Finest Vessels of Rojestvensky's Fleet Were Sunk including Alexander III.—Three Battleships Captured and Several Transports Sunk—The Remnant of Shattered Fleet is Fleeing North With Japanese in Hot Pursuit—Rojestvensky's Fate Uncertain.

LIST OF RUSSIAN LOSSES.

Irtessin were sunk.

The battleships Orel and Nicolai I. and the coast defence ironclads Admiral Seniavin and General-Admiral Apraxine were captured.

ADMIRAL TOGO REPORTS.

Washington, D.C., May 29.—An official telegram from Tokio states that Admiral Togo reports to his Government that the total losses sustained by the Russian fleet Saturday and Sunday were: Two battleships, one coast defence armor clad, five cruisers, two special service ships, three destroyers, all sunk. In addition, there were captured two battleships, two coast defense armor-clad, one special service ship, one destroyer and over two thousand prisoners.

Admiral Togo adds that the Japanese squadron was undamaged.

ANOTHER BATTLESHIP CAPTURED.

Washington, D.C., May 29.—According to advices received by the Navy Department from Tokio, the Japanese, in addition to the ships already named, captured the Russian battleship Sissoi Velisky, and the Russian flagship was seriously damaged.

EIGHT RUSSIAN OFFICERS DROWNED.

London, May 29.—A despatch to the London Evening News, from Tokio, says eight captains of Russian warships were drowned during the naval battle of Saturday in the Straits of Corea.

Bulletin.—Tokio, May 29, 2.15 p.m.—It is officially announced that Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet has been practically annihilated. Twelve warships have been sunk or captured, and two transports and two torpedo boat destroyers have been sunk.

Bulletin.—Washington, May 29.—A cablegram received here from American Minister Griscom, at Tokio, dated this morning, says that Admiral Togo is claiming a great victory. It says that Admiral Togo reports that the results of the fighting of the fleets Saturday afternoon and evening were one battleship of the Borodino class sunk, and four other large vessels sunk, and two or three more vessels captured. All the large vessels of the Japanese fleet escaped injury.

RUSSIAN FLAG SHIP SUNK.

London, May 29, 12.35 p.m.—Up to noon to-day the Foreign Office was still without news of the naval battle from any British source in the Far East. The Japanese Legation was similarly without news from its government.

Reports are current on the Stock Exchange purporting to be from authoritative private sources to the effect that Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky's flagship (Kniaz Souvaroff) was among the vessels sunk, and that the Japanese are following up the Russians and picking off their ships one by one.

JAPANESE VESSELS ESCAPED.

Washington, May 29.—Official announcement of the result of the naval engagement between the Japanese and Russian fleets was received at the State Department to-day in the following cablegram from Minister Griscom, dated Tokio, May 29:—

"Admiral Togo has informed his Government concerning the fight which took place on Saturday afternoon and Saturday evening. According to his report the Japanese fleet under his command destroyed and sunk one battleship of the Borodino class and four large Russian war vessels. Two or three more were captured. None of the large Japanese men-of-war received serious injury.

"The battle was still in progress on Sunday. A great Japanese victory is announced here as the general result of the engagement, but few details have been received."

NEWS RECEIVED IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, May 29.—Minister Takahira, of Japan, received his first information of the practical annhilation of the Russian fleet in the Straits of Korea from the Associated Press this morning. When the bulletin from Tokio containing the Japanese Government's official announcement that Admiral Rojestvensky had lost twelve warships was read to Minister Takahira over the telephone he carefully repeated the words of the despatch and then expressed satisfaction at the apparent result of the great conflict. The minister and other members of the Japanese Legation remained in their offices nearly all night eagerly awaiting news of the battle. Up to this hour no official advices have been received at the legation. Aside from its press despatches, the only information received at the legation was contained in a private message to the minister, indicating that the result of the fight was favorable to the Japanese. Minister Takahira is expecting momentarily definite news of the batle.

EFFECT ON THE MARKETS.

London, May 29.—Operators on the Stock Exchange were cheerful over the Far Eastern news, hoping that the battle might prove decisive and lead to peace. Consuls went up 5-16, and Japanese bonds rose from 2 to 3½ points. In Russians no business was transacted. Nominally, prices were unchanged.

Americans were 1 to 1½ points over parity. Orders from Paris forced the prices higher.

The failure was announced of the Economic Bank, on Bishopsgate Street, a small concern, of no importance whatever.

THE VESSELS DESTROYED.

The Borodino was a first-class battleship, completed in 1904, of 13,516 tons displacement and 16,000 horse power, giving her a speed of about 18 knots. She had an armored belt of from 4 to 9 inches of Krupp steel, and from 6 to 10 inches of armor over her gun positions and bulkheads. Her armament consisted of four 12-inch guns, twelve 6-inch guns, and over forty smaller rapid-fire guns. Her crew numbered 740 officers and men.

The Alexander III. was a sister ship of the Borodino, and was also completed in 1904.

The Admiral Nakahimoff was an armored cruiser of 8,500 tons displacement, and 9,000 indicated horse power, giving her a speed of 16 knots. She had 8 inches of compound armor over her gun positions, carried eight 8-inch guns, ten 6-inch guns, and about twenty smaller rapid-fire guns. She had a complement of about 567 officers and men.

The Dmitri Donskoi was an armored cruiser of 6,200 tons, sheathed, of 7,000 indicated horse power, and having a speed of about 16 knots. She had an armored belt 6 inches thick, and had 10 inches of armor over her bulkheads and heavy gun positions. Her armament consisted of six 6-inch guns, ten 4.7-inch guns, and sixteen rapid-firing guns. Her crew numbered 610 officers and men.

The Vladimir Monomach was a sheathed cruiser of 5,593 tons, and 7,000 indicated horse power. She was completed in 1895, had a belt of compound armour six to ten inches thick, a protected deck of two inches of steel, and carried five 8-inch guns, twelve 6-inch guns, and eighteen quick-firing guns. Her crew numbered 550 officers and men.

The Admiral Oushakoff, a coast-defence ironclad, was of 4,648 tons displacement and 5,000 indicated horse power. She was completed in 1895, had an armored belt ten inches thick, a protected deck of three inches of steel.

The Svietlana was a protected cruiser of 3,862 tons displacement, had 3,828 indicated horse power, was completed in 1897 and had a speed of about 20 knots. She has a 2-inch protected deck of steel and four inches of armor over her gun positions. Her armament consisted of six 5.9-inch (Canet) guns, and ten 1.8-inch guns. She had a complement of 360 officers and men.

The protected cruiser Jemtchug was of 3,106 tons displacement and 17,000 indicated horse power, giving her a speed of about 23 knots. She was completed in 1903, had a protected deck of two inches of steel, and carried six 4.7-inch guns, six 1.8-inch guns, and two 1.4-inch guns. Her crew numbered 340 officers and men.

The repair ship Kamtschatka was a most important unit of Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet. She is understood to have been fitted up with every scientific appliance available for the repair of warships, and was described as being a "floating workshop." She was launched at the new Admiralty yard, St. Petersburg, November 1, 1902. She was of 7,200 tons displacement, was capable of carrying 3500 tons of coal, and mounted six small quick-firing guns. She had transport accommodation for 32 officers and 1,000 men.

The Irtessim was probably an auxiliary cruiser, but her name is not given in any of the naval lists available.

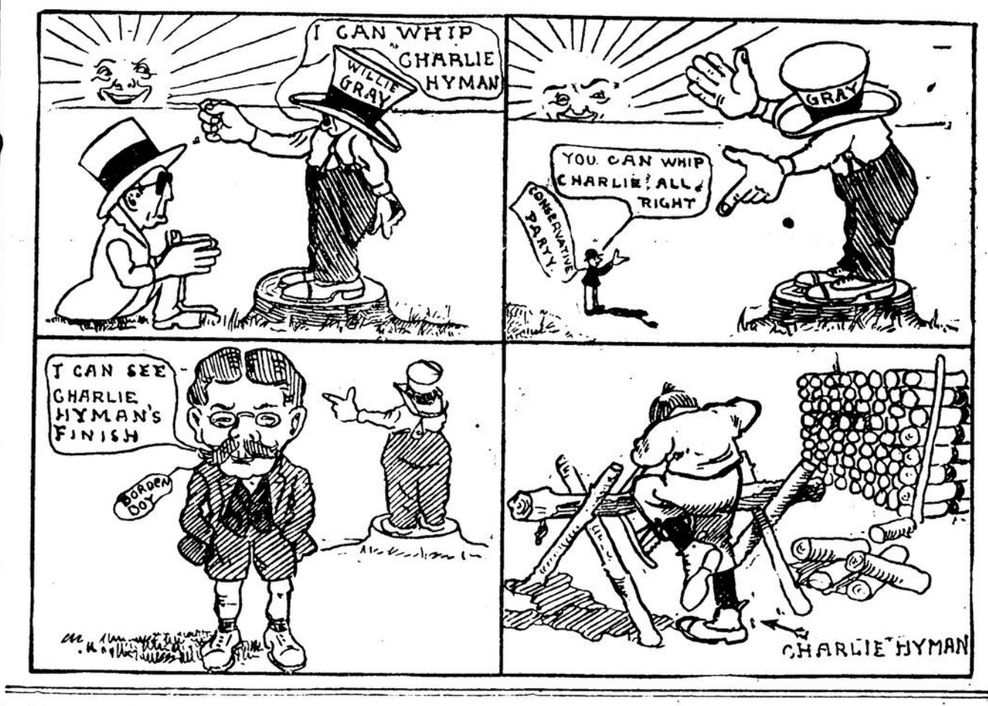

The battleship Orel is a sister ship of the Borodino.

The battleship Nicolai I. is of 9,672 tons displacement and 8,000 indicated horse power, giving her a speed of about 14 knots. She is sheathed, and although completed as far back as 1892, was thoroughly overhauled in 1900. She has a compound armor belt six to four inches thick, has a steel protected deck, 2½ inches thick, and has six to ten inches of armor (compound) over her gun positions. Her armament consists of two 12-inch guns, four 9-inch guns, eight 6-inch guns, and twelve quick-firing guns, in addition to a number of small rapid-fire guns. Her complement is 604 officers and men.

The coast-defence ironclad Admiral Senavin is a sister ship of the Admiral Oushakoff, sunk by the Japanese in the battle in the Straits of Korea.

The coast-defence ironclad General-Admiral Apraxine is of 4,126 tons displacement and 5,757 indicated horse power, giving her a speed of about 15 knots. She was completed at St. Petersburg in 1898, has an armor belt of Harveyized steel ten inches thick, a steel protected deck three inches thick, and has from seven to eight inches of Krupp steel over her heavy gun positions.

THE FIGHT IN LONDON.

Gloom in St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, May 29. At the Admiralty this morning absolutely nothing was known of the naval battle in the Far East except the news contained in the despatches of the Associated Press. The general impression produced by the cable messages was undoubtedly extremely gloomy. Were Admiral Rojestvensky was expected to pay the price for reaching his haven at Vladivostok, the complete loss of two of his four best battleships, besides several other warships, with heavy damage to other ships which such havoc indicated, is admitted to spell disaster unless the Japanese suffered correspondingly. For this news from Vladivostok, where the first communication with the Russian fleet will be established, is awaited with intense anxiety. The Admiralty calculates that wireless communication with Vladivostok might be established as early as this afternoon or to-night, but as all despatches must first go to the Emperor, the news is not likely to reach the public until to-morrow.

It is a matter of general comment that the most definite and most reliable information received up to the time the official announcement was sent out from Tokio came by way of Washington. Some of the foreign press despatches were very confusing, but everything seems to indicate that Togo delivered a series of desperate torpedo attacks during Saturday night with the support of his heavy ships. The reported sinking of so many ships. It is believed, might also be partially due to mine clouds ahead of the advancing Russian columns. The belief is also strengthened that Rojestvensky was forced in order to secure homogeneity in speed and fighting power to divide his fleet, only a single division passing the Straits of Corea, the other going around Japan. But the Straits of Corea division evidently included the pick of the Russian fleet. The Borodino and Orel are two of the four best battleships.

It is possible that Admiral Rojestvensky transferred his flag from the battleship Kniaz Souvaroff to the Borodino or Orel before the fight in order to prevent the concentration of the Japanese fire on his own ship. Owing to the decision of the newspapers to suspend Monday publication, only telegrams are being printed on fly sheets. The Novoe Vremya alone comments editorially on the battle under the caption, "The Hour of Fate has Struck." The paper says: "Russia has been reproached with putting too much trust in God, sending too many Ikons to the war, and not enough men. The result is now, in the language of the Americans, in the hands of 'The men behind the guns.' We Russians will be patient until the full results are known."

Black pessimism reigns among the public.

NEARLY TWO HUNDRED FISHERMEN OF A FRENCH FISHING SCHOONER PERISHED ON THE GRAND BANKS

Sydney, N.S., May 29.—(Special.)—News of what is probably the worst fishing disaster of the year, in which nearly two hundred lives have been lost, has been brought here by the French cruiser Troude, which arrived yesterday. For the past week the Troude has been cruising about the Grand Banks in a vain search for the French fishing schooner Cousins Rennis, which left France six weeks ago with a large quantity of supplies and one hundred and sixty men to replenish the St. Pierre fishing fleet.

Failing to arrive at St. Pierre within the usual time occupied in such passages, about three weeks, the authorities both at St. Pierre and in France became uneasy concerning the vessel's safety, and the Government sent instructions to the Troude to commence a search for her.

After cruising about the Grand Banks and the Newfoundland coast for a week, however, the cruiser could find no trace of the missing vessel, and her officers decided that she had either struck an iceberg or collided with some other vessel, and went to the bottom with all hands, including about one hundred and ninety men.

The Cousins Rennis was a three-masted vessel of 128 tons net, and built at Advocate, N.S., by A. C. Elberton in 1893.

INCREASED OFFER IN COTTON MERGER

Amount of Preferred Stock Now Offered is 33 1-3.

As intimated in our issue of Saturday night, letters patent have been granted incorporating The North American Cotton Co., Ltd." This company has been formed for the purpose of taking over the Montreal Cotton Company from the syndicate which has been acquiring the stock of that company. It is stated on behalf of the syndicate that many of the larger stockholders have already signed the offer made them by the Royal Trust Company for the syndicate, which offer is 100 in bonds and 33 1-3 in preferred stock of the new company. Reports have been circulated that the directors of the Montreal Cotton Co. are opposed to the proposition, but amongst those who favor it are, it is claimed, three of the directors who hold or represent a very large amount of stock.

THE COLONIAL CONFERENCE.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, May 29.—Mr. Kinlock Cooke, in the Empire Review, says Mr. Balfour will be most ill-advised to dissolve Parliament before the next Colonial Conference is held, for should he and the Liberals come into power, nothing need prevent them from following the precedent set by Mr. Tsanhope in 1887, and inserting in the letter of invitation to the colonies a clause deprecating discussion on any change in the fiscal system, a step which would certainly prevent the conference taking place at all, and might seriously imperil the holding of any future conference.

HOW SHAMROCKS GOT EDDIE ROBINSON

Strong Competition for the Stick of the Clever Fielder.

The story of how Eddie Robinson after agreeing to play with Montreal, returned at the eleventh hour to the Shamrocks, makes good reading.

As the hour for the Capital-Shamrock match approached the Irishmen grew dubious as to their chances of success over the Senators and a move was inaugurated to induce Robinson to turn out with the champions.

The original agreement between the Montreals and the Shamrocks was that Robinson and McIlwaine should be permitted to play with the former if the Montreal Club could do more to advance their interests than could the Shamrocks. The Montreals made it plain that they could do more in this direction than could the Shamrocks, and the latter at the N.A.L.U. meeting, the other clubs consenting, agreed to allow the pair to transfer their allegiance.

This agreement was not, it is alleged, adhered to, however. Friday night the Shamrocks' emissaries were sent after Robinson but he declined to listen to their proposals. Saturday morning they went after him again with no success.

Early Saturday afternoon, Mr. Wm. Bramley and Barney Dunphy went to Robinson's house to take him to the M.A.A.A. grounds. While the trio were chatting, in walked Mr. Thomas O'Connell, president of the Shamrocv Lacrosse Club. It was an embarrassing moment and the awkward silence was broken by Mr. O'Connell, who asked for a few minutes' private conversation with obinson. The outcome of this confab was that Robinson announced that he would have to play with the Shamrocks because if he didn't they would not permit him to play all season.

This announcement made Mr. Bramley hot under the collar and he put it up to Mr. O'Connell straight, if it were true. The answer was in the affirmative.

THE SCENE OF THE BATTLE.

The Tsushima Strait which separates the main island of Japan from the peninsula of Korea was the scene of the battle. Measured off upon an admiralty chart by Captain Braes, of the Allan steamship Tunisian, the distance from shore to shore is within a fraction of 90 miles. In the centre of the Straits is the Island of Gat, which gave Admiral Togo an additional advantage of observation. The patrol between the mainlands on each side and the centre island was an easy "sentry go" for swift torpedo boats. The star on the map indicates the approximate locality of the battle.

LONDON TIMES EXPERT ON NAVAL SITUATION

The London Times in analysing the respective strength of the fleets as above, calculated the respective gun armament of the opponents as follows:

Guns Calibre.	Numbers. Russian.	Japanese.
12in.	26	23
10in.	7	3
9in.	12 -32	4 -41
8in.	13	34
6in.	147	196

The Times adds: We may summarize this statement by saying that the Russians have fifty-eight guns of higher calibre than 6in., and the Japanese sixty-four; also that against 147 6in. guns carried by the Russian ships the Japanese ships can show 196. At the long ranges at which naval actions are likely to be fought the heavier guns, especially the 12in., have a better chance of hitting the object than the 6in. The 6in., nevertheless, can be fired oftener; and, though its percentage of hits at long range is considerably below the percentage of the 12in. gun, greater frequency of firing makes up in absolute number for a relatively poor percentage. The effect of a blow on a ship from a 6in. projectile is, of course, less than that from a 12in.; but, if the results of the action of August 10 last can be taken as a guide the difference of effect is not so considerable as might be looked for. Taking all the points into consideration it may be said that the aggregate gun force of the two fleets is nearly equal; the superiority rather inclining to the side of the Russians because of the newer type of so many of their ships carrying the heaviest gun.

The aggregate crews of the Russian armoured ships and unarmoured cruisers amount to about 10,200; the crews of the Japanese ships of corresponding classes amount to about 13,500. The crews of the Japanese destroyers and auxiliary cruisers exceed those of the Russians in nearly the proportion of the numbers of the respective craft.

Scene of the Battle.

The actual scene of the fight was that foreshadowed in the calculations of this expert supported by Captain Mahan: viz. the Tsushuma Straits which separate Corea from the mainland of Japan. For the Russian Admiral to have simply attempted to reach Vladivostok would have been a mere postponement of the inevitable battle if ojestvenskyi was in earnest in his endeavor to exercise any real influence in the war. It is across these Straits that the Japanese military forces draw their life blood; an interruption here would have been as fatal to Japan as would be an effectual blockade of her ports to Great Britain. The Russian fleets at Vladivostok would have been no more serious factor in the contest than would a hostile fleet which refrained from risking a battle in the English Channel.

These were the reasons that operated with Togo and hardened him against giving way to all temptations to go far away from his vital base in the waters of his own country. Scouts, but scouts only, have been heard of as far as 3,000 miles away from the shores of Japan, from the reports of these vessels, aided by the magnificent intelligence department in touch with almost every port; harbor, or possible stopping station which the Russians might use, it is evident that the Japanese admirals have been enabled, while resting in harbors where they could be kept fully coaled and in the highest state of efficiency, to launch themselves forth at the critical moment.

REV. CHARLES G. BECK PREACHED OPENING SERMON YESTERDAY

Taking as his text the 19th verse of the fourth chapter of Philippians: "But my God shall supply all your needs according to his riches in glory, by Christ Jesus."—Rev. Charles G. Beck, the newly appointed permanent pastor of the English Lutheran Church, delivered his inaugural sermon last night to a large and highly appreciative congregation in Karn Hall, the temporary quarters of the church.

The new pastor is a man, who while young in years, is the possessor of a depth and sincerity of character that is unmistakable, and his stay in Montreal is certain to redound to the glory of the church at large. A graceful, fluent and stirring preacher of the Gospel, Mr. Beck won the sympathy of the congregation at once, and many remained after the service to meet their future shepherd in matters spiritual.

The sermon itself was a direct appeal to his new congregation for sympathy and assistance in the days to come, when the needs of the church will grow and demand renewed work and sacrifice on the part of both pastor and people alike.

At the outset, Mr. Beck said that the church in Montreal had arrived at a turning point in its career. As the fifth biggest Protestant church in Canada, the third largest Protestant church in the United States, and the largest in the world, it had been decided to have a branch in Montreal, the largest city in Canada, in which the services could be held in the language of the continent. Seven months ago, when Rev. J. Bieber, had come from Hartford, Connecticut, as a field missionary the congregation had numbered seven souls. It now had 128 of a membership, and was rapidly growing; the needs would grow in proportion, needs of a spiritual and worldly character.

The pastor claimed that the faith of the English Lutheran church was of the purest and highest, and that it reached people that could be touched by no other church on earth. The church in Montreal had noble aims, and was to do noble work, while he as the pastor was bound to prove himself a worthy shepherd. For this end he laid claim to the sympathy and assistance of his people, and even as the Israelites were successful against their enemies when the hands of Moses were sustained, so was he in a measure relying upon the people of the church to uphold his hands in the fight against the world, and worldly things.

As the needs of the church grew, so would the happiness of the people increase in like proportion, in filling the ever pressing wants of the new branch. The sermon closed with a warm appeal for a hard working, zealous, real Christian life in the confines of the church.

Mr. Beck comes from Mahone Bay, N.S., and great things are expected of his work in this city. He is a gentleman of pleasing manner, and unbounded confidence in the church with which he is connected.

The local branch will presently move into new quarters, a site for which, centrally located, has already been selected.

REV. W. M. HARVEY SPOKE YESTERDAY AT EMMANUEL CHURCH

The preacher at both services of Emmanuel Congregational Church yesterday was Rev. Wm. Harvey, who is leaving his pastorate at Point St. Charles Congregational Church to take charge of the church at Rock Island, Que. Rev. Mr. Harvey succeeds the Rev. Mr. Reid, who goes to Sherbrooke as pastor of the church in that city.

Speaking at the Morning service from Philippians 3-13: "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended, but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before." Mr. Harvey spoke of the significance of how much Paul meant to convey to them by it. The Philippian Church was an exceptional one, and the members of it loved Paul, as Paul loved, and wrote to them of the deeper things which he felt and knew they would understand.

The text stood for four essentials in the building up of a Christian character, and these he wished to impress upon them, namely, concentration, contemplation, self-examination, and progression.

First, concentration; it was a grand thing for everyone to have an aim. Not to be a man of the petty "one-idea" kind, but to have one controlling and supreme purpose, which he shall always see above and beyond the smaller round of daily duties, and that shall make him direct all his energies in that one line. We should not forget the second requisite, contemplation, but should be careful not to let it become fascination, or it might draw our minds from the supreme aim, which should always be the glory of Jesus Christ. Paul had seen that glory, the "glory of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth." Paul did not care for temporal glory, but for this glory of character, the glory of the calling in Christ Jesus.

In the third place there was self-examination, by which we might find out our faults and failings, and compare them to the perfection of the manhood of Christ. None of us were what we should be, and we could none of us say "we had apprehended," for we were never at the point where we could make no progress. We must reach forth unto those things which are before and press toward the mark of the high calling in Christ Jesus, always going forward, always saying with Paul, "I count not myself to have apprehended; but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before."

Two seamen named Thomas Jones and James Donovan were remanded by Judge Lafontaine to-day on a charge of having assaulted John Dolan, McCord street, and robbed him of $18.

At the Protestant House of Industry and Refuge the number of night lodgings given last week was 234, and the number of meals given was 323.

The visiting governors for the present week to the Protestant House of Industry and Refuge and to the homes at Longue Pointe are Messrs. Albert H. Campbell and William Smith.

The Sea Captain.

(Gerald Gould, in London Spectator.)

I am in love with the sea, but I do not trust her yet!
The tall ships she has slain are ill to forget;
Their sails were white in the morning, their masts were split by noon;
The sun has seen them perish, and the stars and the moon.

As a man loves a woman, so I love the sea,
And ever as my desire of her is her desire of me;
When we meet after parting we put away regret,
Like lover joined with lover; but I do not trust her yet.

For fierce she is, and strange, and her love is kin to hate;
She must slay whom she desires; she will draw me soon or late
Down into the darkness and silence, the place of drowned men,
Having her arms about me. And I shall trust her then.

DEATH TOOK AWAY FATHER OF FAMILY

English Immigrant Fell from Train Yesterday Near St. Lazare.

A peculiarly sad accident happened yesterday morning between St. Clet and St. Lazare, when Thomas Townsend, a newly arrived English immigrant, fell from a C. P. R. train and was killed. Townsend, his wife and seven children, who have recently come from England, had passed through every danger of the voyage until this, and it seems particularly hard that just when on the borderland of their new home the father and bread-winner should be taken away.

The family arrived in this city from Quebec on Saturday and early yesterday morning left on the immigrant special for Toronto. After passing St. Lazare Townsend was missed by his wife, who in alarm notified the conductor. The train was stopped and the track searched, but no trace of the missing man could be found. The search had to be given up and the train moved on, leaving orders for the section-men to examine the track farther back. At daybreak these found the body lying beside the track near St. Lazare. It was taken to the morgue, where an inquest was held this morning.

CITY WILL SETTLE WITH GOVERNMENT

A report will be made to Council this afternoon authorizing a delegation to go to Ottawa to offer the Government in settlement of the militia "strike" claim, for the cession of St. Helen's Island, Park Lafontaine, and for a site for the Military School, the sum of $200,000 and the Lalonde property of 224 acres.

The delegation is composed of Ald. Vallieres, Nelson, Bastien, Robillard, Lavallee, Sadler and L. A. Lapointe, with City Clerk David.

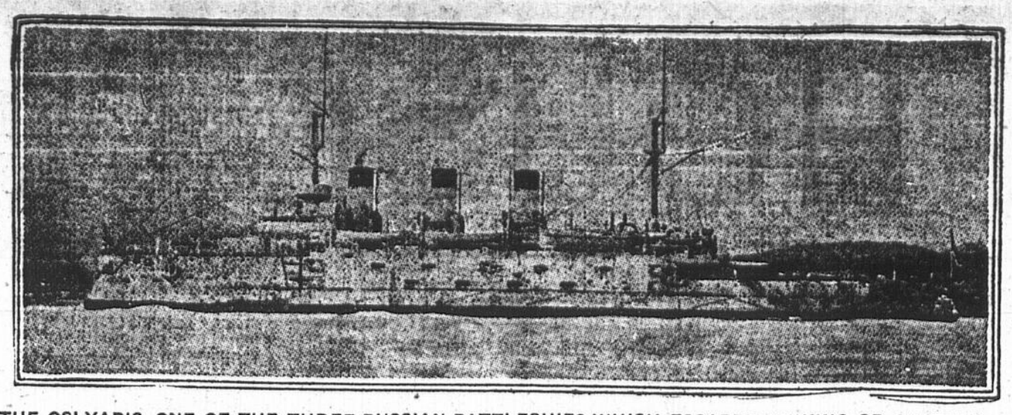

TOOK HIS LIFE IN WESTMOUNT PARK

Philip Cluzel, a man about thirty years of age, shot himself through the ear in Westmount Park this morning. No one saw the deed, but at six o'clock two men passing through the park to work found the body lying on a rustic bench near the artificial lake, with a revolver close by. They notified the Westmount police, and the body was removed to the morgue. There Mr. Alphonse Decarie, of Notre Dame de Grace, identified the body as that of Cluzel.

The deceased, who came from France less than a year ago, worked for Mr. Decarie as gardener until about April 1st. At that time he left on account of ill-health, and had since been boarding with Madame Lafreniere, 2237 St. James street, St. Henri. He was unable to work, and it is supposed that his illness brought on despondency, which prompted the rash deed. Mr. Decarie describes the deceased as one of the best and steadiest men who ever worked for him. Cluzel was a single man, and had no relatives in Canada.

EATON'S REPRESENTATIVES RETURN TO TORONTO

Mr. W. Black and Mr. H. McDermid, of the T. Eaton Company, Toronto, were in the city to-day on their way home after spending three weeks in the Maritime Provinces in the interests of their firm. Messrs. Black and McDermid have charge of the advertising and promotion departments, which is probably the best conducted of any similar store on the continent. Eaton's stands as a marvel of system and organization, and their store for years has been a Mecca to the departmental trade of America. Mr. Black said that one of the amusing features of their trip was that as soon as they arrived in a town or village, no matter how small, every one they came in contact with seemed to be under the impression that Eaton's were going to establish a branch store in their town. To do away with a similar and persistent Montreal rumor, it is not the intention of the firm to establish branches elsewhere than those already in existence.

"Toasted Breath of the Wheatfields."

HAS BEEN SAID OF THE DELICIOUS, CRISP FLAVOR OF

Grape-Nuts

THOSE WHO TRY THE FOOD FAITHFULLY FOR 10 DAYS LEARN THREE THINGS WORTH MORE THAN A GOLD MINE TO ANYONE WHO VALUES HEALTH AT ITS WORTH.

First, that a few ounces of perfectly digested food yields more nourishment and strength than many pounds of any kind of food undigested.

Second, that it is in Grape-Nuts alone, that the starchy part of the grain (that part which is known to supply energy) is naturally pre-digested in the process of manufacture. Government tests of all the principal foods show no food known has as much as one-half the solubility (the digestive test) in cold water as Grape-Nuts and most of the foods range down from one-fourth to very low relative percentages.

Third, that nervous systems, exhausted by high strain of present day requirements, can be and are rebuilt quickly when fed on Grape-Nuts, because Nature's Phosphate of Potash and Albumen are presented in the food and from these two things and water, the life forces make up the soft gray matter with which to refill the depleted nerve centres throughout the body and brain. A distinct feeling of buoyancy and mental strength follows a "Grape-Nuts diet."

See suggestions in little brochure in package. The way back to health by Grape-Nuts is pleasant and most profitable.

CITY TO PETITION AGAINST BELL CO.

No delegation will go to Ottawa to see the Telephone Committee, but instead a resolution of Council will be framed this afternoon and sent to the Dominion Government.

"I'm framing up Montreal's complaints," said City Attorney Ethier this morning, "and the petition will embody all the alleged grievances against the company—the slot machines, the extra tax for installation, and the need of better machines at the same price as we pay to-day.

"Toronto has already been heard and many other cities. The committee has the facts of telephone installation from England, the United States and other countries."

Mr. Ethier expressed himself as against the slot machines, legally, and thought that the city's petition would be well received.

DISASTER WAS NARROWLY AVERTED

Quebec, May 29.—(Special.)—A catastrophe was narrowly averted yesterday in the River St. Lawrence, off St. Antoine's whaarf, about twenty miles up the river from Quebec.

The steamer Pilot, owned by the Quebec and Levis Ferry Company, used both in the winter and summer freight carrying trade between Quebec and Levis, and at times as an excursion boat in the summer, left Champlain Market wharf yesterday afternoon at one o'clock, on a trip up the river and had on board over two hundred excursionists. Everything was proceeding nicely when suddenly the Pilot swerved from her course in the channel and ran aground off the St. Antoine's wharf. The noise of the grounding boat was the first intimation the passengers had of their predicament, and before they had time to realize what was the matter, the boat took a heavy list and remained stationary on her side, the water coming in over the guards of the lower deck.

The women and children were on the verge of a panic, when the captain and several cool-headed passengers went among them and assured them that there was no danger. The steamer was provided with a full complement of up-to-date life buoys, and had on her upper deck two canoes. The former were served out to the passengers, and the latter launched into the water, and the passengers carried to shore, some 500 yards distant, in them.

The work, however, was difficult, and if the boat had foundered there would have been considerable loss of life.

The news of the accident was wired to the company's office in Quebec. The tug Belle was despatched up the river to the rescue, and when the latter reached the Pilot there were still a number of female passengers on her upper deck who were taken off and transferred to the Belle.

GAYNOR-GREENE CASE POSTPONED

Gaynor and Greene must languish yet another week in the Montreal jail, awaiting Judge Lafontaine's decision in their extradition case. Instead of giving his judgment this morning the Extradition Commissioner merely called the prisoners before him without their counsel and remanded them for eight days.

Judge Lafontaine said to The Herald that he was preparing an elaborate judgment, which might take fifty pages of typewriting and would deal at length with every feature of the case, as considering the importance of the case, and the international obligations involved, he was most anxious to deal carefully with the case. He had been delayed by the work of typewriting the evidence, but expressed confidence that at the expiration of the present remand he would be ready to give his decision.

FAMED COMPANY FAST DISAPPEARING

Ottawa, May 29.—(Special.)—Hon. William Macdougall died here this morning at the age of eighty-two. He was one of the fathers of Confederation. The survivors now are Sir William Howland, Sir Charles Tupper and Senator A. A. MacDonald.

Hon. William MacDougall was welll known as a journalist. In 1858 he established the Canadian Farmer and Canadian Agriculturist. He had previously established the North American, which was afterward merged into the Toronto Globe. He was elected for North Oxford in 1858 and his last Parliamentary venture was an unsuccessful one in South Renfrew in 1887.

RESULTS OF THE RACES AT WOODBINE TRACK TO-DAY

Woodbine Track, Toronto, May 29. —(Special.)—The bad weather put a damper on the attendance at the races on the second Monday. In the members stand there were very few ladies, while in the betting ring it was only the regulars that turned out. Only about half the bookmakers weighed in and they were not kept very busy during the afternoon.

The steady fall of rain soon made the track sticky and before the day was half over the track was fetlock deep in mud. This was the first day that the mud horses had an innings.

The scratches in the events were numerous and put the fields down to small ones. There were seven races on the card. The feature event was for the Seagram cup. There were originally seven entries in the Seagram Cup race. Three of these—Scarfell, Light Brigade and Bencrockett, were withdrawn, while Benckart was added, carrying 11 7pounds, making a field of half a dozen.

The sixth race, and the event for two-year-olds, were the largest of the afternoon. In these the starter had his troubles, but despatched them in good order. The first race had a good field of ten horses, going to the post with Mrs. Frank Foster and Love Note equal chances at 9 to 5. The play was all on the pair with pickers' bets on the others.

THE FIRST RACE.

The field was some time at the post, but were despatched well together. The betting was: Mrs. Foster, 9 to 5; Love Note, 9 to 5; Miss Gunn, 5 to 1; Loupania, 8 to 1; Gemini, 50 to 1; Mike Clancey, 50 to 1; Indian Flower, 10 to 1; Tony Hart, 50 to 1; King Crane, 30 to 1; Monida, 60 to 1.

The first race resulted as, follows. Mrs. Frank Foster first, Miss Gunn second, Love Note third. Time, 1.10 1-2.

Mrs. Foster went away, but dropped back to second position going round the turn. Monida had the lead, but could not last long enough to hold on Mrs. Frank Foster, who was

THREE DROWNED IN RICHELIEU RIVER

Sailboat Capsized, and the Occupants Were Unable to Swim.

St. Johns, P.Q., May 29.—(Special.) — A very sad boating accident took place here yesterday afternoon on the Richelieu, resulting in the death of three promising young men, two of whom were well-known locally, and the third, a resident of Montreal.

A party, consisting of Messrs. J. Hevey, Hercules Trahan, two brothers Trudeau, and one Leger embarked in a small sailing skiff, from the summer residence of the first named, which is situated about a half mile above the town. They had not proceeded far when a gust of wind coming from an unexpected quarter, caused the boat to capsize. All were precipitated into the river, but Leger managed to regain the boat, to which he clung until rescued. Mr. Hevey appears to have been the only one in the party who could swim. He made for the shore, btu it was seen that his strength was rapidly failing. He was about to go down when he was rescued by a Mr. Rainville, who witnessed the accident from his house-boat, which was anchored close by. The other three—Trahan and the two Trudeaus—sank almost immediately, and were not seen again.

Trahan was a clerk in the men's furnishing store of Mr. Hevey, and the elder Trudeau was similarly employed in the stationery store of Madame Arpin. The younger Trudeau resided in Montreal and came out this morning to spend the day with his brother. The ages of the drowned men ranged from twenty-five to twenty-eight years, and all were unmarried.

When Hevey was brought to shore he was, with much difficulty, resuscitated. He was on a fair way to recovery to-day, but is still suffering from nervous shock. One of the bodies, that of the younger Trudeau, was recovered a short time after the accident, but up to a late hour to-day neither of the other two had been found.

MR. AMES CLAIMS A STRAIGHT CONTEST

Ald. H. B. Ames, M.P., took a very emphatic stand on his examination for discovery this morning in the election protest entered against him by Mr. Legere Pleau. He firmly denied knowledge of any improper expenditure, and as firmly refused to aid in any way the opposition counsel in ferreting out information, except such as he was personally cognizant of. He was examined at length by Mr. Camille Piche, M.P., who, with Mr. Perron, appeared for Mr. Pleau.

Mr. Ames said he organized eleven committees in St. Antoine. Every cent used in the election, however, had been expended through his financial agent, Mr. Duclos, and was shown in his published statement, showing an outlay of $10,000. This statement he declared was correct in every detail and covered all expenditure.

Who hired your canvassers? asked Mr. Piche.

I did not. I don't know just what you mean by canvassers or who hired them. You had better explain yourself.

Were not paid men working for your election?

Yes, there were one or more paid secretaries in each committee room, but they were hired and chosen by the chairmen, and paid by orders on Mr. Duclos. I had nothing to do with it. There was a chairman named Carmichael and two secretaries Davies and Chelwynd, at Committee A., but I don't know what they were paid.

Then, can you give us this niformation.

I cannot give it you. The statements were filed with the Returning Officer, Mr. Dickson and you have as much access to them as I have.

Yes, but I am not a witness in this case.

Mr. Ames—Nor am I here to tell you of what is not within my own personal knowledge, and I shall not attempt to do so. I declare I have no personal knowledge of what salaries were paid, and you can look for that information yourself.

Do you refuse to get this for the Court?

But Mr. Duclos, Mr Ames' counsel, protested this question and instructed Mr. Ames not to answer.

"A CLEAR, STRAIGHT CONTEST."

Mr. Ames then stated that many of his workers were not paid; he knew of 260 such.

"Where, then, did this $10,000 go?" asked Mr. Piche.

"Exactly where the published statement shows. I have never seen a detailed statement of it, but it was filed with Mr. Dickson. To the best of my knowledge and belief, not a dollar of it was spent dishonorably, dishonestly or in any way as it should not have been."

"To have such knowledge, you must know how it was spent?"

"I do not."

"How, then can you make such a sweeping statement?"

"Because my chairmen were honorable and honest men, and I gave them strict instructions that I wanted a clean, straight contest. I believe they carried out my instructions. If they did not, it was without my knowledge or consent."

"So you cannot state where the money went?"

"I have already told you it all went to Mr. Duclos, my agent, and further than that it is not necessary for me to know where a dollar went. I did not analyze the expenditure of each committee."

"I ask you, can you do this?"

"Yes, I can find out by going to Mr. Dickson."

"And will you go to Mr. Dickson?"

"No. I have no intention of doing so."

The examination then proceeded as to the personnel of Mr. Ames' various committees and his workers, etc.

NEW CONCERT HALL FORMALLY OPENED

Catholic Sailors' Club Now in Occupation of Hall on McGill Street.

The new concert hall of the Catholic Sailors' Club on McGill Street, was formally opened on Saturday afternoon by Mr. Robert Bickerdike, M.P., who acted in the absence of Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Mr. Prefontaine's telegram of regret and good wishes was read during the meeting.

A large number of people who have identified themselves with the work of the club, and who have interested themselves in the welfare of the sailors, were present at the formal inauguration. The new hall, which is very commodious, and which is very well adapted for the concerts which have come to be such a feature in the life of the port of Montreal, was prettily decorated to welcome its first guests, an orchestra discoursed sweet music before the speeches began, and while refreshments were being served, and everybody seemed to thoroughly enjoy the house-warming.

Lady Hingston, the president of the club, Mr. F. B. McNamee, Mrs. McNamee and the other officers of the club, were warmly congratulated on the work which their efforts had brought to such a successful termination.

The annual report of the club was read by the secretary, Mr. M. A. Phelan. The financial statement presented by Mr. B. McNally, the treasurer of the club, showed that whereas $4,065.26 had been received, $2,007 had been expended, leaving a surplus of about $2,050, of which $1,719 had been added to the building fund. In all $6,900 had been raised for the building fund, and of this $2,800 had been expended on the building and about $1,000 was land liability. This left $2,100 to the credit of the fund with permanent furnishings for the building not yet provided for.

Rev. Father Malone, the chaplain of the club, in presenting the report of the house committee, stated that the number of men visiting the rooms during the summer was 35,109. Among other things there were distributed between the men 6,057 packages of reading matter, 1,046 prayer books, 954 scapulars, 2,336 total abstinence pledges, 305 Sacred Heart badges, twelve gross of clay pipes and 725 car tickets. There had also been 1,160 visits paid to ships.

Speeches of congratulation on the work done among the sailors by the Catholic Sailors' Club were made by Mr. Geo. E. Drummond, Hon. Senator Mackay, Hon. Justice Mathieu, Mr. A. Piers, of the C.P.R., Rev. Father Turgeon S.J., Rev. Father Avanagh, S.J., Mr. W. Ritchie Bell, secretary of the Montreal Sailors' Institute, Mr. C. F. Smith and Mr. W. E. Doran.

Previous to closing the meeting, and before refreshments were served, Mr. Bickerdike announced that Senator Mackay had authorized him to state he would endaevor to secure a grant of $200 a year for the Catholic Sailors' Club.

QUEBEC SOLDIERS FOR HALIFAX.

Quebec, May 28.—(Special.)—The members of the R.C.G.A., including all the officers except Col. Wilson, the members of the band and thirty men retained to do guard duty, received orders on Saturday to hold themselves in readiness to leave Quebec on the 22nd day of June for garrison duty at Halifax, N.S., The order was entirely unexpected, and has caused no little amount of consternation among the officers and men.

CHAPTER XVII.—(Continued.)

"I can not listen; it is not right for me to listen. I am too troubled with many things to listen to you now. You don't know who I am. I do not know myself, who I am. You've been deceived by her—you don't know. I have no mother, as I thought I had. I am going away from here to-morrow. I don't know where I shall go, but I know I shall not stay here. It's wrong for me to stay. It's wrong for me to listen to you. I can't tell you all I've heard." Miss Lady's lip trembled.

"Did she tell you? Has Mrs. Ellison—" cried Decherd; suddenly flushing. But Miss Lady was too much disturbed to notice his speech or his changed expression. She could only reiterate, "I am going away."

"Oh, come now," said he, his voice again gaining confidence and his face showing relief as he glanced about him. "Come, you are only tired. I ought not to have troubled you this way, this evening, but I could not help it—I could not wait. I was afraid—but then to-morrow—I'll see you to-morrow. Think, Miss Lady, think—"

"I have thought," said Miss Lady, with sudden decision. "I have thought; and as for to-morrow, there'll be none for me at this place. I'm going away at once. I must begin life all over again. It has been wrong for me to live here at all. Why did you ask me to come here? We would have been better off where we were, even if we were poor and helpless."

"It's been heaven here since you came."

"Oh, it was kind of you to get mamma and me a home here. It has been home. It has been so sweet. I love it—I shall always love it. It is big and free here for everybody. One can live here—one could live here if it were right. Colonel Blount is a splendid man, a grand man—"

"Yes?"

"Yes, yes, a splendid man."

"But you'll not stay here?" There was well-nigh as much eagerness as regret in his tone. She did not note it.

"No, I can not," she replied. "I can't tell you everything—I don't want to tell you everything. No one is to blame, I suppose. It's all because I have just grown up, and find I'm in the wrong place. I have been living along here just—just like one of the blacks out there in the fields—without—without taking thought. If it were honest, if I could do anything, if I belonged to anyone and could feel that in some way I earned the right to—to—not take thought—then it would be different."

"That's what I say! That's as I want to have it," he began; but she would not listen.

"But it isn't right," she went on. "I can't tell you everything. I can't even tell you about Mrs. Ellison. Perhaps you have been deceived. Ask her. Go ask Colonel Blount, and he may tell you what he likes. But for me, just forget me. I couldn't love you — I couldn't love any one now. I am cold, all through."

The plaintiveness of her speech touched even this man. He held out his arms. "No, no," she cried, as she drew back. "I tell you, the world has gone to pieces. I must find a new one. I am not myself, I am lost; I don't know what I am." Again for a half-instant, touched as he was, Decherd went near to forgetting the lover. There was almost exultation on his face as he saw how fortune was now favoring him in his plans. There was nothing he wished so much as that Miss Lady might leave the Big House at once and for ever.

"I can't tell who I am!" the girl repeated, as though in an agony of entreaty. "I'm some one else! It's so strange. I must go—"

"But where would you go?" said he.

"I do not now; somewhere."

"But then? Why, what could you do, alone? Think—here am I offering you all you need, a home in some other place, comfort, safety, some one to care for you—why, perhaps it might mean riches before long—I will tell you—you'll find it hard enough alone."

"Yes, it will be new and hard," said Miss Lady, with a wan smile. "I have never thought very much for myself. Some one has always seemed ready to do things for me. I can't do very much. But then, you know, sometimes the things you can't do show you the way to things that you can."

"You are obstinate," cried Decherd, angry now, as only a weak man would have been. "I'll follow you wherever you go! The time will come when you will be glad enough to see me."

"Mr. Decherd," said Miss Lady, straightening into a quick aloofness, "you said you loved me. That sounds to me as if in some way you were threatening me."

"Well, I will," he reiterated sullenly "You'd better think."

Miss Lady shook her head slowly from side to side. "I am frightened," she said. "Perhaps some girls would not be. But, in some way, though I am easy to frighten, I don't seem easy to frighten from things that I think I ought to do."

Knowing now that he had found obstacle in this girl's will not thus to be overcome, Decherd allowed his anger to get the better of him.

"Go, then!" he cried brutally.

"Sir," said Miss Lady, "you yourself may go now, if you please;" and she stood so unagitated, so composed and certain of herself, certain as well of his obedience, that Decherd knew here was a woman different from any with whom he had hitherto had to do. Flinging out his hands in anger at his own mistake, his own folly, he turned and strode away. Miss Lady, sinking into the chair, gazed out at a world now grown indistinct and shadowy, full of the terrors of uncertainty.

Decherd knew himself beaten for the time, when he left her. But though he promised it to himself, he did not follow Miss Lady at that time; for before another moon had lit the mysterious realm of the forest beyond which lay an unknown world, Miss Lady was indeed gone. Carrying with her not even a clear knowledge of her own past, doubting her own parentage, doubting almost her own identity; helpless, unprepared, and all too ignorant of the world from which such as she should for ever be shielded and protected, she had left the only spot on earth she knew as home, the only place where she could claim a friend, and fared out into the unknown! It was as if some evil harpy of the air had swooped down and borne her into the pathless sky, as though the earth or the waters had closed over her and left no trace. The simple and the sincere, those most direct and frank, ofttimes are most difficult to follow in their actions when they take counsel wholly of themselves. Miss Lady had no involved motive, none but the one direct and imperative, no means except the one immediately at hand. Hence, so impelled, so guided, she disappeared completely, impossible as that might have seemed. Not even in the piteous little note which Colonel Calvin Blount later crushed in his hand, did she give any clue to her destination.

Henry Decherd did not take the down train on that day. Had he taken Miss Lady's declarations seriously, and suspected a deliberate intention on her part, he might have watched the only avenue of escape possible for her. But this he did not do.

In truth the plans of Henry Decherd himself, quasi guest at the Big House, guest tolerated, guest under suspicion, were at that time of a nature singularly intricate, and demanding all his skill and resources. It was certain that Decherd did not disappear with Miss Lady—so much was left to comfort Colonel Calvin Blount. It was certain also that he said no adieus to his long-time host, nor gave any hint as to his own departure. Yet it was clearly proved by many of the servants about the Big House that Decherd was seen mounted and riding to the westward at an early hour of the same morning in which Miss Lady was thought to have left the place.

This fact, indeed Decherd himself, was well-nigh forgotten in the grief which now came to the master of the Big House. Troubled as Colonel Calvin Blount was, there was born, and there remained, in his mind the unshakable belief that Miss Lady had not of her own will gone with Henry Decherd.

CHAPTER XVIII.

MISFORTUNE.

How narrow and inefficient are sometimes all the ways of fate and life! By how small a margin, passing upon the crowded ways of life, do we ofttimes miss the friend who comes with running feet to meet us! The very train which bore Miss Lady from the Big House brought down from the northward John Eddring, eagerly bent upon an errand of his own—John Eddring, for weeks restless, harried and driven of his own heart, and now fully committed to a purpose whereon depended all his future happiness. He must find Miss Lady, must see her once more; must tell her this one thing indisputably sure, that the paths of earth had been shaped solely that they two might walk therein for ever! He must tell her of his loneliness, of his ambitions; and of this, his greatest hope. Desperately in haste, he scarce could wait until the train pulled up at the little station. He sprang off on the side opposite from the station, and ran up the lane.

Ah! blind one, not to see, not to feel, not to know that the dearest dweller of the Big House was here, directly at hand upon the platform, unseen, but upon the point of stepping aboard the train which had brought him, and which was now to carry her away. Miss Lady, laying her plans well, had practically concealed herself until the very moment of the arrival of the train. And so now these two passed, their feet thereafter running far apart.

Colonel Blount received his guest with a strikingly haggard look upon his face; yet at first he made no explanations. He saw Eddring glancing round, and knew whom he sought.

"She isn't here," the planter said very quietly, and handed him the note which he had but a few moments earlier discovered. Eddring's face went as bloodless as his own as he read the few simple lines.

"What's the reason of this?" he cried fiercely. "When did she go?"

DEATH OF MR. JAMES COCHRANE REMOVES PATRIOTIC CITIZEN

He Had Been in Poor Health for Nearly Two Years, But Turn for the Worse Came Only Last Wednesday—Funeral To-Morrow Afternoon.

After two years of continued ill-health, which recently culminated in severe illness, Mr. James Cochrane, ex-Mayor of Montreal and member of the Legislative Assembly, died yesterday afternoon from heart weakness superinduced by diabetes. His death came as a shock to many who, familiar with his robust appearance, were ignorant of his true state of health. Amongst his family and immediate friends it had been known for some time that the end aws near and inevitable. Mr. Cochrane met his death as he had lived, fighting as long as there was hope, then submitting to his fate with sturdy courage and devout faith. He had been at the Royal Victoria Hospital since Thursday. He was conscious almost to the last, his wife remaining at his bedside with devoted attention.

In the death of Mr. Cochrane this city and province are deprived of the services of a patriotic and useful citizen, and in many circles alike of business and charity his presence and common-sense will be greatly missed. He was one of the many Scotsmen who have come to Canada poor and unknown and served both themselves and the land of their adoption well. Starting in life after education at the British Canadian School as a telegraph operator, he has held the highest offices in the city's gift aided to fame his province's laws at Quebec and taken a prominent part in many of the leading city institutions.

Born in Kincardine, Scotland, in 1852, Mr. Cochrane came to Canada at an early age. After leaving school he entered the employ of the Montreal Telegraph Company here, afterward becoming chief operator at many important points. On the building of the C.P.R. he successfully carried out contracts on the North Shore section. He also took part in the building of the Intercolonial Railway, and constructed the first telegraph line across the North Shore of Lake Superior. He also earned the thanks of the Canadian Government for his services in conveying the troops across the gaps of the C. P. R. during the Northwest Rebellion.

[illegible] Mr. Cochrane achieved considerable financial success and returned to Montreal to enter into business as a contractor. He became a pioneer in the asphalt pavement business and took a leading part in the paving of Montreal streets. For years he quietly added to his business and acquired a handsome competence.

With wealth came the Scotch instinct for public service and in the general elections of 1891 Mr. Cochrane was the Liberal candidate in Montreal West, against the present Lord Strathcona (then Sir Donald Smith), but was defeated. Turning his attention to municipal affairs Mr. Cochrane again met defeat as an aldermanic candidate for St. Lawrence Ward. The same ward, however, elected him to the Provincial Parliament in 1900 and in 1902 he was elected Mayor of Montreal, defeating the retiring Mayor, Mr. R. Wilson-Smith by a majority of 954. At the Provincial election last November Mr. Cochrane was again returned to the Legislative Assembly by acclamation by the people of St. Lawrence Ward.

Mr. Cochrane was associated with many public and private institutions of the city. He was a Governor of both the General and Notre Dame Hospitals, and member of the Managing Board of the Protestant Insane Asylum and the Western General Hospital. In business circles he was well known as a member of the Board of Trade, the Chambre de Commerce, a director of the Hudson's Bay and Pacific Railway, and many other companies. He was also president of the St. Lawrence Liberal Club, and a vice-president of the Montreal Reform Club. Mr. Cochrane was a good sportsman, and was a director of the Montreal Fish and Game Club; he also took considerable interest in antiquarian research, and was for many years a member of the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society.

Mr. Cochrane was also prominently connected with the labor movement in Montreal. He was a vice-president of the Trades and Labor Council and was thrice elected master workman of Warren Assembly, Knights of Labor.

A man of bluff, hearty presence, he was a warm-hearted friend and a keen fighter, decidedly independent in his views, both in politics and business. He was liked by many, respected by all, and by his death the community is the poorer for the loss of an honest servant.

Mr. Cochrane was married in 1891 to Miss Katherine Mansfield, who survives him. He was childless, his nearest relations being a sister, Mrs. Drysdale, Mr. David Cochrane, a brother, residing in New Zealand; D. J. Cochrane, W. McD. Cochrane, and Henry Robert and D. C. Drysdale, nephews, living in Montreal, and Mr. R. Cochrane, a nephew in South America.

Funeral services will be held from the family residence (whither the remains were conveyed last night) to Mount Royal Cemetery, on Tuesday afternoon.

THE YELLOW OUTPOST GAVE TIMELY WARNING

Chief Carpenter Found That the Chinese Fan-Tan Fiends Have Learned Caution.

The fan-tan players of local Chinatown have taken to the placing of outposts, so that they may have timely warning of the approach of the "enemy," Carpenter's men, when a raid is intended.

Two sections of detectives, under Chief Carpenter and Sub-Chief Charpentier, respectively, made a rear attack on Lagauchetiere street last night, going in by way of Dorchester and St. Urbain streets. But the wily Chinee is getting to know that the worst kind of danger does not always show either on the front or on the flanks, and as soon as the 'tecs slipped round the corner and headed in the direction of John Lee's place at 579a Lagauchetiere, and Charley Yon's at 580, a Chink began to make fast time in that direction, screaming at full lung strength, and although the City Hall men got quickly on the "double," the establishments looked silent as the grave when they reached there.

But the chief was not out on a Sunday evening ramble, and the outer door was promptly forced, only to find, however, a few of the "innocent and bland" sitting round chatting over old times when they could indulge in unlimited fan-tan on the paternal doorstep without fear of any one. There were not wanting evidences of a hurried rush of visitors by back yards and shed roofs, and as search revealed some gambling paraphernalia on the premises, both crowds (six in one, seven in the other) were taken into custody.

All were remanded by Judge Lafontaine to-day, Lee and Yun in $100 bail and the others in $20.

REV. DR. CARMAN SPEAKS ON PROVINCIAL RIGHTS

Calgary, N.W.T., May 29. — The officers of the new Alberta conference are: President, Rev. John McDougall, Calgary; secretary, Arthur Barner, Lacombe.

Rev. Dr. Carman delivered an address on provincial rights. Among other things he said: "If I know anything of the spirit of the Briton or the sentiment of a Canadian, such a proposition can never be wholly a Western question, but concerns all Canada.

"When a moral question gets into politics and, under the shield of a political party, attempts to hide its head like an ostrich then into politics I am going.

"Romanism is an aggregation of ecclesiastical force that from the Seven Hills undertakes to interfere with civil governments.

"The everlasting tendency of an ecclesiastical power is to interfere with civil power."

For his part, Dr. Carman asserted emphatically, that he would object to Methodist Separate Schools. He believed in the great public school system, in equal rights of all citizens to education.

MOUNT ST. LOUIS CADETS INSPECTED SATURDAY

Smart Cadet Battalion Went Through Military Manoeuvres With Great Precision.

The eighth annual inspection of the Mount St. Louis Cadets took place on the Champ de Mars Saturday afternoon before a large concourse of spectators. Lieut.-Col. Pelletier, chief of staff of the district, was the inspecting officer.

The corps was divided into two battalions, with a total strength of 404 men, and went through the drill in a most masterly fashion. The battalions drawn up in line were generally inspected by the inspecting officer, who was accompanied by Major Ostell, of the 65th, and his Worship Mayor Laporte. Immediately thereafter came the "march past" the saluting point in quarter column, a movement executed with great steadiness.

Squad and company drill followed, No. 3 company being awarded the Wilson-Smith cup. Captain Bridges and Lieut. Tippet, P.W.F., were the judges in this competition. Battalion drill drew general applause, the work of Cadet-Major Farrell, of the second battalion, being particularly admired. Cadet-Major Farrell is barely fourteen years of age.

Sword exercise by the officers of No. 1 Battalion, under Cadet-Adj. Cousineau, and musical drill by both battalions, under their instructor, Sergeant-Major Phillips, were productive of great enthusiasm, the work being splendidly performed.

The general salute followed the battalions moving forward in quarter column, with colors flying and bands playing.

The inspection being concluded, Lt.-Col. Pelletier addressed the cadets and complimented them upon their good work, expressed the hope that in years to come they would identify themselves with the active militia. Mayor Laporte also addressed the corps.

TUNISIAN PASSENGER CHARGED WITH BIGAMY

Mrs. Buglar Was Arrested at Quebec on Instructions Received From England.

Quebec, May 29.—(Special.)—On the arrival of the Allan R.M. Steamer Tunisian, at this port on last Friday midnight, High Constable Gale and Chief McCarthy, of the Provincial police, went on board and arrested one of the passengers, registered as Mrs. Bugler, charged with bigamy. The maiden name of the accused is Mary Ann Charlesworth, aged forty-five years, who, it is said, was formerly the wife of an aged Englishman named Bellamy, whom she deserted some months ago, and afterwards married her present husband Bugler, a barber by trade, who was on his way to Toronto, to establish hiself in business there. The accused was removed from the ship to the provincial police station, and it is said that when she was searched a draft for £6,000 was found in her possession. Bugler followed his wife to the station and was also accommodated with a cell. Mrs. Bellamy alias Bugler, claims that she did not know her former husband was living when she married Bugler, aged twenty-five years. She says she married Bellamy several years ago, and as they could not agree together they separated, and later she heard he was dead and only then did she consent to remarry. The woman is held on a cablegram order from the English authorities, and she will be held here until further advice is received.

JAPAN WINS AGAIN.

Japan retains command of the sea, and the nature of the victory her brilliant naval geniuses have achieved is such that Russia can no longer hope to stop the passage of men, arms and stores to strengthen the Japanese military forces, which must henceforth increasingly bear the brunt of the contest.

It may also be said that "the expected has happened;" though any reasonable analysis of the official tables of the number, tonnage and armament of the respective forces shows that there was no statistical ground for the confidence so generally felt in British and American naval circles that Togo would come out victor. Indeed, outside the Anglo-Saxon press, and even in a small section within it there has been a growing feeling that Rojestvensky might manage to reach Vladivostok without sustaining any really serious crippling of his forces.

To do him justice, the defeated Russian admiral has shown no deficiency either in courage or in acumen. Rojestvensky evidently realized that however much temporary glory might have been achieved if he had succeeded in entering Vladivostok comparatively unharmed, such an event would have been valueless to his country. To be of the slightest assistance to General Linevitch and to affect the fortunes of the war, he must seek the enemy in his own waters and either annihilate him or so cripple his strength that the daily despatch of reinforcements and supplies from the Island Kingdom to the mainland of Korea and Manchuria should become a hazardous task.

If we admit that Rojestvensky has accomplished something towards rehabilitating his personal reputation for courage and resource, so much the more can we criticise the phlegmatic attitude of Togo, and his lieutenants their perfect discipline and obliveness of action, their resistance of all temptation to undergo great risks by leaving the narrow waters of their own coasts which it was their commission to defend. It must have been a sore trial to these apostles of patience to remain day after day, week after week, at anchor within sight of their own shores when the wires were hot with news of the movements of the foe manoeuvering within a few days easy steam of them and apparently hesitating what course to pursue.

If the Japanese themselves were becoming nervous and irritable at the inaction of Togo and the growing confidence of these for as evinced in the daily cables from Europe and America, no word of criticism was heard. The Japanese intelligence department gave no sign, declining even to supply the consolatory daily food, "situation unchanged," sent by Roberts and Kitchener through the dreary month of January, 1900.

Details of this greatest naval fight since Trafalgar, one hundred years ago, almost to the month, will be eagerly awaited, not only by the public but by the constructors and contractors of every navy in the world. The respective parts played by speed, tonnage, armament, in each type of the various forces employed, as well as marksmanship, discipline and strategy, will all need careful study. Whether wireless telegraphy has really attained such a measure of usefulness that it must be an increasing factor in warfare is another problem upon which the experts await information. What is the comparative value of the $1,500,000 battleship with the $100,000 torpedo boat? And how far can the torpedo and the submarine mine affect a deadly struggle for naval pre-eminence. Japan and Russia are paying in blood and treasure for lessons invaluable to the whole world.

EX-MAYOR COCHRANE.

When James Cochrane appeared as a candidate for the office of Mayor in the municipal elections of 1900, those who knew him best wondered at his temerity, for the condition of his health was such that it was thought a severe contest might possibly have fatal results. Mr. Cochrane, however, was blessed with a saving sense of humor, and knew so well both the game he was playing and the limits of his own strength that he came through the contest with far less impairment of energy than might happen with a much stronger man. He won, and was mayor for two years, and made what was conceded to be a very good record. At the end of his term, although he allowed his name to go again before the people, he was so ill that his candidature was scarcely taken seriously, and he himself was absent at a health resort in the South. Rallying again, he seemed as good as ever when the general elections for Parliament and the Legislature came on, and was re-elected to Quebec for the St. Lawrence Division of Montreal after a very one-sided contest. At Quebec, during the present session, alarming symptoms supervened, and he was warned to take a complete rest. He insisted, however, upon doing certain work to which he had set his hand, and when he did rest it was too late.

The ex-Mayor was in many ways a remarkable man. He was shrewd and conservative to a degree in his business affairs, as a result of which he accumulated a very considerable property. He was a keen politician, devoted to the leader of the party, but given to speaking freely of local Liberals with whom he did not see eye to eye. He was, withal, a stalwart Liberal, willing, as he showed in the days when Liberalism was not so prosperous as it has been of late, to stand up to a certain beating if the party's needs demanded that sacrifice. He asked no favors and expected nobody else to do the work for which he could be held responsible. He organized his constituency thoroughly, making no noise about it.

In private life Mr. Cochrane had many friends, so many, indeed, that there seemed no limit to the sources of his information about all manner of private and public business. He did not spend his money ostentatiously, and when he gave it was because the cause in which he was interested appealed strongly to his sympathies. He was a fair type of the hard headed, aggressive, men of affairs who have contributed so much to the rough work required in opening up and developing a new country, and at no time was he more himself than in the last two months of his existence.

PHILADELPHIA'S EXAMPLE.

It would be well for the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company to make a note of what has just happened in Philadelphia.

In Philadelphia it was proposed to extend the lease of the Gas Works, which still has a good many years to run, for seventy-five years. The city was to receive twenty-five million dollars, almost at once, and on the other hand the price of gas was to be fixed for the whole period covered by the lease. The common Council and the select Council passed the measure by overwhelming majorities, but the people, the plain people, made a great outcry against it, and the Mayor vetoed the measure. So far, the situation is essentially the same as that in Montreal. Next, the Mayor of Philadelphia, as a means of stopping the grab, dismissed a couple of officials, and appointed others in their places. Then the courts ordered the new men out and the old men back. Still the plain people manifested their impotent displeasure. And then the directors of the Gas Company, wisely deciding that it was a considerable business risk to deal with an outraged people, notified the Mayor that they would not accept the extended lease.

In the Montreal case we have still to hear from the company. The directors would do wisely to follow the example of their Philadelphia confreres and decline the contract. The Bastien amendment may give them an excuse for declining to proceed, but apart from that they would be better advised to put off the whole matter, and afterwards approach the question of gas supply on a business basis.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

It is mentioned that Mr. Rene Beauset, assistant city clerk, may be appointed to an important position in the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company. If such is the intention, it is unfortunate that the position should have become vacant just now. Mr. Beauset is a man of ability, and would be certain to discharge effectively the duties of any position to which he might be called. But it was he who was responsible for the now famous translation of Ald. Lapointe's "tout complet," giving it a meaning which, the authorities seem to agree, it really carries, that of "a running concern," which happens to be satisfactory to the Power Company officials, but which Ald. Lapointe and Bastien have both declared to be foreign to their intention. It would be unfortunate if the incident were to stand in Mr. Beauset's way, but the atmosphere surrounding the gas contract, and the continued uncertainty as to its status, make the present a very bad time for the Power Company to be seeking officials at the City Hall, and an almost prohibitive time for the employment of one who, besides being directly in touch with the making of the contract, is secretary to the Mayor, who has vetoed that contract, and who is understood still to be fighting it.

McGILL MODEL NOT McGILL NORMAL.

Editor, Herald:—

Sir,—Would you kindly permit me to correct through your columns, an error, which, (it is incredible,) is frequently made in Montreal; viz., the confounding of the McGill Model with the McGill Normal School or vice versa. The latter is exclusively for the training of teachers and the former furnishes a public school education for girls and boys from the Kindergarten to the Academy grades. On Empire Day, appropriate exercises were conducted by the pupils of the McGill Model School; the teachers made all the arrangements and the pupils furnished the songs and recitations on the programme. In addition, the walls of the hall were decorated by about two hundred Union Jacks, made by the pupils. An excellent address was delivered to the pupils by Mr. Wm. McNab. It was well worthy of a detailed report as it was admirably suited to the occasion, and was calculated to arouse patriotic enthusiasm. Our revered Principal, Dr. Robbins, also made a short address and his remarks are always worthy of record. This programme was reported by three daily papers to have been given by the students of the McGill Normal School, these pupils were not even present, as during May all their energies are concentrated on passing their annual examinations for diplomas.

SAFETY OF INDIA.

From the distribution of the railways which unite the Afghan frontier with the Indus and the interior of India, it is easy to see that an army, in case of conflict with Russia, would anticipate the enemy on the line of the Hindu-Kush, Kabul, and Kandahar, thus holding the heads of the valleys tributary to the Indus, which constitute the only possible line for the invasion of India. —Revue Militaire, Paris.

AT THE SEASIDE.

"She loves to flirt."

"Yes; flirting seems to be a regular business with her."

"But the trouble is she doesn't keep her business engagements."

The Turn of the Corner

Splashes of May sun fall on the gathered crowd under the trees, some standing against tree trunks, some sitting on the curbstone; babies, children men and women, form an almost immovable phalanx.

"Back! Get back there!" And the skirmishing body of cavalry turn their horses on the crowd, making way for the foot soldiers, who are turning the corner as the people fall back. Here comes a line good and steady—the next faltering and uneven—the faces of the men warm and many of them dust-stained. There is a Scotchman's jaw and here an Irishman's nose, over at the end a Frenchman's, black eyes shine out from under his helmet, and here again the fresh-faced Englishman—line after line—goodly sons of the Empire—white-gloved, brown-gloved, black-gloved and without gloves at all.

Stand back—another line swings by, and a crowd of small boys fall into the procession. Here and there a portly officer with the military swing to his shoulders, goes gravely on his way. The sun sets the gold lace on his uniform to sparkling, and sends beads of perspiration trickling down his face. But the dust on his boots troubles him more than the warm sun. The way his men march troubles him still more. To-day is a day when appearance counts, for this is a dress parade.

In the crowd is a baby on his mother's shoulders. "See your daddy, boy? You'll be a soldier yourself, by and by."

And the band plays merrily enough its Sunday airs; as the baby claps its hands and line after line come on.

"Isn't it a grand sight to see the soldiers march, laddie?"

And the "Scottles" march away past while one of them gives a wink of his eye to the little Scotch lad on the corner.

And as they go on their way, the soldiers at their church parade, and the delighted and interested people, watching them, who is there of us who will turn aside to discuss a Peace Arbitration Tribunal? How many Montrealers would turn out to see the members of a Peace Commission pass by? Who of us could preach disarmament, or send the dove of Peace to demand that all swords and cannon, all weapons and symbols of war be destroyed? Not the mother who tells her son he will be a soldier, by and by.

Not the father who watches with pride the well drilled sons who may some time be called to defend his country with his life.

Who then?

Are there any, when we are surrounded by Peace in our own land, but will cheer the marching soldiers.

None—we cry for the dove of Peace, only when we see the soldiers dead from an enemy's bullet. A peaceful country always loves the symbols of war.

—Francis Daor.

Defoe in the Yellow Peril.

The Kaiser, who is still "seeing things" in regard to "the Yellow Peril," is understood to have more than a cursory acquaintance with what is classic in English literature. If that be so, it may be wondered whether he has ever read "Robinson Crusoe" right through, for the probability is that, if he would accomplish this feat, he might be somewhat heartened by the optimism displayed in face of this same threatened danger by so shrewd an observer of public affairs as Daniel Defoe. It was to the Chinese that Defoe mainly referred, and it is, of course, to be remembered that the Chinese were the first objects of the Kaiser's fear—and not only did he ridicule the idea of their overwhelming Europe, but he virtually prophesied almost two centuries in advance that when Russia made the effort she would overrun the Chinese as she did in Manchuria. "I say, in a word," he exclaimed, "were not its distance inconceivably great from Muscovy, and was not the Muscovite Empire almost as rude, impotent and ill-governed a crowd of slaves as they, the C'zar of Muscovy might with much ease drive them all out of their country, and conquer them in one campaign." Defoe had not learned so much concerning the Japanese, who were then, and long remained, an unknown quantity in the world's affairs; but his wholesome optimism is worth recalling when there are others who, like some of his alleged companions, were "worked by fear, that blind, useless passion, another way, and thrown into the vapors; it bewildered their understandings, and set the imagination at work, to form a thousand terrible things, that perhaps might never happen"—which words seem prophetic now.—Westminster Gazette.

The Longevity of Animals.

In a paper by Mr. Lydekker, F.R.S., on the Longevity of Animals, he gives some curious instances. A golden eagle which died in Vienna in 1719 is stated to have passed no fewer than 104 years in captivity. This record, is however, beaten by another instance of longevity in the Vienna Zoological Gardens, where a white-headed vulture is reported to have survived from 1706 to 1824—that is to say, for 118 years. Another remarkable instance of longevity in a bird is afforded by a female eagle-owl brought from Norway in the year 1829, which lived in a private aviary in England till the summer of 1904—a period of seventy-five years. During the last thirty years of its existence this venerable bird, it may be added, reared no fewer than ninety offspring.

Among instances of longevity in domesticated animals, there is the case of the horse, whose average maximum duration of life under good treatment may perhaps be estimated at something over twenty years. Occasionally, however, this span is very greatly exceeded. The Duke of Portland's Mowerina, the dam of the recently deceased famous stallion, Donovan, is, for example, now in her thirtieth year. In the Natural History Museum is exhibited the skull of a horse which died at the age of thirty-two years. These records are eclipsed by a horse belonging to the Duke of Bedford, which died recently at the age of fully forty years, and also by an Australian horse foaled in November 1860, which was still living a few months ago, and was consequently rising forty-five years old.

An Antediluvian "Link."

The interesting ceremony which took place some days ago of the presentation to Lord Avebury, on behalf of the Trustees of the British Museum, of the facsimile reproduction of the fossil Diplodocus in the Pittsburg Museum had its origin in the generosity of Mr. Carnegie, prompted by the wish expressed by the King that the British Natural History Museum possessed such a trophy of the past. Mr. Carnegie is always ready to provide links between the two great English-speaking races, and the happy thought occurred to him to procure one eighty feet long; so he commissioned Dr. W. J. Holland, the Director of the Carnegie Museum, Pittsburg, to produce an exact model of the one under his charge. The gigantic skeleton in question, which is over eighty-four feet in length and thirteen and a half feet high, from the ground to the highest point of the back ridge, was found in the Jurassic rock of Wyoming, where, according to Dr. Holland, it lived and moved and had its being a trifle over two millions yearsm ag). It was a herbivorous amphibian dinosaur which disappeared in some great terrestrial change, but leaving behind it, even after such an enormous lapse, its record in the shape of its bony framework embedded in the rocks of the "wild and woolly West."—Westminster Gazette.

Marvels of French Motoring.

M. Rene de Knyff, the well known French racing motorist, who has come to grief through dashing into a cow while travelling at sixty miles an hour, has had many accidents and hair-breadth escapes of one sort and another before now. He was one of those who took part in the fatal Paris-Madrid race, in the course of which he made at one time a speed of over eighty miles an hour. He also drove a car in the Gordon-Bennett race in Ireland two years ago, when the distinguished himself more noticeably, perhaps, after the race than in it.

This was on his way back to Dublin, a journey which he accomplished after the race late at night under conditions which excited equal indignation and amazement. He had no lights, and was litle acquainted with the road, yet drove, it was said, at an average speed of over fifty miles an hour. The route, moreover, was crowded with other cars, and the manner in which the Frenchman took his machine along roads darkened by overhanging treet, through narrow lanes, round corners, and so on, was described at the time as perfectly appalling.

Lady Master and Lady Registrar.

Lady Mary Hamilton, the new "Master" of the Hamilton Harriers, is one of several lady "Masters" of hounds. The most notable of the lady "Masters from the literary standpoint, is Miss Edith Somerville, who hunts her own pack, the West Carbery Foxhounds, in the county Cork. This is the pack whose adventures are recorded in that most enjoyable book, "Some Adventures of an Irish R.M.," which Miss Somerville has written in collaboration with her cousin, Miss Violet Martin, a member of the well known Galway family of that name.

Titles sometimes become hollow mockeries. Lady Berry has just been appointed registrar of births and deaths in South Melbourne. She is the widow of the late Sir Graham Berry, who was twice Premier of Victoria and who for six years was the Agent-General for that colony in London. Sir Graham, who began the battle of life as an apprentice in a Chelsea draper's shop, was heavily hit in the Australian banking collapse of a decade ago, and during the closing years of his life enjoyed a political pension of £500 a year. An unsuccessful effort was made to continue the pension to his widow. Her new appointment is worth about £150 per annum.

Diamond Production of the World.

Everybody knows that the productivity of the diamond mines of South Africa is, comparatively speaking, enormous. The output of the Kimberley and De Beers mines is restricted to 200,000 carats a month, but statistics published by de Launay show a writer in the Cornhill tells us, that by June, 1896, India had produced, as far as was known ten million carats, Brazil twelve million carats, and South Africa (in less than thirty years) fifty-seven millilion carats, or more than twice the other two places—indeed, than all others—put together. He estimated then that all the diamonds in the world would form, if uncut and packed tight, a cube measuring 4.5 metres (just over 14 ft. 9 in.) each way, and be worth about 108 million pounds sterling.

O'Leary at the Crossing.

(Wallace Irwin, in June Smart Set.)

'Tis all along Fifth Avenue, as wheels
the grand display
Of handsom, coach, victoria, of landau and coupe,
That like Napoleon Bonaparte reviewing his array,
Stands Officer O'Leary at the crossing.

"Whoa, there! slow there! Can't ye understand?
Dhraw back! shtop that hack whin
Oi howld up me hand.
That's the way ye must obey when th' ginteral gives command."
Says Officer O'Leary at the crossing.

'Tis all along Fifth avenue the city orchid blooms,
The miles and miles of many styles, furs and silks and plumes,
But keen and stern, the censor of the coachman and the grooms.
Stands Officer O'Leary at the crossing.

"Whoa, now! slow now! Put yer horse to grass!"
Alsy, sure, ye fresh chafoor—don't give me anny sass!
Halt, Oil say, an' open way to let this lady pass!"
Stands Officer O'Leary at the crossing.

Half a mile of millionaires along that moving chain,
Dappled grays and thoroughbreds with cropped and arching mane—
But Maggie Flynn, the milliner, need not appeal in vain
To break the grand procession at the crossing.

"Whot, there! slow there! Don't give me anny chin!
Stiddy sure, ye fresh chafoor, before I run yez in!
Whin Oi've me say ye'll all give way fer little Maggie Flynn,"
Says Officer O'Leary at the crossing.

Plants and Suicide.

Do plants ever commit suicide? The County Gentleman makes a suggestion of the kind in the case of some of the clematises:

"You can," it says, "plant a clematis which does admirably for a few months, even for a few years, in a piece of ground which apparently suits it excellently, and suddenly, on a particular day—even when it has been growing and blooming for two or three years—it seems to decide that it will die. The buds droop, the plant withers, and in a few hours it is brown and dead. Why? Nobody has satisfactorily explained this queer propensity to sudden death on the part of plants which, under certain condition not yet thoroughly understood, flourish amazingly well.

This tendency to go off suddenly is not altogether confined to the clematis. Without any apparent reason the "Marechal Niel" rose will sometimes go off "in a night" and limbs of an apricot tree wither as if struck by lightning. Whole beds of pansies succumb as if smitten with paralysis in their prime.

"Sir John," the Capetown Threepence.

Early in June Sir John Swinburne, of Capheaton Hall, Northumberland, who is now seventy-four years of age, is to be married for the third time, his bride being Miss Florence Moffat, twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Moffatt, of Windsor. Sir John is the seventh Baronet—the creation dating from 1660, and by his first marriage he has a son thirty-eight years old. From 1885 to 1892 he represented Lichfield (Staffs) in the Liberal interest and in his earlier days saw a good deal of active service during the Burmese war of 1852, in China, and in the Baltic, 1854.

Mention of Sir John recalls the fact that at one time there were no copper coins in circulation at Cape Town, the result being that people had to pay sixpence for any purchase, however small. Sir John, knowing this fact, thought that when he went out to the Cape it would be a good thing to take out a good big box of threepenny bits. He did so, and to this day, all up and down the Cape, a threepenny bit is known as a 'Sir John."

A Fascinating Advertisement.

Connoisseurs in the art of advertisement writing, whose name is legion nowadays, may be interested in the following extract from the New York Journal of Commerce:

"A young man (capital M.) twenty-six years old, and going to rot in a big concern, has been so appreciated that he is overpaid for the work he does; he has just realized it, and wants to get in a place not made for a genius but for a man with eight years' experience and four years' real, real responsibility; he won't move the earth, but he will help move goods from dealer to consumer, and the employer who wants new blood and more consistent brain-work than brass will answer this ad.; it only appears once. Address, etc."

If, as he states, the advertiser possesses more brains than brass, he should prove an invaluable employe.

WAS FOUND DEAD IN DRIFTING ROW BOAT

Tragic Death of Mr. Henry Palmer, a Resident of Point St. Charles.

The body of Henry Palmer, a resident of Pacific Avenue, Verdun, was found in a boat adrift, near Nun's Island yesterday morning by some citizens of Point St. Charles, who were out boating. Deceased had evidently set out with the intention of fishing though he had caught nothing. Several lines were found in the boat with him, one of them already baited. There were no signs of violence on the body and it is supposed that death was due to heart trouble.

Mr. Palmer's sudden demise has taken place under particularly distressing circumstances. It is only a short time since his wife returned from the hospital where her life had been despaired of. A baby was buried a few weeks ago, and of the six surviving children the eldest is little over ten years old. The family now bereft of its only breadwinner is left wholly unprovided for, the deceased carrying no insurance whatever.

DOMESTIC QUARREL HAD FATAL RESULTS

Husband and Wife Wrangled Over Money and Wife Was Badly Injured.

Kingston, Ont., May 29.—(Special.)—Elgin Fogle is held for assault on his wife, committed on May 19. She is in the Hotel Dieu in a critical condition and death is expected. Mrs. Fogle got $10 from her son, she hid it, but Fogle found it and spent $2. The wife on his return home, wanted the cash and attempted to take it from her husband. In the conflict the wife received bad injuries which yesterday induced paralysis. A son is in the Central Prison.

SCHOONER WENT DOWN BUT CREW WERE SAVED

Sydney, N.S., May 29.—(Special.)—The schooner Henry L. Philips, Capt. Strickland, sprang a leak and sank within fifteen minutes at noon yesterday, when about thirty miles off Scatarle. The crew of four took to the dory just in time to save themselves, and by dint of hard rowing reached this port. The men lost everything. The schooner was purchased only two weeks ago by her present owner, Capt. R. H. Cann, of Louisburg. She was bound for Bay of Islands, Nfld., with coal. Both cargo and vessel are insured.

COURAGE AND CRINOLINES.

If the crinoline comes the most courageous of women will have to wear it. She will begin by declaring that nothing will induce her to adopt so meaningless and so hideous a fashion; and for several weeks, no doubt, the knowledge that she possesses greater courage than other persons will sustain her as the ballrooms and reception-rooms become every day more crowded with silk-covered cages and Venetian-blind contrivances for the nice disposition of steel-ribbed skirts. But the weeks will go on, until one day, in the utter desolation of her unfashionable prettiness——. It is impossible to contemplate the end without emotion.—The Spectator.

MGR. MACDONNELL DIED HERE TO-DAY

Passed Away in the Arms of Archbishop Gauthier of Kingston.

Right Reverend Alexander Macdonnell, Bishop of Alexandria, died at 8 o'clock this morning at the Hotel Dieu after an illness of a few months' duration.

Two weeks ago to-day His Lordship came to Montreal to receive treatment and hopes were at first held out for his recovery. These hopes proved vain, however, as he continued to sink slowly, but steadily and the end came this morning, when the venerable prelate passed peacefully away in the arms of His Grace Archbishop Gauthier, of Kingston, who had hastened to the bedside of his dying friend. Rev. Father J. A. McRae, His Lordship's private secretary, was also present, as well as Rev. Father St. Jean, chaplain of the Hotel Dieu.

The body of the dead bishop will be taken to Alexandria to-morrow afternoon by the Canada Atlantic, and there the funeral will take place on Friday.

His Lordship Bishop Macdonell, who was seventy-one years of age last November, was educated in Kingston and there also he studied for the priesthood, being a student of Regiapolis College. He was ordained priest in Kingston in 1861. To Father Macdonell was accorded the honor of being named first Bishop of Alexandria and he was consecrated in October, 1900.

His Lordship Bishop Macdonell was a man of most affable manner. He was respected and esteemed by all who ever came in contact with him, and he was beloved by everyone in his diocese. A man of keen judgment, his administration was a most wise one and his memory is one which will be long revered in Alexandria.

A Song.

From the Russian of Kolzoff.

Sing not below my window,
Thou little nightingale;
Fly to the silent woodland,
There to repeat love's tale.

Before my darling's window
Sing thou thy sweetest song;
Tell of the love, the longing,
That haunt me all day long.

Tell her my life is barren
When she is far away,
As is the steppe in winter
When skies are cold and grey.

The moonlight has no magic,
The night is long and drear,
The very sun is darkened
Unless my love is near.

Her speech alone can conjure
A smile upon my face,
And no one gives me welcome
With her soft charm and grace.

Sing not below my window,
But fly, oh fly away,
And at my darling's cottage
Sing thou thy sweetest lay.

PHYSICAL CULTURE CLUB FORMED AT HIGH SCHOOL

At a well attended meeting in the High School library, Friday evening, it was resolved to form an association for the advancement of physical education. The meeting was called to order by Mr. W. E. Dixon, rector of the High School, who proposed that the Rev. Dr. Rexford act as chairman. This was carried unanimously. Among those present were the Rev. Dr. Rexford, Supt. E. W. Arthy, of the city schools; Dr. Harvey, Mr. Jacomb, of McGill University; Dr. Shaw and Mr. Long of the M.A.A.A.; Mr. C. B. Powter, of the High School; and the Misses Fotheringham, Baker-Edwards, Morris, Strong, Wade, Trorter, McMartin, representing the various girl's work.

THE MAN WHO MEANS IT.

There's a lot of mouthy talkers in the world we habitate,
And you always catch them napping in their gabble, soon or late;
They just start their mouths and leave
'em, never knowing what they say,
And their flow of gas would last 'em till forever and a day.
Still, some others speak sincerely, and whene'er they give their word
As to what they mean to do in case things be as they have heard,
You may know they mean to do it or to die in the attempt—
They're the sort of chaps concerning which idealists have dreamt.

(This truth-telling fellow,
Pray how do you tell? O
You tell by the Grip
Of his under-
Lip.)

Chaps whose mouths like fly-traps open and whose underlip is slack
Never set the world to blazing till
'twas shriveled, charred and black;
They supply the atmosphere demonstrations, but with that They content themselves—continually talking through their hat!
They converse because they dote upon the music they produce.
When their tongues are good and busy and their jaws are swinging loose.
But the other kind—be wary when they get their dander up,
For they mean just what they utter—sort of human bulldog pup.

(This mean-business fellow.
Pray how do you tell? O
You tell by the Grip
Of his under-
Lip.)

TWO RAILWAY EMPLOYES REWARDED FOR BRAVERY

Express Messenger and Engineer Received $1,000 for Foiling Hold-up Men.

St. Paul, Minn., May 29.—Express Messenger Lamb and Engineer Wilson, has received $1,000 each for capturing a man who held up the eastbound north coast limited train last midnight on the Northern Pacific, near Bearmouth, Mont. The robber had blown open the safe with charges of dynamite, aggregating twenty-five pounds when Laub, by the aid of a match struck by Wilson, knocked the robber senseless with a piece of iron. The robber was bound and taken to Drummond. He remained unconscious all day. This is the third hold-up of the same train near Bearmouth.

General Manager H. J Horn, of the Northern Pacific to-day received the details of the hold-up as follows:

"Northern Pacific North Coast Limited train was held up about midnight two miles east of Bearmouth by one man. After ordering the express messenger out of the car the robber, who had twenty-five pounds of dynamite, blew the safe open in the express car, shattering the side of the car, and blowing off the door of the safe.

"After the third explosion, the robber forced Engineer Wilson to crawl in the car ahead of him and the messenger to follow Wilson. As soon as they were in the car the bandit forced Engineer Wilson to strike a match. Wilson saw Express Messenger Laub ready to hit the robber with a piece of iron. Wilson immediately blew the match out, and the express messenger struck the robber and knocked him out."

AUSTRO-HUNGARY CRISIS REACHES ACUTE STAGE

Count Tisga Will Be Removed From the Premiership This Week.

Vienna, May 29.—The political situation in Hungary has passed within the last few days from the passive stage of recent months into a comparatively acute stage that is threatening really serious consequences. Count Tisza, it is said, will be removed from the Premiership next week and in his stead will be appointed if he can form a cabinet, General Baron Ferjervary, formerly Hungarian Minister of National Defence, which office he had to resign because of great unpopularity arising from his extreme partisanship to the Crown in matters within his jurisdiction.

The rights guaranteed Hungarians, under their constitution, leading men of that country say, are upon the eve of being threatened by the Crown's action, and Hungarians are preparing to contest these infringements in a manner which holds the possibility of bringing serious results to the mutual life of the Dual Monarchy.

PHYSICIAN SUSTAINED THE LOSS OF LEFT EYE

Dr. J. D. Gauthier Forced to Undergo Operation for Removal of His Eye.

Some months ago, while performing a surgical operation, Dr. J. D. Gauthier, ex-president of the Canadian Hunt Club, wounded himself seriously in the left eye. After a few days had elapsed specialists were consulted, and it was found that blood-poisoning had set in and the removal of the eye was decided upon, and the operation took place at Notre Dame Hospital yesterday. Dr. Gauthier is reported to be making satisfactory progress.

TRANSCONTINENTAL DELAYED BY FREIGHT TRAIN WRECK

Winnipeg, May 29.—The Transcontinental train from the West, due at Winnipeg at 1.30 Saturday did not reach the city till 3.30 that afternoon. The delay was caused by the blocking of the line at Donald, B.C., where an accident occurred to a freight by the collision of two fast freights one mile west of Donald. The line was blocked for twelve hours, and the damage to the rolling stock was heavy. It appears that the station agent went to sleep and that during his nap one of the freight trains passed the station. When the despatcher called him up, inquiring for the train, the agent reported that it had not reached Donald, whereupon the despatcher released the train going in the opposite direction. The train crews on both freights jumped before the collision occurred and all escaped injury.

INSPECTED SYSTEM OF BELL COMPANY

Members of the Telephone Committee Visited Montreal 'Phone Offices.

Several members of the Telephone Committee and others connected with the present inquiry, came down from Ottawa on Saturday to inspect the Bell Company's exchanges in the city. The deputation was met, on arrival, at the Windsor Street Station by officials of the company and was driven to the central exchange on Notre Dame Street and St. John Streets. Here Mr. L. M. McFarlane, general superintendent, Mr. McPherson, manager of the Ottawa lines and other officers, explained the complicated mechanism of the system in all its working.

After inspecting the central exchange and the new offices on St. Andre Street, a dinner was tendered the party at St. James Club, where brief addresses were made, by Mr. C. F. Sise, president of the company; Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron, M.P., for Beauharnois, and Mr. A. E. Zimmerman, M.P. for East Hamilton.

Mr. Zimmerman, who was called on as chairman of the committee, in the absence of Sir William Mulock, gave it as his opinion that this insight into the enterprise and progressiveness of the company and the complexity of its system would have no small weight in aiding the committee to come to a decision. "I hope," said Mr. Zimmerman "that in the near future rates will be fixed in accordance with the localities served. I hope rates will be readjusted, for I think the whole country is ready for the telephone system if rates are put on an equitable basis."

Mr. Sise thanked the press and the committee for the courtesy shown the company during the inquiry and said that an effort was being made to give the public an effective and fairly cheap service. "I do not hesitate to say," he added "that the shareholders have been considered first, and the public second. I say this in all good faith, because I believe that people who put their money in this telephone enterprise when there were few indications that it would develop into a paying concern should be considered first. They have a right to expect fair returns from the money they invest. But while we have considered the public second it has been our desire always to give a satisfactory service."

The party left the Windsor Street station for Ottawa on the four o'clock C.P.R. train.

Among those in the party were ator Templeman, A. E. Zimmerman, D. W. Ross, M.P. (Caribou), L. Bland, M.P., North Bruce; P. Christie, M.P., South Ontario, E. M. Lewis, M.P., for West Huron; A. C. KING OSCAR REFUSED TO SIGN THE BILL

For Separate Consular System for Norway—Scandanavia May Be Broken Up.

Christiania, Norway, May 29.—King Oscar at to-day's sitting of the council of ministers declined to sign the law creating a separate consular system for Norway. The ministers immediately tendered their resignations, but the King refused to accept them.

In tendering their resignations the ministers declared they must ask for their immediate dismissal, as not one of them would be able to sign the King's veto, which they regarded as injurious to the country. Such a rejection of a Norwegian law unanimously passed by the Storthing and unanimously demanded by the Norwegian people and which the Cabinet Ministers unanimously approved, could not be justified as it not only did not accord with Norwegian interests but constituted an action on the part of the Sovereign which was opposed to the constitution of Norway and constitutional practices.

King Oscar's veto of the separate consular law created a great sensation, as possibly involving a dissolution of the union between Sweden and Norway and perhaps even international complications, though best informed Norwegians decline to believe there is any danger of a Russian invasion, contending that if Russia had designs she would not be deterred in pressing them by having to fight both Sweden and Norway and that therefore the question of a dissolution of the union will have no effect from an international aspect.

ALL THIN PALE WOMEN

Should Know the Cause of Their Nervous Used-Up Condition.

With women, ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time is Nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

With nerve-energy below par your system is just ready for pneumonia or consumption.

You must build up, nourish the body vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood.

It's the abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of vital energy and nerve-force that defies sickness of any kind.

There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At times I was prostrated with nervous and sick headache. All day I was tired. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became morose and suffered from heart palpitation. You would scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well."

Remember this: No alcholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty chocolate coated tablets for 50c, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

MONTREAL ART PRINTERS—HERALD JOB DEPARTMENT

ORIOLES WON TWO GAMES BY GOOD HARD HITTING

Orioles Batted Out a Victory in Ninth Innings Saturday

Two Triples, a Double and a Single Netted Three Runs When Birds Seemed to Have the Game Well in Hand.

Triples by Byers and Kelly, a double by Hayden and a single by Hearne, all in the ninth innings, gave Baltimore the victory over Montreal Saturday by four runs to three.

Up to the ninth the Birds played snappy ball and for the first time this season at Atwater Park, the fans were kept on their toes for nine bright innings.

The Birds, of course, had to ring in a couple of punk plays, but these simply accentuated the brilliance of their other efforts. Incidentally they lost the game for Montreal, but naturally the Birds do not worry over a trifling thing like that.

The smiling Pappalau was guilty of the first Ruralville play. In the seventh Hearne, the Orioles' catcher, rapped out a double. He began to get frisky around second base, and Foxy Quilier Pappalau essayed to nip him off the bag.

Aubrey wasn't Johnny-on-the-spot, not by ten feet, and the ball bounded gleefully to deep centre. Mr. Hearne scored and Hughey Jennings smiled.

Pappalau threw open the throttle when the innings opened and fanned Griffin. Then Hearne made a double and Pappalau soaked Burchell on the arm. Hayden forced Burchell at second and worked around to third on McAleese's base on balls and Pappalau's throw to the Arena. Hayden and McAleese tried a double steal, but Aubrey caught the former at the plate.

The Baltimores in their half of the ninth did things to Pappalau's pitching that caused the fans to weep with unfeigned color. Byers batted for Griffin and cracked out a triple to deep centre.

Hearne popped up a weak fly to short. "I got it," cried Dyer. "I got it," whooped Aubrey. Then each stopped to allow the other to make a put out and neither of them "got it," Hearne reaching first safely.

Burchell forced Hearne at second, Byers scoring.

Hayden knocked out a double, advancing Burchell to third. McAleese fanned, but Kelly tore off a three-bagger to centre, and Burchell and Hayden tallied. Jordan went out, Miller to Lachance.

Now it is not at all likely that these two runs would have been scored had Aubrey and Dyer not foozled Hearne's pop fly.

The Birds worked in a brace of runs in the second. Dyer and Aubrey were easy outs, but Mike Joyce singled and Griffin made a weak throw to first of Tommy Raub's grounder and Raub was safe and Joyce crossed the pan.

Pappalau made a timely hit and Raub scored.

The Birds' other run came in the seventh. Joyce was passed, stole second, and a bad throw by Hearne to head him off enabled him to dance along to third. Raub hit safely and Joyce scored.

Nothing doing in the Birds' half of the ninth.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Bannon misjudged Kelly's triple in the ninth.

Hayden, Kelly and Hearne carried off the batting honors.

It was a snappy, enjoyable game, even if the Birds did lose.

The Birds pulled off a double play in the third, Miller to Lachance.

A running catch by Kelly of Bannon's fly to centre in the third innings was a feature.

Griffin played his first game of the season. His fielding was faultless, but his throwing to first was weak.

Kuhns made two beautiful assists from left field to third in the fourth innings, cutting off Kelly and Neal.

Mike Joyce made three hits, stole three bases and scored two runs. Pretty good work.

Three of the Orioles, Kelly, Neal and Byers made triples, the first of the season. All were clean drives to deep centre.

Manager Jennings makes his boys play live ball. They run on and off the field at the beginning and end of an innings like a lot of colts.

The Orioles made three hits in the third, but good fielding by the Birds and Hayden's interference with Miller, preventing a double play, retired them without any scoring.

Miller scored in the first, but on a passed ball but was sent back to third, as the sphere hit the umpire's foot. Griffin tried to steal second in the second innings, and was caught by yards on Raub's nice throw.

DIDN'T MAKE GOOD.

James, Substitute Player, to be Released by Bannon.

Mike Joyce Isn't Afraid to Slide When He is Stealing Bases.

SPORTING COMMENT

The Birds play in Bufaflo to-day and will be away for nearly a month. The sincerest hopes of the Montreal fans are that they will learn to play real ball before they return for another series here.

At intervals, all to rare, they have shown that they can play winning ball, but there has not been a consistent brilliance about their play that will ultimately fill up the yawning caverns of Mr. Kreither's coffers.

A real shortstop and a real third baseman, together with a little timely hitting would shoot the Birds to the top with a rapidity that would cause Manager Bannon's silvery locks to glow with joy. The fans have supported the birds with a loyalty that has not been earned, for their constant attendance has ben rewarded by a monotonous series of losses. The Birds have shown an inclination to lose their heads, whereas visiting teams have played ball every minute they have been on the field. Any time the Birds acquire this most desirable characteristic, they may wire us at our expense and we'll get out an extra to convey the glorious news to the fans.

Whew, but these Orioles are a brisk lot. More ginger in them than there is in the average spice foundry. They play ball as if they really liked it and as if the pay envelopes were as remote a possibility as it was in their corner-lot days. It's a pleasure to watch them cavort about the sward like so many frolicsome lambs. Everyone is jolly and there is no grouching. When they are facing the batter they walk into the ball as if their heart was in their efforts and none of them evinces any extraordinary surprise if he laces out a triple.

Just recall, oh ye long-suffering fans that the Orioles made four triples and two doubles in the two games here. That is swatting the sphere some. What would we give if we only had a coterie of artists who could knock the stitches out of the ball? What heroes the Birds would be, what street-car and street corner conversations they would furnish food for, if they would only smite the horse-hide with force and judgment. Alas, they are allowing chances to achieve fame to slip through their fingers and their batting averages are effeminate.

Hughie Jennings was asked to tell the secret of his team's success. "Oh, I have to get a good team together," he replied; "there is no money in an Eastern League team in Baltimore unless it is a winner. The fans would not stand for it. I have to go after players who will make good."

Now, is it that Manager Jim isn't compelled to follow a similar course, that the local fans find life so full of dreariness and disappointments?

Neither the Shamrocks nor the Capitals appear to be of championship calibre, judging from their exhibition Saturday. They are weaker than last year and either collection would make a sorry showing against the Shamrocks or Capitals of last September. However, it is to early to criticize the twelves, as they have not had any practice to speak of. When they round into warm weather condition, they will be different propositions to handle. Meanwhile they should devote their attention to rounding into that condition, for the people of Ottawa and Montreal have people of Ottawa and Montreal have seen so much good lacrosse that they are now willing to pay for only the real creme de la creme.

Verily the Caps were a huge and rosy disappointment. They came down here with a wealth of advance notices that would prove the fortune of a theatrical company, and they fell down with a bump that could be heard at L'Orignal. There wasn't a single feature about their play that served to irradiate the ordinarily genial physiognomy of President Emmanuel Tasse. The veteran suporters of te game, W. F. Powell, W. F. Foran and A. G. Pittaway ruefully looked at the mountain and wondered if it was going to rain next Christmas. Theirs was an experience similar to that of 4,000 fans at Atwater Park. Both Ottawans and fans were only too willing to be cheerful, but sadness was their portion. Truly the amount of gloom there can be in this world on a Saturday afternoon is terrible.

Anyone who thinks that this isn't a city, where athletics are followed with a lively interest, should get his gray matter overhauled. Saturday afternoon the senior lacrosse match was patronized by 2,500 people, the Eastern League baseball match by 4,000 people, the Harriers' meet by 1,000 and yesterday's baseball match at Mile End by 2,500. In two days, then, 10,000 Montrealers witnessed athletic competitions. The patronage that athletic events of lesser importance were accorded, can only be guessed at, but it was more extensive than the average speculator would think. It is a fact that the people of Montreal are fond of clean, healthy, invigorating sport and it is a fact that this is a characteristic that is not to be condemned.

Garrison Finish Enabled Baltimore to Win Yesterday

A Bunching of Hits in Last Two Innings and Kuhns' Errors Beat the Birds—Meaney Back in the Game

Oh, somewhere the sun is shining,
And somewhere bands do play,
And what's the use of repining
E'en if the Birds lost yesterday?

It was the old, old story of bingles and bungles.

The Orioles supplied the bingles and the Birds supplied the bungles.

Both were generous in their donations, and if the Orioles had only been the home team, 2,500 fans, who dared the perils of a trip to the Shamrock grounds yesterday, would have been happier than bees in a honey pot.

Seven to two was the score, and as in Saturday's battle, the Orioles reserved their most artistic touches till the end of the struggle.

The Birds took the lead at the wire and at the first turn, were a couple of lengths to the good. Down the back stretch they raced holding relatively the same positions. Rounding into the home stretch the Orioles moved up and in the last dash, overhauled and passed the sad and drooping Birderlinos.

Kuhns on the Coaching Line.

It was one of the lamentable spectacles that have been too often witnessed by the Montreal fans since the local season opened. They saw the Birds made a grand stand start and then fade away into selling-platers.

The Birdsh presented an altered but unimproved lineup. Pat Meaney was back in his old place in right field for the first time since the preceding Sunday, when he was hit by a pitched ball. Kuhns supplanted Aubrey at short and Aubrey was at third, replacing Dyer.

Dyer is neither a Bradley nor a Collins, but it is not perceptible to the naked eye where Aubrey has anything on him either in fielding or hitting. Aubrey made a catch of a ball drven straight into his mit but in other respects his playing was as tame as a rainy day.

Kuhns should be playing ball for the Lachine Clamdiggers. As a shortstop judging from his performance yesterday, he is a fierce, ferocious and fearsome failure. He can foozle grounders and throw wildly with any paid specimen who has ever juggled Spalding's adopted horsehide, within sight of old Mount Royal.

He is only charged with four errors but he should be given the Birds' entire last column. With Kuhns eliminated from yesterday's game and one of Hamilton McCarthy's springless statues set up at short, the Birds might have won; but Kuhns was there with a large, gorgeous, past-the-Osler-limit miscues and the Birds lost.

The best thing to do with regard to such spectacles as that of yesterday, is to forget them, but how can we forget them when the Birds keep forcing them upon our notice?

Felix toyed with the Orioles for three innings. In that time they got one lonely hit. In the fourth, Aubrey muffed a foul fly from McAleese's bat and to celebrate the occasion of such a remarkable performance, Felix gave McAleese free transportation to Lachance's station. Kelly went out to Lachance but Jordan ripped off a hit and McAleese romped around to third. Neal forced Jordan at second but scored McAleese. Loudenslager sent a grounder to Miller and died at first.

In the sixth, Kuhns nailed Hayden's hit but threw wildly to Lachance and Hayden slipped around to third like a scared cat. McAleese's hit sent him over the plate.

The Orioles half of the eighth was as lively as a dog show. Mason hit to Kuhns who juggled the sphere as if it were red hot and Mason was safe. Hayden sacrificed neatly and McAleese, Kelly and Jordan, followed with hits, Jordan rudely smashing out a triple, which cleared the bases. The fusillade netted the Orioles four runs. A double by Byers and a single by Hayden scored the former in the ninth. Hayden tried to stretch his hit into a double and was caught at second.

The Birds' melancholy and insignificant score was accumulated in the first and third innings. Miller was passed in the first. Bannon's out advanced him to second and Neal's error enabled him to score. Hits by Meaney and Lachance netted another run in the third. The Birds might have scored more but for dumb base-running by Bannon after the latter had made a single.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

James is to be released by the Birds.

McAleese had a batting average of 1,000.

The Birds wore their travelling uniforms yesterday.

Byers made a triple Saturday and a double yesterday.

Gibson's throwing to second is pretty ragged these days.

Griffin, despite his lame arm, played a fast fielding game.

If the Orioles win the pennant local fans will not be surprised.

Bannon, Meaney, Joyce and Jordan made pretty running catches.

Wagner will never play ball again. The injury to his knee is permanent.

Mason is something of a hitter and swings at the ball like another Lajoie.

The rumor that Casey was to assume the management of the Royals was a canard.

In the seventh Felix rapped the leather for a good, long two-bagger, after ozoning twice.

Neal is as tireless and as playful as a terrier. He coversl an immense amount of ground.

Neal is the smartest shortstop in the Eastern League, according to Manager Hughie Jennings.

When it comes down to the fine point Mike Joyce is playing the most valuable game for the Birds.

To see Candy gobble up Hayden's sizzling grounder in the first session was alone worth half a dollar.

Felix soaked the ball for a double in the seventh but was left at second, Miller flying out to Loudenslager.

Loudenslager is a peach of a second baseman. Anything he misses has to be more than ordinarily sulphurous.

Bannon was caught cold between second and third base in the third. He had lots of time, but failed to move.

Umpire Moran has the very finest voice for calls. "Owl one, O-w-l two, strike!"—and then it is "Bow wow!! ow! ow!!"

Jimmie Bannon is a good ball player except when he is on the bases and then he has about as much judgment as a bag of river sand.

Meaney got a nice reception, as he strode up to the plate. He made good too. This was his first appearance since his knockout some time ago.

Gibson got 'em down to second nicely in practice, but when there were men on bases it was another story. Miller needed a lacrosse to field the low ones.

The Orioles are the heaviest hitting team that has been seen here this season. They made three clean triples and two doubles Saturday and one triple and a double yesterday.

Dyer and Wiedensaul viewed the game from the grand stand. Both are on the list of cripples, Dyer having a bad leg and Wiedy a broken finger.

"You're big enough to hit," called a fan with a red vest to Byers, as the "baby" walked up to bat. Then Byers poked out a two-bagger and the fan shut up with considerable rapidity.

Miller slid for home in the second, and Mr. Moran called him out in a loud, red voice. Miller's reproachful look was rich as he strode out into the field and the bleachers took occasion to mention the fact that Moran was a wild, woolly, rowdy-dow rubber.

Gibson's Texas Leaguer in the second, with Joyce standing coyly on first corner, brought the fans to their feet. Gib landed on first with a hop the whilde old Juyce hopped along to third. It was a peach of a time the first two innings—only to be wiped out with circus work later on.

Kuhns Might Just as Well Have Been Playing in One of These.

SPEAKING OF THE BIRDS.

A fan submits the following:—

Below is the pitchers' records for the first twenty-three games played:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
McCarthy	3	2	.600
Leroy	3	3	.500
Barber	1	2	.333
Felix	1	3	.250
Pappalau	1	3	.250
Hammond	0	1	.000
	9	14	.391

In the first 23 games, played Hammond has allowed an average of 12 hits per game, Barber 12, Pappalau 9, McCarthy 7, Leroy 7, and Felix, our old-time favorite, only 6.

In only six games out of the first 23 have the Birds made more hits than their opponents.

Of the 68 errors made in 23 games, 32 were made by players at short and third base.

A good hitting outfielder for the right garden and a good third baseman and shortstop would make the team strong.

A WELL-WISHING FAN.

HOW TORONTO LOST.

Toronto, May 29.—(Special.)—Newark beat the locals Saturday afternoon in a score of 6 to 4. The ball was of a rather poor variety all the way through, for which the Torontos were principally to blame. Toronto was prevented from scoring the fourth innings, when Murray struck to centre. Soffel followed with a two-bagger over third base. Capt. Gatins claimed that this was a foul and a vigorous protest followed, in which Catcher Shea took a prominent part. For his back talk he was put out of the game by Umpire Hassett and was replaced by Latimer. The Newarks bunched hits in the sixth and eighth innings. Jones and Gatins singled in succession in the last innings and O'Hagan got to first. Applegate now released Crystal, but the change proved erratic, for he forced a run with a base on balls. Latimer hit safely to centre, scoring more. In the sixth Harley made a double through Jones losing the ball in the sun. Fuller, who has been one of Toronto's catchers, has been reeased by the manager.

OTTAWA WON TWICE.

Ottawa, May 29.—Ottawa won its second game yesterday in the Eastern Canadian League against Valleyfield, in a poor exhibition of ball on the visitors' part. The game was called in the seventh to allow Valleyfield to catch a train. The score was 16 to 4.

On Saturday Valleyfield showed to better advantage with Pierce on the slab, the score being 9 to 5. Fortier, who was in the box for the visitors yesterday, allowed 16 hits, while Bennett for Ottawa was only touched five times. Joe Page umpired both games. Ottawa is scheduled to play Montreal in Montreal next Sunday.

MONTREAL ON TOUR.

Montreal left last night for Buffalo to play a series of three games, and will be away until June 22. The Royals will have two games on Decoration Day with the Bisons. The whole outfit was taken along with the exception of Wiedensaul, who remains here to nurse his injured finger. Business Manager "Bill" Tingle went along to look after the financial end. At home the Royals only won seven out of seventeen games.

ZEELEY IS CHAMPION.

Stapleton, S.I., May 29.—Charles H. Zeeley, of the Woburn Golf Club, Stamford, Conn., won the title of amateur champion of the Metropolitan Golf Association, defeating Archie Graham, of Paterson, N.J., Saturday, by 1 up on the links of the Fox Hills Golf Club.

FINASSEUR WON FRENCH DERBY.

Paris, May 29.—The Prix Jockey Club (the French Derby) for three-year-olds, at one and a half miles, for a purse of $20,000, was run at Chantilly yesterday. Michel Ephrussi's Finasseur, with the American jockey, Nash Turner, in the saddle, won the race, beating the favorite Phoenix and also Clyde, the winner last Sunday of the Prix de Diane. The beautiful weather attracted an enormous crowd of spectators to the race course.

BIG FOUR ATHLETES BEATEN.

Philadelphia, May 29.—The annual intercollegiate track and field meeting was decided Saturday on Franklin Field, and for the first time in the thirty years' history of the association all of the big four were beaten out for premier honors, first place going to Cornell, with a total of $30\frac{1}{2}$ points. Yale was a close second, with 28 points, Harvard third with $20\frac{1}{2}$, and Pennsylvania fourth with 18, while the other eight colleges shared as follows:—Princeton, 15; Syracuse, 8; Colgate, 8; Amherst, 8; Stevens, 3; Swarthmore, 2; Haverford, 1, and Columbia, 1.

It was an ideal day for the sports, and there were 8,000 spectators. Two new intercollegiate records were made by Yale men. In the half-mile run Parsons, who jumped to the front at the flash of the pistol, covered the distance in 1 minutes 56 seconds, four-fifths of a second faster than the intercollegiate record held by himself, and Hollister, of Harvard. Gray cleared the bar in the pole-vault at 11 feet $10\frac{1}{2}$ inches, breaking the old record of 11 feet $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

ELLIOTT MADE NEW RECORDS

Famous Shot Made Wonderful Scores at Local Tournament.

J. A. R. Elliott, the crack shot, established two new local records at the Montreal Gun Club's tournament last week. On the first day he broke 208 targets out of 215, on the second day 207 out of 215, and on Saturday 205 out of 215. He was not shooting for the prize money, but to break records. Had he been entered for the money he would have swept in everything in sight.

Dr. Gleason, of Boston, headed the list Saturday, breaking 196. G. D. Dumont, of Montreal, was second, breaking 190.

Dumont and Craig obtained the highest average record on the first day, each breaking 195 out of 215 targets. Upton and Dr. Gleason came next, with 190 out of 215. Dr. Gleason scored the highest average record during the last two days. He obtained first prize in the Merchandise as well as in the miss and out event on each of the three days that the shoot lasted. Briefly, Dr. Gleason scored the highest average during the entire match, having broken the largest number of birds.

Following is a summary of last Saturday's match:—Out of 215 birds, J. A. R. Elliott, 206; Dr. Gleason, 196; G. Dumont, 190; F. Upton, of Hamilton, 176; T. M. Craig, of Sherbrooke, 175; T. A. Duff, of Toronto, 156; W. H. Craig, of Montreal, 170; McDuff, of Montreal, 179; L. St. Jean, of Montreal, 171; C. Redman, of Montreal, 1..

Mr. A. B. Hutcheson, of Montreal, scored 120 out of 145; J. Kenyon, of Montreal, 37 out of 55; R. Lewis, of Montreal, 51 out of 75; J. H. Rainville, 28 out of 35; Williams, of Ottawa, 77 out of 95.

The tournament was the most successful ever held here. The attendance of guns was large and the scores were uniformly high.

LINERS PASSED YACHTS IN ATLANTIC

Hamburg Making Fast Time and Leading at Last Reports.

New York, May 29.—Two of the contesting yachts, supposed to be the leaders in the ocean yacht race for the German Emperor's Cup, were cheered in mid-ocean by the passengers and crew of the White Star liner Celtic from Liverpool, which arrived in port yesterday. On Wednesday last, in the forenoon, the German schooner Hamburg and American schooner Endymion were passed. Both yachts were within easy vision of the Celtic's passengers and presented beautiful pictures as they were in full sail every inch of canvas they could carry being spread to catch the fresh southerly breeze that was blowing.

The Hamburg was on the starboard tack and making very fast time. The Hamburg had covered 1,357 miles.

Capt. Passow, of the American liner St. Paul, which arrived yesterday, reported passing two of the yachts. One undoubtedly was the Endymion. The other was believed to be the Utowana. Capt. Passow also received a wireless message from the Minnehaha, reporting the yachts. This message, he says, was not printed correctly in the press despatches. The message as received by the St. Paul from tae Minnehaha was:

"Hamburg leading Ailsa by 13 miles. Then came Endymion, Atlantic, Fleur-de-Lys and Valhalla, a long distance astern."

TORONTO ARGOS' RECORD ON SCHUYKILL BROKEN

Philadelphia, May 29.—Record time was made Saturday in the third annual regatta of the American Rowing Association over the Henley course on the Schuylkill river. In the eight-oared junior college event the Cornell crew took first honors and broke the record for the course, which is the same length as the English Henley—one mile, 550 yards. Cornell's time was 5 minutes and 34 seconds. The best previous was that made by the Argonaut crew, of Toronto, in 1903, when it rowed the course in 6.36. Cornell held the lead throughout the race. The Yale freshmen were second and the University of Pennsylvania junior crew was third.

Much of the interest of the regatta was centered in the Vesper Club's eight, which is to row at the English Henley. The University of Pennsylvania crew was the only entry against the Vespers, and the latter held them all the way down the course. It was a close race and the aspirants for Henley honors won by the close margin of three-fifths of a second. Vespers' time was 6.43 4-5.

The Harvard freshmen won the race for second eighths by three seconds, from the University of Pennsylvania, after a hard race.

DOG SHOW MOST SUCCESSFUL EVER HELD IN MONTREAL

The dog show came to a close Saturday night. It was probably the best exhibition of its kind ever held in Montreal. There were 1,100 entries, as compared with the 800 of last year, and 427 dogs as compared with 285. In collies and Airedales the show would stand comparison with any of its kind held in America. Both the Coila and the Colne kennels have won prizes at all the big canine exhibitions on the other side of the line, and Balmoral Rex, the champion, and Lucky Baldwin, the reserve dog, would be runners up for . . . chammpionship, whatever the company.

In fox terriers, setters, Boston bulls and cockers the show was also strong. The large exhibit of Boston bulls was indicative of the trend of popular favor in the dog line, fashion changing in dogs as in clothes. Pomeranians also showed signs of a similar increase in popularity among the boys. Entered in this latter class was a notable toy fox, practically perfect of its kind, Mr. Willett's Tiny. As the class in which it was entered was limited to black and tans, Tiny received only a second ribbon.

The Griffon Korthals were an interesting exhibit, and although given an unfavorable position in the benching the French hunting dog attracted much attention. Without any claim to show features other than its extreme ugliness, the dog is said to be in many ways superior to the pointer.

FAST TIMES MADE AT HARRIERS' MEET

M.A.A.A. Won Championship—Y.M.C.A. 2nd and Westmount 3rd

Fast times were made at the second annual track meet of the Montreal District Harrier League, which was held at the M.A.A.A. grounds Saturday afternoon. The victory went to the M.A.A.A. team who scored twenty-six points of the aggregate of junior and senior events. The Y.M.C.A. team came next with twenty-two points, and Westmount secured third place with twenty-one points. The M.A.A.A. men also won first place in the senior events with twenty-one points, and the first place in the junior events went to Westmount with twelve points.

The conditions were excellent for the meet. The weather was perfect and the track was in first-class shape. In the majority of the events excellent time was made, the time for the senior mile being 4.42 4-5, while the five mile was finished in 26.32. The number of spectators was not large, but those who were present showed a keen interest in the races.

Eight clubs were represented, the M.A.A.A., the Cote St. Paul, the St. Patrick A.A.A., the Westmount, the Crescents, the Ramblers, the Y.M.C.A. and the Gordon A.A.A. This latter club, which is only in its infancy, carried off two events, which from a harrier point of view, were probably the most important on the programme. These were the two road races. Both first and second places were won by the Gordons.

A curious mishap occurred in the junior relay race which probably lost the event for the M.A.A.A. team. The man who finished the second quarter found no one ready to relieve him at the 880 mark and this naturally made it impossible for the team to win. This event was won by the St. Patrick's team through the excellent work of McLean, who started about forty yards behind the leaders and finished a couple of feet to the good.

The course of the senior road race was two laps on the track, thence east on Dorchester, up Atwater, west on Sherbrooke to Mackay Institute road, from there to Western Avenue, east on Western to Metcalfe to St. Catherine, and then one lap on the track. In the junior this was cut down to two laps on the track in all, and a mile and two-thirds less road work.

The results were as follows:

It was noticeable in the events that the competitors in nearly every case made good their entries. There was little or no scratching at the last moment, and as the entries for each event were large the competition was interesting at all times.

Summary:

100 yards, junior, first heat—McLean, St. P. A.A.A., 1; Boyle, M.A.A.A., 2. Second heat—Douglas, M.A.A.A., 1; Toombs, Y.M.C.A., 2; McLean, 3. Time, 11 secs.

BAD COMPLEXIONS

Can be Covered up With Lotions, Washes and Powders Containing Arsenic, Lead and Mineral Poisons. But These Always Make a Bad Matter Worse. How to Obtain a Good Complexion in Nature's Way.

It is rank nonsense to attempt to cover up or hide a bad complexion of a sallow, mottled skin by cosmetics, face powders or skin foods, many of which contain zinc, lead or arsenic, and all of which in the end make bad matters worse. The only safe and sure way to improve the complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, by keeping the bowels regular and the liver healthy and active. Bad blood is responsible for a bad complexion, and in turn bad blood is a direct result of bad bowels. An antiseptic and resolvent is needed as well as an alterative and evacuant. Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills possess all these properties in a remarkable degree. They act directly on the liver and bowels, cleanse and enrich the blood and in this way quickly improve the complexion. When you consider that pineapple is a most efficient intestinal antiseptic and that butternut is unequalled as a liver regulator, you can quite understand why Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills are used by so many ladies to keep their blood pure and their skin rosy and clear of pimples, blotches and sallowness. These little health promoters are purely vegetable, never gripe or weaken, and always cure sick headache, constipation and biliousness in one night. 25 cents. All dealers.

WESTMOUNTS AND C.P.R. PLAYED TIE GAME

Westmount had as their guests on Saturday the two teams of the C.P.R. Club and came out of the games with three points out of a possible four.

The Intermediates met first, and after an exciting and interesting match the Westmount boys retired winners by two goals to nil. Unfortunately the game was marred by a painful accident to the Westmount goalkeeper. It is pleasing to learn that it was purely accidental and no blame is attached to anyone.

The most important game was the meeting of the seniors, but unfortunately the official in charge of the game was rather weak in his decisions. Westmount were credited with the first goal, but it was of a rather doubtful nature and players and spectators got mixed in the discussion which followed. Goal or no goal, to Nairn must be given the credit of putting in one of the greatest shots ever seen on the park. The first half ended with Westmount one up. The second half opened at a terrific pace and the C. P.'s eventually took the lead, the first goal being from a very fine shot and the second from a scrimmage after Clapp had made a fine save. The champions then wakened up and after some hard play they were awarded a penalty for one of the C.P.R. backs handling the ball, and McFarland scored. From this to the end Westmount had the whip hand, and after some hard play drove the ball between the posts. A spectator, it is claimed by the Westmount forwards, kicked the ball out and Woodburn again shot in, but meantime the C. P. goalkeeper had met with an accident, and the referee refused to allow the score. Time was called with the game two each.

The teams lined as under:

Westmount—Goal, W. R. Clapp; backs, J. D. Martin, H. G. Woodburn, A. Graham, W. Neville, W. Martin; forwards, W. S. Wilson, J. Macfarlane, R. Crabb, W. Deans, W. Nairn.

C.P.R.—Goal, Jack Marsh, backs, McChesney, McClashen, Barker, R. G. Hollis, Fitzpatrick; forwards, Powell, McKendrick, Molyneux, T. Reyonlds, Carveth.

Referee—I. S. Clibbon.

NOTES.

C. P. R. played the finest game in their history and it is unfortunate that the referee was not stronger. Westmount finished the stronger and the training is beginning to tell.

Should C. P.'s protest the league will have a nasty point to handle. Representatives had better find out what other bodies do in such cases.

Someone laughed at the idea of goal nets. Perhaps they will realise they are necessary after Saturday.

The C.P.R. teams were all to the good and will have a big say in the championship.

Woodburn was the only man in the Westmount team to play up to his form. Clapp got three shots in the second half and two beat him. He was not to blame in either case, as they were of the unsaveable nature.

WESTMOUNTS, ALL UP.

All players, seniors and intermediates, are requested to attend the gym on Tuesday and Thursday of this week, at 8 p.m.

Members of the association are asked to make a special effort to get rid of all tickets for the Galt match. There is a good demand, and there is sure to be a large crowd present on June 10. We hear of one member who has already reached the $30 mark.

C.W.A. IS BY NO MEANS A DEFUNCT ORGANIZATION

Mr. Louis Rubenstein returned yesterday from Toronto, where he attended the meeting of the C.W.A. In the absence of President H. C. Clarke, of Vancouver, Mr. Rubenstein occupied the chair.

"Everything was lovely, stated Mr. Rubenstein to The Herald this morning. "We had a satisfactory meeting and the reports indicated that the wheel is again becoming popular. The membership shows an increase over last year and we have the largest surplus in our history.

"Those who own bicycles should join the C.W.A. The fee is only 50 cents and their membership ticket entitles them to accident insurance, free entry of wheels into the United States and Europe and reduced expenses at hotels and repair shops. The C. W. A. has done a great deal of work of which the general public is ignorant, but if any anxious nquirer will ring me up or call on me, I'll give him information that will sure please him.

"That secretary of ours, Mr. H. B. Howson, of Toronto, is a daisy. Works like a beaver for the C.W.A.'s interests and does the work without any thought of remuneration."

The following officers were elected:

President, Col. Maynard Rogers, Ottawa; vice-president, Dr. W. N. Robertson, Stratford; secretary-treasurer, H. B. Howson, Toronto; chairman membership committee, F. W. Dunn, Toronto Junction; chairman rights and privileges committee, J. C. Saunders, Ottawa; chairman rules and regulations committee, J. E. Willows, Toronto; chairman transportation committee, Louis Rubenstein, Montreal; chairman Dominion racing board, G. S. Pearcy, Toronto; chairman roads and touring committee, W. Geo. Ayling, Montreal.

CORNELL OARSMEN WON.

Boston, May 29.—Cornell won from Harvard on the Charles River Saturday, the first boat race in which the two crews have met since 1898. The race was Cornell's from the start, although her coxswain went out of his course in the first half-mile. The lead secured, however, was enough so that he easily steered back into his lane and finished an easy winner by seven lengths. The Harvard crew was badly used up as they crossed the line. Cornell's time was 10.9½ (unofficial). The distance was a mile and seven-eighths.

ROUGH GAME BETWEEN ST. KITTS AND CHIPPEWAS

Toronto, May 29.—In a slow game, St. Catharines defeated the Chippewas on the Island grounds Saturday, by a score of 4-0. In the first quarter only did the locals show anything like last year's form, but after Yeaman was cut on the head and retired the team play vanished, and the visitors had pretty much their own way. Hess was said to be responsible for Yeaman's retirement, the fiery boy from Cornwall playing a hot defence game and using his stick freely.

Sixteen men fell under Brown Jackson's disfavor for various violations of the playing rules, and in spite of this apparent severity the game was rough. Hamburg, Graydon, Roach, McKenzie and Smyth did well for the Chips, while the St. Kitts' stars were Hagan and Forrester.

The following are the teams and score:

St. Catharines (4)—Hess, goal; Harris, point; Cameron, cover-point; Elliott, first defence; Richardson, second defence; Downey, third defence; Forrester, centre; Barnett, third home; O'Gorman, second home; Kalls, first home; Lowe, outside home; Hagan, inside home.

Chippewas (0)—Robinson, goal; Pritchard, point; Graydon, cover-point; Hamburg, first defence; Roach, second defence; Taylor, third defence; Ross, centre; Kearns, third home; McKenzie, second home; Blyth, first home; Donaldson, outside home; Yeaman, inside home.

Referee—Brown Jackson.

LACROSSE NEWS FROM OTTAWA.

Ottawa, May 29.—(Special.)—There appears to be no truth in the reports that "Bones" Allen, Eastwood, Herb Ralph and Ernie Butterworth are to desert the Capitals to play lacrosse in the C.L.A.

"We are certain that these men will remain with our club," said Mr. Foran, of the Caps, to-day. "Ralph was promoted recently, Allen has been given the new position he was looking for, and Butterworth has no idea of leaving Ottawa, which has always been his home."

Allen declared that he had received several offers from the St. Catharines, all of which he declined because he desired to retain the permanent position in the Civil Service which the Capitals got for him last week. Ralph and Butterworth state that they have no intentions of going West. All three will be out to practice to-night.

Jack Powers went to Toronto Saturday night and he will figure on the new Queen City twelve.

PAINING STOMACHS

There are a whole lot of women (and men too) whose health would be good if they didn't have trouble with their stomachs. The stomach is the vital part of the body and requires strength. A weak stomach weakens you all over. You may have arms and muscles like a prize fighter, but these muscles will not do you any good if your stomach is weak. Nature supplies in Hutch tablets all that is needed to make the stomach strong and enable it to properly digest the food. It is chocolate-coated. Take one just after you eat. Take two just before you go to bed to move the bowels. Keep up this treatment for a little while and your stomach won't hurt you any more.

If weak women who are pale, bilious, fretful, would take less bitters, sarsaparilla, pills, etc., and use Hutch tablets, they would be better off. You simply take one when you feel badly. Never take a substitute. At all druggists.

Champion Shamrocks Win the Initial Match With Capitals

Irishmen Win a Rather Uninteresting Contest by 7 to 2—The Double Referee System Proven in Actual Use.

Capitals 2, Shamrocks 7.

The champions, Saturday afternoon, on the home grounds, Mile End, before a crowd of 3,500 spectators, beat the Senators from The Village-by-the-Chaudiere, by the decisive score of seven round, red, juicy goals to two undersized goalkins. It was the opening engagement of the N.A.L.U., and it was a punk exhibition. Now, don't misunderstand this remark; it is not a knock at either team, but merely a gentle statement of solid fact. It was punk. Billy Foran, Emmanuel Tasse, Petie Green, A. G. Pittaway, Bill Powell—any one of the Ottawa head push will tell you so, naturally, for the Caps. lost; but so will any one of the thirty-five hundred spectators, twelve players, two referees or two umpires, who witnessed the fracas. Even the youth with the astonishing livery, who rode on the tally ho, and who trumpeted feebly through an astonishing horn, will bear out this statement. Pu——but why rub it in? It was not fast, not smooth, not exciting—but it would be easier to tell what it really was. It was intermediate lacrosse, (that's what; and as the game progressed in fitful fashion, the Ottawa bunch at the club house soberly soliloquized to that effect.

"It's poor stuff—that is," whispered "Doc" Reynolds, Ottawa's Premier Referee, in an awed voice, as the players strolled about the dandelion-spangled field. Dave's large, fawn-like eyes filled with tears, and his voice trembled, whilst the once mighty Caps. fell over themselves, and allowed little Tommy Currrie and Robinson to play with them as a hungry tramp toys with a luscious tenderloin steak. It was worse than that.

Lacrosse is a fast game, and here in Montreal the people want the very finest—or none at all. Thirty-five hundred people will go to a good ball game in preference to punkerino lacrosse. This to the Irishmen, who have the men, and should deliver the goods—must deliver them. Now, last year there were real games—and the year before. That 6 to 5 game in Ottawa—and others. The fans will remember them. Nothing like it Saturday—but to get down to what really did happen.

First of all both teams were weak, weak in condition and weak in the lack of several real senior men. The players will get into condition—that's all right—and the juniors will "develop," so that there is nothing, really, to grouch about. The Shams. were shy Hoobin, Pat Brennan, Smith and Johnnie Currie, while the Senators blew into town minus Pat Murphy and "Rat" Westwick of last season's vintage. Both these last mentioned players, heroes of a hundred matches, are out of the game for good, and the public will miss their polished, finished and artistic work.

Hoobin, old "Henny," he of the giant build and electric "red light ahead" dash and gingerous action, is away down South, on an auto trip. He will return shortly odorous of gasoline, and get into the game. Pat Brennan is going to join the ranks of the benedicts and has quit the sport that has made his name famous. Johnnie Currie, the slickest, cutest and fastest little player that ever trod grass or drew a ball at centre, has also quit, with Smith, the good old reliable stonewall defence man.

Tommie Currie, an exact duplicate of his brother Johnnie, sported at centre, and barring the fact hat his hair is darker than that adorning the erstwhile snappy centre, the difference is not apparent. He runs the same, catches the same, looks the same, laughs the same—and "gits there" just in the same old way. He has a rosy future. To see him pull the rubber and dust down the field was a feature of the afternoon. George Devine ("Scow" his friends call him) held down cover point, M. Martin shone at 3rd defence, and T. Tracy skipped about at 2nd home—so there are the changes. Hoobin will play 2nd home, and that will be the only difference this summer.

Yes, Robinson was there; he has not gone over to the Montrealers. He was there, there good and properly, too, and his smashing rushes in on the flags helped the Caps. to toboggan to defeat.

On the Senators' line up the only difference was the playing of Joe Gleeson, the footballer, at 2nd home, and Mike Broderick at cover; both these did fairly good work, although no one will deny that Joseph Gleeson is a beter man with a pigskin than he is with a lacrosse stick. He wore a tired look and a quill tooth-pick during the match, and occasionally got the ball. Then, again, he didn't. Mike wore a white hat, and—well, he didn't set the grass on fire, nor do anything that would cause grown up men to cough up cloves with undue excitement. He looks like Bowery Robertson, and like that war horse, never hits a man—never. Herb Ralph always gives one a wee tap, just to brighten things up, in dull moments. He rapped a few Saturday, good and hard, for which he viewed the ball-chasing from the shade of the grand stand.

It was not a rough match, for there were two Pinkertons on the field to keep the players from putting their sticks into each other's ears, too frequently. This double referee system is not too rotten, either. It was tried for the first time, and made good.

"Come, let us try two referees," says Billy Foran to Tom O'Connell, of the Shams., in the club house, about 3.30 o'clock. Do, let's give 'er a try." And Thomas says, says he, "Sure, Bill." And there were two; and the crowd saw that it was good. What Joe Lally didn't see, the other man did, and the game in consequence was not a slaughter. Both these officials, in white sweaters, white hats, and ice cream suits, stated to The Herald, after the last player had walked into the club house, that the idea was O K.

"It's a good idea, and will do much for lacrosse," was Mr. Desse Brown's opinion. "I had nothing to do, but ran around a lot. Yes, I had a good time, thank you."

"O K." This was from Joe Lally. "Did the best I could. The double system is superb."

There is no good to be gained by saying what each Capital player did, and how he played, etc. The Herald is not rushing around looking for libel suits, and suffice it to say that Eastwood—not Eastman, as some call him—was bad. Partly because Howard was very attentive, and partly because his stick had a large hole in its interior economy. Then, again, he was twenty minutes behind on every occasion, and was subject to attacks of acute paralysis at critical junctures. He would get the ball, and just as he would turn to shoot, the nasty mean thing would fall through his stick, or roll off—and games are not given away with a pound of tea—they're earned. Butterworth, Gleeson, Allan and Murphy were just as bad. They juggled the ball, like the fakir with the three shell game, and did everything but pass the sphere around in real lacrosse style. It was enough to make Umpire Dave Mulligan, of Ottawa, weep; and, as it was he sat down most of the time, and prayed for better luck. Photographs of Mr. Mulligan, as Eastwood scored the first Capital game, may be had at a local photographers, at one dollar per copy.—(adv.)

The Shams won, and all glory to them—but they will not win in Ottawa. Their "system" seems to be in need of an extended franchise; and before the present City Council leaves for the tan woods 'bout Feb. 1, 1906, Tom O'Connell had better get busy and see the gentlemen of the crimson Council Chamber and come to a dicker on the matter. The defence has lost that easy, speedy relief, and does the coal-heavers' special throw to centre. The home does not come in, except Robinson, in the manner of years agone, and the sharp-shooters of the bunch have lost their grip. The familiar "pass back" was worked overtime until it looked as though the men were nervous.

A certain Mr. Shea—John Shea—of the Cap team, kept the fielders busy with that high-stepping, rip-'em-up check of his, and with Butterworth and Ashfield were the the best of the visitors' dozen. Perhaps Pringle might be included in this list, but Tommie Currie was after him from the first toot of the whistle, and the caused the man from Sudbury worlds of trouble.

Devine is a big husky chap, who handles his stick well and gets the ball in rapid fashion; any player passing him has to explain the situation carefully before he is allowed a passage in to the whitewashed crease. Devine had Murphy as badly faded as a last year's ninety-cent Panama straw hat.

Kavanagh was there with his little stick all afternoon; in fact, his 6 feet 4 inches of good Irish brawn was sailing after the ball and the red-shirted men until it seemed that there were 38 Kavanaghs on the job. He's just as good as he ever was—and better. O'Reilly, too, was the same sure, neat player as of yore, and did a man's work with the Cap home-fielders.

Robinson, Hennessey and Brennan, with Hogan, comprise a beautiful home—with practice. Saturday saw them easily tired, but with time the men will brighten up and win all kinds of games and glory.

The line-up was as follows:

AT LAST MOMENT ROBINSON RETURNED TO SHAMROCKS

Tom O'Connell and Barney Dunphy had a beautiful little contest Saturday for the services of Eddie Robinson, the famous home-fielder of the champion Shamrocks. O'Connell won out in the end, Robinson lined up with the Irishmen and Barney Dunphy can hardly understand just how it happened.

So sure were the Montrealers of Robinson's services that Barney called at the Robinson house with a buggy to drive the great home fielder to practice. As the Montreal trainer stepped out of his carriage the door of the Robinson house opened and out walked the much-wanted home man and—Tom O'Connell. The two started off towards the Shamrock grounds and Barney climbed again into his rubber-tired buggy, bewildered.

It is said that the Shams offered to release Robinson and McIlwaine in exchange for Finlayson and Nolan, but that the offer fell through, the West-Enders not seeing the advantage of such a move.

Robinson is thoroughly Irish and a Shamrock at heart. He played with Hoobin and H. Smith on the champion junior Shams in 1896, and though he has frequently appeared rather unsettled in s choice of team mates, he never has left his first love.

The Montreals had him at practice once, and the Nationals again—but he has always come back.

SIXTY-SEVEN SUNDAY BALL PLAYERS ARRESTED

New York, May 29.—As a result of the opinion recently rendered by the Corporation Council against Sunday baseball playing in New York the police refused to permit any games to be played yesterday.

In Brooklyn the police broke up several games which had begun and arrested 67 players. No attempt was made to play the scheduled game between New York and Brooklyn National League games:

NEW SEAWANHAKA CUP DEFENDER SHAPES WELL

The Alexandra, the new Seawanhaka Cup defender, is shaping well and confidence is felt on every side that she wall be successful in keeping the trophy in local custody. She has been tried out twice and has made good on each occasion. Saturday she was pitted against the Noorna and Thorella II., and though light and fluctuating breezes prevented the boats covering the full course, she established that she could sail in light airs.

A start was made off the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club's pier at Dorval. The start was at 4.50, Alexandra crossing first at 4.50.40, Noorna and Thorella II. following five seconds later. The new boat maintained the lead and completed the first round three minutes in advance of Thorella. At this time the wind failed and the race was abandoned.

VICTORIA GOLF CLUB.

Mr. Tom Wall won the monthly pewter competition played on the Victoria Golf Club's links Saturday. The junior pewter competition was won by Col. Cooke. The three players who have qualified for competition in the semi-finals for the President's Cup are J. T. Williscroft, J. H. S. McClure and Jas. Hill.

The monthly club dinner was held in the evening and was an enjoyable affair. Mr. T. Hutcheson was the guest of the occasion.

FARNHAM BEAT GRANBY IN E. T. LEAGUE GAME

Farnham, Que., May 29.—(Special.)—In the first championship game played on the local grounds Saturday, Farnham came out a ahead by the large score of 15 to 6.

The game was rather one-sided, and at no stage of the game were the visitors dangerous. Dumaine, the Granby pitcher, formerly of St. Hyacinthe, was taken out in the fourth inning and Leblanc substituted. He did not fare much better. On the other hand, Leclaire was steady right through the game and his support gilt-edged.

This is the second successive victory for Farnham, and at the pace they are going now the pennant will certainly come this way. The score:

Women are Easy to Please.

It is easy to please a woman if you convince her she is getting what she wants.

She knows what is best.

Show her a shoe and she will see at once whether it's stylish, whether it's sensible.

She has shoe wisdom beyond the ken of the shoe salesman.

The inexperienced say.

"Oh, I couldn't please that woman because she didn't know what she wanted."

He should have said "I didn't have a shoe that woman would wear. She knew what she wanted and wouldn't take anything else."

It's for the shoe man to show her what she wants; and then she will know it quick enough.

So Slater shoes are made to please the women who shop—they show just what they are, and save the trouble of hunting hopelessly from store to store.

Women are finding, as men found long ago, that the Slater store is the one place where they can be sure of the right shoe every time.

It's only recently women found this out—because only recently the Slater Company went into women's shoes on the same successful system it follows with men's shoes—having shoes of style, size and shape for every foot, that will make them look and feel better than any other shoe in the world.

Distinctive!

Distinguished style marks the entire collection of garments on our Costume and Mantle floor, with more to see and more worth seeing than anywhere else within your reach. We understand perfectly the kind of coats and costumes that are in demand, and we're well supplied with all the new ideas of style and make-up. They show for themselves on the street as they do in the store, but we wish there was a newspaper way of proving how different they are from others. This newly reorganized section has been singularly successful, and not by chance. We've planned to double and treble the business in short order, and that can't be done except by giving better service, better style and better value than anyone else. No other way! And the styles you see here are mostly confined to this store.

MONTREAL BATTALIONS HELD THEIR ANNUAL CHURCH PARADE

Regiments of No. 5 Military District Paraded Under Command of Lieut.-Col. Buchan—Three Thousand Men Went to Church—Crowds Lined the Route of Parade.

An ideal day greeted the brigade of Montreal military district yesterday on the occasion of their annual church parade. All the corps of the city turned out in good force, including the various cadet bodies, and the line of march presented a most picturesque appearance. The weather, and the popular love of military display, attracted large crowds to view the pageant, and the route of the parade was lined deep with spectators. The parade strength of the brigades was about 3,000.

At three o'clock the various regiments drew up on the Champ de Mars, and at half past the hour the long line set out along St. James street, marching west towards Victoria Square. Each battalion was headed by its band, and the scene was an exceedingly picturesque one, with all the different uniforms, red, black, kharki, tartan. The order of precedence was: Duke of York's, Third Field Battery, Prince of Wales Fusiliers, Victoria Rifles, Army Medical Corps, Army and Navy Veterans, South African Veterans, 65th, Mount St. Louis Cadets, French-Canadian Veterans, Garrison Artillery, Engineers, Royal Scots, Highland Cadets, and Westmount Highland Cadets.

The evenness of the parade was unfortunately marred by the fact that the street cars along St. James and up Beaver Hall Hill continued an almost uninterrupted service as the long line passed down to Victoria Square, wheeled and marched up the hill. The corps were divided and scattered, and for a great part of their march were compelled to proceed in fours owing to the press of spectators and the interruption from the cars.

On the Champ de Mars Sl Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, and Colonel Buchan, inspected the troops. The line of march was along St. James street, across Victoria Square, up Beaver Hall Hill, where the third brigade passed into St. Andrew's Church, the others going along Dorchester street, where the second brigade entered St. James Cathedral, and the first continued to St. George's Church, on Windsor street. As far as numbers were concerned, the parade was exceedingly strong, and it was witnessed on its line of march by a very large number of citizens. On the close of the services the troops massed on Dorchester street, and marched west to Mountain, some of the corps returning to headquarters by way of St. Catherine street, and others by way of Sherbrooke

The marching on Sherbrooke Street, where the crowd gave the troops room, was of a very high class, and elicited well deserved applause all along the line.

Col. Buchan, D.O.C., commanded the division, and the staff officers were:—Lieut.-Col. Pelletier, C.S.O.; Lieut.-Col. Cameron, D.S.O., D.A.A.G., and Captain A. H Gault, with Captain Reford as aide to Col Buchan.

The units of the division were composed as follows:

First brigade, under command of Lieut.-Col. G. Starke, R.O., composed of Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars, Third Field Battery, First Prince of Wales Fusiliers, Third Victoria Rifles, No. 4 Company Army Service Corps, No. 3 Bearer Company and Field Hospital Corps, Army and Navy Veterans.

Second brigade, under command of Lieut.-Colonel Labelle, R.O., composed of 65th Mount Royal Rifles, St. Louis Cadets, and Veterans Canadiens.

Third brigade, under command of Lieut.-Col. Coke, R.O., composed of Second Regiment Canadian Artillery, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Hibbard; No. 4 Company, Canadian Engineers, under Major Howard; Fifth Royal Scots, under Lieut.-Col. Carson; Highland Cadets, under Major Lydon, and South African Veterans.

AT ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

The third brigade, under Lieut.-Col. J. P. Cooke, paraded to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, whose floor was completely filled by the kilties and other regiments, including a detachment of veterans. The service was of military brevity, and in its arrangement was well fitted for the occasion. Rev. Dr. Barclay, of St. Paul's, chaplain of the Royal Canadian Artillery, read the service, while the pastor, Rev. Dr. Edgar Hill, chaplain of the Royal Scots, preached. Both appeared in the uniform of their rank, the former wearing his Northwest rebellion medal. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity.

Rev. Dr. Hill chose as his text: "He that ruleth over men must be just, ruling in fear of God."—Second Samuel, chap. 23, verse 3.

This, he said, was the advice of a ruler, earned by long experience, and given as his best counsel to his succession after much chastisement for misrule. Transfer this counsel from the theocrat to the democrat, and it still held good. Rule to succeed must be just, and under our constitutional monarchy it was the justice of the people that must rule. This was a fitting subject of thought for the militia, and the only one on which they could sacrifice themselves effectively for their country. Only a just Canada could inspire her militia with the live martial ardor; only a Canada which put character first in her ambitions could call forth the loftiest enthusiasm in those who might have to fight for her name and fame.

"God has given us a good land. It can only be properly enjoyed by a good people. We must grow in knowledge of God and of ourselves, with reverence for the better things of life and its promises, reverence for justice and its blessings and reverence for piety with all its power in character building. In the stupendous defeat of Darius by the Greeks at Marathon, the latter fought for a holy cause, and knowing it, were invincible.

"To this end Canada must be careful in the education of her children to high ideals of law and order and justice, and for the encouragement of morality and virtue. Give us justice unerring, education free and abundant, and religion strong and robust, and all other things would be added to upbuild a strong national character. I have great faith in our country's future. I have seen many and great changes and improvements in her condition. But we must be very sensitive in assimilating our vast immigrant population, so that we shall not only have immigrants, but settlers who shall be virtuous and law-abiding, aiding to build the nation, and it is in this the churches have a noble work.

"But the civilians had a public duty as much as the militia. There must be willingness in a democracy for the best citizens to serve the state and not leave the government either municipal or the wider of the Parliament to inferior men. The honor of our country demanded the best men; the justice of our rule demanded the best service. Canadians must realize that Canada's good name is their personal good name.

"Let us be just to each other and work harmoniously for our nation. We are the shadows that pass away. But Canada is the substance that will remain to flourish when we are all gone. Posterity will bless us if we are just to ourselves and true to Canada. Thus shall we be true empire builders whose memory will be a pride to those that come after. It is for such a Canada as this you stand, gentlemen of the militia. May she be ever more worthy your loyalty and devotion."

According to custom, the collection was taken up in aid of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

AT ST. GEORGE'S.

The military service at St. George's Church was presided over by Rev. H. P. Plumptre, Rev. Canon Ellegood, of the Church of St. James the Apostle and chaplain to the Third Victoria Rifles Company, having previously read the lesson.

At this service Col. Gordon, former D.O.C. of this district, was present in civilian attire.

Taking as his text the 27th chapter of Acts, 15th verse, and that clause: "We let her drive," the Rev. Mr. Plumptre pointed out the sterling necessity of living lives with a purpose. Paul, accused by the Jews, had made his appeal to Caesar, and was making the journey from Caesarea to Rome on which he suffered shipwreck. Sailing from Crete through the Adriatic, there were three periods in the journey—the fair prospects of a successful voyage, then the hopeless drifting, and finally the shipwreck.

Thus was it with the life of to-day. Most people started in life with high hopes and noble aspirations. There were ghastly exceptions; victims of environment; early tainted by vice and crime; the jails in our large cities were full of such.

As the ship in which Paul journeyed was lost, so were many lives in Montreal. The slipping of the anchor was an indication of the vessel's fate. Some may have lost the anchors of prayer, of public worship and of reverence for the Lord's day. These were not the only essentials of life, but they were useful guides. A second indication—all control of the ship was lost. That man is drifting who has no control over himself, who cannot look himself in the face, who cannot say: "I am master of myself." Men are often bound by the chain of evil habits. Their own natures hold them back from the rigat. The man with no definite noble purpose is drifting. He may be just hoping—blindly hoping for the best. Without noble ambition men are drifting. What is noble ambition? It is not to be selfish; not to do most for one's self. Self is a miserable master. Two aspirations will prevent men from drifting to have the ambition to make the world happier for their brethren and to aspire to please God. Let them endeavor to make life as bright as they can for those in their homes and those around them in the world. If they have such aspirations they will reach their goal—their haven of refuge—the footstool of God. No one can reach that goal by chance or haphazard. He must put before him the service of his fellow men and the glory of God.

The service came to an end with the singing of 'God Save the King.'

JOYS OF MATERNITY

A WOMAN'S BEST HOPES REALIZED

Mrs. Potts Tells How Women Should Prepare for Motherhood

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to childless and lonely old age.

Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to a displacement of the womb or lack of strength in the generative organs.

Mrs. Anna Potts

Frequent backache and distressing pains, accompanied by offensive discharges and generally by irregular and scanty menstruation indicate a displacement or nerve degeneration of the womb and surrounding organs.

The question that troubles women is how can a woman who has some female trouble bear healthy children?

Mrs. Anna Potts, of 510 Park Avenue, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

My Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"During the early part of my married life I was delicate in health; both my husband and I were very anxious for a child to bless our home, but I had two miscarriages, and could not carry a child to maturity. A neighbor who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it. I did so and soon felt that I was growing stronger, my headaches and backaches left me, I had no more bearing-down pains, and felt like a new woman. Within a year I became the mother of a strong, healthy child, the joy of our home. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a splendid remedy, and I wish every woman who wants to become a mother would try it."

Actual sterility in woman is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free to expectant or would-be mothers.

If You Would Be Well You Must Keep Your Kidneys Well.

Help them to work freely. Help them to flush off all the body's waste and impurities.

Doan's Kidney Pills

Are for this purpose only.

Have you suspected your kidneys as the cause of your trouble? If you have backache, swelling of the feet and ankles, frequent or suppressed urine, painful sensation when urinating, specks floating before the eyes, great thirst, brick-dust deposit in the urine, or anything wrong with the urinary organs, then your kidneys are affected.

It is really not difficult to cure kidney trouble in its first stages. All you have to do is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They are the most effective medicine to be had for all kidney and urinary troubles.

Mrs. Mary Galley, Auburn, N.S., was cured by their use. She says:—"For over four months I was troubled with a lame back, and was unable to turn in bed without help. I tried plasters and liniments of all kinds, but to no effect. At last I was induced by a friend to try Doan's Kidney Pills. After I had used two-thirds of a box my back was as strong and as well as ever."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents. per box, or 3 for $1.25. All dealers, or sent direct by mail on receipt of price.

STOCKS AND MONEY.

Prices Score Sharp Advance; Manipulators Do Most of Trading

Every possible advantage was taken of the news of a Japanese victory to put prices on a higher level but from the character of the trading it was evident that the public was very little interested in the upward movement.

The stocks to show the most improvement were again those that suffered most in the recent decline in Wall Street, such as C.P.R., and Detroit United. Before the local market got fairly started it was seen that both London and New York were very much stronger and the local traders followed this lead. C.P.R., which had sold as low as 141 1-2 was much stronger and quite a few lots changed hands here over the 147 mark. Detroit United which has been one of the strongest stocks through the decline was to-day the most active issue on the list and held well fractionally higher than the 89 mark. Both Power and Dominion Iron were in fair demand.

The books of the Power Company have been closed till after the annual meeting. The early transactions were at 90, but later in the day the stock sold 89 3-4. Dominion Iron was stronger, selling 20 1-2. There was a fair demand for the bonds of the Winnipeg Railway, the Dominion Coal Co. and the Dominion Iron and Steel Company. Most of the days business was done in the first hour.

Japanese bonds, which are held to quite an extent here were stronger on the reports of the Jap victory and sold 2 to 3 1-2 points higher. No sales of the bonds were reported on the local curb to-day.

Local Gossip

SALES ON LOCAL MARKET.

Sales on the local exchange last week aggregated only 9,743 shares and $31,649 of bonds compared with 15,209 shares and $78,944 of bonds the previous week. Although dull, the market made a much better showing than in the corresponding week last year when sales were 2,809 shares and $25,000 of bonds.

Annual meeting of Power on Tuesday next.

MANIPULATING C.P.R.

Of the advance in C.P.R. a New York wire says: Th bidding up of Canadian Pacific by the so-called Levy pool at the close is a very old device. They found there was no stock pressing for sale, and they could bid the price up without getting much long stock. From all that we can see this pool has not been able to dispose of many of its stocks.

The Financial Chronicle says of the appointment of a successor to Mr. Thos: Fyshe, as general manager of the Merchants Bank.

The Merchant's Bank need not go outside its head office for a manager for the time being. There are few men who so thoroughly understand the policy and the position of the Merchant's Bank as well as Mr. E. F. Holden, who is a good banker and very highly esteemed by all to whom he is known in business and other circles.

The rumor in reference to Mr. Fyshe's joining the Board of the Bank of Nova Scotia is wholly without foundation.

FORGET'S CABLE.

L. J. Forget & Co.'s London cable quotes Grand Trunk first, 107 3-4; second 98 1-4; third, 48 7-8; C.P.R., 151; Anaconda, 5 1-2; Hudson Bay, 72.

E. & C. Randolph—As a whole the highest prices were made in the first fifteen minutes and, although the market has remained strong during the first two hours, there seems to be a considerable amount of stock for sale around top figures and nobody is willing to follow the advance much further at present. The strength has been in a large measure due to short covering.

Wall Street Market

Opening prices were the best recorded during the first hour, the market showing the effect of profit-taking by the room traders. Trading was quiet on the decline. Later prices were supported and showed somewhat above the opening level on light dealings, but receded again at noon. They were active dealings in Japanese bonds Railroad and miscellaneous bonds were dull and steady. Prices ranged as follows:

Union Pacific, 120 7-8 to 121; U. S. Steel, pfd., 93 7-8 to 94 1-2; C.P.R., 146 1-2 to 147; St. Paul, 173 to 173 1-8; Detroit, 89 to 89 1-2; Twins, 110 3-4 to 111 1-2.

WALL STREET GOSSIP.

There will not be any market in New York to-morrow it being Memorial Day.

J. S. Bache & Co., Noon—The market has not shown the same rallying power here this morning as in London. London and Continent were heavy buyers of securities in this market, but their purchases only offset the sales for Western account and some shorts.

Charles Head & Co.—Sentiment is hopeful but there is still a strong contingent who believe that the time is not ripe for a sustained advance and who are disposed to put out shorts on this bulge. The undertone, however, is strong and there are few stocks for sale.

Montreal Exchange quotations today are reported as follows by Marler & Hodgson.

MISS HELEN GOULD SUFFERS BIG LOSS

She Accuses G. E. Fisher of Wrongfully Leading Her to Invest $2,000,000.

New York, May 29.Chief among the developments from the failure of the Merchants' Trust Co. was the statement that Miss Helen Miller Gould and her brother Frank had been induced by fraudulent practices to invest in the securities of the Virginia Passenger & Power Co., of Richmond, Va., on the securities of which the trust company made heavy loans, and that they have charged George E. Fisher, of No. 37 Wall Street, with the taking of $2,000,000 to which he was not entitled. Their charge is in answer to his suit for a receivership for the Virginia Passenger & Power Co., of which he was promoter. Up to the time that he floated this company little or nothing had been heard of him in the world of "high finances." He was in business in Rochester before going to Richmond and taking the traction company in hand.

HOW THE GOULDS WERE INTERESTED.

While Fisher was floating the securities he went to Dr. John P. Munn, the Gould family physician and president of the United States Life Insurance Co., and, it is said, through Dr. Munn interested the Goulds in his traction project. Not long afterward Fisher became one of the directors of the Merchants' Trust Co. and later a member of its executive committee, which had practical control of the investments of trust of the company.

When the discovery was made that the Virginia Passenger & Power Co. was a financial fizzle, the Merchants' Trust Co. had made a loan of $1,500,000 on its securities. This loan Miss Gould and her brother took up for the trust company, to save, it is said, Dr. Munn, who was not only Jay Gould's physician, but one of his most intimate friends, from heavy loss. It is this sum with interest that the Goulds accuse Fisher of taking by unfair means.

It is charged by them that they were induced to invest the securities on the strength of padded monthly reports of the company's earnings and that he bought up hundreds of dollars worth of street car tickets in Richmond for several months for the purpose of "salting" the receipts of the corporation.

When the crash of the Virginia Passenger & Power Co. became inevitable Fisher asked the Virginia courts to appoint a receiver for the company. Miss Gould and her brother opposed the action, alleging that he was plotting to wreck the traction company for his own financial ends. It was upon the investigation of the company's books in this suit that the facts concerning its earnings were disclosed to the Goulds.

"Street" Gossip.

Mr. W. B. Ross, secretary of the Dominion Iron & Steel Co., who has been in the city for some days arranging for the new issue of the bonds of the company, has returned to Halifax.

Great Nor. Ry. of Canada

The reorganization of Great Northern Railway of Canada bonded debt is now an accomplished fact, all acts necessary to the issuing of the new mortgage, as well as the authority of the Canadian Northern Railway to guarantee the principal and interest of the new bonds, having been approved by a special act of the Dominion Parliament of Canada.

The approval of this Great Northern of Canada mortgage, and all details in connection therewith, by the Canadian Parliament is unique in Canadian financial affairs, such act absolutely assuring the legality of the bond issue and the Canadian Northern guarantee.

As the guarantee, principal and interest, by Canadian Northern Railway is and will be an important factor in the market price of the $4,900,000 new Great Northern Railway of Canada bonds, it has been thought best by some of the large holders of these bonds to make a public offering in the London market. Securities of the Canadian Northern Railway find a ready market in London, the debenture 4 per cent. stock of that corporation being listed on the London Stock Exchange and being daily quoted at between 93 and 95.

These Great Northern Railway of Canada bonds are a first mortgage on what will be a very important portion of the Canadian Northern completed line. It is expected a price could be received for these bonds about equal to that now being quoted for Canadian Northern Railway 4 per cent. debenture stock.

The holders of a sufficient amount of bonds to make a public offering have already signified their willingness to deposit their bonds with the Central Trust Co., the same to be pooled until Sept. 1, 1905, on condition that the net price to be realized a depositor of bonds will be not less than $890 for each bond deposited.

No Damage in West

Mr. F. W. Thompson, vice-president and managing director of the Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Ltd., on Saturday received the following important message from the company's office at Winnipeg:

"Recent cold weather has practically done no damage to crop, which is now two weeks ahead of last year, and about a week earlier than the average. All our inspectors confirm this. Frost last night not sufficient to do damage."

Effect of Stock Transfer Tax

Henry Clews, the prominent New York banker, says of the effect of the stock transfer tax:—An infinitesimal incline will drain a huge lake and turn the current of a mighty river. All roads led to Rome and made its greatness. All financial streams flow to New York city, promising to make it in a short time the financial centre of the world. I fear, however, through unwise law-making on the part of the Governor and his Legislature that such a desirable result will be much retarded, if not defeated, by the stock tax law, which is to become operative on June 1. In an article I wrote a short time ago, I predicted that New York city would within ten years reach the point of being the world's financial centre. Such a result is made impossible, however, by the handicap imposed by Governor Higgins and his Legislature by the stock tax law. New York city cannot continue the rapid financial progression against such odds in favor of Jersey City, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, and even some of the Canadian cities; therefore, so long as that tax law stands unrepealed, I withdraw my prognostications about New York city becoming within ten years the financial centre of the world, and instead say that it is impossible for it to reach that eminent and proud position so long as that invidious and class legislation act stands on the statute books of this state.

Great Reduction in Capital Effected by Mining Merger

The new big mining company which it is intended should absorb the Le Roi, Centre Star and War Eagle mining companies and control the C.P.R. smelter at Trail, B.C., will have a capital of something like $7,500,000, of which from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 will be cash for development purposes.

The aggregate value of the interests involved approaches the enormous sum of $13,550,000 or about double the figure at which they are being consolidated. All of the properties have paid substantial dividends on their present share capital, with the exception of the Snowshoe mine and East Kootenay coal lands. The only reason why the two latter are not large profit earners is their lack of development. The East Kootenay lands are, however, of enormous prospective value, fully equalling the holdings of the fabulously wealthy Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co.

The probable list of the properties to be included in the merger follows with their respective values:

Le Roi mine, including the Northport smelter	$5,000,000
Centre Star mine	3,500,000
War Eagle and its associated mines	2,000,000
Trail smelter	1,250,000
East Kootenay coal lands	1,000,000
Rossland Power Co.	300,000
Snowshoe mine	500,000
Total	$13,550,000

Three of the mines have produced in the aggregate $25,000,000 in the first 1,000 feet of development.

MARKET REPORTS.

Rumored Action of Packers Likely to Injure Canadian Trade

Canadian bacon commands a far higher price in the English market than the American brands. The difference is something like 11s per cwt., Canadian bacon commanding 55s to 58s, while American was quoted at only 44s to 47s per cwt. last week. There is also considerable difference in the prices of Canadian and American hogs. On the Canadian markets hogs are selling at from $7.25 to $7.50 per 100 lb., while at Chicago hogs could be bought for $5.50. It is said that some Canadian packers in the West are taking advantage of this difference in prices and packing American hogs for shipment to the English market as Canadian bacon. If this is true the result will be the ruin of the Canadian provision trade.

The English consumer does not pay ten shillings per 100 lb. more for Canadian goods from any feeling of national sentiment. He pays a higher price because the goods are better, and he wants to obtain the best. Canadian bacon is far superior to American because the hogs from which it is made are of a better quality. Canadian hogs are fed on peas and hard foods, while the American stock are fed on corn. The result is that the former are much more suitable for packing purposes than the latter. This difference is particularly noticeable in the bacon. American meat packed as Canadian and exported to England would greatly injure the reputation of the Canadian product and be detrimental to the best interests of the Canadian dealers.

The reported "faking up" of Canadian bacon, although looked on as impossible by many dealers, is quite within the bounds of possibility. Live hogs sold here last week at $7.50, while in Chicago they sold for $5.50 per 100 lb. The average weight of a hog is about 200 lb., making an average difference of $4.00 on each animal between the American and Canadian prices. Deducting $2 for duty, 30 cents for difference in freight rates, which would be ample to cover this item, and another 30c for extra shrinkage in transportation this would leave the packer an extra profit of $1.40. Even at the ruling price of $7 to $7.25 per 100 lb. this could be done.

Cheese, Butter and Eggs

The tone of the cheese market is easy, and prices in the country are easing off gradually. At the Brockville board on Saturday 9⅜c. was the ruling price for Ontario and as low as 9c was paid at London. The ruling price at most of the other Ontario boards was 9 7-16c. A fair amount of buying was done, but exporters can not be making much profit with the present market conditions.

A letter from Ragg Bros., provision dealers, Liverpool, dated May 20, states that Canadian colored cheese was offered in Liverpool for 46s. This would be equal to about 9⅞c per lb., Canadian money. When ½c is deducted from this to cover freight and other charges it will be seen that a very small margin for profit is left. Locally cheese is quoted at 9½c to 9⅝c for finest Ontario and 9⅜c for Quebec makes.

There is a firm feeling reported in the local butter market. The quality of the goods is improving rapidly, and exporters are beginning to pick up any fancy lots that are offered. Prices in the country are strong, 19¼c to 20¼c being paid for best creamery at Cowansville on Saturday. Local dealers are quoting 19¼c to 20c for finest creamery. The export business is somewhat better than it was at this time last year. During the past week the shipments were 4,314 packages against 2,842 packages for the corresponding week last year. The receipts were 11,800 packages, against 10,017 packages for the same week last year.

The egg market rules firm and straight receipts are quoted at 15½c to 16c. The receipts during the past week were 7,561 cases against 8,581 cases for the corresponding week last year. According to advices received some good large shipments are on the way, and it is likely that the receipts will be heavy this week. As long as the weather keeps fairly cool dealers do not look for lower prices, but a few really warm days might make considerabe change in the market.

Country Produce

Beans.—The market for beans was steady, under a fair demand for choice primes at $1.60 to $1.65 per bushel.

Honey.—There was no change in honey, for which the demand continues slow. Extracted white clover honey, 7c to 7½c per 10-lb. tin, and 6½c to 7c in 60-lb. tins; buckwheat honey, 6c to 6½c, and white clover comb, 13c to 13½c.

Maple Product.—Business in maple product was quiet and prices unchanged. Prices: Syrup, in 60-gal. kegs, 6c to 6½c per lb.; in tins, 65c to 70c per wine measure, and 75c to 80c for imperial, and Beauce sugar, 8½c to 9c per lb.

Hops.—There is no change in hops, the demand still being limited. Prices: Choice Canadians, 28c to 29c, and fair to good at 24c to 26c per lb.

Ashes.—The market for potash was quiet and steady. We quote as follows: First sorts, $5.45 to $5.50; seconds, $4.95 to $5, and first pearls, $7 per 100 lb.

Grain, Flour, Hay

Grain.—Exporters find it still difficult to work any new business, the buyers being unwilling to come up to the prices quoted.

Flour.—The tone of the flour market is very strong and some millers incline to the belief that prices are likely to stiffen. A fair amount of business is being done. Manitoba spring wheat patents, $5.40 to $5.50; strong bakers', $5.10 to $5.20; winter wheat patents, $5.50 to $5.60; straight rollers, $5.15 to $5.25, and in bags, $2.45 to $2.55.

Millfeed.—Business is rather quiet and prices about steady. Prices: Manitoba bran, in bags, $18; shorts, $20 per ton; Ontario winter wheat bran, in bulk, $18 to $18.50; shorts, $19.50 to $20.50; mouillie, $24 to $28 per ton, as to quality.

Oats.—The tone of the market for rolled oats remains firm under a fair demand at 2.22½ per bag. The market for cornmeal is quiet, at $1.35 to $1.45 per bag.

Hay.—A fair business continued to be done in baled hay, on local account, at steady prices. We quote as follows: No. $1, $9 to $9.50; No. 2, $8 to $8.50; clover, mixed, $7 to $7.50; and pure clover, $6.50 to $6.75 per ton, in car lots.

Wheat Inspection

Winnipeg, May 29.—The wheat inspections here to-day were as follows: No. 1 northern, 4 cars; No. 2 northern, 20 cars; No. 3 northern, 8 cars; other grades, 13 cars; total, 45 cars; same date last year, 80 cars.

Wheat Markets

At the Chicago market this morning May options opened at 101 and were quoted later at 99½. July options opened at 89⅞ and later were quoted at 88⅞. September option were quoted at 82⅞.

At the Winnipeg market 90½ was bid for May options at opening and the quotation held steady throughout the morning. For July options 93⅝ was asked at opening and later sales were made at 92¾.

Cheese Boards

Brockville, Ont., May 29.—(Special.)—The offering at Saturday's meeting of the cheese board was the largest of the season, 4,489 boxes, of which 2,000 were white and 2,489 colored, all full grass cheese. It is not to be wondered at that the make is assuming big proportions, because the pastures are in tiptop condition by reason of the frequent rains, followed by bright, warm weather. Indeed, the grazing of this section could hardly be improved upon, and the meadows indicate an enormous crop of hay. These are the reports brought in by farmers from all points of the compass.

Though white showed a preference over colored in the public cable of three shillings, the buyers made no distinction in their bids. Business was transacted on a basis of 9⅜c and 9 7-16c, with the former an unmistakable ruler. Out of the 3,935 boxes sold by public auction, salesmen representing 330 boxes were lucky to obtain the top figures. Mr. Patton filled a special order for 300 boxes, and Charles Earle took one lot of 30 colored. The market was therefore a disappointment to the men from the rural district generally. In all hands, with the exception of these two buyers, 9⅜c appeared to be the limit, and it took a good deal of coaxing to induce the factory holders to accept it. They held stubbornly to the last ditch, and it was only within a few minutes of adjournment that the bulk of the sales were made.

The curb sales and "regulars" represent a total of 6,775 boxes, which changed hands, divided thus: A. E. Earle, 150; Chas. Earle, 150; Patton, 350; Webster, 400; Evertts, 800; Bissell, 1,500; Dickey, 600; Murphy, 1,000; Derbyshire, 1,700; Gardiner, 125. Nothing better than 9⅜c was obtainable on the street.

Belleville, May 29.—The offerings at the cheese board Saturday were 2,520 white and 60 colored cheese. Sales on market were 2,100 at 9⅜c; balance refused at 9 5-16c.

London, Ont., May 29.—At the cheese board Saturday eight factories boarded 1,235 boxes of colored cheese, 570 boxes sold on the board at 9c. The balance sold on the street at the same price.

Vankleek Hill, Ont., May 29.—There were 1,244 boxes of cheese boarded here Saturday, 132 colored and 11,112 white. The highest price was 9¼c per pound.

Chesterville, May 29.—At the Chesterville cheese board Saturday there were 143 white and 80 colored boarded; highest bid 9 5-16c. It all sold. Buyers present: A. A. Logan, L. Carson, S. P. Laushway.

Crysler, May 29.—At the cheese board Saturday, 629 boxes of white and 178 boxes of colored cheese were boarded. White all sold for 9 7-16c, and colored at 9c. The buyers present were: A. A. Logan, J. W. Ault, G. L. McLean, G. A. Carson, A. Jardine, J. R. Weir, T. B. Code and J. F. Ault.

Cornwall, May 29.—There was quite a struggle at the Cornwall cheese board Saturday. The salesmen wanted 9½c, and the buyers 9 7-16c. The buyers won after a dicker of over an hour. One thousand two hundred and ten boxes were boarded; 671 white and 538 colored sold at 9 7-16c. J. A. McRae got 462 for Hodgson Bros., J. A. Welsh 474 for James Alexander, and N. Pitt 274 for Willer & Riley. At a corresponding date last year 1,858 boxes sold at 8⅝c to 8¾.

Alexandria, May 29.—At the cheese board Saturday the offering was 808, which included 536 white and 272 colored. The price was 9 7-16c. Buyers present were: McRae, 190 white and 172 colored; McGregor, 315 white; Welsh, 131 white and 100 colored.

Cowansville, May 29.—At the Eastern Townships Dairy Exchange Saturday, 29 creameries offered 1,507 boxes of butter, and 18 factories offered 619 boxes of cheese. A. J. Brice bought 116 boxes of butter at 20c and 27 boxes at 19½c; H. Allen bought 60 boxes at 20⅛c, 85 boxes at 20c, 40 boxes at 19⅝c, and 24 boxes at 19¾c; Mr. McCullough bought 100 boxes at 20⅛c, and 45 boxes at 20c; Lovell & Christmas bought 279 boxes at 20c; Gunn & Langlois bought 55 boxes at 20c; Hodgson Bros. bought 100 boxes at 20⅛c, and 80 boxes at 20c; J. Alexander bought 80 boxes at 20⅛c and 100 boxes at 19½c; A. L. Hibbard bought 34 boxes at 20⅛c. The balance was unsold.

Hodgson Bros. bought 89 boxes of cheese at 9⅜c and 102 boxes at 9¼c; F. Fowler bought 131 boxes at 9⅜c, and 76 boxes at 9 7-16c; D. A. McPherson bought 90 boxes at 9⅜c, and 88 boxes at 9¼c. The balance unsold. Fourteen buyers were present.

St. Hyacinthe, Que., May 29.—At the butter and cheese board Saturday 707 packages of butter were offered, of which 621 packages were sold and 86 packages unsold. The rates were: To Gunn, Langlois & Co., 96 pkgs., 20¼c; Willer & Riley, 17 pkgs., 20¼c; James Dalrymple & Sons, 140 pkgs., 20¼c; J. A. Vaillancourt, 97 pkgs., 20¼c; James Alexander, 211 pkgs., 20¼c.

Three Rivers, May 29.—At the meeting of the Three Rivers Butter and Cheese Board 119 boxes of cheese and 232 boxes of butter were boarded. Cheese sold at 9⅛c and butter at 19c.

Cattle Market

Business was fairly active at the East End cattle market. A large number of buyers were present and the demand was good. The offerings were 600 head of cattle, 450 hogs and 150 sheep and lambs. Cattle sold at $6.25; hogs, $7.25, and sheep, at $4 per 100 lb. All the hogs and sheep were bought early in the morning and but few cattle were left over.

At the Point St. Charles market about 350 hogs were offered at sales were made at from $7 to $7.25 per 100 lb.

The Provision Market

There is an easier feeling in the local provision market in sympathy with the weakening of the English market. No change is reported in prices, however, and the local demand continues active.

Crop Prospects Very Good

Sherbrooke, May 29.—(Special.)—Farmers on the market state that the season has been a very backward one for seeding in the Eastern Townships, owing to the wet and cold weather. The seeding is now practically over with the exception of ensilage corn, turnips and buckwheat, and in a few wet patches oats and barley have yet to be sown. While the season has been a backward one, the farmers spoken to on the market to-day state that, provided warm weather is experienced the crops will not be any more behind than in previous years.

The rains have given the grass a fine start and meadows and pasture lands never looked better at this season of the year.

The frost early this week fortunately did not injure the clover, except in very isolated cases, and there is every prospect of a good hay crop.

So far as could be gathered from farmers owning orchards, no damage was done to the apple trees by frost, as the blossoms were not far enough out. To garden produce, such as cabbage and tomatoes, considerable injury was done.

Cotton Market

New York, May 29.—There was great activity and excitement at the opening of the cotton market to-day following a very bullish crop report by a New Orleans newspaper, a tremendous advance in the Liverpool market and reports of a Japanese victory and the Far Eastern sea fight suggesting an early end to the war. First prices here were 10 to 15 points higher, followed by a further advance to 8.41 for July and 8.45 for October contracts and a gain from the close of Saturday of about 25 points. Trading was very active with both commission houes and professional heavy buyers.

Cotton futures opened strong. May, 8.30; June, 8.2; July, 8.30; August, 8.24; September, 8.26; October, 8.34; November, 8.32 bid.

A RELIC OF GORDON.

Addressing the Royal Geographical Society on "The Nile Province of Western Uganda," says the Daily Mail, Lieut.-Col. C. Delme-Radcliffe said when he took over the civil and military charge of the Nile District from Col. Martyr he found the parapet and ditches of Emin Pacha's old station at Wadelai, on the left bank, in a fair state of preservation, though the buildings had disappeared. The natives remembered Emin well. Of Gordon only a few natives seemed to know anything, though most of those living near the river had heard of "Godun," as he was called, and an interesting relic had been secured in the shape of an Austrian bentwood chair, which Gordon had given to the chief Gimorro. The chair was to be seen in a room adjoining the lecture theatre.

JAPAN AND FRANCE.

Were the facts alleged by the Japanese (as to the provisioning of the Baltic fleet in French waters) established, and were their Government to call upon us to fulfil our obligations under the alliance, France must remember that we should have no choice but to comply. Nothing would gratify her enemies more. Nothing would bring grief more profound to the vast majority of both peoples.—The Times.

EMMANUEL CHURCH BRINGS HIGH FIGURE

A Fine Block is About to be Erected on Sherbrooke Street West.

The activity of real estate on St. Catherine Street continues and the announcement is now made that the Emmanuel Church property at the northwest corner of St. Catherine and Stanley Streets, has been sold for $160,000. The purchase, which was made by Mr. W. H. Weir, is said to be in the interest of Mr. Jas. Reid Wilson, of the Thos. Robertson Company and was made as an investment. The property has been on the market for some time. It contains about 16,000 feet and was sold at about $10 a foot.

Two large sales of property has just been recorded in Sherbrooke St. Mr. W. H. Weir has bought the vacant lot between his residence and Mackay Street, and known as the Samuel Davis property. The price paid was two dollars a foot. The lot measures 123 feet on Sherbrooke and 144 on Mackay, and Mr. Weir will at once begin the erection of a fine cut stone terrace, containing five residences. The architectural proportions are to be in keeping with the surrounding neighborhood.

Mr. John Withell has also sold the Kay property which he purchased a few months since, at the northeast corner of Sherbrooke and Durocher for about $30,000.

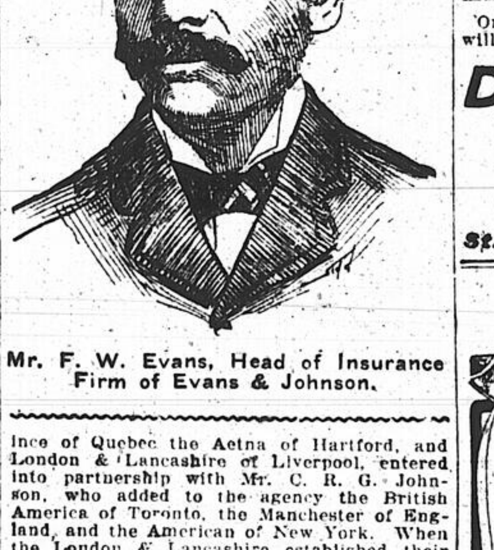

The new purchaser is Miss Estelle Powers O'Brien and the figure is understood to have been considerably in advance of that just named.

INSURANCE NOTES

Mr. F. W. Evans, head of the insurance firm of Evans & Johnson, is among the best known men in local insurance circles. Mr. Evans first became prominently identified with insurance work in 1875 when he became a member of the firm of Wood & Evans. In 1899 Mr. Evans, who then represented as general agent for the Province of Quebec the Aetna of Hartford, and London & Lancashire of Liverpool, entered into partnership with Mr. C. R. G. Johnson, who added to the agency the British America of Toronto, the Manchester of England, and the American of New York. When the London & Lancashire established their own office here, Mr. Evans took in the Sun and later on the Home of New York.

Mr. Evans has also been prominent in municipal circles in Westmount and did a great deal of work while serving as chairman of the Finance Committee.

Annual Report of Alliance Assurance Co

The report of the Alliance Assurance Co. for 1904 shows the net fire premiums received last year to have been $4,683,485, which is a substantial sum in excess of 1903. To this was added interest and dividends, less income tax, amounting to $408,040, making the income for the year, in the fire department, $5,091,525. The losses by fire, less re-insurances, were $2,320,195, which gives a ratio of 49.53 per cent. on the net premium receipts, which is a very satisfactory figure for a year which was marked by such disastrous conflagrations as those at Baltimore, Toronto and other cities. The net result of the operations of the past year was an underwriting surplus of $765,270, to which the interest receipts of $408,040 being added made $1,173,310, which sum was transferred to profit and loss account. The amount of the fire fund at the end of the year was $10,630,820.

Heavy Insurance Held in Canada

That a people of six millions should have almost six hundred millions of life assurance ($587,873,000), almost a hundred dollars per head, men, women and children, is proof that they acknowledge the beneficence of the business. This is the position of Canadians to-day. The total new life assurance granted by life companies in Canada during 1904 amounted to $104,016,862. The Government returns indicate the different systems under four broad headings. The policies issued under the Pct.

Life system amounted to	$59,498,915	or	57.2
Endowment system amounted to	37,032,683	or	35.6
Term system amounted to	7,247,956	or	7.0
Bonus additions amounted to	237,307	or	.2

The life system includes, in addition to the ordinary whole life assurance with premiums payable until death, all forms of limited payment policies such as 10, 15 and 20-payment life contracts; the endowment class embraces endowment assurances with limited payments as well as with payments, which are payable throughout the endowment term. Term assurance class represents chiefly contracts providing for temporary assurance of from three to ten years, mostly taken out for business purposes and to provide temporary protection.

That endowment assurance should represent over one-third of the whole applied for is an evidence of the spirit of intelligence and thrift which pervades the Canadian rising public. They perceive that such a contract as an endowment policy gives them is eminently business-like, and they are willing to make economic sacrifices in order to carry out its provisions.

The Chronicle says of the policy of Canadian companies investing in foreign countries: Even some Canadian insurance companies are assisting foreign countries at the expense of the Dominion from which they derive their support. Some day these foreign investments will, probably, cause no little trouble and regret.

The Crown Life Insurance Company has rented a handsome suite of offices in the new Sovereign Bank Building in this city, which they now occupy. Mr. Stanley Henderson is manager for the Province of Quebec.
