NO DISCRIMINATION IS TO BE MADE BETWEEN UNION AND NON-UNION MEN.

Strike of the 'Longshoremen Happily Settled To-day---The Agreement Duly Signed by Representatives of the Shipping Firms at the Board of Trade.

Men Permitted to Wear Their Buttons. Employers to Employ Best Labour Available, but will Give Preference to Former Employes.---Troops Released from Duty.

After two weeks of inconvenience to shippers and injury to the port, the differences between the steamship companies and the 'longshoremen have at last been settled.

Both parties to the dispute made concessions, and the result is accepted by both as satisfactory.

The chief feature of the agreement which was signed this morning is unquestionably the fact that union and non-union men may work on the wharves in future side by side and in harmony.

Other less important points are concerned with the right to wear union buttons while loading and unloading ships, modifications in the schedule of wages and the relations of the shipping companies to the Independent Labour Bureau.

The position at the port had for a week been such as to render some earnest effort to settle the strike absolutely essential if the present season was to be anything less than the most colossal failure on record. Every day aggravated the situation, every newly-arrived ship complicated the problem of handling the freight more and more.

Matters had, in fact, reached such a pass that one well known freight line was making arrangements to divert such of its ships as it could to other ports and to lay up the rest pending an adjustment of the labour troubles here. Ships were even on the point of sailing from the port with part of their inward-bound cargoes still unloaded.

From all branches of industry had come the cry that the strike would work irreparable havoc with the trade of Canada were it not settled immediately.

This was the situation when the series of conferences were begun which culminated in Sir William Mulock's visit and the apparent stiffening of the determination of both parties not to give in.

Saturday and yesterday another effort was made to bring matters to a settlement. Hon. J. I. Tarte was brought into the matter, and he, with others connected with pivotal interests, went over the ground carefully and after thorough consideration of the wishes and arguments of both parties.

The result was the agreement which was submitted to the mass-meeting of the men this morning and immediately afterward ratified by the shipping companies.

Shipping Representatives Satisfied With Agreement

On being requested for a statement, representatives of the Shipping Interest made the following remarks this morning in reference to the settlement:

"We are satisfied with the settlement as a whole, and consider that if its terms and spirit are lived up to, there will be no further friction upon the docks.

"The Union has not been recognized, and the principle of free labor has been maintained.

"The Labor Bureau remains open, though Union men are not required to sign at the Bureau.

"Old employes, whether Union or Non-Union, will receive first consideration as respects the vacancies now open.

"This would naturally have taken place, inasmuch as they are the most experienced and serviceable for the work to be performed.

"The Steamship Companies, however, under the agreement, are quite at liberty to employ either Union or Non-Union men as they see fit.

"It is true that the men have been permitted to wear any emblem that they may choose.

"The wearing of such an emblem n other ports has been found to be the cause of some trouble; but we trust to the good sense of the men employed in the Port of Montreal to avoid the possibility of its occurrence here.

"The struggle has been a long and serious one, but it has been for principles, the justness of which could not be denied, and the commercial community has supported the attending inconvenience without complaint, in order that they might be maintained.

"We believe that the Port of Montreal is now done with strikes for many years to come, but should it be necessary again at any time to resist any efforts to make it a strictly Union port, the Steamship Companies will be prepared to fight for these principles as strenuously as they have lately done."

Militia Men Rejoice at Strike's Termination; Will Cost City $18,000

The settlement of the strike has caused intense rejoicing among the men of the militia regiments of the city.

Those who are now on duty at the wharves will be able to return to their homes this evening, and those who are at work will no longer live in dread of being obliged to do further military service.

There is not the slightest doubt but that the militia was tired of the work they were compelled to do on the docks.

Now that the strike is settled the militia are well able to join in the general thanksgiving and rejoicing.

They will now be able to resume their ordinary work, and, incidentally, to make more money than they have been making for the past two weeks.

The calling out of the militia to guard the wharves will cost the city in the neighbourhood of $18,000. This sum will give the officers and men their Government pay, and will also be sufficient to defray the cost of the maintenance of the troops during the two weeks they were on duty. It will also provide for the keep of the horses. As near as can be ascertained at present the cost of the strike to the city in so far as the militia are concerned will not be less than the above amount. When all the accounts shall have been presented, however, it may be found that the sum of $18,000 is somewhat below the amount the city will be required to pay. But in certain circles it is believed the former amount will be sufficient to meet the city's obligations in the matter.

The cost of the strike to the men themselves will be about $30,000. That is, the men at present would be the richer by that amount if the strike had never occurred. Several of them left positions yielding each a daily revenue of $3. Others were getting as high as $5 and $6 a day. The majority were making on an average $2 per day. Now the highest militia pay a non-commissioned officer received while on duty at the wharf was 75 cents per day, and a ration allowance of 50 cents. A private got 50 cents per day and a ration allowance of an additional 50 cents. The average loss to each militiaman for the past two weeks is therefore computed at $1.75 a day. So that, when one considers the strength of the military force which has been kept at work upon the wharves for the past two weeks, the total loss to the non-commissioned officers and men cannot be less than $30,000. As a rule the officers lost nothing, financially. They were considerably inconvenienced by the strike, however.

Document Finally Signed; Hearty Handshake Between Messrs. Allan and O'Neill

On the Board of Trade eagerness was depicted on all faces from the time it was announced that there was a probability that the strike would be finished within a few hours.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Messrs. Robert Reford, Andrew A. Allan, Hugh A. Allan, D. W. Campbell, James Torrance, Thomas Harling, W. I. Gear and several other shipping men were on hand, and with the solicitor of the shipping interest were closeted in the council room of the Board of Trade.

MR. ANDREW A. ALLAN,
Representative at Conferences during the Strike of the Shipping Interest.

Mr. Andrew A. Allan came out shortly before eleven.

He wore an anxious look, as if he were afraid something might yet occur to mar the understanding which seemed to have been reached.

He shook his head and smiled when asked whether the trouble was at an end.

"I cannot say anything as yet," he replied.

A few minutes later, Mr. J. G. O'Neill and the members of the strikers' committee came in, and occupied chairs on the floor of the Board.

Mr. O'Neill went towards the council chamber, but did not seem to meet the party he was looking for.

Mr. Andrew Allan, who had gone to the further end of the building, as he reached towards the members of the committee cordially greeted them. He then started towards the council chamber, meeting Mr. O'Neill on the way.

There was a hearty hand shake, then a short conference, after which the two men, followed by the members of the committee, joined the shipping men's meeting inside.

After a few minutes the members of the checkers' organization emerged, and stated that while nothing was concluded the affair was practically settled.

Mr. W. I. Gear left the conference for a short time, to do some telephoning. He was joined a moment later by Mr. D. W. Campbell, who, in response to a question, told the Star the matter was practically concluded.

A minute later Mr. Robert Reford left the conference, followed by Mr. Andrew Allan. Neither had anything to say on the matter for the time being.

The members of the Corn Exchange were anxiously moving about, enquiring what was done, and how much longer their grain would have to remain in sufferance.

Mr. Alex. McFee, ex-president of the Board of Trade, engaged in conversation with the checkers who had left the main conference and sought to obtain some information, first hand, on the conditions prevailing.

Mr. Robert Bickerdike, M.P., who has devoted much effort to bringing about the settlement, arrived and was heartily greeted by those of the men who were awaiting the news.

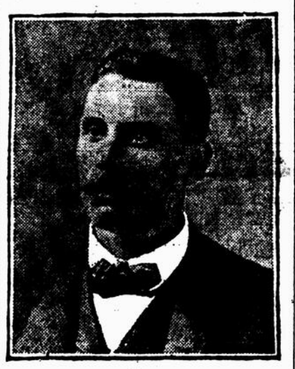

"It is the last time I will have anything to do with trying to arrange a strike," he said, "although it was worth two weeks' hard work to get trade started in this port again."

Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy was the next to emerge from the Council chamber. There was a smile of triumph all over his countenance as he passed through the board-room and made for the elevator.

"It is all signed and settled," he said to a Star reporter.

"The men will return to work at one o'clock, and everybody appears to be satisfied. I know that I am perfectly satisfied, and glad it is over."

The remainder of those present at the conference emerged a few minutes later, all apparently on the best of terms. Mr. Peers Davidson and Mr. Parsons, one of the strikers' committee, had a couple of documents, and the services of Mr. J. Stanley Cook, assistant secretary of the Board of Trade, and the other members of the office staff, were enlisted in running red tape and making the documents take on a legal aspect as rapidly as possible, while the rest of the party dispersed in different directions.

MR. J. G. O'NEILL,
Leader of the Striking 'Longshoremen.

Labour Leader Arrives With the Agreement

The meeting of the 'longshoremen in the Bonsecours Market Hall at 10 o'clock to-day, will go down in local labour history as one of the most exciting in the history of the labour movement in Montreal.

There were in the hall between three and four thousand strikers.

It was nearly 11 o'clock when Mr. J. G. O'Neill arrived at the hall with the terms of agreement in his pocket.

The cheering was tremendous and the scene which followed when Mr. O'Neill took from his inside coat pocket the unsigned agreements was a remarkable one.

"It is all right, boys," said the labour leader, with a bright smile on his face.

This was the signal for another tremendous outburst of cheering and it was some minutes before the echo died away.

Mr. O'Neill then proceeded to read the proposed agreement slowly and carefully. His hand was shaking all the time and it was quite visible that he was labouring under great nervous strain.

The men seemed to attach a great deal of importance to what is now known among them as the "Two B's"—Buttons and Bureau.

When the clause was read permitting the 'longshoremen to wear their union button while at work the great assembly simply went wild with joy, and it was then evident that the balance of the agreement would be entirely satisfactory.

One anxious member standing immediately in front of the rostrum asked, "What about the Independent Labour Bureau, is it to be abolished ?" His voice was trembling."

He could not wait until the clause with the Bureau was reached.

The reader paused for a moment and then remarked:

"No more men are to be engaged through the Independent Labour Bureau."

There was another outburst of joy and satisfaction was expressed on all sides.

Hand-shaking was then in order, and it was some minutes before Mr. O'Neill could continue reading the balance of the clauses.

Immediately after the finishing of the reading of the proposed agreement, Mr. O'Neill took his seat bathed in perspiration.

Edmond Charron, president of the International 'Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers' Association, occupied the chair, and immediately after Mr. O'Neill had taken his seat, the president arose and said:

CAME TO A VOTE.

"Gentlemen, you have heard the reading of this proposed agreement."

"We have," was the reply.

"What is your pleasure with it ?"

"Do you accept this offer or will you reject it ?"

There was a dead silence for a couple of minutes.

It was then moved and seconded that the agreement was satisfactory, and upon the question being put to a vote it was unanimously adopted amid cheers.

It was then resolved to instruct Mr. J. G. O'Neill, the business agent, and the other members of the committee to attach their signatures to the document on behalf of the union.

The delegation, accompanied by a Star reporter, then left the great assembly for the Board of Trade building where the shipping men were in session.

AT THE BOARD OF TRADE.

"Good news," said the strike leader to Mr. Andrew Allan; "the men have unanimously accepted and it is now up to the ship-owners to sign.

The committee, headed by Mr. O'Neill, were then ushered into the conference, and it only took a few minutes to get down to business.

A Message From the Mayor.

Mayor Cochrane, who, after the coal muddle this winter and the dallying with the strike, has been coming in for some hard knocks from both sides, said to-day that the battle only showed the greatness, of each of the opposing parties and from what he had learned as to the probable terms of the settlement he thought that they had all come out of it with honour to themselves and the city. It would have been a calamity if the fight had gone any further.

As to the withdrawal of the troops he would inform the D.O.C. that they were no longer required the moment he got official word as to the settlement.

The Briton and His Beer.

The shipping concerns doing business in the city came very near having a strike within a strike on their hands the other day. As is well known nearly every ship that has arrived in port during the past week has brought its quota of labourers, until these now number somewhat over a thousand. All went well for a couple of days, when the men suddenly became restive. Enquiry elicited the information that they thought themselves ill-treated. Further investigation disclosed the cause. It appears that in Britain the men employed in this class of labour are every couple of hours treated by their employers to a large mug of beer. The custom knows no deviation, and the men look upon it, not as a consideration, but as a right. Naturally the stevedores here never thought of such a thing. But when the beer was not forthcoming, the men, after a reasonable delay, made known their wants. The stevedores demurred. There was, however, no room for argument. The men said they had to have the beer or they would not work. With the prospects of another strike on their hands, the stevedores, after a hurried consultation with the shipping firms, decided to supply the beverage that was lacking. The shipping concerns felt that it would be cheaper to pay for beer than pay the passage of the men home without their having done any work. So beer was procured from one of the leading breweries by the wholesale. It was very good beer, and the men appreciated it vastly. "Almost as good as you get in ol' Lunnon, don't cher know" was their dictum. But the stevedores were not so well pleased. It is on record that the amount of beer those men consumed was something astounding to contemplate. The stevedores saw their profits rapidly approaching the zero point. After trying a couple of brands, draft ale was finally procured at 23 cents a gallon. It is said that each wharf labourer gets in the rough, about a gallon a day.

One day he was standing in old Wardle's park,
His cigar held behind him—a suitable mark,
The fat boy crept up, puffed away with delight,
And before Pickwick knew it was safe out of sight;
Cried Mr. P. in surprise,
"Can I trust to my eyes!
"At this rate I'll smoke twenty 'IRVINGS' a night."

Thought Umbrella a Parachute.

Delphis d'Amour had an idea Friday night that he could rival "Apolis" or any other parachute vaudeville artist. He is now in the General Hospital with a badly cut and bruised head, but thankful that a leap from a second-storey window did not result more seriously.

d'Amour went to Stillwell's Hotel, at the corner of Craig and Alexander streets, shortly before 12 o'clock and paid for a room for the night. He was taken to No. 3, on the second floor, and he locked the door and evidence shows that he was soon in bed.

Half an hour later Craig street pedestrians were startled to see a man standing on a window sill, waving his arms and shouting that he was ready. Nobody knew exactly what he was ready for, and the incident grew more interesting as the man opened an umbrella and held it aloft in his right hand. Then he reached down and got a small grip, which he had taken to the hotel with him.

Straightening himself up, he poised for an instant and shouting "Tranquillement! tranquillement!" he stepped off into space.

The next moment he was lying unconscious on the pavement.

At the hospital they said that he would be all right in a few days.

d'Amour says that he went to bed, but found that he could not sleep, and he had been thinking for a long time that the large-sized umbrella which he carries, would make a good parachute, so he decided to get up and try it.

He dressed quickly and went to the window.

The next thing he remembers was coming to his senses in the hospital.

MR. STAMPER EXPLAINS HIS POSITION.

To the Editor of the Montreal Star:

Sir,—In the Daily Star, of, May 1st, 1903, you have published a statement to the effect that I have been expelled from the Brotherhood of Railway Freight and Baggage Handlers of America. As your published statement is calculated to do me harm financially and socially, and also reflects upon my reputation as a labour organizer, I hope you will, in justice to me, publish this letter and give it the same prominence as you have done the report published by you on May 1st.

On April 2nd, 1902, I wrote to Mr. Robt. P. Neil, pro tem president of the above Brotherhood, advising him to furnish the members and myself with a statement of the financial condition of the Brotherhood and its numerical strength, and also advising him to issue a call for a convention, my reason for this being that since the Brotherhood was founded by Messrs. Robt. P. Neil, E. E. Greenawalt, and myself, on June 29, 1902, there had been no financial statement given out, and it was impossible for me to answer the questions put to me by the members relating to what funds were on hand, and the number of divisions and members, and also, as we appointed ourselves president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer respectively, it was only just to the members who had joined in good faith that a convention should be held so the members could exercise their right of electing international officers and also an executive council, and examine our books and accounts. Mr. Neil ignored this reasonable advice and issued a circular stating that I was suspended for non-payment of $1.50 dues. I immediately issued circulars to the members asking them to demand a convention to look into the matter, but not having a roster or list of membership, I could not get at the majority. Mr. Greenawalt, our secretary-treasurer, resigned his office on March 1st, and Mr. Neil, our president, divided the office and assumed the duties of treasurer himself, styling himself president and treasurer, appointed and created a new office of second Int. vice-president, and deposited the funds of the Brotherhood in his own name, all of which was done without consulting me or with my knowledge, and placed me in a bad light before the members I came in contact with, as I could not answer the questions put to me, which they thought was strange for an officer holding the position of international vice-president. Mr. Neil also issued a circular changing the name of the organization, so I came to the conclusion that he was creating a fat job for himself at the expense of the freight and baggage handlers and myself. The way the matter stood when I issued my circulars on April 7 and 9 was that the grand division of the Brotherhood was composed solely of Robt. P. Neil. There was no executive council, and Mr. Neil was responsible to no one except himself, as he told me if I did not like the idea of him running the organization alone and his own way, I could follow Mr. Greenawalt's example and resign. I am fully prepared to back up the statements made in this letter in any court of law, or in a convention, and it is up to the members to act upon this. I can do nothing alone as Mr. Neil has the funds of the Brotherhood, and is using them to beat me in my endeavour to place the Brotherhood on a legitimate footing.

Yours truly,
D. STAMPER,
Int. Vice-Pres.

Moosejaw, N. W. T.

A Question of Copywright.

In the inscription in law filed by Messrs. Dupuis Freres to the answer to the plea in in the case of the Anglo-Canadian Music Publishing Company, Limited, asking that a portion of the answer to the plea be struck out, the defendant pleaded that the plaintiffs had not shown that they are the authors, proprietors, or representatives of the author or proprietor of the production in litigation. In the answer to the plea the plaintiff set forth how the copyright had been obtained from the English proprietors, and notice of the English copyright had been given. It was against these allegations that defendant inscribed in law. Acting Chief Justice Sir M. M. Tait, however, dismissed the inscription.

HECTOR MACDONALD NATIONAL MEMORIAL.

To the Editor of The Montreal Star:

Sir,—At an enthusiastic public meeting held in Glasgow on the 8th inst., an influential committee representative of the Highland County, clan and kindred societies in the city was formed for the purpose of raising funds towards the erection of a national memorial in Scotland to commemorate the brilliant military achievements and the many gallant services to his country of the lamented General Sir Hector A. Macdonald, K.C.B., D.S.O., A.D.C.

District committees have since been formed in other parts of Scotland with the same object, and they are co-operating with the Glasgow committee.

The nature of the memorial will depend upon the amount raised. We in Scotland are meeting with a generous response to our appeal, but we are convinced that far from it being merely a local effort, there are many thousands of our countrymen in the colonies and in foreign lands who will delight to have an opportunity of taking a part in the movement, and that wherever Scotsmen are to be found their sympathy and their aid will be assured.

To this end my committee will be deeply grateful if you can kindly see your way to publish in your valuable columns this information and appeal.

There will, probably, in every district be found some who will undertake to gather subscriptions from likely sources. All the subscribtions and individual donations will be gladly received either by me, or by the honourary treasurer, Mr. John Macdonald, 4 Carlton Place, Glasgow, or may be sent to any office in Scotland of the Clydesdale Banking Company.

I am, sir,
Your obedient sercant,
W. H. MACDONALD,
Hon. Secretary.

Glasgow, April 30.

KING'S HALL PUPILS PRODUCE GREEK PLAY.

Saturday afternoon the pupils of King's Hall, of Compton, present the Alkestie of Euripedes, as translated by Browning, to a large audience, which included many friends of the institution from Montreal and Quebec. Nothing could better have illustrated the progress made by the school during the last two years than the success of so ambitious an effort as the production of a Greek play, and both Miss Smith, the principal, and Miss White, the assistant principal, were heartily congratulated at the conclusion of the performance. The characters were taken as follows:

Admetos, King of Thessaly, Miss Violet Scoles; Alkestis, wife of Admetos, Miss Aline McLeish Heralkes, Miss Marjorie Shepherd; Apollo, Miss Gladys Pope; woman attendant, Miss Evelyn Gough; servant, Miss Florence Farwell; Pheres, father of Admetos, Miss Ruby Lindsay; children of Alkestis, Miss K. and M. Carter.

CHORUS.

Coryphaeus, Miss White; second leader, Miss Ethel Chapman; Misses M. Ames, D. Wilgress, O. Boyle, M. Price, M. MacDonald, M. Torrance, G. Welch, A. Pomeroy, M. Valpy, F. Vincent.

SCARCITY OF HOUSES FOR NEW COMERS.

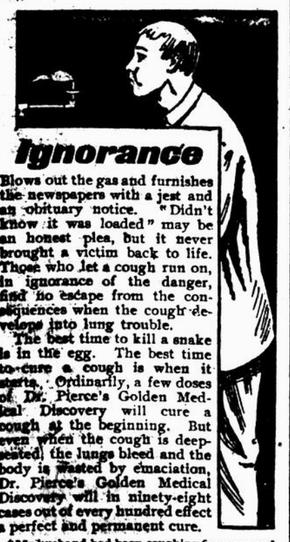

Rev. W. R. Harvey, of Point St. Charles Congregational Church, is much disturbed over the scarcity of suitable houses to accommodate the immigrants who have lately arrived from the old country, and obtained work in Montreal. Many of these immigrants are skilled workmen form London and Birmingham, who have little difficulty in getting employment, but much in getting houses. Rev. Mr. Harvey said that nine families had obtained houses in Point St. Charles and thirty men were settled in lodging houses, making one hundred people who have lately come to the city and found accommodation. As new people are coming in constantly there will be soon no houses at a moderate rent left, and the people are not of the class who wish to depend in any way upon the charitable institutions for assistance. Rev. Mr. Harvey is of the opinion that with so many immigrants stopping in Montreal the Government should provide immigrant accommodation for them here as well as in the West.

J. V. TEETZEL, K.C., BECOMES A JUDGE.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, May 11.—Mr. J. V. Teetzel, K.C., of Hamilton, has been appointed to the High Court of Ontario, Common Pleas division, in place of the late Mr. Justice Lount.

Mr. Teetzel has had a most creditable career, both as a student and at the Bar. As a graduate he took a distinguished course, winning a scholarship, and by reason of his high standing, having eighteen months thrown off his time as a student, he was thus allowed to be called to the Bar at the expiration of three and a half years, as against five years, the regulation period. He has always practised in Hamilton, where he has acquired a large clientele and taken a prominent part in the legal work of that district.

Ignorance

Blows out the gas and furnishes the newspapers with a jest and an obituary notice. "Didn't know it was loaded" may be an honest plea, but it never brought a victim back to life. Those who let a cough run on, in ignorance of the danger, find no escape from the consequences when the cough develops into lung trouble.

The best time to kill a snake is in the egg. The best time to cure a cough is when it starts. Ordinarily, a few doses of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure a cough at the beginning. But even when the cough is deep-seated, the lungs bleed and the body is wasted by emaciation, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred effect a perfect and permanent cure.

"My husband had been coughing for years and couple frankly told me that he would go into consumption," writes Mrs. John Shircman, of No. 365 39th Place, Chicago, Ill. "He had such terrible coughing spells we not only grew much alarmed but looked for the bursting of a blood-vessel or a hemorrhage at most any time. After three days' coughing he was too weak to cross the room. The doctor did him no good. I stated the case to a druggist, who handed me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. My husbands recovery was remarkable. In three days after he began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery he was up and around, and in two more days he went to work. Two bottles cured him."

THE GAMEY INVESTIGATION.

Mr. Gamey Will Probably Be Called Again.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, May 11.—The Gamey enquiry, which resumes on Tuesday after five day's adjournment, is expected to close by the end of the week. Following D. A. Jones, of Seeton, who will be the first witness heard, the prosecution will probably call Mr. Gamey to clear up several points brought out by the defence unless the court decides that the campaign funds of the two parties shall be exhaustively gone into. It is not likely that the witnesses to be heard for both sides will be number more than 10 or 12. The closing of the evidence will be followed, almost immediately by the beginning of argument, which will take up at least a day on each side. It is estimated that the total cost of the enquiry will amount to $25,000.

Big Gift for Hospital.

London, May 11.—An anonymous benefactor has guaranteed the sum of £300,000 for the rebuilding and modernising of St. Bartholomew's Hospital.

Infanta Kicked by a Horse.

Madrid, May 11. — The Infanta Isabel, an aunt of King Alfonso, who was kicked in the face by her horse yesterday after the animal had thrown her, had her lip so badly split that it was necessary for a doctor to sew it up. She is progressing satisfactorily.

THEIR EXCELLENCIES IN WESTERN ONTARIO.

Left Toronto This Morning on Extended Tour—Busy Day in Toronto.

Toronto, May 11.—Saturday was a busy day for Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Minto. The Vice-Regal party, which also included Lady Eileen Elliott, Mrs. Maude and Major Graham, visited the House of Providence, on Power street, in the morning. The visitors were received by Archbishop O'Connor and the lady superior.

The building was gay with bunting and flags, in honour of the distinguished visitors. Royal standards and Union Jacks hung from every nook and corner. Flowers in profusion filled the house with their sweet fragrance. The Archbishop welcomed in a few well-chosen words the Countess to the institution. The Countess was presented with a large bouquet of American Beauty roses by a number of little tots dressed in white, who were promptly given a vice-regal kiss by the kindly recipient. Lord and Lady Minto visited each section of the institution. The greatest satisfaction was expressed by the visitors with the management of the institution and as the vice-regal party left hearty cheers were given by the delighted inmates.

In the afternoon a special car conveyed Their Excellencies and suite to the Hunt Club, where they were entertained to luncheon by the members of the Toronto Hunt Club.

After the luncheon the run commenced. Lord Minto, on a splendid mount, led the field from the start at the kennels. It was merely a short run as Reynard was lost at an early stage of the game. The run, though brief, was exciting and was thoroughly enjoyed.

Lord and Lady Minto left Toronto today at 9 o'clock for a tour of Western Ontario. They reached Guelph at 10.30; left there at 2.30 for Berlin. At 10 o'clock to-morrow they reach Stratford, and proceed to London at 1 p.m. They will receive an address at the station. They will lunch at Headley at 2; will visit the Sacred Heart Hospital at 3, Victoria Hospital at 4.30, after which a visit will be paid to Spring Bank. A State dinner will be given at 7.30, with a reception in the City Hall at 9.30 p.m. On Wednesday at 9.30 St. Thomas will be reached, Chatham at 11 and Windsor at 3.30. That evening Detroit will be visited at 6.30 p.m., where a public reception will be given at the Campus Martius.

On Thursday Woodstock will be reached at 10 a.m., and Brantford at 1.30, and Hamilton at 6 p.m. After dinner at Wm. Hendrie's a public reception will be held in the court house at 9.30. Friday will be spent in that city, a visit will be paid to Grimsby and to the Stony Creek battlefield, and Toronto will be reached at 6 p.m.

MICHIGAN'S WELCOME.

Detroit, Mich., May 11.—The committee having charge of the arrangements for the reception to be given Lord and Lady Minto next Wednesday perfected a number of details at a meeting in the Mayor's office. Col. Wm. Latimer was appointed chief marshal of the parade, and it was decided to extend an invitation to the Mayors of Windsor, Sandwich and Walkerville, and to Col. Bartlett, commander of the Essex Fusiliers, and his staff to occupy places in the carriages. The Governor-General and Lady Minto and Mayor Maybury will be in the first carriage forming the escort, which is to be composed of the detachments of the Michigan Naval Reserves, the State militia and the "Fighting First" Infantry, which is to arrive Monday at Fort Maype. There will be three bands in the parade.

Mayor Maybury suggests that the fire commission be asked to have one of the Detroit's commission powerful fire boats to give a display while the Governor-General's party, accompanied by the flotilla of yachting craft, crosses the river on Col. Hecker's yacht Vita. Upon arrival on this side the parade will immediately be formed with the line of march through several downtown streets winding up at the Russell House.

Lansing, Mich, May 11.—A concurrent resolution extending a formal welcome to the Earl of Minto, Governor-General of Canada, on behalf of the State of Michigan, on his visit to Detroit next Wednesday, passed the House and will come up in the Senate to-day. It is expected that a committee of five, consisting of three representatives and two Senators will be appointed to extend the welcome at Detroit.

HOW CALLAHAN DIED IS A GREAT MYSTERY.

He Left His Family Here to Go to Pittsburg—Found Dead in a Field.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Napierville, May 11.—The man found dead in a field on Monday last was identified as L. Callahan, of Montreal, by his daughter, who accompanied by her husband and Mrs. Jas. Callahan, of St. Maurice street, arrived here last evening, and after having seen Rev. Mr. Tasse, parish priest, obtained a permit from Coroner Pelletier, of Iberville, to have the remains disinterred and taken to Montreal for burial.

It appears Mr. Callahan left about two weeks ago, stating he was going to Plattsburgh on business, the family were, however, not anxious about him and cannot account for his having wandered in this direction. Several farmers claim to have seen a man walking in the fields two or three days previous to finding of the body, but as it was not an unusual occurrence no notice was taken of it at the time. The man was evidently walking to Montreal and likely followed the railway track to a point beyond Girard station, when he took to the fields and either got lost or deranged through want of food, and being of a proud nature, so relatives state, preferred death to begging. At all events the real cause of his death will never be known and is sad for his family. Mr. Callahan leaves a wife and eight children.

He was employed at the City Hall, Montreal.

TIMOTHY HEALY FOR ENGLISH BAR.

London, May 11.—The Times this morning announces that Timothy M. Healy, Nationalist member of Parliament for the northern division of Louth, is about to be called to the English Bar.

Joaquin Miller Still Lives.

San Francisco, May 11.—Joaquin Miller, the "Poet of the Sierras," who was reported last night to have died at his country place near Oakland, is still alive.

THE CRAWLING OF CANCER.

One of the Symptoms by Which the Disease May be Distinguished.

A characteristic of a cancerous growth, distinguishing it from other lumps and growths is a peculiar sensation of creeping or crawling which comes over the part affected.

Any one suffering from a growth attended by such symptoms should hasten to procure treatment without delay. The most effectual remedy that can be used is our Constitutional Treatment. It eradicates the cancer germs and poisons from the system and completely cures the disease without the necessity of resorting to painful operations. Send two stamps for full particulars. LACROSSE

LACROSSE MEN AT PRACTICE

Three Shamrock Men Seem Doubtful as Yet.

ON THE OTHER FIELDS

Cameron, Dade and Hendry Out With Montreal—Nationals Show Up Well.

There was a great turn out of lacrosse men on the different fields on Saturday last.

The men that were missed on the Shamrock grounds were Hoobin, Nolan and McKeown.

It has been rumoured that these men will not play during the coming season with the wearers of the green.

As far as Hoobin is concerned that seems unlikely. McKeown might play with Montreal, and Nolan, the clever little home man, is, according to his friends, rather dissatisfied and not particularly anxious as to whether he plays with Shamrocks or not.

However, he has signed with them, but it is stated that if they would give him his release he would play with another club.

Hoobin's absence, it is said, is simply caused by a little misunderstanding.

Barney Dunphy was exhibiting his well known yocal powers on the M. A. A. A. grounds on Saturday, and he had quite a bunch of men working, including Cameron, Dade and Hendry, and some of the old men.

The National ground was also well patronized, and things on the whole look very encouraging

Cornwalls Practice.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Cornwall, Ont., May 11. — The Cornwall Lacrosse Club turned out for their first practise Saturday afternoon, there were seven seniors in uniform, Hunter, Kerwin, Drear, Burns, Allan, McAteer and Eastwood. The boys seemd to have wintered well, and did not mind the two hour practise after they had got their second wind. The absentees were John, Mike and Billy Broderick, and John White and Bobby Madden. These five men will likely don the suit during the week. There were a number of juniors on hand and a good work out was given the team under the direction of Trainer George Brownrigg. No captain has as yet been appointed, but one will probably be selected at a meeting of the players during the coming week. The prospects at the time of writing certainly look good, but it is impossible, owing to the handsome inducements being held out, to forecast the composition of the team; however, if is thought they will line up with the above twelve men, which will be strong enough to put up an argument for any team. Billy Burns may be induced to act in the capacity of captain.

LONGUEUIL BOATING CLUB OFFICERS.

The Annual Meeting oTok Place on Saturday Last.

The annual meeting of the Longueuil Boating Club was held Saturday evening in the club house, Longueuil.

The chair was occupied by the president of the club, W. S. Walker, B. C. L., and the thirty-sixth report was presented by the secretary, E. H. Pickard, and adopted.

The financial statement was submitted by the treasurer, G. R. Gray, showing a cash balance on hand of $108.63.

After the reports had been adopted, the election of officers took place, which resulted as follows:

F. J. McClure, president, acclamation.
T. W. Moffatt, vice-president, acclamation.
R. A. Elliott, secretary.
G. R. Gray, treasurer, re-elected.
G. H. Wilson, captain.
Committee—H. S. Lightbourne, Chas. Wilson and S. Thornton.
Auditors—James McClure and C. J. Harron.
W. S. Walker, B. C. L., and G. H. Wilson, representatives to the Canadian Canoe Association.

Votes of thanks were passed to the retiring officers of the club, special mention having been made to the retiring president, W. S. Walker, B. C. L., who had filled the position of president for the last four years, and to the ladies in recognition of their generous gift of $100 towards the reduction of the mortgage on the property of the club.

A recommendation was made to the executive committee for the purchase of additional boats such as canoes or "shells," and a war canoe, if deemed necessary.

SHAMROCKS OUT AGAIN SATURDAY.

Work of Latest Challenger Very Changeable.

Gourock, May 11.—The two Shamrocks were sent off yesterday morning over a racing course of forty miles, starting from Gourock around marks at Powder Buoy, Hunter's Quay and Skelmorlie. The wind blew about eight knots and was strengthening. The start, which was informal, took place at 10.30. Both yachts carried club-topsails. Shamrock I. led wide to windward of the cup challenger and ahead. Before a mile was covered, however, the challenger had worked to windward and had drawn level with the older boat. Captain Wringe then eased Shamrock III., with the object of giving the boats an even start on the long run to leeward from Powder Buoy, which was turned as follows:

Shamrock III., 10.42.45; Shamrock I., 10.42.53.

Spinnakers were then set and the Shamrocks started down channel to Skelmorlie, the challenger opening away steadily.

Once fairly set going, Shamrock III. ran away from her opponent in great shape and they passed Gourock as follows:

Shamrock III.... ..... 10.59.30
Shamrock I..... ..... 11.00.50

The old boat brought up a better wind and was closer off Bullwood. There the wind drew southerly, spinnakers were taken in and the boats fetched down on the port tack.

The yachts ultimately were sent off on a real racing trial. The challenger was trimmed at her work. Every sail was drawing well, and she outpointed, outran and outreached the older boat. They ran first with spinnakers to Cloch, five miles, and Shamrock III. caught and passed her opponent and led her by quite a quarter of a mile at that point. The boats were then broad reached to Skelmorlie buoy, the challenger opening away fast and constantly. The wind was a trifle unsteady and the challenger was rather better served. She beat Shamrock I. hollow, turning the Skelmorlie end of her nine mile sail nearly eleven minutes ahead. Reaching back up channel to Cloch, the challenger further improved her lead until she was two miles ahead. The finishing stretch was by the wind, and the challenger continued to open away and scored a decisive victory, finishing fourteen minutes and sixteen seconds in front of the older boat.

The challenger subsequently beat the Shamrock I. fourteen minutes and sixteen seconds, over about eighteen miles.

Throughout the trials, Shamrock III. showed such in and out form as to suggest that either the boat has extreme moods or Captain Wringe is purposely holding much up his sleeve. This never was more apparent than Saturday.

BASEBALL.

In the Provincial League match between the Mascottes and the Nationals, on the grounds of the former club, the latter came out victorious, much to the surprise of the followers of the Mascottes. The fielding on each side was very good, but the stick work of the winners was the heavier of the two and accorded them a score of eleven runs to the Mascotte's six.

In the fifth inning there was a dispute over a decision by the umpire, and the Mascottes, as a protest, left the field. The Nationals refused to accept the game under these conditions, and so the disgruntled Mascottes returned to the field and finished out the game.

Eastern League.

Toronto, May 11.—Toronto lost Saturday's game to Baltimore through inability to solve Voorhees' delivery. In only one inning did the locals make more than one hit. When in the first, three in a row yield a run. Mason pitched five innings, but was wild, and was hit freely. Miller, who succeeded him, hit three batsmen, but was only touched up for three singles. Pheasron's batting was the feature.

THE TURF

Racing at Morris Park.

New York, May 11.—The renewal of the Metropolitan handicap, which was virtually a match race between B. Norris's Old England and W. C. D. B. Lopez's Articulate, for $1,000 a side with $1,500 added, was run at Morris Park on Saturday, and 25,000 persons saw Articulate gallop home in front. The match was the outcome of the Metropolitan run on Thursday, in which Old England finished second to W. C. Whitney's Gun Fire, with Articulate coming fast in the stretch after a bad start. Articulate's victory on Saturday was a decisive one, as he went under the wire four lengths ahead of the Morris horse.

August Belmont's Mizzen, the favourite, had to be hard ridden to beat the 50 to 1 shot Illyria in the Toboggan handicap. Invincible was third.

Lavator, at 10 to 1, won the New York steeplechase. Neponset, at 50 to 1, was second, and Adjidaumo third.

MAFIA PLANNED TO BLOW UP UMBRIA

Infernal Machine Found on Cunard Pier, New York.

WAR ON BRITISH COMMERCE

Mafia Threatens to Destroy All British Ships Sailing From Port of New York.

New York, May 11. — An infernal machine connected with a hundred pounds of dynamite was found in a box on the Cunard pier Saturday. According to the expert opinion of the superintendent of the Bureau of Combustibles, the box was found and put into the river just in the nick of time to prevent it from exploding and demolishing the pier and the Umbria, which was alongside and about to sail.

The box was left at the pier Friday in an apparent attempt to have it placed aboard with the baggage of the passengers. The Umbria sailed a few minutes after the box was discovered and all on board were in ignorance of the attempt to place an infernal machine aboard the vessel.

GREETING FROM MAFIA.

The discovery of the box was due to the discovery of the following letter received at police headquarters, addressed to Commissioner Greene:

"Dear Sir,—The Mafia greets you and wishes you well. At the Cunard dock is a box containing one hundred pounds of dynamite. Inside also is a machine properly set, and explodes itself any time within thirty-six hours.

"The society has declared war against England and has ordered the destruction of every steamer flying the British flag that sails out of New York harbour.

"The undersigned received orders to begin operations by sinking the Oceanic, but so many women and children took passage on that boat that the society's plans were changed at the last minute. The machine in the box, the first made, and a crude affair, is enclosed simply to show how easy it is to sink a steamer and to convince those interested that the society is not making idle threats.

"The society has undertaken to clear New York harbour of British ships, and it will succeed. The reason for this movement the society does not want to disclose; suffice it to say that the society, in order to protect itself, must carry the war into the enemy's country, and it goes without saying that it proposes to wage it as fiercely as it knows how.

"This is the society's first and last warning, and those who propose to patronize British steamers must take their chances in the future.

"The society asks and gives no quarters, so lay on, lay on, McDuff, and damned be he that cries hold—enough.'

(Signed) "PITERO DEMARTINI."

"P.S.—The battery is not attached, fuses without caps and lighters not set. Consequently there is no danger in handling the box."

THE BOX WAS FOUND.

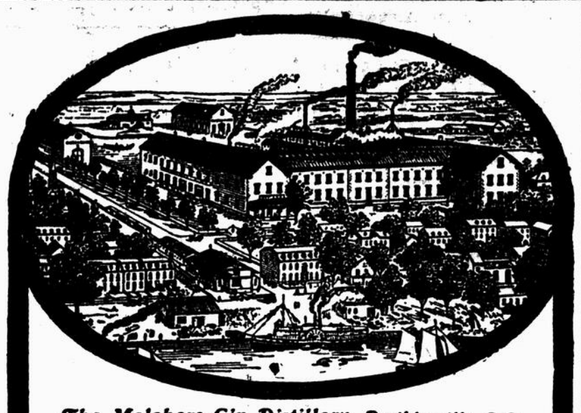

The letter was mailed at the general post office Saturday morning. Detectives were at once sent to the pier, and search was begun for the box, arrangements being made that the Umbria should not sail until the box was found or it was proven that it was not on the pier or in the vessel. After a search of the passengers' baggage the box was found in the middle of a large pile of baggage near the gangway of the first cabin passengers. Two detectives carefully picked up the box, and carried it to the end of the pier. The passengers had no intimation of what was going on, and, therefore, no one was frightened. The box was opened and found to contain clock-work that was in motion. A rope was fastened about the box, and it was lowered into the water.

CONTAINED DYNAMITE.

After the Umbria had sailed, the pier was cleared of every one except the men from the Bureau of Combustibles, and the officials of the line, and the box was released. It was found to be forty inches long, twenty inches wide and twenty inches deep, made of new pine, unpainted, of good workmanship, and strongly built, the top being fastened with a heavy staple and padlock. A slight examination showed that it contained a hundred pounds of dynamite, and that the fuses in the box had been ignited at some time previously. When it was examined later at the Bureau of Combustibles it was found to contain two hundred sticks of dynamite, each weighing half a pound. There were, also two dry batteries and three fuses, two connecting with the dynamite, and one with an electric cigar lighter, the bulb of which was filled with alcohol. A train of clockwork was so arranged that at a set time a lever would be relieved that would strike the trigger of the cigar lighter and ignite the fuse. The superintendent of the combustibles is positive that the fuse was burning when the infernal machine was lowered into the water, and that it would probably have exploded within a few minutes.

The box was left at the pier by two men, apparently Italians, who drove a light waggon, and who told the baggage-master that it would be claimed by a passenger.

Inspector McCluskey has sent out a general alarm for the arrest of the two men who left the box at the pier. The description furnished the police is somewhat indefinite.

THREE UTICANS WERE KILLED IN WRECK.

Utica, N.Y., May 11.—Three Uticans are dead, and eight other persons are seriously injured as the result of a head-on collision between two passenger trains on the Mohawk division of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad at Nelson Lake in the Adirondacks between McKeever and Fulton Chain, which occurred Saturday afternoon. The accident is the worst in the history of that road. The dead are as follows:

Frank H. Foulkes, conductor.
Wm. Yerdon, fireman, and John Glynn, newsboy.

The wreck occurred near the siding at Nelson Lake, one of the sharpest curves on the road, and in a deep rock cut. The trains which collided were No. 650, southbound, from Montreal, and No. 631, which leaves this city at 1.15 p.m. daily for Montreal. Both trains had several extra coaches because of the heavy traffic during the last few days, and it seems most miraculous that more lives were not lost.

Instead of meeting the southbound train at McKeever, Engineer Plato received orders to proceed to the Nelson Lake siding. He ran his train through at the rate of twelve miles an hour. The engineer of the southbound train, it is said, received orders to wait on the siding at Nelson Lake until the arrival of the northbound train, but he thought he could reach McKeever in time to pass the other train safely. According to the statement of the railroad men, the signals were complicated. The train leaving Utica was running slowly at the time of the accident, while the Montreal train came thundering along at a high rate of speed.

When Conductor O'Connor, of the southbound train, saw that his train had passed the switch at Nelson Lake he immediately pulled the bell rope to signal the engineer to stop, but it failed to work. He then sprang to the emergency brake, and applied that. The brake worked all right, but the two trains came together before the speed had been slacked very much. It is believed though that the result of the collision would have been even more serious but for Conductor O'Connor's prompt action. The two trains met a few rods from the bank of Moose River, and some of the cars were reduced almost to kindling wood.

THE DEAD CONDUCTOR.

Both the conductors who were connected with the disaster on the New York Central on Saturday afternoon, Messrs Foulkes and O'Connor, were well-known in Montreal. They invariably stopped at the Windsor while in the city, and not a few of his confreres spoke admiringly of Mr. Foulkes, whose untimely death was evidently very generally heard with sorrow. A comparatively young man, in the neighbourhood of 30, he had only been a conductor for about two years, having prior to that time acted as a brakeman on the same line. Both conductors are residents of Utica.

Anointing the Sick.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Quebec, May 11. — The order paper just issued for the meeting of the Diocesan Synod to be held here on the 10th of June and following days shows that amongst new business to come up is a notice of motion by Rev. Dr. F. G. Scott, of St. Matthew's Church here. "That this Synod do memorialize the General Synod of Canada to appoint a committee to consider the question of adopting the permissive use of the ancient practice of anointing the sick." The motion is likely to meet with vigorous opposition.

Machinists Move.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 11.—The international Machinists' convention took what is probably the most important step since the organization of the association, when it passed section I. of article 1, of the subordinate lodge of constitution, admitting all employes of a machine shop into the union. By this step the association expects to increase its membership in two years from 75,000 to 200,000, and in five years to be equal in number to the Miners' Union.

Esquamalt Naval Reserve.

Victoria, B. C., May 11.—Rear Admiral Bickford, commanding the British naval force in Pacific waters, with headquarters at Esquimalt, is enrolling a Royal Naval Reserve at Esquimalt, composed of men who have been discharged from the navy. The men will undergo training for a short period each year to be ready for service should occasion demand the calling out of forces.

Crockett's Latest Story.

STRONG MAC

By S. R. Crockett,

Author of "The Raiders," "The Grey Man," "Cleg Kelly," Etc.

(Copyright, 1902, S. R. Crockett.)

He swayed visibly on his legs, seeming to wonder at the hush. Then he laughed idiotically.

"Time for the Latin lesson," he cried; "eh, where's your Virgil, Peter Adair?"

Then he caught sight of the reverend Presbytery, seated in order, twelve in all. He laughed again.

"Latin—Greek —" he cried, passing his finger along the line; "there's not enough of the classics among the lot of you to fill a good-sized nutshell. There sits Baillie of Hardhills—he kens non and never did. He kens about whisky jars, though. And the Doctor, he learned some once, but he has forgotten it—soft as porridge that head of his—a fozy turnip—a fozy, fozy turnip! None of the crew but Wee Peerie could read a page of Virgil without a dozen 'maxies'—no, not to save their lives!"

By this time he had reached his desk. Adora recovered herself and bounded to his side. Taking him by the sleeve, she urged him to come away out. Sidney Latimer was on the other side. The members of Presbytery, at first stunned, then deeply insulted, were mostly on their feet. Baillie of Hardhills raised his voice to rebuke the insolence of the dominie. Kind Dr. Meiklewham had suddenly a gray look on his face. But the voice of the dominie from the desk rose high above every other sound.

"An ignorant drunken crew," he cried; hand and glove with the lairds—not a man among ye except the Doctor—a kind heart, the Doctor—good and sound, all but the head. Preach! Ye can prate, but never preach. Ye should hear me preach. Never a sleeping e'e in my kirk. There's a box of sermons up the stair that no man among the lot of ye could ever have laid pen to. And ye will come here condescending to me—me that could teach not only the Presbytery but the Synod. It's 'Mr. Gracie hes done well—his method of imparting the classics does him credit. The Greek prose was truly remarkable!' Devil the syllable ye ken about it—except maybe Wee Peerie. Get ye out of my school and never let me see your black backs again—carrion crows, birds of ill omen that ye are!"

The insulted Presbytery met over a very silent dinner in the manse, but before a blessing was asked the case of Donald Gracie, recalcitrant, had been called up and judged. Even the good will of the Doctor had not been able to save the habit and repute drunkard. And as for Sidney Latimer, he had no standing in the court. Once again Donald Gracie was suspended Presbyterially—this time from all his offices, parish schoolmastership, registrarship, session clerkship, eldership. A notice was sent to him ere the meeting broke up that he must quit the school and schoolhouse "so forth and immediately," rendering back to Caesar that which Caesar had given.

And from the door of Lucky Greenlees's public house Sandy Ewan, suddenly protruding his horse face, hailed and halted Ebenezer Latimer, the minister's man, who had a letter in his hand addressed to "Donald Gracie, Late School-master in the Parish of Lowran, at the School-House there."

Ebenezer, who had profited aforetime by the hospitalities of the young farmer, and hoped to do so again, permitted him to see the letter and to read its superscription.

"Notice to quit, eh?" he said, smiling malignantly.

But as to that, it was not Ebenezer's province to confess himself informed. He only shook his head, took the letter out of his patron's hand, and trudged stolidly on up the street toward the schoolhouse.

Sandy went within to finish his brandy and water. The dominie's empty glass was still on the table. The spider had been waiting for the taking of the fly. But the dour brain that lay behind the horse face was still cool and clear, though he had been drinking more or less steadily since 10 o'clock in the morning. Sandy Ewan glanced at the old man's empty glass and grinned evilly.

"Ah, little Dora," he said, softly, "did not I tell you that I should strike where your pride would feel it most?"

And with a shout down the passage he called to Lucky Greenlees that he was ready to pay the score.

"And I will settle the dominie's, too!" he added, generously, slapping his purse on the table.

CHAPTER XXV.

WHAT DICKIE DICK FOUND ON THE GLEBE ROAD.

Now the course of St. Cuthbertstown justice was this: The Sheriff, good, easy man, had committed Roy McCulloch to the gaol of the county town, and to the common eye had seemed the end of the matter. There Strong Mac must lie till upon the day of solemn Assize he should be transferred to Drumfern, to stand before a jury of his peers and meet the frown of the terrible Red Judge from Edinburgh.

But Strong Mac's case was a more than usually serious one. All the papers must go to Edinburgh for the consideration of the Crown Council there. Neither the Fiscal nor yet the Sheriff was capable of deciding to proceed with the charge against Strong Mac. First the Lord Advocate's Depute and then as a court of final appeal the great man himself must state whether, on the evidence before them, Roy should be sent to the Assizes on the capital charge.

The Advocate Depute, to whom the docquet was transferred, found nothing directly against Strong Mac except the fact, in itself sufficiently damnatory, that the sheepskins had been discovered in his father's barn. But then, though that was presumption, no evidence existed as to who had placed them there. Roy had made no apparent profit out of the killings, could have made none, except possibly in the consumption of the flesh, in which case his guilt must have been shared with his father. Nor had the mutton been dried or salted. No inordinate number of mutton hams were found swinging to the baulks of the House of Muir. The McCullochs were in no want of fresh meat, as could easily be shown. There was abundance of venison in their chimney, and a few casks of brandy, probably undutied, lay in their cellar. A sufficient sum stood to Sharon McCulloch's credit in the Bank of Scotland at Drumfern. Evidence of motive, therefore, was wanting—evidence of fact, weak! No, said the Advocate, there was not enough of general suspicion of circumstantial evidence to send the young man before the Assizes. It was of no use recommitting him back to St. Cuthbertstown. The Substitute was one fool—the Sheriff Principal another! Send them word to let the lad go!

Thus rapidly and picturesquely the Lord Advocate did justice, when, at his beautiful hillside residence, his Depute laid the case before him.

Which word travelling down to St. Cuthbertson, Strong Mac, with a sudden dazing of his faculties, found himself free. His cell in the old gaol had been both dusky and dirty, and it seemed as if he had been forgotten—as if he must lie there forever.

Roy stepped out into the clear light of early afternoon. The young summer was already sprinkling the twigs of the ashes with dainty green butterflies. Rosettes were beginning to dangle from the larches along the plantation edges. Outside the gaol door Strong Mac stood blinking like an owl turned out into the daylight. He did not know any one in St. Cuthbertstown, and had no desire to stay there. So, after a few minutes of hesitation, he struck through the narrow bystreets, not because of the quiet (for all streets are quiet in St. Cuthbertstown), but from an instinct of shame. He seemed unclean to himself. There was a vague offence, as of gaol fever, or worse, about his clothing. He took his way up the waterside till, arrived at a sheltered pool, he stripped and plunged into the cool, brown water. When, after submitting to careful and prolonged consideration, he resumed his apparel, his self-respect was thereby somewhat recovered. At least he knew that he was clean.

Strong Mac looked down at his clothes. They were worn, shabby, tainted with the disgrace of the place where he had lain. No, he was not fit to appear before her. He knew that. Nevertheless, since she had seen his shame—that night when they took him—she also should be the first in Lowran to hear of his rehabilitation. He would go to the schoolhouse.

It was wonderful how the thought altered him. Disgrace seemed to fall away from him instantly. His heart exulted that he would see her—her, of whom he had had such long thought in the prison. He was no more the boy he had been, so he told himself. The new Strong Mac laughed when he remembered that he had once tossed the bar and putted the stone, rejoicing in his own prowess. All that seemed a thing so inconceivably little and useless to him now. But a gate had fallen from its hinges. Strong Mac lifted it with one hand and replaced it. Then he laid his fingers lightly upon the topmost bar and sprang backward and forward over it with the ease of a bird. He caught the branch of a tree with his left hand as high as he could reach, and drew himself up till his chin was over the rough bark. This he did several times, raising and lowering himself. Then he dropped lightly back upon the ground. No, so far as bodily strength went, he was still able for anything that might come to him.

It was already growing dark as he approached Lowran. The very air smelt different to his nostrils as he came over Barstobrick moor. The famous heather of his native parish was not yet in bloom, but the wind across the open sweep of brown moorland, splotched with black where the spring moor burnings had been allowed to wander, brought the light into his eyes, the colour into his blanched cheeks.

Disease Lurks on Every Hand

And Finds Lodgment in the Weak, Run-down and Exhausted System —Protect Yourself by Using.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The spring air is often laden with disease germs. The waste and decayed matter of winter is thawed out, and forms a regular hotbed of disease, from which arise poisonous gases and germs of disease.

People with rich blood throbbing through their arteries need have little fear, for disease seeks out the weak and exhausted for its easy victims. For such there is no season more to be dreaded than spring.

The artificial life of winter is such as to leave the blood thin and watery, and as a result the action of the vital organs, such as the heart, stomach, kidneys and liver, is weak, sluggish and torpid, appetite becomes poor and digestion is impaired.

All depends on the state of the blood, and because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is, above all else, a builder and enricher of the blood, it is the best spring medicine that can possibly be obtained. Once the blood is made rich and pure, the benefit is felt in every nook and corner of the human body. The vital organs perform their work, the nervous system is nourished and rebuilded, new, firm flesh and tissue is added, and new vigor and vitality permeate the whole system.

Instead of purging the system with salts and sarsaparillas this spring enrich and purify the blood by a month's treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and see how differently you will feel. As this food cure is composed of nature's greatest restoratives, it is bound to be of benefit to you. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

To the GOVERNMENT of Canada.

Give the manufacturers, workingmen, and farmers of Canada the same kind of tariff as that which has made the United States the home of the most prosperous manufacturers, workingmen and farmers in the world.

To the MANUFACTURERS of Canada.

Force the Government to give you as good a tariff as that which has made the American manufacturers rich. When you get this tariff, pay your Canadian workmen American wages.

To the WORKINGMEN of Canada.

Take a leaf out of the book of the American workingman. Help your employers to obtain for themselves and for you a Canada-for-Canadians tariff.

To the FARMERS of Canada.

Profit by the experience of the American farmers, the wealthiest farmers in the world, who support a high tariff and prosper under it and because of it.

MILLS AND MOWAT.

In many respects, Sir Oliver Mowat and Mr. Justice Mills were public men of the same school. With them the feeling that "a public office is a public trust" was a commonplace of politics. It apparently never occurred to them that a clean-handed, single-minded public man could take any other view; and from first to last, no breath of scandal ever dimmed for a moment the fair names they bore in the sight of the whole people. One might not always agree with them; but there was never any suspicion that they were striving to serve private ends while making a pretence of forwarding the public good.

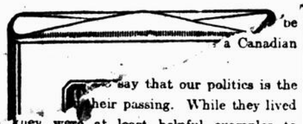

David Mills literally conquered the good opinion of his opponents. The late Sir John Macdonald grew to have the very highest estimate of his character and attainments; and there is a substantial belief abroad that on one occasion he offered him a seat in his Cabinet. But Mr. Mills was not a man who could lightly change his allegiance. We may not have many dividing issues in Canadian politics, but there is always the tie of personal association; and this was, with men of the sensitive political conscience of Mowat and Mills, a very powerful restraint against crossing the Chamber.

For a hard hitter, a tireless fighter, a frequent debater, it is really remarkable that the Philosopher of Bothwell should have had so many friends among his opponents. That he had them is a proof of the innate chivalry of our politics, even in spite of the sometimes bitter tone of the struggle. Sir Oliver Mowat enjoyed the same universal esteem, unbounded by party lines. Not all Conservatives liked them—nor did all Liberals. They were as alien as possible from the camp-follower breed of politician by whatever party name he may call himself. They helped to preserve the faith of the common citizen in the existence of a saving salt in our public affairs. They put the mercenary to shame; destroyed his hold upon the people; and foiled many of his choicest schemes. They had, consequently, their enemies in politics; but no better epitaph could be written of either of them than a list of the names of these enemies.

Sir Oliver was known as "The Christian Statesman"; and by no means in a spirit of derision. David Mills was the "Philosopher." This rough judgement of the great mass of the people perhaps marks as well as anything else the difference between the two characters. Mowat was the more human, more active in good

POLITICS AND GOLF.

The Right Honourable Arthur J. Balfour, Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, has been elected an honorary life member of the Sundridge Park Golf Club. In accepting the honour Mr. Balfour said: "I can only trust that I shall be granted the leisure (I won't say by what means) to take full advantage of the opportunity which the club has afforded me by making me an honorary life member." We scarcely think that Mr. Balfour is ready to sacrifice his party or the triumph of those political principles which he believes to be in the best interests of the nation, in order that he may have more time to play golf. But it is easy to believe that a man like Mr. Balfour could be just as happy playing golf as in leading the House of Commons. The frame of mind suggested by Mr. Balfour's remark is an admirable one for a statesman. It is the attitude of a public man who is prepared to do his whole duty to his party and to his country, and to be perfectly satisfied with the result, whatever it may be. A man of that disposition will do his whole duty, but he will not lie, steal or truckle to keep himself in office or to keep his party in power. To most of our leading statesmen the game of politics is all-absorbing; office is heaven, a general election is purgatory, opposition is Hades. Consequently they would rather see their opponents make blunders than not. A little of the golfing spirit would not be a bad thing for the Dominion House of Commons. Some of the members have tried cricket on a small scale, but truth to tell most of the honourable gentlemen who play have failed to distinguish themselves very highly either in politics or at the wicket.

CHANCES OF TROUBLE.

There is nothing that people go out of their way to look for trouble in connection with more than religion. In the great Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States a bitter fight is imminent over the proposition to change the name of the church. The suggestion comes, of course, from the rapidly developing Catholic element in the church. One diocese proposes that the new name shall be the American Catholic Church. If the present tendency of thought among the members of the Protestant Episcopal Church continues, it will not be many years before a change in the name will take place naturally and logically and with comparatively little opposition. At the present moment the movement is apt to stir up a good deal of strife.

In France, too the situation created by the war between the Government and the religious orders seems to be intensifying. Le Temps recently published the text of a bill introduced in the French Chamber last session, which proposes among other things to repudiate the Concordat and to suppress that part of the budget which provides for Public Worship. That the bill has not aroused a storm of opposition in the country is probably due to the fact that it is not at present a government measure, although suspected of being inspired by the Government. The Concordat is an agreement which exists between the Pope and the governments of most Roman Catholic countries defining the rights and privileges of church and state respectively. The publication of the full text of the bill is regarded as an attempt by the Government to feel the pulse of the nation upon a measure which seems calculated to stir up a good deal of bad feeling.

In England the fate of political parties is more dependent upon the fight over the religious aspects of the education bill than upon anything else.

THE IRISH BILL.

The Irish Land Bill has now gone to committee where its real fate will be decided. Parliament is overwhelmingly in favour of the principle of the measure if its practical details can be made satisfactory to all concerned. That this ought not to be impossible, with all three parties in the House desirous of success, will be the common opinion; and the drift of the debates in the committee will be watched with keen interest.

Naturally there will be some bargaining over what is essentially a bargain bill. And there are, at least, three parties concerned in the discussion—the Irish tenant, the Irish landlord and the British tax-payer. The two former seem to have arrived at a most encouraging unanimity; while the latter is reassured by Mr. Wyndham's calculation that the saving on the Government of Ireland will about pay for the outlay in compulsory purchase for a number of years, while the loan is absolutely safe.

The hope that the bill will pass in effective form will be very strongly entertained in Canada. If it brings peace to Ireland and concord in the Irish Sea, it will be worth much more than it will cost;

THE STREETS ARE THE TEST.

The universal complaints against the dusty streets have so permeated the aldermen that they are beginning to complain themselves. Ald. Laporte says that we are spending more money on street cleaning and watering this year than last, but with far less satisfactory results.

Some of the blame for this may rest with the road department, but certainly a share must be taken by the weather man. It is a long time since we have had so dry a spring; and a steady succession of rainless days means that the street dirt is neither flushed away by a good down-pour nor sprinkled by occasional showers.

But the civic authorities—whether they be the purse-holders or the street-cleaners—should recognize the exceptional weather conditions. Their business is not to do a certain amount of work, like a "born-tired" day labourer, but to keep the streets clean. If the rain is falling heavily, they can give their sprinklers a rest; if a heavy shower semi-cleanses the streets, they can enjoy the benefit; but if a long drought comes, they must make extra exertions.

This perfunctory performance of civic duties recalls Max Adeler's lamp-lighter who had his lights going on moonlight nights while leaving the town in darkness when that luminary did not ride the heavens. Asked for a reason, he said he was going by the almanac, which might not have been so bad had it not turned out to be a last year's calendar.

Now we want our street cleaners to pay some regard to the state of the streets, no matter what the amount of work may be which precedent prescribes.

RUSSIAN WAR CLOUD PASSES AWAY

St. Petersburg Foreign Office Ridicules Report That Russia Means Mischief.

St. Petersburg, May 11.—The Foreign Office here strongly deprecates the excitement concerning Manchuria. It believes mischief-makers are responsible for the reports, and says the arrival of troops at New Chwang was due to the retirement of troops from Moukden Province, southward, instead of northward. The troops depart by sea. The other alleged war-like preparations of Russia are ridiculed.

London, May 11.—The British Foreign Office is without any official news of the Russian action at New Chwang. The subject has not been mentioned by either the British ambassador at St. Petersburg or the British charge d'affaires at Pekin.

The Foreign Office here has not been informed of any intention on the part of the United States of co-operation with Great Britain or Japan in a joint protest. Such co-operation would be warmly welcomed and would come as a pleasant surprise to Downing street in view of the State Department's declination hitherto to act "jointly" with Great Britain, although admittedly working for a common object.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—The State Department has received from United States Minister Conger confirmation of the despatch from Pekin that the Russians reentered New Chwang and then retired. The receipt of this advice late in the day brought relief to a strained situation and it was decided by the department that there was no longer occasion for action, even diplomatically, at this stage.

THE PASSING HOUR.

The "Ottawa liar" is yet a memory; but the "Montreal liar" is a living reality. When you read about coal and steel amalgamations and rail plants—that's the product.

Brantford took first prize in a windmill competition in London. Brantford is where the Hon. "Big Thunder" Paterson comes from.

The Star's "Extra" on the strike settlement was something of a "strike" in itself.

The Metz architect probably chose to represent the Kaiser as the Prophet Daniel from a feeling that he might find himself in the Lion's den one of these days.

The Victoria, Australia, railway men have gone on strike because the Government persists in treating them like civil servants. Say, if our civil service could only be induced to go on strike!

What would a Horse Show be without a horse? Much the same.

The decision to keep the railways forty miles apart in the North-West was probably reached after having seen the great daily G.T.R.-C.P.R. race in from Vaudreuil each morning.

Pittsburg, after having stolen our hockey players and kidnapped our lacrossists, is imitating our strike. It is jealous of everything Montreal has, and yet Montreal returns its free library with scorn.

It seems that His Excellency has been taking to baseball in Toronto. Life in Toronto is likely to drive a man to desperate measures.

Willie Maclean wants to call Hudson's Bay "the Canadian Sea." If Canada is to adopt a sea, it ought to be one less likely to increase our ice crop reputation.

TEXTS FROM THE GOOD GLOBE.

"Constitutional impecuniosity is a moral defect rather than a financial condition."

HAM'S IN TOWN.

WINNIPEG.—"Busiest city"; "booming"; "streets crowded"; "roaring trade"; "hotels overflowing"; "BAR-ROOMS"; "lots of money"; "prosperity everywhere"; "record crop"; "flocking in"; "growing in size and wealth"; "property skyhigh"; "West is so prosperous"; "C. P. R. handling work most satisfactorily"; "enormous expansion of trade"; "mighty good advertisement."

To the last three words we say "sure-thing!"

Sorry, Sir William, but we have to do it.

Either the calander or the weather needs regulating badly.

Sir William Mulock's idea of arbitration will doubtless have the unamious endorsement of all hot sports.

A few more experiences of this kind and Ottawa's affection for lumber will undergo a marked change.

How else would the Hon. Minister of Labour have phrased it had he come to encourage the strike instead of to settle it?

Now is an excellentn time for some ambitious young rain-storm to make itself immortal.

If Sir William Mulock wants to hear a few plain truths, he should pay a return visit and meet the business men of Montreal.

By dint of heroic efforts the City Surveyor managed to exhibit a sprinkling cart on Commissioner street, yesterday. It was then returned to the vaults for safe-keeping.

Splendid institution, the Department of Labour.

The good Globe has an idyllic disquisition on "The Coming of Summer." From this one may learn that "the leaves are expanding with easy freedom," in "rich, restful profusion." The woodpeckers, too, "are plying their noisy trade." Altogether, the conclusion is that there's "something doing" in sylvan retreats such as those handed over to the "Cap."

PROMINENT CANADIANS WHO HAVE PASSED AWAY.

The Star of May 12th, 1888, gives an account of a complimentary banquet, tendered to Lieut.-Col. Van Straubenzie, by the citizens of Montreal on the occasion of his leaving Montreal for Kingston. The Colonel who was very well known throughout Canada, has since passed away.

THIS DATE 30 YEARS AGO.

(From the Star fyle of May, 1873.)

The Rev. James Carmichael has been offered the incumbency of the church to be erected on St. Urbain street, and the rectorate of Trinity Church, St. John, N.B. He has, however, decided to continue his conection with St. George's.

THE reverend gentleman is the present Coadjutor-Bishop of Montreal and rector of St. George's Church, which charge he has held for a great many years. His Lordship was ordained in 1859 by the late Bishop Cronyn, of London, Ont. In 1868 he became assistant minister at St. George's, and in 1878 was made rector of the Church of the Ascension at Hamilton. He came back to St. George's in 1882 to succeed the late Dr. Sullivan. He was made Dean of Montreal in 1883 and Bishop in 1902. He was appointed a canon of Hamilton Cathedral in 1889, received the degree of D.C.L. from Lennoxville in 1885, and from Trinity College, Toronto, in 1893. His Lordship is a great scholar, and has published several books and brochures on such subjects as "Higher Criticism," "Plymouth Brethernism," "Design and Darwinism," and sermons on important subjects.

Members of the various Masonic lodges are invited to attend an emergent communication at the Masonic Temple at one o'clock to-day, on the occasion of the funeral of a member of the fraternity.

The deceased member was Mr. Charles Wand, of Union of Strict Observance Lodge, No. 94, C. R., of New York. The Masonic Temple at that time was on Notre Dame street.

The installation of the officers of Richard Coeur de Lion Encampment took place last Friday evening. The installation was performed in a very impressive manner by P. E. Copeland, who was ably assisted by Pro. Grand Commander A. A. Stevenson. The Sir Knights were afterwards entertained at a banquet at McConkey's restaurant by Commander Copeland.

COMMANDER ALEXANDER ALLAN STEVENSON is probably one of the oldest Freemasons in Canada, and is highly respected by the whole craft. He has served as alderman in the City Council for the West Ward on several occasions, being elected the first time in 1861. He it was made the first motion at this time to acquire the mountain as a public park. He also fought on till he succeeded in getting the Drill Hall erected. His military career has been a long and honourable one. He joined the Montreal Field Battery in 1855, passed through all the grades to commanding officer. He commanded it on the frontier in 1866, and in 1870, against the Fenians, and also on many occasions when called out in aid of the civil power to repress riots, strikes or other local disturbance. He took the Battery to New York in 1858 to help to celebrate the laying of the Atlantic cable. It was the guest of the 7th Regiment National Guard, and the first British military organization to march through New York and Boston carrying the British flag since the American revolution. The old colonel retired from the command some years ago, but still takes a deep interest in the Battery's welfare and the other city corps. He has time and again been elected president of the Caledonian and St. Andrew's Societies.

A special meeting of the University Literary Society was held on Friday evening in the rooms of the M.L. Association, St. Catherine street, when resolutions were adopted thanking Messrs. Andrew Robertson, Hugh McLennan, Andrew Allan, Sir A. T. Galt, T. and R. White, C. J. Brydges, Hon. L. S. Huntington, Hon. J. Ferrier, George Moffatt, J. H. R. Molson, James Hutton, T. B. Matthews, G. A. Drummond, D. J. Greenshields, R. Muir, R. J. Reekie, J. Rankin, J. Mulholland, G. H. Frothingham, H. McKay and W. F. Kay for their generosity in guaranteeing the society against loss from the season's course of lectures under its auspices.

ONLY a few of the above named citizens are now present with us. They were all great supporters of education, and were not sparing of their means whenever called upon for aid. The president of the University Literary Society at this time was His Lordship Justice Davidson.

The treasurer of the Montreal General Hospital acknowledges with thanks the receipt of twenty-four dollars from the employes of S. Davis & Co., cigar manufacturers.

THE firm of S. Davis & Co. is still in active business, and was founded by the late S. Davis over forty years ago. The old Cote Street Presbyterian Church is now the factory and chief offices of the firm.

Funeral of Mr. W. G. Hill.

The funeral of Mr. Wm. Galt Hill was held from 116 Crescent street, on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, the Rev. H. T. S. Boyle, of Christ Church Cathedral, conducting the service. Mr. Hill was the son of Mr. Wm. Galt Hill, of the firm of Winning, Hill & Ware, and died in the city of Brooklyn lately. The chief mourners present included Mr. Chas. J. Hill, son of deceased; Mr. E. A. Hilton, his brother-in-law, and Mr. Ernest E. Hilton, nephew.

Among those present were also noticed Messrs. M. D. Beard, A. Duckett, L. N. Beard, Selkirk Cross, W. McLennan, John McDonald, C. A. Adams and G. F. Ross.

INTRODUCED ON CHANGE. — Two visitors were introced on 'Change Saturday, Mr. J. C. Bisaillon being sponsor for Mr. J. S. Going, of Kingston and Mr. E. A. Brice, for Rev. D. Cowling, of Leeds, England.

PHYSICIANS AND HOSPITALS.

REV. FATHER J. E. DONNELLY ON STRIKE SITUATION.

Yesterday St. Ann's Church was en fete. At 8 o'clock special services were held under the direction of St. Ann's Young Men's Society and the Holy Family Sodality. The mass was said by Rev. Father Girard, C. S. S. R., at which nearly five hundred received Holy Communion. A special choir rendered a fine programme of sacred music.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the boys and girls of the Catechism classes assembled in the church where the children advanced to the sanctuary and received their prizes for attendance and application to the study of their religion.

At 7 o'clock the members of the Holy Family again filled the centre aisles. After the recitation of the Rosary, a sermon was preached by Rev. Father J. E. Donnelly, P. P., St. Anthony's Church. The reverend gentleman took for his text: "Now I go to Him that sent Me; and none of you asketh Me, Whither goest Thou?" (St. John.) "You have assembled here to-night," said the preacher, "to pay a tribute to the one whom God was pleased to honour above all other creatures, and to bear that title of Mother as regards our redemption. It is an inspiring spectacle to see a large number of men assembled together this fine May evening to clebrate this simple form of devotion.

"'Whither goest Thou?' God has placed us in this world for a purpose of His own. He wishes to bring us to His own resting place when the turmoils and troubles of this world are over. Christ not only came to redeem the world, but He came to show us the way to Heaven.

"The creatures of God, like the seasons, obey Him, yet the masterpiece, the fountain head, man, is the one to disobey, to outrage Him."

"Where art thou wending now?" asked the preacher. "As a Christian it must be to do the will of God. Here are gathered men in a cosmopolitan city, having different creeds, different nationalities, different languages, and yet all have a work to do, according to St. Paul, 'For Christ we are ambassadors.'

"We are the sons of a people who have a noble tradition, and many fond memories are entwined in the history of this parish. They had not the goods of this world in abundance, for these were not necessary to make them great.

"There is a thing at present disturbing the peace and harmony of our city. In such matters you should be guided by the Church, not listening to the voice of the demagogue or to crushing monopoly, whose aim is to eat out the blood of the poor man. Be guided by the Church, he repeated. You are not ashamed of your national associations, your national colors. Don't be ashamed of your faith."

In conclusion, he exhorted them to lead good lives, to be true ambassadors of Christ, in order to reach His eternal kingdom.

After the sermon a procession of nearly three hundred of the Holy Family Sodality, with lighted tapers, and carrying banners and a statue of the Blessed Virgin, decorated with flowers, and followed by the sanctuary boys and priests, took place. As they marched around the aisles of the church the choir sand the "Ave Maris Stella," while the sight itself was one of grandeur. The service was brought to a close by Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, which was imparted by Rev. Father Caron, C.S.S.R., assisted by deacon and sub-deacon.

The choir, under the direction of Prof. P. J. Shea, rendered an admirable programme of music. Rev. Father McPhail, C.S.S.R., Director of the Holy Family Sodality, had charge of the arrangements at all the services.

THE SCRIPTURE UNION AND ITS MISSION.

Mr. H. M. Gooch, of London, England, assistant general secretary of the Scripture Union, was the preacher in St. Matthias Church yesterday morning. His theme was the Scripture Union, which he described at length.

Taking as his text 2 Timothy, iii., 15, the speaker, who said that the Scripture Union was steadily gaining ground in Canada, urged upon parents and guardians of the young the example of Eunice and Lois, who, while the boy was at a tender age, had taught Timothy the Holy Scriptures, which alone were able to make wise unto salvation.

"The life of the nation," Mr. Gooch said, "cannot be healthy without a knowledge of the Bible, and if not taught in our schools or read in our homes, who will be surprised if as a result crime is on the increase and spiritual indifference and ignorance amongst our boys and girls is emphasized.

"Australia and New Zealand possess a system of State education which is almost, if not altogether, secular. As a result, a great ignorance of simple Bible truths prevails amongst the young people. A similar state of things could be found nearer home; in fact, we are living in days when the Bible is praised, but never read.

"The Scripture Union, which is now twenty-five years old, has found its way into thirty-four countries. Every branch has its honourary secretary, who issues cards and sees to the maintenance of regular reading on the part of members. The short daily passages are intended for private reading at home, and being concurrent take readers through the Bible in a course of five years' readings.

"As a result of a special visit from Mr. R. F. Drury, of Oxford University, last year, the Scripture Union in Canada has made considerable progress. Its headquarters in the Dominion are at 24 Howard street, Toronto, but Mr. B. Lyman Beard, of 384 St. Paul street, controls the Montreal section, which bids fair to become the largest in the Dominion."

In St. George's school-room to-night, at eight o'clock, Mr. Gooch again speaks on his world tour, and will exhibit forty beautiful limelight views. Bishop Carmichael will preside, and during the evening Mr. Walter Gaynor will sing "The Light of the World."

CANADIAN NORTHERN SELLS LAND GRANT

Col. Davidson, of Duluth, and Associates the Purchasers.

BIG COLONIZATION SCHEME

Terms of the Sale Require That the Land Shall Be Settled—The Report Confirmed.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Winnipeg, May 11.—A despatch from St. Paul confirms the purchase by Col. A. D. Davidson, of Duluth, Minn., and associates of the entire land grant of the Canadian Northern Railway exceeding three million acres, the consideration being twelve million dollars. Among the parties interested are: Col. A. B. Davidson, A. D. McCrae and Geo. C. Howe, Duluth; A. R. Davidson, Little Falls, Minn.; D. P. McDonald, Fort Qu'Appelle, N.W.T.; A. J. Adamson, Rosthern, N.W.T.; F. C. Kenaston, George F. Piper, W. D. Douglass, Minneapolis, Minn. The Manitoba and Saskatchewan Valley Land Company Limited, with a capital of five million dollars, will be organized at once, with offices in Canada, the United States and England for the purpose of colonization and settlement.

CONFIRMED BY MR. MANN.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, May 11.—Mr. D. D. Mann, vice-president of the Canadian Northern Railway, questioned regarding the despatch from Winnipeg reporting the sale of Canadian Northern's entire land subsidy, said that it was substantially correct. There were some inaccuracies about the number of acres and also about the price, though he could not tell from memory exactly what these details were, but the despatch was correct in substance. Mr. Mann stated that it was an interesting fact that Col. Davidson and two-thirds of his associates were old Canadians, and he expected that fully forty per cent. of the Colonists whom the company would locate, also would be former Canadians who had resolved to return. The conditions of the sale required the bona fide settlement of these lands and he expected an enormous influx of settlers within the next few years.

The lands which have been sold are in Manitoba and the North-West.

Ottawa Once More Swept by Wind Fanned Flames Which Cause an Immense Loss!

Portion of Rochesterville Destroyed by Fire in April, 1900, Again in Ashes—Five Hundred Families Rendered Homeless—The Loss Estimated at $600,000.

The Fire Raged From 3.30 P. M., Till Late in the Evening—Montreal Firemen Arrive on the Scene Too Late to Be of Assistance—Scene by Night Was Weird.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, Ont., May 11.—Five hundred families, some two thousand five hundred souls, homeless, fifteen million feet of lumber and three hundred houses destroyed, as the work of an incendiary, is the record of a fire that turned the usual Sabbath stillness of an Ottawa Sunday into the hurry and bustle of a town given over to the ravages of a merciless enemy.

The fire broke out about 3.30 p.m., with a strong south-west wind blowing, in Booth's lumber piles, near the St. Louis dam, and gained considerable headway before the alarm was given. To the terrors of the fire were added those of a temporary water famine, owing to the water main bursting.

Instead of orderly people, dressed in their Sunday best, going to church, the city was given over to trains of waggons rescuing furniture, and to the hurry and bustle of rapidly moving hose waggons, the sound of the bugles' loud alarms and the tramp of the militia called out to assist the fire brigade in their arduous efforts.

The fire was well handled, when once the break in the water main was repaired, and after seven hours' hard fighting, when about seventy-five acres of territory had been devasted, was got under control, the results being as given above. At one time it looked as though the entire western portion of the city would be fire swept, and the greatest alarm prevailed, but fortunately the danger was averted, and at midnight the anxious citizens were able to retire, assured that the devouring element had done its work for the time.

Fire again yesterday swept a large portion of the area which on April 26, 1900, was rendered desolate in the great conflagration known as the Ottawa-Hull fire, and to-day, smouldering ruins represent the ashes of over 300 happy homes. The main fire was the second for the day, and for two hours the flames swept unchecked at their own sweet will, devouring everything that came in their way, when, owing to a break in the big water main at the pump-house, the firemen under Chief Prevost were absolutely helpless.

The first fire occurred in the Canadian Pacific Railway hay shed, about 11.30 a.m., and for two hours gave the brigade all they could do to confine it to the place of its origin. Finally they extinguished this blaze and went to the stations to equip with fresh hose and prepare for fear another fire should occur. Barely had the hose waggons refitted than an alarm was received from Box 153, near the junction of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canada Atlantic Railway lines, close to the St. Louis dam. The western section of the brigade hastened to the scene and found that the lumber piles in Booth's yard were burning fiercely, almost exactly at the point where the great fire of 1900 was finally checked. A high south-west wind was blowing and the flames were rapidly sweeping through the lumber piles, which were as dry as tinder owing to the long drought. A general alarm was turned in and the whole brigade were quickly on the scene. Several streams of hose were laid, but barely had they begun to play on the blaze than the streams of water dwindled down to a mere dribble, and it became apparent that the supply was by some means or other stopped.

Chief Prevost, who was in command, did not, however, for one minute lose his head. Stationing one fire engine at the dam, he sent the other two down to the Waterworks terrace and prepared to do his best with long lines of hose, supplied from there by two engines. The alarm came in shortly before four o'clock and when the chief arrived on the scene it was evident from the hold the fire had already taken that it had been burning for some twenty minutes or half an hour. Still, had the water supply held out, it was almost a certainty that the brigade would have been able to hold it within a reasonable distance of where they found it. Enquiries made by 'phone to the pump-house elicited the information that the main pipe from the pumps to the city mains had burst, at a point known to be weak, and which City Engineer Kerr had already laid bare and was preparing to repair.

WATER MAIN BURST, FLAMES RAGED FIERCELY, LEAPING ALONG ROOFS.

With the brigade rendered helpless and strong south-west wind blowing, the flames rushed with a mighty roar along the track of the great fire of three years ago. Passing down the lumber yard, it reached the houses on the west side of Preston street, and leaped from one to the other with amazing rapidity. The width of the street proved no obstacle. A blazing shingle crossed the street and soon a series of separate fires broke out on Rochester and Division streets.

Meantime Chief Provost was making every preparation to fight the flames manfully as soon as a supply of water could be obtained. The Star correspondent met him on Division street just as the first house, the Mount Forest hotel, caught fire on that street. The chief was almost in despair, as he watched the flames burst out, and said: "What can I do? The main has burst at the pump-house, and there is no water. The brigade and myself are willing to do all that men can do, but we can do nothing without water."

Barely were the words spoken than a shout was raised, "The water has come," and away went the chief bent upon doing all that men could do under the circumstances.

At this time the west side of Division street was on fire south of Somerset, and it looked as though the whole western section of the city would go. A critical point occurred at the corner of Preston and Margaret streets. The flames were sweeping in an oblique line towards the great Dominican Church of St. Jean Baptiste. Seeing the necessity of taking prompt action, Chief Provost went right down into the line of the flames and calling to his men not to be afraid but to come and help him, he set to work to make a gap by chopping down a large house, the roof of which had just caught. In a very short time the house fell in, and the flames were extinguished by water. The consequence of this brave act was that the course of the fire was checked in that line and the fire was confined within a narrower area.

At 6 o'clock the whole of Booth's lumber piles and those in the Export Lumber Company's yard, lying between Cedar and Wellington streets, were doomed, and it looked as though an immense section of the city was doomed.

MILITIA CALLED OUT TO HELP FIRE BRIGADE IN FIGHTING FLAMES.

At this juncture Mayor Cook now communicated with Lord Aylmer, A. G., and taking advantage of the provisions of the militia act appealed to the officer commanding the Ottawa brigade, Col. Hodgins, for assistance. The Ottawa Engineer Company and one hundred officers and men of each, the G. G. F. G., and the 43 Regiment D. O. C. Rifles, in all, two hundred and fifty officers and men responded. These were placed to assist the wearied members of the fire brigade, and owing largely to their magnificent work, the course of the fire was arrested at Wellington street.

Mayor Cook also made an appeal to Mayor Cochrane, of Montreal, and received an answer that two fire engines, two hose waggons and twenty-five men would arrive at eleven o'clock.

In the meantime the flames had made their way from the point where the fire originated to Wellington street just against the old Booth house and from the C. A. R. tracks on the west to Division street at the base and had spread eastward as far as Lorne avenue.

The area burned is as follows: The west side of Division street from Albert to Somerset, both sides of Rochester street from Wellington to Poplar, and west side of Rochester from Poplar to the C.A.R. with the exception of three houses. Between Rochester and the Ottawa and Prescott Railway practically the whole of the following streets were swept entirely: Maple, Elm, Spruce, Somerset, Recles, Anderson, Willow, Balsam, Pine, Margaret, and Ellen. Preston street was also swept between Wellington street and the C. A. R. tracks.

Early in the course of the fire the immense volume of smoke and wind combined to make the people of the city anxious. This feeling intensified when it became known that the water supply had entirely failed, and before the damage to the main was repaired the sparks were flying on the wind and falling far from the scene of the fire as the Parliament Buildings. As night drew on and the light was waning the cloud of smoke assumed a lurid appearance, which whilst terribly grand, was at the same time somewhat awe inspiring.

The churches were deserted. In the Dominion Methodist Church only a few persons gathered and in some of the Anglican churches the attendance was very spare. In the latter only a few hymns were sung. So great was the alarm that at St. Andrew's only twenty-six persons gathered and after singing an appropriate hymn and offering a prayer for those rendered homeless and for the preservation of the city, Rev. Dr. Herridge dismissed the small congregation.

The excitement was increased when those whose houses were threatened by the flames began to move their goods. The streets were lined with rigs of all kinds laden with household effects as though a town was moving at once. Hundreds of people gathered on the streets adjacent to the conflagration and looked down into the sea of flames. Whilst daylight lasted there was little to be seen, as the heat given out by the flames was too intense to allow of a near approach, but as night fell the scene became magnificently grand. The lumber piles still incandescent seemed like a sea of fire, while here and there a blazing house stood out in lurid relief and scattered light about the area where the grim and gaunt skeletons of the residences destroyed in 1900 had not yet been removed.

About eight o'clock the Somerset street bridge over the C. P. R. and C. A. R. tracks caught fire and formed a grand spectacle. The wooden piles and abutments caused the flames to rise high into the air as they burned fiercely. Strange to say, a house immediately adjoining the bridge escaped untouched whilst both stables on the other side of the track were utterly destroyed. Oliver's furniture factory, a stone building in the vicinity in the midst of the flames, also escaped.

Right on the corner of Wellington street and the Ottawa and Prescott stands Martin and Warnek's granary, within which were stored several thousand bushels of grain. Though Mr. Martin's house adjoining was completely gutted, the mill was saved by the combined efforts of the fire brigade and the mill staff.

Just one block north of the corner of Somerset and Division streets, where the fire was checked, stands the Dominion School and Church of St. Jean Baptiste. When the fire broke out the brothers formed in procession and carrying the image of the Virgin, made a procession round the grounds, praying for deliverance. The monks, however, evidently believed in the old proverb of praying to God and hitting with hammer, for they rendered valuable and energetic assistance to those who were moving their furniture, and several of the friars manned the hose and played water on the houses nestling below the cliff on which the church stands.

That the fire was stopped at Wellington street is a marvel. At ten o'clock the wind was carrying a thick shower of sparks across the road on to the lumber piles skirting the C.P.R. yards and Union station. Here Chief Provost was personally superintending the fighting of the flames regardless of the burning bits of wood falling constantly on him. He was ably seconded by his men and the members of the militia, who succeeded in drenching the piles with water and so saved them from catching.

Early in the day Mr. W. B. Spencer and Mr. Maltby, of the C.P.R., feared for the safety of the station yard. They gathered all the men they could find and placed all the engines into active service. Speedily every coach in the yard was taken out, the freight and baggage sheds and stores emptied, their contents being placed in cars, which were drawn out on to the main line. At eight o'clock, when seen by the Star correspondent, Mr. Spencer said every car is safe, the books are removed and nothing is lost. Fortunately the station was saved, but owing to the precautions taken the Toronto train had to leave the Central station while the Soo express eastward was sent round by Smith's Falls and the residents of Britannia, who were in town and the townspeople who were at Britannia, were deprived of railway service as well as electric cars. The latter service was interrupted by the burning of the Somerset street bridge.

LOSS IS ESTIMATED AT ABOUT HALF A MILLION—2500 PEOPLE HOMELESS

The total destruction caused by the fire is some fifteen million feet of lumber and 175 buildings, according to the assessment commissioner, Alex. Plouffe, who knows the district well, states that there are about 300 houses burned, and 500 families, composed of some 2,500 people, rendered homeless. The apparent discrepancy is explained by the statement that a building in assessment parlance may include two or three tenement houses.

The total loss is placed at from a half a million to six hundred thousand dollars, largely covered by insurance.

The fire was incendiary in its origin. A man named John White, who nine years ago was sentenced to ten years imprisonement for setting fire to Booth's lumber piles, was liberated on ticket-of-leave a few days ago. He was seen in the neighbourhood of the hay shed, occupied by Mr. Dwyre, which was burned in the morning, and Mr. Dwyre was the man who turned in the alarm. It is stated that White had been heard to utter threats that he would lay Ottawa in ashes, and after the first fire Mr. Jackson Booth sent out watchers to keep him in sight. He was seen near the place where the second fire originated and was at once taken in charge by the police. It is thought that he intended to start fires in various parts of the city during the progress of the first conflagration.

In consequence of the break at the pump house, the Star correspondent visited that place. He found Mr. Kerr, the city engineer, and a band of men at work. Mr. Kerr, in answer to enquiries said: "There has long been a leak in this main near the valves, and I was making ready to repair it when the first fire broke out this morning. I was afraid of it but it stood the pressure. About two minutes after the pressure was put on for the second time the whole thing blew out. You can see how rotten the old mains were," and he pointed to some pavements lying around the pit at the bottom of which the main lay exposed. "I imediately got my men together and stopped the mischief. We are using another main, but so great was the supply of water that flowed back into the hole that in order to render the pipes serviceable, the men had to work in five feet of water. The water was off for about forty minutes."

The pressure, when the correspondent was there was 98 pounds to the inch, or about ten pounds more than during the great fire of three years ago.

No provision was made for the homeless last evening. On Somerset street the park owned by the Waterworks was used for piling household effects, and these were guarded by the police. Those rendered homeless were taken in by friends in various parts of the city. Hundreds of families resided on streets adjoining the devastated area and on the Chaudiere, who packed up and were ready to remove their goods. Mr. Aidley freely gave the service of twenty teams and waggons, to remove furniture, whilst the Ottawa Forwarding Company, Messrs. Denis Murphy and Company, generously loaned their entire staff of men, horses and waggons.

So far only one accident is reported. A fireman named Whatley was hurt in the spine by falling timbers. It is rumoured that a baby was buried, but this cannot be verified at present.

There were some pathetic scenes, which are always inseparable from such a fire. In one house on Preston street an old lady lay sick. Her daughter managed to partly dress her, and they carried her to a place of safety. One man was observed bringing out a small table, which he set down in the roadway and proceeded to fill with jam jars. Then he placed a lighted lamp on the table. By this time his house was on fire and he quickly wrenched off the storm door and carried that away. Before he reached the end of the street the table was burned.

One woman rushed away with two dozen of eggs, all she saved, whilst another saved a pair of window curtains. Many of the insured saved nothing for fear of breaking the terms of the policy. Several sick persons were carried out of their houses and taken to a place of safety.

FLYING TRIP TO SCENE OF FIRE FROM MONTREAL.

It was just twenty-six minutes past eight o'clock last night when the special train with a relief detachment of the Montreal fire brigade pulled out of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's Windsor street station bound for the scene of yesterday's holocaust at Ottawa.

It was just within a few minutes of two hours after the time that Mayor Cochrane received a telegram from Mayor Cook, requesting that assistance be sent. At first the Grand Trunk people were approached for a special, but they informed the Mayor it would take two hours to get an engine head up to make the flying trip. The Canadian Pacific were then communicated with and in ten minutes had a train ready for the firemen to load their apparatus. The firemen, however, were delayed half an hour in reaching the station, for they had first been sent to the Bonaventure station, and then out to Point St. Charles.

When they did reach the Windsor station no time was lost and in twenty-five minutes they were loaded, battened down and ready for the trip. The work of loading the two engines, two hose waggons and the ten horses was superintended by Sub-Chief Dubois and Captains Briere and Marin.

When the train pulled out it was made up of engine 553, which was just in a short time from Ottawa; a horse car, two flat coal cars and a first-class coach. Conductor McIntosh was in charge, and after receiving final instructions from Mr. Spencer, gave the signal and the relief party was on its way to the Capital.

Then commenced an examination of time tables and speculation as to what length of time it would take to make the destination. The run to Ste. Anne's showed that the engineer and fireman were hitting up the pace, and, barring accidents, the trip should be made in about two hours and a half. Ten minutes better than this was made, however, the trip just taking two hours and twenty minutes. There was little wonder that fast time was made, when it is known that the man at the throttle, Charles Laberge, was probably the most anxious man on the train and that when he did reach the fire district he found his home levelled to the ground. But he was not the only one in same predicament, for George Gobey, the brakeman, is also without home or shelter to-day. Both men lost their all in the last big conflagration.

On the arrival of the train at Ottawa, the detachment, which consisted of about twenty-three men, was met at the station by Mayor Cook, Ald. Plouffe, Ald. Rosenthal, Chief Prevost and Mr. Geo. Macdonald, city electrician, and a number of prominent citizens.

Approaching Ottawa, the fire could be seen burning itself out, and it may be said that the Montreal men felt somewhat disappointed at not being able to give their comrades of Ottawa a hand. The authorities had decided before the arrival of the train that their services would not be required, but they made arrangements to take the men to the burned district, so that they might see the devastation that had been wrought.

Later on they were given refreshments, and after visiting the Victoria fire hall and giving three cheers for the Mayor, returned to the train and started for home about a quarter to two o'clock. They reached Montreal at ten minutes to five.

Only one incident of interest occurred on the round trip, and that was when the conductor set down two men at Ste. Anne's. They had no business on the train, and as it was a special it was an impossibility for them to pay fare.

LATE HON. DAVID MILLS.

Arrangements for the Funeral Completed at Ottawa.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, May 11.—The arrangements for the interment of the remains of the Hon. David Mills are now complete. Service will be conducted at the house at 8 o'clock this evening by Rev. A. A. Cameron, after which the body will be conveyed to the Union Station for transportation to Ridgetown in the Government car "Montreal." From Ridgetown, the final journey to the cemetery will be made by road on Wednesday morning. Rev. Mr. Walker will conduct the burial service at the grave-side.

Sir Richard Cartwright was deeply shocked by the death of his old friend and colleague, Hon. David Mills. No man, he says, enjoyed the respect of both parties in the House to a greater degree than did Mr. Mills, who has left behind an absolutely stainless reputation.

Hon. R. W. Scott says that in Mr. Mills' death "Canada has lost a devoted son, whose chief aim in his political life was to be a statesman rather than a politician. It can be said of him that Canada was enriched by his life, and that his memory should not soon be forgotten."

Will of Sir Oliver Mowat.

Toronto, Ont., May 11.—The will of the late Sir Oliver Mowat was entered for probate Saturday. It disposes of an estate of $100,000, $40,800 in real estate and $23,000 in life insurance. Miss Mowat and Mr. Arthur Mowat each get one-quarter of the estate and the other three children one-sixth each. Sheriff Mowat, Mrs. C. R. W. Biggar and Mrs. Thos. Langton.

Before prorogation the Legislature of New Brunswick adopted a resolution declaring that no charter for the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway should be granted which does not provide that the line shall make its winter terminus at Maritime Provinces ports.

MESSAGE FROM LORD MINTO.

Ottawa, May 11. — At midnight Mayor Cook received the following message from Major Maude, at Toronto:—

"The Governor-General and Lady Minto are greatly distressed to hear of the serious fire which is raging in Ottawa. Will you kindly express their sincere sympathy with the sufferers, and telegraph full particulars here.

(Signed) "MAJOR MAUDE,

The Mayor replied with particulars of the conflagration.

EIKER HOFF CURE
U.S.A.
April 8, 1903.
I was afflicted with all the symptoms of first and second stages of consumption with hemorrhage of the lungs. Doctors advised me to go to New Mexico—dry climate—but instead I took the Elker Hoff Cure and consider myself a well man to-day. I wish you would send me a few copies of "TREATISE ON CONSUMPTION." I would distribute them among my friends, as I have done with those I received with my medicine. My faith is great in this medicine. If known to me two years ago, my wife would have been living to-day to bless my home. You may use my name.

Mr. Tarte's Good Offices.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, May 11.—To the Editor of the Montreal Star:

I advised on Saturday afternoon, Mr. J. G. O'Neill to urge his men to consent to work side by side with non-union men, and I gave advice on the same lines to Mr. Hugh Allan.

I feel that, by judicious concessions and management, such disastrous strikes could nearly, in every instance, be avoided.

J. ISRAEL TARTE.

Last Scenes in History of the Great Struggle

After the agreement had been signed by all the parties, Mr. J. G. O'Neill, the committee and a Star representative, started for the Bonsecours Market Hall where the great morning meeting was still in session.

The sight of the contingent was the signal for cheers.

The meeting was quickly called to order by the President.

Holding in his right hand the official agreement, Mr. O'Neill made the statement that the agreement had been signed. "You all report for work at 1 o'clock," said he.

"Will there be any discrimination?" was asked.

"None, whatever," replied the leader. "There is work on the docks for 5,000 men, so get home and get your dinners and get back to work as soon as possible."

The scene which followed this announcement beggars description.

The men threw their hats to the ceiling and cries of "L'Union," "L'Union," and "Vive L'Union," filled the hall.

The strike was over.

The doors of the big hall were thrown open.

The great mass of humanity soon melted away.

PART PLAYED BY HON. MR. TARTE.

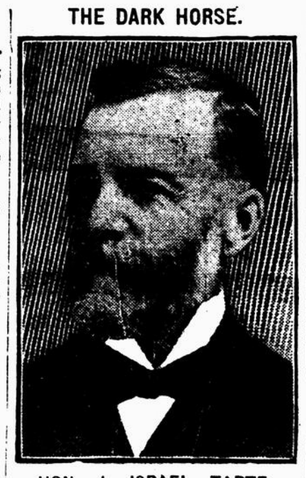

Hon. J. Israel Tarte left this morning for Ottawa after making arrangements here on Saturday and Sunday which tended largely to terminate the difficulty between the shipping men and 'longshoremen, which came to a close shortly before noon to-day.

Mr. Tarte was closeted with Mr. J. G. O'Neill on Saturday for a considerable time and made representations to him how fatal it would be for the labouring men of this city to have trade diverted from this to an American port. He was enabled to speak on this point after having consulted with railway officials, who, on their part, promised to exert all the influence in their power over the shipping men respecting their firm attitude on all the points of difficulty.

The information and advice tendered to Mr. O'Neill by Hon. Mr. Tarte were communicated by the former to the men on strike, and had a visible effect in modifying thir determination to fight out the matter to the bitter end.

The friendly relations established between Hon. Mr. Tarte and the labouring men of Montreal in connection with the various public works in the harbour, instituted by Hon. Mr. Tarte, played a considerable part in bringing about the termination of the trouble.

THE DARK HORSE.

HON. J. ISRAEL TARTE,
The man of the Hour, whose persuasive and practical advice led the way to a settlement of the strike.

Official Text of Agreement

The following is the official text of the agreement signed to-day:

Montreal, 11th May, 1903.

1. Many of the men who have heretofore been employed by the steamship companies and stevedores in the port of Montreal as 'longshoremen in the handling of steamship cargo have unitedly refrained from work for nearly three weeks because of their inability to agree with the steamship companies and stevedores as to rates of wage and conditions of service. For the purpose of this agreement, the steamship owners and stevedores will be called "the employers," the 'longshoremen being called "the employes."

2. The employers are quite willing that all of the men heretofore employed shall return to work at once and they shall be given work, without discrimination, in so far as their services can be utilized, without discharging men already employed whose services the employers may wish to retain.

3. In filling vacancies as they may occur, and in the employment of additional men, the employers shall give first consideration to men who were employed previous to this season, whether they belong to a Union or not.

4. Union men or non-Union men may, without objection on the part of the employers, wear any button-hole bouquet, blue ribbon, war medal, or other badge not inconsistent with the laws of the country.

5. The employers, with a view to encouraging the employes to remain at work during the entire season, would have preferred to have fixed a rate per hour for service actually performed, with a bonus of 3 1-2c per hour to be paid at the end of the season to all employes who had given such continuous service, but as the men prefer a straight rate per hour without the bonus, and it is to be assumed, therefore, that they are willing to give the requisite assurance of continuous service during the season of navigation, without any other incentive than the agreed rate per hour.

6. A difficulty that has arisen heretofore is to be avoided, namely, the discontinuance of work by a considerable number of the men when their services are required during the busy portion of the season. The employes do hereby undertake to work steadily and continuously as may be necessary for the exigencies of the traffic during the life of this agreement, which the local employe who may, during the condition, could agreement, without good and ing in the circumstance, violate this undertaking the other. hereafter have any claim upon deration of the employers or his employes, nor shall he be entitled to Although recognition under this or future agreements of the same character.

7. The employers accept in good faith the undertakings of the employes as outlined in this agreement, and the Labour Bureau will be abolished in so far as the Union men are concerned, the efforts of both parties to the agreement to be devoted to the maintenance of most cordial relations between employer and employe.

8. The men and their leaders undertake to use their utmost influence that no man, who has been at work during the strike, or who may be subsequently engaged shall be molested.

9. Employers will dismiss or refuse employment to any man who intimidates or uses threats to Union or Non-Union men. No agents or representatives of any Union shall visit the ships or other craft, docks, warehouses, mills, timber yards or other places of employment while the men are at work.

11. Foremen and others in authority who may be Union men, shall in no manner discriminate against non-union men, nor shall foremen and others in authority, who may be non-union men, discriminate against union men, on pain of immediate dismissal.

12. Employes having a contract with any steamship company or firm may at any time lay an alleged grievance before the company or firm in question with a view to having the same adjusted.

13. The wages payable by the employers will be as follows:

ON GENERAL CARGO VESSELS.

General cargo, 25 cents per hour by day and 30 cents by night.

Grain, light or heavy, 25 cents per hour by day and 30 cents by night.

Coal shovellers, 30 cents per hour by day and night.

Coal and all other labourers, 25c per hour by day and night.

Lumber, 25 cents per hour by day and night.

FULL COAL CARGOES.

Shovellers, 35 cents per hour by day and 40 cents per hour by night.

Stagemen, 35 cents per hour by day and night.

All other labourers, 25 cents per hour by day and night.

FULL LUMBER CARGOES.

Side runners, 35 cents per hour by day and night.

All other labourers, 25 cents per hour by day and 27 1-2 cents per hour by night.

Midnight suppers to be provided by the ship.

Sunday work, double time to be paid.

Quarter hours to be paid.

Any waiting time after 7 p.m. to be paid half rate and only to count from time ordered out.

Rigging, unrigging and all changes to be paid at the rate of 25c per hour by day and night.

14. This agreement shall remain in force until one month's notice in writing by either party has been given to the other of a desire to alter or amend or abrogate the schedule, but this notice shall not be given between the months of February and December in any year.

(Signed)

On behalf of the employers, we accept the above terms of agreement.

The Late Rev. F. Riedel.

The Rev. P. Riedel, pastor of the German Lutheran Church, in this city, is dead.

After an illness extending over the greater portion of three years back, he passed away last night at the German Lutheran parsonage on St. Dominique street.

The funeral will take place at the German Lutheran Church on Wednesday afternoon at half-past two o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Christiansen, of Arnprior, an intimate friend of the deceased, will officiate.

Shipping Men Not Anxious as to Teamsters' Strike

Unless the teamsters get to work very soon the wharves will become greatly congested.

In a few days most of the ships in port will have discharged their cargoes. Unless teamsters, therefore, can be found to remove the goods from the wharves they will have to remain there.

Thus it will not be long before the docks are over freighted with goods, many of which are sure to be of a perishable quality.

When asked this afternoon as to what action the steamship companies would take to secure a removal of the freight from the docks, Mr. W.I. Gear said: "We will do nothing. We will unload our vessels and the cargoes will be placed on the wharves. Once the goods have been hoisted over the steamers' railing our responsibility for their safety ends.

"If they are allowed to remain on the wharves it will be at the risk of the consignees. We are not worrying over the cartage of the goods upon our own.

"All that we are concerned about is the unloading of our vessels.

"This will be proceeded with as rapidly as possible."

No Split Among Shippers.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, in an interview with the Star to-day, said emphatically that gossip to the effect that there had been any difference of opinion amongst the ship-owners was without foundation.

The discussions which led to the final settlement of the 'longshoremen's strike were conducted by the ship-owners and the employes; there was no outside interference of any kind.

The Canadian Pacific Railway and its president were in entire accord with their colleagues, the other ship-owners.

The terms of the proposal finally submitted to the committee of 'longshoremen were agreed upon unanimously.

The most gratifying feature of the settlement is that it was strictly an arrangement between employer and employe.

SIR WILLIAM MULOCK'S STATEMENT.

On Saturday morning the Montreal Gazette reported that Sir William Mulock had used the following words at the Bonsecours market meeting on Friday night:

"When I first came to Montreal my sympathies were all with the shippers, but now they are all with you.

"Had I been in your place I would have done as you have done."

The Montreal Witness and La Presse repeated the statement on Saturday evening.

To-day, Sir William Mulock, sent the following telegram to The Montreal Daily Star, dealing with the matter:

Ottawa, May 11, 1903.

To the Editor of the Montreal Star:

I beg to say that I never so expressed myself nor gave utterance to any words open to such construction as is contained in the quotation.

Neither at the meeting, nor elsewhere, nor privately—did I, at any time, state whether I sympathized with one side or with the other.

When negotiating with the shippers, my efforts were to moderate their views; when with the strikers my efforts were to moderate their views, to the end that, by mutual concessions, a common basis of settlement might be reached.

WILLIAM MULOCK.

TEAMSTERS HAVE NOT YET DECIDED TO GIVE UP FIGHT.

The committee of the teamsters' union announce that the settlement of the 'longshoremen's strike does not affect them at all.

They state that they have no intention of giving in, and that they will insist upon the recognition of their union.

On the other hand, the Shedden and Dominion Transportation officials seem to think that the teamsters will give in.

Mr. Belcourt, the manager of the Shedden Company, says:

"We have now ninety-eight men on the wharves. Some of these are old employes, who have left the strikers. We can do with a few more men, and these I expect to get by to-morrow."

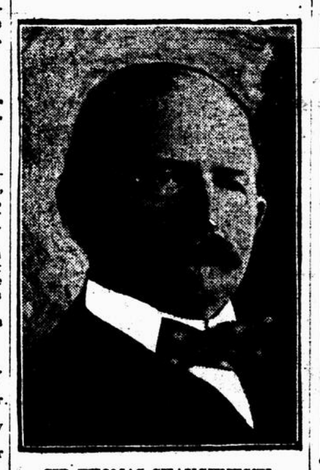

"As soon as we do, we will have things on the wharves in good working order, and then we will start and bring our teams out upon the city streets.

"We are giving the men all the protection they can want, and whenever there is any danger I am there myself, as I do not want to have the men do anything which I would be afraid to do myself.

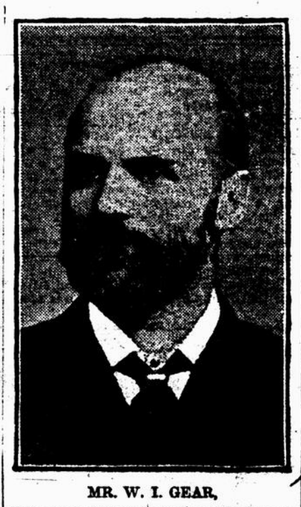

"As to whether the teamsters give in or not we do not care very much just at present. We will be able to get along first-rate anyhow."

Will Not Lay Off Boats.

It was reported that the Donaldson Line intended to lay off some of their ships on account of the difficulty of obtaining workmen on account of the strike. It was stated at the office of the line this morning that the company had no such intention, and that all their boats would now be used as usual.

SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY,
President of the C. P. R., whose good offices greatly helped in solving the strike problem.

MR. W. I. GEAR,
Who acted during the strike as Spokesman for the Shipping firms.

MR. O'NEILL SAYS HE IS PLEASED AT THE OUTCOME.

Mr. J. G. O'Neill, business agent of the local 'Longshoremen's Union, when interviewed by the Star, stated that he was very well pleased at the outcome of the struggle.

"Personally, I am strongly opposed to strikes," remarked the labour leader.

Continuing, he said that he was in favour of conciliation and arbitration as a means of settling all labour disputes, but the great trouble was in this case that a meeting could not be obtained by the 'longshoremen with the stevedores until the strike was in swing, and it finally had to be settled by conciliatory methods.

Mr. O'Neill said he did not think there would be another strike on the docks in Montreal for many years, and perhaps there would never be another one.

There would be a good feeling between the employes and their employers and all disputes in future would be settled by mutual agreement.

ALL IS LIVELY ON HARBOUR FRONT.

There is a wonderful change in the appearance of the wharves this afternoon.

The graveyard look has gone, and the labourers are again swarming everywhere as of yore.

There is life and vitality where six hours ago there was sleepiness and dry rot.

The men seemed to be all in the best of humour, and shouted at one another and laughed as they started at their labour.

Policemen Used Batons.

The Central Station police were called to Commissioners street on Saturday night to clear the saloons of a number of sailors who were more or less intoxicated, and who refused to go to their ships at twelve o'clock. In some cases batons had to be used, and two sailors, named McGuire and Hughes, got such bad cuts that they had to go to the hospital for treatment.

TROOPS HAVE BEEN DULY RELEASED FROM DUTY ON WHARF.

The last official act in the great strike, so far as the civil authorities were concerned, took place this afternoon, when Judge Desnoyers signed an order declaring that as troops were no longer needed to protect public property on the wharf, the volunteers should return to their ordinary occupations.

The order calling out the troops for duty was signed by the judge, and it was necessary that he or some other magistrate possessing the same powers should sign an order for their release from the difficult patrol duty to which they have been subjected.

Important Conference.

A most important conference took place at the Windsor Hotel between representatives of the National Founders' Association and the Iron Moulders' Union for the purpose of agreeing upon the wage schedule for the coming year. The moulders will be paid $2.55 per day minimum, and the coremakers $2.10 per day minimum.

This is an advance on the minimum wage for the moulders of 15 cents per day. The foundrymen were represented by Messrs. J. M. Taylor, Guelph, Ont., and W. F. Angus, vice chairman of the Canadian District, and J. C. King, Montreal, and the moulders by Messrs. W. A. Perrine, New York, and F. Moisy and A. R. Mitchell, Montreal.

Received Wireless Message.

Marconigrams have not as yet become things of common use, and when one of the little wireless messages finds a resting place in Montreal it is a matter of interest.

Miss Miller, of Bishop street, has the distinction of receiving the first wireless message that ever filtered into the city.

Mrs. Miller was a passenger on the steamer Saxonia and when off the coast of Massachusetts wired her daughter the brief but comforting message: "Beautiful passage; all well."

The Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraph people here received the message a short time after the operator on the Saxonia had ticked off his instrument. The wireless man at Cape Cod caught it and was promptly transferred to Miss Miller in Montreal.

The "Badger" Case in Court.

Judge Desnoyers to-day formally committed C. A. Barber and his wife to stand their trial at the next term of the Court of King's Bench on a charge of having attempted to swindle Mr. D. C. Brennan out of $13,000 by what is known as the "badger" game.

The four daughters of the pair have gone to Addison, a small town about fifteen miles from Brockville, where they have friends.

The children are amply provided with funds and they will there await the outcome of the trial of their father and mother.

CAPE BRETON IS A MIRAGE

And Our Steel Industry a Figment —Comment on Carnegie by An Anglo-Canadian.

(Special by Cable from the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star in London.)

London, May 11 — Andrew Carnegie pours vitriol upon Canada in an interview with the Ironmonger's Journal, in connection with his presidency of the Iron Steel Institute. When asked whether Canada, grown populous by immigration, spiritually British, but materially American, might not bring about a union of England with America, Carnegie replied: "Certainly not. Canada has no future except as a part of the States. Her native population increases more slowly than that of Scotland. She only added 536,000 to her population in ten years, and of these 440,000 came from abroad. Canada standing alone can never become a great industrial nation. Her steel industry is a figment and Cape Breton a mirage. Nothing there need ever trouble the United States. In no conceivable circumstances can your colonies ever have a population approaching that of the States, and your colonial empire, what is it but politicians' catchword.

A well known Anglo-Canadian after reading the interview exclaimed: "Don't fancy Canadians will accept another cent of this man's money."

DO LABOUR UNIONS CHECK PROGRESS?

The London Globe Condemns Severely the Australian Labour Leaders.

(By Special Cable from a Correspondent of the Montreal Star.)

London, May 11.—The Victoria strikers number 12,000, and are tying up 3,000 miles of railway. The men say the Government goaded them by unfair reductions in pay and threats of disfranchisement.

Premier Irvine is determined, holding the interests of the community should never be sacrificed to the claims of a section of the labour party predominant in Australia.

The Globe, in an editorial, says the progress of Australia has been deliberately checked by the gross selfishness of the labour party. It also quotes the domination of labour as an unmitigated failure, and says it is no wonder Australians look regretfully on Canada with the same problems to solve advancing by leaps under a freer system.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, May 11.—A heavy black pall of smoke hung over Ottawa to-day, and on over half a square mile of the city, which was formerly a comfortable residential quarter there stand but three houses which the flames passed by untouched.

The scene at the great fire, when morning dawned to-day was most pathetic. Few people in the burned district slept last night, in many cases whole families stayed all night by the side of their ruined homes, in order to prevent ghouls and night thieves from taking away the few belongings they had saved from the general wreck.

Many are the narrow escapes recorded and the suffering of some were intense. One lady, the wife of a well known citizen, lies at the point of death. She had a two days' old baby, and as the flames approached her husband's house, she was moved half a mile away to the residence of her father. In a couple of hours the flames reached there, an express waggon was obtained and the woman was moved away to an old deserted building, on the verandah of which she was left, by some mistake, for several hours. Then she was moved out of the city two miles, to Billing's Bridge, with her child, by Miss Horne, the superintendent of the Protestant Orphans' Home. It is said to-day that her recovery is doubtful.

THE INSURANCE LOSSES.

So far as can be learned at two o'clock to-day, the total losses to the insurance companies is $394,000 on the buildings burned. This sum is subject, however, to slight revision. The different insurance inspectors are now on their way to the city. The losses known are: Ottawa Fire Insurance Co., $30,000; Queen's, $15,000; Union and Crown, $7,000; Connecticut, $7,500; Winchester, $5,000; British American, $12,000; Norwich Union, $30,000; Phoenix of Brooklyn, $6,000; Royal, $8,000; Guardian, $35,000; London Assurance, $30,000; Phoenix of England, $5,000; Liverpool, London and Globe, $5,000; Mercantile, $2,000; Anglo-American, $37,000; Phoenix of London, Atlas and Royal Combined, $20,000; Union, $10,000; Sun, $12,000; Western, $20,000; Aetna, $10,000; Hartford, $11,000; Worcester, $5,000; Home, $5,000.

There are 13,000,000 feet of Booth's lumber burned and the damage done on the lumber alone is $200,000. It is covered by insurance fully.

Insurance and Ottawa Fire.

Mr. Alfred Hadrill, secretary of the Canadian Underwriters' Association, says that it is impossible to say as yet whether the loss by fire in Ottawa will involve a rise in the rates in that city. Neither is he able to tell at present what companies are chiefly interested.

HARBOUR TRUST HELD SHORT SESSION THIS MORNING.

At the meeting of the Harbour Commissioners held this morning, Pilot Frenette made an application for his suspension for six months to be repealed. The request was refused.

A letter from the Engineer stating that tracks were being laid by the Grand Trunk Railway on the Harbour Commissioners property near the Victoria Bridge and that passengers were prevented from using said property, was referred to the Solicitor for investigation.

A claim of $100 for damages sustained from a fall in the river was presented by Dr. Fleury, who claimed that his accident was due to the lack of lights on the wharf. The request was denied.

The contract for 30,000 bags of cement was awarded to McNally, price 2 1-4 cents. Messrs. Drummond, McCall & Co. and Cooner also tendered for steel rails, the contract being awarded to the latter. The Board rose at eleven o'clock.

A Lower Wheat Market.

(From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star on the Chicago Board of Trade.)

Chicago, May 11, — Wheat was lower with sales of July at 72 3-4 to 72 1-4, compared with 72 3-4 at the close Saturday. It was a waiting market with the mood bearish and the longs selling July, while May was given support by Armour. The trade feels that a decline will be shown in the condition of wheat by the Government report, which makes its appearance late to-day. World's shipments were larger than expected, while the "on passage" increased more than looked for, and the cables were generally disappointing. The Michigan report shows a condition of 89, compared with 91 a month ago, and 82 a year ago. The "tip" on the Government was for a condition of 92.

It is said that Mr. Alexander Smith, who for about ten years has been chief organizer of the Liberal party for the Province of Ontario, will shortly resign.

Street Gossip and Stock Exchange Echoes.

Star Office, Monday, May 11.

In view of the recent talk in the "Street" of a fresh issue of Canadian Pacific Railway common stock to enable the company to keep up with the rapid expansion in the North-West, the present capitalisation of the company will be of interest to those who do not keep the figures in mind, which are as follows:

Capital stock	$84,500,000
Four per cent. preference stock	31,171,000
Four per cent. consolidated debenture stock	63,532,415
Land bonds	15,000,000
Mortgage bonds	47,228,086

In connection with the outstanding land grant bonds, the company, on 30th of June, 1902, had an asset in deferred payments on land sales amounting to $7,025,254, which with land sales since then gives a sum that practically offsets the land bonds. The company owns 15,000,000 acres in the North-West, 3,922,000 in British Columbia, and on the completion of the Columbia and Western will add two and one-half million acres to its estate. In 1902 the company sold 1,569,068 acres at an average of $3.29 per acre, so that it stands to realize largely from liquidating its 15,000,000 acres.

MONETARY SITUATION. — There seems to be no early improvement of the local monetary situation in sight. In view of the fact that many large Canadian banks close their fiscal year and make important dividend disbursements on June 1, these institutions are likely to husband their funds all this month. Besides, the commercial demands of the country and the crop movement of next autumn are expected to absorb so much money as to leave the amount available for stock market purposes an unknown quantity.

BANK EXCHANGES.—In the United States last week bank exchanges were $2,142,623,086, a decrease of 23.2 per cent., compared with last year, and 34.6 per cent. compared with 1901. The loss, compared with both years, is almost wholly at New York, where settlements on account of Wall street speculative operations increase bank exchanges in both preceding years far beyond the amount this year.

RAILWAY EARNINGS.—Gross earnings of Canadian Railways for three weeks of April, as compiled by Dun's Agency, were $3,763,000, a gain of $534,000, or 16.5 per cent. Gross earnings of railways in the United States for the same period were $46,150,338, a gain of 13.4 per cent.

SAO PAULO.—Toronto is bullish on Sao Paulo Tramway. Word has just been received that the Street Railway business of the company has expanded so greatly that with their present cars they cannot handle the crowds. There has been some little delay in the furnishing of the new cars, but last week ten purchased in the States are expected to arrive in Sao Paulo, and almost immediately ten under construction in Sao Paulo will be ready for use. With these twenty additional cars the returns of the company should be materially increased.

THE DULL MARKET.—Apropos of the dull stock market in New York, the members of the Exchange, when they meet outside of the marblet palace, salute each other thuswise: "How do you do, Jack? That's a mighty fine building we have." To which Jack reples: "Yes, it's mighty fine, with $100,000 in gold on the ceiling, and not one-eighth on the floor." The fact is, that outside of the traders and the limited number of brokers who act for professionals, the rank and file of the members of the Exchange are transacting very little business. It is a very quiet market, but one of the old sayings of Wall street is "Never sell a dull market." Good securities have fallen so far that there is better return from dividends at the present levels than from loaning the money either to Wall street or other borrowers, and incidentally there is much less trouble.

TWIN CITY.—A Toronto broker is the claimant that Twin City Rapid Transit will sell at 120 before there is any appreciable reaction.

DOMINION COAL.— Referring to the flooding of Dominion No. 1 pit, Jarvis & Co., Toronto, in a market letter say, "It is still probably a tedious task that the company has to undertake in pumping out the mine, and we judge from our information that even when the water is out of the mine the company will be put to a great deal of expense in clearing out slides and debris, which will have caved in from the presence of the fire and water."

BANK CLEARINGS.—The aggregate bank clearings in the Dominion for the past week, with the usual comparisons, are as follows:

	May 8.	April 30.	May 8.
	1903.	1903.	1902.
Montreal	$34,769,760	$19,940,622	$24,769,760
Toronto	16,224,366	14,483,673	18,172,512
Winnipeg	5,646,763	4,406,646	3,408,073
Halifax	1,862,178	1,672,497	1,950,333
Quebec	1,617,331	1,348,126	1,390,645
Ottawa	2,339,253	1,671,314	2,252,133
Hamilton	1,150,311	759,142	850,960
St. John	961,966	799,120	791,269
Vancouver	1,256,012	1,089,453	919,569
Victoria	531,673	397,068	507,206
London	1,062,775	800,233	.....

HAMILTON POWER BONDS. — The Hamilton, Ont., Cataract Power, Light and Traction Co., Ltd., with an authorized capital of $5,000,000, has sold $800,000 first and refunding mortgage 5 per cent. gold bonds to N. W. Harris and Co., of Chicago. The company is a consolidation of the electric power and light plants, including three street railway systems, operating in Hamilton and adjoining suburban towns.

LONDON MARKET. — The Canadian Gazette of April 30th says of Canadian securities in that market: Business in Canadian securities has in no case been very active, and, in sympathy with the rest of the markets, the tone is quiet, while prices have moved irregularly. There is no alteration in Dominion issues, but in Provincial stocks Quebec 4½ per cents. are 1½ up to 104½, and in Municipal issues Toronto 4 per cents. of 1889-93 are 1 better at 101. Canadian Pacific shares, owing to the dullness prevalent in the American market, have suffered to the extent of 2 to 134¼. Grand Trunk issues have had a somewhat similar experience. As compared with a week ago the ordinary stock is ½ down at 13⅝, as is also the second preference stock at 36¼, the first preference stock ¼ lower at 112¾, and the third preference stock ¼ at 48. Ontario and Quebec Railway shares, Quebec Central new income bonds, and Qu'Appelle and Long Lake, etc., 6 per cent. bonds have each improved 1 to 163, 49¼ and 68 respectively. A rise of 1 to 70 has taken place in Bank of British North America shares. Hudson's Bay shares are ¼ lower at 47¾.

INTERNATIONAL MERCANTILE. — At a meeting of the stockholders of the International Mercantile Agency at Jersey City, an increase of that corporation's capital stock from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 was authorized by practically an unanimous vote of the stock represented. The present capitalization consists of $1,500,000 common and $500,000 5 per cent. cumulative preferred, the latter redeemabel at par in 1913 at the agency's option. The new issue is to be entirely of common shares. It is announced that the increased capitalization is rendered necessary by the rapid growth of the agency's business.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES DULL

Some Stocks Showed Small Declines In Forenoon Trading.

WALL STREET'S INFLUENCE

There Was Nothing in Local Situation to Help Market, New York Being Heavy.

The correspondents of the Montreal Star in Wall Street and on the Chicago Board of Trade report that stocks were heavy, while wheat was steady. In the local market stocks were dull. Sales on the New York Stock Exchange Saturday were 187,768 shares.

There was no change in sentiment in the stock market this morning, and evidently there was no accumulation of business over the Saturday holiday. There were very few changes in prices, compared with last Friday, but they were mostly in the way of recessions. The recent strike affecting the shipping of the port had no appreciable effect on the market, so that its settlement to-day could scarcely be construed into a bullish argument.

The engagement of gold for export in New York was used in Wall Street as a bearish argument, although the "Street" has been prepared for such a contingency for some time. The declines in Wall Street constituted the only influence which the local market, in its benumbed condition, could feel, there being nothing in the situation to use on one side or the other.

Although Canadian Pacific sold down to 133½ in Wall Street in the forenoon, all the local dealings were at 132, compared with 132¼ at close last week. Twin City sold at 112 3-8, compared with 112⅝ last week, but Montreal Power at 94, and Toronto Rails at 108½ were unchanged. Detroit United Declined to 81⅝, compared with 82 3-8 last week.

The Dominion Iron and Coal issues were almost neglected, Iron common selling at 29½, and Coal at 109½. Iron bonds opened up strong at 79, but before the end of the forenoon were offered down to 78. Payne mining sold two cents lower than previous sales, at 16.

The Montreal Clearing House returns of bank clearings to-day were $3,018,500.

Messrs. L. J. Forget and Co.'s London cables to-day quoted: Grand Trunk first, 112½; second, 98¼; third, 48⅝; Canadian Pacific, 135¼; Hudson Bay, 42⅝.

Grand Trunk Railway System earnings 1st to 7th May:

Mr. C. D. Monk, local manager for J. S. Bache and Co., New York, received the following prices for copper:

London, copper, spot, £8 5s 6d; advance, 16s; futures, £8 advance, 15s. Market strong.

Wall Street prices set off on the prospect of gold exports, but only a few prominent stocks lost as much as a point. Southern Pac. fell 1 3-8 on the labour trouble on the lines. There were some large blocks of U. S. Steel sold at a fractional decline. Metropolitan Securities extended its decline to 3. Delaware and Hudson and General Elec. were depressed 1 to 1½. Ill. Central rose a point. Wheeling & Lake Erie first pfd. 3½, and the second pfd., 2 3-8.

Wall Street evening dealings showed no change from last week's narrow and sluggish condition of the stock market. National Railway of Mexico advanced ¼ and the pfd. ½ point, which measured the widest change in the list. Missouri Pacific, Manhattan and Amalgamated rose ½. There was a fair sprinkling of small losses in the list.

Henry Clews, New York, says: "The immediate future of the stock market suggests moderate fluctuations. There is rather less prospect of stringent money than a month ago, partly because refunding operations are adding to the supply of money and the withdrawal of several important trust companies from the Clearing House arrangement will considerably lessen reserve requirements. Speculative inactivity also tends to strengthen the bank reserves; still no great improvement need be expected until the crops, money and labour prospects are clearer than at present. These three are the ruling factors."

The Boston News Bureau publishes the following: The Knickerbocker Trust Co. of New York, has decided not to receive any further deposits of Marconi Wireless Telegraph of America stock, and all stock deposited with it has been returned to the owners. For every share deposited with it, 20 new shares of the par value of $5 each had been given in exchange. Several of the more prominent holders had agreed to exchange their stock for the new shares. Shortly after the plan was agreed upon, J. N. Greenshields, who controls the Marconi Wireless Co. of Canada bought out Willard R. Greene, who was in control of the American Co. The Knickerbocker Trust Co. then decided to have nothing further to do with the company and all agreements were cancelled. It is now the intention of those in control to exchange each share of the present stock for 20 shares as had been planned, and to consolidate the American and Canadian Companies. The Continental Trust Co. is now considering the advisability of receiving deposits. An underwriting syndicate has been formed which has played itself to furnish the company with $1,000,000.

Messrs. Burnett & Co., brokers, received the following advices over their New York private wire:

London, 2 p.m.—The new Transvaal loan commands 1 1-2 per cent. premium.

London, 3.30 p.m.—Consols and other gilt edged investments are firm on the more favourable reports regarding the situation in Manchuria. American railway shares have steadied, and show a disposition to harden. On the other hand, South African mining stocks are easier on rumors of financial troubles at Johannesburg. Rio Tintos, 50 1-2. Sub-treasury statement shows banks have gained $813,000 since Friday. Sub-treasury was debtor at Clearing-house $259,602.

London, 3.30 p.m.—The market for Americans is firm and active.

J. B. Picken & Co., stock and exchange brokers, received the following New York Stock Market advices over their private wire:

Rumors of engagements of gold exports this week effectively retarded market movements. The opening was dull, but at about parity with London, but later sagged fractionally and is now heavy. Exports for April as compared with last year showed little gain, the heavy increase in shipments of breadstuffs, being offset by decrease in other commodities. Few features to market and prices show irregular fractional changes.

Laidlaw and Co., New York, send Mr. Louis S. Coldwell, local manager, the following Wall street advices:

There was considerable talk this morning of an impending bear raid on the market by a combination of Waldorf and Western contingents. So far it has not materialized, but a demonstration against values is expected upon the first announcement of gold exports or development of bad news from any quarter. Bear theory said to be that market does not respond to favourable general situation, and that when prices won't advance they will decline. On the other hand the good class of buying that has recently appeared in certain quarters, particularly in the Gould stocks, leads most people to believe that such an attack will meet with marked resistance.

J. S. Bache and Co., New York, w their local manager, Mr. C. D. Monk, following Wall street advices:

Americans in London are fractionally lower. London money market temporarily disorganized by lock-up of funs in connection with Transvaal loan. Last week's reported Russian re-occupation of New Chwang and consequent apprehension apparently unfounded. Banks' surplus now $10,020,825, against $3,461,0 a year ago and $8,127,475 two years go. New Haven declared regularly quarterly dividend of 2 per cent. People's Gas rees price of natural gas used in furnaces from 30 to 35c. S. S. La Bretagne arrive from Havre yesterday and bought $28,000 in gold. Increase in loans in Saturd's bank statement explained by paymer of foreign investment explained by paymer of fourth week debtedness. Fifty-one roads for March average net increase 17.57 per cent.

F. J. Penfold and C., received the following Wall Street advices over their private wire:

Market opening firmer, as it was thought Saturday's market declined merely as a result of traders' raid. Some disposition among professionals to take long side again, especially where good buying developed. Strength in Mo. Pacific was taken as a result of extensive buying of gold brokers in recent past. It was said there had been some selling of Metropolitan securities by people who didn't care to pay 25 per cent. call on June 12th. Amalgamated Copper acted well on belief that leading trade interests had taken the long side again.

Boston advices to Charles Head and Co. say:

The Boston market is lifeless and neglected to-day. Up to noon no sales in Dominion Iron and Coal. Coppers have no mind in them. Mass. Gas, common, slightly weaker to-day. Other stocks dull.

Canadian Trade and Failures.

R. G. Dun & Co., report 175 failures this week in the United States against 208 last week, 168 the preceding week, and 218 the corresponding week last year, and in Canada 22, against 13 last week, 15 the preceding week, and 24 last year. Of failures this week in the United States 66 were in the East, 49 South, 45 West, and 15 in the Pacific States, and 46 report liabilities of $5,000 or more.

Wholesale trade is generally good at Toronto and remittances are satisfactory. Trade at Montreal is badly interrupted by the 'longshoremen's strike, a sympathetic strike of teamsters, and freight handlers threaten to quit. Wharves and railroad yards are congested, and there is danger of serious loss in perishable freight. Otherwise trade is healthy and country collections prompt. Business and collections are well maintained at Quebec, but rain is needed in agricultural districts. Present conditions and future prospects are satisfactory at Winnipeg, with labour well employed. Although on the whole business conditions at Vancouver are only fairly satisfactory, improvement is indicated in some lines and collections are fairly prompt.

Daily Commercial Markets and Quotations.

STRIKE SETTLEMENT AFFECTS THE MARKET.

Cheese Became Rather Firmer and Butter Went the Other Way.

CHEESE.—Receipts reported to-day were 1,000 boxes of Quebecs and 860 Ontarios. The settlement of the strike had a firming influence on the market, and the Quebecs sold at the wharf at 11c. Ontarios were quoted at 11¼c to 11½c today. Now that it is possible for dealers to resume business, the cheese which has been accumulating at different points and driving prices down will be rushed forward as rapidly as possible, and the stagnation being thus relieved, the market may show a slightly firmer tendency, though it is not generally expected that prices will show much of an advance.

BUTTER—The settlement of the strike, by opening the lines of communication between Montreal and the country, will have the tendency of depressing prices. There is no export demand at present figures, and the make is now in excess of consumption, so that it is to be assumed that as soon as stocks from the country begin to arrive any way freely in Montreal, there will be an immediate decline in prices. In fact, sentiment will probably make a reduction necessary right off. The Quebec goods which arrived by boat this morning sold at the wharf at 19½c to jobbers. Jobbers were paying 19c for finest Township creameries this morning, but there was not a very active demand for it.

EGGS.—The necessity of bringing the goods in by freight had the effect of stiffening the market up considerably today, and wholesalers were paying 13½c wherever they could get the eggs. Several lots of straight gathered stock were sold at that figure this morning, but the market would probably be rather easier later on owing to the settlement of the strike and the prospects of an immediate increase in receipts by freight.

POTATOES.—The market is very firm, and prices are steady. Stock is carce in the country, and there are no accumulations here. The west is in the market to buy, and many country points are purchasers also. Finest Quebec stock is pretty hard to get, and one lot was first reported this morning that they were paying $1.15 a bag of 90 pounds on track, and selling at $1.25, to be given away from cars, or $1.30 in store.

CHEESE MAKERS AND THE DOCK STRIKE.

Belleville, May 11.—Including Belleville and Napanee, fully 1,500 April cheese were turned out this spring. These were sold all the way from 11c up to 12¾c, the bulk between 12½ and 12¾c. Current market prices are therefore ruling around 11c, though contract cheese, costing 13c, are going out, and they are May contracts yet to fill up to the 15th of the month, which represent a loss to the buyer of 1½c. At that the sharp slump to the dock strike in Montreal, because they believe that the bare condition of the British market does not justify such a decline. They discussed this phase of the question at their board meeting Saturday, and passed a resolution asking the Federal Government to do something to relieve the blockade. There were 760 boxes offered for sale, and only three lots were sold, as the bids of 11 and 11¼c were not satisfactory to them. Watkins got 45 at 11½c; Macgrath, 45 at 11 1-16c, and Sprague, 75 at 11c. Possibly 200 more sold on the street at the board prices, but the bulk held on in the belief that a settlement of the labour troubles in Montreal will lead to a recovery in prices.

Cornwall, May 11.—At the cheese and butter board here Saturday, 1,023 boxes of cheese were boarded, 759 white and 302 colored. As usual, all sold on the board at 11½c, except 316 boxes, which brought 11 16c. Six buyers were present, and the last point settled was that of transportation. As the G.T.R. was not accepting freight to Montreal, it was decided to ship by the C.P.R., or by steamer, most of the factories on the front deciding to use the boats. J. A. Walsh got 283 for Jas. Alexander; J. A. McRae 219 for Hodgson Bros.; J. F. McGregor 176 for Lovell and Christmas; Thos. Keenan 188 for A. W. Grant, and N. Fraser 128 for T. S. Williamson. At this date last year the offerings were 589 boxes, and the price 11 1-16c to 11½c. The increase for 1903 is 473 boxes. G. G. Lawson, of St. Andrews, was appointed delegate to the big dairy meeting to be held in the Board of Trade Building, Montreal, on June 2. Wm. Irvine, of Martintown, was elected as alternate.

A petition asking the Dominion Government to take steps to settle the 'longshoremen's strike in Montreal was signed by all the factorymen and salesmen present.

London, Ont., May 11.—The cheese market re-opened for the season Saturday afternoon at the City Hall. John Brodie was elected president, and J. A. Nelles, secretary-treasurer. Two hundred and forty boxes of cheese were offered, 70 selling at 11¼c; balance, 11¼c.

Cowansville, May 11.—At the Eastern Townships Dairy Exchange Saturday fourteen factories offered 904 boxes of butter, and 24 factories offered 634 boxes of cheese. Butter sales: 165 boxes at 18¾c; 589 boxes at 19¼c, and 150 boxes at 19¼c. Cheese sales: 256 boxes at 11c; 257 boxes at 10¾c, and 121 boxes at 10¾c. Ten buyers present. Adjourned to May 16.

Watertown, N.Y., May 11.—The cheese market is steady, under good demand for export and home trade. Large cheese brought 11c. Sales aggregated 2,700 boxes.

ACTIVE DEMAND AT LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Trade at the Eastern Abattoir Cattle Market was fair to-day and prices were a little better than last week. A good market for next week is expected.

Cattle.—Receipts amounted to 500 head most of which were of good quality. The demand for them was good and at noon 50 remained unsold. Prices ranged as follows: Choice butchers' 5c to 5 1-4c; good, 4 1-2c to 5c; medium, 3 3-4c to 4 1-4c; common, 2 1-2c to 3 1-2c. Good demand for good cattle.

Calves.—Receipts amounted to 700 head, the quality being mostly common. The demand was good and at noon none remained unsold. Poor stock sold at $1 to $2, and good at $3 to $6. Good demand for good calves.

Sheep and Lambs.—Receipts of sheep amounted to 120 head, those of lambs amounting to 50 head. The sheep brought from $3.75 to $4, lambs selling at $3 to $5 each. The demand good for sheep and lambs.

Hogs.—Receipts of hogs amounted to 255 head. The demand was good and prices ranged from $6.25 to $6.75. Good demand for hogs this week.

Among the shippers were the following: M. Vincent, 70 cattle, Montreal; R. J. Collins, 22 cattle, Toronto; Louis Delorme, 97 cattle, Montreal; E. O'Hara, 24 cattle, Smiths Falls.

THE HOG MARKET IS AGAIN STRONGER.

The market was not very well supplied to-day, and the demand was active. Prices for straight stock off cars were from 6¼ to 6¾c, mostly the latter.

Abattoir dressed hogs were fairly steady to-day, but the market was almost cleared of them, the demand being active. Sales were made at $9.25 a hundred.

PORK—Heavy Canada short mess, barrels, $24; selected boneless, $25; heavy short clear, $22.50; light short clear, $23; short cut backs, $23.50; heavy flanks, $23.

HAMS.—Large hams, 12½c; medium size, 13½c; extra small, 13½c; with bone out, rolled, 15c; choice picnic hams, 13c.

BACON—Breakfast bacon, 16c; Wiltshire sides, 15c; Windsor bacon, 16c; green, bone in, not smoked, flank, 11c; long clear, 11c.

LARD—Choice refined, compound, in 20-lb. wooden pails, 9c, and more for smaller packages; extra pure, in pails, 11c; finest kettle, pails, 11½c.

BEEF.—Extra plate beef, 200-lb. bbls., $15; half-bbls., $8.

SAUSAGES.—Pork sausages, Oxford, Cambridge, Brunswick, Saveloy and farmers', 8c a pound; chicken, ham and tongue, $1 a dozen; bologna, 7c.

GOOD REDUCTION IN THE VISIBLE SUPPLY.

That in Canada and the U. S. Has Fallen Off 1,010,000 Bushels.

Weather in England and France was cloudy.

Indian shipments to the U. K. were 29,000 qrs. last week against 45,000 the previous week, these to the continent being 4,000 qrs. against 8,000. Russian shipments were 24,000 qrs. wheat and 19,000 maize, against 336,000 wheat and 34,000 maize the previous week.

Danubian shipments were 134,000 wheat and 88,000 maize, against 90,000 wheat and 64,000 maize the previous week.

Imports into the U. K. last week were 286,000 wheat, 14,000 maize and 211,000 bbls. of flour, against 219,000, 169,000 and 203,000 respectively. English farmers' deliveries of wheat were 88,400 qrs. at an average price of 28s 6d, against 56,000 at 26s 10d the previous week.

Liverpool was steady to-day, the closing being unchanged at 6s 5¼d for May, and 6s 4¼d for July. Antwerp closed 3-8 down at 8¼ for No. 2 red winter. Paris closed firmer, May being 15 up at 22.25, September and December being steady at 23.75.

Chicago quoted grain at noon as follows: Wheat, May, steady at 73 3-8c; July ¼c down at 72¼c. Corn, May, ½c down at 44¼c; July, ½c down at 44⅝c. Oats, May, ¼c up at 35½c; July, ½c down at 32½c.

LOCAL MARKET—There was a better feeling this morning owing to the settlement of the strike, and a good demand is expected to develop shortly.

No. 2 oats are quoted at 35c afloat; No. 1 oats, 36c afloat; No. 2 oats were quoted at 37 to 37½c in store; No. 2 peas, 62c high; peas, 70c afloat for May; buckwheat, 46½c afloat; barley, No. 2 rye, 51c; No. 3 extra, 44½c high; No. 2 rye, 51c east and 58c afloat.

No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat was quoted at 77c afloat at Fort William; No. 1 northern, 75½c, same position.

FEEDING STUFFS—Imports were steady to-day. Quotations in car lots on track are: Manitoba bran, in bags, $18; shorts, in bags, $20; Ontario bran, in bulk, $17 to $18; shorts, $19 to $20 in bulk; middlings, $22 to $23; moullie, $23 to $30, according to quality.

FLOUR.—Trade is dull. Quotations in Montreal on track are $3.35 to $3.50 for straight rollers in barrels; in bags, $1.60 to $1.70; extra bags, $1.40 to $1.55; winter patents, $3.80 to $3.90; Manitoba first patents, $4.10 in bags; second patents, $3.80 to $3.90.

ROLLED OATS—The market is irregular and prices range from $3.65 to $3.85 a bbl., and $1.75 to $1.85 in bags of broken lots.

HAY—The market is on the easy side under liberal offerings at country points. Quotations on track are $9 to $9.50 a ton for No. 1; $7.50 to $8 for No. 2, and $6.50 to $7 for clover mixed.

HAY SEED.—Demand is pretty active, timothy being quoted at $4.50 to $6.50 a hundred lbs.; red clover, $12 to $14.50, and alsike clover, $12 to $16.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE TEMPLE CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Montreal Temple Club, which was held on Saturday evening, was one of the most largely attended in the history of the club. The president, Mr. H. R. Hale, occupied the chair, and the reports of both the secretary and treasurer were highly satisfactory; it had been one of the best years which the club had experienced. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mr. T. A. Adkins, president; Mr. H. P. Swinton, vice-president; Mr. W. T. Anderson, treasurer; Mr. Reg. Graham, secretary. Messrs. William Bruce, Alex. J. McRobie, S. H. Stone, George Hunt, Charles Tousaw, Alex. B. J. Moore, Kirkwood, F. L. Goodwyn, and George Davidson, committee. The members empowered the new committee to go ahead with the extensive improvements necessary to provide more accommodation. A very pleasing part of the proceedings was the presentation of a beautiful gold-headed ebony cane, suitably inscribed, to Rev. James Fyfe, who has been a member of the club since its inception, and who has lately been called to Ottawa. The presentation was made by the retiring president, Mr. H. R. Hale, in a happy speech, which was feelingly acknowledged by Mr. Fyfe.

ROAD DEPARTMENT READY TO LAY WALKS.

It is very desirable that the wooden pathwalks should, wherever possible, be replaced by those of a more permanent character, and Aldermen Ames and Stearns, representatives of St. Antoine East in the City Council, are preparing to bring the facts in this connection to the attention of their electors.

The city is prepared to contribute one-half the cost of a durable sidewalk, the proprietor will pay the balance, and the contribution of the owner may be paid in instalments spread over a space of ten years. Thus, if a good permanent walk is wanted which may be laid opposite a house for say $50, the city will lay the same at once, and will then collect $25 from the proprietor, spreading the payments over a term of ten years, which would amount (with interest) to from about $4 the first year to $2.50 the last year.

In order that proprietors may know the cost of the permanent pathwalks which the city is prepared to lay, the following figures have been prepared:

1.—FOR A WALK 25 FEET LONG AND 4 FEET WIDE.

	Total Cost.	Prop. Share.
*(a)—Flagstone, with stone curb	$40.00.	$20.00
Example—Cor. St. Paul and St. Peter sts.
*(b)—Cement walk, with curb stone	38.00	19.00
Example—St. Peter st., west side, cor. Fortification lane.
(c)—Cement walk, no curb-stone	24.00	12.00
None constructed (as in McGill College grounds)
2—FOR A WALK 25 FEET LONG AND 8 FEET WIDE.
(a)—Hamblet brick, with stone curb	$38.00	$44.00
Example—Jacques Cartier Example—Jacques Cartier Place, west side.
(b)—Hastings compressed asphalt tiles, with stone curb	80.00	40.00
Example—Aqueduct st., op. Bell Telephone building.
*(c)—All cement, with curb stone	60.00	30.00
Example—Op. 288 University street.
*(d)—Flagstone centre, tar composition sides, with curb	50.00	25.00
Example—Nos. 163 to 169 Mansfield street.
(e)—Asphalt mastic	50.00	25.00
None yet constructed (new order this year).

* Are most generally in use.

The Road Committee has now at its disposal funds for such work. Demands are coming in daily, and the appropriation will soon be exhausted. It is first come, first served. Proprietors need only to write to the City Surveyor, Mr. J. R. Barlow, offering to pay one-half the cost of a permanent walk, and so long as the funds hold out, demands will be accorded in the order of their receipt.

It is advisable that a street have the same kind of permanent sidewalk throughout. The city has the right to determine the kind of walk to be laid; in fact, may, according to the new law, lay permanent pathwalks wherever the Council orders, but proprietors' preferences will have consideration.

REV. J. A. GORDON ON NECESSITY FOR FIXED BELIEF.

Rev. J. A. Gordan preached a telling sermon to a large and interested congregation in the First Baptist Church last evening, subject, "The Religion That Stood the Test in Babylon." Text—Daniel, iii., 13-18. The three young men referred to in the text had just graduated and were ready to enter upon their life work, as civil servants in the great city of Babylon. The crucial moment had come when on their attitude towards the King's command depended not only their prospect in life, but their very life itself. Yet they, in full view of all these consequences, remained true to what they regarded to be the will of God. Mr. Gordon noted the following facts, and from them deducted suitable lessons:

1. That these young men had definite religious convictions. Their religion was determined neither by name nor location, neither form nor fashion, but was the conscious communon of the unchangeable soul with the unchangeable and eternal God, and consequently not effected by change of name or residence.

2. That these young men were loyal to their convictions. Conviction to them was not a matter of convenience—convenience to be acted upon when it would pay to do so, and to be ignored when it did not pay to put it into practice. Whether one should obey God under all circumstances was not an open or debatable question with them.

3. That God signally honoured these young men, who had religious convictions and were true to them. It is true that God did not save them from the fiery furnace, but He did save them in the fiery furnace. Difficulties and trials are essential to the highest type of life; they are in the providence of God of a piece with the atonement. They make for our salvation and development. The Lord never abandons such loyal souls as these. The present times call for such heroic spirits. In closing Mr. Gordon made a strong appeal to the people to have intelligent religious convictions and to be loyal to them, for the "crowning day is coming" to all true souls.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

She has been restored to perfect health.

She writes: "About seven months ago I was badly run down in health and became very weak. I was troubled with fluttering of the heart and shortness of breath. When lying down at night I was almost afraid to go to sleep for fear I would never wake up. When I arose in the morning I would feel a little better, but as soon as I started to work my heart would start fluttering, my head would become dizzy, faint weak spells would come over me and it seemed as if black objects were floating before my eyes. I was growing worse every day until I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. When the box was half gone I could feel that they had done me good and by the time it was finished I was in excellent health and would advise all sufferers from heart and nerve troubles to try them."

ORDINATION AT THE CATHEDRAL

Archbishop Bond, Assisted by Bishop Carmichael Performed Ceremony

FOUR PRIESTS—TWO DEACONS

Sermon by Rev. J. L. Flanagan Dealt With Commission to All Generation.

An ordination service was held in Christ Church Cathedral yesterday morning at which His Grace, Archbishop Bond, officiated. His Lordship, Bishop Carmichael, assisted in the service. Four candidates were admitted to the diaconate, and two deacons were advanced to the priesthood. The former were Messrs. Benjamin Bean, Theodore Bruce, B.A., C. Carruthers, B. A., and L. T. Miller, B.A. The latter were the Rev. H. C. Walsh and the Rev. H. P. Mount, B.A.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. J. L. Flanigan from St. John xx., 21-23: "As my Father hath sent Me, even so send I you. And when He had said this, He breathed on them and saith unto them, receive the Holy Ghost: Whose sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whose sins ye retain, they are retained."

THE DIVINE COMMISSION.

The preacher began his discourse by remarking that the above commission was spoken at a time when all the Apostles were together, with the exception of Judas and Thomas. The apostles could not, therefore, have mistaken the divine authority and power of the commission they received. "As my father hath sent Me, even so send I you." As He sent forth the blessed apostles, so did He now send forth those who were about to be admitted to holy orders. He would send them to a life of humiliation and glory, to a life of sorrow and joy, to a life of labour and of depression, to a life of isolation and yet of glorious companionship, to a life of strong temptation and of victory. As their commission came from the throne of God, so let their souls rise to the conception of the dignity and awfulness of the responsibility.

No higher commission ever went forth to patriarch or prophet of old than that which came to the present candidates.

FOR ALL GENERATIONS.

It was impossible to accept the theory that one generation of sinners was to enjoy the privilege given to one generation of apostles, and all succeeding generations were to be denied the blessing, succeeding generations of bishops and priests being denied the power. God had spoken, and his words remained. Through the voice of the Church these words came to-day. "Receive ye the Holy Ghost." As these words were first spoken to a band of men who came from all sorts and conditions in life, so did the voice of God to-day call men from the various walks of life to follow him in active service, to put their hands to the gospel plough. There must be no looking back, but there must be willing obedience and entire consecration to the divine ordination. If the vows of the candidates that day admitted them to the lesser, but no less divinely appointed diaconate, what golden opportunities lay before them as they went about from place to place, comforting the sorrowing, and preaching the word of eternal life. If their vows admitted them to the dignity of the priesthood, what opportunities were theirs to play the part of God's messengers with all faithfulness, and of His watchmen with all alacrity, as chosen vessels of the divine blessing, bearing the oil and wine of His sacramental grace into the wounds of humanity.

Many questions had vexed the life of the Church in all ages, but the source whence all ministerial authority came had never been one of them. "Receive ye the Holy Ghost" had been the language of the Church in all ages, as she had sent forth men who, confessing an inward foe, sought for authority, to solace the sick and the dying.

AUTHORITY OF CHURCH.

Let them seek the power that inspired the Apostles and Fathers of the Church; let them take up the mantle of the faith that these had laid down, for it was through that faith that they could stem the floods of ungodliness and open for themselves the way from service to reward from conflict to victory.

Speaking of the needs of the Church, the preacher said that the greatest need to-day was not money, but men, and he then went on to ask the congregation to pray now and always that those about to go forth as servants of God might always keep the faith and might by the faith be kept faithful unto death.

THE ORDINATION SERVICE.

After the sermon the candidates for ordination were presented to the Archbishop and Bishop by the Rev. Principal Hackett, examining chaplain to the former. The litany and suffrages were then sung by the Rev. H. T. S. Boyle and the cathedral choir. A choral celebration of the Holy Communion then followed, at which His Grace Archbishop Bond was celebrant, with the Rev. Canon Baylis as epistoller.

After the epistle the ordination service was resumed, the candidates for the diaconate being the first to have the bishop's hands laid on them.

Then one of the newly ordained deacons read the gospel, at the conclusion of which the candidates for the priesthood were examined by Archbishop Bond. "Veni Creator Spiritus" having been sung, His Grace, together with the Bishop and the priests present—Ven. Archdeacon Norton, Canon Baylis, Rev. Principal Hackett, Rev. J. J. Flanigan and Rev. H. T. S. Boyle—laid their hands on the head of each who was to receive the order of priesthood, and to each the Archbishop delivered a Bible, and gave authority to preach the word of God and to minister the Holy Sacraments.

The remainder of the service was taken by Ven. Archdeacon Norton, and at its close the Holy Communion was administered. The Archbishop was assisted in the distribution by Ven. Archdeacon Norton, Rev. Canon Baylis and Rev. Principal Hackett.

This sketch was made from life as Rose Leclaire and her four little children sat in the orderly room at the Central Police Station, waiting the word to go before the Recorder to receive a gaol sentence, so that she would have time to get back her health before starting the fight for the sustenance of her little family.

Rose Leclaire is only twenty-six years old. She lived in a small town in Massachusetts and when her husband died five months ago she was left friendless and pennyless.

Three weeks ago she sold what little furniture she had and came to Montreal, landing here without a cent. She went to the Maternity Hospital, where the fourth child was born, and on Thursday last she left there with the four children. She was taken to the police station for shelter. Two of the children are at a sheltering home and the women and the two smallest children are at the female gaol. When she recovers her strength she hopes to get work.

No Rain for Thirty Days.

"Clear all day, is now the daily record taken with respect to the weather by the officials of the McGill Observatory.

It has been the daily record with few exceptions for the past month.

During that period hardly a drop of rain moistened the earth. The days and nights, for the most part, were cloudless.

Such a protracted spell of fine weather as Montrealers have enjoyed since April 8th, has not been often met with in recent years.

But people get tired of sunshine as well as of rain. And a little rain just at present would be very welcome.

Not only would city folks rejoice at its coming, but farmers and g

THE DINGLE CASE.

Leland D. Kent, the Accused, Tells His Story.

Rochester, N.Y., May 11.—Leland D. Kent, charged with the killing of Ethel B. Dingle, the pretty Canadian nurse, told on the witness stand on Saturday how they became interested in each other at the Riverside Hospital; how they travelled at different places together; how they lived together as Mr. and Mrs. Crosby, and how he finally agreed not to again leave her.

"We spent many pleasant hours on the back piazza at the hospital," said Kent. "There she told me her physical ills, and I prescribed for her. Then we met by appointment at a shoe store a little way from the hospital. We lunched together.

"She asked me to go to Toronto with her, and I did. After that she said she could not stand the work at the hospital, and must leave. I brought her to St. Mary's Hospital here. It was decided she must have an operation. She said if she would die under the anesthetic she would submit. I told her she would not, and she refused to have the operation for peritonitis."

Kent told how he prevented her from jumping into the river, and at another time, he said, he knocked bottles of deadly poison from her hand. She agreed to give up her suicidal notions, he said, if he would live with her and not leave her. He agreed, but only to quiet her, he says.

The defence got a letter in evidence to show the despondent state of the girl's mind two days before the tragedy. Following are extracts from it. It was addressed to a Miss Clark:

"I am not at the hospital now, Miss Clark. I want to enter a hospital outside of the city, if I can, as I don't think I am fitted for any other work, and am unhappy and discontented.

"If it was not for Dr. Grant I should try to nurse in the city, but he bothers me so I could never keep up. Write and advise me, if you care to. With love, your broken-hearted friend, Ethel B. Dingle."

The Pope Thanks Roosevelt.

Rome, May 11.—The Pope, through Mgr. Bisleti, the Master of the Chamber, has forwarded to the Rev. Francis J. Van Antwerp, of Detroit, Mich., an autograph letter addressed to President Roosevelt, thanking the latter for his jubilee present—volumes of the messages of the presidents, and expressing his appreciation of the compliment.

Nationalist Resigns.

London, May 11.—Matthew J. Minch, Nationalist member of Parliament for South Kildare, has resigned. It is understood that Dennis Kilbride, formerly Nationalist member of Parliament for North Galway, will be a candidate for the vacancy.

NEW ZEALAND CONSENTS.

Domestic Postage Rates on Canadian Papers Will Extend to That Colony.

Special to the Montreal Star.
Ottawa, May 11.—Sir William Mulock received a cable from Sir John Ward, Postmaster-General of New Zealand, consenting to Canada's request that the domestic postage rate on Canadian newspapers and periodicals should extend to that colony. This important change will be gazetted in the Canada Gazette on Saturday, the 16th, and on Monday, the 18th inst., will go into effect.

Departure of Bisley Team.

Special to the Montreal Star.
Ottawa, May 11.—The departure of the Bisley team will take place on the 20th, instead of the 27th, of June, and the team will sail on the Ionian instead of the Tunisian. The object of the change of date of departure is to give the team more time to practice for the Palma match, which opens on July 4.

Building Railway at Frank.

Special to the Montreal Star.
Winnipeg, May 11.—The C.P.R. construction department is busy getting the road around Frank completed. The old line has been abandoned, and a new one east of the old one is being built. This line runs quite close to Frank; but is, of course, far enough away to prevent any danger from further slides.

ASTHMA - Who's Next.

Miss Laniel Grocer, 366 Seigneurs street, Montreal, writes: I write you thankful that your DR. CLARKE'S KOLA COMPOUND entirely cured me of asthma. I took it on the advice of a friend, whose wife it had cured. It's a positive cure for asthma in all its stages. It's not only a relief, as other remedies sometimes give, but a permanent cure of this dread disease. Its fame has reached France, India, England, etc., from which places we have received orders; while at home it is fast being recognized as the only reliable cure for asthma and bronchitis. $2.00 a bottle, or 3 for $5.00, postpaid. BEE STARCH

A FEW REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD USE IT

BECAUSE BEE STARCH will not injure the finest fabrics, and is equally as good for the very coarsest linens.

BECAUSE it is more economical, as you can do twice the amount of clothes with the same quantity of starch.

BECAUSE clothes starched with BEE STARCH have a flexible stiffness; not stiff as a board.

BECAUSE it has body and durability, and goods starched with BEE STARCH will stay clean and preserve their appearance far longer than the clothes starched with inferior starches.

BECAUSE clothes starched with BEE STARCH have that NATTY, finished appearance and SATIN LUSTRE so much desired.

BECAUSE the BEE STARCH is simple in its preparation. "Just a little warm water and BEE STARCH."

BECAUSE THE IRON NEVER STICKS.

BRITISH COLUMBIA MINING PROGRESS.

Rossland, B. C., May 11.—The past week has seen further advances in mining industry of Rossland district. Kootenay has achieved shipping list. Jumbo and Spitzee on working list anew and announcements respecting White Bear point to unusual activity in that property this summer. Shipments are larger than for several weeks previous. The coke shortage is still felt at smelters. The report from Trail is that the plant succeeds in maintaining three copper furnaces in operation. The Vigilance furnaces are rushing, but the available reserve of coke is altogether too meagre to be satisfactory.

At Northport conditions are practically unchanged. Out look for further increase in list of working mines is bright. It is expected the Novelty will resume soon. The New York directors of the St. Elmo are also making enquiries indicating their intention of resuming.

The Rossland camp will see considerable construction work under way this summer. The LeRoi No. 2 will have mill buildings under way within the next few weeks. Kootenay plans are under way for a $30,000 tramway. The Spitzee is preparing plans for a compressor plant and hoist works. The Centre Star concentrator is certain, and Jumbo has construction work planned.

Last shipments for week are: LeRoi, 2,115 tons; LeRoi, No. 2, 700; Centre Star, 2,000; War Eagle, 990; White Bear, 25; Velvet, 180; Kootenay, 230. Toltal, 7,245 tons. Year to date, 129,454 tons.

The minister Clinton, of Toronto has been cited at Kingston, for neglecting to have repairs made for which a permit had been issued.

PRESENTATION AT VICTORIA HALL.

Mr. Borup and Miss Annett Honoured by Congregation of St. Mathias.

A large gathering filled Victoria Hall, Westmount, on Friday evening, when the congregation of St. Matthias Church, Westmount met to make presentations to Mr. Kristan Borup, of Uganda, Africa, who is in Montreal on furlough, and to Miss Annett, who leaves at the end of next month to take up work as a teacher and evangelical worker at the school of the Rev. Mr. Mathewson, Onion Lake, Athabasca. His Grace, the Archbishop, was in the chair, and addressed the meeting. Rev. E. Bushell, rector also spoke and Mr. Borup gave an address and exhibited a number of fine views taken in Uganda. Mr. Borup was presented with an illuminated address by Rev. E. Bushell on behalf of the congregation, in which was expressed admiration and appreciation for his noble work in Africa in the past five years. The crowning work of Mr. Borup was to erect a cathedral in Mengo, capital of Uganda, capable of holding 3,500 worshippers. He has also built a hospital. Mr. Borup returns to his work in October. Mr. H. V. Suckling, on behalf of the Men's Guild of the church, presented Mr. Borup with a purse of money to purchase a large camera.

Miss Annett, who is closely identified with the work of St. Matthias Church, was presented by the Sunday School with a beautifully fitted up travelling bag; by the ladies of the church with a fountain pen and a purse of money for the purchase of a Morris chair, and will be presented by the children's society with a Bible.

BOATS WORTH TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS

They Have Reached New Lachine Country Club.

SOME STRANGE CRAFT

Four Oared, Doubles and Singles—Also a Randan, and a Skiff-headed Punt.

The new Country Club at Lachine can boast of two thousand dollars' worth of new boats.

They arrived only a few days ago.

They were out in the water on Saturday, and it took some of the aquatic members quite a while to get them into shape.

They are from Oxford and built by a celebrated boat builder.

The new acquisiton consists of two four-cared boats with room for a coxswain.

Two two-cared boats with room for a coxswain.

Three singles.

A "Randan." This is a sort of long, narrow skiff. It is about twenty-five feet in length, and has a width of about two feet four.

There are places for three rowers, with a pair of oars each, and room in the stern for guests, who will be in a positon like the Sultan of Turkey, when he goes for a spin in his Caicque of State on the Golden Horn, and is being rowed about by his slaves.

THE ODDEST OF THEM ALL.

The oddest part of the equipment, however, is a skiff-nosed punt.

This is essentially for fishing and picnicking purposes for two. It is built exactly like a punt, excepting at the bow, which is pointed and high out of the water like that of a skiff. It is made of mahogany, and is propelled with one pair of oars.

It has comfortable lockers for all sorts of things that are considered necessary for a fishing or picnicking expedition.

The equipment is rounded out by a pot bellied dingy. There was some fear that the strike might delay the delivery of the boats, but after they were unloaded the drivers of the drays were each given a loaded revolver, and were told not to let anything stop them unless it wore a uniform.

FELL DOWN HOLD— WAS INSTANTLY KILLED— PHYSICIAN'S COMPLAINT.

Coroner McMahon is holding an inquest at the Morgue this afternoon on the body of Jeremiah Higgins, who with his brother Thomas Higgins fell down the hold of the steamship Monterey, while at work at midnight on Saturday, and, falling on his head, was killed instantly.

Thomas, who is at the General Hospital with one of his arms fractured and suffering from internal injuries, passed a good night and hopes are now entertained of his recovery. The two men were brought here from Liverpool a few days ago, to replace men who were out on strike.

Dr. Fleury, Medical superintendent of the Notre Dame Hospital, complains that while the ambulance was going to the wharf at one o'clock in response to a call in connection with this accident, the driver was stopped by the sentry of the Royal Scots at the Berri street slip, and ordered to turn back, and again when he tried to get to the wharf by way of Bonsecours street and Jacques Cartier square. This is the third time, Dr. Fleury says, that the hospital ambulance has been stopped during the present trouble while on its way to the wharf, and he is at a loss to understand why this should be done under any circumstances.

Dr. White, who went down with the General Hospital ambulance in response to a call for the same accident, had no trouble in getting to the wharf at the foot of St. Sulpice street, where the Victoria Rifles and the Duke of York's Hussars were stationed.

GARRICK CLUB GIVES THE FINAL PERFORMANCE.

There was a fashionable attendance at the Academy on Saturday evening, when the Garrick Club gave its final performance, in a clever play, acted by a well-balanced company. The Garrick Club, which numbers among its members some of the best amateur actors and actresses in Montreal, has been responsible for many pleasant entertainments, which were frequently given in the cause of charity.

The play which the Club chose was "His Excellency the Governor." It has an amusing plot and bright lines for nearly all the members of the cast. The players threw themselves into the parts with spirit and the result was a very good production. The plot deals with the mischief wrought by the aloe tree which flowers once in a hundred years, spreading a contagion of love in all directions. Sir Montagu Martin, governor of the Amandaland Islands, has made his aides and secretary promise to remain bachelors, but unfortunately for their peace of mind, Miss Stella De Cox, a cousin of the Governor, and Mrs. Wentworth Bolingbroke and Miss Carlton, sister and daughter of Sir Henry Carlton, arrive on the scene. All the men proceed to cast hemselves at the feet of these ladies, and even the servants, and the natives catch the love malady. Various complications follow each other, with humorous situations, which are eventually set right.

Miss Louise Brown, whose work has frequently been favourably commented upon, was clever in her part, as was Miss Elsie Campbell in her. Miss Pinder was a very charming belle, with admirers galore. Mr. Cecil Gordon took the part of the Governor admirably, and Mr. Mackay Edgar and Mr. A. Rives Hall, also acted with much ability. Mr. Austin Stead, Mr. Charles B. Godwin, Dr. McKee, Mr. Saumarez Carmichael, Mr. Royal Ewing, and C. Brown, assisted in rounding out an enjoyable performance.

Special Notice.

AN EMPIRE DAY EMBLEM, to be presented by the S. Carsley Co., Limited, to the SCHOOL CHILDREN OF MONTREAL FREE.

We want every scholar of the public schools of this city to be possessed of one of these pretty enamel finish Pins. In Wednesday's, Friday's and Monday's issues, 13th, 15th, and 17th, of the Star, a coupon will be printed. The scholar will cut out one of these Coupons, fill out the information desired, and present such at the S. Carsley Co., Limited's office on the 4th floor, at the times and days indicated in this firm's advertisement. Should any scholar be ill and unable to come in person, a coupon countersigned by the teacher of the class to which he or she belongs will be honored.

BUILD UP CANADA.

WHEN will CANADA be a MANUFACTURING COUNTRY for EXPORT?

The United States is today the most conspicuous export manufacturing country in the world. Why is this? Because the people and statesmen of the United States realized years ago that a strong Protective Policy would first of all build up home manufactures by securing for Americans the best of the home market, feeling sure all the time that once the manufacturers of the United States grew to the needs of home consumption they would go on building for export trade. And to-day all that was predicted for the manufacturers and workingmen of the United States has come true. Millions upon millions of foreign money and tens of thousands of foreign workmen are pouring into the States to reap some of the fruits of the great National Protective Policy of the American Union. Can Canada repeat this? Look at the Cotton Mills, Tobacco Factories, Rolling Mills, that were built up in Canada under the National Policy, and we can easily picture what would happen if the Government of Canada would give to Canadians a Canada-for-Canadians policy, looking first to the securing for Canadians the Canadian consumption, and then a share of the markets of India, England, Australia, Japan, Italy, Spain, South Africa, in fact, of the whole world.

THE QUESTION OF THE HOUR.

The Toronto News very strongly advocates the passage of a compulsory arbitration act, not a merely permissive one, such as Sir William Mulock is now standing sponsor for in Parliament. It quotes the example of New Zealand, which it holds we might quite safely follow. If it could be shown that a compulsory arbitration act would have the same effect in Canada as the New Zealand Secretary of Labour states in his last report that it has had in that colony, votes for it, we may assume, would not be hard to obtain in certain quarters. These are his words: "The effect of the act up to the present has been to greatly benefit the working classes by raising wages, by shortening working hours, and by giving (when other things such as skill, etc, are equal) preference to unionist workers." The most distinct opposition to compulsory arbitration in Canada has up to the present come from the labouring classes, who, perhaps, have good reason for doubting whether it would work in Canada precisely as it has done in New Zealand. They do not ask for incorporation or registration for their unions, or anything that would tend to fasten on them legal responsibility for their acts. They do not want any Tee Vale decisions by the courts in Canada.

Unfortunately, the question in a party-ridden country like Canada is not what legislation is desirable, but what legislation the opposite party will allow to pass without converting it into a weapon of attack upon the Government. The crisis which is now supervening in Canada, in common with the United States, is so grave, however, that the plain duty of the leaders on both sides of politics is to confer as to what is needed without any consideration, however remote, of party interests. In our opinion it is not official arbitration that is wanted so much as (1) protection for free or non-union labour, and (2) some regulation of the conditions of labour or employment devised not at all in the interest of employers, but for the protection of the public. While employers and labourers are squabbling, third parties, and more or less the public at large, are suffering serious loss and often cruel inconvenience. Let men, withdraw from any employment the conditions of which they do not find satisfactory, but let it be done with some regard to the public interest; and whatever rules are imposed on the labourers as regards notice of withdrawal, let equivalent ones be imposed on employers as regards dispensing with the service of such labourers. Both employers and labourers are engaged in the service of the public, and it should not be in their power to inflict the loss and suffering they now frequently do through their uncivilized methds of doing business with one another and regulating their disputes.

Any political party that in these days sets itself to angle for the labour vote, or for any special vote whatever, is acting treasonably to the country.

Eastward Movement of Grain.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Winnipeg, May 11.—The C. P. R. weekly grain reports show there was in store at the interior elevators on Saturday, 5,950,000 bushels, and at Fort William elevators, 2,768,000 bushels. Figures for the preceding week were respectively 6,542,458, and 3,399,562 bushels. On Saturday 110 cars of grain were shipped east, they contained 101,000 bushels.

Another Story of the Fire and Its Rapid Progress

Ottawa, May 11.—On Sunday afternoon the fire king once again held full sway in Ottawa, and the city underwent its second great baptism of fire. A smouldering mass of ruins, with a solitary chimney or broken walls standing here and there tell the tale of an awful conflagration laying waste the area between the C.A.R. tracks at the south, Division St. on the east, Prescott line and Third avenue Albert on the north, and the tracks of the C.P.R. on the west. About two hundred houses were destroyed, probably 800 or 1,000 people are homeless, and the financial loss totals about $375,000 or $400,000. Probably one-half of this amount, possibly more, is covered by insurance. No lives are known to have been lost. The fire is thought to have been incendiary in origin, and while John White, an ex-convict, is held on the charge of drunkenness, the finger of suspicion is said to point against him.

The blaze started in the lumber piles near the C.A.R. tracks, just west of Preston street. The fire swept area, about 75 acres, was in part the same as that over which the great fire of 1900 burned, only it commenced where that one left off, and worked in an opposite direction. The two, however, cannot well be compared as to the loss entailed or the area covered.

Yesterday morning Rochesterville and that part of Dalhousie Ward lying between it and Albert street was a scene of prosperity and happiness. The people were just nicely recovering from the effects of the fire three years ago. Pretty and neat little homes, three-quarters of them brick, or brick veneered in construction, had been reared, business places had been rebuilt, and on the whole the place took on the appearance and air of prosperity. To-day there is nothing left but the irregular columns of smoking debris, hundreds of people are homeless, and to a certain extent, at least, want and privation must necessarily follow in the wake.

TWO FIRES STARTED, BUT ONE DID NOT AMOUNT TO MUCH.

There were two lumber pile fires yesterday, but it was the latter one that caused the damage. Shortly after noon a blaze was discovered in J. R. Booth's piles, corner of Broad street and the Richmond Road. How it originated is unknown, but only about one hundred thousand feet of green lumber was burned, and Mr. Booth placed that loss at only $1,000. That fire was checked, however, only by the well directed efforts of the firemen. It was just about 3.30 when an alarm came in from box 153, corner of Preston and William streets, for the big fire of the day. The blaze started in the Preston street lumber yard of J. R. Booth, just north of the tracks of the western division of the Canada Atlantic Railway. When it was first noticed the fire was only an incipient one and in less time than it takes to tell it the piles commenced to catch. It was an ideal day for a fire. After a long continued drought everything was as dry as tinder, and the wind blew from the southwest with all the velocity of a gale. When box 153 was sounded only one or two piles were on fire, but by the time the brigade reached the scene half a dozen had caught and almost immediately afterwards a line of frame dwellings in the immediate locality became ignited.

Fanned by the gale which was augmented by the draught of the fire itself the flames spread with great rapidity and in twenty minutes the whole lumber area was going up in smoke. It was like a fiery furnace with cinders flying everywhere, dense volumes of smoke going skyward, and houses and piles crashing and creaking in the power of the devouring element; while above, the gale roared and laughed at what efforts could be put forth to avert the calamity.

It was just when the fire department started that a break in the waterworks system occurred and had the effect of temporarily paralysing work on the part of the fire brigade. Leading out of the big pumping station are two 24-inch water main and three or four smaller ones. One of these mains had been leaking for a considerable time and repairs had been in progress since Thursday. Not five minutes after the fire pressure was turned on, the pipe burst, the staves gave way and the whole station was temporarily inundated. Men at once got to work in five feet of water and shut off the valves of the disabled main so as to allow the pumping to go ahead without damage to the station. In the meantime the pumps were practically stopped, and for half an hour, just when the water was most needed, none of it was going through the mains. At the end of that time, however, the pumping resumed, and while 100 was registered at the pumping station, the pressure on the district where the fire was registered was comparatively weak, for the mains up there are small and but for the fire engines little force could have been got on.

Half an hour had by that time elapsed and the blaze was burning with an awful intensity. It was sweeping down Preston and along Rochester south of Poplar and was making its way for Division street. The residents of the locality were terrified, but the most of them exhibited presence of mind enough to attempt to save their household effects. From every door and window bedsteads, mattresses, crockery-ware and articles of furniture were being carried, people who had been attracted to the district taking off their coats and lending a helping hand. But there was a dearth of rigs, and as usual people who had them were in many cases demanding exorbitant prices. Household effects in numerous cases were placed on vacant lots only to be overtaken later by the flames and wiped up in an instant before they could be saved.

By five o'clock the flames had worked their way as far south as Somerset street, while the gale continued strong from the southwest, and grave fears were entertained that the fire would retrace its steps and go over the whole Chaudiere and Hull district as in 1900.

THE OTTAWA FIRE.—Ruins in the Vicinity of Rochester Street. (Sketched by a Star Artist.)

Residence of George Ross in centre of burned district, Rochester St., which escaped.

OTTAWA'S TWO GREAT FIRES COMPARED FIRE OF YESTERDAY

One man was killed and one baby reported burned to death.

The financial loss is from $500,000 to $600,000.

The area burned covers about seventy-five acres.

Five hundred families rendered homeless.

The origin of the fire is incendiary, a paroled convict is suspected.

The day was windy and the flames spread from roof to roof, leaping across streets.

The fire was confined entirely to Ottawa, Hull escaped.

The brigade was rendered helpless in the midst of the fight by the breaking of a water main.

THE FIRE OF APRIL 26, 1900.

Three lives were lost and two men were seriously injured.

The financial loss was estimated at from $15,000,000 to $17,000,000.

The fire swept district was five miles in length and of varying width.

Over 3,000 families were rendered homeless.

The fire broke out in a lumber pile in Hull and leaped across the river, devastating both banks of the river.

THE FIRE MADE A CLEAN SWEEP OF EVERYTHING.

The fire did not leap for half a mile at a time, as did that of 1900. It simply made a clean sweep as it went, and wiped out the district gradually, but effectually.

The big bluff known as Primrose Hill, and on the top of which stands St. Jean Baptiste Church, was largely the salvation of Wellington ward in 1900, and again yesterday that alone prevented the flames from sweeping over into the business part of the city.

All this time the fire brigade was at work with streams going here and there, but in the face of such a wind, and with the fire making such headway, little effect could be felt. Houses on Lorne avenue, just across from the monastery on the hill top caught, but after fierce fighting, these were put out. Then a frame structure, which was a peril to the locality was gotten hold of with ropes, and a hundred brawny men tried to pull it down. But their efforts were unavailing, the structure was allowed to go to its doom. Those which adjoined it, however, were saved, and the work of the Dominican Fathers saved their monastery and the church, although everything had been carried out in anticipation that the edifice would go up, and thus enable the fire to make its way across the city. By seven o'clock the flames had extended down from Somerset street to near Albert, and it looked as though the C. P. R. Union Station freight sheds and the Chaudiere proper would go.

ORGANIZED BUCKET BRIGADE.

Shortly after this, however, the wind veered and blew from the southeast. Big piles of wood surrounding J. R. Booth's old residential property became ignited and were fast being eaten up. Just across the street thousands of feet of lumber were piled, and right behind these piles stood the station and yards of the C. P. R. There was no hose in the locality at the time, and a party headed by Ald. Rosenthal, Mr. W. M. Southam and Harry Mooney, got hose from the corporation yard, improvised a connection with a stand pipe and soaked the piles north of the Richmond road. This had a salutary effect, and later on, when the militia arrived, the boys formed a bucket brigade, and aided by city watering carts, kept the lumber so thoroughly soaked that the sparks being showered upon them failed to take effect.

By 9 o'clock the blaze was pretty well under control. One of the pluckiest fights was that which saved Martin and Warnock's mill. The fire went on three sides of it, and burned to the ground Mr. Martin's residence, immediately adjoining, but the firm had wisely put in a fire protection service of its own, and by aid of steam pumps kept the structure covered with water and saved it. It was certainly one of the best pieces of work during the day.

As night fell and the red moon rose full over the city, the scene witnessed by the crowds gathered on Primrose hill, was one of weird splendour. To the east the city looked peaceful, and almost serene in its security. All to the south was a glow-furnace now dying in to crimson heaps, with here and there spurts of flame from thick lumber piles. Over the whole area the glare of smouldering fires lit up the district, and above it hung a swaying mass of smoke. Flames still burned fiercely in one spot. It was the very western limit of the conflagration, and marked the place on Wellington street where Mr. J. R. Booth had piled a large quantity of firewood. This burned greedily till midnight lighting up the ruins of the Booth homestead. It had not been rebuilt after the famous fire of three years ago, and stood out naked and defiant in the light of the new made ruins around it. Under the night sky and canopy of smoke the scene of the conflagration lengthened out in perspective till the twinkling fire points that marked its farthest confines seemed to be miles and miles away. Many evidences of the day's confusion were still to be met with on the streets bordering the line of safety. Occasional heaps of household goods in all the unsightly lines of hasty deposit littered the sidewalk. Belated people were moving bits of salvage to temporary homes, some in carts; others, who had found more convenient shelter, were passing along in grim procession with arm loads of their effects. But everywhere were groups of late dwellers in the burnt section, telling their experiences or expatiating upon their losses, loath to leave the scene of their second turn of hard luck.

There was great excitement at the C. P.R., and anticipating that the station would go, Superintendent Spencer and his staff commenced as early as 4 o'clock to get out. Everything moveable even to the telegraph instruments were taken out and loaded on a special freight train, ready to steam out at a minute's notice. All the engines were taken from their stalls at the round house, and a lot of rolling stock was moved over to the Hull side. There was a great quantity of freight at the sheds, and a part of this was hurriedly delivered. The flames, however, did not get across beyond the street, and the whole C. P. R. property was saved with but trifling damage.

As soon as Mayor Cook became aware of the danger that threatened the city, he telegraphed Montreal for assistance, and the latter was promptly promised. The Canadian Pacific Railway furnished a special train of two coaches and three box cars, and brought up twenty men, two steamers, the Canada and the Clapp and Jones, and two hose waggons. The train left Montreal at 8.30 and arrived at the Central station at twelve minutes to eleven o'clock covering the 112 miles in a trifle over two hours exclusive of stops. The engineer who made the fast time was Charles Thiberge, of Ottawa, and he came in for a good deal of sympathy, for he lost two houses valued at $5,000, in the fire, and had but a small insurance. Mr. Thiberge left Ottawa at 3.20 as engineer on his regular run to Montreal, and twenty minutes after he arrived in the Royal City was at the throttle of engine No. 533 and pulling her out of the Windsor station.

When he left Ottawa there was not the slightest prospect that the fire would rase his houses to the ground, but when he returned to the capital there was nothing left of his buildings but the ruins. The firemen of the special was Walter Dickson, and in the two hours run he transferred something over 5 tons of coal from the tender to fire box which was something like hustling. The average householder thinks that handling three ton a winter for his furnace gives him about the right amount of exercise.

CITY COUNCIL NAMES RELIEF COMMITTEE.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, May 11.—A special meeting of the City Council was called for ten o'clock this morning. The Mayor explained that he had felt it incumbent yesterday, in view of the fire, to call a special meeting to explain what had been done, and what means, if any had to be taken to assist the sufferers. He had, after consultation with his colleagues, asked assistance from Montreal. It was willingly accorded. Twenty-five men, two engines and two hose waggons arrived shortly before 11 o'clock. Danger was then past, and it was then decided not to utilize the men. He was sure the Council would highly appreciate the ready response of the sister city. He had also requisitioned troops, and the Ottawa Brigade had rendered valuable assistance. As to assistance, he thought it would be best to appoint a sub-committee and let them report to the Council this evening. In view of the magnificent response from all parts of the world three years ago, it would never do to go outside of the city. That was the unanimous feeling, he thought, of the citizens. They must also consider the purchase of additional fire protection appliances. The disposition of the lumber piles must also be considered. In his opinion the day had come when the lumber piles must go as far as Ottawa was concerned.

Resolutions were then adopted endorsing the action of the Mayor in calling on Montreal and the militia.

The following resolution was also passed:

"That the thanks of the Council and citizens be conveyed to His Worship Mayor Cochrane, Ald. Robertson, chairman of the Fire Department, and the Montreal civic authorities for their prompt response to our Mayor's call for help and forwarding with such despatch their engines and men to aid in subduing yesterday's disastrous fire."

A message received during the fire from Mr. C. W. Spencer, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stating that he had done everything he could to assist the city in the emergency was read by the Mayor. Ald. Stroud, seconded by Ald. Desjardins, that Ald. Enright, Hopewell, Davidson, Storey, Hasley, Payment, Plouffe and Ellis be appointed a special committee to report on fire relief. This was carried.

A motion of thanks to Mr. C. W. Spencer was then carried unanimously, and the Council adjourned.

NAMES OF THOSE WHO LOST THEIR HOMES

The following are the names of those burned out, taken from the record of the Assessment Commissioner in the City Hall. Mr. Pratt, the Commissioner, says that there are 175 houses burned. They will average each over $1,000, making a loss of $175,000. Each house will average five persons, which would make a total of 875 people rendered homeless by the fire. This is the most conservative estimate made.

BURNED OUT PEOPLE ARE IN BAD SHAPE.

At eleven o'clock the Ottawa Fire Relief Committee appointed by the Council met in the City Hall. Thomas Birkett, M. P., was amongst those in attendance. Rev. Father Jacques, parish priest in the burned district, spoke first. He said sixty-five French-Canadian families, representing over four hundred people, parishioners of his, were homeless. In all over two hundred families, representing 1,000 people, were homeless. Many, too, were hopeless, and said they would never rebuild in Ottawa again. Rev. Father Jacques said there were only a few families in immediate need of help. Almost all got shelter last night.

Ald. Plouffe said the people were in worse shape than after the fire of 1900. Then they got the insurance. Now the insurance was mortgaged, and the burned out people would get nothing. The case was desperate. Thomas Birkett, M. P., said it was not well to go to the Government for assistance as some suggested till a well defined scheme was ready for presentation. He suggested confining the present discussion to giving immediate help to the sufferers. It was suggested that each of the 250 homeless families should be given a sum of $50 at once and then be done with the relief for good.

Thomas Birkett, M. P., asked that a subscription list be opened. He offered one hundred dollars to begin with. The motion finally passed was to the effect that it was inadvisable to apepal to outside municipalities for help, but a subscription list would be opened for ten days for those who would subscribe. The city will also give immediately fifty dollars to each family burned out. This will be reported to the Council to-night.

CHANNEL SQUADRON WILL VISIT DUBLIN.

The Date Set for is From May 18 to 22—A Unique Event.

London, May 11.—Vice-Admiral Lord Charles Beresford has notified the Mayor of Dublin that the Admiralty has ordered him to take the channel squadron to Dublin May 18 and to remain until May 22.

This is the first time in many years that the Mayor of Dublin has received such a notification.

ENGLISH PRINCESS TO WED GREEK PRINCE.

Princess Alice, Queen Victoria's Favourite, Betrothed to Prince Andreas.

London, May 11.—The betrothal is announced of Princess Alice, the favourite granddaughter of the late Queen Victoria, to Prince Andreas, fourth son of the King of Greece.

Some time ago it was surmised that Princess Alice would be the next Empress of Germany, and for a while she lived as a member of the Kaiser's family at Potsdam. The Princess was a particular favourite of the Empress, who lost no occasion of manifesting her affection to her young visitor. The marriage, it was however, recognized at court, would have been unpopular with the German people owing to the strong anti-English feeling prevailing. Princess Alice is the daughter of the late Duke of Albany, and her brother occupies the Dukedom of Saxe-Cobourg.

THE DYNAMITE OUTRAGE.

(See also page three.)

New York, May 11.—The police have so far failed to solve the mystery surrounding the leaving of a box of dynamite on the Cunard line dock yesterday. There is a diversion of opinion among the officials as to whether the matter was intended to be a hoax or not, but all agree that the possibilities of a great explosion and a great loss of life were many. Superintendent Geo. M. Murray, of the Bureau of Combustibles, said to-day, that there was no detonating caps attached to the dynamite stock and without these caps it is not likely the dynamite would have exploded from a fuse. He says, however, that if the box had been given a sudden jar the time the fuse was burned down to the dynamite, an explosion might have resulted.

LIVED WITH INDIANS FOR THIRTEEN YEARS.

Maud Gillespie, Who Disappeared From Thessalon Years Ago, Found With Indians.

Sault Ste. Marie, May 11.—From information recently received here it is believed that Maud Gillespie, who, as a girl of 13, mysteriously disappeared from her home, near Thessalon, 13 years ago, has been found living with the Indians at Green Lake, near the Missauga River, about 100 miles back of Thessalon.

It appears that while two prospectors were exploring the almost unknown region back of Thessalon they came on a village of Indians on Green Lake. While trying to talk with the Indians they were startled to see a white woman, who appeared delighted when she heard them speak in English. They talked with her and she told them that years ago, when she was a small girl, she had been stolen by the Indians and had lived with them ever since, never seeing a white man except the French trappers with whom she was unable to talk.

She was anxious to get away from the Indians and implored the prospectors to aid her. They promised to do so. The matter has been brought to the attention of the Government, and it is expected that immediate steps will be taken to recover the girl.
