NEW ELECTRIC LIGHT OFFER MADE TO THE CITY BY SARAGUAY ELECTRIC COMPANY

Electric Light is Offered at Three-quarters of a Cent Less Thirty-five Per Cent. Discount—Text of Letter Containing the Offer.

A new phase of the electric light contest was entered upon to-day, when Mayor Ekers received an offer from the Saraguay Electric Light and Power Company, which has its offices on St. James street, to furnish electric lighting to the city.

This company contends that it is willing to furnish electric lighting to the citizens at better terms than those offered by the Light, Heat and Power Company. The company making the new offer files an objection to the Light, Heat and Power Company being given a contract on the terms which it has forwarded to the City Council.

The text of the letter of the Saraguay Company is as follows:

TEXT OF LETTER.

"We noticed in yesterday's papers that the commission appointed to negotiate with the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company was favorable to granting a 30-year exclusive franchise to that company. We did not expect that such a privilege would be granted, and therefore beg to file our objections to the granting of such privilege.

"In support of our objection we beg to inform you that the Saraguay Electric Light and Power Company was incorporated by Quebec Letters Patent in May last with a capital of $250,000; and now furnishes light to the town and villages of St. Laurent, Cartierville and Bordeaux. We are now building a line in Ahuntsic and are pleased to say that all our customers have declared themselves perfectly satisfied with our light, the rate charged being 2 3-4 of a cent per ampere hour, less 35 per cent. discount.

"When the company was organized it was the intention of the promoters to furnish light and power to the citizens of Montreal, as soon as circumstances could permit, but under present conditions our board has unanimously decided to raise the capital of the company to a million dollars ($1,000,000) and to ask from your council the following privileges:

OFFERS MADE.

"Considering that our company has gone to considerable expense with a view to furnishing the light and power to the citizens of Montreal, it should be allowed to furnish electric current under one of the following conditions:

"1st ¾ of a cent per ampere hour less 35 per cent. discount.

"2nd ¾ of a cent per ampere hour less 30 per cent. discount and 5 per cent. bonus to the city on the total earnings.

"3rd ¾ of a cent per ampere hour less 30 per cent. discount and to impose on the company the same conditions as those imposed on the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company.

"If it is really the intention of the Council to grant an exclusive franchise to the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, we believe that an exception should be made in our favor, as we are now an existing concern. It is true, we do not actually operate in the limits of the city, but you must consider that this is only the matter of a day as probably very soon all the municipalities we now operate will be annexed to the city.

PLANS OF COMPANY.

"The city would surely derive as much profit, if not more, from our concern than it would get from the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, and the citizens would get much larger discount. It is not our intention to fight the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, but we simply ask the right to sell our goods in the limits of the city. There is surely room for two or more companies, as we propose to develop 25,000 horse-power within two years, and we are in a position to sell our goods at better terms than the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, considering the superiority of our installation. Our good faith could not be suspected. What we now ask we would have asked in a year or so, but under existing circumstance we are prepared to consider immediately the conditions that the city would impose on us.

"The members of the board of directors of the company, constitute a guarantee that our obligation will be strictly observed and that the enterprise will be a profitable one for all concerned.

"We remain, yours respectfully,
"E CHAMPAGNE.
"Managing-Director."

Mayor Ekers states that he will submit the offer to the City Council on Monday next.

BRITISH TARS PASS AROUND MONTREAL

Relief Crew for H. M. S. Shearwater on Pacific Station is en Route West.

This morning a special train carrying an unusual class of passengers passed around the city from Quebec bound for the Pacific coast. The passengers were the relief crew of H. M. S. Shearwater, now on the Pacific station with headquarters at Esquimalt. It appears that the crew now aboard the vessel is composed of nearly all time-expired men so the crew now on its way to the coast is going out to relieve them, the ship itself still remaining in foreign waters and not going home to re-commission as is usually the custom.

The party arrived in Quebec by the Lake Erie yesterday, were immediately transferred aboard a special train, and started on their long journey across the continent. If all goes well they should arrive in Esquimalt on Sunday afternoon. Going from Quebec west they did not touch Montreal, but, continued along to the north of the city, passing through St. Martin's Junction. The special train which is carrying the party is composed of a baggage car, first-class car sleeper and commissary car, the bluejackets doing their own cooking throughout their long trip.

Lieutenant Archie Dalgliesh is in charge of the party, while Mr. George E. McGlade, the passenger traffic agent at Belleville, is looking after the interests of the men for the C. P. R. The party consists of five officers, seven petty officers and eighty-five seamen and marines.

As soon as the party arrives the C. P. R. expects to negotiate arrangements to bring the present crew of the Shearwater home by the same route.

PROBABILITIES FOR THE NEXT 24 HOURS.

Northerly winds; fine and mild to-day and Thursday.

A straight week of the most beautiful autumn weather that could be wished for! November is certainly doing everything possible to redeem the rather bad reputation it has acquired in this city for raw, miserable days. Nothing could be pleasanter, and nothing could be more healthful than the first seven days of the month. The only trouble is that such days give a terrible appetite for more. The fine-weather habit is an awful one to form.

ENGLISH VIEW OF HEARST'S DEFEAT

General Surprise at Him Coming So Near to Victory Considering Roosevelt's Onslaught.

By Special Cable from our own Correspondent.

London, November 7.—The first English impression is a surprise that Hearst, despite all the terrible things said of him, has come so near to victory. But for Roosevelt's terrific onslaught, it is hardly doubted that Hearst would have won, and the question everywhere asked is, if it blackened Hearst, so nearly a victor against such odds, what may not a clean-handed man like Bryan expect to do in a Presidential campaign, especially after Roosevelt's admitted indiscretion. Not a few Radicals and Laborites acclaim the result as one more evidence of the existence of a world wave which will surely bring the proletariat into the possession of a more equitable share of the world's good things.

As one influential Radical put it, another nail goes into the coffin of privilege and wealth. The result is also accepted as a proof that the Anglo-Saxon loves nothing so much as a good fighter, courage in some cases even outweighing vice.

WINDERMERE.

WHAT THE COUNT'S PRICE WAS

Miss Gould Guaranteed Castellane's Father and Mother Annuities for Life.

Paris, November 7.—When the hearing of the divorce suit brought by the Countess de Castellane (formerly Anna Gould), against her husband, Count Boni, was resumed to-day in the Palace of Justice before Justice Ditte, Maitre Cruppi, counsel for the Countess, briefly reviewed the points he had covered last week, referring to the reckless fashion in which the Count had spent millions of the Countess' money, while allowing her only a few hundred francs monthly for pin money. Counsel declared that the proofs of the Count's infidelity and cruelty, contained in the thirteen allegations made last week, were sufficient to justify a divorce, without summoning witnesses.

As evidence of the Countess' generosity, Counsel cited the agreement of 1898, by which the Count's father and mother were guaranteed a life income of $5,600 and $1,000 respectively, and again laid special stress on the Countess' intention not to abandon the country of her adoption but to rear her boys as Frenchmen.

Maitre Cruppi then plunged directly into the Count's manoeuvres, since the divorce proceedings were instituted, to re-conquer his wife's affections.

LEWIS' BROTHER IN BRIBERY CASE

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, Ont., November 7.—At the resuming of the London election trial to-day, Mr. J. W. Curry told the magistrate that Thos. Lewis, who is awaiting trial for perjury, had received a summons to appear in the Police Court to-day.

He said that he had instructed his client to answer no questions.

Mr. Duvernet explained that he only wanted Lewis present in order that witnesses might identify him if he gave them money. The magistrate assured Mr. Curry that his client would not be questioned.

A brother of Tom Lewis was the first witness called for the prosecution. Peter Lewis said that he lived in London, but denied, to begin with, that he had done anything in connection with election.

Did you hold envelopes for any one?
No.
Did you receive any envelopes?
No.
Did you write on any envelopes?
No.

Mr. Duvernet told Lewis to write the name of "Arthur Redding."

The witness was just handing over the piece of paper bearing the name, when Mr. Curry informed him that he need not obey the order of the prosecuting counsel.

Lewis deliberately tore up the paper.

The magistrate asked Mr. Curry to produce the cases which gave this ruling. Then Mr. Duvernet went on with his question.

Do you know Arthur Redding?
No.
Did you write on this envelope?
No.
Isn't that your writing?
No.
You swear that you had no envelopes?
Yes.

The witness declared most positively that he had taken no part in elections for years.

Mr. Duvernet informed him that he would have to wait until the point raised by Mr. Curry had been settled as he would then renew the examination. After a little thought Philip Lewis went back into the box and consented to write the words dictated by Mr. Duvernet.

When he had done so the Crown Prosecutor asked: You did not write on this envelope?

No.

If Redding says you gave him the envelope will he not be speaking the truth?

No.

You deny absolutely that you gave it to him?

Yes.

Mr. Duvernet said he had been informed that Redding would swear he received the envelope from Lewis and also that the committee books showed that Lewis held the envelopes.

The witness still denied having done anything in elections since 1896.

CHICAGO OPINION ON THE ELECTION

"DISGRACE TO THE STATE."

Republican Journals State That Hughes' Victory is Merely a Warning.

(See also pages 10 and 12.)

(See also pages 10 and 12.)

Special to the Montreal Star.

Chicago, Ills., November 7.—The Tribune, (Republican) says Editorially:—Pyrrhus said in reply to a congratulation on his victory over the Romans, "Yes but if we have another such victory we are undone." The result in New York indicates that the battle will have to be fought over again. It is well that the majority was on the side of sane and sober government for the next two years, but it is unfortunate that the vote was so close.

The majority of something over 55,000 for Mr. Hughes is not large enough to dispose once for all of the issues involved in the contest. There must be another campaign of education of the kind that was carried on against Mr. Bryan in 1896 and 1900. Mr. Hearst may with reason congratulate himself on the tremendous vote he received and on his ability to make the contest a close and exciting one. He imposed himself upon a reluctant party. A powerful element in that party bolted him as it did Bryan, when he ran. But Mr. Hearst has made a far better showing than Bryan did. He has been able partly to repair his democratic losses with votes drawn from other quarters, while Bryan was not.

The vote in New York cannot be pleasing to that gentleman. Apparently there are almost 800,000 persons in New York who think that Mr. Hearst is fit to be governor. It is true that a larger number of persons in the State think he is unfit. But a man of Mr. Hearst's stamp who has been able in so short a time to rally so many voters around him will not be discouraged by one reverse. He will keep up the campaign steadily after the election and unless his opponents do likewise they may find that this year's victory has availed them little. Until the number of men in the Empire State who believe in Mr. Hearst and his doctrine is sensibly diminished by patient and persistent instruction in true political and economical principles, he will be a constant source of political irritation and social discontent.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Chicago, November 7.—Revised dispatches, including returns from some very close districts, show that with nineteen districts missing the Republicans have elected 212 members of the sixtieth Congress and the Democrats 155.

Illinois, 4; Indiana, 2; Iowa, 1; Missouri, 5; Nebraska, 1; New York, 1; New Jersey, 1; North Carolina, 1; Ohio, 2; Wisconsin, 1; Maryland, 1; Pennsylvania, 5.

RESULT A DISGRACE TO THE STATE.

The Inter-Ocean (Republican) says editorially:

Charles E. Hughes defeated William R. Hearst for Governor of New York yesterday by what would be, under ordinary circumstances, a handsome majority, a majority at least three times that by which Theodore Roosevelt was elected governor in 1898.

Nevertheless the result is a disgrace to the State of New York, the Republican party and the country at large.

Upon the issue made by himself, that property is robbery, Mr. Hearst should have been not merely defeated, but wiped off the political map. He is not wiped off. He is merely defeated. And without the assistance given to the Republican party by such Democrats as Patrick McCarren in Brooklyn and Timothy Sullivan in New York, and Richard Croker from his exile in England no one can tell what disaster might have swept the state and the nation. Nor is the reason for this disgrace far to seek. The Republican organization has been demoralized. It was also without money, too poor to make a campaign of education.

Mr. Hearst had the money and with it organized his friends and covered the state with his literature and speakers.

So Mr. Hughes was left to make a single-handed campaign. He made it magnificently, but he led only an enthusiastic mob against a trained army. However, the fortress has been held and the enemy checked. The rest of the country is delivered from the necessity of having to treat the State of New York as a lunatic asylum. Something has been gained, but what has been gained is not an evidence of good work, but a warning of work to be done.

VICTORY IS BUT A WARNING.

The Chronicle (Democratic, John R. Walsh's paper) sincerely congratulates New York, and the man, that the libelous Hearst campaign has failed, and that such an able and patriotic man as Charles E. Hughes has been elected Governor of the Empire State. But the palms of victory are intertwined with the weeds of mourning, for no lover of this country can contemplate the vote cast for William Randolph Hearst without humiliation and alarm.

Mr. Hearst is the apostle of mercenary and libelous politics. He seems to have come into the world to show, indeed, the dangers of great wealth, not the wealth of other people, but his own. He has demonstrated that a man with a large fortune can establish a cordon of disreputable newspapers across the continent, organize his own political party, put steam into election forces by his money and threaten the complete overthrow of American institutions.

What the country hoped for from New York was not a hairbreadth escape, but a decisive and overwhelming majority for decency and good government, and really there does not seem to have been any good reason why this outcome of the election was not secured.

There was from the first a total misconception among the Republicans of New York of the nature of the contest. William R. Hearst should have been treated as a poisonous reptile and the campaign against him should have been fierce and uncompromising. Instead of that his respectability was conceded and his columbiads were answered with paper wads.

DETROIT FRANCHISE WAS DEFEATED

Majority for Anti-Franchise Mayor Reaches Over Two Thousand.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Detroit, Mich., November 7—The Codd-Hutchins franchise is completely buried every successive precinct that is counted increasing the majority against it. It is safe to predict that it will be defeated by a plurality of from 15,000 to 20,000. One hundred and twenty precincts give 7,441 for and 14,430 against the franchise. The votes in Detroit are counted by a central counting board. This board started work at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and worked through to 8 o'clock this morning, when an adjournment was taken until 2.30 this afternoon. Two-thirds of the total vote has been counted, and every precinct shows a majority of about 2 to 1 against the franchise.

When the tabulators quit, Thompson for mayor had a lead of 400. This will probably reach 2,000 or more in the latter count, the workingmen's vote, which will be strong for Thompson, coming in on the afternoon count.

COMMENT ON THE RESULT.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Detroit, Mich., November 7.—Speaking of the effect upon the Detroit United Railway as a result of yesterday's election in which its proposed franchise was snowed under two to one, William B. Thompson, the successful candidate for Mayor, said:

"It means that Detroit will soon have three cent fares. If the Detroit United won't give them, some other company will. I regard my election not as a personal victory, but as a victory for the fight for cheap fares and against corporation greed begun more than a decade ago under the leadership of the late Mayor Pingree. The company's rights to sixty-five miles of its principal lines expire within three years and then, if not before, we will be in a position to deal with them and bring them to time if need be."

Mayor Thompson plans to have the City Council adopt an ordinance making three cents the legal rate of fare and to enforce this on the company, when their franchises expire, through a resort to the courts if necessary. The state law gives the city this power. If the company refuses the only redress it has, is to give way to some company that will grant the city's rate, and already there are two or three prospective bidders in the field.

A. B. Dupont, who plans to offer the city a new railway on a straight three-cent fare basis in exchange for a ten years' revokable-at-will franchise, has gone to Cleveland to consult with Tom L. Johnson, his principal in the matter, and it is probable the Detroit United Railway will have some active competition on its hands very shortly. The People's Railway is another three-cent enterprise. It is also ready to renew its application for a franchise.

The Detroit United Railway officials refuse to comment on the defeat of their franchise and the election of Mayor Thompson.

Mayor Codd went home to bed late this morning and his family refuses to allow him to be seen. His friends have not given up hope of his election and his campaign managers claim the belated count will show he has more votes than Thompson.

The figures, however, do not bear out this claim, every belated return thus far canvassed showing increased gains for Thompson, who will probably win out by at least two thousand votes.

Salary Increase for Post Office Clerks.

Ottawa, Ont., November 7.—Adam Zimmerman, M. P., Hamilton, this morning introduced a small delegation representing Post Office clerks of Canada to Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Post Master General. The delegation which included D. R. Perrault, and T. D. Moore, of Montreal; J. S. Boddy, of Toronto, and J. Webber, of Hamilton, asked for an increase in pay for the clerks. They urged that the increase in the cost of living made it almost impossible for clerks to live on their present salaries. Hon. Mr. Lemieux said he sympathized with the clerks and assured them that they would get an increase of salary, but he would have to consult with his colleagues as to how large the increase would be.

WHAT MONTREAL WILL RUN UP AGAINST IN WEST

The Tigers are in Good Condition and Think They Will Give Montreal a Pretty Hard Fight on the Seventeenth.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Hamilton, November 7.—The members of the Hamilton Tigers and the officials of the club do not favor the proposal to play home and home games with Montreal for the Canadian championship. They say that there is little to be gained by making an agreement to do so, and should any proposal come from Montreal to that effect, it would probably be declined. The Montreal team will come to Hamilton on November 17th, the date set by the Canadian Union to play the first game for the championship. If the Tigers, who as they expect to, the Tigers will have to play McGill College, in Montreal, providing that McGill wins the game next Saturday from Varsity. If the Tigers lose, the two Montreal teams can fight it out between them, and then the Tigers might make an arrangement to play an exhibition game with the champions if the terms were satisfactory. Of course with two games for the first round and the point system of deciding used, both teams would stand a better show of winning or losing, according to their merits, but the Tigers prefer the single game each time. They are not quite so confident of winning, since they had such a narrow escape at Toronto, with the Argonauts, and the officers and members of the team have determined to take no chances, knowing that the game will be one of the toughest in years. The scrimmage has been working steadily for some weeks, and from now on great attention will be given to playing under the Canadian union rules.

The impression seems to be general in Montreal that the snap-back game is a parlor game, and that the Tigers can not stand much ragging. That is a mistake, as the Montrealers will find out. The Tigers were bred in the old scrimmage game, and know it like they do the snap-back game. At Toronto last Saturday not a Tiger was laid out, in such superb condition were they, while Argonauts stalled dozens of times.

The game here on November 17th, will be run by the Canadian union. The Montreal team will get its expenses, and after the expenses for the grounds are deducted, and receipts will be divided into three parts, one for each team, and the third for the union. In no case will the union's share exceed $150. This will be the second time that the Tigers have competed for the Canadian championship, the last time being in 1897, when the Tigers lost to Ottawa College. Experts who have seen both teams predict say that the Tigers should win by a safe margin, but the game will be one of the greatest played on any Canadian gridiron.

Both Montreal and the Tigers have similar styles of play, both teams having brilliant back divisions and strong wing lines, and are good on both offensive and defensive work. The Tigers have developed offensive playing to a great degree, but their defence is very strong, and the team that gets just it knows that it has done something. J. B. Hay of the Toronto News, has seen both teams in action, and he dissects the good and bad points of each team with impartiality, and the result is distinctly favorable to the Hamilton team. The Tigers will be able to play a close, backing game if there is need of it, but they like the open going. One reason that the score with the Toronto Argonauts was so small was that the Tigers could not get going because of accidents to the Argos. The Tigers' game is an essentially fast game, the faster the better, and when they once get started, they are very hard to stop. The Argos knew this, and stalled continually.

The Hamilton team intends to kick out for the best officials procurable. Much will depend on the officials, and there is no one they would like for referee better than Frank D. Woodworth. There has been considerable dissatisfaction over the O. R. F. U. officials this year, and in such an important game no incompetent official will be tolerated.

A Hamilton football enthusiast who saw the game in Montreal last Saturday with the St. Patrick's, says that the Tiger wing line has absolutely nothing on the Montreal line, which is fast, aggressive, and played very strenuously. It is said that the Montreal wings are not expert tacklers, but the Tigers expect a much harder game than they had with the Argonauts. The Montreal forward line averages 185 pounds, while the Hamilton line will average about 170 pounds. The Tigers as a whole are tall and lithe, and as hard as nails. The lightest man on the team is Ballard, the quarter, and the heaviest is Barron, a scrimmager, weighing 200. The average weight of the Tiger scrimmage will be over 190 pounds.

STEURS TOO ROUGH FOR OTTAWANS

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, November 7. Before a crowd of about five hundred, mostly Frenchmen, Steurs, the big Belgian wrestler, won two straight falls in the Monument National last night from Karakaloff, the "Terrible" Little Turk, in 26 minutes 14 seconds, and 26 minutes.

There was no competition between the men, and it was not to be wondered at that the little fellow had the crowd's sympathy. The first fall, which was declared in the third round, was disputed, and many on the stage over it was so felt. Steurs took the initiative almost throughout and was not too particular as to gentleness. He hustled the Turk into the chairs at the side of the mat and tried to throw Harry Flynn, the referee, when he separated them. The crowd roasted Flynn for not watching the men, who used their knees and tried strangle holds with impunity. Chief DeLaronde declares that if Steurs wants to continue in the game in Ottawa, he must quit his roughness.

ARE THE TIGERS GETTING FRIGHTENED?

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, Ont., November 7.—Hamilton made an offer yesterday to "Chaucer" Elliott to coach the Tigers for the Canadian championship. "Chaucer," however, is needed here for the Argonauts.

THE HOCKEY TRUST NOW SELECTING ITS CLUBS

Only Those That are Looked Upon as the Biggest Money-makers to be Allowed in—Out and Out Professionalism Favored.

The Hockey Trust is at work arranging plans to keep in the clubs they consider the greatest money-makers, and to force out those that are expected to make much money during the coming hockey season.

They are keeping their doings dark, but will have a cut and dried report ready, it is expected, by Saturday next. Mr. Northey, of the Montreal Arena Company, is doing most of the work, and is holding conferences and, in general, laying the necessary wires.

The Nationals are trying to get in, but it seems that their only chance is if both Quebec and Victoria drop out. Quebec's case, it is said, is very bad. And as to Victoria, it is expected that they may be forced out by playing the game on a professional basis.

Nationals certainly should have as good a chance as any other club to get into the combine, but it is announced that the Smith Falls, which had such a good team last year, is also anxious to get in, and the matter of ice upon which to practice has to be taken into consideration.

It is not yet known whether the percentage which the Arena claims from the hockey clubs will be increased this year, but the announcement will probably be made on Saturday also.

President Howard Wilson, it is said, may decline re-election.

The clubs which are pretty well compelled to do what they are told, are meekly holding annual meetings and awaiting what sentence will be passed upon them at the end of the week.

The Shamrocks held their meeting, the Montreal and Victorias will hold theirs this week.

Princeton Wants to Meet McGill at Hockey During Coming Winter

The annual meeting of the McGill Hockey and Skating Club was held last night. The reports of last season's work were received and executive officers were elected for this session.

The treasurer's report was by comparison with previous years, most satisfactory. It started last season with a deficit of $150 and, after paying last season's expenses, managed to reduce the deficit by $45. The grounds and athletics committee has signified its intention of clearing off the deficit altogether, so that the club will start this year with a clean sheet and may be expected to clear expenses and have a balance besides.

A communication was received from Princeton Hockey Club, asking for suggestions for arranging a series of games to be played during the Christmas vacation. This was referred to the new executive for consideration.

The officers were elected as follows:

Honorary President—Dr. J. M. Elder.
President—G. S. Raphael, '08.
Vice-president—A. L. Spafford, '07.
Secretary—W. A. Mather, '08.
Treasurer—L. B. Kingston, '08.

A committee consisting of one member of each of the classes of Arts, Medicine, Science and Law, will be elected to assist these officers. The manager will be elected at a later date by the members of the committee and the captain by the members of last season's team.

Big Boxing Entries.

Toronto, November 7.—The entries for the amateur boxing tournament, which opens in this city to-morrow night, have closed with the following splendid list of entries: 105 pounds bantam, 9; 112 pounds feather, 7; 118 pounds extra, 3; 125 pounds special, 8; 135 pounds lightweight, 8; 145 pounds welter, 7; 158 pounds middle, 5; heavyweight, 4. With one exception, this being S. W. Newton, of Markham, who won in the Winnipeg tournament last winter, all of the entries are Toronto men.

THE END OF THE GOLF SEASON.

The annual meeting of the W. A. A. A. Basketball Club will take place on Friday, November 9th, at 8 p.m., all those intending to take part in this branch of sport for the coming season are invited to be present.

C. A. A. U. PLANS REVENGE MAY STOP RUGBY GAMES

Secretary Virtually Threatens to Prevent the Montreal-Tiger Match for the Dominion Championship, and the Match With McGill if it Should be Necessary.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, November 7.—Secretary Norton H. Crowe, the only official of the C. A. A. U. with whom the representative of the Star could obtain an interview last night on the subject of the withdrawal of the M. A. A. A., was hesitant about discussing the matter save in a general way.

While admitting that under the circumstances the M. A. A. A. had taken the proper course, he expressed regret that the C. A. A. A. was to lose such a strong and influential body from its membership. "The M. A. A. A.," he said, "would have been a tower of strength to us in the East, and just at the present time, when we need all the support we can possibly get, their withdrawal is unfortunate."

THREATS ABOUT FOOTBALL.

Mr. Crowe further said that the action of the M. A. A. A. would tend materially to complicate the football situation. The M. A. A. A. team, which has just won the championship of the Quebec Rugby Football Union, is scheduled to face, in the Canadian Championship games, the Hamilton Tigers, victors in the Ontario R. F. U., and the winners of the 'Varsity-McGill contest in the Inter-Collegiate League. The latter body is directly affiliated with the C. A. A. U., and it is unlikely that that body will sanction any meeting of the collegians with the Montreal players, while it is also doubtful if the O. R. F. U. will be willing to have the Tigers play with the wearers of the M. A. A. A. colors.

Mr. Crowe said the resignation of the M. A. A. A. at the present juncture came as a surprise, as he had not expected such action until after the semi-annual meeting of that body, announced to be held shortly.

Secretary Crowe has forwarded the resignation of the M. A. A. A. to the president, Deputy Police Chief Starke, who is holidaying at Preston.

Hot Shot For C. A. A. U. From a Veteran and Well Known Athlete

To the Editor of the Montreal Star.

Sir,—While the diplomats of the C. A. A. U. are carefully weighing the enormity of the offences committed against amateur sport by the Lacrosse and Hockey men, and are considering the extent of punishment to be meted out by that farcical institution, may I be permitted to lay bare a few hard facts which have nothing whatever to do with those two particular branches of sport, but which will make it quite clear that it is a case of "Satan reproving Sin." Owing to the prominence of our two national games in the realm of sport, and their being kept continually in the limelight, the sporting world in particular and the public in general have seen them condemned as the principal and only agents in demoralizing the amateur spirit, overlooking the fact, partly through ignorance, that the C. A. A. U. as a body has in itself contributed in no small way to the present conditions. Let us drop lacrosse and hockey for the moment, and also the weak and vacillating spirit which the C. A. A. U. officials have shewn, and consider their attitude towards the encouragement and protection of our amateurs in track and field events which they control, and govern without being influenced by those "monsters" who look after the Lacrosse and Hockey interests.

Each year the C. A. A. U holds its annual Canadian Championship meet and as regularly as that time comes around they not only invite, but urge the U. S. champion athletes to come over and take part,—men that they know down in their hearts, are just as much professional as many of our lacrosse players whom they condemn. What about men like Ortoh, Gray, Grant and other Canadians, whose prowess on the track was developed in Canada, and who received inducements to imigrate to the United States and represent athletic bodies there, coming back once a year to Canada at the urging of the C. A. A. U. to compete against our purely amateur boys.

Does that sort of thing encourage amateur sport?

What consideration, indirectly of course, was given to a certain celebrated sprinter a year ago to induce him to stay over a whole week in Montreal after the Caledonian games so as to compete at the C. A. A. U. meet, at which he was the leading attraction and helped to make a big gate? I have facts in my possession regarding this incident which would expose the hypocrisy of some of the leading C. A. A. U. officials who are crying for amateurism in sport. There are also other facts which are available and which I have taken the trouble to gather, proving the uselessness of the C. A. A. U. as an honest and consistent governing body. I am, and so I may venture to say are all those who are or have been identified with the M. A. A. A., strongly in favor of pure amateurism, but surely that is no reason why a professional should be condemned as an unclean animal, at least so long as he is honest in being a professional. The condemnation should be reserved for cloaked professionals, and the making of by-laws by the C. A. A. U. allowing professionals and amateurs to play together in golf, cricket, etc., but not in other sports. If it is right in one case it is right in all.

May I, in conclusion, ask the question: Who is this Mr. Grierson, who has come so prominently to the front? I have been mixed up in sport for twenty years, and never heard of him before, and neither have any of the men who have borne the brunt of the battle during that time. His intentions probably are good, but his unfamiliarity with conditions do not make him a capable dviser.

Thanking you for the use of your valuable columns.

M.A.A.A. RESIGNATION AS IT WAS SENT

Montreal, November 5, 1906.

N. H. Crowe, Esq.,
Sec.-Treas. C.A.A.U.,

Sir:—

Considering the action of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union in declining to support the motion of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, for the better amendment of the amateur law, the principle of which motion is believed by the M.A.A.A. to be the one practical and effective method of grappling with the evil of hidden professionalism in the ranks of amateur sport—a method for some time accepted by the M.A.A.A. with practical unanimity, eventually embodied in its constitution with the enthusiastic and all but unanimous approval of a numerous and representative assembly of its large membership, gathered for the purpose, and recently advocated before your body with earnest sincerity, entire good faith, and complete absence of ulterior motive by its delegates—and feeling that there is little prospect of gaining the support of the C. A. A. U., as at present constituted, of a sound principle to which the M. A. A. A. now stands pledged, the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association hereby notifies you of its formal withdrawal of its membership and representation in the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union.

Yours, very truly,
VICTOR C. BUCHANAN, President,
J. DAVIDSON, Sec.-Treasurer.

First Sportsman's Show to be Held In Canada Takes Place Here in April

Canada's first Sportingmen's Show will be held in Montreal next year.

The Automobile and Sportsman's Exhibition is to be held at the Arena, Montreal, April 6th to 13th, 1907. Attention is drawn to the fact that this will be the first Sportsman's Show ever held in Canada and also to the fact that the two great railways of Canada have announced their intention to exhibit and that they will endeavor to make it equal to the Sportsman's Exhibition held annually in New York. Besides the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, numerous applications have been received from manufacturers of sporting goods, for space. This in conjunction with Automobiles and Motor Boats and accessories, should make this show one of the best yet held on the continent.

Th automobile section will embrace the main floor of the Arena and as much of the Arena Annex as may be necessary. Exhibitors of Motor Boats and Accessories will be allotted space in the Arena Annex.

Applicants for space should make at least six selections, numbered in the order of their choice.

Th first allotment will be made on Monday, December 17th and applications, to be considered at that time, must be filed not later than noon on Saturday, December 15th. No application filed later will be considered until all applicants up to that time have been served.

Exhibitors at the First Annual Show will be given preference in the allotment of space. The order of selection will be determined by lot. Number one will be allotted the first choice specified in the applicatic and the remaining applicants the best space available in their respective turns. The same plan will then be followed with applicants who did not exhibit at the first annual show.

The remaining space, subdivided as may hereafter appear desirable, will be devoted to the exhibit of sporting goods, canoes, motor boats, motors, parts and accessories. The method of allotment will be the same in all respects as in the automobile section.

Commercial cars must not be loaded and will not be permitted to encroach upon the aisles or interfere with the plan of decoration.

The main floor is entirely free from obstructions and will be devoted to the exhibit of automobiles.

The boxes are on a raised platform, with an aisle at the rear end are reached by the stairway at each end. The boxes will be devoted to exhibits of parts and accessories.

On the upper platform will be the exhibits of the railroad companies and sporting goods.

McGill-Varsity Match Will be a Hard and Sharp Contest Saturday

There will be a sharp struggle on the McGill Campus on Saturday when the McGill and Toronto Varsity Rugby teams meet for the first time. It will be the greatest contest of the Inter-collegiate series this season. Both teams have shown a marked superiority over the other two members of the league, Queen's and Ottawa College, who can now scrap to see which will not hold last place. If McGill wins she has the championship assured; if beaten, there will be a great likelihood of a tie, and the Intercollegiate champions will be too late to make a bid for the Dominion championship honors.

There seems no reason why McGill should not win, on her own field, but her college supporters seem almost afraid to hope for it; for McGill has only held the championship once since the formation of the Union in 1892. She has occupied the runners-up position, year after year.

Frank Patrick will likely be able to go on the field on Saturday, where he will be needed to fill up the back division more than in any other game this year. He has been on the sick list for several days, but he expects to be out to the practice to-night.

A noticeable thing about the personnel of the McGill team is the youth of the players. From full back to scrimmage, there is not a man over twenty-two years of age, the youngest member being barely eighteen. This is a thing which cannot be said of any other team playing senior football in Eastern Canada this season.

But if young, they know the game all right, and can add to their knowledge, intelligence and any amount of vigor. None of the McGill teams of the last three or four seasons, showed the same degree of system and unity, as this aggregation does.

THE NATIONALS HAVE ELECTIONS

The National Amateur Athletic Association is having its annual meeting and election to-night, and there is more excitement about it than there was about the Hearst campaign.

Candidates for office of director have been working like trojans days and night, with cabs flying and followers canvasing, and it is said that there will be at least half a dozen tickets.

It seems pretty certain that Mr. J.J. Mercier will be re-elected president again.

Mr. Gauthier, who has in the past been more especially identified with the lacrosse team, and who is the originator of the present fine intermediate Rugby team of the association, is retiring from the directorship.

His retirement from athletics will be regretted by many as he is a fine sportsman and has done much to keep up the athletic spirit amongst the French-Canadian youths, and has helped greatly to bring the Nationals more in touch with the English-speaking organizations to the mutual benefit of both.

WANT MORE POWER FOR COMMITTEES

Chairman Lariviere, of Roads Committee, Proposes That Civic Charter Be Amended.

At the meeting of the Roads Committee, yesterday afternoon, discussion turned on a proposal that the present limit of five hundred dollars, which civic committees are now allowed to spend without calling for tenders be raised. The charter provides that when a committee desires to spend a sum exceeding five hundred dollars, tenders must be advertised in the public press.

The chairman of the Roads Committee, Ald. Lariviere, argued that the charter ought to be amended in a manner so as to allow civic committees to spend $1,000 without calling for tenders. He explained that not only had committees to call for tenders, but the expenditure of any sum over $500 had to be sanctioned by the City Council. He claimed that during the summer months, when there were no Council meetings, the Roads Committee was badly handicapped by not being allowed to order work, etc., amounting to more than $500.

City Surveyor Barlow was instructed to study the charter and draft an amendment to it as desired by the chairman.

THE GENEROUS AGENT.

The committee again discussed the action of an agent from the United States who had managed to sell the city a ton of steel when only one hundred pounds were required. The committee held the agent had misled a clerk of the department in regard to the quantity the committee wanted. It was finally decided that the firm the agent represented should be informed that the city would not purchase over one hundred pounds of the steel.

A complaint was read from the Trades and Labor Council to the effect that the Street Railway Company was purchasing cars outside of the city; this was protested against as the company had promised to build all its own cars. It was decided to ask an explanation from the company.

Before the committee adjourned it was decided to recommend increases of pay to a number of employes.

BIG FEE FOR DONALDA.

Soloist Will Receive More for Concert Than Ever Paid in Canada.

The fee which it required to induce Madame Pauline Donalda to tear herself away from the routine of grand opera work and appear on the concert platform for a single evening, at the Arena, on Monday week, the 19th, is not merely the largest personal fee ever paid to any soloist for a concert in Canada. It so far exceeds the sums paid to the leading solo artists for concert work that the two most expensive soloists of recent years who have appeared in Montreal did not personally receive from their managers as much as will be paid direct to Madame Donalda alone. These are Paderewski and Melba. Nordica, Eames, Plancon and Edouard de Reszke, all combined, do not get as much for their services as this one twenty-three-year-old singer who has only been before the public for two years. Donalda is in this instance, of course, her own manager, so that there is no deduction to be made for the impressario, and she is able to ask such an extraordinarily high figure because she is not in concert work at all, and the Montreal engagement, which has been arranged in deference to the insistent demands of her friends, will be a serious break in the course of the exacting preparation for her conquest of New York.

Lecture on Railroading.

Happiness in a Tablet.

Perfect Health for Every One Procured at Small Cost.

How many times have you sat down at your meals absolutely disgusted at the thought or sight of anything to eat?

How many times have you sat down at your meals without the trace of an appetite, but just because it was "time to eat"?

How many times have you felt a gnawing, unsatisfied "still hungry" feeling in your stomach even after you were through eating?

How many times have you felt that "lump of lead" on your stomach after eating, whether your meal was well cooked or not?

And how many times have you suffered a whole lot of other things from your stomach that you couldn't explain, but that made you grouchy, miserable, out-o'-sorts and generally sour on everybody and everything?

It is safe to say you couldn't tell. You don't keep track of those things, of course, but you know you've suffered them. You probably have had them for so long that they've become a habit with you, and you have come to the conclusion that your fate is to suffer them indefinitely and perhaps forever.

And so men, much like horses, standing unhitched at the hitching post, think they're tied, and so their habit makes them prisoners.

But no one need have dyspepsia, nor indigestion, nor loss of appetite, brash, irritation, burning sensations, heartburn, nausea, eructations, bad memory, loss of vim and vigor and the happiness that comes from a healthy stomach and a good appetite if he will only leave his old hitching post and tie himself to a new one, one that will hold him to health, joy, ambition and a clear mind and memory, and the sunshine that goes with them.

That indeed is Heaven! And you can get it in a little tablet already prepared for the purpose, in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, those little cherubs of health and delight found in thousands of homes to-day. Listen—one ingredient of one of these precious little tablets will digest for you 3,000 grains of food.

This relieves your stomach of the work of digesting until your stomach can get strong and healthy again. Your stomach has been over-worked, and abused. It's fagged out. It needs a rest.

Let Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do the work of your stomach. You will be surprised how fine you'll feel after eating, and how lusciously good everything will taste to you. That's because the Tablets are thoroughly digesting the food which your stomach couldn't digest before.

Have these tablets on your dining table, and take one or two, after every meal without fail. Then you will realize as never before that the human stomach decides for every man whether he will go forward or backward—and besides, you'll forget you ever had a stomach to torment you.

MEETINGS AND SOCIETIES.

THE HERVEY INSTITUTE. — A thanksgiving pound party will be held in the institution, 215 Mountain street, on Thursday, November 8th, from 4 to 6 p.m.

SILVER JUBILEE — The celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of St. Mary's parish, which will be held November 26 to 29 inclusive, will consist of a "Fair of Nations," lasting three nights, and a banquet given by the married ladies on the fourth night.

BURNS CLUB.—The Burns Club meeting, Thursday evening at 8 p.m., at Alexandria Rooms, 314 St. Catherine West, will be addressed by Wm. Drysdale, on "Burns in Canada." A short programme of music and songs has been prepared. The meeting will be open to the public.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND.—An extended visit is being paid this city by Fred. W. Thomas, of Toronto, the travelling secretary for Canada of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, a growing men's organization of the Church of England, founded 22 years ago. There are in Canada some 3,000 members working under its rules of prayer and service.

MEN'S ASSOCIATION.—The Olivet Men's Association held their regular fortnightly meeting on Monday evening. The subject for the evening was a debate, resolved, "That more is accomplished by steady effort than by enthusiasm." Messrs. Pratt, Irons and McKergow spoke for the affirmative, while Messrs. Holly, McMartin and MacLeod replied for the negative. After a well contested argument a ballot was taken resulting in a victory for the negative by the close margin of one vote. About forty-five members present.

THE SCARLET LETTER.—A paper on Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter," was read before the Montreal Debating Club, at the Young Men's Christian Association, by Mr. L. I. McMahon, on Monday. The speaker said that this book presents, more faithfully than any history, the gloomy picturesqueness of early New England life; that all of Hawthorne's work was one form or another of dealing with sin and that "Sin isolates the individual from sympathy with his fellowmen" was the one thought running through all his work.

A lucid review of the whole story was given, and the speaker ended by saying: "Of all the books ever written we know of none like to this for the pathos, the terror and the gloom with which the genius of the author has surrounded the three central figures of this sad tragedy. No book on theology, no sermon ever preached, is so powerful an exposition of the 'exceeding sinfulness of sin,' the damning retribution of almost compulsory deceit, by which crime becomes its own avenger and plunges the tortured soul here and now into such a hell of tumultuous agony and unquiet despair."

LOTTERY CASE WILL BE APPEALED.

Before Judge Piche yesterday, Mr. N. K. Lafl... me presented a motion asking for a reserve case in connection with the case of J. T. Bezina, convicted of being an agent of the Phoenix Land and Improvement Company, in lottery transactions.

The court refused to grant the motion, and Mr. Laflamme then announced that he was going to carry the case to the Court of Appeal. Pending this appeal the sentence of Vezina together with the case against the other agents will be postponed until November 22nd.

The Late Adam B. Fraser.

Mr. Adam B. Fraser died suddenly at his residence last night. For forty years Mr. Fraser was engaged in the grocery business on Bleury street. He was 62 years of age, and since retiring from business several years ago he has enjoyed fairly good health. Before retiring for the night, Mrs. Fraser heard a fall in her husband's room, and on going to that apartment found that he had been stricken by apoplexy, death occurring soon after.

Taken to Privy Council.

Mr. Charles Archer, K.C., will leave Thursday next for London, to plead before the Privy Council in the case of the Cape Breton vs. the steamer Canada, of the R. and O. Company. The case is taken to the highest court of the Empire to determine who is responsible for the collision between these two boats near Sorel a couple of years ago, causing the death of several people.

FOUND GUILTY OF DEFRAUDING FARMERS.

Before Mr. Justice Lavergne in the Court of King's Bench yesterday, the jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Henri J. Poulin and Ovide Julien, who were charged with conspiracy to defraud. The system employed by these two men was to send out post cards quoting high prices for farm products. Farmers sent in goods but never received any remittance. Several farmers testified to having been swindled in this manner, among others, Mr. Euclide Ladouceur, of St. Andre d'Argenteuil, who lodged the complaint.

In the case of A. Wand, who was charged with attempting to murder his wife on the night of May 25th, his counsel, Mr. J. A. St. Julien made a motion to have the indictment changed to one of common assault, asking the court to take into consideration that the accused was under the influence of liquor at the time. Crown Prosecutor Lafortune stated that he had no objection to the changing of the charge as laid in the indictment. His Lordship then granted Mr. St. Julien's request and the accused was remanded.

T. R. Ridgway, a collector, of Montreal, who had pleaded not guilty to a charge of having written libellous matter to one of his correspondents in Toronto, concerning Recorder Paquette, of Shawinigan Falls, changed his plea to one of guilty, and was remanded for sentence.

DIAMOND JUBILEE OF POINTE AUX TREMBLES.

The Rev. Dr. Scrimger presided at the Diamond Jubilee celebration of the Pointe aux Trembles Schools, held in Erskine Church, last night. The history of these schools dates back to 1830, when the French-Canadian Missionary Society was first formed and from which the schools eventually originated.

After a short speech by Mr. R. P. Duclos, who had been a pupil in the schools as far back as 1846, Principal Brandt spoke of the school and its growth. He recalled the days when the school had been poor and of struggling days when the pupils had to work on the farms between lessons and fish for their dinners of an evening. But now there was a change for the better. In fact they were comparatively luxurious. The number of pupils to-day was 175, coming from all parts of the Province of Quebec, and they bid fair to increase this number year by year.

The mission, too, had done good work and had something to show for its existence of sixty years, over 170 French-Canadians of both sexes having gone forth to preach the gospel, while over 6,000 had had the advantage of receiving an education there.

The Rev. Dr. Patterson, of Philadelphia, amused his audience with a very witty and versatile speech, at the same time making a strong plea for generous aid to such a worthy and old established institution as the schools at Point aux Trembles.

Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was instructed at the regular monthly meeting, to advise the Misses Dow of a vote of thanks which had been passed to these ladies, on account of a generous donation, $2,500 each, given by them to the Society. The money goes to the endowment fund.

The secretary-treasurer and his assistant tendered their resignations, which were received with much regret. They vacate office in February.

The inspectors reported the following work done during the past month: Convictions, 16; warnings given, 77; special complaints attended to, 85; horses ordered off work, 24; animals destroyed, 22; ambulance calls, 10.

There are seven million total abstainers in Great Britain.

Suit Over Fraternal Policy.

Mr. H. Montpetit, through his attorneys, Messrs. Beaulieu, Gagne & Gagnon, has entered suit for $1,050 against the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends. His wife, who died in June last, held a $1,000 life policy in the association and a $50 sick benefit policy. The company has refused to pay over these amounts to the husband on the ground that there were false representations made at the time of the application for the policies.

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same; the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour—

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY

to throw off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of than by any other known combination. So surely as it is taken in accordance with the directions accompanying it, will the shattered health be restored.

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE LIGHTED UP AFRESH,

and a new existence imparted in place of what had so lately seemed worn-out, "used up," and valueless. This wonderful medicament is purely vegetable and innocuous, is agreeable to the taste—suitable for all constitutions and conditions, in either sex; and it is difficult to imagine a case of disease or derangement, whose main features are those of debility, that will not be speedily and permanently benefited by this never-failing recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it for this wide-spread and numerous class of human ailments.

THERAPION is sold by the principal Chemists throughout the world. Price in England, 2/9 per packet. Purchasers should see that word 'THERAPION' appears on British Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners, and without which it is a forgery.

M'GILL WILL HAVE BRASS BAND.

McGill is likely to have a brass band in the near future. Not until the Laval students marched up the avenue four weeks ago, preceded by their college band, did the students of old McGill realize how much of a necessity such an institution was. An agitation was immediately set on foot to do what was plainly a duty. Several meetings were held and a committee was appointed to work up the matter.

At the last meeting of the Alma Mater Society, the committee reported. Twenty-two men were necessary and twenty duly qualified bandsmen had been found among the students.

HUGHES IT IS.

Hearst was beaten by Democratic defections and General Prosperity. These are both significant facts, for they indicate that if the Democratic party should come to desire office more than it cares for some other things, it might turn to Hearst and elect him, and also that a period of "hard times" might accomplish the same result. Of course, the basis of the Republican strength was the New York farmer—a man especially hard to touch with hard times and a class whom the Hearst appeals do not appear to have reached. If the same forces had been at play in rural New York that dominated the cities Hearst must have secured a majority.

The interesting question to-day is what effect this election will have upon the Hearst campaign for the future. He has said that it will have none, and certain it is that his failure to secure the Mayoralty did not moderate his ferocious attacks upon the "trusts" and all who do their bidding. The chances are that Hearst will go right ahead, with all the prestige of having made a great personal fight and all the freedom from responsibility that attaches to opposition. If he had won, he must have redeemed his promises, and this simple operation has brought many a politician, with far less "paper" out, to political bankruptcy. The history of agitation is full of the wrecks of men who only began to fail when they had begun to succeed. Broken or discounted promises are the most effective gags to put in the mouth of a free-tongued popular leader.

Hughes will, if he be wise, now make it clear that he, too, is the champion of the people. Hearst has covered him all over with charges of "corporation lawyer" and "the tool of the trusts"; but he has now an opportunity to prove by acts that these accusations were ill-founded and that he is as good a friend of the people as he deemed to be when probing the insurance scandals before the Armstrong committee. He in his turn has the best chance that ever comes to a politician—that of shaking off false accusations by positive acts. Should Hughes make himself a popular leader in this way, he will become a formidable candidate for the Presidential nomination two years hence; and it will be among the possibilities that we will see a Hearst-Hughes fight for the Presidency.

The "knifing" of Hearst in Greater New York, is shown by the striking manner in which he ran behind the rest of the Democratic ticket. This is something we are likely to hear from in the future. The Hearst strength, plus the Democratic strength, is shown by the vote given the rest of the ticket which may, at the time of writing, have actually been successful. But many of the Democratic leaders were bound not to have "Hearst" in any event and thought to take this opportunity to bury him finally. Still he may turn up to-morrow to ask who were the men with the knives, and to insist that they be put "outside the breastworks" on future occasions. This strong vote for the rest of the ticket indicates that New York is not enthusiastic about the Republicans, but is merely unable to agree upon whom it will substitute for them. Later returns may even show greater Democratic gains throughout the Union than are reported on the surface.

CONSCRIPTION IN BRITAIN.

That there is a serious agitation in progress in Britain for some species of compulsory military service, is becoming more and more apparent. The Speaker—which, of course, opposes it—says that "Lord Roberts and his friends have captured the headmasters of the public schools, numbers of university dons, and plenty of influential people in the War Office. With the exception of the Tribune all the penny morning papers of London are advocates of compulsory service, and on Thursday the Times, which three or four years ago was arguing for reducing the army estimates to about twenty millions, of course without conscription, finds itself 'thrown back upon the view so ably advocated by Lord Roberts, that if we want real security at a reduced expenditure we must make national defence the legal duty of every able-bodied citizen.'"

It is not at all likely that conscription in its naked form would in any event be introduced to begin with; but the moment the purely voluntary system which now obtains was abandoned, it would only be a question of time and of successive "invasion scares" until Continental conscription had come. Now, this is a matter in which every self-governing colony is concerned. If the people of Great Britain consent to the terrible burden of conscription—the "blood tax"—because they believe it necessary to defend the Empire, it goes without saying that the pressure upon the colonies to do much more than they are doing will be greatly increased. We can never hang back in the traces while the Mother Country is sweating under conscription.

But compulsory military service has not yet carried the British people, and it certainly will not while the present Parliament lasts. The Speaker urges that the House of Commons pass a resolution against it, believing that it would carry ten to one. The necessity must be much clearer than it is to-day before the British voter will consent to bind his son to the necessity of army service, which means the direct loss of one or two years in productive employment and "getting ahead." Then conscription in free Britain would be followed by an immense increase in emigration, which might weaken the fighting power of the country far more than the greater military readiness would strengthen it. There are thus many things to be considered before the scheme is adopted; but the progress of the movement is not without a sinister interest for all the free Colonies.

FAIR PLAY FOR MANITOBA.

Next week a conference will assemble at Ottawa to consider the claims of the three interested provinces to sections of the Keewatin Territory. A glance at the map shows Keewatin lying between Hudson Bay and the three provinces of Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Ontario gets access to the waters of Hudson Bay through James' Bay—as does Quebec—but the two Western provinces are absolutely debarred from these waters by Keewatin.

The glance at the map also shows which province had the best "prima facie" claim to more territory. Manitoba is still the "postage stamp" province of the Dominion, and has not been given anything at all like the same generous treatment as its sisters. Between Ontario and Saskatchewan it looks like the buffer between two railway cars; and right to the north east of it lies Keewatin, out of which an amount of map area might be taken, no matter of how great or how little value for settlement the new lands might be.

Unfortunately politics always enter in these questions of Provincial boundaries. If they did not, we might get a scientifically divided Dominion—not an aggregation of Rhode Islands and New York. In the new West, we have approached that division, for we came to the task of delimiting the provinces on a fairly clean map; but unfortunately we did not, at the time when we were dividing the West, provide justly and reasonably for the little pioneer province which bore the brunt of the first battle with the Wilderness. Then it would have been easier to have extended Manitoba so that it could have taken its place with its sister provinces without being ridiculously over-topped. Now, we have one of those larger provinces putting in a claim for a part of Keewatin giving on Hudson Bay, and we have Ontario demanding its share of the spoil.

The result will probably be compromise — that blessed word in political difficulties. It is likely that all the provinces will be given access to the Bay, and that Quebec will also be granted a similar privilege through Ungava. But the compromise ought to be based upon the fact that Manitoba has hitherto been unfairly treated. It begins "behind the game," and ought to be allowed to catch up before the "share and share alike" policy be inaugurated. "We cannot check Manitoba," is, perhaps, not quite so true to-day as it was in the time of Sir John Macdonald, for she can now be "jockeyed" more effectively by the other Western provinces; but it is just as true that "we ought not to check Manitoba." A great province should be established at the gate-way to the West, and the hardships borne and battles fought in the early days of its struggle with the illimitable West should be recognized and rewarded.

CLEAN THE STREET CARS.

The Street Railway Company should take more pains to clean their cars. By cleaning them, we do not mean letting the conductor sweep them roughly out at the end of a "run," with the result that a fine, acrid and poisonous dust hangs about in the air for half of the return voyage; but that they should be washed out carefully at the sheds before being sent out at all.

The rule against expectoration should be enforced—not treated with practical contempt as at present—and then the floors of the cars ought to be kept clean. As it is, one dreads to see a breeze blow in through one of the open doors, for it is very likely to lift from the dirty floor a cloud of dust, which the passengers must breathe for the next few blocks.

Then they ought to be heated earlier in the season, and thus made ready for plenty of ventilation. When a car is not heated on a cold day, the conductor will at best only open one of the microscopic ventilators; for he does not want to have his car at a freezing temperature. But if it were heated mildly, then the ventilators could be opened with impunity. A little more pains to make the cars inviting would repay the Company in an increase of patronage. Many a lady or gentleman will to-day prefer to walk, if the distance be not too great, rather than risk the dusty and musty atmosphere of the cars.

THIS DATE 30 YEARS AGO.

The Late Hon. Alex. Mackenzie.

The address of Premier Mackenzie at the Hallowe'en festival is causing some rather unfavorable criticism among Highlanders regarding his sanguinary references to the unfortunate Stuart family and their melancholy fate. His emphatic protest against "national societies" also astonished many of his auditors. In his recital of the advantages enjoyed by the people of the Dominion, the honorable gentleman said: "We can legislate as we like." This would convey the impression that Canada is independent. What about the Imperial veto powers?

THE late ex-Premier's address before the Caledonian Society was a very fine deliverance, pleading for harmony among the different nationalities of the country and the dropping of the prejudices born of the mother lands. The references to the Stuart royal family caused a little flutter in the hotels and clubs the next day, for Bonnie Prince Charlie's sad fate is still remembered by the descendants of those who rallied to his standard. Mr. Mackenzie, far from feeling any pity for the unfortunate monarch, who had his head taken off by the headsman, was of the opinion that the necks of all the members of the family, young and old, should have shared the same fate. Many thought the expressions very much out of place at a social gathering as suggesting wholesale slaughter of innocent persons. The press next day reminded the honorable gentleman that some of his proposed legislation regarding the construction of the C. P. R. had been "turned down" by Downing street in a most peremptory manner on an appeal from British Columbians.

The Athenaeum of London, England, is still deploring George Eliot's last novel, and its favorite comparison seems to be "as dull as 'Daniel Deronda'."

THE pseudonym "George Eliot" was taken by Miss Marian Evans, a very popular English novelist, and the daughter of a clergyman, who gave her a first class education in her youthful days. On leaving school, Mr. Herbert Spencer became her tutor, and under his skilful training her mind was developed rapidly and broadly. She became a fine linguist and musician, and familiarized herself with not only the fine arts, but also with metaphysics and logic. While on the staff of the Westminster Review, she became acquainted with Mr. John Stuart Mill and others, and became confirmed in their peculiar religious and philosophical views. Her first work, "Essence of Christianity," appeared in 1853. Her most popular novel, "Adam Bede," was published in 1859, followed rapidly by "The Mill on the Floss" and many other novels, "Daniel Deronda," in four volumes, appearing in 1876.

The Late Colonel Martin.

Next Sunday the 6th Fusiliers will attend Divine service at the English Cathedral under the command of Lieut.-Col. Martin, and the High School Cadet Corps will go to Erskine Church.

THE late Col. Martin was very popular with the officers and men of the 6th Fusiliers, now merged with and forming the 1st Prince of Wales' Fusiliers. He served on the frontier during the Fenian raids. He was one of the oldest wholesale fur merchants of the city, and very successful in his business relations. He died many years ago.

It is stated that the historic Plains of Abraham, Quebec, are to be made into a driving park by Mr. Dobell and other wealthy citizens of the Ancient Capital. So far a driving park has not materialized but the Plains are as an excellent race course for the Quebec Jockey Club. The late Hon. Mr. Dobell was a wealthy lumber merchant, who was elected to the House of Commons in the nineties for Quebec West as a supporter of the Laurier administration. He entered the Cabinet as Minister without portfolio. While on a visit a few years ago he was thrown from his horse near Dover, England, and killed.

A despatch this morning from London, England, states that Captain George Nares, commander of the British Arctic expedition, has just returned, and has paid off the crews of the Alert and Discovery and forwarded his report of his voyage and discoveries.

CAPTAIN (now Admiral Sir) George Nares, K.C.B., F.R.S., as early as 1852 was a mate on the Resolute in the Arctic expedition of that period and did good service. After sea service in other climes he was appointed to command the Arctic expedition of 1875-6, having Capt. Stevenson, of the Discovery, second in command. The ships sailed from England in May, 1875, and after great hardships the northernmost land reached was in latitude 82.27 by the Alert. Commander Markham and Lieut. Parr and sledging party were away from the ship 72 days and succeeded in planting the Union Jack in latitude 83.10.26 north. The expedition returned to Valentia on October 27. Honors and medals were conferred on the officers and crews, the commanders of the Alert and Discovery receiving the K.C.B. for their brave attempt to reach the pole. Sir George is the author of many works in connection with his various expeditions to the north and south poles.

MR. J. B. VALLEE DIES SUDDENLY.

Mr. J. B. Vallee, for forty years a deputy prothonotary of the Superior Court, in Montreal, died yesterday afternoon, at Notre Dame Hospital, after a few days' illness. He had an operation performed on Monday, and has been sinking rapidly ever since. Up to a few days ago, he was attending to his duties at the Court House, where, on account of his urbanity and kindliness of character he was a general favorite as well with the judges and other court officials as with the lawyers and the general public.

Mr. Vallee has been for the past few years the head deputy prothonotary, (replacing the prothonotary in case of absence, and superintending, in Room 24, the distribution of the hearing of cases. He was also charged with the duty of preparing the calendar of cases to be heard during each month.

The late Mr. Vallee was 62 years of age. He was the son of Mr. Joseph Vallee, a notary, of this city. After studying at St. Mary's College, he took up the study of law at Laval University, and was admitted to the Bar. He practiced a short time, then entered the civil service as deputy prothonotary, a position which he has filled ever since. His health has been poor for some years back, but he still continued to discharge his duties with the same efficiency and unfailing courtesy which had always distinguished him.

Mr. Vallee leaves a wife, but no children.

CHARITY FEASTS.—Success attended the charity feasts given in St. Jean Baptiste parish for the benefit of the Hospice Auclair. A sum of $1,700 was secured for the institution from the receipts at the various dinners. Miss Blanche Irene Lefebvre, o. St. Denis street, who disposed of most tickets, received as a prize an oil painting of Rev. Abbe Auclair, pastor of the parish.

That guess that Hearst would win by 260,000 can now retire into dry-dock for repairs.

Which verifies the earlier predicts, however, that the name of the winner begins with H.

Cap. Bernier can beat Peary every time. Peary was only 203 miles away from the North Pole, while the Cap is 3,560 miles away from it. Majority for the Cap., 3,757 miles.

A street-piano factory in New York has been burned, and yet there are still people who do not believe in a merciful Providence.

Eighty-seven of our esteemed exchanges have it that Peary got "farthest" north, while 96 of them contend that he got "furthest" north.

It seems that when a Cuban can't get office he becomes a revolution.

As the Pullman Co. has a surplus of something like $27,000,000 which the stockholders are trying to get at, you can see for yourself that it's nearly as nice to be a Pullman stockholder as it is to be a Pullman porter.

STROKE DIDN'T COME.

The late Archbishop of Canterbury was for many years fearful of a stroke of paralysis.

Seated at the right of the Countess of Warwick at a brilliant banquet, he startled the guests by arising and remarking:

"Brethren, it has come at last—that which I have feared for forty years, a stroke of paralysis. I have been pinching my knee for the last twenty minutes and can't find the least sensation there."

"Pardon me," said the Countess, "but it was my knee you were pinching."

Blenheim will be closed and the 200 servants will be discharged. A big establishment like that cannot be kept up with the Vanderbilt fortune cut off.

San Francisco will organize a Tammany in the effort to reduce its corruption to a system.

The society reporters always speak of a bride being "led to the altar," just as though a bride couldn't find her own way there blindfolded.

Finance.

"Henry, I think you had better constitute yourself a bank examiner."

"What do you mean, my dear?"

"I notice that little Willie is persuading the other children to deposit their pennies with him."

Mr. Peary's latest expedition adds another to the North Pole's long list of hairbreadth escapes from being discovered.

It would pay American heiresses who marry foreign noblemen if they could simply buy the title and omit the personal incumbrance.

McKeesport, N. Y., has a "23" club, composed of 23 women 23 years old. Next year—but, pshaw, they'll still be 23.

Sir Thomas Lipton might as well save himself some trouble and let it be understood that his challenge stands as a permanent affair.

Boni Castellane furnishes another evidence of the fact that a man may squander money without accumulating any friendships worth while.

A Lucky Day.

"Did your husband have any luck at the races?" asked the neighbor who comes looking for news.

"Wonderful luck," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "He inadvertently put a $20 bill in his vest pocket and forgot to bet it."

By designating the co-respondents in her divorce case by letters of the alphabet, as "Mme. A," "Mme. B," etc., Countess Castellane leaves the inference that there were not more than twenty-six of them.

Peary's expedition toward the pole was an almost unparalleled success—he didn't have to be rescued.

WHO'S WHO.

Mr. L. Urquhart.

Mr. Urquhart, the British Vice-Consul at Baku, who had a narrow escape from assassination recently, came prominently before the public during the Tartar riots in the great centre of the petroleum industry last year. At a time when the lives of British subjects were seriously menaced, Mr. Urquhart showed a combination of personal courage, resource, and presence of mind that excited the admiration of all who followed the tragic history of the outbreak. He received the Albert medal for his heroism. For some time past the revolutionary party in Baku has threatened our Vice-Consul, whose uncompromising attitude where British interests are concerned has interfered seriously with the active policy of the party that seeks to accomplish its aims through the destruction of a great and prosperous Russian industry. Mr. Urquhart would seem to have had a remarkable escape. Five of the assassin's bullets grazed his skin as he lay on the ground half-stunned from the effect of a fall from his carriage, and a sixth bullet injured his hand. The Russian Minister for Foreign Affairs has conveyed to Sir Arthur Nicolson, the British Ambassador at St. Petersburg, an expression of his deep regret at the untoward incident. Doubtless, Mr. Urquhart will not be deterred in any way from following a policy that commends itself to the sober judgment of all men.

We have to record the death of Ralph Gordon Noel Milbanke, Earl of Lovelace and Baron Wentworth, who died very suddenly at his Surrey seat, Ockham Park, in his sixty-eighth year. He was second son of the first Earl of Lovelace by the Hon. Ada Augusta, only child of Lord Byron. Lord Lovelace was twice married, and leaves a daughter, by his first wife, who now succeeds to the Barony of Wentworth. The Earldom of Lovelace devolves upon the late Peer's half-brother, the Hon. Lionel Fortescue King-Noel, son of the first Earl by his second marriage. He was born in 1865. The only sister of the late Lord Lovelace married Mr. Wilfred Scawen Blunt, of Crabbet Park, Sussex, the famous breeder of pure Arab horses and a post of considerable attainments.

THE LATE EARL OF LOVELACE.

M. Durnovo.

M. Charles Muller was murdered at the Hotel Jungfrau by a Russian woman who mistook him for M. Durnovo, formerly Russian Minister of the Interior. M. Muller was a wealthy Alsatian, whose home was in Paris. The woman, who was arrested, has expressed her regret at the mistake, but said that she had done her duty. M. Durnovo had visited the hotel some time previously.

Mr. F. Hedges Butler.

Mr. Frank Hedges Butler, who is to compete in the Gordon - Bennett balloon race from Paris on the 30th of this month, is largely responsible for Society's latest week-end hobby, ballooning. He is, indeed, the founder of the Aero Club of this country, and has made four-score free-balloon ascents here and in France, including two cross-Channel trips.

CO-EDUCATION IN ENGLAND.

First School of the Kind There is to Be Opened in January.

The propaganda of the co-educationists, who hold that it is better that boys and girls should live together during the whole time of education, is to bear fruit in January, when St. George's, the first English public school for the co-education of boys and girls, will be opened at Harpenden. Those responsible for the institution are so confident of the support of thoughtful people that the buildings are planned on a generous scale capable at the opening of accommodating 80 scholars; indeed, their confidence seems justified, for there is a nucleus of 50 boys and girls booked for the opening term.

English people are so used to the separation of the sexes during preparation for the work of life, from the board schools to the universities, that the separation has been accepted as a necessity of training after the age of six. But for many years co-education-its have been pointing out the evil result of this system on the community, and to the good done by co-education schools in America and elsewhere. But till a few years ago the suggestion got only the usual answer to reform proposals — somewhat angry alarm. The argument that children need no more be separated by sex at school than at home, and, more, than such artificial separation has indeed proved harmful, as many eminent headmasters know well enough, has now been to a certain extent accepted.

St. George's School, which has a chapel attached, will have 11 acres of playing fields, a cricket ground and pavilion, a fives court, and open-air swimming-bath, a gymnasium, a carpenter's workshop and laboratory. This public school is, in fact, singularly fortunate in being planned on what all the past of public school work has proved to be necessary. Its curriculum aims at the development of the personality of each scholar along its natural lines. The school is fortunate in having as headmaster the Rev. Cecil Grant, M.A., of Wadham College, Oxford, and for seven years headmaster of Keswick College. The Rev. Mr. Grant is a great believer in the "mixed" school, arguing that it imitates the family, and that it is already in universal practice during the holidays.

The headmaster claims that his system cures the evils which the admirers of separate schools have to admit are common because of the present system of separation of the sexes. He gives the visible effects of a mixed school on the girls as greater openness, less self-consciousness, wider interests, more esprit de corps; and on the boys as less idleness, less cruelty, and less gaucherie.

Laundering on a Large Scale.

The Illinois Central will begin operating a monster laundry in Chicago soon for cleaning all linen used on the road's 4,375 miles. Some idea of the work of this laundry may be gained from knowing that 90,000 napkins, 30,000 tablecloths, 10,000 aprons, 6,000 jackets, 50,000 towels, and 2,000 caps, table felts, etc., are soiled and washed every month on the Illinois Central. This covers laundering for thirty-two dining, cafe, buffet and cafe-library cars, eleven officers' working cars, one pay car, and five eating houses at Chicago, Champaign, Decatur, Louisville and Memphis.

SALT RHEUM ON HANDS

ANOTHER CURE BY CUTICURA

Another cure by Cuticura is told of by Mrs. Caroline Cable, of Waupoca, Wis., in the following grateful letter: "My husband suffered agony with salt rheum on his hands, and I had to keep them bandaged all the time. We tried everything we could get, but nothing helped him until he used Cuticura. One set of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills cured him entirely, and his hands have been as smooth as possible ever since. I do hope this letter will be the means of helping some other sufferer."

TROUBLE WITH UNIVERSITY.

Russian Government Threatens to Close Unless the Agitation Ceases.

St. Petersburg, November 7. — The acuteness of the present university crisis continues and threatens to eventually result in the suspension of studies. The Government again has addressed the faculty of the University of St. Petersburg with an explicit statement in which it sets forth its intention of shutting down the university at once if outsiders persist in their demands and are permitted to trespass upon the campus, to take part in mass-meetings and to bring about revolutionary conclaves within the precincts of the university. A big mass-meeting was held yesterday, and continued till a late hour to protest against the expulsion from St. Petersburg of Jews who do not belong to the university and who desire to attend the lectures on the ground that they have not the right of residence in the capital. A resolution was adopted making light of the threats to close the university and recommending that the faculty admit into its sittings upon student affairs delegates empowered to represent student bodies.

License for this meeting was granted by the prefect of the city only after earnest solicitation by M. Borgman, the rector of the university.

The faction of so-called "academists" is growing. This faction has foresworn revolution, and is eager to second the efforts of the faculty to keep the university open in the interests of learning.

TO COMMEMORATE EVENT.

Inception of English Colonial Enterprise in United States.

Washington, November 7.—Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte, has received a letter from Mr. N. Darnell Davis, editor-general of British Guiana, calling attention to the date of December 19, 1906, as being the 300th anniversary of the sailing of the Sara Constant, God-speed and Discovery from Blackwall, England, for Virginia being the inception of English colonial enterprise in the United States. Mr. Davis suggests that in commemoration of the event, the vessels of the United States navy whether at sea or in port, shall "dress ship" on that occasion. Mr. Davis has already made the suggestion in English newspapers that Great Britain recognize the birth of its "eldest daughter" by a similar action on board the British vessels of war.

World Gossip

British Money in Cotton Lands.

During the past year a number of British cotton experts have visited the cotton lands of the Southern States, and the result has been that a number of conjectures have been started as to the purpose of the inspection. Mr. Alfred R. Smith, of Charleston, S.C., states that it is the general impression that they are looking out for chances for the investment of British capital in such properties. When interviewed by the Star at the Windsor yesterday, he said:

"Of course, the experts will make no statements as to the purpose of their work, giving out merely that they had come on a visit of inspection for the gathering of data as to the management of the fields. This, however, hardly covers the whole ground; and there can be no reasonable doubt about it that there is some more serious object in view. This object can hardly be any other than investment in Southern cotton lands."

"What makes you think that such should be their purpose?"

"The principal reason for such an opinion lies in the many efforts made by British cotton associations of recent years to improve the sources of cotton supply. For this purpose they made costly experiments in almost every part of the world, trying to grow cotton in all the colonies of the Empire which offered the slightest indication of a successful result. The outcome, however, in spite of their best efforts proved to be a rather meagre one. Therefore, if the associations are still to persist in their work of the development of cotton culture, they must turn to the Southern States. Experiments have shown that they are the finest cotton-growing countries in the whole world, and thus they offer a splendid field for the work intended."

"But has not the field been pretty well taken up by American growers?"

"The exact contrary is the case, and it is a matter of common information that the cotton production of the South is not near so great at it should, and would be, under better management. In fact, the present crop is raised on a fraction only of the land available for cotton-growing, and the yield would be very greatly increased by the intelligent application of labor and capital. It is to be hoped that such is the purpose of the British cotton manufacturers, as it would result in a great impetus to Southern development."

Work in the Sahara Desert.

Mr. Herman E. Lettrell, of New York, who is at present in this city, told the Star yesterday that he recently made a trip to the Mediterranean, in the course of which he visited Algiers, where he was surprised to learn that the French are engaged in running a telegraph line across the great desert from that city to Timbuctoo.

"Timbuctoo," he said, "was once regarded as almost the end of the world, a place sunk in primeval savagery, and far beyond the reach of civilizing influences, but this has all been changed, and there is every prospect of that African city becoming a great centre for inland commerce. The work was begun last winter, and has now been going on for nearly nine months. It seems to be proceeding very rapidly."

"How about the food for the construction gangs, and what is the feeling of the natives in the matter?" was asked.

"Of course elaborate preparations had to be made for the work, but so far no great difficulties have been encountered. Everything in the way of drink and food and supplies of every nature have to be transported on camel-back to the scene of the work. Supply trains of these animals pass to and fro with great regularity between Algiers and Timbuctoo and the camping grounds of the several parties. As for the natives and their feelings in the matter, it is they themselves who do the manual work of the construction. This is a surprising change of sentiment, for no more than five years ago these very natives were so hostile that the first explorers and surveyors of the line took their lives in their hands when they went amongst them, and in many instances had to disguise themselves and pass as Mahommedans in order to get through the country."

The remark being made that the work of constructing such a line across the world's greatest desert must be frightful work on account of the nature of the soil and the climate, Mr. Lettrell said that, from all he could learn, the desert had been much maligned in this respect, and that it was far from being the terrible place it has been depicted. Besides, the intelligent application of irrigation would make it blossom as a garden. Nor would this be very difficult, for the desert is said to be underlaid with subterranean streams and reservoirs which can be reached at a depth of from 200 to 2,000 feet, according to the altitude of the points where the experimental borings were made.

Grief on Long Island.

The cauliflower crop is a failure, and Long Island grieves. Let not the cynical mock at this vegetable bereavement, for the cauliflower means much to Long Island, being usually its most important and most profitable crop. Mr. Arthur Pynson, of that locality, and himself a cauliflower-grower, who spent the last couple of days in this city, was the bearer of the sad news.

"Not more than one-tenth of the crop has been marketed," he said, "and all the rest has been lost."

The interviewer begged in a sympathetic tone to be informed of this awful cauliflower mortality.

"Oh, all kinds of reasons are given," said Mr. Pynson, "as generally happens in such a case; and it may be that there is a certain amount due to each of them. The first reason alleged is the weather. The cauliflower generally does best in cool weather without too much moisture. This year the exact contrary was the case. There was a great deal of hot, steamy fog with occasional heavy rains, and the result was that the cauliflowers developed a mildew which checked the heading of the flowers.

"This was bad enough, but along came a pest of worms somewhat similar to cabbage worms, which devoured both leaves and flowers. Some of the farmers also allege that the soil of the eastern end of the island has been over-worked, and that really superior cauliflowers can never again be produced there. This, I think, is a mistake, and that if the weather is all right the crop will be as good as ever another year."

Making War on Tipping.

HE tipping system of Europe, which Americans so frequently complain of, but which nevertheless is gaining a firm foothold on this continent, is being made the subject of attack in its home. Anti-tipping demonstrations are being arranged to take place in Trafalgar square, Hyde Park and other prominent places of London. The movement is led by the waiters' unions, and therein lies its hope of success. It is futile for the victims of the tipping system to attempt to combat it. Patrons of restaurants and other places where tips are customary cannot act in unison, and the system grows despite the efforts which some individuals make against it. So far as the public is concerned, it must endure the evil until those who are supposed to be its beneficiaries, but who in reality are not—the waiters—join to put an end to it. What the public can do is to aid the movement when starting by giving it moral support. The tipping system so operates that the waiter who takes the tips cannot long profit from the supposed gratuities. When tips are abundant wages are reduced to correspond. In many cases the waiter actually pays for the chance to serve because of the opportunities for tips which the position affords. Thus the employer ultimately takes all the benefits, leaving the employe with an uncertain income, which is no larger than the pay it would furnish under a direct wage system. Furthermore, the taking of tips is degrading. Students of the question have long predicted that tip takers themselves would organize to put an end to the system, and that the movement would be fought by their employers, who, in the long run, are the only persons benefited. The present movement among the waiters of London tends to bear out this prediction.

Fountain of Youth in New York.

William R. Hinsdale, of Orange, N.J., who discovered the location of the "Old Spanish Tunnel" in the Shawangunk mountains, near Kingston, N.Y., is to lay out a park there. Tradition said that from the tunnel ran a stream of living water, and Prof. Mather, state geologist of Ohio, who investigated, accepted the theory that the work was done by Spaniards who formed a part of the Ponce de Leon expedition. After failing to find the fountain of youth in Florida and following their leader's dying injunction to continue the search, they are thought to have made the journey northward. When they came to a stream larger than a man's arm rushing out of solid rock, with no visible source of supply, they halted, and began to tunnel to locate the pool whence it came. This was in the sixteenth century. The tunnel was known till recently only by Indian legend. The tunnel is 500 feet long, six feet high, four feet wide, and straight as an arrow, with only a rise of seven feet in its entire length. Hinsdale purchased the entire tract of land, put in a narrow-gauge railroad, built an electric plant and lighted the tunnel with incandescent lamps.

Lilliput for Sale.

An attempt was made lately to sell by auction in London what was described in the prospectuses as "the smallest empire on the face of the earth." It is Lundy Island, a speck in the British channel, which belongs to the Rev. H. C. Huevon, whose father bought it in 1836 and left it to him. "A little empire for a little emperor," exclaimed the auctioneer, as he started to describe the beauties of the island, which includes 1,046 acres, with hill and dale, wood and water, and a feasible landing place in fair weather. No tax gatherer comes there; the hum of the factory is unheard and the automobile peril is entirely absent. As the climate is peculiarly healthful and the air always fresh, it was suggested that the island would be an ideal site for a sanitarium. Notwithstanding these attractions, the highest bid made for the island was £16,500, about $82,500, and this did not meet the owner's idea of value of the property. The sale was called off and Mr. Huevon decided to remain a little emperor himself a little longer.

Americans Study Jiu Jitsu.

The midshipmen at the United States Naval Academy will continue to receive instructions in Japanese wrestling. There was criticism in some quarters of that form of exercise, but the President has issued instructions retaining the jiu jitsu in the class of work which the midshipmen must perform for their physical development. Some of the officers on duty at the Naval Academy do not entirely believe in this exercise. They are inclined to think that it is altogether too dangerous and not fully in accord with what is regarded as fairness to an opponent. President Roosevelt, who received instructions from the Japanese wrestler who will conduct the work at the academy, believes that Japanese wrestling is a good training for an alert eye and the development of quick muscles. His instructions given at this time to the academic authorities indicate that Japanese wrestling must be employed hereafter as part of the general athletic education.

Some Honest 'Friscans.

During the first four or five days after the San Francisco fire, when many people could get no money from the banks, a great number went to the railroad officials for tickets to points north, east, south and west, and both in and out of the State. They insisted upon paying eventually, but had nothing to give at that time but their written promises to pay as soon as they could reach their destinations. The officials took these promises to pay to an amount aggregating $60,000 from nearly 1,000 persons. It is announced that within five months of the disaster no less than $53,000, or nine-tenths of the full amount, has been paid by remittances from the refugees to whom credit had been extended. Much of this came from grateful sufferers who had not even been asked to sign a promise to pay.

Fell 18 Feet into a Ship's Hold.

Mr. P. N. Smith, first mate of the steamship Kildona, met with a serious accident when the ship was in mid-ocean on her recent trip to Montreal. Owing to the heavy seas, a quantity of the cargo became loose, and while attending to the replacing of the stuff, Mr. Smith fell into the lower hold, a distance of about 18 feet. When the steamship reached Montreal the mate was taken to the General Hospital, where it was found he was suffering from a broken leg and ribs. He is progressing favorably.

Looking Forward to English Capital.

London, November 7.—At a meeting of the British Columbia Electric Railway, R. M. Horne Payne said the prosperity of British Columbia would really commence from the time when it began to attract capital from the old world. For this reason, people in British Columbia would do well to think twice before they sent forth to the world resolutions and by-laws threatening antagonism to capital. The Canadian market had hitherto been kept clean and wholesome, but he received recently prospectuses of at least a dozen enterprises of the wildest nature, involving millions sterling. If these were taken up, he had not the least doubt 20 per cent. of the capital would be lost. The report was adopted and the capital increased to £1,500,000.

Many Cases of Diphtheria.

St. John, N.B., November 7.—A report from Edmundston, N.B., near the head of the St. John River, tells of fifty cases of diphtheria in the village of St. Basile, five miles from that town. There has been one death, but the cases are reported mild an are confined to St. Basile Hospital and convent, where there are 150 pupils.

QUEBEC TERMINAL QUESTION.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson Will Confer with Railway Representatives.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, November 7.—Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways, has gone to Quebec with the members of the Transcontinental Railway Commission, where a conference will be held with representatives of the various railways which enter Quebec in regard to joint terminals. The Minister at a recent date withheld his approval of plans submitted to him by the Canadian Northern for a line from Quebec bridge to the city of Quebec. Hon. S. N. Parent, on behalf of the Transcontinental Railway Commission, objected to the route proposed on the ground that the land would be required by the commission for the Transcontinental Railway. The object of the conference at Quebec is to endeavor to reach an agreement satisfactory to all parties concerned as to the use of the bridge and entrance into Quebec.

ATTORNEY FAINTS IN COURT.

Crown Witness Gives Sensational Evidence.

Morden, Man., November 7.—Sensations are thickening in the trial of Martin Doyle, for the murder of Vincent Weiler, which is now in progress here. Yesterday a prisoner named Thompson, from Stony Mountain Penitentiary, who was confined in the provincial gaol in a cell adjoining Doyle, for several months while awaiting trial, was placed in the witness-box, and told a remarkable story of a plot hatched there in which he and a youngman named Pat. Rooney had assisted Doyle in an effort to have Bailey, the leading witness for the Crown, put out of the way. As Bailey mysteriously disappeared it is feared he shared the fate of Weiler, or was paid to leave the country. Thompson says Doyle confessed to him that he had shot Weiler. The case had to be summarily adjourned, owing to the fact that the prosecuting attorney fainted in the court-room.

LIVELY MEETING OF STREET RAILWAY STOCKHOLDERS--"KICKERS" HAVE THEIR SAY AND MANAGEMENT ANSWER QUESTIONS

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Montreal Street Railway Company took place to-day in the company's chambers, and was attended by the largest gathering of the kind that has ever been held there. It had been rumored for many days that the meeting was likely to be a strenuous and even a stormy one. The room chosen for the meeting was filled in every available bit of space by the representative business men of the city—shareholders of the company and there were many who were obliged to stand in the passage outside the door. Among those present besides the officials of the company, Hon. L. J. Forget, president; Mr. K. W. Blackwell, vice-president; Mr. W. G. Ross, managing director, and Sir Montagu Allan—were Senator Belque, Sir William Hingston, Hon. A. Boyer, and Messrs. Gordon Stratay, E. Gault, Colin Campbell, Alex. Patterson, Andrew Dawes, R. W. Shepherd, T. B. Maccaulay, Angus Hooper, C.S. Campbell, K.C., C. F. Smith, W. R. Miller, C. Chaput, George Williamson, McLea Walbank, A. Haig Sims, Robert Meighen, William McIntyre, George G. Foster, C. J. McCuaig, George Hart, Jr., B. A. Boas, C. J. Flett, K.C., Warden King and A. Baumgarten.

The meeting was opened by Hon. L. J. Forget, president of the company, being voted into the chair. Before taking his seat, he made a few words of apology for the smallness of the room and the inadequacy of the accommodations, which were, however, he said, the very best to be had in the building.

Mr. Patrick Dubee, who had been named secretary of the meeting, then read the notice of its being held, and also the minutes of the last meeting, held on the 2nd of November, 1905. The minutes were approved of by the meeting without discussion.

The chairman then moved, seconded by the vice-president of the company, Mr. K. W. Blackwell, that Messrs. Alex. Patterson and Stanley Bagg should be named scrutineers for the meeting. Even at this purely formal stage of the proceedings the spirit of protest on the part of some of those present was shown in the demand of Mr. B. A. Boas that there should be a third scrutineer.

"What are your reasons, sir?" asked the chairman.

"I believe there should be a third scrutineer, and I propose that it should be Mr. C. Chaput."

"What is the opinion of the meeting?" the chairman asked of those present. "Do you not consider, gentlemen, that two scrutineers are quite sufficient?"

"Certainly," "Yes, yes," "Of course," came from different parts of the room, and as there was no seconder to the motion of Mr. Boas it was dropped without further comment.

President Forget then rose to discuss the annual report. He said:

"Gentlemen, the annual report has been in your hands since Monday, so that you have been able to look it over and digest it thoroughly. I have nothing to add to it at present. I believe it to be quite complete, and I also believe it to be a very satisfactory one for the year. I have nothing to add to it, but should be pleased to answer any questions those present may wish to put to me with regard to it. To open the discussion, I move that it be adopted."

Mr. Blackwell rose to second the motion of the chairman, stating briefly that the road was in better physical condition at present than ever before in its history and that he had much pleasure in moving the adoption of the report.

Senator Belque then rose to put some question with regard to certain parts of the report. In the first place he asked if the item of $302,000, which is put to the contingency account in the report, was all the money that had been spent in the renewal of tracks and such work.

Mr. W. G. Ross explained that of this sum $265,000 had been spent in track renewal, and that in addition to the $302,000 another $90,000 had been charged to the construction account. In answer to another question, Mr. Ross explained that the Park and Island Railway was counted among the assets of the M. S. R., which owned practically all the stock and preferred bonds.

Commenting on the expense percentage of 59 per cent. of the gross earnings, Senator Belque asked if it was expected that this high rate would be soon decreased. The chairman answered that it certainly would in the course of the next couple of years when the work of renewing the road had been completed, and the statement was received with applause.

Senator Belque was followed by Mr. B. A. Boas, who opened his speech by informing the president that though some of the shareholders might be afraid to look him in the eye and state their minds, he for one certainly was not.

"Oh, that's all right. Everybody knows that," said the chairman, with a genial laugh.

Mr. Boas then stated that he had lost his confidence in the board of directors when the shareholders had been "sold in the purchase of power from the Chambly Power Company," and that he had not recovered it since.

"Has the company ever asked for tenders for material and work outside of their own particular clique?" he inquired. "Why is the managing director also the president of the White Construction Company, which has large contracts with the Street Railway? I have been told that he has since resigned, but the fact remains that contracts with that company are still in force. Why is it also that the vice-President of the M. S. R. is the president of the Canadian Switch Company, which has sold large amounts of goods to this company. What I would like to know is if tenders have ever been asked for outside of the clique."

Another matter on which Mr. Boas thought the shareholders had a right to explanation was the reputed connection of high officials of the company with the Dominion Park scheme at the expense of the company's shareholders. There were also too many bosses of passes in evidence, and Mr. Boas had himself witnessed people in the cars taking out their franks. Tracks and switches were laid and torn up with unnecessary frequency. Mr. Boas also put in a plea for clean cars, which seemed to meet with the approval of those present.

HON. MR. BOYER EXPLAINS.

Hon. Arthur Boyer then took the floor. He stated that the question which his confreres and himself wanted answered were sent to the president on the understanding that the questions and answers were to be kept secret.

"Now, so far as I am concerned," said he, "neither myself nor my colleagues gave any information whatever to the press. Now we could never have given out answers that we did not receive. All the questions which have been asked can be easily answered, especially with regard to the directors of the M. S. R. acting in similar positions on the boards of other companies. When I requested a list of the shareholders in October last, I was refused a copy under the pretence there was no list."

Senator Forget—"Excuse me. May I be allowed to interrupt? I wrote in answer to Mr. Boyer that I would be pleased to have him meet the managing director, Mr. Ross, at any time it would be convenient for him to do so, but the questions or some of them appeared in the newspapers and were talked of on the streets before you called on us."

Mr. Boyer—"I want to tell you I revealed nothing to the press; one newspaperman telephoned my house but I was out."

A Voice—"Were you?"

Mr. Boyer—"In asking these questions we simply want information regarding the workings of the Montreal Street Railway, we are not attempting to cut off our nose to spite our face. When it was first announced that this company was to issue more stock at 75 per cent., the stock on the market fell some twenty-five points, and we want to know why this was the case. The question can be easily answered."

Mr. Boas wanted to know what connection the Street Railway had with the Dominion Park Company, and why the company built two miles of a railway to this park to accommodate—

Senator Forget—No. No. Please—We built this track because we had obtained a franchise from the municipality of Longue Pointe some years ago, and we were glad to avail ourselves of the opportunity offered by the building of the Park in that locality to lay the track, which we did.

"Anyway," said the Senator, "what business have you to ask these questions in private and by writing, and not before the shareholders at the meeting here?"

Senator Belque—"The questions have been set in writing, and I understand the management are ready to answer them. Let us have the answers and this will probably close the discussion and save time."

In reply to Mr. Boas' question regarding the uncleanliness of the cars, Senator Forget stated that if the streets of the city were properly cleaned the cars would be clean also. "Clean your own streets and then you will have cleaned cars," said the Senator.

The Senator also replied to Mr. Boas' question regarding what he called the indiscriminate distribution of street railway passes. "This question should be left to the discretion of the management," declared the president, "and should not be brought up here."

Mr. Boas—"I do not think that is right. We should not have so many passes flying around."

Senator Forget—"I quite agree with you, but it has been the policy of the company for the last fifty years to issue passes, and if stopped would interfere with the interests of the company."

Mr. Boas—"I have seen gentlemen put passes into the boxes that are not concerned in the street railway at all, and from whom the street railway requires no favors."

Senator Forget—"I will be only too thankful if you will report such people."

Mr. W. G. Ross then took the floor and proceeded to answer the questions put to the management in writing. "I do not think it is policy to answer all the questions put to-day, and, further state it would serve no purpose to go into the details of all the details of the tenders and contracts of this company. I can say that generally all appropriations, tenders and contracts are carried out in the most systematic way and as is done by any other large companies that I know of. Regarding the steel works and the Canadian white——"

DOWN TO PERSONALITIES.

Mr. Boyer—"There is nothing mentioned in our questions regarding you."

Mr. Ross—"Then you do not want to know anything about them?"

Mr. Ross—"Regarding the work given to the Switch Company, I doubt if one-half the work has been given them, our purchases are made where it is to the best advantage of the company to buy them. Mr. Blackwell never asked for any work and never complained because he did not get it."

Mr. Boas—"Perhaps he got the work without asking."

Mr. Ross—"Regarding contracts, tenders are always asked for, and the lowest tender always accepted providing the material offered is of the proper quality."

Mr. Boas—"What kind of materials?"

Mr. Ross—"Every kind of material."

Mr. Boas—"What about the contract let to the Canadian White Company for the building of the new power house at Hochelaga."

Mr. Ross—"This house is being built on a 10 per cent. basis, the usual percentage charged on works of this kind, but the White Company have to supply pumps, plans and are under other expenses. In addition the White Company is the only one in Canada, or in fact on the Continent, that can do the work required in a building of this kind. The arrangement with this company was authorized by the Board of Directors of the Street Railway and the agreement drawn up by the solicitor of the street railway, and I was congratulated by the solicitor on the stiff terms of the agreement."

Mr. Boas—"There are other contracts."

Mr. Ross—"Mr. Boas likes contracts so well that he is sitting on one now."

Mr. Boas—"Yes, I have one in my hand."

Mr. Ross—"Well let us look at the results of some of the contracts we have let. This building in which we now are was let out to contract, and it fell down, costing us over $100,000, and had the accident occurred a month later the lives of the employes of the company would have been wiped out. Again, take our power house on William street. This was erected by contract, and it fell down, destroying the machinery inside, and this has cost us thousands of dollars ever since, and I maintain that it would be ridiculous to let any more contracts except on a percentage basis."

Mr. Boas here read a letter he received in connection with the building of the new power house at Hochelaga, with the idea of pointing out a delay in the construction of the building, which would tend to enrich the contractors and take from the Street Railway."

Mr. Ross—"The man who wrote that letter does not know what he is talking about."

Mr. Boas—"He should know."

Mr. Ross—"It took two years to build the power house on William street, and it will take only ten months to build this one. The shareholders can draw their own conclusions."

Mr. Ross explained that the lines recently constructed to the Jockey Club grounds were laid at the request of the Jockey Club, and the only expense incurred was the electrical apparatus and the terminals at the grounds.

The managing director also explained the connection of the Montreal Street Railway with Dominion Park. "The Street Railway Company subscribed a certain amount of bonds to the value of $25,000, for which we received $25,000 stock as a premium. We did this to encourage the formation of the park. The rest of the money was raised outside. There is about $400,000 stock and $250,000 bonds. All the stock is paid up. We had worked on this for about eighteen months before anyone was got hold of to take hold of the matter, and tried parties all over the country. At last we got a man from Minneapolis, who took the matter up, and after a time we were able to encourage some people to put their money into it. The only liability incurred in the laying of the tracks to the grounds was the placing of the terminals at the grounds."

M. S. R. TRACKAGE.

Mr. Ross explained that they had 132 miles of track to date. They had reconstructed on two-thirds of the paved streets and on one-third of the macadam at a cost of about $350,000 to $400,000.

Mr. Herbert Marler here took the floor and stated that he believed the questions put by some of the shareholders were for the purpose of irritating and finding fault with the management, as the information could be had at any time for the asking, and it was time the discussion closed.

Senator Belque—"As an investor in the Montreal Street Railway to the amount of over $200,000, I maintain the shareholders are entitled to information. I defy anyone to say I am criticising the chairman or board of directors, I have confidence in most of them, otherwise I would not have invested my money, but I maintain that these questions should be answered and the cloud lifted which has acted as a detriment to the advancement of the stock. My object in putting the questions is to dispel any unwarranted suspicions there may be."

Mr. Ross—"If there is any particular question you would like to put Mr. Belque, I am ready and willing to answer it."

Senator Belque—"Are there any directors on the board of the Street Railway, who are also on the boards of other companies doing business with the Street Railway?"

Mr. Ross—"I can hardly answer that, as I do not know."

A voice—"Answer for yourself."

Mr. Ross—"None at all—Not a single one."

Mr. Ross then explained that he was not president nor a director of the White Company, when the contract was signed with the Street Railway Company, and Mr. K. W. Blackwell also stated that he had never received any work from the Street Railway, unless obtained in the most businesslike manner, and that he had never sought the work. He gave the history of his presence on the board of directors of the Street Railway, and stated that all his transactions had been carried on with the highest possible commercial morality.

Mr. Belque—"I am very glad this information has been elicited."

MR. TRENHOLME'S CONGRATULATIONS.

Mr. Thomas Trenholme congratulated the Street Railway on the manner in which it was carrying on its business, saying that never before in the history of the organization had things been run so smoothly and with so little friction. There were complaints as to dirty cars, and so forth, but where did that dirt come from? From the streets of Montreal. There was no cause for complaint now, and Mr. Trenholme could not see why things should not run along just about as smoothly and nicely as they had in former days.

Hon. Senator Belque then suggested that the number of directors be increased to nine, instead of five as at present.

Mr. Forget replied that that question had already been discussed by the directors and that in all probability there would be something to say in the matter at a very early date.

A vote was then taken on the report of the company, which was passed without a dissenting voice.

The shareholders at this point were just about to leave the room, but the chairman called them back, asking them to be good enough to sit through a special meeting which had been called for the purpose of increasing the stock. Mr. Forget then read a motion, seconded by Mr. Wilson, that the capital of the company be increased by $3,500,000 by the issuance of $2,000,000 worth of stock at seventy-five per cent. premium. In explanation of this move, Mr. Forget read a long report showing that the directors had gone into the question very thoroughly, looking at the matter from every standpoint, and seeking the advice of a great many bankers and business men in the city. The expense account now showed a deficit of three and a half million dollars, and in view of the fact that so many recent improvements had been made, the cost of snow removal last year having been so heavy and many other large expenditures, the company had to do something to meet the approbation of the shareholders.

To this Senator Belque arose and begged to make another suggestion, which he thought would as well if not better solve the difficulty as the plan which the board of directors were pleased to bring forward. He suggested that instead of issuing all of the three and a half million in stock, one million be issued in stock and and the other two and a half million in convertible bonds. With all due deference to the board of directors, this plan, he thought, would be much more satisfactory.

After considerable discussion, pro and con, in which Sir William Hingston backed up the directors in a very able speech, the matter was finally put to a vote and carried unanimously, all expressing their entire approval of the policy of the directors so far and trusting in their judgment in matters to come.

BIG FRANCHISE FIGHT WILL BE BEFORE LEGISLATURE, NOT COUNCIL, SAY CITY HALL AUTHORITIES

The interesting fact transpired at the City Hall to-day, that when in two weeks time, the City Council took up the offer of the Light, Heat & Power Company, one of the leading members would make a motion to the effect that the company's offer be not considered, but that a direct offer be made to the company asking it to sell gas at ninety cents; this rate to come into force at once.

The motion will also make it plain to the company that it will not be allowed exclusive powers to furnish electric energy to manufacturers; and finally, that no electric lighting contract will be given the company until it guarantees a fixed sum, on its "earnings," to the corporation.

FIGHT BEFORE LEGISLATURE.

"The outlook is," said a member of the Finance Committee "that the City Council will not be able to reach any agreement with the Light, Heat & Power Company. It will be found that the real fight for cheap electric lighting, gas lighting, etc., will take place before the Legislature.

"It has already been decided by a number of members of Council, to go to the Legislature and ask it to curtail the vast privileges it has given the Light, Heat & Power Company, to use the streets of the city and sell gas and electricity. The whole position of the company, in regard to the astonishing prices it asks, is that it feels it can go on selling lighting products in the city without the consent of the City Council.

SHOULD FILE PETITION.

"It is well known that the company is very strong with the Legislature; at the same time I do not think the Legislature, when it ascertains what a bad position the citizens of Montreal are in will refuse to curtail many of the exclusive privileges claimed by the company.

"What the aldermen and citizens must do, if the company will not give better terms, is to band together and pray the Legislature to aid it in once more getting entire control of the streets. Our streets should be a great asset in the way of revenue; but when companies claim they can control them, without the consent of the corporation, their value is not very great. The time has now come when the Legislature must come to the city's aid."

NO EXCLUSIVE FRANCHISE.

Ald. Duquette, who has been a member of former civic gas commissions, said to-day: "The Mayor is right in his contention that the Light, Heat and Power Company must not be given exclusive powers to furnish electric energy in the city. It is not right of the company, or of the aldermen, to try and handicap trade in any such manner. The company should have given its sole attention to the aldermen's demand that the gas rates be reduced.

"By the company dragging in the electric lighting question, a muddle has ensued that is hard to solve. It is astonishing that the company cannot come frankly forward and make generous reductions in the price of gas. If it would do this it would not be hard for it to get an extension of contract from the City Council."

ALDERMANIC COMMENT.

From remarks dropped by a number of aldermen who were down at the City Hall to-day, it is quite evident that the report of the civic gas committee will never pass Council. The fact is that the aldermen feel that public opinion is so very strong against the prices desired by the company that they feel they are not justified in voting for them. Some weeks ago it was well known that if the company made generous offers to Council its offers would have been adopted by a vote that would almost have been unanimous. The entire situation among the city fathers has now been altered. Ald. Payette, leader of the City Council, holds that the company should not only reduce the price of gas and electricity, but that it should guarantee an annual fixed sum on its "earnings," to the corporation. If the company did this the city would be in a position to float a loan, on such guarantee, which would allow the City Council to put the streets in good repair.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Bryson, November 7.—A sensation has just been sprung here by the rumor that the district of Bryson is to be abolished and that the Criminal Assizes are to be held at Hull in the future.

The greatest sensation, though, is the rumor that several of the principal citizens are to be called upon to answer to the charge of not only bribing jurors but also of bribing Crown witnesses.

Crown Prosecutor Barry is preparing a report to be sent to the Attorney-General on the difficulties of administering justice at Bryson, and strongly urging that the Criminal Assizes be held at Hull. Especially in the present case, that of Laderout, it is said that the Crown Prosecutor is anxious for a change of venue. This would be quite a loss to the town of Bryson, as the TRIBUTE PAID TO LATE MR. VALLEE.

At the opening of the court in room 21 to-day Mr. P. B. Mignault, K.C., batonnier of the Bar of Montreal, addressed the court in a few words, expressing the regret of the whole Bar at the death of Mr. J. B. Vallee, who, as deputy prothonotary, had sat in that very room for so many years. The batonnier referred to the deceased as a noble character and a model civil employe, ever kind, courteous and helpful to the members of the Bar.

Mr. Justice Mathieu concurred in what had been said by Mr. Mignault of the devoted public servant who had just disappeared. His Lordship declared that he expressed the sentiments of the whole Bench in deploring the death of Mr. Vallee.

Apologized for the Libel.

"Considering that you have apologized for what you have done, and in consideration of your having pleaded guilty to the charge of libel, I will sentence you to but one month in gaol, with an option of a $20 fine." Mr. Justice Lavergne thus spoke to E. Ridgeway when sentencing him before the Court of King's Bench this morning. Ridgway wrote a letter to some person libeiling a certain Mr. Parquet, of Shawinigan Falls. The prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge and apologized.

LEWIS OBTAINED BAIL FINALLY

London Election Case Resumed in Toronto Police Court—Pleaded "Not Guilty."

John O'Meara and Tom Lewis, charged with perjury in connection with the London bribery cases, were before Mr. Justice Riddell, in the criminal assizes this morning and formally pleaded "not guilty," the cases being adjourned until the January assizes.

The question of bail was raised, and Mr. J. W. Curry, K.C., asked that the same bail should stand. In the case of O'Meara, His Lordship said it would be increased from $6,000 to $10,000. Robert McIntyre and John Lewis were accepted as bondsmen. The bail of Tom Lewis had been $10,000 and $5,000 in his own bond, and $5,000 in that of his brother, John. Mr. Justice Riddell insisted that it should be increased to $8,000 each, a total of $16,000. Mr. Curry protested that this was more than was ever asked in a case of manslaughter.

Justice Riddell hinted that in his opinion perjury was as bad as manslaughter, as one was killing a man and the other was killing justice.

John Lewis's bond was ultimately accepted for $8,000, and the defendant's own bond in a like amount.

PERSONALS.

Miss Viole G. Flanagan, of Moncton, N.B., is visiting Mrs. W. J. O'Malley, 12 Overdale avenue.

At Derryloran parish church, by the Rev. A. Foster (uncle of the bridegroom), assisted by the Rev. F. Moeran, rector of the parish, and the Rev. R. S. G. Hamilton, rector of Dundalk, Captain A. H. Cuthell, son of Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Cuthell, of Frensham Grove, Farnham, was married to Rhona Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Adair, of Glenavon, Cookstown. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white pepin, trimmed with Irish lace and parne, and a court train of panne adorned with chiffon, and bouquets of orange blossoms and myrtle. She wore her mother's Brussels lace veil, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses. The bridesmaids were the Misses Norah Adair (sister of the bride), Constance Cuthell (sister of the bridegroom), Mildred Taylor, Alex. Glover, and Christian Graves (cousin of the bride). Their costumes of champagne colored eolienne had fichus of chiffon, with long ends caught up with bouquets of William Allen Richardson roses, and their Romney hats were of champagne colored chiffon trimmed with roses. They wore gold curb bracelets, and carried vellum-bound prayer books, the gifts of the bridegroom, whose best man was Mr. A. M. Ross, Prince of Wales's Own West Yorkshire Regiment. After the ceremony a reception was held at Glenaven, and Captain and Mrs. Cuthell left later for Dublin, en route for Paris. The bride went away in a costume of reseda faced cloth, trimmed with cream lace and embroidery, and a hat of white tulle with paradise plumes. She also wore a travelling coat of cream cloth, and a stole and muff of silver fox. The presents were very numerous. Mrs. Cuthell, as Miss Adair, made many friends in Montreal and Toronto when she visited Canada some time ago, to take part in several golf matches.

Both Accused of Theft.

John Williams and Walter Skelton, with no special residence, appeared to-day before Judge Lafontaine to answer to a charge of theft. They pleaded not guilty and were remanded until next Friday for trial. A couple of weeks ago the shoe store of Mr. Sloan on St. Catherine street, was broken into. The case was put in the hands of Detectives Samson and Cowan with the result that the two accused were arrested.

Mr. C. W. Pearson Dead.

Mr. Charles W. Pearson, proprietor of the Atlas Engraving and Printing Company, died very suddenly at his home this morning. He retired last night apparently in good health, but moans were heard from his room at about six o'clock. The family found him dying. Mr. Pearson was born in Montreal in 1850, and was well known among the printing fraternity. He leaves a wife and three daughters.

KARL CREMER WAS NOT IN COURT

A Rumor That the "Dreamer" Made An Attempt to Commit Suicide.

This was the day set for the enquete in the case of Karl Cremer, the dreamer, who bought upwards of $350,000 worth of houses, lands, horses, jewels, etc., on the strength of letters written to himself telling that he was heir to a fortune of $460,000 by the death of his father in Germany.

Cremer was not in court to-day, and there was a rumor that he had attempted to commit suicide. The rumor was given credence by the fact that the young German adventurer had not been brought up by the officer in charge of the "Black Maria."

Judge Lafontaine, before whom Cremer was to appear, said:

"The enquete has been adjourned for eight days, because I am informed that Cremer is too ill to be brought to court."

Governor Vallee, of the gaol, said:

"The doctor who is in attendance at the gaol has given me a report that Cremer is not well, and that he cannot be brought up for trial just now."

The Governor was asked what was the matter with Cremer, and he replied that he was not sure, but he thought it was an ordinary sickness, cold, etc.

The story is that in some manner Cremer succeeded in getting poison, and that he took it during last night.

Dr. Picotte, the gaol physician, was asked to-day what was the matter with Cremer. He said:

"I have received no special instruction to call on the man. When I saw him last he was in good health. I was at the gaol this morning and I saw nothing wrong."

CAPT. GORMAN'S ELIGIBILITY

Captain Gorman was asked to-day what he had to say about the charge that he had no right to sit on the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union Board, and that his appointment as chairman of the Investigation Committee was illegal.

All he replied was that he thought his position in the matter was all right, and that at the annual meeting of the C. A. A. U. Mr. O'Neill, the bowling president, and the secretary of the Bowling League, had bungled things.

MR. A. B. FRASER, an old Montrealer, who passed away last night.

LEWIS' BROTHER IN BRIBERY CASE.

Brock Cowan, the deputy returning officer from Brockville, who admitted switching ballots, went back into the box. He said he could not identify the man who gave him the bogus ballots or who paid him for his work. Pritchett and Thos. Lewis were in court, but Cowan did not remember ever seeing either of them. The Crown Prosecutor then asked Pritchett if he remembered Cowan and he swore that he recognized him.

Chas. H. Exter said that he never got money for his vote in London in his life. He had told some people that he received cash for going to the poll, but he made the statement for a joke. He denied being interviewed regarding his vote.

Ed. Shea was asked if he ever gave money to the last witness to influence his vote. Shea said he had not done so.

John E. Lewis went into the box and denied taking any part in the election.

MORE EXPOSURES MADE.

Some more exposures regarding the Brockville election of 1899 were made in R. McNab's evidence. He admitted that he handled money in the Liberal cause and gave $20 to a Brockville hotel-keeper to pay the McIntosh brothers for their votes.

"Where did you get the cash?"

"In the committee rooms."

"How much was given to you?"

"About $50 or $60."

"Can you not be sure of the amount?"

"It happened a long time ago."

"Did you get ballots?"

"Yes."

"These were bogus ballots to be given to voters?"

"Yes."

"How many did you receive?"

"Four."

LATE COTTON MARKET NEWS.

From the Special Correspondent of The Montreal Star on the N.Y. Cotton Exchange:

New York, November 7.—The market opened steady at a decline of 6 to 10 points, which was a shade better than due on cables, owing to covering of shorts who figured that a bearish census report to-morrow had been discounted.

There was no sign of an important bull support, and the market immediately following the call merely maintained the opening figures, with quite a good deal of cotton for sale owing to good weather over the holiday, and the outlook for large receipts.

The opening at Liverpool this morning was at a slight recovery, and at the hour of the local opening, English futures were 6 to 8 points below the close of Monday, and the English spot market was 10 points lower, although sales were heavier at the decline, 20,000 bales being reported for two days. Private cables reported a steady market at the decline. There were rumors that the report of the National Ginners' Association would show about 7,200,000 bales ginned to November 1, and this was thought to forecast bearish figures from the Government to-morrow, but there are many who do not believe that the figures can be so large.

In 1670 Captain Best, a British privateer, fought and defeated the whole Portuguese navy.

To protect an invention all over the world 64 different patents are required, costing over £500.

DETROIT AGAIN ACTED WELL

For some reason despatches are still coming to Montreal saying that the election between Codd and Thompson is in doubt, although why they haven't got the results fully straightened out by this time is a mystery. Some returns give Thompson 400 ahead and the franchise badly beaten.

Detroit stock acted well at the afternoon session, again selling at 89, towards the close for a block of 200 shares.

DOMINION COAL VIEW.

With reference to the article appearing in yesterday's issue, an official of the Dominion Coal Company, when seen this morning, stated that the trouble between the companies was not in any way occasioned by personal animosity between the respective managements.

The question in dispute was a vital one, viz., whether the Steel Company should have the privilege to pick and choose the seams and different openings in the seams from which they might select their coal.

This privilege they did not have under their contract, and if they wished to obtain it, they would require to pay for it in some way as by giving an increased price per ton for their supply, which at present was too low.

The Coal Company's position was thoroughly safe, and they could only account for the Steel Company's action in shutting down their works as an attempt to raise public sympathy in their favor.

CHARGE AGAINST EX-MANAGER M'GILL CHANGED TO ONE OF 'STEALING' BAIL REFUSED CI-DEVANT MANAGER

Chenoweth, the Stock Transfer Clerk, Gave Some Interesting Evidence—Wrangle Between the Magistrate and Counsel for the Defence—Mr. Ames on the Stand.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, November 7.—At the close of a long and at times tedious hearing at the opening investigation of the charge of presenting false returns to the Government in regard to the Ontario Bank scandal, Magistrate Denison provided something in the nature of a sensation by refusing to accept bail for Mr. Charles McGill, ex-manager of the institution.

Moreover, the more serious charge of stealing $136,000 belonging to the bank was preferred against the accused, who was promptly driven off to the gaol in the patrol waggon like an ordinary prisoner, with the exception of the fact that he had an additional constable with him as extra custodian.

During the whole of the morning session and for practically the whole of the afternoon, Walter Richard Chenoweth, stock transfer clerk at the head office of the bank occupied the witness stand, and went into a maze of figures which appeared to puzzle court and counsel alike. He was a self-possessed witness, giving prompt, crisp answers, and at the end of two hours' examination by Crown Attorney Corley and the magistrate in the afternoon, submitted to a close cross-examination by Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, counsel for Mr. McGill, with apparent calmness.

Mr. Chenoweth explained a number of items, in which very large sums of the bank's money had been invested with brokerage firms for speculative purposes. These sums were entered in one securities book as loans, and in a second securities book as loans by the bank to the firms in question. Subsequently in September, when the difficulties of the bank could no longer be hidden, a sum of $816,000 was written off. This amount, it is alleged, had been lost in speculations made in the name of Mr. McGill, but whether at the instance of the bank authorities did not transpire.

It was at the end of an exhaustive explanation of dozens of entries in the books sworn to by Mr. Chenoweth, that the magistrate suggested that, instead of the charge of making false returns the defendant should be arraigned on the graver charge of theft. A warrant was immediately sworn out against Mr. McGill and being peremptorily told by the magistrate to stand up, the defendant pleaded "not guilty" to the charge that he did "between the years 1900 and 1906, at the City of Toronto, in the County of York, steal the sum of $136,049.91 in money, the property of the Ontario Bank."

After Mr. McGill had pleaded to this fresh allegation, Col. Denison intimated that he would no longer accept bail, a decision which led to a spirited passage between Mr. Johnston and his Worship. Counsel's protestations to the magistrate were futile, and Mr. McGill had to submit to the ignominy of being transferred in a patrol waggon to the gaol, where he presumably will remain until the investigation is resumed on Friday morning. Mr. McGill received the news of the sudden change from liberty to incarceration with outward calmness, but Mr. Johnston at the conclusion of the hearing expressed himself pretty freely to his colleagues in regard to his opinion of the magisterial decision.

LARGE SUMS WRITTEN OFF.

After luncheon Mr. Chenoweth gave details of the various amounts entered in the book sas written off against various firms. Against Ames & Co. there was a total of $136,049, made up of sums of $7,049, $4,000, and $125,000. Other amounts thus written off were: Gordon Donald & Co., $16,000; McIntyre & Marshall, $30,000; W. H. Goadbee, two items of $15,000 and $10,000 respectively; Consolidated Lake Superior $19,321; Tyler, Morgan & Co., $229,000; Marshall, Spader & Co., $285,139.91; and C. Head & Co., $75,824.47. These sums exhausted the reserve for loss account. According to the entries, $56,439 was still owing by Marshall, Spader & Co. to the bank, and on September 10 there was apparently $10,000 paid to the same firms.

"That amount of $66,439, is it still owing to the bank by Marshall, Spader & Co.?" enquired the Crown Attorney.

"According to the books," responded the witness.

These sums were carried from month to month as debts owing to the bank, but as far as the knowledge of witness went there was no interest charged to these people. Some of these sums stood in the books as loans at the same figure until September 10, when they were written off as bad debts.

"Can you tell me whether it means that these men never got the money or someone else got it?" asked His Worship. "It looks to me as if it was taken and charged up to them, I would have thought that if this money was not paid to anybody somebody has got it."

All the witness could say that the money was paid on the instructions of Mr. McGill.

"Is it the supposition that these transactions were all bogus, and that Mr. McGill got the money?" His Worship next asked.

"I could not say," Mr. Chenoweth replied.

The Magistrate said that was the general plan in cases of embezzlement.

Mr. Chenoweth said that a number of the transactions took place before his time.

Col. Denison suggested that the items may have been put in as a pretence to account for taking out the money. "I have had cases of the kind," he added.

WRANGLE WITH MAGISTRATE.

"That is not the case at all," interposed Mr. Johnston, "your Worship is deciding the case."

"I am not deciding the case at all," the Magistrate interrupted sharply.

"You are deciding the statement you are making," Mr. Johnston retorted. The money was actually paid over, counsel added.

Col. Denison remarked that they had had cases of embezzlement where people took money and covered it up with bogus entries. In the Government returns the witness said the items were referred to as "current loans in Canada."

"That was to cover up the deficiency," commented His Worship.

The witness was next questioned in regard to returns for overdue debts and bank premises, and said in reporting the latter that the figure, as reported in July was $139,131, but was put in the Government returns as $125,000. The difference was deducted from the bank premises' account and added to the loans.

"Why did you do that?" enquired His Worship.

"They were my instructions," replied the witness.

A—"Mr. McGill."

"You knew these were wrong figures?" the magistrate asked at a later stage.

"Yes," the witness assented.

"And you knew McGill was figuring up the accounts so that they were false?"

A—"Yes."

"Did you ever tell anybody?"

A—"No; these were just my instructions and I carried them out."

"Whatever he told you to do you did?"

A—"Yes."

The witness, in explanation of the fact that he had signed the government returns, said he merely certified that they were correct according to the books of the bank. He did not certify that the figures were a true and lawful valuation of the bank affairs.

Examination of the witness as to the purchase of its own stock by the bank, revealed the fact that on July 31 of this year the bank held 1,009 1-3 shares, and there were 132 shares standing to "Charles McGill in trust."

When the bank closed on October 3, it had 2,009. It also appeared that shares were transferred backwards and forwards to individuals for the purpose of the government returns through the officers' guarantee funds.

WITNESS CROSS-EXAMINED.

In cross-examination by Mr. Johnston, the witness said he was familiar with the monthly statement required by the government.

"And you know that statement is supposed to show the true financial position of the bank," Mr. Johnston proceeded.

"As far as the books are concerned," was all the witness would admit.

"I didn't ask you that," retorted Mr. Johnston. "You know that the object of this statement is to show the true financial position of the bank."

"Yes," the witness now admitted.

Mr. Chenowith further agreed that he knew he was not allowed to make an untrue statement to the Government as to the affairs of the bank. He always knew that was not right.

"When you made up this statement you knew you were doing an untrue thing?"

A. "Yes."

"So that all the time, according to your story, you have been doing dishonest transactions, and saying nothing to anybody?"

A. "Yes."

All the entries, the witness went on, were made up by him, but as far as he knew the transactions were all bank transactions, and not personal transactions for anyone else.

As far as he knew they were all done, presumably, in the interests of the bank, although many of them turned out badly. No money was taken out of the bank for personal gain or loss by any of the directors or officials, so far as the witness could tell.

Replying to Col. Denison, the witness said the amounts he had referred to had been accumulating for a number of years, and he presumed they were invested in stocks.

"As far as you know that was the case?"

A. "Yes."

Mr. Chenowith did not know from the vouchers and the entries that stocks were bought on margin. The money, it appeared, was paid through the Fourth National Bank of New York, to the brokers.

With further cross-examination in regard to its investments, Mr. Chenowith admitted that in some of these the bank lost on some of the very best bonds, namely, Government bonds, consols and city of Toronto bonds. If losses were made it would be perfectly good banking to charge them up to the reserves, as had been done. The bank had practically $811,000 reserve accounts, and it would be perfectly legitimate to charge losses to these. Concerning the bank's transactions in its own stock, Mr. Chenowith considered this was done to keep up the price of the stock, and prevent the bank going broke. The stock was actually in the possession of the bank as an asset, and the purchases were actually visible transactions.

MR. AMES ON STAND.

Mr. Ames, of Ames and Co., was called, and questioned as to the item of $136,000, which appeared against the firm.

"We owed the bank nothing in which there should have been any writing off," said the witness.

"Did you ever get that sum from the bank or from Mr. McGill?" asked His Worship.

"I don't know of any such sum," replied Mr. Ames.

The bank never lost any money through his firm, Mr. Ames went on. He said that they had had accounts with Mr. McGill, "Mr. McGill's trust account." Moneys were paid in from time to time to Mr. McGill's credit and securities were bought in his account, Mr. McGill gave the orders himself, and as far as the firm knew they were for his account. He sometimes sold and won, and that money would go to his account. The major of the three accounts were in the name of C. McGill. The witness did not know whether it was McGill's money or the bank's.

The defendant withdrew money from time to time. McGill's accounts showed considerable losses. Mr. Ames quoted figures showing large transactions amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"The purchases were not turned over to the bank?" asked His Worship.

"No, we held them," replied the witness.

"They were all bought on margin," said Mr. Johnston.

"It is not quite correct to say that they were all bought on margin," said Mr. Ames. "There are some that were bought outright."

When Mr. Ames had completed his evidence, Col. Denison suggested to the Crown Attorney that he should prefer another charge against the accused, a more serious offence under the criminal code.

Crown Attorney Corley expressed his willingness to do so.

The information was at once sworn out, and the magistrate formally charged him with stealing between 1900 and 1906, a sum of $136,000.49, the property of the Ontario Bank.

To this charge the prisoner pleaded "not guilty."

THE QUESTION OF BAIL.

His Worship then asked counsel on both sides until when they would like the case adjourned, adding: "I might state that, under the circumstance, I shall not take bail."

Mr. Johnston pointed out that the Attorney-General was willing that bail should be accepted.

Col. Denison pointed out that there was now a graver charge against the accused.

"A mere turn of phrases does not affect the situation," said Mr. Johnston. Moreover, counsel added that he was quite prepared to meet this second charge.

"This is a much more serious offence than sending false returns to the Government," said His Worship.

"I would rather try the second case than the first," Mr. Johnston retorted.

"The man will be in custody until he gets out of my hands," was the magistrate's rejoinder. In a case of such wholesale appropriation as this I do not feel inclined to give bail."

Mr. Johnston complained that Mr. McGill was singled out from all others for this prosecution. There were others who knew as much about the matter as Mr. McGill.

"Well then lay an information," said His Worship.

"It is not for me to lay an information," Mr. Johnston answered.

"If you wish to lay an information do so," retorted His Worship.

"I am not a common informer," Mr. Johnston answered warmly.

"What days shall we say for the adjournment?" Col. Denison inquired.

"I shall have no more to say," said Mr. Johnston.

"The Crown can fix its own date."

It was thereupon decided to resume the hearing on Friday, Mr. McGill to be kept in custody meanwhile.

IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Appeal of Proprietors of the King Edward Hotel Dismissed.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, November 7.—In the Supreme Court yesterday the argument in city of Hamilton vs. Hamilton Distillery Company and Hamilton Brewing Association was concluded and judgment was reserved.

The next case heard was Toronto Hotel Co. vs. Sloane, an appeal from the judgment of the Court of Appeal for Ontario, affirming the verdict at the trial for the plaintiffs (respondents). As Mr. Justice Idington tried the case and Mr. Justice Maclennan was one of the judges who decided it in the Court of Appeal, the case was argued before the remaining four judges.

The plaintiffs had contracted to decorate certain rooms of the King Edward Hotel in Toronto and after working on their contract for a time they claimed that the walls and ceilings were not in fit condition and finally the contract was cancelled and the work completed by other parties after tender. The plaintiffs sued for the price of work done and at the trial their claim as to the condition of the walls was sustained. The defendants (appellants) claimed that the work done shortly after by other parties disproved that claim and also that they had a certificate of the architect which under the contract was final between the parties and ousted the courts of jurisdiction.

The argument was finished at four o'clock, and the appeal dismissed with costs.

THE HALIFAX ELECTION CASES

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, Ont., November 7.—In the Supreme Court yesterday motions were made in the Halifax Election cases on the cross appeals of Roche vs. Borden and Carney vs. O'Mullin, to vary the minutes of judgment as settled by the Registrar in so far as they direct that the election trial should be proceeded with in regard to the cross petition and that the minutes should be altered so as to agree with the intention of the judgments by providing that the parties should be sent back in the same position as they were before the appeals, and the election court simply directed to take such further proceedings as to law and justice might appertain. The necessity of this alteration was urged by the respondents on the ground that the trial proceedings in the court below had never been actually commenced in so far as the cross petition was concerned.

John Thompson appeared for the motions, Victor Sinclair contra.

After hearing Mr. Thompson, the court dismissed both motions with costs fixed at $25 in each case.

The appeals in the City of Hamilton vs. Hamilton Distillery Co. and Hamilton Brewing Association were then continued.

LAND COMMISSIONER TOLD HOW THE CANADIAN PACIFIC SOLD TO POPE AND FOWLER

Frederick T. Griffin, Canadian Pacific Land Commissioner, Told Insurance Commission That Syndicate Received no Favors From Railway Company, but Were Treated Quite the Same as Other Large Purchasers of Land.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Ottawa, November 7.—The C. P. R. side of the western land dealings of the Pope-Fowler syndicate and the Great West Land Company occupied the attention of the Insurance Commission yesterday afternoon. Mr. Frederick T. Griffin, C. P. R. land commissioner at Winnipeg, was the witness. He stated that in the dealings of his company with Messrs. Pope and Fowler, these gentlemen had been treated quite in the same way as any other large purchasers would have been. There was no reduction of price made to them, but they were given land at $3.50 per acre because of the circumstances under which they bought, and the situation of the land geographically.

The evidence of Mr. Griffin was exhaustive and extended, the session lasting until after five o'clock. There was some talk of holding an evening session, but it was abandoned. The Commission is not quite ready to hear the conclusion of Hon. Geo. W. Fowler's testimony.

It will have a morning session to-day and Mr. Fowler will not come on until late in the afternoon. An evening session is promised for to-day.

MR. GRIFFIN WAS THE WITNESS.

At the afternoon session, Mr. F. T. Griffin, C. P. R. lands commissioner, of Winnipeg, was sworn. Witness said he had been in this position since September, 1901. He had charge of the administration of the sale of lands and the general charge of the land department. Part of his duties was to fix the prices of lands sold, subject to the board of directors. The lands in question accrued to the C. P. R. through subsidies. There was the "main line subsidy" of 25 million acres, and various branch subsidies.

Mr. Griffin produced a sample map and showed the method used to measure and select the lands held by the company.

"Do you remember being approached by Messrs. Fowler and Pope, or one of them, regarding the purchase of certain subsidy lands?" asked Mr. Shepley.

"I do."

"How did the negotiations open?"

"It originated in a letter from Mr. Pope early in October, 1902."

The correspondence was produced and gone over by Mr. Shepley. The first letter was the one from Mr. R. H. Pope mentioned above. Mr. Pope had had an interview with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, and said he was forming a land company to take up land near the Vermilion in southern Saskatchewan, between 100,000 and 200,000 acres. He said that he and another member of the syndicate were coming out to look over the lands, and wished certain townships reserved.

Mr. Griffin defined the Vermilion river district. This was from Range 16 west of the 4th meridian to Range 3 west.

In his letter Mr. Pope had said that $3.50 an acre in this district was the price of land. This the witness said was true at the time. He said that there had been few big sales, the purchases being made for the most part by settlers.

There had been a great demand for land in small lots. On October 15 Mr. Griffin answered Mr. Pope saying that he had recently advanced the price of land in the district to $5 an acre.

PRICE WAS ADVANCED.

"Why did you do this?"

"The demand had increased. The Canadian Northern Railway had projected its line through the district; and I thought it time that we should advance the price."

The advance was due, said the witness, to the state of the demand, not to the special application made by Messrs. Pope and Fowler.

"I suppose the railway scheme was then in an inchoate stage?"

"It was generally known that there was to be a railway there, and generally known about where it would run. It was not the first survey. The route taking in Saskatoon and Edmonton had naturally to follow a certain course."

The witness explained the terms of his letter to Mr. Pope by saying that he had understood that Mr. Pope wanted him to set apart a considerable tract from which to select 200,000 acres, ostensibly for colonization purposes. This was in October, near the close of the land-selling season. He had not thought it advisable or in the interests of the company to do this. The colonization idea was not practicable as the district was distant from a railway, and would have to await the construction of the line.

"Was the $5 the average price to cover all the lands fit for settlement?"

"No. It was the price so advanced because the settlers go into the district and generally choose the best lands."

Mr. Griffin explained that if all lands were of the same quality there would be a reduction for a large purchase. As the quality was variable it was different unless the selecting purchaser left lands as good as the ones he took. He was not sure that it would have been in the interests of the company even if Mr. Pope had offered $5 an acre to allow him to pick 200,000 acres over the whole territory.

The next letter was from Mr. Pope to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, telling him that he, together with Hon. G. W. Fowler, M.P., and F. W. Bennett, M.P., had applied for the lands when the price was $3.50, and had been told that the price was $5. He asked for an interview on the matter. The interview was arranged.

SELECTED THEIR TOWNSHIPS.

After this interview, witness said, Messrs. Pope and Fowler came to Winnipeg and stayed some days. They inquired about the character of the different parts of the Saskatchewan Valley, and named certain townships out of which they wanted to take 200,000 acres. There was no arrangement as to price, and Mr. Griffin had had no official intimation from Sir Thomas Shaughnessy. Witness said he had placed all the information he had at their disposal, and they named the townships in three lots.

"Were you made aware then what the actual course of the Canadian Northern must be?"

"I knew generally where it must be. The physical conditions of the country tied it down to within a few miles."

"What was the arrangement as to price?"

"They named certain townships with the understanding that they would take the general run of the lands there."

"How did you secure yourself in the deal?"

"I made the selection of the lands we would keep."

The townships selected were pointed out on the map. Witness said the agreement was that the purchasers should take an average quality. He was going to Montreal shortly on other business, and the price was to be discussed there. Nothing was concluded at the time, except indicating to the syndicate the lands they wished to buy.

On November 25 Mr. Fowler wrote to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy asking for an interview after his return from the West. The interview was had on December 8, in the Board Room on the Windsor street building, Montreal, there being present Messrs. Pope and Fowler, Mr. White, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Mr. Dennis, C.P.R. commissioner at Calgary, and the witness. Mr. Griffin had had no communication with anyone before the meeting.

THE INTERVIEW AT MONTREAL.

"What took place at the meeting?"

Witness said the question of price was discussed. The president asked him what would be a fair price, all things considered. He said that $3.50 an acre was a fair price. He recommended this and the president accepted it.

"What consideration moved you, in view of all that had occurred, to state this price?" asked Mr. Shepley.

"In the first place, in the most easterly block selected, about 200,000 acres, the choicest land had already been selected by settlers. There were 60,000 acres south of Birch Lake that were not on the line of any contemplated railway. There were four townships on the proposed Canadian Northern line, but taking the whole lot into consideration, I thought that $3.50 was a good fair price for evenly selected lands, regarding the prices paid before for large blocks of land, and the average price of lands even along our main lines."

"Did you come to an understanding at that meeting on the lines you mention?"

"We came to an understanding as to price, as to the C. P. R. reserving 25 per cent of the selectable lands, and to their taking all the lands in the townships selected."

"There was nothing in writing?"

"It was purely verbal."

"Was that customary in the dealings of the C. P. R."

"It was understood that I should go back to Winnipeg and make a definite proposal of what we had talked about there in general terms."

There was next a letter from Mr. Pope to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy saying that in view of the fact that the C.P.R. was to reserve 25 per cent. of the lands selected, the syndicate should have the right to pay for their purchase in ten yearly payments, instead of six as was customary in the dealings of the C.P.R. This Mr. Griffin disapproved of, and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy apprised Mr. Pope of this disapproval.

INSISTED ON A DEPOSIT.

A letter from Mr. Griffin to Mr. Pope was read saying that the lands would reach 225,000 acres. For this the price would be $700,000, the first instalment of which would be $116,000. He asked for an immediate deposit of $20,000 on this, the balance of the first instalment to be paid before May 1. On February 18, Mr. Pope replied that it was not the bargain that he had to June 1.

Mr. Shepley—"What do you say to that?"

"I never heard of such a thing. It was contrary to the conduct of my department. When the price was arranged I expected the purchasers to follow the usual terms of payment."

Mr. Griffin was harsh in his response to this request, saying that the C.P.R. had made a liberal arrangement and that the verbal agreement was unusual. He insisted on his terms being acceded to, on penalty of getting rid of the lands to other purchasers. On March 2, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy wrote to Mr. Griffin commending his attitude in the matter, and remarking that the lands had been advertised for sale, while no payment had been made on them. Mr. Griffin, on March 17, notified Mr. Pope and Mr. Fowler, that he had cancelled the reserve on the lands, and now considered himself free to dispose of them as he found convenient.

On April 6, Mr. Fowler wrote Sir Thomas Shaughnessy to arrange an interview with Mr. Pope. On April 8, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy wired Mr. Griffin that he had seen Mr. Pope; that the latter was evidently laboring under an illusion; and that he would suggest that the syndicate be given until May 15 to complete his arrangement.

In the meantime Mr. Griffin notified Sir Thomas Shaughnessy that he had received an offer of $4 an acre from reliable persons for the lands. Sir Thomas replied on April 12 that unless he heard from Pope in a day or two the deal would be off. On April 16 Sir Thomas notified Mr. Griffin that Mr. Fowler would be in Winnipeg in a day or two to complete the deal. Then the matter was finally arranged.

A copy of the agreement between the C.P.R. and Pope and Fowler was produced. The sum of $20,000 was deposited, and the purchasers had an exclusive option until May 15, 1903, and until the 1st of June to select the lands. There were 217,000 (odd) acres left after the C.P.R had reserved its 25 per cent., and out of that the syndicate had the right to select 200,000 acres.

The various contracts which were made when part of the lands were surrendered and sold were read. The entire land in hand was 214,427.88 acres. This discussion occupied an hour. Finally Mr. Shepley asked:

"Did Messrs. Pope and Fowler receive any special consideration for any reason or did they get the same terms as others would have?"

"They had exactly the same treatment as would have been meted out in the case of any other purchasers."

"Did you receive from anyone in authority in the C.P.R. authority to reduce the price of lands to these gentlemen?"

"There was not even a suggestion of such a thing."

At the close of the examination of Mr. Griffin, on the suggestion of Mr. Shepley, the commission adjourned, as far as public sessions are concerned, until 4.15 this afternoon. Hon. Geo. W. Fowler will then be the witness and there will be an evening session.

Remains of Two Men Found in Lonely Spot.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Haileybury, Ont., November 6. — Two men have been found dead in a shack, and had apparently been dead for four or five days. Their names were: Thomas G. Porter, formerly editor of the Tribune, published for several years at Mattawa, and the other was George Whitestone mason. The coroner made an examination, but no inquest has been held, as it is supposed there had been heavy drinking, and they died from cold and exposure. Mr. Porter was a well educated man, and at one time a Church of England clergyman, and was very well known. Chief of Police Paul took charge of the remains.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., November 7. — The steamer Turret Bell, stranded at Cable Head, was surveyed yesterday and condemned as a total loss by Pope, Welsh and Lloyds, surveyors, Captain Brown, D.G.S. Stanley, and Capt. Taylor, D.G.S. Gutnare. There was five feet water in her hold, and she is evidently badly strained. She is insured for seventy thousand, principally in Lloyds, and the owners have abandoned her to the underwriters. The crew all left her yesterday, and a Lloyds' agent has placed a man in charge.

Mayor Suspends Chief of Police.

Memphis, Tenn., November 7.—Mayor Malone has suspended Chief of Police George T. O'Haver for insubordination. Under the city charter the Mayor has the right to assign the police to various duties if, in his judgment, trouble is feared. There has been much bitterness between local factions in the campaign for the legislative ticket, and Mayor Malone made re-assignments for the police force. Vice-Mayor John T. Walsh and Chief of Police O'Haver instructed the men to remain where they had been first assigned. The Mayor then suspended the chief.

Mayor Malone later drove to every polling booth in the city, and questioned each patrolman. It is understood that he has suspended about 50 men who declared they would obey the orders of the deposed chief.

Entire Crew May Have Perished.

St. John, N.B., November 7. — Word from the scene of the wreck of the Norwegian barque Adeona, off Richibucto Bar last night, expresses fear that all the crew of the ill-fated vessel have perished. Information is hard to obtain. Efforts were made to get to the wreck, but proved futile. The barque was still holding together, but there was no sign of life aboard, and this is the basis for the fear that the crew of twelve or fourteen men have all been lost.

DRUGGIST SENT WRONG MEDICINE

Mistake in Prescription Delivery Caused Child's Death Declares Coroner's Jury.

"That we, the undersigned jury, after having heard the evidence, declare that Lillian Wener died at the Royal Victoria Hospital on October 9, 1906, having been poisoned by morphine, given contrary to the medical prescription through an error of a drug clerk, Emele Bourbonais, who, under the circumstances, is to be excused."

The above verdict was returned to-day in the case of Lillian Wener, the 9-months-old child who was given morphine by mistake for calomel, and died as a result.

Two of the jurymen, who thought that Bourbonais should be sent before the criminal courts, refused to sign the verdict, but as there were twelve in favor of excusing the drug clerk a verdict of excusable homicide was recorded.

The family of the deceased was represented by Mr. A. H. Vineberg, advocate, whilst Mr. L. T. Marechal appeared on behalf of Mr. Rosano Martineau, the druggist.

The evidence of Messrs. Martineau and Bourbonais showed that by an error a box of morphine intended for Mrs. Proulx, a patient of Dr. Labelle, was given to the Weners instead of a box of calomel, which had been prescribed by Dr. Booth.

WANTS OFFICER'S BUTTONS.

Catherine Farrell Breaths Vengeance Against Constable in Recorder's Court.

Much screaming and tearing of hair was witnessed in the Recorder's Court this morning.

"I'll take action against you, and you'll lose your buttons," was one of the numerous bits of choice language, used by Catherine Farrell to Constable Corbett, when that worthy gave the prisoner's friend a bad character.

Catherine had been arrested for drunkenness, and her friend, Maggie Mullin, appeared to make out Catherine as an angel of the first water. Constable Corbett was, however, in court, and he appeared to know Maggie. He gave her a bad character, whereupon Catherine put in a violent demurrer and a stroke of apoplexy was imminent until Mr. Recorder Weir deferred judgment, until her excitement had somewhat cooled.

STRANDED SOVEREIGN IS ONCE MORE IN TROUBLED WATERS.

Once more the stranded Sovereign is in the troubled waters of litigation. After the troubles over the sale to Mr. Legare and the attempt to sell the boat by auction, Messrs. Dale & Co., after obtaining the annulment of the sale to Mr. J. B. D. Legare, sold the hull to Sissenwain & Company. They, in turn, announced an auction sale, but this was stopped by Mr. Arthur Brooks, who bought in the hull at a bailiff's sale in execution of a judgment against Mr. J. B. D. Legare, who first bought the boat. Now Sissenwain & Company, through Mr. H. A. Hutchins, K.C., have entered suit to call Messrs. Dale & Company in warranty to protect Sissenwain & Company against the proceedings in the conservatory seizure issued by Mr. A. Chase Casgrain acting for Mr. Brooks.

TUNNEL TO DETROIT.

Grand Trunk and Canadian Northern Agree to Share Expense.

The enterprise of constructing a tunnel between Windsor, Ontario, and Detroit, under the Detroit River, is likely to become an accomplished fact, as work is to commence very soon, the Michigan Central having taken the initiative in the enterprise. The tunnel will be seven miles long, will cost approximately $7,500,000, and is expected to take about seven years to complete. The Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern have agreed to share part of the expense with the Michigan Central.

CANDIDATES IN ST. ANN'S.

All Four Claimants for Nomination are Working Hard for Honor.

St. Ann's Liberal convention tomorrow evening continues to be the subject of much comment and speculation. The leading fight in the convention will, of course, be between Dr. J. Guerin and ex-Ald. M. J. Walsh. The feeling is gaining ground, however, that neither of these two can rally the support of the whole party, and a compromise is possible.

The friends of Mr. James McMahon, insurance broker, are keeping up their campaign with unabated vigor. They are keeping aloof from the faction fight, and are supporting their man strongly on the ground that he is a native of the division, where he has been at the head of one of the largest young men's societies in the division for years.

On the other hand Mr. J. C. Walsh, advocate, is still in the field. His friends are working with might and main, and express the conviction that he will be the compromise candidate.

QUESTION OF JURISDICTION.

Has the Ottawa Insurance Company Right to Pay Claim.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, Ont., November 7.—Judge Killam, chairman of the railway board, accompanied by Dr. J. Mills, will go to Montreal this afternoon, where they will hear representatives of the railways, and Mr. Marlowe of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in respect to the question of rates from Western Ontario to Eastern Canadian ports. The complaint having been made, that the railways discriminated unfairly against eastern Canadian points, the board directed the railways to re-arrange their rates to Eastern Canada, and for export, so as to prevent discrimination in favor of points in Michigan and elsewhere in the United States. The matter will be thoroughly gone into at the Montreal sitting, with the object of ascertaining if the railways are doing as they have been directed.

Hearst Defeated in New York State by Sixty-four Thousand Plurality

Largest Vote Ever Polled by a Democratic Candidate For Governor of New York State was Polled by Hearst---The House of Representatives Remains Republican with Democratic Gains--Moran Defeated in Massachusetts---Editorial Opinion on the Result.

Special to the Montreal Star.

New York, November 7.—By a plurality of between 60,000 and 70,000, many election districts yet to be heard from, Hughes is elected governor of the state of New York over Hearst. The election of the remainder of the Republican ticket is in doubt. There is every reason to believe that the election for lieutenant-governor and other offices is so close that it will not be determined until late in the day.

Early this morning Hearst conceded the election. Hughes and those about him were inclined to believe that the "tail had gone with the hide."

At that time the Chanler vote had not been tabulated, and while it was seen that he was running ahead of Hearst it was not thought he would run sufficiently strong to be elected. Later it became apparent that Chanler had run 20,000 ahead of Hearst in Manhattan and the Bronx, and the vote from Brooklyn indicated that he had run 20,000 ahead in Kings county. He had also run ahead in other boroughs, and the balance of the ticket seemed to be running with him. With anything like the scratching of Hearst up-state that was indulged in Greater New York the entire Democratic state ticket is elected.

In greater city, Hearst carried five boroughs, Manhattan and Bronx gave him a plurality of 62,629. Kings 5,902, Queen's 8,166, and Richmond 792. This gave to him a total to the Bronx of 77,408, with a few election districts missing. Hearst's plurality in the city was offset by a tremendous Republican vote up-state. The manufacturing centres stuck to the candidate of the Democratic party and the Independence league but in the rockribbed counties the old-time Republican majorities were rolled up. Hearst carried only two counties up-state, Schoharie and Cheumg.

He reduced pluralities in many counties such as Monro and Schenectady, although the city of Schenectady was a disappointment to the Hearst managers who had expected to carry it by several thousands.

In New York County Murphy carried through all his Tammany judges, except one, Justice McAvoy, for the Court of General Sessions. Judge Rosalsky, taken from the Republican ticket by the Independence League, was elected.

Tammany elected all the assemblymen it was possible to elect under the new apportionment, and all its Senators. Up State Republicans are reported to have elected an unusual number of senators and assemblymen. The control of the next legislature is in the hands of the Republicans, who probably will select a successor to Senator Platt, who has been quoted as saying he would resign if Hughes was elected and he was assured his successor would be a Republican.

In Kings County, Senator McCarren, who was unable to prevent Hearst from carrying the county, claimed that his judiciary nominees should have been elected.

Returns, however, show that they were snowed under. McCarren landed Congressmen Fitzgerald and Lindsey, who are in Democratic districts.

The vote for Congress shows that the Independence League ticket in King's County polled nearly as great a vote as was polled by the regular Democratic ticket.

HEARST'S STATEMENT.

Hearst to-day issued the following statement:

"In view of the result I have only to repeat what I have said in my speeches. I am enlisted in this fight against the control of the Government by the trusts and corrupt corporations, and I will fight it to the end.

"But I will serve in the lead or in the ranks, just exactly as the people desire, and as earnestly and loyally in one place as the other.

"The people have decided to retain the Republican party in power. I will make my fight in the ranks, therefore, and as a private citizen do my best to promote the interests of my fellow citizens."

WHAT HUGHES SAYS.

"I am gratified at my election, but, irrespective of the plurality, my feeling is not of elation, but of responsibility. That is the only statement I care to make."

This was all the Governor-elect of New York could be induced to say of his victory. He declined to further outline his policy of administration. He will leave to-night for some days' rest in the Adirondack Lodge of Timothy Woodruff.

"Tom" Rock, known as "Eight Hour Rock," who made a picturesque fight against Hearst, and Thomas F. Grady, and Tammany, in the fourteenth state district, was defeated by Grady by a large majority.

Roger Sullivan, the Illinois National Democratic committeeman, is said to be one of the largest winners on the New York election. His agents are reported to have placed $100,000 for him on different propositions, all of which won out.

P. H. McCarren is said to have won $75,000 on the result and on pluralities.

William A. Brady is said to be the man who laid the big wager with John W. Gates, taking the Hearst end, after which he went and hedged by betting $2,000 that Hughes would not have one hundred thousand plurality. Gates put up $30,000 on Hughes, Allen McGraw and Company, taking the Hearst end at $10,000.

In addition to New York State, there were elections yesterday in forty-two states and two territories. In twenty-three states governors were elected, and in all but three of these, the Legislature was also chosen. Representatives in Congress were elected in all these states but Maine, Vermont and Oregon, which had already chosen solid Republican delegations. Returns indicate that the Republican party have made a clean sweep in every state but Democratic by about 600, and Minnesota Republicans have elected a majority of House of Representatives. Apparently it will be about 86, which is much better than the Republican Congression Committee expected. Samuel Gompers' fight against certain candidates does not seem to have had any effect.

The general victory over Republican congressmen, however, has one notable exception. In the thirty-fourth New York district, Representative Wadsworth, the champion of the Packers in the meat bill fight in Congress, is defeated by Peter A. Porter.

Returns from Pennsylvania indicate that the Fusionists have been utterly routed. The plurality of Edwin S. Stuart, the Republican candidate for governor, is likely to be at least 50,000 in the city of Philadelphia alone. Samuel Rotin, the Republican nominee for district attorney of the city, defeated, Gibboney by upward of 20,000.

In Massachussetts, Governor Guild (Republican) is re-elected by a plurality of 34,000 over John H. Moran, district attorney of Suffolk County, who ran for governor on the prohibition, Democratic, and Independence League tickets.

This campaign has been the most historical and vituperative the State has ever known. New Jersey was carried by the Republicans, but the extent of the victory is still in doubt. Late reports told of eleven Democratic assemblymen elected in Essex county. As this is United States' Senator John F. Dryden's home county, the result may prevent his re-election, although a Republican is sure to be chosen as his successor.

James H. Higgins, the "boy Mayor of Pawtucket," was elected Governor of Rhode Island by a plurality of about 6,000. He is a Democrat, and made his campaign on a platform opposing the Republican machine that has been in control of Rhode Island for many years. The Assembly is probably Republican, and a Republican will be elected to United States Senate to succeed Senator Wetmore.

In Minnesota, the election was a great personal triumph for Governor Johnson (Democrat), who was re-elected, while the rest of the Republican ticket was elected.

In California, Langdon, whom Hearst put at the head of the Independence League ticket, polled a light vote outside of San Francisco, where he was well supported.

Bulletins from all parts of the state pointed to the election of James N. Gillette, Republican, by 3,000. Joseph W. Babcock, of Wisconsin, former chairman of Republican Congressional committee, has probably been defeated for re-election to Congress, by Joseph W. Murphy, Democrat.

Ohio is again Republican. Senator Dick claims a plurality of 50,000, and says this may be increased. Congressman Burton's Independent Republicanism was thoroughly defeated. The Republicans have almost as sweeping a victory in Connecticut as they had two years ago.

Tennessee elects Paterson, Democrat, as governor, by about 20,000 majority.

Delaware is Republican by about 2,500.

Illinois is Republican by about 125,000.

Cook County, in which is Chicago, gave a Republican majority of about 40,000. Speaker Cannon was re-elected to Congress.

THE "HERALD" ANALYSES THE RESULT.

New York, November 7.—The Herald (Independent) says:—

"The voters of New York have entered their verdict at the polls. Hearst is defeated. Faith in the moral sense and the sagacity of the people to decide and decide aright, when emergency arises—that with which lies at the foundation of popular government—will everywhere be renewed and strengthened by yesterday's election. That Hearst was defeated by an emphatic plurality appears more satisfactory in view of the peculiar nature of the campaign. With unprecedented machinery for publicity, an organization specially devised to advance his political ambitions, and with the lavish use of money, the boasted "creator of organized hatred" was able to spread far and wide his inflammatory appeals to passion and prejudice and his bribes to the discontented and the poor in the form of alluring promises.

"Despite all this, Hearst's vote in this great city fell fifty thousand short of that cast for the Democratic candidate for governor a few years ago. Dissatisfaction with recent Republican legislation—such as that taxing mortgages and processes of business—has been very general, and a disposition toward a change in the complexion of the state administration was intensified by revelations of abuses in corporate management and the belief that the supervising state departments had been derelict. Any decent Democrat standing upon Democratic principles would have been elected by an overwhelming plurality.

"But people could not stand for Hearst or Hearstism."

THE "WORLD" READS NEW YORK A LESSON.

The World (Democrat) says:—

"Let nobody mistake the meaning of the narrow victory that Hughes has won over Hearst.

"Hughes' election by approximately 50,000 plurality is morally a Republican defeat, a defeat of the corrupt Republican machine, and its alliances with corrupt corporations. The Hearst vote is a striking illustration of the popular temper in regard to abuses of corporations and the demand for effective regulations. On a basis of character and the records of the two candidates it would have seemed incredible that a man of conscience and conviction and great ability like Hughes could have come so near to defeat at the hands of Hearst, and more especially at the hands of the Hearst whose nomination was stolen brazenly for him by a boss whom he had previously denounced.

"Yet the returns tell a story. In all industrial centres enthusiasm for Hearst all but carried him through to victory. Only by the votes of tens of thousands of Democrats who refused as a matter of personal and party honor to support the candidate of 'rottenness and riot,' was the Republican state ticket saved from complete annihilation.

"The people of New York are tired of corporation piracy. They are tired of being robbed by public service corporations that are creatures of the state, and of seeing this robbery connived at by men who are supposed to be servants of the people. By an unexpectedly small plurality they have selected Hughes to do work that Hearst was morning to do, but there can be no question as to their demand that the work shall be done."

THE "SUN" MERELY EULOGIZES HUGHES.

The Sun (Independent) says:

"Hughes emerges from the campaign a very different figure from the Hughes that entered it. When his candidacy was declared he was relatively unknown. During the six weeks or so that have ensued the stature of Hughes has increased by a cubit a day until this morning he comes out of the smoke and wrack of battle the most imposing, impressive and significant figure in all the 'Empire State.'

"People expect great things of Hughes. He was born into public life in a momentous conjunction of affairs. He takes his trust from the hands of the whole people. He is master of his destiny and of the destiny of state. It is a noble and inspiring prospect. May he seize it in a master grasp."

"TIMES" THINKS RESULT IS A WARNING.

The Times (Independent Dem.) says:

"Satisfaction there may be, and heartfelt thankfulness that we have escaped at all, but in the margin of our deliverance there is no cause for enthusiastic rejoicing, rather for a season of humiliation and searching of minds and hearts, that the people of this great commonwealth may discover how it came about that this strange and reckless desire for overthrow and dangerous adventure has possessed so many of them.

"Time was when a party plurality of 60,000 in New York was held to be a great victory, but a plurality of 66,500 against Hearst is not enough. When we consider the nature of the issue—his candidacy presented to a million and a half of voters—it is a mere trifle, hardly to be looked upon as clearly decisive of the people's thought and will. Among those who rejected him there was expressed the conviction that the safety of the state demanded his defeat by an overwhelming majority, say 200,000 or 300,000. Yet he has come within 66,500 votes of being elected. It is perfectly evident that several hundred thousand voters are under the Hearst spell.

"By his all-pervading newspapers and by his speeches and his organizers he has filled their minds with delusion, the Hearst delusion. The rest of his support is made up of voters who know him thoroughly, who know he is reckless and dangerous, and like him all the better for that. They are willing to use Hearst, as so many of his supporters in the mayoralty contest were willing to use him, as an instrument of destruction.

"It is to Hughes that the people of the state will now anxiously turn, for upon him, we think, more than upon any other factor in this portentous struggle with passion and prejudice, we must depend for our future safety."

THE "TRIBUNE" SEES A WHOLESOME LESSON.

The Tribune (Republican) says:—

"Sober sense predominates in New York, but the state cannot lay any flattering unction to itself upon its overwhelming predominance of wisdom and sobriety. We had not concealed our hope for such a defeat for Hearst as Bryan experienced. While the verdict falls short of being as crushing as we feel he deserved and as we thought, the indignant public would make it, the handsome plurality by which Hughes wins can offer no just encouragement to the ambitions of his adversary.

"Under ordinary conditions in state elections midway between presidential years, Hughes' plurality would be regarded as an extremely gratifying one. New York is a close and doubtful state. We roll up here large majorities for the Republican candidate for President, and then two years later, as a rule, barely elect a Republican governor. So popular a candidate as Roosevelt carried the state by only 17,786, and again, four years ago, Odell was re-elected by the poor plurality of 8,803.

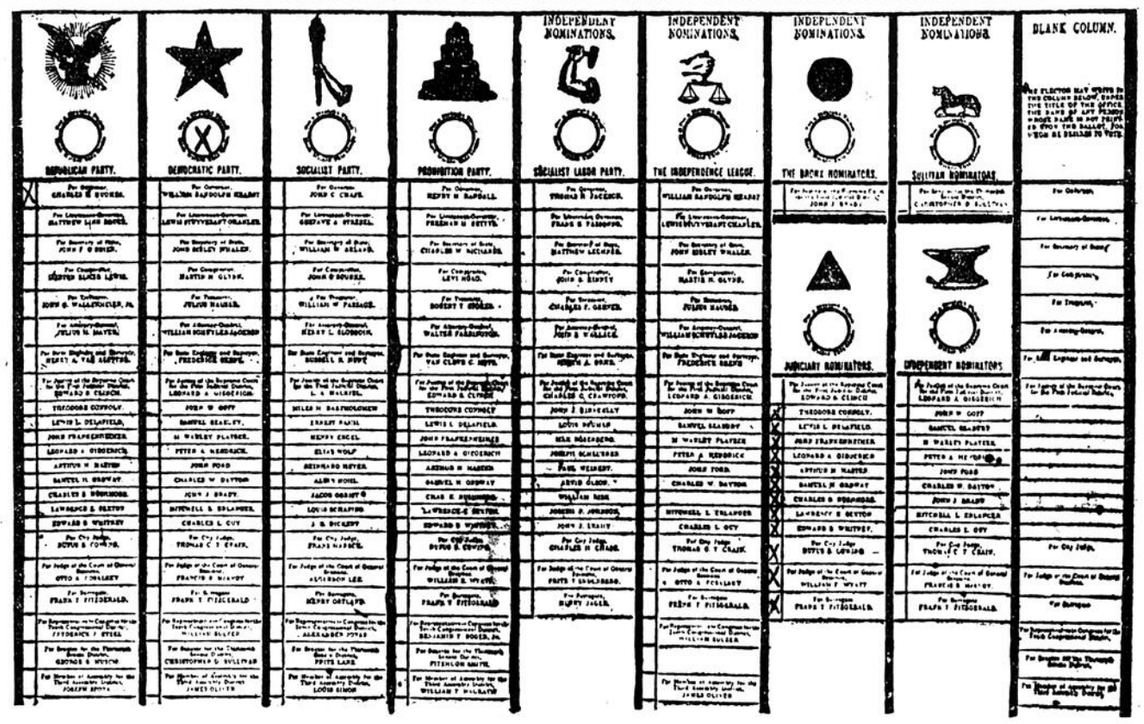
"The defeat of Hearst by a margin far in excess of these is a stern rebuke to his demagogy. He will probably not cease from troubling Democracy, state and national, as an overwhelming adverse majority would have compelled him to do, but the country having taken his measure once, may review his future operations with less anxiety.

"Elected, he would have been a national incubus: defeated as badly as he is, he will be at most an early party incubus. Moreover, Hearst is probably stronger now than he ever will be again. He has steadily weakened since the campaign opened, and should go on weakening under the double burden of exposure and defeat."

"PRESS" WARNS SOME "IDIOTS."

The Press (Republican), says:

"The meaning of the election in New York yesterday is that the American people are radical. Any one who could not have discovered this fact on the day before election as well as this morning was simply blind to the most obvious political signs that ever ushered in an election. There were Republican managers so utterly ignorant of public opinion that they would have dared, had they been permitted, to nominate for Governor some stalking horse of special interests who would have been beaten as badly as the simple idiots of this campaign thought Hearst would be defeated, when, as a matter of fact, he has polled the biggest vote ever polled by a Democratic candidate for Governor of New York. Hughes has won by so narrow a margin, with Republican wreckage strewing all the State, that we guess those who have been wont to defy public sentiment will at last realize that this is a final warning. Hughes must make good."



THE NEW YORK STATE BALLOT—This ballot has been split—the cross in the circle at the head of the second column indicates that the elector votes the Democratic ticket with one exception—he votes for Hughes as Governor, indicated by the cross opposite Hughes' name.

HEARST CLAIMS A GREAT VICTORY

The Evening Journal (Hearst Democratic), says:

"The actual counted ballots prove, regardless of theft, of fraud and of bribery, that among those who live in this city, where Hearst has worked for years, a very great majority have honored him with their confidence and their votes. Time and careful investigation will show what part has been played in this election by the mere spending of money for votes, and what part has been played by actual crime. These questions are important to the people, far more important than to Hearst.

"This newspaper congratulates and thanks its readers for the victory in Greater New York, as humiliating to the time-saving, money-loving newspapers as anything could be to such concerns as they are.

"The Sun, the World, the Herald, the Post, the Times, the Staats Zeitung, the Mail and the Express, the Evening Sun, the Brooklyn Eagle, the whole rabble, fought their best, and here in Greater New York, where these newspapers have been published for years, and where they are known, Hearst carried every one of five boroughs. That is a pretty good victory for realers of one single newspaper. That is sufficient proof of the power of sincerity and intelligence among readers. We congratulate you upon the fact that alone, you readers have had power to offset the influence of all other newspapers in Greater New York put together.

"We need not tell you that this newspaper is going right ahead fighting. We shall fight, of course, as far as our laws and our courts and our corrupt officials will let us, to unearth the thievery and fraud that have marked this election. But, win or lose, real fights against trusts will continue.

"By and by they will be putting up the price of coal and the poor will suffer. You will find Hearst opposing that in the old way, with his own money, in the courts, doing his best. What, if anything, you will find Hughes doing under these circumstances, we do not know. We shall ask you when the time comes.

"This newspaper will continue to attack the ice terust and the milk trust, exposing their methods, that mean the murder of children.

"And Hearst in the courts, with his own money, will fight these evils for you as well as he can and try to deserve the splendid courage and friendship with which you have just fought for him in this campaign. There won't be any let up. The trusts are not going to have it all their own way. There will always be a newspaper to tell the truth about them while Hearst own a newspaper. There will always be a good lawyer in court to fight them as long as Hearst has a dollar to hire a lawyer.

"This has been a great fight and a great victory. To go against the power of trust money in this country is like trying to swim up Niagara Falls. We have made a good attempt at it. We shall go to the top yet. And we start in swimming again to-day."

VIEWS OF THE BOSTON PRESS.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Boston, Mass., November 7.—The Boston Journal (Republican) says: The plurality of 53,000 by which Hughes is elected Governor of New York, while not "as wide as a church door nor as deep as a well" will serve. It at least keeps out of the gubernatorial chair a man whose fitness for the position is open to serious question and it rebukes, even if not so severely as many wished, the kind of campaign that is not good for a state or for a nation. Mr. Hearst may still further the presidential bee in his own particular hive, but the development of the insect is very effectively retarded by the verdict of the people. It would have been an easy step from the capitol at Albany to a strong position in the next Democratic national convention. It is quite a different stride from one or a dozen newspapers. We imagine that Mr. Bryan will view the result with a chastened spirit and an unruffled equanimity.

Charles E. Hughes will make an admirable governor of a great state. His record and his personal qualities are evidence enought of that. He will be no man's man, and he will respect the rights of the people. The poor fiction that he is a "corporation servant" will vanish in the honesty and independence of his administration. New York has chosen well, and the rest of the country applauds her decision.

NOT A VICTORY TO BOAST OF.

The Boston Herald (Independent Republican) says:—The election of Mr. Hughes by less than half the plurality given to Governor Higgins two years ago, is certainly not a victory for the Republicans of New York to boast of. But they are so glad to have escaped the infliction of Mr. Hearst as Governor that they are thankful for any safe margin.

It is to be remembered that the state ticket in 1904 had the benefit of a full presidential vote and was helped greatly by the "Roosevelt tidal wave." Furthermore, by way of consolation, the fact may be recalled that Mr. Roosevelt obtained a purality of only 17,000 when he was elected governor in 1898, and that Odell had less than 9,000 in 1902. When Mr. Hughes' majority is compared with Mr. Hearst's claims of 250,000 on the day before the election it is a sufficient answer to the campaign of brag, bluff and bluster which the defeated candidate has conducted.

ROOSEVELT HELPED TO DEFEAT HEARST.

The Boston Globe (Democratic) says: The situation in New York and Massachusetts was considered somewhat analogous by the politicans, and in some respects it was. But in New York State, after perhaps the bitterest campaign on record, the outcome was so problematical for the Republicans that President Roosevelt came to the rescue of his party and allowed his secretary of state to inform the voters what he thought of the candidacy of Mr. Hearst, and his opinion was of so condemnatory a character that it must have had much to do with the defeat of Mr. Hearst.

Furthermore, Mr. Hearst received a severe political blow from Mr. Richard Croker, the former chieftain of Tammany, who, for reasons best known to himself, assailed severely the action of the Buffalo Democratic Convention which nominated Mr. Hearst and also denounced Mr. Charles F. Murphy, the present head of the Tammany organization for supporting the Independence League candidate.

Before these attacks by President Roosevelt and Mr. Croker, the keenest judges of political tactics among Republicans were fearful that Mr. Hearst would be elected governor, but afterwards they gained confidence. It was certainly one of the most remarkable campaigns in the history of the Empire State.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, DEFEATED CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK STATE, IN THE DEMOCRATIC INTEREST.

THERE WERE MANY "STAY AT HOMES."

The Boston Advertiser (Republican), says:

"The victory of Hughes in New York is more decisive than was that of the Theodore Roosevelt in 1898. It is worth while to remember this, in view of the fact that Hughes' plurality shows a decided decrease from the Republican plurality of two years ago. A study of the figures, also shows that the vote was decidedly less than it was in 1904 and the stay-at-homes, unfortunately, appear to have been mainly Republicans. Outside of a Presidential year, it seems impossible to get out the full vote of New York. But even if it had been possible, the influence of one Odell seems to have been felt up the State.

"Only the defection of the Platt-Odell Republicans, in spite of the influence of President Roosevelt in Hughes' favor, saved Hearst from a defeat by something like 100,000. And this very fact will give new reason for getting the Odell men generally out of control of the Republican organization next year.

"The verdict, however, is clear and emphatic enough, at least, to show that New York is not a Hearst State and is not likely to become so. And it seems likely to discourage much further talk of Mr. Hearst in connection with the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1908. If Mr. Hearst could poll even his normal party vote in his own State, the Democratic party outside of New York may well be pardoned, hereafter, if it looks coldly on his ambitions."

BEARING UPON NATIONAL POLITICS.

The Boston Post (Democratic) says:

"In the face of the reluctance of the Democratic State Committee of New York to concede the fact, the election of Charles E. Hughes as Governor seems to be clearly assured. Estimates of his plurality over William Randolph Hearst on the popular vote vary greatly at the present writing, ranging from 25,000 to 40,000. This result, following a canvass of the State unexampled in its vigor and thoroughness, and a campaign remarkable for the violence of its personalities, conducted with ample resources of the 'sinews of war' on both sides, carries unusual significance. It has, moreover, been marked by a shifting and to some extent a readjustment of party relations, including the question of party leadership.

"The bearing of this election upon national politics is direct and apparent. If, as now appears, Mr. Hearst is beaten in his own State by a substantial majority for the Republican candidate, this fact will go far to eliminate him from serious consideration nationally. More especially will this be the case, as it is figured at this hour, the aggregate vote is more favorable, to the balance of the Democratic ticket than to its head. Such a condition would seem to determine the question of popular leadership.

"In short, if Mr. Hearst is defeated in New York by from 25,000 to 40,000, it brings William Jennings Bryan squarely to the front as leader of the national party in 1908. This situation is emphasized by the extraordinary interest and the strenuous activity of President Roosevelt in behalf of his party in the New York campaign. It takes on the distinct character of a national affair.

WHAT CANADIANS HAVE TO SAY.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, Ont., November 7. — The Globe says editorially to-day that not since Cleveland's election over Blaine have Canadians taken so keen an interest in a contest between two men for a public office in the United States as they have in the struggle between Hughes and Hearst for the Governorship of the State of New York, their interest being due chiefly to the relation of this local contest to the next Presidential election.

The bearing of the contest on the coming Presidential election, the paper adds, is merely speculative and conjectural, but it is natural to infer that Mr. Hearst's excellent run will cause a widespread belief that the President's popularity is on the wane and will to some extent weaken the public opinion of the chances of the Republican party in the next Pesidential contest.

Meanwhile New York may be congratulated on having elected an excellent Governor.

The Mail and Empire says: A decisive defeat for Hearst is what the solid and substantial men of the United States wanted. What was accomplished yesterday was not the disavowal with which Hearst should have been visited, but a gentle rebuff, which it is to be feared will not have the necessary cooling effect upon his ambitions. The majority by which Hughes wins is relatively small. It indicates that Hearstism, or the sentiment to which Hearst appeals, is a potent force when aided by the machinery of the Democracy.

Comment on Mr. Payne's Remarks.

Canadian Associated Press.

London, November 7.—The Liverpool Daily Post, commenting on the speech of Mr. Payne at the meeting of the British Columbia Electric Railway Co., says that if Canadians themselves could devise some means by which reputable undertakings could be distinguished from disreputable ones they would confer an immense benefit upon British investors, and facilitate the introduction of capital essential to the development of their country. It adds that in this connection Canadian banks could probably do a great deal.

WAGNER'S GREAT OPERAS.

Tannhaeuser — Lohengrin, as Performed at Bayreuth.

Imagine you're in Germany, at Bayreuth, sitting in Wagner's beautiful theatre, with the wooded hills around—in that delightful German musical atmosphere, dreamy, quiet, artistic—then listen—listen. There wafted up the glen is the voice of the returning Tannhaeuser—you can almost see the darkened stage and the leafy night scene—and the heart-broken Elizabeth. A pause—and now the silvery soprano of Mme. Gadski rings out in "Dioh theure Halle." The mysticism of Wagner throws you into a dream state—and you listen to the resounding basso of Blass as Gurnemanz in Parsifal, to the sweet, strong tenor of Van Hoose in Lohengrin—to Journet, Plancon, Scotti, Caruso—to Sembrich, Eames, Calve. From Bayreuth you travel swiftly to the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. Then you wake up with a start. For the Victor-Berliner Gram-o-phone has stopped.

But what a treat! All you have to do is to shut your eyes and listen to the Victor records as they swing out in the glorious music of the world's greatest composers.

What a privilege for the student of voice culture—of the violin, the 'cello—to hear the great artists of the world right there in his or her own room, to be able to stop these great performers at any point and make them go over and over a difficult passage. What a boon to teachers to be able to show their pupils just how the great ones of the earth do the very thing they are trying to teach.

The wonderful purity and accuracy of reproduction which marks the Victor-Berliner Gram-o-phone is never marred by sudden jerks or grating sounds. It is as smooth and sympathetic as the human voice, and will reproduce the despairing aria, or the joyful, lilting song of the street, or the bright, snappy plantation ditty, all with the same trueness to the natural tone.

It seems extraordinary that, at a cost, ranging from $12.50 to $110, you can get such entertainment—and have it always ready for yourself or your friends in the marvellous Victor-Berliner Gram-o-phone. Drop in at the show-rooms of The Berliner Gram-o-phone Company, at 417 West St. Catherine street, Montreal—and just—listen. Or send for illustrated booklet.

HARBOR SHED QUESTION STILL AN IMPORTANT FACTOR IN MONTREAL--DELAYS ARE COSTING MANY THOUSANDS

Montreal's harbor sheds are unfinished, and the contract for the building of some has expired. This is a phase in the harbor improvement problem with which the commissioners will have to grapple in the course of a few weeks.

During the past few years there has been no part of the development going on in and around Montreal that has caused so much general discussion, pen and ink battles and scientific discussions as the harbor improvement, present and future.

About two years ago it seemed likely that there would come a time when all the visions of the optimist might be fulfilled, and when shipping men and merchants could point to Montreal as one of the finest and most complete harbors on the continent. The two years is now past, and, strange to say, matters in connection with the sheds are to-day in a more complicated state than ever, and while a contract was signed on July 20, 1904, between Messrs. Peter Lyall & Sons and the Harbor Commissioners for the erection of fourteen sheds along the harbor front, twenty-seven months have now passed and not only are the fourteen sheds not constructed but the one-half of them are not completed. In fact, there is only one shed which might be called finished, and yet even this one is now undergoing changes.

WHAT CONTRACT CALLED FOR.

The contract made in 1904 called for the erection of fourteen steel sheds within two years at a cost of $2,305,000. Up to the 1st of November the commissioners have paid out to Messrs. Lyall & Sons nearly $1,000,000 for the work done, and for the material secured by the contracting firm. Shed No. 2, known as the Allan Line shed, was thought to be finished some time ago, but a strenuous protest was made by Mr. Andrew Allan regarding the flooring of this structure, and the commissioners decided to change the flooring from scoria blocks to concrete, and this, of course, will apply to the first seven sheds, so that the large number of scoria blocks bought and paid for to pave the sheds will not be used for that purpose, but for general wharf necessities. The commissioners blame the shipping interests for delaying the work, and state that the delay has been caused by the alterations to the plans as originally adopted. After the contract had been signed and construction work started, the shipping men desired that the sheds should be only one storey instead of two. After a good deal of wrangling this question was settled by the commissioners allowing several alterations being made, but the two storey clause in the contract remained, and the sheds will all be two storeys.

Among the alterations asked for by the shipping men, and granted by the commissioners, was the taking away of the middle row of posts in the sheds for the purpose of allowing a larger space in the centre for the transportation of goods in and out of the sheds. These centre posts were removed, and in consequence the posts on the immediate right and left of the centre posts required strengthening. Not only did these alterations require considerable time, but the expenditure in this line alone reached the magnificent sum of nearly $150,000. The concrete floor has not yet been put down in No. 2 shed, for the use of the Allan Line, and it may be said that this shed is not yet complete, yet it is nearer completion than any of the others.

THE WRANGLE CONTINUES.

After the trouble over the centre post business was put out of the way, there followed more wrangling over the doors and hangers in the sheds. The shipping people took exception to the doors that were being hung, and another long delay ensued, but after the loss of so much time, and a multiplicity of correspondence between the Commissioners, the Government and Harbor engineers, and the Minister of Marine and Fisheries nothing came of it, and the doors and hangers on the sheds are as called for in the original contract. There are three sheds approaching some state of completion, Nos. 2, 7 and 9, and the other four of this first seven are in a very crude state, yet the contract for the building of the sheds expired on the 20th of July last, and the difficulty now presented is that the contractors, delayed, as they claim, through no fault of their own, will demand a higher figure for the completion of the remainder of the contract. This they are compelled to do by the increase in wages and the increase in the prices of materials. At the same time they claim that they have lost money on the contract so far.

This is the problem which to-day confronts the Harbor Commissioners. It is possible the Lyall Company will finish the first seven sheds at the contract prices, but they will refuse to start the construction of the last seven sheds unless their increased price is accepted. The Lyall Company contends that they proceeded steadily with their work until such times as they were held up by orders coming from here and there to stop and make alterations.

PULLED DOWN NEW WORK.

This required the pulling down of work already completed, and the ordering of new material. This material was not always to be had, and in addition the condition of the steel market was a factor in the purchases. Messrs. Lyall and Company would not buy the steel at times when the market was high, for the reason that they had contracted to do the work on certain estimates, and purchased the steel required at a time when the price was in accordance with their estimates. The whole subject will shortly be brought up by the Harbor Commissioners again, and an effort will be made to arrive at some understanding with the contractors, though in the meantime the sheds are uncompleted. In fact sites have not yet been selected for the last seven sheds, and since it has taken twenty-seven months to place the first of the sheds in a half finished condition, the outlook for the construction and completion of the whole fourteen is anything but bright.

A glance at the figures in connection with the building of these sheds will show how complicated matters are at the present time.

COUNTING THE COST.

The original contract for fourteen sheds was awarded to Messrs. Peter Lyall and Sons, to cost $2,305,000. At this figure the price for the first seven sheds would be $1,152,000 but the money already expended on extras for this portion of the work amounts to about $170,000, while other alterations are demanded and are now receiving the consideration of the Government, which if granted will add another quarter of a million or more dollars to the already high expenditure on the seven sheds. So that as the first lot of sheds stand to-day in an unfinished state, they have cost $1,322,500, with the additional amount added if the Government approve the present plans for alterations under consideration. In addition there was an expenditure of over $70,000 for scoria blocks, for the flooring of the sheds, but as strong objections were afterwards made to this flooring, it was decided to put down concrete flooring, and use the blocks for other purposes along the wharves. So much for the first lot of sheds. For the construction of the last seven sheds Messrs. Peter Lyall and Sons declare that, owing to the advance in the prices of materials they will be compelled to advance their contract price 30 per cent, and as there is every reason to believe that the extras on the last seven, it can easily be deducted that the last lot of sheds will cost, adding the additional 30 per cent demanded by the contractors, hundreds of thousands of dollars more than stipulated in the original contract.

The Accomplice

By FREDERICK TREVOR HILL,

Author of "The Case and Exceptions," "The Minority," "The Web," etc.

And what proof did I possess? Stripped of conjecture and inference, my story was pitifully inadequate. The sum and substance of it all was that I had been asked certain questions by some one whose voice I thought I recognized as a man said to be in Barstow's employ, and whom Miss Mapes had called Hunt. I could not produce the man or tell who he was or where he could be found, and the circumstances under which I had heard his name would not recommend my veracity. I would be discredited and laughed out of court as a dreamer at best, or as a liar at worst, and, in any event, a self-confessed eaves-dropper whose word would scarcely require Barstow's sure denial. I would cut a ridiculous figure in the eyes of the whole community, and Barbara Frayne would be justified in holding me in utter abhorrence and contempt.

No. Denunciation was not to be thought of for a moment. It was far better to bear the burden of an increased responsibility and rely upon my own conscience than to court disaster.

I found the company at the Melton House much as I had left it, except that the circle about the big wood-stove had increased until there was not a vacant seat in the place. Indeed, some of the chairs held two occupants apiece, and the writing-table had been pulled up behind the chairs to serve as a gallery for half a dozen auditors. Over the group hung a blue canopy of tobacco smoke, and some of the men nearest the stove had removed their coats and were sitting in their shirt-sleeves, but as the room was not unbearably hot I concluded that habit and not heat prompted the informality.

A keen-faced country lawyer was just finishing a story as I entered, and Bayne shifted to one side of his chair and silently invited me to share it with him. I did not fancy this picnic familiarity, however, and, answering his suggestion with a shake of my head, remained standing near the doorway.

"That was the last recommendation I ever gave to any man," the speaker was saying, "and I wouldn't give one to-day to my own brother."

"I don't blame you," responded an undersized man seated on the writing-table. "I had a case once, and—"

"Do you remember Lincoln's celebrated letter of recommendation?" interrupted "No. 3" of the jury.

"No. Let's have it," responded the first speaker.

"Well," continued my associate, "somebody wrote Lincoln asking him about a fellow in Illinois who had given the President's name as a reference in a matter of business credit. Lincoln answered something like this: 'I have your letter as to Mr. Blank's financial responsibility. In reply I beg to say he has a wife and child which should be worth to any man at least five hundred thousand dollars. Besides these he has to my certain knowledge in his office a deal table worth about a dollar fifty, and two cane-bottomed chairs worth as much more. Also in the corner of his office there is a rat-hole which will bear looking into. Yours truly, A. Lincoln.'"

I noticed that the little man on the writing-table did not join in the laugh which greeted this story, but I saw his lips move as though he were attempting to make himself heard. His small face betrayed conceit and self-importance in every line, despite its utter insignificance, to which his pompadour hair and small red side-whiskers gave the finishing touch.

"That's very good," he began, as the laughter ceased. "Most of the stories about Lincoln are entirely apocryphal, but that one's so old I suppose he's entitled to it whether it's true or not. However, such things do happen. I had a case myself once—"

"Speaking of recommendations"—interposed a fat, good-natured looking attorney seated next to Bayne.

"Which is precisely what I was speaking of," insisted the little man. "Some years ago I had a case—"

"Speaking of recommendations to mercy," calmly pursued the interrupter, "I got my experience early in the game when I was filled with the milk of human kindness and mushy accordingly."

The hotel clerk brought me a chair from the dining room, and as I thanked him I called his attention to the red-whiskered individual whose face was a ludicrous study of wrath and disappointment.

"That's 'I-had-a-case Carson,'" he explained, in a whisper. "Nobody believes he ever had a case, but he lives for these occasions and he's wild to get the floor. The fellow talking now just loves to choke him off, and the other lawyers devil him all they can."

The little attorney's expression of impotent indignation demonstrated that he was being "deviled" almost past endurance, but after glaring at the speaker for a moment he pulled out a big, black cigar, savagely bit off the end, and tried to engage his neighbor in conversation.

"Well, my man appeared so dazed and hopeless," the fat attorney was saying, "that I saw nothing for it but to plead guilty and throw myself on the mercy of the Court. He was a lawyer, but I thought if I could get a lot of people to put in a good word for him I could offset that, and before long I accumulated the greatest set of 'previous-good-character' testimonials you ever saw in your life. They were so sweeping and cordial that I positively wept to think of letting such a good man go to prison, and I determined to attempt his acquittal. But say! Did any of you ever try to get up a defence-fund for one of those blameless life fellows? Well, if you do you'll find good words are all their friends will give 'em. I couldn't work fifty cents out of the whole bunch. My client was 'one of God's noblemen'—but he was such a clever lawyer surely he could conduct his own case without expense; he was 'the salt of the earth'—but they didn't propose to put up any dust for him; he had 'a pure and spotless past' and his 'home life was very beautiful'—but if funds were needed for his defence he'd better go to gaol. These were the only contributions I received from his eulogizers. Then I sounded my man on making restitution. 'Try it,' he said, and I tried it with such success that I was given a virtual assurance of a sentence not exceeding three years if he'd return what he'd stolen. Ten years was what I otherwise expected him to get, and I told him so when he asked my opinion. He considered the matter for some time and then dashed all my hopes.

"'I'll stand pat,' he answered.

"'You mean you'd rather serve feeble time than give up the whole or any part of your stealings?' I demanded, indignantly.

"'I stand pat,' he repeated, calmly.

"If the fellow had had kith or kin in need of the swag I wouldn't have blamed him, but he didn't have anybody but himself to look out for. He simply preferred to risk ten years than give up his ill-gotten gains, and I never did find out where he'd hid 'em. With the aid of those good-character certificates, however, I got his sentence cut down to five years, for which service he never as much as said thank you."

"Didn't you yet your fee?" inquired Bayne.

"Not a cent!" exclaimed the narrator. "He was a born criminal with a blameless past."

"I had a case like that once," piped up Carson.

"Hold on. I haven't told you the worst yet," continued the fat man. "Two years ago when I was down in a scrag-town in Oklahama I was arrested for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk, and the Justice before whom I was hauled was my friend of the blameless past. Well, sirs, he fined me twenty-five dollars without the faltering of eyelid, and I believe if I hadn't paid the fine and left town instanter he'd have had me in gaol for six months. That's what I call professional courtesy. What were you going to say, Carson?"

There was an audible titter at the question, but the little bore lost no time in grasping his opportunity.

"I was going to tell you about a case I had involving professional courtesy—" he began, hurriedly.

"By Jove, that reminds me!" burst in another lawyer. "One time when I was practising out in Montana—"

"Excuse me!" interrupted Carson, indignantly.

"Certainly, old man—don't mention it," continued the tormentor. "I'll excuse you any time, but I want the other fellows to hear this yarn—and it's no yarn either, but a true bill from Montana where no liars are at large. Well, as I was saying, when I was practising out there the State prosecutor and the defendant's counsel in a murder trial were opposition candidates for Congress, and in the middle of the case the prosecutor saw that the evidence was going against him and that an acquittal would be mighty popular. So he ups and requests the dismissal of the indictment and the discharge of the prisoner, knowing that the same would reflect great credit on himself and knock the wind out of his opponent. But the other fellow was onto the game, and with a sure case he hadn't any notion of letting his adversary win out on any magnanimous bluff of that sort. So he rears up on his hind legs and fights to have the case submitted to the jury, claiming his client was entitled to an acquittal at the hands of his peers, and nothing less than this would satisfy him, and finally the Judge decided to allow the innocent gent to be exonerated by the jurors and submitted the case to them. Well, sirs, that jury stayed out 'bout fifteen seconds and then brought in a verdict of guilty!"

"You say that happened in Montana?" asked a late-comer, joining in the general laugh.

"Yes, sir," was the serious answer.

"Well, I wouldn't believe it if you'd located it twice as far away," remarked the questioner, as he took a chair which the clerk offered him and sat down beside me. "Would you?" he inquired, smilingly, as he offered me a cigar.

"I don't know," I answered, as some one started another story. "Can a prosecutor dismiss a case if he thinks the prisoner innocent?"

"Of course," answered my neighbor. "If he couldn't, he might have to continue prosecuting a man whom he believed innocent. That would be horrible. By-the-way, I want to introduce myself. Mr. Lambert, I am Abel Corning, one of Mr. Gilbert's assistants."

I glanced with interest at the speaker's face, which bore a certain resemblance to Hunt's, but though there was no mistaking the two personalities, there was enough to justify Hunt's subterfuge. Now, if I denounced the unknown emissary who travelled under the name of Abel Corning, and could produce no one but the real Abel Corning to answer the description, who would be most involved, the prosecutor or his opponent? Hunt had more than risen to the emergency. He had surmounted it.

"I am very glad to meet you, Mr. Corning," I responded. "Do you happen to know a lawyer named Hunt?" I added, after a pause.

"Hunt?" he repeated. "No, I never heard of him. Why do you ask?"

"Merely because—" I began, but allowed myself to be interrupted as Carson piped up.

"I had a case like that once—"

5485 Misses' Norfolk Jacket.
5152 Misses' Seven Gored Box Plaited Skirt.

FOR YOUNG GIRLS.

Norfolk costumes suit young girls peculiarly well, and are greatly in vogue just now. Here is one that is made of the new checked suitings with collar of velvet, and that is tasteful, becoming and smart in one. The coat is fitted by means of seams to the shoulders that are concealed by the applied box plaits, while the skirt is laid in box plaits that are stitched flat well over the hips. Checked and plaid suitings are greatly in vogue, and are always admirable for school and everyday occasions, but the same model will be found effective in plain colored cheviots or broadcloth, while it either can be left quite plain or trimmed with braid as liked. In this instance the check is formed by lines of blue on brown, but blue and green mixtures are much liked, while among plain materials the deep rich red known as Jacqueminot, Russian green, and the golden browns are particularly well adapted to girls' use. For a girl of sixteen the jacket will require 4¼ yards of material 27 or 2¾ yards 44 or 52 inches wide, the skirt 7¾ yards 27, 5⅝ yards 44 or 4¼ yards 52 inches wide. A May Manton pattern of the jacket, No. 5485, sizes 14 and 16 years, or of the skirt, No. 5152, sizes 12 to 16 years, will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents for each.

ALABAMA.

Montgomery, Ala., November 7.—Incomplete returns indicate an overwhelming victory for the entire Democratic state ticket and nominees for Congress. The vote was light.

ARIZONA.

Tucson, Ariz., November 7.—Chairman Tenney of the Republican territorial committee, says: "Cooper will have a majority of 506."

Chairman Dillon, of the Democratic territorial central committee, estimates Smith's (Dem.) majority at 2,000.

COLORADO.

Denver, November 7.—Indications last night are that Denver county gave Buchtell, Republican, for governor, more than 10,000 plurality. Justice W. H. Gabbort, candidate for Supreme Court judge, runs far behind his ticket.

Returns from the state indicate an increased Democratic vote in some localities, which may offset the Democratic losses in Denver.

CONNECTICUT.

New Haven, November 7.—Reports from 130 towns out of 168 in the state show that large Republican majorities have been returned for the entire state ticket, the four district congressmen and for congress at large. There is a slight gain by the Democrats in the state Senate and House of Representatives. For governor: Woodruff, Republican, is given 33,297 votes, and Thayer, Democrat, 20,197, in 130 towns.

CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco, November 7.—The indications are that Gilette, Republican, for governor, has carried this city by a small plurality. Meagre returns from the interior show that Gilette is running strong in places that were thought to be overwhelmingly for Bell.

DELAWARE.

Wilmington, Del., November 7.—Returns from 79 of the 365 voting districts in Wilmington, give Marvell, Democrat, for Congress, 6,889; Burlan, Republican, 6,188. A vote was taken to-day throughout Delaware on the initiative and referendum. It was not opposed to any extent and will be adopted.

FLORIDA.

Jacksonville, Fla., November 7.—All the Democratic candidates in Florida are elected. The Legislature is probably unanimously Democratic. The proposition advocated by Governor Broward to decline the Everglades seems to be defeated.

GEORGIA.

Atlanta, Ga., November 7.—All the Democratic congressmen candidates are elected.

ILLINOIS.

Chicago, November 7.—Returns from the city and country were slow last night, and it was impossible to give accurate figures. It is known, however, that the Republican has carried Chicago by 40,000 for Smulski for state treasurer, and the county by 50,000.

The scratching of ballots was so extensive that no returns on congressionals were available within six hours after the close of the polls. The returns at that time indicated the election of the Republican candidate in the second, third, sixth, eighth, ninth and tenth districts. In the first district the vote was close, with Emerich Democrat, slightly ahead of Madden, Republican. In the fourth and fifth districts the Democratic candidates were also slightly in the lead.

IDAHO.

Boise, Idaho, November 7. — Stockslager, Democrat, for governor, has carried Ada county against Gooding, Republican, who is running behind his ticket. The legislative ticket seems to be Republican. Republican managers still claim Gooding's election.

INDIANA.

Indianapolis November 7. — From scattering reports, the indications are that Indiana has gone Republican by from 45,000 to 55,000. The election of the entire Republican state ticket is conceded. Marion county went Republican by 5,000, the Democrats electing one county candidate, and perhaps two. The legislature will be Republican.

IOWA.

Des Moines, Ia., November 7. — Eighty-six out of 2,200 show Republican loss of 33 per cent., indicating Gov. Cummings, Republican, election by safe plurality.

KANSAS.

Topeka, Kas., November 7.—Meagre returns from over the state indicate that G. H. Hoch, Republican, re-elected by a plurality of less than 20,000.

LOUISIANA.

New Orleans, November 7. — The seven Democratic nominees for Congress were elected in Louisiana.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, November 7. "The Republicans, after a short, but very spirited campaign, were victors. Gov. Guild being re-elected by a considerably increased plurality over last year while his opponent, District-Attorney John B. Moran, of Boston, the candidate of the Democratic and Prohibition parties and Independence League, received a somewhat larger vote than that given the Democratic leader a year ago.

With two-thirds of the state vote tabulated, Mr. Guild's plurality was estimated at about 37,000.

The next legislature will be Republican by the usual large majority in both Houses, and this will insure the election of United States Senator W. Murray Crane.

The Massachusetts delegation to Congress, will remain practically the same as at present.

MICHIGAN.

Detroit, November 7. — Gov. Warner and the entire Republican state ticket have been elected by 60,000 to 100,000 majority. The Republican Congressional candidates in each of the twelve Michigan districts have been elected, and the Republicans will have a large majority in the state legislature, with a possibility of its entire membership.

MINNESOTA.

St. Paul November 7. — Returns received by the Democratic state headquarters up to 7.30 indicate a landslide for Johnson, Democratic candidate for governor.

MISSOURI.

St. Louis, November 7. — Both the Republican and Democratic state chairmen claimed Missouri by small majorities.

NEBRASKA.

Lincoln, November 7.—Nine precincts outside of Lincoln and Omaha show a Republican gain for governor of 298. The few returns thus far indicate Republican gains in the country, and Democratic gains in the towns.

NEVADA.

Reno, Nev., November 7.—A Democrat-Silver party victory is indicated. Sparks, for governor, is running ahead of Mitchell, in all quarters.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Concord, N. H., November 7.—Seventy-five towns and wards out of 296 in New Hampshire, give for governor: Floyd, Republican, 8,002; Jameson, Democrat, 6,415. The same in 1902 gave Bachelder, Republican, 8,688; Hollis, Democrat, 6,580. These returns indicate Floyd's election by 5,600.

NEW JERSEY.

New York, November 7.—At a late hour the returns from New Jersey indicate that the Republicans will have 44 members of the House of Assembly and the Democrats 16. This will give the Republicans a majority on joint ballot of 539 and make certain the re-election of John F. Dryden to the United States Senate. The estimate allows him 11 votes from Essex county. The country is close, but looks safe for the majority of the Republican Assembly candidates.

Jacob Haussling, Democrat, candidate for mayor, was elected over Walter S. Hoawarth, Democrat, and Geo. Tompkins, Independent.

The Liberal Republicans, who favor a less severe liquor law than the Bishops' Act, voted largely for Haussling. Two years ago the Republicans carried the city by 10,739 majority.

NEW MEXICO.

Albuquerhue, N. M., November 7.—Partial returns from seven counties out of 25 in New Mexico give Joint Statehood a majority of 2,000. Reports so far received indicate that the territory will go for jointure by from 4,600 to 7,000.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Raleigh, N. C., November 7.—In North Carolina the vote was light, but estimated to be Democratic by about 30,000. The 8th district is doubtful with two counties showing Democratic gains of 450 over two years ago. The tenth district is close, with the Democrats slightly in the lead.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo, N.D., November 7.—Preliminary returns show that Fisk has been elected judge of the State Supreme Court over Knauf, the Republican nominee. For governor: Sarles, Republican, and the rest of the Republican ticket is elected.

OHIO.

Cincinnati, November 7.—Sixty precincts outside of Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus and Toledo, give Thomson (Republican), for secretary of state, 4,360; Hoskins (Democrat), 3,606. The same precincts in 1904 gave Pattison (Democrat) 4,484, and Herrick (Republican), 4,300, a Republican gain of 857.

OKLAHOMA.

Guthrie, Okla., November 7. — The constitution of the new state of Oklahoma will be written by Democrats. Vernon Whitting, secretary of the Oklahoma Republican central committee, concedes the Democrats the three delegates, while Chairman Dunn, of the Democrat committee, says there will be at least 48 Democratic delegates on the floor of the convention. Republican managers admit that Oklahoma proved a great disappointment. The Indians, as a general rule, voted the Democratic ticket.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia, November 7. — The election of Stuart, Republican, for governor is indicated by a large plurality over Emery.

United States Senator Penrose claims the election of Stuart, Republican, for governor by more than 100,000 plurality and the election of Rotan, Republican, for district attorney of Philadelphia, by 4,000.

RHODE ISLAND.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Sioux Falls, S.D., November 7.—Incomplete returns indicate the election of the Republican Congressman and the Republican state ticket by not less than 35,000.

TENNESSEE.

Nashville, Tenn., November 7.—Reports show Patterson, Democrat, for governor, is receiving the usual off-year majority, which indicates his election by 5,000 to 10,000. Avent, for railroad commissioner, is running along with him.

TEXAS.

Austin, Tex., November 7.—Notwithstanding excellent weather, the total vote cast was small, comparatively speaking, not exceeding 400,000 votes all told, some 135,000 of which represent the combined vote of the Republican, Re-organized Republican, Socialist, the Socialist Labor and the Prohibition parties.

The next Legislature will be Democratic overwhelmingly, there being only a slight chance for the Republicans to get one member in the Lower House out of a possible 128. All the Democratic congressmen were elected.

UTAH.

Salt Lake City, November 7.—The Republicans in Utah have elected their state ticket by the usual plurality, returning Jos. Howell to Congress and electing Jos. N. Frick, justice of the Supreme Court.

In Salt Lake County, where the American or Anti-Mormon party centred its efforts, the result is in doubt. It is estimated that 75 to 90 per cent. of the Mormon Democrats in this county voted the Republican ticket.

WASHINGTON.

Seattle, November 7.—All indications point to an overwhelming Republican victory.

W. E. Humphrey, Wesley L. Jones and Francis W. Cushman, Congressmen at large, all Republicans, will be returned.

The Legislature will be strongly Republican.

WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee, November 7.—The Milwaukee-Sentinel says Boden, Republican, is elected district attorney of Milwaukee County, over McGovern, the Independent Republican candidate, by at least 3,000 plurality.

WEST VIRGINIA.

Wheeling, W. Va., November 7. — Partial returns from scattered counties in West Virginia show the probable success of all five of the Republican congressional nominees. The Legislature will be Republican, with the present joint ballot majority of 56, insuring the re-election of Senator Elkins.

WYOMING.

Cheyenne, Wyo., November 7.—Figures are not very available, but it is not doubted that the entire Republican state ticket has been elected by good majorities, and that the Legislature, which will elect a Senator, will be overwhelmingly Republican.

A WOMAN'S BACK WAS NOT MADE TO ACHE

Thousands of Women suffer Untold Misery Every Day with Aching Backs That Really have no Business to Ache.

Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Backache is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from Kidney trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills

will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others.

Mrs. Thos. Craig, Almonte, Ont., writes: "I was doctoring for six months for kidney trouble and my back was so lame I had to lie in bed. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so and in one week I was able to walk with very little pain, and in five months my back was as strong as ever.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

HOW MONTREAL HEARD THE RETURNS

Interest So Far as Canada Was Concerned Centered in Hearst-Hughes Fight.

The rotunda of the Windsor Hotel and the Star Branch, corner of Windsor and St. Catherine streets, presented an animated appearance last night during the time the Star was posting the bulletins of the elections. Nearly every class of humanity, nearly every branch of trade and commerce was represented, and as each succeeding word, as to how the battle was going, was read out the approval or disapproval of the crowd was expressed in no doubtful manner.

Judges mingled with attorneys, attorneys with their clients, the topic of conversation amongst all being the same—what would the outcome be? Although a particularly interesting election to all Canada, still those most vitally interested in Montreal were the stock and bond brokers, carrying on a local business in stocks listed on the American markets. "If Hearst is elected," said one, "you'll see me tearing my hair to-morrow morning." And such, apparently, was the feeling of anxiety all over the city.

MUCH BETTING DONE.

Sports there were in great numbers, talkative sports for the most part, although considerable money was laid on the outcome. Odds started during the evening at four to one against Hearst. Then some wise man made the statement that he had a barrelful of money which he was prepared to place at the ratio of one to one, taking the Hearst end of it.

Cries of "I want some of that," "Where is he?" "Give me a chance at him," resounded throughout the rotunda, the man with the barrelful had to take refuge in the bar and it was not long before all were talking business and quite contented.

The first returns which were announced by one of the Star staff indicated that Hearst had an even chance. These returns were, of course, from the city districts and, as expected, favored the Democratic nominee. When Buffalo, Rochester and Troy were known to have gone Democratic there were many cries of "I told you so." People who had bet on Hearst were already speculating as to what they would do with their money. Things changed, however, as the up-state returns came in, showing Hughes to be rapidly overcoming the big lead which Mr. Hearst had in the city.

HUGHES' MAJORITY THE ISSUE.

It is a question if at any time there has been such excitement in the Windsor Rotunda over any United States political event as there was at the hour when it seemed to be anybody's victory. Gradually Hughes drew away from Hearst. Five thousand, six thousand, ten thousand and slowly up to twenty thousand, the majority for Hughes was announced over the wires and given out to the excited crowd. It was here that most of the night's betting was done. The Hearst men puttinf up their money on the actual majority that Hughes would have.

A popular bet at this point was that Hughes would not have more than twenty thousand majority. Even money was offered on this and rapidly taken up by the Hughes men. It became evident, however, by half-past eleven, that Hughes' majority would probably double this, and at twelve o'clock the Star's last bulletin was read to the crowd. It was that Hughes' majority would be about forty-five thousand. To-day's latest bulletins show that he gained about nine thousand after this, making his majority about fifty-four thousand.

INQUIRIES FROM TOWNSHIPS.

At the Star branch throughout the evening thousands watched the bulletins. The change of polling places in Greater New York made the city returns late, but the people waited just the same.

Great interest was manifested in the result of the voting in Detroit on the street railway franchise. Ever and anon one of the waiting hundreds, getting impatient, would rush inside and inquire about news from Detroit. The franchise count, however, seemed to be occupying the attention of the telegraph authorities but little, as compared with other cities.

The branch telephone was kept busy answering questions from all sections of the city.

"Have you any news from Detroit?" in a lady's voice, was generally followed by "And how are things going in New York?"

After a while, long distance inquiries began to come in. "Will you speak to Ormstown?" was the first indication from the telephone central that the towns outside the city were taking such an interest in the New York elections.

Later came Bedford and various other places nearer to Montreal, while up to midnight and even after calls from all sections of the city kept pouring in.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE.—In St. Mary's Church, corner Panet and Craig streets, on Monday next, at 8.30 a.m., a solemn service will be sung for the late Father Simon P. Lonergan, first resident pastor of St. Mary's parish.

STIRRING TIMES ON BOARD THE BRITISH BARQUE DON ON VOYAGE AROUND CAPE HORN

If the log books and accounts of the captain and officers are correct it is not often that a vessel has such an adventurous voyage as that of the London barque Don, which, after eight months' sailing, has reached her destination and is safely tied up at Victoria, B.C.

In more ways than one the trip of the Don has been an eventful one, for, following the collision that forced the captain to put back when a few days out at sea, the skipper was taken ill and landed at Monte Video, where the last reports stated that his life was despaired of. The first mate, Captain Roach, took charge of the vessel at that point upon the cabled command of the owners, and for the next 125 days the Don fought the elements, the vicissitudes of a drunken and mutinous crew and pure fate in her long voyage around Cape Horn to this port.

On the 6th of August, when the Don was tossing about in the stormy seas off Cape Horn, the crew were found to be nearly all under the influence of liquor. Chief Officer Mills called them to their places to reef the main topsails and prepare to 'bout ship. They came sullenly to their work and the officer at once saw that they had obtained access to the cargo of liquor which was consigned to a Victoria firm. One of the seamen was helplessly drunk and two of his companions dragged him to the bosun's locker. The orders of the officers were obeyed in a careless manner, and all, except two of them, named Gray and Hoplo, the latter a Spaniard, displayed a mutinous disposition. Capt. Roach instituted an examination of the forward hatch and found that the men had forced the planks in the bulkhead, which separated the chain locker from the 'tween decks, and had broached the cargo. Several cases of beer had been opened and many bottles were missing.

From this on it was a case of constant watchfulness on the part of the officers, sleepless nights and continual anxiety for the safety of the vessel, which, pitching and tossing in a heavy sea, amid pack ice, and off a dangerous coast, needed all their vigilance and attention. The rigging and deck fittings were covered with ice and the stiffened canvas of the sails cracked and swung at the bidding of a cold northwester. Chief Officer Mills was frost-bitten and took to his bunk for a couple of days, and, in the meantime, Captain Roach, the bosun and two sober and loyal seamen worked and watched. In the foc'sle the drunken carousers made merry, seemingly caring little for their own safety or that of the ship.

DRINK MADDENED SAILORS.

On the 8th an attempt on the life of Hoplo, the Spaniard, was made by several members of the crew. After forcing him to drink some of the liquor the men molested him until, in self-defence, he drew a knife. Force of numbers prevailed, however, and, after submitting him to assault and other indignities, the drink-maddened sailors decided to throw him overboard. Dragging him along the deck they had got him to the lee scuppers, when Captain Roach, hearing his cries for help, came to his assistance and pursuaded the men from adding murder to their crimes.

The entry in the log-book on this day tells how the captain called the men to reef topsails at 8 a.m. and in answer nine drunken seamen staggered up to him. "This," says the captain's account, "was a great impediment to the safe navigation of the ship. W. Thornley and A. Tufft, both able seamen, assaulted T. Hoplo, A.B., and later an attempt was made to throw him overboard, which was prevented. Upon examining the cargo of liquor forward I found that several cases of porter and beer had been broken open and some of their contents missing. Later, I entered the forecastle and discovered several bottles, some of them full, which I took charge of."

On the following day the trouble increased and the murderous spirit of the mutineers took the form of threats against the chief officer. About this time the Don had a very narrow escape from being blown ashore, a change in the wind averting the threatened catastrophe.

Another danger then presented itself. In the general cargo there was a consignment of rifles and ammunition, and the crew, evidently contemplating an armed mutiny, searched amid this dangerous consignment for arms, using wax matches, which they had stolen from the hold. When the officers saw the charred matches lying amid the straw of the broken cases they thanked Providence that a fire had not been started and did what they could to make the place secure against the men. The carpenter put in several hours replacing broken locks and sealing up the breaches in the bulkhead, and after that attempts were made to pacify the men. Eventually they sobered up and all went well until on the 16th of September their taste for strong drink got the better of them and the cargo was again broached. Near the equator, in the comparatively smooth waters of the Pacific, the vessel again became practically helpless and the nine drunken seamen caroused once more in the fo'c'sle.

AGAIN TOOK TO LIQUOR.

"Sept. 17.—Mr. Mills, chief officer, called his watch to wash decks. They refused. They were under the influence of liquor. He reported the matter to me. I went to the foc'sle at 9 a.m., and found all the crew, except two, all drunk. The handcuffs which I had put on the chain locker to secure the door after the lack had been picked previously, were broken. The crew forced the boards of the bulkhead and broached cargo. I got the carpenter and he secured a bolt, with a staple, and clinched the same. At 4 p.m. I examined the chain locker and found the staple and bolt broken. The carpenter drilled a fresh hole, and while he was doing so, A. Johnson, an able seaman, came from the chain locker, having been down in the 'tween decks for the purpose of passing bottles of beer to others of the crew in the foc'sle. He denied that he had broken the staple."

On the 19th, Capt. Roach realized that matters had reached a climax and taking the loaded revolver which he had carried continually in case of necessity he took his place at the foc'sle door and kept the men inside until they had sobered up. For thirty-six hours he kept his vigil and then the isolated men, having finished up their supply of liquor, came out in a fairly sober condition and resumed work.

From this on the men remained sober until port was reached. The captain last evening read out a list of charges against the nine seamen implicated, and to-day he will take steps to have their conduct brought before the authorities. The men have refused to work in the meantime, and are calmly awaiting eventualities.

STATEMENT BY MEN.

Reading over the report published about their doings on the vessel, Thornley one of the men, acted as spokesman for his comrades and made absolute denials of the charges of mutiny and attempted murder. He claimed, on behalf of the men, that the only offence of which they were guilty was that of broaching cargo and drinking. The attempt on Hoplo's life was nothing more than a bluff on their part to frighten the Spaniard, who had on several occasions drawn a knife on different members of the crew in disputes over his incompetency. Furthermore, the sailors claim that they were half starved on the trip, receiving only very meagre rations of weak coffee, dry biscuit and rotten pork, the latter being unfit for food. The whole cause of the trouble, they assert, was the incompetence of the officers, who frequently disagreed and fought among themselves.

"We are not murderers," said one of the men, an honest-looking Scotchman, "we are sailors, and every one of us possesses discharges ranging over several years, which in every case is marked 'very good.' When we were lying off the Horn in the cold and miserable weather, half fed, overworked and under incompetent officers one of us discovered that there was an aperture in the bulkhead leading from the chain locker to where the liquor was stored. There was water in the foc'sle and icicles were hanging from the ceiling over our bunks. Is there any wonder that we went after the drink? We didn't break our way into the cargo and again we didn't touch anything else than the drink. As for taking rifles, that story is a good one. We didn't even know that there were any rifles aboard."

His companions laughed heartily at the latter reference to the rifles, and another man took up the tale and told how Hoplo, the Spaniard, had once refused to turn out of his bunk to work, and how he had been dragged out by some of the men. On this occasion the men claim that Hoplo attempted the life of one man with a harpoon. They all claim that they only intended to frighten Hoplo when they threatened to throw him overboard, and also that they told the captain this.

"If we had really wanted to put him overboard the captain couldn't have stopped us," explained another man. "You've only got to look at us and you will see we aren't hooligans or cutthroats."

The men deny all charges of violence, and state that the only time any of them refused to obey orders was when they were nearly starving in the rough seas off the Horn. They claim that they struck until the captain gave them some beans, and that they immediately went to work upon receiving this food.

The seamen are spending their time at the Seamen's Institute awaiting development. They ridicule the many charges made against them by the captain, and intend to see the matter through until the end, as they believe that investigation will, to a great degree, justify their conduct. They are Britishers and appear to be of a very orderly and respectable class.

McGill is Firm.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, November 7.—Dr. Etherington, of Queen's, president of the Union, and A. W. McPherson, of 'Varsity, were in conversation over the long distance 'phone yesterday. Dr. Etherington said the suggestion that McGill and 'Varsity play one match, either at Kingston or Ottawa, to count four points, and settle both games, had been rejected by the McGill team. McGill wants the game in Montreal to come off, and not to play any others.

Lord Kitchener, the soldier, and Ian Maclaren, the novelist, are children of the same year.

BARROW STAYS WITH TORONTO

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, November 7.—Manager Barrow will remain at the head of the Toronto Baseball Club. He has decided to fulfill his contract with the Toronto Club, and next year hopes to land the club in the money division. "Last summer was my hard luck season," said Mr. Barrow, yesterday, "but I hope to shake the hoodoo in 1907, also some of the players." Mr. Barrow has not allowed his duties as a boniface to interfere with his baseball obligations, having since the season closed signed many players.

The list follows: Pitchers: McGinley, Mitchell, McCarthy, Williams, Applegate, Hesterfer, Wm. Pounds, Wilkesbarre; Milton Bridges, Ohio and Pennsylvania League; Roy Toren, Pacific Coast League; and Walter Moffat, from the Central League.

Hesterfer is the only left hander in the bunch. Applegate and McCarthy, in all probability will figure in trades. The former wants to come back after a season in the outlaw organization, but it is not likely he will be kept. Pounds is a big fellow, and a spit ball artist. The others have good records. The catchers under contract are Woods and Stollery, of the old guard; Bailey, of the Ohio and Pennsylvania League, leader in that group last season; and Chaucer Elliott, the Argonaut coach, who caught last season with the champions in the Empire State League. Chaucer had a trial two years ago, but had a bad arm at the time and was let out.

The infielders are: Tim Flood, Frick, Flynn, and Obeyen. Conners, from the New England League, will battle for the first base position with Flynn. A major league infielder is booked for shortstop. Obeyen will be kept for utility purposes. For the outfield, there are Thoney, Wotell, Weidensaul and one other. Bannon and Wallace will be traded. Cannell and Franks will be returned to Toledo.

Hockey at Duluth Rink.

The Gordon Harriers have formed a roller skating hockey team, and are practicing at the Duluth rink. It is also reported that there are two or three other clubs going to form a team and get after the Gordon Harriers, so this looks as if there was going to be some excitement in this line this winter.

TENNIS RULE IS NOW STRICT ENOUGH

London, November 7.—The threatened disqualification by the American Lawn Tennis Association of Beals C. Wright as an amateur continues to arouse much interest among English players. The Herald correspondent to-day obtained the views of G. R. Newburn, of the English Lawn Tennis Association, on the subject.

"I must confess that I am surprised at reports I have seen about Beals Wright's position," he said. "It may come as a surprise to a great number of people, but as a matter of fact the English Lawn Tennis Association has no definition of an amateur in its rules.

NO STRICT DEFINITION.

"If this sort of agitation goes on we will probably have to define what an amateur is; but so far we have not thought a strict definition necessary. If a man were to enter for any of our competitions and we found that he made a livelihood by teaching lawn tennis his entry would be refused. He would be, in our opinion, a professional, as he taught the game and charged for lessons.

"Nobody, so far as I know, accuses Beals Wright of doing this. His only fault seems to be that he is financially interested in a firm that makes lawn tennis balls and deals in requisites of the game. This would not disqualify him in England, whatever it may do in America.

"The position we take up is that only those who give lessons and are paid for those lessons are professional players. American purists seem to be asking too much in their definition. If their reported intentions were carried out throughout the sporting world many of the best sportsmen living would be debarred from playing in games in which they excel simply because their investments or work made them intimately connected with the manufacture or sale of implements used.

WOULD KILL SPORT.

"This sort of thing would kill rather than cultivate sport, and I am sure that the more level headed among the American lawn tennis public will not allow this injustice to be done to such a keen and brilliant player as Beals Wright.

"Though perhaps it is scarcely in my province to say it, I must confess that somehow Beals Wright has always been unlucky or overlooked. When he first came over here English leading players put him down as the best man in the American team, yet while given a place in the doubles, he was passed over for the singles. This was a great mistake, in my opinion. We thought he should actually have been their first choice for he certainly displayed steadiness greater than any of his colleagues and brilliance equal even to that shown by Holcombe Ward last year. He suffered an accident and lost a finger, so that in international matches, at any rate, he has been distinctly unfortunate.

"I sincerely hope he will come successfully through the present controversy, for the only opinion held in England is that Mr. Wright is a brilliant player, a good sportsman and as pure an amateur as any one playing."

Races at Stadium.

The roller skating racing season has opened at the Stadium Rink. The event was one mile race and had six starters. The winners were: 1st, A. Jette; 2nd, L. Goudreau; 3rd, M. Beaulieu; have been also running, E. Sauvageau, M. Taillefer and A. Gagne.

Starter.—Maurice Pelletier; judges, Mr. Sutcliffe, Mr. R. Lessard; chrom., Ed. Chapleau, A. Gagne; referee, Alf. Berube.

That is One Estimate Made at the Camp—Gold Found at Mud Lake.

LATEST NEWS OF THE MINES

More Gossip About the Nipissing Mine and What the Experts Think of It.

A wire from Cobalt says: There have been a good many wild estimates of the probable output of the camp during the year ending, say, September 1st, 1907. The Nipissing people claim to have shipped to the New Jersey smelters $500,000 worth of metal in October. The operations in this mine are largely "surfacing." All the ore has been stripped from the surface or "open-cut" ledges. Other mines have sunk shafts, and commenced "drifting" operations. A conservative estimate places the aggregate shipments of ore from Cobalt Camp for the year mentioned at $10,000,000.

GOLD AT MUD LAKE.

Mr. T. J. Montgomery, a Toronto man, who has a small claim adjoining the Gillies Limit, near Mud Lake, about three miles from here, has reported gold assaying from $27 to $40 a ton on his claim. He says the vein is four feet thick, and apparently is more than a mere "streak." The report caused quite a stir here. If Mr. Montgomery's expectations are correct he has made a valuable find.

It is said that first four cars of ore from the Silver Queen will yield $200,000.

Messrs. Wills & Co. announce that the floatation of the Watts Mine was largely over-subscribed, and that an apportionment of only forty per cent. of the subscriptions could be made by the company.

A New York wire reads: "In La Rose mine, at Cobalt, Ont., a diamond drill has gone 200 feet below the bottom of the shaft, which is 325 feet deep. The drill has been in bonanza ore all the way down, and at the lowest depth was in almost solid silver ore."

John McMartin, of the La Rose mine, is said to have bought the University mine, and to have turned it over to a new syndicate at a profit of $500,000. About $10,000 shares are outstanding in the hands of the public.

During the month of October the Nipissing people shipped fifty oil barrels of bonanza ore running from 1,600 to 1,700 pounds each, and showing values between $5,000 and $6,000 a barrel. This was in addition to a large shipment of No. 1 ore, which averages around $2,000 a ton, and which is being taken out in steadily increasing quantities from the older workings on the property. On Nipissing ledge 27 at the 35-foot level the vein broadens out to a width of nine inches and shows very much richer values in free silver than was the case at the surface. The arrival of cold weather has, of course, stopped hydraulic operations for the season, but the plant in three months of operation demonstrated its usefulness by uncovering six or eight very promising veins, several of which have already been opened up. The operating force, which now consists of 200 men, is steadily being increased, and the output for the winter should continue to be considerably in excess of $500,000 net a month.

It has just been reported that the Coleman Development Company, which owns a lot of about five miles south-east of the town of Cobalt, has opened up a very promising vein of cobalt with a fair showing of leaf silver. This property is in the vicinity of the Columbus claim, and the Beaver and Gillies claims are in the same group. The Columbus has opened up a vein of cobaltite, which, although a rare mineral and of considerable interest to the geologist, contains very low silver values. On the claim known as the Big Peter, which is in the Glen Lake section and near the Roster, a very good calcite vein has been encountered at the 30-foot level of the shaft. While, of course, this has not been developed for any distance, the probability is that it is a continuation of one of the Foster veins, and if so it should be of considerable value.

Some of the new proprietors of the Green-Meehan mine north of Cobalt, stated that they would ship two carloads of ore within the next couple of weeks, and they thought each car would yield as high as $40,000. This property was sold a few weeks ago for $250,000, a rich vein having been struck immediately before the option expired. So far no machinery has been installed at the mine, with the exception of a horse-power. The property is in Bucke Township.

General Manager Culver, of the Silver Queen, has returned from a recent trip to Cobalt. In regard to the returns from recent shipments, Mr. Culver said: "The first four cars shipped will produce about $175,000. Capt. Leyson, our mine superintendent, wanted to bet me that the last car will go over $75,000, and if he is anywhere near correct the four cars will total over $200,000. Mind you," Mr. Culver remarked, in closing the interview, "the shipments consisted of the run of mine stuff, and not picked ore, so you can draw your own conclusions."

A new silver field district, and at a considerable distance from that of the Cobalt district is the possibility opened up by the finding of silver in the Temagami forest reserve. The discovery was made at a point in the south-west angle of the Township of Auld, where twelve claims have been already staked, all but one of them on discoveries of cobalt.

A New York report says that in the La Rose mine a diamond drill has gone 200 feet below the bottom of the shaft, which is 325 feet deep.

The despatch adds that the drill has been in bonanza ore all the way down, and at the lowest depth was in almost solid silver ore.

Messrs. Wills & Co. announce that the flotation of the Watts Mine was largely oversubscribed, and that an apportionment of only 40 per cent. of the subscriptions can be made by the company.

Control of the University Mine has changed hands. John McMartin, owner of the La Rose Mine, was the buyer, paying in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. It is said he promptly resold the mine to a New York syndicate for $1,500,000. The property consists of 56 acres, eleven of which are under Giroux Lake. About $10,000 of stock in the company is outstanding in the hands of the public. The capital consists of 100,000 shares of $10 each.

Next to his orchids, Mr. Chamberlain delights most in his collection of caricatures of himself.

EFFECT OF THE HUGHES' VICTORY

Stocks Acted in a Manner that Indicated the Result was Discounted.

SOME STOCKS WERE LOWER

The Hughes victory was not celebrated by anything resembling a boom in Wall Street.

It is true that the Hill stocks were inclined to do better, but the general market, if anything, was disposed to work easier in comparison with Monday's closing prices.

Wall Street, of course, discounted the defeat of Hearst. That was evident by the pre-election betting odds of 4 to 1 on Hughes, and the strength of the market before the vote.

Nevertheless, however, the closeness of the result came as something of a surprise.

Wall Street wanted Hearst snowed under so deeply that he would never be heard of again.

It is true, of course, that Hearst ran behind his ticket, and that it will be something of a blow to him, but whether Hearstism is dead or not remains a problem for the future to decide.

A WALL STREET VIEW.

Hughes' election was fully expected by Wall Street and discounted. It is, therefore, improbable that it will be any material factor to-day. Of course, there is a sensation of relief that Hearst's candidacy has failed, but that is about all. The controlling factor now in the situation is the money market. That is what is holding speculation in check, and, in fact, makes an active and advancing market practically impossible. We can only look for a dull, steady market, with perhaps a moderate upward tendency between now and the end of December, when it is to be hoped the corner will be turned in the money situation.

WALL STREET'S FEARS.

What Wall Street fears more than anything is another advance in the Bank of England's rate of discount to-morrow. If a change is made it will mean that the money situation is decidedly serious.

The strong stocks to-day were the Hills. Great Northern opened at 323, and went to 325¼. Northern Pacific opened at 214¾, and went to 218½. Union was also strong at 183¼, an advance of ½.

THE LOCAL MARKET.

The Montreal market was moderately active, but there was not much doing outside of Detroit.

The more conspicuous features were a rise in Sao Paulo to 145¼, in anticipation of an increased dividend, and a rise of from 50 to 51½ in Mexican Power.

Toronto Railway was barely steady around 115¼, while there was not much doing in either Power or Montreal Street. The latter sold at 258 and Power at 97¾.

There was one sale of Dominion Coal at 63.

ACTION BY SHAW.

It is rumored that under existing monetary conditions, Secretary Shaw will deposit $25,000,000 in the National Banks in the next few days. This might be expected if the English bank rate is advanced this week.

The N.Y. banks have lost $747,000 to the sub-treasury since Friday.

BELL TELEPHONE.

Bell Telephone sold at 145. The Manitoba fight over the telephone policy of the Government is growing bitter. The Bell Company is opposing them at every possible point, and to strengthen its case it is spreading lines rapidly throughout the Province.

The Winnipeg City Solicitor is preparing a by-law to be submitted to the people in accordance with the Legislature's Act.

A TRUE BILL.

Toronto Railway is steady. The grand jury has returned a true bill against the company for maintaining a nuisance in the form of worn-out rails.

THE DIFFERENCE.

The private bank failing used to do up the depositor. The chartered bank failing protects the depositor, but soaks the shareholder.

ISSUE $500,000 NEW STOCK.

Montreal Steel Works Proposal Endorsed by the Shareholders.

At a special meeting of the shareholders of the Montreal Steel Company yesterday, President Blackwell in the chair, a resolution was unanimously adopted authorizing the increase of the company's capital stock from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000, half of the additional stock to be preferred and half common. It is understood that half of the authorized increase will be issued the first of the year. The increased capital of the Montreal "Steel" will provide for additional buildings and plant. It is understood that the company's business has been remarkably good during the past year.

ADVANCE OF $260,000,000!

Five stocks—Amalgamated Copper, United States Steel common, Reading, Union Pacific, and Southern Pacific—are selling in the market at a valuation nearly $260,000,000 greater than was represented by the quotations prevailing a year ago.

Franchise and Codd Beaten

W. B. Thompson.

The Detroit United franchise was defeated at the polls yesterday, and so was Mayor Codd, the candidate who favored it in his platform.

Mr. Thompson takes office on the first of January, and promises the people of Detroit 3-cent fares. This he can perhaps bring about in 1909, when the present franchise expires.

It is by no means certain, however, that the City Council elected yesterday is opposed to the road.

Before the election only a few aldermen committed themselves to the 3 cent fare programme, the majority remaining silent, so the standing of the council is very much in doubt.

When the members of the Stock Exchange heard the result of the vote at the Windsor Hotel last night they felt by no means worried in regard to the outlook.

HUGHES' VICTORY IN LONDON.

Cable Made Mistake and the Market Had Scare.

London, November 7.—The American section of the Stock Exchange opened at 8 o'clock this morning, operators anticipating considerable business on the result of the elections in the United States. The plurality of Charles E. Hughes for Governor of New York, was, through a cable error, given at 5,000 instead of about 55,000, and caused dulness and declines averaging half a point. When the correct figures were made public the market recovered part of the declines. The absence of selling orders from New York helped the improvement.

WILL BANK'S RATE GO UP?

Fears That Bank of England Will Take Action.

New York, November 7.—Persistent rumors of an increase in the Bank of England discount rate to-morrow and general apprehension as to money conditions locally produced a weak opening of the stock market, with severe losses in a number of active issues. The monetary situation more than nullified the effect of the election, although leading financial interests were pleased at the return of a Republican majority to Congress. Sales for various out-of-town points were reported, and the trading element was almost unanimously inclined toward the short side.

TO-DAY'S LOCAL CLEARINGS.

November 7th 1906	$5,441,043

MONTREAL EXCHANGE RATES.

Montreal exchange rates follow: Buyers, 60 days, 8¾ to 8 5-32; sight, 9 11-32; cables, 9 19-32; francs, short, 5.18¾ to 5.18 1-16; marks, short, 94¾; New York funds, par to 1-64.

SAO PAULO UP.

Sao Paulo Tramway stock advanced a couple of points further in Toronto to 143 and was quite active. The movement appears to be based on expectation of an increased demand.

ALL EYES WERE ON DETROIT STOCK

It Broke Over 4 Points at the Opening and then Recovered a Little.

THERE WAS NO EXCITEMENT

The first quotation that came over the Montreal "ticker" this morning was Detroit, 88 bid, 87 asked.

A second later 87½ was bid, and there was a sale at that figure. Afterwards the price ran to 88 and then jumped to 89¼.

A little selling pressure broke it to 88½, and the stock held steady around that basis for some time.

The final sale of Detroit yesterday was at 92, so that the initial price to-day showed a decline of 4½ points.

There was no excitement to speak of, and surprisingly little stock came out in view of the adverse decision the people of Detroit gave at the polls.

The majority of local Detroit holders seemed inclined to look upon the result in a philosophical way, and it is evident that they have made up their minds to put the worst possible construction upon the outcome of the vote, believing that the road will be able to make a good showing even if forced to accept the 3-cent fares in 1909.

The situation, however, is not quite clear, and it is not sure as yet that the City Council that was elected yesterday is strongly opposed to the interests of the road. The last council was largely in sympathy with the road's proposals, and as far as can be learned but few of the aldermen were so radical in their franchise ideas as Mr. Thompson, the mayor-elect.

The course of the stock in the market to-day was followed with a great deal of interest, and "How's Detroit?" was a question asked by hundreds of people, who merely wanted to know out of curiosity.

The concensus of opinion among the brokers was that the stock acted very well, and apparently there was no professional support to speak of.

SIX MONTREAL BANKERS GO

To Toronto to Attend the Bankers' Association Meeting.

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Bankers' Association to-morrow, the following Montreal bankers will be present:

E. S. Clouston	Montreal
H. Stikeman	British
E. L. Pease	Royal
E. F. Hebden	Merchants
J. Elliott	Molsons
J. A. Prendergast	Hochelaga
John Knight	Secretary

The meeting will be an important one, in view of recent banking developments.

HUDSON'S BAYS WERE DOWN.

According to Clarence J. McCuaig & Co.'s cable, Hudson's Bays were off two points from the recent highest, at £107½.

Fairbanks Bros.' London cable quoted Grand Trunk, third at 68⅛, and ordinary at 27⅝.

BANK OF MONTREAL.

At 258, Bank of Montreal shows 3.88 per cent. on the investment.

MONTREAL COTTON.

Montreal Cotton stock continues very strong, and there were no sellers under 135.

NIPISSING STEADY.

HARRIMAN WINS.

CONSOLS STEADY.

British consols closed steady at 86 1-16 for money, and 86 7-16 for account.

GRANBY FIRM.

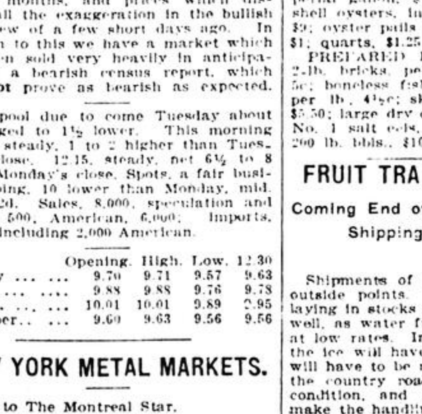
Granby was rather firm at 13¼ to 13¾.

COBALT STOCKS.

Foster was firm at 3¾ to 4, Silver Queen 2⅞ to 3, and McKinley 3⅞ to 4.

AGAIN AT 500.

There was a sale of 10 Canada North-West Land at 500.



A. O. Brown — The opening reflected the lower London quotations, and professionals were disposed to take the profit in sight on their long lines. Fear that the Bank of England will advance its discount rate to-morrow is assigned as the chief cause for the selling. Banking interests are buying on a scale down, and, after the speculative lines are unloaded, a good recovery should take place.

J. S. Bache—The market was a distinct disappointment to believers in higher prices. While the election was favorable in a degree to betterment, the money situation appears to be the dominant factor, and until this has shown a turn for the better the hopes are very scant for a bull market.

J. B. Picken—What with the disappointment over the election and the prospects of further stringency in the money market unless Mr. Shaw speedily takes steps to better the situation, we can see no grounds for a bull market.

Burnett & Co.—Uptown interests are not inclined to express definite opinion regarding the immediate future of the stock market. They believe that money will be the dominant factor for a little time at least, but are not free to indicate to what extent.

E. & C. Randolph—The trading during the whole market was very irregular, showing strength one moment and weakness the next. The market at present is inclined to be soft at about the low prices for the day.

Laidlaw & Co. — I think it has got down to a question of money rates now. Market can't well go up with high money, but if money should ease up later on, think stocks willl move up. Don't see signs of easy money until after first of the year.

There was quite an outpouring of members of the Stock Exchange and Detroit United stockholders at the Windsor Hotel to get the Star's bulletins on the result.

In fact, late in the evening many stayed just to hear the returns from this fight.

Detroit time is later than Montreal's, and the polls did not close till 8 o'clock.

The result was that it was nearly eleven (our time) before the news came over that the franchise had been beaten, and that Codd was running behind Thompson.

It was a mistake to close the Montreal Exchange yesterday afternoon. Business was good in the morning and promised to be good in the afternoon.

It was proposed to adjourn in Toronto, but it was voted down by a big majority.

The Street Railway meeting at noon was jammed to the doors, and at least fifty shareholders had to go away, unable to gain admission.

Most of the members of the Stock Exchange were present, and it proved, as anticipated, the biggest and most interesting gathering in the history of the company.

At a little informal dinner tendered to Sir Edward Stracey at the St. James Club, the London banker spoke most optimistically of the prospects for Canadian securities in the English market.

England, he said, was looking this way with eager eyes, and is willing to consider honest and legitimate enterprises.

Next March it is understood that Mr. Mackay Edgar will bring a party of prominent English financiers to Canada, and will also take them to Cuba and Mexico to look over some of the enterprises down there that are being financed by Canadian and English capital.

In acquiring control of the Terminal Railway, it is presumed that Montreal Street purchased the $600,000 bonds of the former concern which were owned by the Sun Life Assurance Co.

The bonds bear 5 per cent. interest, and in its last report the Sun Life estimated the market value of the bonds at $613,000.

No two Montreal traders pronounce the name of the Trethewey mine alike. In spite of that, however, they can make themselves understood, and a good many are buying it.

There is a sign on the Wall Street "curb":

"BEWARE OF PICKPOCKETS."

So far, it is said that none of the brokers have considered that anything personal was meant by the authorities in erecting the sign.

Before he left Montreal Mr. James Ross is credited with the remark: "I'll make the Steel Company sweat."

Mr. Jones, of Dominion Steel, is bearing a good many burdens upon his shoulders.

Mr. Plummer, the president of the company, has a great deal of faith in Mr. Jones, and left him in full control.

Mr. Jones has great executive ability, it is said, but lacks diplomacy.

Opinion on the Steel Trouble

The stock market is now inclined to mark time in connection with the Steel-Coal affair, still believing that the settlement of the difficulties will be speedily brought about. Steel sold at 27½ to 28 to-day, and the bonds at 82½, with very little trading.

Sydney, N.S., Novemebr 7.—The situation at the steel works is somewhat improved by the events of the last few days. In addition to the coal purchased from the Nova Scotia Steel Company, as announced in the Star yesterday, the Steel Company had made arrangements for a quantity of coal with the Acadia Coal Company and the Intercolonial Company also. The Gowrie and Blockhouse collieries of Port Morien have also offered to deliver a quantity of coal, which will probably be accepted. All this, in addition to the fact that there is a likelihood of a satisfactory arrangement being reached with the Dominion Coal Company within a short time, renders the situation more hopeful than it looked at the end of last week.

The interests involved are so immense that neither the Coal Company nor the Steel Company, much less the general public, should have any desire to prolong the existing relations.

Negotiations are now in progress between both companies, which, it is understood, will bring about a satisfactory solution of the difficulty.

A cargo of Wilson coal has been purchased by the Steel Company, and it is now on its way from Cardiff to this port.

MR. CLOUSTON TAKES ACTION.

Another wire said: "The progress made in the direction of settling the difficulty is so far disappointing. Yesterday General Manager Clouston, of the Bank of Montreal, made representations to both companies with a view to a temporary settlement pending a final and more satisfactory one.

General Manager Jones says that he has a sufficient quantity of coal in view to keep in operation two of the company's blast furnaces, and is optimistic about an early solution of the difficulty.

WEST IS BUYING B. C. STOCKS

But the Interest in British Columbia Issues is Small.

Interest in British Columbia stocks is now almost entirely confined to that province. Daily enquiries are coming in from there for their stocks, and when any blocks come into the market, they are taken up by the Western investors.

WHEAT WEAKER AFTER HOLIDAY

Bullish Advices on Argentine and United States Wheat Crops.

VERY FEW FRESH EGGS

Prices for These Firm—Butter Rather Firmer—Trade in Fish and Fruit Excellent.

From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, November 7.—There was a slow and weak market, with December liquidation a factor as well as a feature of the day's session. The bulls were inclined to put up a fight early, but they were swamped later by the increased supply put on sale.

New York and Kansas City both reported liquidation of long holdings and weak markets. North-West was a seller here, both on the hard and the soft spots in the market.

The Argentine news was less favorable, a milling authority reporting conditions good in one province and poor in two. A private authority claims a 5 per cent. increase in the area down there, with prospects of a 25 per cent. decrease in the crop as compared with last year.

The world's available supply increased 3,200,000 bushels for the week.

Col. G. D. Rogers, of the Minneapolis Market Record, said: "With the non-appearance of the usual heavy movement has come a decided change in regard to the opinions of the size of the crop. This is not a new feature in speculation, but it is a new factor as regards the steady disappearance of the great dread that has been hanging over the market that the final results might justify the high estimates, and buyers of future would have the wheat delivered to them. Outside of a few committed to the big estimates, it would be hard to find an adherent, and the belief that the north-western crop is below 200,000,000 bushels is becoming a firmer conviction than it has been at any previous time this season.

The Liverpool spot wheat market closed unchanged to-day at 6s 5d to 6s 5½d for No. 1 northern Manitoba; no stock No. 2. Options closed ⅛d down at 6s 4⅛d for Dec., and 6s 5⅛d for March, and 6s 5d for May. Antwerp closed at 16⅞ for No. 2 Kansas, Nov. and Dec. Paris closed steady at 23.20 for Nov. and 23.40 for March and June.

Winnipeg was ¼c down at noon from last night at 74⅛c for Nov., and 72⅝c for Dec., May being ⅛c down at 76⅛c.

Chicago was ¾c lower than last closing, at noon, at 73⅜c for Dec., and ⅜c down on May at 78⅛c. Dec. corn was ¼ down from Monday's closing, at noon, at 42⅞c, May being ⅛c down at 43⅝c. Dec. oats were steady at 34⅜c.

LOCAL MARKET. — Notwithstanding the advance in the market for oats at Winnipeg this morning, cables from the other side are still considerably below an export basis, and consequently trading between here and Winnipeg was restricted. There was very little demand for oats on spot, and the market was steady at unchanged prices. Oats were still quoted at 38½ to 39c for No. 4 in store, 39½ to 40c for No. 3, and 40½ to 41c for No. 2. Buckwheat was still quoted at 56½ to 57c per bushel in store. American corn, No. 2 yellow, being 56½ to 57c, and No. 3 mixed, 55½ to 56c, in store.

COTTON MARKET CONDITIONS.

Edmund & Charles Randolph — New York, November 7.—Of course, the result of state elections could have no influence on the cotton market, but in local speculative circles uncertainty in this respect may have been something of a factor, and are now out of the way, and after to-morrow the census report, which has been one of the bearish beacons, will still be a thing of the past. Meanwhile we have prices under ten cents for the winter months, and prices which discount all the exaggeration in the bullish crop view of a few short days ago. In addition to this we have a market which has been sold very heavily in anticipation of a bearish census report, which may not prove as bearish as expected.

Liverpool due to come Tuesday about unchanged to 1½ lower. This morning opened steady, 1 to 2 higher than Tuesday's close. 12.15, steady, net 6½ to 8 under Monday's close. The Times, discussing the characteristics of imported butters, declares the Canadian to be as good as any, and if means were used, as done by New Zealand, to raise the average value, it would command as high prices.

Henri J. Poulin and Ovide Julien, referred to in this column yesterday, have been found guilty by the jury of the Court of King's Bench of having conspired together to defraud farmers. Evidence showed that they worked their game by soliciting produce to be sold on commission, through circular postals, quoting comparatively high prices, and after having received a shipment they disposed of it without making a remittance to the farmers. Several farmers testified to having been swindled in this manner, among others Mr. Eusèbe Ladouceur, of St. Andre d'Argenteuil, who lodged the complaint.

The arrival of shipments of Canadian flour in England has created some disturbance among Yorkshire millers, and they are contemplating increasing their mill capacity in order to meet the competition which is seriously cutting into their trade.

For the first nine months of last year the imports were 847,000 cwt., and for the same period this year they were increased to 1,520,000 cwt. It looks, cables the agent, as if Canada is going to capture this trade.

The Two Leading Industries of the U.S.

In the five years between 1900 and 1905, the flour and grist milling industry of the U. S. increased its output 42.2 per cent., says the Wall Street Journal. The value of products increased from $561,000,000 to $713,000,000, so that this branch of manufacturing now exceeds in the gross income from products that of the lumber and timber industry, and even that of the steel works and rolling mills of the United States.

Only one other industry outranks that of grain milling in respect of gross income from products, namely, that of slaughtering live stock and meat packing, whose total output in 1905 was $913,914,624. Milling and the meat industry combined represent an annual production of $1,627,000,000.

Last year twelve leading grain markets took 763,000,000 bushels of grain, most of which went into the hopper, and seven packing house centres, including Chicago and the Missouri River markets, received 28,200,000 head of live stock, all of which except a few were destined for slaughtering.

END OF LAKE FISH SEASON.

Shell Oysters Scarce and Dear—Mackerel and Market Cod Plentiful.

Dealers in fish of various kinds cannot expect the supply of fresh lake fish to hold out much longer, as the season is now getting pretty well forward, and before long the ice will be forming. Steak cod continues scarce, and pike and pickerel are still arriving by express, but these may stop at any time. Some choice mackerel is also coming along by express, and haddock and market cod are plentiful. Steak cod being, however, scarce. Sturgeon are now out of the market, and flounders are considerably dearer.

Kippers and bloaters are arriving freely. Fresh supplies of haddies are hard to procure, owing to stormy weather along the coast. Prices have firmed somewhat.

Shell oysters continue quite scarce, and prices are higher, while the tendency is still firm. In bulk oysters, selects are scarce, while standards are a little cheaper.

There is practically no change in the price of salt fish. Green cod are moving freely at firm prices. Good Labrador herring are firmly held, and in good demand, while common salt herring are plentiful and in poor demand.

Trade has been very fair during the past week, and all that is now needed is cold weather.

FRESH FISH.—Fresh haddock, per lb., 4c; halibut, chilled, 10c; dore, 10c; lake trout, 9c; mackerel, large 12c; grass pike, headless, 7½c; Gaspe salmon, chilled, 16c; B.C. salmon, chilled, 10c; sea trout, 12c; flounders, 12c; dressed bullheads, 9c; steak cod, 6c; market cod, 3½c.

FRUIT TRADE STILL ACTIVE.

Coming End of Navigation Occasions Shipping of Long Keeping Fruit.

Shipments of fruit are fairly large to outside points. Dealers everywhere are laying in stocks of such fruit as will keep well, as water freights are still available at low rates. In a few weeks from now the ice will have taken, and rail freights will have to be resorted to, besides which the country roads will be in a very bad condition, and the frosty weather will make the handling of fruit a risky undertaking.

Demand for all lines continues good. Some firms are already turning their attention to obtaining a supply of holly, thus sounding an early note of the coming Christmas trade.

George Vipond & Co.'s circular quotes as follows:

BUTTER MARKET HOLDS FIRM

Fresh Laid Eggs Very Scarce and Dear—Cheese Market Steady.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Peterboro, Ont., November 7. — The closing meeting of the Peterboro cheese board for the season of 1906 was held to-day, when 3,279 boxes boarded were sold. The highest price obtained was 12½c, and the lowest 12⅜c.

N. G. Somerville, of Brockville, was at the meeting, and addressed the buyers and salesmen on the subject of cost curing rooms.

This season has been by far the most successful in the history of the Peterboro cheese board.

In the 11 meetings held, 41,721 boxes were sold on the board.

This totals up to about 3,546,285 pounds. The lowest average at any one sale was 10⅝c, and the highest average 13⅛c a pound.

Stirling, November 7. — At the cheese board yesterday, 255 boxes were boarded. All sold at 12 7-16c.

Campbellford, November 7. — At the cheese board yesterday, 715 boxes were offered; 400 sold at 12 5-16c, balance refused.

EGGS.—Receipts of straight lots are now of somewhat inferior quality, being no longer fresh laid. Hens have stopped laying, and really fresh laid stock might sell at 30c or thereabouts. The straight receipts, however, are valued around the same as cold store, these being 19 to 22c and sometimes 22½c. A percentage of selects may be taken from the latter, and when these are very fine they bring 27c, and even more in case lots, prices ranging also down to 24c. Demand is very fair, orders being, however, mostly for small lots. Limed eggs are about 20c per dozen.

Receipts of eggs reported on the Board of Trade to-day were 1,269 cases.

POTATOES. The market for potatoes is steady. Receipts from the country are quite liberal, dealers being engaged in making purchases to put away for the winter. Prices hold about steady at 60 to 65c, cost on track, per 90 lbs., and selling in car lots at 4c or so advance, and in a jobbing way in bags of 90 lbs., delivered into store, at 70 to 80c.

CHEESE.—The market showed very little change this morning. The boom seems to be out of the movement for the moment, dealers not having met with the response which they hoped for. However, there is no decline, and the general feeling seems to be that the market will remain steady. Prices for Quebecs are 12¾ to 12⅞ cents, 12⅞ to 12⅞ cents for Townships, and 12⅝ to 12¾c for Ontarios, for October makes. Septembers are quoted at about 13c for Ontarios.

Receipts of cheese reported on the Board of Trade to-day were 9,328 boxes.

BUTTER.—The market is quite firm in tone. There is quite a little going on in a small way, but very little in a large way. This morning a sale of 100 packages of choice Townships creamery was reported at 24¼c, and the seller stated he would not let his choicest go in small lots at less than 24½c. However, the general run of prices is from 23½ to 24c for fine creamery. Dairies are steady at 19 to 20c for Manitobas, finest Ontarios being 20 to 21c.

Receipts of butter reported on the Board of Trade to-day were 961 packages.

HOGS AND PROVISIONS.

There is no change in the market for dressed hogs. Fresh abattoir stock, fine, was quoted at 8¾ to 9c, country dressed being obtainable at 8¼ to 8½c. Provisions of all kinds are steady also.

HAMS.—Extra large hams, 25 lbs. and upwards, 14c; large hams, 18 to 25 lbs., 14½c per lb.; medium sizes, selected weights, 12 to 18 lbs., 15c, and extra small sizes, 8 to 12 lbs., 15c; hams with bone out, rolled, 16c for large and 17c for small.

BACON. — Wiltshire bacon, 50-pound sides, 17c; spiced roll bacon, boneless, 13 to 14c. English breakfast boneless bacon, 15c; Windsor backs, 15c; green flanks, 11 to 12c; long clear, heavy, 11c; long clear, light, 12c.

PORK.—Heavy Canada short cut mess pork, $24 per bbl.; selected heavy Canada short cut mess, boneless, special quality, $24; Canada short cut back, family pork, $23.00; half bbls., $11.50; clear fat backs, $23.50 per bbl.; heavy flanks, $22; extra heavy short cut clear, $22.50.

SAUSAGE. — Packed in baskets of 25 or 50 lbs. each; pork links, 7 to 8c per lb.; smoked Saveloy links and Frankfurts, 8c; Oxford links, farmers' sausages and 1-lb. package Cambridge sausage, 8c, and smoked 20-lb. pails of sausage meat, 8c; Bologna and Brunswick sausage, 6c.

BEEF.—Extra plate beef, per half bbl., of 100 lbs., $6.75; per bbl. of 200 lbs., $13; per tierce of 300 lbs., $19.

COMMISSION TO MONTREAL.

Railway Questions Will Be Considered Here This Week.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, Ont., November 7.—In the Supreme Court to-day the case of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company vs the Ottawa Fire Insurance Company was taken up. The railway company was insured against damages caused by locomotives to property located in the State of Maine (not including the company's own property). The fire was caused by locomotives to standing timber in Maine, and the company, having indemnified the owners, made a claim for reimbursement under the policy, which the insurance company refused to pay on the ground that standing timber was not included in the description of property which, by its charter and the general insurance act of Ontario it was authorized to insure. The railway company then brought an action claiming under the policy, in the alternative, for return of the premium, with interest, if it was held that the policy was issued without authority.

The courts below held that the policy was valid as to the property that could, in law, be insured, but standing timber could not be included and the action was dismissed in toto.

WHY BANKS DON'T FAIL IN CHINA.

It is one hundred years since the failure of a bank in China, said a bank examiner. More than nine hundred years ago, in the reign of Hi Hung, a bank failed. Hi Hung had the failure investigated, and to his indignation found it had been due to reckless and shady conduct on the part of the directors and the president. Hi Hung at once issued an edict that the next time a bank failed the heads of its president and directors were to be cut off. This edict, which has never been revoked, has made China's banking institutions the safest in the world.

Our Display of Winter Millinery

will begin on Thursday, when there will be in our Department an absolutely

New and Exclusive Showing of fashionable and seasonable Hats in the which velvets and furs will be much to the fore.

There will be many striking novelties, but possibly none more so than the latest fad from Paris and New York—"The Theatre Toque."

The Military Hip-Length Costume

There have been many and various styles of costumes, but, it is safe to say, none more popular than the costume of this season—the Military Hip Length. Its diversity of design makes it comparatively easy to suit every taste, and its uniformly smart style becomes any figure.

We have lately made some of these costumes in ultra smart design and, incidentally, we are able to sell them as formerly. They will be on show in our Department on Thursday.

French Embroidered Flannels

So great has been the demand this Fall for Silk Embroidered Flannels that we found our stock running out faster than it was coming in.

A new shipment has just arrived, however, and while the assortment is at its best, we would like you to make your selection. The designs and colourings are almost nicer than any we have had before.

Straight from the manufacturer in France they come, so what you would ordinarily pay .65 for we are able to sell you at

FEARFUL PAINS

SUGGESTIONS HOW WOMEN MAY FIND RELIEF.

While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. This is a severe strain on a woman's vitality. When pain exists something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to a serious derangement of the whole female organism.

Thousands of women have testified in grateful letters to Mrs. Pinkham that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcomes women's special pains and irregularities.

It provides a safe and sure way of escape from distressing and dangerous weaknesses and diseases.

The two following letters tell so convincingly what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for women, they cannot fail to bring hope to thousands of sufferers.

Miss Matilda Richardson of 177 Wellington Street, Kingston, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Some four years ago my usually good health began to fail. I had severe pains in my back, my head ached, I would have dizzy spells, and during my monthly periods I would suffer intense pain. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad that I did, for it brought new life and health to me. My monthly periods were natural and painless, and my general health improved. I have not had an ache or a pain since, and I feel it a duty as well as a pleasure to tell you what your medicine has done for me."

Mme. Louise McKenzie, of Mount Carmel, Montreal, Canada, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I had heard so much good about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I started to take it for painful periods so that when it cured me I was not surprised. I had suffered with blinding headaches and pain until it seemed that I must scream. These pains lasted from five to ten days every month, and you can understand how glad I was to get relief. I am in the best of health, and am pleased to give you this testimonial for what your medicine has done for me."

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound rests upon the well-earned gratitude of Canadian women.

When women are troubled with irregularities, displacements or ulceration of the organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating, (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands Woman's Ills.

PREVALENCE OF MADNESS IN CANADA

French Expert Finds That Disease Exists, But is Not Common—Tracing Its Origin.

At last night's meeting of the Societe Medicale, at Laval University, Dr. Lole, the French bacteriologist, who was commissioned by the Dominion Government to make a study of cattle diseases in the North-West, read a paper on the subject: "Is madness prevalent in Canada?"

Dr. Lole arrived at the conclusion that madness existed in this country, though not widespread. The disease, he said, wherever it was found, always originated from the bite of an animal, in most cases from a dog, and never came into existence spontaneously, but was always the result of contagion. For this reason it was sometimes difficult to trace the disease from its source, especially so with regard to the few isolated cases which had come within his observation in Canada.

Dr. Lole quoted several of these cases, among others one communicated to him by Dr. Higgins, of Ottawa, concerning a man who contracted the disease from the bite of a domesticated wolf, and who finally died in a hospital under appalling circumstances after having lost his reason.

D. B. MARTIN AND CO. AGAIN CONVICTED.

The D. B. Martin Company, Ltd., were again fined $25 and costs on four charges of committing a nuisance at their abattoirs on Frontenac street. The cases were heard by Mr. Recorder Weir, who said that it was his duty to protect the citizens of Delorimier, adding that he found it quite strange that no attempt to remove the bad smell had been made.

Four other cases were taken en delibere by Mr. Recorder Weir. Tonight at Delorimier a public meeting will be held to see whether or not any means of forcing the company to remedy the state of afairs can be found.

AMUSEMENTS.

His Majesty's.

H. B. Irving's first appearance as a star in Canada will be made on next Monday evening at His Majesty's Theatre, and the engagement will embrace a series of seven performances, including the Saturday matinee. His leading woman is Miss Dorothea Baird, whom Du Maurier chose to interpret the title role in "Trilby." Miss Baird's triumph was so great in this character that she at once assumed a place on the English stage as one of its most notable leading women. The company will also include several who were with Sir Henry Irving in the old Lyceum days. The bill for Monday will be Mr. Irving's own adaptation of a French play by Andre Picard, "Jeunesse." Mr. Irving has named the play "Mauricette," which is the name of the heroine, the role played by Miss Baird. "Mauricette" will be preceded by the dramatization made by W. L. Courtney, of Robert Louis Stevenson's story "Markheim." During his engagement Mr. Irving will also present the well known "The Lyons Mail," which will be preceded by "King Rene's Daughter." He will also be seen during the week in "King Charles I," in which he plays the title role, and Miss Baird the Queen.

Academy of Music.

The Pollard Lilliputian Opera Company, which has been so successful in the past in presenting familiar operatic characters in a new light, will play a return engagement at the Academy, beginning November 12th. For the first week of their engagement they will present for the first time in Montreal the musical comedy "In Town."

Theatre Francais.

"Chinatown Charlie" will begin a week's engagement at the Francais next Monday. The play is said to include several scenes of an artistic character; and also a few scenic glimpses of a gruesome kind; notably the Secret Chamber and Rat Alley, which are said to be no exaggeration of what certain New York localities offer to those whose slumming propensities lead them where others are afraid to venture.

Theatre Royal.

At the Royal next week the attraction will be "The Champagne Girls." The company includes Potter and Hartwell, Montgomery and Carter, George B. Alexander; Carrie Ezler and Josie Webb, and the Moores. The management promise a fine production and handsome costumes.

Hekking Concert Programme.

The [illegible] Symphony concert of the house will be given at the Academy of Music, next Friday afternoon, at 4.15 o'clock. The soloist will be Anton Hekking, the famous German 'cellist.

JUDGE CHOQUET WILL PRESIDE AT BUCKINGHAM

The Attorney-General yesterday appointed Judge Choquet to hear the evidence at the enquete into the charges of manslaughter in connection with the Buckingham strike arrests.

To Appear at Insurance Enquiry.

Messrs. G. Herbert Simpson, Thos. J. Parkes, and A. H. Vipond have left for Ottawa to join the rest of the executive committee of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada, who have been asked to appear before the Royal Commission on Life Insurance to express the views of the agents of the Dominion on insurance matters now occupying the attention of the Royal Commission.

Water Committee Estimates.

The Water Committee decided yesterday to ask Council for an appropriation of $225,898 for next year. The largest single item was $82,000 for coal, which is required largely at the pumping station at Point St. Charles. General maintenance, $45,000; steam pumps, $24,000 and hydrants, $11,000, were other amounts included in the requisition.

Ticket Agents to Meet.

Mr. J. J. McConniff, city passenger and ticket agent of the Intercolonial Railway, left last night by Grand Trunk Railway en route to Mobile and New Orleans to attend the annual convention of the Canadian Ticket Agents' Association, to be held at Mobile this week.

WHAT Fruit-a-tives OR "FRUIT LIVER TABLETS" ARE

Fruit-a-tives are the marvels of modern medicine. They have accomplished more actual cures—done more good to more people—than any other medicine ever introduced in Canada for the time they have been on sale.

Fruit-a-tives are fruit juices. They are nature's cure for —CONSTIPATION

—IMPURE BLOOD
—SKIN DISEASES
—KIDNEY TROUBLE
—RHEUMATISM
—IRRITATED HEART

Fruit-a-tives are the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes. These juices are concentrated—and by a secret process, the juices are combined in a peculiar manner. This new combination is much more active medicinally than fresh juices—yet so perfect is the union that Fruit-a-tives act on the system as if they were in truth a natural fruit, medicinally stronger than any other known fruit.

To this combination of fruit juices, tonics and internal antiseptics are added, and the whole made into tablets.

Tried to Get in School Book Ring.

Toronto, November 7.—George N. Morang, the publisher, before the text book commission, told of the difficulties he experienced in his endeavor to get into the schoolbook ring. He complained generally of his treatment by the Liberal Government and particularly about Hon. Mr. Harcourt, former minister of education, who wrote letters to him marked "personal" and "private," whereas in reality they were business letters and should have been public.

Manufacturers' Stocks Sacrificed.

Gigantic Sale Starts Nov. 8th, at 8 A.M.

A TREMENDOUS CUT IN CLOTHING AND FUR PRICES resulting from an over production of three manufacturers. Had weather conditions been normal, this Sale would not have been necessary, and the opportunity for you to save would have been lost. If manufacturers could correctly judge weather conditions six months ahead, bargains of this kind would be unknown. But they cannot do it—they cannot tell when the cold will come and the snow will fly—they must follow the trend of custom. Being slaves to custom, they make mistakes. The mistakes they make frequently prove of incalculable profit to the the public, as in this instance when three great manufacturers' stocks of Fall and Winter Clothing and Furs are to be sold to consumers at the cost of production. It is simply a case of over production of miscalculation. Thousand of fashionable, serviceable, splendidly made garments were produced, but the unseasonable weather stopped their sale as effectually as a flame stops the flight of a moth. Nobody wanted Fall and Winter Clothing and Furs in summer weather. The manufacturers became panic stricken, they turned to us, we said: Half Price! "No, no," they retorted, "we lose too much money." That was a month ago. Last week they signalled their willingness to take their losses, and to-day we have at our disposal three unprecedented stocks of Fall and Winter Clothing and Furs which we shall sell at Half Price, and this store will be the outlet through which the stocks will pass from day to day to the consumers. It will be a sort of a clearing house, which will enable the buyers to save 50 cents on the dollar. The savings are simply wonderful. It is necessary to see the clothing, try it on and note the excellence, then the value will become apparent and no printed argument will be needed. It is the most wonderful clothing opportunity presented in Montreal, and one that cannot be repeated this season.

Cubans Want to Be Annexed.

Havana, November 7.—The report of a remarkable feature in the present condition of minor disorder which prevails more or less throughout the island comes from Sancti Spiritus, in Santa Clara province. In the vicinity of the town there is encamped an armed band of 90 men, under the command of Colonels Sanchez and Jiminez. This band is displaying the Stars and Stripes. The leaders declare they not only have no intention of opposing the Americans in any way, but that it is their desire to head a movement in support of annexation to the States.

"THE VOICE OF THE STARS."

According to "Zadkiel," 1907 is to be year full of trouble, especially for ie Government.

The year is to open well, however. Jupiter is supreme in Cancer, the opical sign, at the birth of the New ear, and as the same benefic planet ad lately risen at the winter solstice trine aspect with the ruling planet, Mars, of Great Britain, a good begin- ning for our beloved country may as- uredly be anticipated; albeit political urmoil will soon attend." But in February the House of Commons will be "the scene of great excitement, and the British Government will be in a uandary—one of their number will be n some personal danger."

In March a warning is made to the overnment about naval disarmament, nd in the following month, "inasmuch s Mars meets with the opposition of upiter, the conjunction with Uranus arice, and remains in the same tropi- al sign until October 13—a stay of nore than six months—a most impor- ant epoch for India is now inaugurat- d. Let the British Government and he Viceroy accept this serious warn- ng that a great crisis is at hand!"

As the result of the affliction of the un and moon at their anniversaries in May, "two European sovereigns, a cer- ain royal duke, and a popular earl, will soon be involved in trouble or ill- ealth." The following month there re further misfortunes for India and Afghanistan. July is more fortunate, Jupiter, being now free from the hos- ile rays of Mars, benefits Scotland and ther countries subject to Cancer." n August 26, Mars is in conjunction ith Uranus again in the ninth degree Capricornus, and "accidents and ex- losions will soon follow in the south- ast of Europe, and in India," while in eptember accidents, explosions, and res will afflict New York.

"There will be sickness in high laces" in October, and "the Govern- ent will not be in a very salubrious ondition." A furious storm may be oked for in November, and during the st month of the year there will be a change in the personnel of the abinet, and in that of the Common ouncil of the city."

The property will be sold subject to a reserved price to be fixed by the Master for the whole and for each parcel separately, but the highest or any tender shall not necessarily be accepted.

Each parcel will be sold subject to all taxes, and other rates accruing thereon after the 1st of December, 1906. The purchaser shall take over the insurance (if any) which may be in force on the property, and shall in addition to the purchase money pay a proportionate part of the insurance premiums for the respective periods for which the several policies may have still to run from the time of the payment of the balance of the purchase money.

The purchaser of Parcel Number One shall be entitled to the revenue accruing from and after the payment of the balance of purchase money, and the vendor will pay all wages and charges for the operation of the said property up to the said time. The conveyance shall be without warranty save as to the acts of the Liquidator, and shall be prepared by the Solicitor for the Liquidator at the expense of the purchaser. All expenses of, and incidental to the investigation of title including the preparation of the abstracts, if required, shall be borne by the purchaser. The vendor shall be bound to produce only such title deeds as are in his possession.

Some of the Village lots described in Parcel Number Four are subject to certain leases which must be respected by the purchaser and if the Liquidator shall be unable to show a good title to any of the said lots, the sale shall not be thereby rendered void, but a proportionate reduction of the purchase money to be fixed by the Master shall be allowed to the purchaser as compensation therefor. Tenders must be sealed and addressed W. L. Scott, Local Master, Court House, Ottawa, and marked "Re Capital Power Company, Limited, Tender for Property." Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque for ten per cent. of the amount of such tender which will be returned in the event of the tender being rejected. If, however, any one person shall tender for two or more of the said parcels en bloc and also on one or more of the said parcels included in the said tender separately, one certified cheque for ten per cent. of the amount of the tender en bloc (or for ten per cent. of the aggregate amount of the separate tenders if such aggregate amount be larger than the tender en bloc) will be sufficient.

Upon the acceptance of a tender the balance of the purchase money shall be paid to the liquidator within one month thereafter, and the purchaser shall then be entitled to a conveyance and to be let into possession of the property and shall be entitled to all rents thereof accruing after such payment. In all other respects the terms and conditions of sale will be the standing conditions of this court.

Forms of tender and other particulars may be had from Messrs. Ewart, Osler, Burbidge & Maclaren, Solicitors, 14 Metcalfe street, Ottawa, or the Liquidator.

Dated at Ottawa, the 3rd day of November, 1906.

THRILLING PURSUIT BY ENRAGED RUSSIAN GENERAL OF ERRING WIFE AND HER COMPANION

RUSSIAN LOVERS TRACKED BY SPIES—Madame Ouchakoff, wife of a Russian General, who eloped with Captain Gabriel Essipoff, who were refused the right to land in America by the immigration authorities.

In this age of commerce and industry romance is not dead. There is at present being pursued a race over land and sea; it is the race of a wrong husband after a faithless wife. The race is the longest and most romantic on record, nor is it likely to finish until the two men concerned cross swords in deadly combat. General Alexander Ouchakoff of the Russian army, appears in the character of the wronged husband, and he seeks the blood of Captain Gabriel Essipoff, of the same service, who ran away with his wife from his St. Petersburg home.

The General was in attendance at Peterhof when he discovered his wife's flight from his St. Petersburg house with Gabriel Essipoff, who, as a young officer, had been a member of his staff and a trusted personal friend. He immediately resolved on his implacable plan. He obtained definite leave of absence. He started in pursuit of the pair, and traced them about Europe, and was hard on their heels when the Koenig Albert sailed with them on board to New York. He was disappointed when he arrived by the next boat to find that they had been sent back. But he was not only disappointed; he could no comprehend why the authorities had deported them. But he grimly said, "'Nitcheva' (it does not matter). A week or two weeks more or less—what does it matter? The end will be the same. The General's baggage includes a few campaign necessaries and his sword. It is with the sword that he has decided to kill Essipoff. With the strangest confidence he speaks of the final scene as if it were an assured fact, not admitting of any alternative, such as that Essipoff should kill him.

ESSIPOFF READY TO FIGHT.

From Havre the runaways departed for London, where they arrived last week. While in the Metropolis Captain Essipoff stated to an interviewer: "Nothing would delight me more than to meet the General in a fair fight. I am as good a shot and swordsman, and the chances would be about equal. But I know that he seeks to kill me anyhow and anywhere, and then to immure madame in an asylum. It is to save her that I am striving. We are all in all to each other, and had rather take our own lives together than be separated. We are as determined as he."

Madame Ouchakoff admitted that she had grievously wronged her husband. Though the anxiety of the last few weeks has old upon her nervous system, she remains a strikingly handsome woman. She speak English well. "I have resigned my private fortune of £50,000," she said. "I have given my husband the right to divorce me. I do not blame him for what has happened. But surely he has tenfold increased his shame and disgrace by this mad pursuit. I will never return to him. I will kill myself first. And I am not mad, as he knows,unless he regards the love I feel for Gabriel as a kind of madness. I was a rich woman when I gave up all for Gabriel. I would not live a dishonest life in my husband's house; I preferred to efface myself, and go right away. And the captain agreed. His services at Turkestan—he belongs to the 10th Regiment of the Cossacks of Orenburg—have proved what a career he had before him. And he, too, has sacrificed everything for love, for me."

WATCHED BY SPIES.

The ever vigilant eye of the professional spy marks their every movement. As they drove about Rouen they were closely followed. At the cafe, at the station, on the streets, and at the booking offices the spy was omnipotent. At Newhaven the Rouen luggage-watcher appeared again, and at Victoria there were three more spies awaiting. Wherever their cab stopped a little fat man with his hand held so as to hide his face drove up and down. Another in a second cab appeared presently, and joined the first, so they followed together, and concealed each other as far as possible by talking earnestly as their cabs made rings round the fugitives. Before the house at which the captain and madam eventually lunched and rested,the spies waited and watched continuously. One entered the house opposite, and used a field-glass from a window.

Fugitives and spies went in procession to the Euston Road terminus, at which the former booked for their temporary destination, and a diligent agent boarded their train just before it drew out. "These men, if they merely do their duty,are not to blame," said madame. "But if they once overstep the bound of prudence, let them look out. At Amelie-les-Bains, in the Pyrenees district, where we spent a month, a man with a decoration, who gave himself out to be a merchant from Perpignan, and spent money lavishly at our hotel, was betrayed by a maid. He was one of the General's agents. I was so indignant that I rose as he sat down near me, and said: "I do not eat with spies." The rest of the guests expected a violent scene,but the man merely smiled, and next day when the captain approached him in the garden he hurriedly disappeared, and we saw him no more.

HELD AT NEW YORK.

"At Barcelona, Lisbon, Alcazar, Gibraltar, Algeciras, and Valencia, we were dogged day and night. Once we alighted at a wayside station at midnight to test matters, and a youth of twenty, who was our watcher just then, was so taken aback he blushed and stammered, and finally asked me in a panic—'Where are you going to?' We arrived at Hoboken, New York, on the Konig Albert at 5.30 a.m. on Thursday, September 27. The steward would not let us land, though every other passenger went ashore. I appealed to the captain for an explanation, and was told that someone was coming to see us. At 8 a.m. the Commissioner of Immigration and the clerk of the Russian Consulate saw us in the captain's cabin. The Commissioner was very rude, and talked about arrest, but the German captain told me they could not arrest us, and at my request sent for Consul-General Lodijenski. When he came he told us we could not land, and advised me 'as I would my own daughter,' to return by the liner La Savoie, which was delayed for us. On board we kept very much to our cabin, and very few passengers knew us."

While in London Madame Ouchakoff said on leaving the hotel, a boy waved a handkerchief,and ran after her. A big man followed. She returned to the hotel, the Russian Embassy spies close on her heels. When the spies had waited an hour a motor car drove up. The hall porter came out with the few handbags which the fugitive lovers were taking about with them, and the motor car, coming round the corner, suddenly stopped. Lovers and luggage got aboard, and before the detectives had any idea that anything exceptional was passing, they were well on their way out of London for, it was thought, Scotland. Instead, however, they set off once more across the seas.

The captain has declared his willingness to meet the general in a duel to the death. He has absolute confidence in his swordsmanship. Captain Essipoff is further convinced that the general, backed by the enormous resources of Russian officialdom, aims, if he cannot take him by surprise and shoot him dead, at his degradation and ruin, and ultimately death, by processes which those familiar with the system of espionage, practised in the Czar's realms can readily imagine.

Madame's detestation of the general is equal only to her lover's assurance, and will never, never be at the general's mercy, she says, adding: "We are ready to die together, but I do not want the general to kill Gabriel, and then have to kill myself."

NO CHANCE FOR SOCIALISTS.

Mr. Asquith Against Wasting Time in Wool Gathering.

Mr. Asquith, addressing his constituents recently, said that if Socialism meant the extinction of private property, the complete subordination for economical and social purposes of the individual to the collective will, the creation of a form of social organization in which, as had been well said, everyone would be not a citizen in a free State, but an official in a hierarchy, then he ventured to say there was no community in the world where Socialism had in the long run a worse chance of ultimate success than in England, because there was none in which it ran in more direct hostility to the instincts, traditions, genius, and necessities of the people.

He had not the least fear of it, nor did he see any tendency among the great mass of the people in that direction. He was all against wasting time and energy in going wool-gathering with the Socialists. "We could not equalize men's fortunes and men's positions any more than we could equalize their height or their weight. All the more reason that we should do whatever the organized power of the community could do to secure at least for everyone an average level of opportunity, and if not neutralize at least mitigate the evils and injustice for which neither freedom nor order provided a remedy.

They believed that in this matter Liberalism and the Liberal party had a special mission. While they were not prepared to do anything to uproot or undermine private ownership or individual initiative, they were resolved to reconcile with these things laws and institutions that sought as their governing aim and purpose to co-ordinate the good of each with the good of all.

He denied that the Government had weakly surrendered to the Socialist wing of the Labor party in the matter of the Trade Disputes Bill.

SALVATION ARMY AND EMIGRATION

Col. Lamb Tells An English Audience How the Canadian Work is Progressing.

At a recent meeting in London, held for the purpose, Col. Lamb, of the Salvation Army, gave an account of a tour of investigation which had been made by him with special reference to the emigration question.

Colonel Lamb said that he had travelled over 15,000 miles in the course of this journey. The United States wanted men, but, so long as there was room under the British flag for our surplus population, the Salvation Army would send the emigrants to a British country. Mr. Roblin, the Premier of Manitoba, had expressed to him a strong wish to have plenty of British to leaven up the thousands of Americans now crowding into the Canadian North-West. The Premier was not afraid of this American immigration, but it should be remembered that these people had been taught to salute and almost to worship the Stars and Stripes. In Manitoba it was now proposed to withhold Government grants from all public schools where the Union Jack was not daily hoisted. He quite agreed with those who said there would be room for all our people at home if things were differently organized, but when men were starving, or approaching starvation, at home, with little or no prospect for their children, he refused to advise them to stay in England, when they could get room and opportunity in Canada. As a matter of fact, Socialists who, in public, strongly objected to emigration, sometimes came privately begging the Salvation Army to emigrate men in whom they were interested.

He referred to the interesting experiment at Tisdale, in the North-West, now being carried on jointly by the Canadian Order of Foresters and the Salvation Army, and said the Salvation Army was selecting the population, and the Foresters were supplying the land. Instead of each man working independently, they joined in co-operative gangs at clearing and breaking the land and putting up houses. Beginning, as usual, with tents, each family got into a four or five-roomed cottage the first winter, instead of having to put up with a one-roomed log shack. Moreover, by co-operation they were able to get the use of a steam plough. Altogether, he was told that these settlers were as far on at the end of their first year as others were at the end of their third.

The Governor-General, Lord Grey, had lately driven sixteen miles from the railway to see how the colony was getting on, and had been well pleased with it. It was to be hoped that one day the Salvation Army would have a tract of their own out there for colonization. In Alberta, a member of the Ministry had impressed on him the advantages of that province; and at Ottawa, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Federal Premier, had received him with marked cordiality and asked him to go on and send more settlers of the sort already sent, including English and Scottish lasses for the North-West. Strongly advocating the Salvation Army's system of requiring emigrants to repay the money spent on their emigration, Colonel Lamb cited the case of a family sent out by means of a grant of £65 from one of the London unemployed committee, which laid down no such condition. That family, ever since its arrival in Canada, had been earning £7 to £8 a week, and might quite well have been asked to repay the money received from the public. What could the poor ratepayer here think of such a story? The time must surely come soon when people would resolve that, if emigration so improved the circumstances of the emigrants, they ought without hesitation to return the money spent on them, so that it could be used over again to help others.

BUCKET SHOPS FIGURED IN EVIDENCE IN KING'S BENCH.

Speculation, and the bucketshop have again laid hold of a victim, until now he faces a charge of theft. The story of the young man in the toils, was told in the Court of King's Bench this morning, before Mr. Justice Lavergne.

The young man who has the name of J. H. Grenier, who was working on commission for J. H. McCormick, of Bonsecours market, was sent to Toronto to sell a car load of cabbages. He proved a good salesman, and very soon realised $335 from his sale.

Grenier then moved among the smaller outlying towns around Toronto, sending reports of prices for country produce. Then came a letter (which was read in court) stating that the young man intended coming to Montreal, also, that he thought he would make a few dollars and so pay his expenses to Montreal, by buying stocks in a bucket shop. Stocks went down, and the young man found himself out of pocket over a hundred dollars. Still confident he continued to margin, buy and sell, until in another letter he admitted to McCormick, that he had lost over seven hundred dollars, of which $300 was of his own money. Grenier stated in his letter that he had been in Montreal, but was ashamed to face McCormick, but that he would do his best to replace the lost cash. McCormick waited a while for his money, but Grenier was at last arrested, and this morning pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft.

POLICE ENFORCE ANTI-SPITTING BY-LAW.

The men in blue are now on a sharp lookout for persons who continue to expectorate on the sidewalks. Chief Campeau yesterday received a communication from the Mayor in which His Worship stated that the vicinity of the Court House seemed to be a favorite spot with loiterers for expectoration. During the sitting of the King's Bench there is always a crowd of persons sitting around on the stones outside the Court House, waiting to hear the result of the trials, and each has an excuse when he is ordered to move on. These habitues of the courts sit from ten o'clock in the morning until about five o'clock at night chewing, smoking and sitting over the pavement. Two constables have now been placed in the vicinity and an improvement in the conduct of the loiterers may already be noticed.

Must Keep Account of Deals.

Isaac Miller, a secondhand dealer, of 786 West Notre Dame street, appeared this morning before Mr. Recorder Weir to answer a charge of not entering in a register a purchase from Louis Abinovitch. A fine of $5 or fifteen days in gaol was imposed by the court.

Sold Liquor on Sunday.

Joseph Girard, 1687 East Notre Dame street, in chambers before Mr. Recorder Weir, was fined $30 and costs or three months in gaol for having illegally sold liquor on Sunday in his restaurant.

ST. LOUIS TALKS OF MAKING LARGE LOAN

Money Is Needed for Streets and Lighting —Petition Presented to Council.

At the St. Louis Council last evening, Mr. Hector Bisaillon presented a petition, signed by over two hundred citizens of Montreal Annex, complaining of the dangerous condition of the sidewalks in the West ward and of defective lights. In connection with the petition, Mr. Bisaillon said that women had been accosted recently and while he would not say that this was due to the lack of light, he thought the danger would be minimized by a good lighting service.

Mr. Joseph Perrault, who also spoke on behalf of the petition, stated that he knew the town of St. Louis was very short of money, he had signed the petition with the proviso "provided the town of St. Louis had the necessary money."

Councillor Godon thought it strange that Mr. Perrault would ask for these improvements when he knew the town had no money available, and was opposed to the council borrowing money.

Councillor Jubinville said the council was anxious to make permanent sidewalks, which were badly needed, but the people would have to sanction the proposed loan of $300,000, which would leave a balance to pay off the floating debt. In regard to the defective lights he thought the chief of police should have one of his men watch these arc lights in the West ward, so that the town would be in a position to deduct from the company's accounts amounts charged for service not supplied.

Mayor Gelinas said he would be opposed to borrowing any more money unless there was a different understanding regarding the whole system of administration. For instance, there should not be any more contracts awarded on which five per cent. commission was paid to Mr. Vanier, town engineer, on all drains and permanent works, when the engineer drew a salary of $2,500.

Councillor Godon spoke very strongly in support of borrowing more money to make the necessary improvements, and added, "If we borrow $500,000 and spend it in the town, Montreal would annex us just the same, when the proper time comes."

Councillor Neville replied that this was not the question. The present council was elected to administer the affairs of the town of St. Louis as economically as if it were their own private business.

It is understood that the present debt of the town is about $1,350,000, and if the people sanction the proposed loan of $300,000, this will leave a little less than $100,000 available for permanent sidewalks, etc., the balance being applied to reducing the present floating debt. The Mayor says, however, that the council would have to appeal to the Legislature at Quebec for power to charge half of the cost of sidewalks to the proprietors.

Finally it was decided to leave the whole matter over until the by-law is introduced by Councillor Turcot, who is ill at present.

DENIES THAT JEWISH PARTY WILL BE FORMED.

Mr. A. Blumenthal, president of the Disraeli Conservative Club, speaking to a Star reporter last evening, declared that there was nothing whatever in the reported movement to form a separate Jewish party in this city and country.

"The Jews in Canada, like all other citizens," he said, "are divided into two great parties. Some support the Liberals and some the Conservatives. It would be absurd for our people to talk of forming a separate party. There are fifty thousand Jews in all Canada. Now, how many of that number are voters? Putting that question is sufficient to show the absurdity of such a movement. The Jewish Liberals as well as we of the Conservative party make up our minds on the issues of the day and stick to one party or the other on views regarding the interests of the whole country and not of any race or creed.

INADEQUACY OF GAOL PROVISION FOR WOMEN.

A largely attended meeting of the Hochelaga County Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held in Temperance Hall, Prince Arthur street, on Tuesday with Mrs. McLachlan, president, in the chair. Mesdames Radford, Curry, Thurston, Leet and McLachlan, who had been present at the World's Convention at Boston, spoke enthusiastically of the proceedings.

Mrs. Radford then presented the position of the Protestant woman's gaol, on Fullum street, calling attention to the need of a new one; also a reformatory for Protestant boys and girls, as both the latter and frequently the former have to be sent to other than Protestant institutions. It was then decided unanimously that a petition to this effect be submitted to the Government.

CARS WERE FISHED OUT OF THE CANAL.

Hundreds of persons were gathered on the embankment of the Lachine canal yesterday afternoon to watch the process of drawing up from the bed of the canal three flat cars, belonging to the Grand Trunk Railway, which had run off the Wellington Bridge into the canal on Monday. By means of a diver and a steam crane the work was quickly accomplished. The accident occurred late on Monday and was due to a freight train backing up without noticing the bridge was open. The superstructure of the cars, which was of wood, was easily fished out, but it was different with the heavy trucks, for which the diver and steam crane were necessary.

Owner Not Held Responsible.

Mr. Justice Dunlop yesterday condemned Mr. George Barry to pay to John Morris & Co., real estate agents, commission on the sale of a warehouse on Craig street, owned by the late John M. Bond, of Guelph.

The suit was brought in the first place against the late Mr. Bond. Messrs. Maclennan and Meagher, who appeared for Mr. Bond, denied his responsibility and declared that Mr. Barry had acted without authority in arranging with the plaintiffs for the sale. They accordingly called him into the case in warranty. The court has agreed with their action and condemned Mr. Barry but dismissed the case as against the late Mr. Bond.

LADEROUTE'S TRIAL NOT YET STARTED

Considerable Difficulty Is Being Experienced in Impanneling a Jury.

Special to the Montreal Star.

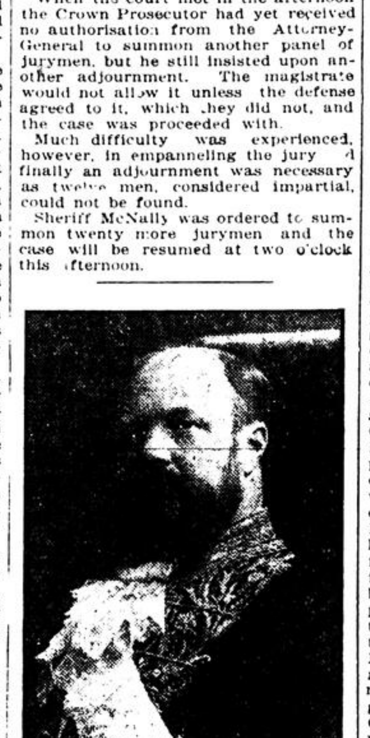
Bryson, November 7. — The trial of James Laderoute, charged with the murder of the Syrian peddler, George Charley on August 25th, 1905, was yesterday again adjourned.

The first adjournment was in the forenoon when the Crown Prosecutor asked to have the proceedings lay over till the afternoon so as to permit him to communicate with the Attorney-General, on a matter which he considered very important, and which was that he had information that some of the jurymen had made up their minds upon acquitting Laderoute.

When the court met in the afternoon the Crown Prosecutor had yet received no authorisation from the Attorney-General to summon another panel of jurymen, but he still insisted upon another adjournment. The magistrate would not allow it unless the defense agreed to it, which they did not, and the case was proceeded with.

Much difficulty was experienced, however, in empanneling the jury and finally an adjournment was necessary as twelve men, considered impartial, could not be found.

Sheriff McNally was ordered to summon twenty more jurymen and the case will be resumed at two o'clock this afternoon.



M. KLECZKOWSKI, Consul-General for France, who will leave Montreal to accept the post of Plenipotentiary at Montevideo, Capital of Uruguay.

"WHEN I SEE A NICE WOMAN I WANT TO MARRY HER"

Louis Bloom, alias Swartz, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Judge Lafontaine to enter a plea on the charge of bigamy, which had been laid against him in the morning. After the complaint had been read to him the accused made the following statement:

"When I see a nice woman I want to marry her. I don't know why, but I cannot help it. One country, one wife. I have only one wife in this country. The other one she belongs to the United States."

In the morning Bloom had pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy and non-support of his Montreal wife, and she and a Rochester wife met one another in the court.

Detective Lemieux arrested Bloom Monday night on a warrant sworn out by Ethel Levick, of Rochester, N.Y., who said that she had been married to Bloom at Erie, Pa., four months ago, and that he had deserted her two months ago. She learned last week while she was in Montreal that he had been married a couple of weeks ago to a young woman named Ethel Schneider, with whom he lived at 200 St. Lawrence Boulevard.

When the accused was taken to the central police station Monday night the Rochester wife told Lieut. Poulin that she thought he had another wife and two children in Russia. When Judge Lafontaine asked Bloom if he had another wife in Russia he replied: "No, Your Honor; I have only these two, and now that is one too many."

Bloom was then remanded until next Friday for sentence on the charge of vagrancy and non-support, and for enquete on the other offence.

ARE OPPOSED TO GAS PROPOSALS

Retail Merchants' Association of Montreal Decides to Oppose Report of Civic Committee.

The Montreal branch of the Retail Merchants' Association held a meeting last night at their board room, 270 St. Catherine street east, when fourteen lines of the retail trade had representatives present, adopted a strong resolution on the gas question. The vice-president of the association, Mr. J. O. Garneau, was in the chair, and there was considerable discussion of the gas situation and the contract reported by the committee of the City Council. The resolution passed was as follows: "Whereas lighting by gas and electricity is one of the first necessities of the citizens of Montreal; whereas it is in their interests that this necessity should be furnished to them at the lowest possible rate; considering that all money received by the city of Montreal from the sale of this necessity constitutes an indirect tax on one portion of the citizens; considering that this indirect tax would fall principally on the retail merchants in all the different lines of business, who, for the accommodation of the public are obliged to keep their establishments open at night; considering also that any exclusive contract for this necessity would have the effect of preventing the citizens from benefiting by the different inventions which would help to reduce the cost of lighting; and considering finally that the retail merchants are already those who contribute most to the business tax and others;

"Be it resolved that the Montreal branch of the Retail Merchants of Canada should oppose any contract between the city of Montreal and the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Co., such as has been suggested by the majority of the Light Committee, and that the executive officers be authorized to take the necessary steps to protect the interests of the citizens and the retail merchants."

FURTHER EVIDENCE IN LEBLANC BIGAMY CASE.

Two more witnesses were examined in the Enquete Court to-day in connection with the case of Clara Belque, dit Lafleur, and Alphonse Leblanc, who are charged with bigamy.

Mr. and Mrs. Provencal stated that they had visited the morgue shortly after the accident at Outremont in 1902. They heard that a man answering the description of Dumas had been killed, and they went to the morgue to se if they could identify the body. They further stated that when they went to the morgue they did not see the body or even the clothes of the deceased man, but merely examined the books of the morgue officials, and had come to the conclusion that the description of the clothes given there tallied with the kind that Dumas wore when they last saw him.

The case was again postponed until next Tuesday.

LATE COUNTESS OF MUNSTER

Romantic Story of the Granddaughter of William IV.—Mother An Actress.

Wilhelmina, Countess of Munster, who died recently at Brighton, was of romantic descent. Her mother was the youngest daughter of the Duke of Clarence, afterwards William IV., by the famous actress, Mrs. Jordan. In 1855 she married her first cousin, the second Earl of Munster.

Two years ago the countess published a volume entitled, "My Memories and Miscellanies," through Mr. Eveleigh Nash. Its first passage is as follows:—"I was born on June 27, 1830 (the day after the death of King George IV.) My birthplace was Dun House, Montrose; and, on my father's side, I am 'tout ce qu'il y a de plus Ecossais,' as he was the second son of the then Earl of Cassilis (afterwards the first Marquis of Alisa); but my mother was the fourth daughter of the Duke of Clarence by the famous, fascinating and unhappy actress, Dorothy Jordan."

The countess offered "affectionate and respectful testimony to the gracious and Christian-like love and tenderness ever offered to the poor actress's children by the Duchess of Clarence, afterwards Queen Adelaide, who to the day of her death treated the numerous FitzClarence family as only a loving and gentle woman could."

One pleasant memory of Windsor is sufficiently interesting to quote:—"Every morning my brother and sister used to be sent for by King William for us to see his kind cheery face and head washed by his old valet, Jemmett, in a large silver ewer in the most delicious rosewater. The ceremony used always to be performed by Jemmett, who had lived with the King for years. A fresh bottle was used each time, being uncorked in the room; the King, whose hair was short and quite white, would place his head over the ewer, a large towel having been tied round his neck, and the sweet water was poured over it, into the ewer, and then a sponging process used to go on for some moments, filling the room with delicious odour. I think at that moment I wished I was King, more than at any other. After the ablution came the drying on a soft towel; then the coat and waistcoat were donned, and with a rosy and sweet-smelling face, the old King, after kissing the small children, would walk into the breakfast-room, and for the time we saw him no more."

The accession of Queen Victoria is described by the countess, who was then about seven years of age. Her mother one morning threw herself on my bed, and exclaimed, sobbing:—

"Mina! the King is dead. We shall never see his kind face again."

A shock went through me, and, young as I was I conjured up before me that dear face, the white hair, the indescribable scent of rosewater which always pervaded the room wherever he was, and the kindly voice.

"Oh mama!" I said, "not dead! Then who will take care of us—of England—now?"

"There is a young Queen now," sobbed my poor mother.

"I don't like her!" I said passionately, bursting into tears; "she shan't be my queen," for I had dearly loved the Sailor King.

"Hush!" said my poor, weeping mother, "you must not say that, and you must now repeat the words I say after me, 'God save the Queen!'"

"Seeing my dear mother's serious face, and hearing the word 'God,' I concluded it was a prayer, so, putting my hands reverently together, I repeated the words solemnly. That is all I remember of the Queen's accession."

Still After the Poolrooms.

New York, November 7. — The war between the poolrooms and the Jockey Club was renewed at Aqueduct with features that served to amuse the crowd. On Saturday morning the Building Department stepped in with the arrest of several men who had put up a steel observation tower near the paddock without the necessary permit. But yesterday morning the poolroom men got the right to go ahead with the tower, so that before the first race it had reached a height of fifty feet. On the top of it were several agents armed with telescopes, who had an excellent view of the track and everything else. But the Pinkertons soon had a big mirror working, flashing the rays of sun in the eyes of the tower observers, who jumped back and forth like monkeys in their effort to dodge the blinding flashes. The mirror was so cumbersome that it required the combined attention of three handlers. It became so ineffective in the course of time that the Pinks decided to try other tactics. Men with climbing irons crawled up two lofty poles with rigging for a canvas screen, which was hauled up in triumph just before the fourth race. This shut off the view from the top of the tower completely and the race track detectives were jubilant. Still the poolroom men declared last night that they would build the tower to a height of seventy-five feet and that the Pinks then would be unable to screen off the various incidents inside of the track. Meanwhile, it may be said that what few rooms are doing business in the city and a whole lot of rooms that are operating elsewhere have been getting the desired information promptly and with accuracy in spite of the tomfoolery with mirrors, towers and sceens.

ANOTHER TREASURE HUNT.

Expedition From Liverpool Sets Out for Carribbean Sea.

Much interest has been aroused in Liverpool by the presence, in the Coburg Dock, of the sailing yacht Catherine, in command of Captain Small, which is fitting out for an adventurous voyage to the Caribbean Sea in search of buried treasure, said to be of the value of more than a million sterling.

The story of the buried treasure is particularly romantic and fascinating. Twenty-eight years ago a doctor named Davidson, while on a voyage from Hawaii to San Francisco, attended an old sailor who, before he died, confided in him a remarkable secret. He stated that in 1808, while a young boy, he, with others, was captured by the notorious pirate Latrobe. Soon after the pirate vessel, which contained a large amount of ill-gotten wealth, was closely pressed by a Spanish man-of-war and a Yankee corvette. For a time Latrobe continued to evade his pursuers, and took advantage of this opportunity to disembark his treasure on one of the islands which abound in what was then known as the Spanish Main. Here he buried the gold and jewels, estimated to be worth, in modern currency, £1,900,000. The boy was present at this interesting juncture. Latrobe and his bloodthirsty crew were captured by the pursuing vessels the next day, and taken to Kingston, Jamaica, where they had meted out to them the justice they had so long evaded. The boy was able to prove his innocence, and was allowed to go free.

Before the execution Latrobe gave to the youth papers indicating the locality of the treasure, enjoining him to convey the documents to Lafitte, who was the head of the fleet of pirates. This trust the boy failed to carry out, and, instead, kept the papers. He was, however, prevented, mainly by lack of funds, from recovering the treasure himself. On his death-bed he gave the papers to Dr. Davidson.

This gentleman succeeded in interesting some New York men in the matter, and in 1887 started, with several others, for the island. On the way, however, their yacht met with disaster, and they were obliged to take to the boats, being picked up afterwards by a passing vessel. One other very feeble attempt was organized eight years afterwards, but owing to lack of financial support, it was abandoned.

Captain Small has in his possession all that is necessary for the finding of the treasure, and implements for the recovery of it when located. He and his men are hardy, experienced, and resourceful, and intend to succeed.

NEW FASHIONS IN RINGS.

The "Drooping Stone" on a Circlet of Gold.

A very pretty and fanciful-looking finger ring, that is one of the advance couriers of the Christmas present season, has made its appearance in the shop of a prominent London jeweller.

It is an ordinary circlet of gold with a small cluster of gems, and from it depends a slender, little golden chain from which hangs a specimen pearl, pear-shaped, and of an exceedingly lustrous and satin-like "skin." The opportunity of thus giving prominence to a specially beautiful stone, such as a ruby, an emerald, or an opal is great, and the effect is good. A chain of one or two inches is utilized.

Silver, the old favorite setting for diamonds, whose lustre it was formerly held particularly to enhance, is being revived as a ring-metal. A very thick and broad silver ring is sold for a man's wear, set upright with a ruby, a diamond, and a ruby.

A companion ring for a woman to wear upon her little finger, has a band of October's stone, the opal, set at an acute angle across the broad band. The silver is absolutely plain and looks very effective. A silver serpent ring is another hark back to a form of ornament fashionable many years ago, with big rubies or emeralds for eyes, and smaller stones sprinkled over the tail.

Cross over gold rings, so-called because they are set with a couple of large gems, one curved to the right and the other to the left, are popular as the symbol of a betrothal, and diamonds are almost invariably the gems required for such a tender badge of love.

The Boys' Brigade was started in Glasgow in 1885 by Captain Smith and Professor Drummond.
