the Sunday School rooms to celebrate his eightieth birthday at a pot luck supper.

The event, arranged by members of the Adult Fellowship Group, was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Morrison.

After the supper, to the music of accordion and guitar, Happy Birthday was sung and Mr. Morrison was presented with three large cakes, one a replica of the church, also a framed picture of the church.

After blowing out the 80 candles, the honored guest expressed his thanks. A short program followed and later carpet bowling was enjoyed.

The Rev. Mr. Morrison was born and brought in Marsboro and graduated from McGill University in 1923. His sister, Christine, Mrs. John Stewart, lives at 716 King George Street, Sherbrooke.

QUEBEC SCENE:

Johnson wants a consensus

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson Monday invited all federal political parties to rally around what he described as a "broad consensus" that has emerged in Quebec on the constitutional issue in the last 15 years.

In an address to la Chambre de commerce du district de Montreal, the premier said most Quebecers favor "supply and flexible federalism" advocated by the Quebec government in briefs at constitutional conferences in Toronto and Ottawa.

St. Lawrence, built by early French explorer Louis Joliet and reconstructed as a centennial project, will be partially administered by an official of Rene Levesque's Quebec sovereignty movement.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Witch Hazel Water Has No Special Powers

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I have heard that placing pieces of cotton soaked in witch hazel on one's closed eyelids is a good way of relaxing and rejuvenation. Is this true? Is it safe to put witch hazel so close to one's eyes?

A—Witch hazel water has no special powers but it does smell good. If a little got in your eye it would prove mildly irritating but the tears would wash it away and no permanent harm would result.

Q—What is the cause of blepharitis? Is it due to smog? None of the medicines I have used has helped me. Is there any cure for it?

A—Blepharitis or inflammation of the lids may be caused by irritating cosmetics or uncorrected errors of refraction, especially astigmatism. A smog that caused conjunctivitis might by extension cause or aggravate a blepharitis. In some persons blepharitis is an indication of poor general health. Improvement would follow closer attention to adequate rest, diet and exercise. If the blepharitis is chronic it is often hard to cure. Keeping the lids clean and free of crusts and applying yellow oxide of mercury ointment every night should help.

Q—My eyes are dry and burn all the time. My doctor gives me drops but they relieve the burning only temporarily. What do you advise?

A—Dryness of the eyes may be caused by infections, burns or drooping of the lower lids. There is no permanent cure in most cases. The use of drops that contain glycerin or emulsified cod liver oil is the best treatment. You should use the drops as many times a day as needed for comfort.

Q—I have vascular spasms in my right eye. My doctor prescribed Paveril. What does it do? Are there any bad side effects?

A—Dioxyline (Paveril) is given to relax blood vessel spasms. Side effects are rare. Too large a dose may cause nausea, dizziness, sweating, flushing and abdominal cramps.

Q—What is the safest way to remove a foreign body from a person's eye?

A—First, wash your hands thoroughly. Pull the upper lid up and have the victim look down. If you can locate the speck, brush it away gently with the moistened corner of a clean handkerchief. If you do not see the speck, pull the lower lid down and have the victim look up. If the speck can't be located, irrigate the eye with a soothing eye wash. If you find the foreign body but can't remove it easily, it may be imbedded in the cornea. In that case, its removal should be attempted only by a physician.

THE BORN LOSER

Staub drives in six as the Astros take the Giants 10-2

HOUSTON (AP) — Rusty Staub drove in six runs with a double and three singles and Denny Lemaster stopped San Francisco on seven hits Monday night as Houston Astros beat the Giants 10-2.

Staub got to San Francisco starter Gaylord Perry, 2-2, early, doubling in two runs in the first. In the second, when the Astros scored four more runs off Perry, Staub singled in a run. In the sixth, he singled in another and in the eighth drove in another pair with a single.

Lemaster, 3-3, threatened to hold the Giants scoreless as he limited them to five hits in the first seven innings.

But in the eighth, Jim Davenport walked and Willie McCovey followed with his seventh homer of the season.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lou Brock opened the 11th inning with a triple and Orlando Cepeda singled him home, giving Bob Gibson and St. Louis Cardinals a 2-1 victory over New York Mets and Tom Seaver Monday night.

Brock's hit, only the second off Seaver since the second inning, went to deep left centre and the Mets walked the next two hitters intentionally before Cepeda delivered.

Gibson, 3-1, gave up only three hits, none in the last seven innings, and struck out 11.

The Mets tied the score in the fourth inning by bunting all their hits off Gibson. Bud Harrelson and Ken Boswell led off the inning with singles and Art Shamsky drove in the run with the third straight single.

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Bench, hitting .171 before the game started, exploded for a two-run homer, a single and a double to spark three Cincinnati uprisings and power the Reds past Philadelphia Phillies 10-1 Monday night.

George Culver picked up his first victory as he scattered 10 hits and pitched out of several jams. He held the Phillies scoreless in five innings after they put two men on base.

Bench had made only two hits in his last 26 at bats before entering the game but both hits had given Cincinnati extra-innings victories—one a 3-2 16-inning victory Sunday over Los Angeles Dodgers.

Pete Rose extended his batting streak to 21 games with a double in the sixth inning and a homer in the eighth.

ATLANTA (AP) — Donn Clendenon belted his fourth home run of the season in the fourth inning with a man on, propelling Pittsburgh Pirates to a 2-1 victory over Atlanta Braves Monday night.

Loser Pat Jarvis had retired the first 11 hitters before Roberto Clemente beat out a hit to short and Clendenon followed with his blast over the left field fence.

Atlanta got its run off Jim Bunning in the fifth when Felipe Alou singled and Sonny Jackson tripled him home.

Bunning allowed only four hits but was unable to finish when he limped off the field in the eighth inning when he apparently twisted his ankle when Alou singled through the middle. Ron Kline relieved and saved Bunning's third victory against two losses.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sam McDowell struck out 14 batters, breaking the American League's consecutive-game strikeout record, and drove in two runs with a single Monday night as Cleveland Indians beat New York Yankees 3-2.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees hit his 522nd career homer in the first inning, moving into fourth place on the all-time homer list ahead of Ted Williams.

McDowell, a hard-throwing left-hander, struck out 16 batters in his last appearance against Oakland Athletics and his two-game total of 30 broke Bob Feller's league record of 28 strikeouts in consecutive games set in 1938. Sandy Koufax holds the major league record with 31 strikeouts in two games in 1959.

McDowell struck out the side in the seventh, the final out moving him ahead of Feller. He gave up seven hits and did not walk anybody until the ninth when a single and two walks loaded the bases with one out.

However, he got Mike Ferraro to pop up and Steve Whitaker to fly out, ending the game.

Mantle's homer, his fourth of the season, went into the lower right field stands, scoring Roy White, who singled ahead of him. A fan retrieved the ball and returned it to Mantle after the game. It will be placed in the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Babe Ruth, with 714 career homers; Willie Mays, with 569; and Jimmie Fox, with 534, are ahead of Mantle on the all-time list.

BALTIMORE (AP) —Rookie Dave Leonhard of Baltimore allowed one hit—a single by Jim Northrup with two out in the seventh—and pitched the Orioles to a 4-0 victory over Detroit Tigers Monday night.

It was the eighth consecutive victory and the 13th in the last 15 starts for the red-hot Orioles, who widened their American League-lead over the second-place Tigers to 2½ games.

Northrup sliced a 1-2 pitch to left, ending Leonhard's bid to join teammate Tom Phoebus as a no-hit pitcher this season. Phoebus hurled his against Boston Red Sox April 27.

Leonhard, a 26-year-old right-hander, walked or hit a Detroit batter with a pitch in every inning.

Dave May drove in two runs for the Orioles with singles in the second and sixth innings. Dave Johnson started the second inning with a double off loser Joe Sparrano and singled home a run during a two-run fourth.

The Tigers win the Allan Cup

WINNIPEG (CP) — Victoriaville Tigers won the Canadian senior hockey championship Monday night, taking the best-of-seven Allan Cup final in five games with a spirited 2-0 win over St. Boniface Mohawks.

It was the third time in the last four years that a team from the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League has emerged as the nation's top senior team. A replica of the coveted trophy was presented to Tigers captain Johnny Mentis by Earl Dawson, vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Tigers stormed to an early 1-0 lead at the 2:16-mark of the opening period and added their second goal on a power play in the second period.

The fast-played game recalled Saturday's game but St. Boniface appeared to find new speed as they held the Tigers to two goals.

Larry Drouin and Jocelyn Hardy scored for the Tigers. St. Boniface headed into the third period playing catch-up hockey but found Andy Payette unbeatable in goal.

Mohawks pulled goalie Henry Goy in the last 30 seconds of play for an extra attacker but were unable to ruin Payette's shutout.

DISPLAYED SPEED

The Tigers, displayed their dazzling speed in the first game to start the series with a win, but slowed in the second game won by Mohawks.

Tigers went on to sweep the next three.

Mohawks speedy centre, Butch Goring, matched the Tigers step-for-step throughout the series and was a standout for the western club. He had a chance to put the Mohawks back in the game in the second period Monday when he broke in alone on Payette. He tried for the far side of the net but Payette got a pad in front of the puck.

The Tigers go-ahead goal before 1,025 fans was typical of their play throughout the series. Drouin took a quick centre-ice pass, sped in alone and beat Goy with a hard shot.

Goy handled a number of difficult shots and stopped 42 Victoriaville tries. Payette, behind stand-up defence, had a comparatively easy time handling 31 shots.

Referee Sarge Sammartino of Kamloops, B.C., called 12 penalties in the sometimes rough game. Six went to Victoriaville. A minor disturbance erupted near the end of the first period, when Victoriaville's two burly defencemen, Jean-Claude Marcotte and Dino Mascotto mixed it up briefly with Chuck Lumsden and Murray Wilkie.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO REST — St. Louis Blues goalie Glenn Hall (face showing) flops down on top of defenseman Al Arbour in the second period trying to cover a shot by the Montreal Canadiens in the second period. The Blues' Tim Ecclestone scrambles to help on the cover job. Montreal's Danny Grant (23) and Jacques Laperriere (2) sneak in to see if they can get a shot. Montreal beat the Blues

Harvey may be back in action

ST. LOUIS (CP) — Doug Harvey, the old man of the St. Louis Blues defence, could be back in action for tonight's second game of the Stanley Cup final against Montreal Canadiens.

The 43-year-old veteran, who played 14 years with Montreal before being sold to New York Rangers in 1961 as playing-coach, has been in Montreal recovering from a groin injury and visiting his mother, reported gravely ill.

"He has been taking treatment in Montreal," St. Louis Coach Scotty Bowman said Monday.

"We'll have to see how he has come along."

"He and Dickie (Moore) will be on the same flight."

Moore left immediately after Sunday's opener of the best-of-seven National Hockey League final to attend the funeral of his father-in-law in Montreal.

SCORED FOR BLUES
But, before he left, Moore, who spent 12 years with Canadiens, scored the second goal for St. Louis. The Blues lost the game 3-2 when Montreal rookie Jacques Lemaire scored at 1:41 of overtime.

Tonight's game, televised nationally by the CBC, will start at 9 p.m. EDT. The series continues at Montreal Thursday night and Saturday at 3 p.m. EDT.

Harvey's return would give the Blues the playoff experience they need, along with that of team captain Al Arbour, to balance the brilliant speed of the Canadiens who will be without both Jean Beliveau and Gilles Tremblay.

Tremblay missed the opener and remained in Montreal recovering from a fracture of the nasal bone picked up April 28 when the Canadiens eliminated Chicago Black Hawks in Montreal.

"Beliveau won't play. He'll take a couple of days rest," Montreal coach Toe Blake said Monday.

"We tried a skating formula and it didn't work."

INJURED IN PRACTICE
The tall Montreal captain had his right ankle injured in practice after the Chicago series, and after trying a couple of shifts Sunday, spent the rest of the game watching from the bench.

He told Blake then the ankle "just isn't working."

Blake said he would use either right winger Mickey Redmond or defenceman-utility forward Bryan Watson as a replacement because of their NHL experience.

"I'll have to think it over tonight."

"Henri (Richard) was all alone on his line yesterday," Blake said.

Richard, playing centre for Danny Grant and Claude Larose, scored Montreal's first goal and started the Canadiens' comeback after the Blues had taken a 1-0 lead with their first shot on the Montreal net at 9:19 of the opening period.

But while Canadiens were taking a second hard look at the Blues, who surprised both the team and most observers with their tenacity and spirit, the St. Louis club came to the realization that they could play with Montreal.

EXPLAINS TACTICS

Bowman explained his use of some unusual defensive formations, saying:

"In the games I managed to see when they (Montreal) played Chicago and Boston

Bruins, it seemed the opposition defence was playing well up and wasn't able to recover when Montreal got a break.

"So we tried a couple of different things. I think it's the first time in the playoffs they've been met head-to-head."

While having his forwards checking bitterly in both directions, Bowman appeared to throw the Montreal attack off by other means.

Canadian engines will roar at Indy

There will be no Canadians on the starting grid at the Indianapolis 500 this year—but the soft sound of Canadian-built engines will be heard as the face of motor racing continues to change.

Billy Foster of Victoria, who once described racing as "a way to make money without manual labor," was the only Canadian ever to qualify for the Indy, and he died at his trade nearly 16 months ago.

The 1968 500 will be held May 30, with nine of the new turbine cars among the 77 which will vie for starting positions.

At least five of the nine were produced by the Pratt and Whitney subsidiary of United Aircraft of Canada Ltd. in Montreal.

All five are in cars entered by Andy Granatelli, who brought the turbine to Indianapolis last year. Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., led most of the way until his car glided to a stop with seven miles to go. The engine still was running but a $6 gear bearing had burned out.

Besides the Montreal-built engines, there will be turbines produced this year by General Electric and the Allison division of General Motors.

POWER CUT ORDERED

The ruling United States Auto Club ordered restrictions on power output for the turbines after Jones' near-runaway in 1967. Granatelli sued, lost, then accepted the restrictions, and the 1968 blow-torches will go to the grid with less than the power Jones had.

Not only are the vehicles changing, but the makeup of the drivers becomes more international each year.

The event which once attracted United States drivers solely has this year a large and strong representation from the Grand Prix world road-racing circuit.

Graham Hill of England, 1966 Indianapolis winner, is nominated along with New Zealanders Dennis Hulme and Bruce McLaren. Jackie Stewart of Scotland, Jochen Rindt of Austria and Masten Gregory, an American living in Rome, are in the field.

Granatelli had planned to use Jim Clark of Scotland on one of his cars but Clark was killed last month in Germany. Stewart will take his place.

The strong Granatelli team will have Jones back and will include Hill and Greg Weld of Kansas City, the USAC sprint-car champion last year.

LIST 12 TYPES

Entries for the 52nd running of the 500 list 12 different types of engines among the 77 cars, and six of the cars have not specified their power.

There will be several of the 255-cubic-inch unsupercharged Ford racing engines in the trials; four new turbocharged Fords, two 303-inch stock-block Fords, 21 turbocharged Offenhausers, one supercharged Offie, one 255-inch Repco, one turbocharged Repco, four stock-block Chevrolets and one turbocharged Rambler.

The turbochargers are powered by turbines in the exhaust pipe; the superchargers are run off a chain of gears from the crankshaft. They both perform the same function—to compress air going to the cylinders to produce a more explosive mixture.

The event which once attracted United States drivers solely has this year a large and strong representation from the Grand Prix world road-racing circuit.

Gets revenge

GUILDFORD, England (Reuters) — Mike Bolton, 19-year-old tennis player from Vancouver, needed only 75 minutes to gain revenge on Scot Graeme Notman on Monday.

Bolton beat the 18-year-old Notman 6-1, 6-8, 6-3 in the first round of the Surrey hardcourt tennis championships. Last week Notman had beaten the Canadian in straight sets in the first round of the London hard-court championship.

Bolton, son of Fred Bolton, a one-time Davis Cupper, will meet Doug Smith, 19, of Australia in the second round.

Joins Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Two-way halfback John Mulligan, who played college football for the last three seasons at Central Connecticut State, will be among the newcomers to the training camp of Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League. Mulligan, 25, is a six-foot, six-inch native of Jersey City who established four Central Connecticut records, including the most pass receptions and the most points scored in one season.

Sweden leads

LONDON (AP) — Sweden took a 2-1 lead over Rhodesia by winning the doubles Monday in their European Zone Davis Cup series in Bandol, France.

Ove Gengstson and Hans Horwell beat Frank Salomon and Adrian Bey 6-2, 6-3, 6-0 in the third match of the best-of-five series that was moved from Bastad, Sweden, because of demonstrations against Rhodesia's white-minority government.

Mantle hits

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees hit his 522nd lifetime home run in the first inning of a game with Cleveland Indians Monday night, putting him ahead of Ted Williams and in fourth place on the all-time home-run list.

Mantle's homer, his fourth of the season, came off Sam McDowell and went into the lower right field stands. It was the first homer off the Indian pitcher this season and only the second Mantle has ever hit off him.

Clay loses

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Cassius Clay, the world's heavyweight boxing champion who refused induction into the armed forces last year, lost an appeal of his conviction and five-year prison sentence Monday.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed a lower-court jury's decision that Clay should have accepted service as an army private, despite his claims to be a Black Muslim minister and conscientious objector.

Northern Dancer, owned by E. P. Taylor, became the first Canadian-bred horse to win the Kentucky Derby four years ago today—in 1964—setting a record of two minutes even under the whip of jockey Bill Hartack. Two weeks later the Dancer went on to win the Preakness Stakes though he lost the Belmont Stakes, the third gem in American horse racing's triple crown.
