In medicare dispute Talks break down, specialists off jobs

MONTREAL (CP) — An official of the 4,000-member Quebec Federation of Medical Specialists said Wednesday night about 70 per cent of the federations' members would be off the job today following a breakdown in talks with the provincial government over medical care insurance.

afternoon the majority of the specialists will be out."

Emergency services would be set up throughout the province. "We have no recourse left to us but to reduce the specialists' service all across the province to emergency levels," federation official said.

Representatives of the specialists and the government had met to discuss government concessions to the specialists which Premier Robert Bourassa announced Tuesday.

Before the meeting, federation president Dr. Raymond Robillard told a news conference "there will be no concession" beginning this morning "if there is no agreement or possibility of agreement" at the meeting.

He defined contestation as withdrawal of services with maintenance of emergency service only.

Dr. Robillard described as "totalitarian" and "unprecedented in the free world" a government plan to introduce special legislation if necessary to bring the medical care plan into effect Nov. 1.

MEETS MONDAY
The Quebec national assembly is scheduled to meet Monday to discuss modifications to the plan and to consider legislation which would bring the insurance plan into effect with or without the consent of the five professional associations affected.

The special law would later be replaced by agreements to be negotiated by the government and the doctors' federations.

The medical insurance legislation was passed July 10 in the Quebec national assembly but implementation has been delayed pending agreement between the government and the specialists.

The main issues of contention in the dispute are sections of the plan dealing with "opting out" by doctors, fee scales and control of the quality of professional services.

A 'DISAPPOINTMENT'
Dr. Robillard said Wednesday a modification which would allow doctors to opt out of the plan but would restrict them to the government fee scale was "a great disappointment."

The plan originally stipulated that patients of doctors who had opted out must pay the bill without remuneration from the Quebec Health Insurance Board, which will administer the plan.

He said the expense of collecting fees from their patients, who are in turn reimbursed by the board, would mean that doctors who opted out would earn less than doctors who remained in the plan and are reimbursed directly by the board.

A second modification announced by Health Minister Claude Castonguay was that the Quebec College of Physicians and Surgeons will be the sole body empowered to rule on medical qualifications.

Sees possible Berlin compromise

MOSCOW (Reuters) — French President Georges Pompidou said Wednesday that East-West compromises on Berlin now are possible.

Pompidou, who arrived here Tuesday on an eight-day state visit, said his talks Wednesday centred on the situation created in Europe following the signing in August of a West German-Soviet treaty normalizing relations, which has yet to be ratified.

He spent 2½ hours with Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev, Premier Alexei Kosygin and President Nikolai Podgorny.

Pompidou told a news conference that the Soviet leaders set out their position on Berlin precisely and firmly during their talks.

"To say that our positions were identical would be to distort the truth, but we are in a position where compromises are possible," Pompidou said.

NO NEW ELEMENT

But he added that for the present there is no new element in the four-power discussions on the divided city—among the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Britain.

Pompidou, who said Tuesday night that preparations for a European security conference should enter an active phase, explained Wednesday he meant that specific obstacles and ways to overcome them now should be discussed.

The conference, suggested by the Soviet Union and its allies, should be viewed as something which is going to happen, he said.

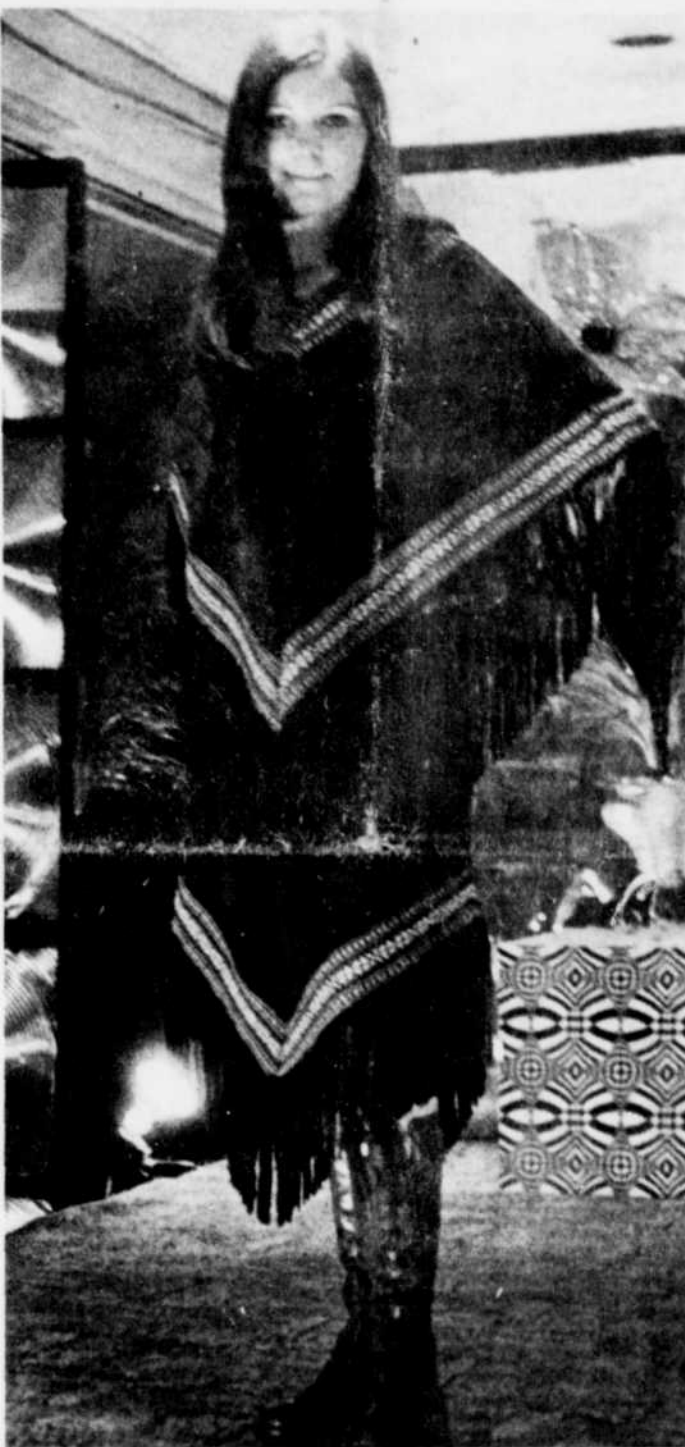

He noted that West German Chancellor Willy Brandt has also said he is in favor of such a conference.

Asked whether the Soviet Union is becoming more willing to deal directly with the European Common Market, he said the subject did not come up Wednesday, but both sides are "coming to recognize realities little by little."

He added that he thinks the Soviet Union will eventually establish links with the Common Market.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon proposed Wednesday night a standstill ceasefire in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos, immediate release of all prisoners and a broadened peace conference to seek a settlement of conflict throughout all of Indochina.

Departing in several major instances from previous American initiatives, Nixon said of his ceasefire plan: "My hope is that it will break the logjam in all the negotiations."

However, an administration official who insisted he not be identified by name said the administration would be surprised if the five-point Nixon plan were immediately accepted by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

He said officials in Washington are hopeful rather than Nixon's suggestions will set off a process of exploration at the bargaining table.

In Paris, where it was early today when Nixon spoke, the word from the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations was that there would be no comment until later in the day.

Nixon, declaring that his program has the "full support" of the governments of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos, said in an address carried live on television and radio throughout the United States and Canada: 'QUIT MAKING WAR'

"The time has come for the government of North Vietnam to join its neighbors in a proposal to quit making war and to start making peace."

The president asserted the United States is prepared to negotiate a complete withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam as part of any settlement.

Nixon called also for "the immediate and unconditional release of all prisoners of war held by both sides"—declaring that such moves "could serve to establish good faith, the intent to make progress, and thus improve the prospects for negotiation."

A fifth main point of the Nixon plan—to be presented in Paris today by U.S. negotiator David K.E. Bruce—called on North Vietnam to recognize that there are two sides to the conflict in the South and that any meaningful settlement must satisfy both.

Referring to recent Viet Cong suggestions that would rule out continued officeholding by South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky, he said:

"Let there be no mistake about one essential point. The other side is not merely objecting to a few personalities. They want to dismantle the organized non-Communist forces and ensure the takeover by one party, and they demand the right to exclude whomever they wish from government."

"This patently unreasonable demand is totally unacceptable."

"We stand firm for the right of all the South Vietnamese people to determine for themselves the kind of government they want."

VC attack plan

PARIS (Reuters) — Hanoi and the Viet Cong today attacked President Nixon's new five-point peace proposal as an effort to legalize American aggression in Vietnam and fool world opinion.

Chief Hanoi negotiator Xuan Thuy and the Viet Cong's Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh commented to reporters on their way into the Vietnam peace talks here.

The negotiators met for their 87th regular weekly session less than nine hours after Nixon outlined his five-point peace plan in a televised address Wednesday night.

Mrs. Binh said Nixon's speech "does not aim to end American aggression and re-establish peace on the basis of respect for the Indochinese peoples' rights to independence and sovereignty."

"The speech aims at legalizing American aggression and permitting the United States to pursue its neo-colonialist designs," she said.

Thuy described Nixon's proposals as a sales gimmick intended for the American electorate and an attempt to deceive world public opinion.

He contrasted this with the new proposals presented here Sept. 17 by Mrs. Binh, which he said "really constitute an important initiative to end the war."

Only emergencies accepted here

SHERBROOKE (WD) — Area medical specialists and many physicians last night agreed to close up shop in protest against the provincial government's planned medicare scheme.

A spokesman for the medical staffs of all four city hospitals told The Record that the offices of all local specialists are now closed and will remain so until the government decides to make certain changes in the medical health bill.

He recommended that any patients with urgent problems should go directly to the emergency wards of the hospitals for medical attention.

"Considering the deterioration of the medical situation, considering the situation confronting the government and physicians and considering the increasing exodus of specialists, the physicians of Sherbrooke are now taking measures to reorganize service in different hospitals in order to improve the efficiency of emergency treatment," he said.

He added that as soon as these measures are well defined, the population will be informed.

QUEBEC IN FOCUS

Police find taxi

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal police confirmed Wednesday that a taxi found earlier in Sorel, Que., about 40 miles northeast of here, was not used in Monday's kidnapping of British diplomat James Cross.

A spokesman for the police auto theft squad said the driver, Jean-Guy Allaire, had rented the car from the La Salle Taxi Co. on a day-to-day basis. It resembled a vehicle described by witnesses to the kidnapping.

It was reported missing Tuesday night. Sorel police, who arrested Allaire Wednesday, said he was visiting friends in the town and often brought the taxi back a day or two late.

Allaire, 36, was charged with auto theft and falls arraignment today.

Rifles stolen from ship

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — Police Wednesday were investigating the theft of 160 new .30-30 calibre rifles from a Japanese freighter in port here.

A police spokesman said the captain of the Japanese-registered Kimikawa Maru reported the theft of 20 cases of Winchester rifles from the ship Tuesday.

Loaded in Toronto last Thursday, the rifles were consigned to a buyer in Japan, the spokesman said. Identities of shipper and consignee were not immediately available.

Earlier reports were that the theft occurred while the guns were being discharged for delivery in Trois-Rivieres.

The Kimikawa Maru was scheduled to leave Tuesday night for Japan with a cargo of newsprint.

Ask for partial network

MONTREAL (CP) — Three television stations in Quebec City, Chicoutimi and Montreal applied Wednesday to establish a partial network in the province.

CFCM, Quebec, CJPM, Chicoutimi and CFTM in Montreal told a public hearing of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission the network would initially feature seven hours a week of similar programming on all stations.

The programming would be mainly news, at least in the beginning, and would be transmitted to the three stations through microwave relays.

Representatives said they hoped the idea would be acceptable to other Quebec stations and that programming could be fed to a much larger group in future.

Jean Pouliot, general manager of CFCM, said he hoped the commission would approve the idea despite the fact that his station does not yet meet government regulations limiting foreign ownership of broadcasting operations.

CFCM is partly owned by Famous Players Canadian Corp. Ltd., a U.S. firm, but Mr. Pouliot said negotiations are under way to buy the Famous Players holdings.

Prison escapee recaptured

QUEBEC (CP) — Jean-Claude Dube, 18, pleaded not guilty Wednesday to a charge of escaping from the new Quebec City jail in suburban Orsainville Saturday.

He was reported missing from the three-week-old jail Saturday and was captured by police Tuesday.

Police said Dube was hiding in a friend's home and fled the house when police arrived. His pursuers fired six warning shots in the air before he stopped running and surrendered. He was unarmed.

Dube's friend, Jacques Tanguay, pleaded not guilty to illegally assisting Dube to escape from authorities.

Preliminary hearing for both men was set for Oct. 15.

After Dube was reported missing, Noel Lacasse, a spokesman for the union representing Quebec prison guards, said 160 new guards are needed at the jail.

The new institution was described as "a real sieve" by a warden of the former jail on the Plains of Abraham.

Justice minister Jerome

Found guilty of attempted murder

By JOHN MACKAY

SWEETSBURG — Justice Evender Veilleux, in court of Queen's Bench here yesterday, sentenced Garth Rattray, 21, of Greenfield Park, to two years on a charge of attempted murder.

Rattray was sentenced here to life earlier this week by Judge Veilleux for the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Dyck, of Dunham Township.

The lesser charge stemmed from Rattray's attempted murder of her husband, on Dec. 8, 1969, when he shot and grazed Mr. Dyck's forehead.

Andre Vachon, the court-appointed counsel for Mr. Rattray, again offered no defense.

The jury was paneled and instructed by Justice Veilleux that they could only accept the plea of the accused.

Rattray, the object of a nationwide search, was found in Edmonton last winter by the RCMP.

At the time of his arrest, he had two sidearms, one of which was the murder weapon, in his possession.

He displayed the same lack of emotion yesterday as he did when he was sentenced to life.

Key words are teamwork, planning

By CUTHBERT JONES

SHERBROOKE — The first barrage of the Sherbrooke municipal election campaign was fired last night when Mayor Marc Bureau and the 10 Civic Action candidates for aldermanic posts held a rally at the St. Francis School in East Sherbrooke.

The gathering attracted some 400 persons who heard the Mayor present the party's program for the November 1 voting.

As outlined by the mayor, the program is divided into five general sections: Industrial development; more efficient municipal administration; roads and public works, sports, leisure and tourism, and realistic financial management.

To speed industrial development, the Mayor proposed the development of the industrial park, the creation of which he said was one of the achievements of his administration, and the publicizing of the many advantages enjoyed by the city.

The party objective, he said, was the establishment of one new industry for each Civic Action candidate elected.

In the field of municipal administration, he said his party would carry on the administrative reform already initiated by Civic Action; would apply modern management techniques to cut down on expenses; ensure better traffic flow and reduce congestion; re-assess Hydro-Sherbrooke from all angles; create a town planning office; establish a fair zoning policy and draw all available government subsidies in the field of housing.

Discussing roads and public works, he pointed out that the geographical configuration of Sherbrooke is responsible for unusually high costs in this field.

To maintain these costs at a reasonable level, said the Mayor, it was essential to establish a long range plan for the construction and repair of streets and sidewalks; update the existing waterworks and sewage systems; program the maintenance and renewal of machinery and equipment; find a definite solution for the problem of sewer back-up and increase the number of parking spaces in the business areas.

In referring to sports, leisure and tourism, Mr. Bureau said the Civic Action party planned on increasing the existing recreational and sports facilities; open up youth centres; establish a municipal tent and trailer park; consult the people on the subject of pocket arenas; promote artistic and cultural activities such as the public library and Sherbrooke Historical Society; create a tourist welcome centre and plan for the re-arrangement of the city greenhouses and the development of Mount Bellevue as a tourist attraction.

Realistic action was needed for the financial management of the city, the Mayor emphasized.

The management of a budget of $22 million is a serious responsibility, Mr. Bureau said. With this in mind, and considering the principle of equity, the Civic Action team which has controlled the Council since February did not fear to table a new valuation roll which provided for an equitable sharing of the tax burden by all property owners.

But, he continued, this was but the first step in the overhaul of the financial position.

The council must seek to revise the distribution of the burden; concentrate on recovering a larger share of the sales tax proceeds; insist that the federal and provincial governments allow for deduction of property taxes from taxable income and plan for the advent of regional government.

The Civic Action, he declared, hoped to achieve these objectives by working as a team. All proposals would be studied in caucus, he said, and the resulting decisions would reflect the thinking of the majority.

Also addressing the meeting were Ald. Romeo Quintal, first Civic Action alderman elected to the City Council; Mrs. Lise Ouellette; Roger Gingues, West Ward candidate; and retiring West Ward Alderman Hilaire Bellevue who acted as master of ceremonies.

There was no point sending a low trump like a lamb to the slaughter.

West was on lead and played a heart to East's jack. Back came the jack of clubs. The queen was finessed unsuccessfully and the defense had three tricks in. That was all they could get. Actually a club was returned. South won ruffed his last club in dummy and ran off the rest of the tricks in trumps.

All this was rather lucky but four spades did make while three no-trump would almost surely have gone down.

In JACOBY MODERN the opening two-club bid often shows a 23-24 point no-trump. North's two-heart response showed 4-6 points and South's two no-trump rebid announced that he had a no-trump-type holding. He wanted to be in game because 23 plus 4 equals 27 but he didn't want to hurry matters. Maybe North would want to get into a suit contract.

North certainly did. His three-club call was Stayman. We use Stayman after opening one and two no-trump calls and after two clubs that is followed by a two no-trump rebid. South responded to Stayman with three spades and North raised to game.

West opened the queen of diamonds and South saw that he would have his work cut out for him at the spade game. He decided to leave trumps alone for awhile and to see what could be done about ruffing a couple of his cards in dummy.

He cashed the ace and king of diamonds and ruffed a third diamond low. Then he led a heart toward his hand. East's 10 led to South's king. Now South led his last diamond. When West followed South carefully discarded a club from dummy.

Farewell party is held for two Knowlton families

KNOWLTON — The Knowlton United Church Hall was the scene Sept. 20 of a farewell party held for two families of this community, members of the Knowlton United Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Chambers and family have sold their home here and have left to take up residence in Halifax, from where they had both been brought up in their early years. Mr. and Mrs. Allister Kerr and their family have moved to Cowansville, where Mr. Kerr is teaching at the Massey-Vanier Regional High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Chambers have been residents of this community since 1939, while Mr. and Mrs. Kerr came to Knowlton eight years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Chambers received a very fine pictorial book on the Eastern Townships, with many fine old prints contained therein, and Mr. and Mrs. Kerr received a fine Ceramic Canister Set for their new home, both gifts from the members of the Knowlton United Church. The Rev. Warren acted as emcee for the afternoon, expressed the regrets of the church and indeed the entire community who were suffering the loss of these two fine families. Mr. Chambers and Mr. Kerr expressed their thanks and gratitude to all who had made their lives so happy and content in Knowlton, and expressed the hopes that they would receive many of their friends from Knowlton in their respective new homes. At the conclusion of the ceremonies afternoon tea was served.

During the afternoon many members of the Knowlton United Church and friends from St. Paul's called in to wish both families much happiness in their new homes.

Mrs. Ladd had received some Home and Country news from Mrs. Preston, Calstock, England, which she gave to the members to read.

Mrs. Philip Boy gave an excellent report of the June Convention, which she attended. A cereal contest was held and each member received a gift of a small box of cereal. Pennies for Friendship and tea money was handed in. The meeting adjourned and Mrs. Mayhew served refreshments in the dining room.

Meetings to study tenure, promotion

LENNOXVILLE — Two separate meetings will be held at Bishop's University today, one in Bishop Williams Hall at 4 p.m. and the other in the Centennial Theatre at 7:30 p.m.

The purpose of the meetings, one for arts students and faculty and the other for science students and faculty, is to discuss and take action on a section of the revised rules, orders and regulations ROR's of the university which deals with the questions of tenure and promotion.

By the terms of this new section of the ROR's, three advisory committees on academic appointments and tenure have been formed to make recommendations on these subjects to the principal, who has final authority in such matters.

Each committee — one each for Science, Humanities and Social Sciences — will consist of the dean of the faculty, three elected faculty members and one elected student representative whose program for the year will enable him to properly represent the division in which he is enrolled.

In addition, a chairman and secretary will be elected from among the members of each committee.

Students in one faculty or division may decide by majority vote that they do not wish representation in the areas of tenure and promotion for faculty, and may therefore opt out of their privilege.

Also chosen at the meetings will be a faculty-only appeals committee, which hears grievances from the faculty regarding promotion, increments in salary, the award of tenure, suspensions, and so on.

This committee will consist of three elected members of faculty and will also act in an advisory capacity to the principal.

Although the executive committee of the corporation of the university has given its permission for the university to go ahead in its formation of these committees, the decision still remains to be ratified by corporation at their annual meeting later this month.

All students — collegial, undergraduate and graduate — are eligible to vote at today's meetings.

Stanstead Council

Valuation roll finally adopted

STANSTEAD (IH) — The 1970 valuation roll here will be based largely on that of 1969, with corrections being made in the calculation of land values and sizes, additions and changes to existing buildings and the construction of new buildings.

The current homologation was approved Monday night at the regular meeting of the Stanstead municipal council.

It has taken two months to accomplish this. A committee of three councilors formed a committee to correct errors and spent considerable time doing this, following the valuation of the Municipal assessors, and protests by a large number of persons. Several special council meetings have also been held.

The present council recommends that next year the properties be valued by professional appraisers.

Nominations will take place in Stanstead on Monday, October 26 with elections the following Monday, November 2. Jean Beasse acting as presiding officer for elections Terms of three councilors are expiring those of Howard Majury, Donald Prangley and Eugene Lachance.

Mr. Majury announced at the meeting Monday that he will not seek re-election. He has served five years and expressed appreciation for the opportunity of serving under Mayor E. J. Struthers, saying he has learned a lot during this period.

Mr. Majury, chairman of finances, presented a list of expenses for the last four months. As it stands the councilors are $1,400 under the original budget.

Further to the notice of motion concerning the garbage by-law, commercial establishments may take their garbage to the dump on Tuesdays and Thursdays for $10.00 per annum, while the public may have access to the dump on Saturdays by obtaining the key from John Wilson.

Delmar White reported on the dump situation at present, saying he and Donald Prangley had visited two suitable locations, for the present dump must be closed.

To comply with health regulations, it will be required that dirt cover the garbage within 24 hours of dumping that a fence and gate be built and other minor details given attention. The locations have been inspected and approved by the Health department. However, Mr. White stated negotiations are still in progress with the Town of Rock Island for use of their dump.

Although exempt from taxation on their properties, Stanstead College has made a donation of $600.00 for services of lights, sewers and so forth on four of their properties, two on Mountainview and two on Dufferin Road, with the agreement that, for the next five years this amount will be increased by $50.00 per annum.

It was noted that the cloudburst rainstorm of late September had caused considerable flash flooding and water entered many cellars as the flow was too much for the drains. This was an act of nature and not due to negligence on the part of the Municipality employees.

The Council agreed to accept an invitation to have a special meeting on October 20 at Stanstead College conference room. The Council will be dinner guests of the school. The meeting is for the purpose of acquainting students on how the Municipality operates.

Tenders are to be called for winter roads, and special police will be on duty Hallow'en night.

Mr. Struthers reported on the meeting in Montreal of the Union of County Councils and which he attended.

Delmar White made the request that at the November meeting he will be replaced on the Sportsmen committee as representative of the Council.

IODE fashion show

Models wore midis, matrons sported minis

By WILLIAM DUFF

SHERBROOKE — Midis. Acres of them. The seeds of change sown by the world's top fashion designers over the past few months have sprouted into an over-abundance of longer skirt lengths which are going to be seen on Sherbrooke streets very soon.

Some 400 young and not-so-young women last night oohed and aahed as this season's newest designs swept the floors at the Wellington Hotel, bringing back dismal memories of the late 1940s and early 50s.

The show, sponsored by the Admiral Sir Dudley Pound branch of the Independent Order of the Daughters of the Empire and with fashions provided by the Setlaku department store, featured the clothing most likely to catch madame's eye this fall and winter.

In all likelihood, though, it's only madame's eyes that are going to be caught, since her husband will be busy surreptitiously seeking out those last bastions of womanhood who want to keep their hems above the knee.

But the scene last night was one void of any optimism for the males in the audience.

Virtually everyone of the 25 or so models wore fashions reaching at least to mid-calf length. Many of the outfits, however, were revealingly split half-way up the thigh — a style which offers at least a little hope for hardened girl-watchers.

Reams of silk and leather, apparently the in materials this year, covered limbs well-acustomed to braving the chills of winter and the stares of men over the past half-dozen or so years.

Orange and brown were the popular colors, with this theme carried over into the array of ponchos, fringed tops and strung vests on display.

In many cases, duplicate mother and daughter fashions were shown which paralleled the general trend of fashions for the coming months.

Other items on display were night apparel, wedding outfits and after-ski fashions.

The most attention-getting part of the show, however, occurred when a lad of about five years decided to go it on his own in his modelling of clothes for the well-dressed young man.

Much to the delight of the ladies present, he forsook the formality of walking graciously on cue down the ramp and sauntered up and down the aisles, grinning widely at everyone in sight.

The fashion show, one of many currently being held in the Sherbrooke area, marked the opening of a new season's activities for the IODE chapter.

Proceeds from the show will go towards educational bursaries and welfare programs sponsored by the organization.

Although the show offered little but bad omens for the scattering of males present, it was interesting to note the great profusion of miniskirts among SHERBROOKE (GF) — Figures published recently by Fire Director Charles Audet indicate the strenuous prevention efforts by Sherbrooke firemen have produced significant results.

In 1969, deaths attributed to fire numbered 120 in Quebec and 615 across Canada, while Sherbrooke remained fatality free.

And material losses caused by fire were substantially lower here on a per capita basis, Director Audet said. In 1969, the figure for Canada was $182,000,000, for Quebec $60,000,000, and for Sherbrooke the total loss amounted to $2,000,000.

Part of the reason for this enviable record results from our extensive home inspection program, Director Audet said.

Between May 1 and Oct. 1 of this year, local firemen made 2,280 home inspections. A total of 650 fire safety recommendations were made to home owners as a result of these visits, he said.

Problems discovered by firemen ranged from poor installation of stoves and heating equipment to the excessive use of extension cords and the accumulation of garbage.

As well, firemen distributed 6,476 fire safety pamphlets, 2,825 emergency stickers for telephones, and affixed 20 handicapped stickers to front-door windows of homes.

These 20 stickers are to protect persons who are elderly or handicapped in case of fire, Director Audet explained. Upon seeing such a sticker on a home which is ablaze, firemen immediately call for stretchers for they know someone is inside who cannot leave the building without help, he said.

Paris, as principal and vice-chancellor of Bishop's.

On the same occasion, honorary doctorates of civil law (D.C.L. honoris causa) will be conferred on several prominent Canadian scholars and artists.

They are Geoffrey Andrew, a professor of English and director of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada; Irving Layton, well-known poet and professor of English at York University; Jean-Paul Lemieux, a Quebec artist and painter; Malcolm McGregor, professor of classics at the University of British Columbia; and the Rev. Sidney Jellicoe, dean of the faculty of theology at Bishop's University and one of the world's foremost experts on the Septuagint.

Officials still waiting for word from terrorists

MONTREAL (CP) — Officials waited in vain overnight for some indication that an underground terrorist group would negotiate the release of a kidnapped British diplomat before carrying out their threat to execute him at noon today.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp called on the kidnappers Wednesday night to name a negotiator to hold talks with federal authorities about the early release of James Richard Cross.

Mr. Cross, 49-year-old senior British trade commissioner in Montreal, was kidnapped at gunpoint from his home early Monday. The government Tuesday night rejected demands set by terrorists for his release.

Wednesday saw rising tension with the passing of three apparent deadlines—at 8:30 and 9 a.m. and at noon EDT—before a new deadline was clearly set for noon today.

Police with machine-guns and bullet-proof vests picked up known sympathizers of the Front de Liberation du Quebec in a dawn raid Wednesday and brought Barbara Cross, the kidnap victim's wife, to police headquarters to view a lineup.

USES VIOLENCE

The FLQ, which has claimed responsibility for the kidnapping, is a group which advocates Quebec independence through violence if necessary. It has been responsible for repeated waves of bombings in Quebec through the last decade.

Commenting on earlier statements that police activity was suspended, a senior police official who wanted his name kept secret said Wednesday night "there never was any slowdown in the investigation."

In his statement at a news conference, Mr. Sharp said that "what the government needs now is the precise basis on which it can be assured of Mr. Cross's safe release, and where and when."

"Otherwise, there can be no dependable discussion, since the captors might hold on to Mr. Cross indefinitely."

He also said the government would arrange for the broadcast by the CBC of an FLQ manifesto, provided it gets assurances, "without the imposition of unacceptable conditions, Mr. Cross will be delivered safe and sound."

WANT $500,000 IN GOLD

Conditions for his release include the freeing of 23 "political prisoners," payment of $500,000 in gold and safe air passage for the prisoners and the kidnappers to either Cuba or Algeria. The federal and provincial governments said Tuesday night the demands are "wholly unacceptable."

A hand-written letter sent to radio station CKLM Wednesday and signed J. R. Cross, said in part:

"Please, assure that I am well and receiving medications for my blood pressure."

The medication he was referring to was pills he must take twice daily for high blood pressure.

Withdraws from Magog mayoralty race

MAGOG (Special) — The contest for mayor in the approaching Magog, Nov. 1, municipal election narrowed to two contestants Tuesday evening, when Bertrand Brassard, a self-declared nominee, withdrew.

Mr. Brassard, Stanstead County President of the Liberal Association, said he would not contest the post, which leaves serving Mayor Maurice Theroux and ward 3 alderman Gerard L. Longpre to battle for the position.

Education minister speaking here today

SHERBROOKE (WD) — Education Minister Guy St. Pierre will make a one-day whirlwind tour of this area tomorrow, meeting at various times and in an assortment of locations with students, teachers, parents and school commissioners.

The tour has been billed as an information-gathering trip for the minister — one which will permit him to learn the feelings of local residents on matters of education.

His day will begin at the Wellington Hotel at 9 a.m. with a breakfast meeting in the company of school commissioners from the Eastern Townships Regional School Board, la Regionale de l'Estrie and la Regionale Meilleur.

After this, his tight schedule calls for him to meet the personnel staffing the regional office of the provincial education department, visit the campuses of the University of Sherbrooke and the Sherbrooke CEGEP and have dinner at the St. Francis School with commissioners of the area elementary school boards.

At 8:15 p.m., Mr. St. Pierre is scheduled to give a speech at the St. Francis School which will open a public meeting and panel discussion.

The panel discussion will include two students, two teachers, two parents and two school commissioners, one of whom will be the English representative, Earl Fitzgerald. The meeting will conclude with a question period involving members of the public in attendance.

Reopen the magazine inquiry

OTTAWA — Members of the staff of the Senate inquiry into the media (Keith Davey, etc.) dismiss as speculation the claim of Last Post magazine that the Davey report will recommend the cancellation of the Canadianization of Time and Reader's Digest.

Canadian Press took up the Last Post story and seemed to confirm it. The accuracy of the matter is less curious, as it fits in with the Wahn report on foreign ownership which recommended the end of those privileges enacted by the Pearson government under Walter Gordon's sponsorship. A year or so ago, Mr. Gordon revealed ruefully that he had hated to do it but the leverage from the State Department and the U.S. president had been too much.

The wealthy ex-minister has always been Senator Davey's top hero. On the other hand, it is hard to find evidence that a renewed lobby against Time-Reader's Digest is at work in Ottawa.

There's nothing like the ferment of buttonholing, pro and con, which went on for months until Gordon pushed the Canadianization through. Aside from a small group in Toronto centred around the Toronto Star, there doesn't seem to have been anyone pressing hard to scuttle these naturalized Canadian magazines.

Neither the Wahn committee nor the Davey committee heard much evidence against Time and Reader's Digest. There hasn't been a speech or a major part of any speech in the Commons in the past four sessions against the situation, only an occasional, needling reference to it by opposition speakers as an incident showing Yankee toughness and Liberal softness. I think it would be good to have the issue re-opened, but that it should be done not fit the Ottawa pattern.

The dropping of 14 parliamentary secretaries has been discussed largely as opening up opportunities so that many more Liberal backbenchers can get specialized knowledge and experience in the posts. This sounds reasonable enough if you imagine the Government has swarms of young MP's eager for such chances, and that it is other young beavers who are being dropped. In fact, nine of the 14 who are leaving are veteran MP's with experience in at least three Parliaments. Two have been in five Parliaments, another two in four. Some of them — Gene Whelan, Jim Walker, Russ Honey and Yves Forest — are pretty substantial men, either in the narrower sense as MP's or in the larger sense of being heavies as party politicians.

Late in August I got a phone call from an assistant to Robert Stanbury, the young minister from Toronto, who helps Mr. Pelletier, the secretary of state. He said I had been wrong to suggest that Mike McCabe, the former aide to Mitchell Sharp and a great wheeler and "leak" in the Pearson years, was back in Ottawa as part of any ambitious Stanbury brains trust. Mr. McCabe was a consultant under a contract arranged by one of the assistant deputy-ministers in Mr. Pelletier's department. "My minister," said the assistant, "wouldn't touch McCabe with a 10-foot pole." My mistake.

The Last Post magazine I mentioned earlier has been called a Canadian imitation of the American Ramparts magazine. After putting out three irregular issues, the co-operative group of young publishers has decided to become a regular publication. The most recent issue contains an appeal for funds and subscribers. The main activists in the co-op seem to be workers for Montreal and Toronto dailies who have the energy and the urge to find an extra, freer outlet for radical and muckraking articles.

One pleasant point about the Last Post is the absence of academic input. Other Canadian magazines dealing with public affairs which have hung on for years — for example, Canadian Dimension and Canadian Forum — are often professorially stuffy with the earnest righteousness of our Ph.D.s. The Last Post goes for length, investigating journalism, not for the scholarly or Olympian presentation. It's the most interesting and promising new magazine since Paralel.

There's been no rumor yet on who will be named as deputy-speaker of the Commons when Hugh Faulkner, the MP from Peterborough, Ont., resigns from the job. The pressure of the Government to make his replacement an outstanding MP may be great if it happens that the incumbent speaker, Lucien Lamoureux, indicates that he wishes to retire after this parliament. It's not a mystery that Mr. Lamoureux has been concerned over the lack of spirit and purpose in this parliament.

Easy for Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving week-end generally finds Canadians driving madly off in all directions. Thanksgiving Day itself is usually hubbub on the highway. The glory of green trees turning to scarlet, russet or gold draws us to the woods, the lake, the river but this Thanksgiving let us play our beautiful planet a tribute by NOT crowding the highways and polluting the air unnecessarily. Unless you have to close up the cottage, leave the car at home.

Enjoy the changing colors of nature as close to home as possible—walk through the parks, along the river, or out into the country; ride a bicycle if you have one; or if transportation is necessary, share a bus ride with others to the nearest conservation area or nature trail. Plan a simple picnic lunch of sandwiches and a hot drink from the thermos instead of polluting the air with barbecue smoke.

A stroll through the park or along a nearby river-bank can be your gesture of appreciation for nature's bounties and can be just as rewarding as a campsite miles from home. Engage the family in a little listening to nature—to the birds, the little wild animals of the woods, the busy insects, rustling leaves.

Let us try this one day to hear and understand a little of what nature has to tell us when we have time and patience to listen—that on this beautiful planet each creature has a place and a purpose, no more or no less important than man's.

Hits official hypocrisy

The text of U.S. Federal Judge George Barlow's sentencing of former Newark, N.J., Mayor Hugh Addonizio and three co-defendants in a $1.4 million kickback conspiracy should be read by all those who believe that North American justice is incapable of being critical of established officials.

Said Judge Barlow:

"How can we calculate this cynicism engendered in our citizens, including our young people, by these men—and how does one measure the erosion of confidence in our systems of government, and the diminished respect for our laws, occasioned by these men?—these very men, who, as governmental officials, inveighed against crime in the streets, while they pursued their own criminal activities in the corridors of City Hall?"

"Their crimes tear at the very heart of our civilized society and our own form of representative government.

The people will not tolerate such conduct..."

Bravo, Judge Barlow. And listen, those, who would turn to violence while criticizing our system of law.

"United Appeal's ahead $7.35, a baby bonus cheque, the kids' piggy bank — Mrs. Lushbod to shoot . . ."

THE
ART BUCHWALD

Social season

WASHINGTON — The Washington social season has never been more fraught with cocktail parties, dinner parties, autograph parties and testimonials, all in the name of political fund-raising. People in this town live in fear every time the mail arrives that among the bills and junk letters will be buried an invitation to someone's house for a friendly drink.

This drink can cost the invitee anywhere from $25 to $500 as a political contribution to some poor senator or congressman's campaign.

Last week was typical of what is going on here. On Monday I arrived home and my wife said, "The Jessels have invited us for cocktails tomorrow night to meet Sen. Bolt."

"Who wants to meet him?" I said. "I saw him last night at a fund-raising party for Congressman Ax."

"Well, we can't say no. I run into Ginny Jessel at the hairdresser's every week, and she'll think we couldn't afford $50 to come to her party."

The next night as we were getting dressed for the Jessel bash, my wife said, "There's an autograph party for Sen. Finnev at the Quagmires tomorrow."

"An autograph party?"
"Yes. Sen. Finnev is autographing his new book, 'The Sensuous Senator.' If you contribute $100 he'll sign it to you personally."

"One hundred dollars? I wouldn't buy it if it was printed in paperback."

"Well, the Quagmires reminded me that they gave us $100 for the Junior Village Telethon, and so I said we'd come."

A few nights later I was home reading my autographed copy of "The Sensuous Senator" when a telegram arrived. It read, "YOU ARE INVITED TO A TESTIMONIAL DINNER CELEBRATING CONGRESSMAN ALF KLOTZNICK'S 30TH ANNIVERSARY AS A MEMBER OF THE HOUSE DISTRICT SEWER COMMITTEE. A TABLE HAS BEEN RESERVED IN YOUR NAME. PLEASE MAKE OUT A $150 CHECK IN NAME OF KLOTZNICK FOR CONGRESS COMMITTEE."

"Now they've gone too far," I said to my wife. "I wouldn't be caught dead at a testimonial for Klotznick."

"You can say that now," my wife said. "But the next time our sewer breaks, Klotznick will block the bill to fix it in his committee."

We had no choice but to go to Klotznick's testimonial. For two days after that we didn't get any invitations to go out, and I was starting to worry that we had been crossed off everybody's list.

But on the third evening, when I came home from the office, my wife said, "Guess what?"

"I'm not going to any more cocktail parties, autograph parties or testimonial dinners this year, and that is final," I yelled.

"You don't have to go to any," she said nervously. "Great."

"Sally Fowler called and asked if we could come to a brunch on Sunday for Forest, who is running against Sen. Boots Kimberly. I told her how you hated to go out on Sundays, so she asked if we could hold it here."

"You wouldn't," I said.
"Well, now that we owe the Jessels and the Quagmires, it will be an easy way to get even."

BERRY'S WORLD

MATTER OF FACT
JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — For months, the titanic drama of the Cooper-Church amendment absorbed the Senate, convulsed Washington and covered the front pages with acres of breathless, though not deathless prose. Its final passage, by a narrow majority, was fulsomely saluted as a decisive triumph for the fashionable forces of neo-isolationism. It was all very beautiful, all very moving.

After this positively Wagnerian clamor, one does not like to be deflationary. But common honesty compels the report that the Senate's passage of the Cooper-Church amendment has now turned out to be the super-non-event of 1970. The amendment is dead in conference — so dead that the House-Senate Conference Committee ceased to meet some time ago.

This was predictable, and was indeed predicted by one or two small and unheard voices, while the titanic drama was still in progress in the Senate. The real feelings of "the great racist American people" (as the late Sam Blyth used to call us) are rather more accurately represented in the House than in the Senate.

The House is also much more remote from the eloquence of editorial pages, whose kind words affect most senators as a dramatic critic's unlooked-for praise affects a broken-down actor with dyed hair and bunions. So it was obvious from the outset that the House of Representatives was not going to accept Cooper-Church.

The House leaders were by no means intransigent. The chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Rep. Thomas Morgan of Pennsylvania, is a gentle, kindly man. He genuinely longed for a compromise that the House might conceivably approve. But in the Conference Committee, Rep. Morgan had to deal with the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, J. William Fulbright.

Sen. Fulbright rather resembles Cato — except that instead of endlessly repeating "Carthage must be destroyed," the senator's pet theme (if you understand his speech writers correctly) seems to be that the United States had better be destroyed. With Catoian sternness, the senator refused the smallest change in Cooper-Church's language to conciliate the House. So total deadlock was reached some time ago.

Sen. Fulbright is said to be pleased by the deadlock, because he thinks it will kill the military sales bill, to which the Cooper-Church amendment was attached. But here, he is almost certain to be wrong.

When there is deadlock over an amendment, an existing statute can always be renewed — without the amendment of course — by what is called a continuing resolution. A continuing resolution will eventually be introduced in the House, and will pass with hardly a dissenting vote. That leaves the Senate, which gave a majority to Cooper-Church. Logically, the Senate ought to reject a military sales bill lacking even a token-fragment of Cooper-Church.

But logic does not always apply. Cooper-Church contains money for beleaguered Israel, besides several of this country's more direct allies. And Israel, nowadays, is a very tender nerve for the liberal Democrats, who were the strongest Cooper-Church enthusiasts

Gotcha, Fulbright

No wonder the nerve is tender! As events are increasingly proving, in a most terrible manner, Israel depends upon this country for her protection against the Soviet Union. To protect Israel against the Soviet Union, this country in turn depends upon its own military strength. Whoever dismantles America's military strength, in fact, dismantles Israel's ultimate line of defense.

Who, then, are the dismantlers? You would not logically expect the liberal Democrats to play this role. With the possible exception of Sen. Edward Kennedy, no liberal Democrat gets less than 50 per cent of his campaign financing from the Jewish community. In certain cases, the percentage reaches a very much higher figure. And where oratory is concerned, the liberal Democrats are Israel's loudest friends.

But in reality, they are also the most dismantlers of U.S. power; and the decline of our power has now reached the stage where Israel's very survival is directly threatened by the Soviets. If Israel does not in fact survive — as is tragically imaginable today — the Americans chiefly responsible will be liberal Democratic senators and their supporters on the intellectual left.

A dim consciousness of these extremely grim but indisputable facts is beginning to percolate through liberal Democratic ranks in the Senate. Voting for a resolution continuing the military sales bill will at least be voting for money for Israel, even if it displeases Sen. Fulbright. So there, one might say, you are.

Gratitude

On behalf of The Canadian Save the Children Fund, I would like to thank our partners in International Development, the people of Sherbrooke, for our share of the proceeds of their 1970 Miles for Millions Walk. This allocation will enable CANSAVE to continue developing its programs in some 26 countries around the world, giving other children an opportunity to also walk with human dignity. Through the active concern of Canadians — the walkers, sponsors, and the organizers of the Sherbrooke walk, — we can continue to work with the child in the context of his family.

Realizing that development is not an overnight process, The Canadian Save the Children Fund is generally involved in long-term programs, such as day nurseries and feeding centres in the Windward Island, a rural development project in the Cameroons, support of social workers and vocational training in Hong Kong, support of a crippled children's centre in Bolivia, model day care centre in Korea, and a residential day nursery in Morocco, to mention just a few.

This generous Canadian support also gives us the flexibility to act in times of disaster — natural, such as Peru and Rumania, or man-made, as in Nigeria and Vietnam.

To ensure the greatest amount of efficiency in fulfilling our responsibility to give to the child the best that mankind has to offer, CANSAVE co-operates with other member agencies of the International Union for child welfare in Geneva, and with associated agencies, as well as government and U.N. affiliates in the field.

Through such a tremendous voluntary activity as Miles for Millions, we are able to continue and expand our services to children. For the children at the end of this chain of concern and co-operation, we express our sincere gratitude to the walk committee and community of Sherbrooke.

OTTAWA (CP) — Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. has developed a portable nuclear power pack that produces electricity for hard-to-get-at navigational installations such as Arctic weather posts.

The first working model of the nuclear-powered navigation light was packaged Wednesday for built for the federal department of energy, mines and resources to supply electricity for a remote, unmanned weather station on Devon Island in the Arctic.

The navigation power pack is the work of design engineer Stuart Daughtrey and physicist Gerald Hare who used Cobalt 60, the radiation sources for many Canadian-developed radiation therapy tools such as the cobalt beam therapy units sold by AECL's commercial products division.

They feel it has advantages over similar power packs which use strontium-90 because Cobalt-60 represents only a tiny fraction of the radiation hazard. SPECIAL ADVANTAGES

Nuclear power offers special advantages for remote stations where installation, inspection and servicing impose major costs for other electricity sources such as batteries.

With Cobalt-60 fuel, power can be supplied steadily for more than five years and it works unhampered in areas where the low normal temperatures would kill regular batteries.

The pack is an adaptation of a long-known principle—that a hot surface will produce a measurable electric current along two wires.

Instead of copper wires, they used semi-conductors made of bismuth telluride which conducts electricity easily but does not heat, and which produce a high electric voltage for a given surface temperature.

Heat comes from the radioactive cobalt wrapped in a dense metal and insulated against temperature loss. The result is a five-watt power pack in a six by 10-inch unit.

The unit is heavily shielded and emits no more than half the amount of radiation given off by a luminous wrist watch. It is called Maple 1B—for minor atomic prolonged electricity.

AUDITORS' REPORT TO THE COMMISSIONERS

August 16, 1970

We have examined the balance sheet of the Board of Protestant School Commissioners of the City of Sherbrooke as at June 30, 1970 and the statements of revenue and expenditure, general fund deficit, scholarship endowment fund capital and fixed assets fund capital for the year then ended. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the board as at June 30, 1970 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

SAWYERVILLE — A very pretty fall wedding took place in St. Peter's Anglican Church, Cookshire, on Sept. 12, 1970 at 3:30 p.m., when Judith Elsie (Judy), only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid J. Grapes of Sawyerville, was united in holy matrimony to Mervin Dale Brooks, youngest son of Mrs. Clara Brooks, of Pleasantdale, Sask., and the late Mr. Grey Brooks.

Rev. Alan Fairbairn officiated at the double ring ceremony and Mrs. Gill, the church organist played the wedding music. The church was decorated with baskets of hydrangea and gladioli, while the altar was adorned with yellow gladioli and mauve asters. The guest pews were marked with yellow and white rosebuds tied in white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a floor length, heirloom gown of printed white swiss muslin over taffeta, cut on princess lines with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Her hand embroidered tulle veil of finger tip length was held in place by a cap effect of tulle and she carried a cross of yellow roses, lily of the valley and fern centered by two orchids. The gown and veil were worn by the bride's mother on her wedding day, thirty years ago on Sept. 14, 1940. The bride's jewelry were yellow gold cross earrings, the gift of the groom and a large yellow gold locket, set with stones, which was worn by the bride's maternal grandmother on her wedding day, Sept. 8, 1915.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Mahlon Grapes, of Compton, sister-in-law of the bride wore a street length dress of purple panna velvet with white lace and mauve ribbon trim. Her headdress was of yellow rosebuds and green leaves and she carried a nosegay of yellow roses, lily of the valley and fern.

Her jewelry was a gold locket, the gift of the bride. The bridesmaid, Mrs. Ada Buchanan, of Brandon, Man., was unable to be here. The flower girl, little Angela Hodge of Sawyerville, wore an identical dress to the matron of honor and carried a small nosegay of yellow roses. She wore a yellow gold locket, the gift of the bride.

The ring bearer, Darin Brooks of Regina, Sask., nephew of the groom, looked smart in grey slacks, colored shirt and blue blazer. The groom's gift to the ring bearer was a yellow gold signet ring.

Mr. Bruce Grapes, brother of the bride, acted as best man in the absence of Mr. Gerald Brooks, of Regina, Sask., brother of the groom, who was unable to be present. The usher was Mr. Wayne Grapes, of Dorval, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Wilfrid Grapes, mother of the bride, chose a gown of printed arnel and brown alligator accessories with a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Clara Brooks, mother of the groom, wore beige bonded metallic lami with beige accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the cafeteria of Sawyerville High School, where the guest book was in charge of Ann McBurney, of Montreal, cousin of the bride. The bridal table, decorated with white streamers, yellow and mauve pom poms and white bells, was centered with a three tier wedding cake made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. Graydon Winslow. White candles in crystal holders and red roses in rose bowls completed the table arrangement. During the dinner, Mrs. Emma Watt recited a fitting dialogue to the bride and groom.

Following the dinner, the bride and groom left for a short honeymoon, the bride travelling in knitted suit of shades of green and white accessories, with a corsage of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brooks will reside at 806-13th Ave. Apt. 2, Lachine.

Previous to the wedding the bride-to-be was honored with a linen shower, kitchen shower, pantry and miscellaneous shower.

On Wednesday following the wedding, the bride entertained at a Tea at the home of her parents in Sawyerville, for friends and neighbours who were not at the wedding. She was assisted in serving by her mother.

Guests from out of town to attend the wedding were from Regina and Pleasantdale, Sask., Galt, Ont., Canaan, Vt., Hudson, Pointe Claire, Dorval, Lachine, Ville La Salle, Montreal, Westmount, Ormstown, Windsor Mills, Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Bulwer and Cookshire, Que., and the immediate vicinity.

Safety first in driving schools

By CAROL PASCOE
MONTREAL (CP) — Commercial driver-training schools are more profit-conscious than they are safety-conscious, in the view of the general manager of the Province of Quebec Safety League.

"Commercial schools don't care about motor safety or rules of the road," said Paul Leboeuf in a recent interview. "All they care about is selling lessons."

Dealers provide the cars and the instructors are paid "about $2 for the first three hours of lessons, $2.25 for the next couple of hours, maybe $2.50 for the sixth and seventh lessons, and so on."

"Naturally they want to sell as many lessons as they can. But it's the schools, not the instructors, who are making the real money."

JUDGMENT LACKING
Most schools offer a maximum of one hour of driving rules and theory and the remaining time is spent behind the wheel, steering and turning corners.

ment they lack." Such youngsters were similar to persons who drove cars without a thorough knowledge of the rules, courtesies and customs of the road.

The safety league, sponsored by numerous large firms whose employees drive trucks and cars, offers a 27-hour driver-training course for $50. Only six hours are spent behind the wheel.

The other 21 hours are taken up with tests of a driver's vision and reflexes, his judgment in varied situations, his knowledge of highway regulations, the mechanical aspects of a car's operation and even how to fill out an accident report.

"You'd be surprised at how many people don't know what information to get from the other drivers involved in an accident," Mr. Leboeuf said.

Besides testing and instructing drivers for the Montreal post office, Bell Canada and several insurance firms, the league provides training for high school teachers who plan to offer similar courses to students after school.

Members of the public are also invited to take the league course, the only one recognized by the Canadian Underwriters Association. Rates for teen-agers are reduced to $22 for the 27-hour course. An eight-hour defensive driving class is available for $5.

The league uses only permanent instructors, and recommends that drivers undergo stringent tests every five years—more often after the age of 40.

Anniversary service at Minton Church

Minton United Church
The Rev. R. A. Cameron, minister of Chalmers United Church, Richmond, will be guest preacher at the anniversary-thanksgiving service at Minton

United Church on Sunday, October 11th at 2.30 p.m. Special music will be provided by the Baptist and United Church choirs of North Hatley under the direction of Mrs. Glen Bennett.

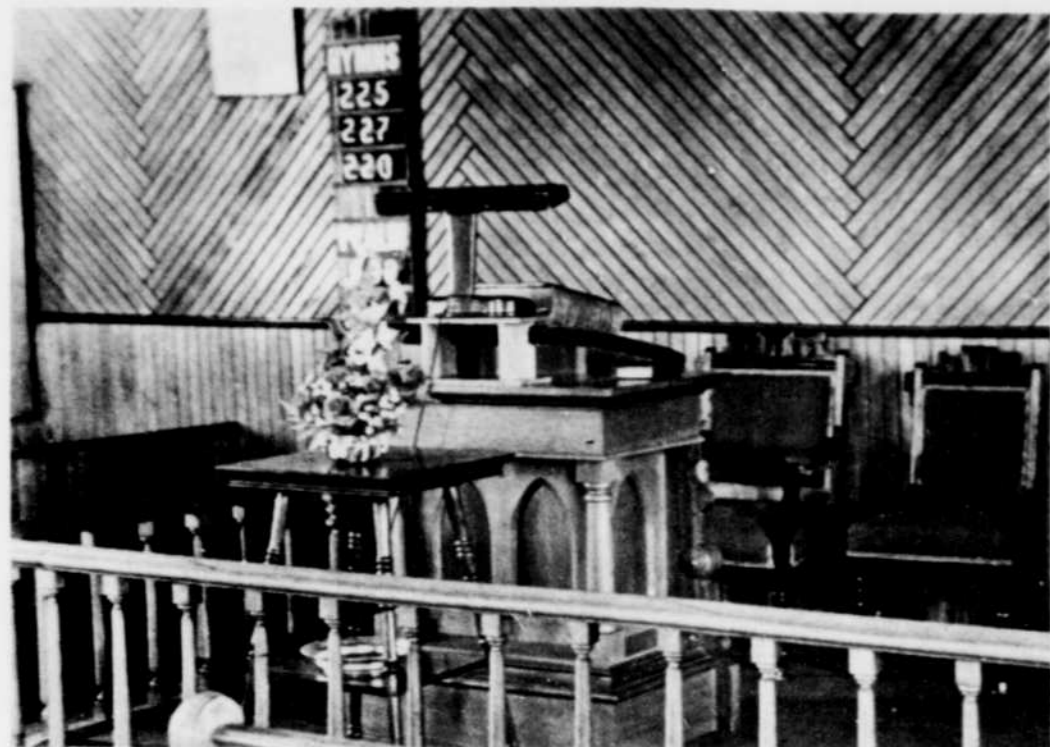

The electric organ, generous gift of an anonymous donor, just over a year ago, will enhance the musical portion of the service just as it has done throughout the year.

The special service will mark the end of the summer season. The interest taken in this small congregation by Rev. A. B. Lovelace, Lennoxville, is in itself an encouragement to carry on the work of the pioneers who built this country church in 1894.

A few faithful families from nearby Suffield - a charge of Minton along with Belvidere and Eustis in years past - join with those left in the Minton area to make up the present congregation.

Visitors are always welcome and seldom does a Sunday pass without one or more. Two former residents, now living in western Canada, attended the afternoon service recently. Descendants of the pioneer families are now scattered from Nova Scotia to the coast of British Columbia and throughout the New England States.

A cordial invitation is extended to members of other congregations in the area as well as any interested friends to attend divine worship in this old country church on Thanksgiving Sunday.

Ferguson retires from hockey

By AL McNEIL

MONTREAL (CP) — John Ferguson decided a long time ago that "when I can't give 100 per cent to hockey then it's time to quit."

Ferguson, 32, a left winger with Montreal Canadiens since 1963 and the National Hockey League's No. 1 policeman, decided Wednesday the time had come.

A Vancouver native, Ferguson's on-ice tough-guy reputation was in direct contrast to an almost demure off-ice image and his retirement reflects the off-ice Ferguson thinking.

"I thought about it most of the summer," Ferguson said. "I decided a long time ago that when I can't give 100 per cent to hockey it's time to give it up."

Ferguson, a partner in a prosperous knitwear firm here, has three daughters and one son, ranging in age from 12 to one.

He said his proposed retirement will "create more time to be with my family."

COULDN'T DIVIDE TIME

"I know other hockey players have business and they still are playing. That's their business. I can't do it."

Ferguson stressed his retirement has nothing to do with salary or displeasure with the Canadiens' management.

Sam Pollock, Canadiens vice-president and general manager, said in a telephone interview from New York where he is attending an NHL governors meeting that he will meet here with Ferguson today. However, Ferguson said his decision is irrevocable.

He was given a six-game suspension last season after a stick-swinging episode in St. Louis with Gary Sabourin of the Blues.

Ferguson's career has been plagued with injuries and suspensions over the last few seasons. He had a cast removed from his right arm Tuesday after being placed a week ago because of bursitis that resulted after he fell during an exhibition game 10 days ago.

He started last season with an injured thumb, played in only 48 of the 76-game schedule and scored 19 goals and assisted on 13 others.

He was given a six-game suspension last season after a stick-swinging episode in St. Louis with Gary Sabourin of the Blues.

During seven regular seasons he scored 129 goals and assisted on 144 others, while amassing 1,052 penalty minutes. In the playoffs he scored 16 goals and 12 assists in 67 games.

His penalty total in the playoffs stands at 224 minutes, including a season record of 80 minutes in 14 games played in 1969.

BEST IN 1968-69

The previous season was Ferguson's best. He scored 29 goals and assisted on 23 in 71 regular-season games and added four goals and three assists in 14 playoff games to help the Canadiens to the Stanley Cup.

During seven regular seasons he scored 129 goals and assisted on 144 others, while amassing 1,052 penalty minutes. In the playoffs he scored 16 goals and 12 assists in 67 games.

Plagued by snow, defence Als blow game in hand

By GERRY SUTTON

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders, cashing in on alert reactions from halfback Ron Stewart and tackle Fred James, won a battle of defenses Wednesday night for an 11-4 win over Montreal Alouettes in a Canadian Football League game.

Stewart, with one of Calgary's three interceptions, combined with James for the biggest defensive play of the interlocking contest, watched by 18,970 fans in a driving snowstorm.

They stopped Montreal quarterback Sonny Wade on a third-down gamble from the Calgary 15, throwing him for a threeyard loss and enabling the Stampeders to take over the ball late in the fourth quarter. Calgary was leading 10-4 at the time.

"If Montreal was going to roll out a guard would give me the inside and go for my legs," said James in an interview. "I waited until the guard made the first move, then I shot and grabbed Wade's legs and hung on."

James, in his fourth year with Calgary, became a regular starter on defence after veteran tackle Granville Liggins suffered a groin injury more than a month ago. Liggins has been placed on the injured reserve list.

IN SECOND SPOT

The victory gave Calgary sole possession of second place in the Western Football Conference with 14 points, two ahead of Edmonton Eskimos, and six behind Saskatchewan Roughriders, British Columbia Lions, still in the playoff battle, have 10 points and a game in hand on both Calgary and Edmonton.

The Alouettes, who lost both games of their Western swing including a 29-10 setback last Sunday to Saskatchewan, remained in first place in the Eastern Football Conference. They have 12 points, two more than Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Most of the scoring came in the third quarter with a 25-yard touchdown pass to Dave Cranmer from quarterback Jerry Keeling accounting for the winning points.

Larry Robinson added the remaining points with a 40-yard field goal, a single and a convert. His field goal gave him a career total of 113, one behind the CFL record held by Don Sutherland, recently released by the Argonauts.

George Springate, with a 30-yard field goal, and Wade's 73-yard single off the crossbar accounted for Montreal's scoring.

Among Calgary's other defensive stars were tackle John Helton, ends Dick Suderman and Craig Kuntz and middle linebacker Wayne Harris.

The Stampeders lost Keeling early in the fourth quarter when he was hit by a Montreal defender during an option play. But the 10-year veteran said he only suffered a rib separation and would play Monday against the Eskimos in Edmonton.

Golf tourney, soccer meet set

SHERBROOKE (SA) —

University of Sherbrooke and Bishop's University shape up as the prime contenders for the Ottawa St. Lawrence Athletic Association Golf Championship to be held Thursday and Friday at the Lennoxville Milby Golf Club.

Bishop's will be going after a third consecutive title in the event.

Last week's Coupe de Quebec tournament saw Bishop's win by five strokes over the 36 holes with Sherbrooke in second place after having held a four stroke lead of the three-quarter mark.

The Sherbrooke aggregation will be looking to revenge that loss, while Royal Military College of Kingston, and Loyola College and Sir George Williams University of Montreal will also be represented.

Eighteen holes will be contested each starting at 11:00 a.m.

PHYS ED INSTRUCTORS MEET

The regional association of the Quebec Physical Education Federation will meet at 7:00 this evening at Sherbrooke CEGEP on Joliet Street.

The recently formed group has as its goals the joint discussion and solution of problems of physical educators in the area.

All regional instructors at the primary, secondary, collegiate and university levels, are cordially invited to attend the meeting this evening.

FOOTBALL HOME

University of Sherbrooke sports director Yvon Lamarche has announced agreement with the University of Sherbrooke Green and Gold hockey squad.

He replaces Denis Auray who has left to join the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association. Plouffe will be no stranger to the task, having filled the same role with both the senior and junior Sherbrooke Beavers.

His knowledge is expected to prove of great value to the university team during the course of their 1970-71 season.

Blank bantams 37-0

AGHRS downs BCS

LENOXVILLE (SA) —

Alexander Galt Regional High School bantams unveiled some promising football players when they overwhelmed Bishop's College School 37-0 yesterday at BCS.

The AGRHS squad had a large size advantage over their opponents and since the BCS crew was as inexperienced as the Alexander Galt side, the physical edge was enough.

Halfback Alfred Aleksa took the first play after the opening kickoff down the right sideline for a major score and the AGRHS team was off to a quick 6-0 lead.

Dave Nichol made it 12-0 with another long breakaway, and Aleksa's run with a recovered fumble on a BCS punt return upped the count to 18-0 after one quarter of play.

when he stepped into a BCS pass pattern and took the ensuing interception all the way to the endzone.

Wally Hartwell put the conversion attempt through the uprights for the 37-0 score, his lone successful kick in three tries.

On two conversion attempts quarterback Bruce Coulter was grounded, and on the other occasion his throw was incomplete.

The AGRHS squad demonstrated enough raw talent that it should be in the running for the bantam sectional title. With a few more games under their belts, such aggressive and therefore forgivable mistakes as tackling on offense should be eliminated and this team will be an impressive unit.
