THE MUTINIES IN INDIA.

THE SIEGE OF DELHI.

The following letter is from a young sergeant in the 60th Royal Rifles:

Camp Guznee de Nuggur, June 3.

My dear Father,—We left Meerut on the 27th ult. At about four the same day the insurgents took up a most capital position, about a mile from our camp, and commenced operations with some very heavy guns. My company was ordered to advance, got under a wall, and returned the fire in first-rate order. We remained under cover and unsupported for about half an hour, when the remainder of our boys came up at the double, and our captain was ordered to charge the guns. Off we galloped. They sent several rounds of grape and cannister into us, but we dodged them. As soon as we saw the explosion down we went flat on our faces, and up, off, and down again before we could say "Jack Robinson." We got up to the guns, drove the niggers to the devil, and thought we were all right, when off went their ammunition. They had put a slow match to it. Our captain (J. Andrews) and four men were killed by the explosion, and several wounded. We captured the 24-pounder siege gun and several others.—Their field batteries they took away. They next took up their position in front of a large walled village, and fought like devils. We drove them into the village and set fire to it.—We were obliged afterwards to go through the fire and drive them out. At last we broke them. A small band, about thirty, got together at the foot of the village, and stood their ground till the whole were killed. They actually crossed bayonets with ours and met their death like Trojans. We returned to camp about 9, P.M. At 2 o'clock the next day they came out again and fought the same battle over again. We drove them from their position, and that was all. They numbered about 6,000, with a great many guns. Their cavalry charged our guns over and over again. Both men and officers who have fought side by side with them say they could not have imagined that any of the native troops could have fought so well. I had several narrow escapes, but one particularly so. In the village I went into a hut; one of the gents was behind the door; as soon as I showed my nose he made a chop. I twigged him in time, took a step to rear, fired through the door, and cooked his goose. The officer commanding my company, Lieutenant Napier, the second day was shot in the leg, which has since been amputated. As soon as that takes place we're off to Delhi; no quarter to be given, as they give us none. We were obliged to shoot their wounded. They fought more desperately when hurt than when whole. Delhi fort now mounts upwards of 150 heavy guns and field pieces innumerable, ammunition, shot, and shell in abundance, so that we may expect rather warm work.

"I have written this squatting on the ground; we don't deal in tables, and I must leave off for a sleep, as we expect a row this evening.

"Camp before Delhi, June 14.

"No soldiers' letters have been sent from camp since I commenced this. We left Guznee de Nuggur, at 5 p.m. on the 3d en route to join the head-quarters camp, and marched 21 hours without halting more than 10 minutes at a time through mountains and jungle; joined headquarters on the morning of the 6th, having made a circuit of 60 miles and upwards, nearly the whole road too steep and rugged for a billy-goat. At 4 p.m. we came upon a line of batteries of the enemy, which were served with the greatest precision. After three hours very hard fighting we drove them from their position with great loss. We ourselves lost considerably. The second shell fired by the enemy killed the Adjutant-General Colonel Chester. The 75th lost about 70 men. Our regiment has been very fortunate, for since we joined headquarters we have had no casualties. Delhi stands in a hollow, surrounded on three sides by very high and steep walls; on the fourth side is the river Jumna. After we got the gentlemen out of their first line they retired, disputing every inch of ground for eight miles; at the sixth we halted, had a drain of rum and a biscuit served out to us, rested for half-an-hour, and then followed them up; in the meantime they had lined the tops of the hills. The Rifles were ordered to advance in skirming order, which we did in fine style, and by an able flank movement, we took possession of the whole range, captured the guns, and drove the enemy into the city. It was fine sport for our fellows. We kept behind the rocks as we advanced and all the niggers could see was the flash of our pieces. Our first point was to look out for cover—up a tree, behind a tree or rock, in a hole, or, in fact, anywhere where we can see without being seen. We took and shot two Europeans this day; one of them confessed that there were 10 more in the service of the King of Delhi. Captured 17 guns this day, with a very large store of ammunition, shot, &c. They came out in great force at 7 p.m. the same day and tried very hard to dislodge us, but it was 'no go.' They are getting reinforcements every day; the 60th Native Infantry and 4th Native Regular Lancers joined them from the waterside the day before yesterday, at 2 p.m., and gave us as tight a fit as we have had yet. If it had not been for a stratagem I think they would have taken our heavy guns and ammunition. Our colonel ordered us to hide just as it was getting dusk, and then he sounded the 'retire' the 'niggers,' who, of course, know our bugle sounds as well as we do, thinking that we had actually gone back, came up at the double in thousands, all of a mob.—When about 20 yards distance it was 'Up, boys, and at them.' They were greatly astonished, and cut their sticks as fast as they could.

MISSIONARIES MASSACRED IN THE EAST.—By the last mail we find, as was of course to be anticipated, that the civil and military professions were not the only ones which had supplied victims for the mutineers of Hindostan. More than one clergyman and missionary have fallen before the horrible anger and madness of the native soldier, who has so suddenly broken loose from all the restraints of discipline, and all the dictates of humanity. While we regret these deaths, we cannot help feeling some pride in the reflection that it is not the uniform which makes the hero; but that red coat or black coat, armed with the bible or the sword, the word or the weapon, the Briton is ready for any duty, however dangerous—prepared alike to take his place in the energetic struggle of the battle field, or to look with steady eye on the more hideous preparations for the cold blooded murder which is to end his earthly career. It has been the fashion with a class of travellers to hold up the missionaries of the Protestant churches as men altogether unworthy of their high calling, and the hatred arising out of polemical controversy has caused partizans to eagerly seize on some of these apocryphal or exaggerated stories in order to compare unfavorably such evangelizers with the François Xaviers, and others, who have been sent forth by another communion. But, without any disparagement to the undoubted zeal and self-devotion of the missionaries of another church, we believe that Protestants have nothing to blush for in their own, except perhaps it be the tardiness with which they were sent. There may be in the minds of many great doubts of the adviseability of the methods which they have adopted to secure the end which these men propose. But the ordinary calculations of worldly prudence are out of place in considering such a subject. We may be very sure that the skilful diplomatic mind which succeeds everywhere in dealing for its own advantage with the minds of its fellow men is not that which informs the body of a moral or religious teacher. Socrates might, perhaps, have willingly taken poison to spread the doctrines among the Athenians; but ceu bom it is asked, subject himself to destruction when he did not succeed in rendering his countrymen one whit better? From time to time we hear similar questions of our missionaries. It is estimated our many thousands pounds are expended to obtain a convert, and when some one perishes, as was the case of the brave men who died of cold and hunger some six or seven years ago, on the shores of Terra del Fuego, the wise men on change say that they were very good men, but accompany the remark with a shrug which implies that their goodness was greatly alloyed by folly. To all these objectors it may be replied that there are qualities more noble than prudence—and that while worldly caution and sagacity tend only to maintain things in the position where they are—faith in the cause of truth, and in the designs of Providence is the living principle which impels the much-ridiculed enthusiast to begin those small movements which eventually change the face of the earth, and convert savages into men. No man of information who can appreciate any qualities or acts which extend beyond the mere promotion of material objects can fail to respect the office of the Christian missionary. If it were only in a literary sense that their labours had been useful, the contributions of the Protestant missionaries to philology would place them in a position to merit the general respect of the world. The key which opened the Chinese language in any practical manner to the scholars of Europe, was the dictionary of the missionary Morison: a work whose literary difficulties it is impossible to exaggerate, while these were increased by the jealousy of the Chinese nation, which subjected him to all sorts of inconvenience in the acquisition of the necessary knowledge. Many other semi-barbarons languages have been even re-created by these men and reduced to grammatical rules, for the purpose of conveying the gospel to all peoples in all dialects. The publications of the Bible Society are there to prove their labours in this interesting department of the history of our race. But this is not their highest praise. Take the worst account of the state of society in the beautiful islands of the South Seas, and then ask if it be all that is described now, what would it have been had these men not been present—what kind of a population would Oceania have possessed if, instead of the men who introduced letters, and religion, and government, it had seen none but the dissolute blackguards who have run away from ships or convict settlements, and who, after roving through the islands, professedly indulging themselves in every vice, have, in some cases, written books of travels, to impute all the wrong done to those men who have alone prevented the corruption from being entire. Take again the West Indies, and it is to the missionaries that it is due, if the Christian feeling of the British, people was at last aroused to put an end to the disgrace of slavery. In the East, prior to the epoch of the missionaries, who were not allowed to enter the country till they obtained leave to settle under a foreign flag, at the Danish settlement of Serampore, British officers took part in the services of Juggernaut, and countenanced, by their presence at least, the horrid rights of suttee. If the conscience of the nation has been stirred to put an end to this state of things, it is to the missionaries chiefly that the change is due. The deaths of some of these men at their posts has recalled many of these things to our memory, and has impelled us to repeat the protest we have hitherto made against the cowardly outcry against these apostles of the principles of mercy and benevolence, which, in one shape or another, all Christians profess to hold. The clergyman in the East has fulfilled his work as nobly as the soldier, let him, at least, have the same meed of respect and admiration. If his work even is despised, his courage and devotion merit this tribute to his worth.

FEES RECEIVED AND BUSINESS TRANSACTED FOR INDIVIDUALS BY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS.—We recently, in connection with the Upper Canada Bank developements, took occasion to allude to the circumstance of the intimate connection of that Bank with the politics of the country, and to point out that there were in the financial department of the Government very many indications such as those which ought to have made the Bank aware of something being wrong with its agent before his crime became actually patent to the world. We said that it was notorious that the salaries which appeared from the published accounts to be paid could not maintain the expenditures, which any observer might notice about the seat of government, and that there must either be clandestine drafts for services rendered, made on individuals having to do business with the Departments, or something still worse. Since writing that article we have been reminded by a friend of a circumstance which illustrates one part of these remarks, and which was brought to light by the commissioners appointed to investigate charges made by returning officers. This report, which was sent in to the Government during the last session of Parliament, contained, among other curious things, the account, by a Returning officer in the District of Montreal, of the manner in which he obtained the settlement of his bill. The bill contained several charges not allowed by law, and when it was sent up for audit, the Deputy Inspector General struck these items out. It happened, however, that the Returning officer had been sagacious enough, instead of transacting the business himself, or through any ordinary agent, to employ a government official to draw his money. This nondescript agent found out what was going on before the account was absolutely disallowed and reported on, and he therefore gave notice to his principal, who forthwith quietly withdrew the original bill, no doubt by the advice of his astute agent, and substituted another document, in which the same sum total was ingeniously made up from different items. The process consisted simply in striking out the charges which were not authorized by law, and adding them to those which could stand the test of the auditor. The Commissioners thereupon recommended that no person in the employ of the Government should be allowed to act as agent for any person having business to transact with the Government Departments; and we believe there was some promise that a general order should be issued to repress the practice. So far, however, we think that nothing of the sort has been done. We mention this as one out of a number of facts which have came under our own notice, but many of which we are not in a position to make public. The broad facts, however, are entirely within the observation of the Ministers of the Crown.

THE CENTRE WARD.—We have been aware for some days that many of the electors of this Ward had set their eyes on Mr. D. Gorrie as a proper person to take the place in the City Council, lately so ably filled by Mr. Townsend, but now vacated by the retirement of that gentleman. We, however, preferred to say nothing on the subject until we knew whether Mr. Gorrie would accept the important charge which it was proposed to confer upon him, especially as we knew that it was only necessary for him to express his willingness to make his election secure. We have no longer that reason for silence, as we are enabled to-day to publish the requisition of a most numerous and respectable body of the electors of the Ward to Mr. Gorrie, and the reply of that gentlemen.—The request of so large a number of the rate-payers amounts of itself to an election. We regard the return of their candidate as a fait accompli, and have now only to express our gratification at the return to the Council of a gentleman in all respects so well qualified. Mr. Gorrie is not only fitted for the post by general business character and by a long acquaintance with the city and the citizens, but he has had an extensive knowledge in times past of the public business of the Corporation, at whose council table he sat for a great many years, we have reason to believe with the approbation, and for the welfare of his constituents.

THE EXHIBITION.—Now that the exhibition has closed, it is proper to say one word in praise of the manner in which the affair was on the whole conducted. The committees all merit praise for their arrangements, and among those whom they employed we may mention two names especially as having "deserved well of their country." One of these is Mr. Balchin, who supplied the edibles, and such moderate beverages as were allowed to be sold on the ground for the reflection of the hungry and thirsty visitors. The other is Mr. Martin, who acted as Grand Marshall, and who, in that capacity, had we learn a great deal of the responsibility of maintaining the order of the proceedings devoled on his shoulders. He was fully equal to the business, and throughout the three days the arrival and departure of stock, and of visitors took place without confusion or trouble. Much of the comfort and success of an affair like that of last week necessarily depends upon the competency of the person who holds Mr. Martin's office.

JUMPED OVER THE FALLS.—On the 11th inst., a person named W. F. Allen, who had arrived at the Clifton House the day before, after having drank some wine and written two letters, one for Messrs. Carter, Kerry & Co., Montreal, and the other for Miss B. Allen, Dublin, Ireland, deliberately went to the Table Rock, and, in view of several spectators, disappeared in the turbulent river.

LARGE FAILURE IN BOSTON.—Great excitement was occasioned on Saturday by the announcement of the failure of the large firm of Charles H. Mills & Co. This house was agent for the Lyman Mills, the Great Falls, Chicopee, Perkins and Dwight manufacturing Companies, and other small Corporations. Their liabilities are said to be between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. Boston papers state that Friday was a trying day for Boston merchants, and says that nothing like it has been known since the memorable period of 1837.

Among the many distinguished arrivals at the Donegana Hotel, we notice the names of the Hon. Atty.-General Macdonald, C. W., Hon. Chancellor Blake and family, Lieut. Cooke, A.D.C., Mr. Blackwell and family, all of whom were passengers by the steamship "Indian." Also, Cols. Taylor and Bell of Royal Artillery, and the Bishop of Massachusetts.

We would remind our readers that Colonel Bell's sale takes place this evening at No. 5 Cornwall Terrace. The horses and saddlery are well worth the attention of parties requiring such.

BUSINESS DONE IN ONE BRANCH OF TRAFFIC.—In the space of six years, one branch of the liquor traffic in New York has grown from very small proportions into a prolific source of revenue. In 1851 there was started in the city a depot for a new article, known then, and since, as Schiedam Schnapps. In 1857, the traffic in this article reaches a yearly average of $600,000 to $800,000, employs one hundred operatives, and becomes one of the most profitable channels of trade. The history of this rapid increase is interesting.

"Schnapps" is a German word, signifying "a dram." Schiedam Schnapps, therefore, means "a dram made in Schiedam." It differs from the common quality of gin in very essential particulars.

The greater part of the gin shipped from Holland to the United States is imported high flavored—to be mixed with our common whisky, with the essential oil extracted by running through charcoal. The principal part of gins imported here are shipped with an extra quantity of the juniper flavor; spirits added to this produces the article commonly known as "Old Hollands." The manner of producing this extra flavor is somewhat after the following fashion. In flavor, the juniper berry, when fresh and pure, is slightly piney. If the berry is old the oil becomes rancid, and takes on the flavor of spirits of turpentine—a fact which explains the peculiar ill-odor of much of the gin commonly thrown upon the market. A series of careful experiments led to the production of the article now known as Schnapps. Schnapps are made of barley, flavored with the juniper. Each berry of the juniper, before it is passed to the still, is separately selected and washed, so that no impure berries or bits of pine are left. The result is a pure gin, free from deleterious properties.

Mr. Udolpho Wolfe was a heavy importer of liquors for a number of years before he and a brother completed arrangements for the introduction of this article. The business has finally increased to the extent that it is separated from any other commercial enterprise. The average shipment of "Schnapps" from Rotterdam (the seaport of Schiedam) is 200 to 300 pipes per month. Upon arrival the pipes are placed in bonded warehouses.

The number of bottles put up in a day averages 7,500. Only two sizes (pints and quarts) are made. Last year fifteen thousand gross were manufactured, or about 2,160,000 bottles. The average yearly payment for the item of corks is $5000; they are cut by a machine contrived expressly for the purpose, so that all fit and none are wasted. The amount expended yearly for sealing wax is $3,000 the cost of the packing boxes is $37,000 a year; the cost of printing labels, pamphlets, &c, averages about $25,000 annually, exclusive of advertising, which is a heavy item. For sawdust, used in packing, five thousand dollars a year are expended; when the concern started it was procured for nothing; now, 150 barrels a day are consumed, and 14 cents are paid per barrel. Schnapps make sawdust an article of commercial value. It is calculated that two thirds of all the sawdust made in the city is consumed in this way. It is furnished by planing mills in New York and Brooklyn. The cost of wrapping paper, pasteboard, &c., averages $10,000 a year.

The wages paid, not counting clerkhire, are about $20,000 per year.—N. Y. Evening Press.

Trade and Commerce.

THE CROPS.

We are again indebted to W. Lunn, Esq., of the Equitable Insurance Office, for the following further report of the crops, collected by the agencies of this institution. The information gathered by the agents of this Company throughout the country has been very valuable. We believe it has been accurate. We have had disinterested testimony from the country to this effect:—

Berthier and Joliette.—But a small quantity of wheat has been sown. Early sown has been in great part destroyed by the fly; the late sown from 15th May to the 10th June will turn out better. The crop, taken as a whole, will not turn out much over half a one. Last year, the early sown turned out well; the late badly. Barley has turned out well, and harvested in good order. Oats will turn out well—the principal grain sown. Peas, an average crop. Green crops have a good appearance. Potatoes will turn out badly; will not return half a crop; in many places will not return the quantity planted. Maize will turn out well; but little has been sown. Rye, fall and spring, has turned out well, and harvested in good order; our sandy lands are principally sown with fall rye. Buckwheat, although injured by the late warm weather and frost, will be about an average crop; our low lands are generally sown with this grain; was sown as late as the 10th July this season on the low lands of the islands. Harvest time from the 15th August to latter end of September.

County of Carleton, Township of Nepean.—Fall Wheat about half crop; spring, early good; late partially damaged by the fly; both over an average crop. Barley good, but not much sown. Oats very good. Peas a fair crop; mildewed in low grounds. Green crops very good, but too sparingly cultivated. Potatoes generally blighted and rotten. Maize a middling crop. Broken weather; harvest late this year.

County of Lanark.—Fall wheat winter killed and thin, but a fine berry; spring wheat could not be better. Barley very good; a large quantity grown. Oats a very heavy crop. Peas good; generally a heavy crop. Green crops very good. Potatoes are the best crop ever known in the county, but lately there are some appearances of rot. Maize late, and will be about an average crop. Grain now all secured, with the exception of some oats and maize.

Perth.—Crops, as a whole, better than for many years past.

Counties of Prescott and Russell.—Early sown wheat is much injured by the weevil; late sown good, except the latest, damaged with rust; on the whole, under an average crop. Barley good; not much sown in these Counties. Oats very good, and a large crop—more than an average. Peas good. Hay good, and secured generally in fine order. Green crops are very good, but not much raised here. Potatoes are of a very large growth of stalk, but are struck with rust, and much rotted. Indian corn good; if the frost keeps off until the 20th September, all will be ripened. Grain harvest commenced about the 1st of August, and ends about the middle of September. Grain crops, up to the 10th September, have been secured in good order.

United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.—Wheat No. 1. Barley do. Oats do. Peas do. Green crops good; average. Potatoes rotting fast. No maize. Fall wheat all in up to this date.

ENGLISH MARKETS.

The demand for money continues pretty active, yet no advance can be noticed in the rates of discount. Pending the receipt of further news from India, the market for the Public Funds and Securities was very dull and inanimate to-day, and a slight decline must be mentioned in the price of Consols, which closed at the following rates:—For mony 90⅝ to 90¼, and for the Account at 90⅞ to 91; and after official hours the former rates were rather firmer, at 90 7-16 to 90 9-16; Exchequer Bills sold at 9 to 1 discount, and the New Three per Cents at 90⅞ to 91⅛.

LIVERPOOL PRODUCE MARKET—Sept. 8.

Sugar—Business is confined to a cargo of 4,800 bags Bahia to arrive, at 32s per cwt ex quay.

Coffee—The public sales of Jamaica went off with good spirit. 250 tierces, 140 barrels finding buyers at full prices, especially for the finer qualities, ranging from 64s 6d to 68s for ordinary to good ordinary, 72s 6d to 76s for low middling, 78s to 84s for middling, 85s to 95s 6d for good to fine middling, up to 110s per cwt. for fine mountain.

Rice—A large business has again been done, at a further advance. 3,300 bags Bengal selling at 11s 3d to 13s, 4,950 bags Rangoon at 10s to 10s 3d, and 2,800 bags Netransie at 11s, beside 800 tons to arrive at 11s 6d to 11s 7½d per cwt.

Jute—About 2,200 bales were disposed of today by public sale at £21 10s to £24 per ton, being rather lower rates.

Hemp—100 bales Manilla at £36 per ton.

Pearl Sago—200 boxes are reported at 22s for large, and at 25s per cwt. for small grain.

LIVERPOOL CORN MARKET—SEPT. 8.

We had a good number of Wheat buyers, chiefly from the interior of the country, at our market to-day; a considerable amount of business has been done in this grain, and we note an advance generally of 2d to 3rd since this day week, and upon red American 3d to 4d, per bushel improvement has been readily obtained.—Flour is a steady sale and 6d to 1s per barrel and sack dearer. Grinding Barleys rather easier to purchase.—Beams steady in value and demand.—Oats and Oatmeal fully as dear, and in fair country request—we have had a fair but not large business in Indian Corn, which is further advanced, mixed and yellow rating 2s per quarter over the currencies of Tuesday last, and white partially recoving the decline submitted on Friday.

LONDON PRODUCE MARKET—SEPT. 8.

Sugar—The market has opened with a dull appearance, although importers show firmness. Refined is dull. Lumps quoted 60s to 63s.

Coffee.—The small public sales have not altered general quotations.

Tea—Has a very firm appearance; but without transactions.

Rice has been in good demand, and prices show an advance of fully 2d on last week's prices.

Rum in fair demand, but quotations unaltered.

LONDON TALLOW MARKET.—SEPT. 8.

Town tallow is quoted 61s 3d nett cash; Petersburg Y. C. on the spot, 62s 9d; September, 62s 6d; October to December, 59s 5d, sellers; January to March, 59s 6d, sellers.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

SHANGHAE MARKET.

SHANGHAE, June 29, 1857.

TEAS.—The transactions in Black Teas are small; musters of new have already commenced to arrive. The purchasers of the season are estimated at 263 chops, against 590 last year; stock at 6 full chops, against 100 at that time. The continued active demand for England, and the present prospect of another short supply, maintain prices, and we are led to anticipate high rates during the coming season. In Green Teas, the only sale is 1800 hf chests, for the London market, at a very extreme price.

FOO-CHOW-FOO MARKET.

FOO-CHOW-FOO, June 29, 1857.

Since the date of our last, advices teas have contined to arrive, though to a moderate extent, and the transactions during the last fortnight have been upon a very limited scale.

No vessel has been despatched as yet, although at this time last season six full cargoes of new Teas left port. From the Oolong district of "Sar Yune," we learn that a large body of robbers, numbering 10,000 men, were within 20 miles of that place, and the inhabitants in momentary fear of an attack. What few Teas were packed have been hurried off to this market, business entirely suspended, and valuables moved into boats to be in readiness to leave at a moment's notice. We look with much anxiety to the receipts of further advices from this district, and should they not be of a more favourable nature, we shall see extravagant prices demanded for what few Oolongs are now in this market. The receipts of Congou have been small, and settlements to a moderate extent have been made at full prices.

PUBLIC SALES YESTERDAY.

At the stores of Messrs. D. Torrance & Co.—John Leeming, auctioneer:

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.

Money Market is lighter than ever. There are rumours of heavy failures among the Dry Goods dealers.

CAMDEN, Sept. 21.

The Chemical Works of Pall & Keith, at Hooper's Creek, Camden, were destroyed by fire last night. The loss is heavy.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21.

W. Ashby, Chief Engineer of the Central America, left here this evening for New York. He says he is ready to meet any investigation which may be ordered as to his conduct in leaving the vessel or the manner in which he performed his duty. He said he left in the boat by the Captain's orders, to arrange with the Captain of the Brig for bringing his vessel closer, and that the crew of the boats refused to return to the Steamer with him, all deserting the boat.

A number of destitute widows and orphans are here, and collections are making for their relief. $2,000 was subscribed for this purpose at Norfolk.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 20.

The Ship Florida, from Liverpool for Savannah, touched off this port and placed in a Pilot boat Captain Joseph Young and the officers and crew, 18 in number, of the Ship Floating Zephyr, of Boston, water logged in the late gale, August 20th.

On Sunday last, in Pike County, Alabama, 37 persons were poisoned, six of whom are dead. A negro cook mixed arsenic with the food of the family at the instigation of a Hungarian named Coskina. Thos Frasell, the overseer's wife, two children, Mrs. Elad, and Frasell's grand daughter are dead, and the others are lying in a critical position. The negro woman was burned, and Coskina would undergo the same fate on the following day, Monday.

STOVES!

GREAT ST. JAMES' STREET

NEW STOVE STORE.

THE SUBSCRIBERS, in addition to their present business, now offer to the public the best selection of COOKING and FANCY PARLOR STOVES, cheaper than any other house in Montreal. Amongst these superior Stoves will be found Sandford's "1000-lb. Challenge Prize Heater," capable of warming both halls and rooms adjoining; also, Littlefield's "Railroad Coal Burner," only requiring to be supplied once a day, leaving no clinkers; a great saving of fuel is effected by their use.

All Stoves not as represented may be returned.

Parties having Stoves not the size required will get them exchanged at valuation during the remainder of the present month.

Patent Giant Stove Lotbiniere.

NONE EQUAL IN THE COUNTRY LIKE THEM.

THESE STOVES are made so as to ensure a great saving in the HEATING, and at the same time, afford ample accommodation for Culinary purposes, besides being most elegant in shape. It must be observed likewise, that the lower part is a good deal smaller than the upper, having a spacious Oven, thereby requiring very little combustible to heat it, whilst the several compartments are so combined as to prevent any breakage in the plates. The public is respectfully invited to come and inspect the Giant Stove, at the Store of A. BREWSTER, No. 250 St. Paul Street, where they are for Sale.

Special Notices.

To the Medical Faculty of Canada.

WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS.

A superlative tonic, diuretic and anti-dyspeptic and invigorating cordial. This medicinal diet drink, manufactured soley by the proprietor at his distillery in Schiedam, in Holland, expressly for medicinal porposes. It is the pure tincture of juniper, distilled from the best barley that can be selected in Europe at any cost. It is flavored and medicated not by the common harsh berry, but by the choice botanical variety of the aromatic Italian juniper berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirited solvent, and thus it becomes a concentrated tincture of excellent flavor and aroma, altogether surpassing in its cordial and medicinal properties any alcoholic stimulant now in use in the world. It has been submitted to all the first class chemists and physicians in the United States, who endorse it over their own signatures as one of the great essentials of the materia medica. It is now prsecribed with great success in gravel, gout, rheumatism, obstruction of the bladder and kidneys, dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic; in general debility, sluggish circulation of the blood, inadequate assimulation of food, and exhausted energy, are acknowledged by the whole medical faculty, and attested in their highest written athorities.—Put up in quart, and pint bottles, enveloped in yellow paper, with the proprietor's name on the bottle, cork and label. For sale by all the respectable druggists and country merchants.

UDOLPHO WOLFE,
Sole Manufacturer and Importer,
Nos. 18, 20, & 22, Beaver st., N.Y.

I beg leave to call the attention of the reader to testimonials in favor of the Schnapps:—

Laboratory, New York, May 2, 1853.

Mr. Udolpho Wolfe:—

Dear Sir,—I cannot speak too highly of the purity of your Schiedam schnapps. It is decidedly superior to any thing of the kind in the market.

It is perfectly free from the admixture of fusel oil, or any of those arnylic compounds which produce such a mischievous and irreparable effect upon the constitution, and which very few samples of alcoholic distilled liquors are without—most of them being largely impregnated with it.

I have personally inspected the various processes of distillation practised at Schiedam, and know that unusual care is taken to separate the noxious elements from the pure alcohol; and your Schnapps is a striking proof of its success.

As a medicinal agent for chronic and renal affections I have successfully prescribed it, and recommended it as an agreeable cordial and harmless stimulant, and shall continue to do so, as well as to use it as a source of pure alcohol for chemical investigations and experiments.

Your obedient,
ISAIAH DECK,
Consulting Analytical Chemist.

From Dr. J. W. Bright, Louisville, Ky., Sept. 1.

I feel that we have now an article of gin suitable for such cases as that remedy is adapted to.

From Dr. O. L. Leonard, Louisville, Ky.

I well know the difficulty of obtaining genuine unadulterated spirituous liquors of any kind for medical purposes, and therefore rejoice at any attempt to render certain the purity of those articles, and at the same time to improve the medicinal properties. Perhaps in no article is this improvement more desirable than in Holland gin. We frequently fail to prescribe it where it might be useful, having no faith in obtaining a genuine article, and of course anticipating no benefit from the use of an inferior one. I shall take great pleasure in receiving a bottle of your schnapps, and hope it may prove all that it is described.

Dr. Charles A. Leas, Commissioner of Health, Baltimore, writes as follows in relation to the value of "schnaps" as a remedy in chronic catarrhal complaints, &c.:

"I take great pleasure in bearing highly creditable testimony to its efficacy as a remedial agent in the diseases for which you recommend it. Having a natural tendency to the mucous surfaces, with a slight degree of stimulation, I regard it as one of the most important remedies in chronic catarrhal affections, particularly those of the genito-urinary apparatus. With much respect, your obedient serv't,

CHAS. A. LEAS, M.D.

Dr. Chaloner of Philadelphia, who is well known to be opposed to the use of ordinary alcoholic stimulants, thus endorses the schnapps:—

"MR UDOLPHO WOLFE, 22 Beaver street, New York.

"Dear Sir—Last year the writer received, through your agent in this city, a bottle of your "aromatic Schiedam schnapps," and since that period has presented the same in certain forms of urinary complaints, also, in cases of debility in aged persons. So far, the schnapps have been of much interest to those using it. * *

In conclusion, where a diuretic and stimulant is required, I should use the "Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps." Thanking you for your kindness, I am respectfully yours,

A. D. CHALONER, M. D.,
130 South Eighth street.

Dr. D. Calkins, town physician and surgeon at Lyme, Conn., says in letter dated October 14:—

I consider your Schiedam schnapps a superior article, and one that will not come short of our highest expectations. It is an article the medical fraternity have long wanted. I have used it so far with every apparent success. Please forward me as soon as you can conveniently, twelve bottles. * * * D. CALKINS.

Dr. S. Russell Childs, 86 Chambers street, New York, under date, July 12, after referring to the schnapps as a "superior article," remarks:—

"Such an article is wanted for medicinal purposes. The profession are deeply interested in this matter. * * * * It will afford me pleasure to lend my aid in introducing the article you have been instrumental in bringing before the public.

Very truly yours, S. RUSSEL CHILDS, M. D.

Dr. C. Robbins of Boston, celebrated for his cure of epilepsy, cholera, &c., complains of the "great difficulty of procuring a pure Holland gin," and speaks of the Schiedam schnapps as follows, under date of Aug, 5:—

I have recommended your article in four cases—two in Connecticut, one in Vermont, and one in Rhode Island. An article of this character is much needed. I have been unable to find a substitution in the materia medica for pure Holland gin. Yours, C. ROBBINS.

OFFICE OF PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT, Kansas Territory, July 31, 1854.

DEAR SIR—Having heard much of the medicinal properties of your "Schiedam aromatic schnapps," and they not being accessible in this "far off land," I feel desirous of having them introduced into this country, on account chiefly of a disease prevailing in the prarie and moutainous portions of this country—somewhat resembling stranguary derangement of the urinary organs. It is a complaint peculiar to this country.

As I do not know whether you have any agencies in any of the Western cities or towns, I have deemed it best to address you this note, to inquire whether the article can be had (genuine) nearer than New York.

My post office and embarking and debarking place is "Kansas City, Jackson county, Mo." Yours, respectfully,

Udolpho Wolfe, New York. WM. WALKER.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

[From the Kentucky Medical Recorder, Louisville.]

WOLFE'S AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS.—We speak by the card, when we add our testimony to the host of others, who admit the superiority of Mr. Wolfe's aromatic Schiedam schnapps over all other kinds of gin. From time immemorial, medical men have regarded gin as one of the best diuretics; and the disuse it has fallen into of late years must be attributed rather to the inferiority of the article in the market, than to the fickleness of physicians in substituting some other remedy for it. We know there are many physicians who prescribe alcohol as a remedial agent, in every disease, and under all circumstances. It is not our intention, however, to discuss this question now, but simply to confess our predilection for stimulants in very many diseases, and are certain that we have saved many lives by their administration, which would otherwise have been lost. Mr. Wolfe, we consider, has supplied a desideratum the want of which has been long felt by the profession, (and we might also say by the public,) in importing an article of gin superior to any other we have ever tasted; and we have no hesitation in so recommending it. In several cases which have come under our charge requiring diuretics, we have prescribed it with the best success.

[From the New York Express.]

AN OLD MEDICINE REVIVED.—In days of yore, as we have all learned from the old folks, no medicine was so useful to have in the house, or so good in many diseases, as Pure Holland Gin. For a long time, however the genuine article could not be had, until lately it has reappeared under the new name of Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps. The article appears to be manufactured exclusively by Udolpho Wolfe, at Schiedam, in Holland, and put up in quart and pint bottles expressly for medicinal purposes, with his name on the seal, bottle and label, to protect it against counterfeits. What a great blessing it is for persons residing in the interior of our Southern and Western States, that they can now purchase a pure and unadulterated article of Gin with confidence, without the least liability of deception or dissatisfaction. That it will tend to diminish the consumption of the common, deleterious and spurious liquors which now almost exclusively pervade this country, admits of no doubt. We consider the medical profession and the traveling community are under obligations to Mr. Wolfe.

[From the N. Y. Courier and Enquirer.]

WOLFE'S AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS.—We perceive that this liquor is coming into very general use for medicinal purposes, and with a very happy effect. In the hands of physicians, it is proving itself, as a stimulating diuretic, to be entirely successful after other medication with this intent had been tried in vain. In one of the cases thus reported, abdominal dropsy has been cured, and the necessity of tapping averted; and, in another, a distressing case of gravel, so called, has been entirely removed by the passage of a calculus of considerable size, which is ascribed to the use of only two bottles of this article. The editor of the New York Medical Gazette, Dr. Reese—good authority in such matters—speaks thus of this article:—"As respects its medicinal and curative effects, we understand him to claim only that it is a pure and reliable article of Holland Gin, and, as such, worthy of the confidence of physicians, in those cases which they are wont to prescribe it, and have, hitherto, only been restrained by a pure state. Nor should any prejudice against alcoholic medicine deprive the afflicted of the benefit of this article, which, from time immemorial, has held its place among the remedial agents of the Materia Medica, if it be found worthy of confidence by continued experience. At all events, those who persist in the employment and toleration of other alcoholic medicines, such as tinctures, bitters, &c., and especially those who prescribe Gin, under any circumstances, must all unite in giving the preference to a pure article, over the manifold adulterations so rife in the market. Mr. Wolfe liberally supplies physicians with a sample bottle for analysis and trial, as set forth in his circular, and stakes the reputation of the remedy upon the innocence, safety and efficiency of his Holland Gin, when used under medical advice; and pledges his own character in business that the article will not disappoint any who use it. We shall take occasion, hereafter, to discuss the whole subject of alcoholic medicine, a topic which has recently been attracting much attention in Europe and America."

ALCOHOLIC LIQUORS AS A MEDICINE.—In the July number of Dr. Reese's monthly periodical we observe a letter from Mr. Udolpho Wolfe, the proprietor of the Shiedam Aromatic Schnapps, a preparation of the Juniper Berry, which has been introduced about two years, and about which a vast deal has been said, written and published, until it has got to be recognized as a medicinal remedial agent, and indulged in as a pure and unadulterated preparation of Holland Gin, by those who use spirits, from one end of the Union to the other. This letter is addressed to the medical fraternity throughout the country, to whom a bottle of Schnapps was gratuitously furnished, with a view of obtaining their sincere and candid opinion as to its purity, quality and excellence as a remedial agent and wholesome beverage, either pro or con. It would appear that all the doctors have not complied with this request to furnish the proprietor with the results of their experience, and they are now solicited to furnish it to the editor of the Medical Gazette, briefly or in extenso. We shrewdly suspect, and if all we are told and hear of the delightful aromatic flavor, gently stimulating, invigorating, mild, innoxious, and, non-intoxicating qualities of the Schnapps, that medical recipients have confined its use strictly to their private practice or in other words, personally and individually absorbing them. We can scarcely blame them, but they should certainly furnish Mr. Wolfe with their personal knowledge of his Gin or Schnapps.

A question has recently arisen whether alcoholic mixtures in any form are not objectionable as medicines, although they have been employed as an invaluable medical agent, in a variety of cases for a period of time "whereof the memory of man runneth not back." We believe, indeed we know that a very large majority of the medical faculty believe in the judicious administration of alcohol in certain forms and certain cases; and it is essential to the preparation of a great variety of drugs and medicines. There are many, however, of the modern school of M.D.'s who repudiate alcohol in any shape whatever. Dr. Reese wishes to have the question discussed in all its bearings, and announces in his July number that his columns will be open to a free and impartial discusions on both sides of the question, for respectable members of the profession. The Doctor himself is of the old school, and believes in spirits, if kept in proper check. He has expressed his decided opinion that "Wolfe's Shiedam Acromatic Schnapps" is the very best and purest article of Holland Gin ever produced in the world, and a valuable auxiliary in the hands of the medical fraternity.

But that is neither here nor there; we simply wish to call the attention of the medical faculty, and its temperance members to the fact that radical, ever afforded them ample scope and verge enough to pile up argument, backed by evidences, that alcohol is an out and out poison. Go in, gentlemen of the faculty, and heaven defend the right! We shall look after the Gazette and Wolfe's with more interest than ever. As Sir Lucius O'Trigger observes, "It's a mighty pretty quarrel as it stands."—New York Courrier.

A CHALLENGE TO ULTRA TEMPERANCE MEN.—We believe that all ultra teetotalers profess to hold an opinion that all alcoholic spirits are hurtful under all circumstance. That, even as a medicine, in extreme cases, and whether used internally or externally, the spirit of alcohol is poisonous. Now, we find this question fairly placed before the scientific world by Dr. Reese, editor of The Medical Gazette of this city—a journal of wide circulation and influence, who challenges discussion in regard to the virtues of "Wolfe's Schiedam "Aromatic Schnapps"—a popular "preparation" of pure Holland Gin and Juniper Juice.

The proprietor of these Schnapps has presented a bottle to every regular physician in the United States, at a cost of some of $5,000; and while he has received letters from over one thousand members of the medical faculty, strongly recommending the use of the Schnapps, no one, we believe, has ventured to take the field, on the negative side of the question. We should like to hear from some of our distinguished teetotalers on this subject. —New York Evening Mirror. 1m DC 215

GENTLEMEN,—In reply to your requisition so numerously and respectably signed, requesting me to allow my name to be used in nomination, to fill the vacancy recently occurred in the City Council by the resignation of W. A. TOWNSEND, Esq.,

Allow me to state that at the present time, I had no desire and certainly no expectation of being asked to return to the Council, but as you have seen fit to call upon me I cannot refuse. Therefore, if returned, I will endeavour zealously to discharge the duties incumbent upon me as one of your representatives in the Civic body.

With due respect,
I am, Gentlemen,
Your Obt. Servant,
D. GORRIE.

To the Electors of Centre Ward,—Wolfred Nelson, M.D., Messrs. W. A. Townsend, Rollo Campbell, T. Musson, and the other gentlemen signers of the Requisition.
