Next week's weather

January 16 to 23

By ERIC NEAL

Conditions will continue bright and pleasant into the middle of this full moon week, with cold, gusty winds.

Temperature range during the week: 5 below zero nights and some days as warm as 35°F in the south; 15 to 20 below zero and 30°F in the Laurentians; 30 below zero and 20°F in northern counties and the Gulf. Sunshine 25-30 hours. Snow 7 to 9", possibly more.

Continuing sunny and cold through mid-week, then easing for heavy snows and a little freezing rain.

Clear and quite cold to end the week with wind driven snow in north, freezing drizzle and soft snow in the south.

NEW MAYOR, ALDERMEN, TRUSTEE AND FLAG: Captured by the camera shortly after they were proclaimed to office are left to right: Jean H. Richer, alderman-elect, Peter M. McEntyre, who will serve his second term, Mayor-elect Michael Lovett Tucker, Fred W. Gross, who will serve a second term, and Murray Savage who will serve his first term as Library Trustee. Above and behind them is the new flag of Canada. The flag was on display in council chambers for the first time.

M. L. Tucker proclaimed mayor, three aldermen also unopposed

"I am very pleased with the honor accorded me," Michael Lovett Tucker said a few minutes after City Clerk R. B. Seaman proclaimed him mayor, Monday.

Equally pleased were the three aldermanic candidates — Fred W. Gross, Peter M. McEntyre and Jean H. Richer — who were proclaimed to office as the 2 p.m. deadline for nominations passed with no other candidates having filed papers. In the same way Murray Savage was declared Library Trustee.

Mr. Seaman made the proclamations as he and the candidates stood before a copy of the new Canadian flag on display in council chambers. The flag, newly-hung behind the mayor's chair, is one of 3 purchased by the city for display.

The office-holders-elect will have to wait until Jan. 25 before being officially sworn in. On that day Mayor Drury will retire after a two-year term. If any other nominations had been filed, an election would have taken place Jan. 18.

In the hour before nominations closed there was little suspense in council chambers at City Hall as officials of the Westmount Municipal Association, the candidates, Mayor Chipman Drury, and city administration officials gathered to await the deadline. There was little suspense simply because no other citizens had picked up the

Surrey Gardens house robbed

Westmount Police, having cleared up one series of house-breakings late last month, with the arrest of three men, are now faced with another robbery.

Thieves broke a rear window to force their way into a Surrey Gardens home Sunday evening and made off with furs, jewels and other items, the value of which has not yet been fully established.

Police say the maid left the house at 5 p.m. Sunday and no one was in the house until 10 p.m. when the robbery was discovered.

West End plans area council

There has been discussion, but nothing formal has been decided, Mayor Chipman Drury said Wednesday when asked to comment on meetings that have taken place between the cities of Westmount and Cote St. Luc and the Towns of Hampstead and Montreal West with a view to forming a regional council embracing the four Great West End municipalities.

"As always, the City of Westmount is willing to co-operate with other municipalities," he added.

The new organism, one of several recommended by the Inter-municipal Co-ordinating Council formed by Montreal's neighboring communities on the Island in the face of threats of annexation by the big, core city, would comprise all the West End of the metropolis less City of Montreal territory.

Town of Hampstead Mayor Stuart M. Finlayson revealed to the January meeting of his Town Council Tuesday evening that last week, Jan. 6, he had met with Mayors Moskovich and Kirkpatrick of Cote St. Luc and Montreal West, respectively, and Mayor-elect Tucker of Westmount. In a two-and-one-half-hour discussion, the four chief magistrates concluded that they unanimously were in favor of formation of a regional council, subject to ratification by their individual municipal councils and subsequent further study.

Hampstead's aldermen Tuesday evening endorsed both the discussions so far and further steps by the mayor.

Mayor-elect Tucker told The Examiner that members of the Westmount Council had informally discussed the project, but

'Plaza' appeal filed

At least one group of West-monters who petitioned to quash the zoning amendment permitting the construction of the West End Plaza, has appealed the dismissal of their petition.

"We have filed an inscription and appeal," Michael J. Ogilvy told The Examiner shortly before press time. "The appeal is based on the same grounds that were dismissed in Magistrate's Court the end of December."

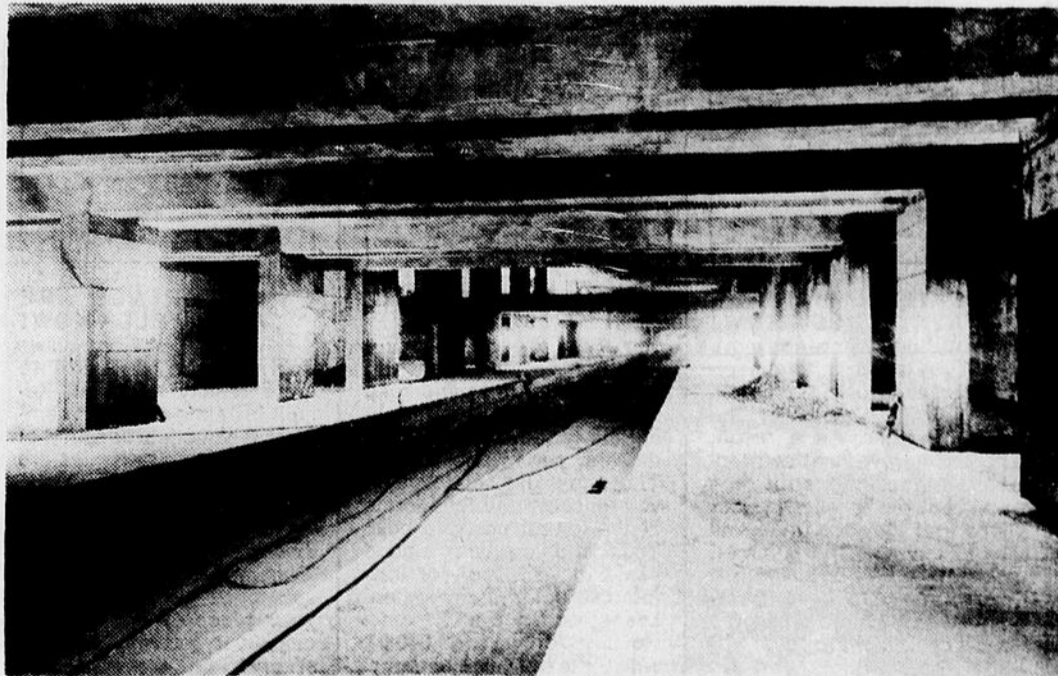

The appeal, filed with the General Court of Appeal, means, said a spokesman at City Hall, that no building permit can be issued to the West End Plaza, Inc. until the legal entanglements are straightened out. However, the developers do have a foundation permit and excavation and foundation work can be done on the Atwater Ball Park site of the $32,000,000 development.

Now written arguments must be prepared and the court must set a date on which to hear the case.

Meanwhile, in addition to a loss of time suffered by the developers, depending on the time it takes to deal with the appeal, and the appeal court's ATWATER SUBWAY STATION: This is how the subway station under Western avenue looked this week as Metro engineers reported the station and the tunnel leading toward Greene avenue, almost finished. The photo was taken facing toward Greene avenue. Later, contracts will be awarded for finishing and lining the walls with tiles. The subway is schedule to go into operation in late 1966. The station entrance is located near the northwest corner of Atwater and Western under a temporary shack.

The year 1964 in Westmount

Following is the third and final part of a review of the events of 1964 in Westmount.

NOVEMBER

The City of Westmount officially opened its new $900,000 police and fire headquarters and City Hall Annex on Stanton avenue. Officiating at the function were Hon. J. Richard Hyde, and Mayor C. H. Drury. Top public safety figures in the province attended the opening.

Westmount Centre

A new by-law that would permit the construction of the apartment-office-shopping complex known as Westmount Centre was given first reading by City Council. A public meeting in connection with the by-law was scheduled for Dec. 16.

The developers of the project held a press conference and presented revised plans for the project. New plans called for a 20-storey office building, two apartment buildings of 21-storeys, a two-storey retail department store, an underground shopping concourse, and underground parking.

It was reported that landscape architects were preparing to make proposals to revise plans for the redevelopment of Westmount Park. Phase one of renovation of the park was reported to be completed, at a cost of $234,000. Some phase two work — the rebuilding of the Senior Citizens' area and initial construction at the Children's play area — was carried out with Phase one for reasons of economy.

New Buildings

Work began on the 16-storey office-apartment building in the Western Claremont-York area.

Work was reported well underway on a $4,000,000, a partment building to rise 12 storeys at the corner of St. Catherine street west and Clarke avenue.

DECEMBER

City Hall

Tenders were called for the renovation of the interior of City Hall. It was reported that the renovation involved would transform the inside of the forty-year-old structure into completely modern office quarters. City officials stressed that no change at all was contemplated for the exterior of the building.

City Candidates

The Westmount Municipal Association nominated Michael L. Tucker to succeed retiring Mayor C. H. Drury. Picked as candidates for aldermen were Fred

W. Gross, Peter M. McEntyre, and Jean H. Richer.

The quiet fall general meeting of the Association heard Mayor Drury warn that new attempts to annex Westmount to the City of Montreal were possible in the future. He called on citizens to be vigilant.

City Council heard a request from Shaar Hashomayim for a zoning amendment to permit new construction in the Metcalfe-Cote St. Antoine-Kensington area.

Council approved the appointment of Acting City Clerk Ronald B. Seaman as City Clerk. Acting City Accountant J. Slipper was named City Accountant, and E. J. McCullough was appointed Assistant Treasurer.

Westmount Centre

No one showed up at a public meeting to oppose the new zoning amendment to permit the construction of the Westmount Centre complex. Forty-six elector-proprietors were eligible to have a say at the meeting. A spokesman for the Westmount Centre Inc. said if all went well construction was expected to get underway in the spring.

Upon completion of temporary resurfacing, Western avenue was reopened to traffic. The artery was closed earlier in the year in order that work on the subway could be done.

Westmount Centre

City Council gave second and third readings to the zoning amendment permitting the construction of Westmount Centre, thereby making the amendment law.

West End Plaza

In the final days of 1964, Judge Jacques Bousquet dismissed petitions to quash the zoning amendment that permitted construction of the West End Plaza complex planned for the old Atwater site.

Petitioner Alexander Biega told The Examiner he would "more than likely" appeal the dismissal in the General Court of Appeal.

Here are three important reasons why it will pay you to renovate and redecorate your home now!

1 SKILLED MEN ARE AVAILABLE—NOW!
Although more and more building is being done each winter, exterior construction does slow down during the cold weather. As a result, home improvement contractors and skilled craftsmen seek out the smaller interior jobs that they are unable to handle during the summer. You benefit—with skilled workmanship by experienced tradesmen when it's most convenient to you!

2 DISCOUNTS AND LOANS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW!
To create incentives that will balance their sales and keep their staff employed throughout the year, building supply dealers run winter sales. These special discounts help you renovate and redecorate at the lowest possible cost. You'll find your bank a good place to visit, too—for low-interest Home Improvement Loans under the National Housing Act: up to $4,000.00, with up to ten years to repay!

3 MATERIALS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW!
When building slows down, materials become more readily available. Result: irritating delays in completing your job because of late delivery of supplies are eliminated!

There's no doubt about it. Winter is the very best time to spruce up your home (and your place of business)—quickly, efficiently, inexpensively!

A public meeting will be held at City Hall Feb. 16 in connection with the plans of Congregation Shaar Hashomayim for a $1,000,000 addition to their property on Cote St. Antoine road.

Some 1,000 proprietors are eligible to make representations at the meeting. Should 10 or more proprietors oppose the zoning amendment permitting the construction, a referendum will be called.

The expansion plans call for a two-storey addition and include a 70-car underground garage and 13 spaces for outdoor parking.

The Congregation is presently having a model prepared showing the expansion in relation to neighboring properties at the Kensington avenue-Cote St. Antoine road-Metcalf avenue site. The model will be on public display before the Feb. 16 meeting.

Canadian flag to fly over city

The City of Westmount will fly the new Canadian flag when it becomes official.

A copy of the new flag formed the background for the proclamation of the mayor-elect and new aldermen Monday in city council chambers.

"We won't fly the flag until it becomes official," City Manager Norman T. Dawe said. He explained that once the flag becomes official, it may take some time before true copies will be available from manufacturers. "The city bought three flags as close to the official flag as possible in order to try them out in the meantime," he said.

The three flags were purchased from a Canadian manufacturer. They are made of nylon, measure 3 feet by 6, and are hand sewn. Unlike some foreign-made flags, those purchased by the city, have eleven points in the maple leaf — the number decided upon by Parliament.

The design recommended by Parliament was given Christmas Eve sanction by Queen Elizabeth. All that remains is for the Queen to issue a formal proclamation setting the effective date.

Volunteers sought for civil protection course

Westmount Police and Fireman, members of the Civil Protection Organization, this week are seeking volunteers to take part in a new six-week Civil Protection course.

Registration opened Monday evening, but more volunteers are still sought. The classes are held Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7:30 until about 10 p.m. in the Police and Fire Building on Stanton avenue. Applications are being received at the Westmount Fire Department, or anyone interested may show up at the classes. Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 55.

The present course is concerned with "light rescue" work. Later on courses will be held in first aid and auxiliary firefighting. Some 30 volunteers last year completed courses in rescue, auxiliary firefighting, and pre-orientation for civil protection.

The Civil Protection Forces will assist the regular municipal police and firemen in case of local disaster or nuclear attack.

Con men get $2,800 from local woman

A Melville avenue woman, described as being over 80 years-old fell victim this week to the 'bank investigator' racket. Despite repeated pleas by police for anyone receiving a suspicious phone call to contact them, the swindlers still find victims.

The racket works this way: A man calls and tells the victim that the bank is checking on an employee, would the victim help the bank by withdrawing money from her account. The victim goes to the bank, takes out money. When she returns to her home, a 'bank investigator' picks up the money to return it to the bank.

That was how it was worked on the Melville avenue woman. The bank investigator picked up $2,800 she had withdrawn and left without a trace.

Westmount Police say Montreal Police have picked up a suspect in connection with the racket and a line-up will be held to see if the Melville avenue woman can identify the man.

WE SAY

Civil protection and civic apathy

VOLUNTEERS are being sought for a new course in civil protection in Westmount. The response to the courses last year was not all that was hoped for, but some volunteers did show up and complete the disaster training. In a time of disaster they may save many lives.

But it is rather strange that officials should lack volunteers in a city with so many falling in between the age limits. We wonder why the Westmounters who turn out in such large numbers to use the pool, to use the parks, to exercise at the curling clubs, to use all the excellent facilities the city offers, do not turn out to give their time so that in a time of need they should be armed with the know how to be of use.

The courses are held two evenings a week for six weeks, not very much time to donate to preparing the city for any possible disaster. Could it be that the men of the city have become so used to letting others do for them in city administration and school affairs, that they can no longer do for themselves and for others.

If a man is physically fit, the courses present no hardship. But then perhaps the good citizens would prefer to pay for someone else to do whatever is necessary. Perhaps the volunteers should come from other communities and be paid for taking the training.

YOU SAY

Deplores dogs
on the loose

Sir: I have just returned from King George Park, where I took my dog for fun and exercise. She got little of either, due to the usual assortment of unsupervised dogs running loose there.

There were two Collies and three Golden Retrievers (not to be confused with yellow Labradors), no owners in sight. They milled around, there was some unpleasant growling, and they made my dog miserable with their sniffing her, and attentions. (She is spayed, so there is nothing unusually attractive about her.) I tried to shoo them away, but to no avail. One of the Golden Retrievers was particularly playful and jumped up and grabbed my ear (in play). For somebody who doesn't like dogs this would be really frightening not just annoying.

I like to exercise my dog by throwing her ball. We had to give this up because one of the dogs would chase it too, and get it. I sat on a bench and finally my dog got so fed up with the other dogs' sniffing that she came and sat on the bench beside me — some exercise!

It is hardly fair that lazy owners should turn their dogs loose all day to be a terrible nuisance to others who are conscientious enough to walk their dogs, and keep them under control.

There were five unsupervised dogs today. Sometimes I have counted eight, nine or more. This is inexcusable in a public park.

Yours truly,

Compares city

Sir: I wish to comment on your leader "Acclamation shows failure" in last week's Examiner.

It seems to me that not only the school commissioners, but also the mayors and councillors fill in posts by acclamation, and this practice should be discontinued, as it is not democratic.

The only parallel I can think of at the moment is in Pakistani where out of 110m. people only 80,000 have the votes, and there are also

Rotary hears Williamson story

Diamonds, diamonds everywhere
— but scientists a queer breed

By TRACY S. LUDINGTON

A human interest version of the story of John T. Williamson, the fabulous Canadian who discovered a multi-million-dollar diamond mine in Africa and ran it like an empire with himself as the emperor was told to members of the Westmount Rotary Club Wednesday at Victoria Hall by Mousseau Tremblay, a geologist who spent years with Williamson on his diamond-studded African plateau.

Williamson, Tremblay stressed, was a scientist — "and they are a queer breed".

The geologist, a graduate of the University of Montreal and McGill, got his first job from Williamson through a notice on the job-placement-bureau notice-board at McGill University, and first met Dr. Williamson the day after Tremblay received his McGill degree, at a convocation at which Williamson received a similar degree 'honoris causa'.

They met in a suite at the Mt. Royal Hotel and Williamson's first words to the newly-found geologist were: "Well, we got our degrees".

Williamson, Tremblay said, was shy, retiring, and highly retrospective. In the first encounter of ten minutes duration: "We shook hands a dozen times — there was nothing else to do."

Tremblay drew a striking word-picture of Williamson's fabulous mining empire, ten square miles behind barbed wire, an island of civilization in a sea of scrub and poor crops, with its own airport, hospital, Deisel power plant, warehouses with a Million Pounds Sterling in spare parts for all manner of machinery, a helicopter that never was flown, a closed-circuit TV apparatus that was never installed, a golf-club, cricket pitch, tennis courts — and diamonds of all kinds and values even in jam-jars in Williamson's own quarters, jam jars to which some of the original jam still adhered.

Behind the shyness, said Tremblay, Williamson had a good sense of humor, though his only interest in life was diamonds and his only enjoyment his own diamond-producing property.

Williamson, he said, was tremendously loyal to those he favored, and whom he found congenial. He mentioned one occasion when a new general-manager dismissed a number of Williamson's cronies. Williamson secretly sent them to his summer home at Lake Victoria, continued to see that their salaries were paid, and when the general-manager's contract was up, brought all the old-timers back to the mine again.

Secrecy was paramount with Williamson, said Tremblay, and he never told anyone the story of how or where he discovered or saw the first diamond that led him to the mine.

He was, however, most trusting with his geologists, and allowed them to do all the weighing and assessing, cleaning and packing of the diamonds, trusting them implicitly.

He had, however, a network of informers among his cronies, who reported on breaches of loyalty.

Williamson, he said, insisted on being 'the boss' in everything connected with the mine in any way, and always made all major decisions — sometimes to the detriment of efficiency, since he did not always have the information, ability or aptitude that he could have obtained from experts in many lines.

As a result, general-managers property owners—ways — never lived any better than any of his employees, never dressed any better, never ate better food, and even when it was necessary for him to come to Montreal for the medical tests that showed him to be suffering cancer of the throat, had to go to the mine for cash with which to make the trip. Aside from the mine, he had no cash resources of his own.

Only a short time before the death of Williamson, the discoverer of the world's largest diamond mine sent for Tremblay to discuss a prospecting trip into Uganda.

Williamson was already having difficulty to speak, and was alone in a sparsely-fitted room in a house in Nairobi that he owned. He held the stub of a pencil in one hand and a five-cent school scribbler in the other, and when Tremblay failed to understand

STATESMEN NEEDED

We need more statesmen and less politicians. We need those who hold the dignity of their position and the honor of their country above all. We need men of courage who can look fearlessly ahead without bowing to monetary returns and favors for carrying out the task which each has taken an oath to do. — Huntingdon (Que.) Gleaner.

Westmount High

School song contest on

By KATHI KRISTOF

A hoard of activities are buzzing about Westmount High this week. Efforts of all musically inclined students are concentrated on a contest sponsored by the Students' Council. The contest involves writing an Alma Mater song for the School. There has been a large demand in the past for a school song and the winning entry will remedy this need; the winner will be announced at the annual school Winter Carnival which will be held during the week ending on February 5.

People have been asking how a Students' Council meeting is conducted. A typical meeting, January 11, followed this format: roll call; minutes; business arising from minutes; treasurer's report; discussions on current decisions of the council - Science lectures, Alma Mater, identification cards, school pennants, constitution, and the newly introduced tutorial system whereby pupils with high marks from the Senior grades would tutor those needing help.

On Thursday, the Alumnae Public Speaking Contest for senior girls was held. The program started with the singing of "God Save the Queen", accompanied by Sherry-Lynn Simon. Opening remarks were made by principal Wood; Mrs. H. Seifert, Alumnae President; and Mrs. N. May, chairman of the Educational Committee. Contestants included Karin Daniels with "The Rebellious World", Marcy Weldon, "The Idiot Box", Ursula Wagner, "Something Controversial" and Tova Wisenthal, "Automation". Marcy gained first place with a very humorous speech and Tova was second with a very appropriate topic. Judges were Miss M. Dyke, J. C. Brash, and Mr. B. Schaffelburg. All were wonderfully entertained during intermission by the charming voices of two students Deirdre Vogan and Vivia Stewart, accompanied by Miss Jamieson.

year service award recipient of the Montreal Boys' Association.

NEW VOLUNTEERS: The following new volunteer workers are now rendering service to Unity: Helen Irvine, who will assist Tom Stephens in the production of HMS Pinafore and later with Victoria Schrammel with the Neverlanders Drama Group. Heather Claus will be engaged every Wednesday from 6.30 to 8.00 p.m. as advisor to a group club of girls aged 8 to 12. Making dolls is their first project. Suzanne Howick, returns for her second year as a volunteer worker and will resume her work with the Pebbles Group Club, meeting every Wednesday at 8.00 p.m.

GYMNASIUM REVUE: January 15 several groups will demonstrate a variety of physical activity. Members and parents are invited to attend. Included will be a Judo exhibition, girl's basketball game and senior volleyball game, and Doug Fisher's gymnastic team.

T.V. THEATRE: The third in a series of T.V. Theatre presentations is scheduled next week. The title "The Twelve Brothers" will be put on by the Chicks Group under Nancy Turley.

Seniors top league, defeat Chambly 2-0

By ANDY MCGILLIS

The Academy senior puck-chasers moved out in front of their league, with a 2 to 0 win over Chambly County High at the Westmount artificial rink last Monday afternoon. It was the third straight league win for the Saints, who are making their presence felt in senior school hockey.

The pre-season dope did not rate St. Leo's as a threat and this is easy to understand when you take the following facts into consideration; it was a new club from the smallest school in GMIAA; the team would be forced to use three bantam and four junior age players; it had no goaler with any experience and the older players were out of stiff school competition for a couple of years.

Nobody is predicting a championship for this little school but come what may, you can be sure that the school has a club that they should be justly proud of and one that will be in the thick of contention all the way.

Playing a large part in the team successes to date is the regular defence duo of John Donnelly and Roger Lefebvre. John has been terrific going both ways and coming up with more than a few timely goals. Roger has stood out with his steady play in every game. Jules Desjardins at centre, was a little slow rounding into form but the last few games has shown the class he is capable of. Bob Brault gifted with a fine spirit and a lot of hustle, is one of the teams most productive forwards, a department in which the club is not too strong. The Academy gang, however, has one great fault and that is inconsistency to play well all the time and when they collapse as they have in some games, they make it complete and fall apart at the seams. Reid Sherriffs in goals has been victimized in some games with his inexperience but on the whole has proven a life saver for the club.

Academy Briefs: 14-year-old Gerry Fortin has notched six goals to date, with the senior hockey aggregation, nice going for a youngster in older competition. . . Serge Bousquette basketballers, won their first game by downing Cardinal Newman 47 to 42. Diminutive Desio Fernandes notched 10 points to lead the scoring parade. Phil Griffins, curlers absorbed a one-sided loss in their opening match, losing to Verdun 12 to 2.

'Y' to hold golf school

Golfing is a sport that is excellent for obtaining fresh air and exercise, but it can also be exasperating. The drive that went into the rough, the chip shot that did not stop or the iron shot that did not go, can be corrected.

How? — by taking lessons before the season starts, under a recognized and qualified professional instructor. Where? — the Westmount YMCA — that's where.

This year as in the past we will be running an eight lesson golf course, beginning in February, and finishing just as the outside course are opening. For information call 937-3916.

Mu Chapter aids Arthritic Society

The last business meeting for 1964, of Mu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, was held at the home of Mrs. K. C. Stilwell, of Westmount.

The president, Mrs. R. W. Grigg chaired a brief business meeting and Mrs. Gibb Curran, of Beaconsfield, gave a stimulating program entitled, "How is Your Conversation?" Mrs. Curran stressed the many different points between a good conversationalist and a prattler. This was followed by a lively discussion during which we discovered — much to our dismay — we could all improve the quality of our conversation.

Special mention was made at this meeting of the assistance given by Mu Chapter at a special Christmas party held at St. George's Anglican Church for the patients of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society (CARS).

Mrs. Ernest Dahl, as Service chairman of City Council convened the party, ably assisted by Mrs. W. C. Freeman who was in charge of refreshments. Grateful thanks to all the volunteers from the other Beta Sigma Phi Chapters who contributed their time and efforts to making this evening so successful.

Attention focused on Mrs. Emile Rathlou, of Dorval, who led a bilingual sing-song for the patients and also to her husband, Mr. Emile Rathlou, who amidst much gaiety played good old Pere Noel and distributed nearly one hundred Christmas stockings to those wonderful people at C.A.R.S. Christmas corsages and hats were donated by Beta Sigma Phi as well as the colourful decorations around the hall.

The following week, Mu Chapter, held their own Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Lewis Spooner, of Pointe Claire.

Hidden talents of members were unearthed in the form of stories, poems and songs. A lovely rendition of O Holy Night and Ave Maria by Mrs. Emile Rathlou and

Tremblay was on the geology trip when Williamson died.

There was not a great deal more to Williamson than diamonds, according to the Tremblay account. He did collect a few paintings and some first-edition books — but more as an investment, perhaps, than for their artistic value.

He reportedly gave some wealth to relatives and some to educational organizations — but not in line with that usually expected of a man in his position.

Concluded Tremblay, "He was a scientist, they're a queer breed".

Williamson, who came from Hawkesbury, Ontario, died in 1958 of cancer of the throat at the age of 51. DeBeers diamond cartel took over his holdings.

Loyola plans Penny Lang folk concert

Penny Lang will star in a two-hour concert sponsored by Loyola College Folk Music Society in the College Auditorium, 7141 Sherbrooke street west, on Sunday, Feb. 27 at 8:30 p.m.

The concert will be Penny's first and is scheduled to be taped by a recording company.

Miss Lang, born in Montreal in 1942, started playing guitar at 10 years of age. At 15, she played with a rock and roll band that performed at penitentiaries, hospitals, and old peoples' homes. She started playing folk music while employed at the Old Brewery Mission summer camp, seven years ago.

For the past two years, she

Seven hurt in local mishaps

Seven persons have been injured in car accidents in Westmount so far this month. The accidents include a spectacular three-car collision that took place at Victoria and Western avenues last Friday evening.

The majority of the accidents involve people living outside of the Westmount area. Accidents involving people from the West End area include:

At 11.20 p.m. Sunday evening a car, reported by police to be driven by Mrs. Sidney Woodard, 37, of 335 Clarke avenue, smashed head on into a parked car near the intersection of Kitchener and Western avenues. Mrs. Woodard was injured in the accident.

The three-car collision took place at 9.36 p.m. as one car went through a red light, struck a second, and both then crashed into a car driven by Edward Ernst, 60, of 4300 Western avenue. Mr. Ernst's car was reported to be stopped waiting for the light to change at the time. Raymond Vigneault, 20, of Beauharnois, a passenger in one of the first two cars, was injured.

Four persons, including Charles Booth, 55, of 929 Melrose avenue, were injured in a two-car collision Jan. 6, at the intersection of Prince Albert and Western avenues.

St. Paul's

Academy Journal rated a success

By BEVERLY JONES

It was a real struggle for most students to get back to school Thursday after the long holidays, but I guess everyone has settled down to work by now.

The second term exams are only three weeks away, February 4, 5 and 8th with four exams each day. Since the majority of the boys and girls failed to remember any of their knowledge infused preceding the holidays and of course since no one studied too hard during the holidays, all school books remaining in the school where they belong — there is now quite a bit of extra work to do. However we trust the teachers will be lenient in correcting our exams.

The first edition of the Academy Journal was a real success. Both teachers and pupils congratulated the staff on their fine work. So far no plans have been made for the second edition, but there will be a meeting soon.

The Seniors at St. Paul's are anxiously awaiting their new school rings. We have just received word that they are ready and we only have to pay for them.

If you should happen to meet a Senior wearing her ring be sure to drool over its exquisite beauty.

"I hope that I can do a job," Mayor-elect Tucker added.

His nomination sheet contained the following names:

Mr. Tucker, a distinguished soldier, is vice president and director of British Metal Corporation (Canada) Limited. He has almost two full terms as an alderman, as well as Westmount Municipal Association executive experience to guide him in his post.

Mr. Richer will be serving his first term. He will complete the year remaining for the seat left empty when Mr. Tucker retired to run for mayor.

Mr. Gross will be serving his second term.

Mr. McEntyre won his first term without opposition in 1962.

Mr. Murray Savage, proclaimed Library Trustee, is a manager with the Newsprint Association of Canada. A president of the W.M.A. in 1962, Mr. Savage has also served on several committees of the Red Feather.

It has been reported that further discussions await ratification by the City Councils of Westmount and Cote St. Luc, and the Town Council of Montreal West. Such ratification had been expected within the next week or two.

At a city council meeting late last week first reading was given the bylaw to amend the zoning bylaw to allow the expansion.

At a public meeting to deal with the earlier plans last fall, 10 elector-proprietors demanded that a poll be called and a referendum was set for Nov. 10. However, synagogue officials requested that the city withdraw the bylaw amendment. Several changes have been made in the expansion plans since then.
