French begin tests

Detonate nuclear device

CHEEKY RASCALS — This pair of Edmonton tots let the 80-degree heat Thursday get the better of them. They doffed their inhibitions and their clothes and went for a stroll in the sunshine, much to the annoyance of city police who took them in hand and called their parents to pick them up. PARIS (Reuters) — France announced Sunday night the detonation of a medium-sized nuclear device in the Pacific, signalling the start of a test series expected to culminate in the first French hydrogen bomb blast in October.

A communique said the explosion occurred at 11 p.m. (6 p.m. EDT) over the French test centre in the Mururoa and Fangatafa atolls, 900 miles south of Tahiti.

In Tokyo, the Japanese foreign ministry said today Japan will ask France to suspend the nuclear test series immediately.

Informed sources said Sunday's test was carried out mainly to adjust measuring and observation instruments to be used in later blasts.

Two or three other low-power explosions will follow. These are aimed at checking and functioning of nuclear weapons previously tested.

TEST OTHERS LATER

The second and third generation weapons of the French nuclear arsenal—warheads of land- and submarine-based missiles—are scheduled to be tested later in the series, the sources said.

The first French H-bomb is expected to be in the one-megaton range—some 60 times the power of the bomb that devastated Hiroshima near the end of the Second World War.

Although France is reported to have prepared three types of hydrogen bombs for testing, the plans for the tests have drawn protests from Japan, New Zealand and Peru and there is concern in other countries. It thus appeared unlikely that more than one bomb will be tested if the first is successful.

There also has been criticism of the tests at home. The anti-nuclear arms movement has attacked the tests as "a heavy burden on the national budget."

France warned shipping Wednesday to stay clear of the Mururoa area from Friday until further notice.

Ships were warned to keep outside a 500-nautical-mile radius of the atoll.

Homosexuality and abortion bills remain unchanged

OTTAWA (CP) — Criminal Code amendments changing the law on abortion, homosexuality and several other subjects are expected to be back before the Commons later this year without basic changes, Justice Minister John Turner said Saturday.

In an interview after he was sworn in to the post, the 39-year-old minister said he does not expect any radical changes in the bill.

"The prime minister is committed to it, and so am I."

But he said cabinet decisions will have to be made on whether to break the bill into several parts and whether to permit free votes on some of its provisions.

Opposition Leader Stanfield

has called for both moves on the grounds that some of the provisions are matters of individual conscience for MPs. He argues that members should not be asked to cast one vote in principle for all the bill's various parts.

Among other things, the amendments would legalize private homosexual relations between consenting adults, liberalize abortion laws, tighten firearms control and make breath tests compulsory for drinking drivers.

The bill was introduced by Prime Minister Trudeau, then justice minister, late last year. But it died on the Commons order paper when Parliament was dissolved in April for the June election.

Mr. Turner said he is reviewing the legislation with department officials and has been given a 28-page summary of representations on it, mainly on abortion, firearms and breath-tests provisions.

"I want to do my homework and go up to it again from the ground up," he said. This did not mean he may call changes, but that he wanted to be thoroughly familiar with it.

Mr. Turner said he is delighted by his appointment to the justice portfolio. It would give him a chance to change "some of the things I've been talking about" and make the law more efficient and more compassionate.

He listed several areas of possible reform, including compensation for victims of crime, sentencing that promotes rehabilitation, and equal access to justice for rich and poor.

He said he is concerned about invasion of privacy by various methods of surveillance; physical surveillance through such things as wire-tapping, data surveillance through records such as credit reports, and psychological surveillance through use of "emotion-testing devices."

SAN SALVADOR (AP) — President Johnson set out from the capital of El Salvador today for quick visits to four other Central American countries and declared that he seeks "a road of new hope for this hemisphere."

Johnson, in El Salvador since Saturday for Central American summit talks, was bound for Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Guatemala before settling down tonight at his Texas ranch.

In each country, he was dropping off one of the presidents who met with him during the weekend.

Johnson, in remarks prepared for departure ceremonies at San Salvador, spoke of "the new strength and promise that we have here added to our partnership." He cautioned: "The road that brought us here has no rainbow at its end—not yet."

Never before has any U.S. president visited all five Central American republics, and Johnson's reception in El Salvador seemed to indicate his effort was appreciated.

Finds UFO

JOLIETTE, Que. (CP) — An egg-shaped piece of rock found in the middle of a burned patch of grass is the only evidence so far to substantiate reports last Tuesday of burning objects falling from the sky and nude little men.

Paul - Emile Desbiens, a 73-year-old farmer from nearby St. Paul, about 40 miles north of Montreal, says he is guarding the piece of stone with a shotgun until federal authorities analyse it.

He said Friday a farmer friend discovered the stone still hot Tuesday night after a large burning object that illuminated the sky fell into a nearby field.

Meanwhile, provincial police here confirmed they had received several telephone calls Tuesday reporting that nude little men had been seen running along a country road.

Saturday, the crowds were big and friendly.

As he drove through San Salvador and the surrounding countryside Sunday, he climbed onto the running board of his long bubbletop limousine at least five times to greet close-packed street crowds, shake hands and deliver brief speeches over the car's built-in loudspeakers.

The most serious work of the weekend came Saturday, when the presidents agreed to push forward with the seven-year-old Central American Common Market. Johnson promised U.S. help but the theme was one of self-help.

Johnson pledged an additional $65,000,000 in loans to promote economic and educational development projects.

The five common market countries face a worsening trade deficit, with not enough growth in their exports of coffee, sugar, rice and bananas to compensate for growing spending for imported manufactured goods and prime materials.

HELPS HEAL WOUNDS

Johnson's visit also seemed to help heal an internal wound in the common market. Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza, irritated because his four market partners were dragging their feet putting into effect agreed taxes on imports, began taxing imports of rice and other goods from his market partners last month. At one point hundreds of trucks were held up at his borders.

During the summit meeting Somoza agreed to suspend the QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Johnson, who suffered a mild heart attack last Wednesday, hopes to leave hospital in a few days and convalesce somewhere in the province.

Blaiberg recovering

CAPE TOWN (CP) — Dr. Philip Blaiberg, who has survived more than six months with another man's heart, today appeared back on the road to recovery after his second serious setback in recent weeks.

Blaiberg, 59, a retired Cape Town dentist, received intensive treatment with anti-lymphocyte serum Sunday to counter tissue rejection symptoms and an accompanying lung ailment, which had led surgeons to consider a second heart transplant.

His doctors indicated they no longer plan a third heart for him.

Blaiberg's wife, Eileen, said she was told by Dr. Christiaan Barnard, head of Groote Schuur Hospital's heart transplant team, that her husband's condition had undergone a "dramatic change."

"It's as if they had given new life to my husband," she said. "I'm hoping and praying the serum treatment will be successful."

VISITS HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Blaiberg visited her husband Sunday and said he seemed much better.

Blaiberg had been gravely ill with hepatitis, double pneumonia and symptoms that his transplanted heart was faltering.

A hospital bulletin Sunday night reported "definite improvement" in Blaiberg's condition and said: "His lung condition is improving."

The serum, developed in Denver, Colo., swallows lymphocytes, the body's natural weapon against such foreign invaders as transplanted organs and infection. It has been used successfully during the last two years in kidney and liver transplants to combat the body's tendency to reject foreign organs.

Called ALG, the serum is obtained from horses.

In all, 24 heart transplants have been performed in the world, and seven recipients are still alive, including Gaetan Paris, 49, of Montreal.

Blaiberg received the heart of a colored (mixed blood) man, Oliver Haupt, Jan. 2.

tariffs on his allies. In return they affirmed their support for the import taxes.

The visit also forced a peaceful solution to a border dispute between El Salvador and Honduras. To clear the air for the meeting, El Salvador released a convicted Honduran bandit allegedly captured on Honduran soil. In return, Honduras released 41 Salvadoran soldiers captured last year when they blundered over the Honduras border.

All five presidents seemed determined to settle their development squabbles, resulting in general from the fact that Guatemala and El Salvador have more factories while Costa Rica and Nicaragua feel they have made more effort to modernize their agriculture.

Blaze kills

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) The secret exile terrorist band, Cuba Power, said today that its men had set fire to two plants inside Cuba.

"Cuba Power is fully responsible for the sabotage at Havana's Nico oil refinery and Oriente's feed factory," the organization reported in a cablegram from Panama.

93 killed

At least 93 persons were reported killed in weekend accidents across Canada, 58 on the roads.

A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, local times, also showed 20 drownings, eight persons killed in fires, one man accidentally shot while other accidents claimed six lives.

Blaze kills

CARBONAR, Nfld. (CP) — A 59-year-old father and six of his eight children died early today when fire swept through their home in this Conception Bay community.

Police said the 37-year-old mother and two daughters, aged three and 12 years, were in serious condition in hospital here. The children who died in the blaze ranged in age from two to 11 years.

PARIS (AP) — The last major bastion of the student rebellion at the University of Paris fell without a fight today.

Police moved into the new medical school on the Rue des Saints-Peres at dawn and evicted the last 17 students holding out in the big four-story building. The red flag waving over the roof was taken down.

Family killed

TORONTO (CP) — A fire in the upper floors of a downtown rooming house early Sunday killed a family of four, but three other tenants escaped.

An autopsy showed that Eve Gaudon, 36, his wife, Malva, 21, and their two children, Joseph, 2, and Julianne, six months, died by asphyxiation due to smoke inhalation.

Cong execution

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. military spokesmen today accused the Viet Cong of executing an American major captured in an ambush.

The victim's identity was withheld until his next-of-kin are notified.

New cabinet sworn in during wedding celebration Saturday

OTTAWA (CP) — The Trudeau cabinet was sworn into office Saturday at a Government House radiant with sunlight, champagne, flowers and smiles.

A wedding reception was in progress in the tent room of Rideau Hall, the Governor-General's residence when Prime Minister Trudeau and his 28 ministers arrived for the oath-taking.

Children rushed into the red-carpeted lobby to give them a rousing cheer.

Mothers carrying shallow glasses of champagne came out to admire the new ministers in their striped pants.

The wedding spirit swept formally out of the sunlit windows.

A woman plucked a flower from one of the banks in the hall and gave it to Mr. Trudeau, who put it in his lapel.

"I'd like to kiss you but I'm married," she said.

"Is your husband here?" asked the 48-year-old bachelor prime minister. She said he wasn't.

"Then it's all right," Mr. Trudeau said, giving her a memorable buss.

The wedding reception was for Capt. Marc Landry, an aide-de-camp to Governor-General Michener, and his bride.

Mr. Michener estimated that the 29-member Trudeau cabinet, the largest Canada has had, is also the youngest at an average age of 47.

CELEBRATED BIRTHDAY

Allan MacEachen, sworn in as manpower minister, was 47 Saturday.

Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien, at 34 the youngest cabinet member, was driven up in an open sports car.

Senator Paul Martin, at 65 the oldest, arrived at the wheel of an impressive black sedan, his smiling chauffeur sitting in the passenger's seat.

"Just goes to show the democratization of the Senate," Senator Martin joked to the camera-men and reporters who flocked about the entrance to Rideau Hall.

Mr. Trudeau himself, wearing sunglasses but formally dressed for the occasion, walked from his residence across the street to Rideau Hall.

At his side was one of the six new cabinet ministers, wealthy Winnipeg businessman James Richardson, 46.

State Secretary Gerard Pelletier and Forestry Minister Jean Marchand, who sported a new $10 pipe, walked with them.

Defence Production Minister Don Jamieson, just in from Newfoundland, got out of his car half way up the shaded driveway and sprinted to catch up to the ministerial group.

BEAM BROADLY

Cameras clicked, guards in busbies marched to and for, Mounties kept order, and young ladies beamed at the cabinet arrived.

The oath-taking, always private, was done before Governor-General Michener in his study. Then he and the cabinet filed into a banquet room for group photos.

The Micheners left a few minutes later for a 22-day tour of Cape Breton Island, Newfoundland and parts of eastern Quebec.

Mr. Trudeau himself said he may take a holiday in Prince Edward Island, "a wonderful province," later in July. P.E.I. was the only province not to elect a single Liberal MP.

The cabinet would hold the first of an intensive series of meetings at 11 a.m. Monday. "I wanted 10 o'clock but they insisted on 11," Mr. Trudeau said.

The full cabinet would discuss priorities Monday, then break down into committees to work out the details.

This would continue until July 20, when all but a "corporal's guard" would take about three weeks off. The full cabinet would return Aug. 13, getting to work on the Speech from the Throne that will be read when the 28th Parliament is convened in mid-September.

Mr. Trudeau said changes of parliamentary rules and government reorganization are among the main priorities.

Justice Minister John Turner said parliamentary reform, government reorganization, an official languages bill, and a bill aimed at reducing drug prices will likely take up the first month of the new Parliament.

THE WELL CHILD

New Tests Can Determine Unborn Child's Normalcy

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Although it was formerly impossible to tell whether a child would be normal until after it was born, a technique has now been worked out for making such a determination after about 12 weeks of pregnancy. This involves the relatively simple process of inserting a needle into the protective sac in which the embryo is developing and withdrawing a small sample of the surrounding amniotic fluid.

Free-floating cells cast off by the skin of the embryo are examined microscopically and the chromosomes in the cells are studied. These ribbonlike strands carry the complete hereditary pattern of the developing infant. If the chromosomes appear to be normal, a normal baby can be expected. On the other hand, certain abnormal arrangements of the chromosomes indicate mongolism and various inborn errors of metabolism, many of which are associated with severe mental retardation.

This is especially important when a couple has a history of previous children or close relatives with birth defects. The knowledge that the present pregnancy will result in a normal child spares the mother the anguish of uncertainty. The knowledge that the child will be born with an untreatable genetic disease may lead the parents to consider a therapeutic abortion, the legal restrictions on which are being relaxed in some states.

Some congenital diseases can be treated if they are recognized early enough. In such cases, the pregnancy would be allowed to continue and preparations would be made for corrective procedures.

In addition to chromosomal studies, it is possible to determine in some cases, through chemical tests, whether certain enzyme systems in the fetus are working normally and whether an Rh incompatibility exists. Already a technique for treating an unborn baby for the latter condition has been used successfully.

When a mother in the first three months of her pregnancy gets German measles, her baby runs a high risk of being born with severe defects. A technique for examining the free-floating fetal cells to see whether they contain the German measles virus is being developed.

Oswald: "The drinker who drinks steadily but slowly is likely to consume more alcohol than the man who goes on an occasional bender. In the same manner the steady free bidder who likes to bid every time it is his turn, provided there is some conceivable reason, is a more dangerous partner than the man who just makes one colossal overbid once in a great while."

Jim: "Today's hand shows two of these steady free bidders working away together. South has a sound opening bid and North a minimum raise. After East backed in with two spades, steady free bidder South went to three hearts. West bid three spades and steady free bidder North tried four hearts just because everyone was bidding and it was his turn."

Oswald: "East would have made four spades if he chose to bid it but East did not know that so he passed. West doubled and South had no place to go but down."

Jim: "The actual slaughter was terrific. Spades were opened and continued, after South ducked. South won the second spade, laid down his king of hearts and continued with a heart to dummy's jack while West played low. A diamond was led and South's queen fell to West's ace. The six of clubs produced dummy's queen and East's king. East led another spade. South ruffed low and West overrudded with the nine. This gave the defense four tricks and South still had to lose the ace of trumps and a club."

Oswald: "Down 800 was a mighty large penalty to pay for a couple of mild overbids. Of course, South could have saved one trick had he played the hand perfectly but even 500 would have been far too much to trade for a part score."

Farewell party held for Rev. Liberty

MARBLETON — The congregation of St. Paul's Church and the Church of the Good Shepherd, Bishopton, entertained at a farewell party in the parish hall in honor of Rev. William Liberty, Mrs. Liberty, and family, who will soon be leaving this parish.

Baskets of flowers decorated the hall, and cards were played at several tables.

The long buffet table had an arrangement of blue lupin in a silver bowl, and blue candles in silver holders.

Joseph Mackay, on behalf of St. Paul's Church and other interested friends, presented Mr. and Mrs. Liberty with a card table, chairs, and a gift of money.

Lloyd Harrison presented a gift of money from the Church of the Good Shepherd as did Mr. Hall, on behalf of Christ's Church, East Angus. All expressed deep regret at the Liberties' leaving the community.

Mr. Liberty expressed his thanks and that of Mrs. Liberty for the table and generous gifts of money, and spoke of the four happy years the couple spent in St. Paul's rectory.

The best wishes of their many friends will be with them as they leave for their new home in Cumbermere, Ont.

Want to make autoroute travel cheaper

Firm must pay builder

The Eastern Townships Regional Economic Council has thrown its full weight behind five measures to make travel by the Eastern Townships Autoroute cheaper and quicker.

Working in close co-operation with the ET division of the Quebec Trucking Association and Glen Brown, Brome MLA, the Council has submitted these measures to the Quebec Autoroute Authority and the National Ports Commission in Ottawa.

The first measure suggested by the council to the Autoroute authority is that the fare at the Chambly toll station (the last station before Montreal when heading from Sherbrooke) be reduced from 50 cents to 25 cents.

The second measure which the council advocates is that there be a special deal for all trucks using the autoroute. Essentially, it suggests that passage for trucks should be free of charge every working day from 12 midnight to 8 a.m. This would not include holidays.

Thirdly, the frequency of mandatory stops for trucks should be reduced from the normal five to two; that is, the entry and the exit to and from the autoroute.

A special passage should be arranged at each of the five toll stations so that a full stop is not required.

Besides this, an appropriate system of certification of the trucks should be brought into effect.

In the petition submitted to the Ports Commission, the Council suggested that the Commission should turn over the Champlain Bridge leading onto the island of Montreal to the Autoroute authority and that the toll station on the bridge be abolished.

The reasons for the latter point are fourfold, says the council. No toll charges exist for crossing the Three Rivers bridge, Jacques Cartier bridge, Victoria bridge, and the Louis-Hippolyte-Lafontaine tunnel.

The letter, drafted by Jacques Lemieux, president of the council, went on to insist on the urgency of adopting these measures.

The toll stations "constitute an interfering factor" for the regular flow of merchandise and produce from Montreal to the Eastern Townships and vice-versa and they place a type of "embargo" on the regional industries by delaying the flow of manufactured goods.

The letter goes on to say that the autoroute should "facilitate communications" while the toll stations provide nothing but a "slow-down" of traffic.

Finally, the letter advocates an eventual abolition of "all tolls". This, the council maintains, is the sole solution to continuity.

Mr. Justice William Mitchell of Superior Court has ordered the firm of Martos and Morin to pay $76,706 to the J. W. Roy Ltd., a contracting firm located at 1539 White Street, Sherbrooke. He gave the firm 15 days to pay the debt.

The judgment followed action taken by the Roy firm to obtain the payment for excavation work done on a site, owned by Martos and Morin, where a hospital equipment factory was to be constructed.

The judge ruled that the land should be sold if the Martos and Morin firm did not pay the debt.

He confirmed the Roy firm's right to the land in this case.

Martos and Morin bought the land in the city's West Ward for under $10,000.

The land was worth at least $100,000 to Sherbrooke, Mayor Armand Nadeau once stated.

The Roy firm contracted to excavate the land and completed work costing $76,706.

The Martos and Morin firm did not pay Mr. Roy for any of this amount. Work was suspended.

The cheque given to the City of Sherbrooke by Martos and Morin for the purchase of the land was returned by the bank marked: "not sufficient funds."

Martos and Morin stated the reason for the collapse was the lack of financial support from French financiers.

East Angus firemen battle two blazes

EAST ANGUS — (Staff) — Two fires kept East Angus firemen and police on their toes this weekend as a clothing store and a home were damaged.

Friday night at 10:10 p.m., a blaze of unknown origin caused more than $50,000 damage at the Lingerie O. Bergeron on the corner of Angus and St. Jacques Streets.

"Y" Scuba instructor, John Meagher, will be taking the group out and he is looking forward to a weekend of diving and camping. The cost will be $27 a person and this covers transportation, tents, campsites and food for the entire weekend.

For additional information and registration forms, stop in at the "Y", 300 Montreal Street, or call 569-7488.

No joyful joyride for two city youths

The "joyride" lost much of its joy Saturday evening after two local youths crashed the car they had stolen into a pair of trees and were apprehended by Sherbrooke police while attempting to escape.

According to a local police spokesman, a Sherbrooke citizen was instrumental in the apprehension of the youths as he phoned the police after seeing the stolen car, driving by his home on Wilson Street.

The automobile was stolen from the Val Estrie car lot about 7 p.m. Saturday evening.

Firefighters had great difficulty subduing the flames in the clothing store, which roared out of doors and windows.

The Sherbrooke fire department lent its assistance to East Angus firemen who numbered three regulars and 18 volunteers.

Saturday night at about 6 p.m., the home of Leo-Paul Noel, situated on St. Jean Street in East Angus, was the site of the second weekend fire.

The alarm was given by Mr. Noel's younger daughter, who rushed to the police station screaming that a fire was engulfing her house.

Fortunately, nobody was in the house. The fire was believed to have been started by lightning.

Firemen were compelled to break through the roof of the house to quell the flames.

Damage was considerable as the flames destroyed furniture, drapes and other household effects.

200 attend Inverness Academy reunion

LYSANDER FALLS — In spite of a continuous downpour of rain about 200 people gathered in the George Hall at Lysander Falls June 28, to enjoy a banquet prepared by the members of Orange Lily Lodge No. 1041, of the LOBA assisted by the members of their sister lodge, No. 295 of Kinneair's Mills and by volunteers who are not members of the association.

Before the meal, C. W. McVetty welcomed all present on behalf of the promoters of the event and gave a short talk on the motto of the Academy.

He pointed out how well all those who participated in the active life of the academy had held high before them the full, deep, meaning of Semper Fidelis throughout their lives — the teachers who taught us — the brave lads of the Academy who fought and won for us in two World Wars — the successes of the graduates in practically all lines of human endeavor, and finally, the loyalty of those who still live in the immediate area in which the school is located to not only purchase the building, but to preserve it as long as possible as a treasured monument of the past.

Miss Heather Patton, Montreal, and Kinneair's Mills, showed a series of colored motion pictures of Megantic County scenery and of local and national events.

At 9:30 a.m. the following day the last opening exercises in the old school were held. Due to the miserable weather prevailing, all thoughts of a picnic at Lysander Falls were abandoned, and an impromptu program was enjoyed. Miss Thelma Crawford, Lennoxville, with Mrs. Dacres at the piano presented a solo.

An expression of sympathy was sent to Mrs. C. S. Douglas, Sutton, who lost her husband only two days before the reunion. It will be remembered that Mrs. Douglas, as Miss Marjorie Bridgette, taught two years in the intermediate department.

Signing of the roll, followed with everyone signing in the same book which was used in the reunion of 1905. This book will remain in the records of the school.

Among those of advanced age attending the reunion were Mrs. Amanda McDonald, Bury, and her sisters, Mrs. Elsie Johnson, Clapham, Mrs. Kenneth McKiver, Sr., of Gould, and Miss Margaret McKinnon of Montreal.

Capt. Joslin, gave a rendition of How Great Thou Art.

Four injured in smashup

MAGOG — (Staff) — Four persons were injured Saturday morning when a car smashed into a telephone pole here on Murray Street.

The car was driven by Mrs. Roger Girard of Boucherville.

According to the police report, Mrs. Girard was driving in a northerly direction at normal speed when she turned a corner and the automobile skidded off the road.

After a long skid, the automobile rammed into the pole, cutting it completely in half.

The four occupants, on their way to a marriage, were injured and taken to the Providence Hospital in Magog.

Jean Bedard of Katevale received a fractured forearm; while the other three, Mrs. Girard, Mrs. Hector Leroux of Matane, and Miss Liette Bergeron of Magog suffered only minor injuries.

Two pieces of land purchased by Magog

MAGOG (Special) — The City of Magog has purchased two strips of land east of the Michigan Bridge on Main Street. The strips, measuring eight feet five inches wide were bought from Adrien Lacroix for the sum of $2,500.

At the July meeting held Thursday, the Magog council heard several complaints about disturbances caused by youths who attend functions at the Centre Loisirs on St. Patrick West. The council agreed to investigate the complaints. However, Mayor Maurice Theroux, in answering the objections said it was necessary that young people be supplied with necessary recreational facilities, and the Centre Loisier affords them this.

The Magog council has authorized a letter to the owners of the property used for the Theatre Centre, destroyed by fire last spring. The letter will ask that the ruins be demolished.

Magog has authorized funds to be used in hosting a group to visit Magog under the Canadian Student Exchange Program, being directed by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fiset.

A social evening was held at the Community Centre on June 21 in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Herring, who moved to the community recently. The evening was spent playing crokinole and cards, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. R. Drake and Mrs. H. Little.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson was the scene of a pleasant event when a large number of relatives and friends gathered to shower Miss Betty Addis of Sherbrooke, prior to her marriage. Miss Addis was assisted in opening the large number of gifts by Mrs. Arthur Addis and Mrs. Randall Williams. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robinson and the assisting hostesses, Mrs. Morris Smith and the Misses Betty and Marjorie Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fletcher, Goffstown, N.H., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leacock, Manchester, N.H., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Little. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Parker, accompanied by Mrs. W. McCurdy, Lennoxville, called on Mr. and Mrs. Alan Williams at Scotstown.

Fire damages city home

A flash fire at the home of Leon Bedard, 2610 Raimbault Street, Saturday afternoon caused damages totalling over $3,000, a Sherbrooke fire department spokesman estimated.

The fire fighters received the alarm at about 3:45 p.m. Mrs. Bedard, the only one in the house at the time of the fire, said that she had left a batch of fried potatoes on the oil stove in the kitchen and that the fire had resulted when the flames caught some flammable substance near the stove.

Much of the damage was to furniture in or near the kitchen.

Three fire trucks with nine men and two officers answered the call.

2 dead in ET accidents

Two persons died and two were slightly injured in Eastern Townships accidents last weekend, while another accident on Bourque Boulevard sent a Deauville man to Sherbrooke court this morning.

Dead is Jean Rolland, 28, of 739 Marin Street, who was asphyxiated by exhaust fumes after falling asleep in his car while the motor was still running.

The car was already in the garage at the time and the doors were shut.

Mr. Rolland was due to be married the next morning to Miss Micheline Galarneau, 20, of 789 Green Street in St. Henri.

Wayne Burbank, 26, of Knowlton's Landing, was found dead three miles southwest of Mansonville at approximately 6:30 a.m. Sunday.

Burbank had left Mansonville heading towards Knowlton on Highway 39 when he lost control of the car on a curb and careened into a tree some 300 feet from the road.

Death was instantaneous. Mr. Burbank was alone at the time of the accident.

Quebec Provincial Police estimate that the time of the accident was about 2 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Guilbert of 64 Belvedere Street in Lennoxville spent a few hours in Sherbrooke Hospital for treatment of minor injuries after a collision on Belvedere Heights last night.

The other car implicated in the accident was driven by Robert Sanders, 19, of 1677 Dunant Street in Sherbrooke.

Lionel Belanger, Deauville, appeared this morning in Sherbrooke court on a charge of impaired driving after he collided with a truck on Bourque Boulevard last night.

The truck was one belonging to Jim Lynn Transport. The driver was Luc Hallee, Sherbrooke.

The image and the man in political campaigns

Looking back at the federal election campaign, one of the more fascinating aspects of it was the way in which the campaign process appeared to distort the personalities of the leaders of the two main parties.

Progressive Conservative leader Robert Stanfield, a warm, sincere and completely friendly man in private, witty and even urbane to those who came to know him in a personal way during the election battle, emerged often in the public view as a rather slow and dull individual whose attempts at humor were either feeble, or not perceived.

Prime Minister Trudeau came out as just about everything attractive. Even during his occasional pouting spells, as at the "The Great Debate," he seemed to generate a public image that captured not only the young and young at heart, but a great many other people as well. Yet, those who came to know him in a more personal way during the campaign found him almost the opposite.

He has nothing but distaste bordering on revulsion for the hysterical, screaming mobs of "teeny-boppers" that met him almost everywhere he went. He is a reserved and often moody person in private; cool and distant in many of his relationships with people who are not close friends.

How, then, does one account for the perversity of the election images cast by the two men?

In part, of course, much of it is manufactured in the minds of the electors. Prime Minister Trudeau has that theatrical kind of "character" with which one is born, if one has it at all. Mr. Stanfield is much more like one of us. He does not have that indefinable thing we have been conditioned to recognize as "glamor." And the plain fact of our modern age is that in mass communications, only people possessing in some way this quality are effective.

The Kennedys in the United States were an example of this. Senator McCarthy in the U.S. is another example, although his type of "glamor" is quite different. John Diefenbaker, had it too, while Mr. Pearson did not, which helps to explain why, despite political misfortune, Mr. Diefenbaker was able to block Mr. Pearson's attempts to fashion a majority government.

With Prime Minister Trudeau's win, it would seem that Canada has now passed into that "age of images" that came to the United States when John F. Kennedy was elected. And one of the lessons to be learned from our latest federal campaign is that the image and the man do not necessarily need to coincide.

Plaintive hint to the beanery waitress: We enjoy coffee with our newspaper — not on it.

Keep tourists coming

One of Canada's most important industries is the tourist trade and the experts have predicted that summer '68 will be bumper tourist season. American restrictions on travel to other parts of the world and the enthusiasm generated by Canada's centennial splurge are expected to keep travellers pouring across the border in a stream almost equalling that of last year.

It seems that last year Canada, and specifically the Eastern Townships, created for itself an image of genial friendliness that merely whetted the American tourist's appetite.

The Townships' natural beauty should continue to draw the travellers in ever increasing numbers.

In 1967, centennial projects and celebrations, and communities presented the touring American with a picture of a clean and progressive area.

But now that the fireworks of the nation's 100th birthday are over, the image should not be allowed to slip. Not long ago the Record printed an article describing the work of the beautification committee in the border communities of Stanstead, Rock Island and Beebe.

It is work such as this which will maintain and enhance Canada's image as a friendly mecca for tourists. Restoration and beautification projects begun in 1967 should not be allowed to go to waste. Eyesores, garbage and abandoned snack bars plastered with soft drink advertisements should not mar the ET's otherwise beautiful landscape.

If the American tourist is to keep coming back then the spirit and enthusiasm of centennial must be kept alive.

Take a tip from a waiter, and you'll get a broken wrist.

TODAY in history

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

July 8, 1968 . . .

The great British parliamentarian and political writer Edmund Burke died 171 years ago today—in 1797—after living through two great events in the century—the American and French revolutions. Burke supported the American rebels, not on theoretical grounds of the Declaration of Independence, but simply because he felt British rule had gone too far. He opposed the French revolution because he thought it was based on false rationalism and saw the violence involved.

1822—British poet Percy Bysshe Shelley died.

1852—A great fire swept through the city of Montreal, killing more than 100 persons and destroying three-quarters of the city.

"By the Way, Junior, Do You Have a New Plan?"

Every street blighted

Saint John, N. B. tackles staggering urban renewal

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — A consultant's report on an urban renewal scheme for the regeneration of 350 acres in this city's north end and west side says: "The magnitude of this program of urban rebuilding and the prospects of what it can accomplish stagger the imagination."

But what is even more staggering is the extent of renewal needed in the entire city, where almost every street, in all but the newest sections, has some blight. As early as 1915, a comprehensive plan for the development of the city, one of the oldest in Canada having been incorporated in 1785, was begun. But until 1956 there was no clear evidence of adherence to any plan, says Georges Potvin.

In 1957 the Potvin Report on Urban Renewal stated: "An urban renewal program cannot be successfully conducted on a piecemeal basis." The report designated three areas for renewal and stated an order of priority. However, the Saint John Common Council roughly reversed the order of priority and began the program in 1961, with a 60-acre site on the east side of the city peninsula.

PROVIDE NEW HOUSING
The Courtenay Place site involved only the demolition of almost every building on the site. The project cost $4,000,000, which included clearance and the installation of primary services—sewers, streets and underground wiring.

With all but a three-acre and a six-acre site to be developed, the area now contains 94 units of public housing, and commercial (including warehousing) and light industrial developments.

The north-end program is the first in the city to include three aspects of renewal—conservation to ensure self-generation; rehabilitation, the reconstruction of old buildings; and redevelopment, clearance of existing structures and rebuilding.

The total government involvement in the program is estimated at $23,000,000. A cost-sharing program covers 70 per cent of the expense.

with the federal government paying 50 per cent and the New Brunswick government 20 per cent. The program was staged in accordance with the city's financial ability.

Mayor J. A. MacDougall says the scheme involves the "co-ordination of all concerned to reduce the dislocation of traffic, and commercial activity."

"At the same time there are inherent problems involved in co-ordinating three levels of government and several branches within the government to get decisive action when such action is needed."

METHOD TAKES TIME
The mayor also says a universal problem with renewal is the time taken by governments to agree upon a course of action, which at times is so great the problem has substantially changed and requires a new approach.

The entire north end-west side scheme includes 350 acres which will be redeveloped in three main phases expected to be completed by 1975. A new bridge over the harbor connects the north end with the west side across the harbor. The bridge and its accesses, which cover about 50 acres in the north end, is the largest single development incorporated into phase one.

About 800 houses will be demolished, with about half being razed during the first phase.

Scheduled to be completed by 1972, phase one, covering 125 acres, includes three major developments—the bridge, the extensive demolition, and the installation of primary services including new arterial roads. The area will be redeveloped similarly to Courtenay Place, except there are now no plans for any public housing. The second phase will include a waterfront drive, parks, a marina and historical park, tourist facilities and light industrial developments.

BRIDGE FORMS LINK
Part of phase two, including an $18,000,000 city hall, will be constructed concurrently with phase one.

The third phase, a 10-block residential area, and one block (both sides of the street) of commercial buildings, constitutes the west side of the project. This area primarily needs rehabilitation with virtually the only redevelopment involving the access to the bridge.

The area will be revitalized and brought into close contact with the centre of the city by the bridge. House owners and residents will be encouraged to improve their homes, while the city will improve the streets, utilities and parks.

The city redevelopment office will advise the house owners, without charge, about various innovations and renovations which could be made, and attempt to bring them into co-operative groups which would jointly hire contractors, painters and so on.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room

Jesus said, Who touched me? (Luke 8:45)
PRAYER: Break in, O gracious Lord, with Thy goodness. Thy sudden grace is my hope, all that can rescue me from the dreary sameness. Make me responsive to others' calls, whether they be convenient or inconvenient, in the likeness of my Lord. Emboldened by Him, I pray. Amen.

Children no longer pay penalty

WASHINGTON (CP)—A Supreme Court decision upsetting so-called "man-in-the-house" rules, which in effect punished children for their mother's moral shortcomings, means an estimated 200,000 to 400,000 persons will be added to the welfare rolls.

Nineteen states and the District of Columbia had various versions of the rule that the children of a woman who had sexual relations with a man not her husband were ineligible for welfare payments.

In some places, such as Washington, the rule applied only if the man lived with the woman and her children. In others, such as Alabama, a woman was considered to "cohabit" with a man if she had frequent or continuing sexual relations with him, in her home or elsewhere.

One Alabama official said the rule could be invoked even if the couple had sexual relations once every six months.

CRITICIZES RULE
The recent Supreme Court ruling, written by retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren in a case brought by an Alabama woman, said it is "simply inconceivable . . . that Alabama is free to discourage immorality and illegitimacy by the device of absolute disqualification of needy children."

Immorality and illegitimacy should be dealt with through rehabilitation measures rather than measures that punish dependent children, the court found. As a follow-up to the court decision, the federal department of health, education and welfare issued new regulations requiring states involved to notify all families rejected or cut off from aid under the rule in the last two years that they now may be eligible for benefits.

States cannot deny welfare to children solely because of "the inclusion in the family or the presence in the home" of an able-bodied man who is not their natural or adoptive father or the mother's husband.

NOT RESPONSIBLE
Such men have no legal responsibility for the children's support while natural or adoptive parents or stepfathers do.

A department spokesman said the ruling could raise the cost of such benefits by $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

The case that brought this ruling on the 1935 Aid to Dependent Children Act centred around Mrs. Sylvester Smith of Selma, Ala., whose four children were denied aid in 1966 on grounds that she had sexual relations with a man in her home on weekends. The man lived with his own wife and their nine children, whom he supported, and he did not contribute to the support of Mrs. Smith's children.

One of the major problems is to locate and notify families who previously were refused aid but now are eligible.

Are you really 'safe at home' in your house? Take a long and searching look through your house with an eye to detecting potential accident hazards. Are there dangers lurking in the form of toys or other objects on the floor? Are detergents and household bleaches reachable by tiny hands? At the Montreal Children's Hospital a warning in the emergency poison center reads: "Keep poisons out of sight, out of reach." Don't wait until your child has swallowed a lethal substance to heed this precaution.

Some of the common household products can be harmful to a small child: Household bleach, aspirin, medicines, turpentine, liquid detergent and waxes, lye, cosmetics such as nail polish and remover, to name a few. The safe place for all such goods is on a high shelf or inside a locked cabinet. Make sure all medications are clearly labelled, and discard promptly medicines which are no longer in use.

Crying over spilled milk is useless but it, like all spills, should be cleaned up immediately to prevent serious falls. Keep indoor stairs free of wax, and outdoor stairs free of ice. Avoid placing small rugs at the foot or at the top of staircases. Stairways should be well-lit and clutter-free. Access to high staircases by toddlers should be made impossible by either a gate or a locked door.

Bedrooms and kitchens rank high on the list of areas in the home where accidents occur. Stumbling towards the door in darkness during the night is a prevalent cause of bedroom casualties. A small plug-in light used overnight in bedrooms is a wise investment. When you are slaving over a hot stove or pouring from heated kitchen utensils, the kitchen makes a very poor play area for children. Make a habit of turning all pot handles away from the outside of the stove and always use potholders to lift hot containers or food to prevent kitchen accidents.

Toddlers . . . curious, adventurous, playful, delightful . . . but this is the age when children exhibit the greatest exploratory activity. The toddler will frequently do the unexpected and the dangerous. To be on the safe side, cover all unused electric outlets with adhesive tape or block by heavy furniture. Keeping the house in an orderly state is another safeguard against accidents. It's so easy to spot something dangerously out of place when the house is neat.

Accidents frequently happen when parents or children are overtired.

'Half-way' for former prisoners

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — A proposed half-way house for former prisoners at the prison for women here will be administered by the Elizabeth Fry Society.

Irene Hogarth, president of the Kingston chapter of the society, said in an interview her group accepts in principle a government proposal to place after-care centres under the administration of private agencies.

Plans for the proposed half-way house to be operated by the society were first disclosed this spring by the former solicitor-general, Larry Pennell.

Plans for a centre, but under the administration of the federal penitentiary service, were first started in 1964, but finally discontinued last year when it became evident that suitable staff could not be recruited.

Mrs. Hogarth said the society offered to take over the project and now has control over purchasing a house, its furnishings, house rules, staff requirements and the role of volunteers.

Mrs. Hogarth said the new centre will be located in the downtown area of Kingston and will be operated under a capital grant from the federal government.

Re-trained nurses return to careers

TORONTO (CP) — About 80 Toronto nurses have gone back to careers some of them left more than 20 years ago, thanks to a new six-week re-training course.

Most of them have found work in hospitals and on a part-time basis. Margaret Peart, director of the retraining program, says about 75 per cent of the graduates of the first three courses completed are back in the profession.

Most of the registered nurses taking the courses offered in the downtown area graduated between 1935 and 1950, the majority in the 1940s. In suburban Scarborough, the average age is lower by about 10 years.

The retraining program had its beginnings when the Toronto Hospital Council decided something should be done to get inactive nurses back to nursing as one way to help relieve shortages aggravated by the growing number of hospital beds in the city.

FEE IS NOMINAL
The course, which has been advertised extensively in recent months, is organized and taught by the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario. It is sponsored by the Ontario Hospital Association and the Ontario Hospital Services Commission, which pays the bills.

Students pay a nominal $25 fee, and Miss Peart estimates the course cost about $200 a student. There is no guarantee every graduate will put her retraining to work, but Miss Peart says each applicant is asked about her working plans before she is accepted. Each of them is also encouraged to look for a job as soon as her course is over.

Apart from the public money involved, Miss Peart says there is a chance that the confidence the nurses gain from the course will ooze away again if they don't act on it right away. She says a lack of confidence is one thing almost all of them have in common.

"They have a fear of the hospital setting, of new equipment and medications, and new treatments."

MINT JELLY

This jelly captures the fresh flavor of garden mint for year-round use with hot or cold meats, crackers and cheese, and fruit salads. Try tossing freshly cooked peas or carrots with a spoonful just before serving.

- 1 1/4 cups "mint tea"
- 2 tbsp. lemon juice
- Few drops green food coloring
- 3 1/2 cups granulated sugar
- 1/2 bottle liquid fruit pectin
- 1/2 cup finely chopped mint (optional)

*To prepare mint tea, wash 1 packed cup of mint leaves and stems, place in a large saucepan and crush thoroughly. Add 2 1/2 cups water and quickly bring to a boil. Cover, remove from heat and let brew 10 minutes. Strain and measure 1 1/4 cups liquid into a large saucepan. To the saucepan, add lemon juice and coloring as desired. Stir in sugar and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Stir in liquid pectin, bring to full boil, cook for 1 minute. Remove from heat. If desired, stir in freshly chopped mint. Skim off any foam. Pour into glasses and cover at once with 1/8-inch parowax. Yield: about four medium glasses.

Non-shoe fad sells across country

TORONTO (CP) — The uhurus are here and they may help to build a better world.

At least, that's one result pretty Cynthia Kelly would like to see from her fad invention.

Uhurus are dainty, frivolous, non-shoe ornaments for the feet and since Cynthia chartered her Chaldea Enterprises Ltd. in Toronto and started producing uhurus (which means freedom), they've been selling rapidly from coast to coast at $3 and $5 a time.

"I'd like to start a charitable, non-profit trust for the study of humanities and ecology. . . ." said 33-year-old Cynthia.

"The world's in a mess and there's nothing I can directly do about it. But if my ideas and efforts produce money, then I can reverse that and spend the money to support efforts and ideas."

She would like to think the uhurus would earn her enough money to start the trust but she doesn't expect miracles overnight.

That's why she also reviews films for CBC radio and helps promote and publicize properties as diverse as a new kind of boat and a bright young boutique designer.

The uhuru development came after a variety of occupations for New York-born Cynthia. A year after her marriage in New York at 17 she moved to Vancouver where "I opened the city's first Canadian art gallery."

She says she made money from the venture but she nevertheless branched out into other fields: modelling, acting, directing and producing for radio, films and television.

She also worked as a business manager and has travelled extensively abroad. But she admits there are things she can't do—sewing, for example. She says she was "kicked out" of sewing class as a youngster. "They phoned and told my mother that I didn't have a natural bent." However, the setback hasn't stopped her designing her own clothes. Of the uhurus, Cynthia, now separated with an 11-year-old daughter, says: "In a society keyed to consuming you might as well buy something that's pretty. It's good for you. . . ."

Strike countdown starts Sunday at Lakehead terminal

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP) — Strike vote countdown was started Sunday by workers at the Lakehead terminal elevators which are the marshalling grounds for the bulk of Canada's grain exports.

"I expect the vote to be unanimous for a strike," said union spokesman Frank Mazur.

Under the law, the 1,300 grain handlers in Fort William-Fort Arthur are free to walk off the job any time after midnight Monday in a strike that would paralyze grain movements to the Lakehead from the eastern Prairies.

That is the prescribed one week from the date on a federal conciliation board report which was unanimously rejected Sunday by a membership meeting in the steamy Lakehead Coliseum.

The estimated 1,100 workers present began their strike vote immediately after the meeting ended. The vote continues today to allow balloting by members who had missed the meeting.

Mr. Mazur said results will be tabulated Tuesday morning and probably announced Tuesday afternoon. But he didn't want to talk about the deadlines.

WANT AGREEMENT
"We don't want to strike," he said. "We want an agreement. We want to get into this just society we have been hearing about these last few months. We want some of this justice."

"If the companies sit down with us and give us what is fair and reasonable there will be no strike."

The membership was unanimous in branding as unacceptable the conciliation board report calling for an increase of 70 cents an hour over two years.

The membership vote was on the report of chairman R. A. Gallagher, a Winnipeg lawyer, which recommended increasing in four stages wages for general elevator laborers to $3 an hour from the present $2.30.

The union sought a package wage increase of $1.25 an hour over a one-year contract. The companies there are 10 involved-offered a total increase of 42 cents an hour over two years, 21 cents each year.

The union involved is the Brotherhood of Railway, Airline and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers and Station Employees. Mr. Mazur is president of Local 650 of the union.

10 INVOLVED
The companies involved are Federal Grain Ltd., Manitoba Pool Elevators, McCabe Grain Co. Ltd., National Grain Co. Ltd., Parrish and Heimbecker

Ltd., N. M. Paterson and Sons Ltd., Richardson Terminals Ltd., Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, United Grain Growers Ltd., and Westland Elevators Ltd.

A grain handlers strike would have little immediate effect on exports which can continue as long as there are stocks in eastern Canadian terminals, although direct overseas clearances have been cut off since June 21 by the St. Lawrence Seaway strike.

However, a strike at the terminal elevators would choke off deliveries from most of Manitoba and Saskatchewan because the railways would embargo shipments to the Lakehead.

The Lakehead terminal elevators, largest grain storing complex in the world, have a capacity of more than 100,000,000 bushels. Latest figures put the total stocks of grain at the Lakehead at 75,500,000 bushels.

Grainhandlers move grain from railway box cars, dry and process it for shipping and then load it into ships.

Council meeting didn't last long

ROCK ISLAND — (Special)—The Rock Island Council meeting was held on July 2. It was a short meeting with regular business such as bills presented and voted for payment and communication was given attention.

The police committee recommended that a new car be purchased for the department and one has been selected.

A letter was read from Rev. G. Joyce, director of the Border Community Centre asking the town to abolish taxes on the building.

The Council said they do not have the authority to do this but offered to give assistance to the Centre in other ways.

Two large Canadian flags and six small ones are to be ordered for placement in the town.

Financial report from Greenshields Ltd.

Canadian industrial stocks performed strongly throughout the week notwithstanding the 2-day holiday in New York. The Montreal index reached its highest level since mid-January and the Toronto index its best position since September 15th last year. The Montreal industrial averages closed up 1.58, the Toronto up 1.64.

Forward sales position of Bruck Mills Ltd. for the next six months appears very encouraging. Sales and profits are traditionally higher in the second half of the fiscal year (ends Oct. 31) and there is good reason to expect that this trend will be particularly true in 1968.

For the six months ended April 27, 1968 sales increased 1% to $13,466,000 and net profit 5% to $315,000 ($1 per class A and 70 cents per class B share) from $13,341,000 and $299,000 (96 cents per A and 66 cents per B share), last year.

Fulcrum investment Co. Ltd reports net asset value for its common shares of $5.10 per share at June 30, 1968 — up from $4.33 a month earlier and $4.17 at the end of June last year. The asset over the 6%, $10 par, cumulative preferred shares was $15.10 per share at June 30, 1968 versus $14.33 a month earlier.

QUEBEC SCENE:

Wins $100,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Paul E. Lamy, a Montreal mother of five, Sunday won the $100,000 grand prize in the second round of Mayor Jean Drapeau's monthly "voluntary tax" draw.

The diminutive, grey-haired woman successfully fielded four questions about Montreal—answers to which are printed on the reverse side of receipts acknowledging each contribution of $2 to the "tax" scheme—to cart off a 3,150-pound load of silver ingots worth $100,000.

A total of 151 persons were eligible for the top prize awarded Sunday. Their names were drawn at a preliminary draw Wednesday from among those of all the entrants in the June installment of the plan conceived by Mayor Drapeau to help offset an anticipated budget deficit of $28,000,000.

Each of the finalists is required to answer four of seven questions about Montreal in order to win some of the total of $150,000 in silver ingots at stake.

The first 100 names drawn Sunday may each take home prizes worth $100. The next 20 may each walk off with $500 and the next 30 with $1,000 each.

The person whose name is selected last can take the 3,150-pound silver lode.

When her name was selected last in the draw Sunday at an east-end gymnasium, Mrs. Lamy proceeded to answer correctly four questions in a row.

Shutdown

MONTREAL (CP) — A dispute over a $451 permit fee involving the union des Artistes and Montreal impresario Samuel Gesser, resulted in a shutdown of the city's Place des Arts concert hall Friday.

The union, which holds exclusive jurisdictional rights over artists appearing at Place des Arts, is demanding the fee for an act from India-Indrani and her company of dancers and musicians.

Body found

MONTREAL (CP) — A provincial police spokesman said Sunday an investigation is being conducted into the discovery of a male corpse in the Richelieu River near here.

The discovery was made Saturday night by two teen-age boys out on the river in a rowboat, the spokesman said.

The arms of the body had been severed at the elbow, the legs at the knee and it also bore wounds in the back resembling bullet holes. It had been found floating about four miles off Iberville, 30 miles southeast of here.

To decide

MONTREAL (CP) — The executive council of Rene Levesque's separatist group will decide this week whether to resume negotiations with other parties aimed at unifying the splintered Quebec independence movement.

Mr. Levesque said in an interview Sunday the executive council of the 7,000-member Movement Souverainiste-Association will decide "if and when" the talks, suspended after the St. Jean Baptiste Day riot in Montreal, will continue.

Stowaway sails home today from Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Stowaway Steven Wallace, 15, was to sail back to Scotland today after a happy reunion with his best friend and a weekend of peeling potatoes and doing other ship-board chores.

The young adventurer, a student from Glasgow, will return home on the freighter Innishowen Head after successfully stowing away on a sister freighter to reach Canada last week.

He was sentenced to peeling potatoes in the galley of the Torr Head, on which he stowed away, but not before a warm meeting Friday with his friend Gordon MacPherson.

Gordon, who moved to Canada with his parents and brothers about three years ago, was flown to Montreal for the reunion which had inspired Steven's voyage.

Steven managed to remain concealed in the forward section of the Torr Head behind a load of blocks until a few hours before the ship docked in Montreal last Wednesday.

"I wanted to break the routine—I was living from day to day too much—and to see my best friend Gordon MacPherson," the stowaway told Capt. E. G. Davey after he was discovered.

In Montreal, Steven was permitted to get off the ship "if a crewman goes with me."
"They even took me to see Man and His World," he said, referring to Montreal's permanent summer exhibition on the St. Lawrence River island site of Expo 67.

When Gordon arrived at the Torr Head Friday night, Steven greeted him with: "Hi Gordon. How did you get here? Come and see my ship."

After introducing Gordon to his "shipmates" and Capt. Davey, the two boys went to the galley and then to Stephen's stateroom, luxurious in comparison to his tiny hiding place.

He described how he had planned his journey:
"I told the port authorities at Princess Docks in Glasgow that I was writing an essay on the city and wanted information about ships.

"I said the essay was a project related to my membership in the Anglo-American Friendship Society.

"Of course, there is no such society, but I had to spin a wee yarn to get the information I needed.

Olympics trounce Braves 16-6 as the Despards return, A's win two

The return of the Despards brothers to the Olympics fold last night brought with it a new vigorous spirit as the Sherbrooke Lacrosse crew swept to an impressive 16-6 romp over the Valleyfield Braves. Andre Despard led the way for Sherbrooke with four goals while netminder Terry Burgess played exceptionally well.

In other Quebec Lacrosse League weekend action Drummondville added two more victories to their list as they pounded Sorel 13-9 Saturday evening and trounced the Indians 13-5 last night at Caughnawaga. Ron Ward tallied four times in the first game and picked up three in the second to lead the A's offensively.

The return of Roger Despard as team mentor and brother Andre, played only a secondary role in the Olympics' win last night as the impressive victory was a solid team effort. Sherbrooke protected Burgess for a change and when the time came the young Sherbrooke netminder was equal to the occasion.

Valleyfield opened the scoring at 1:09 of the first period on a power-play effort by Abe Thomas. Andre Despard was sitting out a two-minute slashing penalty. Five minutes later the Braves made it 2-0 on Menard's goal.

Andre Despard narrowed the gap at the 14-minute mark on a tally from in front. Carpenter assisted. Frank Benedict made it 3-0 for Valleyfield seconds later with Despard scoring his second goal, five minutes later to end the first period 3-2 for Valleyfield.

Sherbrooke electrified fans with an eight goal outburst in seventh goal, substitute goaltender Pierre Ledoux took over in an attempt to cool the surging Olympics.

Valleyfield opened the scoring in the third when Frank Benedict beat Burgess for the second time on a pass from points.

Frank Benedict led the way for Valleyfield scoring three times while Mike Collins scored once and assisted on another. Dick Fawthrop assisted twice with goals by Abe Thomas and Yvon Menard rounding out the scoring.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Both teams scored three power-play goals while Sherbrooke tallied their second marker short-handed. This was Despard's second goal in the first period.

Sherbrooke had 23 penalty minutes last night on nine minors and a major for fighting to Guy Hubert, while Valleyfield picked up 17 minutes for penalties on six minors and a major for fighting to Bob Sunday. For the Olympics minors went to Hubert (3), Brunet (2), Despard, Hansen, Carpenter, and Fleury. For Valleyfield minors went to Sunday (3), Benedict, Martin and Paquette.

Following last night's encounter, no comment could be obtained about whether or not Denis and Richard Dagenais would return. Team official, Paul Bouthillier said Andre Despard returned to Sherbrooke with no intention to play last night but only wanting to see his old team mates in action. Said Mr. Bouthillier, "his return was only out of earnest desire to play a sport he loved."

The second, Brian Hein opened the scoring on a pass from Red Charon to tie the game 3-3. Collins tallied for Valleyfield at the 2:09 mark to make it 4-3. Sherbrooke then scored seven goals in a row to move ahead 10-4 at the close of the second period. Lepine combined with Fleury to tie the match 4-4. Hein gave the Olympics the lead for the first time in the game at the 5:54 mark when he scored on a power-play. Carpenter assisted. Sherbrooke's "hardrock" Guy Hubert then stole the show scoring twice in four minutes and assisting on Lepine's goal.

Remi Fleury and Red Charon closed out the scoring in the second. After Lepine's

Jacques Hauver's Adelaide Spring wins in 2:09 4/5 last evening

It was Jacques Hauver with his five-year-old bay mare, Adelaide Spring, teamed up to cop the main event on last evening's card at the Sherbrooke Race Track. They posted the best time of the night when they went the mile in 2:09 4/5.

Hauver made no mistake breaking away from the gate in the fifth position going to the fore on the first turn and from then set the pace leaving the rest of the six-horse field trying to catch him. Marcel Hebert with Charmante Windsor tried to overtake him but after going half the mile on the outside faded at the three-quarter leaving Gilles Jutras and Donover to pull in second.

B. Belanger with Maplewood's Pride was a good second after staging a battle with the other horses. Robert Jutras with Kory, one of the three favorites, could do no better than fourth.

Gilles Pelletier set up the double with his double win. He topped the opening dash with Strong Pick and in the second completed it with Mighty Meid. It paid the sum of $8.30, the smallest double for some time.

In the fourth it was The Great Chief and Goose Express and $72.20 was collected. Robert Perreault, with the winner, made no mistake going to the front and held on until the finish for the win. In the seventh it was Bozo Elkington and Julius Hanover who finished 1-2 and the top payoff of the evening was collected, $166.40.

Andre Laliberte with Cassie D broke after taking the lead on the first turn and interfered with all three favorites in the race. They all broke stride and this left the horses in the rear a chance and they moved out in front with a good lead.

Andre Laliberte was suspended ten days for failing to appear in the paddock Saturday evening with Victory Law Jr., and for failing to report to the judge's office when ordered to do so. R. Ouimet was tagged with two racing days when his Indians Best interfered with Untouchable in the tenth. Several other drivers were called in also for explanations on their actions.

On Saturday evening, a crowd of 1,099, shelled out the sum of $11,784 for the ten-race card

Sher-Lenn Little League picked up some lost ground Friday evening when they played two postponed games. Tigers shut out Red Sox 7-0 and the Orioles dumped the Twins 13-2.

The Tigers' win moves them into a deadlock for second place in the standing with the Yankees and Orioles. Two games are on tap this evening with the White Sox taking on the Orioles and the Indians clash with the Twins. Both games are at the Parade Grounds.

Twins, who went down to lose on two consecutive nights, are not playing the ball they did in the early part of the season. Loose base running and infield errors have been factors in their defeats lately. Orioles, getting only five hits, had no trouble winning 13-2 Friday night.

C. Deschenes, hurling for the Orioles, allowed two hits in his win. Orioles started off with three in the first, one in the third and nine in the last two innings. Twins got one in each of the fourth and fifth.

Red Sox could do nothing against Rose's pitching in their game with the Tigers. He held the Sox to four scattered hits in his shutout. Tigers came up with two runs in the second, one in the third and finished off with four in the last of the fifth.

Ross, with two hits for Tigers, and Rose were the big Tiger men, seven bases on balls by the Red Sox pitchers did not help their cause.

J.L. Gagne's foursome wins Labatt Two-Ball, Best-Ball

Jean-Louis Gagne and his foursome from the Belvedere Golf Club walked off with the Labatt Trophy Saturday at the Sherbrooke Country Club when they posted a net 52 to win the Labatt Two-Ball, Best-Ball tournament.

A field of 45 foursomes took part in the event and a total of $1,000 was awarded in prizes to the top ten foursomes to finish. Only three foursomes from Belvedere Club managed to finish in the winner's list, while the other eight spots went to members from the Country Club.

Als down Mets 11-6, St. Onge clouts grand slam, Miners win

A grand slam by Gilles St. Onge in the sixth inning Saturday night lifted the Sherbrooke Alouettes past the Lachine Mets 11-6 in Montreal. Als downed the last placed Mets 8-5 Friday night.

In other Provincial League weekend action Saturday evening Granby downed Quebec 6-1, Granby clipped Lachine 4-0, while the Drummondville at Plessisville game was rained out. Sunday afternoon Granby blanked Lachine 6-0 while the Sherbrooke-Plessisville duel was postponed because of rain. Theford edged Plessisville 5-4 last night while Drummondville blanked Lachine 10-0. The Granby-Quebec tilt was rained out.

In the Sherbrooke - Lachine game Saturday evening, St. Onge clouted his eighth homer of the campaign and first grand slam of the season as

Tigers sweep twinbill from A's, Red Sox win

Trying to catch the first-place Detroit Tigers is becoming a frustrating experience for some of the other American League teams.

Second-place Cleveland Indians have won eight of their last 11 games, but the Tigers have won nine of 11.

Third-place Baltimore Orioles have won five of their last seven, but Detroit has taken six of seven.

Detroit used the long ball—three home runs, two triples and six doubles—to sweep a doubleheader from Oakland Athletics 5-4 and 7-6 Sunday. Going into the three-day All-Star break, the Tigers lead Cleveland by 9½ games and Baltimore by 10½.

The Indians beat California Angels 8-3 but lost the nightcap 9-7. The Orioles rallied for a 3-2 victory over New York Yankees after dropping the first game 3-1. Boston Red Sox swept Minnesota Twins 4-3 and 6-3. In the only single game, Chicago White Sox edged Washington Senators 4-3 in 11 innings.

TIGERS LOST SATURDAY

Saturday, Oakland downed Detroit 4-1, California blanked Cleveland 2-0, Baltimore defeated New York 5-1, Boston took Minnesota 4-2 and Washington trounced Chicago 8-4.

It may be a little early for such things, but for the mathematically inclined Detroit's magic number for its first pennant since 1945 is 71, with 70 games remaining.

Willie Horton's 21st homer in the ninth inning for Detroit won the opener from Oakland and made Denny McLain—16-2—the winningest pitcher in the majors.

The long-balling continued in the nightcap—including Al Kaline's two-run homer—but it took a seventh-inning single by rookie shortstop Tom Matchick to bring home the winning run.

Oakland's Sal Bando belted three homers in the doubleheader and Reggie Jackson two.

DROVE IN FOUR

Duke Sims drove in four runs with a homer and single as Cleveland took its opener from California behind Luis Tiant, who won his 14th.

Don Mincher's two-run homer gave the Angels a 7-1 lead after but his two-run single in the ninth was the difference as the Indians rallied.

Carl Yastrzemski socked a homer in each game as the Red Sox swept the Twins. Joe Foy slammed a two-run homer in the nightcap.

The Yankees clipped Baltimore in their opener on home runs by Roy White and Andy Kosco and Mel Stottlemyre's four-hit pitching. But a tie-breaking, ninth-inning homer by Fred Valentine gave the Orioles the nightcap. Elrod Hendricks homered in each game
