Medical.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail.

DISSOLUTION NEAR.

ACTIVITY IN BRITISH POLITICS.

The Members of Parliament Leaving Westminster For Their Constituencies—Mr. Gladstone's Health.

LONDON, June 4.—The last session of the present Parliament virtually closed yesterday. The desire of a section of the Cabinet, strongly supported by Mr. Chamberlain and the Unionist party, to pass the Irish Local Government Bill, so that they would be able to go before the constituencies with their Irish pledges redeemed, has failed to prevail against electoral exigencies. It is doubtful if there is life enough left in Parliament to dispose of the small remaining business, the members all hurrying to their constituencies and not intending to return. The Radicals had decided not to oppose the passing of the estimates, which will be voted in the desultory fashion in which millions are usually voted at the end of the session. The formalities of the dissolution of Parliament are certain to occur before June 25 and the electoral contest has already commenced. Mr. Chamberlain has gone to Birmingham and will not return during the present Parliament. The bulk of Irish members have left Westminster for Ireland. Election agents are busy arranging meetings throughout the kingdom. The date of the opening of Mr. Gladstone's Midlothian campaign is not yet fixed. His idea of addressing small meetings from village to village has been abandoned and instead he will address three great meetings, one at Edinburgh, another at West Calder and the third at Dalkeith. Mr. Gladstone is in capital health, but a great speech now-a-days

LEAVES HIM ALMOST PROSTRATE.

In his letter to the Trades Council, appointing June 16 for an interview, Mr. Gladstone for the first time complains of deafness, and he asks that the deputations sent to him be few in number. His eyesight, too, seems to be failing, for recently he had to ask Mr. Morley to read a document for him in Parliament. Mr. Gladstone's face-about on the eight-hour question, bidding Mr. Schnadhorst to catch the labor vote, and his swallowing whole the progressive programme of the London County Council, receive scathing treatment in the columns of the Conservative papers, which regard this as a new instance of his characteristic opportunism. The Liberal election funds, already swollen by large contributions from wealthy Liberals desirous of political promotion, have received an unexpected accession to the labor interest. The contribution comes indirectly from Mr. Andrew Carnegie, the American iron manufacturer, who thus puts to a practical test his principle that wealth should be used for the benefit of the people. A difficulty, however, has arisen as to which of the genuine labor candidates are entitled to benefits.

The McCarthyites are now completing their election programme. The whole of the fifty-five sitting members will seek a re-election, and all of the Parnellite seats will be contested by McCarthyites. The amount of the American donations to the election fund will largely determine the fate of the Parnellites. General Collins, the American delegate, has left London for Dublin, with Mr. T. P. O'Connor, to endeavor to promote a reconciliation between the two Irish factions, but it is not likely that he will succeed.

Alsatians Emigrating.

LONDON, June 4.—An enormous increase is reported in emigration from Upper Alsace to America, caused, it is said, by the operation of the Zollverein treaty.

Nearly every one needs a good spring medicine, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is undoubtedly the best. Try it this season.

Our Proposition.

As every injector is tested before it leaves the factory, we know that, if properly connected and instructions are carried out, they cannot fail to work. We therefore offer to pay the expenses of any man to come to the factory, and $25.00 per day while there if the Injector does not work, provided it has not been misused.

As the body will last for years, it is only necessary to order working parts to make Injector good as new. Every purchaser can repair his own Injector without sending it to the factory.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS

THE BOY WHO WOULD NOT BE STUMPED.

By Bessie Chandler in St. Nicholas.

Bobby Cameron came into the dining room shyly, and sat down. His nose was swollen, and there was a raw, bruised place, about as big as a ten-cent piece, between his eyes. He didn't seem anxious to draw attention to these defects, and was unusually quiet. Presently his father put down his newspaper, and his glance fell upon hapless Bobby.

"Robert," he said sternly, "what is the matter?"

"I got hurt," muttered Bobby, with his mouth full of oatmeal.

"Got hurt! I should say so! I can see that for myself. How did you get hurt?"

"I jumped off the oat-bin and struck my head against the pole of the carriage."

"What possessed you to do that?"

"Well, a boy stumped me, and so——"

"A boy did what?" interrupted the father.

"Stumped me," repeated Bobby, growing more and more embarrassed.

Mr. Cameron looked at his wife.

"What is he talking about, Jane?" he said helplessly.

"What do you mean, Bobby?" asked his mother gently. "What is it to be stumped by a person?"

"Why, it's when a fellow says you can't do a thing and you say you can; and then you've got to do it, or else you're stumped, and all the other fellows jeer at you. I'm never stumped,—never!"

"But, Bobby, if it is something perfectly impossible?"

"Ah, if you think it's like that, why, you can ask the fellow that stumps you to do it himself; and if he can't do it that lets you out. But if he does it, you're bound to do it too. That's a lead stump, when he does it first; and its a dare stump when he says you can't do it and you say you can. I never take a lead stump, and I haven't taken a dare stump this year." His father looked at him severely.

"Well, I want you to understand, sir," he said, "that I'm not going to have you jumping off from oat-bins, and breaking your nose against carriage-poles. I don't want to hear any more of stumps, or such ridiculous performances!"

Bobby didn't answer. He looked much depressed.

After his father had left the table, his mother turned to him and said:

"Now, Bobby, did you hear what papa said?"

"Yes," he answered impetuously, "but, Mamma, I can't. I can't be stumped. I haven't been stumped this year."

His mother looked at him thoughtfully.

"We can't have you running such risks, dear, and hurting yourself, perhaps for life. Come upstairs with me now, and I'll put some plaster on your nose; and you must try to be more careful."

Mr. Cameron was at his office, and Mrs. Cameron was in her own room, sewing, about the middle of the forenoon, when a little boy rushed in breathless and excited.

He was a neighbor's child and Bobby's dearest friend. He was so frightened that he was quite pale, and his freckles stood out in bold relief, like spatters of mud.

"Oh, Mrs. Cameron!" he gasped, "come quick! Bobby's got the door-knob in his mouth, and he can't get it out!"

"The what?" she said, rising hurriedly.

"The door-knob of the playroom. George Nelson stumped him to put it in his mouth, and Bobby tried, and tried, and at last he did, and now he can't get his mouth off!"

Mrs. Cameron hurried to the scene of the disaster. There stood poor Bobby, fastened to the door, his jaws opened to their utmost capacity and clinched around the knob. They had just slipped over the smooth porcelain surface, and closed upon it. The knob seemed as firmly fastened in his mouth as one of his own teeth. It was nearly choking him, and the tears were streaming down his face.

Several boys stood near, offering advice and sympathy.

"I say, Bobby," said one, I'm awful sorry I laughed at first, 'cause you looked so funny. I wish I'd never stumped you now."

His mother came near him. He cried afresh at the sight of her. He would have bawled, but the door-knob in his mouth prevented.

"Can't you get it out, Bobby?" she asked anxiously.

He tried to shake his head, but being fastened immovably, he could only roll his eyes at her. It looked a little as if he must spend the rest of his life fastened on to that door.

"Can't we unscrew the knob?" suggested one of the boys.

"What'll he have to pull against then?" objected another with scorn.

This was true. Bobby, with a door-knob in his mouth and nothing to pull it out by, would certainly be in a worse fix than Bobby fastened to an entire door.

His mother said nothing, but seemed to be considering.

"Go up to the desk in my room, Georgie," she said, "and bring me down that big ivory paper-cutter. Not the little one, but that big, flat, white one. Now, Bobby," she added, kissing his forehead, as his mouth was otherwise engaged, "you mustn't be frightened. If your mouth opened wide enough to get it in, we can get it out. Don't cry and keep cool. One reason why you can't get it out is because you are nervous and frightened."

When George brought her the paper-cutter, she put it in the corner of Bobby's mouth, so that she could pry with it against his teeth, and then, taking his chin in her other hand, she told him to open his mouth as wide as he possibly could, and she would help him.

After one or two unsuccessful trials, the knob slipped out, and Bobby was free.

The first words he said were: "There, George Nelson, I did it after all."

He spoke thickly, for his tongue was swollen and jaws stiff.

"Bobby," said his mother, "you must come into the house with me now;" and they went in together, while the little group of boys disappeared, after examining the door-knob carefully, as if it were full of unusual interest.

Half an hour afterward, Bobby was lying on the sofa in his mother's room. There was a handkerchief, wet with some arnica, under his chin, and he looked somewhat pale and subdued.

His mother had some books in her lap. She looked at him lovingly, and passed her hand over his head once or twice before she spoke.

"Bobby," she said finally, "I've been thinking about this stumping business of yours, and I've concluded it's one of the greatest things in the world."

He looked at her in amazement. He hadn't expected this.

"Yes," she said, "I don't think the world would ever have amounted to much, if it hadn't been for the men who wouldn't be stumped."

"Why, mamma?" he said.

"It's true, Bobby. All the great generals were just men who wouldn't let their enemies stump them. Christopher Columbus wouldn't be stumped, when he started to discover America; no, not by poverty nor by jeers of all Spain,—not even when his sailors mutinied and wanted to kill him. George Washington wouldn't be stumped, nor General Grant, nor Napoleon, nor any of those men that you like to have me read to you about. All the Arctic explorers, and the people who have gone into Africa, were men who wouldn't be stumped. Sometimes, Bobby, it is your life, and not another person, that stumps you. You want to do something, and it seems as if your life said to you, 'You can't.' But all the famous men, all the men who have succeeded, were men who turned around to their lives and faced them, and said, 'I can.'"

There was a little silence. Bobby was alert and interested.

"I am going to read to you about two men who wouldn't be stumped. One was Winstanley, who built the Eddystone lighthouse, and the other was our own Sheridan, who won the battle of Winchester. And then I want to read to you about the sinking of the 'Cumberland,' and how she fired that last broadside, just as she was going down: I think that was so splendid."

Bobby nestled contentedly on the sofa. He loved to hear his mother read poetry. He told her once it was "just like dribbling rain on the garret roof." It seemed a queer compliment, but she understood it, and thanked him.

He was very much interested that day, and his eyes were bright and shining when she had finished.

"Were those really all stumps, Mama?" he asked eagerly.

"Yes, dear," she said, smiling, "I think they were; and I want to read to you about some more—listen."

She took up some newspaper cutting, and began:

"'Mose Putnam yesterday jumped off the Brooklyn Bridge. He had wagered one thousand dollars that he could do it. The jump was made at 3.30 p. m. Putnam was knocked senseless on striking the water, and instantly sank. His friends were beneath the bridge in a boat, and one of them promptly jumped in after him and succeeded in bringing him to the surface, and he was taken at once to the hospital. He is still unconscious, and it is not thought that he will recover.'"

Bobby looked a little uncomfortable as his mother read this. It did not strike him as a very noble deed.

She read another:

"'There was a strange spectacle yesterday on Broadway, between Tenth and Twentieth streets. Mr. Harvey Johnson had laid a wager that he would wheel Mr. Sam Skeehan ten blocks on Broadway in a wheelbarrow, if Harrison were elected; and yesterday he fulfilled his promise. Quite a crowd followed him. Mr. Skeehan is reported as enjoying his ride exceedingly.'"

"Oh, Mama, don't!" said Bobby softly. She smiled, but read on.

"'The contest between Mike Stevens and Paddy Hennessy as to who could eat the most oysters in a given time came off yesterday; and Hennessy, having disposed of three hundred and forty-five oysters in five minutes, was declared the winner.'"

"Oh, Mama!" said Bobby again, "don't read any more like that. They seem so silly after those others."

"Bobby," she said slowly, "nobody could have looked sillier than you looked this morning, fastened to that door-knob."

Then they both laughed, but Bobby looked very much ashamed.

"It isn't always brave not to be stumped, is it?" he said, after a pause.

"No," she answered thoughtfully, "you see for yourself that it isn't."

"But, Mama, how can you tell? How can I tell,—with the boys you know?"

"I was thinking of that," she said. "I don't quite know, dear. It will be hard to decide, but it seems to me that I wouldn't do a foolish thing just because I was stumped into it. It's good to be strong and quick and fleet. It's good to aim straight and to throw far. All stumps that make you run or jump or climb better I should say were worth taking, but not the foolish ones that only make you seem reckless and silly. Sam Patch, the jumper, was reckless, you know; do you think he was brave?"

Bobby didn't answer; he seemed to be thinking hard.

"Do you think it would be silly," he said, "to climb up on top of the cupola of the Gilmans' barn?"

"Certainly I do," she answered promptly. "Why?"

"'Cause Joe Gilman stumped me to do it, and I was going to do that after the door-knob, you know; but I won't now."

His mother leaned over and kissed him, and wisely left to his own reflections the boy who wouldn't be stumped.

ARITHMETICAL PUZZLE.

There is always a feeling of pride when we have perfectly mastered a trick and can successfully perform it to the bewilderment of the on-lookers.

To give the answer to a yet unwritten sum would appear to be quite a thing to do. And yet if you follow the directions the Doll's Dressmaker gives you can do it easily.

Write down five figures; for example, 17864. Give the paper to one of the company, and request her to put five figures under these. While she is doing so, write what the total of the sum will amount to, on another piece of paper, and give it to one of the company to keep.

The answer will be found thus; take 2 from the right hand figure of the five you have written, and put it (i. e., the 2) on the left-hand side. The figures of the above example would then stand thus: 217862.

When the person to whom you have given the sum has added a row, take back the paper and add a third row of figures yourself, each of which, with the second row, must make nine, thus:

Original row........................	17864
Company.............................	28935
Self.................................	71064

Then give the paper to another member of the party (in order to puzzle them) and let her put down a row of whatever numbers she pleases; take it back, and add the fifth and last row yourself; making nine of each figure of the fourth and fifth row, as before; thus:

Original row........................	17864
Company.............................	28935
Self.................................	71064
Company.............................	83152
Self.................................	16847

Now ask another member of the party to add up the sum. When she has done so, desire her to compare it with your answer, long ago given, and she will find the amount exactly similar.

BEAUTY AND GRACE OF INDUSTRY.

That noble-minded old writer, Krummacher, whose words are always laden with good lessons, transcribes this beautiful parable from the Talmud:

Among the disciples of Hillel, the wise teacher of the sons of Israel, was one named Saboth, who gave himself up to idleness. Hillel was grieved, and resolved to cure him of his fault.

He took him to the Valley of Hinnom, by Jerusalem, where was a standing pool full of snakes and vermin, and covered with muddy weeds.

"Here," said Hillel, "let us rest."

"Not here," said the youth. "Dost thou not perceive what poisonous vapors it exhales?"

"Thou art right, my son; this bog is like the soul of a slothful man."

Hillel then took the youth to a waste field producing thorns and thistles.

"This," he said, "has good soil to produce all that is good and pleasant; but is forgotten and neglected. A little while ago thou didst see the soul; now behold the life of an idle man."

Saboth was so impressed that he began to lead a new life. The Hillel took him into a fertile valley, by the side of a clear brook, which flowed meandering between fruitful trees, flowering meadows and shady shrubberies, and said, "This is the picture of thy new, industrious life. Nature, which warned thee, will now reward thee. Her beauty and grace can only give joy to him who sees in her life a picture of his own."

A BIRTHDAY EVERY WEEK.

There is an old saying that the sun always shines on his own birthday.

How many of you ever thought of the sun as having a birthday, or know what day of the week it comes on? Yet there is little doubt but that most of you have read all about it in the first chapter of Genesis, beginning at the 14th verse. If not, do so on the next anniversary, which always comes on a Wednesday.

ETIQUETTE DEPARTMENT.

Editor Etiquette Department:

Is it not an understood thing, when young men are invited to a picnic, that they are not expected to take anything in the shape of eatables? My brother and I were asked to a boating party of this kind where I thought hiring boats for the use of some of the party whom we took was all that was necessary. Was I right? ROB ROY.

ANS.—You did quite your share when providing the boats and rowing the ladies. The only additional attention might have been some boxes of candy, which are appreciated on such occasions, and are frequently taken by the gentlemen for the benefit of their companions on the water.

Editor Etiquette Department:

Please inform as to the following: 1. How soon should a first visit be returned? 2. When receiving an invitation from a new acquaintance (through a friend), and not being able to accept it, what should be done and when should a visit be paid? HELENA.

ANS.—1. First calls should be returned within a week. 2. A lady when so invited, whether through a friend or not, should immediately leave her card and send an answer, either an acceptance or a regret. To lose time in doing this is great want of politeness. She should call within a week after the party whether she attends it or not.

Editor Etiquette Department:

At a dance a gentleman picking up a young lady's fan (he is a stranger to her), when taking it from him, is it necessary for her to speak to him; he has crossed the room to return it to her. 2. When meeting in the course of the dancing during the evening, should she recognize him in any way, they being close to each other, and he apparently wishing to address her. COURTESY.

ANS.—1. Not beyond thanking him for his politeness; "thank you, I am much obliged," would be quite sufficient, anything more would be quite out of place. 2. No, a lady cannot recognize a gentleman who has not been introduced to her. If he wishes to be able to address her he must first request the favor of an introduction; this he can do by requesting the hostess to present him.

Editor Etiquette Department:

The following questions have been, we know, asked in part before and, we think, partly answered: 1. Should a widow retain her husband's Christian name on her visiting card, or not keep it and again take her own Christian name in its place? 2. If she does the first and her son should have the same Christian name as his father, how can any difference be made, as there will likely be mistakes? L. B. M.

ANS.—1. A married woman always, as a matter of course, has her husband's name during his life on her card. There have been differences of opinon as to whether she could retain it afterwards. Some say the contrary, but the greater number are in favor of her continuing to do so, and from our own observation this form is almost always adopted. 2. When the names are the esme and especially if the son is a married man, it is well to dispense entirely with the Christian name on the lady's card, and for her to have it printed as follows: Mrs. Grey or Mrs. White, as the case may be.

Editor Etiquette Department:

When arranging a luncheon table in a house where the furniture and general belongings are of a rather unpretending character, what would be suitable for the centre of the table, I mean as a square; anything elaborate in silk or satin would not correspond or be in good keeping with the rest of the things; besides I am told these are no longer much used. BEGINNER.

ANS.—For dinners and large suppers silk and satin table squares or scarves are still used by many people, but for such a purpose as you speak of we think that something worked on sateen would be pretty and suitable. We saw a very dainty arrangement lately. The shape was square with pointed ends somewhat in the shape of a leaf, the material was white sateen, the pattern was worked in pretty shaded green silk. There were four small mats worked in the same style and color which were placed at the end of each leaf with a small glass dish, a plate containing sweets; the effect was very pretty, and useful as well, as the materials were warranted to wash.

Editor Etiquette Department:

In a case like the following what should have been done: A gentleman acquaintance of a married lady, some few years her senior, dined at her house and sat next to her. She had reason to know that his engagement to a young lady, also an acquaintance of hers, had just come to an end. The subject of two near approaching weddings was discussed at some length; now should she not have changed this particular topic to another, all things considered? By answering you will oblige

ONE WHO WAS PRESENT.

ANS.—It is not always easy to immediately change a topic of conversation when the subject discussed is one which is of interest to those who are taking part in the conversation. However kind and considerate a hostess may be, this would be somewhat difficult for her to accomplish. All she could do (without attracting undesirable attention) would be gradually to lead the conversation of those nearest to her into another channel by alluding to topics of general interest of a different nature to that which might be embarrassing to her guest. In matters of this kind those who have suffered from a "recent smart" must be prepared to preserve a dignified and apparently unconcerned demeanor when in society.

BE LOVELY WITHIN.

Little Evelyn's cheeks bloomed in delicate pink,
And her clustering hair framed with tendril and curl
A face so lovely you never would think
She could be for a moment a cross little girl.

Yet cross she was, in a constant fret,
Every hour she spoiled with some trouble or strife,
Till every one said: "Well, I never have met
Such an ill-natured child in the whole of my life."

Her sister Peggy was plain and small,
Freckled and homely, with straight brown hair,
But you never thought of her looks at all,
For she seemed to be everything sunny and fair.

"I can't!" and "I won't!" that was Evelyn's cry
From morning till night, against all she was told;
While Peggy's low voice would be saying, "I'll try,"
With a patience and hope that were good to behold.

Till at last Peggy's freckles more beautiful grew
In every one's sight than all Evelyn's charms
Of pink cheeks, golden hair and eyes violet blue;
No one wished to fold her in affectionate arms!

But Peggy! Love found her wherever she went,
Clasped her warm little hand and looked into her eyes,
Smiled on her and blessed her with joy and content,
For her spirit within was so sweet and so wise.

Never mind, children dear, about plainness of face,
But strive all you can to be lovely within,
And the beautiful spirit will clothe you with grace
And this is a joy every mortal can win.

CELIA THAXTER

HILDRED;

—OR,—

THE MONEY-LENDER'S DAUGHTER.

CHAPTER XXVIII—(Continued.)

"How can I help it, when I know that he does not like me?" she asked piteously.

"It is difficult, I admit, but heroism will do much. Now I know such a manner upsets him; he does not like it. You may say that as he does not care for you your manner can make no difference."

"I should most certainly have thought so," was her reply.

"But you are wrong, Hildred; I have watched him very keenly, and I say that you are quite wrong. When you draw that cold mask over your face, you harden his heart against you."

"It is always hard for me," she said.

"Then you make it worse—I have seen it. When you are proud and defiant, he tries to show you that he does not care, that it is of no moment to him; he says things to you that he would never say if you were gentler. Shall I give you an example of what I mean? The other morning you were in my room; you had brought me some beautiful flowers—you were like an angel of goodness to me—your face was bright, your lips were smiling, your eyes glad. I was thinking to myself how fair and graceful you were, how above all other women you were calculated to brighten a man's heart and his home. You were holding a spray of mignonette in your hands, telling me how fragrant it was, and inventing all kinds of pretty fancies in connection with it. Ulric came in—you remember?"

She bent her head and her face flushed.

"I do remember," she assented shyly.

"He saw the mignonette in your hands, and bent forward to look at it. 'It is the sweetest flower that blows,' he said. The cold mask in a moment fell over your face, and I saw you—mind, I saw you—throw the pretty spray away as though it had stung you."

She clasped her white hands with a pretty air of penitence.

"It was very wrong, Raoul, I know; I have no excuse."

"Then Ulric, in his turn, said something about 'ladies' airs' which you did not like. You swept out of the room; and the next time you met neither of you spoke."

"How closely you have observed me!" she said, with a hot flush on her face.

"Because I love both you and Ulric so dearly," he replied. "Now for my illustration, Hildred. Suppose that, instead of throwing away the flower that he liked, you had looked up into his face and had said something gay or graceful or pretty; he would have returned a smiling answer, and all would have been well; and the next time you met he would have been even more smiling and you more kind."

"But, Raoul," she asked, "would that have been sincere? I do not feel kind or pleased—is it sincere to affect to be so?"

"You ought to feel kind—he is your own husband. All that I can say is that you should try to feel so, whether you do or not. Now begin this very day; throw off that stony mask for ever. How is he to know what a tender soul is hidden by that freezing face unless you give him some chance of finding it out? Do not say to yourself that you will begin to-morrow or the day after—begin at once. Say to yourself that you will win him."

"Is it not unwomanly to seek for love which is not offered to you, Raoul?"

"It might be in a girl, it is not in a wife. I think a wife should aspire to win her husband, to make him love her with all his heart."

"Lord Caraven will never love me," she said. "I do not think that he has any heart to give; it is all wasted—he has had a hundred loves."

"But not one real one, Hildred. If you win his heart, take my word for it, you will be his first love. We will take our stand on something higher. To win love is pleasant, but you shall not devote your life to that. You shall devote yourself to the rousing of a soul, naturally noble, but long buried in self-indulgence and folly; you shall spend your life in making the Earl of Caraven worthy of the name he bears. You have promised."

"I promise again," she replied.

"Ah, child, you know but little, after all, of what you will have to encounter! But a true soldier never deserts his post; he dies doing his duty. You will have sore humiliations, many bitter hours of annoyance, many a contest with your own pride, but you will win the end—of that I am sure—and we shall begin our new life, Hildred, to-day."

She had clasped her hands together, and she looked at him with piteous entreaty.

"I wish," she said, "that you would tell me what to do first. I could go on if I only knew how to begin."

He smiled gravely.

"Perhaps you will think my first lesson a very hard one," he said.

"I will do what you tell me, Raoul, let it be what it may."

"Then I shall suggest this. You wish to make a little advance—nothing very marked, but some trifling act of civility that will make amends, and show your desire to be what children call 'friends.'"

He did not know what an effort it cost her to say "Yes," but she did say it, and she meant it.

"Then this is what I suggest. It was about a spray of mignonette that you displeased Ulric last. Gather some beautiful sprays of it, the finest you can obtain, and take them to him. Say quite carelessly, 'You admire mignonette, so I have brought you this.'"

"And suppose," said Hildred, "that he repays me in kind by throwing it away?"

"Never mind—courage and patience must be your watchwords. Ah, Hildred, after all, our likes and dislikes should have little to do with our duties! You will not be alone in your struggles; I shall watch over you, I shall help you, and sympathy is sweet."

She caught his hand and kissed it. He saw her face clear, and a bright, earnest light shine in her eyes.

"Do you know, Raoul," she said, "that I feel happier even now before I have begun. I did not like the thought of running away; there was something very cowardly about it. Now I shall never think of it again. I shall endure to the very end. I am happier even for the resolve. I have something to live for—

'Something to live for, life to begin;
Something to fight for, something to win.'

I must be more patient than patience itself. I must be humble; all vanity and self-esteem must leave me before I begin the task that you have set me. I must rise from the commonplace to the heroic, and say to myself, It is for the good of a human soul."

"Hildred, you do not know how often I have longed to speak to you about this," he remarked—"to help you, to advise you; and now that you have given me the privilege I shall not be slow to avail myself of it."

It was wonderful how the expression of the beautiful face had changed during that quiet interview. She rose with the gayest, sweetest laugh he had ever heard from her lips.

"I am a Woman with a Mission," she said, "and I shall always think of myself with capital letters. Raoul, I cannot be grateful enough to you. When you first entered the house I felt as though Heaven had sent me a friend. If happiness comes to me through following your counsel, how shall I thank you?"

"I shall need no thanks, Hildred," he replied. "You are and have been, ever since I first saw you, the dearest object on earth to me. You are my dear sister, Ulric's wife. I have loved Ulric all my life—I could not help loving you."

"Now I am going to practise my first lesson in humility," she said. "Raoul, I wish that you could be in the room when I give my husband the mignonnette."

"That would spoil it all," he replied laughingly; "and he is so quick, so keen, he would find out at once that the little scene had been arranged between us."

"Then I must venture all by myself, I suppose," said Lady Caraven. "I feel as shy as—I cannot tell you what. Raoul, if he is cross or contemptuous I shall lose heart."

"No, you will not. Having once put your hand to the plough, you will not turn back. When your hope or your courage fails you, say to yourself, 'I have to win my husband's heart'—that will give you all your courage again."

She walked slowly down the path, Sir Raoul by her side. She looked round on the four high ivied walls.

"I have always loved this little pleasaunce," she said. "I shall love it better than ever now. It will seem almost like a church to me."

"Why like a church?" he asked with some amusement.

AYER'S
Sarsaparilla

Is superior to all other preparations claiming to be blood-purifiers. First of all, because the principal ingredient used in it is the extract of genuine Honduras sarsaparilla root, the variety richest in medicinal properties. Also, because the yellow dock, being raised expressly for the Company, is always fresh and of the very best kind. With equal discrimination and care, each of the other ingredients are selected and compounded. It is because it is always the same in appearance, flavor, and effect, and, being highly concentrated, only small doses are needed. It is, therefore, the most economical blood-purifier in existence. It makes food nourishing, work pleasant, sleep refreshing, and life enjoyable. It searches out all impurities in the system and expels them harmlessly by the natural channels. AYER'S Sarsaparilla gives elasticity to the step, and imparts to the aged and infirm, renewed health, strength, and vitality.

THE Superior Medicine

HAVE YOU TRIED DRUGS AND FAILED TO FIND A CURE?

Thousands of Cures by our Belts are persons who have done so.

DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT

WITH NEW ELECTRIC SUSPENSORY.

New, Improved, Patented Appliance for Weakness of Men, Free with all Belts.
Patented.

More Belts Made and Sold and More Sufferers Cured than by all other Electric Belts combined.

The Crowning Triumph in Medico-Electrical Science! It cures all diseases curable by Electricity. It is a complete battery, as used by the foremost physicians, made into a Belt, so as to be easily worn during work, or at rest. It gives soothing, prolonged currents, which can be carried to any part of the body where there is pain, and will give instant relief, as Electricity permeates the entire system with a natural, glowing heat, rejuvenating every weak organ or part of the body.

WEAK MEN

Suffering from Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Drains, Losses, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Lame Back, Kidney or Bladder Troubles, or general ill health, resulting from over-taxation of brain or nerve force, abuses, excesses, worry or exposure, will find a speedy relief and permanent cure in this marvelous invention, which requires but a trial to convince the most skeptical. In your ignorance of effects or by excess, or exposure, you may have unduly drained your system of nerve force and vitality—which is Electricity—and thus caused your weakness or lack of force. If you replace into your system the elements thus drained, which are required for vigorous strength, you will remove the cause, and health, strength and vigor will follow at once and in a natural way. This is our plan and treatment.

Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt is no experiment, as we have restored thousands to robust health and vigor, after all other treatments failed, as can be shown by hundreds of cases throughout this State, who would gladly testify, and from many of whom we have strong letters bearing testimony to their recovery after using our Belt.

Our 200 page book "Three Classes of Men," should be read by every young, middle-aged and old man, sent sealed, free. It explains our plan of treatment, gives testimonials from people in all stations in life and from all parts of the country, including very many in New York City, whom we have cured, thus showing our marvelous work at home. Do not delay writing for it. It will cost you nothing, and may be the means of renewing your life and health.

The Greatest Boon on Earth is Health and Vigorous Strength. It brings wealth, happiness and fruitful marriage.

GENERAL DEBILITY, &c.

OFFICE OF SARGENT & SON,
DRY AND FANCY GOODS, ETC., CASTINE, Maine, Feb. 27, '91.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—I am glad to add my testimony to the many you have of the great value of your belt. My health has improved wonderfully, and I have gained twelve pounds of flesh, and now sleep well and have an excellent appetite. Your splendid electric belt with your "rules of health" has been a very valuable benefit to me, and I take pleasure in recommending your belt. Yours respectfully, WM. GEO. SARGENT.

RHEUMATISM—LOST VIGOR.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 20, '91.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—I can report to you that the belt has entirely cured me of rheumatism from which I suffered for fourteen years almost continuously. I am a letter carrier, and the long daily tramps necessary in my rounds, up to the time of getting the belt, were painfully gone through with, but thanks to your wonderful invention, I can now walk as well as I ever did, and will recommend your treatment to all afflicted as I was.

The current has also brought back my vigor in other ways as you said it would. Yours very truly, JAMES MEAD, 24 Perry St.

PAINS IN CHEST, &c.

LYNN, Mass., June 10, '91.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—The belt I bought from you about two months ago has done for me all you said it would do; and a neighbor of mine, whom I lent the belt to, says it has cured him entirely from pains through the chest from which he was suffering. And now I will recommend your belt to each and every one who are in need of a good remedy.

Yours truly, PER JOHANSON, 195 Union St.

NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED IN 30 DAYS.

KINGS BRIDGE, NEW YORK CITY, 1891.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—Yours of the 20th received. Your belt has worked entirely satisfactory and has cured me. After having worn your belt five nights I felt great relief, and after thirty days I did not feel a symptom left. I have come to consider your belt as my family physician, and I owe many thanks to the inventor. You may say nervous debility permanently cured in thirty days. I was a sufferer from nervous debility, and for two years I didn't know what a night's sleep was. I had no ambition. I considered life a failure until one day I saw one of Dr. Sanden's Belts advertised in the paper, and I purchased one without delay. It changed my whole life; in five days I was feeling better, and in thirty days I was permanently cured. I advise all humanity suffering from all weakness or nervous complaints to use Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt. It is the best physician you could get. Your servant, JESSE NORMAN.

NERVOUS DEBILITY, VARICOCELE CURED.

WEST LEBANON, Me., Feb. 2, '91.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—I want to give for publication my testimony, as I look upon your belt as my best friend in my time of trouble. The first day of April, 1889, I received one of your belts. The first week I wore the belt it seemed to do me more harm than good, it made me feel weaker than I was before using it. I wore the belt six hours every day. At the end of the second week I began to improve. I suffered mostly from nervousness, general debility, varicocele, and kidney trouble. I could hardly drag my legs after me. At the end of the third week I had gained two pounds in weight, and just one month from the day I received the belt, my total gain was five pounds. At this writing I have made a total gain of fifteen pounds, and am well. I had been sick for two years; tried all kinds of medicine. I only got worse, and as a last recourse I tried the belt made by the Sanden Electric Co., and it has done wonders for me. I recommend the Dr. Sanden Electric Belt as one of the best things ever invented. It is a wonder in itself. With many thanks, and wishing you the greatest success, I remain,

Yours truly, ASHBEL A. DIXON.

Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt with Improved Electric Suspensory is the greatest boon ever given to weak men, and we warrant it to cure any of the above weaknesses, and to enlarge shrunken limbs, or parts, or Money Refunded. They are graded in the strength to meet all stages of weakness in young, middle-aged or old men, and will cure the worst cases in two or three months. LATEST SUMMER FASHIONS.

Some Paris Model Hats and Bonnets.—Afternoon Dresses.—A General Talk on Pretty Furnishing.

Now that summer has really come to stay after many disappointments, the rulers of fashion have ventured to pronounce what the different styles for this season of early summer will be. For even those of the most moderate means, tempting materials of dainty texture of delicate coloring are laid out in the different shops at the most reasonable prices, so that to dress tastefully, which is the imperative duty of all women, is possible to almost every one. The colors to be universally worn are very bright just now, and red in all shades will be much seen. The other fashionable colors include many new shades of green. That known as lizard green is very charming, of the peculiar tint of that reptile, and challies, crepons and cashmeres are very generally found in this shade. Lavender, too, is much worn, in spite of its liability to soil easily, and there are many pretty striped materials on view in the best shops of lavender and white, blue and white and pink and white inch stripes. These are usually made up with plain material to match the color of one of the stripes. Burnt sienna is a new shade which, combined with navy blue, makes a suitable yachting costume, entirely superseding last year's blue and white, and red and white flannel suits.

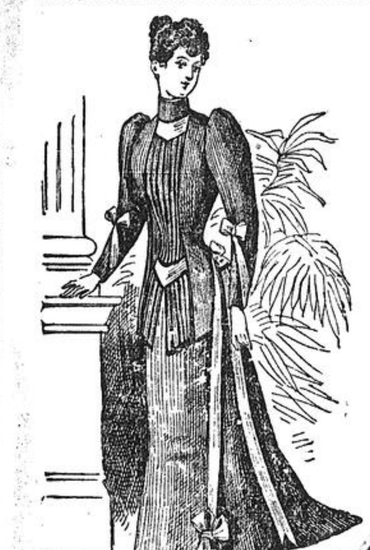

PLATE I.

In spite of protest, in spite of its uncleanliness, in spite of its discomfort, the long bell skirt still continues to be worn, gratuitously sweeping the streets. The careful observer may, however, I am thankful to say, perceive a slight, very slight, diminishing in the length. It is always necessary to hold these skirts up, which is another excuse for showing the pretty underskirts of delicate colors daintily frilled with lace. All the trimming on the costume is now confined to the bodice, and the most fashionable kind has the top gathered to the neck, then crossed or draped in front, or kept in place by a corselet of some different material, much adorned with lace, passementerie, or embroidery in gold, silver and various colored silks. If not thus, it is made in velvet of some contrasting color. Such corselets are generally made to fasten under the arm with a rosette, and they draw the public favor with high wide belts of moire or brocaded satin ribbons, which are worn in folds round the waist.

In plate Number I, we see an afternoon gown in the very latest Paris style. The bell skirt is plainly made, having a Spencer waistcoat plaited to a narrow yoke of ribbon. The ribbon belt is pointed in front, and the long coat is cut away in front and falls over the Spencer. The sleeves are high, and bows of moire ribbon trim them from elbow to wrist. There is a large bow of ribbon on the skirt and the costume is completed by a high standing collar.

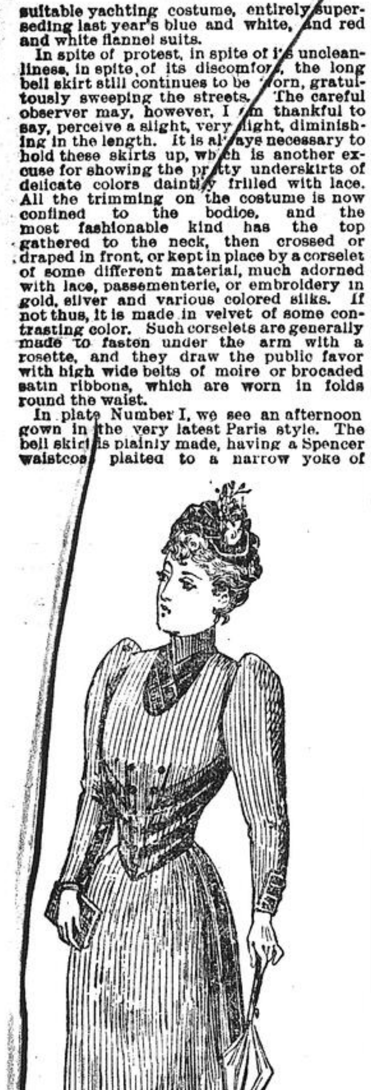

PLATE II.

Plate II, draws another seasonable walking gown in pale green woollen material. The skirt is flat in front and plaited at the back, and the lower edge is cut out in points at intervals of ten inches, and three deep folds of velvet or silk of a darker shade encircle the skirt, the cut points being drawn down over the folds and caught down with nail head pins. The bodice is slightly pointed in front and trimmed to correspond with the skirt. The full top sleeves are trimmed with velvet at the wrist. A small toque in green velvet trimmed with roses is worn with this costume.

The fashions in hats and bonnets this season are almost too numerous to mention. In Plate No. III we have an example of the time-honored sailor coming out in a new and much embellished form. It is much trimmed with changeable striped silk ribbon of either green or the new peach and low shades, and in front has two long gilt quills inserted. At the garden party in new York, just mentioned, some fascinating articles of feminine headgear were seen. One that had its entire brim composed of lilies of the valley, their delicate green stalks projecting over the edge of the small white blossoms, clustered thickly on top. A high bow of white gros grain ribbon surmounted the whole structure and its long ends fell behind nearly to the waist.

Although in Montreal the season for wearing evening gowns is almost over, it may not be amiss to mention the styles which are now worn in London, where the season is now in full swing. Plate No. IV shows a very beautiful gown worn by the young daughter of one of the leaders of English society. The skirt is composed of soft white gathered silk with a small silk ruching at the hem. The bodice was cut in long tabs and the train was of white silk with a fine stripe of blue and gold. The court dresses are, as yet, hardly ready; but next month some gorgeous ones are certain to be seen at the drawing rooms to be held by the Duchesses of Edinburgh and Connaught.

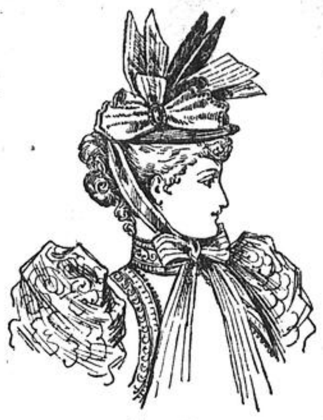

PLATE III.

Plate V shows a child's Tam O'Shanter of the style worn in England at present. The band is either of the same material as the crown or of velvet, and is lined with crinoline or silk. It is cut to a point on one side and has a couple of stiff feathers as a finish. These feathers are pretty when held in place by a silver brooch.

HATS AND BONNETS.

In Plate Number VI are some Paris model hats and bonnets. One of the latest has a crown in the Byzantine shape composed of three pieces, and is made of gold tissue embroidered with colored jewels. The brim is of plaited Chantilly lace, caught up on each side above the ears. Black and colored feathers form the front trimming.

Deep falls of lace are coming into fashion, and the soft effect of the lace will be found exceedingly becoming to youthful faces. The wide brim of a very pretty hat is made of net, and is entirely covered with the flounce, which must fall below the edge. The crown is hidden under a mass of shaded violets, and in front is a bow of green satin ribbon. The aigrette is black to match the lace.

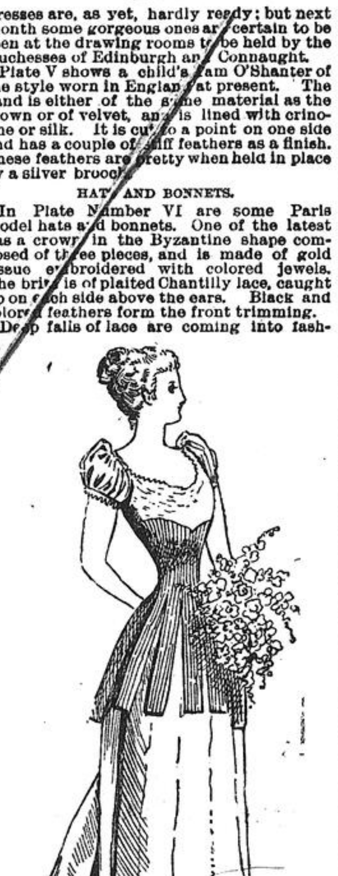

PLATE IV.

The majority of the shapes have small, rather high crowns, set far back on the head. The most useful and ladylike hats, to be worn with a variety of dresses, are made of black straw and lace, with colored flowers and ribbons.

Something new in the way of a ribbon bonnet is formed of three wreaths of loops of baby ribbon. The first green, the second heliotrope, the third maize color. Above this is a frill of white lace covering the centre of the crown, a green feather ornaments the front, and the strings are of heliotrope ribbon.

There are all-black hats for those who like black, bright ones for those who admire bright colors; and quiet-shaded ones for those who like unpretentious ones; and yet they are all very pretty and extremely stylish.

In black lace you see some very pretty "made" hats. There was one which had a brim about two inches wide, and it had the Tam O'Shanter crown. Edging the brim and crown was a narrow piece of jet. A jetted aigrette and handsome bunch of tips gave it the necessary stylish finish in the back. It had two long black moiré strings, which were intended to hang down the back, but could be brought around to the front, according to the capricious will of the wearer.

A very dainty capote is one of dark green velvet and passementerie, the velvet being a double fold in front and resting on a broad band of passementerie; or to those preferring it, gold lace fluted with an aigrette and ostrich tips at the back.

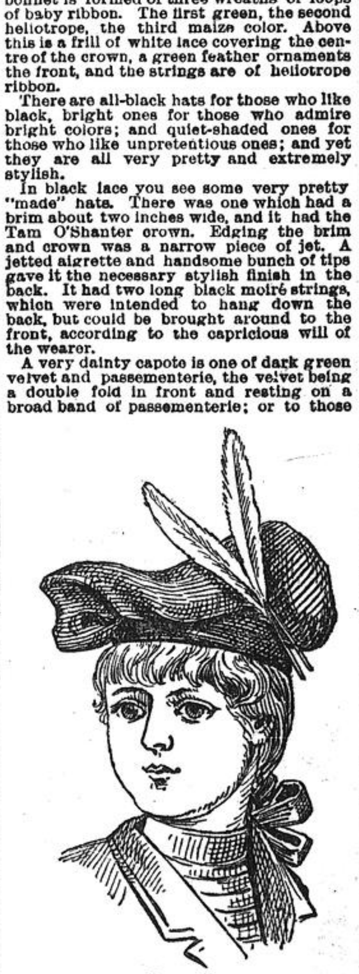

PLATE V.

There are those among us who like to dress neatly and stylishly, but severely plain; and there are a great many little head-gears to suit them this season.

One seen recently was a dark brown hat, something inclined to be on the "English walking hat" style. It was trimmed up on one side with a fold of velvet, a handsome buckle, and a pretty aigrette. It was faced with velvet.

Little sailor hats are also seen in great variety, but they will not be worn so much as they were last season.

Little French bonnets, in all tints and colors, are to be seen in the principal millinery parlors.

There are seen fancy hats with Alsatian bows of straw and clusters of violets.

There is little change in the mourning bonnet with the long crape veil; but some very stylish crape hats are shown.

Green velvet and white straw braid are combined in trimming dark straw turbans. This combination will be very popular this year.

Something new and quite Frenchy is a shirred hat of the palest lilac crepon, which is nearly covered with perfumed violets and foliage.

A CHARMING SUMMER HAT

was a broad white chip hat, with an openwork edge in yellow. The hat was bent and crumpled up into a most beautiful and becoming shape. It was trimmed with wide white gauze ribbon, which had a handsome fancy yellow edge. This ribbon was made into two fancy bows which rested on the side and crown of the hat, and three handsome white plumes were perched in among the many loops and ends of the ribbon. Two fine white lace streamers hung down the back.

FOR THE CHILDREN.

Few changes take place from year to year in the children's summer hats. They are mostly large, flat Leghorns, with wreaths or bunches of flowers upon them, with sometimes a ribbon bow and sometimes not.

But ribbon is used more on ladies' and misses' hats, so it is necessarily favored for the children, too.

For one thing it will be quite essential, and that is for streamers.

There are also some very becoming shapes in Leghorn and Milan straws, which can be trimmed up very tastily for the little girl.

It is often very difficult in summer to find a wrap which is exactly suitable to put on with the dainty cambrics and China silks now worn. The pelerine or lace shoulder cape answers this purpose and is very becoming and ornamental as well. Plate VII gives an example of one of these capes made in point d'esprit lace. It is very simple, yet very stylish, and is made of one deep flounce of lace, gathered very full into the neck band, and finished with a full ruche with pale blue ribbon running through the centre. Another pelerine is composed of the same lace made in three flounces, the middle one not so deep as the upper and lower ruffles. The shoulders are very full and finished on the top and round the neck with a very full ruche of the lace.

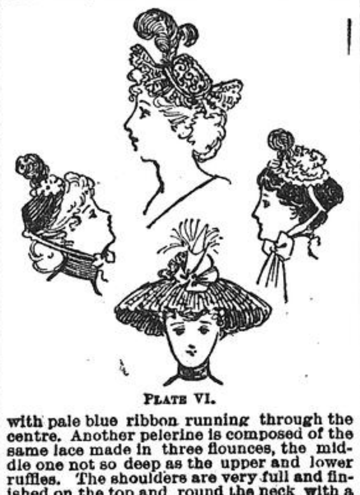

PLATE VI.

Blouses bid fair to retain their popularity and they are certainly very comfortable and becoming to slight figures, and have the advantage of going admirably with almost any kind of skirt. Yokes, full sleeves and Russian blouses will be the principal features in all the soft, light summer dresses, and the dresses, especially those for the young girls, are to be very simple. It seems that there is little or no change in the styles of making up the ginghams, sateens, challies, and other wash dresses. Most of them are made with little yokes, and gathered in at the waist with a belt or sash ribbon.

SOME SMART AFTERNOON DRESSES.

A very sweet idea is carried out in these challies and soft wash goods. It is having them made with a baby waist, with a lace or an embroidered yoke. The sleeve is made with a long, full puff to the elbow, having a deep cuff to match the yoke. The skirt is a plain gathered one, having a small ruffle at the bottom. Usually a ribbon girdle accompanies this little toilet, with long ribbon ends.

Another pretty way of making up a tasteful summer costume is to have the entire front of the waist made in puffed crepe de Chine, the puffs running lengthwise, and about two inches wide. The back and sleeves may be of challie, and the bell skirt, and as if to give the Russian blouse effect, take some broad embroidered crepe de Chine and gather it full all around the waist. Very often with one of these costumes is worn a plain band, or link girdle, and long, full oversleeves which reach nearly to the elbows.

Lace, which is very much in vogue at the present moment, is more often used plain than full, as it thus shows off more effectively over the colored materials under it.

The lace corselets and plastrons are probably the prettiest dispositions made of the odd guipure laces and point de gene.

A very odd corselet is a piece of guipure lace five-eighths of a yard wide, and about fifteen inches deep. Gather the lace up very tight at the top, into about the space of an inch, fasten this on the dress in front, at the neck, and draw it smoothly down and across, and fasten it below the bust, under the arms. Another has one side stopping beneath the arm in the usual manner, while the other runs over the arm in a slender shoulder-strap. Often dainty touches are given these little effects by running narrow ribbon through the sides of the corselet. Of course the ribbon is of the same color as the gown.

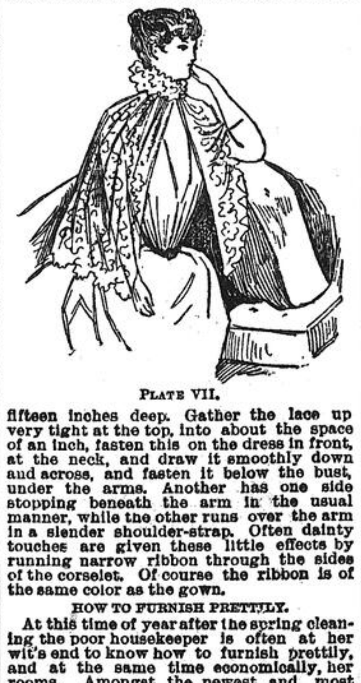

PLATE VII.

HOW TO FURNISH PRETTILY.

At this time of year after the spring cleaning the poor housekeeper is often at her wit's end to know how to furnish prettily, and at the same time economically, her rooms. Amongst the newest and most fashionable fabrics for household decoration are the shadow silks designed by the Society of Decorative Artists. They present exquisite color combinations of softly shaded tints in indistinct patterns on changeable backgrounds, and are most rich and artistic in effect. They are used for portieres, curtains, mantel-drapes, cushions and spreads. In the form of curtains they are simply hung and frequently made up with no trimming except a hem folded up on the right side of the silk itself, which is so unlike on the two sides as to have the effect of a band of entirely different material when folded back upon itself. In mantel covers the silk may be bordered with a fringe or have tassels only at the corners. The scarf is draped but once near one end. For table-spreads, if more than one width is required for the spread, a length is split, overhanded by the selvages, hemmed all round, either plainly or with the hem turned back on the right side across the ends, and has tassels at the corners.

Floral bedrooms have been an English craze, and have recently been adopted in this country. The best decorative houses and wall-paper stores keep paper and cretonne en suite, and toilet ware can also be had to match. A yellow poppy paper on a satin ground, with a cretonne dado to harmonize, makes a pretty arrangement. The cretonne dado should be run around the room in order to make a break in the wall. All the paint should be cream. The curtains and bed-spread should be of cretonne. The ceiling paper should be yellow and white. All the furniture should be covered with the cretonne, and a pale-blue "lily" carpet makes an appropriate finish to the decoration. Another bedroom might have a wild-rose paper, with the wild-rose cretonne, and a dull-green "lily" carpet. There are beautiful rose papers with cretonne to match in yellows, pinks, and reds. A yellow-and white ceiling paper goes with either of the above schemes. Other schemes are blue-and-white poppies, sweet pease, and forget-me-nots, in all of which cases cretonnes, paper, carpet, and chinaware may be obtained. To make the rooms complete, small embroidered flowers in washing silks should be in the corner of all sheets, pillow-cases, towels, and toilet covers.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

The Pike and the Maskinonge—The Use of Capital Letters.

To the Editor of Notes and Queries:

SIR,—Please state through the columns of the STAR the points of difference between the pike and the maskinonge. Some claim that a maskinonge is an overgrown pike. Yours,

Pembroke. JAMES LEACH.

According to all the authorities the maskinonge, maskallongé, or muskallonge,—(for the name is spelt in three different ways) is a large kind of pike (Esox estor of Lesueur) found in the Northern Lakes, the St. Lawrence and Ohio rivers.

A "pike," meaning a weapon with long wooden shafts and flat-pointed steel-head, is a word akin to "pick," "peak," etc. The fish, called "pike" is, no doubt so named from its length and shape, or from the form of its snout. It is a fresh water fish living in deep water. Colonel King, in his book about "Fishing in Canada," derives the name of maskallongé literally from two French words, masque allongé, i. e., "elongated snout," but the name was probably originally an Indian term, and was corrupted into French for an explanation of the words. The following letter on the subject is from a well known angler:

DEAR SIR,—Having no books of reference by me, I am prevented from giving you as scientific an interpretation of the separate traits of the two larger pike as I could wish. In classifying the "Esocidæ" family of fish, however, in Canada, we find three varieties or species. These three branches of one of our most formidable and voracious fresh water inhabitants are the only pike, so far as we know, that are indigenous to our streams and lakes. They are respectively known to science as the "masque-allongé" (mascalongé) "Esox Nobilior"—the noblest of them all—(and this fish has almost as many local names as fin rays.

The northern or common pike (esox Lucius) is very similar to, we might say identical with, the Jack or pike of English waters, and the grass or green pike, (esox reticulatus) more commonly known as the pickerel, a name which has only lately been ascribed to it by the majority of anglers.

An important factor to obtain lucid and reliable information concerning fish is to reduce the host of misapplied local names to an established code of proper names for each fish. This has been largely done quite recently among anglers in the States, and we might follow the example with profit to ourselves in Canada. In distinguishing the two larger species, the difficulty is not great, although it frequently happens among rural fishermen that they confound the two when of large size. After one inspection, however, the dissimilarity is at once perceived, and a mistake afterwards is unpardonable.

The leading and essential features in which the fish differ are these: In the larger fish the snout is longer and more depressed, the space between the orbital orifices less, while the lower jaw surpasses the upper jaw by several lines; and, during spawning time, the work on the lower jaw acquires more prominence, as is characteristic with the males in the salmonidæ. Whether this abnormal growth is supplied to the fish by nature to protect the female and ovæ during her duties on the beds, from the attacks of foes, to aid in the defence of the fry, or to act as an instrument to co-operate in the construction of the beds, is hard to say.

In coloring the two fish differ greatly, although so much depends on the habitat in giving the coloration, that some authors consider such distinction as useless in identifying a variety; the condition of the waters; the quality and abundance of food, etc., exerting a great influence on the markings of the skin; still, in the larger fish the alternate markings are larger, and generally more pronounced; while a slight variation in the fin rays is noticeable.

In spawning the fish are associates, and the "esox nobilior" seems to lay the eggs on any condition of bottom (not necessarily gravel or sand), while the common pike prepares its beds with greater care and discretion. In both fish the time of gestation is about the same, and the time of incubation in all cases, is determined by the surrounding, conditions of water and atmosphere.

Both fish eat their own ova and young fry. Both are equally gluttonous and boa-like. They will feast to repletion, and then remain inactive for a period, which, however, is remarkably short, as digestion is accomplished with wonderful rapidity. In the capture of the two fish we notice some difference of character, the common pike being noticeably more courageous. The "masque-allongé" whence once hooked retires, the pike never. In the dental system they are nearly alike, and we are of the opinion that they shed their teeth like most fish.

In the "masque-allonge" the body is slightly more compressed and in old specimens there is a decided depression from the base of the cranium backwards. The belly of the larger fish is generally of a pure white, while in the "esox lucius" it is less so, and sometimes even of a dirty yellow. The fins are disposed alike; on the anal, caudal and dorsal fins of the smaller fish are found irregular, blackish spots. In both the caudal is emarginate. The great difference lies in the heads, perhaps; and they differ also in weight. The pike never reaches over 30 lbs., while the "masque-allongé" has been taken at over 50 lbs. Trusting this may be of use to you, I remain,

Yours truly,
L. P. PAPINEAU.

The Use of Capital Letters.

To the Editor of Notes and Queries:

SIR,—To settle a dispute, will you please state where capitals should be used in writing the salutation of a letter? In the case of "Dear sir," "Dear friend," "Dear sister," etc., should "sir," "friend" and "sister" be written in capitals?

Yours, etc.,
Wingham. G. H. BLACKWELL.

An American writer on this subject says: "The following superscriptions and subscriptions of letters are designed to show what is now regarded as the most approved arrangement and style of these parts; and they may serve as models according to circumstances. Some of the common forms of address are 'Sir,' 'Dear Sir,' 'My dear Sir,' 'Madam,' 'Dear Madam,' 'My Dear Mother,' 'Brother,' or 'Friend,' according to the relations of affection, intimacy, or respect existing between the parties. Note, also, that the form of address, 'Madam,' or 'Dear Madam,' is as applicable to unmarried as to married ladies."

Mr. Blackwell will notice that "Sir," "Madame," "Brother," "Friend," etc., are all written with capitals in the address; but in taking leave you write, "Your affectionate friend, brother or sister," in small letters, followed by the name of the writer. This, I think, is all that my correspondent wants to know.

As I am now dealing with the subject of capital and small letters, I may here answer another correspondent, who, a short time ago, asked me to mention all the instances in which capitals are required to be used.

The rules for the use of large or capital letters are differently given in different treatises that involve the subject. The following will be found sufficient for all purposes. A capital should be used at the beginning, (I,) of every sentence, and of every line of poetry. Some of the younger poets in England now disregard the latter rule, but the lines have an unfamiliar look in consequence.

2. Of all names of God, and of every proper name, whether noun or adjective, as "England," "English." Hence, also, of names personified, as "O Death," and generally of titles of office or honor, when used as such, "The Queen," "The Executive;" even of common names, when, through emphasis or treatment, they are regarded as important, as "The Reformation," "The French Revolution."

3. Of the first word after the introductory words "Resolved," "Ordered," "Voted," etc; as "Resolved, That this Council is of opinion, etc."

4. Of every direct quotation, when it makes complete sense, as "Remember the Maxim, Know Thyself."

5. Of the names of days, weeks and months, as "The Wednesday of Whitsun week," "the 2nd of January;" but not of seasons, unless they are personified.

6. The pronoun "I," the interjection "O," and single letters forming abbreviations, like "M. D." "B. A." "F. R. S. C;" should be written and printed in capitals.

7. I omitted to say that personal pronouns referring to "God the Father, The Son and the "Holy Ghost" should begin with a capital, as "For Jesus Christ, His Sake." In like manner we also write: "I was introduced to Her Majesty, the Queen;" but I am not sure that this is the custom of all countries. It may be remarked, in conclusion, that about a century ago it was the custom to print all nouns with initial capitals.

The Girl Gave Back the Rings.

Detective Robinson was called to 17 Brunswick street, where a young lady employed in the telephone office had recently died. On arrival he found that in packing the deceased's girl's jewelry three rings were missed. Search was made for the missing articles, and suspicion fell upon a servant employed there, Rose Delina Laurier, of Longue Pointe. On being threatened with arrest she confessed and gave back the rings.

A Frugal Meal.

It's house-cleaning time. Every one tired and cross; every thing out of place and wrong end foremost. No time to fool away in cooking; no fire, probably; no appetite, perhaps; no comfort, certainly.

No Pearline—that's the cause of it. A little Pearline, when you're cleaning house, makes the whole thing smooth and easy. With anything about the house that isn't hurt by water, you can save time and hard work by using Pearline. You won't have to use that rub, rub, rub, in getting the dirt off; that saves other things—your paint, for instance.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 318 JAMES PYLE, New York.

Errors of Youth.
SUFFERERS FROM
Nervous Debility, Youthful Indiscretions, Lost Manhood,
BE YOUR OWN PHYSICIAN!

Many men, from the effects of youthful imprudence, have brought about a state of weakness that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever being suspected, they are doctored for everything but the right one. Notwithstanding the many valuable remedies that medical science has produced for the relief of this class of patients, none of the ordinary modes of treatment effect a cure. During our extensive college and hospital practice we have experimented with and discovered new and concentrated remedies. The accompanying prescription is offered as a certain and speedy cure, as hundreds of cases in our practice have been restored to perfect health by its use after all other remedies failed. Perfectly pure ingredients must be used in the preparation of this prescription.

R—Erythroxylon coca, ½ drachm.
Jerubebin, ½ drachm.
Helonias Dioica, ½ drachm.
Gelsemin, 8 grains.
Ext. ignatiæ amaræ (alcoholic), 2 grains.
Ext. leptandra, 2 scruples.
Glycerine, q. s. Mix.

Make 60 pills. Take 1 pill at 3 p.m., and another on going to bed. In some cases it will be necessary for the patient to take two pills at bedtime, making the number three a day. This remedy is adapted to every condition of nervous debility and weakness in either sex, and especially in those cases resulting from imprudence. The recuperative powers of this restorative are truly astonishing, and its use continued for a short time changes the languid, debilitated, nerveless condition to one of renewed life and vigor.

As we are constantly in receipt of letters of inquiry relative to this remedy, we would say to those who would prefer to obtain it of us, by remitting $1 a securely sealed package containing 60 pills, carefully compounded, will be sent by return mail from our private laboratory, or we will furnish 6 packages, which will cure most cases, for $5.

NOTICE.

The Town of St. Henry will apply to the Legislature of Quebec, at its next session, to obtain an act to amend its charter, and more specially—

1. To obtain the authorization to divide the Town of St. Henry into four wards, each of which shall be represented by three councillors.

2. To authorize the Council of the Town to impose up to the sum of $200.00 per annum, as well for business taxes as for the certificate fees to all holders of saloon, restaurant or hotel licenses.

3. To obtain authorization to have in the Town of St. Henry a Recorder and a Recorder's Court.

4. To authorize the Council of the said Town to expropriate, for the enlarging of its streets, and to settle on the Town of St. Henry a law of expropriation.

5. To relieve the Council of making each year an assessment roll, and to authorize it to make alternately an assessment roll one year and a revision thereof the following year.

6. To authorize the Council of the Town of St. Henry to annex the neighboring Municipalities or part thereof which shall consent to it by a majority of the electors.

7. To increase the powers of the Council concerning the grant or certain advantages which in this or that case it shall deem beneficial to the Town of St. Henry.

8. To introduce the system of voting by secret ballot, and for other ends more at length mentioned in the amendments which shall be then presented.

UNDOUBTEDLY A "GERRYMANDER."

In his able defence of the right of the Government to introduce a redistribution bill and shoulder all responsibility therefor, Sir John Thompson laid down a principle that, if the present bill be taken as an example of its operation, cannot be allowed to pass unchallenged. He said that "whenever a redistribution bill was brought forward and discussed, the first object members should set before them should be to interfere as little as possible with existing lines and not to interfere with them excepting some serious occasion called for it." If every one were allowed to interpret the phrase "some serious occasion," according to his own ideas, this statement would lose much of its objectionable character and all of its point; but in all fairness it must be understood in the light of the pending measure which boasts the same authorship as the sentence itself. The main fault of the present bill from an elector's standpoint is that it is prolific in sins of omission. Constituencies all over are left unadjusted that certainly need reconstruction. A flagrant example of this is Quebec West, which with a population of a miserable nine thousand odd—about two-fifths of the ideal average—is left with its member; while another division of the same city has a population of 32,200. The three Quebecs together have a population of 63,000, which would make 21,000 for each of the members. This is below the desired average for country constituencies even, and far below that allowed to cities; but certainly, if Quebec is to be continued with three members, it would be very easy to re-arrange its wards so as to give each about 21,000 constituents. One objection to this that will strike Sir John Thompson is that it would probably result in the election of three Liberal members.

A list of constituencies ridiculously below the unit (23,000) would be longer than a journal would care to publish, but some of them are these:

Vaudreuil	10,803
Soulanges	9,608
Montmorency	12,309
L'Islet	13,822
Restigouche, N. B.	8,309
Albert, N. B.	10,971
Victoria, N. S.	12,387
Frontenac	13,445
South Grenville	12,931
Leeds and Grenville	13,623

Not one of these is touched by the new bill. The town of Port Elgin is taken out of North Bruce, which has a population of 22,531—already below the mark—and put in West Bruce with a population of 20,718. Not another change is made anywhere in that district; and yet the Government expects the country to believe that it went away up to the shore of Lake Huron to make that solitary alteration solely to "equalize the population," when it does nothing with Vaudreuil and Soulanges, although the rest of the Montreal district is turned upside down. Sir John is indignant that this measure should be called a "gerrymander;" and to sustain his indignation he must deny that Liberal Port Elgin was taken from the close riding of North Bruce and buried in the Grit "hive" of West Bruce to make Mr. McNeill's seat more secure. It is difficult to see how he can make such a denial with a straight face; but if he does not make it, he admits the bill to be a "gerrymander."

The same thing is repeated in Prescott and Russell. We must understand Sir John Thompson to say that the fact that there are only 8309 people in Restigouche, 9241 in Quebec West and 9608 in Soulanges does in no case constitute a "serious occasion" calling for interference with "existing lines;" but that the deplorable condition of Prescott with only 24,173 people—more than Vaudreuil and Soulanges united—does create a "serious occasion" demanding interference with "existing lines" that 6244 more people may be dumped into that county. It seems scarcely credible that the Minister is serious in such an argument. Two plainer cases of "gerrymander" could not easily be had.

Another phase of the question is the reckless way in which some people are left disenfranchised. The cases of Montreal and Toronto have been cited ad nauseam, but it seems plain that neither party dare take up the cause of the cities. However, many rural constituencies are left in nearly as bad a plight. Some of the worst are:

Drummond and Arthabaska	43,923
Beauce	37,222
Chicoutimi	38,281
Rimouski	33,430
Westmoreland, N. B.	41,478
Cumberland, N. S.	34,529
East Simcoe	35,801

East and West York and Hochelaga probably fall into the same unfortunate boat as the cities. None of these, however, present a "serious occasion" apparently in the eyes of the same ministers who were so grievously pained by the discrepancies in the Bruces. If the Government intend to force the country to be satisfied with the picayune and party-born patch-work of the Thompson bill and refuse us a decent redistribution, let them at least have the goodness to irritate us with no more transparent and Pharisaical sophistries and fall back on the cogent logic of the "division bell."

CURING CONSUMPTION.

To counterbalance the instinctive hope of a consumptive patient, there is always the depressing hopelessness of his friends. They have little faith in any treatment that does not include a violent change of climate; and for such as these we will summarise the results of the last year's work at Dr. Trudeau's Sanitarium in the cold, dry climate of the Adirondacks. Dr. Trudeau divided his patients into two classes—those who remained at the Sanitarium three months and less, and those who remained from three to eighteen months. There were twenty-six of the former class, and they, in turn, were subdivided into five incipient cases, fourteen advanced cases, five far advanced cases, and two with doubtful evidence of phthisis. When discharged, within the three months it must be remembered, in six cases the disease was arrested, nine were improved in health, and in eleven there was no improvement. Thirteen of the patients gained an average of six pounds each, while six only lost weight, and they but an average of two pounds.

A much better report is made of fifty-three patients who remained at the Sanitarium for the longer period. Twenty entered the institution as "incipient cases;" and, of these, twelve were apparently cured; and in the other eight cases the disease was arrested. This means that none of the incipient cases were lost. Surely this is a message of great hope to any whose feet may be on the gentle slopes of the downward path. Colorado certainly could not do more and it might easily accomplish much less. Twenty-four cases were classed as "advanced" and of these one was cured; eight had the disease arrested; eleven were improved; and four only failed to improve. Eight patients were considered to be "far advanced," and in these even one had his malady arrested, two improved, three "failed" and two died. Both deaths were in the far advanced class and from profuse hemorrhage, in one case complicated with heart disease. It may make the statistics clearer to have the official definitions of the terms used:

Incipient.—Cases in which both the physical and rational signs point to but slight local and constitutional involvement.

Advanced.—Cases in which the localized disease process is either extensive or in an advanced stage, or where, with a comparatively slight amount of pulmonary involvement, the rational signs point to grave constitutional impairment or to some complication.

Far Advanced.—Cases in which both the rational and physical signs warrant the term.

Apparently cured.—Cases in which the rational signs of phthisis and the bacilli in the expectoration have been absent for at least three months, or who have no expectoration at all; any abnormal physical signs remaining being interpreted as indicative of a healed lesion.

Arrested.—Cases in which cough, expectoration, and bacilli are still present, but in whom all constitutional disturbance has disappeared for several months; the physical signs being interpreted as indicative of a retrogressive or arrested process.

Now these facts do not show that Dr. Trudeau is a miracle-worker and that all sufferers must go to his shrine, but that consumption can be cured in a northern climate and at a cost within the reach of most.

All victims of the dread disease cannot be accommodated at the Saranac Lake institution, and there is a crying necessity for another of the same character. Canadian generosity could not be better employed than in building a complete sanitarium, quite distinct from that at Saranac lake. It would cost a great deal of money to make a beginning and donations must be liberal every year, but it would be money well invested. A city that has exhibited so much magnificent generosity as Montreal need not baulk at this task. In another column we publish a letter from Mr. Renouf, whose wife has been greatly benefitted by a sojourn at the Sanitarium, and it is his opinion that our people will not do more than build a few cottages in connection with the present institution. This in itself would be a great and lasting benefit to suffering Canadians, but, if we choose, we can do a better thing.

Still the form that the Canadian enterprise shall take cannot be decided until the pulse of public interest in the affair is better treated.

FLOWERS FOR THE SICK.

The flower mission to the sick, imprisoned in our public hospitals, is one of the sweetest developments of our "charity," that is better writ "love." It is impossible for a healthy person to imagine how the breath of coming summer floating in through the windows of a sick room fills the invalid with a longing for the field and mountain. To such, a handful of flowers is a great boon, acting as a sort of "appetiser" for the abundance of such beauties that will reward convalescence. This is a feeling that will appeal to all, and many will be in a position to contribute flowers, but they will not know exactly how to come at it. A means has been provided, however, by an organization which undertakes to distribute any flowers that they receive to the hospitals. Montrealers know this work well in the past, and the sufferers in the hospital cots know it better. The headquarters of the mission for contribution purposes is at the Natural History rooms, where any flowers left on Tuesday mornings will be carried to the "sick poor." The work begins for the season on Tuesday, June 7th; and the ladies who give their time and tact to the work should have an abundance of spring flowers for the introductory bouquets.

THE Liberal press taunts those of us who are urging an appeal against the "gerrymander" iniquity to the Governor-General, with a fatuous faith in an image of wood and stone. The present is an unequalled chance for Lord Stanley to prove this opinion a slander.

SEE, Mr. Lepine, of Montreal East, is a representative of Independent Labor, is he not? Then he is the one man to protest against the refusal of the Government to give the workingmen of Montreal fair representation in the Commons. Mr. Lepine should be heard from at once.

IF the limber Davin would only go home and work the press, and let the independent and courageous editor of the Regina Leader take his place in Parliament, the land of his adoption would apparently be a great gainer.

WHEN Sir John Thompson gets his bill through making "irony" libellous, it will be actionable to refer to its author as the "Minister of Justice."

IF the American "people, for the people, by the people, etc.," have anything to say about it, the candidates will be Blaine and Cleveland.

The Kaiser to Visit the Queen.

LONDON, June 4.—The German Emperor has definitely accepted an invitation to pay a private visit to Queen Victoria at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, during the summer. He will come on the occasion of the Cowes regatta, in August.

A DAIRY SCHOOL.

ONE TO BE ESTABLISHED AT ONCE.

Discussion on the Matter in the Provincial Legislature—The Late Inspector of Forest Rangers.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

QUEBEC, June 4.—It is now apparent that the session will not be over before the middle of the month. The new tax policy is certain to be well threshed out and in connection with it there was to have been a caucus of the Ministerialists yesterday morning, but this preliminary opening of the fight has been postponed until next week, as some of the members were absent and the Cabinet desired a full attendance on this important matter. From the way business has been put through this session it is beyond question that on the meeting of the House if the Government measures are all ready, the session should not last longer than five or six weeks. A great deal of time is wasted by some of the members, old and young, speaking on every subject that comes up, whether they are posted or not, and pouring forth a stream of nonsense and rubbish. This is especially the case when the galleries are full. Slamming and banging of desks has no effect and, like alarm clocks, they must be allowed to run out. The whole of the bills effecting the city of Montreal, viz., Hon. Mr. Hall's bill to amend the charter, Mr. G. W. Stephens', to amend the charter, and Mr. Descarries' for other alterations in the way of appropriations, have been set down for consideration on Wednesday next. Those interested in these bills, especially bankers, stockholders, etc., should be present, as the Corporation of Montreal is asking for very extraordinary powers in taxation matters. Hon. Mr. Pelletier's bill to incorporate the polytechnic school of Montreal gives power that the net revenue of the immovable property belonging to the Corporation, held for the purposes of revenue, shall not exceed twenty-five thousand dollars per year. That the corporation of the polytechnic school shall have the power to make by-laws:

1. To define the duties and functions of the professors and other employés, and to fix their salaries;
2. For the administration of the school, the behavior of the students and the fees payable by them.
3. To change or enlarge the programme now in force in the said school.
4. For the management of its affairs or for any purpose whatever of the corporation.

These by-laws, however, shall not go into operation until after they have been sanctioned by His Grace the Archbishop of Montreal, Apostolic Vice-Chancellor of Laval University, and by the University Council of the same.

The polytechnic school is placed under the control of Laval University, and affiliated to the Faculty of Arts at Montreal, under the provisions of the Act 50 Victoria, chapter 21, section 1; and considering the services rendered by the polytechnic school, and the necessity there is in the country for such an institution, the said school shall receive, out of the fund for superior education, an annual grant of ten thousand dollars.

The quorum of the Joint Select Standing Committee on printing has been reduced to five members, with Hon. Mr. Laviolette as president.

Mr. Carbiay is after the late superintendent of bush rangers with a big stick. He intends getting all the papers and correspondence relating to that remission of $100,000 of Crown dues or stampage by J. B. Charleson, and which it appears was done in an irregular and unauthorized manner. The time for presenting the reports on private bills has been extended until the end of the session. The House met at 3.30 p. m. Hon. Mr. Hall's motion for concurrence in an item, $10,000, for the establishment of a school for dairy industry at St. Hyacinthe, Hon. Mr. Beaubien rose and made a very long and forcible speech in favor of the grant. He desired all the members of the House to assist and send to him, from the several parishes in their counties, pupils. This would soon result in getting the farmers more interested in giving their sons an agricultural education as they were to give him a classical one. In the latter they held a first rank, thanks to the clergy, and the English population admitted this, but they were backward in agriculture and he wished to remedy this for the prosperity and general welfare of their province. The only way to do this was to give them the best education in the manufacture of butter and cheese, from which they would reap a large profit for themselves and their families. They had everything at their door to to so, if properly instructed in proper farming methods. They had a good soil and an industrious, intelligent people and with the hearty support of all, good results would follow. It was not a party question, it was for the prosperity of all and in view of increased burdens it was necessary that the farming community should be assisted towards meeting their condition.

Mr. Beaubien spoke up to six o'clock, when the Speaker left the chair.

Private bills was the first business after recess, and after some discussion the name of "Credit Foncier de la Province de Quebec" was changed to that of "Credit Canadian," and the bill read a third time; also "The Royal Trust and Fidelity Co.," after which the debate on the dairy industry was continued by Messrs. McDonald, Quartier, Tessier, in approval of Mr. Beaubien's plans, and the item was concurred in.

The rest of the session was filled up with answering questions and the House adjourned at 11 p. m. until Monday at 3 p. m.

The Hon. J. McIntosh is appointed provincial commissioner to the World's Fair, Chicago.

Palacio Threatens the Church.

NEW YORK, June 3.—A cable to the Herald from Caracas, Venezuela, says Palacio is distressed at the reports reaching him from all parts of the country about the part taken by priests in the uprising against the dictatorship and is threatening the Church with retaliation unless the clergy are ordered to stop fighting the Government. In pursuance of this plan the dictator sent word to the archbishop that if priests continued to side with the revolutionists there would be a dissolution of Church and State. Serious complications are likely to grow out of this affair. The Catholic population is greatly excited over it. Fears are entertained that if the archbishop refuses to comply with Palacio's demand, the latter will imprison him. To prevent this the Catholics are arming themselves.

Near Altagracia, a battle has been fought between Palacio's soldiers and the revolutionists. It resulted in a defeat for the Government. Father Lopez was in command of Crespo's soldiers. Another fight took place at Quisiro between Palacio's troops led by General Santz and a revolutionary troop led by Father Zuleta. Zuleta is said to have been the victor. The rebel general Mora is again threatening Puerto Cabello. A mutiny occurred a few days ago among the Government soldiers under Gen. Arras at Mesida. Forty men were killed before the mutiny was suppressed.

A Delaware and Hudson Train Wrecked

RUTLAND, Vt., June 3.—There was a bad wreck on the Delaware & Hudson Canal railway near Hydeville yesterday. The train was No. 4, due at Whitehall at 2.20 o'clock. Near Hydeville one coach, the rear one, ran off the track and down an embankment, completely overturning. Seven passengers were hurt and Conductor Edward Woods' injuries are so serious that he will probably die. His home is in Whitehall. The injured persons were taken to Hydeville and wrecking trains were sent from Rutland and Whitehall to clear the track. The wreck was cleared in less than two hours. Except Woods the other injured were only slightly hurt.

Anti-Christian Agitation in China.

SHANGHAI, June 4.—Many anti-Christian placards have been posted in Wusung and Fiang Hoo. The Chinese officials have taken active measures to destroy the placards and discover their authors. In Hunan, the scene of the anti-Christian demonstration a short time ago, much worse placards than those that then appeared have been posted in many public places.

An Officer's Suicide.

LONDON, June 3.—Captain E. H. Randolph, of the Prince of Wales' North Staffordshire regiment, committed suicide yesterday by jumping into the sea at Weymouth. He had become insane through over-study.

Alleged Unprofessional Conduct.

TORONTO, June 4.—C. E. Pegley, the well known Q. C. of Chatham, is being proceeded against by the Ontario Law Society, who contend that his gown should be taken away for unprofessional conduct. A client named Gellan loaned the lawyer $1000 and took a mortgage, which proved to be a second mortgage, and which the property did not meet. The client says that the money has not been paid, but Justice Meredith refused to strike Pegley from the rolls. This is an appeal from that ruling. The defendant is a well known man in the high courts. The case is looked at with great interest by the legal profession, as the Court of Appeal has rarely struck off a lawyer's name, but generally restores them when another court has done so.

A MONTREAL MOULDER'S ADVENTURE.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

KINGSTON, June 4.—Another large crowd assembled on the streets in the vicinity of Chown & Cunningham's stove works last evening to watch the police officers escorting the two non-union moulders, Armand and Carpenter, to their boarding house. The train from the east yesterday afternoon brought Alphonse Guillett, a Montreal moulder, to the city. He is a French-Canadian and cannot speak English. A deputation of union moulders, who were informed of his coming, met the train at Gananoque and an interpreter was on hand to talk with the visitor. On being asked if he knew that a strike was on in the Victoria foundary he said he did not. He was hired in Montreal along with three other moulders to come to this city to work at $2.50 per day and was told that the difficulty was settled here. Arrangements were made and tickets procured for the four men to leave Montreal yesterday morning, but when train time came he was the only one that showed up. On being asked if he was going to work he stated that he was not, but was going to return home immediately. He was taken to a hotel and was lionized by the union moulders until 2.30 this morning, when he took his departure. He will, he said, inform his comrades how matters stand and put a stop to their coming to Kingston. The boarding master where Armand and Carpenter are staying will allow no one to see or converse with them. Union men have made them big offers to leave the city, but they refuse, though some of the moulders say they will go to-night. Guillett was escorted as far east as Montreal this morning. He will remember his visit for some time. On his arrival at the Kingston Station Chown and Cunningham's manager grabbed him by one arm and the union moulders by the other. Neither parties could talk French to him and Guillett was dumbfounded.

A COMING ST. JOHNS WEDDING.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

ST. JOHNS, June 4.—Mr. H. R. Smith, the popular junior member of the firm of E. R. Smith & Son, publishers of the News, was made the recipient of a handsome silver service at the hands of the employés on Friday afternoon, the occasion being his approaching marriage to Miss Harriet Walmsley, daughter of Alex. Walmsley, Esq., of this town. The souvenir was accompanied by an illuminated address which was warmly responded to by the recipient, after which the donors were royally entertained at Monnette's Hotel. The nuptial ceremony takes place in St. James Church, on Wednesday, the 8th inst.

TORONTO'S ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR].

TORONTO, June 4.—Mr. Everett, of the Street Railway Company, says that about thirty-five miles of the new electric road will be in running order this autumn including all the principal routes. The company has the rails on hand and is prepared to lay them down as fast as the city can prepare the roadway. The stringing of the overhead trolley wire will only take a few days.

PARRY SOUND RAILWAY.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OWEN SOUND, June 4.—The second ten miles of the Parry Sound Colonization and Railway has been completed and inspected by the engineers, Mr. Thomas Ridout for the Dominion, and Mr. Robert McCallum for the Ontario Government. The line is now open from the junction with the G. T. R. at Scotia to Bear Lake.

THE DEHORNING OF CATTLE.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

LONDON, Ont., June 4.—The Commission appointed by the Ontario Government to take evidence in the matter of dehorning cattle have been in session here for the past two days. The evidence taken is very conflicting. Some witnesses affirm that the practice is not cruel; while others as firmly hold that it is painful and dangerous.

WINDSOR ANNEXATIONISTS.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

WINDSOR, June 4.—The annexationists of Windsor met last night and decided to have a public demonstration on June 10. Several distinguished speakers will participate, among them Charles Mackenzie, M. P. P., of Sarnia, brother of the late Hon. Alex. Mackenzie.

A PRIZE PORTRAIT REBUS.

This young lady has three brothers, each one of whose picture is combined in the above portrait. The manufacturers of PEARLIFOAM, THE LATEST SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY FOR CLEANSING AND PRESERVING THE TEETH, will give a handsome Gold Watch to the person who can make out the faces of the three brothers FIRST; to the second an elegant pair of genuine DIAMOND EARRINGS; to the third a PIANO LAMP in Antique Silver; to the fourth either a SILK DRESS PATTERN or a SWISS MUSIC BOX playing six pieces; to the fifth a beautiful pair of PEARL OPERA GLASSES; to the sixth an elegant MANTEL CLOCK; to the seventh a pair of SOLID GOLD CHAIN BRACELETS, with Padlocks, and to the eighth a COIN SILVER WATCH.

Each contestant is to cut out the picture rebus and make a cross with a lead pencil on the three brothers faces, and send same to us, with ten three-cent Canadian postage stamps (or 30 cents in silver) for one package of Pearlifoam, before July 20th, 1892. The envelope postmarked first which contains the three brothers' faces correctly marked will receive the first prize, the balance in order as received. For the last correct answer we will also give a handsome Gold Watch; to the next to the last a complete BUSINESS EDUCATION; to the second to the last an elegant pair of genuine DIAMOND EARRINGS; to the third from the last a PIANO LAMP in Antique Silver; to the fourth a SWISS MUSIC BOX playing six pieces; to the fifth a SILK DRESS PATTERN; to the sixth a pair of PEARL OPERA GLASSES; to the seventh an elegant MANTEL CLOCK, and a valuable prize will also be given to every person who is able to answer this picture rebus correctly until 100 prizes have been awarded if there should be that number answering correctly. Nothing is charged for boxing and packing prizes. We shall offer extra premiums to all who are willing to help us introduce Pearlifoam. Our prizes are entirely FREE. Our object is to introduce and attract attention to Pearlifoam, which is the only preparation whose manufacturers are willing to offer a reward of $100 to any dentist who can show that it contains anything injurious to the teeth. Ladies who have used Pearlifoam cannot say too much in its favor. A mouthful of pearly white teeth is the sure result of its constant use. It is recommended by the leaders of the profession everywhere, ask your dentist what he thinks of it.

Pearlifoam is sent by mail postpaid. Prizes in the above Portrait Rebus are to be carefully awarded strictly as deserved. Address, EXQUISITE TOILET M'F'G. CO., 170 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.

THE CRIMINAL CODE.

THE HOUSE DISCUSSED IT YESTERDAY.

Bringing Stolen Goods Into Canada is Made an Indictable Offence—Heavy Penalties for Thieves of Various Kinds.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, June 4.—The quiet sitting of yesterday came as a welcome relief to the Canadian House of Commons after three weary days' debate on the redistribution bill. It was like unstringing the bow after it had been tightly bent. The Grits for another day at least would not have to talk and talk in order to stave off the second reading of the obnoxious bill. They were temporarily relieved from the task of raising a barricade of speeches between them and the order to call in the members. They enjoyed the rest, and the whole House appeared to join with them in it. Three measures came before the House, namely, one to amend the Dominion Lands Act, one respecting the voters' list of 1891, and the criminal code. That respecting the voters' list contains only two sections, which read as follows:

"It shall not be taken or held to affect the validity of any such list of voters as aforesaid that it was not finally revised or certified, or that a duplicate copy thereof was not forwarded to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery on or before the thirty-first day of December, in the year 1891; but such list shall for all purposes be taken and held to have been duly brought into force, notwithstanding such non-compliance, with the said act, provided that such list shall have been finally revised and certified, and a duplicate copy thereof forwarded to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, before the end of this present session of Parliament.

"There shall be no revision during the present year, 1892, of the lists of voters as last finally revised."

Mr. Laurier did not oppose the bill, but he offered a few observations respecting it. The law providing for a yearly revision of the list had never been carried out. There had been revisions, but many years had been omitted. This was a tacit acknowledgment that the act was defective or useless. Would it not be better to sweep all away and free the country from its costly and cumbersome machinery.

Sir Richard Cartwright pointed out that the bill should be constructed so as not to affect pending contested election cases.

Mr. Mills suggested that the electorate district of the City of London be not brought within the operation of the act because of the presence on the list of the names of a large number of appealed voters. The bill was read a second time. The Dominion Lands Acts Amendment Bill provides a number of changes for previous legislation respecting the western lands. It does away with the necessity of dividing land into blocks of four townships each. It was a rule which had not been and could not be followed with advantage. A number of other amendments are proposed and were discussed in committee of the whole. The consideration was not completed and the committee asked leave to sit again.

Much of the criminal code was passed in committee and they worked well in toward the middle of the bulky bill.

Mr. Tupper will likely not be seen in the House again this session. The Government will have to fight their redistribution through without him, for he has gone to England to prepare the Canadian side of the Behring Sea case. He will be missed in Ottawa. The Liberals too have lost a genial popular co-laborer and a fearless fighter, for Mr. Watson, from Marquette, has stepped down from Federal politics to take a hand in the affairs of his own province. All of his friends here wish the new minister success. The redistribution fight is expected to be resumed on Tuesday next and the masked batteries of further amendments will be opened upon the measure. It is said the Liberals have on hand a number of these which will be brought up in succession one after another as the men are sent in to bat in a cricket match. The discussion of each will occupy several days and so the fight will drag along through the leafy month of June. Mr. McCarthy's amendments, by which he proposes that the electoral constituencies be formed by returning to county boundaries, will lead to a long and interesting debate. When will the end be reached? Some fixed it at the end of August, but it is only conjecture. In those parts of the code passed in committee were a number of interesting sections. Section 332 makes every one guilty of an offence, and liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding $20 over and above the value of the dog, bird, beast or other animal, or to one month's imprisonment with hard labor, who steals any dog or any bird, beast or other animal ordinarily kept in a state of confinement or for any domestic purpose. Stealing from an Indian's grave is made an offence punishable on summary conviction by a fine of $100. One clause will bear very heavily on those people who leave their country for their country's good to come to Canada, and bring property with them. Bringing stolen goods into Canada is made an indictable offence and the punishment therefor is seven years' imprisonment. In order that no thief may escape there is a clause to provide punishment for stealing things not otherwise provided for.

The House last night presented a great contrast to that which sat there on the night before. Then empty seats were the exception. The night was warm and so were the speeches. One party was fighting, as it claimed, for justice and its very existence and the spirit of party was abroad. Last night the House was comparatively empty and it was cool and calm. They were only laying down rules for the punishment of wrong doers. Neither party feared a disadvantage and so business went on with despatch. The committee sat until 11.15, when the committee rose and reported progress.

The House at once adjourned and so completed its 13th week of the session.

During the evening sitting the following bill was read a third time: An act respecting the Montreal and Western Railway Co., (as amended by a select standing committee, on railways, canals and telegraph lines.) And the following bill received a second reading: An act to amend an act to incorporate the Manitoba and Assiniboia grand junction railway company, from the Senate.

Mr. Dalton McCarthy to-night gave notice that on the motion for the second reading of the act to readjust the representation in the House of Commons he will move "That the said bill be not now read a second time, but that it be resolved that the distribution of seats of the members of this House should, so far as practicable, be based on the equality of population, due regard being had to the community of interests existing in localities, a full and fair expression of public opinion, and the permanence and stability of constituencies. That the most effective way of accomplishing these ends is to assume county and city boundaries as the natural limits of electoral districts, with equitable distributions thereof constituted with compactness, as regards geographical position, and based on well known existing areas. Where the population entitles the city or county to two or more representatives, that the system now prevailing and proposed to be continued by the said bill fails to secure equality of population, ignores community of interests, disregards geographical compactness, renders stability impossible and is liable to gross abuse in affording opportunities in the arrangement of electoral districts for promoting party aims and obtaining party advantages regardless of the considerations which ought to determine the settlement of the representation of the people in the House.

In the Senate yesterday Hon. Mr. Boulton withdrew his motion declaring that the time has come when bonuses of land grants to railway companies in Manitoba and the North-West should cease. He gave as an excuse that he was unwilling to jeopardize the deliberations of the Government in formulating any scheme now under consideration for aiding railways.

Senator Boulton, whose political vagaries are giving him considerable notoriety, will in all likelihood offer himself as a candidate in Marquette, Manitoba. He has issued an address to the electors, setting forth his views on free trade. A loophole, through which he can escape, still exists. He said to a STAR correspondent: "I am not called upon to resign my seat in the Senate until nomination day. If the Liberals and Conservatives put candidates in the field I will take it as an indication that the people of Marquette prefer me to remain in the Senate."

In Dread of a Flood at London.

LONDON, Ont., June 4.—A very heavy rainstorm struck this neighborhood last night, causing a rise in the river. About midnight a despatch was received from Thorndale advising the authorities of London West to be on their guard because of the sudden flooding of the river at that point, but as yet nothing serious is apprehended here. The new steamer "Tecumseh," which was launched on Tuesday last, was carried over the waterworks dam and is now lying on the flats below. The rain has washed out a large number of culverts and road travel is considerably hampered. It is still raining hard and the residents of London West are becoming somewhat alarmed, and a number of families have already commenced to move out.

BURGLARS IN A JUDGE'S HOUSE.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

THREE RIVERS, June 4.—The city police are looking for three tramps who are supposed to have rendered themselves guilty of housebreaking during the night of Monday; some effected an entrance into Judge Bourgeois' residence by opening a front basement window. The servant hearing a noise got up and lit a lamp which scared the intruder. Very few articles were missed. Disappointed with their success at the judges they went over to his neighbor, Mr. C. Peltier, and got in by lifting up one of the back windows. Nothing was known of the midnight visit until a gold watch, a coat and a pair of shoes were missed. They also took some fruit, and departed no one knows where. The three tramps alluded to above have been seen around town these several days back, and yesterday morning one of them applied to Mr. Peltier for something to eat.

KINGSTON AND THE FORWARDERS.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

KINGSTON, June 3.—With regard to the erecting of a large elevator in this city Captain Gaskin, Manager of the Montreal Transportation Company, informed a news reporter that if an elevator was not built here at once, with a capacity of half a million bushels, the consequence would be that within three years the forwarding trade would be a thing of the past in Kingston. He produced a letter which he had received from the Montreal manager of the Company, in which he said: "Kingston must be up and doing or Prescott would take precedence as a transhipping point. A deputation was in Montreal on Saturday from Prescott and pressed its claims very strongly. The Company are bound to go where the business is, and that is certain." In the face of this the captain held that it was imperative that some action be taken at once.

THE SUPREME COURT.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, June 3.—The Supreme Court yesterday heard the argument in the case of Levis vs. the Queen. In this case the Corporation of Levis appealed from an Exchequer Court judgment awarding them compensation for lands taken for Intercolonial railway purposes. The appeal was dismissed with costs, the Court holding that the evidence justified the Exchequer Court's decision.

The case of Dubois vs. Ste. Rose stood pending the decision of the Privy Council in a similar case. Belcourt moved to quash the appeal in the Ferland case on the ground of non-jurisdiction. This is an appeal from a judgment of the Court of Queen's Bench of Montreal in a suit respecting an insolvent estate.

THE OTTAWA LUMBER INDUSTRY.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, June 4.—Booths new mill is now fully running. The last saws were set in motion yesterday. This mill has no fewer than ten band saws in operation.

It is estimated that Bronsons' and Weston have cut about 250,000 logs the past winter. The total cut for the four Chaudiere mills is said to be in the neighborhood of 1,250,000 logs. So far five rafts have passed through here for Quebec. In the five there were 17,116 sticks of timber. Mr. G. B. Greene, manager of the Upper Ottawa Improvement Company, is up the river on the Company's business. It will be a week or more yet before Buell, Orr and Hurdman's mill opens. The machinery is not all in position yet.

THE FISH PIRATES OF THE LAKES.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

KINGSTON, June 4.—A correspondent, signing himself a "Canadian Fisherman," writes to the Picton Times that he is positive that a great many rods of nets were in the water before the acting-inspector went to measure them; therefore, he does not know how many nets are being operated. The inspection should be thorough, so that the Government may not be defrauded out of what belongs to this country or the Canadian fishermen beaten out of their lawful rights by foreigners, who are trying to do it for their own benefit, and who are wanting the fishermen to sell to them for three cents per pound for white fish and trout. He says that the above are pure facts.

A Strange Slander Case.

TORONTO, June 3.—A peculiar slander action was started yesterday. Andrew T. McCord, manager of the London Guarantee & Accident Company, has been much annoyed by a recent cablegram to the head office in London, England, that he was hopelessly ill away from work, and it was absolutely necessary to place a new head in charge of the business here. This was some time ago and the erroneous statements made in the cablegram were explained by subsequent messages from McCord. The sender of the first is said to have been a dismissed employe. The matter died out, but on Wednesday and the previous night a report was circulated in the city that Mr. McCord was dead. Yesterday a writ was issued by Mr. McCord against one Alfred Jones for $5000 damages. The latter only came here a week ago yesterday from California. He is charged with circulating the story of McCord's death, though what his object would be is a mystery. The defendant seems, however, to have no connection with the cablegrams. McCord has not been in the best of health this year, but was at his office generally, though for the past few days he has been doing his business at his home. The reports, the plaintiff's employes say, had the effect to injure the company's business, matters being almost at a standstill yesterday.

A Toronto Scandal Denied.

TORONTO, June 4.—For some months past a scandal in which a prominent society woman has figured discreditably, has been going the rounds and within the last few days zest has been added to its discussion by most unexpected developments. The report only recently reached the ears of the woman herself. She promptly told her husband. He promptly started out on a search for the origin of the story and traced it to another woman who had social aspirations. There was a brief, warm interview with this woman and her husband, and the result was she wrote a letter of the most abject apology, the contents of which are being quietly circulated to re-establish the traduced woman's good name.

The Conference at Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Cabinet meeting yesterday was attended by all the members except Secretary Tracy. Secretary Blaine came in company with Secretary Elkins, but remained only half an hour, returning to the State department and resuming a conference with the Canadian Commissioners, which was interrupted by his departure for the Cabinet meeting. This conference is in regard to alleged discrimination against American vessels in Canadian canals. There were present the British Minister, George E. Foster, Canadian Minister of Finance, and Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of militia. This Government was represented by Secretary Blaine and General J. W. Foster.

The Landing of Columbus.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 4.—At a largely attended meeting last evening of pastors of Roman Catholic churches called to consider the advisability of celebrating the 400th anniversary of the landing of Columbus, Cardinal Gibbons presided. It was the unanimous sentiment that there should be a civic as well as religious demonstration. It was suggested that the pastors of the various churches hold services on that day at 9 a.m. in order to permit as many as possible to attend the services at the Cathedral at eleven in the morning. It was resolved to have a torchlight procession on the night of October 12. Cardinal Gibbons appointed a committee of arrangements.

A New Judge of Probate.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 4.—The appointment to-day of C. N. Skinner, M.P., by the local Government to the office of judge of Probate for St. John, made vacant by the sudden death of his brother last week, has annoyed some of the Liberals. They charge that the Conservative element in the Cabinet has taken advantage of Mr. Blair's absence in England to insult the entire Liberal party in St. John and threaten vengeance.

New Bust of the Queen.

LONDON, June 4.—The Queen, during her sojourn at Balmoral, has given daily sittings to Princess Louise for a bust for the World's fair at Chicago.

BANKERS AT CITY HALL.

THE PROPOSAL TO TAX BANK STOCKS

Not Received With Approbation by the Bankers' Association—An Income Tax Hinted at—Mr. St. George's Salary.

If the bankers and merchants whose names were published yesterday had not been at the City Council yesterday to give food for an animated discussion on a vital point the proceedings would have been very tame.

The city is asking power from the Legislature to impose a tax, not to exceed one per cent., on bank shares and stocks in financial companies, and also on merchandise and movable goods. The deputation asked that this clause be withdrawn, as it would be detrimental to the commerce of the city and might lead some of the banks to follow the example set by some New Yorkers who moved to New Jersey on account of the imposition of an unjust tax. If the requests of the deputation were not complied with they would fight it out before the Government. The Mayor presided and Ald. Stevenson and Rolland introduced the deputation. Mr. George Hague, as representing the Bankers' Association, spoke first. They were opposed to the proposed tax as unjust, because it was against the commerce of the city and it affected their capital, which was spread all over the country and employed in carrying on its trade. Even were it just, it was highly impolitic, as what should strengthen trade and develop it should be encouraged by the city and which would ultimately increase the value of real estate. He urged them not to press, but to drop the clause in question as the tax would be very heavy indeed. After Mr. Morin had followed up Mr. Hague's remarks Mr. Thomas said that the city should have more regard to the question of taxing than they have. This tax, even if it was one-eighth per cent., would take away a large quantity of capital. And if it were so could they think of English capitalists sending money here to open banks in Montreal in the face of such fluctuations? It would be a suicidal act, and would be a backward step. The city of Toronto was endeavoring to do away with the tax on machinery with the object of encouraging trade, and Montreal was going to do the very opposite, and while they were doing all they possibly could for the welfare and prosperity of the country the city was putting

A STUMBLING BLOCK IN THEIR WAY.

He asked that the clause be withdrawn. Mr. De Martigny spoke in a similar strain and Mr. H. Joseph's views on the subject were not in sympathy with those of the other speakers. He thought there was no more legitimate way than putting the tax on the banks. Taxes were odious. All wanted to shirk them and put them on to somebody else. Mr. Wm. Weir remarked that they were present to oppose what they considered and felt to be an unfair tax. He understood the general feeling of the citizens to be in favor of street widenings and they were of the belief that they would have to bear their share in beautifying and improving the city. They might tax incomes over $2000. Mr. Hague here stated that they would have to tax capital all over to pay the tax here. He was not aware of any necessity for inventing a new mode of taxation. Mr. Weir informed the Council that his bank paid into the provincial government $800 annually and $400 to the city. Mr. Thomas stated that some of them might move their head offices to St. Lambert or something like it, as had been done by New Yorkers in going to New Jersey. It was a delicate and sensitive thing to tax capital. Why, people used to pay 7 per cent. for money, and now they could borrow for 4½ per cent.

Ald. Rolland replied that the Provincial Treasurer would reserve the right of imposing that tax, as he needed the money as much as Montreal. He did not believe the city would get power to impose it.

The deputation then retired, the Mayor remarking to them: "Your presence here may have some good effect."

It was arranged that the civic delegation to watch the passing of the bill before the Legislature should leave for Quebec on Tuesday night. In this connection Ald. Stevenson asked for an expression of opinion or instructions on the question raised by the bankers.

The Mayor: "The Finance Committee will see to it; anyway, it is not on the orders of the day."

Ald. Stevenson, looking amazed: "Neither was the deputation."

"No, but you brought them in," replied the Mayor, amid an outburst of laughter.

Ald. Rainville: "The duty of the civic delegation is to assist in passing the Bill, not to oppose it."

"It is an important question," said Ald. Prefontaine. "Let the Finance Committee deal with it and report on Monday."

Ald. Hurteau considered it unfair to place the responsibility on the Finance Committee when the Council had passed it. He was prepared to move that the clause be recalled. Cries of "No, no; let it stand."

Ald. Stevenson thought it unwise to do anything to affect the commerce of the city. The proposal would meet with great opposition at the hands of the bankers who might remove their places of business from Montreal—

Then there was a regular chorus of "Oh, oh, no, no."

Ald. Stevenson, however, maintained that they might find a more equitable way of imposing the tax—say, make it on the income.

Ald. Wilson concurred in this view. Touching capital was dangerous.

Ald. Cunningham said that what they wanted was some kind of a by-law to reach the people who had their money laid up in bank stock.

Ald. Wilson then moved "That the delegation appointed by Council be given discretionary powers to deal with the matter," but it did not meet with favor.

Ald. Conroy expressed himself as being surprised at some of them siding with the delegation. After this the matter dropped.

MR. ST. GEORGE'S SALARY.

The next important question was the recommendation of the Road Committee to increase Mr. St. George's salary to $4000, and finally to $5000. They wanted it sent to the Finance Committee for a report.

Ald. Beausoleil and Cresse cried "No, no," while Ald. McBride and others cried "Yes."

Then Ald. Perreault, who was chairman of the Committee on Salaries, rose with a bundle of documents before him and commenced a speech, but he was interrupted by the Mayor, who called the vote. Ald. Perreault then moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Savignac: "That the recommendation be sent to the Salary Committee."

Ald. Cresse then got up and was greeted with, "I have called the vote," from the Mayor.

"I don't care," retorted Ald. Cresse. "I want to know what I am voting on."

The Mayor: "I have read them three times." The vote on referring it to the Salary Committee ended thus:

Ayes—Ald. Cresse, Dagenais, Beausoleil, P. Dubuc, Savignac, Perreault, Hurteau, Lamarche and Rolland—9.

Nays—Ald. Hurtubuise, James, Stearns, Brunet, Wilson, Nolan, A. Dubuc, Griffin, Robert, Gauthier, McBride, Farrell, Dufresne, Tansey, Thompson, Rainville, Cunningham, Conroy, Stevenson and Prefontaine—20.

The motion to refer it to the Finance Committee was carried on the following division:

Ayes—Ald. Hurtubuise, James, Stearns, Brunet, Wilson, Nolan, A. Dubuc, Griffin, Robert, Gauthier, McBride, Farrell, Dufresne, Tansey, Thompson, Rainville, Cunningham, Conroy, Stevenson and Prefontaine, 20.

Nays—Ald. Cresse, Dagenais, Beausoleil, P. Dubuc, Savignac, Germain, Perreault, Hurteau, Lamarche, Grenier and Rolland, 11.

The Finance Committee concurred in granting the Road Committee $1000 to convert the Horse Market into a public square.

The Council endorsed the Mayor's action in granting the use of the Council Chamber to the Catholic Order of Foresters, in which to hold a reception on Monday night.

On the motion of Ald. Tansey and Thompson the Road Committee was empowered to take the necessary steps to force the Street Railway to carry out their contract, more especially with regard to the Point St. Charles route.

Again did Ald. Perreault insist on the proposal to increase Chief Benoit's salary being sent to the Salary Committee. The Council decided to send it to the Finance.

Ald. Nolan gave notice of motion for a sub-committee to confer with the Grand Trunk for a passenger sub-way at the end of Shearer street, and Ald. Cresse one to abolish the Committee on Salaries, after which the Council adjourned until Monday afternoon.

Inspection of the Sixth Fusiliers To-day.

Lieut.-Col. Brosseau of the 85th Battalion is going to retire from the command of that battalion, after seventeen years of service. He will be succeeded by Major Aubry.

A detachment of the Royal Scots will keep the Champ de Mars clear of spectators during the inspection of the Sixth Fusiliers.

The Highland Cadets are going to give another of their enjoyable entertainments on June 24 and 25, in the Crystal Rink. It will be a series of tableaux representing "Britannia and Her Boys."

THE OTHER SIDE.

The Condition of Northern Minnesota, Dakota and Montana.

We have been requested to publish the following letter on the condition of Northern Minnesota, Dakota and Montana, from Mr. Chas. S. Fee, general passenger and ticket agent of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, to Mr. Thos. Henry, district passenger and freight agent of the same line, 128 St. James street:

DEAR SIR,—My attention is attracted to a despatch published in the Montreal STAR of the 11th of April, dated from Ottawa, April 10th, in which ex-Alderman John Askwiths gives a very highly colored description of the "Desolation" which is to be seen on every hand along the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad, between St. Paul and Montana.

I do not know what object Mr. Askwiths had in making the statements that are not borne out by facts. North Dakota and Minnesota are more prosperous to-day than they have been for ten years. North Dakota had a crop of wheat last year averaging in the neighborhood of 30 bushels to the acre. In addition to this enormous yield the farmers received a better price for their wheat than during any previous season of the past six years.

To show you that the statements made by me are based on facts, and that the sensational statements of Mr. Askwiths are exactly the opposite, I beg to say that since commencing out double daily through Pacific Coast train service, on the 3rd of April, I have had a careful comparison made of the business carried by trains Nos. 1 and 3, leaving St. Paul in the morning and afternoon, for the first six days of April, 1890, 1891 and 1892, with the following:

Train No. 1, in '90, carried to Jamestown and Points East	43
Train No. 1, in '91, carried to Jamestown and Points East	87
Train No. 1, in '92, carried to Jamestown and Points East	349
An increase of over 300 per cent.
Train No. 3, in '90, carried to Jamestown and Points East	26
Train No. 3, in '91, carried to Jamestown and Points East	46
Train No. 3, in '92, carried to Jamestown and Points East	428
An increase in 1892 of more than 830 per cent.

Bear in mind in looking these figures over that they do not include our regular Jamestown and North Dakota express, which leaves here at 8.00 p.m. daily, and is really the train on which we do the bulk of our Minnesota and Dakota business. Emigration tells no lies. People will not go into a country that is desolate and that is being abandoned. The facts are that Minnesota and North Dakota were never more prosperous than to-day and statements of the kind made by Mr. Askwiths must have been uttered for a purpose, for certainly they are worthy of no credence. Yours truly,

CHAS. S. FEE,
G. P. & T. A.

OPERA AT THE QUEEN'S THEATRE

Melodrama at the Theatre Royal—Burlesque at the Lyceum.

The Miller-Calhoun Opera Company close their engagement at the Queen's next week, and a good programme has been prepared for the week. On Monday "Boccaccio" will be presented and repeated until Thursday, on which night "Amorita" will be put on. On Friday and Saturday evenings the "Bohemian Girl," will be given, and interest is lent to the presentation of this opera by the fact that Mr. J. B. Dupuis, the well known amateur baritone of Montreal, will appear, assuming the role of the Count. On next Saturday a benefit will be tendered the attaches of the Queen's Theatre.

"Alone in a Great City" at the Theatre Royal.

"Alone in a Great City," which is announced for the Theatre Royal next week, is a play which shows vividly the lights and shadows of New York life, and the company is said to be a good one.

"The Gamboliers" at the Lyceum.

The Burlesque Company now at the Lyceum Theatre will continue next week to present "The Gamboliers," with entire changes in the programme of variety.

A BIG DEAL.

$250,000 Paid for a Half Interest in the Trade Mark of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the United States.

The brilliant reputation achieved by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in Canada has not only extended to the United States, but has led to an important business transaction. One of the best known American proprietary medicine houses, the head of which is the president of a leading National Bank in New York state, has recently purchased a half interest in the trade mark of the Dr. Williams Medicine Co. for the United States only, for which the consideration was $250,000. This sale is probably the first instance in which an American institution has purchased an interest in a Canadian remedy, and offers the very best proof of the sterling merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as the American capitalists, before venturing so large a sum in the half interest of the trade mark, fully investigated and verified the claims made for the remedy. It is a tribute, too, to Canadian medical science which has brought to perfection this remarkable medicine.

DIABETES CURED!

June 23rd, 1891.

MESSRS. RADWAY & CO.,

Dear Sirs:—My wife had been suffering for month with Diabetes in its worst form and had the best doctors, but no cure. She thought she would try your Resolvent. By the time she used one bottle she had got relief; four bottles have cured her. She was so weak last spring for eight or nine weeks that the neighbors thought she would not live, but your Resolvent raised her on her feet again. It would take all day to tell all the good it has done for her.

A SCROFULOUS BOY

Running Sores Covered His Body and Head, Bones Affected. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

When six months old, the left hand of our little grandchild began to swell, and had every appearance of a large boil. We poulticed it, but all to no purpose. About five months after it became a running sore. Soon other sores formed. He then had two of them on each hand, and as his blood became more and more impure, it took less time for them to break out. A sore came on the chin, beneath the under lip, which was very offensive. His head was one solid scab, discharging a great deal. This was his condition at twenty-two months old, when I undertook the care of him, his mother having died when he was a little more than a year old, of consumption (scrofula, of course). He could walk a little, but could not get up if he fell down, and could not move when in bed, having no use of his hands. I immediately commenced with the CUTICURA REMEDIES, using all freely. One sore after another healed, a bony matter forming in each one of these five deep ones just before healing, which would finally grow loose and were taken out; then they would heal rapidly. One of these ugly bone formations I preserved. After taking a dozen and a half bottles he was completely cured, and is now, at the age of six years, a strong and healthy child. MRS. E. S. DRIGGS,

INSOLVENT NOTICE.

FELIX GOURDEAU,
Insolvent,
AND
D. ARCAND,
Curator.

On FRIDAY, the 17th instant, at 11 a.m., at the office of the Curator undersigned, will be sold at auction at the conditions hereinafter stipulated, the Real Estate herein described, namely:

1. A lot of ground situate in the parish of St. Roch, Quebec, bounded north by Arago street, east by James Childs, west by Francois Barbeau, measuring forty-one (41) feet in front and in depth reaching the cape, with a large hangard thereon erected, circumstances and dependencies. Said lot of ground known as the lot number fourteen hundred and forty-four (1444) of the cadastral plan for the Jacques Cartier Ward of the City of Quebec.

2. A lot of ground situate corner of Bagot and Albert (Durocher) streets, in the parish of St. Sauveur, Quebec, measuring forty-two feet three inches (42-3) more or less, in front, and of a surface of twenty-six hundred and eighty-six feet, together with a dwelling house and other buildings thereon erected, circumstances and dependencies. Said lot known as number nine hundred and forty-seven (947) of the official cadastral plan for the parish of St. Sauveur, Quebec. This lot to be sold at the charge of an annual ground rent of $12.00, payable to Gaspard Boisseau and Roch Boisseau, free of arrears to September 29, 1891. The purchaser to keep in force until their maturity the leases now existing between said Insolvent and tenants in said house.

3. A lot of ground situate in the parish of St. Roch, Quebec, measuring forty-three feet eight inches (43-8) in front, and eighty-five feet (85) in depth and twenty-eight feet four inches (28-4) breadth, at the limit of depthness, bounded north by N. Gourdeau, south by St. Valier street, north-east by a passage of eight feet (8) broad, in common use by the said Insolvent and the representatives of late Etienne Soulard, and southwest with representatives Tourangeau. Said lot together with a brick house and other buildings thereon erected, circumstances and dependencies. Said lot known as the lot number twelve hundred and thirty-eight (1238) of the cadastral plan for the Jacques Cartier Ward of the city of Quebec. This lot to be sold at the charge of an annual ground rent of $5.48, payable to the Jesuits; free of arrears to September 29th, 1891.

4. The real estate being a lot of ground of an irregular form, situate on the north side of St. Valier street, comprising: 1. The lot number twelve hundred and forty-three (1243) of the official cadastral plan for the Jacques Cartier Ward of the City of Quebec, measuring forty-seven (47) feet in front, and eighty-nine (89) feet in depth on south west side, and one hundred and ten (110) feet deep on north east side, English measure, bounded south by St. Valier street, north by Joseph Belanger, southeast by representatives of Pierre Boisseau, and northeast, part by Joseph Belanger, part by Francois Belanger, part by the passage hereafter designated, and part by Mrs. Jean Godbout; 2. One passage lying northeast of said ground, measuring ten (10) feet broad, and extending from Dorchester street going southwest in the direction of the ground hereabove designated, and to the lot number twelve hundred and forty-two B (1242) of the official cadastral plan for the Jacques Cartier Ward of the city of Quebec; 3. A lot of ground of an irregular form situate on the north side of St. Valier street, being known as number twelve hundred and forty-two A (1242) of the official cadastral plan for the Jacques Cartier Ward of the city of Quebec, measuring forty-three (43) feet in front, and sixty-three (63) feet in depth, with besides another piece of ground of the same breadth, and about twelve (12) feet deep on the west and twenty-five (25) feet deep on the east; bounded north by lot number twelve hundred and forty-two B (1242), south by St. Valier street, and west by said lot number 1243. All said lots forming one lot, and to be sold as one together with buildings (manufacture) thereon erected, circumstances and dependencies, and the purchaser will be bound to keep in force the lease now existing between the said Insolvent and Wm. A. Marsh & Co., of part of the said property for a period of ten years from May 1st, 1891, at the rate of an annual rent of seventeen hundred and fifty-two dollars ($1752) which rent the purchaser will be entitled to receive, less the sum of one thousand dollars already transferred on the year 1892-93. The purchaser will also be bound to respect the rights or privileges which Pierre Bidegari may be entitled to in a party wall (mitoyen) erected on lot number 1241.

The sale of said property does not comprise the motive power, boilers, machinery fixtures and the heat apparatus which are in the part occupied by said W. A. Marsh & Co. All the Real Estate hereabove designated to be sold to the charges of the city taxes for the current year. The purchasers will also pay 1 per cent. (Government duty). The purchaser will take the property in the condition in which it will be at the time of the adjudication without regard to deteriorations or improvements subsequent to the assignment.

The adjudication will be made without any guarantee as the contents of the property, but it will convey all rights which belong to it, and which the Insolvent might have exercise and also all active servitudes attached to it, even those not mentioned in the present. The whole to be sold for cash.

FROM CITY TO COUNTRY.

AWAY FROM "BUSY HAUNTS OF MEN."

The Last Wave Sends Thousands to the Summer Resorts—Names of Tourists—Railway Fares.

The stock of the summer resorts rises with the thermometer. It has gone far above par this week as the mercury rose to the nineties. The month of May will be memorable as one of the coldest and most abnormal Mays on record in Canada; but June was ushered in with a wave of oppressive heat, that drove thousands of citizens from the "busy haunts of men" away to the seasides and backwoods. The railway companies issued their tourists' time-tables just in time. The Grand Trunk and C. P. R. published two especially attractive brochures containing lists of routes and fares for the season of 1892. The G. T. R. brochure, besides general information as to connections, etc., supplies an excellent map of Ontario, the middle and eastern states and the Maritime provinces and refers would-be tourists to the company's publication entitled "Pen and Sunlight Sketches," and to Mr. W. D. O'Brien, the city agent.

The C. P. R. book is entitled "Summer Tours" and is a genuine work of art. It is illustrated with sketches of scenery showing Canada's natural attractions from ocean to ocean, and its literary style may be judged from the invitation to come:

> "Where Fashion's seal is set
> Afar on every hand,
> And tumbling billows wet
> The curving reach of strand."

Or further west to

> "Where lonely rivers creep by unknown ways,
> And tangled forests rear their shadowed maze,
> Where giant rocks in frowning ruins strewed
> Obstruct the way and guard the solitude."

The chapter concludes by referring all would-be travellers to Mr. W. F. Egg, the district passenger agent.

Hotel Pemberton, Hull, Mass.

The booking for rooms for the Hotel Pemberton, Hull, Mass., for the coming summer is very large, and parties who are contemplating passing any portion of their outing at this popular hotel should make their enquiries before it is too late.

The advertisement giving the address of the managers appears in another column.

Norwood, Back River.

Norwood has not yet received its full complement of summer visitors, but by the end of the present month all the families who usually spend their summer months there will have gone from the city. There have been no changes in this quiet but charming resort, since last summer and this year's residents will be the same as last. Nearly all the building lots about the place have been sold, high prices having been paid for river front lots. The place evidently finds favor with many Montrealers, but the accommodation is limited. Although the current in the river at that spot is a little strong, some of the residents intend going in for boating this summer. The Union Church is still under the charge of the Rev. James Myles Campbell, who is at present on a visit to his native home in Scotland. The following city families will live there this summer, some of them having already gone out: Mr. J. M. Kirk and family, Mr. W. B. Smith and family, Mr. Charles Gurd and family, Mr. Henry Macartney and family, Mr. H. A. Barnard and family, Mrs. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Russell, Mr. Martin and family, Mr. J. W. Marling and family, Mr. Kelsen and family, Mr. E. Radford and family, Miss Leslie and Mr. W. Gordon. Norwood is less than a mile from Sault au Recollet station on the C. P. R.

Longueuil.

Longueuil is gaining in favor as a popular resort. Its strong attraction is its proximity to Montreal. Its Yacht Club also "does it proud." Some really beautiful models of White Wings lie on the water there. And as for rowing, the St. Lawrence is always unrivalled; canoeing from Longueuil to St. Helen's is all the vogue. A country fair, good enough for an inspiration for Neil Burgess, is to be held there in September, and is to have the distinguished support of Mayor Morin and the Corporation.

Dr. Watier and Mrs. Watier, of Montreal, are spending the summer months at this resort.

Mr. Holmes' family are occupying the Royal Cottage.

Mrs. Allan Edson, of Longueuil, intends leaving for an extended trip to Europe.

Operations have been commenced for the erection of a handsome parsonage in connection with Christ Church in this town.

At Lachine.

The furniture van is now appearing with a first of May ubiquity upon the winding road of this suburban resort. During the last week or two, the summer population of Lachine, which mostly affects the west of the town, has been moving into camp for the season. Cottages are filling up, boathouses are being overhauled and the "blazer" and the sun shade have again appeared in the streets. The airy, cane-upholstered suburban train carries out daily an increasing number of Montrealers who like to escape from the heat of the city for the "cool of the day;" and the scene at Lachine wharf has already gained quite the air of a summer resort. People in holiday attire hurry from trains and boats, the latter with their disorder of steamer chairs lying at the river side. In short, Lachine is getting into its boating rig as fast as possible.

Laprairie.

Laprairie is another of the most attractive resorts to Montrealers. The membership of the boating club is rapidly increasing. The season of 1892 will be an active one for the oarsmen and canoeists of Laprairie. Among the well known Montrealers now at this resort are Judge Pagnuelo, Dr. Guerin and Mr. Geo. Duveluy.

The City Fathers' Vacation.

His Worship the Mayor, with Mrs. McShane and family, will spend the summer months at Cacouna.

Ald. A. Dubuc and Dagenais' families are going to Ste. Rose.

Ald. Hurtubuise's family will pass the holiday season at St. Basil.

Ald. Savignac and family will pass the summer months at Berthier.

Ald. Tansey and James, with their families, are going to Old Orchard Beach.

Ald. Dufresne and family will be found at Vaudreuil during the holiday season.

Ald. Gauthier's family will be seen at Cacouna again during the holiday season.

Ald. Griffin, with the members of his household will pass their holidays at Metis.

Ald. I. H. Stearns, Dr. F. W. Campbell and Mr. H. R. Ives leave on Tuesday for a three weeks' salmon fishing on the Restigouche River.

Ald. Conroy, with his family, are going to their favorite summer resort at Cap L'Aigle.

Ald. Wilson, with Mrs. Wilson, are going to their summer residence at Notre Dame du Portage.

Ald. Cresse, with Mrs. Cresse and family, intend spending their holidays down at Rimouski.

Mrs. Nolan will leave for Point Pines on June 27 where she will be joined later on by Ald. Nolan.

Ex-Ald. Shorey is going to pass the summer at his residence two miles below Old Orchard Beach.

Mrs. Hurteau and family will enjoy their vacation at Portland, Me. Ald. Hurteau cannot go on account of this being his busiest time of the year.

Leading Montrealers' Vacations.

Dr. Desrosiers will go to Valois this summer.

Mr. Perodeau, N. P., will spend the summer at Vaudreuil.

Hon. Judge Gill will spend the summer vacation at his place at Pierreville, Yamaska county.

Hon. Arthur Turcotte, prothonotary, will spend the long vacation at his country seat, Three Rivers.

Hon. Judge Davidson will occupy his summer residence at Dorval during the long vacation.

Mr. J. Exeter Walsh, customs agent, Grand Trunk Ry., is staying at his summer residence, Lakeside.

Mr. A. G. McBean will spend his summer vacation at his farm, "Thornhill," Lancaster. He has recently erected a fine residence there.

Hon. Judge Dugas will probably take a trip to Labrador in July. His Honor owns a share in extensive fishing grounds in that region.

Mr. John McLennan, president of the Canada Shipping Company, is spending the summer at his residence, "By the Lake," Lancaster.

Hon. Judges Sir Alexandre Lacoste, Sir Francis Johnson, Taschereau and Loranger will probably spend the summer at Vaudreuil.

Mr. Desrosiers, of the prothonotary's office, will spend a few weeks of his vacation in the States, after which he will stay at his father's house at St. Denis, on the Chambly river.

NEW HOME OF THE FRANCISCAN MONKS

"Le Bocage" Property Now Occupied by Them—A Church to be Erected.

That part of "Le Bocage" property fronting on Dorchester street and comprising the old homestead and dependencies, the residence of the late Mr. Henry Judah, late chief Seignorial Commissioner, was disposed of last month by his nephew and heir, Mr. Frederick Judah, Q. C. The property sold consists of over 66,000 feet, beautifully situated on the ridge of the hill, and laid out in ornamental grounds, and was disposed of for $40,000 to the order of the Franciscan monks, who have moved into the premises, using the house as a residence and chapel, it being their intention later on to erect a church. The house was built over fifty years ago by the late Judge Rolland and bought and occupied by Mr. Henry Judah since 1852. The sale has caused considerable talk in the neighborhood of the property, which is surrounded by some of the finest residences in the city. What effect the establishment of a monastery on that spot will have on the value of surrounding property is difficult to say at the present, however. The monks, who number seventeen at present, four of whom are Canadian converts, have occupied their new residence during the last two weeks. About a third of the purchase price was paid down and the deed was made out in the name of a Rev. Mr. Richombly. The price originally asked was about $50,000. The property a few years ago was occupied by Sir Donald A. Smith while his present residence was in the course of erection.

Loranger vs. Jacobs.

The case of Loranger vs. Jacobs was argued before Judge Taschereau yesterday. Plaintiff sued defendant on a promissory note obtained for fees in payment of legal services rendered before his (plaintiff's) being raised to the bench. Judgment had been obtained, and defendant's goods on the Indian reserve seized. Mr. W. Weir, on behalf of the defendant, opposed the seizure on the ground that under the Dominion statute, goods of Indians on the reserve were exempt from seizure. Judgment was taken en délibéré.

Oddfellows' Parade.

The route decided upon for the Oddfellows' Jubilee Church parade to Trinity Church tomorrow at 10 a. m. is as follows: Meet at 662½ Craig street, take up positions according to instructions from the Grand Marshall, proceed along Craig to McGill, thence St. James street to Notre Dame, down Bonsecours to Trinity Church. After service the return march will be up St. Denis street to St. Catherine street, down St. Lawrence street, along Craig street to the hall.

Fast Driving.

To the Editor of the STAR:

SIR,—I notice there has been a race from McGill College to Lachine by some of our leading men of wealth, while a carter is not allowed to drive faster than a slow jog. Can any one give me the reason of such conduct, especially on one of our principal streets.

AN ONLOOKER.

Roman Catholic Bishops at Kamloops, B.C

The enthusiastic congress of Indians in honor of the Roman Catholic bishops took place to-day at the mission near Kamloops, B. C. At Calgary the visitors were received by the Mayor and tendered a banquet, at which Judge Rouleau presided.

A Writ of Ejectment.

A writ of ejectment has been taken against Duncan McCormick by the Citizens' Insurance Company.

PRISON GATE MISSION.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR DOING GOOD

And Benefitting the Prisoners From Montreal Gaol—Adirondack Sanitarium—English Protestant Official.

To the Editor of the STAR:

SIR,—It is a long time now since I wrote to you either on the history of Montreal or that of the gaol, but so many changes have taken place in the management and reorganization of the Montreal gaol for the past two or three years, that I am constrained to once more place before the public, and through the medium of your widely read paper, various items of great interest to all lovers of their city and country, and also certain other considerations worthy of their most serious attention. Since my last letter on the affairs of the prison, the late Governor, Mr. Payette, and his deputy, Mr. Lindsay, have both joined the great majority. The control of this large institution has been given into the hands of a gentleman every way fit and capable for the situation, and the extraordinary difference in everything now is most marked, under his regime. Let me first speak of the prisoners themselves, and then take up other items in routine. If one of the old helpers, 15 or 20 years ago, were to appear to-day, he would be utterly astonished at the difference of the daily duty and work then and now. The dogged indifference and stolid look have given place to a certain self respect among the prisoners, and a feeling pervades them all that they are undergoing a just punishment for crimes committed. A spirit of, I might say, cheerful obedience seems to pervade the whole establishment. And how has this great change come about? By treating the prisoners as human beings and trying to raise them higher in the social scale of humanity. Let me explain. For the past two years that I have been chaplain, and as many years before, all that a prisoner had to keep his nose clean, summer or winter, were his fingers and coat sleeve. Now, Mr. Vallee allows a pocket handkerchief weekly to each man, also a towel. Before this a rag was all that some of them possessed. What, you say, has this to do with elevation of a prisoner? Mr. Editor, it has made a man feel that he is a man and not a brute forsaken by God and man. Some of our prisoners are men who have walked in the best society. Yes, these little kindnesses have gone a great way in working this change. So have the strict justice and military rule, which are now everywhere enforced, done much in the cause. Mr. Vallee is the right man in the right place as regards this great institution. I read the other day that it has cost the Government $5000, as expenses of the commission which went last year to examine the asylums and penitentiaries of the United States. I might say that it was intended to send both myself and the Roman Catholic chaplain of Beauport Asylum to accompany that expedition, but at the last moment we were rejected, why, I cannot tell. Well, Mr. Vallee since his advent as governor has diligently corresponded with many of the great criminal establishments in the United States, England and France, and having received their reports and other books and papers is always when at leisure perfecting himself on the best methods of prison discipline amelioration. This costs the country nothing. The $5000 was thrown away, for we have not and I presume never will have a report from these delegates of the result of their investigations.

All internal improvements in the gaol which have been effected for the past few years have been done by the prisoners themselves, for there are always skilled workmen of every trade in the gaol

ALL THE YEAR ROUND.

As all idea now is abandoned of spending $1,000,000 in a great central prison at Sault aux Recollets, why not allow Mr. Vallee with his prisoners (instead of uselessly wasting time, clothes and hammers in breaking stones) to alter all that wing of the present gaol where the women remained when they were also inmates of the prison? If such were the case, there is enough room and space for the next 10 or 15 years to come. Classification could be made, separation of criminals could be attended to, and the delivery of 40 or 50 prisoners occasionally, as in times past, to Quebec, Three Rivers or Sherbrooke gaols would cease. It cost the Government over $8000 for the last batch which were sent to Quebec. All this expense could be saved if only he were allowed to alter at little or no expense the present women's wing. And if the Government would only build Mr. Vallee a dwelling house, say at the corner of Delorimier avenue and Craig street, and against the wall of the prison, the amount of which house has been passed by them 10 and more years ago, then almost all the centre of the gaol could also be used, and there would be abundance of space for "all sorts and conditions of men" who find themselves within its walls. Mr. Vallee's great administrative ability has been seen in the new "Black Maria" van—that is, the prison waggon—saving the Government thousands a year, and in a wonderful invention of his own in the kitchen, which has been so successful that more than $1200 have been granted him by the Government as the cost of the immense (and the only one of its kind in the world) cooking apparatus, all made of hammered copper. I only wish your reporter would come down some Thursday afternoon and see the whole affair. His work has also been seen in what more particularly has reference to the writer, viz., the great changes in the old chapel, and as it now looks all the old galleries have been taken down, new benches made by the prisoners, who are thus all on a level with the officiating clergyman. The men are transmogrified by this change. Fine congregational singing and responses on both Roman Catholic and Protestant services are now heard, and thanks to Mr. W. Buchanan of Christ Church Cathedral Sunday School and his scholars a nice little melodeon donated by them is of great assistance in sustaining the music.

This brings me to the most important part of this already too long letter, and that is "The Prison Gate Mission." They have a fine mission of this kind in Toronto and also in Hamilton, as well as in Ottawa. This mission is one of the requisites of the prisons of London and other English cities, and it is indeed strange that here in Montreal, with a criminal census larger than that of all the other places of the province of Quebec put together, we can never succeed in keeping up such a mission. Let me speak plainly. Jealousy is a great desideratum in its hitherto non-success. In every Government institution in Lower Canada (province of Quebec), the chaplains are Church of Rome and Church of England. Why so I cannot tell, but it is and has always been thus. My idea of such a mission as the above is this: There are nearly threescore Protestant churches in Montreal. If only two (a lady and gentleman) were deputed for this work from each church it would fall officially upon their shoulders but about once in three or four months, except they felt interest in the work and came whenever they chose. Let at least three churches be weekly represented. These delegates would help in the singing, etc., at the morning services and afterwards converse with those prisoners who were going out during the following week. Then let the representative of the church to which the prisoner going out belongs, be at the prison gate the morning of his discharge and take him along before he falls into the hands of old companions. This plan would require some house to which these men could be taken and the looking out for situations for them or sending them away to some other place. During this month of May (not speaking of Roman Catholic prisoners) 23 Protestants have left the gaol. Yet in not one single case (and some of them were young men) did a good Samaritan appear to take hold of them and try to make them better. This is the great sine qua non. On each Thursday afternoon when the chaplain visits the gaol, a delegation of two or three from these different churches and according to the religious belief of the prisoners going out, could also join him and any particular prisoner's estate and history could then be enquired into, and conversation held with him. I find in a file of your paper of years ago something of this Prison Gate Mission being spoken of. A meeting had been held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms and there my idea of two representatives is discussed among other things, and a resolution passed asking the sheriff to furnish a list of prisoners, etc. In the working of the present plan I would suggest that each church denomination as well as the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. and other Christian bodies be furnished with a complete list of the present prisoners and the dates of their discharge, and then every Thursday the new names which have been entered on the gaol records for the past week can be added to these lists by those who take care of them, and thus each denomination, etc., will have a regular list up to date of all Protestant prisoners in the gaol to the time when they have to be discharged and so can govern themselves accordingly as to their attendance on Sunday mornings and on the regular Thursday afternoons at three o'clock. The same applies to the female prison, of Fullum street; only this Protestant gaol is visited on the Wednesday afternoons at three o'clock, but the same process can be gone through as regards the discharge of the women prisoners, and there are better facilities for speaking to them than in the men's gaol. In conclusion, let me say that the important thing is organization with broad, liberal, Christian views. Surely in a work like this denominational distinctions should be laid aside. Let charity and love be shown alike to all, no matter what their creed may be, and then Christ's own words will truly be realized: "In prison and ye visited me." Begging pardon for this long letter, but I know you agree with me as regards the Prison Gate Mission,

I remain,
Yours truly,
J. DOUGLAS BORTHWICK, LL. D.,
Protestant Chaplain to the gaols of Montreal.

The Adirondack Sanitarium.

To the Editor of the STAR:

DEAR SIR,—Being in the Adirondacks for a few days with my wife, who is making a lengthy sojourn at the Sanitarium for lung trouble, I was pleased to note in the STAR on the 28th inst., received this morning, your editorial regarding a question which my own personal experience has made very important and evident to me, "One Way to Fight Consumption." The fact that 7 months' residence in these mountains under Dr. Trudeau's care, have done so much in restoring her to her former robust appearance and apparent good health already, goes strongly to prove the efficacy and benefit to be derived from a lengthy stay in the Adirondack wilderness; giving one's self entirely to rest, good food, continuous open air, summer and winter, and medical treatment by one who has made a life study and specialty of this dread disease. In looking round the sanitorium it is difficult to believe that it is a retreat for consumptives, so well, healthy and happy do they look. Only in a few cases can a casual observer detect decided symptoms of consumption. One meets, when walking about, enthusiastic strollers or students, engaged in botanical pursuits. Nature seems to have assisted science and endowed this institution with all possible natural advantages, the outlook and surroundings being all that one could desire; in fact, it may be adequately described as an earthly paradise. It is very much to be deplored that in Canada, so far, there seems to be no place suitable for such an institution. This place is entirely and very generously supported by Americans, which, you will note by the annual report I send, including medical statistics for past years. Despite this, Dr. Trudeau, in an interview yesterday, said he is always pleased to receive Canadian patients, provided they are suitable cases. Upon this he lays great emphasis. The Sanitarium is intended for incipent cases or those convalescing from pulmonary diseases only and is neither a hospital or a home for incurables, but, a retreat, where, for a year or less, people of moderate means only may enjoy the benefits already referred to. It is very much to be regretted that the vast majority seek a cure in these parts, when it is too late. If they would at the first symptoms seek the advice of a skilled physician many more decided cures could be effected. Upon enquiry I find that the main buildings and cottages of this institution have accommodation for 60 persons only, of course, with such limited capacity and the increasing demand for admission, it is obvious that many must have a long wait before being admitted. We, Canadians, would naturally hesitate in seeking admittance without having any practical claim. As your first suggestion seems impracticable at present, I think your second plan a good one. A Canadian cottage or cottages, with rooms in each for four or five inmates as now, would be a desirable acquisition to the sanitarium, and would give us an independent claim upon its advantages, which we would otherwise have some delicacy in asking. I am quite sure that this worthy project requires only to be brought before our people, to meet with the generous support it deservedly merits. Many, through their own personal experience, will be desirous of keeping those thus afflicted, and I sincerely trust that your suggestion will meet with the hearty co-operation of our citizens.

Very truly yours,
E M RENOUF.

English Protestant Officials.

To the Editor of the STAR:

SIR,—The article in your issue of the 30th, headed "An English Protestant Official Needed," has met, to my personal knowledge, with a great deal of appreciation. The way in which you treat the question is very forcible, and, at the same time, fair and temperate. There is no doubt that the careless indifference of the English to their own interests is, to a great extent, accountable for the present state of affairs. It would seem to me that the time is ripe for British Canadian Protestants to assert themselves. I think that we are certainly entitled to claim the position of Crown Prosecutor, but I would go further and ask the Provincial Government to give us a representative on the police administration. Any one who has attended the courts so ably presided over by Judges Desnoyers and Dugas will confirm that these judges have more than they can attend to, and the appointment of an English Protestant as an additional judge would undoubtedly meet with the hearty approval of all citizens.

A CANADIAN PROTESTANT.

Montreal, May 31.

To the Editor of the STAR:

SIR,—Apropos of your leading article on the constitution of the police bench in Montreal, you might have extended your horizon with advantage, and thereby added force to your remarks. Had you stated that there is not now, and for many years past has not been, one single Protestant on the Police bench in the whole province you would not have been far wrong. Mr. Hemming, I believe, was the last Protestant who had a seat on the Police Bench in this province, and he was dismissed from his office of District Magistrate for Arthabaska by Mr. Joly in 1878 to make room for a Roman Catholic. Comment is unnecessary.

Yours, A PROTESTANT.

Street Car Service.

To the Editor of the STAR:

SIR,—I have occasion to visit your grand old city about every two months of the year and I am perfectly at sea to note the vast swarms of people who so patiently endure the dreadful system of street cars with so little grumbling. I know much has been said about them, but if the same service were given to the citizens of Toronto as I had the misfortune to be on to-day, the people would put the horses in the car and draw them in it. I left the Point St. Charles subway on a car to-day and arrived at the corner of Notre Dame street just twenty-five minutes later by actual time. Neither the conductor nor driver was to blame, as the driver could not get his horses off a slow walk, without being arrested for cruelty to animals. So a carload of passengers calmly endured the imposition heaped upon them by this fat Corporation. You have only to go to Ottawa or Toronto to know what you have to suffer here.

M. A. A. A. SPRING GAMES.

THE CAPTAIN OF THE CAPITAL TEAM.

St. Lawrence Yacht Club Fixtures—Nomenclature of Thoroughbreds—Miscellaneous Sporting Notes.

Practice on the M.A.A.A. grounds is being well attended each evening, and last night a number of the cracks were out with a view no doubt to the coming spring games. Amongst the events the one mile bicycle race is regarded with the greatest interest. The sports committee, made the final decision in regard to events last night, and following is the programme of sports for the spring games of the M. A. A. A. to be held on June 17 and 24.

Friday, June 17—100 yards race; half mile race; two mile race; putting sixteen pound shot; running long jump; one mile bicycle race; three mile bicycle race.

Friday, June 24—220 yards race; quarter mile race; one mile race; high jump; throwing 56 pound weight; 120 yard hurdle race; half mile bicycle race; two mile bicycle race.

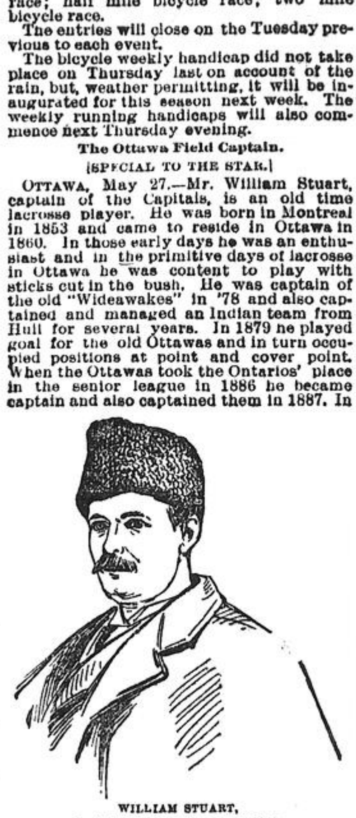
The entries will close on the Tuesday previous to each event.

The bicycle weekly handicap did not take place on Thursday last on account of the rain, but, weather permitting, it will be inaugurated for this season next week. The weekly running handicaps will also commence next Thursday evening.

The Ottawa Field Captain.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, May 27.—Mr. William Stuart, captain of the Capitals, is an old time lacrosse player. He was born in Montreal in 1853 and came to reside in Ottawa in 1860. In those early days he was an enthusiast and in the primitive days of lacrosse in Ottawa he was content to play with sticks cut in the bush. He was captain of the old "Wideawakes" in '78 and also captained and managed an Indian team from Hull for several years. In 1879 he played goal for the old Ottawas and in turn occupied positions at point and cover point. When the Ottawas took the Ontarios' place in the senior league in 1886 he became captain and also captained them in 1887. In 1888, when the Ottawas amalgamated, he stayed with the new team, but in 1889 and 1890 he retired from active work. In 1891 he came back to captain the Ottawas and but for his work in Montreal there is little doubt but that lacrosse would be of a poor class in Ottawa this year. He worked hard for amalgamation and succeeded, and was rewarded by a unanimous choice as captain of the new team. On and off the field Mr. Stuart is a gentleman, a good general. He sees further than the present exigencies of the day, and in all cases in which his advice has been followed it has been productive of good results. His experience on the lacrosse field has given him a thorough knowledge of the game, and he is looked up to and admired by the boys. This season he has a very strong combination and confidently expects his boys to win the first honors of the season.



WILLIAM STUART,
Captain Capital Lacrosse Club.

Notes.

The following are the Arena players for Saturday's match: Kyle, Willis, Tod, Sermon, Green, Pullan, Bremner, Renshaw, Cunningham, Macildowie, Gray, Hearn; spare men, Edgel, McNaughton and Basin.

The lacrosse match between the Crescents and Sherbrookes on June 25 is to be played on the Exhibition Grounds, by which time the home team expect to be in the best of condition to beat their opponents from the Townships.

THE WHEEL.

An Innovation.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Washington wheelmen will introduce a number of novel features during the coming meet, one of them being the use of several scores of messenger boys on wheels and dressed in regular uniform to direct strangers from place to place. This is a feature never before known of in such a celebration. The idea of having policemen on the silent steed is also a new one, and the experiment, the wheelmen hope, will demonstrate the practicability of having some officers regularly mounted on bicycles in order to assist them in their work of capturing criminals.

The World Girdler.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Frank G. Lenz, who expects to leave from Philadelphia to-morrow to start on his trip around the world is described as a good looking young man of medium height and powerful build, and besides being a man of indomitable pluck and energy, and an accomplished rider, he is also a thoroughly practical mechanic and an amateur photographer of no mean ability. On his trip he does not expect to vary his diet from ordinary fare, for he claims that his daily plain living is the best kind of preparation for the test he is about to undergo. He does not intend to eat at certain hours simply because it has been his habit to do so and will partake only when he shall relish it and at the same time feel that it will do him good. He says there will be so many unusual circumstances met on the trip that it would be useless to say now exactly how he will live concerning rest, diet and clothing and he does not feel at all apprehensive concerning sickness or accidents.

CHESS.

A New Club.

The Heather Chess and Draughts Club will meet in their new rooms, corner of St. Catherine street and Greene avenue, on Saturday evening at 7.30, and every Tuesday and Saturday thereafter.

TURF.

$10,000 for a "Longfellow" Colt.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The yearlings from the "Elmendorf" and "Balgowan" studs were disposed of at auction at Tattersall's salesrooms by William Easton last evening. There was quite a sensation when the bay colt by "Longfellow"-"Ballet" was brought into the ring. It was a well known fact before the sale that there would be some lively competition for him. Mr. John A. Morris, F. A. Ehret and G. B. Morris were anxious to secure the colt and as soon as he was offered they indulged in some lively bidding. "Greed Morris" started off with a bid of $2000, which was quickly raised to $2500 by Mr. W. L. Powers, who was representing John A. Morris. F. C. McLewee, who was acting for "Ehret," raised the bid to $2800. "Green Morris" dropped out at the $6000 mark. McLewee and Powers then raised the price at $500 a clip, the former stopping at $9500. Mr. Powers quickly offered $10,000 and secured the colt, and had to doff his hat at the loud applause. The "Elmendorf" yearlings brought $30,225, an average of $1079. The four from the "Balgowan stud" brought $17,000, an average of $4250.

Epsom Grand Prize.

LONDON, June 2.—The race for the Epsom grand prize to-day was won by H. J. Bailey's "The Lover;" Prince Soltykoff's "Curio," second; R. H. Combe's "President," third.

On the Track.

Miss Annie L. Wright, a daughter of ex-President C. B. Wright, of the Northern Pacific road, can claim at the present time the title of champion lady rider of the world in the high jumping class. This statement is made because she recently jumped in a riding academy of a prominent teacher, Philadelphia, a hurdle that measured from tan bark to top rail six feet and two inches. This young lady is a thorough horse woman, and at the time that this phenomenal leap was made weighed 108 pounds. She had gone into training for this trial performance, and nerve, hand and head were completely prepared for the ordeal. The horse selected was a well trained veteran, Rodrigue, and the first height tried was three feet from the soft track of the school grounds.

The Game is Scratched.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The Iolanthe Baseball Club, the champions of Baxter street, will not play the match game with the Mulberrys, which had been arranged for this afternoon, owing to the fact that six out of the nine players, including the captain, were pinched yesterday morning by Detectives Corcoran and Mitchell of Elizabeth street.

The Iolanthes are a fierce lot of youngsters, ranging in age from 9 to 12 years, and have wrested the championship of the Sixth Ward from such powerful teams as the Baxters, the Parks and the Five Pointers.

The Mulberrys were formed for the express purpose of beating the Iolanthes. On Sunday morning the Iolanthes, eleven strong, including two substitutes, went sweeping down Mulberry street on roller skates. The skates were brand new and of the most improved pattern, and Capt. "Mickey" Farrell, of the Mulberrys, wondered enviously where the rival club had raised the money to buy their training implements. On Sunday night Capt. Brodie, of the Iolanthes, led his forces from Centre and Franklin streets through to Baxter street, and thence through Bayard street to the Bowery. Each member carried a new regulation League bat, while the mascot brought up the rear with an open box containing a dozen new white baseballs. Capt. Brodie carried a rubber chest protector over his arm and a mask in his hand.

On Monday afternoon F. D. Tildsey, bookkeeper for Selchow & Richter, dealers in outdoor goods at 390 Broadway, entered the place by a back door, intending to spend the afternoon balancing his books. He heard somebody whistling merrily in the basement, and found Chink O'Connor trying on a pair of baseball gloves. Mr. Tildsey led him to the Elizabeth street station, and the detectives went out and gathered in Tinker Buckley, of 82 Baxter street; John Brodie, of 123 Worth street; Dan Armitage, of 93 Allen street, and the famous battery, the brothers Johnson, John and David. The prisoners were all at the Tombs yesterday on a charge of larceny. They acknowledged their guilt, and Justice Duffy committed them to the care of the society.

Some of the sporting goods the boys had stolen were found in the basement of the unfinished Criminal Court building.

AQUATIC.

St. Lawrence Yacht Club Fixtures.

Following are the official fixtures of the St. Lawrence Yacht Club:

June 11.—"A;" 29 foot; 24 foot; 21 foot, and skiff classes.

June 18.—"A," and 18 foot classes.

June 25.—29 foot; 24 foot; 21 foot, and skiff classes.

July 1, at 9 a. m.—"A;" 29 foot; 24 foot, and races for the Sir Donald A. Smith Cup. At 3.30 p. m.—"A;" 29 foot; 24 foot; 21 foot, and 18 foot classes.

July 16.—"A;" 29 foot; 24 foot; 21 foot, and races for Baylis Cup.

July 23.—Skiff races.

August 20.—Skiff races.

Work on the new pier will be commenced shortly.

A reciprocal interchange of membership has been arranged between the St. Lawrence and Quebec yacht clubs, and members of either club can now feel perfectly at home in the other's quarters.

Herreshoff's Latest Wonder.

BOSTON, Mass., May 31.—The result of the Eastern Yacht Club regatta yesterday may revolutionize yachting. Herreshoff's fin "Handsell" astonished every one, handily beating the Burgess centreboard "Hawk" and the Burgess keel "Fancy" in a good sailing breeze. There was quite a sea on and the fin seemed to like it, for she kept outside and to windward throughout.

The "Handsell" was a mile ahead at the turn. She lost thirty-five seconds on the run home, but crossed the line a clear winner by 21m. 38s. Her allowance was 6m. 28s. Yachtsmen are greatly interested in the event.

Captain Hartwell Talks.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 2.—Captain Hartwell, of the Yale crew, is down with the blues as a result of the way in which the Yale men are rowing. He said yesterday: "The best time that the present crew has made over the four-mile course in New Haven Harbor is 22 m. 35 s. It has been made by crews in former years two minutes faster. The '85 crew made it in less than twenty minutes five times before it left for New London." Captain Hartwell and the crew start for New London on June 15.

Howland, '93, one of the substitutes on the crew, while practising in a single shell on Sunday came into collision with another boat and his shell capsized. Howland was rescued with difficulty by a boat sent from the Yale boathouse.

Emperor William's Yacht Wins.

LONDON, May 31.—The tide of victory today turned in favor of the German Emperor's yacht "Meteor," formerly the "Thistle." She beat Mr. Jameson's cutter "Iverna" in the yacht race at Harvich.

BILLIARDS.

Schaefer After Ives.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 2.—Jacob Schaefer wants to play Frank Ives a billiard match in June. Ives may go to Paris shortly and may want to play there. Schaefer says he is willing to play anywhere, only he thinks there is more money in playing here. He is ready to put up $5000 that he can beat Ives.

FOOTBALL.

And Still They Come.

The Victoria Football Club, of this city, has been organized, and think themselves able to come up with any other club in their class. They will not be open for any challenges until after June 25. The secretary's address is S. W. Martin, 123 Lagauchetiere street.

Sporting Notes.

The Hackmen's Union picnic and horse races will be held on July 16 in the Montreal Driving Park.

When it comes to getting together a representative gathering of dogs, Scotland is not far behind England. In connection with the Ayrshire Agricultural Association at Ayre, a show with 1500 entries took place a couple of weeks since. In some of the breeds record entries were made, notably in the national breed—the collie—which attained the unprecedented entry of 394. Scotch terriers had also a banner entry, no less than 148 facing the judge.

The Bohemian Mining Horror.

LONDON, June 3.—The Chronicle's Vienna despatch says that 130 bodies have been taken out of Birkenberg mine, and that 280 are still missing. Over 100 bodies were brought to the surface yesterday. They were raised in lots of three. No one was rescued alive to-day. The faces of the victims are scorched and blackened, and show traces of a desperate struggle for life. The bodies were laid in rows in a neighboring churchyard. The scenes at the pit's mouth to-day were heartrending. One woman fell dead and another went mad. The rescuers were encouraged in their work this morning by hearing a bell in an adjoining pit where a number of miners are known to be imprisoned. The rescuers continue to work fearlessly, though at great risk. Many were overpowered by the smoke to-day and had to be drawn to the surface.

A panic was created to-day when it became known that 120 pounds of dynamite was stowed in the mine, though the manager declares that the explosive is placed where it cannot be reached by the fire.

A TRENTON MIRACLE.

A REMARKABLE CURE IN A CASE PRONOUNCED HOPELESS.

An Estimable Young Lady Raised From a Death-bed After Being Given Up by Several Doctors—A Simple Statement of Facts.

[Trenton Courier.]

At intervals during the past year the proprietor of the Courier has been publishing newspaper reports of miraculous cures occurring in various parts of Canada and the United States. Perhaps among the most notable of these were the cases of Mr. John Marshall, of Hamilton, Ont., Mr. C. B. Northrop, of Detroit, Mich., and Mr. Chas. A. Quant, of Galway, N. Y. Mr. Marshall's case was more prominently fixed in the public mind by reason of the fact that after being pronounced incurable by a number of eminent physicians he was paid the $1000 disability claim allowed by the Royal Templars of Temperance, and some months afterward was announced his almost miraculous restoration to health and active life. The case of Mr. Northrop created equally as profound a sensation in Detroit, where he is one of the best known merchants in the city. Mr. Northrop was looked upon as a helpless invalid, and could only give the most desultory attention to his business on days when he could be wheeled to the store in an invalid's chair. In his case the same simple (yet wonderful) remedy that had cured Mr. Marshall restored Mr. Northrop to a life of active usefulness. The case of Mr. Chas. Quant is perhaps the most marvellous of all, inasmuch as he was not only perfectly helpless, but had had treatment in one of New York's best hospitals under such eminent medical scientists as Prof. Ware, and Dr. Starr, and in Albany by Prof. H. H. Hun, only to be sent out as incurable and looked upon as one who had but a few months before death would put an end to his sufferings. Again the same remedy which restored Mr. Marshall and Mr. Northrop was resorted to, with the same remarkable results, and to-day Mr. Quant, restored to health, anticipates a long life of usefulness. The remedy which has succeeded, where the best physicians had failed, is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People—and a name that is now a familiar household word throughout the continent—and a remedy that apparently stands without a rival in the annals of medical science. Having published, among others, the cases above alluded to, the curiosity of the publisher of the Courier was aroused and he determined to ascertain if any one around Trenton had been benefitted by the use of Pink Pills. In conversation with Mr. A. W. Hawley, druggist, he was told that the sale of Pink Pills was remarkable, and steadily increasing. And Mr. Hawley gave the names of a number within his own observation who had been benefitted by the use of this remedy. Among others Miss Emma Fleming, granddaughter of Mr. Robt. Young. It was stated that Miss Fleming had been raised from what was supposed to be her death-bed, after all other remedies and physicians had failed, by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This statement was so startling that the Courier determined to investigate it further, and if true, set the facts before the public for the benefit of, other sufferers. Mr. Robt. Young, grandfather of the young lady, was first seen, and in reply to an enquiry said it was a miracle the manner in which these pills had restored his granddaughter. As a last resort, and with a prayer in his heart, he had purchased a box of Pink Pills at Mr. Spaulsbury's drug store, and so much good resulted that the remedy was continued until his granddaughter was as well as ever she had been. Miss Fleming's aunt was next seen and she corroborated what had already been told the Courier giving as well some additional particulars. Miss Fleming was next seen, and we must confess to being surprised, and at first somewhat incredulous that this young lady in the bloom of womanhood and health was the person whom we wanted to interview. Miss Fleming, however, soon convinced us that it was she who was so miraculously saved from death, and cheerfully consented to give a statement of her case. Her father, she said, was for years miller under Mr. Spence, and afterwards at Gordon's mills, near Trenton, and is now miller at Union. Three years ago Miss Fleming's mother died of consumption. Up to four years ago Miss Fleming stated that she had enjoyed good health, but taking a severe cold then she had not had a well day since, until she began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills last December. She was reduced in weight to 90 pounds, but now weighs 111 pounds, a gain of 21 pounds. She consulted a number of doctors and took their remedies, but never obtained more than temporary relief. A physician at Newmarket, whom she consulted, said she was going into a decline, and that he could do nothing for her. Her Trenton physician said that a sudden cold would go to her lungs and he had no hope of her ever getting better. She felt very miserable, strength continually failing, suffered so much distress from food that she had no desire for it and lost all appetite. She kept continually growing worse until last autumn she was not able to stand without support, and gave up all efforts to help herself. In December she was taken with inflammation of the bowels and Dr. Moran was called in. He gave her medicine that relieved her and cured the inflammation, but her strength was gone and she had to be lifted in and out of bed and could not sit in a chair at all. She had taken her bed expecting never to rise again, and this was the opinion of all her friends. It was at this juncture that her grandfather, having read in the Courier of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as a last resort, purchased a box, and urged his granddaughter to take them. Miss Fleming had been before this recommended by a friend in Toronto to try Pink Pills, but declared she had no faith in them. Now, however, to please her friends she consented to take the Pink Pills; on the seventh day after beginning the use of the Pink Pills she was able to walk down stairs and has not gone back to a sick bed since. The effect upon her system was truly marvelous. Her appetite was gone, strength gone, prostrate upon her supposed death-bed, in seven days she was able to walk down stairs, feeling renewed strength and a better appetite than ever before. Miss Fleming continued the use of Pink Pills, daily gaining health and strength, until she was able to take part in the household duties without the least injurious effect. Miss Fleming still continues to take one pill after each meal, and now feels as well as she ever did in her life. She feels truly grateful for what this great remedy has done for her, and only a sense of gratitude enables her to overcome her modest scruples in giving this testimony to the wonderful virtues of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Miss Fleming has recommended Pink Pills to a number of lady friends who say they are doing them much good.

A further investigation revealed the fact that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not a patent medicine in the sense in which that term is usually understood, but are a scientific preparation successfully used in general practice for many years before being offered to the public generally. They contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, over-work or excesses of whatever nature.

These pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ontario, and Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold in boxes (never in loose form by the dozen or hundred, and the public are cautioned against numerous imitations sold in this shape) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company from either address. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

Tastes Vary.

The wrapper (the outside leaf) does not altogether indicate by its color, the strength of a cigar, as is generally supposed to be the case. On the contrary cigars with light colored wrappers may be very strong unless proper care is taken by the manufacturer in handling the leaf to have the interior or "bunch" properly represented by the outside leaf, which should be the "mirror of the cigar."

Our brands are properly represented by the sizes and colors. For example: The El Padre brand is made in the following sizes: "Perfectos;" "Lansdowne;" "Pins;" "Bouquets," and "Reina Victoria;" all of different qualities, which are represented by the "sizes" mentioned, all of which are of different strength in each size.

You can obtain a mild, medium or full flavored Perfecto in that particular grade and quality, the same with the other sizes. Smokers who like a full flavored fairly large cigar should ask for the Reina Victoria size, for a large mild cigar the Perfecto, medium size Lansdowne or Pin, small size, Bouquets. Our aim is to suit all tastes and dispel the illusion that exists with many smokers that an imported cigar is as good at anything like the price at which the El Padre, Madre é Hijo, La Cadena, or La Flora are sold. Reports from Maine indicate a considerable movement of farmers from that State to the Canadian North-West.

MYRTLE NAVY.—The success which the Myrtle Navy tobacco has with the public is because it is composed of the very finest Virginia leaf grown, and is manufactured with the most scrupulous care at every stage of the process.

The aggregate assessed value of the real estate of New York city is $1,506,579,703, which is an increase of $43,331,883 over the preceding year.

No other brand of ten cent cigarettes placed before the public in this or any other country ever attained the same success and popularity as this brand. It virtually swept the country. To-day it is recognized as the brand of ten cent cigarettes, millions sold annually and sales increasing daily. Remarkably sweet and mellow, manufactured by D. Ritchie and Company, Montreal, whose output is about two-thirds the consumption of this Dominion.

Special Notices.

WILL IT DROOP AND DIE?

It Can be Made a Thing of Beauty!

The tender, fragile plant which you have potted with such care, and which gets the sunlight at your window, requires constant attention and regular watering in order to thrive and blossom.

In the large majority of homes, there is to be found a precious and tender human flower. The mother watches over it; she is the first to detect natural, healthy growth or wasting disease. She is the home gardener to whom is confided the care of this tender plant—the baby.

Will it droop and die, or will it become a lovely, strong and healthy flower in the home-garden? This is a serious and important question, and the mother, as guardian, is responsible for its life.

Baby's life depends as much upon its food, as the house-rose depends upon water and plant-food.

Babies who are not properly fed are constantly peevish, cross and fretful; this is an indication of trouble and coming ailments. The little weak stomach must be satisfied with food suited for its strength and capacity, else it becomes irritated and inflamed.

We think it a duty to remind mothers at this time that Lactated Food is the only artificial food suitable for their babies. It possesses all the constituents of mother's milk, and is suited for the weakest digestion. It is readily and eagerly taken by the youngest babes, who become nauseated with all other prepared foods. It builds up the flesh, bone and muscle, and causes the little one to be happy and sleep well. Lactated Food is strongly recommended by our best Canadian physicians, who prescribe it in preference to all other foods.

One trial of Lactated Food will convince every mother that it should be used regularly. There is no other make as good, and no other so cheap.

Why Can't They Marry?

A young lady and gentleman are in love with each other, but will not marry because the lady's mother's brother's brother-in-law is the young man's father. What relationship exists between the young lady and gentleman?

To the first person sending the correct answer to the above problem the publishers of The Ladies' Pictorial Weekly will give seventy-five dollars in cash; for the second correct answer, fifty dollars in cash; for the third correct answer, an elegant gold watch; for the fourth correct answer, a first-class boy's or girl's safety bicycle; for the fifth, a French music box; for the sixth, a pair of genuine diamond earrings in solid gold setting; to the seventh, a first-class Kodak camera, with a complete outfit for using same; to the eighth a complete Lawn-Tennis Outfit; for the ninth an elegant pair of Pearl Opera Glasses; to the tenth a Silk Dress Pattern (in any colored desired).

Every one answering the above puzzle must enclose with the same Thirty Cents in silver (or ten three-cent stamps) for one month's trial subscription (five copies) to the Ladies' Pictorial Weekly, Canada's High-Class Illustrated Newspaper. The envelope which contains correct answer bearing earliest postmark will receive first prize, the balance strictly in order as received.

All answers must be mailed on or before July 15th. Names and addresses of prize winners will be published in our journal. Address Ladies' Pictorial Weekly, (44) Toronto, Ont. 131 2 1 aw

"A Hint to Country Readers."

If you reside in the country and think of buying a piano or organ, write to Mr. C. W. Lindsay, 2270 St. Catherine street, Montreal, for illustrated catalogues and prices of Heintzman, Decker, and Brantford pianos, and Mason & Hamlin and Doherty organs. Secondhand pianos and organs of any maker taken in part payment. No extra charge made for freight.

Colonel Dudley, of the United States Army, writing of the Cyclorama of Custer's Battle of the Little Big Horn River, says: "I desire to place on record my appreciation of this exhibition, both as a work of art, and also for the truthfulness with which the artists have reproduced the country in which this historical tragedy, unparalleled in the history of cavalry actions, occurred. Having been in command at Fort Custer, Montana, located only some nine miles distant from the battle ground for the last five years, I can positively state that the topography of the country, as shown on the canvass, is perfect, the Indian villages are also a most correct representation of hundreds of similar villages I have seen during many years service in the Indian country, the action and attitude of the cavalry horses and riders especially is wonderfully true to life, and to catch so accurately the wily, treacherous nature of the Indians in battle, depicting so cleverly their hideous expressions and infernal passions, requires more than an ordinary pencil. The collection of Indian trophies is also a great attraction in itself, as all the articles show that they are real productions and not manufactured for the occasion. These articles are becoming scarce and in time will be greatly valued."

FOLLOWING BAD EXAMPLES.

Fatal Errors—Canadians are Victims.

We are following fast in the footsteps of our American cousins; we are imitating some their bad points, we are encouraging many of their dangerous and seductive habits. Americans, as a rule, live fast—they are continually in a state of hurry, bustle and excitement—they overwork brain and body too much, with the view of becoming rich fast. They seem to lose sight of the old-established English way of steady plodding and application, with its advantages of health and long life.

Our Canadian people—merchants, professional men, mechanics and others—are bringing upon themselves sickness, trouble and misery by adopting American customs and habits. In proportion to our population we have in Canada as many sufferers from nervousness, sleeplessness, weakness, dyspepsia, indigestion and impure blood, as there are in the neighboring republic, and the number of such is increasing.

This alarming state of things in Canada is populating our insane asylums and private retreats, and is causing intense sorrow in many homes. Insanity, pure and simple, results from this overwork of brain and body, and broken down, nervous condition.

Thousands, however, have had reason to thank Dr. Phelps, the eminent physician who discovered the great healing, building and strengthening remedy for these helpless victims. Dr. Phelps gave to the world Paine's Celery Compound, which has rescued thousands from a fearful and terrible death.

This king of nerve remedies has done its work so well that physicians use it daily in their practice and recommend it with pleasure.

Never before have grateful people testified with such pleasure, as Canadians do, in favor of Paine's Celery Compound. Ministers of the gospel, professional and business men speak of it and recommend it to their friends. It goes forward with its work at a marvellous rate, curing those who have failed with other medicines.

To the nervous, sleepless, broken-down and dyspeptic it is invaluable, as it means new life and strength. Try its efficacy, suffering mortal, and then you will have reason to rejoice.

A Perfect Gem.

The N. Y. Piano Company has just turned out of their Montreal factory a perfect little gem of a piano. It is only four feet by three feet ten inches, and having a most powerful, clear and brilliant tone, is just the instrument for Sabbath schools, club houses or yacht or any place where a powerful and pure-toned piano in a beautiful and compact form is required. The price, too, is an object, being only about one-half the cost of the ordinary piano. It is well and substantially made, of full iron frame and warranted for five years. The action and tone is simply beautiful; nothing is more suitable for seaside or country residence. The instruments can be seen at their stores, 228 St. James street. 131 2

The Grand Trunk Railway intends commencing June 27th to materially improve its service between Montreal and Portland. A new fast train will leave Montreal about nine p. m. daily, except Sunday, reaching Portland before eight o'clock next morning, connecting promptly for the islands and beaches. A similar train will leave Portland for Montreal daily, except Sunday, making about the same time. Elegant Pullman sleeping cars will be attached to thes trains which are sure to be well patronized, as the Grand Trunk is the favorite line between Montreal and the seaside. The day express trains, which were so popular last year, will continue to run. 131 4eod

The Chemist and the Explorer.

When Stanley returned from his last expedition to Africa he told the world that he had found an inexhaustible supply of rubber trees in the interior of that dark continent. This at the time was intensely interesting, but it has lost very much of its interest since Rigby, the chemist, has made it possible for us to have tweeds, worsteds and any of the various wool materials from which our clothing is made, rendered perfectly waterproof, without changing either their appearance or the porous nature of the cloth in the slightest degree. Ladies or gentlemen may now have an outer garment made from material to their taste, which will keep out the rain without their experiencing any of the discomforts produced by a rubber coat.

THE MISSING GIRL.

A CLUE DISCOVERED AT OTTAWA.

Detective Robinson Goes Up to the Capital to Investigate—The Clue Furnished by a Watch Left at a Jeweller's.

"Good afternoon, I shall be back early," were the last words spoken by Miss Dorcas Hemus to friends at the house where she boarded, No. 28 St. Antoine street. As already reported in the STAR, this occurred on Saturday, May 14, and although the strictest search has been made by her friends, with the aid of Detective Robinson, and by enquiries through the press, no sign of her was found until yesterday afternoon, when the detective was notified that some information might be obtained at Mr. Bolt's jewellery store on St. Catherine street. He at once went up and was told that on or about the day on which she disappeared, Miss Hemus called at that store with a watch, which had been purchased there last Christmas. Some trifling repairs were needed and she seemed disappointed that she could not get it back at once. However, she said that the lady to whom she had given the watch would call for it in a few days. Then nothing was seen nor heard of her until yesterday, when a gentleman called and asked for Miss Hemus' watch. Having heard of the mysterious disappearance, the watchmaker told him it was not ready. He then gave an address in Ottawa to which it was to be sent, and the address was given to the detective. He telegraphed there, and receiving a confirmatory answer has gone to Ottawa

MISS DORCAS HEMUS.

TO INVESTIGATE THERE.

About a year ago the girl came to this country from Bromsgrove, Worcestershire, Eng., and obtained a situation at "The Sherbrooke," on Sherbrooke street. On the 10th ult., she left her position, intending to go to the country on the 23rd and to have a vacation in the meantime. Mrs. Wilkes, who lives at 28 St. Antoine street, is an old friend of Miss Hemus,' having known her in England, and during her short stay there she was in the best of spirits, until about half-past two on that memorable afternoon, when she left the house for a short walk down town. All her clothes are still at the house just as they were left. She carried nothing with her save her pocket book, which contained between twenty and thirty dollars. The accompanying cut is from a photograph taken just before she left England. Miss Hemus is about twenty-one years of age, is 5 feet 3 inches in height and has a dark complexion and dark hair.

THE EFFICACY OF PRAYERS.

An Instance Related by the "Semaine Religieuse."

La Semaine Religieuse this morning says: "The Trappist Fathers at Oka have this year experienced the efficacy of the prayers of the Church for the blessing of the products of the earth. Last year, like those of most of our farmers, their grounds were invaded by legions of the field mouse which destroyed their young orchard. They this year had the happy thought to remove this plague, to employ the prayers of the Ritual against these destroying animals. Last autumn, one of the monks, in his surplice and stole, escorted by two acolytes, went around the vast enclosure, in which are the orchard and garden, reciting liturgical prayers and sprinkling the previously infected places with holy water. This is what happened: not a tree, not a plant, of any use was attacked by these animals, in the limits circumscribed by the ceremony. Still large holes, and enormous nests were found in all the other parts of the enclosure. It seemed as if the animals had received order to find their food elsewhere and they did not go far for it. All around the blessed circle, they destroyed young maples and brush." The Semaine Religieuse reminds its readers of this striking example of the efficacy of prayers to protect the products of the earth. It recalls the fact that some years since the county of Lotbinière was invaded by certain birds which did great damage to the crops. Public prayers were ordered and the birds soon disappeared.

CATTLE EXPORTS.

The Prospects in the Old Country Reported Bad.

There were 3896 cattle exported from Montreal this week, distributed as follows:

Steamships.	Cattle.
Wetherby, London	182
Monte Videan, London	474
Lake Nepigon, Liverpool	320
Sarnia, Liverpool	281
Buenos Ayrean, Glasgow	503
Amarynthia, Glasgow	737
Straits of Magellen, Glasgow	215
Monkseaton, Bristol	185
Bernicia, Southampton	181
Liddersdale, Leith	200
Mongolian, Liverpool	618

A cable from Glasgow to-day read: "Cattle dull all over, prospects bad; too many States cattle." This is the tenor of all despatches at present. Prices for cattle here have declined fully 1 cent per lb in the past month. One Montreal exporter purchased 200 head of export cattle in Toronto yesterday, paying 4½ cents. per lb. These cattle should make money on the other side, even in the present condition of the British markets. Cattle are coming forward very freely here, and still lower prices are expected.

Pentecost at the Gesu.

To-morrow, feast of the Pentecost, the orchestra and choir will perform the Mass of Notre Dame de Sion, by Rene de Boisdeffle. This mass is composed for four mixed voices. At the offertory the orchestra will play the celebrated Largo from Haendel; Sortie, Prophet March, Meyerbeer. The soloists will be Masters Albert Jeannotte, soprano; A. Lemieux, alto; Messrs. D. Brodeur, Edouard LeBel, tenors; F. Pelletier, baritone; H. C. St. Pierre and C. Terroux, bassos. The choir and orchestra are under Prof. Alex. Clerk and Prof. Ducharme will preside at the organ.

Court of Queen's Bench.

Robert Graham was yesterday found guilty on the second count of the indictment, that of receiving stolen goods, knowing them to be stolen, in the Court of Queen's Bench. There was, however, a recommendation to mercy. Joseph Tarica, who had pleaded guilty to the charges of assault on a fourteen year-old girl, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment on the first charge and three months on the second.

Mgr. Emard's Consecration.

Announcements have been issued from the Bishop's Palace giving information as to railway trains leaving Montreal to convey the invited bishops and friends to Valleyfield, on June 9, the date of Mgr. Emard's consecration. A special train for this purpose will leave Bonaventure Station at 8.45 p. m., on the 8th inst.

Harbor Improvement Work.

A good part of the guard wall in connection with the harbor improvements is now showing above the surface of the water. Piles have been sunk in preparation for the building of the railway on the guard wall, which will be done in a couple of weeks' time now. Some 150 of the trucks to be used on the railway have arrived here.

Pickpockets at Church.

While two ladies were coming out of the Church of the Gesu this morning, a man picked both of their pockets, and ran off. This happened on the steps of the church. A funeral service was being held in the church at the time. In both instances the sums taken were small, amounting in all to thirteen dollars.

At the Mackay Institute.

The gold medals presented by ex-Premier Mercier and Mayor McShane to the Mackay Institute will be presented to the respective winners this afternoon. Owing to the recent mourning of the superintendent, Mrs. Ashcroft, only the managers will be present at the ceremony.

Outside Ice Dealers.

Chief Hughes has received instructions to proceed against and arrest all ice dealers from outside municipalities unless they have a license for each waggon delivering ice in the city.

TRADE, FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Saturday reports will be discontinued till Oct. 1st, 1892, as the Board will hold no meetings during the summer season on Saturdays.

THE MAIL TRAIN OF FASHION.

There is an old saying, ladies, that you may just as well be out of the world as out of the fashion. The railway speed at which everything rushes along in this age makes it difficult at times to keep up. This does not arise altogether from anything fickle in the tastes of the race—although it is sometimes put in that way. It originates in the fact that the great restless brain of industry is ever scheming, and its hand executing something new—always perfecting and improving, and providing for some obvious and long-felt want. Especially is this the case in small things—notably in what may be termed the luxuries of dress. Nevertheless, you will easily keep abreast of the mail train of fashion, ladies, and at little expense, if you visit regularly our Fancy Goods Department. Here, if anywhere, you will find all the latest novelties imported direct from the leading capitals of Europe. At present, it is packed with summer requisites, selling at bargain prices.

THE CITY FINANCES.

THE REPORT OF THE TREASURER.

About Seven Million Dollars to be Raised During the Year—Report of the Comptroller and Auditor.

Mr. W. Robb, City Treasurer, and Mr. O. Dufresne, comptroller and auditor, have just had published and issued their report on the finances of the city for 1891. The City Treasurer shows that the total receipts amounted to $8,797,003, which included the balance at its commencement, while the disbursements were $8,454,900, leaving a balance at its close of $342,102. The city entered upon the year 1892 under the following obligations.

Advances maturing in England	$2,000,000
Temporary loans (on exprop. acct.) maturing here	500,000
Exprop. in progress, of which city's share will be	825,000
Proprietors share of same, to be temporarily adv	1,700,000
Road and Water Department loan expenditure 1892 (say bal. loan fund.	975,000
	$6,000,000

Continuing, the report says: "The general and ordinary expenditure of the city will amount to two and a half millions more, and as the bulk of the revenue does not come in till the latter part of the year, it is necessary to anticipate it also, by temporary borrowings, which will call for another $1,000,000, showing that we shall have to raise about $7,000,000 in all during the course of the year. (This amount will ultimately be paid back by sales of stock, collections of special assessments and revenue receipts.) In addition to the foregoing, however, there is the special engagement in connection with the harbor improvement scheme, amounting to another million dollars, but as the progress of this work will probably not call for much money this year, I do not make special provision for it at present. It will, moreover, be noticed, that the figures include only $975,000 for the loan work of both the Road and Water departments for 1892, that being the total balance of loan proceeds remaining available for appropriation by the Council (supposing the whole of the stock now on the market is disposed of at present prices). It was in view of this position of affairs that I felt it to be my duty to urge the deferring of any street improvement projects other than those provided for in the above estimates, until our financial engagements were reduced to smaller compass."

SOURCES OF REVENUE.

Mr. Robb suggests that some amendment to the existing system seems to be imperative in street widenings. The city has only two sources of revenue, current revenue and proceeds of stocks. The interest on loans required for street improvements during the current year, on the proprietors alone, will not fall short of $75,000, an item wholly uncontemplated as coming out of the revenue and seriously affecting the annual appropriations.

Referring to the 19,000 writs of execution in the Recorder's Court for the collection of water rates, entailing either the selling out of the unfortunate debtors or stopping of their supply of water, Mr. Robb points out that no system of relief is practicable except the inclusion of the water rate in the rent. However, he would not be in favor of collecting water taxes on vacant houses.

The total funded debt of the city on December 31, 1891, including stock in London still unsold (though advanced upon) was $19,000,000, costing in interest annually $748,656 as follows:

$ 856,500 @ 7 per cent	$59,855
745,000 @ 6 per cent	44,754
4,576,681 @ 5 per cent	228,835
2,931,800 @ 4 per cent	117,272
9,928,000 @ 3 per cent	297,840
$19,038,181	$748,656

being on an average less than 4 per cent. on the whole.

The floating debt, amounting to $200,000 more, is offset by a larger amount of assets belonging to that division, as will be seen by a reference to the balance sheet.

The report of Mr. Dufresne deals with the disbursements of the various committees and also statements of revenue from all sources with comparative statements.

CANADIAN GIFTS TO SCOTLAND.

The Hospitals Built by Lord Mount Stephen and Sir Donald A. Smith.

The munificent gifts of Lord Mount Stephen and Sir Donald A. Smith to the cause of charity have not been confined to Canada. The Moray and Nairn (Scotland) Express, in its last weekly issue, gives a column and a half descriptive of the Leanchoil Hospital, at Farres, in which it says: "If it were possible to classify in order of merit the princely benefactions which generous men have given for the good of their fellow-mortals, there can be no doubt that hospital building would stand very near the top of the list. To relieve the sufferer, to smooth the dying pillow, to administer the cup of cold water to the friendless and poor—what can be more noble, more necessary than this? Such a truth seems to have been fully realized and acted upon by two great sons of northern Scotland, who left their native land and carved their way to fortune and to fame as the railway pioneers of Canada—Lord Mount-Stephen and Sir Donald Smith. The Dufftown Cottage Hospital is a testimony of what Lord Mount-Stephen has done for his native place, and Sir Donald A. Smith's sister deed of generosity is substantially apparent in the circumstance that the Leanchoil Hospital is now an accomplished fact. The Gaelic name, "Leanchoil" has been chosen, according to the Express, to commemorate the birthplace of Sir Donald's mother on "the pine-clad hills of Abernethy." The first five inmates were admitted to the Hospital on May 17 last, and the formal opening of the institution will take place before this month ends.

First Communion at St. Ann's Church.

Upwards of seven hundred children, male and female, in charge of their respective teachers, the sisters and brothers of St. Ann's schools, were assembled yesterday evening in St. Ann's Church for instructions and prayers previous to the reception of the sacraments of first communion and confirmation, which takes place in that church to-morrow. Over two hundred children will receive both sacraments, and upwards of four hundred will renew the sacrament of first communion. Brother Arnold recited the prayers, and the responses were made by the children en masse. Not the least pleasing feature of these devotional exercises was the congregational singing of hymns and other select religious pieces conducted by the Rev. Father Strubbe. The congregational singing, introduced here by the Paulist Fathers at St. Patrick's Church, seems to have taken hold of old and young alike, and has now become a popular feature in many of the Catholic churches of the city.

Lieut.-Col. Henshaw to Resign Shortly.

The Victoria Rifles are going to lose Lieut.-Col. Henshaw at an earlier date than some of them imagined. They will muster on Tuesday evening for Commanding Officer's inspection, when he will then, or early the following week, say good-by to them as their commandant. The D. A. G.'s inspection has been postponed until the autumn. As already stated, Major Starke will take command and Major Radiger will be made paymaster, while the new Majors will be Capts. Sims and Busteed.

Burglary on St. Catherine Street.

Poirier's dry goods store on St. Catherine street was entered by burglars on Thursday night. A quantity of goods was stolen in addition to about ten dollars in cash.

Peter's Pence.

The collection for Peter's Pence is to be taken up in the churches of the Archdiocese of Montreal next Sunday.

THE FRESH AIR WORK.

Is it to Go On? The Friends of the Poor Have to Decide the Question.

Hundreds of poor mothers and children are anxiously asking if there are to be any "Fresh Air" holidays for them this summer—any outings in the green fields and shady woods. We have promised to lay the matter before their friends, the generous givers of former years, and let them know the result. Up to the close of last season over seventeen thousand applications for participation in the benefits of the Fund were accepted, and the applicants sent for shorter or longer periods to the country. Of the good done, and the many hours turned from sadness to joy, there can be no two opinions amongst those who have watched the work. Still, it is for the public to say whether the youngsters and their mothers from the close, crowded quarters are to get the boon or not. The publishers of the STAR have pleasure in handing the Committee a cheque for five hundred dollars as an earnest of their desire to see the good work continued. Those who feel favorably have only to send to the hon. treasurer, Mr. Charles Alexander, or to the STAR Office, whatever earnest of their good wishes they choose, and the question will be decided for or against continuing the work according to the generosity of the contributors. Let us hope to be able to send to the anxious mothers and little ones a joyous answer.

NEW MISSIONS.

THEY ARE PROPOSED BY CONFERENCE.

One in Montreal District—The Church and Materialistic Socialism—General Missionary Board.

PEMBROKE, Ont., June 4.—At the session of the Montreal Methodist Conference yesterday afternoon the election of a ministerial member to the General Missionary Board was proceeded with, First ballot gave Rev. James Kines 31; Dr. Ryckman, 19; Wm. Jackson, 16. Total votes cast, 101. The second ballot resulted in the election of James Kines by a vote of 57 out of 103.

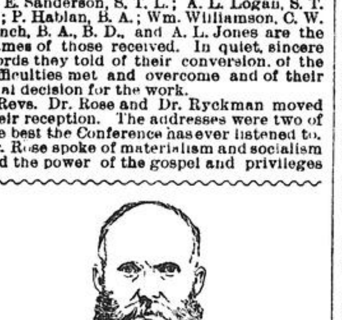
REV. W. H. GRAHAM.

Rev. W. H. Graham, the new president of the Conference, is a vigorous man, physically and mentally. He was born in Dundas county, and was "converted" in 1852. Two years after he entered the ministry and did a noble share of pioneer work. For twelve years he served the Methodist Episcopal Church as presiding elder. He was one of the strongest movers for union, and presided over the committee appointed by the Methodist Episcopal Church to consider the subject. Since the Union he has been stationed at Lennoxville, Carleton Place and Waterloo. Mr. Graham is a good preacher, a large-hearted man, and promises to make a good executive officer. He has always been popular with his brethren.

Rev. Alexander Campbell and Rev. W. J. Hewitt were granted superannuated relation for one year. Mr. Hewitt has permission to reside in Leeds, Eng.

The names of three probationers were omitted from the list, C. S. Vaughan and J. H. McConnell, with three years' standing, and A. H. Farnsworth with one year's standing.

The most interesting service of the Conference was held last night. It was the occasion of the reception of those who have served their probation to be received into full connection. Rev. W. H. Graham presided. Prayer was offered by Rev. R. Whiting. The secretary, Rev. Wm. Philp, B. A., read the Scriptures. The president, in a few introductory remarks, explained the meaning of the service. A Methodist minister must be converted, he must be called by God and by the church. A. E. Sanderson, S. T. L.; A. L. Logan, S. T. L.; P. Hablan, B. A.; Wm. Williamson, C. W. Finch, B. A., B. D., and A. L. Jones are the names of those received. In quiet, sincere words they told of their conversion, of the difficulties met and overcome and of their final decision for the work.



REV. WM. PHILP.

Rev. Wm. Philp, the new secretary, was "converted" about 22 years ago and has been preaching the Gospel for about 20 years. He is a graduate in Arts and Divinity of Victoria University, a hard student, a thoughtful preacher and an efficient secretary.

Revs. Dr. Rose and Dr. Ryckman moved their reception. The addresses were two of the best the Conference has ever listened to. Dr. Rose spoke of materialism and socialism and the power of the gospel and privileges of the ministry. He avowed his faith in the church to transform materialistic socialism into Christian socialism. Speaking of doctrine he said that the Methodist creed would need revision. The address of Dr. Ryckman dealt with the preparation demanded for the ministry and the kind of preaching needed. The conference received the candidates by a rising vote.

The church was nearly filled with a very interested congregation.

This morning the conference opened at 9 o'clock. After devotional exercises the President introduced Timothy Arirhon (an Indian chief) of Oka, who addressed the conference in a few words. He wished to tell his brothers of the need of a church in Oka and asked their help. A committee consisting of Revs. A. E. Geoffrey, A. M. Delong, William Jackson, W. H. Emsley and Chief Timothy was appointed to consider the case. Dr. Hunter, John Armstrong, William Blair were elected as reserve delegates to the General Conference.

The stationing committee recommended the formation of a new mission in the Montreal district to be called Blue Bonnets, in the Sudbury district, Warren and Chelmsford, on the Quebec District Windsor Mills, in the Waterloo District, St. Armand, in Stanstead District, Masonville. A new mission can be created only by a two-third vote. Some discussion arose owing to the strong objection always raised against reducing circuits to the state of missions. Owing in some places in Quebec to the exodus of Protestants self-support is rendered impossible. Some missions are formed through the occupation of new fields. The report of Stanstead Wesleyan College was presented by Rev. J. T. Pitcher. It was very encouraging. The attendance has been 150. Three have been prepared for matriculation in Arts in McGill University. The principalship of Rev. F. McAmmond, B. A., has been most successful. The surplus of income over expenditure for the year is about one thousand dollars. The present liability of the college is $17,587.

The amount subscribed by the effort of last year is $10,365, that is, by distribution over circuits of the Conference. Part of this is conditioned upon the raising of the whole. Rev. Mr. McAmmond is about to re-engage in pastoral work. Mr. A. W. Bannister, M. A., late of St. Francis Conference, has been appointed in his place.

THE CATHOLIC FORESTERS' VISIT.

Orangemen Express a Desire That They be Allowed to Witness a Fire Brigade Parade.

The following letter has been sent to Ald. Stevenson, Chairman of the Fire Committee, by Messrs. W. Galbraith and A. Mackay, leading Orangemen in Montreal:

ALDERMAN STEVENSON,
Chairman Fire Committee, etc.,
Montreal.

DEAR SIR,—It is a matter of extreme regret that you have cancelled the proposed turn out of your Fire Brigade on the occasion of the coming visit of the "Catholic Order of Foresters." We can't see why these gentlemen, who come to spend a day in our city, should be deprived of such a desirable treat, just because a few extremists went off at half cock, a couple of days ago. Surely you mistake the sentiments of Montreal Orangemen if you think they would raise any objections to the turn-out in question. In any case, the coming visitors are not responsible for any discourtesy or intended discourtesy to the Grand Lodge delegates last Wednesday, nor do we hold our Roman Catholic fellow citizens accountable for any. If a few wild enthusiasts raised a premature fuss let them have the glory. Had we time to call a general meeting of our Association we have no doubt but that a unanimous motion would be passed asking you to do so. Please communicate our views to His Honor the Mayor, and, if at all possible, show our visitors all the courtesy you can. As we have some particular friends amongst the visiting Foresters, we are quite anxious to have you alter your decision, if practicable.

We are, Dear Sir,
Yours, etc.,
WM. GALBRAITH.
A. MACKAY.

Reid, Halifax; J. B. Bond, Toronto; James Irvine, Vankleek Hill; M. Brewer, Owen Sound; C. Johnson, St. George, N. B.; J. Ingalls, Ottawa.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

PROTECTION A CONSPICUOUS PLANK.

The Lines on Which the Party Proposes to Appeal to the United States Electorate at the Presidential Elections.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 4.—The following is a forecast of the platform to be presented to the Republican National Convention as announced by the party managers: The platform will begin with a general recital of the record of the Republican party, and the fact that it has always been in favor of freedom and the protection of the rights and liberties of the American people at home and abroad. President Harrison's administration will be endorsed as honest, able and conscientious, and as having promoted the peace of the country and the prosperity and safety of its business interests. The firm, dignified and patriotic conduct of foreign relations by President Harrison and Secretary Blaine will be specially commended for its maintenance of the rights of the United States and of American citizens and the vigorous assertion of the protection on the life and liberty of Americans everywhere. The devotion of the Republican party to the principles of protection will be re-affirmed, and the McKinley tariff law as a clear enunciation of these principles will be endorsed and attention drawn to the fact that under it many new industries have been established giving employment to American labor. The reciprocity section of the bill will be mentioned as a means whereby there has been an extension of the foreign trade of the United States, while at the same time American labor has not been compelled to meet the unequal competition of countries in which labor is oppressed.

The Springer free wool bill will be denounced as an attempt to destroy an industry of the American farmer built up by the

of the Republican party, and the general tariff policy of the Democratic House will be assailed as an attempt by special bills to array different sections and classes against each other, and as another scheme, of the Democratic party to accomplish the destruction of the industries of the country, which failed when the people at the polls rebuked the last Democratic administration and restored the Republican party to power. The silver plank is likely to be more liberal than that of other conventions based on the expectation of the administration, that the approaching monetary conference will result in such agreements as will make it possible to utilize our entire silver product as money.

On the subject of Federal elections, the right of every American citizen to cast one ballot, and have that ballot counted, will be upheld as the greatest safeguard of republican institutions. Ever mindful of the promotion of the welfare and glory of the United States, the necessity for the rehabilitation of the American merchant marine to its former high place on the seas will be set forth, and the laws passed in aid and encouragement of American shipping will be approved. In this connection attention will be drawn to the progress which has been made towards the

and a continuance of the policy of liberal appropriations for the navy will be advocated with an allusion to the policy of the House in the matter of insufficient naval appropriations. That the completion of our coast defences will also be urged as necessary to the protection of the country. As a part of the American policy of promotion of home industries, encouragement will be recommended to ship builders, to the end that American ships made in American ship yards, of American material and manned by American seamen, may once again fly the American flag in every part of the seas, carrying American manufactures and protected by an American navy with guns of American manufacture. A careful supervision of immigration will be recommended to prevent undesirable persons landing on our shores, and approval will be given to the exclusion of contract Chinese labor as necessary to protection from degradation of American labor. American homes for Americans and the honest and industrious of other nations who come here to become American citizens, will be the watchword. The party will renew its acknowledgment of obligation to the soldiers and sailors who fought for the union.

Reference will be made to the dependent and disability bill, by which the party redeemed its pledge to keep from the poorhouse the veterans of the war and their families, who had become helpless through no fault of their own. Appropriations will be recommended for all internal improvements necessary to provide easy and cheap facilities for intercourse between the people. The Nicaragua Canal project will be endorsed as a measure which will bind the different sections of the country closer together and aid in the maintenance of our predominance in this hemisphere. Reference will be made to the measure passed by the fifty-first Congress. On the question of civil service reform a square open declaration in favor of it will be made.

Blaine Is In the Race.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 4.—A despatch was received here yesterday from the train which is bearing the Maine delegation to the Minneapolis convention. It says the delegates have now decided that Mr. Blaine is in the race and they practically decided to have Charles Littlefield of Rockland present his name to the convention, provided it was not done earlier in the roll call.

Why is
HOOD'S
Sarsaparilla

Such a great success, and why is it impossible for other Sarsaparillas and blood purifiers to compete with this great medicine? Because

No Other Sarsaparilla or blood purifier gives as much medicine for the money as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla has the careful personal supervision of the proprietor in all the details of its preparation, as has Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla has the merit to secure the confidence of entire communities and hold it year in and year out, as has Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla can produce from actual cures such wonderful statements of relief given to human suffering as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla possesses the Combination, Proportion and Process Peculiar to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and which makes Hood's Sarsaparilla in curative effect Peculiar to Itself.

No Other Sarsaparilla combines economy and strength as does Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the only preparation of which can truly be said, 100 Doses $1.

No Other Sarsaparilla has effected such remarkable cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla, of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, blood poisoning and all other blood diseases.

No Other Sarsaparilla has equalled Hood's Sarsaparilla in the relief it gives in the severest cases of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Heartburn, and other stomach disorders.

No Other Sarsaparilla overcomes That Tired Feeling, Restores the Appetite, and "Makes the Weak Strong," like

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Where are you going, my pretty maid?
To buy an Evans Bros.' Piano, Sir, she said.
Why an Evans Bros.' my pretty maid?
Because they are the best that's made;
Their reputation is high grade,
They take the lead where e'er they're played,
And put all others in the shade.
Where are they sold, my pretty maid?
At P. E. Layton & Bros.' store, she said.
And where is that, my pretty maid?
2387 St. Catherine St., corner of Peel, kind Sir, she said.
Then straight away for our store she made,
And viewed the stock that we displayed;
She very quickly closed a trade,
Pulled out her purse, and for it paid.
