$10 bills

One of two men charged with possessing counterfeit $10 bills and trying to pass them from August 8 to August 11, was sentenced in sessions court on Friday to the time he has already spent in jail.

His companion, who pleaded not guilty, was remanded to October 28 on the request of his counsel, Charles Lemieux.

Real Marceau, 18, of Granby, and Edgar Bilodeau, of Stratford, were arrested on August 11 by Provincial Police following a series of reports that two men had circulated counterfeit $10 bills.

Marceau pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced by Judge Redmond Hayes to the time he had already spent in jail, i.e., about a month and a half. Bilodeau, pleaded not guilty.

Marceau testified that Bilodeau handed him the bills one at a time, on numerous occasions between August 8 & 11, while they were traveling between Stratford and Granby. Marceau said he used the bills to purchase gas on two or three different occasions while Bilodeau was still in the car.

"We would stop at a service station and buy $1 of gas. Bilodeau handed me a $10 bill and I would pay. I didn't know the bills were counterfeit until Bilodeau told me shortly before we were apprehended by the police. He said that if I mentioned one word about it, I would be severely dealt with," said Marceau.

Two counterfeit bills were produced in Court, and expert analysis by the RCMP laboratory in Ottawa established that both bills were counterfeit. The persons who had received the bills said in Court that they were handed to them by Marceau. The latter's testimony however was questioned by Mr. Lemieux, who alleged that Bilodeau was an innocent party to the whole affair and that Marceau alone knew that the bills were counterfeit. He also said that Bilodeau had never handed them to him.

Chen Yi 'Liberate' Formosa is pledge

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China's Foreign Minister Chen Yi said today "the Chinese people are determined to liberate" Formosa. He called on China's vast militia to "get ready to defend your homes and motherland."

Chen Yi made this declaration minutes before 500,000 Chinese marched through Peking's Square of Heavenly Peace to celebrate the 11th anniversary of the Communist conquest of the mainland.

There was no indication Peking had softened its differences with Soviet Premier Khrushchev over the inevitability of war to advance communism.

On the contrary, a new edition of Mao Tse-tung's collected works, which appeared today, was quoted officially to support China's argument that struggle, including armed struggle, was needed to overcome imperialism.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Khrushchev sent Mao a message of congratulation on the anniversary.

In his keynote address in Peking, Chen Yi predicted that Red China will fulfill or exceed its major industrial goals this year. The foreign minister said that steel and pig iron output increased by about 40 per cent from January to August compared to the same period last year, coal 25 per cent, electric power and freight tonnage by about 45 per cent. He did not give the figures for the goals set.

The Peking People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist party, recalled an 11-year-old article written by Mao which declared, "The question of daring or not daring to take up arms and engage in resolute struggle to overthrow the rule of reaction is one of fundamental principle which involves loyalty or disloyalty to the interests of the people and the question of firmness and revolutionary standpoint."

'Cold water death'

ANSBACH, Germany (AP)—Charges of murder on 100 counts have been preferred against former concentration camp commander Karl Chmielewski, accused of inventing the "cold water death"—in which victims were sprayed with water in cold weather and allowed to freeze.

Ship tie-up will idle 1,600

MONTREAL (CP)—Forty ships of the N. M. Paterson and Sons, Ltd., fleet of Fort William, Ont., lay idle today, the third day of a strike by the Seafarers International Union (ind).

The Lake Carriers Association, claiming the Paterson fleet was illegally abandoned by the union Thursday, plans to put the ships of its four other member companies out of service starting Monday in support of the Paterson group.

A tie-up of the four companies, which operate another 64 vessels, would partially paralyze shipping on the Great Lakes at the height of the shipping season. Some 1,600 seamen would be affected.

About a dozen independent companies operate on the Great Lakes and inland waterways.

John Paterson, president of the association and vice-president and general manager of the Paterson Company, announced Friday that all ships of the Paterson fleet had been moored.

"At the same time he said some of the ships had been left in positions dangerous to ships, cargoes and navigation."

"The Kingdoc is moored in the Welland Canal, the Calgadoc has been abandoned at the entrance of the St. Lawrence Seaway, just below the St. Lambert lock, and the Humbodoc has been left further upstream just above the Iroquois lock," he said in a telegram.

An SIU spokesman said it is the master's decision, not the crew's, where a ship will be tied up.

Meeting is seen unlikely

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP) — President Eisenhower faced a painful decision today, posed by a neutralist resolution in the United Nations urging him to meet Premier Khrushchev in summit talks on easing the "threat to the world."

He may make up his mind after a conference with Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan in Washington Sunday.

Prior to the neutralist manoeuvre, White House officials said there was little or no likelihood of Eisenhower's meeting Khrushchev.

The AB-47 case, with the imprisonment in Russia of two airmen from the downed plane, and Khrushchev's insults to the president closed and locked the door to any meeting.

But the question now is: How to say "no" to the call in the UN? Eisenhower has consistently said he would do anything in his power to remove the threat of nuclear war.

U.S. diplomats called weekend strategy sessions to examine the dilemma. But the final decision is in the hands of the president, they said.

Khrushchev masked his attitude on the matter behind a slab of cheese cake.

Reporters, at a reception given by the Afghanistan delegation, asked Khrushchev whether he would heed the neutralist resolution and agree to see Eisenhower.

He forked a piece of cheese cake into his mouth and said: "This is very delicious pie. While I'm eating, I am deaf and dumb."

Since his arrival in New York, he has appeared to be adamant that the president must take the initiative for any meeting.

The resolution came in the form of a letter to Frederick Boland, Irish president of the General Assembly. The heads of five nations signed—Nehru of India, Sukarno of Indonesia, Naasser of the United Arab Republic, Tito of Yugoslavia and Nkrumah of Ghana.

Next week the general debate will be interrupted to consider the resolution.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker of Canada returned home Friday and disclosed that he had invited

Lesage sets date for by-elections

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Jean Lesage announced Friday by-elections will be held Nov. 23 in the provincial ridings of Joliette and Rouville. Nomination day will be Nov. 9.

Balloting will be on a Wednesday, traditional day under provincial administrations in recent years.

The by-elections were called as a result of the recent resignations of Antonio Barrette, former Union Nationale party leader, and Laurent Barre, agriculture minister under the Duplessis government.

U.S. State Dept. Americans advised 'quit Cuba'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans should stay away from Cuba unless they have compelling reasons to go there, the state department said Friday.

The statement came on the heels of another state department suggestion that wives and children of American residents in Cuba—other than those stationed at the Guantanamo Bay naval base—should be sent back to the United States.

The department said American tourists had asked whether they should travel to Cuba now, in view of Premier Fidel Castro's anti-American campaign and the advice the department had given on American dependents.

The department said "it is believed prudent to advise U.S. citizens to refrain from travel to and within Cuba unless there are compelling reasons for such travel." It said some businessmen might have compelling reasons.

The American Embassy at Havana said 57 Americans have been detained by Cuban authorities since Jan. 1, either on no charges or on charges filed long after their arrest.

Six die in crash

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Two army generals and four other servicemen died Friday in the flaming crash of a small army transport plane in a foggy residential area near here.

The high-ranking officers were Maj. Gen. Carl Fritzsche, 57, of Bedford, Ohio, commanding general of the huge army training centre at Fort Ord, Calif., and Brig. Gen. Thomas Hayes, 49, of Macon, Ga., Fritzsche's deputy commander.

The single-engine Canadian-built Otter—a high wing land plane—hit the side of a hill just 200 yards from a house in the suburb of Orinda, some 20 miles east of here.

Most of the plane rolled 75 yards up the hill, burst into flames and touched off a brush fire which soon circled the aircraft.

It took firemen a half hour to put out the three-acre blaze and reach the victims.

Automation hits chicken plucking

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary has produced a machine which takes in live poultry at one end and ejects them ready for cooking at the other.

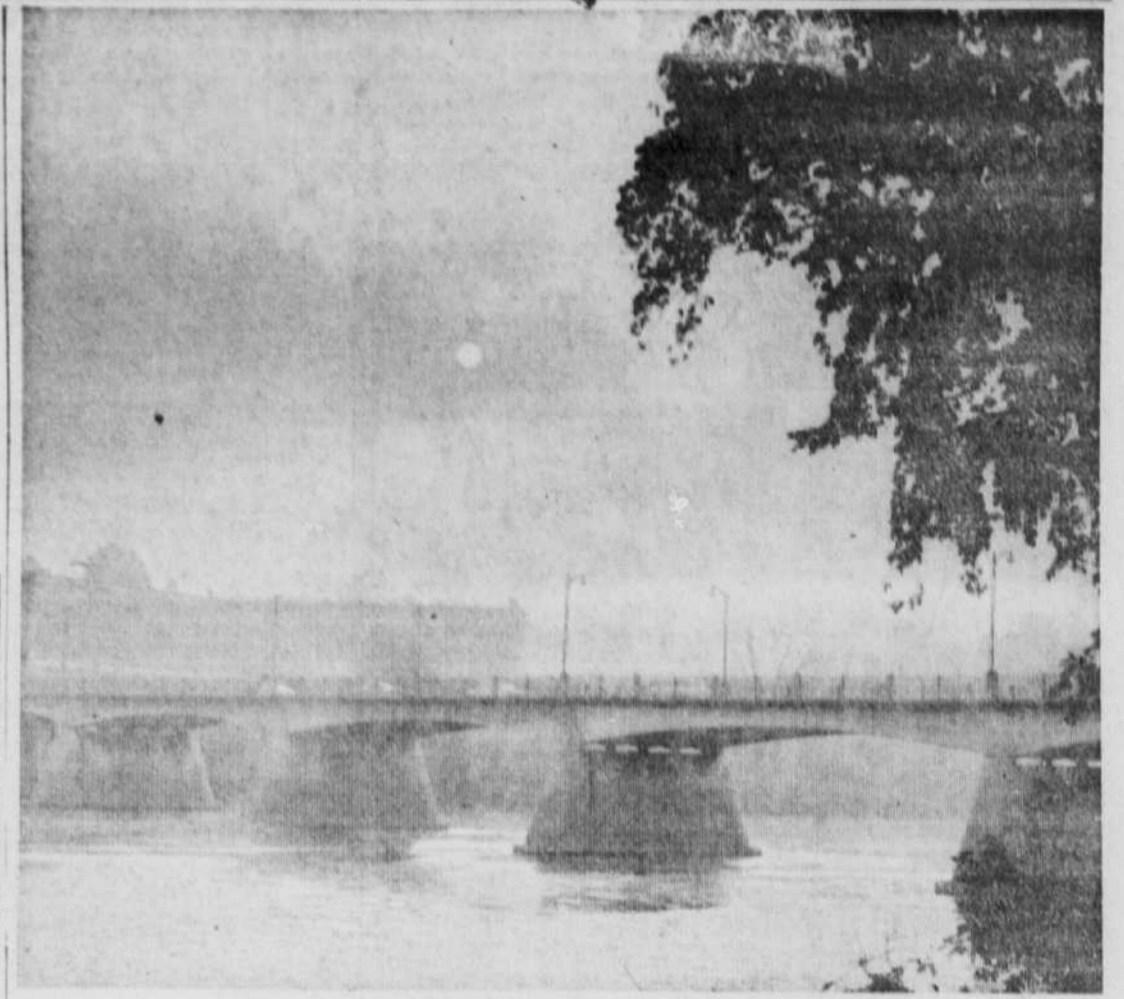

The agricultural weekly Szabad Fold said Soviet Premier Khrushchev was impressed when he saw one on exhibition in Moscow that he agreed to act personally as the Russian sales agent.

Szabad Fold said the machine processes 900 birds an hour.

Less cash in farmer's pocket

Harvest seen a mixed bag

Across most of the country it was a dry summer for farmers this year. The result, as seen in the autumn harvest of grains, fruits and vegetables, has been a mixed bag of good, poor and average.

A Canadian Press survey shows that in the Prairie grainlands, the summer with its below-average rainfall has brought a wheat crop of average size but top quality, high in protein. Nearly ideal harvest conditions allowed the crop to be garnered quickly in most areas.

In Quebec and Ontario the hot, dry summer is expected to mean less cash in farmers' pockets, though some crops are an exception.

Here is a harvest summary for Eastern Canada:

Newfoundland — The summer drought cut crops by 25 per cent on the east coast. Central and western areas report an average season.

Officials said Newfoundland crops — mainly vegetables and hay — were "better than our worst year but not as good as the best." But the blueberry harvest of 3,000,000 pounds was "the best in 10 years."

Prince Edward Island — Farmers faced with a disappointing eight-per-cent drop in the potato crop are cushioned by a heavy yield of top-quality grains and excellent hay, fodder corn and silage crops.

Over-all grain production in P.E.I. is expected to be nearly 10 per cent higher than last year. But an increase in acreage sown to potatoes is expected to be more than offset by lower yields — around 218 bushels an acre, compared with last year's 250.

Nova Scotia — Here, say officials, it was a question of whether a crop liked hot, dry weather. Those that needed moisture didn't do so well. Pastures were poor, and part of the good-quality hay crop has already had to be used for feed.

The apple crop, centred in the Annapolis Valley, yielded good quality fruit but the 1,800,000 bushel crop was about 200,000 bushels below normal. The warm weather, however, produced an above-normal strawberry harvest.

New Brunswick — The potato crop was down slightly from last year despite a substantial increase in plants and the drought reduced the size of the tubers in some areas. The grain crop was better than anticipated. The driest summer in years seriously affected pastures, and many wells and brooks went dry.

Quebec — One official termed Quebec's harvest outlook "not very good" because of the shortage of rain. Total value of crops would be "a lot less" than last year's $164,433,000.

The grain crop in the lower St. Lawrence area, hardest hit by drought, was very poor. Elsewhere it ranged from good to very good. But many farmers with dried-up pastures have had

Polio cases well below 1959 rate

OTTAWA (CP)—The number of polio cases reported in Canada remains well below the 1959 rate.

Figures released Friday by the health department showed 46 cases were reported in the week ended Sept. 24, compared with 126 in the same week last year.

From the beginning of the year, 562 cases had been reported against 1,364 to the same date in 1959.

Quebec was the province hardest hit last week, reporting 18 new cases. New Brunswick had four and Newfoundland, one.

So far this year Quebec lists a total of 130 cases compared with 921 last year. Other provincial totals with last year's comparable figure in brackets: Newfoundland 49 (19); Prince Edward Island 1 (4); Nova Scotia 9 (4); New Brunswick 34 (31).

Quebec leads in deaths with 29, compared with 82 last year.

Other provincial totals: Newfoundland 0 (0); Prince Edward Island 0 (0); Nova Scotia 1 (1); New Brunswick 1 (4).

2-hr. blackout Magog's power cuts off

MAGOG — (Special) — A two-hour power failure here last night plunged this city's 12,000 residents, and communities within approximately a 10-mile radius, into darkness.

The blackout snarled traffic in the downtown area of Magog, crowded with thousands of Friday night shoppers.

Reginald Urwick, president of the city's Electrical Board, said the failure was caused when a connection on a 45,000-volt Southern Canada Power line burned out just north of the city limits bordering the Sherbrooke highway.

The blackout lasted in Magog from about 5:20 p.m. to 7:20 p.m.

Other areas as far as Beebe were affected by the failure. In Beebe, the power went off for about 15 minutes.

In Magog, lights all over the city flickered on and off several times before the power failed.

Mr. Urwick said the trouble was spotted by a Magog resident who called in to say a "pole was on fire."

City repair crews who investigated in turn contacted Southern Canada Power officials when it was discovered the trouble was on a company line.

Magog police said a number of small accidents occurred in the blackout, but no one was injured.

Stores and banks continued to do business by candlelight.

Several merchants temporarily closed their shops to customers during the failure to protect themselves against possible theft in the darkness.

Neither La Providence Hospital nor the Dominion Textile Company plant here were adversely affected by the failure. Both switched to their own power supply systems.

to one of the interruptions: "I would like," he told the assembly, "to have a translation of those remarks, sir."

A few hours later the two sat down together again, less than six months after Macmillan had tried to save the summit conference in Paris by appealing personally to Khrushchev.

The meeting Thursday lasted two hours and nine minutes and afterwards a British communiqué said:

"Each side expressed its views and held to them."

Little more could really be said. But one result was that Macmillan put off his departure. He and Khrushchev would meet again.

DIEFENBAKER'S VIEW

In his address to the General Assembly, Macmillan called for a scientific approach to disarmament. He had kind words for Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who, Macmillan said, had pointed out "the choice before us" in his speech Monday.

That choice, said Macmillan, is: "Are we to indulge in a sterile debate on charge and counter-charge, accusation and rebuttal; or are we to seek, by reasoned argument, practical solutions to the many problems with which we are today confronted?"

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The Witness, CBS' new series in which an investigating committee purports to look into the career and crimes of notorious real-life figures, started Thursday night.

The committee was composed of real lawyers and the witnesses—including one playing Lucky Luciano, the deported ganglord—were professional actors. The questions and answers were all ad libbed.

It was like nothing I've ever seen on television before.

Perhaps it would have made sense if they hadn't filled the hearing room with a mob of spectators who hammed up their "crowd noises" to a point where questions and answers were difficult to follow and even diverted the actors and lawyers. Decision reserved.

Fred MacMurray's My Three Sons came along a bit later on ABC. Perhaps it was the contrast from the other new show, but I found it calming, neat, tidy and even amusing. The idea is that widower MacMurray is attempting to bring up his three sons in a motherless household with help from his father-in-law, played in perky style by William Frawley. It promises to be a pleasant if innocuous situation comedy, sort of a wholesale switch on Bachelor Father.

The young man accepted the words as he had other honors he has received throughout the world—with humility. This was Rafer Johnson, the Kingsburg, Calif., boy who became the generation's greatest all-around athlete by winning the decathlon at the Rome Olympics.

His athletic career behind him, he is embarking with equal dedication on the profession of acting. He has signed a long-term contract with 20th Century-Fox and started this week in The Fiercest Heart.

"I play a soldier in the British army," he reported. "I don't have a lot of lines to say, but I'm in many scenes."

ALWAYS LIKED ACTING

Rafer admitted that the acting urge goes 'way back with him. He did many plays in high school, but athletics and studying precluded dramatics in college.

He played in two movies, Sergeant Rutledge, in which he had a few lines, and Rachel Cade. Upon his return from Rome, 20th-Fox dangled the contract and he signed.

How does it feel after 14 years of rugged training?

"It's a pretty good to know that I don't have to work out three hours every day," he said.

Black and white best

Those foggy, foggy mornings can provide dramatic photographs

Seems to me we are having a lot of foggy Fridays in one week. For those who leave early in the morning it's well to wall fog and that's a lot of fog. Picture-wise it is terrific, little people waiting for school buses and hoping it will get lost - What a time for your camera. Mood and depth are accentuated by the diminishing visibility.

Use low angles where large trees are included. This adds strength to the picture. Your exposure would run something like this using a film of ASA-200 - F16 and A Shutter speed of 1/25 - no filters are required. If used they may cut through some of the fog.

Possibly you know a park or small pond surrounded by trees. Subjects such as these lend themselves well to these particular conditions and finished prints make excellent photographs for any room. This is one time black and white photography I feel does a better job than colour. The whole theme of mist and various monochrome tones are shown to better advantage.

Fall colours are shaping up nicely so a few more words about this. Watch your exposure, keep it as near as possible correct and just a hair on the underside to show up the yellows and reds - over-exposure would give a washed out look to these colours. Check carefully the manufacturer's recommendation for his film, then try a few shots a half stop smaller than is recommended for more colour saturation.

Don't be afraid to give nature a helping hand. If you are including a fence in your scene and there happens to be young maple growing through it as in the case of a rail fence, where they frequently grow through the rail and supporting stakes, you can help things along by snipping off a small branch and placing it in a natural position to suit your composition.

In closing I wish to remind you Wednesday, October 5th, will be the next meeting of the Sher-Bell Camera Club. All those interested please come and be our guest. We would like to meet you.

Community Concerts open Oct. 11

The Sherbrooke Community Concerts Association announces that its 1960-61 season will open with the American singer Camilla Williams, on October 11 at the Granada Theatre.

One of America's most lavishly praised artists abroad, Camilla Williams was already an established star in the United States when she first went to Europe in the spring of 1954, followed by a smash-hit London recital debut with appearances at the great international festivals in Vienna, Berlin and Salzburg.

The association will be proud to present world famous Alexander Brailowski, at its second concert to be held on December 13.

Brailowski is stamped as a specialist in the works of this composer, all 172 of which he has performed repeatedly over the years. Indeed, he was the first pianist in history ever to play all of them in a single cycle of six recitals.

For its last concert, the Community Concerts will bring the New Amsterdam Trio, an ensemble of a rare perfection who will be heard on April 4, 1961. His basic goal: "To preserve, and strengthen, Bishop's position as a traditional liberal arts institution."

New students this year total 161, down somewhat from last year's record 185. These promising young scholars have of late been seen happily tackling greased pigs, lustily singing the Alma Mater and immodestly emblazoning their names on signs which they wear continually.

Five 'freshmen' have also joined the faculty. Dr. D. D. Smith is giving hope to advanced Psychology students. Prof. L. W. Keffer is teaching French and German; Prof. T. A. Reiser lectures in English. Rev. D. D. Crouse, new Dean of Pollack Hall, guides divines along the path of Church History. Dr. D. S. Forth performs similar services in Systematic Theology and New Testament.

Big news this week is that Bishop's will get a new covered rink. For once college rumor-mongers guessed right in deducing that soil tests near the Women's Residence were preliminary steps to construction of a rink. Final plans will be released shortly, promises Principal Glass. Student reaction is favorable.

Pictured above is the City of Montreal Pipe Band which is taking part this evening at the Gathering of the Clans which is being held at the Belvedere Street Armoury at 8.30. The Gala evening is sponsored by the Pipes and Drums of the 24th Tech Squadron R.C.E.M.E. Also in attendance will be the Carrie Biggars Dancers of Montreal. The Carrie Biggars Dancers will put on two shows during the evening and the combined bands will supply the music for Scottish Country dancing.

Discount rate boost by January 1

To go up to 10% Mayor Nadeau says

By MALCOLM DAIGNEAULT
(Record Staff Reporter)

The discount rate on all monthly electricity bills will in all likelihood be boosted from five per cent to 10 per cent effective January 1, 1961, Mayor Armand Nadeau said yesterday.

Another new bridge?

A bridge connecting Grand Forks and Chalfoux Streets should be next on the agenda after the Montreal Street to Terrill Street bridge has been constructed, Mayor Armand Nadeau said yesterday at his press conference.

He visualizes an "accommodation" bridge costing about $400,000 and says that it would go far towards relieving congestion in the centre of town.

"The problem of traffic congestion in the central area of town is an important one and I believe the proposed bridge would be a big step in the direction of solving it," he said.

WALL

A retaining wall to be constructed along the east side of the St. Francis River from the Joffre Bridge about one-quarter of a mile in the direction of King Street will be part of the winter works program, Mayor Nadeau said yesterday.

The project will employ about 100 men with about 50 per cent of the labor cost being paid by the federal government and 40 per cent by the provincial government.

Mayor Nadeau proposed yesterday that chairmen of the various council committees should rotate from committee to committee annually. At present, the aldermen often become too involved with their various committees and Mayor Nadeau feels that rotation would prevent this.

Rotary Fair dates announced

The 30th annual Sherbrooke Rotary Fair will be held in the Belvedere street armory Oct. 20, 21 and 22. Sherbrooke Rotary Club president Fred Sangster announced today.

General chairman of the fair this year is Cliff Bryant. Co-chairmen are Eugene Gingras and Fred Wilson.

Proceeds from the gala event will go toward the Sherbrooke Rotary Club's work for crippled and underprivileged children in the Eastern Townships.

Missionary to speak

MELBOURNE — Rev. James Dickson, D.D., Missionary leader from Formosa will give an address at the Upper Melbourne Presbyterian Church in Melbourne Monday, Oct. 3 at 8 p.m.

Dr. Dickson, Principal of Taiwan Theological College, Taipei, Formosa is partly responsible for the evangelization of the former head-hunting aborigines in the Highlands.

"Members of the city council are generally in favor of raising the discount rate, and I am giving it my personal backing," he said. At present the discount rate is effective for 15 days from the date the bills are issued.

At a council meeting on August 8, city council decided to raise the discount rate from three to five per cent effective October 1, even though a report from city treasurer Olivier Routhier showed the city registered a $338,971.91 deficit during the first six months of operations this year. At that time it was also Mayor Nadeau who proposed the increase.

The 1960 budget provisions estimated the surplus at the end of this year at $600. Although raising the rate from three to five per cent meant a $12,000 loss of revenue to the city, Mr. Routhier said that he still thought the city would end the year with a surplus because of increased revenues and less expenses during the last six months.

Winter Street jail inmate commits suicide

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of suicide in the death of a 78-year-old man at the Winter Street jail on Wednesday afternoon.

The elderly Sherbrooke man had been imprisoned on charges of assaulting his wife and was in the infirmary at the time of his death.

Taking advantage of a time when he was left alone, he filled a bathtub with water and drowned himself, according to Dr. Louis Gagnon, coroner for the district of St. Francis.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The flags of 16 new UN members were added with ceremony Friday to the row of standards bordering New York City's First Avenue. Fifteen African countries and Cyprus are members admitted since the General Assembly began Sept. 20. The 98 flags of all the members now are ranged in alphabetical order.

Annual Winter Fair opens today at arena

The 25th annual Winter Fair opened today at the Sherbrooke arena. The events scheduled for today include the arrival of livestock and a grand bingo in the evening.

Monday is Preparation Day. Market livestock will be weighed and graded by the Selection Committee. There will be a Provincial Judging contest and an Open Judging contest. The junior Judging contest will be followed by a Junior banquet.

On Tuesday, October 4 there will be the judging of the market lambs, bacon hogs, Aberdeen Angus, Hereford and Shorthorn cattle, and 4-H calves. The pure bred classes of sheep,

Bishop's professor

Likes teacher education plan

By NICK POWELL
(Record Staff Reporter)

A system to enrich the knowledge of high school teachers used at the Summer Institute for High School Teachers of Biology, at Minnesota's Lake Itasca Forestry and Biological Station, should be tried here in Canada, Dr. Arthur N. Langford, Professor of Biology at Bishop's University, said yesterday.

Dr. Langford was commenting on his work during a one-year leave of absence from Bishop's during which time he did research work at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J., and at Lake Itasca.

He was engaged at Rutgers in full-time research as the senior field investigator in a group project, making a quantitative study of the forest vegetation of northern New Jersey. Study of methods and statistical problems associated with the analysis of forestry data were an important part of this work and it was concerned with not only the present condition of the old forested tracts, but with evidences of impending change in the forests with the passage of time.

At Lake Itasca, he said, 22 teachers of high school biology from all across the United States, are given highly concentrated courses by biology specialists. The course runs for five weeks and the teachers work all day, in lecture rooms, in laboratories and out in the field.

Dr. Langford's position at Lake Itasca, was that an administrator rather than a lecturer. He did however manage to assist in some of the instruction.

"The lectures were generally given by specialists, men who covered one field completely," he said. "My own work involved a little knowledge from all the departments of biology."

While working in New Jersey, Dr. Langford admitted wryly, much of his work during the winter involved compilation and study of statistical work on forests. "That sort of thing makes rather dry reading," he commented.

Early this month he returned to Bishop's to resume his position as head of the Biology Department, but intends to return to Minnesota and Lake Itasca next summer.

Court cases

Two driving cases, quarrel dealt with

An Ascot Corner man was fined $150 and costs in Court of Sessions Friday morning after he pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

Regis St. Amand, 48, was apprehended Thursday evening after he was seen driving his car in a haphazard manner.

Judge Redmond Hayes also suspended his driving permit for one year.

A quarrel which resulted in fistfuffs ended in Court of Sessions Friday morning when Roger Clouston, 24, was bound by Judge Redmond Hayes to keep the peace for one year.

An assault charge had been laid against him following an altercation with his next door neighbour on September 25.

Crown Attorney Benoit Turmel suggested that the accused had been sufficiently punished by his appearance in Court and that a suspended sentence would be sufficient.

Judge Hayes, in binding the accused to keep the peace for one year, imposed a security bond of $200.

A 37-year-old Asbestos man pleaded not guilty in Court of Sessions Friday morning to a charge of impaired driving and a second charge of criminal negligence. Judge Redmond Hayes remanded the case to October 13.

Germain Leroux, of Asbestos, was arrested Thursday after he was allegedly seen driving his car at speeds exceeding the prescribed limit.

Bail was set at $300 on property.

Groups wishing to participate in this event should notify Mr. J. E. Lamontagne, Secretary-Treasurer, Sherbrooke Arena. Cash prizes will be given.

The fair closes on Thursday with one of the most important events, the auction sale of winter livestock.

A meeting of the Canadian Legion will be held at 8 P.M. sharp on Monday, Oct. 3, in the Memorial Home, 911 Prospect Street. Your presence is requested.

The record total of 438 students registering two weeks ago found a new face surveying them the Principal's chair — that of Ogden Glass, appointed this summer on the retirement of Dr. Arthur Jewitt.

Mr. Glass, an alumnus of Bishop's, still considers himself "very much a freshman" in his new job. He comes well prepared though. After attending Lower Canada College and Bishop's College School, he moved to the university, graduating in 1935 with a B. A. in Honors English and a Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford.

After four years in the Navy during the war, Mr. Glass was appointed headmaster of Ottawa's Ashbury College in 1945; and in 1950, of B.C.S., where he

How it works

Two items in Thursday's newspaper, both concerning events in Sherbrooke, indicate the problems face by municipal administrations — and other governing bodies for that matter.

Addressing a nomination meeting at the City Hall, Ald. Marcel Savard declared that the municipalities must soon receive financial assistance from the provincial governments if they are to carry on their functions efficiently.

Later the same day, Camille Archambault, of the Quebec Trucking Association, told the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce that municipalities must improve their streets to care for the ever-increasing automobile traffic, both pleasure and commercial.

Placed together, the items mean that road users are asking the municipalities to increase their expenditures at the very moment the civic authorities claim they have insufficient money to carry out their responsibilities.

Unfortunately, both parties are right. Communication facilities within city limits are becoming more and more congested each day. Most municipalities are very, very short of cash.

Despite the fact that much of the increased cost of civic public works result from the expansion of automobile growth the automobile user, as such, contributes little or nothing to the city exchequer.

Motor registration fees, driver's permit charges and gasoline taxes all go to the provincial government for use on highway construction and maintenance. All a city might get is a nominal fee on taxis and trucks engaged strictly in local parcel delivery.

If the municipalities are to continue to function on a solvent basis, they must be provided with the money required to carry on their work.

The North Ward Election

In Wednesday's aldermanic elections, the voters of the North Ward are called upon to decide between two men, one of whom is seeking re-election to office on a record of eight years of achievement as a member of the City Council, the other basing much of his campaign on race and religious prejudice.

Both candidates have issued manifestos in which they seek the support of the electorate. In his appeal Ald. Everett Nicol gives a list of accomplishments for his fellow residents of the North Ward over his term of office. This letter followed corresponding texts in both languages.

His opponent saw fit, however, to issue entirely different appeals in his call to the English-speaking and to the French-speaking voters. The former version is a perfectly legitimate political declaration, listing those qualifications as a business man and an organizer which he believes make him suitable to represent his ward at the City Hall. But the French text contains a direct, unveiled appeal for the elimination of the last English Protestant representation on the City Council.

Little is left to the imagination in one paragraph of the French text which, translates, reads:

"To represent properly the population of his ward, the alderman must reflect its mentality. In our ward we have five parishes. The parish is a social cell which favors the bringing up of the family. Parish life must count on the civic authorities to fulfill its role. It is necessary, in consequence, that the alderman participate in the manifestations of parish life in his ward to encourage them and to gain information helpful to the carrying out of his mandate."

Adventures with God

Lord save us or we perish

I turned off the radio in a state of shock. A United Nations report had given me a kaleidoscopic view of our world. The background sounds, which at times nearly submerged the voice of the commentator, revealed the hatred, bitterness and defiance of law and order, and the lack of appreciation for the democratic way of life, which is evident everywhere.

"This is America," shouted one woman. "I can say what I like, and I am happy to have Fidel Castro and Mr. Khrushchev here." She expressed the sentiments of many thousand traitors who are waiting to bite the hand that feeds them.

The implication was, that when she said what she liked, it was a reflection on the things and the leaders she did not like. Her sympathies and loyalties were with the enemies of America, democracy, and Christian statesmanship.

The fate of the U-N Assembly, and the world, is in the balance. The deliberations of the next few days could determine our destiny. The U-N is faced with the same problems which confronted the League of Nations before World War II, but this time the trouble spots are more widespread, and international tensions and hatreds more deep-seated. The little people have become the agitators, and their unleashed fury reacts against the considered judgment of their representatives at the U-N Assembly.

Demonstrations in New York and the Congo are examples of ill-timed and ill-considered action by the little people. Their demonstrations only add to the confusion of the situation, and make more difficult the wise handling of international crisis, and they may involve our world in an orgy of slaughter such as we have never experienced.

A GRAVE SITUATION Listening to, and reading about the reactions of men and women in the streets, made us keenly aware of the seriousness of the world situation and the human impossibility of coping with explosive conditions that challenge us as the forces of good and evil line for a gigantic struggle.

In a moment of realization and concern we exclaimed "Lord save us, or we perish!" The stage is set for a great tribulation, and only the intervention of the divine hand can save us. We are convinced that the next bloody battle could well be that predicted by Jesus when He said: "For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be. And except those days be short, there should no flesh be saved; but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened." Mat. 24:21-21.

There is one ray of hope and that is national and personal dependence upon Almighty God. And the return to God can be organized. If enough of us join in sincere and prolonged prayer to God for peace, and work to make our prayers come true, we may yet be able to turn the tide which is rising against God and us, and hold the line against world-wide war.

If ever statesmen needed the moral support of the spiritual community, THEY NEED IT NOW. And this is the time when little people like you and me, who have been clamoring for peace, should pack the churches and synagogues and prove our sincerity, as we humble ourselves under the mighty hand of God and confess the sins of which we are guilty, and which are adding to the misunderstandings in our homes, churches, cities and world-wide relationships.

CLEAN UP OUR OWN BACKYARDS If we are not prepared to clean up our own backyards, then we have no right to ask earthly or heavenly leaders to solve our problems for us, and to work for world peace on our behalf.

There is little the small man can do in the final decisions for or against war, but he can make it understood that many of the little people in America and other parts of the world are against the practice of settling international disputes by violent means. And while our representatives sit for long hours around the discussion tables, we ought to be raising an endless chain of prayer that God will overrule their deliberations for His own glory and our good.

Every prayer is like a drop of water on arid ground. It helps to soften the mass, and believe me, it's the steady prayer, like the steady rain that soaks and makes pliable the hardened hearts of men. You and I have a moral responsibility to pray earnestly and regularly for leaders who are, under God, charged with the seemingly impossible duty of finding a peaceful solution to the problems of a world seething with hatred and avarice.

Only divine intervention and the application of divine wisdom can save us from calamity, and that intervention and wisdom will be released in answer to the sincere prayers of God's elect people.

And, if those who profess faith in God are true to their trust, the churches ought to be packed to capacity at this crucial hour.

INDIANS TO SCHOOL — Indian youths from the Curve Lake reservation attend school near Lakefield, north of Peterborough, Ont., for a geography lesson. The Indian affairs branch is faced with the problem of expanding Indian education facilities while encouraging more Indian local responsibility and self-reliance. (CP Photo)

The non-vanishing Indian: Part II Expansion proves a time-bomb

By ARCH MacKENZIE Canadian Press Staff Writer OTTAWA (CP) — Two main problems face the Indian affairs branch of the federal government.

One is the time-bomb implicit in the big expansion of the Indian population, straining facilities to provide training and help required if the Indian is to achieve full potential as an equal citizen.

The other is the inevitable chafing that occurs when a people are subjected to the paternal supervision bound up in the Indian Act, limiting local responsibility to a minimum.

More-progressive bands fretfully—about the wide discretionary powers it provides the government chain of command from Indian superintendent in the field to the cabinet in Ottawa.

PRESSURE EXPECTED "The problem is to provide flexibility for an act that must cover such a wide variety of conditions and degrees of development," says Citizenship Minister Fairclough, whose department includes the Indian affairs branch.

"That is why we have this discretion," says a senior civil servant. "As the Indian becomes more educated and articulate, we expect to face more and more pressure to extend local responsibility."

Chief Burton Jacobs, chief of Walpole Island reservation between Sarnia and Windsor, Ont., is one of a minority who welcome the granting of the federal vote to Indians this year.

"The next few years will be interesting and I think there will be a lot of progress for Indians," he says. "But we have to get more responsibility put on our own shoulders."

LIMITED SELF-RULE In providing assistance today on an unsurpassed scale, the federal government strives to encourage self-reliance among Indians to avoid building a something-for-nothing philosophy.

Among the handicaps are shortages of staff in all fields, a good deal of red tape and Indian attitudes ranging from desire for more independence to the indifference of some bands intent on just getting enough to eat.

Most Indian bands now elect a chief and councillors for two-year terms. Their resolutions are all subject to Ottawa approval and most lean heavily on the guidance and advice of Indian superintendents although the avowed aim is to throw more responsibility their way at every opportunity.

For all that, only 27 of the 565 bands can make their own by-laws on certain matters, and even these are subject to discretionary power.

STRONG LEADERS "What the Indian needs is some strong-man leaders," says H. M. Jones, director of the Indian affairs branch. His branch hires Indian staff where available—110 teachers last year out of 1,289—and provides leadership-training courses.

But knowledge of what rights they have remains hazy among the rank-and-file, it was made plain in testimony this year before a parliamentary committee on Indian affairs.

The Indian population, now 179,000, is expected to reach 400,000 in 20 years. Meantime, federal spending has soared in the last 15 years and will have to continue to increase if the Indians forced by over-population from the reservations — many barren economically—are to catch hold in the outside world.

Expanded federal spending began only after the Second World War when money was available for the first time in contrast with the depression of the 1930s and the indifference to Indians before that.

HEAVIER SPENDING A factor was the pricking of the social conscience caused by the return of hundreds of Indian war veterans from overseas to conditions they had learned were deplorable.

The Indian affairs branch budget this year is an estimated $44,800,000—more than four times the $10,400,000 spent in 1948. Education will take $25,000,000 compared with $5,500,000 in 1948.

"I just wish some of my predecessors had had that kind of money to spend," says Mr. Jones.

The program does not include the $23,000,000 allocated to the Indian and northern health services branch of the national health department, which provides medical care to Indians and Eskimos. Its Indian responsibilities are assumed on a "moral" basis rather than legal—a definition lost on most Indians—with cost assessed where possible on a means test.

FEDERAL HOUSE LOANS The Indian affairs branch has helped finance nearly 10,000 reservation homes since 1948 at a cost of $12,500,000. It has provided loans from a $1,000,000 fund because Indians usually have trouble obtaining credit from banks.

The cost of relief in food rations last year totalled about $5,800,000, underlining the need to achieve more economic stability on and off reservations.

The Indian affairs branch, in managing the reservations, holds band funds in trust, paying interest at five per cent. These total about $29,500,000, with Alberta bands owning about half. The Sarnia reservation's sale of land at $6,000,000, subjected to an inquiry, is a major example of one-band wealth. Oil on a few Alberta reservations is another example.

SCHOOLS MEAN HOPE The branch also provides education from grade I to university level, if there are any takers that high up, plus social welfare, economic development and other help.

The consensus across the country is that education—training in skills as well as book-learning—is the hope of the future and a growing flow of Indian children to integrated schools already shows results, many say.

"The younger integration takes place the better in most cases," says F. E. Anfild, acting Indian commissioner for British Columbia. But he cautions that integration of pupils from less-developed bands can backfire, exposing children to discrimination or an education system too far removed from their comprehension.

In certain areas, like Northern Ontario and the Prairies, the usual situation is that Indian children are a year or two behind non-Indians of corresponding age—not because they are less intelligent, but because they are handicapped by environment.

The problem is to provide an incentive to stay in school. Statistics, although much better, still are discouraging.

FEW FINISH SCHOOL There were 40,500 elementary school pupils of Indian race at the end of the 1959-60 school year, most in Indian schools. This compared with 23,000 in 1949.

In high schools, there were 2,281 in all grades compared with 611 in 1949, and 41 in universities compared with nine. Vocational training courses were given to 434 Indians, against 41 in 1949.

But statistics still show that the numbers who finish are small compared with the starters, an indication of the toll taken when Indians are confronted with a way of life too complex for many to embrace easily.

It helps explain why most of the Indians giving up their Indian status for full citizenship rights off the reservation are women who automatically crossed over by marriage to non-Indians.

In the decade 1948-58, there were 6,301 Indians enfranchised

Report From Ottawa

by Clyde Blackburn

OTTAWA — This is to go out on a limb and forecast that there will be a general election in Canada next summer.

And to wonder about the type of campaign speeches we may expect — to wonder if the campaigners have learned anything from what has been happening lately.

There are a few people around here for whom I have a great respect in relation to their political instincts.

From them and from my own conclusions I have reluctantly reached the belief that the general election will come next year.

Reluctantly because I cannot at the moment see how a Prime Minister with the enormous majority Mr. Diefenbaker enjoys — and with the comparatively successful nature of his administration — can find a justifiable issue on which to ask for dissolution of Parliament.

It would be hard to envision Governor General Vanier refusing the advice of the Prime Minister if Mr. Diefenbaker asked for dissolution.

But I am sure Mr. Diefenbaker wouldn't ask for it unless he had a good and unquestionable reason.

Right now I cannot imagine what that reason will or could be. But such things can be found or managed.

To go further out on the limb I will suggest that, perhaps before these words appear in print, the prime minister will have announced a November opening of Parliament.

And the feature of that fall session will be a massive and dramatic attack on the unemployment and economic problem. And that next summer, early spring probably, Mr. Diefenbaker will put it all up to the people.

And probably he will get a majority if he does that. But he and all politicians would be wise to think about what they say to the people in the next campaign.

Ever since I can remember smart politicians have seemed to assume that they can tell the people on the hustings any thing. Just say it dramatically and smartly and they will believe.

My contention lately has been that the people in the back concessions—the people everywhere—are too smart for that sort of thing.

In New York this past few days the whole world has witnessed the practice of the "fool the people" idea carried to the ultimate.

The speeches of Mr. K and Mr. Castro at the United Nations, with an unprecedented world audience by sound and picture, were milestones in our history.

Who would have believed 20 years ago that the whole, literate world would have listened in fear and trembling to such rantings, such deliberate ignoring of truth and logic and decency, as were uttered by those two swashbuckling accidents of our time?

With that exhibition in their minds how can any Canadian politician take the hustings without the conviction in his heart that the people must not be fooled—that they cannot be.

Next year, or later if I am wrong, we should be able to look for a new type of political campaigning.

—mostly women. There were 1,123 in 1959-60, but only 221 of these were adults electing to take the step for reasons other than marriage.

EAST OVERBOARD ON SUIT CUE

The bidding of today's hand might be called exotic. North and South were using weak two bids and got to a very doubtful game which West doubled.

The ten of diamonds was opened and dummy's ace won the trick. The queen of diamonds was played next and South ruffed East's king. West played the four!

The jack of hearts held the next trick. West won the next heart lead and played a third round of trumps. East's two discards were a diamond and the three of clubs. Now South discarded a spade on the jack of diamonds and eventually lost two clubs and a spade to get out for down one.

Had East hung on to that little club South would have had to go down one more for a two trick loss.

East's play was wrong, but he explained by saying that he read his partner's play of the diamond four at trick two as a suit preference play to indicate strength in clubs.

West's emphatic reply was that he thought East could use the services of a bridge doctor if one could be found and I have to agree with West. East was just suit preference happy.

Director of Industrial Clinic returns from overseas journey

By DOROTHY DAIGNEAU (Record Correspondent)

THETFORD MINES. — Dr. Paul Cartier, Director of the Thetford Mines Industrial Clinic, has returned from a trip of a duration of some five weeks, during the course of which he visited France, Belgium, Finland, East and West Berlin, Australia and Russia.

The main purpose of this trip was to attend the Sixth International Congress of the Diseases of the Chest, held at Vienna, Austria. Over 3,000 specialists from some 80 countries attended this congress.

Throughout these various countries, particularly in France and Germany, the cause of the miners is a very real one for in the vicinity of Douai and Calais there are around 125,000 miners while in the Valley of the Ruhr, in Germany, there are approximately 385,000. Research institutes for industrial pulmonary diseases are devoting time and money on research seeking ways and means to prevent these industrial diseases, Dr. Cartier said.

Following such visits, it becomes more and more evident that medical research is very necessary, perhaps costly but certainly useful although not always showing immediate results, he said.

Of the group of specialists, 22 visited Russia. At Moscow Dr. Cartier came away with the impression that the Medical Academy, as in other Academies of Science is performing wonderful work. But, he said, in other fields, for instance, in the hospitals and at the Institute of Industrial Hygiene, at Moscow, which looks after the labourer's problems for all of Russia, the techniques and standards do not measure up to the other countries visited, especially as compared to the high standards found in the United States and Canada.

Dr. Cartier is becoming pretty much of a world traveler. Two years ago he visited Japan, India, Burma, Pakistan, Greece and Turkey. Previous to this he attended the Third International Congress of Experts on Pneumonia, in Australia.

Asks contractors pool resources

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec contractors should pool their capital to bid for $30,000,000 contracts, Public Works Minister Rene Levesque said Thursday night.

Mr. Levesque, in a dinner address to the Quebec Contractors Association, said the provincial government now must do the work itself or hire outsiders to handle larger contracts because Quebec contractors cannot handle them.

He said Quebec could subsidize firms, thus helping them grow, but the danger of paternalism had to be avoided. Monopoly was another danger that might result if the government gave large contracts to a firm it subsidized.

The best course was for private enterprise to unite.

Macmillan to visit Ottawa. Dieffenbaker said he was confident Macmillan would be able to accept.

External Affairs Minister Howard Green flew to Ottawa Friday night. He said that the neutralist resolution for an Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting may be discussed at a cabinet meeting today.

The minister also said he plans to return to the United Nations Wednesday and Canada intends to co-sponsor a resolution for newly-independent Nigeria's admission as the 99th member of the UN.

A SPECIAL SESSION

Meanwhile, the assembly meets today in a special session.

It is scheduled to give final approval to the agenda for this 15th meeting. Some explosive items will come before the 98 nations.

They include the question of seating Communist China, Soviet actions in Hungary, and a Russian-sponsored item charging United States aggression.

In other actions in the UN Friday:

ADDERLEY —

Miss Lorraine Kelso, of the Three Rivers High School teaching staff, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Kelso.

Guests at the Kelso home were Mrs. Wm. Porter and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Porter Jr. and family, of Thetford Mines.

LIBBYTOWN —

Mrs. E. F. Hovey accompanied by Mrs. G. N. Thompson, of Moose Jaw, Sask., Mrs. Rose Thompson and Mrs. Ruth Waite, of Ayer's Cliff, took Miss Vivian Richardson to St. Johnsburg, Vt., to meet her friend, Lady Learmouth, from Scotland. While in St. Johnsburg, Miss Richardson and Mrs. Thompson also visited their cousin, Mrs. Robert Hallett.

AROUND THE CAMPUS

especially among members of the long-suffering hockey team.

Studies are definitely taking a back seat these days, if a quick look at Bishop's host of bulletin boards is any indication. Notices are up and fluttering for the History, Business, Biology, Photography and Chess Clubs, the Film and Samaritan (Goodwill) Societies and the NEFUS committee; dances and dramatics have begun, movies are being shown and the Deep Purples are practicing hard; even The Campus, the college's weekly newspaper, made its yearly debut to rave notices.

At 1:30 this afternoon, "General" Terry Guest, in charge of freshman introduction, will marshal his fresh troops for a paper drive in Lennoxville. Guests irregulars will be working with Lennoxville's Cub and Scout troops, and will turn all proceeds of the sale over to them.

In a rush of whirlwind oratory and rhetorical questions, the Government Thursday night carried the resolution: "Resolved that the United States is a greater threat to world peace than the U.S.S.R." An enthusiastic, overflow crowd of 130 students applauded the University's first debate of the year.

Under the prudent eye of Speaker Paul Jones, majestically ensconced in a red plush chair from the Quebec legislature, Prime Minister Rev. R. D. Crouse, External Affairs Minister Jon Wisenthal and Defence Minister Dorothy Gilmeister soundly denounced the U.S.

Rev. Crouse abhorred the peace-threatening state of panic presently affecting the American mind. Miss Gilmeister maintained the U.S. economy was based upon production of war materials; she also had fun comparing Richard Nixon with Benito Mussolini—only Nixon couldn't speak Italian. Mr. Wisenthal, apparently the last of the big-time orators, ranted on well past his time limit against the atmosphere of fear he accused the U.S. of fomenting in the world.

Against this Government broadside, the Opposition mustered the arguments of Dr. D. D. Smith, Miss Allison Bews and David Bassett.

Dr. Smith condemned the violent recent historical actions of the U.S.S.R. both at home and abroad. Miss Bews pointed out that the U.S. had always supported peaceful ideals and the Communists aggressive ones. Mr. Bassett debunked Khrushchev's claim that the Soviets had shot down the U-2; he informed the audience that a case of Scotch whiskey had remained in the plane unbroken, and thence deduced sabotage before takeoff.

The Prime Minister's rebuttal urged the House to forget history and vote for the Government. The House obligingly did just that.

"It was brains vs. brawn," said one member of the football team, summing up Wednesday night's exhibition game against the Granby intermediates. Unfortunately, brawn—in the person of Granby—prevailed, and Bishop's gridders were narrowly defeated 14-13 in their first outing this fall.

Hard hit by injuries which had sidelined practically the whole starting backfield, including perennial star Bob Stevenson, Bishop's gave a fighting display against a much heavier Granby squad. Behind 14-0 after the first half, they rallied to within one point with two minutes to play, but just couldn't make it.

Bruised linemen now have a week to recover before meeting a strong Loyola outfit in Montreal next Friday under the lights, their first Ottawa-St. Lawrence League encounter this season.

Soccer-wise, the Croziers, captained by Mike Falvell, travel to Macdonald College today for an exhibition tilt with that "without a return to negotiation, we cannot hope to arrest the arms race or to begin the process of disarmament."

Sniping at Khrushchev, Dieffenbaker said Soviet actions threatened the very existence of the UN. Compared to President Eisenhower's "wise and conciliatory" speech last week, he said, Khrushchev's constituted a "gigantic propaganda drama."

NASSER'S PROPOSAL

Premier Castro of Cuba complained before the assembly Monday that he and his UN delegation had been mistreated while in New York, being isolated under the pretext of security. Two days later, Castro flew home to Havana aboard a Russian aircraft.

President Nasser of the United Arab Republic also had his day at the UN during the week and presented a demand for a summit meeting on disarmament between Eisenhower and Khrushchev.

Khrushchev, at about the same time Tuesday, proposed bringing neutrals into new disarmament negotiations on the basis of the 10-nation East-West disarmament committee that had met in Geneva.

Early the next day the General Assembly's 21-nation steering committee handed Khrushchev a pair of setbacks by recommending not to discuss the admission of Red China to the UN at this session and by disregarding a Soviet proposal to debate "aggression" in the Congo.

Khrushchev also appeared to have lost out in his drive to muster support for the removal of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

In France, movie actress Brigitte Bardot despaired of it all and took an overdose of sleeping pills Thursday. Acquaintances blamed the "sex kitten's" marital troubles. Found near death, she was kept alive by doctors and was later reported out of trouble physically.

AFRICAN NOTES

Independence neared for Nigeria, the largest of Britain's remaining colonies, and its coming was celebrated on the streets of Lagos, the capital. No difficulties were forecast such as those experienced when the former Belgian Congo became self-governing.

The troubled Congo was relatively quiet during the week as army strongman Joseph Mobutu apparently remained in control, although the deposed Patrice Lumumba maintained he was still the premier.

President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana was said to have sent Lumumba a letter giving him pointers on how to deal with "imperialists" and to make use of his enemies in regaining control. Mobutu intercepted the letter.

SUTTON

Bishop Dixon was here for a confirmation service and was a guest of Rev. and Mrs. M. Brett at the rectory.

Mrs. Wedge, who was on the High School staff two years ago, has returned as an instructor.

Spending $9 million at universities

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Research Council spent a record $9,370,000 in support of research at Canadian universities during 1959-60, it was announced today. The figure was up $2,620,000 from 1958-59 and $6,250,000 higher than 1955-56.

"This growth rate has been dictated by rapidly increasing student enrolments and the resulting expansion of staff and research facilities in the universities," the council said.

Its report covered the 43rd year of the council's research foundation program.

Mac's Eastern Canada collegiate champions. The game will test whether or not Bishop's is ready for full-scale inter-collegiate soccer.

With the new term less than a week old, more than 200 slightly bemused resident male students—dutifully filed into Bishop Williams Hall on Monday, Sept. 18, to hear Barry Wansborough offer to resign as president of the Student's Executive Council.

Mr. Wansborough felt that unauthorized hazing of freshmen, contrary to both SEC and administration policy, indicated a lack of confidence in him. He said there was no point in his holding office without the students' support. Consensus at the meeting was that the president's resignation would do little to solve either present or future problems.

Last night the redoubtable Mr. Wansborough presided over the year's first meeting of the Students' Association. Formation of a student police force, similar to that operated at Queen's University, is being considered. This will empower certain students to keep order at all University functions.

"A GATHERING OF SHOREBIRDS"

"A GATHERING OF SHOREBIRDS" is an unusual sight in the vicinity of Sherbrooke. The Spotted Sandpiper, present in small numbers all along our rivers and the equally familiar Killdeer Plover of the fields, together with the less well-known Woodcock and Wilson's Snipe, are the only members of the large shore bird families that nest in our area. Any others found here receive the immediate and close attention of birdwatchers. Last weekend the large dense "island" of submerged and barely floating vegetation at the point where the Magog River empties into Lake Magog (Little Lake) was devoid of bird life. One week earlier, however, forty one shore birds had gathered on the same patch of vegetation and the weekend mail had brought a pre-publication notice of the Devin-Adair Company's book, "A Gathering of Shore Birds."

One of the most interesting features of this new book, rated as a blend of the scientific and the popular approach, is the fact that it has been written by a man who started out strictly as a gunner of shore birds in the 1890's during an era when many species seemed well on the way to extermination, a man who followed these wading birds from his youth onwards, but also a man whose view of the shore bird gradually changed. Dr. Henry Marion Hall is now an active conservationist, president of the Audubon Society of Rhode Island. His book, supplemented with additions by a professional ornithologist and illustrated by one of the better bird artists in the United States, will tell the story of the seventy distinct species of North American shore birds, birds ranging in size from the great Long-billed Curlew and the beautiful Avocet to the tiniest of sandpipers, five species of which are collectively called "peeps" because of their peeping calls and the difficulty in telling which is which.

Approximately a dozen of the eastern species breed in the arctic and nearly all of these, plus a few others, winter as far south as or even almost exclusively in South America. All but our few resident species pass through our latitude twice a year sometimes to pause for weeks when conditions are favorable, although it is more likely that the stay of an individual bird in any area is generally for a shorter period of time and often it is very fleeting indeed. On the Atlantic coast the fall migration is nothing short of spectacular with two or three peaks of abundance during a two month period just ending now in the vicinity of New York City. In suitable locations along the coast one may see thousands upon thousands of shore birds,

PASS THROUGH AREA

Sandy or muddy flats and gravelly shores are the main stopping places for the migrating shore birds. The lower St. Lawrence affords many such areas as do the shores of the entire Great Lakes system. In the vicinity of Sherbrooke there are few spots attractive to these migrants, yet many must pass through the area and occasionally they drop down in small numbers. The heavily-wooded Connecticut Lakes district of Northern New Hampshire is a particularly poor district for them but a few years ago, when Black Lake was drained preparatory to the chemical killing of its coarse fish, Conservation Officer Fred

Scott found surprising numbers of various shore bird species resting and feeding there for many days on the exposed lake bottom. It appears, then, that they will pause wherever there is adequate food. And so they gathered, inconspicuously, the week before last at the head of Lake Magog. We spotted them only by chance as we happened to look over the "floating island" for ducks and grebes. The most obvious was a single Lesser Yellowlegs, its body robin-sized, its yellow legs very long, its upper parts finely patterned with white, grey and black. As it sought food among the water weeds one injured wing, unfolded, drooped stiffly to water level as long as we watched the group. The injured wing had carried it from the far north and might well bear it to its probable destination in South America. The winter range is from Florida to southern Argentina. The remaining forty specimens, picking food at a remarkable speed as they criss-crossed on their watery "meadow" were all "peeps", probably Semipalmated Sandpipers, six inches in length from tip of tail to tip of bill, but even with a telescope it was impossible to identify them with certainty. Without the accompanying Yellowlegs we would probably have missed the group entirely. Although this group of wading birds has gone, others may possibly be seen here and there as they retreat before the advancing winter following their hurried breeding season in the brief summer of Canada's far north.

Sunday Sermon Subject
 True power as belonging to God, not to matter, will be a major theme at the services in all the Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Unreality." Scriptural selections will include the following from Psalms: "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea."
 Relevant passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "Erring power is a material belief, a blind mis-called force, the offspring of will and not of wisdom, of the mortal mind and not of the immortal."

Women's Groups

YWCA LADIES' AUXILIARY
 The first fall meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the YWCA was held at the home of Mrs. A. Williams, Elgin St., with the president, Mrs. D. Knapp, in the chair.
 Business included routine reports and the announcement that the annual Tag Days would be held on October 28 and 29. It was also decided to discontinue the Nearly New Shop.
 A committee was appointed to purchase new drapes for the Y.W.C.A. dining room.
 The new slate of officers will be nominated at the October meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. G. Robson, Ball St.
 Following adjournment, refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Clarence Foley and Mrs. Fred Pettigrew.

CANADIAN PAINTER

Emily Carr, Canadian painter and writer, made her first drawing—a dog—at the age of eight.

MISS FLORA MAY LAMOTHE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lamothe of Mansonville, and MR. ROBERT LYNNE NORWAY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Norway of Newport Centre, Vt., whose engagement is announced. The wedding will take place at the Mansonville United Church on Saturday, October 29.

Personals

Mrs. Gordon Budning and Miss Joan Davidson entertained on Tuesday evening at the home of the latter on Arras St., in honor of Miss Patricia Bray, an October bride-to-be.
 On her arrival, the guest of honor was greeted by her hostesses and presented with a lovely corsage after which she was led to a decorated chair in the living room where a number of friends awaited her.
 Games were played during the evening after which the bride-elect was presented with two baskets filled with gaily wrapped miscellaneous articles for her new home. After the gifts had been opened Miss Bray graciously thanked her friends for the delightful evening and the lovely gifts.
 Refreshments were then served by the hostesses, Mrs. Alton Bray, mother of the bride-to-be, and Mrs. J. Lessard, the mother of the prospective groom, presiding at the lace covered tea table attractively arranged with pink and white carnations and pink tapers in silver holders.
 Friends of Mr. Clayton McNab will regret to learn that he is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, where he was taken following an accident.

Card party held by Mothers' Guild

The annual card party sponsored by the St. Patrick High School Mothers' Guild was held at the school on Tuesday when approximately 300 persons were present.
 Reverend Father R. Quenneville, Director of the School, welcomed the guests and thanked all the donors.
 In the course of the evening, three items were raffled and the lucky winners were Mrs. E. Cotter, Mrs. G. Owen and Mrs. Dixie Brooks. Door Prizes were won by Mrs. Hercule Gagne, Mrs. W. Webb, Mrs. J. A. Stewart, Betty Drury, Mrs. Jean Langlois, Mrs. Armand Turmel, Mrs. Wilma Gingras, F. Sheridan, Mrs. Darold Giroux, Mrs. Allan Roarke, Miss Helen Fitzgerald, Mrs. Blanche Baldwin, Mrs. A. Turcotte, Mrs. Dixie Brooks, Mrs. A. Chamberland, Mrs. Albert Croteau, Mrs. L. Clement, Mrs. Heloise O'Bready, Mrs. Arthur Bessie, Ida Allen, Mrs. Roch Boulet, Mrs. A. Aury and Mrs. R. Dionne.
 Refreshments were served under the convenship of Mrs. H. Blain. The success of the card party was due to the kind support of the public and the joint effort of a group of members under the able leadership of the president, Mrs. Lucien Latulippe. Mrs. Armand Lacharite was in charge of tickets, Mrs. Jean Beaulieu looked after the raffle, the soft drinks department was run by Mrs. O. C. Smith, Mrs. Edgar Martin was responsible for the coffee. A group of school boys were on hand and were of great assistance. Reverend Father Quenneville's cooperation was also appreciated by all the mothers.

L'ville lady golfers elect officers

Members of the Ladies' Branch of the Lennoxville Golf Club elected Miss Norma Beattie as their president at the annual meeting held on Thursday night at the club house.
 Outgoing president, Mrs. Wesley M. Elliott chaired the meeting and called for reports of the various committees. Included in these was Mrs. M. Covey's report of the tea convenship, which showed 17 successful teas and bridges had been held. Entertainment had consisted of dinners and teas on invitation days and the Wednesday night games, though the weekly games were often postponed due to out of town invitation days falling on Wednesday.
 The president then called on Mrs. A. Remillard, captain, to report on activities during the season. Before listing trophy and prize winners, Mrs. Remillard expressed the appreciation of the members to Mrs. R. Couston for the honor brought to the club in her winning the Ladies' Eastern Township Championship.
 Mrs. Remillard thanked the executive and members for their splendid co-operation during the year, for without it, said Mrs. Remillard, the season's success could not be obtained.
 The captain then presented trophies and 26 prizes to the winners. The Club Trophy was won by Mrs. Guy Smith and the Wright Trophy by Miss Pauline Cote. Mr. Routhier presented the Conway and Conway trophy to Miss Kay Thompson and Mr. S. Hart, the Hart Trophy to Miss Constance Roy.
 Before vacating the chair, Mrs. Elliott extended her sincere thanks to her executive and the members for their splendid co-operation during her two years in office. She made special mention of Mrs. Remillard, who as captain, had done such an excellent job, and to the bridge conveners Mrs. L. Jenne and Mrs. C. Beaudreau. She then asked Miss Frances Macdonald to take the chair for the election of officers.
 Miss Macdonald called on Mrs. S. Cohen, chairman of the nominating committee to present the slate of officers for 1961. To act with Miss Beattie as president the officers are: Honorary president, Mrs. C. L. Hall, past president, Mrs. W. M. Elliott, 1st vice-president, Miss Florence Clark; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. G. Smith, secretary-treasurer, Miss Mildred Pollock, captain; Mrs. R. Couston, tea convener, Mrs. G. Harmer, house committee; Mrs. L. P. Leveque, membership convener, Mrs. D. Gillet and entertainment, Mrs. J. Turnbull.
 Mrs. Norman Flint, on behalf of the members, thanked the outgoing officers and conveners for the success of the past two years. Mrs. C. L. Hall added her thanks, also expressed her appreciation for the honor of being given a life membership in the club.
 Miss Beattie then took the chair and in the brief business session that followed it was de-

New novel no Flower Drum Song

MADAME GOLDENFLOWER — C. Y. LEE — AMBASSADOR BOOKS — $4.95 — Mr. Lee has three other books to his credit among them "THE FLOWER DRUM SONG" — and because of that play's recent popularity I looked forward to reading "MADAME GOLDENFLOWER" by the same author.

I feel I must accept much of the blame myself for my disappointment in this book partly because I am so unfamiliar with the history of China, and mostly because I have never been enthusiastic about stories of gruesome and bloody battles. And I do realize that had there been no battle Mr. Lee would have had no material for his book, for the very plot itself leans heavily on the period of the Boxer Rebellion in China.

But in spite of this I did think the story of the rebellion was too prolonged and involved — even for readers who thrive on such. I even reached that point where I found myself searching ahead for chapters about "The Empress Dowager" and "Goldenflower" — two fascinating women characters in the book — in an effort to escape further exhausting and tedious accounts of the weary battle.

But there was one thing about the book that I did and that was its oriental flavor. Tea-houses had such delightful names as "The Garden of Chrysanthemums" and "The Phantom Palace." Furnishings included carved ivory, peacock fans, decorated snuff bottles and many other fascinating things. Menus were sometimes composed of lotus seeds, dried shrimps, shark's fin, birds nests, octopus — all of these considered rare delicacies. All this gave to the book a certain unusual appeal.

C. Y. LEE

To elaborate further in this review would entail giving a resume of the plot. At the risk of being accused of harping, that would mean stirring up details of the rebellion again, and having become 'rebellion super-saturated' I just lack the courage.

Apart from the previously mentioned oriental flavoured quality of the book, I myself found nothing in it to classify it as other than mediocre fiction.

HAZEL HALL

2nd volume of letters of D.C. Scott

MORE LETTERS OF DUNCAN CAMPBELL SCOTT Second series — by Arthur S. Bourinot, 104 pages . . . Privately printed. . . $2.50—Those who read my review of the first volume of the Duncan Campbell Scott letters will recall that I mentioned that Arthur S. Bourinot had had to select the first collection of letters from a larger and more complete volume which he had hoped to publish but couldn't, due to lack of finances.

I am happy to report that since that time the Canada Council has given Mr. Bourinot a grant which has led to this second volume—a book I have just read with a great deal of pleasure.

As might have been expected—with a Canada Council grant safely behind him Mr. Bourinot has been able to produce a much more imposing book in this second series of letters.

Unfortunately the letters themselves do not come up to the standard of those in the first volume however that is understandable since due to the financial situation at that time Mr. Bourinot was by no means sure that all the letters would ever see the light of day so he had to choose the best for his first volume. One thing is certain, the two volumes together make a splendid contribution to Canadiana.

While I do not consider these letters as interesting as those in the first volume, I must say I did delight in the contemporary tone of this second volume where Scott makes such casual references to familiar figures, places and events.

Though I mentioned in my review of the first book that Scott had a connection with the Eastern Townships, I neglected to mention that he was a graduate of Stanstead College.

MORE LETTERS OF DUNCAN CAMPBELL SCOTT is recommended to all those who are interested in writing and writers—for such obvious reasons as the fact that Scott was a former president of the Canadian Authors Association and a supporter of the Writers Foundation. It is also highly recommended to anyone with an interest in our Canadian literary heritage. GLADYS TAYLOR.

A facet of the Civil War

THE MONITOR AFFAIR . . . Clarence Budington Kelland . . . Dodd, Mead & Co. Ltd. . . . $4.00 . . . 218 pp — This is a story of one facet of the American Civil War, of the development of the first ironclad warship for use in naval engagements.

In addition to actual history the book offers a mixture of adventure and mystery with espionage, murder and romance thrown in for good measure.

We meet a forerunner of Mata Hari in the beautiful Carlotta Ouverard, formerly of Louisiana and now of New York City, who when the story opens is established in her New York flat and is acting as chaperone and hostess to her niece who is caught in the outbreak of war and can't get back to the family plantation in Louisiana.

The aunt, Madame Ouverard, is of course more than just a charming Southern lady, she is also a slave-runner and a spy, interested more in making money than in idealistic motives in the pursuit of her career.

These two women become acquainted with two Swedish scientists, one an established inventor and the other his apprentice, and from the acquaintance there ensues sabotage to the war effort, and murder.

The book is short and can be read in a couple of hours. I venture to say that it seems unlikely that it took Mr. Kelland much longer than that to write it.

If what you hope to find in a book is an adequate time-killer, you may be perfectly satisfied with this novel, which is on a par with any grade B movie, but if your standards are higher than that, better pass it up and wait for something more worthwhile to come along. ELIZABETH CAMPBELL.

Grocer invades the record business

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto grocer with an ear for music has formed his own record company.

Jim Joseph 37, who operates the corner store in suburban Mimico established by his father, has brought out his first record, a 45 r.p.m. disc featuring the singing of a 16-year-old high school cheerleader.

He has invested some $5,000 in setting up Scroll Records and has cut 5,000 copies of songs by Lee Carson, a blue-eyed blonde student at Oakwood Collegiate.

The songs, with orchestral accompaniment by John Arpin, are Two Hearts in Love by Ray Gould of Toronto and Never Saw the World Look Better by Jim Deris and Gino Matteo, also of Toronto.

"But no matter what happens to the record, I'm going to keep right on selling groceries," says Joseph, aware of the precarious nature of the recording business. "After all I know that people must eat. I'm not sure how badly they need recordings."

The real name of his protegee is Wanda Cygan but Joseph felt Lee Carson would be an easier name for record buyers to remember.

Joseph has been interested in music for years and had previously coached several young singers who have gone on to varying degrees of success in nightclubs, radio and television.

Forming his own record company had long been in the back of his mind but it wasn't until he heard Wanda sing that he felt confident enough to invest the time and money.

NATURAL EAR Bandleader Arpin describes Joseph as a man with a "natural untrained ear."

"He's picked up so much about popular music in the past 10 years that he's become one of the most gifted musical coaches I know."

Joseph has hopes of seeing Lee

By GLADYS TAYLOR

Last week as some of my readers may recall I wrote about THE DENATURED NOVEL quoting Nostrand's assertion that "commercial exploitation is ruining the American Novel."

I was rather struck this week in reading MORE LETTERS OF DUNCAN CAMPBELL SCOTT, reviewed elsewhere on this page, to realize that this feeling of being exploited existed in the minds of writers long before our Mr. Nostrand made a case of it. In fact the feeling probably existed as far back as the Greeks, but Scott only takes us back to 1913. At this time he was writing to his friend Pelham Edger about a new poet John Masefield who was then beginning to loom on the literary horizon. He wrote:

"Have you read Masefield's new poem in the ENGLISH REVIEW - I must say it's turgid - is confused - has passion, that's its chief merit. Evidently hurriedly written. O the market how many good things it spoils! This young man should let his wine lie on the lees for sometime - here he goes pouring it off, half-matured, because the Public has run after him a bit and told him that his wine has a tang like - it's a great temptation but the poet who knows and loves his art will be distrustful of the sound of the money bags and the cries of the editors and will refrain and compose his poems before he utters them."

"O the market how many good things it spoils!" Is there need for Nostrand or myself to add more after Scott has summed it up in a sentence like that?

At the recent First Annual General Meeting of the Readers' Club of Canada, three new members were added to the Club's Board of Directors. They were Dr. Lorne Pierce, recently retired Editor of the RYERSON PRESS, Mr. W. R. Carroll, recently retired vice-president of Canada Packers and R. A. Best, Toronto Attorney. Dr. J. R. Kidd, Director of the Canadian Association for Adult Education, remains as Chairman of the Board.

Among members of the Canadian Authors Association who merit congratulation for recent successes are Montreal writers Helen Howes with an article in TRAVEL MAGAZINE and H. Gordon Green who has made the pages of the READERS DIGEST again. Marjorie Freeman Campbell of Hamilton has an article in MACLEAN'S MAGAZINE while Dr. Bruce Fergusson of Halifax has had the honor of being appointed chairman of the federal Historic Sites and Monuments Board.

Mrs. W. H. Boomhour of Waterloo, Que., in answer to an item I wrote several months ago about the lore in old books writes, "I have brought to light a few old cookbooks of 1880 or thereabouts which have some amusing overtones. For instance a paragraph in one is called HOW TO EXTINGUISH FIRE IN FEMALE DRESS. While it is possible that a fire in the female dress of the 1880's which included ankle-length skirts, at least two heavily ruffled petticoats, long heavy stockings and high boots, might have caused a fire hazard, I'm not sure that what her sister of 1960 wears would even start a small blaze!"

EXCHANGE CONSTABLES SOUTHEND, England (CP) — Six French gendarmes went on duty in this Essex resort this month, while six British policemen patrolled streets in Calais under an exchange scheme between the two towns.

Pictorial salute to Paderewski

At Washington, D.C., on Oct. 8, two stamps in the Champion of Liberty format will be released to honor Ignacy Jan Paderewski, world famous Polish pianist, composer and ardent patriot.

Poland will also issue a special Paderewski stamp on Sept. 26, the centenary of the birth of the artist who was born in 1830 and died in 1941.

The U. S. stamps are based on a photograph of a stamp design, a drawing of a medallion and a drawing of a ribbon, spray of leaves and torch, which were furnished by the Post Office Department. The four-cent value will be printed in blue on the Cottrell presses in panes of 70, and the eight-cent value will be printed in panes of 72 on the Glori presses in red, blue and ochre.

The Polish stamp featuring a likeness of Paderewski at the piano will be printed from steel engravings by the State Printing Office, Warsaw. The stamp is designed by Jerzy Desselberger, with a value of 2.50 zlotys, equal to about 10 cents U.S.

Paderewski was born at Kurylowka in Russian Poland and went to Warsaw at the age of 12 to study music and the piano. At 16 he made his first concert tour in Russia. Later he taught at the conservatory in Warsaw, studied in Berlin and Vienna and made his debut at Vienna in 1887 and at New York in 1892.

He devoted much time to the cause of Polish independence and during World War I financed a committee to aid Polish war victims and urged Polish-Americans to support President Wilson's policies. After Poland's independence he was one of the delegates at Versailles and signed the peace treaty.

In 1919 he was premier and minister of foreign affairs in Poland but his disagreement with Pilsudski forced him to resign. Until 1922 he was Polish delegate at the League of Nations.

He retired to Switzerland but returned to New York in 1940 and died there a year later.

Mitchell School's new combined gymnasium auditorium

Extension reflects new trends

The official opening of the half million dollar extension to Mitchell School will take place on Monday, October 3. Ten new classrooms, a combined auditorium and gymnasium, and a cafeteria constitute the main features of the addition.

Plans for expansion got underway in 1958, and the project was completed three weeks ago. In addition to the work on the new wing, all the classrooms in the original building have been repainted and the Teachers' room has been renovated and refurnished.

These changes have made a tremendous difference to Mitchell School. The ten new classrooms have made it possible for the grades in which there were heaviest congestion to be divided into three groups. Whereas the average number in a class ranged from thirty-six to forty last year, the average number this year is twenty-eight.

The principal of Mitchell School, Mr. George McClintock, feels that the smaller classes will not only allow the teacher to give more attention to the individual but will also produce a corresponding improvement in grades. There are two Grade I, two Grade II, two Grade IV, one Grade V, two Grade VI, and one Grade VII in the addition.

Mitchell School never before had a gymnasium. It now has a combined gymnasium auditorium with a seating capacity of 500. There is a completely equipped kitchen off the gymnasium as well as boys' and girls' locker rooms and showers. There is a large stage at one end with a lighting system adequate for any production. A gallery along one side provides increased seating space.

of brightness and cheerfulness. The railings on the stairs are painted red, the windows on the stairs are dotted with red, green and yellow panels of brick glass which contrast well with the conventional translucent panes. The floors are made up of brightly coloured tiles, and the classrooms either have a blue and green or orange and brown colour scheme.

The cafeteria which is part of the new addition carries out this cheerful colour scheme. It is decorated in yellow and grey and will accommodate 125 children. Off the lunch room is a modern five room apartment for the janitor.

As a result of the expansion program there are now facilities for a music room, and it has been possible for the old lunchroom to be made into a projection room.

To keep the original building and the next extension spotless there is a vacuum system throughout the school. The extension has incinerator chutes and a gadget for cleaning the blackboard brushes. It is entirely fireproof, and the original building has been fitted with a sprinkler system to minimize the fire hazard there.

INTERMEDIATE CIRCUIT BACK ON EVEN KEEL
The Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League will, despite certain rumors, operate this year. It is a shame that Sherbrooke decided last Tuesday to suspend operations but the remaining clubs got together and managed to get the Montreal Meunier Club to join the loop in an effort to keep hockey alive in the Townships.

When President Bob Beaudry explained to the meeting that his group wanted to join Victoriaville on the sidelines it was as though a "bomb" had been dropped in the room. The other clubs just couldn't understand at first what he was trying to say but they finally got the drift and for a few moments it was pretty quiet.

It seemed that Sherbrooke was against Montreal joining the loop, but at that time they weren't in the league and the question on their admittance hadn't been discussed. There had been some talk, at a previous meeting, that they wanted to join but that was all.

If this had been discussed we are sure that Montreal would have been refused as Drummondville was against and we think the rest of the teams would have followed suit if the situation was discussed but it never reached that point.

It is a shame if Sherbrooke decides to stay out of the loop especially after all the hard work which has been done by the local group. We know that a certain number of directors wanted out but why try to kill everything for the rest. We can understand if the team was in the red but for the past few years they always finished on the good side of the ledger.

Sherbrooke first pointed out it would cost them close to $7,000 more with Three Rivers in the loop. Where, and how, they arrived at these figures is hard to explain. After all Three Rivers is only 90 miles from here and it doesn't take more than two and a half hours to make the trip.

It seemed to us that the local group was searching around trying to find excuses to withdraw. Last year some of the directors besieged me to try and expand the league and get more teams in and now when Three Rivers is in, and on their proposition, they wish to pull out.

We understand that a few of the directors want to get out then why don't they do so. They put in $200 to run the team two years ago and since then they haven't been obliged to add to it. We think they want their money back. If this is the case then they should ask the rest of the directors to buy them out. That is simple enough.

The only point we can't understand is why should Sherbrooke, at the other meetings, state they were going to operate and then all of a sudden withdraw. In fact Sherbrooke was the first to deposit their $1,000 bond with the league to fulfill all obligations. This just doesn't make sense. This was the point the teams held against them and they were right.

Nobody is obliged to remain in any league if they think they are going to run into a big deficit. The only thing is they shouldn't wait until the last minute to withdraw and leave the other clubs holding the bag.

As for the case of Victoriaville that is different. Sherbrooke knew the Canadiens stood a slim chance of making it and that was why the league gave them all the extra time to try and iron out their difficulties with the City Council. At least all the teams knew that and that was why we went after Three Rivers to fill in.

We are sure there are plenty of good sports left in Sherbrooke who would be glad to join the club and kick in $200 in order that hockey remains here. This would replace those who wish to withdraw. It was rumored a long time ago by some directors they were going to get out and break up the league.

It is hard to understand why they wanted to do this especially after they worked so hard to build it up. Anyway the time for action has arrived if Sherbrooke is to remain in the picture and Monday evening is the deadline to get back in the battle.

We are sure that if every one gets behind the movement that the Beavers will be back. All this has been poor publicity for our City as the rest of the cities have been blasting away at the "Queen of the Townships" and now is the time to do something to get back in their good graces.

We think if the Beavers drop out of the picture it will be years before Sherbrooke gets back into another league of the same calibre. We belong there. Sherbrooke is the top city of the Townships hence the reason for remaining. So let's get pulling together and put this over.

It takes a little from everyone to make a go of it. The general public must give their support to the club during the season if they wish it to survive. Sherbrooke has always been a "playoff town" but during the season it is bad. If the team is to operate it must be given proper support all season. So how about it? Now is the time to come forward.

Post-Mortem On Canada's Olympic Games Performances Is Scheduled For A Hearing In Toronto In Nov.

The big post-mortem on Canada's Olympic Games performance at Rome is scheduled for a hearing at Toronto in November. There should be all sorts of explanations advanced for the most dismal showing of any Canadian team in the history of the Games.

One thing is fairly certain: Jim Worrall, 46-year-old Toronto lawyer and the team's general manager, will be the most voluble person at the Canadian Olympic Association gathering. As boss of the Canadian operation in Rome, he'll probably have a few things to say that will make delegates ponder.

One subject he plans to bring up is the British government report, released this week, which called for establishment of a sports development council. If approved, it would be empowered to spend about $14,000,000 a year on the improvement of sport in Britain.

Such an undertaking likely would make federal government officials gulp, but they may as well face it. Money is needed to promote amateur sports in Canada and Olympic and other officials say the only source of revenue for such a program is the government.

TRAVEL ASSISTANCE
"I'm all for this British government report," Worrall said in an interview.

A. Sidney Dawes of Montreal, Canadian member on the International Olympic Committee, said he "anticipated some such demand" will be forthcoming from our own Canadian Olympic Association. He called it a "wonderful thing."

The federal government now helps to pay the cost of transporting athletes to and from Olympic, British Empire and Pan-American Games. The COA asked the government for $80,000 to help defray expenses of sending teams abroad in the last year and received $60,000.

"The Canadian government's money is not earmarked for development purposes," Worrall said. "And the COA doesn't use it for such. We use it only to help pay the cost of getting our teams to the various games."

USE SPORTS COUNCIL
The British report called for emphasis on indoor sports and swimming and proposed the construction of more international-standard, all-weather, floodlit athletic arenas. It rejected any idea for a ministry of sport as "foreign" to the British national attitude toward games.

"I think such an organization in Canada would be supported and encouraged," Worrall said. "There already is a vehicle in existence which, with government support, might do the job. That is the Canadian Sports Advisory Council which was set up about 10 years ago."

127 Horses To Take Part In Weekend Racing Cards

Twenty Classes On Program, With Sunday Card Moved To Afternoon, Several New Horses To Compete

A total of one hundred and twenty-seven horses will take part in the weekend cards presented by the Sherbrooke Racing Club at the local track. There will be ten races this evening and tomorrow afternoon at 2:00.

On Sunday the program will be held in the afternoon instead of the evening as in the past. Tonight Post Time is 8:00. Six singles and two double-heat events are on the program.

A "D" Trot and Pace is the main fixture tonight and eight horses are listed to answer the starter's call. Cardinal Prince G, Taylor Win, M. J. Volo, Poplar Dream, Eddie Trow, Alden Cane, Billy C. Lew and Mervin Hal will fight it out in the Fifth and Eighth races. Anyone of these can emerge the winner but Mervin Hal and Poplar Dream are slight favorites.

In the other double event eight horses are entered in the "D" Pace. This class is evenly matched and should be a close battle before the winner crosses the wire ahead of the field.

On Sunday the main event will see Firebug, Eyeana, Isable Truebrooke, Mr. Sand, Crystal Pearl, Sonny McKlyo, Elize Hanover and William West Kyer. This class has at least four who are capable of reaching the wire in 2:10 or better and should be a close fight the whole way.

A total of $2,600 will be at stake in purses for the weekend. This evening $1,350 will be up for the drivers while tomorrow afternoon $1,250 will be the amount the drivers will pick up for the top finishes.

Milwaukee Braves Maul NL Champs, Groat's Return Less Than Success

The return of shortstop Dick Groat was something less than a spirited success for Pittsburgh's National League champion Pirates in their final tune-up for the World Series.

Groat, the sparkplug of the Bucs won their first flag in 33 years, slapped a weak bouncer and was thrown out as a pinch-hitter Friday night as Milwaukee mauled the Pirates and 20-game winner Vern Law 12-2. It was Groat's first at-bat since suffering a broken wrist Sept. 6.

Groat's batting average was shaved to .324, but he stayed on top in the race for the NL bat crown, Runner-up Norm Larker of Los Angeles went 0-for-2 and skidded to .323 although driving in three runs in the Dodgers' 7-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Milwaukee's victory, triggered by Hank Aaron, who hit his 39th and 40th home runs plus two doubles and drove in five runs, assured the Braves of no worse than a tie for second place money with St. Louis. The Cardinals lost 2-1 at San Francisco. Philadelphia beat Cincinnati 7-6 in 14 innings in the other NL game.

Law, manager Danny Murtaugh's choice to start the World Series opener against the Yankees in Pittsburgh Wednesday, was roughed up for 10 hits and eight runs while lasting less than three innings against the first-inning batter he has failed to beat this season. It was his ninth defeat, fourth in his last five decisions after winning eight straight.

San Jones won his 18th with a three-hitter against the Cards. A triple by Orlando Cepeda and a double by Jim Davenport cracked a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning and beat Ray Sadecki (9-9). The Cards scored in the first inning without a hit when leadoff batter Don Landrum walked, stole second and came around on an infield out and a wild pitch.

The Dodgers, setting a National League attendance record at 2,218,936 with a turnout of 14,205 Friday night, had eight hits. One of the first major league homer by catcher Doug Camilli, son of the old Brooklyn star Dolph Camilli.

Sam Jones won his 18th with a three-hitter against the Cards. A triple by Orlando Cepeda and a double by Jim Davenport cracked a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning and beat Ray Sadecki (9-9). The Cards scored in the first inning without a hit when leadoff batter Don Landrum walked, stole second and came around on an infield out and a wild pitch.

Yankees' Pitching Is Still Doubtful As They Barrel Along To The Series

New York Yankees, marking the 33rd anniversary of Babe Ruth's 60th home run by cracking their American League homer mark, have a 13-game winning streak as they barrel along toward the world series.

But they still haven't received a convincing pitching performance from one of manager Casey Stengel's nominees for the starting assignment at Pittsburgh next Wednesday against the National League champion Pirates.

Home runs by Tony Kubek and pinch-hitter Jess Gonder gave the Yankees a season total of 192, bettering the league record they set with 190 in 1956, as they beat Boston Red Sox 6-5 Friday night with three runs in the ninth inning.

Ruth hit his record 60th, off Tom Zachary of Washington Senators at Yankee Stadium Sept. 30, 1927.

NONE A STANDOUT
Of the three likely starters considered by Stengel—Whitey Ford, Art Ditmar and Bob Turley—neither Ford nor Ditmar has been impressive in tuneups. Ford was a winner but gave up five hits, one a home run, and two runs in five innings at Washington Wednesday. Ditmar, the Yanks' top winner with 15, was tagged for five hits and one run in four frames Friday night. Turley (9-3) gets his chance today against Boston.

While the Yankees rolled up the majors' longest streak since they won 13 in 1954, Chicago White Sox tied the idle Baltimore Orioles for second place by beating Cleveland Indians 5-4 in 13 innings on Joe Ginsberg's single.

Detroit Tigers beat Kansas City Athletics 5-3 with four earned runs in the only other league game scheduled.

Four singles and a mental lapse by Rookie second baseman Marion Coughtry of the Red Sox gave the Yankees their runs as they came from behind in the ninth inning.

After singles by Bobby Richardson, pinch-hitter Gil McDougald, Hector Lopez and Roger Maris tied it 5-5 with one out, Lopez trotted in with the winning run as Coughtry passed up a throw to home on Bob Cerv's ground ball and attempted to run down Maris.

Attempts To Bribe College Football Players Fall Through As Police Step In, Gamblers Tipped Off, Escape

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Budín pleaded guilty to the charge and paid a $100 fine and $10 costs.

Police said they might have pressed the bribery case if Leo Harris, Oregon athletic director, had been willing for Bruce to testify. Harris said he would refer the incident to the National Collegiate Athletic Association for investigation.

Robinson said Bruce was approached with the idea of playing poorly so Michigan would win the game by a certain number of points.

Als Faced With Tough Assignment Of Stopping Rote's Deep-Pass Attack; Ticals To Field Two New Players

Jim Trimble's Hamilton Tiger-Cats pad into Ottawa today, hopeful that they've found the claws to carry them into the Big Four football union playoffs.

Only five games of the 14-game schedule remain after today and the Ticats, dead last in the circuit all season, have to come to life fast or be spectators at the three-team playoffs.

In today's other game, Montreal Alouettes are in Toronto seeking to avenge the three losses they've suffered in previous meetings with the Argonauts this season.

Riders and Argos are tied for the league leadership with six wins and two losses each. Als are third with a 3-5 record and Ticats trail with only one win in eight starts.

Coach Trimble will inject some new faces into the lineup in a bid to put his defending champions back on the rails. Bob Jarvis, fifth draft choice of Cleveland Browns of the National Football League last season, and George Scott, former regular with New York Giants of the NFL, have been given the nod. Riders are standing pat on the combination which came up with a 33-21 win over the Ticats in Hamilton last week.

But coach Frank Clair insists he feels no cause for complacency. "They aren't that bad," he said, referring to last week's game when Ticats lost the ball at key times by fumbles and interceptions.

Bookies in Montreal have made Als 10-point underdogs against Toronto, chiefly on the basis of their showing in a 21-9 loss to Toronto last week in Montreal.

Argonauts won't argue with success. Quarterback Tobin Rote will have all his ace receivers in front of him. Dave Mann, rated the best of Argos' pass receivers, likely will get double coverage from Montreal defenders in a bid to stop the big gains Mann has become noted for.

The game will hinge on how well the Montreal defensive setup can handle Rote's deep pass attack.

Deer hunting season in the Eastern Townships starts four weeks from today, it has been announced by the Fish and Game department of the Province of Quebec.

Two zones comprise the E. T. hunting area: Zone A: counties of Huntingdon, St. Jean, Missisquoi, Brome, Shefford, Bagot, Drummond, Sherbrooke, Rouville, Iberville, Marieville, Beauharnois, Chateauguay, Chambly, Vercheres, St. Hyacinthe, Richelieu, and portions of Richmond and Yamaska.

Zone B includes counties of Nicolet, Arthabaska, Wolfe, Compton, Stanstead, Frontenac, Beauce, Megantic, Lotbiniere, Levis, Dorchester, and portions of Richmond, Yamaska, Drummond and Sherbrooke.

In Zone A, hunting for male deer only, from Oct. 22 to Nov. 20. Zone A females and young are protected the year round.

In Zone B, hunting for male, female and young, from Oct. 22 to Nov. 20.

Seasons and bag limits on migratory game birds are as follows for all E. T. counties: ducks and Wilson's snipe, Sept. 24 to Nov. 11; daily limit, six ducks in the aggregate of which not more than one wood duck, eight Wilson's snipe; possession limit quantity 12 ducks in the aggregate, no limit for Wilson's snipe.

It is also forbidden to buy, sell, or offer for sale or to have in one's possession for the purpose of sale any species of partridge, with the exception of Ptarmigan.

Wounded: daily limit, eight; possession limit, 16.

Other birds, including hawks and owls, are protected the year round.

Following are the
