Chevra Kadisha Synagogue First Sod Turned Sunday

Notwithstanding the heavy downpour of last Sunday afternoon, more than 500 men and women crowded the improvised auditorium of the Chevra Kadisha Synagogue to witness the turning of the first sod of the new $500,000 house of worship, school, and community centre at the corner of Isabella and Clanranald Avenues.

Headed by the Hon. George Marler, Minister of Transport in the federal House, the speakers included such other dignitaries as the Hon. Omer Cote, Provincial Secretary; the Hon. J. O. Asselin, Chairman of the Executive Committee; Rabbi S. Herschorn, Chief Rabbi of the Jewish Community Council; Rabbi David Roth, spiritual leader of the Congregation; Rabbi Wilfred Shuchat, President of the Board of Jewish Ministers; Nathan Takefman, chairman; Councillor Max Seigler, and others.

Paying tribute to the Jewish community of Montreal for their desire to join hands with others so as to increase the number of institutions catering to the mind and soul of the individual, Mr. Marler praised the Jewish people for their interest in religious and character-building organizations. Many of the Jewish ideals of life have been passed onto other races and religions to the infinite benefit of the world and mankind, said Mr. Marler.

The sod was turned by Maurice Pollack of Quebec City, and by Abe Bronfman of Montreal. Both well-known philanthropists and leaders of the religious life of the country, they were assisted by William B. Cohen, treasurer of the Congregation, and by Abraham Gordon, chairman of the building committee.

After Rabbi Roth delivered the invocation and explained the significance of the new sanctuary in the community, the guests were welcomed by Nathan Takefman who was in charge of all the arrangements. Rabbi Herschorn expressed gratitude that among the first buildings being erected in any new neighborhood, is the synagogue. The material possessions of a home and a business in an area are not sufficient without also having a place for worship and for education.

Among the other speakers were Leon D. Crestohl, Q.C., M.P., Louis de Zwerick, Q.C., Mrs. Jack Gordon, president of the Young Women's League, Seymour Frank, president of the Brotherhood, and Councillor Max Seigler.

Story Telling At Westm't Library Friday At 3 p.m.

The Westmount Public Library announces that story telling for the fall and winter season, will begin Friday, October 1st, at 3 p.m. All small boys and girls will be welcomed at this weekly event.

This represents a change from previous years, when Saturday morning stories have been featured. The new choice of Friday afternoon has been made after discussion with a number of mothers of small children, and it is hoped that it will prove to be more convenient.

HON. GEORGE MARLER, federal minister of transport and Liberal candidate in the forthcoming federal by-election here, was among those present at the sod-turning ceremony Sunday of Chevra Kadisha Synagogue, Isabella and Clanranald avenues. Left to right are Rabbi Roth Mr. and Mrs. P. Goldblatt, both over 90 years old and members of the congregation for 55 years, and Mr. Marler.

Mark Rosenstein Vice President WHS Events Club

Mark Rosenstein was elected vice president and Grace Aronoff treasurer of the Westmount High School Current Events Club at the opening meeting Tuesday. Both are grade 10 students.

The annual trip to the United Nations in New York is scheduled to leave November 4 and return November 7, president Carol Cracower announced. This tour is open only to grade 11 pupils.

Three students who toured Europe this summer, spoke on some of the countries which they had visited. The first, Errol Feldman, described the romantic country of Italy.

From the "odorous yet fantastic" canals of Venice to the Sistine Chapel in Florence, he was completely overwhelmed by this country's ancient beauty.

BY-ELECTION SET FOR NOVEMBER 8

Federal by-election in this riding, in which Transport Minister, the Honorable George Marler, Liberal faces Egan Chambers, Conservative, has been set for November 8th, it is announced.

4 Major Tasks Cost $3,350,000 At Least Commission Reports

Changeover from street-cars to buses on westend tram lines '65' and '14' will necessitate four major tasks, the Montreal Transportation Commission stated this week in announcing another section of their traffic-improvement program, first announced in these columns last summer.

The four tasks are:

- 1—Purchase of 100 new autobuses.
- 2—Building of a new garage on Namur street, to be the city's largest.
- 3—Rearranging and extending the electrical network required for trolley-buses, and
- 4—Establishment of new turning loops.

These improvements will cost $3,350,000.

The transportation service will be greatly improved, particularly for the traveling public using the 65 and 14 services and traveling to and from the north-west part of the city, the Commission reported. Traffic also will be improved on Cote-des-Neiges Road and Westmount boulevard due to the removal of trams. Westmount and Snowdon will be linked together by a more direct service, and so will be north-east of Rosemont and the Plateau Mount-Royal district. Local service in Lachine will be greatly improved and the replacement of trams by buses will thus be accelerated.

The substitution of autobus for tramways on the No. 65 Cote-des-Neiges and No. 14 in Westmount represents a modernization step similar to the change on "St. Denis", "St. Lawrence", "Amherst", "Iberville-Frontenac", "Belanger", "St. Catherine east", "Cote St. Paul", etc., that took place in recent years.

Trams will disappear from such important arteries as Dorchester, Guy, Cote-des-Neiges, etc., thus greatly improving traffic generally.

From an economic point of view these improvements will keep pace with the intense development of the Snowdon district and will establish on Westmount Boulevard a "main autobus line" which will be a direct and additional link between Snowdon, Westmount and the heart of our metropolis.

This change-over will probably take place in the spring, but the other changes in Lachine and in the north-east of Montreal will take place sooner. The new services will be running in Lachine on November 7, and in the north-east of the City "as soon as a certain number of technical installations have been completed". These involve, we understand, rearranging and extending the electrical network required for trolleybuses.

Here's How Commission Outlines The Changes

NO. 65 and NO. 66

An autobus route "COTE-DES-NEIGES — GARLAND, NO. 65" will replace the present route No. 65 tram service and follow virtually the same route: from Victoria Square west on Craig, north on University, west on Dorchester then north on Guy and Cote-des-Neiges, west on Queen Mary Road and finally north on Decarie to the Garland Terminus. Return route will be the same to Dorchester Street and then south to Victoria Square via Beaver Hall Hill. Another autobus route to be known as "COTE-DES-NEIGES — SNOWDON, NO. 66" will replace the present tramway service No. 14 on Westmount Boulevard. The route will be as follows: from a terminus in the vicinity of Phillips Square, west on Dorchester, north on Guy and Cote-des-Neiges, west on Westmount Boulevard and Cote St. Luc Road and north via Coolbrook to Isabella. The return will be via Decarie to Cote St. Luc and then via the same route.

A new autobus route "CLAREMONT, NO. 114" will operate from the intersection of Victoria and Sherbrooke via Sherbrooke, Claremont and Westmount Avenue to the intersection Lansdowne Westmount Boulevard.

SOMERLED NO. 102

A new autobus route "SOMERLED NO. 102" will be established from the intersection Decarie and Notre-Dame-de-Grace, north on Decarie, west on Cote St. Luc and Somerled, north on Walkley, west on Fielding and south on Trenholme to the terminus at the intersection Sherbrooke and Elmhurst. Return will be via the same route.

This new route will improve the east-west service through Notre-Dame-de-Grace and will serve the new development north of Somerled. Autobus route Somerled No. 102 will replace the present Somerled No. 3B and Terreboune No. 46 bus routes as well as the present tramway services on Somerled Avenue.

On the same date, the Westmount — Notre-Dame-de-Grace bus route will run via Claremont Avenue in both directions, instead of north on Girouard and south on Decarie Boulevard.

MORE PROGRAM NOTES

TALENT CLUB — Fred Pennel starting his third year as a volunteer leader at the Unity Boys' Club will resume his Talent Club activities starting this evening at 7.30 p.m. The reason behind the early start is an invitation from the Queen Mary Hospital for a variety show early in October. Rehearsals and auditions will be held every Friday evening. Fred is looking for additional talent this year from among the many talented youngsters in the Club. The Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade was very much in demand last year and it is anticipated that more requests will be received this year.

Singers, dancers and instrumentalists who would like to audition for the show are asked to report to Mr. Pennel tonight at 7.30 p.m.

GROUP CLUBS — Elizabeth Anderson's Pre-Teens Girls' club have chosen Monday afternoon as their meeting time.

Russell Skinner is in the process of forming a group club for boys, as yet unnamed. This group will hold meetings on Wednesday afternoons.

We are at the present time seeking a leader or leaders for our teenagers. If you know anyone who might be interested in this important phase of the program please have them call me as soon as possible. EXPERTS TO STUDY PAPERS

The American Jewish Archives at the Hebrew Union College, Jewish Institute of Religion, Cincinnati, recently obtained one of the largest collections of papers and manuscripts pertaining to a single Jewish family in American history, largely through the efforts of Rabbi Harry J. Stern of Temple Emanu-El.

Through the mediation of Rabbi Stern, Mrs. Henry Joseph allowed the collection, dealing with the famous Gratz family, to be examined by Dr. Jacob Rader Marcus, of the Archives.

Rabbi Stern learned of the papers when he visited Mrs. Joseph to see a portrait of Rebecca Gratz in her possession.

She showed him the collection, and he then advised Dr. Marcus of the discovery.

The papers span approximately two-thirds of the 300 years of Jewish life in the United States.

The year 1954 marks the 200th anniversary of the arrival of the first Gratz in Philadelphia.

When Rebecca Gratz died 85 years ago, these papers which she had collected were handed on to a famous niece who married into the Joseph family.

This collection contains more than manuscript pages dealing with commercial matters alone. Dr. Marcus believes they will prove invaluable for the study of American economic history.

He thinks they will offer insights in to the economic, political and social aspects of the Revolutionary and post-Revolutionary periods in United States history and shed new light on the first three-quarters of the 19th century.

Included in the collection are about 100 Yiddish letters written by Michael and Barnard Gratz. This is one of the largest known groups of American Yiddish letters written in the 18th century, according to Dr. Marcus.

The entire collection, of which these letters are a part, has been microfilmed and photostated for further study by historians at the archives.

Mark Rosenstein...

He told of a tour of Rome and the Vatican.

Martha Fellows took the group to Switzerland and told of the Alps in all their magnificence. She said that never before had such a lasting impression been created. On the tour of the city of Geneva, they visited the League of National Bldg., scene of the NATO Conference. Lucerne and Berne were also highlights of the time spent in the country.

The last speaker was Gordon Wasserman, who first described the southern countryside of England. He went on to tell about the many cathedrals they had visited, including the Glastonbury ruins which are accepted as the cradle of English Christianity. Oxford, the "madly ancient, madly historical" college town, was the next stop; this expression was also used in reference to the Continent itself.

On a typical, foggy, cheerless English day Gordon found himself in Bath. In the town of Stratford-on-Avon they saw "Romeo and Juliet," and Ann Hathaway's cottage, where Shakespeare himself had once courted her. The magnificent city of London, the centre of life and the center of the world, was the main event of their stay in England. The tour of this fabulous metropolis included many famous landmarks such as Picadilly Circus, Westminster Abbey, the Tower of London, Palace, and other sights.

From London the group continued to Holland. The speaker ended his talk by comparing the "morie" wrinkled face of England to the rosy cheeks of the low country, Holland.

Speaker At Rotary Urges Union Of Safety Groups

The only way to cut down the number of children killed or injured in traffic accidents is to correlate the activities of all the organizations interested in accident prevention, Dr. E. Crutchlow, 74 Easton Avenue, Montreal West, told the Rotary Club of Montreal this week.

Dr. Crutchlow, senior associate radiologist at the Montreal General Hospital and chairman of the committee on public relations for the international conference of the medical aspect of traffic accidents, said this could be done by setting up a provincial accident prevention group.

He said that last year 28 minors were killed and 2,259 injured on Montreal streets. He thought there was no indication that this year's figures would be appreciably lower, despite much effort in child, parent and driver education and in the enforcement of existing regulations.

Dr. Crutchlow blames this on the lack of facts on the cause of accidents. He said only by investigating accidents thoroughly could their underlying causes be found and their numbers cut.

"Investigation is costly, but investigation saves lives and in the end saves money," he said. He called present accident prevention work "shot-gun therapy" that could help only in a haphazard way because the causes were not known.

Brown Is Permanent Assistant To Rawson At St. James United

A prominent Ontario church leader and Dr. B. B. Brown, senior United Church divine in this area, are combining to bring a new and more ambitious program to St. James United Church, distinguished Mother Church of the denomination in Eastern Canada.

In an important announcement the church officials have named Rev. Norman Rawson, of Centenary United Church, Hamilton as senior minister of St. James, with Dr. Brown, former pastor of Wesley church here, as permanent assistant minister.

It is planned to develop St. James church into a religious, cultural and welfare centre, to serve the entire downtown hotel and shopping districts. A full staff of trained workers will be employed and many week-day activities are planned, in addition to the usual Sunday services.

Born in Coldwater, Ontario, Rev. Norman Rawson was educated at Albert College, Belleville and Victoria College, Toronto. His pastorates have been unusually successful, his last charge having been the Centenary United Church of Hamilton, Ontario. The seating capacity of this sanctuary is fifteen hundred and it was usually filled to capacity.

Entering the First World War as a private soldier, Rev. Rawson emerged as a captain, and later served on the General Staff of British Forces in Russia. Mr. Rawson has travelled extensively in Europe and Asia, and has lectured for Chataquas and Service Clubs in Canada and the United States. He has an unusual flair for analyzing and making clear the international scene, and great public issues, and is noted for a very happy combination of up-to-the minute information, lucid and clear explanation, wholesome and sparkling wit.

In 1944 the Canadian Government sent Rev. N. Rawson to England and the battle fronts, where he was given carte blanche to see the Navy, Army and Air Force in all their different phases. On his return he toured the various provinces giving first-hand information.

past year, he became the first Nisei to be awarded the J.M. Wallace scholarship in anatomy, worth $250.

Dr. Kudo, a graduate of Sir George Williams College, also won a scholarship of the same value last year for general proficiency.

He is a member of the College of Chiropractors, and recently opened an office at 5112 Sherbrooke street west. The telephone number is HU. 8-8961.

Unfortunate Decision

"An Umpire Rules on Violence" In Picket Lines

The decision of the umpire in an unemployment insurance case, as reported in the Labor Gazette, rules that evidence of terrorization on part of union pickets in a strike-bound plant will no longer be required of claimants for unemployment benefits.

The facts are as follows: The claimant was a member of the railway brotherhood employed on the company-owned railway of North American Cyanamid Ltd., at Niagara Falls, when a strike of other employees was called by the United Electrical Workers and the plant heavily picketed. The claimant tried on two occasions to cross picket line "without avail." No evidence was introduced to show that his attempt to enter plant property was resisted with force. The umpire's decision, which appears to have been influenced by the statement that to cross a picket line under the circumstances "would be foolhardy and the next best thing to committing suicide," is that the threat of violence is implicit in picketing procedure itself.

The decision is unfortunate in more ways than one. In the first place it provides employees unaffected by a strike with an excellent excuse for not working when a plant is picketed. In the second place, it deprives the employer of services essential to effective maintenance of a strike-bound plant. In the third place, it is contrary to the law of picketing, under which violence is prohibited.

Everyone, under the umpire's ruling, can consider himself 'intimidated' by a picket line. The Minister of Labor at Ottawa should lose no time in uttering a clear-cut unequivocal meaning of 'peaceful picketing.'

School's In Ill

by Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor
Rector of Trinity Memorial Church

There is a third group of people who are interested in our schools; though, from what pupils and teachers say at times, one might think they not only peopled the schools but owned them, to the exclusion of all other interests.

This particular article was written on the shore of all other in the hills behind Ste. Fidele. The fish would not bite, so I found some nice sheets of birch bark and went to work. If the article has an open air smell that is the reason.

The third group concerned in the schools is the one to which I belong, that is the parents. They have two privileges in the matter of schooling, they shift from their own shoulders the burden of formal education, and they pay the bill, either in the form of taxes or fees or both. But though we parents may shift the burden we cannot shift the responsibility. And so we should know the school inside as well as out, not only to grumble about the taxes but to take an intelligent interest in the things which are taught to our children; and to know if those things agree with the impressions which we have already given them in our informal education from the time they became our children. For the pattern of their lives is pretty well set before they see school at all.

It is from us that they get the philosophy of life which they will carry with them all their days. They will learn from us self-respect and respect for others, or they will not learn them at all.

not even in school. Those are more important things for a boy or a girl than geometry or even English literature. We have a right to expect that the atmosphere of the school will correspond to that atmosphere of mutual respect that we look for in our homes. If it is not found in our homes we have no right to expect it from our schools.

But there are still the formal subjects for which we turn our children over to the experts. I sometimes wonder what we have in mind when we do it. What did our children actually learn last year, and what more will they learn this year?

Of course we expect them to be well based in the fundamentals, to read good books in their own language; to write their own language in a decent hand; to be able to figure and work out a problem when they go into business. We do expect that much, and business men and university professors are very vocal when they do not get it. But reading and writing are not only taught in school; they are part of the atmosphere of the home. If the schools are not turning out the products we parents want, the trouble in part lies with ourselves.

There are other subjects which of necessity are presented to our children in our modern schools, some cultural, some practical, history, mathematics, science: They are of a tremendous importance, but, to what end? Why read his-

Adequate Wiring Highly Important

Does your home have adequate wiring?

"Probably not," says the current issue of The American Home magazine, "because well over 50 per cent of homes have deficient electrical systems... and some of these homes are so new that the paint on the outside is hardly dry."

What's more, if a home is even moderately old, there's only one chance in twenty-five that the wiring is sufficient for present needs.

Aside from the nuisance factor, no lights, bad TV reception, etc., inadequate wiring can be dangerous. Overloaded or improperly installed wiring have serious consequences, not the least of which is fire.

"However," says The American Home article, "Watts Behind the Outlet," inadequate wiring is easy to spot. It's time to check wiring when lights dim noticeably when appliances are turned on... electric motors burn out frequently... fuses keep blowing... bad TV reception when appliances are in use and excessively high electric

Y.W.C.A. Outlines Mother's "Day Out"

Ladies Day Out — the Y.W.C.A. program for giving the young mother a weekly "day out" is beginning this week.

The purpose of this project is to provide some relief and relaxation from the daily grind of child care to mothers of pre-school children. The mothers bring their children to the Y once a week at 10 a.m. and turn them over to the Y staff. For fifty cents a day the Y looks after the youngsters until 2 p.m. There is outdoor play, nursery school activities, a light lunch, a nap, music and games. The mothers do not even remove the child's outer clothing — everything is done for her on Ladies Day Out!

While her children are being cared for, the mother is free to have coffee and a chat with the other mothers, attend a potter class or a keep-fit program in the gym and enjoy a dip in the pool. Lunch is bought in the cafeteria or brought from home and is followed by a discussion group, a lecture or movies on some subject that is interesting and instructive to the young Homemaker.

The cost is very low and the results are greatly beneficial to both the child and the mother.

The registration fee includes a year's membership at the YWCA and a medical examination. Registration will remain open until October 2, but the first program is today.

★ 2 Great Operas In Color

Cavalleria Rusticana... La Traviata

At Avon and Monkland Theatres Saturday

Two streamlined operas, both in color, will be given their local Premiere presentation simultaneously at the Avon and Monkland theatres on Saturday. They are Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" starring Mario Del Monaco with Rina Telli and Richard Torigi co-starred; and Verdi's well loved "La Traviata" starring Lucia Evangelista, Giulio Gari and Frank Valentino. Both productions were filmed in New York City at the Fox Movietone Studios.

Mascagni's classic grand opera and Verdi's great tragic opera, both condensed, brilliantly photographed and splendidly played and sung will undoubtedly delight music lovers. The scores of both operas are so well known and highly praised that it's quite unnecessary to dwell on them at this time. Suffice it to say that the Arias in each are effectively sung and recorded and that music lovers are in for a double treat.

African Jungle Adventure

Now At Seville, Snowdon, Outremont, Strand

Set in the darkest jungles of East Africa of the early 1900's Universal-International's Technicolor production of "Tanganyika" now at Four theatres; — the Seville, Snowdon, Outremont and Strand. Combining the fury of man, beast and nature in a series of brushes with death and disaster, "Tanganyika" tells the story of one man's struggle to halt a reign of terror in the jungles of British East Africa. Co-starred in this pulse-pounding adventure story are Van Heflin, Ruth Roman and Howard Duff and Jeff Morrow, Joe Comadore (who scored a distinct triumph in the stage play "The Shrike") Gregory Marshall and Noreen Corcoran in top featured roles.

The added feature at the Seville is "Hot Ice" the story of a master jewel thief, a mysterious host who preyed on the victims of his hospitality. Co-starred in the film are John Austin and Barbara Murray. The added feature at the Snowdon and Outremont, "The Weak and The Wicked" with Glynis Johns, Diana Dors and Jane Hylton, reveals startling secrets of the strange warped world of woman in prison. The added feature at the Strand, "Lost Planet Airmen" featuring Tristram Coffin and Mae Clarke, tells of the exciting adventures of a justice-seeking modern Rocket Man.

Sargent, Cairns Cop Golf Balls As Putt Champs

Miss Sargent and George Cairns were winners of golf balls given as prizes at the sealed hole putting competition held a week ago Wednesday.

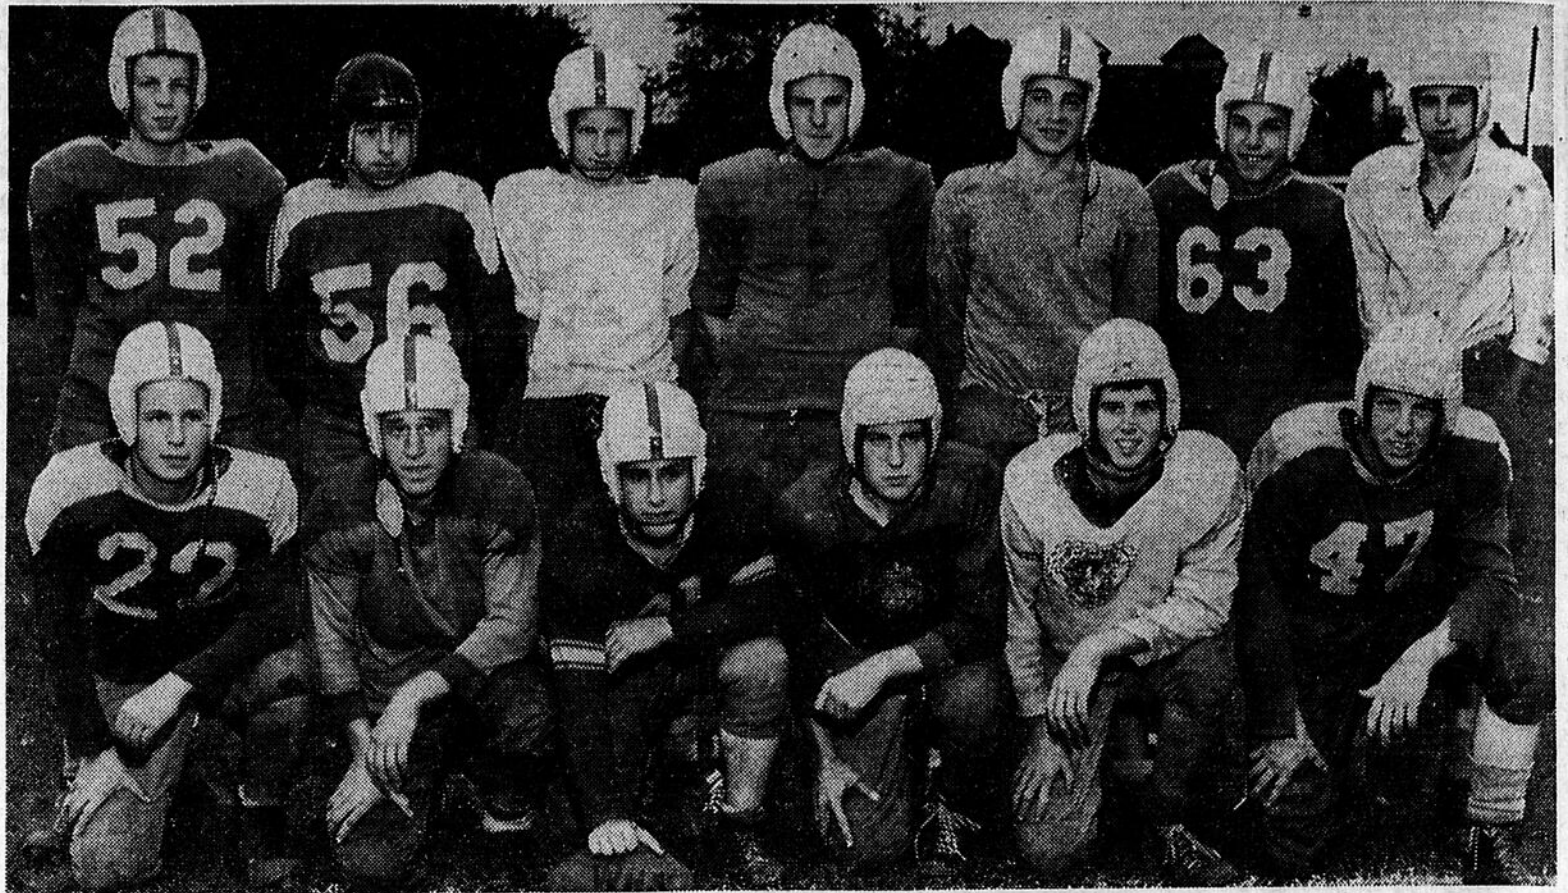

The competition was sponsored by Mrs. G. Roggenburg, who donated the golf balls.

Mr. Aldford, a consistent winner all summer, had an off night carried off the booby prize.

The tournament also served as a playoff for the Putters Trophy between Mrs. M. Craig and Bert Aldford, who were tied with three handicap wins. Mrs. Craig won with a net 86.

The putters were invited to Mr. and Mrs. Aldford's apartment where the presentation took place.

Westmount High Gridders Face Lachine In Carnival

By GORD WASSERMAN

Westmount High School's senior B football team, with a week of heavy practices under their belts, will face Lachine High School in the annual high school football carnival at Molson Stadium, Monday.

The squad has been working out at the Westmount Athletic Grounds under the direction of head coach Ron Sharp. They have been running through light drills since school started.

Coach Sharp, himself a former McGill football star, declined to make any predictions as to the success of the team. He did, however, disclose some important facts, which may play a major role in just how the group will do this season.

This year's line is much heavier than last and more boys have volunteered for positions on the forward wall. The average weight on the line is approximately 160 pounds. Tackle John MacFarlane, a junior last season, called up for the last few B games, is the heaviest, at 182.

Miss QB Raff

Sharp said the team sadly misses the fine quarter-backing of Marty Raff, forced to the sidelines this season because of back trouble. Marty was the junior quarterback last fall, who, along with MacFarlane and end Lance Thomson was called up to do some signal calling in the closing games of last year's sr. B. schedule.

A fine passer, Marty is also a capable member of the basketball team and Westmount High hopes that he will be back when the hoop season gets under way in January.

Although the spirit at the workouts is very high, too few boys are turning out at the W.A.G. At the Tuesday drill, almost one-third of the squad was reported absent. This is not only a very great hindrance to mentor Sharp, who is trying to teach the boys the many plays he has devised, but is also detrimental to the players themselves. With the season only about 10 days away, many of the team are not yet in top condition.

"If the entire team attended every practise," said Sharp, "we might be able to organize a fairly efficient squad."

Team Has Potential

This may sound pessimistic, but actually the outlook is not too bad. Sharp added that while he is against pre-season predictions, he does say that the potentialities are there.

"We have a potentially strong team," he said, "and with co-operation and practise we could have a very good season."

Paul Hamilton and Bob Perry are calling signals and end Lance Thomson will be tried as a passing quarterback. Dick Christenson and Bob Hamilton, members of last year's squad, are among the men in the Purple 'n White backfield. Doug Smart, Stan Cornell and Drudy Porteous, three grade 10 students, will also be lugging the pigskin.

On the line, Stu Decary and Bob Baker, both tackles, are the only linemen who have been through a season of sr. B. football. Although this line is larger and heavier, last season's wall was far more experienced.

Play Catholic High

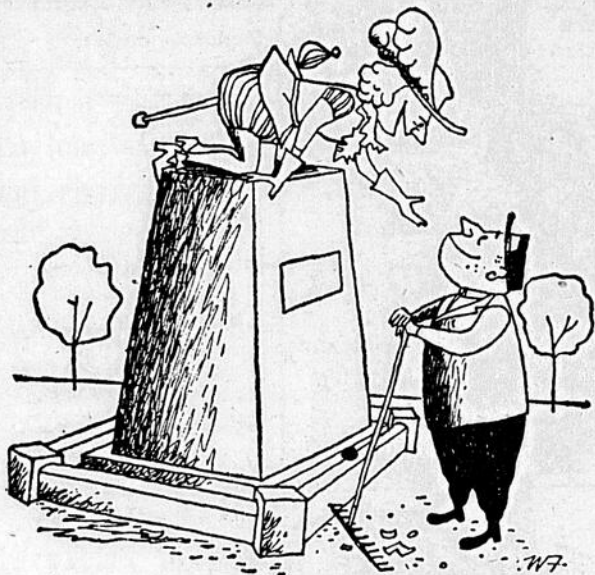

During the forthcoming season, the team is scheduled to meet their perennial adversaries and senior B champions, Lower Canada College. Another interesting feature in the schedule is a game against Catholic High School.

Like Westmount, Catholic High was also a sr. A sports school. But because of the lack of talent the school decided to leave the A ranks and attempt to compete with some of the squads in the sr. B loop. Four teams will be left in the sr. A league to fight it out this season. Other Purple 'n White opponents will be Cardinal Newman, Verdun, Montreal West and Strathcona Academy.

The team will play an exhibition

on Sports

by MARTY GOODMAN

DOUGLASS WALLOP, by his own admission, is a fan of the Washington Nationals in the American League. This fact is not as notable as one other — he is the author of a whimsical novel titled The Year The Yankees Lost The Pennant. After having heard much favorable comment about his book, we finally managed to lay hands on a copy and read it this week.

From the clever cover drawing by Millard Mullin through to the last dragging steps of Joe Boyd, hero of the piece, Wallop unfolds a tale with appeal to all. The story is set in 1958, with the Yankees relentlessly driving to their 10th consecutive pennant.

Joe Boyd, a middle aged real estate salesman, and like Wallop, a dyed in the wool fan of the forlorn Washington club, changes all this. Through his association with Mr. Applegate—who affects yellow saddle shoes, loud shirts, and can light matches on his skin — he becomes the greatest outfielder in the game. To accomplish this, he sells his soul to Mr. Applegate, including an option basis in the contract.

From the moment he makes his debut in the Senator outfield, Joe Boyd begins to wreck the league. And for the first time in years, the Yankees are involved in a real fight for the pennant.

Naturally there are more complications that appear at first. Included is the most beautiful girl in the world, Joe's other life and wife, and moral problems pitting one desire against the other.

The book is as streamlined as Wallop's devil. Mr. Boyd is a most satisfactory hero, while Mr. Applegate always lives up to his agreements, is a beguiling and convincing conversationalist, endowed with an excellent sense of humor. Besides these sterling qualities it matters little he seems to suffer unduly from the cold, or appears on the scene by emerging through a manhole cover.

In fact, it might seem reasonable to many Yankee fans (such as we) that Mr. Applegate (or associate), had read Mr. Wallop's book at the beginning of this year's baseball campaign. With slight changes in the plot, 1954 IS the year the Yankees lost the pennant, and one can almost see the qualities of Joe Boyd, baseball player, divided between Larry Doby, Bobby Avila and Bob Lemon.

THERE WAS MUCH to be said in the field of sports literature this week, including two good articles in national magazines. Fred Russell, reporting in the Saturday Evening Post, tells the story of the new wonder boy of Notre Dame University. Many were amazed earlier this year when it was announced that Perry Brennan, former Irish star, would succeed Frank Leahy as coach of the South Bend football squad, always one of the top in the United States.

Few knew anything about this youngster, where he came from, what experience he had, and reasons for his choice. Russell gives all the answers in his article. He disclosed that Brennan at 19, while still a student at Notre Dame, became a marked. Here was a bona fide football player who would combine coaching ability with a cultivated intellect that would understand what college education was all about. Brennan's classroom work at Notre Dame qualified him for part of the requirements and his success as a high school coach fulfilled the others. The Fighting Irish meet a rock-em sock-em Texas squad this week, and millions of fans on both sides of the border will be following the game to see if Brennan has turned out a Notre Dame team in the style of Rockne and Leahy.

As a college, Notre Dame has more to offer its students other than football. The campus ranks with any other in the country, and possesses an aura of peacefulness that makes it a pleasure to attend the institution.

WITH THE COMING of Fall, the nation's hunters are planning trips into the woods. And with their entering of the sylvan areas, a rash of accidental deaths, numbering in the hundreds, will also start. All too often the hunter is mistaken for the prey by fellow woodsmen.

H. Lee Kuluvar, in the October issue of Field and Stream, tells of his experiments with an identification system that will help teach a hunter to tell a man from a deer before he goes into the woods. The article will impress on all the ease with which a tragic error can be made.

THE MCGILL REDMEN meet McMaster Marauders in an exhibition tilt at Hamilton tonight, and if new head coach Larry Sullivan hopes to compete with the Montreal Alouettes for football fans this pigskin campaign, the Redmen would be well to improve greatly over their showing of last Saturday. Pitted against an improved team from the University of British Columbia, the Redmen showed little improvement over last season's opening edition. Then they only managed two wins over McMaster, since ousted from the league, and a victory over Western when the latter were prepping for a playoff with Toronto.

The Alouettes are great attractions this year, especially with television of away games. The slightest threat of inclement weather will be sufficient to keep the fans away in droves from McGill contests, especially if the Redmen are not a contending club.

Coach Sullivan knows what problems he faces, and proved a good seer when he predicted his charges would meet more than was reckoned with in the UBC squad. They had only been practicing two weeks, and improvement is bound to come as the players learn to move in concert with one another. Their tackling was weak, but the team showed a desire to move in on ball carriers.

The Redmen boast a good backfield, with depth, but the line leaves many questions unanswered. The strength of the club compared with that of the other intercollegiate entries is not known. Toronto is rated the team to beat, Western will not be easy, while Queen's are always improving. Only if they show a good

Westm'nt Edges Bares 13-12 In Rugger Opener

By JIM ADAM

"To err is human to forgive divine" and we're quite sure that all the divine souls in the Montreal Barbarian rugger camp have forgiven Joe Smyth, their outstanding stand-off, for his failure to kick a convert in the last minute of play which would have given the newly-formed club a narrow win over the Westmount team Saturday at Westmount Park.

As it was the Westmounters, players during the second half, weakened by the loss of two held on for a narrow 13-12 win over the new Montreal entry. The Barbarian's fine display augers well for the future and they are bound to become tougher as the season goes on.

The Westmount club will hold an inter-squad game this Saturday at Westmount Park, kick-off 2.30 p.m. All new members will be most welcome and should make themselves known to club officials at the ground. The Westmounters resume their fall schedule on October 2 with a game against the Barbarians.

The fine weather attracted a good crowd to the field and they were treated with a fine afternoon of rugger. In the opening game the second stringers of each club met and after the Westies had gone into an early lead with a try by Geoff Lowe, converted by Ian Monroe, the Barbs replied with a grand touchdown by Aussie Jim Primer. John Lambert kicked the convert to knot the count and that way it stayed till the final whistle. It was obvious from some of the rugger seen in this game that a few of these boys won't be in the seconds for long. Geoff Lowe besides scoring the home team's TD was the outstanding player on the field. Ian Monroe was his usual dominant self at fullback.

The game between the first squads opened at a fast pace and it was kept up throughout the full 70 minutes play. Spectators agreed that this was the fastest season opener that had been seen around these parts in many years and the fine standard of play that came along with it kept the crowd on their toes till the end. Westmount vaulted into a quick lead when Jim Adam kicked a penalty goal from 35 yards out to put his side ahead 3-0. This lead was short-lived for Joe Smyth after one narrow failure connected for a similar score to put the teams level.

Westmount had the upper hand their constant pressure eventually during most of the first half and paid off when George Ewan took advantage of a momentary lapse in the Barbarian defence to score following a cross kick by full back Bob Watt. Bob then tipped the convert over to put the blue shirts ahead 8-3. Bob Watt in his first game at full back for the club gave a fine display, fielding and kicking the ball perfectly all afternoon.

Shortly before half time Joe Smyth kicked another three pointer so that the home squad carried an 8-6 lead into the second half. However, they also carried two casualties into the second canto. In the dying minutes of the first half both Bill Cullens and Jim Adam had been injured. Although both players started the second half it was not long before Cullens had to retire with a severely twisted knee. He was joined on the sidelines midway through the half by Jim Adam, torn ligaments in his right shoulder forced the second row forward to leave the game.

However, before he left Adam had time to convert the touchdown scored by Geoff Jackson which put the Westies in a commanding position. Ronnie Ruthven took advantage of a fumble in the Barbarian backfield and when tackled he passed on to Jackson who went all the way to score in the corner. Adam's kick from the touchline was good and the home team was out in front 13-6.

Joe Smyth booted yet another good long penalty kick to reduce the score to 13-9. Superior weight and numbers eventually told on the Westmount team and the Barbs forced their way over a TD in the last minute but Smyth for the first time in the day missed the kick and the Westmounters were home with a 13-12 Hollywood finish win.

When at full strength the home team were powerful and dominated the scrums and line-outs but the loss of the two players seriously curtailed their efforts in the second half when they had to concentrate on spoiling the Barb's efforts at setting up scoring attacks. During the second half siege Donald Munro was outstanding for the home team. Impressive on their first outings with the club were Mike Webster, Joe O'Flaherty and Geoff Jackson. George Ewan, the skipper played his usual bang up game in the centre although switching to the wing in the second half shuffle.

The next meeting of the clubs on October 2, should be a great game. As well as the Barbarians played it was obvious they had some kinks to work out and these next two weeks should see them reach their peak.

game next Saturday against Stansstead College at the W.A.G. This game will give the team a chance to see just how it can stand up against strong competition.

Meet Proctor Oct. 25

The annual Proctor game will be played on Oct. 25. Proctor Academy, from Andover, New Hampshire, will visit Westmount and try to retain the cup they won last year by a very close margin. Westmounters, however, have their own ideas as to where the cup should be housed. The Senior High team suggests that the silverware would look good in their own library and will be out this year to recapture the prize. The Junior High bantams will also take part in the high school carnival program. Tickets may be purchased now at the high school at reduced rates.
