Civil Defence Director Cites Training Plans

Civil defence in the Montreal Metropolitan Region took a step forward Tuesday, with the announcement by Lt. Col. W. A. Croteau, co-ordinator of civil defence for the Montreal metropolitan area, that an integrated training program has been devised to increase opportunities for public participation.

"We have been working steadily for the last three years for the development of civil defence in the Montreal Metropolitan Region. There has been a great deal of planning and the training of key personnel of this nature is not spectacular and does not easily reach the public as it takes time and effort. But we are now in a position where we can and will receive the public and develop the next phase of our program."

"In working out these plans personnel is far advanced. Work states the co-ordinator, I have kept in close contact with both the federal and provincial authorities. In consultation with these authorities they are fully in accord with our plans."

"As part of this new program all organizations which are part of modern community life . . . service clubs, women's organizations, church groups and others . . . either have been or will be asked to cooperate in civil defence training." Lt. Col. Croteau stated.

"For example", he said, "I have met with officials of St. John Ambulance regarding an arrangement whereby that organization would be responsible for the manning of first-aid stations so far as their particular know-

Michael Larratt Wins Scholarship

Michael F. Larratt, 502 Grosvenor avenue, has been awarded a freshman scholarship to Brown University, Providence, R.I., it was announced this week.

A graduate of Westmount High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Larratt. He is a candidate for the Bachelor of Arts degree.

Brown, third oldest college in New England, opened for the 91st academic year this fall. The undergraduate student body numbers some 2,100 including 640 freshmen. This latter total has been drawn from 26 states and six foreign countries.

Enumeration Complete For Byelection Here

Enumeration of citizens eligible to vote in the forthcoming federal by-election in November was completed this week in the St. Antoine-Westmount constituency where Hon. George Marler, Liberal, and Egan Chambers, Progressive-Conservative, are seeking election.

On completion of their door-to-door tasks, the enumerators handed over their lists to Returning Officer Walter Small who will arrange for their compilation and printing.

In the St. Antoine-Westmount constituency there are 170 polling stations and with two enumerators working each station, a total of 340 enumerators braved the inclement weather to record the electors.

In the last general election in August of 1953, when Mr. Chambers substantially reduced the majority of Mr. Abbott, there were 41,960 voters listed in St. Antoine-Westmount.

While Mr. Chambers continued with his "door-bell ringing" canvassing, there were indications that the Liberal organization will not go into high gear until after the Montreal civic elections.

Meanwhile approval was accorded Egan Chambers for his part in bringing together Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and Premier Maurice Duplessis for a taxation conference in Montreal this week. Mr. Chambers last week sent identical telegrams to Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Duplessis expressing his willingness to confer in a wire to Mr. Chambers and then Mr. Duplessis phoning Mr. St. Laurent to arrange the talks.

At a meeting in St. Antoine-Westmount, Mr. Chambers said the statements made by Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Duplessis following their conference are very promising and I hope that a start has been made to lighten the heavy tax burden of the people of this community."

Weredale House Activities Start For Fall Season

Winter program of class activities at Weredale House opened this week for the 160 boys in residence.

Art, study groups, gymnasium, music, scouting, carpentry and a wide variety of entertainment form part of the program under the supervision of Vernon F. McAdam, secretary manager, Mrs. M. Craig, lady superintendent, with George Brugman, Mrs. M. Lang, Miss M. Dewar and Mrs. E. M. Sisson as assistants.

Due to the large increase of schoolboys in residence this year, a change is being made in the night school activities under the direction of Norman J. Kneeland of the High School of Montreal staff. Mr. Kneeland will be available, by appointment, for special tutorial services to assist boys who are at school or at work with special problems encountered in their studies.

The Weredale House Scout Troop is under the leadership of Harry Wilson, a former resident of the house. Gymnasium classes, in which all boys participate, are under the supervision of Glen Wood of the Westmount School Commissioners' staff. Carpentry and hobby classes are directed by Richard Fair.

Story Of Barnardo Homes Told To Rotary Members

"If Dr. Barnardo had been a Rotarian he would indeed have lived up to the motto of service before self", Fred J. Potter told members of the Rotary Club of Westmount at their regular meeting on Wednesday at Victoria Hall.

Mr. Potter, who is a member of the Rotary Club of London, England, is General Secretary of Dr. Barnardo's Homes, and has been connected with the organization for the past 17 years.

He told the Rotarians that Dr. Barnardo first came to England as a young Irish medical student, and after working with children from some of England's poorer districts founded his home for despondent children in 1866. The first home was opened in a stable.

From this small beginning the work spread until now there are more than 144,000 girls and boys in Dr. Barnardo's homes throughout the United Kingdom. This figure represents almost one third of children needing care in the United Kingdom. He said that during the life time of Dr. Barnardo, who died in 1904, 60,000 children were admitted into his homes.

Some Gaps

Mr. Potter pointed out that there are still a great many gaps in social welfare work in the UK and said that it was the aim of Dr. Barnardo's homes to try and fill these gaps. The homes look after children up until they are about 14 or 15 years of age, and have admitted some as young as one day old. He remarked that the majority of children admitted to the homes are what are known as bad luck cases. Others come from broken homes, and others are admitted due to neglect and cruelty. The home also takes in physically handicapped children, and there are a number of special units which cater to this category.

The rate of admission to the homes in England is now about five children a day, the majority of which are boys. Mr. Potter said that the home tries to treat each child admitted as an individual case. During his stay at a home each child is trained to be self supporting so that on release a sound future is assured.

Mr. Potter told Rotarians that a new home would be opened in England within the next few weeks for crippled children and that another home of similar type would be opened before the end of the year. The Dr. Barnardo's home

R.M.R. BENEFIT DANCE SATURDAY, OCTOBER 16

Another benefit dance, with the proceeds to go to the 40th reunion of this famous regiment will be held Saturday, October 16th at the Royal Montreal Regiment armoury, St. Catherine street west, from 9 p.m. to closing.

This dance, which will be open to the general public, will feature Don Whitlock and his nine-piece orchestra and it is expected to be one of the highlights of the early fall social season.

also operate a school where boys are trained for careers in the Royal Navy and the Merchant marine.

Over the past years 29,000 boys and girls were migrated to Canada, and although the Canadian phase of the work has dropped off recently, Dr. Barnardo's homes are now concentrating on sending children to Australia. During the course of a year almost 100 children are adopted from Barnardo's homes, and many more are placed in foster home throughout Britain.

The organization is supported by public donations. Mr. Potter said, and last year it costs approximately $5,500,000 to operate it. Donations are sent in the home from thousands of people throughout the world, he said.

In conclusion Mr. Potter told Rotarians that Dr. Barnardo's homes were operated on the principal that each generation stands on the shoulders of the previous one, and what happens tomorrow depends on what is done today.

Fred Potter was introduced by Bill Moxley and thanked by Jack MacBeth. The meeting was chaired by President Borden Empey.

BUSY WEEK

Last Saturday climaxed a very busy week for members of the Unity Boys' Club.

Membership registrations, which began September 1, nearly reached the 400 mark.

New craft and hobby groups were introduced to the club for the first time.

Our recent appeal for volunteer workers to assist us in the 1954-55 program has brought results with five new workers added to the list.

SATURDAY PROGRAM

Last Saturday, the Club was veritable bee-hive of activity with over 200 youngsters taking part in the day's program.

Fretwork — On Saturday morning, popular Louis Thomas had 45 boys busily engaged making various articles, such as: tie racks, Indian heads, letter openers and varied types of animals. In the afternoon, Unity's Skookum Tribe conducted their weekly Pow Wow.

ledge of first-aid allowed. This would include the training of qualified stretcher bearers and technicians and other personnel essential to the efficient operation of such emergency posts."

Lt. Col. Croteau said that he had discussed this training plan with the executives board of the St. John Council, and had gained unanimous approval in principle of the part that organization would play in civil defence work and training. Details of the plan are now being developed.

According to the first-aid system outlined by Lt. Col. Croteau, St. John workers will man the 70 odd medical stations required in the 15 municipalities comprising the metropolitan area. In the event of emergency, each of these stations will be headquarters for a medical team consisting of 4 doctors, 3 dentists, 6 nurses, and 60 first-aid workers and stretcher bearers. Twenty of these posts are now equipped and manned. When the new training program is completed, over 4,000 workers will be prepared for disaster duty at these locations.

"This is the type of community cooperation we have in mind", Lt. Col. Croteau said. "In addition to trained first-aiders, it will involve the creator of such trained personnel as auxiliary police, auxiliary firemen, welfare service, rescue workers and others. Working though and with existing organizations appears to be the logical and most efficient method of bringing this vital training to the people who recognize the necessity of adequate civil defence preparation. The enthusiastic response of those agencies already contacted seems to ensure that the program will succeed in its objective."

There will be work for all of us. The public will be reached through the medium of all available organizations within the metropolitan region.

Dr. M. Hoffman Named Director

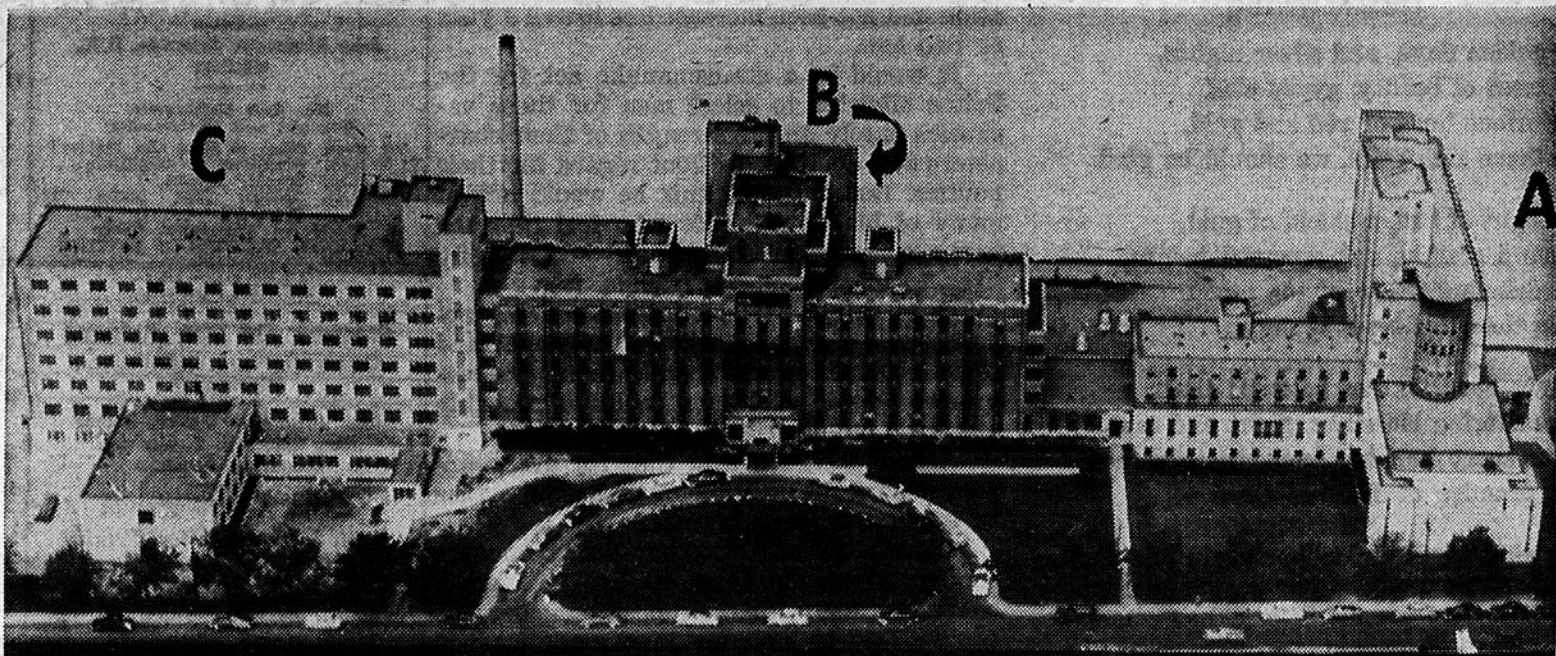

Dr. Martin Hoffman, associate professor of medicine and psychiatry at McGill University, has been appointed full time director of the department of medicine at the Jewish General Hospital, it was announced this week by president Allan Bronfman.

The appointment will take effect in March, 1955.

Dr. Hoffman was born in St. John, New Brunswick, where he received his early education. He is a graduate of Mt. Allison University and spent two years of his medical course at Dalhousie University. He received his Ph.D. in experimental medicine in 1943, and graduated in medicine from McGill Gold Medal and the Walter Chipman Gold Medal.

While an undergraduate in medicine, Dr. Hoffman served as research associate and lecturer in the department of experimental medicine, McGill University. Following graduation, he was appointed to the post of assistant professor of medicine, Royal Victoria Hospital, and the post of assistant director, McGill University Clinic.

In 1950, he was appointed research professor of medicine at Dalhousie University and director of the department of metabolism and clinical investigation at the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, which posts he held until 1952, when he returned to Montreal to assume the posts of associate

Jewish General Hospital Dedicates Wing Sunday

The Jewish General Hospital will officially complete the second phase of its huge, 5½ million building expansion program Sunday, when it dedicates the new west wing. The first phase of the hospital's expansion program saw the completion three years ago of the eastern wing, containing the Nurses' Residence and Training School.

Sunday's dedication ceremonies for the west wing will be preceded by a dinner the previous evening in the Mount Royal Hotel, in honour of president Allan Bronfman. Mr. Bronfman is rounding out twenty-five years of service to the institution of which he has been president since the first hospital committee was formed in 1929.

To the layman, many of the details that the hospital personnel take for granted seem like science fiction, Mr. Bronfman explained recently. A five-floor northern extension to the rear of the main building houses the hospital's fully air-conditioned operating suite on its third and fourth floors. Here, in the largest green, glare-proof operating room, a gallery has been provided for televising operations and there is two-way communication by microphone between the surgeons and the gallery.

Provision has been made for piping oxygen into the operating rooms and into every new bedroom in both the northern extension and the western wing. A hose is connected to a wall nozzle, the tap is turned on and oxygen is immediately available. The cumbersome, inconvenient oxygen is a thing of the past in these rooms.

Operating Suite
 One other facility of the operating suite has a space-cadet flavour but is really a highly practical device sent straight from heaven to busy surgeons, Samuel Cohen, Executive Director of the hospital, said. It is a recording room from which a doctor's dictation is automatically transmitted onto a disc in the medical records room. The findings can then be transcribed at a convenient time by a stenographer, at a tremendous saving of both professional and clerical time.

Thanksgiving

For golden days, and silver nights,
 For trees of beauty, gypsy clad
 In glorious hues of red and gold,
 For these rich gifts, we should be glad.

For sight of sun, a shield of gold,
 Above a stately, oak-crowned height,
 The dripping silver of the moon
 Upon the quiet trees at night.

Nature assumes her splendid task
 Of scattering blessings, great and rare,
 From every burning bush, there shines
 The promise of Eternal Care

The glad earth yields her grain and fruits;
 We dwell in peace — our people one,
 The Kingdom promised long, has come,
 The gift of Heaven is now, — is won.

—Dorothy Sproule.

Senate Problem

18 Vacancies Must Be Filled
 By Prime Minister

No one can envy Mr. St. Laurent his task of having to fill 18 vacancies in the Senate. Here are 18 of the cushiest jobs in Canada, all in the gift of one man, and the whole world knows it.

It is not known how many applicants there are for each of these jobs, but it is dollars to doughnuts that there are far more than there would have been if the remuneration had not been increased as it was a year or two ago.

It would be a statesmanlike act for the Prime Minister to select men for these vacancies purely on the strength of their characters and abilities, without regard for their politics. But if he did this he would offend many of his own friends who feel that the party owes them something; and nobody likes to disappoint his friends.

If he delays much longer in making appointments the effect will be the same; and if he appoints good Liberals to all the vacancies he will still have to leave probably hundreds of his friends out in the cold.

Arthur Meighen said that for every appointment a Prime Minister makes he makes 20 enemies and one ingrate.

Canada can afford to pay her lawmakers enough to enable them to live in dignity commensurate with their positions; but she can't afford to have her laws made by men who are attracted to the job only by the cushiness of it.

Thanksgiving

by Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor
 Rector of Trinity Memorial Church

We approach Thanksgiving this year with mixed feelings. We appealed to the Canadian Government last year to release a sizeable proportion of our surplus wheat to save the lives of the starving peoples of the East. The Government replied somewhat tartly that they know better than the Church did what was good for the world; that they had initiated a long-term policy to help the Eastern peoples to help themselves; and if millions died of starvation in the meantime it was just too bad. Meanwhile our wheat lay on the ground and the railways went idle, and so did the railway workers. We started a recession in our own country because we guarded our so-called wealth. And the Minister of Agriculture a couple of months ago replied to the Church's criticism that he understood that India was a wealthy country and could afford to buy its own food; and he rather gloated over the fact that she would have to do so.

Apparently there is a good deal of misunderstanding about India. A business man who has lived there told me last Spring that the people of India did not use wheat, but lived only on rice for their grain diet. So there was no object in sending them wheat. But last month I attended a dinner of the Anglican delegates at Evanston. It was a nice, luxurious dinner, the sort of dinner that generous Americans like to put on for their less wealthy friends. One of the guests was the Most Rev. Arabinda Nath Mukerjee, Metropolitan of India. He almost wept at the waste of food when he thought of his starving countrymen. I asked him about the use of wheat in India, and he told me that sixty per cent of the people of India use wheat. And as for the gibe of the Minister of Agriculture that India is a wealthy country, it simply is not true. There is great wealth in a few hands, but dire poverty plagues the majority of people. The Indian Government could communize the wealth of the princes, but it would not last long, and I do not think a member of the Canadian Government would advocate that method. But the Minister may give thanks that he has saved his precious wheat.

Meantime, though we may be ashamed of our selfishness, we still must give thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of the harvest. Our grain crop may be below the average, but it is far beyond our needs. Our hay crop is far beyond the average and our pastures have seldom been so green at this time of year. But the real question is how we are going to express our thankfulness; not in pumpkin pies on our own tables, but in our return to God and in our generosity to our fellows. There are a great many people in need in our own city. There are agencies to meet those needs at least in part. There is some employment, but there is also a vast amount of employment at very high wages. Our way of expressing our gratitude to God for all He has done for us is to meet the needs of the poor to the utmost of our giving power.

leaders of India, since only two percent of India's 360 millions was now Christian.

"Although western missionaries have introduced a western form of worship into the Indian Christian church" the speaker stated, "the church in India is now becoming more and more Indian and that is as it should be, for the worship in India must be such as to express the eastern philosophy, as the Christian church in India has a great part to play in the world of today."

Christian Science

The ever-availability of the healing power of the Christ, Truth, will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

"Are Sin, disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the lesson-Sermon. Selections to be read from the Bible include the following from Matthew: "When he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him saying I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleaned."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following: Truth is God's remedy for error of every kind, and Truth destroys only what is untrue. Hence the fact that, today, as yesterday, Christ casts out evils and heals the sick."

Hildegard Neff In "The Sinner"

Now Playing At Four Theatres

Hildegard Neff, exotic blonde star remembered for her sterling performance in "The Snows Of Kilimanjaro", plays the title role in "The Sinner" the dramatic thunderbolt now playing at the Seville, Snowdon, Outremont and Strand Theatres.

"The Sinner" is the story of a woman named Marina, a social outcast with a heart of gold. Child of a broken home; reared by a mother who thought only of fun, good times and her boy friends; and by a very bitter and disillusioned stepfather, Marina never had a chance to be 'decent'. She grew up believing that love was a calculating relationship which could be worth the luxury and extravagances which might never be hers otherwise. And so she lived her life until she met a poor, broken-down almost blind painter whom she befriended, out of sheer pity, but with whom she finally found a clear and wonderful and exciting love.

Hildegard Neff, tall, willowy, green-eyed blonde, handles her daring role with intelligence and conviction and gets able support from a well-chosen cast. "The Sinner" was filmed on actual locations in Germany and Italy.

Paul Kelly as the hard-bitten and utterly sympathetic head engineer, Sidney Blackmer as the recalcitrant automotive head, Ilka Chase as the boss's secretary who sides with Tony, and Ruth Hampton as curvaceous Miss Border-to-Border add considerable lustre to an interesting cast.

★ James Arness will have a featured part in "The Sea Chase," starring John Wayne.

"Ten Little Indians" Soon

"Ten Little Indians," the chiller-thriller success of the London and New York stage, will open a two performance engagement at Westminster Central United Church Hall, 926 Atwater Ave., on Friday and Saturday 15th and 16th, as a presentation of the Avon

Players. This is the first hit play by Agatha Christie, the queen of murder mystery fiction, and is based on Miss Christie's popular Saturday Evening Post serial story, "And Then There Were None".

A doctor who had bungled an operation, a detective who had "framed" an innocent man, a general who had sent his wife's lover on a suicide mission, a judge who had sentenced an innocent man to die, and two servants who had killed a former employer for a legacy are among the ten assorted guests at the luxurious house on a lonely Indian Island, the weird setting for "Ten Little Indians."

"The Crucible"
Starts Wednesday At West Hill

The presentation of Arthur Miller's "The Crucible" which opens Wednesday evening to run four nights until Saturday at the West Hill Auditorium, will see many newcomers with the Montreal Repertory Theatre, who will be appearing for the first time with MRT.

Appearing for the first time on the stage in the significant role of Abigail Williams is Joan Young. This is the part played by Montrealer Madeleine Sherwood in New York. As Betty Parris, Heather Diplock also has her first role in the theatre.

There are twelve members of the cast who are taking their first parts in an MRT production. Deputy-Governor Danforth, played by Walter Hampden in New York, will be played by Victor Knight, who had experience in English repertory before coming to Montreal. Here, he has appeared with Grosvenor Productions, the Mountain Playhouse, Canadian Players, and Everyman Players. The Reverend Samuel Parris will be Tristan Korman, who gained his experience at the Pasadena Playhouse and the Davenport Free Theatre. Tituba is Winnie Jones, who has played locally with the Negro Little Theatre. Susan Wallcott is played by Donna d'Hondt, who comes to Montreal from England where she played with a number of amateur groups. Mrs. Ann Putnam is Annie Robertson, a Scot who had her training in English repertory.

Miriam Asher has played leading roles with YMHA; her first part with MRT is that of Mary Warren in The Crucible. Margaret Roy, who was a member of the Newcastle Co-operative Arts Players in England, is Rebecca Nurse, James Kirk, who has appeared with the McGill Players and Trinity Players, is the Reverend John Hale. James Goodwin, who has worked with the Lachine Little Theatre, is Francis Nurse. William Mahon, a member of the Playmakers, plays Ezekiel Cheever, Brendan Dillon, who worked with both the Abbey Theatre and the Gate Theatre in Dublin, is Judge Hathorne, and Thelma Monk, with three years' training at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London, is Sarah Good.

The list of MRT players who appear in The Crucible is headed by Griffith Brewer, who has appeared in over a dozen plays with MRT. He has the leading role of John Proctor, and, in addition, he has executed the five settings designed by director Eugene Jousse. Mr. Brewer has also appeared with Everyman Players, Brae Manor and the Lakeshore Summer Theatre.

In the leading feminine role of Elizabeth-Proctor is Sondra Gibson, who has appeared in four previous MRT productions, as well as with the Ottawa Drama League, Trinity Players and the Mountain Playhouse. Paul Hazel, who appeared in MRT's Harvey, is Thomas Putnam. Elizabeth Sifton, who has been in MRT Studio plays, is Mercy Lewis, James Cain, whose first role with MRT was in last season's His Excellency, plays Giles Corey. Gerald Monness, who played in MRT's Ile, and last season's YMHA production of Summer and Smoke, plays John Willard.

Under the direction of Eugene Jousse, MRT's production of The Crucible opens at 8:45 p.m. sharp next Wednesday in West Hill Auditorium and will run until Saturday.

Dr. Hoffman is a member of many medical societies and is an associate member of the American College of Physicians.

"Because of the complexities of contemporary medicine," Mr. Bronfman added, "it is generally agreed that the supervision of the activities of the department of medicine of the modern hospital requires the services of a full-time director. Dr. Hoffman's responsibilities will include the supervision of the public medical wards and out patient medical clinics, as well as the responsibility for implementation of the training program for the resident medical staff and for a continuing program of post-graduate instruction. This new departure will bring into completion of the building expansion program. SIDELIGHTS on Sports

by MARTY GOODMAN

● THE HIGH SCHOOL sports setup in Montreal may find favor with many, but to those who regard it with an eye for talent, there is a void rivalled only by that of the Grand Canyon. It has good organization, good participation, and poor coaching.

High school sports are usually viewed with an eye to the character it produces in the participant, and this is only right. But there is also something to be said for developing good athletes, and in most sports this development is noticeably lacking.

Nowhere can a better example be found than in the athletic success gained by McGill University in the past decade. The backbone of the college's football teams have come from out of town; the same story can be told regarding both basketball and hockey.

Somewhere along the line Quebec students are dropping behind their Ontario counterparts, so that when they enter college one is a far superior athlete to the other. There is such a pool of football talent coming up from Ontario high schools that colleges there invariably come up with solid teams. Certainly there is never a long period of gridiron mediocrity.

Experts are agreed that the basic difference between the calibre of athlete produced in Quebec and Ontario high schools lies in their superior coaching. On the average, the youth of both provinces is granted equal athletic ability. There is little marked change until the high school stage, when a more concentrated program tends to make better athletes of the Ontario citizens.

Larry Sullivan, new head football coach at McGill, claims there is enough talent in Ontario to supply all the schools in the Intercollegiate League. McGill lacks the attraction to bring many of them here, he says, mainly due to a poor job of public relations. But if they could be convinced of McGill's merits, he is sure he could turn out teams on a par with either Western, Toronto or Queens.

Basketball mentor Joe Anderson is also faced with a lack of material. Many agree he is one of the best hoop coaches in Canada. He has had experience, was a star player himself, and possesses the ability to handle a team.

But in recent years he has been forced to pit three or four good men against nine or 10 from other schools. He too agrees that there is enough court talent available in Ontario to supply all schools, but that instead of being diffused, it is concentrated in one place. He has pointed at Toronto, where intramural teams rival the talent seen on intercollegiate squads.

The same holds true in hockey, though here there is also stiff competition from the French colleges, of the University of Montreal and Laval. This lack of talent in the major sports has been a chronic illness at McGill for some time now, and can be traced directly back to the high schools.

There is enough talent in Ontario to supply the Quebec institution, but there should be no reason to have to go after it. Quebec produces enough boys to supply its own colleges, English and French. The holdup is in the training received in high school.

Too many schools consider the coaching posts as mere chores to be hoisted upon a teacher who can be lulled into accepting them. Few are serious about their coaching, though there is generally no lack of sincere interest. But there is a severe lack of knowledge about the position. Too few high school coaches know their games from long personal contact. Too few have any basic ideas about the science of the game, or a knowledge of fundamentals used.

Instead there is a tendency towards teaching the students from a "How to Play Better Football" book, and "Basketball Simplified". Few coaches realize the importance of teaching fundamentals, and even less have the ability or knowledge. The job of coaching high school students, on the whole, has become too much work, for which it seems there is little result.

When the students start in at the college level, the professional physical education instructors they come in contact with are forced to stop progress on more advanced learning and teach many members of their teams the fundamentals of the game. It is not the lack of ability that separates the boys, but a lack of knowledge as how to best using this ability.

Ontario colleges get the jump immediately because they can begin at more advanced training stages. With more and more science being incorporated into sports, schools can ill afford the time to teach athletes the principles they are supposed to be well acquainted with.

Westmount schools are fortunate in having a good staff here. Age and a small choice usually prevent the local schools from completely dominating the high school sports scene, but the instructors are rated as second to none here. But that is only one school, and students attending McGill range from all over the metropolis. This results in the first few being equal to any others on the collegiate circle, but little bench strength is present.

More concentrated and better coaching is needed before this situation will change. Of great help would be coaching sessions by members of professional teams. Similar programs have raised considerably the quality of high school football on the prairies. Here it would no doubt produce the same result.

There is no criticism levelled at the character of athletes produced here; only the use they make of their ability. Until this deficiency is solved, there will be little difference in the overall situation as it stands today.

Westmount Dumped 11-2 In Opening Grid Match

By GORD WASSERMAN

The Westmount High senior B football squad dropped their season opener to Catholic High by a 11-2 count Friday. A busful of Westmounters along with their cheerleaders were on hand to see their school lose their first game.

In the first quarter, the tilt was a hard steady fight. Westmount's line looked strong. Catholic High had third down from their own squad line and were forced to kick from behind their own goal. Bob Baker, who played a standout game all afternoon for

Unity Cadgers Start Drills

Unity Boys Club, who captured city intermediate basketball honors last winter, held their first workout of the 1954-55 season last night at their Green avenue headquarters in lower Westmount.

The club will likely be operating in the Senior B circuit this campaign.

Most of the regulars from last year's fast-stepping aggregation were out last night. One notable exception was Teddy Rice, the UBC'er's all star guard who is being transferred to the Maristimes by his firm. Filling the shoes of the smooth-working Theodore will be no easy task.

Some members of the Buddies, the all-colored club, were out with UBC last night. The Buddies have apparently decided not to enter a team this year.

Any players interested playing with the Unity gang are invited to turn out to the practices on Wednesday and Friday nights. Further information can be obtained by phoning Maurice Mariasine at the Y Unity Boys Club.

LCC DOWN STRATH
Gunning for another Senior B city championship, Lower Canada College's husky gridders overcame stiff opposition to down Strathcona Academy 11-5 in a regular interscholastic fray reeled off Tuesday.

the Purple 'n White squad, broke through and nailed the kicker for a safety touch. Dick Christenson attempted the convert but was not successful.

The second quarter was uneventful. End Lance Thomson caught three passes for a total of 50 yards and Dick Christenson and Doug Smart made some nice ground-gaining plays. But half time was called with the score Westmount 2, Catholic High 0.

When the Catholic High squad returned to the field after the break, they were a new team. The game turned into a wide-open affair and the Westmount boys just couldn't seem to find themselves.

At the kick-off, Giles St. Denis carried the ball 60 yards on the return and the Black 'n White team was set. In a few plays they had forced Westmount into the same situation in which they had found themselves in the first period.

On third down, the W.H.S. boys were on their own 10 yard line and John Smart stepped to the 3 for the punt. Nearly blocked, it went high and wobbly and came down on their own 20 yard line,—only 15 yards from where the ball had been scrimmaged.

Westward Tie WJHS Bantams

Westward Bantams battled to a 1-1 stalemate with Westmount Junior High in an interscholastic tilt reeled off at Westmount Park last Friday afternoon. The Westmounters fielded a much stronger team than that which the far west enders had calcimined 6-0 in an earlier exhibition fray.

The home club enjoyed the best of the play in the scoreless first half. Their efforts paid off after 10 minutes of play in the final canto when the red and white clad soccerites pumped home a cheap goal.

Centre forward Janis Spurmanis netted the equalizer just five minutes later on a beautiful passing play with Jerry Licklider.

Play was generally even throughout the second half. Both teams missed plenty of splendid scoring opportunities. Play around the goals was sloppy with players missing open nets, booting the spheroid over the crossbar, etc.

Lower Canada College, who have won five Senior B championships in the last six years, started off their 1954 campaign in a winning way last Friday afternoon when they downed Lachine 10-5.

WESTMOUNT BADMINTON CLUB

Will commence their 24th season on Tuesday evening, October 19th, 1954, on the courts of the Westmount Junior High School, Academy Road.

Westmount Trounces Barbarians, Gains 10 Spots On Québec Team

By JIM ADAM

Those long hours of training on hot summery days paid dividends for the Westmount rugger club Saturday on a cold rainy winter-like afternoon. Superior stamina and an overwhelming strength in the scrum gave the Westmounters a convincing 9-0 win over their cross-town rivals the Montreal Barbarians.

To their credit the Barbs never gave up fighting but the relentless attacks of the Westies forwards and the loss of two men during the second half was too much for the black and whites.

Earlier in the afternoon the Westmount second stringers defeated their Barbican counterparts 9-3 in an exciting game.

Late Saturday night the provincial selectors announced the team to represent Québec against Ontario in Toronto tomorrow. The team includes 10 Westmount boys, four from the Barbs and a solo representative from McGill University. The team to travel to the Queen City is as follows: Mike Budd (McGill), John King, Al Goodings, Barry Ward and Sid Bloom (all from the Barbs), George Ewan, Bill McQueen, Geoff Jackson, Ronnie Ruthven, John McLaren, Joe O'Flaherty, Murdo Murchison, Dick Miller, Gerry Fotheringham and Donald Munro of Westmount.

Replacement Do Well

There is a possibility that Westmount skipper George Ewan may have to stand down from the team because of a tooth infection. He was missing from the Westmount lineup Saturday which brought to five the total of regulars missing from the team for last week's tilt. The replacements, however, all played stand-out games.

The West Hill field resembled a mud bath for the game but the strong Westmount forwards revelled in the heavy going and were in control for most of the game.

Only at the start when the Barbarians came close to scoring did the newly formed squad really threaten. On this occasion a fine covering tackle by John McLaren prevented a score. The diminutive McLaren playing in the worst possible condition for a scrum half gave a fine display both in attack and defence. He should be a useful man for the Québec team to have around next Saturday.

Disallow Convert

Westmount took the lead after a spectacular play. The Barbs were pressing near the Westmount 25 when Bill McQueen intercepted a pass, when tackled near the half-way line he passed on to winger Tom Park who out-paced the opposition to score under the posts. The conversion attempt was disallowed.

Shortly before half-time the blue-shirts went further ahead when big Ian Monroe who played a fine game in the first outing for the club in the second row plunged over from a loose man near the line.

By half time the Barbarians were weakening and it looked as if the Westmounters might run away with it in the second canto. But despite the loss of Blair Taylor and Joe Smyth through injury they kept their line intact until ten minutes from the end when a quick dash from the scrum by McLaren gave Ruthven the chance to go over near the corner. With this conversion and an earlier penalty goal attempt Ian Monroe was unlucky in hitting the woodwork.

Conditions Poor

Although the conditions were all against open play there was much fine running in the game. The second half, however, developed into a battle between the rival packs.

This gives the Westmount squad their second straight triumph over the Barbs this season. The teams will not meet again until November when with both teams at full strength and perhaps on a drier field a good game should be seen.

down quarterback sneak, Robert Yee drove through the Purple 'n White line and was over for the first major of the game. The score convert was missed and the score stood at 5-2.

Ron Sharps team attempted to get back into the game but to no avail. With Quarterback Paul Hamilton sidelined because of a hip injury, Lance Thomson and Bob Perry tried to fill the position. But the line was weak and the only time that Westmount looked strong in the second half was when Thomson hit Christenson with a 25 yard pass.

Soon the Black 'n White boys were again on the march. They completed toss after toss against a pass defence that was powerless and were at their own 50 yard line when they started on their second touchdown.

A long pass was deflected off Drury Porteous' fingers and taken by a Catholic High receiver to the Westmount 30 yard line. Now, on first down, Bob Yee again did the trick. He went back to pass, and found a receiver standing all alone in the end zone.

Clicks on Pass

A long throw to Rafter's and the score read 10-2. Gogan kicked the extra point to make the count the same as on the scoreboard at the close of the game, 11-2.

While the score speaks for itself, some credit must be given to some boys who fought hard all the way. Dick Christenson was the offensive star while Bob Baker shone on defensive. Stu Decary Scotty Lonsdale, Doug Smart and Lance Thomson also deserve credit for a fine attempt.

Dick Christenson and Bob Baker were elected co-captains by the team before the kick-off on Friday.

WHS Defence Poor

The Westmount defence was poor but the fault lies with the players. They have been lax about practice attendance and the coach is helpless if the team does not cooperate.

There is still hope for a good season. Last year's squad which finished second only to the champion L.C.C. group, dropped their first game to Cardinal Newman by a score of 10-1.

They face Verdun High next Tuesday and with practice and determination the squad can still bounce back and finish the season at the top of the league.

Four-Team Loop Starts Oct. 16

By Cliff Faraworth

The St. Laurent Intermediate Hockey League once again takes to the ice at the St. Laurent Arena this Saturday afternoon with all four teams holding heavy workouts. MacRae Electric and Michaud Freres will scrimmage for an hour-long session while the N.D.G. Regents and Royal Pharmacy clash one hour later.

The four teams were fairly well represented last Saturday as each of the teams took to the ice for the first time, even though there was stiff competition from the World Series and various football games.

Several new faces were seen in action on each of the teams, with the N.D.G. Regents producing the greatest number of rookies. Michaud Freres and Royal Pharmacy were not too far behind the Regents in this respect, while MacRae Electric is standing pat on last year's favourites who carried them into the finals for the Dr. Rondeau trophy. Royal Pharmacy are the defenders of the trophy for which the top three teams will fight when the playoffs commence.

Opener Oct. 16

This season each of the teams will play eighteen games starting October 16, and carrying them through until the end of February. In the playoffs the 2nd and 3rd teams will battle for the right to play the 1st team in the finals.

Added interest will be given this year to the trophy for the individual scoring leader at the end of the regular season's play — a trophy donated by Real Goulet of Royal Pharmacy.
