GEORGE LECOUTEUR ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE

The Whole Day Yesterday was Occupied in Selecting a Jury to Try the Case

GREAT LEGAL BATTLE BETWEEN COUNSEL

George LeCouteur was yesterday placed on trial before Judge Boies, in the Criminal Court, on the charge of the wilful murder of his wife.

The first day was taken up with the work of choosing the jury. There was a keen legal battle between the Crown counsel and counsel for the defence over the selection of the twelve men who are to try the case, and it was twenty-five minutes to five last evening when the last juror was finally accepted and sworn in.

The jury as finally selected is as follows:—

1. JOSEPH BELLEAU, JR.
2. JOHN CORRIGAN.
3. NAPOLEON GINGRAS.
4. EDWARD CRANE.
5. THOMAS CRAIG.
6. GUILLAUME GREGOIRE.
7. REGIS LORANGER.
8. EDWARD McDERMOTT.
9. JOHN ALLEYN.
10. ROBERT S. MURPHY.
11. EDWARD FALARDEAU.
12. PIERRE ANTOINE GAUVIN.

When the selection of the jury had been accomplished, Major Davidson, K.C., moved that in view of the length of time which it would take the Crown Prosecutors to lay the case before the jury, the court adjourn until to-day. This view was shared in by His Lordship Judge Boies and an adjournment was made until this morning, when counsel will address the jury in French and in English.

Yesterday's proceedings were of an intensely interesting nature. When the hour for the opening approached the body of the court rapidly filled, and when the doors for the general public were opened there was a general rush of the curious to seek admission to the courtroom. The court adjourned during the session that no more people were to be admitted by the public entrance and as a result at the afternoon session the usually large crowd of spectators back of the partition at the prisoner's box were conspicuous by their absence.

The prisoner LeCouteur was brought into court early, and as he sat in the box previous to the opening of the proceedings, he gazed about the court room, apparently taking a deep interest in all that was going forward. The gray hair and beard and venerable appearance of the prisoner must have awoken feelings of sympathy from all who crowded the court-room at the awful position in which he now stands.

Messrs. L. A. Taschereau, K.C., M. A. Lemieux and L. A. Cannon appeared on behalf of the prisoner, while the Crown was represented by the Crown Prosecutors, Messrs. A. Lachance, K.C., and W. H. Davidson, K.C.

When the case opened the prisoner was told to stand up and it was explained to him that he had the right to challenge any of those chosen to serve on the jury to the number of twenty without giving any reason therefor. The selection of the jury was then proceeded with and the real battle of the day began. Challenges were numerous, and before the morning session ended the entire panel had been exhausted and there were still three jurors to be selected.

Then there was a lengthy argument on the contention of the lawyers of the defence as to the right of the Crown counsel to challenge for cause on the jurors they had stood aside during the going over of the panel in the first instance. This argument was renewed at the afternoon session, when Judge Boies finally decided that the Crown counsel had the right to challenge for cause. A number of interesting incidents cropped up during the selection of the jury, perhaps none more so than when George Neilson and J. Jenkins, who had been summoned as English-speaking jurors, were placed in the box and it was found that neither of them could speak a word of English.

The first juror called was stood aside and then Walter Stevens was summoned. He was challenged for cause by the defence, and in examination stated that he had and had expressed an opinion unfavorable to the prisoner. To Mr. Davidson and Judge Boies he explained that he thought that it would be hard to change his opinion. Two more jurors were ordered to "stand aside," and the first juror, Joseph Belleau, Jr., was secured without objection from either side. Several more were stood aside, when Napoleon Moisan was called, but as he admitted that he believed the prisoner guilty and that it would be unnecessary to produce facts contrary to what he had heard to change his opinion, he was challenged promptly by the defence.

Two more jurors were then secured without objection and Messrs. John Corrigan and Napoleon Gingras went into the box, making three occupants. Some fourteen names of jurors were called one after the other, but all were stood aside or challenged by the defence, Edward Crane, the fourth juror, was selected without opposition, and a little later Thomas Craig was added to the list under the same conditions.

With half the jury complete, John McKen was called. He had heard of the case, but did not know the prisoner, but had formed an opinion that would be hard to change. To the Judge he replied that he knew the difference between street corner gossip and newspaper stories and sworn evidence, but still it would be hard to change his opinion. He was excused. Jurors Nos. seven and eight were then secured in succession in the persons of Regis Loranger and Edward McDermott, there being no objection from either side.

Challenges and orders to stand aside disposed of another dozen or so members of the jury panel and then John Alleyn was accepted as the ninth man in the jury box, both crown and defence offering no objection. The latter, after being sworn in and taking his seat, a little later arose and announced that he was incompetent to serve, as he had formed an opinion, but the Judge asked if, after taking his solemn oath to be guided by the evidence, he was not prepared to make a verdict in accordance with the facts and he declared that he was. The Judge accordingly dismissed his objection.

This was the last juror summoned prior to the exhaustion of the panel, among those challenged for cause being A. Laurie, who had formed an opinion which he thought might bias his judgment, though he would not wish to break his oath by rendering a verdict contrary to the evidence. L. Beller, Jr., had formed an opinion. Had read his papers, but did not think he had discussed the case with anyone. He was, however, challenged by the defence.

Then ensued a legal battle between the defence and the crown as to the latter's right to challenge, which was still in progress when the court adjourned at 12.30. It was resumed when the case was taken up again at 3.30 p.m., and was finally decided by Judge Boies as stated above.

Then began the endeavor to secure the three remaining jurors to complete the jury. The first two jurors called were challenged by the Crown. The next juror summoned was Geo. Van Felsom, and the defence challenged for cause. He stated that he had formed an opinion as to the guilt of the prisoner and had given expression to it. He was not likely to change his opinion. Did not know prisoner nor see the crime committed. His opinion being formed from what he had heard and read in the papers. He could not take the oath with the impressions he had formed.

When the name of Wm. Corcoran was called, the prisoner was seen to despatch a message to his counsel, but whether it had any bearing on the prospective juror's eligibility or not was, of course, unknown, though some of the questions asked him by Mr. Taschereau were somewhat out of the usual run. After acknowledging that he had known the prisoner for some time, he was asked did he ever have a fight with him, to which the juror answered that he certainly did not remember of ever having had any such collision. Did not remember that he had ever struck prisoner in the face or that prisoner had struck him, and was so positive on this point that he would swear to it. He had formed an opinion and it was hard to change his opinion. The juror was not accepted.

The tenth juror was then secured in the person of Robert S. Murphy, neither side objecting.

When the name of Jos. Pepin was called, there was another discussion raised by Mr. Taschereau as to the right of the Crown counsel to challenge more than two French jurors out of the four allowed them. Mr. Davidson said there was no text upon the subject. The Judge coincided with the view of the Crown, and the juror was excused.

After two more witnesses had been challenged, the eleventh juror was secured in the person of Edouard Falardeau. A long discussion then ensued over the choice of Pierre Antoine Gauvin as the twelfth juror, but he was finally accepted by the tryers and the jury was complete.

The fight over the selection of the jury was one of the keenest that has

EVACUATION OF MANCHURIA ACCORDING TO AGREEMENT

Russia and Japan Faithfully Keep Their Promises and China Now Resumes the Control of Her Provinces.

DESPATCHES FROM THE THREE CAPITALS

St. Petersburg, April 15.—Despatches from St. Petersburg, Tokio and Peking show that the evacuation of Manchuria by the Russians and Japanese as agreed to under the Portsmouth treaty and the possession of that vast domain by China has been accomplished under the terms of the agreement between Russia and Japan fixing yesterday, April 15th, as the limit of time for the actual transfer.

The expiration of the 18 months limit for the evacuation of Manchuria by the Russian and Japanese troops was marked by the nomination to day of Russian consuls at Kirin and Tsi-tshar, the last two towns in Manchuria to pass from Russian hands to the Chinese civil administration. The evacuation of the Russian troops was completed March 21st, almost a month ahead of the specified date. An official of the foreign office, commenting to-day on Russia's premature withdrawal, said: "It is a complete justification of Russia's good faith in fulfilling the treaty. It was intimated when the treaty was signed that Russia never would abandon Manchuria, but would find some means of evading her obligations. But the expiration of the stipulated period finds not a single soldier of the Russian military establishment left in Manchuria. The railroad guards approximately 8,000 men as provided for by the treaty, are commanded by General Chigoff and are attached to the ministry of railroads and not to the war ministry. The functions of the guards are confined strictly to the railroad. The policing of the country and the repression of the Chinese bandits have been turned over to the Chinese troops. "Though the final results of the Russian negotiations with China for the re-establishment of the Chinese customs houses and with Japan for treaties of commerce and fisheries which will round out the Portsmouth treaty, have not been attained but negotiations are proceeding satisfactorily." Count Witte, the negotiator of the Portsmouth treaty, has now withdrawn almost entirely from public life, except in the minor role of a member of the Council of the Empire. When questioned to-day regarding the evacuation of Manchuria, he said he was out of touch with diplomatic affairs but the prompt evacuation of the Chinese territory was no surprise to him. He always has been convinced that Russia's promises would be promptly and fully carried out.

Tokio, April 15.—The work of withdrawing the Japanese troops from Manchuria was completed April 8th and China has therefore expressed her hearty appreciation of the fact in a note to the Japanese Government. Baron Goto, the manager of whose company the Manchuria railroad was transferred April 1st, in an interview to-day said: "The last vestige of war in Manchuria has now been removed. Fair play is my guiding principle. In promoting the peaceful development of Manchuria, through which our railway runs, national differences will be entirely ignored. Manchuria will be made a field for the fair competition of all nations. In order that we may carry out this policy, we ask patience on the part of those interested. Remember that the management of the road was only transferred to us on the 1st of the present month. The allowance of sufficient time will insure the relaxation of our plans and we dread nothing more than unfair interference."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Frederick Borden and Hon. L. P. Brodeur, the Canadian representatives to the Colonial Conference, landed in Liverpool from the ss. Empress of Britain at an early hour Saturday morning. Among the Canadians at the landing stage were Messrs. W. L. Griffiths, representing Lord Strathcona, Alf. Jones, the Hon. Clifford Sifton, Captain Kingsmill, and Mr. Barker, secretary of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, who was present for the purpose of renewing an invitation to Sir Wilfrid Laurier to visit Liverpool. The Lord Mayor of Liverpool welcomed the distinguished Canadians.

PEEPS INTO WOMEN'S LETTERS.
If our readers could spend one morning looking through the letters received from all over Canada by the Zam-Buk Co., it would bring home to them with irresistible force the healing virtues of this great household balm. Old women, young women, wives, mothers and even young girls have something to say about how Zam-Buk did this or that good office in their home. Many of these writers give permission to make extracts from their grateful testimony. From these the following were taken at random:

"I was troubled for some weeks with salt rheum in hands and arms and was using a salve which did me little good. On receiving a supply of Zam-Buk I applied it, and it really seemed to act like magic! The itching and burning ceased, and in a few days the skin was clean and healthy." So writes Miss E. A. Butcher, of North Keppel.

"Three boxes of Zam-Buk cured me of Eczema, from which I had suffered a long time." So says Mrs. Gladden, of Mansville, Que.

"Zam-Buk cured a case of blood poison in my family, and I wish to thank you for the great blessing it has proved." Is the effect of a letter from Mrs. Webb, of Dovercourt.

And so one could go on quoting extracts from after extracts, showing how Zam-Buk cures chronic sores, ulcers, abscesses, bad leg, itchy, and blood poison; takes the soreness out of cuts and burns, and grows new, healthy skin over injured or diseased places. All stores and druggists sell at fifty cents a box, or the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, will mail for price.

IS THERE A TREATY DRAFTED?

We may expect the interest of the Canadian public to focus itself shortly on the sayings and doings at the meeting of the Colonial Premiers in London, but at the same time it will not be wise to allow its attention to be altogether diverted from the doings of Ambassador Bryce at Washington, which seem to be enveloped in an amount of mystery which is very far from being reassuring. In spite of the assurances of the British Foreign Office officials that they have had no advice of the drafting of an Anglo-American treaty relating to the unsettled questions between the Dominion and the United States, and the assurance of Canadian Ministers that they are equally ignorant, the Washington press correspondents adhere to their assertion that a basis of a treaty has been agreed on, and to their enumeration of the points to be settled, with a pertinacity that compels the belief that they are right, and the assertion is repeated by the London correspondent of the New York Herald in the following terms:

"It is recognized that probably the most serious and prolonged discussion will follow what the Canadian Prime Minister has to say regarding reciprocity between the United States and Canada, of which he has already given a foretaste in his speech of welcome to the new British Ambassador, Mr. Bryce, in visiting Canada before taking up his duties at Washington. It is quite well recognized here that Mr. Bryce has set his hand to the gigantic task of consolidating peace for a possible millennium between the United States and Canada. According to an influential Canadian now in London, the draft treaty, which is stated by cable to be already drafted in Washington, under which the new commission should proceed to arrange all questions of disputed boundaries, rights of seal fisheries, and the like, which have chronic trouble to the Dominion, will be easy to formulate on paper, but they will be difficult to translate into geography.

The typical Canadian at the present time suspects the United States of a design to employ Mr. Bryce in order to accomplish, with advantage to America, a settlement of all the troubles with Canada in the land frontier, on the Great Lakes, and on the fishing areas of the Atlantic and Northern seas.

But the time, as this influential Canadian says, is not yet ripe for such a settlement, although it is in every way a consummation devoutly to be wished. At the same time it is admitted that Mr. Bryce, by visiting Ottawa so soon, and by taking Canada into his diplomatic confidence, has gone the right way about the task, which, should he accomplish it, will go far toward the making of history in the twentieth century on the North American continent.

The Montreal Witness inclines to the opinion that the assertion may almost be trusted that a treaty has already been drafted, though neither the British Ambassador, nor the British Foreign Office, nor Mr. Fielding may know anything about it, that is to say that one of the parties concerned, the United States to wit, has made up its mind what the treaty shall contain, and expects that it will contain it; "it goes," says our confrere, "all that the United States at present wants to get from Canada. It is the American case in a nutshell, cut and dried in advance." According to this view of the case the treaty-drafting has been done by the American press, which gets at facts supposed to be kept under the seal of diplomatic secrecy, and the modus operandi is thus set forth: "When questions for negotiation with Great Britain concerning Canada are under discussion, everybody knows the United States side of the argument, which they regard as all that is necessary to be known, as it must prevail. What claims Great Britain may have to urge on behalf of Canada, or how an agreement, which means a sacrifice of Canadian interests, may arouse resentment in the Dominion, is not interesting to the news-mongers at Washington. It is therefore an easy task for a clever reporter to array the points of a treaty with Great Britain on Canadian issues, giving to the United States all she claims, with an intimation to Canada that she should be grateful to the Statesmen of the Republic for not asking for more."

It does not therefore appear that any positive agreement has yet been arrived at between the parties concerned, and the new treaty, when it is made, may have a very different complexion to the one assigned to it, but the American views thus disclosed are calculated to create some uneasiness about it here.

The despatch to the New York Herald, from which we have quoted, seems to imply that any attempt to settle up the whole of the questions at issue would be a failure, the time being not yet ripe for such a settlement; but it also seems to intimate that the Canadian Ministers are contemplating some arrangement respecting reciprocity between the Dominion and the United States, which will be brought up by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the coming conference. It does not exactly appear what the conference has to do with the commercial relations between Canada and the United States, and the remarks of Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the subject will be awaited with interest.

THE THAW CASE.

We think that even that section of the public that glazes on scandalous matters such as that lately revealed in the Thaw case, and swallows it down as the frog swallows the fly with a sanctimonious air of unconsciousness, but with a real gusto, will not be sorry to have at least a fleeting space through the failure of the jury to agree. This failure is unfortunate in that it will necessitate a new trial, and the reopening of the evidence, but further proceedings are not likely to obtain the same prominence in the press as did the trial just concluded, except in that portion of it which may and probably will be subsidized - its arouse a mawkish sympathy with the accused. It will no longer interest the public to know how Harry Thaw felt on a given occasion, or how Evelyn Thaw looked, or what were the opinions of the different counsel at different stages of the trial, and as for the facts of the case, and all that led up to them, everything is known that need be known, and the mass of filthy vice revealed is more than sufficient to gratify the most prurient taste. It is not likely, therefore, that any respectable paper will give its former evil prominence to the second edition of the Thaw case, and to speeches of the counsel for the defence which were violations of decency, good taste, and common sense.

Concerning the actual facts of the case, and brushing aside the irrelevant details that were introduced into it, there could be, and indeed there was no doubt as to the commission of the murder, and the identity of the perpetrator; neither could there be any doubt as to the law, which justifies murder only on the ground of self-defence, or excuses it on the sole ground of insanity. There is no such thing in the polity of civilized nations as "the unwritten law" with regard to murder, nor does it recognize the right of any individual to inflict death as a satisfaction for the wrongs, real or alleged of himself, or of another. The utmost extent to which it goes is to admit of the proof of extenuating circumstances in mitigation of the death penalty, and insanity as one of these; but insanity is only held to modify, not to abolish, the punishment which the social system calls for when human life is taken away illegally. The failure of the jury to agree was, however natural and to be expected, not the less on that account a failure of justice.

The Buffalo Express calls it "a mistrial," and says: "No one can be greatly surprised at the disagreement of the jury in the Thaw case, much as this outcome of the prolonged trial is to be deplored. The nature of the defense was such as to make the work of the jury peculiarly difficult. The appeal of Thaw's lawyers was almost wholly to sentiment. The insanity contention was used, as it was in the Strachan case in Virginia, merely as a sort of convenient legal peg on which to hang a plea of justification. The law does not recognize any right of revenge. It justifies murder only on the ground of self-defence or insanity, and as there was no chance to claim self-defence, Thaw's lawyers had to bring out a theory of a kind of momentary insanity. Mr. Delmas made it plain in his summing up, however, that it was the sympathy of the jury, rather than its cold reasoning power, that he relied on. He pictured Thaw as the avenger of a wronged woman and urged on his behalf a justification which is popularly described in the term 'higher law.' It would be difficult to find twelve men some of whom would not be strongly impressed by such a plea. There was an interesting hint at the way the minds of some of the jurors were working in the request made to the court that portions of Mr. Delmas's plea be again read to them. Of course, the court sharply refused, but the denial could not remove the impression among the jurors which prompted the request.

"Since Thaw is to be tried again, it would not be fitting to comment of the general question of what the verdict should have been. The fact, however, that seven of the twelve were for conviction of murder in the first degree probably has given Thaw a better appreciation of the seriousness of his position than he ever had before.

"It will be impossible the next time so to work on the sympathies of the public and, through the public, on the jury. Neither will the people tolerate so long and expensive a trial again. Cold reason is more likely to prevail. Which will be all the worse for Thaw. It is disgusting to think that we must wade through this mass of dirt and stench once more. But it is wise court and a sensible District Attorney can shorten and sweeten the process."

PRESS OPINIONS.

THE BLAIRMORE BUSINESS.—Another has been added to those land transactions which in the West if not in the country generally, must be making Laurier administration and grafting synonymous terms in most minds. The story is simple. There was a dispute as to who had a proper claim to a valuable tract of land. The Department of the Interior ordered an enquiry by one of its homebred inspectors. One of the parties sold out his claim to a Mr. Malcolm Mackenzie, a prominent Liberal, who was also a Liberal candidate for election to Parliament. The inspector, a Mr. Stewart, reported against the claim which Mr. Mackenzie had bought, but another inspector, a Mr. Nixon, who figured in a scandal a couple of sessions ago, reported in favor of it, and the decision of the department was in keeping with the Nixon report. Mr. Mackenzie, as a result, got for about $1,400 land that is variously estimated to be worth from $100,000 to $200,000. The case on its face is of the same nature as the Saskatchewan Valley Land Company and the Galway Ranch Company business, out of which supporters of the Laurier Government made large profits at the expense either of the country or the settlers. Mr. Oliver, in defence of it could only talk about the charges against his department as slanders, and did it in such a way that the Speaker had to call him to order. He really aggravated the situation so far as the Government is concerned, and helped to strengthen the opinion based on the presentation of the case as shown in the papers, that another job had been perpetrated for the benefit of a Government supporter. The country must be getting tired of this sort of thing, even if the stomach of the Liberal majority in Parliament is not.—Montreal Gazette.

FIRST SESSION OF THE COLONIAL CONFERENCE

Premiers Welcomed by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman—He Outlines the Subjects for Discussion

London, Eng., April 15.—The fourth conference between the Premiers of Great Britain's self-governing colonies and the British Colonial Secretary, was opened to-day at the Colonial Office, under the presidency of the Earl of Elgin, Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Reporters are not admitted to the conference, so the public will have to be contented with strictly censored official summaries of each day's proceedings until a blue book on the Conference is issued, some months after its final adjournment.

The Premiers present included Dr. Jameson, of Cape Colony; General Louis Botha, Premier of the Transvaal; Alfred Deakin, the Australian Premier; Sir Joseph G. Ward, Premier of New Zealand; Frederick R. Moore, Premier of Natal, and Sir Wilfred Laurier, Premier of Canada. Premier Sir Robert Bond, of Newfoundland, will arrive in the middle of the week. The Premiers were accompanied by their advisors.

A number of British Cabinet Ministers attended the morning session.

Premier Campbell-Bannerman opened the proceedings with a short address, in which he outlined the subjects for discussion such as preferential trade between the Colonies and Great Britain and among the Colonies themselves, a project providing for a permanent Council; Imperial defence schemes, and immigration, with minor questions like penny postage and naturalization laws. The Premier earnestly expressed the hope that the deliberations would have useful results.

Each of the Colonial Premiers made a brief reply, after which the conference discussed the procedure and adjourned.

Meetings will be held three times a week and they are expected to last at least a month.

A SAD AFFLICTION THE G. T. PACIFIC

Young Boy May Lose His Sight Through Being Hit by a Snowball.

St. John, N.B., April 15.—There is in the General Hospital here a party with a remarkably sad story. Edward Riley, a teamster, while playing with other boys one day, when he was four years old, had sand thrown in his eyes. His eyes were weakened as a result, and one had to be removed. On Thursday last, while Riley was at his work a snowball thrown by a boy found its mark in his remaining eye, and the doctors fear that he may become totally blind in consequence. Riley now can distinguish only light and darkness. The case is more sad as Riley must work to help his widowed mother.

Many Merchants Deceiving Their Lady Customers.

From time to time The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, manufacturers of the popular DIAMOND DYES, receive letters from people residing in the various provinces of Canada, telling of the attempts of retail merchants to induce the ladies to buy weak, adulterated and worthless package dyes when the reliable DIAMOND DYES are asked for.

These efforts of retail merchants to substitute worthless dyes, should be resented by every woman and girl who has a desire to do successful home coloring.

The merchants who try to substitute and deceive the public, do so for the sake of the big profits they receive. Such merchants care little for the comfort and success of their customers.

Successful home dyeing can only be done by the use of DIAMOND DYES, which are all guaranteed to give perfect results in beautiful, bright and never-fading colors.

This month The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, P.Q., will send free to any address new Diamond Dye Booklet and pretty Souvenir Card for baby. You should have them.

Mr. C. M. Hays in the Best Humor Over Its Undoubted Success.

Montreal, April 15.—C. M. Hays of the Grand Trunk Pacific, arrived from Europe this morning in the best of humor. He found the London shareholders quite willing to back him if adverse legislation, such as two cent fares, were put in force.

He states that the Grand Trunk Pacific issued $5,000,000 debentures, which were taken up at 4 per cent. Other corporations are paying as high as 5.

Another interesting point was that 70 per cent of the debentures were taken up by the old shareholders.

Mr. Hays said the work of double tracking between London and High Park will shortly be completed and that the road will be double tracked straight through to Chicago.

THE MONTAGNI DOCUMENTS

Paris, April 14.—The Minister of Justice, M. Guyot-Dessaigne, having officially surrounded the Montagnini documents that contained references to officials of the foreign office, Minister Pichon has decided to submit the case of Edgar Le Marchand, Minister of France, to Central America, to a Council of the Ministry. Three other foreign officials have been requested to furnish explanations of allegations concerning them in this document.

TROUBLE BEGINNING IN TURKEY

Paris, France, April 14.—The Memorial Diplomat says it has learned that the illness of the Sultan of Turkey is rapidly becoming worse and that he is most anxious concerning the revolutionary movement in Asia minor. His advisors see only one hope and that is to provide an exterior diversion in the form of a war with Bulgaria. Trouble with this country would be already broken out but for the Sultan's fear that the Bulgarians who are rapid mobilizers would win the first success and that this would be followed by an insurrection throughout the whole of Asia minor.

In the meanwhile the paper asserts the Turkish reserves are being called out and troops are being hastened to the frontier.

SHOT BY A STRIKE BREAKER

Boston, April 11.—Several disorders the result of clashes between sympathizers with the teamsters' strike, and strike breakers, were reported to the police to-day, but only one case was serious. John J. Caffrey, of New York, was arrested at the strike breakers' quarters, charged with shooting Spiros Poissonos. Poissonos is said to have been standing in a doorway across the street from the headquarters watching a crowd, some of whom were hurling sticks and other missiles at the windows. Three or four shots were fired from the building, it is said, and one hit Poissonos in the mouth, causing a dangerous wound. The police rushed the building and arrested Caffrey as the man who did the shooting. Poissonos was taken to a hospital.

TRYING SITUATION

A Supposed Corpse Jumps Over a Priest's Head and Badly Scars Him.

Constantinople, April 13.—The local newspapers report an incident which although of doubtful authenticity deserves to be rescued from the obscurity which attends most productions of the Turkish press. A local hospital has an annex for lunatics where the milder patients are frequently employed for ordinary menial duties. One of these recently found his way into the mortuary of the establishment and seeing a corpse laid out awaiting burial, hid the body in a convenient place and stretched himself in its place in the most realistic manner and awaited developments. Shortly afterwards a priest entered with the pious purpose of praying for the deceased, but his devotions were interrupted by a fearful yell from the supposed corpse which raised itself and leaped right over the astonished priest. The reverend father collapsed and was found some hours later lying unconscious by the settle from which the body was missing. Its discovery in the cupboard nearly caused another panic, but finally cleared up the mystery.

COULDN'T PASS PURE FOOD LAWS

Numbers of catarrh remedies have been forced off the market by Uncle Sam's New Pure Food Laws. But "Catarrhose" comes through with flying colors, and is guaranteed under the act. Thus establishing this standard remedy in the front rank of remedies that "do cure"; try it for asthma, catarrh or bronchitis. Cure is guaranteed to all who use Catarrhose.

A SERIOUS FIRE THE LOUISE DOCK

Woman Probably Fatally Burned and a House Completely Gutted.

A woman probably fatally burned and a two story house gutted, were the results of a fire in St. Sauveur yesterday afternoon. Shortly after five o'clock an alarm from box 119 called out the Brigade for a fire that had broken out in a two story wooden brick enclosed house on St. Therese street, owned by Mr. O. Plamondon, baker, and occupied on the lower flat by Leonard Leblond, and the upstairs by a Mr. Boudreau. The firemen, as usual, responded promptly, and there being a plentiful supply of water quickly extinguished the flames, but not before the building was completely gutted. The fire originated in the lower flat, where Mrs. Leblond was lighting a fire. By some means her clothing caught fire, and before the blaze could be extinguished she was severely burned about the arms, head and face. She was conveyed to the residence of a neighbor and medical aid summoned. The doctor dressed her wounds, but held out scant hopes for her recovery. Nearly all the contents of the house were destroyed. Mr. Boudreau and family losing everything except the clothes they stood in and they are said to have no insurance. A few articles belonging to Mr. Leblond were saved by neighbors. Mr. Plamondon has some insurance on the building in the Manitoba Company. It is very fortunate the firemen were so promptly on the spot, or otherwise there might have been a serious conflagration, as the place where the fire occurred is situated in a thickly populated district.

ONE LIBEL CASE

Will Go Before Grand Jury—Decision Awaited in Two Others.

At yesterday morning's session of the Court of King's Bench, Mr. C. Landrot, K.C., Deputy Attorney-General, announced that the Attorney-General had decided to intervene on behalf of the plaintiff in the libel case of Hon. J. B. Provost vs. O. Asselin, proprietor of Le Nationaliste, and the indictment will accordingly be placed before the Grand Jury this morning. Messrs. Armand Lavigne, M.P., and N. K. Leflamme, of Montreal, appeared for the defendant.

At the opening of the afternoon session, argument in connection with the libel cases of Huard vs. Barthe and Huard vs. Landrieux was heard. Messrs. A. Lavigne and Allyn Taschereau appeared for Akl. Huard, while Messrs. L. A. Taschereau, K.C., and L. A. Cannon represented Mr. Barthe and Mr. Peter French looked after the interests of Mr. Landrieux.

Mr. French, on behalf of Mr. Landrieux, resisted the application to have the indictment placed before the Grand Jury, and Messrs. Taschereau and Cannon followed the same course in regard to their client, Mr. Barthe. Mr. Lavigne, on behalf of Mr. Huard, claimed that the criminal action should proceed. All the counsel made lengthy and eloquent addresses and quoted numerous legal authorities in support of their pretensions.

Judge Bosse took the arguments placed before him into consideration and will announce his decision this morning, when the Grand Jury will be in attendance to proceed further with their duties.

At the morning term of the Court it was announced by the Crown counsel that they would be unable to proceed with the third trial of L. R. Interesting Lecture by Revd. Wylie C. Clark on the Prospector.

The large hall of the Y.M.C.A. was packed to the doors last evening, the occasion being the lecture by Revd. Wylie C. Clark, B.D., pastor of Chalmers Church, on Ralph Connor's story of "The Prospector." Mr. G. B. Ramsay occupied the chair and introduced the lecturer. Rev. Mr. Clark, although suffering from a cold, told in a most interesting and eloquent manner the story of "The Prospector." From his opening remarks until the close of his very able discourse he held the closest attention of his hearers, and when he resumed his seat the applause was loud and prolonged. Rev. Mr. Boudreau moved a hearty vote of thanks to the lecturer, which was carried amidst applause. During the evening Miss Black and Mr. Paxman rendered vocal solos in a most pleasing manner. The lecture, the proceeds of which go to the French Presbyterian Church, realized the handsome sum of $54.

Mr. Stobo read his paper, "Is Church Federation for defensive and aggressive Christian work, possible?" The subject proved to be one of interest, was discussed, and the paper favorably commented upon, but owing to the time limit, further discussion was postponed until next meeting.

IBSEN COURSE.

Mrs. Wigmore, who is giving a course of three dramatic readings from the works of Henrik Ibsen, gave the first of the series at the Morrin College Hall yesterday morning at 11.30 o'clock in presence of a critical audience, which was greatly delighted with the intellectual treat afforded them.

The subject of yesterday's reading was "The Old Ideal of Womanhood" as typed by the character of "Agnes" in the play of "Brand." Other subjects to follow are a "Woman Without Ideals," the study being the character of "Rebecca" in the play of "Rosmersholme" (Wednesday) and "A Woman with False Ideals" as presented by the character of "Nora" in "A Doll's House" (Friday). Mrs. Wigmore possesses a keen conception of the author and her readings are of the greatest interest. The success of the first event yesterday is a happy augury of what is to follow and there will no doubt be large audiences for the two remaining lectures.

OUT OF PRIZE RING INSIDE BASEBALL

Fitzsimmons Finally Decides to Give Up the Game.

New York, April 15.—Such as they are, the new crop of fighters is slowly pushing the old guard to the wall. The few opportunities that do open these days are usurped by men who had never been heard of a few years ago, and willingly or unwillingly the veterans of the square circle are giving way to competition. Fitzsimmons is the latest to concede that he is past, as his pugilist goes nowadays, and Jack O'Brien will quit the game a year at least, he says, after he fills his engagement to meet Burns at Los Angeles.

Fitz has been as good as in retirement for the last two years, but fight followers have not given up hope that he would once more climb inside the ropes, stripped for action, and ever and anon a rumor has risen that he was coming back and would take on some of the new men in the ring, simply to show that he was far from being down and out.

These reports have been contradicted every time, but they bob up in a new place, and the wearisome round of contradiction has to be gone through with again. This time, though, it would appear to be a final decision against Fitz, for from a ring standpoint the old fighter has failed, and his wife has clinched the matter by opposing any scheme for re-entering the ring, even if it was to meet Tommy Burns. Therefore the only thing left for Bob to do in the line of the strenuous life is to bring to a head his favorite plan for starting a physical culture retreat at Dumfries, N.J.

This will mark the end of a ring career which was begun in 1880 in Timaru, New Zealand, and which has been punctuated by bouts with Jim Corbett, Tom Sharkey, Gus Rohlf, Peter Maher, Jim Jeffries, and host of lesser lights. The Cornishman's last fight of any importance was at San Francisco in 1905, when Philadelphia Jack O'Brien knocked him out in thirteen rounds, and since then Fitz has been awing the theatre-going public by knocking out a dyed-in-the-wool villain at matinee and evening performances in "The Village Blacksmith" and other pastoral melodramas.

On top of the word of the old champion's retirement, it is a blow to the sporting world to hear that Jack O'Brien is going to rest for a year after meeting Burns in May, for the general feeling is that if that popular exponent of literature and boxing gets out of earshot of the gong and the referee's voice for a twelve-month, it will mean his permanent departure. At any rate it is almost sure that if he does return he will not be in form to put up any claim to individual supremacy unless he has one of the few and far between comebacks to form that some pugilists have enjoyed.

If Philadelphia Jack does leave the ring, however, he will vie with Jim Jeffries as a property-holder, for between his battles he has been accumulating much of the more substantial goods of this world in the way of hotels and real estate, and is now further along Easy Street than most men who heretofore have made their hands, and hands alone, gain them a living.

WORLD'S MEET TO BE HELD HERE

At the annual banquet of the Montagnard Snowshoe Club in Montreal, on Saturday night, it was announced that the next world's championship meet would be held in Quebec during next season.

Montreal, April 15.—The fight which was to have taken place to-night between Johnny Rangan, of Ottawa, and Billy Walker, of Montreal, was called off as Walker found that he was over weight.

JOCKEY RADTKE RETIRES.

Washington, April 15.—Radtke, the $25,000 jockey of Millionaire Paul Rainey, of Cleveland, noted as the owner of the $46,000 De Mund, may have to give up riding temporarily, at least Radtke was taken ill in the paddock after the fourth race on Saturday day, and after bleeding from the mouth, turned to his manager and declared that he believed that excessive reduction was carrying him headlong into consumption. Radtke had to give up his mounts in the succeeding races and went home and to bed.

MINORS MUST NOT BOWL.

Lansing, Mich., April 15.—It took the house over an hour to pass the bill amending the act for the protection of children, so as to add a provision prohibiting minors under 17 and students under 21 years of age from frequenting bowling alleys, and making it a misdemeanor for any proprietor to permit such persons to remain.

Representative Norton and others contended that bowling is an innocent amusement, while those who favored the bill declared that nearly all the alleys are run in connection with saloons and that they are breeding places for vice. It seems that some of the legislative pages have been running up bills at a local alley. The bill passed, 62 to 154.

New York, April 15.—Gordon Taylor Hughes, a former Harvard football player and an athlete of reputation, died last week at his home here of heart disease, brought on by physical over-exertion. Hughes was a son-in-law of ex-Governor Frank Brown, of Maryland.

He had been ill since last December, but despite the warnings of physicians, Hughes continued to take violent exercise after leaving college some twelve years ago. He made a name for himself as right guard of one of the Harvard "variety" football teams, and was also an expert tennis player. During his last year in the university his devotion to athletics began to tell upon him. He was advised at that time to discontinue all forms of arduous physical exercise.

Hughes laughed at this advice and said he could not keep in trim without his sports. Up to December, when he took to his bed, he continued to exercise regularly. Mr. Hughes was 36 years old and a lawyer. After his Harvard career he took several degrees at Oxford.

Manager Joe Kelley, of Toronto, Talks of How to Play Game.

Altoona, Pa., April 15.—Manager Joe Kelley, of the Toronto Ball Club, is a close student of baseball, and his years of experience on teams that played what is known as "the inside game" will prove of inestimable value in landing the Toronto team in the Eastern League championship race this season.

Kelley says the only place to learn baseball is on the field. He does not believe in chalk talks and illustrated lectures in the dressing rooms. This is the practical baseball, and like everything else in life, the practice is vastly different to the theory. So says Kelley, and he has had experience in both.

The old-time champion Baltimore team is pointed to by the critics as being the highest type of baseball excellence. Kelley was a member of that team, and he says they never had a lesson other than that obtained in regular practice on the diamond.

"Inside baseball is merely the art of getting runs," he says, "and the players can learn more on the field handling the ball than by the use of blackboard and chalk. What's the sense of filling up the player's heads with hypothetical questions? Leave that to Delmas and Jerome. There are certain plays on the field that require quick thinking, but these can be taught best in actual play, not in the dressing-room. The quick and accurate handling of the ball and a knowledge of the half-dozen plays that are frequent in the game will make a player successful, while the man whose mind is stuffed with odd plays that only crop up once or twice in a season is apt to become tangled up on an easy proposition."

Kelley believes in speed and quick stunts. Fractions of seconds count in baseball, and he impresses upon his men the value of getting away from the plate fast and holding top speed until the bag is reached. "Many a game has been won by a fast man beating the ball to first," he says, "and the player with only average speed can often beat the throw by running everything out. There are no certainties in baseball, and it's only 90 feet the plate to first base."

Team play at the bat, in the Toronto manager's opinion, consists of providing the unexpected play. The idea is to catch opponents off their guard and to outwit them. He is a firm believer in the hit and run game, but he does not think it wise to sacrifice until after the 5th innings, when a single run is very important to ensure a victory. Much depends, of course, upon the composition of the team.

Second Annual Banquet of the Quebec Press
Fish and Game Club at the Auditorium Cafe
---Large Number of Guests Present

PLEASANT COMPANY AND JOYOUS EVENING

One year ago to-day Mr. Dugal, the popular lessee of the Auditorium Cafe, opened this restaurant which has been for a year in continuous operation to the great satisfaction of our Quebec public. Mr. Dugal certainly merits the great success that his enterprise has been accorded. The second annual banquet of the Press Fish and Game Club of Quebec, which was held at the Auditorium Cafe last evening, was a most unequalled success in every respect. The menu as prepared by Mr. Dugal, the popular proprietor of the Auditorium Cafe, was most excellent and reflected great credit on his chef. About 50 guests were present and every one enjoyed themselves to the greatest degree. Mr. John Jordan, editor of the Telegraph and president of the Press Club, presided with his usual ability and tact. To Mr. Jordan and the committee in charge of the details must be attributed the greatest credit for the magnificent manner in which the entire arrangements were conducted and the manner in which all guests and members alike were put at ease, and a most enjoyable evening thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The menu which we have pleasure in reproducing, showed a talent appreciated by all present and created no small amount of amusement.

social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr.
Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most floating before eyes, has disagreeable, version or retro-version or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parturition, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently

ANOTHER BIG BILL

On at the Auditorium This Week, and Well Worth Seeing.

Quebec theatre goers are certainly indebted to Mr. Clark Brown, lessee and manager of the Quebec Auditorium, for the first-class shows which he has brought before Quebec audiences since taking over the management of that theatre. Although all the companies which have so far appeared in Quebec have met with success, the programme of artists offered this week is an exceptionally strong one and the large audiences which witnessed both of yesterday's performances were unanimous in their verdict that the programme was one of the best ever put on a Quebec stage.

The performance begins with a very clever contortion and pantomime act by Ernest Kimball and Madge Lewis, in which both performers obtained quite a success.

Mr. Dubois and his educated apo followed the contortions, and it is only fair to say that this act was duly appreciated by the large audience who seldom seen an animal trained to such perfection.

As a clog dancer, Eddie Mack has apparently few equals and his descriptive dancing last evening brought down the house, particularly so in his baseball game representation.

One of the principal features of the evening's performance was the exhibition of strength given by the Great Francillas. These performers, in their line of business, are probably the best ever seen in this city and their act is really marvellous and deserved all the applause the Francillas received.

Miss May Belfort made quite a hit in her singing and had to respond to no less than four encores. She is the possessor of a very fine voice which greatly pleased the audience, and her rendering of French and English songs were received with great enthusiasm.

Several musical comedy teams have already appeared in Quebec but none probably met with such favor as Frank and Pauline Berry. They are not only comedians but give a splendid performance on a number of instruments. Their act is undoubtedly one of the best.

The management of the Auditorium is certainly to be congratulated upon securing such a strong attraction as the Five Bonesetts, Europe's greatest lady and gentleman tumblers, and their act has never been equalled in this city. The performers, five in number, are up-to-date gymnasts and their act is not only graceful but is also beyond anything ever seen here.

A number of new animated views were given by The Kinograph which was duly appreciated. We would advise our readers to pay the Auditorium a visit this week if they want to witness an exceptionally strong company of artists.

KEEP YOUR NERVES STRONG

No Surer Road to Ill-Health Than Neglect of the NERVES.

The nervous system ministers equally to man's physical as it contributes to man's intellectual powers.
Modify its activity, we have various forms of hallucination, mental depression, sleeplessness and hysteria.

If you say that a woman's nerves are weak, you affirm what is absolutely true, that her whole physical condition is so far below the par that collapses may easily follow.

No remedy has ever been devised that will compare with Ferrozone in nervous maladies.

Ferrozone does not affect the nerves as hypnotics or sedatives which lull them into obedience—it makes them strong, because it contains the constituents that are necessary to make nervous strength.

Ferrozone makes blood.
Ferrozone gives strength.
Ferrozone forces appetite, assures assimilation of food.

Ferrozone imparts to the whole organism vim, endurance buoyancy.
No matter how nervous you are or how long this condition has prevailed, use Ferrozone, and in a month you will have convincing proof of its tonic and restorative power.

Perfectly safe even for children, absolutely sure to restore anyone nervous, unstrung and hysterical.

Ferrozone cures not by stimulation, but by nourishing and feeding the nervous organization with the elements it lacks; try Ferrozone, sold in 60c. boxes by all druggists.

THE SORE STRIKE.

Mr. F. Marois, Clerk of the Provincial Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, was to leave for Montreal or for the second time to adjust the labor trouble now in progress at the latter place.
