

GERMAN PLANES CONTINUE HEAVY BOMBARDMENT

Several Dead In Extensive Raids On Old Country

German Planes Resumed Raids Over Southeast England this Morning After a Series of Widespread Attacks During Night Which Lasted Almost Until Dawn—British Claim Military Objectives Unharmed.

London, Aug. 10.—German warplanes resumed raids over Southeast England this afternoon after a series of widespread attacks during the night which continued until almost dawn.

"Whistling" bombs were dropped in a "terror" raid on a Northwest coastal area where four persons were killed and two hurt. There was some residential property damage but no military objectives were hit, authorities said.

About a dozen bombs were dropped in the heaviest raid on this area since the war began.

Two men were killed and a number injured in an air raid on a Northeast coastal town.

German bombers roared out of the skies in 400-mile-an-hour power dives to strike at barrage balloons flown from ships off the Southeast Coast, but reports from coastal areas said the attacks were unsuccessful and the bombers were driven off by one of the heaviest bursts of anti-aircraft fire yet heard in that sector.

A single German plane bombed and machine-gunned a Southeast town, causing several casualties. The plane dropped twelve bombs before it fled, hotly pursued by Royal Air Force fighter planes.

Fifteen to twenty houses were damaged by bombs in another town in the same area.

A terse statement announced the attacks were "spread over many districts" and said there had been "some fatalities."

Areas in Wales and in Northwest, Northeast, Southwest and Southeast England were visited by the raiders. The communiqué mentioned the destruction of a number of houses but gave no other hint as to the extent of the damage.

At one town in Southeast England a lone Nazi plane dropped four large bombs and then fled heavy anti-aircraft fire.

Another town in the Southeast was rocked by tremendous explosions as bombs fell in two places ashore and others off the coast.

At least seven bombs were dropped in the sea off a Northeast coast town, and others fell on a nearby golf course. There were no casualties and broken windows were the only damage.

Several houses were wrecked when a bomb fell in a garden in still another Northeast town, blasting a crater twenty feet deep. An "Anderson" air raid shelter only five yards away remained intact and the occupants were unhurt.

Results of last night's raids by the Royal Air Force on German-controlled territory were not announced immediately, but the Air Ministry said yesterday that numerous objectives, including docks at Hamburg, supply

DETENTION OF HOUE FLAYED BY AGITATORS

Petition Signed by Nationalist Group Protests Internment of Montreal Mayor for Remarks.

Quebec, Aug. 10.—A petition, signed by four members of Quebec's Nationalist party and a Social Credit candidate, has been addressed to Prime Minister King and Justice Minister Lapointe, protesting against the internment of Mayor Camille Houe of Montreal. The petition also asks the Government to give a "categorical declaration" that the National Registration Act will never be used under any pretext to send a single man to fight outside Canada.

(Members of the Government have stated repeatedly that those called for service under the Mobilization Act will not have to serve. Continued on page 2, col. 3.

Liberal Paper Denounces Government Tactics

From the able pen of John D'afoe, Dean of the journalistic profession in Canada, and owner and Editor-in-Chief of the Winnipeg Free Press, the chief organ of the Liberal Party in Canada, has come a sensational, emphatic and biting denunciation of Prime Minister Mackenzie King in his defence of the Press Censors in attempting to withhold from publication the deplorable Houe incident.

In the editorial the Winnipeg Free Press, the chief organ of the Liberal Party in Canada, he it borne in mind, asks these questions:

A—What does Mr. King mean when he says the censors were right in barring publication?

B—And what does he mean when he says that, when they had done it, the incident received no further publicity?

Then the paper adds: "No excuse can be found for these statements of Mr. King. Our system of government is based upon the free and salutary winds of public opinion blowing upon our national problems. This Mr. King knows very well. Canada is a democracy at war, and the strength of a democracy lies solely in its constant reception of the facts upon which it can base its policies."

The Winnipeg Free Press is but one of the Canadian papers which have openly denounced the stand taken by the Prime Minister. It is but one of the papers which, like the bold stand taken by the Montreal Gazette, have openly and fearlessly stepped forward to defend the free press of Canada, a national necessity, and an important cog in British freedom and liberty which the Prime Minister of Canada would apparently silence.

But in spite of the fact that the Winnipeg Free Press is openly and indisputably the mouthpiece of Liberalism in Canada, it is not going to be influenced by party affiliation, but prompted by its desire and determination to serve Canada, Liberal as it is, it asks this question:

"WHAT KIND OF BLUNDERING IS THIS ON THE GOVERNMENT'S PART?"

In its timely, wisely-guided, strongly worded and thoroughly Canadian editorial, in which Editor D'afoe puts national welfare and justice above petty party politics, the Winnipeg Free Press, in part, says:

"No excuse can be found for these statements of Mr. King. Nothing could have a more damaging effect upon Canadians than the growth of a belief that many more important persons than Houe were being dealt with without anyone, save the Cabinet and a handful of police officers, knowing what was being done."

The Winnipeg paper strongly supports the Government's action in internment Mayor Houe, remarking that "there is no place in Canada today for ill-conditioned clowns."

But when it comes to the stand taken by the censors and the attitude of the Government the paper adds:

"But, though the end result may thus be excellent, the Free Press takes this immediate opportunity to protest in the strongest possible terms against the Government's attempt to suppress the news of the episode. Houe had hardly scrawled his initials on his protest before the censorship issued its first directive forbidding the publication of the facts. Had the House of Commons not been in session it is likely that only the most imperfect accounts of the incident would ever have been known, though of course nothing would have stopped the spread of distorted rumors from coast to coast and the publication of various versions of the truth in the American press and over American radio stations, to say nothing of the Nazi short wave. We would inquire, in the first place, what prompted the censors to do what they did. Did they act upon their own initiative, or were they directed to take their short-sighted action by the Cabinet or some member of it? This should be made known without delay.

"We do not doubt that the Government would have taken action against Houe, regardless of whether the censorship had operated or not. But it is quite possible for Mr. Hanson, if he feels disposed to do so, to take full credit for the internment of the Mayor of Montreal. It was he who raised the matter in the House of Commons. It was he who protested the suppression of facts vitally important to us all. It was subsequent upon his action that the Government announced Houe had been put away. What kind of blundering is this on the Government's part? What were the motives that

GERMANS GIVEN BIG HEADACHE BY LITHUANIA

Officials at Lithuanian Legation at Berlin Refuse to Hand Over Property to Russian Minister.

Berlin, Aug. 10.—(P)—Tiny Lithuania's Berlin Legation maintained opposition today to Soviet Russian demands to surrender and appeared likely to raise a ticklish problem for Germany.

The German Foreign Office, unofficially at least, was confronted with the task of deciding whether or not Russia, through incorporation of Lithuania in the Soviet Union, has the right to take over the Legation.

It was learned at the Legation that so far there have been no official exchanges with the German Foreign Office respecting the Lithuanian position.

Heavy Losses To Italian Shipping As British Air Force Intensifies Raids

Italian Military Concentrations Advancing in East Africa Also Objectives of Repeated British Aerial Blows—Egyptians Prepare to Lend Military Support to Largely Outnumbered British Troops.

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 10.—(P)—The Royal Air Force reported heavy blows on Italian shipping and military concentrations advancing in East Africa today while Egypt hastened to augment Britain's outnumbered forces against an anticipated Italian offensive from the Libyan frontier.

In one of the biggest raids aimed at Italian objectives yesterday, a Royal Air Force statement said, bomb hits set afire an Italian vessel and damaged other shipping in the harbor at Tobruk, Libya, where Italy supplies her forces.

British bombers, directed to their objectives by reconnoitering French pilots, also roared through heavy anti-aircraft fire to shower bombs on Italian positions near Hargeisa, British Somaliland, where the Italians were reported making progress through the mountain passes toward the coast.

Another formation of British bombers raided Massau, Eritrea, and reported direct hits on gun emplacements and several buildings in that Red Sea port.

Still another attack was made on the Italian airbase at Neghelli, where two Italian Caproni bombers on the ground were said to have been destroyed.

In the attacks on Italian troops advancing in British Somaliland, British authorities reported countless bombs rained on Italian anti-aircraft positions and troop columns in the Karrin Pass area, just east of Hargeisa.

All R.A.F. planes returned. Karrin Pass is midway between Hargeisa and Oadweina, towns about eighty miles apart, which the Italians captured last week in their march toward Berbera, the capital on the Gulf of Aden. The pass is seventy miles south of Berbera.

Egypt warned her people against the growing war of nerves already being fought, and simultaneously checked all defenses against the major push the Italians are expected to launch from Libya.

Ready for active alignment with Britain's outnumbered African forces the moment she is attacked, Egypt's regular army was ready to swing into action; anti-aircraft and coastal batteries were fully manned, and special police stood on guard against Italian attempts to land parachute troops near Sidi Barrani.

While Italian troops in British Somaliland were reported moving on towards the principal Port of Berbera, 150 miles across the Gulf from Aden, seaport commanding the entrance to the Red Sea and Britain's Empire lifeline, this was regarded as a "smoke screen" to draw attention from the main attack moving on the West.

Latest British reports from the Egyptian-Libyan desert said, "All areas very quiet." Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, Italy's North African

Japan Demands British Cede Defence Sector Of Shanghai

Official Mouthpiece for Japanese Army in China Declares that Control of Area Must Be Transferred in View of "the Actual Situation"—Anglo-Japanese Tension Eased by Withdrawal of Troops.

Shanghai, Aug. 10.—(P)—A demand that the British defence sector in Shanghai be transferred to Japanese control to meet "the actual situation" created by British troop withdrawals was voiced today by the newspaper Taiyoku Shimpō, regarded as the mouthpiece of the Japanese army in China.

Declaring that Britain had been forced to make "sweeping changes" in her Far Eastern policy, the paper said:

"No matter on what grounds the British withdrawal is based, there is no doubt that the British have accepted Japan's demands for withdrawal of armed forces of European belligerents from Japanese-occupied areas in China."

"British ground forces were ordered withdrawn to another theatre to meet wartime contingencies there and British interests in the Shanghai International Zone were left in the hands of a naval force. It was reported the troops might be sent to Hong Kong or Singapore."

Strained British-Japanese relations appeared eased by the British withdrawal, but Chinese quarters found fresh cause for anxiety in reports of threatening Japanese troop concentrations along the French Indo-China border.

At Chungking, the Central Daily News, official organ of the Chinese Government, warned that China would take "adequate steps to back French Indo-China with force" if

U.S. MINISTER STARTS RETURN AFTER CENSURE

Friends Believe that John Cudahy May Return to Europe to Direct Relief Organization.

London, Aug. 10.—(P)—John Cudahy, United States Ambassador to Belgium who created a sensation in London by advocating that the United States feed Nazi-occupied countries, left by plane for Lisbon today en route to the United States.

London newspapers, which have been attacking Cudahy bitterly for the remarks he made in a recent interview, headlined the news of his recall and reprimand yesterday by the State Department.

The Daily Mail today quoted Cudahy as saying, "I do not retract one word from what I said. The Ambassador told The Associated Press last night that 'I have no comment to make.'"

The Daily Mail said Cudahy asserted "undue publicity" had been given his remarks.

He had said Belgium and other German-occupied territories now blockaded by the Royal Navy would face famine this winter if they did not receive food from the United States. He also commented favorably on the conduct of the German army of occupation.

The Daily Mail quoted a friend of Cudahy as saying "Mr. Cudahy knows he is to be censured and may mean the end of his diplomatic career."

"In these circumstances it is likely that instead of remaining in the United States, he would come to Europe to help with relief work, in which he is deeply interested."

The Daily Mail said Cudahy himself said:

"I have done my job and I return to the United States with reports of great efforts being made by Great Britain that should inspire my countrymen."

"I leave confident that this little country of yours will defend itself to the last man and woman and will never be conquered."

CREWLESS GREEK VESSEL TOWED INTO SPANISH PORT

Gijon, Spain, Aug. 10.—(P)—A crewless ship, heavily laden with grain, was towed today into port at Aviles by fishing vessels which found her drifting forty miles from shore in the Bay of Biscay.

Advices from Aviles said the ship had been identified as the 8,000-ton Greek freighter Basilio Deonitis, (Lloyd's Register does not list a ship by that name).

Prairie Provinces Make Extended Contributions To Defence Forces

This is the second of a Canadian Press series reviewing regional contributions to Canada's war effort. Others will follow.

Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—As usual the ripening grain commands attention of the Prairie people but at the same time there is evidence of resources and manpower being mobilized from the Lakehead to the foothills.

There is the tramp of soldiery, the hustle of wartime construction and the drone of training planes over the grain belt.

Western men, more than three battalions of them, went overseas with the 1st Canadian Division. More went with the 2nd Division and ancillary troops, the air force and the navy.

Thousands more are in training at various camps either as part of the Canadian Active Service or the Non-Permanent Active Militia. Others are serving as members of the Veterans' Home Guard.

Recruiting, which started at the outbreak of war, slackened off as 1st Division units reached strength and recently was pushed ahead with new vigor, is still in progress.

Winnipeg has become the artillery training centre for the West and troops have gone to camp at Shilo. Man, some 150 miles West of Winnipeg. Another large Prairie camp is at Dundurn, Sask., and Alberta has Camp Sarcee, famed during the First Great War.

Port Arthur and Fort William, part of the Western Army Command, have sent more than 1,000 men into khaki. Manitoba sent the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and the 19th Battery overseas with the 1st Division and raised the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders and the Fort Garry Horse as 2nd Division units. Other units are training 3rd and 4th Division battalions.

In Regina recruiting also is in full swing for the Regina Rifle Regiment and other branches of the services. From Saskatoon, the Saskatoon Light Infantry went overseas with the 1st Division and large numbers of men from all over North Saskatchewan have been and are being recruited.

The Edmonton Regiment represented Northern Alberta in the 1st Division. Other troops are in summer training or have gone overseas. In the Calgary area sixteen Alberta units were mobilized at the outbreak of war.

Far from the sea, Prairie men are training for naval duty, Winnipeg having contributed more than five hundred from the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve for active service. Edmonton and the Lakehead also sent a good number of reservists to the coast.

At Fort William buildings of the No. 2 Elementary Flying School were rushed to completion and the school is in operation. At Brandon an air force training pool provides for 1,700 recruits prior to their assignment to a school. Work on a Service Training School at Saskatoon is progressing at a cost of $1,000,000. Originally scheduled to open in October, the elementary flying training school

LEADERS TURN COLD SHOULDER TO COMPROMISE

Supporters of U.S. Draft System Claim Voluntary Enlistment Will Not Fill Army Ranks.

Washington, Aug. 10.—(P)—United States Government leaders turned a cold shoulder today to talk of a compromise in the Senate fight over conscription.

Senator Alben Barkley, of Kentucky, the Democratic floor leader, expressed the opinion to reporters that conscription and voluntary enlistments could not be linked successfully in such a system as that offered by Senator Francis Maloney (Democrat, Connecticut), as a substitute for the Burke-Wadsworth bill.

Maloney would require the registration of all men from twenty-one through thirty, as would the Burke-Wadsworth bill, but he would delay the draft until January 1 while voluntary enlistments were sought. If these enlistments did not fill the army's quota, conscription would be ordered.

(Army enlistments totalled 23,442 in June and 31,958 in July, a percentage record. The army's strength was 270,183 on July 31, and will be brought to 322,922 as quickly as possible.)

Maloney said his proposal appeared to be attracting increasing support, despite Administration opposition and the reluctance of conscription opponents to agree that the draft might be needed while the nation was at peace.

SHIP SINKINGS THIS WEEK

(By the Canadian Press)

Although wartime restrictions prevent the details of most merchant ship sinkings becoming public, the loss of five vessels due to wartime action became known during the week ending August 9.

They were the 9,237-ton Accra, British liner sunk while en route to Canada; the 7,760-ton British ship Kemendine, sunk in the Far East; two Greek vessels of 8,460 and 1,044 tons respectively, and the Swedish ship Atos, 2,161 tons.

In its summary for the week ending July 29, the Admiralty said eighteen British ships totalling 65,601 tons were sunk in that period together with two Allied vessels aggregating 7,093 tons.

Rumanian Government, Pressed By Nazi Forces, Vents Wrath On Jews

Bucharest, Rumania, Aug. 10.—(P)—The Rumanian Government, forced by Axis desires to negotiate forthcoming territorial cessions to Bulgaria and Hungary, vented its wrath today on the Jews.

In placing new anti-Jewish laws into full effect, the Government apparently was motivated by the fact that the most Nationalistic Rumanian elements, which are opposing any territorial cession, also are the most anti-Semitic.

Taking their cue from Premier Ion Gigurtu's assertion that obedience to German-Italian wishes, while necessitating "painful sacrifices at least," would rid Rumania of "Jewish influence," the newspapers devoted many columns to anti-Jewish measures and resultant "benefits" to non-Jews.

Explanation of the laws were given far more space and prominence than the speech in which the Premier said it was necessary for Rumania to give up part of her soil.

Political circles expressed belief the concession to the Nationalist elements on the Jewish question would lessen their opposition to the territorial negotiations, and permit the Government to yield some land without serious internal difficulties.

(Berlin political circles reported German irritation—presumably directed at Rumania—over the "slowness" with which the Balkan states are negotiating their territorial claims in line with Adolf Hitler's plans for southeast Europe.)

Official circles said conferences with Bulgaria's representatives would begin this week-end in King Carol's country palace at Segarcea, a village near Craiova, where it previously was reported the negotiations would be conducted. Bulgaria claims Southern Dobruja, taken by Rumania in 1918.

Negotiations with Hungary over her claims to Transylvania, acquired by Rumania after the First Great War, are to follow. Police arrested scores of persons yesterday on charges of spreading false news and hustled them off to concentration camps. All the prisoners were identified with the Liberal and Democratic factions, and most of them were Jews. Since the new anti-Jewish laws cut off most of Rumania's 755,000 Jews from public office, many professions and other fields, their jobs will be available to non-Jews, the newspapers pointed out.

The press also stressed the fact there will be many business opportunities for Gentiles, since Jews are barred from engaging in many businesses, and the ban on Jewish ownership of land will make farms available. In prohibiting Jewish participation in publishing, newspapers and other periodicals, the law is so far-reaching as to prevent Jews from selling papers in the streets. The laws forbid intermarriage of Jews and Christians, and permit annulment of existing Jewish-Christian marriages upon formal application. Other provisions affecting Jews are to be added later. YOUTH DROWNED IN LAKE MEMPHREMAGOG

19-Year-Old Magog Resident Loses Life In Spite Of Efforts Of Companion To Rescue Him

Marcellin Lapointe, Native of St. Hermenegilde, Victim in Fatality at Wright's Beach—Henri Roy, 16, Unsuccessful in Rescue Effort—Accidental Death Verdict Returned at Inquest.

Magog, August 10.—In spite of heroic efforts by his 16-year-old companion to save him, Marcellin Lapointe, 19, of Magog, was drowned yesterday afternoon in the waters of Lake Memphremagog near Wright's Beach.

Lapointe and two friends, Willie Bousquet and Henri Roy, rowed over to Wright's Beach from Magog for an afternoon swim and after Bousquet had been left on shore the other boys went in their boat so that they could dive in the deeper water. They anchored the craft about two hundred feet out.

The 16-year-old Roy had just climbed into the rowboat after a dive when he noticed Lapointe was having difficulty in keeping afloat. Diving in at once, Roy managed to get a grip on the older youth just as he was going down and struggled to bring him back to the surface.

Almost exhausted from his attempts to help Lapointe, Roy was forced to let go and his friend disappeared. Roy climbed back into the boat and plunged again and again but was unable to locate Lapointe.

Attracted by Roy's shouts, Bousquet on shore ran for help to the home of James Broadbent who immediately called the Magog Police. About twenty minutes after the officers arrived with grappling irons Lapointe's body was recovered and artificial respiration measures were taken at once by Dr. H. L. Ormsby, but without success.

An inquest into the fatality was conducted by Dr. G. A. Bowen at the Police Station late yesterday afternoon and a verdict of accidental death returned by the jury. Bousquet, Roy and Dr. Ormsby were the only witnesses while the members of the panel were Arthur Villeneuve, foreman, H. Gauvin, G. W. Goyette, A. Gravel, G. A. Champoux and L. A. Parent.

Marcellin Lapointe is a native of St. Hermenegilde near Coaticook and came to Magog about a year ago when he secured employment with the Dominion Textile Company, eventually working at Georgeville. The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lapointe, of St. Hermenegilde, he is one of a family of twelve children.

It is expected the funeral will be held Monday morning.

MAD MARRIAGE RACE RESULTS IN COURT CASE

Asbestos Woman Sues Ex-Fiancee for $3,000 Heart Balm After Latter Marries Another in July.

Claiming she was virtually left at the altar when her fiancée married another woman during the mad marriage rush less than a month ago, Claire Bolduc, 27-year-old Danville woman, has instituted an action for $3,000 against Dr. Lionel Letendre, Asbestos dentist.

According to the plaintiff's declaration filed in Superior Court, Dr. Letendre, who is thirty years old, kept company with Miss Bolduc for four and a half years and last October became engaged to her and presented her with a ring in a ceremony performed before the defendant's unmarried.

Dr. Letendre's engagement to Miss Bolduc was announced in the newspapers and the event was made public in Danville, Asbestos, Richmond, Windsor Mills, Sherbrooke and other centres where the two parties were known. The declaration says:

On July 15, only four days after the agreement had been reached, Miss Bolduc is said to have received a letter from Dr. Letendre in which he announced he had married another woman on July 14, the day when there was a concerted rush to the altar because of new National Registration regulations.

Miss Bolduc claims she had purchased a trousseau at a cost of about five hundred dollars and that she had other members of her family spent long hours in preparation for the wedding.

In addition to the $500 for the trousseau, the plaintiff asks $700 as the value of the time put into its preparation plus $1,800 for "damages" to her reputation, lost or weakened chances of marriage, effect on her health and mental suffering.

CONCERT GROUP WILL CONTINUE IN OPERATION

Sherbrooke Community Concerts Association Plans Another Series of Musical Events During Winter.

Good news for local music lovers is contained in the announcement of the Sherbrooke Community Concerts Association that it has decided to continue the series of concerts which have had so much success since their inauguration a few years ago.

The committee feels these concerts must continue even during the war. In fact, one of the greatest factors in the pursuit of the war is the maintenance of the people's spirit. And what could afford a better distraction or relaxation, they argue, than musical evenings presented by artists such as Mischa Elman, Robert Casadesu, Rose Bampton, Albert Spalding, Reginald Stewart, Carola Goya, whom the members of the Community Concerts Association have had the privilege of hearing within the last three years.

The annual membership campaign will be held this year during the week of September 16th. The treasurer, Paul E. Fortier, Sherbrooke Trust Company office, will accept from the members who would find it more convenient, weekly instalments on account of the membership fee.

Plans were outlined for a dance to be held in Milby Hall next week. Mrs. W. T. Evans was appointed as the convener of a committee to take charge of arrangements for this event. The other members of the committee will be Mrs. Roy Saiton, Mrs. A. Allen, Mrs. P. W. Herring, Mrs. J. Rates and Mrs. E. J. Harrison.

The roll call was answered by naming different ways of sending messages. An exhibit of cut flowers was held, these being later sent to sick shut-ins of the community.

Following adjournment a delicious afternoon tea was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Charles Coates, Mrs. Everett Beattie, Mrs. Ernest Wilson, Miss Doris Benfill and Miss Iva Beattie. Mrs. Ernest Wilson presided at the beautifully appointed tea table, which was covered with a lace cover and centered with a crystal bowl of cut flowers. Several guests came in at the tea hour.

General Notes. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Henderson, accompanied by Mrs. Henderson's sister, Mrs. Robert Gates, of Montreal, who has been visiting them for a fortnight, motored to Montreal yesterday, where they will be guests of Mrs. Gates for the weekend.

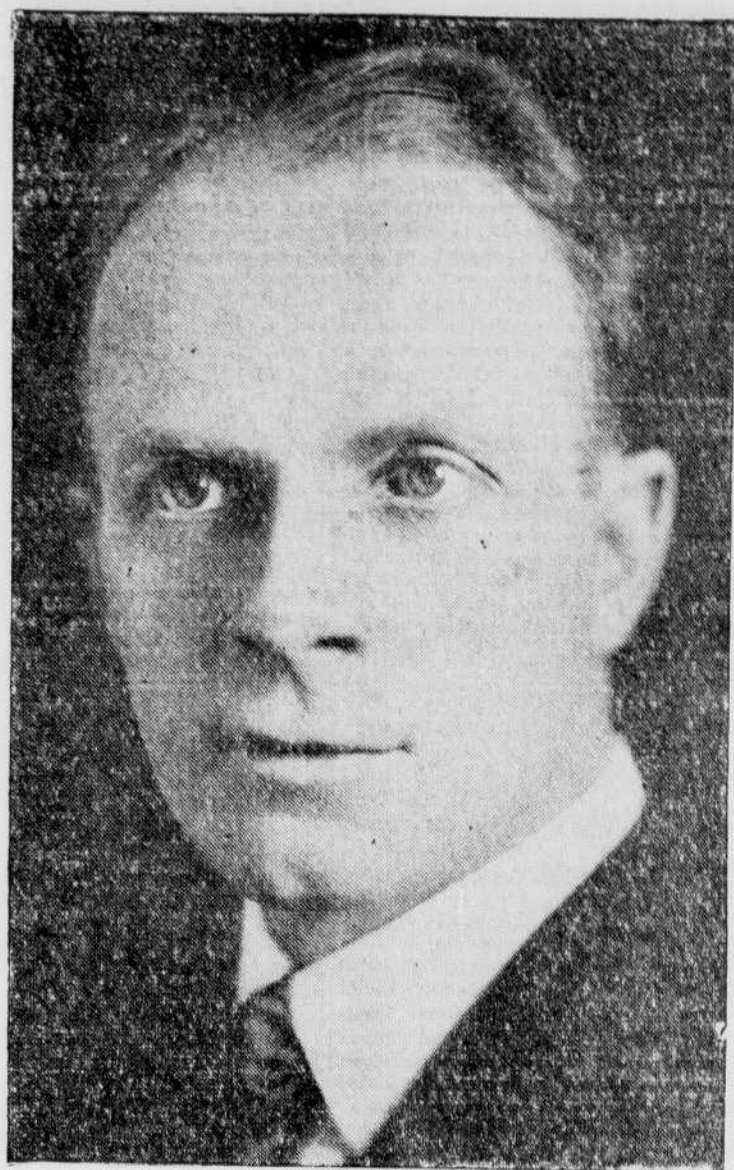

Mrs. I. J. Parnell is visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Parnell, in Ottawa. The little Eleanor Taylor, of Scotland, is spending a week with her cousin, Anne Pearson, at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Pearson, Spring Road.

Rev. Dr. John Woodside, of Ottawa, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, who with Mrs. Woodside and their daughter, Miss Marion Woodside, Nurse-in-Training at the Toronto General Hospital, who spent some time at the United Church Conference at Northfield, Vt., where Dr. Woodside gave several lectures, were guests in Lennoxville this week of Dr. Woodside's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Woodside, and have returned to their home. Other guests of Mr. and Mrs. Woodside included Mrs. William Taylor, Master Alan Taylor, who spent six weeks here with his grandparents, returned to Scotstown with Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Burton Tracy returned to her home in South Bolton yesterday afternoon after spending a month as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. David Ross, Main Street.

Among those in Lennoxville on Thursday to attend the McLeod-Turner wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon MacLeod and Miss Evelyn MacLeod, of Scotstown; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harvey, of Black Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moffatt, Miss Olive Harvey, Miss Lillian Churchill, Mrs. Walter Burton, Miss Hazel McGee, Mr. Herbert Joliffe, Jr., Mrs. Catherine MacLeod and Mrs. C. Jackson, all of Sherbrooke; and Miss Doris Wilson, of Verdun.

Quebec Prime Minister To Be Guest At Gathering Of Youthful Farmers

Over Fourteen Hundred Young Farmers from All Parts of Province Gather Here Tomorrow for One-Day Convention of La Jeunesse Agricole Catholique.

More than 1,400 youthful farmers from all sections of the Province will gather here tomorrow to take part in the conferences and ceremonies marking the first general Congress of La Jeunesse Agricole Catholique, a rural youth organization.

The one-day convention will be highlighted by a pageant at the Exhibition Grounds tomorrow evening when Hon. Adolphe Godbout, Provincial Premier and Minister of Agriculture and Colonization, will be the principal speaker. Mr. Godbout will be accompanied by Adrien Masin, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, and will be welcomed to Sherbrooke by Mayor Joseph Labrecque and by Mgr. P. S. Desranleau, Coadjutor-Bishop of Sherbrooke.

Opening ceremony of the Congress is the Pontifical High Mass to be celebrated in the open air at Portland Square by Mgr. Desranleau with the sermon being preached by Rev. Father Leonidas Adam. During the

Ancient British Castle Offers Home For Vancouver Scotties

By EDWIN JOHNSON. Somewhere in England, Aug. 10.—In the very shadow of an ivy-shrouded castle a battalion of husky Highlanders from Vancouver, is keeping watchful guard against a surprise move by the enemy.

The zone in which these Far-Westerners are operating is somewhat different to the battle front they expected to find when they embarked for overseas. Most of them had resigned themselves to a life of rugged hardship amid mud, shells and devastations in the regions of France and Flanders where their fathers fought twenty-five years ago.

The onrush of the German war machine, involving the collapse of Britain's principal allies, has changed all that. The boys have undergone their share of trials and tribulations, but in the process they have become hard and fit, and by the force of circumstances find themselves manning a front similar in many respects to the beauty spots of their native province.

Although every farm within the limits of the Canadian defensive area has been converted into a miniature fortress of a pivotal point for a counter-stroke if the need arises, life in rural England has suffered a minimum of disturbance. On the surface there is little evidence of the prodigious efforts to make the country invasion-proof.

Only the closest examination will disclose improvised defences, sturdy barricades, gun-emplacements and well protected outposts cleverly concealed along tree-studded hills, in green meadows, tilled fields, and even amid the flower gardens of small and large estates alike.

Cattle and sheep still graze contentedly despite this strange intrusion, ducks and chickens strut through farmyards searching for grub under gun limbers and carriers.

The farmer goes about his work as of yore, except he also regards himself as part of the defensive machine. Usually he spends his evenings patrolling the roads or on other duties assigned to the district Home Guard.

ROCK ISLAND FRIENDS MOURN JOHN CONVERSE

Well-Known Resident of Border Villages Was Ill for Lengthy Period.

Rock Island, Aug. 10.—Residents of the Border Villages learned with regret of the death of John Leslie Converse, one of the best known residents of this district, who died at his home in Rock Island yesterday afternoon at 12:45 o'clock.

Active for many years as an insurance agent, Mr. Converse had a large number of friends in this region and throughout the Eastern Townships and the Province of Quebec.

He had been ill for some time following a shock, and his death, although a great shock to family and friends, was not unexpected. Survivors include his widow, a son, Douglas, of Shawinigan Falls, and a daughter, Norma, Mrs. Harold Bacon, of Derby Line.

Funeral services will be held at the late residence tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock, and burial will be made in the Derby Line Cemetery.

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist throughout the world on Sunday, August 11th.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 143:10. "Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God; thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Touching the Almighty, we cannot find him out; he is excellent in power, and in judgment, and in plenty of justice; he will not afflict." (Job 37:23).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit blesses man, but man cannot 'sell' whence it cometh. By it, sickness is healed, the sorrowing are comforted, and the sinning are reformed. These are the effects of one universal God, the invisible good dwelling in eternal Science."

New York Man Near Death In Hospital Here As Aftermath Of Road Mishap At La Patrie

Mayer Strauss Receives Severe Head Injuries When Car Overturns Three Times on Road to Chartierville—Mrs. Arthur Taubman, of Roanoke, Va., Suffering from Shock, Two Other Occupants Unhurt.

I. Mayer Strauss, 46, of New York City, lies in a critical condition in the Sherbrooke Hospital as a result of serious head and face injuries suffered yesterday afternoon when the car which he was driving plunged over the highway a mile from La Patrie, hurtled a ten-foot ditch and turned over three times in a field to come to rest with its wheels in the air a distance of twenty-five feet from the road.

In hospital also is Mrs. Arthur Taubman, 32, of Roanoke, Va., who is suffering from severe shock. The other occupants of the car, Mrs. Strauss and Mr. Taubman, were uninjured.

The party, returning from a holiday trip spent in Canada, were on their way toward the border at Chartierville, about a mile from La Patrie, when they lost control of the machine and it swerved off the road, flying through the air. Clearing a fence, the car landed down to the ground and turned over madly before stopping.

Shattered glass indicated that the driver had been showered when the windows smashed as a result of the force which the car struck the ground. Dr. Pelouquin, of La Patrie, who rushed to the scene, said only a miracle had prevented the other three members of the party from suffering injury.

The road is straight at the point where the car ran wild, and it is felt a puncture might have caused Strauss to lose control. Jalbert's ambulance brought the injured man to the Sherbrooke Hospital, where X-rays were taken this morning under the direction of Dr. G. B. Loomis.

Dr. Loomis said Strauss had suffered severe lacerations of the scalp and face and a broken upper jaw.

BRITISH TACTICS CHANGED

While the saying "That it costs to learn" may be a rather painful one after some particularly costly experience, it is not so poignant if a person or a nation does learn from its experiences and moves to remedy its faults. Recent news despatches from England indicate that the latter situation exists in connection with defence matters. One report declares that certain road barriers erected for the purpose of impeding possible Nazi invaders are being removed — by order of the new Commander-in-Chief of the British army at home, General Sir Alan Brooke. The reason for this change in tactics was twofold. First, other defences had been so reformed and strengthened as to make the cruder type less necessary; second, Sir Alan had pointed out that the barricades might impede swift movements of British troops where and when needed.

This item provides a clue to the character and calibre of the man who leads Britain's defenders. His speciality—like that of General McNaughton—is artillery, but his experience has been wide. He has commanded both cavalry and infantry and knows all about modern mechanized forces. His principal claim to fame, of course, rests on his quick and amazingly efficient direction of the rear-guard action that enabled the British army to get out via Dunkerque. Scarcely less noteworthy was his lightning reorganization of that battered army once it had been landed in Britain.

First and last, Sir Alan has shown himself to be a man of action who knows what to do in an emergency and does it. He is not hampered by any exaggerated respect for army traditions and has none whatever for red-tape. In a word, he is not what Captain Liddell Hart so contemptuously calls a "bow-and-arrow general." Instead he is a soldier, whose experience, daring, initiative and proven ability under modern conditions of warfare would seem to make him an ideal choice for the important job at hand.

SOUTH AFRICA SPEEDING UP

In common with many other parts of the British Empire, South Africa displayed a certain hesitance in its war effort at the early stages of the strife, not so much through any lack of loyalty to the cause, but rather through the feeling that it was to be a leisurely sort of a struggle, that no one need be concerned over its progress. But now the Union's war effort is speeding up.

South African forces are now taking an active part in the fighting in North Africa. Organization of industries on a war basis has made rapid progress.

For the first time in South African history a detachment of women volunteers has been mobilized. Ever since the outbreak of war South African women have insistently demanded that they should be allowed to play an active part in assisting the country's war effort. A large number now have been called up for full time service and will be engaged in clerical and certain types of technical work.

Provisions of the Military Discipline Code apply to members of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force and the Women's Auxiliary Army Service, whether they serve inside or outside South Africa.

The Government has decided to commandeer all .303 and other rifles and ammunition. As a result of this measure many thousands of rifles have already been handed in at police stations. It is provided, however, that special exemptions may be granted if a rifle is of exceptional pecuniary or sentimental value, or if the owner of a rifle satisfies the Magistrate of his district that it is vitally necessary to have the rifle for his and his family's protection.

Another measure taken by the Government tightens the ban on the transfer of arms to South West Africa. It is provided that no person may import into, or transport through, South West Africa any arms or ammunition without first obtaining a special permit.

Four thousand natives are to be recruited to assist in the task of guarding vital places in the Union. The natives will not, however, be placed on guard over Europeans—enemy subjects or otherwise. They will be under European officers and will be supported at their posts by armed European detachments. Their arms will be those normally carried by native police.

GIBRALTAR PAID FOR

Contrary to the opinion of certain people, including perhaps the present rulers of Spain, Great Britain does not hold the Rock of Gibraltar as a prize of war, but rather as a territory for which a good price was paid. In reviewing the British position in Gibraltar, the London, England, Spectator says:

"Whatever the future of Gibraltar in war and peace may be, one fact is worth remembering about it, particularly in view of the claims of exuberant Spanish Falangists. We hold Gibraltar today not as a mere prize of war, but as part of a bargain in which we gave good value for what we got. It was quite true that Sir George Rooke took the Rock in 1694, in the War of the Spanish Succession, and that Sir George Elliott held it during the famous siege from 1779 to 1783, when the Spaniards attacked it as allies of the American colonists in the War of Independence.

But by the Treaty of Paris, which ended that war—in which Spain was on the winning side—Spain agreed to our retention of Gibraltar in return for her acquisition of Florida and Minorca. She sold Florida twenty years later to the United States. If, therefore, Spain desires to regain Gibraltar the equitable procedure would appear to be for her to repurchase Florida from the United States and cede it to us in return for the Rock, together with Minorca. It is a proposal we might well consider."

WATERLOO FAIR OPENS ON MONDAY

The 1940 Fall Fairs of the Eastern Townships will be inaugurated on Monday with the formal opening of the Waterloo Fair.

This is one of the outstanding Fairs of the Townships. For three full days activities run at top speed. The reputation of the Waterloo Fair is well established. The spirit of co-operation evidenced by the citizenry of Waterloo should be an inspiration to other centers.

Fine buildings and well-kept grounds are real assets of the Shefford County Agricultural Society. Close co-operation between the officers of the Society and the merchants and citizens has resulted in an achievement of great civic importance. The Waterloo Fair is now an established part of the life of the community.

Each year sees an outstanding Fair, but the people of Waterloo are not going to sit back believing they have reached the peak of growth and achievement. Each year they add to their work. Each year they strive to offer a bigger Fair with new features and attractions.

This year they are offering $5,000 in prize money and $1,500 in race purses. A display of fireworks will feature the first two evenings, while a wide range of attractions will interest and entertain the visitors during the day programmes.

The Waterloo Fair can be highly recommended. Those who have already visited this Fair will be back again. Those who have not yet made its acquaintance should do so this year.

A visit to the Waterloo Fair is time well and profitably spent, with a good time thrown in for good measure.

The following committee was named to take charge of the work of renovating Fairmount Cemetery at Sutton: E. A. Dyer, W. H. O'Regan, Rev. A. Wallace, Mayor A. G. Bates, E. B. Greeley, L. L. Jenne and F. A. Olmstead.

The Manitoba Government has named an arbitration committee to purchase the privately-owned elevator systems in the Province.

THE OLD MOTHER

She is so new to heaven . . . let her be Quiet a while—she always said to me She'd like to rest a long long time and then She wouldn't mind taking up life again If they would let her have a little yard To sort of putter in, she tried so hard To make things grow . . . and always loved the clean Sweet breath of flowers and the leaves' new green When April washed the sky and May came down Like a young bride arrayed in cap and gown.

And oh, dear Father, let her have a chair To rock upon a wide veranda there, She worked so hard and oh her calloused feet Would find tough going on a golden street.

Farm women have so little time for pleasure Steady back-breaking toil the mete and measure Of their days—and so for heaven's adorning Let her grow young and lovely as the morning.

Forgetting in the peace of heaven's ways The old heart-breaking toil of prairie days.

Light For The Future

Zechariah VIII, 6: "If it be marvellous in the eyes of the remnant of My people in these days, should it therefore be marvellous in Mine eyes? saith the Lord of Hosts."

Israel as a nation had ceased to be. The Holy Temple had been defiled, and Jerusalem made a heap of stones. Nevertheless, it was in those days of utter despair and gloom that Zechariah brought to those broken-hearted captives in Babylon this splendid message of comfort and of hope.

It will be by no means inappropriate for us to take this same old message to ourselves, in this our day and generation; for, ours is a far more "marvellous," far more dangerously wonderful age than any in the recorded history of mankind. And ours, in particular, is a wonderful country, for I am convinced that, in spite of Hitler and his practical partners in crime, this Empire of ours will emerge from the conflict stronger and wiser than ever before; and Canada will be a veritable "Land of Promise" on a far grander scale than old Canaan could ever be. Further, I believe that this great Western Heritage, not merely in spite of but because of the war, will find its place in history, its fame enhanced, among the Free Nations of the earth.

The amazing succession of surrenders of Neutrals to the Hun war-machine, and more especially the complete collapse of heroic but ill-armed France, has done much to end Canadian isolation. We can now face our problems as a people one in heart and mind. The introduction of even a modified form of conscription is a decisive step in the right direction; and Canada's example in this crisis of Democracy cannot but influence public opinion in the United States—in spite of Lindbergh's amazing broadcasts! Moreover, the wholly unlooked for choice of Wendell Willkie as Republican standard-bearer is a stunning blow to the stand-pats and isolationists.

As I was thinking of this swift kaleidoscopic movement of events, in which not only Germany but Russia plays so spectacular a part, I recalled to mind those remarkable words of the prophet Zechariah, spoken in circumstances not unlike our own. "Thus saith the Lord of Hosts: If it be marvellous in the eyes of the remnant of My people in these days, should it therefore be marvellous in Mine eyes? saith the Lord of Hosts."

Now, when we say that ours is a wonderful age, what do we mean? In what ways may it be so regarded? Our age is remarkable both for what it has done, and for what it has failed to do.

On the material side, little is left to be desired. Science has given us 80,000-ton steamships, 80-ton tanks, 600-mile-an-hour airplanes. But, on the other hand, we have failed to remember that "the proper study of Mankind is Man." We have failed to realize that where material civilization advances, the spiritual and moral decline we have all the material for Tragedy! Frankenstein is in the saddle. Our modern Huns are far more deadly than their prototypes, in that they have at command all the accessories of science and craftsmanship—while Master Mind driving the Machine is wholly and incurably blind.

Again, as we think of our failures and shortcomings, we must not overlook the fact that Democracy as we know it is far from perfect. Theoretically, however, like Christianity, it stands for the great doctrine of the Brotherhood of Man, but our politics are not so clear as they might be, and our standards of commercial and financial integrity not so high.

These weaknesses of Democracy have led to all sorts of fads and theories to serve as panaceas. Lenin sincerely believed Communism to be the cure-all; but the great Russian Experiment, in spite of immense wastage of human material, has ended, not in Freedom and Equality, but in the most sordid type of Autocracy. The Fascist movement in Italy was at first merely a strong reaction against extreme Socialist tendencies. It, too, ended in a Machiavelian Dictatorship. Hitler became Master of Germany because the confused squabbling of conflicting parties rendered stable government impossible. So Germany asked for a Master—and got one!

Thus, in spite of Democracy's blemishes, we of the British Family of Nations have no use for Bolshevist "liquidations," nor Nazi "purges," nor Fascist "regimentations." We still irrevocably and impermissibly cling to our ancient Tradition of Liberty!

Let us now return to our text. The Prophet had been proclaiming to the hopeless exiles "by the waters of Babylon" the coming restoration of the Holy City and the happiness and prosperity of the Chosen Race. "Then shall yet old men and old women walk in the streets of Jerusalem; and every man with his staff in his hand, for very age; and the streets shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof." And then, as he saw incredulity on the faces of these captives, Zechariah cries: "Thus saith the Lord of Hosts: If it be marvellous in the eyes of the remnant of My people in these days, should it therefore be marvellous in Mine eyes? saith the Lord of Hosts."

In other words: "The fact that all this promise of future joy and well-being is strange to you does not prove that it is strange to Me also. Trust in Me, and the clouds will vanish and the shadows flee away!" Surely there is a worth-while lesson here for us in these latter days. Simply, that while we are ignorant, God is all-wise; while we can only blindly wonder about the future, God knows! This, then, is the kind of comfort that Zechariah brought to his downtrodden countrymen in Babylon when he said: "Thus saith the Lord of Hosts: If it be marvellous in the eyes of this My people, is it therefore marvellous in Mine eyes?" What comfort and inspiration lie in this realization that behind our weakness and ignorance lies the perfect knowledge of God. We know that He is the same, "yesterday, today, and forever." We know also that He does not willingly afflict the children of men. Sin and violence may appear to disturb God's order, but rebellion against His laws invariably bears its own bitter fruits.

Time and again, have nations for their crimes drunk of the cup of awful retribution; anarchy and oppression have oft-times reigned, but always, out of the chaos, law and order have finally emerged, and in the nature of things emerge! This is probably the only sense in which the old saying is true, that "History repeats itself." As Hegel says: "The Supreme Actor in History and Politics is God."

Clearly, if this be so, while "God's in His Heaven" we may not be able to say with the poet: "All's right with the world"—but we may at least realize that "the Power not of ourselves that makes for Righteousness" can see where "beyond these voices," beyond all this fret and fury and tumult and distress of nations, "there is peace!"

As Tennyson well expressed it, as he faced the mysteries of his own age: "All experience in an arch wherethrough Gleams that untravelled world whose margin fades Forever and forever as we move."

QUEBEC'S COLONIZATION ACHIEVEMENTS

(L'Evenement-Journal, of Quebec). Each year we send thousands to the new lands of Abitibi and Temiskaming; colonization societies labor over the choice of the best settlers to people the northwest sections of the province with a healthy and industrious population; governments accord their benevolent aid to this back-to-the-land movement, which they stimulate with grants; cities are built; the hordes of the unemployed families who redirect their lives to the culture of the soil. Has all this effort been in vain?

At first glance, it seems the success has scarcely been worth the toil, but if the inquiry goes deeper, doubt vanishes before reality. The return to the land has peeped the colonization areas in the north of the province with a population of 20,000 souls in three years; statistics show that since the spring of 1937, the exodus to Abitibi has taken 4,000 heads of families, followed later by their dependents. The figure is imposing, all things considered.

Of this number, how many have come back? Scarcely fifteen per cent, and these resulted mainly from inaptitude, uncontrollable accidents, deaths and similar causes. The result, then, is most consoling. In sum, colonization is achieving its objective, for its promoters estimate that even if failures mounted to 99 per cent, the work would still be worth while.

THERE SHOULD BE NO UNEMPLOYMENT

Dear Sir:—In an article published in your paper a few days ago, the unemployment situation in Sherbrooke was referred to. Of course this section of the country has always been very patriotic and we have about three hundred enlistments here which have caused a shortage of help, and there should be no unemployment situation to contend with.

Our farmers are short of help all through, but the ones who are able to enlist and are on the unemployment list would not make any better farmers than they would soldiers, and should be permitted to starve to death and thereby we would be rid of a liability which our nation should not be called upon to endure.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority

BIDS AND LOSES SEVEN DIAMONDS; MAKES TOP SCORE

This is the last of a series of six bridge table stories.

One thing I like especially about tournament bridge is that it can be played by young or old, weak or strong, those hard of hearing, and even the blind.

I recall in my early tournament days a contest in Newark, N.J., in which a player who was very hard of hearing participated. He had one of those little aids to hearing employing the use of a battery, but, unfortunately, the wire became disconnected from the battery at a critical stage of the bidding. He heard the original bidder say one no trump, his partner passed, and then he heard no more. However, he saw from the third player's lips that he said no trump, and just assumed that the raise was two no trump. Little dreaming that North had bid six no trump, he came in with the slightly insufficient bid of three diamonds!

The tournament director was called, and under the rules East was forced to make his bid sufficient and had to play the hand at seven diamonds, which of course was doubled. Down 1400!

After the session he was about to request a committee meeting to protest against the unfairness of the decision, claiming that a physical defect should not cause so severe a penalty. He was informed by the scorer that it might not be advisable to protest, as he had a top score on the board! Everyone else in the room had bid and made six no trump; therefore everyone playing in his direction was minus 1400, against his minus 1400.

IN THE WOMEN'S SPHERE

You "Took To" Her Right Off Because She Was Like This

Study the woman you met the other day, talked with for half an hour and decided you must see again—soon.

You'll learn many of the things that make a person likeable just from studying one person you "took to" on short acquaintance.

First of all, she really seemed interested in what you had to say. You could see it in her face. It was serious, though intent, when you were saying something serious. And she smiled appreciatively when you said something you hoped sounded either funny or clever.

Conversation, Not Monologue.

But she didn't leave all the conversation to you. She talked enough so that you didn't feel embarrassed later for fear you had hogged the spotlight, and made a bore of yourself. The things she had to say made sense—and you were honestly interested in her ideas.

She didn't seem a bit cold or standoffish. You felt that she was the kind of person who became very fond of her friends, a person of understanding and sympathy.

Not once did she make any really catty or malicious remarks about anyone—though she did tell an amusing anecdote or two that showed she doesn't miss a trick when it comes to seeing the absurdities in human nature.

Seemed Glad to Meet You

She acted glad of the chance to talk to you, as though it were a piece of real luck.

She didn't drag in the names of important people in order to "place" herself and impress you. She seemed content to be just herself and to give you credit for wanting to know her, and not her pedigree.

No wonder you made up your mind to see her again soon. In no time at all she'll be one of your good friends.

MARRIAGES

ALEXANDER—GIBSON

Danville, Aug. 10.—The marriage of Hazel Anne, daughter of the late John E. and Mrs. Martha E. Gibson, of Ayer's Cliff, to William Hutton Alexander, of Bourlameaque, Que. (native of Edinburgh, Scotland), took place at Trinity United Church, Danville, on July 31st. The double wedding ring ceremony was used with Rev. H. Gillingham, of Ayer's Cliff, officiating.

The altar and arch were decorated with ferns, lilies and white hydrangea and the guest pews marked with white ribbons of the meadow, tied with tulle. Mr. Wright Gibson played the piano and Mrs. Wright Gibson sang "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, looked charming in a white net gown with full skirt and satin bodice and applied flowers on the blouse. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a Cairngorm pin and she carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas, pink roses and sprigs of white heather tied with tawny ribbon.

The bridesmaid, Miss Jessie Gibson, sister of the bride, wore a blue net gown and small flower hat and carried deep pink carnations.

The groom's mother wore a gown of dusty pink crepe, picture hat and corsage of cream sweet peas.

The groom and best man wore tawny ties to match the tawny on the bride's bouquet.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Eva Johnston, at Kingsley Falls, the bridal party receiving the best wishes of sixty guests under an arch of greenery and white wedding bells. The bride's table was covered with a hand-made lace cloth, centered with a three-tiered wedding cake and arranged with crystal baskets of bridal roses tied with tulle.

Miss Jessie Gibson sang, "A Story Ever Sweet and True," with Wright Gibson accompanying.

Going away the bride wore a coral ensemble with white eyelet embroidery blouse and white accessories. After an extended motor trip Mr.

and Mrs. Alexander will make their home in Bourlameaque.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Philip MacNaughton and little daughter, Isabel, of Bourlameaque, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Whitcomb and Master Roslyn Whitcomb, of Hatley, Mr. and Mrs. E. Slack, Miss Gladys Dustin and Mr. Nelson Pierce, of Ayer's Cliff, Mr. and Mrs. R. Saunders and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gibson, of Sherbrooke, and Miss Grace Niel, of Montreal.

DESPRES—BELVEA Sutton, Aug. 10.—A very pretty ceremony took place here when Miss Edith Geraldine Belyea, of Theford, was united in marriage to Mr. Lucien A. Despres, of Ayer's Cliff.

A tasty repast, prepared by the Sisters of the Presentation of Mary, and served by the Misses Yolande Noisue, Gisele Cardin, Lucille and Jacqueline Godeau, was held at the Sutton School, L'École Menagera.

Present were the groom's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. Despres; his sisters, Lucienne, of Magog, and Jeanne, of Sutton; his uncle, Delphis Despres, and cousins, Florimont, Antoinette, and Louis Despres, of St. Hyacinthe; Louis Despres and his son, Leo, and grandchildren, Leo, Jr., Barbara and Elaine Despres, of Lebanon, N.H.; Mrs. Simone Chicoine and daughter, Josette, of Sutton, Mrs. Wilfrid Chicoine and daughter, Fernande, and son, Marcel, of Mansonville; Miss Beauregard, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Renaud and sons, Louis and Phillip, of Montreal; Miss Adelaide Belyea, of New York, Mrs. Charles Daudein and children, Roland and Liliane, and Denise Touchette.

COATICOOK Miss Beverly Mayhew entertained at her home on Main Street recently, in honor of Miss Joyce White, popular bride-to-be. The guests included the members of the Junior Bridge Club, of which Miss White is a member.

During the evening, the guest of honor was presented with a shower of cups and saucers, arranged on a table daintily decorated in shades of yellow and white, and centered with a low basket filled with yellow flowers.

After Miss White had thanked her friends for the gifts, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Evelyn MacDonald and Miss Donna Passons. Mrs. White, mother of the guest-of-honor presided at the tea-table, which was covered with a bouquet of yellow pansies in a silver bowl, with yellow tapers in silver holders on either side.

General Notes Mrs. Norman Snow and daughter, Margaret Ann, of Santa Cruz, Cal., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Snow.

Mr. H. D. Snow has sold his residence on Central Street to Mr. J. A. Lebel. Mr. and Mrs. Snow are moving to a rented place on Union Street.

INSTITUTE AT SPOONER POND HELD SESSION

Spooner Pond, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Arthur Page was hostess to the Spooner Pond W.I. for the regular August meeting, which was devoted to Child Welfare and Public Health. The President, Mrs. Frank Sykes, opened the meeting in the usual manner.

Minutes of the previous meeting and the monthly financial statement were read by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. G. J. Hannan, after which plans for an ice cream social were discussed.

In the absence of the Convener of Child Welfare and Public Health, Mrs. Frank Taylor, Mrs. Page introduced the guest speaker, Miss Mary McGovern, R.N., of the Richmond County Health Unit, who, taking for her subject, "What Is a Health Unit?" explained the duties of the doctors and nurses attached to the Clinic. Outlining the work carried on in the past year, she stressed the value of a Health Unit in this county. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Miss McGovern for her splendid address.

After adjournment a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Lois Page, and Mrs. Walter Page.

Guests included Mrs. Herbert Coles, Mrs. Walter Coles and Mrs. Lambert.

General Notes. The recent picnic lunch held at the home of Mrs. Frank Sykes and sponsored by the Spooner Pond W.I. proved to be a decided success. A large number of children and their parents attended and sandwiches, cake and ice cream were served during the afternoon.

First Apples From Townships On Sale At Lansdowne Market

Red William, Raspberry and Duchess Varieties Bring Six to Eight Cents a Pound at Fruit Stalls—Corn on Cob, Cabbages and Cucumber Head List of Vegetables Sold at Lower Prices Than Last Week.

Displays of the first district apples to be sold in Sherbrooke this season caught the eye yesterday at Lansdowne Market where, with fine weather prevailing, trade in all commodities was particularly brisk. Up until last week all the apples sold in Sherbrooke came from outside the Province of Quebec but from now on the imported varieties will be replaced by Red William, Raspberry, Duchess and other home-grown brands from Abbotsford and other Eastern Townships sectors.

Red William apples brought eight cents a pound while the Raspberry and Duchess varieties were being sold at six cents a pound each. Favorable weather conditions in the past few weeks have worked wonders with vegetable crops in the district and as a result large supplies of staple products are available at reduced prices. Quotations for corn on the cob, cabbages and cucumbers were half those of last week and lettuce and tomatoes were also low.

KNOWLTON W.A. LADIES HONOR TWO MEMBERS

Presentations Made to Miss Gertrude Capel and Miss Margaret Ramsay, Who Are Leaving Knowlton.

Knowlton, Aug. 9.—The members of St. Paul's Women's Auxiliary met in the Guild Hall with a good attendance. The President, Miss Mary Knowlton, was in the chair and opened the meeting with a Scripture reading, which was followed by the Members' Prayer, the Prayer Partner's Prayer and a hymn. The Secretary, Miss Ethel Brown, and the Treasurer, Miss Gertrude Capel, gave their reports.

Extracts were read from the "Living Message," instead of the usual chapter in the study book. A letter from Rev. Mr. Barrett, the Prayer Partner in Cedar Lake, Man., in which was enclosed a programme of the church meetings he had been attending in Le Pas, was read to the members.

Plans for a chicken pie supper and sale to be held the latter part of August were discussed. The President then spoke of the departure of Miss Margaret Ramsay and Miss Gertrude Capel from Knowlton and, expressing the regrets of the members, said how much they would be missed in the Women's Auxiliary. Rev. A. E. Rollit also spoke.

Mrs. William Godue told of the long time she had known the Capel family and said how much Rev. Mr. Capel had done when he was rector in Sutton. Both Miss Ramsay and Miss Capel were presented with beautiful handbags.

A special hour followed and tea was served by Mrs. Eric Stanbridge, Miss Hazel Rollit and Miss Alice Bancroft.

The office of Treasurer, vacated by Miss Gertrude Capel, is being filled by Miss Helen Brown, while Mrs. Eva Bradley took over the convenership of the work committee in place of Miss Ramsay.

General Notes.

Several members of the Brome Branch Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., attended a meeting in Magog last Saturday evening at which members of six different Legion branches were present. The speakers were Lieut.-Col. R. R. Thompson, chairman of the Veteran Emergency Reserve Committee; Rev. E. C. Easton, Chairman of the Eastern Townships Area Committee; Mr. James H. Boyd, Provincial President of the Canadian Legion, and E. J. Struthers, Quebec representative of the Dominion Executive Council, who was presented with the Past Provincial President's badge by Mr. Boyd. Those attending from Knowlton were Major L. D. McClintock and Messrs. H. R. Allen, H. Bannister, L. H. Knowlton, K. A. Mizener, A. L. Bullard, Charles Hindle, J. Bowbrick, E. Battley, H. Synthe and T. Connelly.

Mrs. Leslie Kneeland, of Montreal, was guest speaker at the United Church last Sunday when Mrs. L. M. Knowlton presided at the organ in the absence of Mrs. E. D. Mitchell. The duet, "God Will Take Care of You" was sung by Mrs. Arthur Graham and Mrs. Elton Boekus. The evening service was cancelled.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hyman and son, Curtis, of Ottawa, were weekend guests of Mrs. Curtis' sister, Mrs. Charles B. Thornton, and Mr. Thornton.

Mrs. James R. Armstrong entertained a few friends at the tea hour, Pte. Gerald Mizener, of the Canadian Grenadier Guards, Montreal, was an overnight guest of his mother, Mrs. L. A. Mizener.

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

A High Tension Bridge

WHEN the boys of the Cleverhill Boys' Club went off to camp for two weeks in the mountains they did not expect such a run of bad luck as they had. To begin with it rained steadily for three days they were in camp, and they could scarcely stir out of their stacks. There isn't much fun in camp under those conditions. But the boys made the best of it and kept fairly cheerful.

Then Frank Dorsey, one of the most popular of the group, went out to gather wood during a lull in the rain. He was making his way along the edge of a little ravine when his foot slipped on some wet leaves and he rolled to the bottom of the gully. It did not appear at first that he was much hurt. No bones seemed to be broken. But that night he complained of being in pain, and the next morning he had a high fever. Mr. Morton, who was in charge of the camp, was much worried. He drew Charley Sills, one of the older boys, aside and said:

Swiftly He Crouched And Sprang Up And Out

"Charley, I guess you'll have to go after a doctor. I'm afraid that Frank is internally injured. I don't dare have him moved for fear it would make him worse. We'll have to get a doctor to come up here. You take the car and drive down to Westgate and bring Dr. Bowie back with you if you can. If not, get another doctor."

"All right," said Charley, cheerfully. "I'll be hard going on the mountain roads after this rain, but I can make it. Guess I'll take Bob Smith with me. We might have a breakdown and he could be useful."

As Charley had predicted it was very hard going on the steep, rocky mountain roads. The car skidded and bumped through the rain and half a dozen times seemed on the verge of leaving the road and plunging into the ravines. But Charley was a good driver and kept her on the track, making as much speed as he dared. Then they came to the Matawan River.

"The bridge is gone!" cried Bob, as they emerged from the forest and came to a sudden stop at the edge of the raging torrent. The Matawan, swollen by the rain, had indeed washed away the old wooden bridge. Charley looked at the raging waters and his mouth set grimly.

"The only other bridge is five miles to the north," he said, "and the river road is on the other side. We'd have to go back to camp and take the other road leading around East Mountain to reach it. That would mean a delay of hours. I doubt if we could get a doctor back to camp today."

Bob looked at him questioningly. "But we can't swim it, Charley," he said. "Neither of us could reach the other side. That water is too swift."

Charley was doing some quick thinking. "If one of us could get across somehow," he went on as if Bob had not spoken, "he could go on foot to a house about a mile along the road on the other side. There he could get a horse and could ride into Westgate. The doctor could go out to camp in his own car by the other road and get there before night. Bob, we've got to get across here somehow, or one of us has. Frank's life may depend upon it."

"I don't see how we can do it," said Bob. "There isn't any boat."

Charley studied the situation. His glance went first up and then down the river. Suddenly he gave a start and cried: "Of course! There's the transmission line, Bob!" He pointed down the river to where four wires could be seen spanning the flood about a quarter of a mile away.

"You mean we could cross on that?" Bob asked. "Why, man, those wires are loaded with high tension current. You'd be killed in a second if you tried to cross on them."

"I think there's a chance," replied Charley, quietly. He went to the tool box on the car and took out the towing rope. "Let's go down and have a look at it anyhow."

The four high tension wires were strung from steel towers that were set far enough back from the river's edge so that the water had not reached them. As the boys stood looking up at the wires from the foot of the tower on their side Charley said:

"If I could get out on one of the wires without making a short circuit between the wire and tower through my body, I wouldn't get hurt. Anyhow I'm going up on that platform below the wires and see how it looks from there. Give me the rope."

It was not hard to climb the tower. It was harder for him to draw himself up onto the platform just below the wires for the trap door in the platform was padlocked shut and he had to go up over the rim of the platform. He stood up cautiously. The wires were still some feet above his head, too far for him to reach them, or even jump to them.

"Better not try it, Charley," called Bob from the ground. "No use you getting killed. That wouldn't help Frank."

But Charley's mouth only set the more grimly. He took the rope and made it fast around his body under his arms. The loose end he wound around him and fastened so that he could easily undo it. Then he climbed the tower until he could touch the lower edges of the big insulators that bore the two bottom wires.

Charley looked down. "Bob," he cried, "I'm going to try it. You stand by until you see whether or not I get to ground safely on the other side. Then take the car back to camp and report."

Without waiting to hear what Bob might say Charley turned so that he faced away from the tower. Swiftly he crouched and sprang up and out, drawing his feet under him as he did so. His outstretched hands clutched the wire. His feet swung back perilously close to the steel tower but not quite close enough so that that deadly current could leap the gap and pass through his body to the tower. Quickly Charley went over his hand until he was a safe distance from the dangerous steel.

Then he hung by one hand for an instant while he loosened the free end of the rope from about his body and passed it up and over the wire, bring it back and tying it to the loop about his chest. That gave him support so that he would not have to hang by his hands all the way across.

Waving an arm to Bob, he now set about hitching himself along the wire. It was tedious work but safe enough, though it made him weak to look down at the swirling waters under him. But when he reached the other side he was again in serious peril. Could he leave the wire and reach the tower without making a short circuit?

Charley stopped several feet short of the tower and loosed the rope from the wire. Then, facing the tower, he set himself swinging back and forth. Finally, as he swung towards the steel structure he let go, drawing his arms swiftly to his sides as he did so.

He struck the platform, fell back and almost went over the edge. But not quite. Then after lying still for a moment to recover his strength, he slowly made his way down the steel framework to the ground. He waved to Bob and then set out for the road at a jog trot.

Just before night fall Dr. Bowie and Charley reached the camp. As they drove up the boys raised a cheer.

"Mighty fine work, Charley," said Mr. Morton and he grasped the boy's hand.

But Charley's best reward came when Dr. Bowie announced half an hour later that Frank would be all right now, but wouldn't have been if he hadn't had a doctor's care that night.

Life's Lessons

WHAT jolly fun it is to watch. The hen and little chicks! Now here, now there, each youngster darts And tender morsels picks.

Whatever busy mother does Each chick attempts to do. And every day, with bill or claw, Learns something strange and new.

Thus little leads and less is learn. Tho' all their growing days, Their little hands and feet to use, By watching mother's ways.

Themselves or others they can serve With fingers trained to do, And many a useful errand run. When steps are firm and true.

STICK THE FLAG UP!

(To be colored with paints or crayons. Whenever you come to a word spelled in CAPITAL letters use that color.)

OH, THE sand fort is done! Stick the flag up on the highest point!" cries YELLOW-haired Susie May to BROWN-haired Teddy.

They have been building the sand fort all morning, patting the clean YELLOW sand into a firm high fort, so that when the tide brings in the swirls of BLUE-GREEN sea up on the beach the fort will stand with water all about it.

"I don't think it can come into our fort at all!" says Teddy, sticking a big BROWN stick, with Susie May's RED handkerchief tied onto it, into the middle of the high fort. "We'll go down to the shore near the pier and get some shells to go around the bottom," continues Teddy.

"Hoorah!" says Susie May. "Then our fort won't get all wet."

Susie May wears a White dress which has large RED designs printed on it. Her slippers and hat are RED, too; so are her bloomers. Teddy has his BLUE overalls tucked up. He has a PINK (use RED lightly) shirt on.

There is some GREEN grass by the YELLOW board-walk in the background of this picture. The sky is bright BLUE.

Both children have PINK cheeks and RED lips. You can tint their knuckles and elbows with PINK, too, and Susie May's knees are PINK from kneeling on the sand. Teddy's legs are PINK from the cold water.

This picture can have a YELLOW border and BLUE lettering.

A Fish That Makes A Good Mother

EVERYBODY knows that birds build wonderful nests for their eggs and babies, but everybody doesn't know that there is a certain little fish that does the very same thing. They are little bits of fellows, hardly ever more than two or three inches long. They are called sticklebacks, because they have a row of stickers on their backs as sharp as needles, and these are the weapons they fight with; and a fish that has felt them once, is going to be mighty careful to keep out of their way the second time.

As little as sticklebacks are, they are chuck full of fight, and are afraid of nothing that swims. No matter if a fish is fifty or a hundred times as big as they are, they don't hesitate to sail in and drive it away. They dart under a big fish, jab it with its needles and are gone before the fish can turn around.

So the big fish that would like the best in the world to eat them for breakfast, seldom try, as they have learned from experience, that there are some things it doesn't pay to eat, and that a stickleback is one of them.

Now most kinds of fish are not very good mothers. They just lay their eggs, and go about their business, and never think of them again. If the eggs are gobbled up by other fish, all well and good, they have done their duty, and that's the end of it.

Now fish lay a great many more eggs than birds would know what to do with, the codfish for instance, that is so good when made up into balls, is said to lay about ten million eggs. Now that is probably many more than all the birds in your section of the country lay in a year, but the mother cod knows that thousands and thousands of the eggs are going to be eaten before they have a chance to hatch, and that other thousands of young fish will be devoured while they are babies, and that comparatively few will live to be grown, so she allows for all this when she lays eggs by the million.

The motherly little stickleback doesn't just lay her eggs anywhere, and leave them to their fate, but she and her little mate, who by the way, is a very good father, too, pull up the grass and weeds that grow in the water, and work them into a kind of ball with a hole through the center. And to keep the nest, for that is what it is, from floating away, they fasten it to the stems of the rushes, or some other water plant, just as birds build their nests in bushes and trees.

The mother stickleback swims in the hole and lays her eggs, which drop down and lodge among the grass of the nest, and lie there until they hatch. She does not go off and leave the eggs, even if they are hidden in a nest, but she stays right with them, her head sticking out of the front door and her tail out of the back one, and watches over them.

Mr. and Mrs. Stickleback and Their Nest

The father stickleback hangs around in calling distance, and if his mate has to leave the nest to snatch a bite to eat, he takes her place and guards the eggs until she comes back. If the parents are so small, you can imagine the size of the babies when they come out of the egg.

They are not much more than a pair of tiny black eyes, in a jelly-like substance as clear as glass. While they are little and helpless, the parents stay right with them, and drive away any fish that dares to come too near. And whenever danger threatens, the little ones seek safety in the nest. After awhile, when they get a little bigger, the stickers grow out on their backs, and they can take care of themselves.

There is another kind of fish which live in small streams, and very likely you have seen them, called "hornheads", with a patch of small sharp bumps on their heads, that make a nest. They use the "hornhead" for rolling up a pile of pebbles, and the eggs drop down among the pebbles, so that other fish can't find them. But the tiny little stickleback is the best mother of them all.

The HANDY BOY AT HOME

BY CHARLES A. KING, STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, PLYMOUTH, N.H.

IF HANDY BOY contemplates building a kennel for friend Dog he may find some help here. This kennel may be easily made with a few common tools and in it the pup may find a greater degree of comfort than in the old one for the divided khaki curtain hung just within the door may be pushed aside when friend pup enters or leaves and will at once swing back to its place. This curtain will prevent the free circulation of air through the kennel and make an appreciable difference in its comfort.

Make the floor 23 1/4" x 23 1/4" of 3/4" matched boards nailed to three 2" x 2" x 23 1/4" cleats. Make the front of 3/4" plywood 24" x 29 1/2", the top end being cut for the gable with 12" rise in the middle. Beginning 6" from the bottom of the front make the arched doorway 9" x 14 1/2" as suggested or if a little wider door is needed it may be easily changed. If desired the door may be embellished with 3/4" x 1 1/4" casings as shown and a 3/4" x 4" plinth placed below the casings. The back is shaped the same as the front excepting it is 23 1/4" wide. Fit and nail 1" square pieces in the corners to receive the nails from the sides. Make the sides each 17 1/2" wide x 22 1/2" long; level the top edge 3/4" to receive the roof. Note that the front runs by the end of the sides and the back fits between them. Nail these pieces together and make the roof of 3/4" matched boards, one 21 1/2" x 25" and the other 20 1/2" x 25". Fit three rafters 1 1/2" x 1 1/2" x 13" and three 1 1/2" x 13" long, bevelled to suit the pitch of the roof as at A and nail them in place.

Place screw eyes as at B and fasten a wire between them; the curtain may be more easily hung now than later. Nail the roof in place, fit asphalt roofing paper over it and nail it around the edges. Paint the kennel in desired colors and set it where it will not be exposed to cold winds and where the sun can reach it most of the day and friend pup will be well pleased with his new quarters.

An August Party For Very Little Folks

THE Browns did not go away this summer and Betty Brown, aged three, had been promised a party at the seashore the summer before. Now Betty had a very good memory and she did not let her mother forget the promise. So mother made up her mind that she would give Betty and be true to her word. Therefore the little friends who were so lucky as to receive invitations to a Sand Perry were very much surprised for how could anybody have a sand party in the city, even if it were summer time when children could play in the sand. But Mrs. Brown laughed knowingly when the kiddies piled her with questions and bade them wait. The day of the mysterious party came at last and ten little tots arrived, eager for Betty's fourth birthday party. Mrs. Brown led the way into the yard, where she had a large sand box placed under a huge shade umbrella. The sand had been arranged in a big mound and previous to the little guests arrival there had been hidden in the mound all sorts of treasures, gathered from the five and ten cent store. At various points in the mound there were stuck small flags, just as many as Betty and be true to her word. BUSY MEETINGS HELD BY BURY W.I. MEMBERS

Regular August Meeting in Form of Picnic—Instructive Discussions and Plans for War Work Feature Business Sessions.

Bury, Aug. 9.—The August meeting of the Women's Institute was in the form of a picnic in the park and was in charge of the President, Mrs. Parsons, who opened the business session with the Lord's Prayer and the Institute Creed.

Suggestions for future activities were outlined in a letter from Mrs. Boy which was read by the Secretary. Several members contributed to the ambulance fund and the payment of telephone bills authorized.

Other business included the introduction of a new member, distribution of literature on infantile paralysis and care of teeth by Mrs. Wootton, Convener of Child Welfare, plans for continuation of hostess teas and discussion on preparing articles for refugee children.

After Mrs. Parsons had read a poem "Masters of Memories," lunch was served picnic style.

Another institute meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Hugh Morrow with Mrs. MacRae as joint hostess. After the usual devotions conducted by the President, Mrs. Parsons, mention was made of donations made to the W.I. and these were duly acknowledged.

A splendid report on the Macdonald College convention was given by the Bury delegate, Mrs. Mayhew, while Mrs. Provis read a letter regarding the registration of women for possible war work.

An instructive paper on aluminum was read by Mrs. Ross, convener of Canadian Industries, following which it was announced another blanket consignment will be sent through Mrs. Lindsay, who requested all to send woolen rags to her.

Lunch served by the hostesses brought the gathering to a close.

RED CROSS NOTES

Reports on various aspects of war work were given at the regular Red Cross Society meeting in the Armory with the Vice-President, Mrs. V. Desmisseaux, in the chair.

A letter from Mrs. James, of Montreal, who stated she wished to discuss the knitting of socks with the Bury members, was read by Mrs. R. N. Mayhew, Chairman of the Work Committee, after which Mrs. Cumming gave a report on the amount of knitted articles sent to Bury boys.

Mrs. Annie Dougherty reported on the Gift Fund and Mrs. MacLeod noted receipt of the following articles: Eight dressing gowns, six Hampton pads, ninety-three pounds of wool and five dozen spools of thread. Mrs. Mayhew then gave her report on completed work up to July 20th as follows: Five hundred and forty-three handkerchiefs, three hundred and nineteen towels, three hundred and sixty-eight pillow cases, and fifty-four pairs of socks. For refugees: one hundred and twenty-five dresses, forty babies' night gowns, three sleepers, twenty-five panties, thirteen waists, thirty-four boys' suits. A knitted afghan was donated by the pupils of Canterbury School and quilt by the Women's Institute. Fifteen blankets had been donated for refugees.

It was decided to close the Red Cross rooms until August 27th, when the business meeting and tea will be held. At the close of the meeting, tea was served with Mrs. A. Lapointe, Mrs. MacRae and Mrs. H. B. Lawrence as hostesses.

INSTITUTE MET AT ABBOTSFORD GARDEN SOCIAL

Work for Red Cross Discussed and Interesting Programme Presented at W.I. Gathering.

Abbotsford, Aug. 9.—The August meeting of the Women's Institute took the form of a garden party on the spacious grounds of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rowell. Mrs. R. Thomson presided in the absence of the President.

Considerable discussion followed the reading of a letter from the Canadian Red Cross Society regarding the canning of surplus fruit and vegetables. It was decided that the Secretary of the local Red Cross Society should write for further information.

Following the business session, Miss Marshall, who was in charge of the programme, took the chair and there followed several interesting stories of by-gone days in Abbotsford. One very interesting one, "My Neighbours," prepared by Mrs. Harley and read by Miss Marshall, was an account of families living on the North Road some sixty years ago.

Tea was served by the hostess.

General Notes.

The train service through Abbotsford has been replaced by a motor bus service. These buses make connections with C. P. R. trains at Farnham. As highways are not all kept open in winter, train service will be resumed in December for the winter months.

The local Red Cross rooms have been closed for August. There is however considerable wool on hand for any who wish to knit.

The Rev. C. C. Brazill, of Adolphustown, Ont., conducted a morning service at St. Paul's Church. He was accompanied by Mr. William Heckwell, of Waterloo, and they were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Honey.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Rowell, of Peterborough, Ont., spent a week visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rowell and were accompanied home by the Misses Elizabeth and Nancy Rowell, who spent some time here.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harris and two daughters, of Montreal, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Buzzell.

Miss Joan Hansford, of Granby, has been the guest of Miss Eileen Slack.

Mr. Stanley McLeod, of Montreal, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Crossfield.

Mr. Billy Watson has returned to Melbourn after spending two weeks with Miss Honey.

Rev. and Mrs. Edwards, of Hatley, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Marshall.

Mr. Charles Fick's apple house was struck by lightning and completely destroyed by fire before its contents, consisting of barrels and equipment, could be removed.

Miss Ada Galanreau, of Montreal, is a guest of Mrs. Paul Watson.

Miss Alice Slack, of New York, is visiting Mrs. Charles Slack.

Miss Peggy Odyke, of Rokway, N.J., has been visiting Miss Gladys Buzzell.

Mr. and Mrs. MacLean Miller, of Sherbrooke, were recent guests at

WAY'S MILLS INSTITUTE IN BUSY SESSION

Committee to Judge School Children's Essays Chosen by Ladies' Group—Adult Education Meeting Report Heard.

Way's Mills, Aug. 9.—The Institute was entertained by Mrs. Sutton and Mrs. Adam at the home of the former. Mrs. Hovey presided over the business meeting, when among other items of interest a report was given by Mrs. Holmes, of the V.R.C.W.

Essays written by the school pupils were read and discussed and a committee chosen to judge them.

As funds are low it was decided to hold an ice cream social soon, with the assistance of the Girl Guides. Bills for care of school grounds and fruit for shut-ins were voted paid.

Mrs. Grainger's resignation as Convener of Home Economics was accepted and Mrs. Sutton was asked to choose a successor. Much regret was expressed at the loss of Mrs. Grainger, who is leaving soon for her new home in Georgeville.

Mrs. Hovey reported on the meeting in the interests of Adult Education. It was the unanimous opinion of the members that it would not be possible to get a membership of seventy-five and that the proposed programme was beyond consideration.

The meeting closed with the "National Anthem" and "God Save Our Splendid Men." Tea was served at the close of the meeting. Several visitors from Coaticook came in to tea.

General Notes.

Mr. Rollens and family have moved from the E. Bean home where they have been several months, to the Hitchcock tenement. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holt, who have sold their farm at Cassville, will move here and occupy the E. Bean village property.

Mrs. Fred Wyman, of Ayer's Cliff, was a guest of her aunt, Miss E. Stevenson, recently.

Mr. Ernest Bean spent a week-end at the home of the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Greer.

PROPRIETORS

More Facts About By-Law No. 600

The loan of $225,000 authorized by this by-law provides for paving, sidewalks, sewers, gas and water in all sections of the city. Most of this work has been requested by the ratepayers themselves and is much needed.

Extensions to public utilities will ensure additional revenues to the different departments and will improve the service to customers.

The proposed paving will remove considerable maintenance costs of unpaved streets. Such maintenance costs, in some cases, total up in a few years the cost of paving. Moreover, these permanent improvements increase the value of adjoining property and improve the appearance of our City.

Property owners will also note that the present loan of $225,000 will not increase the bonded indebtedness of our City. The latter has been reduced by $112,000 this year, counting the present loan.

Favorites Triumph In First-Round Matches

G. Boudreau Moves to Third Round, Defeating Gilles Triganne and Paul Filteau—Johnny Hibbard and Albert W. Reid Win—Marion Hanev, of Drummondville, Swings Away in Quest of Ladies' Singles Title—Entry of Audrey Bradshaw, of Sutton, Received.

Fourteen matches were run off yesterday as play was inaugurated in the Eastern Townships Tennis tournament which is being conducted by the Eastern Townships Tennis Association, and one favorite advanced gamely with no "dark horses" coming through for upset victories.

In the men's singles division G. Boudreau was the only player to advance to the third round, starting off with a 6-3, 6-3 victory over Gilles Triganne in the first round and then passing off P. Filteau 6-4, 6-2. Other matches saw Johnny Hibbard breeze through R. E. Blais 6-0, 6-0, Albert W. Reid, even-temper veteran, come from behind to top L. P. Lussier, 6-0, 6-0, 6-4, R. Boudreau defeat J. Panneton 6-2, 6-2, Raoul Gagne outlast P. Delage 3-6, 7-5, 6-1, Majcha Carreuz down Laurent 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, Bud Gilbert beat R. L. Guillemette 6-3, 6-1, Bill Jones overpowered Ivan Boisvert 6-4, 7-5, J. H. Lemay top Jean Vezina 6-3, 6-4 and Paul Hirou take Lemay 6-4, 6-0.

Marion Hanev, of Drummondville, one of the favorites for the ladies' singles crown, advanced by dashing off Andrea Triganne 6-2, 6-1, and then teamed with her sister, Norcen, to trim the Misses Ida Goyette and Louise Triganne 6-2, 6-1 in ladies' doubles. Marcel Darche won by defeating Ashley Hibbard, who was unable to appear because of illness.

More spice was added to the ladies' singles division with the entry into the tournament of Audrey Bradshaw, runner-up to the Provincial intermediate champion, and Ann Albee, of Sutton. Miss Bradshaw and Miss Albee will probably clash in the final, and an interesting duel should be staged.

Detailed results: G. Boudreau defeated G. Triganne, 6-3, 6-3; R. Metivier defeated J. Panneton, 6-2, 6-2; R. Gagne defeated P. Delage, 3-6, 7-5, 6-1; M. Charest defeated L. Turmel, 6-3, 6-4; J. Hibbard defeated R. E. Blais, 6-0, 6-0; M. Darche won from Ashley Hibbard by default; G. Boudreau defeated P. Filteau, 6-4, 6-2; B. Gilbert defeated R. L. Guillemette, 6-3, 6-1; Marion Hanev defeated Andrea Triganne, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Jones defeated Ivan Boisvert, 6-4, 7-5; M. Hanev defeated I. Goyette and L. Triganne, 6-2, 6-1; J. H. Lemay defeated J. Vezina, 6-3, 6-4; A. W. Reid defeated L. P. Lussier, 6-0, 6-0; Paul Hirou defeated J. H. Lemay, 6-4, 6-0.

VETERANS HALT LOSING STREAK OF RED WINGS

Rochester Snaps Slump by Spilling Toronto 6-4 - Beaten 11-3 by Buffalo, Royals Share Fourth Place with Jersey City.

Any manager knows that there's nothing like having a couple of veteran campaigners around a ball club when the chips are down, so the presence of Mike Ryba and John Berly must be a consolation to Tony Kaufman, boss of Rochester Red Wings. Ryba's pitching record of seventeen victories against six defeats makes him anything but a "consolation prize" to the Wings, but his experience is bound to have a steadying effect on the rest of the staff, which is composed mostly of youngsters.

It must have been quite a relief, therefore, to Kaufman as well as Rochester fans, when Ryba and Berly combined last night to snap the Wings' losing streak by beating Toronto Maple Leafs 6-4. The victory lifted the pace-setters three games ahead of the Bears, who lost 10-3 to Baltimore Orioles.

Paced by Bill Nagel, who collected a homer and three singles in four trips to the plate, Baltimore pounded two Newark pitchers for fifteen hits, behind the seven-hit twirling of Tommy Hughes. Jersey City Giants turned the tables on Syracuse to defeat the Chiefs 2-1 in the ninth inning and even the series at two-all. Blanked until the ninth by Jack Tising's five-hit pitching, the Little Giants bunched three hits and an error for both their runs.

The triumph boosted the Little Giants into a fourth-place tie with Montreal Royals, who were beaten 11-3 by Buffalo.

The Lions garnered eight runs on ten hits off Bill Crouch and Don Herring in the first two innings to make the game a walk-away for Earl Cook, who kept eight safeties well spaced for his ninth win of the year.

Defeating A's 5-4, Red Sox Advance To Second Spot In Provincial Loop

Granby Red Sox took advantage of St. Hyacinthe's idleness last night to pull into a tie for second place with the Saints in the Provincial Baseball League.

The Red Sox made five hits good for a 5-4 extra-inning triumph over the league-leading Quebec Athletics at Granby. The victory pulled Quebec down into but a half-game in front of the two second-place squads.

The Saints lost a chance to gain a tie for the lead with Quebec men when their scheduled game with Three Rivers was rained out. Quebec, after building an early lead, saw Granby tie up the game in the late stages and then go on to win with a counter in the tenth. The Athletics rallied for three runs in the third frame and one in the fourth, holding Granby meanwhile to a single counter in the second.

Behind the strong pitching of Brainerd, the Athletics held their 4-1 margin until the eighth inning. Here, Granby rallied with singles by Bonner, Albertson and Walsh coupled with a pair of Quebec errors to tie up the game.

In the last of the tenth, the Red Sox loaded the bases with two out. Brainerd, who had pitched five-hit ball over the route for Quebec, then walked Leach to force home the winning run.

'SLAMMIN' SAM' SNEAD TOPS IN ONTARIO OPEN

Delaware Ace Blazes Through with Withering 68 to Equal Erie Downs Course Record -Gordie Brydson Second.

Fort Erie, Ont., Aug. 10.—(P)—"Slammin' Sam" Snead, the Ontario Open Championship tucked away in his golf bag, headed for Toronto today and the Canadian Open Championship which starts over the Scarborough course next Thursday.

One of the United States' top-flight shotmakers and a former winner of the Dominion Open, Snead installed himself as one of the favorites to regain the title with his wizardry over the Erie Downs course here yesterday.

Recovering a putting touch that was missing from the opening round Thursday, the Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., ace blazed through on the second 18 holes with a withering 68 that equalled the course record. The 71-under-par card, together with a four-of-Thursdays gave him a 92-hole total of 133.

In closest pursuit of Snead was Gordie Brydson, of Toronto, Mississauga who finished with a 69. With a 74 from the first round, Brydson earned second place with a total of 143.

For victory, Snead received a golf medal from the Ontario Golf Association, the General Motors Trophy and $150. Brydson won a silver medal and $100.

SECOND-SEEDED
Helen Jacobs who had the misfortune to be born about the same time as two of the greatest women tennis stars—Helen Wills Moody and Alice Marble—has a hunch she may even her all-time series with Queen Alice today in the finals of the Eastern Grass Courts championship.

The two met five times and Alice has won three times. But if she's right today, Helen, in her 17th year of big-time tennis, may stave off another of the heart-breaking defeats that have marked her as the "perennial second best."

Although Miss Jacobs was national champion four years, her victories came after Helen Wills finished and before Alice Marble came to the scene. Now, slimmer than ever and feeling much better, Helen "thinks she may square the series, for she knows Alice's weakness like she knows the strings on her racket.

In Sporting Vein

Officials of the Sherbrooke Tennis Association who are handling the Eastern Townships tourney beamed all over when they climbed from the temple of Morpheus this morning, because everything indicated a great week-end, from the point of view of weather at least. Yesterday and last night, saw the opening games played, and competition will continue at high speed throughout today and tomorrow.

Tennis has always been known as a gentleman's game, because it calls forth the finest qualities of sportsmanship. It is customary and traditional that when a referee or linesman misses a close play the man who is favored by the doubtful decision throws away the next point. Players are expected to conduct themselves in a dignified manner while on the courts and to concentrate on gaining points through ability and not through "pulling fast ones" on their opponents.

It is hoped that the E.T. tourney will be run off without any untoward incidents to spoil the usually pleasant atmosphere of the event.

"Gunner" Payette is quite a versatile chap. The Cornwall hockey player who centered a line with Andrews and Gault for Dallas Gaults Windsor Mills intermediates last winter is also no mean shakes as a lacrosse player. Performing for Cornwall Lacrosse Seniors in the Quebec Senior Lacrosse League, Payette riddled home a timely tally in overcutting last night to assure for his team a victory over Verdun in the Cornwall Arena.

If Les Bessant and his Superheats softball team-mates never see another bump it will be too soon. Bessant and his infielders had bunts to the left of them, bunts to the right of them and bunts in front of them on the Parade Grounds last Thursday night and the teasing, dribbling, little rollers were altogether too much for them. So they blew sky-high and Kaiser Seconds ramblod to a 14-3 victory.

But all the Tigers feel that Monday is another day and that with Roger Plouffe on the mound they will be able to spike the newest wrinkle of their opponents and capture the fifth and deciding game in the best-of-five Industrial League championship series.

Since the winning team will go on to face Henry Kl-in's seniors, monarchs of the City League for the city championship, it seems hardly fair for members of the senior Kayser team to group themselves around the bench of their junior team and heckle the Superheats players. It would seem that if the Kayser Seconds are fully capable of fighting their own battles.

Baseball's local spotlight will be focused on Dufferin Park Sunday afternoon, where East Sherbrooke and Brocktonville will play a two-game series for the Eastern Townships juvenile championship. These kids may a surprising wood brand of ball, and if your plans for a weekend trip fell through why not drop over and give the lads a hand?

The moody Hershberger was depressed to a greater degree than usual when Bucky Walters couldn't hold a three-run lead after retiring two Giants in the ninth inning at the Polo Grounds. A walk and a home run and another walk and another home run and Walters was beaten.

Willard Hershberger, poor fellow, insisted he called the wrong pitches on the home run balls.

SEE PROSPECTS FOR ALL-OHIO WORLD SERIES

Cleveland and Cincinnati Given Excellent Chances of Coming Down in Front of Respective Major Baseball Loops.

Melvin Harder of the Indians has found his handouts again, and prospects for an all-Ohio world series were never so bright.

Cincinnati and Cleveland would provide an exciting and profitable fall show . . . with patrons shuffling from one end of the state to the other. There are only a few more than 30,000 seats at Crosley Field, but there would be accommodations for all in Cleveland's huge Municipal Stadium, which holds 81,000.

Johnny Allen is also throwing the little ball, as the athletes say. Mel Harder and Allen, stungy with base hits, and coupled with the great Bob Feller, the left-handed Al Milnar and right-handed Al Joe Dubs, give Cleveland the slickest pitching in other major circuit.

With a bulge in the box, a stout defence and hitters due to hit, the Indians should be able to beat off the Detroit Tigers and their leaky infield in the American League.

Cincinnati failed off toward the close of its last season swing. The Reds were then left in a daze by the suicide of Willard Hershberger.

It has been a trait of this club, both last year and this, to slip up when it gets far in front. The Indians thrive on competition, not on prosperity. They are fighters, which is one of the principal reasons why they are expected to repeat in the National.

Ernie Lombardi will continue to do the bulk of the Reds' catching with Bill Baker ready to spell the big work-horse. Baker is an experienced and rather capable hand who came up from Indianapolis last spring.

Cincinnati players believe it was his failure to go well when called on to substitute for Lombardi over a stretch of games that led to Hershberger's tragic end. Hershberger hit well as a second stringer, catching only now and then but nervousness got the best of him when he was forced to carry the entire load, which was the case when Lombardi sprained his ankle in Philadelphia.

...and for three generations...

For well nigh half a century, someone in our family has been saying, "There is no other tobacco just like Old Chum!" And in each generation my grandfather, my father and myself have found lots of men all over Canada to agree with us. For there's something about Old Chum, something which makes you like it better the longer you smoke it, and which always brings you back to it if you stray away. Buy a package today—it's grand tobacco—mellow, fragrant, satisfying.
