World News In Brief

Sault Ste. Marie, Jan. 27.—(CP)—Police are investigating the death of Cecilia Boyer, 29, whose frozen body was discovered in a West Koran township schoolyard. But they decline to comment on the possibility of murder until an autopsy Saturday.

The woman's body was found yesterday propped against a wall of the township elementary school by 10-year-old Evelyn Turco. The head born bruises. Blood was on the wall and in surrounding snow.

It is believed the ice-encased body had lain a week in a snowdrift formed by two wings of the school. The body was hidden in snow until revealed by overnight rain and thaw.

Directly above the propped-up body, a window of a washroom was broken.

Miss Boyer worked as a bookkeeper and a waitress. Police are investigating her whereabouts during the two weeks she has been reported missing.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—(CP)—Negotiations have been completed whereby the United Kingdom will buy a maximum of $5,000,000 worth of British Columbia salmon this year, it was learned today.

Quantity involved in the deal is not expected to be announced. Last year Britain spent $7,190,000 for salmon and obtained about 400,000 cases or 19,200,000 pounds. This year's agreement may be about 15,000,000 pounds, although this is not certain.

Funds to purchase the salmon were diverted from the 1949-50 Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement. Under the switching operation, agreement was reached to divert about $25,000,000 to cover purchases of salmon, bacon and east-coast spruce.

Hot Wave In U.S. Appears Nearing End

Chicago, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The late January preview of spring in most of the eastern and southern United States appeared nearing an end today.

A blanket of cold air from the chilled midwest spread across the Ohio River valley and pushed eastward toward the Atlantic seaboard. Some of the cold air was expected to dip into the Gulf coast and send temperatures from their lofty summer readings back to near seasonal levels.

The cold weather still gripped wide areas in the western half of the country. Temperatures moderated over the plains and some of the north-central states, but they remained far below zero in many areas. Montana, one of the coldest spots in the current icy weather, was getting out of the deep-freeze and an end of the sub-zero blasts was in sight.

But the mercury was at a biting 30 below zero in North Dakota and between 20 and 30 below over that state and Minnesota during the night. In the Dakotas and Minnesota only one weather bureau station, Rapid City, S.D., with nine above, reported a reading above zero. The low at Minneapolis was 21.

Freezing rains were forecast for the Columbia river gorge in the "bad weather spot" in the Pacific northwest. Snow fell as far south as southern Oregon. Racked snow and ice made travel hazardous.

Below freezing again was forecast for southern California's citrus areas but warmer weather was in prospect later today.

But mild weather east of the Appalachian mountains again yesterday continued to amaze the people and even fooled the animals. Record readings for the date and for the winter season were set in many cities.

In a Philadelphia zoo, groundhogs, turtles and snakes came out of hibernation. Girls took sun baths on rooftops.

Bees buzzed around a honeysuckle bush in full bloom in Towson, Md. Japanese beetles, a mid-summer pest, appeared near Frederick, Md.

The New Jersey State Health Department warmed by readings in the 70's, issued a list of hints on "how to avoid heat prostration." The Weather Bureau's bulletin indicated the release was premature with a forecast of temperatures in the mid-40's today.

All-time winter heat records were set in Boston yesterday when the mercury climbed to 72, but it was expected to be down in the 30's in the New England region today.

New York City, reporting a record-breaking January mark of 70.5, also expected lower readings today.

In Baltimore, the top mark was 79 and Philadelphia reported an all-time January high of 73.2. Washington basked in 79-degree heat.

Plane Ready To Complete Rescue Trip

R.C.A.F. officers expressed belief that the plane, which stopped at Harrington Harbor, Que., to pick up a nurse and doctor, would be on its way to Montreal with five stretcher cases by noon.

The outbreak of polio at St. Augustin, on the bleak north shore of the Strait of Belle Isle 800 miles northeast of Quebec City, was first reported earlier this week. Nineteen persons were said to have been stricken in the unusual wintertime outbreak and already two deaths have been reported.

The R.C.A.F. Dakota left here at 5.29 a.m. EST and by 7 a.m. had picked up the doctor and nurse at Harrington Harbor. Harrington Harbor is 100 miles west of St. Augustin.

R.C.A.F. officers said the job of landing and taking off on humpy ice at St. Augustin would be a hazardous one with such a large plane as the two-engine Dakota.

If the remaining polio cases need hospital treatment they will be taken to Goose Bay in smaller planes and transferred to larger aircraft for the 1,000-mile Goose-Bay-Montreal flight.

Little Hope Of Lifting Berlin Bars

Berlin, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Gloomy Allied officials today saw little chance of an early end to the Soviet "creeping blockade" against Berlin's highway traffic with western Germany.

Two formal protests by the Allied commandants within a week have failed to protect the city's truck commerce from drastic restrictions by Russian frontier guards.

A jam-up of 400 trucks at Helmstedt, main Soviet checkpoint on the east-west autobahn, today was the worst since last Sunday.

Some cargoes were stalled as much as 40 hours by the Russian slow-down, enforced equally against trucks attempting to enter or to leave the east zone.

West Berlin's basic supplies—food and fuel—were reported ample despite strangulation of the city's road communications.

But Charles A. Dix, American transport chief in Berlin, called the "creeping blockade" a hard blow at West Berlin industries which have been trying to rebuild their interzonal trade.

The city's economic position is desperate. Every fourth West Berlin worker is jobless. Unemployment relief is dependent on donations from the West German republic.

Big Fortune In Odd Coins Is Missing

Ottawa, Jan. 27. — (CP) — A good-sized fortune in silver coins is "missing" from the Royal Canadian Mint, it was disclosed yesterday.

The coins, minted years ago and subsequently superseded by others, are 20-cent and five-cent pieces. Altogether, they would amount to $4,500,000.

The Mint hasn't made a 20-cent piece since 1865 and ever since then officials have been trying to take these coins out of circulation.

In the last 10 years the Mint has recovered 3,802 of the rare pieces. But figures released by the Mint show there are still 41,310 20-cent pieces "somewhere."

The silver five-cent piece makes up the bulk of the missing treasurer. According to the Mint's figures, these are worth $4,461,138.

Another problem will be the recalling of the "Tombac" or bronze five-cent coins minted in the early years of the war. A total of 14,601, 284 are still in circulation and gradually being recovered.

Some 30,404,191 steel five-cent pieces are still in circulation. These have not been recalled, but no longer are being minted. Only five-cent coins made of nickel are being minted at present.

Toronto, Jan. 27. — (CP) — Miss Jean E. Browne of Toronto last night was guest of honor at a banquet marking her retirement as national director of the Junior Red Cross after 28 years.

Eight Countries Sign Pact For United States Arms Aid

By JOHN SCALI

Washington, Jan. 27.— (AP) — Eight Western European countries sign on the dotted line today for $1,000,000,000 in American arms aid.

About three months behind schedule, ambassadors from Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway and Denmark are to put their signatures to separate arms agreements in ceremonies at the State Department.

These documents give in detail the conditions under which the United States will ship guns, tanks, planes, ships, raw materials and machinery to its Atlantic pact allies to bolster their defences against possible Russian attack.

President Truman's formal approval of a master defence plan for the North Atlantic area is expected a few hours later. This plan was worked out in private last month by military chiefs of the 12 Atlantic Pact countries.

The United States Congress specified last October when it approved plans to rearm Western Europe, that the administration must approve the strategy outline before the full $1,000,000,000 in arms could be made available.

Britain, whose objections to American terms delayed the negotiations, was listed as first to sign, with Ambassador Oliver Franks initialling the agreement in the morning before leaving for consultations in London.

Despite the slow start, American officials are confident that American military equipment will begin to move overseas about Feb. 15th. The initial supplies, they estimate, will be on the way to eastcoast ports within a week.

France is to get the biggest chunk of American military help because in any Russian attack on Western Europe its army would be expected to bear the burnt of the initial defence.

While terms of the agreements were kept secret before the signing, officials said in advance that these are the main provisions:

1—Each country pledges to use American military help only for the purposes specified—to strengthen the total defence of the North Atlantic area.

2—All promise to bolster their own defences and to aid other Allies with any weapons and supplies deemed necessary. This is known as the self-help and mutual-aid provision.

3—No country will transfer any American equipment without prior consent of the United States.

4—Strict security measures will be put into effect to make sure arms and secret information remain only in authorized hands.

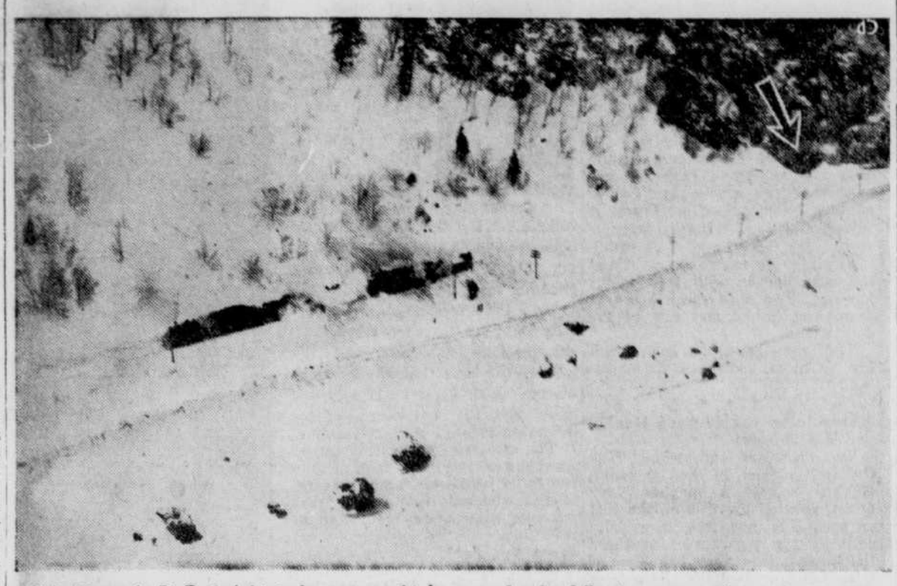

5—Each government agrees to pay the expenses of American military aid missions.

Britain's objections to the wording of the agreement suggested by the United States Nov. 3rd were finally ironed out yesterday.

United States officials said they now have made it plain that economic recovery in Britain will have priority over any obligations to

Dropping Temperatures Fail To Clear Freak Weather Conditions In Canada

By The Canadian Press

The weather pattern in Eastern Canada, butterflies one day and earmuffs the next, had Canadians guessing today. But no more so than had the deep freeze in the west.

In the east, the question was whether today's freezing temperatures would put a permanent end to the balmy breezes that have caused pussy willows to bud and crocuses to sprout. The weather bureau predicted temperatures in the low 20s in Southern Ontario and Quebec—but it wasn't making any long-range forecasts.

The weatherman threw up his hands over the west's prolonged sub-zero spell. The Public Weather office in Winnipeg last night gave this synopsis of the situation: "From the Rockies to the Great Lakes Canadians are getting the deep freeze."

The colder air in Ontario ended the threat of flood damage from rivers swollen by warm rains.

Ended, too, was the mild spell that brought out a few hardy golfers at Goderich, Ont., Thursday. Pussywillows and crocuses were reported at the village of Harrow in Western Ontario — months ahead of schedule.

The butterfly was seen in Toronto, where the mercury hit 59 above yesterday. A low of 25 was expected today.

Flood waters caused damage. Hardest hit was North Bay, Ont., where the Chippewa Creek burst its banks while the city slept. Damage estimated at $10,000 was caused before the creek was dynamited and an ice blockade removed.

Thirty-two persons were rescued by firemen.

The damper was put on mid-50 temperatures in Ottawa and Montreal when cold air and snowflurries moved in late Thursday. The mercury was expected to drop to 20 or 25 today.

But 50 families wearily returned to their water-soaked homes near Montreal Thursday as the swollen St. Lawrence river receded. Great chunks of ice were spilled across highways and thumped against homes on the shoreline.

Record-high temperatures for Jan. 26 were experienced in some parts of the Maritimes. At Moncton, N.B., it was 55, and Saint John and Charlottetown both tabulated 45's.

Vancouver housewives stood in line in 10-below-zero weather to receive coal rations. Some coal yards were doling it out in two or three sacks "cash and carry" style.

A cold-weather record has been set in Lethbridge, Alta. During the last 30 days residents shivered in temperatures averaging 13.7 degrees below. Since Dec. 27, there were 15 consecutive days during which temperatures didn't go above 5.5 below. The mercury dropped lower than 40 below four times—once to 44.5.

Dual Slaying Held Part Of Tribal Rite

Manila, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A weird story that two American professors were slain in a primitive Filipino tribal rite on Christmas Day was told to the United States Embassy today.

The two, Robert F. Conklin of Springfield, Mass., and Marvin Pittman of Chicago, disappeared on a hiking tour in wild country 150 miles northeast of Manila. Their bodies later were recovered and were cremated here.

Robbery previously had been ascribed as a motive. Six Ifugao tribesmen, who once were headhunters, are held for the slayings.

The new version of the slaying was told to James L. Meader, public affairs officer of the Embassy, by investigators who have been questioning the six.

This is the story:

The two professors, members of the Philippines University staff, just happened to come along at a time when crops were poor. Tribal witch doctors were looking for a sacrifice to regenerate the soil.

The tribe at a meeting decided to sacrifice the professors, who had come to its village looking for guides.

Tribesmen agreed to accompany Pittman and Conklin. They stopped at a spot selected for the sacrifice. The headman came up and plunged his spear into the back of each professor, in accordance with custom. The others then completed the killing and placed the bodies in a primitive irrigation canal.

"The theory was that the water flowing over their bodies would spread their spirit over the rice and garden plots of the tribe far down the valley, giving new fertility to the soil," Meader said he was told.

The bodies were left in the irrigation ditch until patrols came looking for the white men. The bodies then were taken to another spot in a canyon and buried in a shallow grave.

Meader was told the tribesmen even diverted a small stream to flow over the grave so that the

Police Post Receptacle For Jewels

Marseille, Jan. 27—(AP)—Half of the Aga Khan's stolen fortune in jewelry — $420,000 worth of gems—turned up mysteriously on a police-station doorstep last night.

French police, looking for the last six months for tommy-gunners who held up the Moslem leader on a Riviera highway last Aug. 3, found the valuables in a package outside the Ninth Police Brigade station here after an anonymous telephone tip-off.

The police first estimated the find at $280,000 in value. Three experts, hurriedly summoned, raised the apprisal to $420,000.

Investigators announced no theories as to who tossed the mysterious package. Presumably it came from one of the hold-up gang, possibly alarmed by a series of arrests recently.

Nine men were arrested last week for alleged participation in the daring highway hold-up in which the fabulously - wealthy Moslem potentate and his wife lost gems worth between $700,000 and $850,000.

Investigating authorities have said they knew the jewels still were in France, probably in the hands of a Corsican named Paul Leca. A hunt has been under way for Leca.

The Aga Khan, father-in-law of film star Rita Hayworth, and his wife, the Begum, were robbed as they drove away from their Riviera estate near Cannes.

Four men, armed with tommy-guns, halted their automobile on the open highway and seized the Begum's jewelry. The couple was en route to Deauville to visit Miss Hayworth and her husband, Prince Aly Khan, the Aga Khan's son.

Seeks Fresh Inquiry On Espionage

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, Jan. 27. — (AP) — Producing a fresh sheaf of documents from Whittaker Chambers, Representative Richard Nixon (Rep. Calif.,) today demanded a new Congressional investigation into wartime Communist spy activities.

Nixon quoted Chambers — an admitted courier for a Soviet espionage ring in the war years—as saying he got the eight new documents from the late Harry Dexter White, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

White died in 1948, a short time after denying to the un-American Activities Committee that he had ever passed on confidential data to Chambers.

The photographic copies which Nixon showed the House of Representatives yesterday dealt with such things as American policy toward Japan and the assignment of an American navy captain to Britain in 1938 as a "secret liaison man."

Nixon said that on the basis of these papers he will insist that the House Committee, of which he is a member, resume the spy inquiry it suspended during the two perjury trials of Alger Hiss, former State Department official.

Hiss was convicted last Saturday and was sentenced to five years imprisonment. He had denied to a grand jury that he gave secret government documents to Chambers.

Nixon told reporters there may have been justification for not pursuing the committee inquiry while the Hiss case was in the courts, but said this justification no longer exists.

In a one-hour speech in the House, Nixon denounced the administration's attitude in the case and said the Justice Department once had considered prosecuting Chambers instead of Hiss.

Had that course been followed, he said, the effect would have been to ruin any case against Hiss and others because their principal accuser would have been "an indicted perjurer."

Nixon also claimed that President Truman had access to a secret memorandum dated Nov. 25, 1945, saying the Russians had an agent in the United States "who was an assistant" to Edward R. Stettinius, then Assistant Secretary of State.

Nixon made clear he believed the reference was to Hiss, who resigned from government service in 1947. Nixon said Hiss was Stettinius' assistant at the Yalta Conference.

The 1949 memorandum, he said, was prepared by a United States intelligence agency and was based on information given by Igor Gouzenko. Gouzenko was a Soviet code clerk in Canada who supplied information that led to espionage trials and convictions in Canada in 1946.

The Californian said he has had the Chambers papers since December, but had "intended to say nothing" about them. Then he decided to present them to back up Chambers' testimony that he received such papers from White.

Jewelry Store Hold-Up Is Latest Crime Wave Report

Montreal, Jan. 27—(CP) — Three armed men today robbed Paul Rolland's midtown jewelry store of an estimated $20,000 worth of gems, rings and watches.

The three men walked into the Mount Royal Avenue jewelry store shortly after it opened this morning, held up a clerk and took the loot from a safe.

The jewelry robbery followed a wave of bank holdups in the Montreal area. Wednesday $10,000 was taken from a branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale at St. Scholastique, 30 miles northwest of here.

Yesterday a lone gunman robbed a bank branch at suburban L'Abord a Plouffe of $800 and almost at the same time another pair of bandits took $1,691 from a Provincial Bank of Canada branch at Yamaska.

Meanwhile, police announced they had made five arrests in connection with the bank robberies and had cleared two other men of suspicion.

The two men cleared are Winfield W. Martin, 26, and Leo T. Gibbons, 26. They were picked up yesterday by police investigating the L'Abord a Plouffe holdup but the bank manager failed to identify them in a police line-up.

Later they were found to have escaped with a third man Wednesday from the county jail at Bennington, Vt. During the night the third man, George Patrick, 22, was arrested when he asked for a night's lodging at a police station.

All three are being held for return to the United States.

Detective Lieut. Marcel Patenaude did not immediately identify the three men and two women arrested in connection with the Yamaska robbery. Two were captured shortly after the holdup when a car crashed into a pole and its two occupants ran into the woods. Police chased them and brought them into Montreal.

Yamaska is 80 miles southeast of here.

The L'Abord a Plouffe robbery was the second time in two weeks and the third time in six months that the bank branch there had been robbed. Manager Hector Lortie was alone when the gunman entered the bank yesterday and demanded money.

Poultry Industry Welcomes Egg Price Support Policy

Ottawa, Jan. 27.— (CP) —Canada's poultry industry today welcomed the stabilizing effect of the government's new egg price-support program.

Early reaction from agricultural experts and poultrymen across Canada appeared generally favorable to the plan whereby the government guarantees packing plants and other cold-storage operators 38 cents a dozen plus cost of storage on all unsold surplus eggs at the end of this year.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner, announcing the program at a press conference yesterday, said the 38-cent price will be paid on all eggs stored as Grade A large. Grade A medium eggs will be supported at 36 cents.

He estimated that the cost of storage may amount to about four or five cents a dozen, bringing the cost to the government as high as 42 or 43 cents.

The price of 42-43 cents a dozen compares with an average price of 47 cents obtained under the United Kingdom egg contract in 1949.

It was loss of the U.K. egg market, announced by Mr. Gardiner last December, that brought the government under heavy pressure from the poultry industry to introduce a price support program.

Last year the U.K. contract provided Canadian producers with a $20,000,000 market for some 43,000,000 dozen eggs. The U.K. is buying eggs from sterling areas this year to conserve her low dollar reserves.

Dr. J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for British Columbia, appeared to sum up the average reaction to the new floor price with the comment that egg producers will "not get rich but they won't suffer a loss."

He added that he thought the program "excellent."

C. F. Luckman of St. Williams, Ont., chairman of the National Poultry Council, said the program is "much better than the guessing that has been going on. Actually, although the price is low, it's not too far off what we asked."

Two B.C. poultrymen however questioned the value of the price-support program. L. H. Carr of Buckerfields, Ltd., Vancouver, one of B.C.'s biggest egg and feed dealers, said the guaranteed price will mean continuing contraction in the industry.

Barry Creelman, secretary-manager of B.C.'s Surrey Co-operative, said marginal producers—those just getting by—will not be helped by the government measure.

F. Waldo Walsh, Nova Scotia's Deputy Minister of Agriculture, said the program should be of long-range benefit to domestic consumers.

He said the price is "sufficient" to keep the more efficient producers in business.

Agricultural experts in Ottawa estimated that the retail prices of eggs likely will climb five and six cents a dozen within the next few days as a result of the price-support announcement.

Mr. Gardiner estimated the

The Doctor Says:

TRUE SOURCE OF INFECTION CAN'T BE TRACED IN ALL CASES

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

The idea that infection in such places as the teeth or tonsils could cause trouble elsewhere in the body is old but the late Dr. Frank Billings of Chicago had much to do with its modern study.

Jordan

The early studies by Billings and his coworkers indicated that many patients with chronic arthritis, chronic infection of the kidneys and various other infections were relieved after the removal of an abscessed tooth or infected tonsils or after treatment of other chronic infections.

Now these reports started a terrific hunt for infected teeth, tonsils, gallbladder, sinus, and the like, in the hope that nearly every disease would clear up if only one could find the true source of the infection in some distant location.

The enthusiasm for this search went much faster and farther than the facts justified. Teeth were removed wholesale and tonsils were cut out without any real sign of infection.

Went Too Far

The results of all this cutting and removal was inevitable. The pendulum swung in the opposite direction and many physicians came to feel that there was nothing in focal infection (the name given to this theory) at all.

Probably this has led, at least in some instances, to leaving bad tonsils or a tooth with a root abscess in place when they should have come out to the benefit of some cases of sciatica, iritis or similar disorders.

There is no method by which one can trace the poison going from one place to another. The decision has to be made in each case on its merits. I know that if I had a certain kind of sciatica, iritis or arthritis and also had a definitely abscessed tooth, I should have the tooth out even knowing that this might not cure the condition.

At present a reasonable approach to focal infection is coming to be accepted. It is almost certain possible for poisons and perhaps even germs to be absorbed into the system from an abscessed tooth or diseased tonsils. In some cases this absorption probably causes symptoms elsewhere in the body.

If the infected tissue is removed or treated early enough the symptoms elsewhere may clear up entirely. The problem is to decide what kinds of symptoms may be relieved by such action and whether it is justified in a particular case.

Following the passing of Rev. Mr. Robertson in 1913 there have been several clergymen who kept pace with the times and left a record of love and service.

The Cookshire Church, St. Peter's, has many beautiful memorials; stained glass windows to the memory of Rev. Jonathan Taylor, Hon. John Henry and Mrs. Pope, several clergy, Mrs. Elizabeth Trigge, a devoted worker for the church and parish, Miss Lena Bailey who was organist for fifteen years, and many others. Cookshire Parish is a leading force in the religious life of Eaton Township, and in Compton, all having developed from the day when Rev. Jonathan Taylor began his work as preacher and teacher in a newly opened country.

THE RIDDLE OF PATIENCE WORTH

Next time you meet a fellow who doesn't believe in anything he can't measure with a slide rule, ask him to give you a logical explanation of the documented case history of Patience Worth. . . .

On a July evening in 1913, two St. Louis housewives, a Mrs. John Curran and a Mrs. Emily Hutchings, were amusing themselves with an ouija board—a parlor pastime as popular then as Canasta is now. Suddenly Mrs. Curran felt a strong pressure on her hands and the pointer began to spell out a message: "Many moons ago I lived. Again I come. Patience Worth my name."

When the skeptical housewife asked to know more about the lady at the other end of the line, the board immediately answered that Patience Worth had been born in Dorsetshire, England, in 1694, and had always wanted to be a writer.

So began the strangest literary collaboration in the history of psychic phenomena, and during the next 15 years, with Mrs. Curran acting as medium, Patience Worth turned out four full-length novels and almost 2,500 poems—3,000,000 words in all.

The first noval, "A Story Tale," was published by the reputable and unsensationally-minded firm of Henry Holt and Co., and when The New York Times reviewed it on July 8, 1917, it said, "This long and intricate tale of Jewish and Roman life during the time of Christ is constructed with the precison and accuracy of a master hand. It is a wonderful, a beautiful and a noble book."

The second novel, "Hope Trueblood," was the story of a peasant girl in 17th Century England, and it was extolled by a London reviewer as "a landmark of fiction." And in "Braithwaite's Anthology of Poetry for 1917," there were three poems by Vachel Lindsay, three by Amy Lowell, one by Edgar Lee Masters, and five by Patience Worth.

The easy explanation for this phenomenon, of course, is that the St. Louis housewife was a talented writer who had invented the story of Patience Worth to get herself a little publicity. But before you make up your mind, consider the following:

At the beginnning, Mrs. Curran got her messages via the ouija board a letter at a time, but halfway through the first book, she beban to "see" whole words and sentences, and from then on she dictated to her husband at the rate of 110 words per minute. And hardly a dozen of the 3,000,000 words were of a vintage later than the 17th Century.

A great deal of her writing was done in the presence of reliable witnesses and investigators, and etymologists who examined her prose and poetry testified that it was impossible, without years of study and training, for a person to compose as much as a short story in 17th Century English. Moreover, they unanimously agreed that the middle-class housewife who had never gone to high school and never been out of Missouri was the last person in St. Louis to write a 70,000-word narrative in iambic blank verse in 70 hours.

Many other oddish facts about this medium confused the psychologists and non-believers who came to investigate. Mrs. Curran often worked on three or four stories simultaneously, and would skip from one to the other in the course of a sitting without losing track of the narratives. And once, when her husband mislaid an early chapter of "A Sorry Tale," Patience Worth obligingy dictated it all over again.

In St. Louis in 1920, before an audience of writers, scientists and civic leaders at the Artists' Guild, Patience Worth was asked through Mrs. Curran to make up a 25-line poem, each line beginning with a different letter of the alphabet—which she did without faltering, going from "a" to "z" and leaving out the letter "x" as per instruction.

Who was Patience Worth? Well, various researchers went into this carefully and reported that a girl by that name was born in 1694 in Dorsetshire County, England; that some 30 years later she migrated to America, and was killed during an Indian attack in King Philip's War. And that many of the architectual landmarks referred to in her novels are still standing in Dorsetshire, and local records indicate that others had existed around 1694.

Patience Worth stopped communicating with Mrs. Curran in 1928, and Mrs. Curran died nine years later, but to this day nobody has been able to successfully ridicule this greatest-of-all literary riddles. Many psychologists agree with Dr. Walter Franklin Prince of the Boston Society for Psychic Research who, after spending considerable time on the case, said, "Either our concept of what we call the subconscious must be radically altered so as to include potencies of which we hitherto have had no knowledge, or else some cause operating through, but not originating in, the subconscious of Mrs. Curran must be acknowledged."

Power Charges And Valuation Debated As Manufacturers And Aldermen Meet

The additional burden placed upon local manufacturing concerns through the City Council action in reducing the discount on electricity bills from ten to three per cent was discussed at a meeting this week between members of the City Council and a delegation from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce. The representatives of the local industries declared that the reduction in the discount rate, which amounted to an advance in charges, served to increase production costs and worked against the competitive position of the local firms.

The delegation included: G. M. Young, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce; George Dick, Canadian Ingersoll-Rand; Marvin A. Law, Dominion Burlington Mills; M. Weldon, Dominion Textile Company; John Coyle, Carnation Milk; A. L. Stringer, Sheer Silk Hosiery Mills; H. Peterson and H. MacRae, Julius Kayser Company; C. E. Bassett, Canadian Fairbanks-Morse; A. A. Munster, Canadian Silk Products; H. R. Neville, Manganese Steel Castings; C. E. Joslin, Panther Rubber; Leonard Desautels. The Superheater Company, and Gaston Taillon, Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce..

Representatives of the Manufacturers' Association stressed they were not asking for favors, but rather that they be given the same opportunity to compete in industrial markets as other industries all over the Dominion. The competition today, when many new industries set up by the war are vieing with each other, is as keen as it has ever been in the country's history, and Sherbrooke industries do not only serve Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships but have to compete all over Canada, in the United States, and in Europe.

If industries in other provinces can produce their goods more cheaply than Sherbrooke, the city will be unable to get enough orders to keep their plants fully busy. Activities will be curtailed, employees turned out, and many of these employees will come under the care of the city. The industries in turn will not get the same volume of business, for local sales will drop if there are many unemployed in a city.

The question of increased power cost was raised as a result of the reduction of the discount rate from 10 per cent to 3 per cent. This represents a 7.8 per cent increase when figured from the previous base of 90.

Sherbrooke is off the beaten path. The cost of obtaining and bringing in needed raw materials, as well as shipping costs to outside markets, is comparatively higher than in other cities. Many of the bargains obtainable by other industries, as a result of mass accumulation of raw materials in bigger centres, are not available to operators in this area. This would have an adverse effect on efforts of the Mayor and City Council who are trying to attract other industries to Sherbrooke.

Property revaluation was another important item. Mr. Lacroix, a tax expert, has been employed by the city to revamp the entire property evaluation and tax system in the City of Sherbrooke. It is considered important that the City Council immediately make an announcement of their intentions regarding the taxation of moveable property.

Inasmuch as industry has to plan two to five years ahead, there will of course be a tendency to withhold any expansion or new developments and there will also be a tendency for new industries to stay away from Sherbrooke until this point is made clear. Mr. Lacroix's system will take two years to install and during this time there could be a retarding effect on Sherbrooke expansion if clarification on this point is not forthcoming.

The members of the City Council present indicated their sympathy with industry's problems as presented; however, they also pointed out that they had difficulty in meeting their liabilities and that the money to do this had to be raised somehow.

As far as the 7.8% power increase is concerned, they indicated that they could not revert to the previous 10% discount rate until after March when the study of the local budget would be completed. They indicated that if by this time revenues were sufficient or revenues from other sources of taxation could be obtained, it might be possible to revert to the previous 10% discount rate and possibly give industry refunds on the amounts already paid.

The City Council in turn asked the advice of the Manufacturers' Association and of the Chamber of Commerce on certain questions involving revisions of the City Charter and other methods of equitable taxation. Both these associations promised to set up committees to study these problems immediately and to let the City Council have the benefit of their advice at the earliest opportunity. One of these problems involves the question of applying sales tax in Sherbrooke, similar to the practice followed in Montreal, Quebec and other large centres.

It was revealed at the meeting that it might be equitable, and would certainly be less harmful, to apply a small sales tax in order to increase revenue to meet increased operating expenses. In this way the load would be shared by the two hundred and fifty thousand people who live within a radius of 35 miles of the city and come to share the assets available in larger centres, instead of all being imposed on the local residents. People must be made to realize, of course that such a tax is necessary to the efficient operation of a better community.

Aspiring aldermen and other members of the City Council who come up for election in the spring would do well to study these problems and take a stand on them one way or another.

Annual Reunion Of Employees Of City Hall

With Mayor Alphonse Trudeau and the members of the City Council as specially invited guests, the annual dinner of the City Hall employees was held in the Mayfair room of the New Sherbrooke Hotel last evening.

The gathering was presided over by Jean-Marie Dupont, president of the local branch of the Federation of Civic Employees, who welcomed the members of the Federation and the guests.

Mayor Trudeau, in expressing the appreciation of the Council at having the privilege of attending the reunion, reviewed the many improvements that had been effected in the working conditions of the City Hall staff over the past few years. Many of these improvements, he indicated, had resulted from the activities of the Federation. The City Council, he said, was fully in sympathy with the employees in their desire to improve their position and continued that the mere plea that funds were not available was no excuse for the payment of famine salaries. If municipal revenues were insufficient to pay reasonable wages to the workers, it was the duty of the administration to see that additional revenues were obtained.

Following the dinner, the evening was spent in cards and dancing. Several violin selections were given by Maurice Lacroix, of the City Hall staff.

Further Evidence Of Terrorism Given As Rocque Hearing Starts Fifth Day

Further evidence of acts of terrorism against members of the Quebec Provincial Police during the one-day blockade of the highways leading into Asbestos last May were given this morning as the trial of Rene Rocque, organizer for the Asbestos Workers' Syndicate, started its fifth day. Rocque is appearing before the Court of King's Bench on charges of incitement to violence and intimidation in connection with the outbreak which culminated the extended strike in the asbestos mining area last spring.

Leo-Paul Quevillon, of the Provincial Police, this morning corroborated testimony of Detectives Therrien and Legault as to acts of violence committed by the strikers on May 5.

He also was taken to the basement of St. Aime's Church after the strikers stoned the police car.

Quevillon identified Rocque and that that the accused asked him for his badge, his wallet and identification, which he later returned.

On the stage, where the officers were detained, a man by the name of Girard was addressing the crowd, through the loudspeaker, telling them not to make so much noise that they, meaning the police, "had had enough," and they would decide what to do with them.

Witness said he approached Father Camirand saying "We are four officers of the Provincial Police, you can see that we are hurt— we ask your protection." He said the priest answered—"Make your arrangements with them" meaning the strikers.

In cross-question, Detective Quevillon said that when he and his companions were being stoned, he fired his gun in the air, because he was afraid.

Elphege Larochelle, of Asbestos, trucker in the employ of the Town of Asbestos, testified that he left Asbestos on the morning of May 5, to get some gravel but was stopped by the strikers on the Danville road. He was told to move his truck to the side of the road, and remain there, in case of need. He said some of the crowd mentioned the name of Rocque and pointed him out in a group of the strikers.

Asking for the protection of the court, Lionel St. Louis, of Danville, said he was among the strikers. He attended the meeting on May 4 and said there was some question of a password for the next morning. The password was "six o'clock tomorrow morning at the church hall."

Young, St. Louis said he believed Rocque was giving the order next morning and identified the accussed in court.

He went to the picket line and was there when the police car arrived. He admitted that the strikers stoned the car but said he could not see very clearly as he was at the back of the crowd which he estimated at 400.

Yesterday afternoon Detective Jules Legault, provincial police, testified that he received instructions to go to Asbestos on May 5, and that he accompanied Detectives Therrien, Favreau and Quevillon.

On the road between Danville and Asbestos their car was stopped, he said, by trucks blocking the road. He corroborated Detective Therrien's testimony to the effect that the strikers, threw stones at the car, shattering all the windows. He said the men were armed with branches of trees, iron bars, stones and sticks, and that, after disarming the officers, they took them, to the accompaniment of jeering and blaspheming, to the basement of St. Aime's Church.

Witness said after he arrived there were 11 of his fellow officers brought in and placed with him on the stage. He said that Rocque was there and at one time shouted "Let's kill them all now."

Detective Legault claimed that he asked Father Camirand, the chaplain, to appease the crowd saying "We're here to protect the population, not to make trouble. I'm not a tramp and neither are my friends." He added that he told the chaplain he came from a good family, that there were three priests in his own family, and that he had a son studying for the priesthood.

He said Father Camirand told him to "Go and sit down with the strikers—we'll take care of you."

Witness, during cross-questioning by Defense Attorney Alexandre Chevalier, K. C., said that when he, Therrien and the other two officers were stopped on the Danville road, it was because of the trucks blocking the road. Detective Therrien had said previously that the stones forced him to stop his car.

Detective Legault said he did not use his guns before he was disarmed, and did not think any of his companions did.

A young student, Jean-Claude Vincent, of Asbestos, said he was returning home from Sherbrooke at about 10.45 p.m. on May 5, by bus, and that their vehicle was stopped outside of Asbestos by strikers barring the road. He estimated the crowd at about 200 and said that one of them entered the bus saying he was looking for "scabs." Vincent said the bus driver exchanged a few words with the striker as did some of the other five or six passengers, but he was silent.

Questioned by Crown Prosecutor Noel Dorion, K.C., as to the reason for his silence, the boy answered, "Two of my brothers were working there and I was afraid it might be dangerous for me to say anything under the circumstances."

According to Vincent the bus was stopped again further on, for the same reason.

Louis-Philippe Bourbeau, of Asbestos, one of the strikers, said that Rocque was in Asbestos on May 5, and that he was directing the strikers to the picket lines. Witness added, however, that they were told by Rocque "not to touch the police," that the war was one against the "scabs."

He went to the picket lines and remained there until night-time. After persistent questioning he reluctantly admitted that the strikers threw stones at the police cars, and that the men took the officers as prisoners to the church hall.

In the evening he said all the strikers received instructions to go back to the church hall, which they did.

There they were told that only the Wotton and Danville roads would be watched, because it was believed that police reinforcements would arrive. Shortly after they left to picket these spots, they were recalled and told that a large police contingent "armed to the teeth" was coming in through the St. Georges road. Witness said he then went home.

Robert April, also a striker, was at the meeting on May 4th and said that both Father Camirand and the accused were there. He used his car during the day of the 5th to bring sandwiches and soft drinks to the strikers at the picket lines. In the evening he said Rocque asked him to drive him to the Danville road. He did so, Rocque got out of the car and spoke to one of the men there. Witness said he was told by Rocque that the man in question was a reporter. He then took him back to the hall.

Earlier in the day, Stanley Sears, chief of the safety department for the Canadian Johns-Manville, said that the plant, during this period, operated a working day shift and a skeleton staff at night.

When he went to the plant on the morning of May 5th he said that a truck and two cars, in addition to a number of strikers, were blocking the intersection of two streets near the plant. Asked by Crown Prosecutor Roland Dugre, K.C., if any of the men already in the plant could get out, the witness answered "It might have been possible for them to get out but I would have considered it dangerous."

Although his working hours were completed, Mr. Sears said he notified his assistant that he would stay there until some arrangement was made for adequate protecton of the plant.

Fifty Local Boys To See Canadiens Game Here Free

Fifty lucky Sherbrooke youngsters will see the Sherbrooke Saints-Montreal Canadiens exhibition match here next week free—as guests of the Sherbrooke Optimist Club, Don Clowery, Optimist president announced today.

The club has purchased fifty tickets which will be distributed without charge. To qualify for one of these tickets, Mr. Clowery said, the boy must write to the Sherbrooke Optimist Club, stating his name and address and the name of his favorite player on both Sherbrooke and Montreal teams.

Every evening next week ten letters will be drawn from among those received. The earlier the letters are mailed, the more chances there will be of winning. From the fifty ticket holders one name will be drawn and this boy will assist at the facing of the puck the night of the game.

This distribution of free tickets is being done by the club, President Clowery stated, to enable the youth of Sherbrooke to see top hockey, and thus develop an interest in the game, especially minor hockey.

Address of the Optimist Club is either P. O. Box 607, or in care of the LaSalle Hotel.

Educational Theatre Opens At Lennoxville

The children's educational theatre was reopened in Lennoxville early this month with a large enrolment of pupils from six to 14 years of age. Instruction is given in tap and novelty dances and a course in dramatic art, which comprises instruction in self-expression, diction, poise, deportment and self-control through the medium of the drama.

Mrs. Donald Ross, who is again supervising the course, studied dramatic art at Morningside College, Sioux City, Iowa. Mrs. Ashley Hunting and Mrs. Guy Littlejohn, who originally inaugurated the school, are assisting Mrs. Ross. Both have studied for a number of years under the direction of Mrs. Ross and Miss Katherine Buchanan, B.A., dancing instructor of Los Angeles.

Reinforcements Aid Search For Young Waterloo Man Missing Since Saturday

Waterloo, Que., Jan. 27.—Some one-hundred and fifty volunteers and police are continuing the search for 18-year-old mute and partially deaf Andrew Larsen, who has been missing from his home since last Saturday. A six-day search has failed to uncover any trace of the youth.

Yesterday a garage keeper reported that on Sunday evening he saw a youth meeting Larsen's description but when police investigated the person seen by the garage men was not Larsen.

A detailed search of farmlands along the highway leading to Bonsecours, Que., 20 miles away failed to produce any clues.

The heart-broken father, Aage Larsen, 45, believes his son may be still alive if he was able to find shelter from the storm and cold. He said the boy was well dressed when last seen. He wore heavy pants, rubber boots, a thick lined parka and a cap.

The whole countryside has been alerted to keep a sharp look-out for the youth who is five feet five inches tall, weighs 125 pounds and has blue eyes and blond hair.

The youth set out around 4 p.m. Saturday on what his father believed was one of his usual strolls through the surrounding farmlands where he often went to observe birds and small wild animals.

As hope faded that the boy is still alive, Waterloo Police Chief Antonin Robillard, who has been heading search parties, issued an appeal for more volunteers.

The Larsen farmhouse, located about three miles from Waterloo on the Ste. Anne de Stukely road has been turned into a temporary station for Red Cross volunteers who provide hot food and drink for the searchers.

A Waterloo hotel owner, Clovis Hamel, has offered a $200 reward to anyone discovering the youth

A REAL CONTEST IN BRITAIN

Britain's five-year experiment in socialism faces its first test on February 23. Canada and the rest of the world will be watching keenly the outcome of the general election set for that date.

The Labor Party was catapulted into power on July 5, 1945, by a 200-seat margin in the House of Commons. With that sweeping mandate, it proceeded to nationalize the coal industry, electric utilities, the railroads, most civil aviation and some truck lines. It laid the ground for government ownership of the steel business. The controversial national health service was created.

Whichever way the February 23 election goes, wild claims and counter-claims as to its meaning are sure to be flung about. So it is well to be clear what really will be at issue.

The Labor Party proposes to continue socializing Britain by extending government control to the cement, sugar and meat distribution industries and possibly others.

Under Winston Churchill's leadership, the Conservative Party does not propose to restore to private ownership any industry now run by the government. Nor does it plan to toss out the health and other social services which in this country would be called "welfare state" measures. The Conservatives actually promise more such services.

On the other hand, they do intend to scrap nationalization of steel (set to take effect Jan. 1, 1951) and to bar any further socializing of industry. And they pledge lower taxes and government expenditures.

So the question is not maintenance of the welfare state, nor of such socialism as already exists. The issue in this voting test will be whether or not to extend socialism.

Predicting the winner would be hazardous. Since capturing 393 of 640 House seats in 1945, Labor has won all 35 of the special elections held to fill vacancies. That would suggest its chances of staying in power another five years are good.

As compared with 1945 majorities, however, Labor's winning margins in these special elections have declined. Some British newspapers consider the drop sufficient to overturn the party if the same results are projected nation-wide in the general election.

The Conservatives find further encouragement in the sharp swing away from Labor in last year's local elections and the recent public opinion polls showing a loss of popularity for the Labor regime.

But no one can be sure what these signs really portend. A switch of just five or six per cent of the vote to the Conservative side could put that party back in power by a comfortable parliamentary margin. But Labor could see its advantage cut by two or perhaps three per cent without losing the reins. It's a contest.

CANADIAN TRADE POSITION STILL STRONG

The Canadian business atmosphere is in some degree clouded by uncertainty and cooled by adverse trade winds from overseas, reports the Bank of Montreal in its latest Business Review, issued today. But while there is general acceptance of the possibility that 1950 may see some recession from the peaks achieved in 1949, a survey of foreseeable prospects strongly suggests that the year will still witness reasonably good business conditions, the Bank believes.

Summarizing important factors on the side of stability, the Bank points to the lack of "reckless optimism" in Canada's post-war economic expansion; to the absence, by and large, of dangerously speculative positions in inventories; to the level of private debt, which, though rising, has not become "unduly high"; and to the non-existence of any large volume of stock market speculation "precariously poised on a foundation of borrowed money."

One of the most reassuring elements in the outlook, the statement notes, is the probability that new capital investment in plant, equipment and housing will continue on a large scale. Home building was expected to continue with little abatement in 1950. The demand for schools, hospitals, highways and public utility facilities was still "impressively large."

It is in overseas trade that immediate difficulties are most apparent, the Review says. However, after sizing up the situation, it concludes that "if the U. S. market for our exports remains strong, prospective reductions in shipments to other countries would have a relatively small effect on our total export trade." The upturn in American business since last summer and the general optimism there minimized the possibility of any sharp general drop in United States demand for Canadian products in the immediate future. There seemed reasonable hope that "the Canadian dollar proceeds of exports to the United States would be well maintained during the present year."

After discussing the uncertain outlook for Canadian exports to Britain, Western Europe and other soft currency areas, the Bank finds it "difficult to avoid the conclusion that total exports of Canadian merchandise will be down somewhat in 1950", although "the aggregate decline is not likely to be of catastrophic proportions."

The Canadian appetite for imported capital and consumer goods will probably remain high, the Review comments. It was possible that Canada's favourable balance of total merchandise trade, already reduced in the past year, might contract further in 1950 or even turn unfavourable "to a modest extent." However, the country was starting the year with reserves of gold and United States dollars somewhat improved.

All this suggests that new capital investment, while possibly little reduced, will probably not increase. Export trade was likely to decline moderately. But these factors together counted for less than domestic demand for consumer goods and services. Last year, this amounted to close to two-thirds of all expenditures on the nation's entire production. However, a small rise in unemployment, a lessening margin of increase in labour income and a slight decline in farm income made it realistic to expect "some diminution of the flow of personal income and expenditure in 1950."

Summarizing its conclusions, the Bank believes that during 1950 there may be "an interruption" in the long upward trend in the volume of national production, which has increased by about 80 per cent between 1939 and 1949.

PRESS COMMENTS

MORE EFFECTIVE INSPECTION TO REMOVE FIRE-TRAPS

The Toronto Telegram

Five separate inquiries are being conducted into the Richmond street basement factory fire on Friday which took the lives of six people when their escape was prevented by iron bars on the windows of the premises. It is perfectly plain how these workmen came to die. The investigations which are under way must explain why the fire-trap nature of this basement workshop was not discovered and corrected by inspectors of one or more of the several agencies whose duty it is to ensure the safety of workers in factories.

Three separate inspection services have a responsibility in connection with fire prevention. One of these is the civic buildings department which issues permits for new construction and the renovation of premises. A second service is that of the fire prevention bureau of the fire department. There also is the factory inspection division of the provincial Department of Labor. The public is entitled to know why the inspectors from one or more of these agencies did not foresee the fire-trap nature of the Richmond street factory.

It was the iron bars on the windows of the factory which prevented the employees from escaping when the single exit was cut off by flames. Buildings Commissioner Gillies is reported as stating that bars on windows are not a violation of the fire or building regulations. City Council will have to reconsider this building regulation so far as it applies to premises with but one exit. The Richmond street building was supposed to have two exits but in reality it had only one.

Deputy Fire Chief Steen has said the disaster could be indirectly attributed to lack of adequate staff in the fire prevention bureau. The investigations must disclose what staff is necessary to provide adequate inspection of factory premises where workmen are employed.

MORE RED DIRTY WORK

St. Catharines Standard

The expulsion, with 12 hours' notice, of a Canadian sergeant, office typist, and a chauffeur, is not an isolated example of dirty work by the Reds. It has been studied and deliberate tactics to harry and harass officials of the British, American and Canadian governments throughout the satellite countries. Perhaps Sergeant Danko and Corporal Vanier were more fortunate than some others; they were not thrown into jail to await disposition.

The same tactics involve the shop-worn charge, that of espionage. If a foreigner lifts his eyebrow in Prague, Warsaw, Sofia or Bucharest these days, he is running the risk of getting thrown in the clink.

One explanation is given, ever since Moscow got its puppet government in Prague, members of that government have leaned backwards in courting the favor of Moscow and getting themselves more securely entrenched in Moscow's good graces. A grandstand gesture like throwing a couple of Canadians out of the country would be given so many merit marks.

An Ottawa despatch says that the Canadian government is likely to take reprisals. This country has already absorbed most of the old Czech legation at Ottawa, the representatives of the old government which was undermined by communist treachery and violence. The present outfit representing Czechoslovakia are simply Red emissaries, of no good whatever for any trade or goodwill promotion. If they were all thrown out on their necks at once, Canada would benefit, not lose anything in the slightest sense.

There is no doubt whatever that the two Canadians given 24 hours to leave Prague, had charges trumped up against them. Neither their rank nor the jobs they were in offered any kind of opportunity for spying. Their premptory ejection was simply propaganda on the communist level, an incident to exploit among the ignorant masses behind the Iron Curtain that the powers of imperialism are planning war against Russia.

Glimpses Into The Past

CHURCH AND SCHOOL WOVEN INTO EARLY PIONEERING

Coming into the Eastern Townships along with the earliest settlers were missionaries, both French and English, men who gave of their best to the work awaiting them. Some were well-educated, experienced, ordained ministers, others were lay-readers (so called) and all had the same desire—to make life better while they labored as man to man in the new country. Their financial payment was a mere pittance but they preached and taught, put their hands to the ploughshare when duty called with the result that they were among the first builders of an empire within an empire—the beautiful and wealthy Eastern Townships.

Let us take a glimpse into the Township of Eaton in Compton County, a richly endowed forested part of this Province, and one of our noted maple sugar localities. The trend of the times has somewhat changed this spring industry but it still exists in all its romance and history; the stately brilliant trees wave their branches in the breeze to remind us they have helped us to earn money, still bring honor to our wooded section and will carry on.

We will choose one man who came to Eaton Township about 1814, the Rev. Jonathan Taylor, who was the first settled minister and first pastor of the church in Eaton. From whence he came has not been recorded, but he was hired to preach the Gospel and teach school his time being divided between two parishes, north and south, with a salary of $200 a year to be paid in meat, stock, and grain. (What he did in the way of little extras must have been done in barter).

The school was held five days weekly in a log cabin and the Sunday services in the same structure. It appears that there were three denominations, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Congregational but he signed himself Rev. Jonathan Taylor, minister of the Presbyterian congregation. About 1820 finding it difficult to raise the minister's salary and he finding it hard to make both ends meet; also that the Episcopals had already built a small church, it was decided that the Rev. Mr. Taylor should go over to them. He would draw a salary from the Royal Institute equal to that received from the three parishes. In his records Charles Lebourveau goes into detail about the period of religious activities. He states that the major part of the three bodies went over to the Episcopals which we might say was without double the first move toward Church Union.

Shortly before 1820, the Rev. Mr. Taylor was accepted into the Anglican Church by Bishop Stewart, and he labored in this parish for thirty-one years. His epitaph tell us, "he was a man of high character, devoted to the church and his fellow citizen regardless of race or creed." His first home stood near the site of the Post Office, then in 1830 he built a brick house, now known as the Colin Noble place. His wife was a Miss Wood—no place mentioned—and they had eight children, two of them becoming clergymen and one daughter marrying a clergyman.

An Anglican church was built at Eaton Corner in 1825 and Rev. Mr. Taylor took charge of the two parishes until 1827 when the newly built church was burned after which he gave his whole time to the Cookshire parish until he passed away in 1852. He had been there long enough to baptize, marry and bury most of the early settlers and many of their sons and daughters.

Included in the Lebourveau history are the first church records: "John Stratton was buried Dec. 15 ,1815. Buried by me, Rev. Jonathan Taylor, first Presbyterian minister of Eaton . . . The first baptism was that of William Augustus, June 7, 1816, aged 9 years . . . The first marriage, that of Wadley Leavitt, farmer, and Mary Percival, of St. Paul's Parish, Eaton, on Sept. 8th, 1828. Married by me, Rev. Jonathan Taylor, Episcopal Minister. (His new ministry). These are true copies from the Eaton History, published in 1894."

This is about the first word of Rev. Mr. Taylor having authority to marry; previously the parties went to Vermont or New Hampshire to be married, with a few married at Stanstead. As nearly as can be learned some of these marriages across the boundary were later legalized, the date being set at original time.

There was steady growth in the churches and Sunday Schools during that century. The Rev. John Dalziel spent fifteen years in Cookshire parish, but no detailed records are forthcoming. He was followed by Rev. Edward Cuffin Parkin during whose incumbency the first St. Peter's Church was torn down and the present edifice erected, a replica of a church in England. The house built by Rev. Mr. Parkin was later purchased and rebuilt by Arthur H. W. Bailey, who with his family transformed it into a fine farm property and gave it the name of The Uplands. George, son of the Rev. Mr. Parkin, painted two fine pictures which now hang in the Parish Hall, one a landscape view looking towards town from the hill, the other a fine picture of the church interior. These were found by Mrs. Bailey in the attic during repairing of the house, which, by the way, was not changed in contour and thus remains as an old and attractive home of over a century ago. We could wish for more of that kind.

The next comer, Rev. A. H. Judge, did good missionary work in the district ministering to English and Swedish settlers in Ditton, laying foundation for the churches at Ranboro and Island Brook, also building one at Scotstown. Following his departure to New York, Rev. Arthur Judge was succeeded by Rev. Mr. Faulkner for a short time. Then the Rev. R. H. Robertson came in 1880 and spent twenty-three years in the Parish. He was responsible for the ownership of St. Andrew's Chapel at Eaton Corner where services have been held since 1894. This last clergyman of the past century was keenly interested in better farms, and an advocate of Experimental Farms throughout growing agricultural sections which surely

The Record Short Story

CARRY THE GUN

By CHRISTOPHER KING

I don't know what the law in other cities may be about a policeman and his gun, I guess the English police don't carry them at all, but in Chicago, a policeman is supposed to tote his gun at all times, on duty and off. A year ago, I knew why. Today, I'm not so sure. A year ago, I would have said that a policeman is a policeman 24 hours a day, seven days a week, if he spots a crime when he's off duty, he should stop it, and a gun is a very handy way to do the trick.

The job was the hardest I had ever had, and it annoyed Bloodhound to such an extent, that he became a poor companion. He didn't like the detail, and he complained constantly. To make matters worse, we had a week of unseasonably hot days, that melted all the snow into muddy slush, and gave both of us a cold. The temperature rose to 70, and stayed there. The slush vanished in the steady heat, and by Saturday, there were a few buds on the trees.

Bloodhound expressed his ideas on what Winter was like when he was young, and seemed to blame me for the heat. He became so nervous after following Zugmann all day, that he didn't sleep nights, and arrived in the morning looking as if he had a hangover.

"This is foolish," he told me on Saturday. "He knows he's being followed. He knows when we go off duty, and when the others come on."

"I don't think so," I said.

"Then you underestimate him," Bloodhound said.

"Okay," I said, "do something about it. We've got our orders to follow him. You just need a day of rest. Tomorrow is Sunday, and we're off. Do something to get your mind off it."

But then, the boys grew bigger, and I had to keep the gun locked up when I was home, because they were into everything. When I entered the house, I had to remove it, lock it in the desk, and put the key deep in my pocket, under my cigarets and handkerchief, before I could remove my hat, and swing the three of them in the air to say I was glad to be back. It was like keeping a bomb around the house, and Helen worried about it all the time, just as I did, for the glamor of being a policeman had worn thin. It was a job, now, and sometimes a pretty poor one.

It had been poor all Winter. There was one dirty case after another, but the worst came up when we got the tip that Eddie Numour was due to die. Eddie had been due when he entered the rackets as a kid, but then he wasn't big enough to get in Zugmann's way. The case presented two problems. The first was to keep Eddie alive, and no one relished this job. The second was to pin his murder on Zugmann, and I'm afraid this got more priority than the first.

For years Zugmann had been the deadliest killer in Chicago. Unlike other men in the rackets, he handled his removals himself, and the fear he created in his companions held his organization in line. Twice, he had been marked to die, but both times escaped, and with a ruthless vengeance destroyed every man who had anything to do with the plots. He had been tried for murder three times, but never convicted. No witness to a Zugmann killing remained alive.

Zugmann had eliminated the Ten Commandments from his life completely, and had substituted just one, his own, "Let there be no man alive to testify."

And so I carried my gun, on duty and off, for Bloodhound Gilman and I were two of several policemen assigned to the second problem, the problem of proving that Zugmann killed Eddie, when he did. We could not watch him too closely. He must not suspect that he was being followed, and the men assigned to protect Eddie, must not guard him so well that the killer would be aware of the trap. Eddie had to take his chances, but it was only just, for he had decided that years ago.

"I will," he growled, and then remained silent for the rest of the day.

I needed the rest too, and Sunday morning was bright and warm. After church, Helen told me to get the car out, that she'd fix sandwiches, and we'd take the three boys on a picnic. It seemed silly to go on a picnic in the middle of Winter, but the day was warm, and the ground was dry. I pleaded against going to the country, saying I had enough driving during the week, so we ran down to the beach at Montrose, just 10 minutes from the house.

The park was deserted. There were a few cars near the Lagoon, but we drove away from that, because Helen was afraid one of the boys might topple into the water. She picked out a good place, we parked, and let the screaming kids dash out. I started to help her with the packages, but she took them out of my arms.

"Lock your gun in the glove compartment, Ted."

"I didn't bring it, Helen. Today, I am a civilian, no uniform, no gun, no worry. It's just like having a bath in the army. I couldn't have a good time with the kids with that thing strapped on."

She smiled, and we carried the packages near the rocks, above the beach. The boys were running like city dogs turned loose on a farm. It was a beautiful day, a beautiful family, and I forgot Zugmann.

I could see no one else at the beach, and I doubt that anyone else could see us, for we ate our lunch near the rocks, and behind some bushes. The boys ate everything, and then Helen made them sit still, while I told them a story. It was a good story, not one of violence or bad animals, and they sat silent. So silent, that I heard the voices, the one a snarl, the other a whine.

I rose to see the two men, I rose just in time to see Zugmann and Eddie, just 50 feet away. The gun made no noise, but Eddie fell over, and Zugmann turned. He turned, and stared at me, at me and Helen, and the three boys standing beside me.

He let his arm holding the gun hang loose as he started to walk towards us. There was no need to lift my right hand off Bill's head, no need to reach for the gun that could kill Zugmann, for he advanced with no fear that a civilian with his wife and family on a picnic would be armed.

He walked slowly, counting us, and Helen dug her fingers into my arm. At 20 feet he stopped, but we stood motionless. All I could feel was my hand on Billy's curls, and the fingers digging into my arm. I couldn't think, and I couldn't move.

"Is he a bad man?" Billy asked.

"Yes," I said, and Zugmann started to walk again.

"Will he get all burned up? Will a good man come, and burn him up?"

"Yes," I said again.

Zugmann was 10 feet from us. He stopped, and raised the gun.

"Down!" I yelled, and I pushed Helen and the children to the ground. I heard the roar of the gun and jumped to charge him.

He sank to the ground as I charged and landed on him, but he didn't move. I rolled off the blood stained boy and looked up into Bloodhounds eyes.

"Told you I'd do something about this, Ted. He shook his tail today, but he knew about that tail. He didn't know about me. Say, where's your gun?"

I didn't answer him, just looked down at Bill, and wished I wasn't a policeman.

ANALYZE THE BIDDING AND SAVE CONTRACT

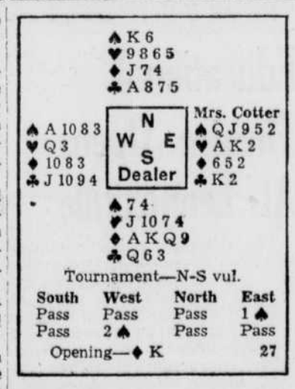

The women's national team-of-four championship was one of the events which established a new attendance record last year with 57 teams entered. This event ended in a tie betwen a Philadelphia and a Washington, D.C., team.

The Philadelphia team consisted of Mrs. L. C. Robinson, Mrs. Henry Sabott, Mrs. R. H. Sondheim and Mrs. C. T. Evans. The Washington team consisted of Mrs. F. Eberson of Memphis, Tenn., Mrs E. P. Cotter, Miss Kathleen McNutt and Mrs. Ernest Boschan, all of Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Cotter (sitting East) won a match for her team when she made a part score contract of two spades on today's hand.

South cashed her three high diamonds and then shifted to the four of hearts. Mrs. Cotter won this trick with the queen in dummy, then cashed the ace of spades and the ace and king of hearts. She played a small spade which North won with the king.

Without a moment's hesitation North returned the five of clubs, hoping to fool Mrs. Cotter. But Mrs. Cotter had already analyzed South's hand. Having failed to the bidding, declarer knew that South could not hold the ace of clubs, as she already had shown up with the ace, king and queen of diamonds.

Tournament—N-S vul.

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	Pass

Opening—♦ K 27

She also knew that South could not have held the king of spades. That was why she did not bother to take the spade finesse, or to jump up with the king of clubs.

If Mrs. Cotter had been careless and let the club return ride around to her jack, her contract would have been set one trick and her team would not have been tied for first place.

Late Arrivals On Canadian Empire Games Team Buckle Down To Busy Week-End; Squad Rounding Out Fine

By J. C. GRAHAM

Auckland, N.Z., Jan. 27. — (CP) — The late arrivals on Canada's Empire Games team buckled down to strenuous training today to make up for lost time.

Team manager Jack Davies said they'll work through the week-end without let-up in their preps for the games which are only eight days away. Davies said some of the athletes looked "worn and wan" on their arrival last night.

The second division, comprising 35 athletes and officials, was delayed five days by bad weather in the flight from Vancouver.

But despite Davies' fears all the new arrivals appeared in tip-top shape as they went through training paces this morning.

"Some of the wrestlers and weight lifters have put on weight and I am concerned about them," said the manager. "I only hope the new bunch can get acclimatized quickly."

After watching the other team in action here, Davis thinks the Canadian squad has an excellent chance of winning their share of titles in the big meet. Canadian training methods and technique, patterned on the United States style, generally are superior in comparison with the other squads, he thought.

Davies, a likeable Montrealer, was one of those in charge of Canada's Olympic team and the 1948 London Games and is a former Olympic athlete himself. So he can speak with authority.

"I won't start trying to name prospective Canadian winners. Too much will depend on conditions for that, but I feel quite justified in expecting a good proportion of our team will be successful," he said.

The Canadians' camp at Empire Village in nearby Ardmore is free of injuries.

Ezra Henninger, quarter-mile star from Vancouver, is back in training, his leg injury fully healed.

Rich Ferguson of Toronto, 17-year-old middle-distance man, also is feeling in top gear, especially since the village's pet insisted on having her six kittens in his locker the other day. Attempts by other villagers to shift the kittens somewhere else have been stoutly resisted by the entire Canadian team.

"They were born on Canadian soil and are Canadian citizens," say the Canucks.

Quipped swimmer Peter Salmon of Victoria: "We claim diplomatic immunity."

Photogenic Irene Strong, the Vancouver swim star whose picture has been published more than any other games' athlete so far, has been heading a stream of visitors to the kittens' cubicle, bearing gifts of milk an ice cream.

Preakness Stakes Is Reduced To $50,000

Baltimore, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Value of the 74th Preakness to be run May 20 at Pimlico will be reduced to $50,000, the Maryland Jockey Club announced today.

The club lopped $25,000 from its contribution to the purse for the second straight year. The Kentucky Derby thus is the only one of the three classics for three-year-olds to retain the $100,000 value reached during the war.

The Belmont dropped its added value to $75,000 along with the Preakness last year and will offer the same amount this year.

There are 70 eligibles for the Preakness, which will follow the Derby by two weeks. Date of the Belmont has not been announced, but it is expected to be two or three weeks after the Preakness.

The Preakness will be held on the third Saturday of the Pimlico meeting April 29-May 27. Its current value is $65,115. The pot will grow, possibly to $80,000, from starting fees and supplementary nominations.

Owners of colts who didn't originally make nominations can be represented by putting up $1,500 by April 15.

Citation Drops Race To Miche, Outsider

Arcadia, Calif., Jan. 27—(AP)—Citation, for only the third time in 31 starts, has come off the turf second best. Citation's return was marred yesterday by Miche, an unheralded little grey horse from the Argentine.

The small one, ignoring the greatness of his rival, outgamed Citation and whipped him by a neck in a six-furlong thriller at Santa Anita park.

The race was Citation's second trip to the post after a 13-month layoff due to leg injury, and it was a tune-up for the Calumet cannonball for the $50,000 San Antonio Handicap Feb. 11 and the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 25.

It was a full-scale race for Miche, however, as he took Citation's measure in 1.10 4/5. The winner paid $30.20. Citation was 1 to 4.

The distance favored Miche, a sprinter, and his 114-pound weight assignment couldn't be compared to Citation's 130-pound package.

It was the first setback for five-year-old Citation since 1948 when he lost to Saggy at Havre De Grace, Md. As a two-year-old he was beaten by Bewitch in the Washington Park Futurity. Both races also were at six furlongs.

Calumet trainer Jimmy Jones was not pleased to see a defeat pinned on his former triple-crown champ's record, but he pointed out that Citation was brought to Santa Anita for big game, not yesterday's $2,900 winner's purse. Huon Kid was third, followed by Royal Blood, On Trust and Double Jay.

Steve Broks performed all manner of riding acrobatics trying to bring Citation over.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Jan. 27. — (AP) — Remember how boxing fans argued during the war whether the service athletic programs would produce any good fighters? . . . Well, two of the six on tonight's triple-header card at the Garden began boxing while they were wearing United States uniforms . . . Rocky Castellani began boxing in the Marines and won the Seventh Fleet middleweight title. Ernie Durando had only four exhibition bouts in the Navy and became serious about fighting later . . . three of the other four kids were too young to get the late unpleasantness and all six are under 24.

It's Too Smooch For Him

A few years ago Glenn (Fireball) Roberts, youthful automobile racing driver, was touring the North Carolina speedway circuit when a fair feminine friend thought it might bring good luck to give him a kiss just before the start of each race . . . The first time Glenn received the welcome send-off was at Greensboro. After five laps there was a crash and Roberts headed for the pits . . . At North Wilkesboro the blonde beauty again saluted him and shortly afterwards Glenn's car kissed the fence . . . Roberts fixed up another racer, entered at Lakeview Speedway—and the same thing happened . . . Glenn is to drive in the stock-car classics at Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 4-5—and he says positively no kisses.

Cornwall Workers Repudiate Rowley

Cornwall, Ont., Jan. 27.— (CP) — Textile workers of this city "emphatically reject" the Communist party and its agents, the Greater Cornwall Textile Joint Board of the Textile Workers Union of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) said today.

The statement was in the form of an open letter to R. Kent Rowley, Canadian director of the United Textile Workers of America (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), the Labor Progressive (Communist) party of Canada and the Canadian Tribune, Toronto organ of the L.P.P.

Accusing the leftist-led U.T.W.A. of trying to raid the C.C.L. union, the latter signed by Archie Lebrun, president of the T.W.U.A. Joint Board, charged Rowley and assistants with attempting to disrupt unions that "refuse to toe the Communist party line."

It said all Cornwall textile workers have been the Communist party of Canada and agents of the U.T.W.A. have been trying for years to "capture the textile industry of Cornwall for party purposes."

The campaign, it declared, had been carried out through the Canadian Tribune, the establishment of Communist cells in the T.W.U.A. and attacks on the character of T.W.U.A. leaders.

Notes From The Farm Forums

BIRCHTON

The Birchton Farm Forum Group gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Taylor on Monday evening, January 23, to listen to the broadcast and, afterward, discuss the question: "Should tariff Barriers Be Abolished?"

Opinions were divided and vigorously put forward, but finally it was established by a vote that the majority of the group supported free trade with the United States and the United Kingdom.

Trade barriers against such countries as New Zealand, Sweden and Denmark were considered necessary. For, due to climatic conditions, these countries could flood our markets with agricultural commodities at a price with which we could not compete.

A very comprehensive report was brought in by the committee of one, appointed to visit and report on a deep freeze locker plant. A member in the hospital was remembered by plans for a card shower.

A short recreational period and lunch served by the ladies brought the evening to a close.

IVES HILL AND DRAPER'S CORNER

A number of resolutions were submitted by the Ives Hill and Draper's Corner Farm Forum to both Prime Minister St. Laurent, and J. A. Blanchette, M.P., as well as to several ministers. In his reply, the Prime Minister stated that views of the farm forum had been referred to his colleague, Agriculture Minister James Gardiner.

A list of the resolutions follows:

The recent drop in farm prices make it evident a serious depression is at hand. It is therefore necessary that farmers take the initiative and stick together. Therefore we the members of the 'Ives Hill and Draper's Corner Farm Forum" wish to go on record as being in accord with The Canadian Federation of Agriculture in regard to their suggestion to curtail purchase of farm equipment at this time if immediate action by the Government is not taken to stabilize farm products at cost levels until a National Marketing Act is passed making it possible for farmers to regulate their own marketing.

We further suggest that the following topics be sent out for discussion to all the Forums to be reported on, the reported suggestions published for the benefit of others.

That we will consider the best methods of utilizing the machinery we have and ways of doing without all possible new goods and equipment and the cheapest means of obtaining such things as we must have. That we consider setting up community work shops where farmers may repair and make their own farm equipment.

(There is usually an experienced repair man in the district who can be engaged as an instructor and assistant.)

That we ask all of the co-operatives of Canada to co-operate in negotiating a trade agreement with British or other interests to trade such products as we can use in direct trade for our farm products. To be distributed through our co-operatives. The Government should be asked to allow these goods to be brought into Canada duty free, such savings would give us good prices for our products. That we consider steps to be taken to set up some method of having the truth in regard to farmers published and broadcasted.

That we consider the possibility of some of our members obtaining work in town at good wages while maintaining skeleton farm operations and a home. A farmers employment agency set up for this purpose and ways found to help these people to do so by other farmers.

That we make sure the Government and other organized groups in Canada know these drastic steps are only taken as a means of survival and we would much prefer to work together to avoid a depression.

That we see that the cost of the present unemployment be published and show how this money would easily stablize farm prices even if this had to be given to the needy.

Regardless of all things an adequate long term National Farm financing scheme should be set up as soon as possible so that a personal district or national farm disaster may be met without serious disrupting farm programs. And to assist young men to enter farm operations with a proper set up.

price-support program will have the effect of nailing down a floor price for the producer of between 30 and 32 cents. Since the recent break in prices egg farmers have been getting from 16 to 24 cents a dozen from the egg-grading stations.

Although adding eggs to the list of agricultural products that the government is providing with price-support action, Mr. Gardiner also warned yesterday that the transitional period between war and peace may be near an end.

He indicated that if the emergency were declared over for such things as rent controls, it could very likely be deemed over for "everything else."

The government, he said, did not want to get into the potato business, but that did not mean that the cabinet would not consider some plan to help potato as well as apple growers.

Mr. Gardiner told the annual meeting of the Dairy Farmers Association of Canada yesterday that the government wanted to get out of the food business as quickly as possible.

The only reason price-support was being continued was because he could tell members of the House of Commons that only a small part of the allotted sum had been spent.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this opportunity of expressing our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for nice cards and letters; to the Austin Ladies' Aid and W.I. for their lovely box of fruit and fruit juices sent to us while we were ill in Magog and to all those who called to see us. This was very much appreciated and will always be remembered by us.

MR. AND MRS. C. B. HURLBUT

I would like to thank the Ladies' Institute and Ladies' Aid for the many things they did for me, kindness shown me during my stay in the Montreal General Hospital; especially would I like to thank Mrs. Percy Corbette, of Austin, Mrs. George Goodwin, of Montreal, and Mrs. Forbes Hale for the generous cheques which they remitted, the anonymous person who paid a large amount on my hospital bill and many other kindnesses shown me during my illness. Your kindness and generosity shall always be remembered.

MRS. RENA GIBSON
Austin, Que.

We wish to thank all those who assisted us in any way during the illness and death of our dear brother and uncle, Ernest James Colton; especially we would like to thank Doctors Marcus, Hicks and Hume, the nurses on the first floor, all those who visited him in the hospital; especially Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Milnes, all those who assisted at the funeral; especially Rev. Russel Brown, those who acted as bearers, the organist, those who loaned cars, those who sent flowers or assisted in any way.

STORM DAMAGE?
Was your barn damaged?
High winds have destroyed many farm buildings. Maybe you were lucky, maybe you are facing the problem of rebuilding.
But in either case it is well worth remembering that buildings constructed of LAMINATED WOOD rafters are strongly wind-resistant and almost impervious to damage by gales.
As well they are economical and easily built, while their arched construction gives extra, post-free space for storage or livestock.

Beulah United Church, Ayer's Cliff, Marked A Fine Year Of Progress

Ayer's Cliff, Jan. 27.—The annual congregational meeting of Beulah United Church was held on Wednesday evening, in the vestry, when a good representation of members, officers and interested persons were present to hear the various reports, all of which were very gratifying.

The meeting convened under the chairmanship of the pastor, Rev. W. H. Boomhour, with the singing of the hymn, "I Love Thy Church O God", and a Psalm was read in unison.

The minutes of previous session were read by the secretary, Mrs. Willard Rexford; this was followed by the report of the session by Willard Rexford, in which he stated that five regular meetings had been held and one in conjunction with Way's Mills. He referred to how deeply all had regretted the resignation of Rev. T. W. Tyson, in May; and the appointment of an interim pastor by the Presbytery of Rev. W. A. Edwards, of Waterville, who efficiently served as chairman of all business meetings until a pastor was found. He named the supplies during the time of no appointment and then for seven weeks no services were held as the church underwent interior decoration.

Mr. Rexford made mention of the decision to extend a call to Rev. Mr. Boomhour of Dunham, who accepted the call and came to this pastorate on September 1.

He reported the usual seasonal services and induction service held, and stated that the attendance at all has been excellent.

The choir has been faithful and made splendid contributions to each service and the worship periods have been enriched by the music of the New Hammond Organ purchased recently by the choir.

Four members having been lost by death during the past year, Mrs. L. L. Clough, Mrs. H. L. Bacon, and Messrs. J. B. Wallace, and O. M. Butler. Three have been transferred, the number of baptisms were 18, marriages 3, and burials 12.

Mr. A. C. Keeler, Secretary of the Board of Stewards, gave that report, and following this Mr. Elmer Lyon, treasurer, submitted the financial statement; this report showed envelope contributions as $1,101.96, an increase over previous year of $103.91, and also an increase in the other receipts. Total receipts, $3,232.10, with a good cash balance in bank. Mr. L. R. Thompson, auditor, made his report.

Mr. A. C. Keeler, gave the report of the choir work, and under the presidency of Mr. Murray Baldwin, they have concluded a very successful year. The financial report showed that they have raised $123.51. Expenditures were $129.46, which included a payment of $100. on Hammond Organ. Cash balance $45.72. There is a of $100 on Hammond Organ. purchased recently.

The Sunday School report was given by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. M. Thompson, who stated that there was an enrollment of sixty pupils, with eight teachers, and M. A. H. Slack, the superintendent. Their special work was a contribution made to "Save the Children Fund." A Rally Day Service was held when promotion certificates were presented and Pins and Bars were given for good attendance. Gordon and Howard Thompson were the winners of fourth year bars. Ernestine Whipple, Ruth Walker, Margaret McHarg, Dick Waite, Joan Belyea, Alfred Walker, Stanley and Gary Sanderson, each received a one year pin and bar.

Due to the effort of Mr. Slack and the Misses Irene Boomhour, and Leta Dustin, a very enjoyable Christmas program was given, and thanks are due to Mr. Slack, for the pop corn balls, and to Messrs. Thompson and Mosher for the contribution of candy and oranges. A jolly evening was spent.

Special words of appreciation were extended to Miss Edna Beerworth, of Sherbrooke, Mrs. McFadden, Mr. James Walker and the Associations for their gifts, and to all who had in any way contributed to the welfare of the school. When the treasurer can report a cash balance of $59.55 from the school, officers and teachers are indeed pleased as the supplies are quite high and always exceed collections, but thanks to kind friends the work of the school continues on by the faithful teachers and superintendent.

The work of the W.M.S. was reported by the secretary, Mrs. Willard Rexford, and although the number of active members is small their accomplishments are really great. They had eight regular meetings, two thank - offering meetings, and at Easter a public tea. The Study Book, "West of the Gorges" by Kenneth Beaton, had been reviewed at meetings, and twenty other Missionary Books read by members. They have a live Community Friendship secretary, who also reported that considerable supply work had been done. Parcel of sweaters, scarves, mittens and Christmas presents had been sent to the Church of all Nations, Montreal. One box of supplies for the North West, one box of good and used clothing to Korea, and one box to be forwarded for European relief. The W.M.S. is very happy to sponsor a very fine C.G.I.T. Group. Mrs. Rexford also submitted the figures as objective of $250. for 1949, with donation of $288.81 for all purposes with expense of $9.50. Supply $15.81, sent to Presbyterial Treasurer, $263. amount raised.

Reference was made to the absence of Mrs. Jessey Pierce, who is a very willing and efficient worker in so many branches of the church work, and who at the time of the meeting was again in the hospital, a motion was made that a letter of regret be sent to her.

The activities of the Senior Women's Association was reported by Mrs. Martha Gibson and included besides regular meetings, an "Old Fashioned Supper", Rummage Sale, Summer Sale, and Christmas Sale, etc. The financial report, submitted by Mrs. D. G. Waite, showed $509.52 as total receipts. $425.03 from the activities, while the expenditures had been $449.87, leaving cash balance of $123.18. Included in the expenditures were amounts for furniture and repairs for the "Parsonage", and special donations. The re-decoration fund showed a balance of $119.37, after paying its half to N. C. Whitcomb for work on the church, and $146.25 for its share of the church carpet. These accomplishments were made under Mrs. A. H. Slack, Mrs. Willard Rexford, co-presidents, and for 1950 Mrs. F. Wallbridge is the president.

Miss M. A. Gill reported the happenings of the Young Women's Association, which has changed to "The Beulah Evening Association" and they like the Senior Ladies, have had a busy and successful year. Their activities were the Skating Carnival, presentations of Meridians Concert; Plymouth Players, Lennoxville, Men's Own Club Play, Ice Cream Social, Christmas Sale, and assisting in other church affairs.

Mrs. Sidney Baldwin submitted the financial standing. Total receipts were $650.88. Expenditures $718.09. with a cash balance of $105.44. Their special expenditures were, Bibles for the new school, and furniture for the parsonage, while they made their usual special donations. This report showed a balance of the re-decoration fund of $170.20, after spending $780.63.

To Mr. Whitcomb $611.50 for work on church; $22.88 to R. G. McHarg for material; and $146.25 for church carpet.

Rev. Mr. Boomhour, in his remarks said, some times in church life there were two views—those to look back, and those to look to the future; claimed there should never be any conflict between these two views, past and future, must be included in the church, "we must", he said, "call to mind what we owe to the remote past, those founders of the church, who planned for its welfare, at this time, however, one must look ahead and he stressed that the future can be faced with hope and courage when looking back over the reports, etc. Rev Boomhour spoke of "Hopefulness," first one must look at the fine task done on Re-decoration, second, the fine new organ at their disposal in the church, third, the very excellent leadership in so many phases of the church work; Leaders with much more than ordinary capacity, with all these things in mind, certainly the future could be faced with hope, courage, and vision.

In the report on re-decoration by Mr. Slack, stated the completion of the work with extras, windows, masonite, etc., and suggested that a committee be appointed to supervise the laying of the carpet, and a motion was carried that the same committee act.

The committee for the hall extension had no report and upon a motion carried the church auditorium is to be completed before the extension of the Hall is undertaken, and a committee was appointed to co-ordinate the project of new windows. Messrs. Guyle Clough, Arthur Slack, and Walter Keeler are the members of the committees.

Lengthy discussion re the Shurtliff Fund, and Messrs. A. H. Slack, L. R. Thompson, G. H. Clough, and J. E. Walker were named to constitute a committee to seek an interview with the investigating committee of the Presbytery regarding this endowment and to have the matter settled.

Upon motions, the Session, the Trustees, the secretary, Mrs. W. H. Rexford, the auditor, Mr. L. R. Thompson, all were re-elected, and in accordance with a motion made by Messrs. Walker, and Wyman the Stewards are limited to ten, namely, G. H. Clough, A. C. Keeler, R. V. Merrill, E. P. Lyon, J. E. Walker, V. Christiansen, H. N. Pierce, L. R. Thompson, A. H. Slack, and Carlton Whitcomb.

It was again decided to have the financial reports printed, and this was followed by the adjournment, after which an hour in social fellowship was spent, and refreshments were served by the ladies of the church.

During the year St. Mary's Guild gave the finance committee two hundred and seventy-five dollars.

A Christmas basket was given to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe, and cards were sent to several sick and shut-in members of the parish.

The retiring president, Mrs. Murray Woodman, gave a very interesting talk in which she stressed that being the president had not been such an arduous task as many imagined as she had found it very pleasant. She urged all members to accept any office for which they were slated as she had proof of how co-operative and helpful the members would be. She thanked the members in her kindly manner for their loyal support and co-operation.

After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Jack Brown, assisted by Miss Donna Snow.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Barron.

As this was the last meeting at which Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hockin would be present, appreciation for the help and co-operation they had given at all times was expressed by all, as well as great regret at their departure.

The hostess served tea and a social hour was enjoyed.

A FIRE

Kilgour's warehouse was burned to the ground. At 7.30, the firemen received a call to J. W. Kilgour's and Bro. Ltd., furniture manufacturers, when a fire of unknown origin started in their large warehouse. Despite the brave efforts of the firemen, the building and contents were destroyed. The loss is estimated at approximately twenty thousand dollars.

It was nearly three hours before the fire was under control, but the firemen did splendid work under Chief Groleau and were able to save the other buildings and the huge quantity of lumber piled outside.

The Company opened up for work on Monday morning and are doing their best to improvise until they can make arrangements to rebuild.

DOROTHY DIX

Disillusioned Woman

Can Betrayed Wife Regain Lost Faith In Husband?

Dear Miss Dix: Although my husband and I have been married nine years and have three children, we have never in any respect ceased being sweethearts. We are well mated physically, spiritually and mentally. I had been sublimely happy with him until not long ago when I discovered that he had been unfaithful to me. He swears that he must have been insane to do it, that he has no feeling whatsoever for the woman, and he has been sweeter and more attentive to me than ever before, but I just can't respond. He has killed something in me that has left me numb. If only I could hate him, may be it would not be so hard, but I am afraid I shall never do that. It has stunned me so that I have no feeling at all, which will probably make him eventually hate me. Can anything be done? Is there no way to achieve the happiness that you have lost?

DOROTHY DIX

ONE WHO HAS LOST FAITH.

Answer: Certainly no blow that ever comes to a woman is as terrible as finding out that the man she loved and trusted has betrayed her. It is a dagger thrust in her heart and it is one from which she never wholly recovers, for, while in time the wound may heal, it always leaves its hideous scar.

CAN'T FORGET

It is foolish to say that she can forgive and forget and wash the slate clean with her tears and go on with her life as if nothing had happened. The bond between her and her husband has been broken, and, however you tie it together, the knot will still be there.

But when one's palace of happiness has been wrecked by a cyclone, one can still build out of its ruins a house in which one can find warmth and comfort and security and more happiness and content than there is elsewhere. And I think the woman is wise who does this instead of in her despair fleeing from it into a cold and lonely world.

This I particularly advise you to do because, loving your husband as you do, you will be miserable without him, and because it is literally true that half a loaf is better than no bread at all. And because, in spite of his one step off the straight and narrow road, he is no follower of the primrose path. He is no philanderer, but just a mere human man who has yielded to a sudden gust of passion.

Dear Miss Dix: How does a man tell for certain whether he is in love with a girl or not? There is a certain girl whom I find myself thinking about dozens of times each day. Everything I do somehow links back to something we have done together. Every song I hear makes me think of her. I can go to the most brilliant party and if she is not there it seems dull and I am so bored I am in a hurry to get away, or I can go to the most commonplace affair and if she is any place in the room, just so I can get a glimpse of her now and then, I have a glorious time. Is this love?

UNCERTAIN.

Answer: It is. It is the real genuine blown-in-the-bottle kind of love that lasts and satisfies, and you need have no hesitation about marrying any girl that you feel that way about.

There are many varieties of near-love that seem so much like the real thing that it is no wonder so many men mistake a slight palpitation in the cardiac region for a fatal case of heart disease. Many men, for instance, think they are in love with a pretty face when the girl has no quality of mind or soul that interests them or appeals to them. Very often a man marries such a girl for her beauty and then inevitably he becomes tired of his living picture.

Very often a woman's attraction for a man is purely physical and that, too, wanes with time and is killed by satiety. If he marries such a woman, their life together is filled with storms aud jealousies and fierce fights that often end in divorce.

But when a woman just fills a man's life and glorifies it with her presence she inspires in him the love that lasts and grows greater year by year.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a boy of 16, born of parents from the old country. I have a carefree disposition and this seems to bother my parents and they are always telling me that a boy of my age in the old country has much more sense than I have. I would like to know is it time for me to become staid and sober.

O. H. S.

Answer: No, go along being gay and light-hearted as long as you can. Life sobers us up all too soon. All parents have the delusion that when they were young they had old heads on young shoulders and wanted to work instead of play and sit at home instead of going out with the gang. But it isn't true. Ask your parents to remember things they did at 16.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

1850's Described To Boundary Rotarians

"Going back a hundred years seems like a very long time, but we have two Boundary residents who are older than that," said E. J. Struthers in the course of a talk about the decade from 1850 to 1860, at the regular Monday evening meeting of the Rotary Club of the Boundary, held at the Del Monty Hotel.

"1850 to 1860 was a busy time, a time with a lot of events that are important to us today; it was an exciting decade, full of interesting happenings. There was the California Gold Rush for instance, and it took 70 to 80 days to get to California from here, instead of a few days by train or car, or a few hours by plane. There was a revolution in France; riots in Canada; war in India; the Crimean War was on. The serfs were freed in Russia. Famous authors published books that are still being read today. One of them, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by Harriett Beecher Stowe, was a part of the cause of the Civil War in the United States. Dumas was writing in France; Emerson in the United States; Tolstoy was gathering the material that resulted in "War and Peace," still regarded as a truly great books.

"Gold was found in Australia. Florence Nightingale started the Red Cross as a result of her experiences in the Crimean War. There wasn't one of the ten years that did not have some outstanding or important event that is being taught in schools today. Will our coming decade produce events of similar importance? We do not know that, but we know that a knowledge of past events may help guide our own activities."

In thanking the speaker, David Goodell congratulated him upon making his talk so thoroughly interesting, and said that he hoped the present decade would again see the freeing of the Russian people without a war. E. J. Struthers was introduced by the president of the club, Maurice L. Moore, who spoke of the many services to the community and the country performed by the speaker.

Visiting Rotarians present at the meeting were Clarence Jordan, of Newport, Vt., and Harold Tiffin of Neaford, Ont. Among the guests present were: William Moulton, Andrew Cowens and Phillip Dustin.

Next week's meeting will be Ladies night with a number of special features, and Toby Norel of Montreal will be the speaker. The meeting will be held in the Del Monty Hotel.

GOOD REPORTS GIVEN AT ANNUAL VESTRY MEETING

The Annual Vestry Meeting of Grace Church, Sutton, was held in the parish hall immediately following a well attended Parish Supper on the evening of Wednesday, January 18.

The Rector, the Rev. K. B. Keefe, was chairman of the meeting and reported that 1949 had been a most encouraging year of progress. There was an increase, over 1948 in church attendance, and financial contributions were markedly increased. The Rector voiced particular pleasure at the manner in which attendance at Holy Communion had shown steady growth.

The three branches of the Women's Auxiliary each presented good reports which showed a total of $250.00 raised for the missionary work of the Church in addition to the $500.00 regularly subscribed to missions by the congregation as a whole. The W. A. had also sent several bales of clothing to the western mission fields, and had sent a large bale of new and used clothing for the relief of displaced persons in Europe.

The Ladies' Sewing Society presented a report outlining one of the most successful years in its history. During the year the Society had raised over $850.00 which had been spent in providing many improvements to the equipment of the church hall and rectory. At its final meeting of the year the Society had also voted $250.00 towards payment of the Building Fund Debt.

The Building Fund showed donations of $6,000.00 with a debit balance of $4,350.00 still remaining. This Fund represents capital investments made in new buildings and improvements over the past two years, and the present plan of action calls for reduction of the debt at a rate of at least $1,000.00 yer year.

High tribute was paid to Mr. P. J. Shepard and his committee for the many improvements to Grace Church Cemetery during the past year. These included a new well-graded road, a new fence, and a properly indexed Permanent Record Book. In describing the numerous improvements, Mr. Shepard voiced the hope that a donor might be found some day to provide the Cemetery with a fitting handsome memorial gate.

Other reports received included those from the Senior and Junior Choirs, the Couples' Club, the Men's Club, the Sunday School, the Altar Guild and the Y.P.A.

The election of officers resulted in the following: Rector's warden, Mr. Hale G. Reid; People's Warden, Mr. Lyle R. Bresee; Vestry Clerk, Mr. George C. Dyer. Delegates to Synod are Messrs. Robert Hill and F. J. Eland.

Notable among the many motions of thanks was that which recorded the congregation's appreciation of special bequests made to Grace Church during the past year. These included two stained glass memorial windows, a Prayer Book rack for the rear of the church, a complete set of red hangings for the Altar, a pulpit light, a radio and record prayer for the hall, and two bequests totalling $1,150.00 for the Endowment Fund.

FRASER SENSATIONAL AS SAINTS EDGE OUT SENATORS 2-1

Locals Chalk Up Sixth Consecutive Win Over Ottawa; Cliff Goupille And Marcel Fillion Local Marksmen

Critics have frequently stated that goalie Legs Fraser was the backbone of the Ottawa Senators—last night he was the team Sherbroke Saints finally beat Fraser and his 1949 Allan Cup mates 2-1 at the local arena last evening.

The hard-fought crowd-pleasing battle kept the fans cheering for the entire sixty minutes of play.

During the three periods Legs Fraser was called upon to stop 57 shots—some from blank range, some breakaways, some screened and at one point of the match the Ottawa goalie beat Sherbrooke's Marcel Fillion in a race to the Senators blueline for the loose puck.

Despite the fact that the Senators were holding, elbowing and getting away with murder, which the referees did not see—the locals completely outclassed the Senators.

The Saints were clicking and as the shots on goal—57 for Fraser, 27 for Leclerc—indicate, they definitely held the better of the play.

After a scoreless first period the Saints took a one goal lead at the 13.50 mark of the second period. Marcel Fillion made the red light flash. Jacques Prefontaine and Ray Barry received assists on the goal, scored from an angle and close in.

Veteran Cliff Goupille sent the loop-leading Saints into a 2-0 lead

Fillion

Goupille

at the 6.52 mark of the final canto. Goupille scored on a screened shot from the blueline.

It took a Leclair to beat a Leclerc. Jackie Leclair scored the visitors sole tally of the evening in the final period. Coach Eddie Dartnell received the assist.

With only a minute of play remaining in the game the Senators yanked their colorful, and sensational net-minder, and put six men on the ice for a face off in deep Sherbrooke territory. The locals after a scramble iced the puck, but it failed to go into the open net at the other end of the rink. Four more face offs were held in deep Sherbrooke territory but the locals turned to the defensive for the first time during the evening and held off the attack. The siren sounded and Sherbrooke skated off the ice with a well-deserved victory.

Fraser was called upon to stop 18 shots during the opening period while Leclerc stopped two. Three Sherbrooke players—Heindl, Sinclair and Bush—were sent to the cooler while Tudin of Ottawa was also waved to the sin-bin. Heindl drew a penalty in the opening frame for gently sending an Ottawa player to the ice, yet no penalty was dished out when Eddie Bush was slashed and pushed into the boards in the second period.

Fraser stopped 18 shots in the second period while Leclerc turned away 11. In the final frame Sherbrooke out shot Ottawa 21-14.

BUSH INJURED

Eddie Bush, the popular Sherbrooke rearguard, went to the dressing room in the second period and was unable to return for the third. X-rays will be taken today to determine the extent of his back injury.

Jacques Prefontaine, who played a bang-up game for the Saints, especially killing off penalties, was given an elbow and stick in the shoulder but no penalty. A referee is not expected to see all the time but at least some of the time.

This-and-that: The Saints pressed from the opening whistle . . . Goupille, Prefontaine, Barry, McAtee and the whole Sherbrooke team worked hard for the well-deserved victory . . . In the final period Fraser stopped one sure labled goal. Fraser was out of his net—a Sherbrooke player fired at the open twine but Fraser crawled along the ice and waved his stick in front of the puck which was delfected to the side of the net . . . Fraser will undoubtedly long remember last evening's game . . . Coach Ivan Dugre used Ossie Carnegie last evening in the absence of Fern Gladu in St. Hyacinthe with his mother, who is critically ill . . . Sherbrooke Saints beat two teams—Fraser and Ottawa Senators. A third factor were certainly no asset to them either . . . Sherbrooke's three attacking units were: Barry, Fillion, Prefontaine; Planche, McAtee, Sinclair; Cote, Vinet, Carnegie; Bush and Heindl;

Barry

McAtee

Labrie and Goupille; Metcalfe was used on defense in the latter part of the game. Old reliable Paul Leclerc was in the nets.

Independents And Windsor Meet In Cage Semi-Finals Tomorrow Night At William Street Armory

The Sherbrooke Independents basketball squad will meet Windsor Mills in the first game of two-game total points series Saturday evening at the William Street Armoury.

The second game of the series will take place Tuesday evening, January 31, in Windsor Mills. The winner of this series will meet the Granby quintet in the finals for the league title and the right to represent the league in the provincial playdowns. The Granby series will be played February 2 and 4 and the place will be determined at a later date.

Bishop's College squad, although they part in the league during the season, can't enter the playdowns as they are registered with the Intercollegiate Basketball Association which forbids them from participating in other playoffs.

In the ladies' section the Windsor girls will meet Bishop's for the loop honors with the winner of the home-and-home series to tackle the Quebec winners.

The local winners will move down to the Capitol City on Feb. 11 with the return game in Sherbrooke, Saturday, February 18.

Golden Gloves Preliminaries To Be Held At Y. February 21 And 22; Entry Forms Available At Y. M. C. A.

The preliminaries for the Golden Gloves will be held at the local Y.M.C.A. on February 21 and 22, which will give the winners plenty of time to finish their training for the finals in Montreal in April.

Numerous local boxers are at present in training at the Y, and if any others wish to do so they may contact the physical director and make arrangements.

There will be a trophy for the winning club this year as well as individual prizes for the boxers. The rules governing competitions under the F.I.B.A., adopted by the A.A.U. of C. with modifications, will be used.

Anyone wishing to enter the competition may do so by applying for blanks at the Y. Each contestant will be charged 25c as an entrance fee.

Bishop's University To Open Home Stand Tomorrow Evening Against Macdonald College Squad

Bishop's Intermediate Intercollegiate Hockey team will play host to Macdonald College tomorrow evening when the teams clash at the Sherbrooke Arena. Starting time is set for 8:00 p.m. This is the home team's third league game and they are out for their second consecutive win.

Bishop's has shown its worth both in rugged play and wide open hockey in past encounters and is expected to make a good showing against the St. Anne's aggregation. Though only thirteen players are taken on road trips, the locals will dress seventeen for Saturday night. The first line of Rider, Meakin, and Sanderson have shown up well both in game and practices and will prove a constant threat.

Macdonald is an unknown team with the exception of Pete Flanagan, who has seen service on the Aggie squad during the past couple of years. Drawing players from all parts of the province, Mac should ice a powerful squad.

Additions to the Bishop's team for this game will include Bob Hayden and Howie Kelley on defense while the forward lines will be bolstered by Max Hahto and 'Daisy' Tremblay. As usual Joe Stearns and Reid Scowen will form the first-string defense and will be backed by Tom Price in the nets.

Maritime Rinks Pacing Way In Two Main Events At Quebec 'Spiel; Finals Reached In Week-Long Event

Quebec, Jan. 27— (CP) —Two Maritime rinks, one from Western Canada and three from Quebec Province today reached the final round in three major events of Quebec's 37th International Bonspiel.

The rinks reaching the charmed circles are skipped by Arthur Mcf. Limerick of Fredericton, Robert A. Archibald of Bathhurst, N.B., Dr. G. M. Beall of Birch Hills, Sask., J. A. Ross, St. Johns, Que., Rodrigue Cote, Matane, Que., and G. H. Suckling, Quebec Victoria.

Most impressive performance of the lot, however, was that turned in by Ross, who now has seven victories.

In last night's play that extended into the early morning, Ross cut short the hopes of Toronto High Park's K. B. McKellar in the Val d'Or Golden Valley competition, by swamping the Toronto rink 11-3.

In the other semi-final bracket of the Val d'Or section, Rodrigue Cote of Matane, Que., last year's Provincial Champion, defeated E. E. B. Rattray of Quebec Victoria, 16-11.

An east-west final in the Chateau International developed when Limerick of the Fredericton curling family downed Adjutor Dussault of Quebec Jacques Cartier 10-7. Meanwhile Dr. Beall, skipping Birch Hills' rink, only entry from West of the Great Lakes, defeated M. M. Stonehouse of Quebec 12-7.

It was Stonehouse's first defeat in seven games.

The Grand Aggregate, third major event will see Bathhurst and Quebec Victoria clash in the finals. Skip Archibald's rink got some stiff competition from E. N. Gregory of Lindsay, Ont., before coming out on top 9-7; while Suckling defeated another Quebecer, Gavan MacWilliam of Quebec Winter Club, 11-8.

Finals in all three events are schedule to be played tonight.

Yesterday, a handful of upsets featured quarter-final play in two other events of the week-long, 13-event bonspiel which saw 120 entries from six Provinces and the United States.

In Holt-Renfrew International quarter-final play Dr. A. D. Beaudin of Quebec surprised many observers by turning aside W. B. White's Strong Oshawa, Ont., outfit, 7-5 while J. K. Hackett also of Quebec defeated M. D. Earle of Saint John Thistle, N.B., 11-8.

E. H. Nicholson of Midland, Ont., continued his winning pace with a 14-8 victory over G. E. Emond of Quebec.

Only United States rink to reach the semi-finals round in one event so far, is Paul S. Grant of Milwaukee, Wis., who defeated N. S. Lothrop of Sherbrooke, Que., 9-7, in quarter-final play in the Omega International event.

Other winners yesterday in the event were Charles Roper of Halifax who defeated L. Schrier of Bathurst 10-7, and E. H. Pooler of Toronto Granite, who bowled over G. Lemieux of Quebec Etchemin, 12-2.

Winners in second-round play of the Lieutenant-Governor's playdowns yesterday included Ross, Stonehouse, J. M. Elliott of Quebec Victoria; C. H. Cote, Quebec Jacques Cartier; H. Gagnon, Matane, Que., A. G. Joyce, Arvida, Que., and Gregory.

Thomas Allen of Brookline, Mass., and his rink were forced to abandon play today when the skip was recalled home from personal reasons.

A 41-year-old curler, Antoine Demers, was also forced to abandon play when he was injured in an automobile accident. His condition was described by hospital authorities as not serious. Demers' rink, skipped by F. R. Thompson of Quebec Curling Club, continued in play with a replacement.

Among other competitions which started yesterday were the Royal Bank of International, the Citadel International shield and the Cite de Quebec playdowns.

Palmer Paces Pros In Phoenix Open Tourney

Phoenix, Arix. Jan. 27. —(AP)— Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret renew their Phoenix golf battle today with a fellow named Johnny Palmer given a good chance of fooling them both.

The opening round in the $10,000 Ben Hogan open tournament went to Jimmy yesterday by a single stroke as he tied the competitive course record with a 64. He also dropped the first hole in one of his competitive career, as his high No. 3 iron shot on the 13th hole rolled into the cup.

Demaret had left the clubhouse when Hogan finished with a 65 to tie Palmer in Second Place. Ben, who said his putting was "the best I've done in my life," stroked a 30-foot putt into the hole to score an eagle three on the long, par-five 18th hole.

Demaret hasn't won a tournament since the 1949 Phoenix Open, and is out to end the dearth. The tournament is not all wrapped up for Hogan, Demaret or Palmer.

Sam Snead and Wally Ulrich of Minneapolis yesterday were just two strokes off the leader's pace with five-under-par 66s. Jack Harden of El Paso and Dale Andreason of Hinsdale, Ill., each had scores of 67. At 68 were Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N. C., Fred Hawkins of El Paso, and Ellsworth Vines of Chicago.

All told, 30 of the pros are under regulation figures. The leading amateurs, Gray Madison of Phoenix and Bill Markham of East Hampton, Conn., both had 72 yesterday, one over par for the 6,620-yard Phoenix Country Club course.

Local Lady Curlers To Play In Magog

Two rinks from the Ladies' Sherbrooke Curling Club will travel over to Magog today to take part in an invitation inter-club match.

The ladies foursome will be skipped by Mrs. H. Johnston and Mrs. H. MacCallum and they will try to follow in the footsteps of their men members who won their two matches. Mrs. Johnston's rink will consist of Mrs. C. Niles as lead; Mrs. D. Bishop, second; and Mrs. O. Stenson as third. Mrs. MacCallum's foursome will have Mrs. G. Carr, lead; Mrs. A. Kerridge, second; and Mrs. L. Blain as third.

In men's matches Everett Nicol guided his greenshirts to a 12-5 victory over N. Jamieson's rink and Bruce Millar's squad came through with a 9-7 decision over John Connor's Magog quartet in a close battle.

Cliff Malone Scores In Overtime To Down Cats

Shawinigan, Falls, Que., Jan. 27 —(CP)—An overtime goal by Cliff Malone last night gave Montreal Royals a 6-5 victory over Shawinigan Falls Cataracts in a Quebec Senior Hockey League game before 3,000 fans.

Gordie Knutson put the Royals ahead halfway through the initial stanza when his shot was deflected into the cage by a Shawinigan player. Less than a minute later, Eddie Theberge sank the rubber on a high shot into the corner to even the count.

Jack Carthy put the Cats one up on a fluke goal early in the middle period but Claude Dolbec knotted the count within the minute. Then the Cats went wild with Pete Horeck, Bernie Limoges and Eddie Theberge each scoring within three minutes.

Lulu Denis narrowed the margin on his goal while the Cats were shorthanded.

Cliff Malone bagged a sweep goal early in the final frame for Royals and Royals carried the play to count the equalizer at the 12-minute mark on Lulu Denis pass to Bob Fryday.

That ended it until Malone counted in overtime. Jack Carthy was off when the counter game.

Close Matches Witnessed Last Night In Junior Bonspiel; Semi-Finals In All Trophies To Be Decided Tonight

The four positions for the semi-finals for the Senator C. B. Howard curling trophy were decided last night in Junior bonspiel being sponsored by the Sherbrooke Curling Club.

In the upper half of the draw Len O'Donnell's rink squeezed by Norton Baldwin's foursome 7-5 while Dail Patrick and his Lennoxville squad edged by Don Howard's local squad 6-5. In the lower half of the draw Bart Holtham guided his team to a 9-4 victory over Roy Wiggett's rink, and R. Langlois' Magog team chalked up their second win when they downed George Lessard's Lennoxville foursome 9-3.

Two matches were played in the G. T. Armstrong section when Halpenny's rink downed Joe Labrecque's quartet 9-6 and Fred Pattison, and his Lennoxville rink, out played their club mate, George Loveland, 11-4.

In the Howard-Patrick tussle it was a real battle the whole way with the match being decided on Skipper Howard's last stone. The teams were tied 5-5 coming home, and when it came to the skips the Lennoxville rink had one stone lying shot, with Howard's stone guarding it. Skipper Howard tried for knock out shot, but missed and the Lennoxville rink emerged the winner by a single point.

Tonight the matches will be played in the Armstrong and Elliott sections of the bonspiel with six games being slated to determine the semi-finalists. The matches will commence at 7:00 p.m. and followed by another shift at 9:00 p.m.

Last-Place Hawks Wallop Bruins; Leading Wings Held To 1-1 Draw By Canadiens As Standing Tightens

With the teams hovering on the two-thirds mark of the long National Hockey League schedule, you can't put the whammy on two clubs and say they're likely to miss the playoffs. Chicago Black Hawks showed last night that they're not ready to be counted out yet.

The tail-end Hawks plastered a 5-1 defeat on the fifth-place Boston Bruins in a fighting game at Chicago. The league-leading Detroit Red Wings were held to a 1-1 tie by the Montreal Canadiens.

Detroit retains a 10-point margin over Montreal, with Toronto holding third place. But the fourth-place New York Rangers are only a point ahead of Boston, and the Bruins have only three points over Chicago. And anything can happen before the final league games of March 26 send two clubs into the discard.

Only 10,706 fans turned out at Chicago to see the Hawks on top throughout. Gaye Stewart, Doug Bentley, Bep Guidolin, Jim Conacher and Jim Nattrass were the Hawk goal-getters, while Paul Ronty spoiled a shut-out for Hawk goalie Frank Brimsek. The Tawks had scored four goals before Ronty broke the whitewash late in the second period.

Bill Quakenbush, veteran defenceman with the Bruins, served his first penalty in 138 consecutive games, including his entire season's stint with Detroit last season when he won the Lady Byng Trophy for sportsmanship. Last night he was called for tripping Jim Conacher.

At the Montreal Forum a crowd of 13,650 saw a rough, close-checking struggle between the first and second-place teams. Canadiens scored first with Floyd Curry's unaided goal in the second period, coming after a skirmish around the Detroit net. Gordie Howe tied it in the final frame after taking a forward pass from Red Kelly.

Twelve penalties were evenly divided between the Wings and Canadiens as the going developed rough and tumble tactics at times. The Wings had 26 shots on Big Bill Durnan while Canadiens fired 23 at Harry Lumley.

Andre Corriveau scored the winning goal on a breakaway at 13:10 of the last frame.

Paul Bisaillon tied things up 50 seconds later but Stan Smrke counted at 14:40 to make it 2-1.

Ski Officials Get Ready To Move Races

Lake Placid, N. Y., Jan. 27. — (AP) — With one eye on the bare ground and another on the sky which hints of welcome snow, top officials of the Federation Internationale De Ski are wondering about the world ski championships scheduled to open here Monday.

The jumping events will be held on Intervale Hill as scheduled, with artificial ice if necessary. But the slopes are bare for the cross-country events.

F. I. S. officers have scheduled a meeting for Saturday. The possibility of a substitute site is expected to be discussed in the event show fails to arrive in necessary quantities.

Colder weather, bringing with it snow, is forecast for today after temperatures in the mid-50s and rain yesterday eliminated all snows in this area.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

Detroit's Gordie Howe whose third-period tally knotted the score 1-1 between the Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens in Montreal.

Please God — Not to Mine!

Not to mine, this horrible crippler.

Not to mine this dreadful thing with the long scientific name, poliomyelitis, this thing that means misery and pain to little children.

Not to mine to wear a brace, to hobble, to limp.

Not to mine to hear the laughter of others at play, to cry the bitter tears of childhood lost forever.

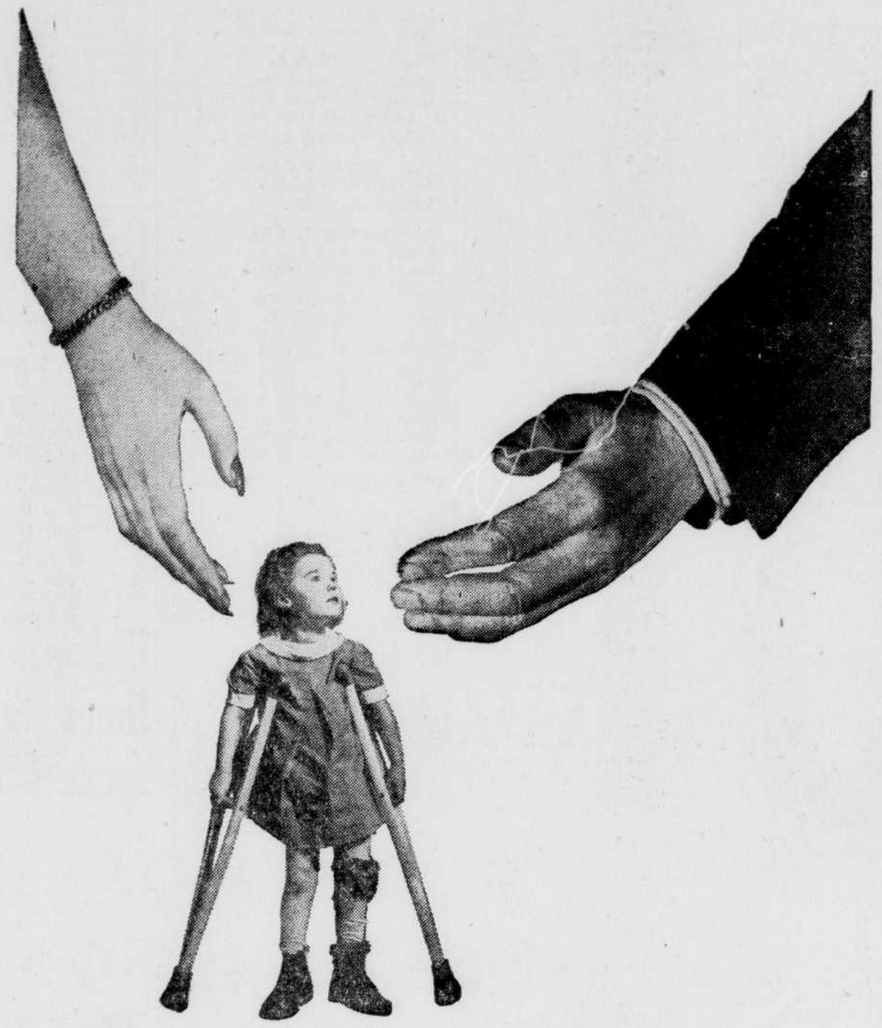

Please God—Not to Mine!

And let me help those to whom it does come, this crippler, this destroyer.

Let me give to help the helpless.

Let my dollars and my prayers go with these little children, that some day, some time, children everywhere will no longer be threatened by childhood's greatest enemy, Poliomyelitis.
