World News In Brief

Westerham, Kent, England, April 18—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, suffering from a heavy chest cold, stayed in bed again today at his country home, Chartwell Manor, near here.

A member of his household said "there is no change in his condition."

The first indication that the 77-year-old statesman was ill came Tuesday when he cancelled a visit to a race. On Wednesday he was reported better, but an official bulletin last night said he had developed "a heavy cold on the chest" and been ordered to stay indoors.

London, April 18—(Reuters)—Burglars robbed the homes of film stars Douglas Fairbanks and Peggy Cummings last night.

In one burglary, a second-storey man took jewelry worth about $5,000 from a bedroom while Fairbanks and his wife talked in an adjoining room.

Miss Cummings was robbed of a mink coat and jewelry worth $5,600 while she was away from her apartment. The thieves entered by a window.

New Delhi, April 18—(Reuters)—One of Premier Nehru's private secretaries was stabbed today by a man who came to seek an interview with Nehru.

S. P. Khanna, assistant private secretary, was taken to hospital with minor injuries. The assailant, a refugee youth who was immediately caught with knife in hand, was handed over to police.

Phy Lu, North Viet Nam, Indo-China, April 18 —(AP)—French union troops wading knee deep through rice fields and protected by an umbrella of heavy artillery fire launched a new offensive at dawn today.

They hoped to wipe out communist-led Vietminh troops in this important sector of the vital Red river delta.

Some 6,000 French, attacking the Vietminh in a V-shaped area between Colonial route No. 1 and the Canal des Rapides, 18 miles northeast of Hanoi, captured a number of villages and rounded up hundreds of suspected Vietminh soldiers in the early stages of the new drive.

Madrid, April 18—(C)—The mayor of Madrid has been advised not to visit New York because his appearance would result in a city wide strike by labor unions.

The advice came from New York's Mayor Vincent Impellitteri.

Mayor Jose Moreno Torres had planned to attend the U.S. conference of mayors in New York May 15 at the invitation of Impellitteri and Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh.

Tokyo, April 18— (AP) — Police today blamed a disastrous $41,600,000 fire at Tottori on a short circuit caused by illegal tapping of electric wires. They jailed three suspects.

The 12-hour fire left 25,000 homeless and injured 120 persons, but no one was killed. An estimated 5,000 homes were destroyed.

The government allotted $1,100,000 to help rebuild the south-western Honshu island city of 61,000. An additional $69,000 will be spent on temporary shelters.

Army Of Workers Battles To Hold Missouri River Between Its Sodden Dikes

Saskatchewan Flood Danger Lessens As Water Recedes

Regina, April 18.—(C)—Growing evidence today indicates that the worst is over for flooded areas of southwest Saskatchewan.

The threat to Duncairn Dam, 25 miles upstream from Swift Current on the Swift Current creek, appears much lessened.

And in swamped Eastend, 200 miles southwest of Regina, the waters that forced evacuation of most of the 1,000 residents are still sliding back into the Frenchman creek.

The evacuees, quartered in Shaunavon, 28 miles east, will be kept out of the town until clean-up work is completed.

Dr. L. B. Thompson, director of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, returned to Regina last night after a survey of P.F.R.A. dams at Duncairn, Eastend and Val Marie, focal points in the flood area.

He said there was a "general easing" of the situation. All P.F.R.A. dams were in good shape.

Water in the Duncairn dam, earlier reported rushing in so quickly that a safety margin in the dam was rapidly disappearing, had only risen 1½ inches yesterday.

Dr. Thompson said the Duncairn reservoir had a freeboard of six feet from water level to the top of the dam. A flight over the Swift Current watershed in the afternoon had shown a drop in the water intake.

He said an emergency spillway was being constructed at the east end of the dam as additional insurance against a storm or flash floods possible in the next few weeks.

Meanwhile, floods on the Frenchman creek, which claimed the life of a young cowpuncher, Wellington Weir, also were easing. Weir's body was found in a slough after his horse returned to its stable.

A flood crest causing concern proved not dangerous. It is moving down the valley and will reach the Val Marie reservoir tonight.

But the crest is not accompanied by heavy surges and is slowing up as it spread out where the Frenchman valley widens. Spillway capacity at the Val Marie dam has been increased to meet the crest. Some families were evacuated from low-lying areas in the town earlier in the week.

Critical Day Reached At Omaha And Council Bluffs.

By DON WHITEHEAD

Omaha, Neb., April 18.—(AP) — The mad Missouri squeezed its flood-swollen crest into the narrow Omaha - Council Bluffs levee channel today and an army of workers battled to hold the great river in its straight-jacket of dikes.

The critical hours began before dawn when the slow-moving flood crest began surging into the seven-mile-long funnel of sodden dikes protecting the lowlands of the twin cities of Omaha and Council Bluffs, Iowa.

The next 48 hours may determine whether the tremendous water pressures will burst through levees and cause more damage along this river which has become a monster of destruction.

All night long soldiers and civilian workers — more than 24,000 of them — toiled under floodlights on the dikes here and on levees downstream where the rising waters are expected to smash through almost every farm dike all the way to Kansas City.

Doctors, lawyers, business executives, students, newspaper men and other volunteers took their turn heaving sandbags on the dikes to strengthen them against the most awesome floods the Missouri valley has ever known.

The river crept to 30.15 feet early today. Flood level is 19 feet and the highest flood ever recorded before was 24.6 feet back in 1881.

The great battle was to get the crest of the river safely past the narrow Omaha channel through which the water is flowing at the fantastic rate of 286,000,000,000 gallons a day.

North of Omaha, the Missouri sprawls across the farmland for as much as 15 miles.

For 50 miles upstream, the river averages 10 miles in width—or 52,800 feet. But in the narrowest part of the Omaha-Council Bluffs channel the funnel is only 1,200 feet wide. And the tide must be passed through this slender bottleneck before the danger is past. The river crest strained against the dikes here with a pressure of more than 1,250 pounds a square foot.

Lt.-Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of the U. S. army engineers, told reporters he believed the levees here would hold.

"If we can control the sandboil areas," he said, "we'll win the fight."

"Sandboils" are caused by the river pressure forcing water through sandy strata beneath the dikes. If uncontrolled, these sandboils could develop into tunnels through which the water would pour in a torrent that would collapse the dike.

But while the main drama was being staged on the Omaha waterfront, the flood waters surged out of control downstream almost as far as Kansas City. Thousands of acres of rich farmland, highways, railroads, bridges, and homes were

Stevenson Is Star But He Won't Run

New York, April 18.—(AP)—Democrats trotted out their Presidential aspirants at a $100-a-plate dinner last night and found the star of their show was a man who said he couldn't take the nomination —Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois.

This left New York organization leaders in a political swivet. They called county chairman together today for a meeting designed to endorse W. Averill Harriman as the State's favorite son.

The expected Harriman endorsement would make the mutual security administrator a holding candidate who would keep New York's 94-vote convention delegation intact for the July Chicago convention.

Beyond that, there was little expectation that the 60-year-old scion of a wealthy railroad family would go anywhere on a national scale.

Confusion into which the party had been plunged by President Truman's announcement he would not seek renomination nor accept a draft may have emphasized the finesse with which Stevenson gave the Democrats a chuckling—but probably final—turndown.

In contrast with the unsuccessful attempts of Senator Estas Kefauver, of Tennessee, to arouse the party faithful, Stevenson had the banqueters holding their sides from the moment he began by saying he was making a fraudulent appearance, since he was running only for Governor of Illinois, and not for President.

Vice-President Alben Barkley, the 74-year-old youngster of the party, appears to be the chief dark-horse candidate in a campaign where there now is no dominant personality in preconvention speculation.

Harriman, for whom the dinner

Truman Will Set Steel Wage Boost

By ROWLAND EVANS, JR.

Washington, April 18—(AP)—Top steel industry officials were summoned today to the office of Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer for a possible final conference before an expected government-imposed wage boost for 650,000 C.I.O. steelworkers.

The steel company presidents were headed by Benjamin Fairless, president of U.S. Steel Corp. Sawyer also scheduled a conference with C.I.O. President Philip Murray, head of the United Steelworkers of America, later in the morning.

Sawyer, nominal boss of the steel industry since it was seized by the government, has been in constant touch with President Truman, it was learned. There was every indication he would confer with the President again before announcing any change in wages for the steelworkers.

The President said yesterday he personally would make the final decision on how much of a wage boost the steelworkers should get.

He made that statement after Murray had said "we expect the government will impose on this industry the recommendations of the Wage Stabilization Board."

The wage board proposed a three-stage 17½-cent wage boost, 8½ cents in fringe benefits and the union shop—a form of conpulsory unionism which would compel all workers to join a union within a specified time.

The highest offer industry has publicly made was 12½ cents in straight wages effective last month about five cents in fringe benefits —paid holidays and the like. Most of the industry holds the union shop unacceptable.

The question of prices has been a key point throughout the six-months dispute.

Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall has repeatedly said the industry is entitled to a maximum $3-a-ton price boost. The industry contends it needs four times that much to offset the cost of the wage board's proposals.

The industry has been unsuccessful so far in asking the courts to prevent Sawyer from taking any steps under Truman's seizure order or in proving "irreparable damages" as a result of seizure. But legal experts agree a government-imposed wage boost might give the industry a new day in court.

Teachers Quit At Hawkesbury

Hawkesbury, Ont., April 18.—(C)—All 23 members of the Hawkesbury separate school teachers' association have resigned, it was learned today.

Board Chairman Andre Sabourin was not available for comment.

It was understood the lay teachers took the action after they had failed to receive notice for the board of consideration of salary demands.

The teachers had asked for a raise in minimum salaries from $1,300 to $1,500 and from $1,800 to $2,300 for maximum salaries.

South African Prime Minister Calls National Elections For Next Year

Capetown, South Africa, April 18— (Reuters) —Prime Minister Daniel Malan said today South Africa will have a national election next year.

He told the assembly he will place his fight with the country's supreme court before the voters within 10 or 12 months from the end of the current session, due in a month or so.

He is not required to call an election until the end of next year. But he has been under constant pressure from the opposition for an earlier poll.

Malan made his announcement during a house debate on the constitutional dispute which has gripped South Africa since the supreme court ruled last month that one of Malan's color bar laws —one placing mixed-blood voters on a special list to vote for special candidates — was unconstitutional and therefore invalid.

The prime minister has defied the ruling and is contending no court should have supremacy over parliament. He plans a bill to make this law.

Malan told the house today he will campaign on this issue.

If the opposition wins, his administration will resign itself to the result, he said.

In the last general election, in 1948, Dr. Malan's Nationalist-Afrikander coalition won 79 of the 153 seats in parliament. The United party of the late Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts won 65. The pro-government Labor party won six. Three native representatives, who vote with the United Party, were elected later.

Dr. Malan, an outspoken isolationist, formed the new government after the 1948 elections. His Nationalist party favors segregating the natives and developing South African minerals under state controls.

Smuts, who had been Prime Minister since 1939 and, earlier between 1919 and 1924, suffered a personal defeat in the election, the result of which was considered to have grave implications for the Commonwealth.

The Nationalists demanded neutrality when the last war started and agitated for a separate peace several times while the fighting was on.

Inside the Nationalist party are Republicans who favor breaking with the Commonwealth. The party leaders are democrats with isolationist outlooks. They are tireless fighters for the rights of the Afrikaan-speaking section which forms more than half of the white population of South Africa.

The Nationalist party advocates racial segregation.

The United party advocates maintenance of white civilization but believes in a policy of guding the non-white population to a higher standard of living.

Balky Air Force Pilots Cause Storm

El Paso, Tex., April 18—(AP)—Spreading controversy marked the case of the balky United States air force pilots today, although Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg called it a "tempest in a teapot."

Relatives of Lieut. Verne Goodwin, air force co-pilot sentenced to prison for refusal to fly, said they planned to carry his case to the President if necessary.

Goodwin was sentenced to two years in prison for refusing to fly in a C-124 transport plane to England last December. He said he feared it would have caused his wife to lose their unborn child.

But at Birmingham, Adjutant Gen. Walter J. (Crack) Hanna of Alabama said Goodwin's sentence was too light. "If those old, worn-out, gold-brick pilots in Texas had the proper leadership," he said, "they would never have pulled their so-called sit-down strike."

Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, commented on a more general situation. He said a "small" number of airmen "is not indicative of anything as great as it seems to appear on the surface."

The mother of another air force officer charged with refusing to obey orders to fly, said in Dallas that her son is "a nervous wreck and very sick" because he is afraid to fly.

In Merced, Calif., Frank C. Hilton of Reading, Pa., national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said punishment of such men was tragic.

Hilton blamed the country's state of unpreparedness after after the second World War and told a public meeting:

"We have had to call back men who flew and served their country and were just getting themselves established in normal civilian life.

"It is those men who are objecting to flying duty and its hazards for a second time."

Vandenberg listed three causes for the "stay-down" strikes:

1. Rising death rate in military-flights.
2. Insufficient "hazard" pay for airmen.
3. Claim of reservists recalled that they are doing more than their share.

Warrants For Camp Thefts Are Issued

Pembroke, Ont., April 18—(C)—Two army officers and four civilians were sought last night on warrants sworn out after an investigation into thefts at nearby Petawawa military camp.

The investigation began some time ago into reports that more than $1,000,000 worth of goods was stolen from the camp, 118 miles northwest of Ottawa. Rails from a railway spur line, valued at $64,000, were reported among the stolen goods.

Names of the men were withheld pending their arraignment in court here. The officers were said to be a major and captain of the Royal Canadian Engineers. Among the four civilians, who likely will be charged with receiving stolen goods, were representatives of a salvage company here.

The defence department announced last week that the investigation started some time ago. However, a spokesman declined to give details other than that scrap metal was involved in the thefts which might run to hundreds of tons of goods.

Sources here reported a railway spur line built by the Canadian Pacific Railway to the military camp was torn up and carried away within the last 12 months.

Also reported stolen were stoves, refrigerators, insulating material, cement blocks and other construction material.

The evidence obtained during the investigation by army provost and the R.C.M.P. was turned over to J. W. Pickup, Toronto lawyer named as a special crown prosecutor.

London, April 18—(AP)—The diplomatic correspondent of the Press Association said today that Britain is considering a recommendation that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway be named to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as supreme allied Commander in Europe.

Ransom Paid After Phony Kidnapping

Miami, Fla., April 18.— (AP) —A wealthy Miami jeweler paid $15,200 "ransom" for return of his six-year-old son yesterday in what police called a phony kidnapping.

The boy, Richard, was never actually kidnapped, police said, although Daniel Richter was convinced he was buying his son's safe return with $15,000 in jewels and $200 in cash.

While police and the F.B.I. marshalled forces to meet what they thought was a kidnapping, the child was riding in a taxicab from a private school at Miami Beach to Doctor's Hospital in Coral Gables, a distance of about 12 miles.

Police said the plotters used the school, the taxi company and the hospital as unwilling dupes in their shakedown.

A man who said he was "Dr. Henderson" called the Yellow Cab Co., at Miami Beach and asked them to pick up Ricky Richter at Coburn School and drive him to the hospital to be with his "gravely ill" mother.

Almost simultaneously, a woman's voice called the school authorities and said a taxi would arrive soon to pick up the boy.

Cab driver Bert Walowitz, 24, was sent to the school and picked up the boy. A telephone call then went to the father's office in downtown Miami.

The caller told Daniel Richter he had Ricky in his custody and that no harm would come to the child if the father co-operated.

The caller gave him five minutes to verify the story.

Richter called the school, learned his son was gone, then decided to notify police. While detectives were en route to Richter's jewelry store, his phone rang again.

"He gave me instructions to take the jewels and money to a phone booth in the Ponce de Leon Hotel," Richter related.

Richter went to the hotel. He was called to the phone at the desk and the same man told him to put the jewels and cash in a bag in a locker at the Greyhound bus station, place the key with a wad of chewing gum under the counter of a certain telephone booth, and leave.

The father rushed to the bus station, placed the bag in a locker, and since the designated phone booth was being used, placed the key in another booth.

Detectives reached the bus station as Richter left. Apparently while the detectives watched the originally-designated phone booth, one of the extortionists slipped into the other, around a corner, and took the key, opened the locker and left with the bag.

About the time Richter returned to his store, a puzzled doctor at the hospital called and asked if he had a son, Ricky. The boy was at the hospital and the cab driver was waiting for his fare. Richter said the whole sequence of events took about an hour.

Los Angeles, April 18—(AP)—A non-scheduled C-46 airplane with 28 persons aboard was missing in Southern California today.

March air force base at Riverside said the plane was en route from Phoenix, Ariz., to Los Angeles.

It last reported at 3:17 a.m. PST (6:17 a.m. EST) to the Riverside airport, and at that time was cleared for an approach and landing at Los Angeles international airport.

Rebellious Convicts Take Over Wing In N.J. Prison

Rahway, N. J., April 18—(AP)—A group of 232 rebellious prisoners took over a dormitory wing of the Rahway state prison farm and held nine guards captive today after a night of rioting.

State officials said the outbreak was staged in sympathy with a four-day revolt of 69 convicts who have barricaded themselves in the print shop at Trenton state prison, holding three prison employees as hostages.

The Trenton convicts are demanding the ouster of warden William H. Carty and an investigation of the prison. They released one ill hostage last night and arranged a mediation meeting with prison officials for today.

The Rahway rioters made a similar request for a prison probe early today after a wild outburst of breaking windows, beds and furniture in the dormitory wing.

The rioting started about 9 P.M. last night after an earlier report of "noisy and unruly" activities in the wing during the afternoon. It was the fifth prison disturbance in New Jersey in the last three weeks.

When the outbreak started, guards managed to remove 118 men before the others barricaded the entrances, trapping nine guards on the second floor.

"To the best of my knowledge the guards are safe," said deputy state commissioner of institutions and agencies F. Lovell Rixby.

"We have the wing completely surrounded and we'll sit it out as we are doing in Trenton," he added.

The rioting prisoners set fire to furniture in the dormitory and attempted to break through the barred windows. They quieted down toward morning.

The barricaded Trenton inmates last night released one of their four hostages, who suffered a mild heart attack. They lowered Oris Robison from a six-foot high window into the arms of three waiting guards.

Robison, not in serious condition, had been held for more than 60 hours.

Guards reported last night that a microphone eavesdropping system had been set up through a loft in the print shop and prison officials had been listening in on everything the prisoners say.

They said the convict group is armed with broken blades from a paper cutting machine.

August Doak, serving a life term for kidnapping, and William Dickens, 38-year-old robber, who have been spokesmen for the group, threatened to kill any prisoners who want to give up, the guards added.

The convicts are reported almost out of food and water.

Two Navy Planes Collide; Seven Men Are Missing

Halifax, April 18.—(C)—Planes and ships dodged freakish weather off the Nova Scotia coast today, searching for possible survivors of seven men aboard two navy planes which apparently collided and plunged into the sea last night.

There were no indications that any of the men survived. One of the search ships reported finding wreckage—"apparently of two aircraft"—but no sign of life.

Air force and naval planes were thrown into the hunt and every available ship was sent to sea after rush calls to crew members ashore.

The seven men from the fleet air arm's base at nearby Shearwater were aboard two Avengers, torpedo bombers being used as anti-submarine craft, when the accident occurred about 79 miles off Shelburne, on Nova Scotia's southwestern coast.

A flight of Avengers was carrying out exercises in the area at the time.

Early plans for an air search were stalled by zero weather but the ceiling lifted a few hours later and the air force said it planned an all-day sweep of the area.

The navy released names of the missing following notification of next-to-kin.

Missing are:

Lieut. John S. Murphy, R.R. 1, Wellington, Vancouver Island; Lt. John K. H. Mason, Toronto; AB. William Hunter, Clarence Park, N.S.; Lieut. William J. Hutchinson, Dartmouth, N.S.; Lieut. John E. P. Anderson, Dartmouth, N.S.; Sub.-Lt. J. A. Plotkins ,Calgary; AB. Doug Moffatt, Montreal.

The cruiser Quebec, object of a "search and air strike" as it steamed here from the west coast, reported late last night it was in the midst of wreckage, "apparently of two aircraft," but had found no survivors.

The destroyers Haida and Iroquois and a high-speed motor launch left here early today to comb the area and the frigate Lahulloise was diverted to the crash scene. The desroyer Crescent was expected to leave momentarily.

A pea-soup fog grounded navy and air force planes but several stood by, hoping the zero ceiling would break.

The Avengers, torpedo bombers being used as anti-submarine craft, have space for three crew members and one observer or trainee.

UK Sudan Officials Are Ordered Home

London, April 18—(Reuters)—Britain has instructed her ambassador in Cairo, Sir Ralph Stevenson, and the governor general of the Sudan, Sir Robert Howe, to return to London immediately for consultation, the foreign office announced today.

A foreign office spokesman said the London meeting may enable a policy to be worked out "on the lines of which it is hoped negotiations can be resumed."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is bringing Howe back from the Sudan probably to talk over the recent British move to grant self-government to that territory—in the face of Egyptian demands for control of it.

The self-government moves almost upset Anglo-Egyptian negotiations.

The two diplomats are expected back this week-end. Their homecoming follows talks Eden has been having with the Egyptian

Negotiators Will Resume Study Of Prisoners Issue

Munsan, April 18.—(AP)—Allied and communist staff officers, after a two-week recess, tomorrow reopen off-the-record talks on how to exchange prisoners of the Korean war.

There was no indication whether a break was imminent in the long deadlock over the allied demand for voluntary repatriation.

Some observers, however, indicated a compromise formula is in the works. Both sides are believed to have spent the last two weeks overhauling prisoner rosters and bringing them up to date.

The United Nations command said it is ready for another try to break the deadlock. The communists had pressed twice for speedy resumption of the secret talks. The staff officers will meet at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. EST Friday).

The agreement to resume prisoner exchange talks came during a short "no-progress" session of the sub-committee on truce supervision.

The meeting lasted eight minutes and 25 seconds—more than the total of the previous seven sessions. But Maj.-Gen. William K. Harrison said no headway was made toward breaking the two-way deadlock over Red nomination of Russia as a neutral truce inspector and allied objections to the rebuilding of the North Korean military airfields.

Observers have predicted an agreement on these two issues would come only after the prisoner deadlock is broken.

The Reds have insisted on the return of all prisoners when an armistice is signed. The U.N. command has said it will send no one back against his will.

Seoul, April 18.—(AP)—Communist Mig jets streaked south from their Manchurian bases today and tangled with United States Sabre jets in six battles high over North Korea.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force said one Red jet was shot down and three were damaged. Allied losses, if any, are reported weekly.

One Mig was shot down and two were damaged in one of five morning battles which matched a total of 70 Sabres against 52 Russian-type Migs.

The third Mig was damaged in an afternoon dogfight involving 50 Sabres and about 60 Migs.

Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers, hampered all week by bad weather, were attacking enemy rail facilities five miles north of Kwaksan, about 45 miles from the Manchurian border, when five flights of Migs appeared.

On the ground, communist patrols continued to feel out United Nations defences. They concentrated on the western and central fronts.

An Eighth Army staff officer said the communists had been observed digging in along ridges fronting allied positions on the central front. Reinforcements were moved in to strengthen the U.N. lines.

Reunion On The 'Road'

Roll out the laugh meters—here's the first peek at some of the situations in "The Road to Bali," a film reunion for Bob Hope, Bing Crosby and Dorothy Lamour in the sixth of the "Road" series—the first in Technicolor.

As vaudeville entertainers working their way back to the U.S. from Australia, Bing and Bob see the South Seas sights with the exception of one island — Bali. They're always on road to, but never get to Bali.

Sample gags dreamed up by writers Frank Butler, Hal Kanter and Bill Morrow:

Hope boxing with a kangaroo, Hope chasing a school of live mermaids while exploring the bottom of a lagoon in a diving suit.

Dorothy Lamour's the native girl, but Producer Harry Tugend says: "She won't talk like a native doll. There will be no lines like 'Me bad birl. Me stay.' Our girl has gone to school and is a regular Quiz Kid."

It isn't generally known, but Hope and Crosby each are putting up one-third of the money to make the film and will share in the profits. Paramount studio is the other one-third partner.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

TRY SAMBA FOR MANY THRILLS

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I have before me an accumulation of questions about Samba, the three-pack game in which you are allowed to meld sequences. It's a very good game, and anybody who hasn't tried it is missing a good bet.

The rules for taking the discard pile are not the same as in Canasta. This fact inspires some of the questions that come to me.

Q—The discard pile in a game of Samba is not frozen. I have a meld of 5-5-5 on the table. The player at my right discards a five. May I take the pile and add the five to my meld? The opponents claim that I need a pair of natural fives in my hand.

A—You are allowed to add the five to your meld; and you do not need a pair of fives in your hand. If the discard pile were frozen, you would need a pair of fives in your hand. When the pile is not frozen, however, you are allowed to pick up a discard that matches one of your unfinished melds. (A canasta or a samba is a finished meld.)

* * *

Q—the discard pile is not frozen. Both sides have melded. My opponent discards a king, something that neither side has melded up to this time. Can I take the pile with one king and a wild card?

A—No. You are never allowed to take the discard pile in Samba with one natural card and a wild card. When you want to make a new meld you always need a natural matching pair. In other words, for a new meld the discard pile is always considered frozen.

* * *

Q—I have melded 7-8-9 of clubs early in the hand. Some time later, the opponent at my right discards the jack of clubs. I have the ten of clubs in my hand. May I take the pile and add the ten and jack of clubs to my sequence?

A—No. You could take an unfrozen pile if your opponent discarded the six or ten of clubs—since those cards fit immediately on the sequence that was previously melded. But the jack of clubs does not fit immediately, so you cannot take it.

* * *

Q—I drew the last two cards of the stock pile, and one of them was a red three. What is the rule?

A—Put the red three down on the table and proceed as though you had made a normal draw of two cards.

Two cards, expressing their regret and sympathy and signed by all present, are to be sent to two members, who are ill, Mrs. Ivy Macdonald, who has been confined to her home, by illness for many long months, and to Mrs. Annie Dougherty, a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital. While their health permitted, these two members had always given generously of time and substance of further the welfare of the church.

67 Head Of Cattle Brought $29,540 At Spring Sale Held Here Yesterday

The second annual spring sale of purebred beef cattle, organized by the Quebec Beef Cattle Association and held at the Arena yesterday, brought in a total of $29,540, for 67 head.

Cattle sold were Aberdeen Angus, Herefords and Shorthorns and considering embargo and other existing conditions, officials of the sale declared themselves well satisfied with the total.

Last year's total, $23,075, was for fewer head, as no Aberdeen Angus were sold at the 1951 sale.

Average yesterday for Aberdeen Angus bulls was $545, for the females, $475. In the Herefords, the average for the males was $461, and the females $510, while $419.50 was the average in the male Shorthorns, and $351.50 in the females. On the total 67 head of cattle, the average was figured at $441.

The Federal Department of Agriculture, represented by J. Fleury, was a heavy buyer, as was M. T. Stenson, of Sherbrooke who purchased four Herefords at $1000, $475, $380 and $1075 respectively. Herve Houle, of St. Simon de Bagot also bought a number of heads.

Col. B. D. Lyon welcomed the buyers to the Sale and introduced Honorable Patricie Tardif, who represented the Hon. Laurent Barre, Minister of Agriculture, and officially opened the sale.

Col. Lyon expressed regret that Ray Demers, well known auctioneer, was unable to be present, because of illness, and introduced Larry Merrigan, of Cookshire, who took over the auctioning.

Sales manager was D. J. MacMillan, of Cookshire, and the sales commmittee was composed of J. P. Macintosh, East Bolton, Ross Edwards, Hillhurst, B. D. Lyon, Sherbrooke, W. Nichol, Lennoxville, and W. McClay, Knowlton.

Tommy Tucker Well Versed As Musician

A band leader almost in spite of himself, Tommy Tucker, who brings his famous orchestra to the Sherbrooke Arena on April 24 has been intimately connected with music all his life, and until the day he took over the baton, he relentlessly protested against a band-leading career.

Tommy's excellent knowledge of music undoubtedly accounts for more of the band's successes than he himself admits. But throughout his youth and college days, during the time he was almost constantly occupied in playing or studying music, Tommy never had the slightest intention of leading a band.

Though Tucker's mother and dad were able musicians and Tommy played the cornet at the age of twelve, then majored in musical theory at college, Tommy Tucker no more intended to become a bandleader than to become a Yogi. But he did become a bandleader since the course of events floated him along in that direction.

The young maestro made his debut as an orchestra leader a year after entering the university. Tommy and a group of classmates played dance dates during their summer vacations as a means of making money. After graduation they decided to ride along together, and did so in a remarkably successful rise to the top of the musical heap.

The remains are resting at Blake's Funeral Home, 86 Queen Street. The funeral service will be held tomorrow morning, leaving the funeral home at 9:15 for service in St. Patrick's Church at 9:30 a.m. Rev. Father Moisan officiating.

He is survived by his parents, his widow and four children.

Mr. Juneau was an honorary member of the Sherbrooke club.

Rubin Strike Incidents Described As Union Organizer, Chartrand, Appears On Charges Of Conspiracy

The preliminary hearing of Michel Chartrand, syndicate organizer, charged with conspiracy in connection with the S. Rubin Company strike, entered its second day in Court of Sessions here this morning before Judge Joseph Marier.

Standing room was scarce. Strikers from the S. Rubin Company, employees of the Dominion Burlington Company, curious spectators, company and union officials, filled the courtroom to capacity.

Yesterday twenty witnesses were called to testify. They were questioned by Evender Veilleux, Q.C., representing the company with Jean-Louis Peloquin and cross-examined by Defense Attorney Carrier Fortin.

"Book Disappears"

Guy Gagne, secretary of the Association of the S. Rubin Company, was called to the witness stand and after being questioned by Mr. Veilleux reported that the book, containing the minutes of the syndicate's meetings, was missing.

Mr. Veilleux told the presiding judge that he did not believe the witness when he said he lost the book and asked that the testimony be suspended and that the witness take another look for the book.

The request was granted but later in the day when the witness was called again to testify he said "after an extensive and honest search I cannot find the book."

After several questions Mr. Gagne reported that Michel Chartrand, the accused, was the business manager of the striking employees.

Sgt. Det. Roland Gaboriault, of the municipal police force, testified that on Friday, March 21, he was called to the S. Rubin Company.

"One truck got away with little difficulty after being loaded with goods but a second truck, a C.N.R. express truck, was delayed," Sgt. Det. Gaboriault told the court.

Veilleux: "Was Chartrand there?"

Gaboriault: "He arrived about 5 minutes after the arrival of the C.N.R. truck."

Veilleux: "Exactly what happened?"

Gaboriault: "Chartrand's arrival seemed to 'pep up' the gathering."

Veilleux: "Did you talk with Chartrand?"

Gaboriault: "Yes."

Veilleux: "What did you talk about?"

Gaboriault: "At first we were talking quietly about the strike. Chartrand and the employees on strike were discussing the injunction which permitted the company to export merchandise. They were running down Mr. Justice William Mitchell. I explained to them that the police had nothing to do with the injunction."

Veilleux: "Did anything happen to prevent the truck from leaving?"

Gaboriault: "Yes, the strikers were around the truck and then Chartrand grabbed the keys to the truck and threw them into the crowd."

Mr. Gaboriault then went on to explain how Chartrand knocked a package out of the hands of a man who was attempting to load the truck.

Municipal Police Detective Henri Boisvert testified and also told of seeing Chartrand knock a package to the ground.

"Was it a big package," lawyer Carrier Fortin asked the witness.

Boisvert: "It was about 3 feet long and about 2 feet wide and thick".

Fortin: "Did you see Chartrand actually knock the package to the ground?"

Boisvert: "Yes".

On March 20 of this year a court order was issued to restrain the employees of the S. Rubin Company from doing anything designed to prevent the removal of goods from the petitioner's property in the city or from doing anything to prevent the officers and members of the staff of the petitioner from entering its premises in the city. This injunction is to remain in force until after the judgment on the merits of the petition. This court order was issued by Mr. Justice William Mitchell.

"Plant Officials Stopped"

Emile De Francisco, a foreman at the S. Rubin Company, Paul Henri Martin, office manager, and Gilles Rosselli, a company official, told of how on separate and various occasions they were prevented from entering the company.

"On one day I was struck in the eye by a striker," Mr. Rosselli told the court.

"The strikers were pushing the police and the women were swinging their purses on one occasion", continued Mr. Rosselli.

Mr. Martin, after being questioned by Mr. Veilleux, said that Chartrand had told him that no merchandise would get out of the plant.

Fortin: "Did Chartrand tell you what method he would use?"

Martin: "No".

"One morning I went to work and the door which we enter was blocked by a group of girls", stated Mr. De Francisco.

"The girls told us if we wanted to enter we would have to pass over them," continued Mr. De Francisco. "We went away."

"Hotel Scene"

Mr. De Francisco and Sarto Roy, manager of the New Sherbrooke Hotel, told about an incident which occurred in the New Sherbrooke.

"One morning the company officials asked me if they could borrow a room. I rented them the Picardie," stated Mr. Roy.

"Soon after the officials had been settled in the room I was informed by Mr. A. Wener, of S. Rubin Company, that four of those at the meeting were not employed by the Company.

Mr. De Francisco related how he was told by one of four men to clear the hotel in 3 minutes or there would be trouble.

The meeting was called off. The four men were asked to leave the hotel by the manager of the hotel but had a little argument with Mr. Roy before they left.

Mr. De Francisco related how one of the men went to push Mr. Roy but Chartrand, who was in the lobby, told the man to leave and go back to the picket line. "He left the hotel", stated Mr. De Francisco.

"Joy Ride"

On April 8 two employees at the S. Rubin Company were taken for a "joy ride", beaten and left stranded on the Ascot Road.

Yesterday those who took part in the incident testified.

The two victims, Marcel Leger and Marcel Duchesne, told of how they were picked up around 8 a.m. in front of the La Salle Hotel and taken for the ride.

"Burlington Workers"

Joseph Jones, 19, an employee of the Dominion Burlington Company, asked for the protection of the court and his request was granted.

After being questioned by the attorneys and the judge, Jones said "I, together with 5 or 6 other fellows, stopped in front of the La Salle Hotel and took the two boys for a ride. We took them out on the Ascot Road.

"We had difficulty making the hill with the crowded car so we got out. I slugged one of the men, Leger, and the other ran away to a nearby farmhouse. We left Leger in the field and returned to Sherbrooke," he said.

Veilleux and Judge Marier: "Why did you stop to talk to those fellows?"

Jones: "We did not want them to go to work".

Judge: "What did you ask them?"

Jones: "We asked them if we could take them home?"

Veilleux; "You asked them their address yet you did not take them home?"

Jones: "Yes".

Veilleux: "Why?"

Jones: "No particular reason."

Judge: "Who induced you or what reason had you for beating Leger and leaving him in the field?"

Jones: "No one induced me and I have no reason".

Veilleux: "You mean to tell me you don't know why you beat a man?"

Jones: "That's right".

Veilleux: "Did you enter the New Sherbrooke Hotel on the same day as the joy ride?"

Jones: "Yes".

Veilleux: "Did you tell the Rubin officials to leave the hotel?"

Jones: "No".

Veilleux: "Who did?"

Jones: "Georges Cote".

Denis Quirion, 16, and Georges Lagasse, 17, both asked for the protection of the court and their request was granted. They both admitted having participated in the joy ride.

Royal Roy, Sherbrooke Daily Record photographer, and Ivan Boisvert, La Tribune photographer, both identified photos which they took at the strike. The photos showed the crowd around the mill.

Other witnesses told of the door, which leads to the plant, being stuffed to prevent opening it.

The hearing is expected to come to a close today.

Habitual Soak Taxes Patience Of Local Court

A saintly-looking old fellow was sentenced to three days in jail when he appeared before Redmond Hayes, Q.C., in Recorder's Court this morning.

Sixty-three-year-old Donat, whose white beard needs only a few more days more of growth to give it a Santa Claus air, was making his second appearance for drunkenness in two days.

Yesterday morning he received a suspended sentence and hardly had the ink dried on this entry by the Clerk of the Court than he was hauled in again for being under the influence.

He received the sympathy of the Court yesterday with his reminiscences about the days of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his ravings about knowing the sister of Premier Duplessis.

Today, however, the patience of the Court ran out and he received three days.

The total number of persons appearing in Recorder's Court, including "Saint Donat" as he has been affectionately dubbed by those around the Municipal Police station, rose to 149 over the last four days with twenty-two more paying fines today.

Twenty-one paid for illegal parking and there was one other drunk.

Perhaps this is one reason why Donat received a sentence.

Another possible reason is that he has a record of drunkenness which stretches longer than the stripe in his brown trousers, which he wears along with a grey jacket. Over a number of years, he has been arrested at least twenty-five times.

Death Of Sisters From Thetford Mines Was An Apparent Accident

Montreal, April 18.—(CP)—Death of two sisters, known to have been in the habit of taking sleeping potions, was labelled yesterday by Dr. Rosario Fontaine, medico-legal expert, as an apparent accident.

Dr. Fontaine said his autopsy indicated the girls — Lucille and Emelyne Cote, 20 and 21, formerly of Thetford Mines, Que. — died accidentally from hypostatic pneumonia which developed after an overdose of barbiturates.

He suggested the girls, whose bodies were found in their beds Wednesday in a mid-town rooming house, might have been revived had medical aid reached them earlier. They probably had been in a coma from 36 to 48 hours.

Their bodies, clad in slips and with make-up still on their faces, were found by Mrs. Armand Levesque, their landlady, when she became suspicious about a pungent odor coming from their room. She had not seen them for several days. Sleeping preparations and two cups, one contaning a dark liquid, were in the room.

The bodies lay on separate beds in a room littered with clothing and containing a stack of love-story magazines and a mimeographed manual on how to learn English.

Dr. Fontaine said he understood the sisters, reported to have worked in an east-end cabaret, were in the habit of returning to their room in the early hours of the morning and taking barbiturates to help them sleep.

Sunday, they arrived home at 5 a.m., planning to arise later in the day to go to the Laurentian resort town of Ste. Agathe. They are believed to have each taken a sleeping draught so they would be well rested before the trip.

Reporting that his autopsy disclosed hypostatic pneumonia in the right lung of each girl, he explained to newspaper men that this condition could develop from the slowdown in blood circulation which follows an over-dose of sedative. It develops when a body remains too long in a static position. The lung of one girl also indicated a slight pleurisy condition.

On the basis of Dr. Fontaine's report, police ruled out the possibility of murder or suicide.

The girls' father, Sylvio Cote, told reporters the sisters left their Thetford Mines home two years ago and he saw them last at Easter time last year. They "loved a good time."

A brother said he saw his sisters, members of a family of nine children, during the week-end and found them in good spirits and in good health. He was visiting Montreal for the Easter week-end.

Unemployment insurance papers found in the room indicated the girls worked in Three Rivers, Que., before coming to Montreal last summer.

An inquest will be held later.

Public Apathy Cancels Courses At University

Because of lack of advance registration, the series of courses scheduled to begin tonight at Bishop's University has been cancelled, a spokesman for the E. T. Committee on Adult Education said yesterday afternoon.

A total of only four persons showed enough interest in the courses to send their registrations in advance. The Committee had announced quite some time ago that unless a minimum of ten persons registered in advance for each course the courses would have to be dropped.

The courses were prepared for the general public and were non-technical in nature. Topics were to have been: Where Our Language Comes From, Our Canadian Heritage, Freedom and Obligation, and Some Current Problems of the Canadian Economy.

WORST EVER SEEN BY WHITE MAN

"The greatest flood the white man has ever seen in the Missouri River," is the way United States army engineers describe the cause of the present devastation in the Middle Western states which has already rendered more than 100,000 persons homeless. And this probably means that it is the worst flood the Missouri river area has ever experienced, because the white man is to a large extent responsible for the intensity of these floods.

One of the best flood prevention means is a heavy forest cover. Tree roots act as a sort of gigantic sponge, soaking up the water at the time of heavy precipitation and releasing it gradually during the dry seasons. Thus in the days before "civilization" struck this continent, the river flow was more even, for the Indians did not destroy the forests. They cut only the wood they needed for immediate use and for the most part contented themselves with salvaging fallen trees. Being forest-dwellers, they had a deadly fear of forest fires and were careful that every action be taken to prevent man-made fires.

Then came the white man. He stripped the forests by destructive cutting. What he did not cut, he allowed to burn. No rhyme or reason was used in the process of destruction. If the wood was merchantable, it was taken. What was not was destroyed. Today, vast areas of the country lack this forest cover. Floods are becoming more frequent and of greater intensity. The protection the trees gave the soil are gone and vast areas are being rendered useless due to soil erosion. Summer droughts are proving a health menace in many areas.

Near-fantastic proposals are made for flood control works. Many of them admittedly might alleviate particular situations but few of them provide a real cure, which is the re-covering of the land with trees.

This does not mean that valuable farm lands be returned to forest. Rather, the sensible solution is the reforestation of those vast tracts which are not suitable for agriculture and upon many of which settlers never should have been established.

The Eastern Townships which has its share of man-created flood problems has many such areas. A start has been made in tree re-planting, but even here the operations to date have been pitifully weak in comparison to the need.

BURNING THE HERITAGE

Much has been said on the need for the practise of safety by the individual in the prevention of forest fires or other fires for that matter, Newspapers have printed many editorials on the subject. But, unfortunately, they do not seem to reach the right class of reader. Morons do not read editorials as a rule and anyone who is careless enough to create conditions which might lead to forest fires is little better than a moron.

Another year is opening. Will Canada witness another six months of burning up its national heritage? Now is the time to impress upon Canadians and visitors, young and old, the imperative need of common sense and vigilance on the part of all who go into the woods for a vacation, who fish and make camp and who travel the highways.

It is pointed out by the Canadian Forestry Association in referring to the forest fire situation that, of the five thousand conflagrations breaking forth between spring and fall, at least four-fifths are the product of human negligence. Most of them are the work of campers, smokers, motorists, sportsmen, and the land-clearing operations of new settlers. "Last summer," the association says, "lightning struck the woodlands 940 times, but humans struck far more dangerously, causing 4,400 outbreaks."

Wastage of our wood resources — the most valuable of Canada's crops — is not the only loss to the nation arising from forest fires. It also means loss of employment to many Canadian workers, about half a million of which are dependent upon the forest for their livelihood; loss of potential power development; loss of tourist trade; and, finally, loss of arable land. Forest fires turn into barren wastes land on which burned over areas never can be used for agriculture, except in minor instances.

The plup and paper industry has been carrying on a tremendous job of forest conservation through the expenditure of considerable money and effort. For every tree that is cut in many areas nowadays another is planted. The industry, by far our greatest source of export trade, is working towards perpetuation of its principal raw material supplies. It is tragic to think that this good work is being thwarted to any extent by the irresponsible behavior of certain of the visitors to our woods.

ANSWERS GOSSIP ABOUT IKE'S RELIGION WITH FULL ACCOUNT

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — An anonymous correspondent from Hagerstown, Md., writes in green ink on pink paper: "Please tell us what the General Eisenhower religion is. Why isn't that always brought out first?"

Because many people think in these terms and because there has been some gossipy misrepresentation on the subject, a full answer becomes important. Part of the whispering campaign about it seems to stem from the 1915 West Point year book. Beside Dwight D. Eisenhower's graduation picture are satirical references to "Ike . . . the Swedish-Jew."

Actually, the "Eisenhauer" — meaning "ironhewer" — family is of straight German and Swiss descent. As a boy, Dwight Eisenhower was brought up under the strict puritanical teachings of what was known around Abilene, Kans., as "The River Brethren." This was the Mennonite sect to which his parents belonged.

None of the seven Eisenhower boys was particularly religious, however, and today General Eisenhower's official Pentagon biography and "Who's Who" do not give him any church connection.

When Rev. Billy Graham, the evangelist, recently saw General Eisenhower in Paris, the question of religion naturally came up. The general replied that he was a Protestant.

The reason given on why the general never joined any particular church is that in his 35 years in the Army, most of it at various military posts and camps, he accepted whatever interdenominational services were offered by the chaplain on duty.

General Eisenhower was married to Mamie Geneva Doud by a Presbyterian minister, the Rev. M. Williamson, at Denver, Colo., July 1, 1916. The Doud family was Presbyterian and Mrs. Eisenhower adheres to that faith, though her husband never joined her church.

Got Religion At His Mother's Knee

Milton Eisenhower, the general's brother who is now president of Penn State, is an Episcopalian, his wife's church. Another brother, A. B. Eisenhower, now executive vice president of a Kansas City bank, says:

"I can say that Dwight got his religion at Mother's knee, with the help of Dad's slat out in the woodshed. I think he is pretty much like I am. In all my years of experience in meeting people and landing money, I have never asked anyone's religion."

The religious history of the Eisenhower family, however, is of more than usual interest. In the 16th century, the general's ancestors were forced to flee from Germany and settle in Switzerland, because of religious persecution. They were among the early reformationists.

A hundred years later the Swiss Eisenhowers migrated to America. They settled in Pennsylvania at first and then in the 1870's migrated to Texas with a colony of "Swiss Brethren of Christ," the sect to which the family belonged. A number of the general's forebears had been preachers in this Mennonite sect.

At Abilene, Kans., where the family moved shortly after Ike was born, the father worked in the Belle Springs creamery, a cooperative run by the Mennonites.

When General Eisenhower became president of Columbia University in June, 1948, he was asked at a press conference if it was not true that Columbia expected its presidents to be religious leaders?

Says Faith Is Foundation Stone

The general replied: "I am one of the most deeply religious men I know. That doesn't mean that I necessarily adhere to any particular sect or organizaiton. I do not believe democracy can exist without religion, and I do believe in democracy. Most men who have gone through six years of war cannot help having a religious faith."

In General Eisenhower's address on receiving "The Churchman" award for the promotion of good will and better understanding among all peoples, at New York on Nov. 3, 1946, there is this further quote:

"Therefore I say that fundamentally one of the foundation stones of democracy is a deep and abiding faith among the masses of the people that practice democracy."

In a message to the 16th annual convention of Army and Navy chaplains at the Pentagon in October of that same year, General Eisenhower wrote:

"Religion has always been the most effective process of developing human character strong enough to forget the motivation of selfishness and to act in the large concept of duty to God, to humanity, and to country.

"The continued and efficient action of the citizen in the interest of more excellent character will be a realization and a dynamic contribution toward the solution of urgent world problems now demanding our attention. Religion nurtures men of faith, men of hope, men of love. Such men are needed in the building of a new world reflecting the glory of God."

PRESS COMMENTS

DISTINCTIVE CANADA

Windsor Star

Governor-General Vincent Massey, in his first official visit to Quebec, observed: "If Quebec should ever lose its character, Canadian civilization would lose its significance and prestige."

This is a truth which may have evaded some of us in Canada. But it is recognized in other parts of the world. Canada is regarded as the example of how two people differing in racial origin, in language and, to a considerable degree in religion, can live in harmony together.

It is practically the only country where this applies. South Africa is peopled by Boers and those of British descent (with the problem being aggravated by a large colored population) but there is a deep division between them. That country now is in the throes of a constitutional crisis which reflects the chasm separating its peoples.

It is incumbent on Canadians to maintain our shining example unblemished. The manner in which those of the French and British races live here illustrates how peoples in other parts of the world can get along together, if they wish.

CALL ME MISTER

Glimpses Into The Past

By BERTHA WESTON PRICE

OUR NATIVE HERBS

In the "History of Medicine in Quebec," written by Maude Abbott, B.A., M.D., and published in 1911, there is a wealth of knowledge relative to medicinal herbs. Now that the brown earth is showing through the snow—and of course in some places Mother Earth's gown is green—we begin to think of growing things; also we feel that "God is very proud of Spring." Tiny shoots are breaking through the damp ground and will soon become our native shrubs and plants.

The mail brought me a page from a newspaper that had a heading rather attractive. It asks: "Who First Dared try New England Herbs," which may be changed to Eastern Townships herbs, for our country is as rich in them as the one just across the border, and they are of the same species. When our new settlers came into Canada they brought seeds, cuttings and roots because they knew their value. Today they have all grown up together.

When France began to send her ships to Canada there were always physicians on board and upon their arrival in the new country beyond the seas that was known then as New France, they set forth to study the herbal growth and to win knowledge from the Indians in growth and use of native plants. They sent blueberries to France; they became interested in maple sugar; they studied the quaint plant, the "pitcher plant," which today has medicinal qualities of which we know not.

The white pioneer settler laughed at the Indian Medicine Man's "hokus-pokus"; they forgot that his remedies were years ahead of what he knew. The Medicine Man hypnotized his patients with his antics, but he knew what he was doing. He knew that pitch from the balsam-fir would cure wounds, and today that selfsame balsam farms the basis of some of our best salves and ointments on the market. The pioneers used the balsam and pine pitch for sores. (We wonder if they took sulphur and molasses in the springtime when the big brown bear was searching for his spring tonic.)

All these glimpses into the past show that Nature's God had planted growth of many kinds for man's use; it was for him to find these uses and today there is continued search for unknown medicine while victims to diseases wait for the result. To go far back—the ancient Persians made a wine so powerful yet so benign that it softened the hardest heart. The old Mission Fathers made a rose-hip syrup, a great remedy of its day, the richest of all vitamins C. They planted the Damask rose in their dispensary gardens.

WE'LL TRY ANYTHING ONCE

And now comes the man who asks who dared try the N.E. herbs! There are many people who say: "I'll try anything once." He gives as example: "For instance who first chewed a piece of wild geranium root and said, Ah, just what I need for my delicate stomach! And who first brewed a tea from pipsissewa (prince's pine) drank it and broke up his gall stones?" He continues: "Who first stuffed the dried leaves of tobacco into a hole in a piece of wood, drew the smoke into his mouth and said, "Mmmm, that's good!" That's an easy question, we know the Indians of our country did it.

A noted scientist, some years ago wrote a treatise in which he tells us that there were over 250 kinds of herbs then growing in New England that have been used for medicine for many years and are also used now as medicine, food, flavoring and beverages. Opium, he tells us is derived from the unripe seeds of the poppy while the ripe seeds are a harmless bird food and are used to flavor cakes and cookies. Rhubarb stalks are used to make delectable pie, but the green leaves are poisonous. It is easy to understand how the old timers learned some of these secrets, but the writer is intrigued as to who first started to experiment with unripe poppy seeds.

The Indians ate the root of the Jack-in-the-pulpit, but to us it is known as a poisonous but pretty plant, found in the damp woods. The Indians used blue flag for earache and we use sweet flag root as a kind of candy that children like if it is boiled in sugar. The Indians used it in quantities to dispel fear. And so it goes on. There is no definite knowledge of many of our wild plants and as the American writer expresses it: Who dared try the first wild root, unless it was someone always ready to try anything once.

There have been books written and some of them must be in existence, and it would provide a fascination to study them as did those talented physicians who came from France in the early 1600's, and for others, like Dr. Maude Abbott, to write of them so the present generations of students can learn somewhat of the poisonous and non-poisonous plants growing in our midst, sometimes at our door.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

POKER FACE HELPS YOU WIN AT BRIDGE

Bridge and poker are two different games, but there are times when a bridge player needs a poker face. Take today's hand for example.

West opened the jack of diamonds, and South won with the queen. He fired back the queen of hearts, forcing out West's ace. West returned the ten of diamonds to South's king, and South continued the hearts, knocking out West's ace. West plugged away once more at the diamonds, knocking out South's last top card.

By this time all the high red cards had been played, and South cashed the ten and nine of hearts. East nonchalantly tossed the deuce of spades and then the three of spades. So far so good.

Now South led the queen of spades and let it ride for a finesse. East hesitated, looked guiltily at declarer, and then played the five of spades. He might just as well have taken the king of spades out of his hand and waved it in the air.

South knew that there was no advantage in taking another spade finesse, so he led the ten of spades to dummy's ace. Then he abandoned the spades in order to lead a club from the dummy. East played the seven of clubs, and South finessed the nine to duck the trick to West.

West could take his ten of clubs and his last diamond, but he was then obliged to lead clubs away from his king up to South's ace-queen. South therefore made his game contract.

East was half right when he decided not to take the first spade trick with his king. If he had taken the king, South would have won the club return with the ace of clubs and would then win three spade tricks in the dummy.

East would have been completely right if he had played a low spade quickly and without any apparent thought. South might have finessed the jack of spades at the next trick on the assumption that the king of spades was in the West hand.

Or South might have taken the ace of spades next and returned a low spade with the intention of catching West in an end play. Either way East would get a spade trick, and his partner would get a club and a diamond to defeat the contract.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 Spade	Pass	2 Hearts	Pass
3 Diamonds	Pass	?

You, South, hold: Spades Q-10-7-6, Hearts A-Q-J-9-5, Diamond 9, Clubs 8-3-2. What do you do?

A—Bid four spades. A mere preference bid of three spades would not show your really excellent support for the suit and your fine distribution. The jump to four spades shows the general strength of your hand, but your failure to make an even stronger bid sets a limit on what your partner can expect.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spade 9, Hearts A-Q-J-9-5, Diamonds Q-10-7-6, Clubs 8-3-2. What do you do?

The Record Short Story

TEACHER KNOWS

By CONSTANCE CLARKE GREENE

The row of shining faces in Miss Foster's first grade class was considerably marred by one less-than-shining visage. This had been going on for some time and Miss Foster was disturbed.

After class, she took the offender aside.

"John, don't you think you could manage to have your mother wash your face a little more carefully before you come to school?" Miss Foster inquired in what she hoped was a delicate manner.

John looked very solemn and he considered the point. "Well, my mother couldn't very well, because she died and old Mrs. Turner washes it real hard and hurts, so I get away before she can do it."

Now, Miss Foster had a kind heart, a pushover for young children. What's more, she never underestimated them, so she and they got along fine.

She was new at Rice School and she hadn't known about John's mother. Old Mrs. Turner must be some sort of a housekeeper employed by John's father, and from the looks of her charge not a very thorough one.

Miss Foster said, "Couldn't you ask Mrs. Turner to go a little slower, John, so it wouldn't hurt?" and John said he had tried that, but she went on doing it just as hard as before. On closer inspection, his shirt was missing a button and obviously was in need of a little soap and water and his socks had tremendous holes in them. Miss Foster, who came from a large family, where each member had to pass inspection which rivaled that of the Army's before leaving the house in the morning, with difficulty refrained from voicing her opinion of Mrs. Turner's capabilities.

Instead she took John to the washroom and gently but firmly washed his hands and his face and combed his hair. After the grime had been washed away, his rosy little map gleamed with soap and satisfaction. Evidently he liked being clean too.

All was in vain, it seemed. The next morning, the row of shining faces was again spoiled by John's grimy face. He had the same shirt he'd had on yesterday, too, Miss Foster noted with a certain grim satisfaction.

It seemed awfully busybodyish of her but she sat down and wrote a tactful not to John's father, telling him that the children were given marks on appearance as well as spelling and reading and that John was not doing too well because he really didn't come up to scratch.

The note went on: "I know you would want this brought to your attention, Mr. Andrews, because John is not too young to learn the rudiments of cleaniliness." She sent it home with John and thought a little fearfully, "That ought to fix that old Mrs. Turner." Unconsciously, she thought of the unknown housekeeper in the terms John had first described her.

The next morning, the little boy presented himself to Miss Foster early, before the rest of the children had come. His face was so shiny you could have used it for a mirror. His hair was slicked within an inch of its life and his clothes were neat as a pin.

He beamed. "Boy, you should have seen my father last night when he read that letter you sent him, Miss Foster. He was mad!" He grinned. Obviously he had enjoyed himself tremendously and was enjoying his own importance.

Miss Foster blanched. She had gone too far. She could see John's father towering with rage, writing a letter to the principal telling him to get rid of this impertinent new teacher who butted into the private lives of the pupils.

"What did he say?" she asked brightly, not willing to be cowed by an unknown father.

John smiled with relish. "Well, he asked Mrs. Turner why she didn't send me to school clean and she said I wouldn't let her wash my face and Dad asked me why I wouldn't and I told him she hurt me." He stopped from lack of breath. Then, gathering up steam again, he said, "Then Dad took a good look at me and he said why didn't I have buttons on my shirt and why were there holes in my socks and all kinds of things like that and old Mrs. Turner was really scared and she isn't there any more."

The little boy and the teacher looked at one another and smiled gently, in complete accord.

"And Dad fixed me up this morning and he's going to call for me this afternoon because there's no one home and he doesn't want me to go home to an empty house so I'm going down to the office with him until supper time. Isn't that swell?"

Miss Foster didn't know how swell it was because she could appreciated how John's father must be feeling with the full responsibility of the little boy on him and no one competent at home to take charge.

She had an idea. "Tell you what, John. Suppose I call your father and tell him you'll have supper with me and he can pick you up afterwards."

The little boy's face lighted up and then fell. "But then Dad'll have to eat by himself." She was struck by his thought of his father. "Well, then, just come home with me and he can pick you up after work."

They agreed this was a fine idea and Miss Foster called John's father to tell him of their plan. His voice sounded awfully nice, she thought, and she could sense the relief in his tone to know John would be supervised for the afternoon.

Miss Foster and John had a fine time. He helped her shell the peas for dinner and then looked through some old magazines she had saved. Before they knew it, a knock at the door announced the boy's father.

How young looking he was, she thought, and would have been amused to know he was thinking the same of her. He had expected a rather dour fortyish gal, although he didn't know why. She was a pleasant surprise. He thanked her fervently for her help and she said she'd like to have John every afternoon after school until he found a suitable housekeeper.

It was too good an offer to turn down. Before he knew it, John's father, who was now "Ken," (and she was Alice to him) found himself staying on for supper and also falling in love. He was still looking for a housekeeper and he hoped he'd found one.

Miss Foster took the job. And John, who found the arrangement completely to his satisfaction, discovered she made as good a mother as a teacher. Except maybe she washed his face too often and scrubbed his fingernails. But you couldn't have everything, he'd discovered a long time ago.

Increase Output Of Plain Foods

Ottawa. — Canadian food processors turned their production from fancy to plain foods in 1951.

They produced less chewing gum, chocolates, candy, sugar confectionery, marshmallows, jams, jellies, marmalades and other sweet-tooth foods than in 1950.

Instead, they boosted their production of such things as infant foods, soda biscuits, plain and fancy biscuits, canned tomato and vegetable soups, tomato catsup, cereals, process cheese, pudding powders and canned meats.

The bureau of statistics, reporting the industry's production totals for 1951, said the output also was dow nin baked beans, marachino cherries, fruit peel, quick-frozen fruits and vegetables, relishes, baking powder, jelly powders, salad dressings and sandwich spreads.

It was up in roasted coffee, food drinks, dry and canned macaroni, mincemeat, salted and roasted peanuts, peanut butter, pie filling powders and fresh and dried yeast.

Maple Copse Chapter Hears Of Convention

Mrs. Austin Scott, regent of Maple Copse Chapter, I.O.D.E., gave an interesting report on the proceedings of the provincial Chapter of Quebec at its annual meeting held in Montreal, following the monthly business of her chapter in April.

As chapter delegate to the provincial meeting, Mrs. Scott attended all the sessions and social functions and reported that the new Y.M.C.A. building in Montreal had made an excellent meeting place. Though she had found it necessary to resign as provincial convener of the Empire and World Affairs committee, Mrs. Scott was re-elected as councillor and will remain a member of the provincial executive.

After the usual formal opening, the minutes and treasurer's statement were given. Mrs. Arthur Preston reported that 23 members' fees were still outstanding. Annual fees should be paid before the end of April. Monthly receipts had been $118.33 and disbursements $67.13.

Mrs. David Melton, educational secretary, read a proposed budget for educational work in 1952. Plans for the observance of Empire Day in connection with the chapter's adopted school were considered, but discussion of the whole budget was deferred until the May meeting.

Mrs. E. Knutson, "Echoes" secretary, stated that the order for the magazine had been sent in, and she urged every member to read her copy regularly as it contained many interesting features.

The general convener of services at home and abroad, Mrs. Anthony Preston, made a request for children's clothing required for a needy family. Mrs. H. Fowlis, subconvener in charge of overseas relief, reported food parcels sent as usual. Miss F. Wark spoke of hearing that Pte. R. Williams had undergone another operation and was at present in hospital. It was suggested that as another local veteran is at present in the sanatorium, cigarets be sent to him.

Mrs. Darcy Bennett reported that the Lennoxville winners of the recent marathon were Mrs. Austin Scott and Mrs. S. Hall, with Mrs. Roy Clarke and Mrs. L. Jenne as runners-up. The chapter rummage sale is to be held on May 17. The annual birthday tea of the chapter comes in April and this will be the 30th anniversary of its founding. It was decided to accept the regent's kind offer of the use of her home for the public tea which will take place on Tuesday, April 22.

It was decided that the experiment of beginning the monthly meetings at 2.30 had not met with the approval of the majority, so they will in future start at 3 o'clock.

Contributions were voted to the Seamen's Amenities Fund of the Order and from the flower fund to the wreath sent by the Order on the occasion of the funeral of His Majesty King George VI.

Business having been concluded, Mrs. Scott's report was enjoyed, following which the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

This was a good Democratic doctrine, but the faithful came to hear a new post-Truman political Messiah and seemed not to find him.

The upshot was talk — though mostly in whispers—that the President could be drafted to run again, even though he says he won't respond to such a move. As some Democrats put it, "why don't we just nominated him and then see what happens."

Kefauver, the top man in the number of delegates pledged thus far and winner in five primaries, seemed somewhat unimpressive in a speech he read haltingly.

inundated in the creeping brown tide.

Across the water-logged midwest, the Red Cross reported floods had affected some 130,000 persons in 10 states, destroyed at least 200 homes, and another 4,107 homes damaged.

But with all the devastation, there has been remarkably little loss of life. Only three flood-connected deaths have occurred in Minnesota, Wisconsin, and North Dakota.

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—The U.S. agricultural department reported today that record-breaking snow packs in the western half of the continent threaten to flood streams other than the already rampaging Missouri River.

This prospect is based on recent measurement of snow covers in a dozen western states and British Columbia.

The runoff of water from melting snow in California, for example, is expected to be the greatest since the government started making snow surveys there 22 years ago.

The water content of mountain snow on 90 per cent of the Colorado stream courses was estimated at the greatest since 1936.

Adverse melting conditions, the department said, also could cause damaging overflows in parts of Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Utah and Wyoming. The later cold weather lasts, the greater will be the danger of destructive floods.

Preference For Married Textile Workers Sought

Montreal, April 18—(CP)—A union representative suggested today before an arbitration hearing that married men should be given preference in the division of working hours in Dominion Textile Company plants.

The proposal came from Rene Gosselin, technical expert for the National Federation of Textile Workers, in testifying before a hearing arising from a labor dispute between the company and 6,000 employees in its plants at Sherbrooke, Magog, Drummondville and Montmorency, Que.

The hearing has no relation to a strike of another 6,000 workers in company plants in Montreal and Valleyfield, Que.

Judge George H. Heon, presiding at the hearing, asked whether the union's proposal might not lead younger employees to "ask themselves if they will no longer work in the event of a recession."

Mr. Gosselin said he felt married men should be given preference.

Judge Heon agreed, adding that married men are a more stable element to whom consideration should be given.

A clause in the old agreement between the company and the federation provided an equal distribution of work among all employees regardless of their years of service.

The new agreement, now before the hearing, would establish a third shift only when employees on the other two shifts were working full time.

The federation's major demands include a 30-cent-an-hour wage increase, a cost-of-living bonus, abolition of a wage incentive plan and establishment of job valuation.

Besides Judge Heon, the arbitration board includes A. S. McNichols, representing the company, and Jacques Perrault, representing the federation.

Engineers To Hear From N. L. Enrick

The next regular meeting of the Eastern Townships Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada takes place this evening. The place, as usual, is the Club Social, and the time 7:30 p.m. A talk on "Quality Control and How It Affects Engineers" will be given by N. L. Enrick who is at present engaged in quality control consultant work at the Dominion Textile Company's Factory at Magog.

Mr. Enrick is a graduate of Columbia University, New York, and during the past few years has been associated with the P.O.M. Company, Industrial Consultants, and Werner Textile Consultants work pertaining to production planning and quality control. He was previously Associate Professor of Management at Southwestern Louisiana Institute (Louisiana State College). Mr. Enrick is author of the book "Quality Control" published by "Industrial Press" and selected as "Good Reading" by the American Society of Tool Engineers.

Mr. Enrick's paper will deal with "Modern Quality Control" which is known as "statistical quality control," because it utilizes the statistical laws of probability in sampling and testing of products and processes. These techniques have been worked out scientifically, so as to be reasonably simple in application requiring relatively little work in the way of calculations and making them suitable to apply to piece parts as well as continuous process production.

Mr. Enrick's story will be illustrated by a series of samples and specimens which will be handed out at the meeting so as to facilitate following the speech and explanation.

At the end of the talk a few minutes will be taken to demonstrate how the laws of probability work and how they fit into modern inspection and quality control. This meeting should be particularly interesting because of the special nature of the subject chosen.

Prior to the presentation of the paper, arrangements have been made for the showing of a movie film illustrating the important place which is played in modern manufacture by the use of oxygen. This film being supplied through the courtesy of Dominion Oxygen Company.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a buffet lunch will be served. The joint hosts for the evening being Dominion Oxygen Company Limited of Montreal and Sherbrooke Oxygen Company of Sherbrooke.

A. D. S. Students Score Success In Musical Play

Asbestos, April 18 — The pupils of the Asbestos-Danville-Shipton High School recently scored a great theatrical success with their presentation of "Bon Voyage," a musical comedy by E. J. Gatwood and Helen Stillwell.

The happy event climaxed a long period of practising, two weeks of intensive rehearsing, costuming and scenery construction and a good deal of the credit must go to Mr. Rothney, the director; Miss Lods, assistant director; and Miss Brown, wardrobe mistress.

The plot concerns a "typical Boston youth," who is being taken on a trip to France to rub off "some of that New England veneer."

The process of humanizing this stand-offish youth, who has kept his distance from girls, made for appealing entertainment, complete with dance choruses and engaging solo numbers.

Ronald Evans played the lead role and Charles Webb was the friend who accompanied him to France and the rest of Europe. Other parts were played by: Barbara Jean Barlow, Patricia Tector, Mary deFee, Douglas King, Wendell Livingstone, Marion Gifford, Gerald Lobley, Arlen Mastine, Malcolm Mills, Elva Horan, Marina Sells, John Lindell, Kay McDonald and Zilda Perkins.

The Trapper Was a Skilled Man

BY HAROLD GLUCK

THE trapper was a hearty breed of our early frontiersman. By the nature of his work he had to be a jack of all trades. That meant he must be able to make a saddle, snowshoes, bullboat, or canoe. He had to be able to fix his gun and make his own bullets from a mould. With an axe he could make a lean-to, a house, or even a fort. With his knife he could butcher his game and dress his skins. If the situation required it, he could be a cook, teamster, packer, or breaker of horses.

Though he might know nothing of map making, he had to know the land through which he was going to travel, hunt, or trap. Though he might not have book learning, he had to know all about the different Indians, their pet whims and dislikes, who their enemies were, and how to speak their language. In spite of the fact that he could only sign his name with an X.

Generally the trapper worked for one of the great fur companies and there was deadly rivalry in those days. Probably the average wage of a trapper was in the neighborhood of $400. Trappers worked in groups which was better, from the viewpoint of protection against the Indians. He received credit from the fur company for the furs he delivered, and against this he took his necessary supplies.

There were some men known as "free trappers" who were not connected with any of the fur companies. They supplied their own equipment out of their cash reserve and sold their furs to the highest bidder. When weather was unsuitable for trapping or hunting, the men spent their time at the fort or rendezvous. During his early days, Kit Carson was a famous trapper.

SINCE a gentleman wore a beaver hat, those little animals were the prey of the trapper. Each trapper did his best to study the beavers, so he could have his own way of setting and baiting his traps. A glance at a cottonwood tree that had been recently felled would tell an old timer whether or not it had been cut for a dam or for food. Those were the days before rubber boots had been invented, and the trapper had to do a lot of wading before he decided on the right spot where to set his traps. And that was the place where the beaver went up the bank to gnaw at a cottonwood tree. The trap was set in the water and the chain was fastened to a tree, stump of a tree, or a stake. Sometimes bait was used and this was called "medicine." It was made from the musk produced from the glands of the beaver. The end of a stick was annointed with it and stuck over the trap.

When the beaver stepped into the trap, he was pulled into the water and drowned. Sometimes the beaver managed to pull the trap downstream before giving up the ghost. But the trapper found him, because he would attach a little marker to his trap.

What saved the beavers from total extinction was not kindness but Dame Fashion. In 1832 a great invention was given to the world. A genius wrapped some silk around a high hat, instead of the usual beaver skin, and something new was created. The silk hat gained slowly in popularity and then it began to wreck the trappers' business. The demand for beaver skins slumped, the price falling from $6.00 to $1.00 a skin. Which meant the trapper had either to find something else to do, or learn to live without eating.

Sales Tax Tokens

If you take a long trip through several states with mother and father you can amuse yourselves by collecting sales tax tokens. These, as one may know, are tiny bits of cardboard or paper given people who buy articles in the stores. Many states charge taxes on such sales, and where the purchase is small it may be less than one cent. As we have no coins smaller in value than one cent, pieces of pasteboard are used; ten of them being worth a cent in tax paying. Each state has a different type of token. By collecting them and mounting them afterward on a cardboard or in a scrap book, one can get an interesting exhibit.

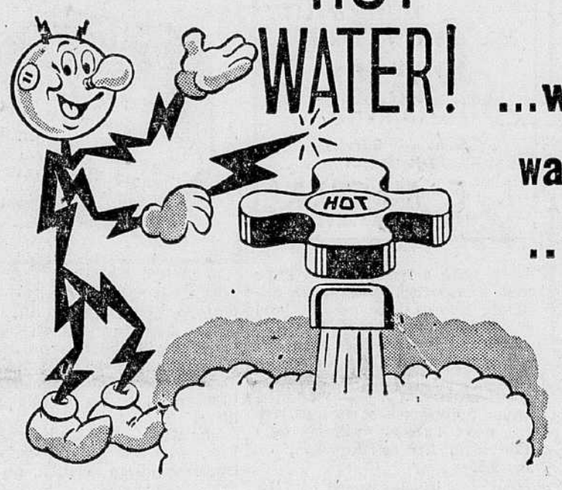
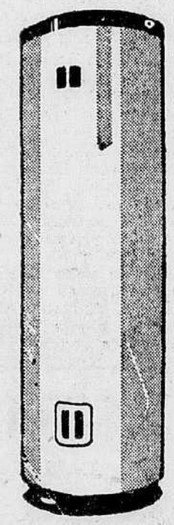
AUTOMATIC HOT WATER!



...with an electric water heater!

...but no bother heating



Here's the sensible, economical way to have automatic hot water at only about 25¢ per person per week.

An electric water heater does its own stoking... turns itself on and off... giving you all the hot water you need for the whole family, day and night, but wasting no fuel.

There's economy — and comfort, too — in the heavy insulation which keeps all the heat in... none of it wasted making the house hot.

Talk to your electrical dealer, or come in and let us show you how little the added comfort of an electric water heater will cost you.

DOROTHY DIX

Teen-Age Dating

Problem Perplexes Youngsters And Their Parents As Well

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My sister and I, both juniors in high school, are not allowed to date. We've never been on a date at all. Our parents don't approve of it. We'd like to enjoy some of the fun the other kids have but mom and dad just don't understand that dances and other recreation are essential in the life of teen-agers. Boys in school seem to like us; they are very friendly in the classroom, but of course we can't speak to them outside.

GERRY

ANSWER: From 12 years old up, youngsters from all over the country fill my mailbox each week bewailing the fact that their strict (usually spelled "strick") parents will not let them date. Although I don't hear as much from the parents' side, they, too, are extremely puzzled over the question. Conscientious mothers and dads are apt to be a trifle overapprehensive about the problem. Personal experience and talks with parents convince me that they are more apt to be overliberal in dating privileges than the reverse.

Each problem of this type that arises in a family must be dealt with differently. Sometimes the same privileges cannot be extended to two teen-agers in the same family. One may be more responsible than the other and therefore entitled to more freedom. Mindful of his obligation for a child's physical, spiritual and moral welfare, a parent has a difficult decision to make when the dating question arises.

A RULE OF THUMB

Trying to make a sweeping rule for so controversial a matter is futile. As near as I could come to one, however, is this: Below high-school age, youngsters are better with companions of their own sex; once they enter high school, participating in group activities with boys and girls should be allowed. School dances, football games, basketball games, etc., are as much a part of education as algebra and Latin. Adolescents are preparing for adulthood, and a healthy mingling of the sexes is part of their growing up. The time to allow dating away from school is a matter of the parents' discretion. Local custom sometimes dictates procedure, but never should it be followed blindly. Too much difficulty is caused by the wall that "so-and-so can do it, why can't I?"

Certainly by the time girls become juniors in high school they should be trusted to date. A parent who hasn't, by that time, taught a daughter to conduct herself properly, to behave in public, to handle social activities with grace and poise, has been quite remiss. Each household should have its own rules regarding hours, and the number of times a week dating is permitted (never, for instance, on a school night when homework takes first place). Parents, of course, will pass judgment on the boys who take their daughters out, but the judging should be done on a fair basis of character, not on the social standing of the boys' folks.

Teen-agers who are permitted no dating at all have a hard time ahead convincing mother and dad to relax rules. Sometimes a teacher, or a friend's parents, may exert some influence. Just remember, girls, when and if you do have dating privileges, use them wisely. Don't abuse the family's liberality or you deserve to be deprived of your freedom.

DEAR MISS DIX: At 17 I find myself in love with a man 35. My mother won't let me go out with him because of his age, and also because he is of a different religion. Should I take her advice, or follow my heart?

TONI

ANSWER: You have a very young and very foolish heart, Toni. To follow it along its present inclinations will never bring happiness. A man more than twice your age is not a proper suitor for you, and the religious difference adds just one more serious obstacle. Take mom's advice; seldom will you—or any other girl—regret following such counsel.

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I formed a club consisting of four sisters, three nieces, and two sisters-in-law. We meet in each other's homes every two or three weeks and are home at the latest by 12:30. I am 54, the oldest of the sisters. I have been married 36 years and have three married children. My husband objects to my going out at night; he says my place is with him. Do you think he's right?

MRS. J. A.

ANSWER: You certainly should have the privilege of a night out once every few weeks, but sometimes it's better not to stand too much on one's rights. After years of a busy household with growing children, your husband probably feels very lonely when the place is empty. Be grateful that he's content to spend his own evenings home, and humor him. Wouldn't it be possible to have your meetings in the afternoons when you have free time?

JEAN BELIVEAU TALLIES HAT-TRICK AS ACES COP OPENER 4-1

Saint John Outshoots Aces But Jack Gelineau Proves Stumbling-Block In Penalty-Studded Affair

Saint John, N.B., April 18.—(CP)—Quebec Aces, Quebec Senior Hockey League Champions, took a firm step toward the Alexander Cup here last night when they defeated Saint John Beavers 4-1 before 4,000 fans.

The series is being played on the point system — two points for a win and one for a tie. Only one 10-minute overtime period will be allowed. The first team to win eight points will take the Cup.

The second game will be played here Saturday night, with the scene shifting to Quebec Monday if Aces take two straight. Otherwise the third game will be at Saint John Monday before completion of the series in Quebec.

The sensational Jean Beliveau shot a goal in each period, Yogi Kraiger counting the other in the first. Ron Hurst, assisted by Howie Lee, saved Saint John from a shutout late in the first stanza.

It was a heavy-bumping contest, producing 16 penalties. They included one misconduct, to Marcel Bonin of Quebec.

Saint John carried most of the play but the bigger Quebec team proved stronger defensively. When attacking, Aces depending largely on the booming shots of Beliveau. He was on the ice longer than any other Quebec player.

Goalie Jack Gelineau also had a big hand in the turnback of the Maritime Major Hockey League Champions. He was called upon to stop the puck 31 times, against 11 by Hal Gordon.

Most of Gordon's saves, and all four in the second period, were on shots by Beliveau.

Beavers started aggressively against their bigger opponents but Aces opened the scoring on an ankle-high shot by Yoki Kraiger. It was screened.

After receiving a minor for elbowing, Marcel Bonin of Quebec got a 10-minute misconduct for a threating gesture at Referee Hugh MacLean.

After seven minutes of play the game was held up for repairs where some boards fell to the ice. It was unknown if a fan had kicked them out or if they broke under the weight of players.

The play had been in progress again for less than two minutes when Jean Beliveau stickhandled through the Saint John defence and scored easily, making it 2-0. Aces were a man short as Ron Hurst tallied for Saint John, tipping in Howie Lee's hard drive.

All four stops by Gordon in the second session were on shots by Beliveau. Gelineau was giving a hot performance. Beavers were shorthanded three times in this canto while Aces escaped penalties.

The first half of the third period passed without scoring as Aces played mostly on the defensive and frustrated Saint John attacks. Most of these sorties were broken up at centre ice. Beavers incurred four minors, against two for Quebec, during this time.

Beliveau also tallied the lone third period goal late in the session, scoring Pruneau's rebound.

Beavers kept boring in only to be thrown back by Gelineau.

Connaught Inn Clinches Top Spot In Darts League; One Week To Go

Final games of the Southern Eastern Townships Darts League will be played next week and the chances are good that playoff positions will not be decided until the last dart has been thrown.

Eight teams are still in the running for the six playoff spots and the only position that has definitely been decided is first place which has been won by Connaught Inn.

Connaught, with 16 wins and one tie in 19 games, cannot be displaced from the top rung. Hillcrest and New Magog also are assured of playoff positions and the remaining three places will be decided among Belleview-Rand, La Salle Five O'Clock, Canadian Legion, Riverview and Ayer's Cliff.

The standings, with seven league games remaining to be played, are:

Reg Horne Takes Lead In English Golf Event

Moor Park, England, April 18—(AP)— Reg Horne, former Ryder Cup player, held the lead last night at the end of the second round of the Silver King Professional Golf Tournament with a 36-hole score of 135.

Horne toured the 5,502-yard west course of the Moor Park Club in 68 to add to his 67 yesterday on the 6,002-yard High Course.

Cecil Denny carded a record-breaking 66 on the High Course yesterday to tie with Henry Weetman, another Ryder Cup player, for second position with 136.

St. Louis Browns Make Rogers Hornsby Look Like He Meant It When He Talked About First Place; Down Tigers 3-1

"There's only one place to finish and that's first."

Rogers Hornsby committee this sage comment before the season opened. His precocious St. Louis Browns act like he meant it. Running neck and neck with Cleveland for the American League lead, they sound like the big noise of the early season.

The long-abused Brownie fans float in a purple haze of contentment after three straight wins.

Let Cleveland and Brooklyn, the pre-season favorites, terrify the opposition with 17-hit binges. The spunky little Brownies make five hits do the same work.

First Ned Garver. Then Tommy Byrne. And now Bob Cain, going the route against Detroit for a club that got only one complete game in three from 13 pitchers last season.

Cain, acquired from Detroit in a spring deal, rubbed it in yesterday by whipping his old Tiger mates, 3-1. He allowed nine hits but most were harmless singles. His mates ruined Hal Newhouser's comeback hopes. Prince Hal, making his first start since last July 14, spoiled an efficient job by throwing home run balls to Les Moss and Bob Nieman in the last two innings.

Cleveland wasted many of its 17 hits in running over Chicago for a third straight triumph, 5-3. Despite the heavy barrage that included a 425-foot homer by Luke Easter in the fifth, the Tribe gave Mike Garcia only a one-run lead going to the ninth.

Shaky fielding by Ray Boone, Bobby Avila and Al Rosen helped the powerless White Sox make it close.

Bobby Shantz, smallest pitcher in the league, beat the world champion New York Yankees with his left arm and bat to give Philadelphia a 3-1 decision over Eddie Lopat. The five-foot-six pitcher scattered nine hits and gave his team the lead run with a looping single in the fourth, breaking a 1-1 tie.

The Boston "rookie" Sox turned the heat on Washington for a 9-2 romp with freshman Faye Thorneberry hitting a bases-loaded home run off Don Johnson in the six-run sixth.

Newcomers Sam White, Ted Lepcio, Bill Henry helped him drive in eight of the nine runs. Lefthanded Henry was the winning pitcher.

Brooklyn continued to pound the ball in three wins at Boston, the Dodgers hammered 48 hits for a team batting average of .378.

Want to see some batting averages to arch your eyebrows? Give a look at the Brooks.

Roy Campanella .583, Duke Snider .571, Jackie Robinson .545, Carl Furillo .533, Billy Cox .389.

Furillo had four singles, Andy Pafko a homer and double and Robinson three singles, a walk and one hit by pitcher. No wonder Johnny Schmitz who used to be easy for the Braves, had an 8-2 romp.

Connie Ryan, an ex-Giant and more recently an ex-Red, slashed a two-run homer in the 11th inning to give his new Philadelphia Phil pals a 5-3 victory over New York Giants.

St. Louis was dumped from the unbeaten class by Pittsburgh's rookie-studded Pirates, 5-3. Three Cardinal errors and Peanuts Lowrey's base-line tumble that ruined a promising rally helped lefty Joe Muir register his fifth big league win. Ralph Kiner had three of the six Pirate hits.

Kenny Raffensberger, who always finds Chicago an easy mark, shut out the Cubs with five hits for Cincinnati's 3-0 edge. Raffy's life-time record against the Cubs now is 21-9. Grady Hatton and Bobby Adams hit home runs off loser Bob Kelly.

I. B. C. Wants To Match Sugar Ray Against Joey Maxim In June But Champ Not Fussy Unless Cash Good

Chicago, April 18—(AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who sweetened his world's middleweight championship by melting Rocky Graziano in three rounds at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night, was being pushed today to accept a match with Joey Maxim, world's light heavyweight champion.

The bout, if made, is scheduled to be held either in New York's Yankee Stadium, probably June 25, or in Chicago.

Robinson, with his manager, George Gainford, was offered the match at a meeting attended by Jack Kearns, Maxim's manager; Truman Gibson, secretary of the sponsoring International Boxing Club, and James D. Norris, President of the I.B.C.

Robinson bolted the meeting and returned to his hotel, saying that Kearns "wanted all the money."

"I might take the match if they talk the right terms," Robinson added.

"If the price is right, I'll sign," Gainford said. "We cannot afford to pass up a payday like that."

The exact attendance of the standing room crowd at the Stadium Wednesday night became more of a controversy than ever today. At first the I.B.C. announced that the count was 23,785, a world's indoor record. Later an official count by the Illinois State Athletic Commission said the crowd was 22,624.

Today the Commission, rechecking its figures, announced the gross attendance was 23,361, still an indoor record. The Commission check said the paid attendance was 21,485, plus 1,876 officials, newspaper and radio reporters and television technicians.

The actual gross gate and net figures also were indispute. The I.B.C. reported the gross gate at $255,458 and the net of $195,789.75. The Commission figures placed the gross at $287,176.88 and the net at $197,825.28.

The Stadium indoor record of 23,322 was set when King Levinsky won a four-round exhibition from Jack Dempsey in 1932.

Lucien Dugre's String Of Racers Returns To Saratoga Raceway For Fall Events; $80,000 At Stake

Saratoga Springs. — Garland Garnsey again may be a strong contender for driving honors at Saratoga Raceway this year.

The popular 44-year-old Canton reinsman, runner-up to Aubrey Rodney for the Spa seasonal championship last year, is a prominent nominator for the early-closing events of both the summer and fall meetings.

With 45 horses—the biggest public stable in his career—Garnsey has staked his charges liberally during the June 16-Aug. 23 summer meet and now turns up as the largest contributor to a record entry for the features of the fall trots, Sept. 8-Oct. 11.

The fall nominations, just announced by Racing Secretary Harold Haswell, add up to 1,690, a figure that surmounts the former autumn peak of 1,608 set last year. Of the new total, Garnsey's stable accounts for 75 nominations. Significantly, Rodney's Saratoga-based stable ranks second in fall entries with 68. Another Spa string, Frank L. Wiswell's Runnymede Farm Stable is third with 67 and the William Pence Stable of Goshen is fourth with 63. Thirty-three of the Pence nominations represent his Chester patron, Russell Carpenter.

The fall entries, representing 461 horses, are for an expanded program of 45 early-closers valued at $80,000. They exceed the 1,608 nominations received for last year's slate which embraced 42 features and $74,600 in purses. The average entry per race virtually equals the 38 of a year ago, although the nominations involve 14 less horses than the 1951 record of 475.

Other large nominators for the fall trots include Fred LaRouech of Massena, Sturdy Stable of Syracuse, Ernest B. Morris' Springwood Farm Stable of Loudonville, Dr. Vern Fobian of Charlton, Seymour Stables of DeKalb Junction, George Chretien of Sarotoga Springs, Elwood Waugh of Copenhagen, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Aitken of Saratoga Springs, True Carr of Saratoga Springs and Paul Larente, an old Spa favorite who is returning after several years' absence with the horses owned by Lucien Dugre of Sherbrooke.

Most of the LeRouech nominations involve the Victoria Acres Farm horses belonging to Charles and Peter Russo of Albany.

Knowlton WCTU Elected Officer For New Year

Knowlton, April 18. — Mrs. Graydon Tibbits kindly entertained the members of the local branch of the W.C.T.U. on Wednesday, March 26, which was the annual business meeting.

The president, Mrs. E. H. Gray called the meeting to order and the members repeated the Temperance Pledge and in responding to the roll call answered by reporting short Temperance notes of interest.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Harold Spencer, and approved.

Mrs. H. L. Hastings gave the financial report.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. E. H. Gray; secretary, Mrs. Harold Spencer; treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Hastings; Evangelistic work, Mrs. Graydon Tibbits; "Tidings," Mrs. James R. Armstrong; press, Mrs. Sydney Taylor.

The president conducted a Questionnaire from the Clip Sheet, the topic of which was "Why Ban Liquor Advertisements." One important reason for doing so was that the advertisements are deceptive in that they couple drinking with gracious living and ignore the ungracious results of drinking that you find constantly in the public press. If the "after results" would be totally different.

It was most encouraging to learn from the Quesionnaire that in America there are 115 magazines; 176 farm papers; and 991 religious journals with a total circulation of over 112,000,000, other than newspapers that exclude from their papes all Alcoholic Beverage advertising.

Mrs. Gray also reported on an article entitled "The Alcoholic" taken from "The Tidings," which dealt with reports from Dr. Gordon Bell, chairman of the committee on Alcoholism of the Health League of Canada, also a report from an article by Dr. Bell given in the "Toronto Star Weekly."

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Sydney Taylor. Mrs. Harold Spencer read the Scripture reading taken from I Corinthians, XV. A hymn was sung, and a brief reading was given on "Simon of Cyrene—the Cross Carrier," followed by the reading in "Tidings," which told of the "Glorious Easterside."

Members offered prayer for the Temperance Course.

Following the meeting, the hostess served dainty refreshments.

Guelph And Canadien Juniors Meet Tonight At Maple Leaf Gardens As Tickets Go Fast For Sixth Game

Toronto, April 18—(CP)—Guelph Biltmores and Montreal Junior Canadiens meet at Maple Leaf Gardens tonight for the sixth game of their best-of-seven Eastern Canada Memorial Cup finals and judging by the ticket rush it might be a Stanley Cup final.

Leading the series 3-2, Guelph can wrap it all up tonight with a victory over the Habs. If the Montrealers win, the clubs return to Forum ice for the seventh game.

With Guelph holding a 3-1 series lead, Canadiens came through with a 1-0 win Tuesday at Montreal to take a new lease on life. The victory reminded many of the Hab fans that their team had emerged from just such a series with Guelph two years ago, going on to win the Memorial Cup.

Canadiens Coach Sammy Pollock admitted last night that the Guelph defence is stronger than his but thought the goaltending would decide it from here on in.

Alfie Pike, coach of the Guelph crew, is confident his club can win tonight. He is already planning the venue of games in the Cup finals and asking that at least two of them be played at Guelph.

World Champion New York Yankees And Brooklyn Dodgers Open Home Season Today; Awards To Be Given

New York, April 18—(AP)—The World Champions and the boys who have been waiting till next year ever since a fateful afternoon last October will open the "home" portions of the 1952 major league baseball season today.

Scheduled to start the season on the road, the champion New York Yankees and the almost-made-it Brooklyn Dodgers will return for the kind of first-day festivities befitting teams that played such important parts in the 1951 campaign.

Six other cities also will figure in the second round of openers which may eclipse last Tuesday's official start both in attendance and in fanfare.

The schedule:

American League

Washington at New York.
Detroit at Cleveland.
Philadelphia at Boston.
Chicago at St. Louis.

National League

New York at Brooklyn.
Boston at Philadelphia.
Cincinnati at Pittsburgh.
St. Louis at Chicago.

The Yankees, celebrating their third straight World Championship and their 50th year in the American League, will have some sort of an award for every veteran on the club, starting with the presentation of World Series rings by Commissioner Ford C. Frick.

Larry (Yogi) Berra will receive the Kenesaw M. Landis Memorial Plaque as the American League's most valuable player of 1951; Gil McDougald will get the rookie-of-the-year award; Phil Rizzuto will receive the Babe Ruth Award as the most valuable player in the World Series; and Allie Reynolds will be given the page one award of the New York Newspaper Guild. Joe DiMaggio, now a television commentator, will present his old uniform and glove to baseball's Hall of Fame and throw out the first ball.

The ceremonies at Brooklyn will be somewhat less extensive, but the 1952 Dodgers already have shown by their initial performances that Brooklyn fans can hold their heads up—instead of just hold them. Ebbetts Field likely will be jammed with fans eager to show their loyalty to their "bums" and their hatred of the Giants, who beat their favorites in the 1951 pennant playoff.

Kelley And Pawson To Compete In Marathon

Boston, April 18— (AP) —Two former winners, Johnny Kelley of South Acton, Mass., and Les Pawson of Pawtucket, R.I., last night were among the 198 starters when the Boston A.A. closed its entry list for Saturday's 56th annual Marathon Race.

Kelley led the pack home in both 1935 and 1945 and Pawson also won twice, in 1943 and 1938.

This year's field includes 19 Canadian entries.

One of the top favorites is J. Browning Ross of Philadelphia, a star miler at Villanova a year ago. Browning has tuned up for this punishing test by winning recent 10 and 15-mile races in Boston and Hamilton, Ont.

Missing from the entry list for the first time in many years are such oldtime favorites as 64-year-old Clarence Demar, who won the first of his seven B.A.A. Marathons back in 1911, and Gerry Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., a four-time winner.

Richmond Continues His Heavy-Hitting Form

Don Richmond, 32 - year - old third baseman of Rochester Red Wings, is off to a fine start in his bid to become the first batter in International League history to lead the circuit in hitting three straight years.

Richmond collected three hits last night as the Wings posted their first victory of the infant season with a 5-2 decision over Springfield Cubs. Richmond has banged out five hits in 10 trips so far. He led the league last year with a .350 mark and topped the loop in 1950 with a .333 average.

Syracuse Chiefs and Baltimore Orioles also posted their first triumphs of the season. The Chiefs edged Montreal Royals, 4-3 and the Orioles turned back Toronto Maple Leafs, 3-2.

Former Royal Johnny Welaj banged out three hits inluding a game winning single in the ninth and stole two bases to feature Syracuse's triumph over Montreal.

Paul Stuffel, one-time Leaf, limited Toronto to give hits while Baltimore jumped three Toronto pitchers for seven. Al Lakeman led Baltimore's attack with a pair of doubles and a single.

Casagrande Disappears From Baltimore Club

Baltimore, April 18—(AP)—Tom Casagrande, $40,000 bonus pitcher assigned to Baltimore Orioles by Philadelphia Phillies, was A.W.L. today because of a mysterious "misunderstanding."

The 220-pound newcomer to the International League made it clear his disagreement involved the Phils only.

"I don't want the Orioles to think I ran out on them," Casagrande said in a telephone conversation from his home in Seymour, Conn., "but there are times when a ballplayer has to think of his own interests."

Jack Dunn, Orioles president, said Casagrande left suddenly Wednesday.

With Wilvington of the Class-B Interstate League last year, Casagrande won 14 and last 7.

The race, to help the United Cerebral Palsy Fund, was run between the fifth and sixth races of today's card.

I Like Ike was fifth in the running.

Others finished like this: Governor Warren, sixth; Dark Horse, seventh; Governor Kerr, eighth; Stassen ninth; and Governor Russell, tenth.

Top-seeded Frank Sedgman of Australia moved into the round of eight easily, trouncing Italy's Giorgio Fachini, 6-2, 7-5, 6-1.

Grant Golden of Chicago almost broke Jaroslav Drobny's winning streak. Finally, after three see-saw sets, the game had to be suspended because of darkness. It will be resumed tomorrow. The score stood: 6-4, 4-6, 8-6, with Drobny leading.

Providence Reds Down Hornets 5-1 As Harvey Bennett Turns In Fine Net Job; Meet Tomorrow Evening

Pittsburgh, April 18— (CP) — Providence Reds moved within a game of deadlocking the best-of-seven American Hockey League final playoff with Pittsburgh by defeating the Hornets 5-1 last night. The victory was the second for the Reds to three for the Hornets. The sixth game will be played at Providence Sunday night.

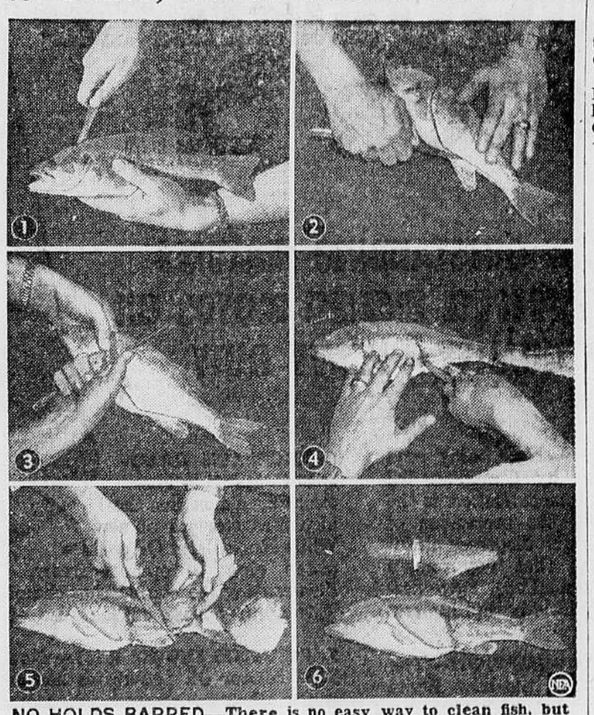
Harvey Bennett, Providence goalie, turned in one of his best performances of the year. He was credited with 45 saves.

The Hornets' lone goal came in the second period when Rudy Migay scored to give his team a short-lived 1-1 tie. Pete Kapusta scored the first Providence goal at 13:43 of the opening stanza.

After Migay had knotted the count at 2:22 of the second period, Paul Gladu sent the visitors ahead to stay at 17:00. Little more than a minute later Zellio Toppazzini made it 3-1 for Providence.

In the final period Moe Morris, a former Hornet, scored an unassisted goal and Ray Powell, the League's leading scorer, came through with an insurance tally.

Six Simple Steps Turn Fish Into Fillet Without Mess And Leaving No Bones; Photo Shows Method



NO HOLDS BARRED—There is no easy way to clean fish, but these six steps show one method where the biggest problems are overcome. (NEA)

By CHAMBLISS PIERCE

There are more ways than one to skin a cat, and the same holds true for cleaning fish.

The object of most fishermen is to get the job done quickly, neatly and with a minimum loss of fish, knuckles and patience.

There is a series of pictures with this article which shows the major steps in preparing a fish. Doubtless, there will be some who disagree. I may alter the procedure myself, sometime, depending on the size of the fish or for some specific method of cooking out of the ordinary.

For average-size fish being prepared for the frying pan, however, I submit these directions with the hope that they will make the most distasteful part of fishing less of a chore.

This method does away with scaling, leaves a boneless fillet, and by-passes the messy job of pulling fins, cutting off the head and disemboweling—all of which are needless phases of other operations.

1—Use a sharp knife. Cut the skin at the base of the skull and continue through along one side of the dorsal fin to the tail, just barely breaking the skin. Repeat this operation on the other side of the fin. From here on out, work on one side until finished.

2—Starting back at the original insertion, cut the skin downward behind the gill cover, then turn approximately 45 degrees toward the tail and continue the cut downward to the midsection. Continue the cut along the bottom of the tail. All of these cuts are only skin deep.

3—Slip the knife under the skin at the base of the skull, lifting up enough to get a firm grip on the skin between the thumb and blade. Grasp the fish firmly with the left hand, gripping the gill covers, and pull the skin toward the tail with the right hand, making the pull steady and close to the fish to prevent tearing.

4—With the skin off, retrace the original cuts, opening the flesh down to the back bone along the back and down to the ribs along the side. More specifically, follow the gill cover down to the lateral line. Then follow the lateral line to the back of the abdominal cavity and cut down to the midsection.

5—This shows the process of actually cutting the fillet away from the bones. Lay the blade flat against the back ribs and slice along the back bone in successive motions through to the tail.

6—This shows the fillet in relation to the fish—no bones, a minimum of lost flesh, and no scaling. Repeat the operation on the opposite side and you will have used only three to five minutes in the entire operation after a few practive sessions.

This method is not recommended for trout or large fish, which I prefer baked. But for all sizes of bass or pan fish up to three pounds, I think it's the easiest way to clean a fish.

Now, all you need is something to work on.

Yugoslavia's Ace Tennis Players Not To Return

Rome, April 18 —(AP)— Yugoslavia's two star tennis player, Dragutin Mitic, 34, and Milan Branovic, 23, said yesterday they have decided not to return to their communist homeland.

They made their announcement to newspaper men covering the International Tennis Tournament here.

"We are not in accord with the Yugoslav government, and we have decided not to return," Branovic said.

Jaroslav Drobny, another International ace, left Czechoslovakia under similar circumstances a few years ago. Willie Sconecky, who with Drobny also is competing here, is a self-exile from Poland.

In his match today Mitic was defeated by Sconecky 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1. Branovic was defeated Tuesday.

Fort Frances Blasts Edmonton Pats 7 - 1

Fort Frances, Ont., April 18—(CP) —Fort Frances Canadians stand a single point away from a berth in the Allan Cup hockey final after last night's convincing 7-1 victory over Edmonton Pats in the fifth game of the Western Canada final.

A tie in the sixth game of the best-of-seven series Saturday can finish off Pats and sent the Thunder Bay Champions against the Eastern Canada winner. Canadians lead the series 3-1 with one game tied.

Vern O'Donnell paced Fort Frances with a goal-a-period performance. Walt Christiansen scored two with singles going to Frank Eizensoph and Art Johnson.

Harry Allan, replacing Ed Zukiwiski as centre, scored Edmonton's lone tally in the second period.

Tour of the Fort Frances goals came in the first period. Christiansen counted the first when he flicked in Mike Hupchuk's rebound, followed by O'Donnell, Eizensoph and Johnson.

O'Donnell and Allan traded goals in the second period. Christiansen was injured when caught by a high stick but appeared again in the third period to add his second marker. O'Donnell completed his hat trick after outskating Pats' Alex Pringle and firing the puck from 10 feet out.

Wilbur Delaney in the Edmonton net had to make 25 stops. Bill Cleaveley at the other end stopped 19.

Regina Pats Waltz To 6-1 Win Over Fort William To Move Out In Front 3-2 And Given Nod To Cop Series

Regina, April 18 —(CP)— Regina Pats, favored at 3 to 1 before the series, have justified the faith of their backers by going ahead for the first time in the best-of-seven Western Canada Memorial Cup hockey final.

Sparked by Gordon Cowan and Eddie Litzenberger, the Pats last night waltzed to a 6-1 victory over Fort William Hurricanes to take a 3-2 lead in games.

Pats twice came from behind to tie the series before going out in front. They won the middle game of three played in Fort William, then won the fourth, played in Regina. The sixth will be played here tomorrow.

Last night's game was a close tussle for two periods before Pats broke loose for a trio of third-period goals.

Litzenberger scored the only goal of the first period with only 37 seconds left to play. It was Pats' 20th shot on goal in the period. They had forced the play in the Hurricane zone almost entirely.

Then Eddie Kachur tied it up for Hurricanes halfway through the second period with two Pats in the penalty box. He broke through the middle and slid the puck under Bob Tyler.

About five minutes later, Litzenberger came up with the winning goal when he grabbed a rebound by Johnny Reeve and fired home a low shot.

Cowan took Litzenberger's smart relay near the end of the period, then held back his shot momentarily and beat Dave Gatherum in the Hurricane net.

Papp's brilliant rush led to Reeve's goal during a third period scramble. Then Schneider fired through Gatherum's legs two minutes later. Papp got a clean break at 13:35 from his own blueline and made no mistake to close out the scoring.

Litzenberger wound up with two goals and one assist while Cowan had three assists to go with his single goal.

Hurricane goalie Gatherum handled 42 shots while Pats' Tyler was only called on to stop 16.

Don Poile, who suffered a slight concussion in Tuesday's game, was a surprise starter in the Fort William line-up. Doctors earlier said he was unfit for action.

St. Laurent's Eye Still Question Mark

Montreal, April 18.— (CP) —Dollard St. Laurent, rookie defenceman of Montreal Canadiens who suffered what was termed "concussion of the eyeball" last Saturday night, was reported in unchanged condition today.

St. Laurent was cut and bruised about the eye in a pileup near the Montreal goal during the second game of the Detroit Red Wings-Canadiens Stanley Cup hockey final.

Canada's Only HOMOGENIZED MOTOR OIL

HERE ARE THE OUTSTANDING FEATURES OF THE NEW WHITE ROSE MOTOR OIL
PREMIUM QUALITY — HEAVY DUTY

1. IT'S HOMOGENIZED—Now being used exclusively in Canada by Canadian Oil Companies, Limited, homogenization is the latest advancement in the processing of Motor Oil. This technique disperses all ingredients so thoroughly that they remain permanently in solution. Thus, they perform their various functions rapidly and efficiently.

2. LOWERS OIL CONSUMPTION—The lower oil consumption of the new White Rose Motor Oil is due to its high Viscosity Index and the heat resistant properties of the mineral oils it contains.

3. KEEPS MOTORS CLEAN—Detergent and dispersant additives hold dirt in suspension so that it drains away at regular oil change intervals.

4. PREVENTS ACID ACTION—The new White Rose Motor Oil neutralizes the harmful acids which form in every engine as by-products of combustion—one of the major causes of engine wear.

5. FIGHTS WEAR—Gruelling road-tests across Canada under the supervision of an independent testing laboratory—(Donald Inspection Limited) proved that, with the use of the new White Rose Motor Oil, there was no appreciable wear on engine parts.

6. INCREASES GASOLINE MILEAGE—The cleansing action plus the high film strength of new White Rose Motor Oil enables piston rings to operate freely, thus sealing the combustion chamber. This assures more efficient use of fuel.

7. PREVENTS ENGINE RUST—New White Rose Motor Oil penetrates and clings to engine parts . . . counteracting one of the greatest causes of engine deterioration.

8. FLOWS FREELY—Low cold-test properties enable the new White Rose Motor Oil to flow freely at low temperatures. This aids cold weather starting and gives instant protection to all vital parts.

9. RESISTS THINNING—Even under operating conditions of extreme heat, the new White Rose Motor Oil resists thinning, and keeps a protective film of oil between vital engine parts.

10. SUPPRESSES FOAM—The new White Rose Motor Oil provides a bubble-free oil film—offsets oxidation—reduces oil consumption—gives complete protection to all lubricated surfaces.
