KEITH SPICER
...clearing the throat

Ignore unity debate smokescreens, says Spicer

By ROBERT MACPHERSON
(Record Reporter)

LENNOXVILLE — Politicians are using "bluff, simplification and obfuscation" to warp the thinking of the Canadian public as the referendum on Quebec independence nears, Keith Spicer says.

"Whether you're federalist or pequist, English or French, you're going to be manipulated," the former federal official languages commissioner said here last night.

Such issues as the economy are being used to confuse the real question of independence or federalism for the province, he said.

Spicer singled out Premier Rene Levesque for proposing a sovereignty-association relationship between Quebec and the rest of Canada, without clearly defining what it means.

"Truth has ... become the first victim," he told an audience of 200 at Bishop's University. "It's a wonderful time not to get involved in politics."

But Mr. Spicer, who headed the Official Languages Commission in Ottawa for seven years before resigning last year to be a political columnist, repeatedly hit positive notes during his two-hour talk and question-and-answer session.

"To me, the referendum debate is ... the equivalent to clearing one's throat before getting down to serious discussion," he said.

While politicians play out what he termed a game of poker, Canadians should reserve "80 per cent of their energy" towards rebuilding the country after the referendum.

Terms would be clarified then, and issues broken down into two parts — "language and culture, and others," he said.

Canadians will also have to know themselves better, Mr. Spicer said. Shifting momentarily into French during his mostly-English discussion, he said Quebecers don't yet fully realize how dynamic and wealthy the western provinces have become.

Talking about the role of young anglophones in Quebec today, Mr. Spicer said they should show their francophone counterparts respect, while maintaining pride in their own background.

"The previous (anglophone) generation never really accepted that the majority in this part of the world which is French-speaking should be respected," he said.

"You should make it clear you feel it perfectly consistent to be loyal to Canada and loyal to Quebec," he told his mostly-student audience.

Leadership plans touted

Jean Lesage takes Grit post

QUEBEC (CP) — Jean Lesage, former premier of Quebec and the man who brought Rene Levesque into politics 17 years ago, is returning to politics after an eight-year absence.

Gerard D. Levesque, Liberal opposition leader, announced today that Lesage, a lawyer and corporation director, has agreed to become chairman of a special party committee on Quebec's independence referendum.

Lesage's appointment comes as a surprise. Since he stepped down as leader of the Liberal party in 1969, he has declined all invitations to speak in public on political issues.

The only exception came last spring when he spoke out briefly during a panel discussion on the Parti Quebecois government's language law at the annual meeting of the Quebec Bar Association.

Some Liberal party members have recently touted Lesage, now 65, as a possible leader for the party now headed by interim leader Gerard D. Levesque.

Announcement of Lesage's decision came three days before the start of a Liberal party orientation convention in Montreal.

That convention is expected to be a prelude to a leadership convention to be held next spring.

Liberal Leader Levesque told a news conference that appointment of Lesage to the chairmanship of the referendum committee was accepted by the party executive Tuesday, the first anniversary of the Parti Quebecois election victory.

Other federalist groups and the party caucus had not been consulted on Lesage's nomination, Levesque said.

But he added that "there is no doubt that such a nomination will help in rallying federal forces."

Appointed secretary of the same committee was Claude Desrosiers, former president of the Liberal party.

The committee will have about 10 members, Levesque said. The remaining eight will be chosen after the election of the new executive slate at this weekend's convention.

Lesage was still leader of the Liberal party in 1967 when Levesque, his former minister of natural resources, bolted the party when his autonomist plans for the party were rejected by his colleagues.

Lesage was premier from June 22, 1960—when the Liberals ended 16 consecutive years of Union Nationale reign and began what has come to be called the Quiet Revolution—until June 5, 1966, when the Union Nationale came back into power.

Rondeau expelled from Socreds

Special to the Record

OTTAWA — Shefford MP Gilbert Rondeau has been expelled from the Social Credit party caucus and his membership card lifted, Socred interim leader Gilles Caouette announced yesterday.

Mr. Rondeau's expulsion from the party follows by a day revelations that he is charged with 24 counts of fraud and conspiracy to defraud the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

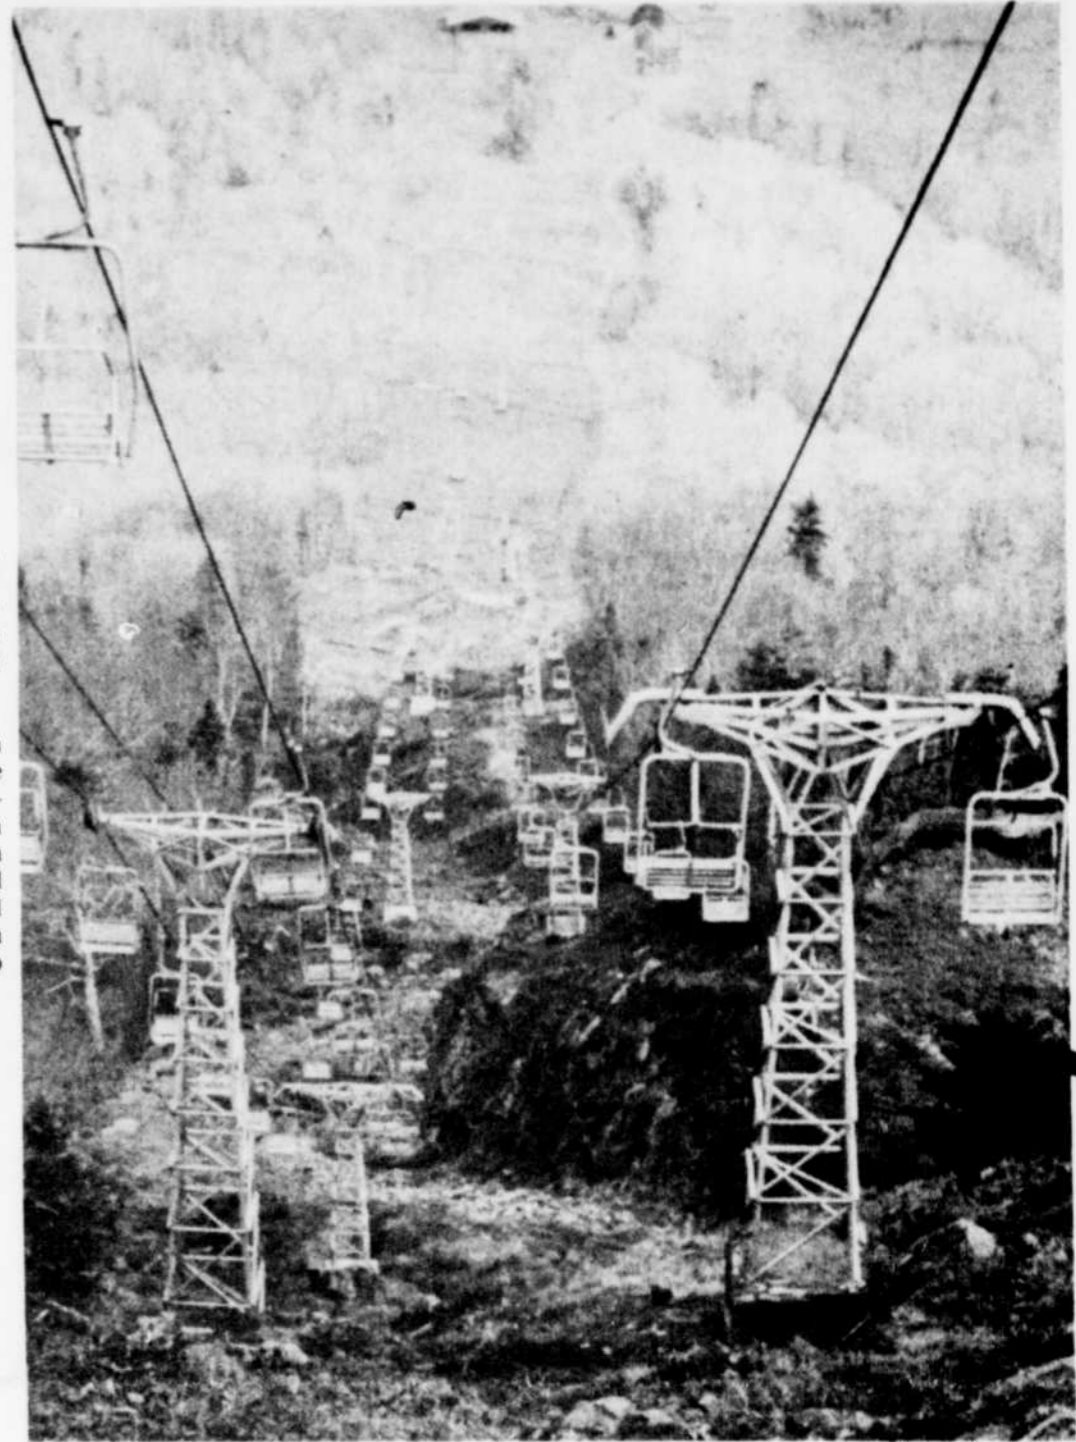

The veteran MP is currently awaiting trial on arson charges connected with a fire which razed a building he owned in Bromont. Shortly before that, he was fined $5,000 for income tax evasion in connection with the use of campaign funds.

Mr. Rondeau, who continues to sit as an independent member in the Commons, was ejected from the caucus less than three months after Socred party president Martin Hattersley refused his resignation following laying of the arson charges.

Mr. Caouette refused to connect Mr. Rondeau's ejection with the latest charges against him, saying only that the party's Quebec branch had discussed the Shefford MP's case last Friday and had taken the decision to remove his name from the party membership.

According to Mr. Caouette, he hadn't known of the new charges against Mr. Rondeau until the MP himself informed him of them in a letter Tuesday night.

Mr. Rondeau, who has represented Shefford County for 12 years as a creditiste, has the right to appeal his ejection to the party's national executive.

False start

They had nearly a foot of snow atop Mount Orford Sunday, but a combination of rain, fog and other moderate phenomena reduced the base considerably. There's nothing more useless-looking than a ski lift without snow, and the weatherman doesn't make any promises for this weekend. He says it will remain above freezing most of the time and predicts rain and cloud.

Referendum rules pose threat to liberty - group

QUEBEC (CP) — The province's human rights commission warned Wednesday of possible threats to civil liberties resulting from the government's proposals for organizing referendums.

In a seven-page letter to a legislative committee studying the white paper on referendum legislation, the independent commission expressed concern over the proposal to force all participants in a campaign to do so through "umbrella organizations."

Under the proposal, only these "yes" or "no" committees would be permitted to collect or spend funds during a referendum campaign, including the one on Quebec independence.

Rene Hurtubise, commission president, said in the letter that the commission is concerned that this obligatory participation in the committees might limit freedom of association and freedom of expression because no money could be spent by anyone outside the committees.

"What happens in this case to the freedom of opinion, expression and association of those groups or citizens who do not wish to join umbrella organizations because they do not represent their ideas?"

TRUDEAU FILE 'UP FOR SALE' GLOBE CLAIMS

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says an RCMP file code-named Operation Featherbed contains personal details of the life of Prime Minister Trudeau and that copies have been obtained by persons who are trying to sell it in the Toronto area for $100,000 a copy.

In a report today, the newspaper quotes unnamed sources as saying the file on Trudeau contains aspects of his life other than his trip to the Soviet Union in 1952 which it says would have been reason to start a file on the prime minister.

Meanwhile, Progressive Conservative MP Tom Cossitt said in an interview from Brockville the Featherbed file reveals that foreign agents have infiltrated the security service of the RCMP.

He would not say what country was involved.

Cossitt would not confirm nor deny that the Featherbed file contained information on Trudeau but said there have been attempts from the political level to destroy copies of the file that have escaped the security of RCMP Ottawa headquarters.

He said Featherbed also contains comprehensive files and personal data on journalists in the Parliamentary Press Gallery.

Shah to press OPEC for oil price freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Shah of Iran said Wednesday night his country will seek a price freeze when the 13-country OPEC cartel meets next month in Venezuela to decide whether to increase world oil prices.

The Shah made the announcement at a news conference which wound up his state visit here. Heavy police forces kept rival groups of Iranian demonstrators from a second day of violent clashes Wednesday as the Shah and President Carter concluded their talks.

Because Iran wields considerable influence within the oil cartel, the Shah's announcement represented a victory for Carter's hopes for a price freeze.

Only last week, the Shah had told interviewers that Iran would remain neutral on the oil price question at the Caracas, Venezuela, meeting.

The Shah said he would be willing to support a 12-month freeze on prices. The current world price of oil is about $12.50 a barrel.

But he cautioned that oil prices cannot remain at present levels indefinitely. He said increases in the coming years will be inevitable without strong conservation measures in consuming countries and new sources of energy.

If present consumption levels persist, oil demand will increase by 200 million barrels a day by the year 1990 and "there are no known deposits which could meet that demand."

The Shah's news conference came after his final meeting with Carter. Press secretary Jody Powell said the two leaders reviewed human rights in Iran and other matters during that visit.

Israelis ready red carpets

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli officials sent red carpets to the cleaners, mapped security strategy and hunted sheet music of the Egyptian national anthem Wednesday to greet Anwar Sadat.

No other Arab leader has ever set foot in Israel, and protocol heads will be tackling several firsts for the expected visit of the Egyptian president.

A myriad of problems ranging from seating to prayer became priority concerns among Israeli cabinet ministers, hoteliers and the city's only flag-maker.

Physical preparations for the unprecedented event have been delayed until Egypt's formal reply to the Israeli invitation arrives here. With the U.S. Embassy as go-between, the answer is expected by Friday.

Biko tried suicide, officer tells probe

PRETORIA (AP) — A police witness said Wednesday that black South African activist leader Steve Biko attempted suicide while taking a bath in a prison hospital four days before his death Sept. 12.

Col. Pieter Goosen, security police chief at Port Elizabeth where Biko was detained, said during an inquest into Biko's death that the prisoner might have suffered brain injury and a forehead wound during the alleged suicide attempt. Pathologists have said Biko died from head injuries suffered 12 hours to eight days earlier.

Other police witnesses said Wednesday that Biko was kept naked in handcuffs and leg irons for 48 hours during interrogation at security police headquarters at Port Elizabeth.

Later, still naked, he was driven 1,200 kilometres (750 miles) to the Pretoria prison where he died, the witnesses said.

Sydney Kentridge, a lawyer representing the Biko family, sought for the second consecutive day to block police evidence and accused authorities of a smear campaign to portray Biko posthumously as an "urban terrorist."

IMAGE AS PACIFIST
Biko, whose public image presented him as a man of peace, was widely regarded as the founder of the Black Consciousness movement in white-ruled South Africa. The government saw the movement as dangerous and radical.

Police have denied assaulting the jailed activist, and government officials have maintained Biko did not die as a result of police brutality as black leaders within South Africa have claimed.

Biko died three weeks after being picked up by security police.

Members of the five-man security police team that interrogated Biko said he went berserk Sept. 7 when confronted with evidence that he advocated violent revolution despite his peaceful public image, and they had to subdue him.

Biko was the 21st black to die in detention in 18 months. Police have said some died from natural causes and others by hanging themselves or jumping from windows.

Committee to study drop in dairy demands

OTTAWA (CP) — Amid warnings that the demand for butter, cheese and other dairy products is slipping, the Canadian milk supply management committee meets this week for further study of problems facing the industry.

Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan has been urging dairy farmers to curtail production because milk products are not being consumed at the rate expected. Surpluses have to be marketed at a loss on world markets.

David Kirk, executive secretary of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, said individual farmers may exceed their market sharing quota but the total domestic production will likely fall within the national quota.

The meeting in Toronto on Thursday and Friday, will be studying the drop in demand as well as a feeling that statistics on consumption may not be accurate enough.

The committee is composed of provincial government and dairy producer representatives and chairman is a Canadian Dairy Commission official. It serves as a forum for consensus among the provinces on the functioning of the federally-prepared plan for industrial milk products. Fluid milk is administered by the provinces.

At the start of the dairy year in April, domestic demand for milk products was estimated at 100 million hundredweight but indications are that only 97.5 million or 98 million hundredweights, will be consumed.

REDUCTION REQUESTED

The committee asked the provinces in July to reduce the amount of quota they distribute to producers by two per cent and requested another two per cent reduction in September.

Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan urges dairy farmers to curtail production.

Unemployment a new experience for Sept Iles

SEPT ILES, Que. (CP) — Unemployment is a new experience for this wealthy iron-ore shipping centre.

And although its five-per-cent jobless rate is well below the Quebec average of more than 10 per cent, it is a blemish for a city with one of the highest per capita incomes in Canada.

"They used to come here five or six to a car looking for jobs," said Canada Manpower official Pierre-Paul Legault.

"Usually we'd have a job for them. We've been used to boom conditions but it isn't the Klondike here any more."

Industrial commissioner Florent Boivin blames the world economy, and especially the soft demand for steel. And there are the unions, among the most militant in Quebec.

There is a local saying in this iron-ore capital that "when IOC coughs, everyone on the north shore catches cold."

IOC is Iron Ore Co. of Canada, a giant multinational corporation owned by a consortium of United States steelmakers including Republic, National, Wheeling, Youngstown and Bethlehem Steel Corp.

GREW FROM VILLAGE

Before IOC was formed in 1949, Sept Iles was a sleepy fishing village of 1,200. Today it is a modern city of 37,000 and the terminals owned by the federal government and IOC handle more cargo tonnage than any Canadian port.

IOC employs 7,500 workers here and farther north in Schefferville, Que., and Labrador City, Nfld. Average wages are about $20,000 while tradesmen earn between $25,000 and $35,000 a year.

"At this moment there are $430 million in investments waiting for the steel situation to improve," said Boivin.

Yet 1977 promises to be a record year with 62 million tons of pellets and iron-ore concentrate expected to be shipped by IOC and the other two producers. About 50 million tons are for export to the United States, Japan, the United Kingdom, West Germany, Italy and the Netherlands.

Union co-ordinator Lawrence McBrearty said he thinks the paradox of soft demand and record shipments has something to do with the forthcoming expiry of the labor contract between the 13,000 workers represented by the United Steelworkers of America and the three companies.

McBrearty said the companies are exaggerating their problems and "the multinationals control their own markets." The contract expires Feb. 28, 1978.

N.Z. kiwi trade threatened

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — One of New Zealand's most valuable new export products is multiplying abroad, much to the chagrin of its producers.

The curious berry-like object called kiwifruit is among the most widely sold exports from New Zealand. But growers in other countries are starting to produce it in quantity too.

The kiwifruit has been called a gooseberry in a fur coat, or what a hedgehog would look like if turned into a fruit.

Resembling a large, decorative gooseberry inside, it has a furry brown outer skin. A single fruit can be cut into many decorative slices to enhance a dessert and has a highly distinctive flavor.

The kiwifruit used to be called a Chinese gooseberry, but experts declared that it was neither Chinese nor a gooseberry.

The fruit grows exceedingly well in New Zealand, and exporters decided to give it a distinctive New Zealand name. The wingless kiwi is New Zealand's national bird.

FRUIT IMPROVED

After some 30 years of experiment, New Zealand growers developed a much larger, more luscious fruit than the original.

Today it can be found in markets round the world—in North America, Asia, Europe and Brazil—often at a high price. Kiwifruit exports earn about $4 million yearly in foreign exchange for New Zealand growers, and the sum is rising rapidly.

But considerable quantities of kiwifruit now are being grown in the United States. And the New Zealand Fruitgrowers Federation has strongly criticized exports of kiwifruit plants to Japan, Chile and South Africa.

Federation spokesmen said Japanese growers have formed an association and are holding talks to consider whether imports of kiwifruit should be limited to protect their position.

About 30 per cent of kiwifruit is exported to Japan, 26 per cent to North America, eight per cent to Australia, and most of the balance to Europe.

It had taken 30 years for New Zealand to perfect the kiwifruit, the spokesmen said, and now New Zealand nurserymen were undermining the fruitgrowers by selling the improved plants abroad. They urged that the plants be made a prohibited export.

But officials of the New Zealand Nurserymen's Association, the organization of commercial plant growers, said the fruit men are being "small-minded" and that a law to ban exports could not be enforced.

Industry needs competition

HALIFAX (CP) — Competition is the best recipe for healthy industry in Canada, Jack Horner, industry, trade and commerce minister, said Tuesday.

"If we can accept that we can prosper best in a competitive domestic and international economy—with governments helping to remove constraints rather than to actively provide subsidies and tariff barriers, we will emerge stronger in this time of testing," he said in an address to the founding dinner of the Atlantic Resources Development Institute.

He commended the institute, which is composed of 110 industrialists, business executives and entrepreneurs from the four Atlantic provinces, for taking a positive approach toward bolstering the economy.

The dairy commission spokesman said the meeting will also be asked to set out a timetable for presenting Whelan with provincial policy proposals for the dairy policy for 1978-79.

Greed to blame for flood damages

MONTREAL (CP) — "Human greed and corruption" is largely to blame for billions of dollars in flood damage caused in recent years to American and Canadian property along the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River, a Liberal MP said Tuesday.

Ian Watson, MP for Laprairie, made the comment in an interview following his appearance at an International Joint Commission (IJC) public hearing in nearby Chateauguay.

The hearing, held to gather public opinion on the possibilities of managing levels and flows in the Great Lakes system, continues this week and in early December in Chicago and Peoria, Ill., Cleveland, Buffalo, Windsor, Ont., and Toronto.

Watson told the four IJC commissioners—two each from the United States and Canada—that there has been resistance in both countries from municipal governments and real estate interests to "flood plain zoning" which would forbid construction in flood-prone areas.

TO PLAY BIGGER ROLE

Although the IJC has no regulatory powers, Watson said it must play a greater role in pressing for application of such special zoning regulations, because "things are getting worse."

"People have built where they never should have built in the first place... You (the IJC) should make strong public declarations in this regard."

A combination of natural and human factors causes flooding which resulted in millions of dollars in damages to homes in the Montreal area in the spring of 1973-76, but "there is absolutely no excuse for towns to grant building permits for flood-prone areas," Watson said.

"It's human greed and sometimes corruption that causes all this and it's the same everywhere."

Chateauguay Mayor Philippe Bonneau said regular spring flooding sometimes became catastrophic by a rising of the Chateauguay river at the same time as flows into the St. Lawrence were being increased through upriver dams.

He asked the IJC to look into the possibility of a new plan for regulating the Great Lakes flows.

Soviets buy U.S. corn

WASHINGTON (AP) — An additional 400,000 metric tons of U.S. corn has been sold to the Soviet Union, the third sale to be reported within 24 hours, the agriculture department said this week.

The latest sale, made by private export companies, was in addition to the sale of 601,600 tons of corn and 100,000 tons of wheat announced earlier in the week.

Nuclear moratorium imposed

Energy Minister Guy Joron

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government has imposed a three-year moratorium on further nuclear power development, Energy Minister Guy Joron said Tuesday.

"In its discussion on energy policy, the Quebec government refused to get involved immediately in the nuclear option and it decided to impose a moratorium until 1980 on this option," he told the national assembly.

"It would not be advisable, in fact, to define Hydro-Quebec's development program for the years 1990 to 2000 nor to ascertain our end-of-century electricity needs before then (1980)."

"For the moment the government plans to pursue development of potential hydroelectric resources and to encourage development of new forms of energy."

"The government also plans to draw up a vigorous energy conservation program which could be applied starting next year."

Criminal element favored

TORONTO (CP) — Rowland Frazee, president of the Canadian Bankers Association, says the pendulum in the handling of criminal cases has swung "a bit too far" in favor of the criminal element.

Speaking at a security conference of Canadian financial institutions, Frazee said that while few people will argue with the social objectives behind enlightened treatment of criminals by the courts, it is also necessary to look at the results.

"What cannot be disputed is that criminals confined to cells are not out on the streets committing further mischief," he said.

Thunder Bay tax increase

THUNDER BAY, Ont. (CP) — High taxes stem primarily from public spending programs that "are too rich for our blood," Harold E. Crosby, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said this week.

For example, he said the cost of health and welfare services went to 5.272 per cent from 3.476 per cent as a percentage of real domestic product from 1961 to 1971, an increase of more than 51 per cent.

"There was certainly nothing in our economic performance to warrant such a drastic increase in our spending patterns," he told the Thunder Bay Chamber of Commerce.

He said heavy taxes hurt business by depriving it of the funds it requires to reinvest in growth and to provide fair returns for investors.

Dubonnet business booms

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian connoisseurs of fine aperitifs appear to have developed a taste for Dubonnet, much to the sellers' delight.

Invented in Paris in 1846 by Joseph Dubonnet, the aperitif is sold in Canada through provincial liquor boards, not all with the same rules for distribution.

"Canada has 20 per cent of the world's sales for Dubonnet," said John Watley, president of Watley's Wines and Spirits Ltd. and Canadian representative of the Paris-based House of Dubonnet.

"This year we have sold 200,000 cases of the Dubonnet Rouge and about 15,000 cases of the new Dry Dubonnet." Dry Dubonnet was launched province by province on the Canadian market in 1976 and was immediately accepted, Watley said.

"There is no doubt that there's a trend toward the softer drinks, particularly by the young. And when the young market makes something the 'in thing,' it reflects on the whole market."

Corporate income up

OTTAWA (CP) — Net income from production for industrial corporations was estimated at $2.191 billion in the third quarter of 1977, up 19.8 per cent for the same period a year ago, Statistics Canada said this week.

The companies had sales of $62.8 billion, up from $56.7 billion in the third quarter of 1976. Manufacturing industries had net incomes totalling $1.059 billion for an increase of 13.4 per cent. Mining industries made $460 million, up 4.5 per cent and others had net incomes of $672 billion, up 11.3 per cent.

Granby

Factories halt operations

Two factories in Granby's industrial park have halted operations and a third is at the point of closing, it was announced this week.

Hirsh Shelving Systems Ltd. and Northern Sintered Metal Inc. are American-owned, while the third, Tamaco Inc., is a truck-body manufacturing firm which had gone into receivership several weeks ago.

Hirsh, which manufactures moveable steel shelving, will close down operations by Dec. 15, according to a plant spokesman. Since 85 per cent of the firm's market is in the west, Hirsh feels it will be more economical to transfer all production to the Skokie, Illinois plant. The seven employees in the Granby operation are all assured of jobs elsewhere.

Northern Sintered Metal is moving all operations to Nashville, Tennessee, citing excessive production costs as the main reason behind the move. The firm, which employed 10 people, makes components for the auto, electronics and appliance industries.

Telephone interview confirms rumor

Marion sells story rights

MONTREAL (CP) — The son of kidnap victim Charles Marion, has confirmed that his father has sold the rights to his story to Editions Quebecor, a publishing arm of the Quebecor newspaper group.

The 57-year-old credit union employee, victim of the longest kidnapping in ransom in Canadian history, was released unharmed Oct. 28 after a $50,000 ransom was delivered to his abductors. Marion spent 82 days in captivity after being kidnapped at his summer cottage near Sherbrooke, 145 kilometres east of Montreal.

Pierre Marion confirmed a published report Wednesday that his father has sold worldwide publishing rights in any language as well as film, radio and television rights to an undisclosed sum to the Quebecor group.

Pierre Marion said in a telephone interview from Sherbrooke that his father signed the contract Monday but he would not reveal how much money was involved.

Journal de Montreal, a Quebecor tabloid, said Andre Letendre, director general of Editions Quebecor, has already started listening to Marion's description of his ordeal for a book to be published by Christmas.

Letendre, who was in Sherbrooke, was not available for comment. Alain Stanke of Editions Internationales said Tuesday he could not meet the sum requested by the Marion family for the story without first having a chance to talk to Marion. He did not say how much had been requested.

A Quebec provincial police spokesman would not comment on reports that Marion was still being questioned about the kidnapping. The spokesman said the investigation is "almost confidential" in nature.

Meanwhile, Charles Marion's health is improving and he may be released from hospital in a few days, says his family lawyer.

Charles Marion has sold the rights to his story to Editions Quebecor.

Gilles Grandpre, Waterloo, pleaded guilty, in chambers, to a charge of impaired driving in the Town of Brome Lake, October 25 when he had consumed .180 mgs. of alcohol. He was fined $180 and costs, in default 30 days.

Serge Boutin, Farnham, renounced his rights to a preliminary hearing on a charge of having threatened the life of a Farnham Municipal Police officer in an indirect manner. He was cited to the next term of the assizes by virtue of article 476 of the criminal code.

Linda Gauthier, 18, Greenfield Park, pleaded not guilty to charges of possession of 78 capsules of 'speed', 24.5 grams of 'speed', and 12 gms. of hashish with intent to traffic in Cowansville, July 8. She chose jury trial and preliminary hearing was fixed to January 16.

Sean Connolly, Bellows Falls, Vt., pleaded guilty to charges of simple possession of 2 gms. of cocaine, 1.2 gms. of hashish, and one marijuana cigarette at Phillipsburg, November 12. He was fined $200 and costs, in default 60 days on the first count, $50 and costs, in default 15 days on the second, and $25 and costs, in default eight days, concurrent, on the third.

Connolly, who was held on an Immigration warrant, was ordered deported by Judge Guy Genest upon completion of the penalties.

HANDS OFF!

The world of science giveth and it taketh away.

First it was cyclamates, those pseudo-sweeteners which made the seven-calorie bottle of pop a reality. No sooner had we gotten used to that sudsy aftertaste than a group of researchers somewhere determined it was dangerous to our health. Back to that grand old standby, saccharine.

But they couldn't let it rest there. Those fizzy little sweet-bitter pills people started dropping into their coffee 50 years ago, suddenly were deadly business.

Of course, it didn't matter that diabetics and others on restricted diets have used saccharine for half a century without adverse effects. The fact that a bunch of white-coated wizards in Toronto managed to give rats enough saccharine to induce cancer was enough to send our normally snail-paced drug control people into spasms of activity, issuing warnings, backup reports and denials with astounding speed.

Now it's the sorbitol-Xylitol family of alcohols which are suspected. No, this time even the rats didn't get cancer. Only the mice, fed a steady diet of Xylitol corresponding to about a ton of sugarless chewing gum a week, managed to get gallstones and tumors.

We're living in a drugged society, and we're not talking about what youth is smoking or taking.

Tranquillizers, stimulants, pain-killers, sleeping pills and thousands of nostrums, cures and potions pour into the average North American home as if lives depended on them, with little or no control over who mixes what with which. The Quebec government is insisting on the fluoridation of water, which however well-meant, is a form of mass involuntary drugging.

If we're to believe Dr. Hans Selye, our very lifestyle is carcinogenic. Stress, combined with what we eat, drink and breathe, is what he believes is the big picture of what causes cancer.

They've managed to draw a pretty strong connection between cigarettes and cancer, yet how many cancer patients go on smoking? Worse, how many non-smokers have to put up with a habit they don't share?

We say enough of these assaults on sweeteners. Ban smoking in public, if you will, but leave the gum-chewer to kill himself in peace.

Fox unruffled by 'hot seat' position

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet minister in the hot seat as the RCMP scandals continue to unfold is managing somehow to remain cool and relaxed.

Solicitor-General Francis Fox does not yield information as readily as some opposition critics would like, but they express admiration for the way he has handled himself.

One of Fox's staff members says he is taking the grilling over illegal RCMP operations more calmly than they are.

And a cabinet colleague says Fox is warmer and more relaxed than he sometimes appears in the Commons.

At 38, Fox is the youngest member of cabinet. The barrage of questions he has had to face in the last two weeks has obscured the fact that he also is responsible for penitentiaries and the National Parole Board, other trouble areas.

Ten days after he entered the cabinet on Sept. 14, 1976, he had to deal with riots in several prisons and he won praise both from prison officials and opposition MPs for his firm handling of the situation.

Elmer MacKay (PC—Central Nova), whose job it is to keep a watch on Fox's department for his party, described him in an interview this week as "likeable and very bright"

"He has inherited a messy situation from his predecessors and finds himself in difficult circumstances," MacKay said. "He is trying with some success to avoid emotional involvement."

Stuart Leggatt (NDP—

New Westminster) said his impressions of Fox are "positive in terms of the job he has to do."

"In terms of his total performance I think the Liberals may have got lucky in putting him in that post," Leggatt said.

A tall man with curly black hair, Fox speaks in a quick staccato style, seemingly impassive under onslaughts of opposition heckling.

Fox has sometimes been described as a French-Canadian with an English name, but he is equally comfortable in either milieu.

His mother is of French descent and his father of Irish origin, and he grew up speaking both languages. His French is marked by a thick Quebecois accent, and his English sounds ever so slightly stilted.

DECLINED ROLE

He has declined the role of spokesman for Quebec's English-speaking community, but has spoken out strongly against provisions of Quebec's recent language policies.

Fox attended Jean-de-Brebeuf College and studied law at the University of Montreal, where Pierre Trudeau was one of his professors. He also went to Harvard and Oxford.

Fox first came to Ottawa in 1968, working as an assistant to Ron Basford, then consumer affairs minister and now justice minister.

Later he went to work in Trudeau's office, where he became involved in provincial relations and in the appointment of senior public servants.

Fox's riding of Argenteuil-Deux Montagnes, lying just northwest of Montreal, is about three-quarters French-speaking and one-quarter English. It is part suburban and part rural, and takes in a slice of the Laurentian resort area. The family home—Fox is divorced and has one child—is in St. Eustache.

Down with wolves

Editor:

A recent article states "Wool growers give up", and among the reasons given for farmers no longer keeping sheep was listed "predators".

It is quite a number of years since wolves or large wolf-like animals were first sighted in areas where they were formerly unknown. It is also a considerable number of years since the Quebec government placed a bounty on wolves, more to wipe out these predators than to exterminate the wolf in its natural habitat. However those in favor of protecting the wolf presented so much opposition the government was forced to withdraw the bounty.

It is generally agreed today that the early settlers and trappers who lived in wolf-infested country, really knew very little about these animals. However an article in the National Geographic, by David Mech Ph. D., who has studied wolves for 15 years using aeroplanes and radio equipment — gives us a few facts.

They DO travel in packs of anywhere from a pair of wolves and their young to as many as 36. Each pack has its own territory and a few "lone wolves" exist as best they can in between the territory of the others. If a stray wolf wanders into the territory claimed by the pack he is killed by his own kind. Within the pack there is a strict social order, from the leaders to the bottom, who are allowed to eat what the others leave. If food is scarce these are driven from the pack, allowing the rest to remain healthy. Wolves also attack as a pack and he tells of one instance of an attack on a moose cow and calf in which the pack held the cow at bay while four wolves went after the calf, and of course finally killed it.

While Mr. Mech is quite sure that the wolf (the true wolf at least) will NOT attack humans, as he has often walked in wolf infested territory, he does admit that they will attack domestic animals. He defends the wolf as a necessary part of nature's balance in keeping the moose and caribou herds healthy, but admits that they should not be allowed to multiply in farming areas.

I find it interesting that we are so quick to defend, almost make a hero of the wolf and at the same time completely ignore the beautiful deer which has been hunted by BOTH man and beast, until it is almost extinct in many areas. We seem to have developed more and more of a tendency to make heroes of wolf types, in both man and beast, giving more and more respect to those who attack in packs, such as terrorists, robbers, hijackers and other gangsters.

I admit that with today's good synthetics wool is not the essential product it once was — but isn't there something wrong with a society which puts more emphasis on the predator than on the gentle creatures on which it feeds?

If nothing else, protecting the wolf without giving at least equal protection to the animals on which it feeds is a study in uselessness. Once the game animals and the farmers and their animals have all moved out, the predator will starve anyway.

Jack Anderson's Washington Merry-Go-Round Controversial judge under fire

by Jack Anderson and Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Utah's vexatious Judge Willis W. Ritter, who has become a pain in the federal judiciary, may be in difficulty over his payroll practices.

The Justice Dept. was all set to lay the payroll charges before a grand jury last August but held off at the last minute. The department's Public Integrity Section, meanwhile, is keeping the controversial judge under "active investigation."

The 78-year-old Ritter is a rolypoly, white-haired gentleman with a round, red face. Blinking through glasses, he has the look of a beardless St. Nicholas who, however, is not at all jolly. On the bench, he scowls and perspires, dabbing his face with Kleenex.

He bullies attorneys, jails innocent bystanders and frees convicts at the drop of a Kleenex. Once he locked up a reporter briefly, without explanation, for picking his nose in court, so the bailiff later explained. Another time, Ritter cited two dozen postal workers for contempt because their mail-sorting machinery disturbed his court-room.

He has been under constant fire for his judicial idiosyncrasies. But the U.S. Attorney's office in Utah zeroed in on specific allegations that he had granted wrongful favors to his personal secretary and that he had also favored lawyers who represented him in private litigation.

Sources familiar with the payroll case say that Ritter allegedly authorized his secretary, Vickie Jolley, to continue drawing pay for four months in 1974 and another two months in 1975 when she did no work.

According to confidential Justice Dept. papers, the FBI "scheduled simultaneous interviews of (several) persons for the evening of Monday, August 22, 1977." Among other things, the agents were supposed to seek "the whereabouts and contents of Jolley's leave and payroll records" and "Jolley's relationship with Judge Ritter."

The Justice Dept. was prepared even to subpoena the judge's own files since the crucial records "would almost certainly be kept in the judge's chambers." A confidential document, dated August 10, mentioned "the possibility that fraud may have occurred" in the payroll case.

Unaccountably, the Justice Dept. canceled the grand jury but went ahead with some of the interviews. We have obtained the secret list of witnesses and questioned most of them.

They told us that Vickie Jolley "is gone most of the time" and that she does "extracurricular things for the judge." Added one court employee: "The judge is a mean man, better to the criminals than to the people who work here."

The judge's secretary told us she was unaware of any investigation into payroll abuses. When we tried to pin her down, she said, "I have no comment" and hung up the phone. Judge Ritter refused to return our calls. In the past, he has boasted: "I am an old hand at telling the press where to go."

He has also complained that he is a victim of "malicious Mormonism," although it was a Mormon, the late Sen. Elbert Thomas, D-Utah, who recommended him for the federal bench in 1949. Another Mormon, Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, is now leading the fight to remove him from the bench.

Not long ago, the cantankerous Ritter strode into a Salt Lake City shop and spotted Garn's picture on the wall. Sternly, the judge ordered the proprietor to remove the picture.

Security Problem: The lowest bid on a new Coast Guard cutter has been submitted by a Finnish ship-building firm called Wartsila. This has alarmed Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., who asked the Navy whether any classified equipment would be installed aboard the cutter.

Back came a private dispatch from Acting Navy Secretary R. James Woolsey, acknowledging that the Navy would provide secret equipment for the Coast Guard ships. He conceded that Finnish workers repair Soviet ships and that "highly capable Soviet technicians are present in Finland."

Therefore, he concluded: "The U.S. Navy considers that it is highly unlikely that any precaution exercised by the U.S. Coast Guard or the Finnish authorities would adequately protect Navy classified information."

Footnote: A Coast Guard spokesman told us the decision on the contract will be made before the end of the year.

Playing With Matches: Each year, more than 4,000 children are burned to death and another 10,000 injured playing with matches. Now a New Hampshire inventor has developed a safer matchbook, yet the Consumer Product Safety Commission has treated it with massive indifference.

Inventor Robert Giglio's child-resistant matchbook works simply. The chemical igniter is placed in a narrower, almost invisible band across the bottom of the front covers. Children would be frustrated by a dummy striker on the backside.

Yet curiously, the agency, which is supposed to protect the public from dangerous products, has virtually ignored Giglio's matchbook. A commission attorney told us that the inventor submitted his matchbook idea "too late" for its consideration. The commission, meanwhile, has scrapped plans for a child-resistant matchbook.

Militia scare unauthorized

TORONTO (CP) — A Canadian Armed Forces spokesman says 12 armed militiamen were authorized to conduct a night patrol exercise Oct. 19 on the grounds of a Toronto armory but were wrong to leave the property. Maj. Al Ditter said military policemen have been investigating the incident in which two groups of six men left the grounds in full battle dress and frightened some teachers and parents at a nearby school. He said in a statement Wednesday that he expects the investigation, begun Oct. 22, to continue for two weeks. Ditter said the men were told they could practise manoeuvres outside the armory but an officer cadet gave the men permission to leave the grounds while the commanding officer remained in the building.

Pilots fear commando stress

OTTAWA (CP) — Airline pilots are concerned that the government may stress development of crack anti-terrorist squads at the expense of more effective means of dealing with aircraft hijackings, says Roger Burgess-Webb, spokesman for the Canadian Air Line Pilots Association (CALPA). Burgess-Webb said in a telephone interview from the association's Toronto-area office that CALPA has asked Defence Minister Barney Danson's plans for an anti-terrorist squad. The minister had not yet replied. If the government does develop such a squad, CALPA would like a voice in how the group is formed and used, he said. Pilots were worried that rescue squads might be heavyhanded.

Spend more on French

OTTAWA (CP) — A French-speaking minority rights group said today more money must be spent on teaching French to French Canadians instead of to English Canadians. The Federation des Francophones Hors Quebec made the plea at a news conference on the eve of a federal-provincial meeting in Toronto which will be seeking a new formula to spend $1 billion in federal funds for minority language training during the next five years. The federation said it has learned a proposal to be discussed at the Thursday meeting would increase funds for second-language training while the financing of mother-tongue instruction for English Quebecers and French Canadians outside Quebec would remain constant.

Man admits to hate campaign

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Robert Buzzanga, 30, testified Tuesday that because of desperation, he and a co-accused distributed pamphlets in Essex County to show the plight of French-Canadians. Buzzanga and Jean Durocher, also 30, are on trial in county court on a charge of "willfully promoting hatred against an identifiable group, to wit the French-Canadian people." Court was told that the pamphlets warned against construction of a French-language school in the county and claimed taxpayers' money was supporting subversive French-Canadian groups.

Arab info collected

OTTAWA (CP) — The Citizen says in a report published Wednesday that the RCMP has used routine citizenship screening procedures to recruit agents to provide information on Arabs in Canada. Ali Ahmad Sabet Solimon, 38, a former employee of the United Arab Republic embassy here, said in an interview that two RCMP officers offered him help in gaining Canadian citizenship and finding a job during a citizenship security clearance in July, 1974, the newspaper says. "I was stupid," Solimon said. "I believed them. I got the impression it was the RCMP who are controlling citizenship."

Supercrop claim queried

OTTAWA (CP) — Claims by a Michigan State University professor that a chemical compound he is testing will increase crop yields by an average of 12 per cent has been greeted with caution by two Canadian plant biologists. Claude Sirois of the federal agriculture department and Frank Wightman of the biology department of Carleton University said in interviews today that the chemical—triacetanol—needs a lot more development before it would be of use to farmers and gardeners. In field tests this summer, Dr. Stanely Ries found a number of crops increased yields by an average of 12 per cent over crops not sprayed with triacetanol, an alcohol made synthetically from oil.

Fire fear grips Britain

LONDON (AP) — Tension and destruction mounted today in Britain's firemen's strike as militants tried to prevent hastily-trained soldiers from fighting blazes. The home office reported 12 fire-related deaths so far, including five children in Northern Ireland on Wednesday and today, but said none could be blamed on the walkout. Tempers flared during a London power-station blaze Wednesday when non-striking senior fire officers commandeered a foam engine from a nearby firehouse. The strikers seized it back, but troops later moved in and drove it away. "The police lured us out of the station by saying some of our boys were trapped in the fire," a strike leader told reporters. "It was a lie. We were conned. They exploited our consciences."

Auto insurance amendments tabled

QUEBEC (CP) — Consumer Affairs Minister Lise Payette tabled amendments to the government's car insurance reform bill Wednesday amid continuing opposition efforts to delay committee hearings on the legislation. But key elements of Bill 67, establishing a state-run, no-fault insurance system for bodily injuries, were not affected by the proposed changes. Most important among the 175 pages of amendments appears to be one removing the distinction between breadwinners and their spouses for indemnification in case of death. Previously, the bill provided for indemnification varying between 65 and 90 per cent of the regular salary of a family breadwinner if he or she was killed in an auto accident. For a non-breadwinner, indemnification was set at up to 60 per cent of his or her revenue, plus a lump-sum payment of between $5,000 and $15,000.

Fake bomb sounded real

NORTH LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Home from school with the flu, Douglas Rankin got the fright of his life Wednesday when a practice bomb from a U.S. Air Force jet crashed through the roof of his home. The 25-pound dummy bomb apparently fell from the fighter shortly after it took off from nearby Nellis Air Force Base on a combat training mission, said air force spokesman Jim Dowd. It sank about 18 inches into the tile and concrete kitchen floor of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Rankin while Douglas, 13, was watching television in the living room. Dowd said the practice bomb was not explosive, but had a smoke device.

Press council raps article

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec Press Council has criticized the publication Police-Dossiers for printing an article last year entitled "Martyred Children of Quebec from 1920 to 1976." The council criticized the publication for having made an appeal to sadism and morbidity, for having given enough details to permit the identification of people involved and for having twisted the meaning of a pamphlet put out by a youth protection committee outlining its services. However, the council added in its decision announced Tuesday that considering the type of publication involved and the nature of the subject, the topic was treated within the boundaries of freedom of the press.

Horner scolds coal miners

HALIFAX (CP) — Cape Breton miners must become more productive if the Nova Scotia coal industry is to be lifted out of the doldrums, Industry Minister Jack Horner said Wednesday. Horner, who recently drew the ire of miners after a comment in the House of Commons about "the inappreciability of the Cape Bretoner for the retention of his job," refused to retract the remark Wednesday at a meeting with college students. In fact, he repeated it. Neither the coal industry nor Cape Breton coal miners have been able to shake off the doldrums caused by the long slump in the coal industry, Horner said.

No-post rule irks posties

OTTAWA (CP) — Another row has erupted in the post office, this time over management's refusal to let the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) put newspaper clippings on union bulletin boards. Jean-Claude Parrot, president of the 22,000-member CUPW, said Wednesday the union will file a complaint with the Public Service Staff Relations Board "as a result of the post office department's decision to refuse the union permission to post bulletins containing articles reprinted from The Globe and Mail and the Toronto Star."

Loan rejections probed

OTTAWA (CP) — Small Business Minister Tony Abbott said Wednesday he will meet senior chartered bank officials to discuss charges that banks are refusing applications for low-interest small business loans. Abbott was replying in the Commons to Bill Scott (PC—Victoria Harbour) who said special loan applications are being turned down by banks who say they would sooner lend money when they can charge an interest rate of 12 per cent. Under federal small business loans legislation, the government will guarantee repayment of loans from chartered banks as high as $75,000 to firms with maximum gross revenues of $1.5 million. This is supposed to be an incentive to banks to charge lower interest rates and agree to long-term repayment. However, Abbott said he is aware of charges that the banks are not enthusiastic about the set-up. He said he is investigating and will discuss it with senior bank officials.

Weird disease found

BOSTON (AP) — Researchers say they have discovered a disease inherited by some male children that can turn a common virus into a cause of cancer or make mononucleosis fatal. The disease, identified at the University of Massachusetts Medical School, is a deficiency that leaves the body open to a fatal attack by the Epstein-Barr virus. The germ infects up to 90 per cent of the U.S. population, usually with mild flu-like symptoms. It also causes mononucleosis in young adults.

Corbeil resignation denied

QUEBEC (CP) — A spokesman for the French Language Office today denied reports that Jean-Claude Corbeil resigned after being turned down for the job of president of the agency. Corbeil has simply gone off on holidays and will return to his job as terminology director in a few weeks, said Gilles Racine, public relations director. Corbeil had been mooted by Cultural Development Minister Camille Laurin as president of the office, the agency that replaced the French language board after passage of the Freerter last summer. But premier Rene Levesque had expressed doubts about Corbeil's ability, citing the latter's unfamiliarity with business circles and his lack of fluency in English. The cabinet chose Raymond Gosselin, former regional marketing manager for Canadian National Railways.

Saltsman speaks French

OTTAWA (CP) — New Democratic MP Max Saltsman surprised the Commons Wednesday by presenting a motion in French, the first time the veteran Waterloo-Cambridge member has spoken French in Parliament. "Some of the Creditistes were shocked," Saltsman said later in an interview. "They've been sitting beside me for years and never heard me speak French before." Saltsman was first elected in 1964. His motion concerned import quotas on textiles and clothing. The founding Canadian textile and clothing industries are concentrated heavily in Quebec. "Actually, I was coached earlier today," he admitted. "I am trying to speak French rather than pretending to have great proficiency."

Tories attack judge's ruling

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario Chief Justice Gregory Evans was attacked Wednesday in the Commons for his Ontario Supreme Court judgement purporting to limit the rights of MPs and the press to report Parliament. Evans later said in a telephone interview that if MPs disagree with his ruling, made last week in Toronto, the proper place to challenge it is in the courts. Under attack in the Commons was Evans' ruling that the right of MPs to discuss information inside the Commons does not mean reporters have the right to pass that information on to the public outside the Commons.

Veterans throw bash

BRUSH, Colo. (AP) — The Last Squad has opened its 53-year-old bottle of Canadian whisky, drunk a toast to the members now gone and adjourned its last official meeting. For 41 years, those who were members of the Sagebrush American Legion Post No. 68 in 1936 had waited for this occasion. When it came Tuesday night, they did it right. The rules had been altered a bit, and 10 of the original 111 Last Squad members shared in the fifth set aside in 1936. The original plan was to wait until eight were left before the bottle was opened. The timetable was altered, co-ordinator Harvey Reinert said, because the youngest of the remaining members is 79 and "we just decided to have the party now." Everyone who belonged to Post 68 in 1936 was automatically a member of the Last Squad. The 12-year-old whisky went into a local bank vault, $15 was put aside for a final feast, and the countdown began.

Gang disrupts Chinese diet

HONG KONG (AP) - The people of China are feasting and drinking far too much and it's all the fault of the deposed "Gang of Four," readers' letters published in the Peking People's Daily say.

The letters to the official newspaper were written in reaction to an Oct. 24 article saying that lavish parties had been encouraged by Communist party Chairman

Mao Tse-tung's widow, Chiang Ching, and her accomplices in the Gang of Four who "squandered money like playboys" to recruit supporters and corrupt Communist party cadres.

The Nov. 7 issue of the newspaper, seen here Saturday, devoted more than half a page to the readers' comments critical of over-eating. Virtually every one blamed the "gang" for promoting gluttony and squandering money.

Mme. Mao and her radical followers were purged last October for allegedly trying to seize power after Mao's death. They have subsequently become national pariahs, regularly attacked in the official news media and blamed for a wide variety of ills.

Readers agreed that although the gang's power has been eliminated, its poisonous influence is still evident.

INVENT EXCUSES

King Hsui, a reader from Kiangsi province, complained that many workers in several factories invent excuses just to "stuff themselves with food and wine" and some have even organized "eating parties."

He wrote: "They eat because they are guests (at parties). They eat because they love to eat. They eat because they hold discussion meetings. They eat because a project has just been completed."

Ridiculing one example, Hsui said the workers celebrated the success of an "anti-waste campaign" by holding a lavish banquet. The single meal would cost most workers their entire year's savings, he noted.

Kuo Chi-Meng of Shansi province said he has seen eating parties held whenever there is a transfer of cadres from one factory to others.

"Official inspecting delegations often become 'big eating group' parties here, there and everywhere," he told the editor.

Communist Party members Kuo Chi-meng and Tu Ping of Kwangtung province claimed many cadres have become "habitual over-eaters."

"Worst of all, they are proud of themselves and feel no shame whatsoever," the two readers wrote.

They said the campaign against gluttony and waste is a serious class struggle and urged all patriotic Chinese to make it a success.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Sticky skillet problem

By Polly Cramer

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY - I bought a cast iron skillet and washed it before using but then the handle became all sticky. I have been told I should have "treated" the skillet before attempting to use it. Could you tell me how to do this and will it take the stickiness off the handle? - VALERIE.

DEAR VALERIE - Your skillet should have been seasoned before using. Wash and scour with a mild cleanser. Do this to the handle too and that may stop the stickiness. Wash off and dry thoroughly. Apply a generous coat of salad oil or unsalted fat to the inside of the skillet with either a paper towel or a brush. Put in the oven set on low heat and leave for a couple of hours but every 15 minutes or so rub the fat around again.

When removed from the oven wipe all grease out with a paper towel, wash well in soap suds, rinse and dry. The first few times the skillet is used a little of the unsalted fat should be rubbed on the inside as the seasoning process takes a bit of time. That sticky handle may be caused from grease or a coating that was on the pan. I would keep working on it with a steel wool pad and cleanser. There is nothing like a cast iron skillet for frying chicken, etc. - POLLY.

DEAR POLLY - I am writing this letter in answer to Carol's Pet Peeve about speeding truck drivers. I am proud to say my father is a truck driver and I know they get their share of tickets, too. I follow just as many tourists who do 40 miles an hour up hill and 80 miles an hour down hill as I do truckers. These drivers are just trying to make a living like everyone else so do let them alone. From one who knows and is PROUD to be a truck driver's daughter. - JANIECE.

DEAR POLLY - I have several good uses for bright red nail polish other than putting it on one's nails. Use it to mark light switches when lights are on in a room so one does not accidentally leave a light burning before leaving a room.

Mark initials on various keys used around the house. We have two cars so two sets of keys. I put the first letter of the make of a car on its respective key so there is no problem as to which key belongs to which car.

We use many non-electric clocks at our house so I mark the alarm set button on the reverse side of the clocks so when one runs down it is easy to know which is the "time" set button.

To mark the positive prong on the 110 volt socket and plugs on wall outlets. My husband does these. - ROSE.

DEAR POLLY - With our nation's shortage of water I feel the need of using every bit more carefully. We run a dehumidifier in our basement and save all the water. Besides our normal everyday uses I often empty the pan into the washer or I put it in a bucket to save to use for watering my indoor and outdoor plants.

I enjoy sewing and save every long strip of scrap material to keep for tying up my tomato plants to their stakes - MARGE.

Ann Landers says Necrophiliac's weird

Dear Ann Landers: Someone wrote to Dear Abby and said, "One of the most unusual letters you ever received was reported in a magazine recently. It was from a woman who was on her honeymoon. Her husband asked her to lie in a tub of cold water for about 20 minutes and then come to bed and pretend she was dead." The writer went on to say, "Boy, is that guy weird! I would have been satisfied if on OUR honeymoon my wife had taken a hot bath and pretended she was alive."

He signed his letter "Opposite Problem."

Abby responded: "The wife of the weirdo who likes 'em cold and lifeless wrote to my sister. Not me."

What I want to know, Ann, is this: Did you ever receive such a letter? If so, what in the world is wrong with that man anyway?

Another question: Why don't you and your sister keep one another informed so you can both answer if I asked the same question? - Seeing Double

Dear S.D.: First question: Yes, I did receive such a letter. The weirdo was a mental case. His illness is called necrophilia.

Second question: My sister and I have all we can do to handle the mail that comes to each of us without attempting any cross-fertilization. But thanks a lot for the suggestion.

Dear Ann Landers: That letter from "Shalom In Colorado" made me stop and think. I'm a guy who has been gay for as long as I can remember.

One night I got bombed on beer and stoned on pot and went the other way with a straight girl. (She was also bombed and stoned.) We both wanted to see what it was like.

When we sobered up several hours later we were sick to our stomachs and couldn't look at each other. It would never have happened if we had been in our right minds. We agreed it was stupid, nutty and - never again. But - and here's the clincher - we have been dear friends ever since.

As for your favorite looniness, Ann - thinking of homosexuals as people who have a "severe personality disorder" - isn't that a condition that renders a person unable to handle a human experience? So please tell me, who has the biggest chunk of it? - Shalom Y'All In Alabama

Dear Al: The term "severe personality disorder" can cover a lot of territory. Some homosexuals function extremely well in business, the professions, the arts, sciences and are in fact prominent community leaders. (Many are so neatly closeted, no one would guess a thing.)

Their "personality disorder" relates only to sexual preference. By the same token, some heterosexuals are plenty crazy in ways too numerous to mention. As to who has the bigger chunk of it, I'd say it's a draw.

Runaways lured into prostitution

NEW YORK (AP) - Hustling customers for up to 14 hours a night and beatings if they did not give their pimps $100 to $150 a night were part of life for three teen-age runaways from Minneapolis who became prostitutes in New York City. The three wore masks and tesified anonymously this week before the New York state legislature's select committee on crime.

The three women, aged 14, 16, and 18, told about promises of big money and of finding out too late that it was the pimps who got the money, doling out pittances to the prostitutes.

They testified that their pimps had ordered them to seek customers in an area that has become known as the Minnesota Strip - on the West Side, between Broadway and Eighth Avenues in the 40s and 50s - because of the large number of prostitutes recruited from that state.

The 16-year-old said she was waiting at a bus stop in Minneapolis when she was approached by her pimp and persuaded to drive to New York and go to work on the streets.

"At that time I loved him," she said, "and, more or less, I had to prove to him I loved him; he said I had to do it." URGED TO EARN MORE

The youngest of the three said that shortly after she was recruited in Minneapolis, she was hustling in Midtown Manhattan, earning $20 a customer and under pressure from her pimp to make as much as possible.

When she resisted, she said the pimp broke her jaw and then forced her to continue hustling with her jaw wired. After attempting suicide, she said, she turned herself in to authorities.

The 18-year-old said her pimp picked her up on a Minneapolis street, and "talked about New York as his dream city, a place where we could make a lot of money and have a new life." "So one day we just took a plane here."

That was in June of last year, she said. She hustled from then until last month, picking up customers on the streets and taking them to hotels or massage parlors that charged $5 for the use of a room.

She estimated she turned $100,000 over to her pimp during 15 months of work and was arrested 50 times. Her fines averaged $100 each arrest.

Finally, she said, her pimp beat her up, breaking her nose, and she ran into the street, the pimp in pursuit. Police who witnessed the chase arrested the pimp and sent her home.

Stollen holiday dessert

Christmas Stollen has long been a tradition in Germany and all over Europe. It has stood the test of time and is happily anticipated every year. This delicious version can bring the same anticipation to your home.

Once you try this Christmas Stollen, it will become a custom. The bright holiday colours of candied fruit glazes throughout this festive bread. Instant skim milk powder contributes a texture that is tender yet has substance. Almonds, lemon rind, nutmeg and cinnamon round out this delicious combination of flavours.

The recipe makes two loaves so you do not have the hard decision of whether to keep it yourself or give it as a gift. It is traditionally served Christmas morning, but is delightful with coffee or tea at any time. Take the time to make it this year and chances are you will make it every year.

CHRISTMAS STOLLEN
(Makes 2 loaves)
1 cup boiling water
One-third cup granulated sugar
One-third cup soft butter

1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon sugar
2 envelopes dry granular yeast
2 slightly beaten eggs
1 teaspoon almond extract
5 to 5 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup Carnation Instant Skim Milk Powder
4 cups (approx. 20 ounces) cut-up mixed candied fruit and peel
1 cup seedless raisins
1/2 cup chopped blanched almonds
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
Melted butter
1 tablespoon granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine boiling water, one-third cup sugar, butter and salt. Cool. Measure lukewarm water into bowl. Stir in 1 teaspoon sugar until dissolved. Sprinkle yeast over mixture. Let stand 10 minutes; stir well. Stir in cooled water-butter mixture, eggs and almond extract. Add 2 cups flour and skim milk powder; beat until smooth. Mix in candied fruit and peel, raisins, almonds, lemon rind and nutmeg. Work in additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out on floured board. Knead until elastic, working in additional flour, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in large buttered bowl. Cover; let rise in warm place until double in bulk, 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Punch dough down. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead. Divide in half. Roll each half into an oval shape 1/2 inch thick. Brush with melted butter. Mix 1 tablespoon sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle half over each oval. Make crease down centre of each oval. Fold in half. Place on large lightly greased cookie sheet. Cover; let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, 1 to 1 1/4 hours. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 35 to 40 minutes. Remove from pans. Cook on wire racks. Glaze: Icing Sugar Glaze: Combine 1 1/2 cups sifted icing sugar, 1 teaspoon instant skim milk powder and 1 1/2 tablespoons water. Spread over cooled Stollens. The Right Reverend D.W. Hambridge, bishop of Caledonia, a diocese in northern British Columbia and the Peace River will be a guest at St. Paul's rectory in Knowlton when he is visiting the Deanery on November 24 and 25. He will address a Deanery meeting on the 24 and on the following day he will lead a "quiet day" from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at St. John's Church in Brome Village. All are invited to attend this pre-Advent event which provides perhaps the last opportunity for a little quiet before the onslaught of the busy Christmas preparations.

At St. Paul's Church, at the 11 a.m. service, on October 30, the choir sang the anthem "God who gives to life its goodness" taken from the new Anglican-United hymn book and set to the beautiful tune called "Abbot's Leigh". The reader of the Epistle at the service was Miss Janet Woodley.

There is a book on the counter at the rear of St. Paul's Church, called "Program Book 1977," which describes all the various projects in Canada and elsewhere in the world, which are financially supported by the Anglican Church of Canada. Part of the parish budget of St. Paul's Church goes to these projects each year, therefore it may be of interest to some of the members of the congregation to learn how this money is spent. Borrow this book, dealing with mission programs, if desired. The Primate's World Relief and Development Fund is used over and above these commitments.

WI meeting

AYER'S CLIFF — The November meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the United Church Hall on November 4 with eleven members and one guest present.

The President, Mrs. Nelson Pierce welcomed everyone and all joined in repeating the Mary Stewart Collect. The theme of this meeting was Citizenship and each member purchased a poppy as she answered the roll call.

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. A. Lord substituting for Mrs. K. Little who was unable to be present. The treasurer's report showed a good balance with only the Service Fund to be paid.

Correspondence consisted of two thank-you notes and the Provincial President's first news letter. The convenor's outlines were also given out at this time.

A letter was read from Miss Martin, a former teacher here, who has a Red Cross autographed quilt made in 1927 which she will send to us to keep if we wish to have it. Mrs. Pierce said she had written to tell her that we would be pleased to have it. Convenors' reports followed: Agriculture - No report as convenor was absent. Citizenship - Mrs. M. B. Thompson read an interesting clipping on the Maple Leaf and reported that the children had collected for UNICEF at Hallowe'en but that the total was not yet known.

Education - Mrs. J. Walker reported that project Genesis has been set up in East Angus with Don Watson in charge. The building in Baldwin's Mills could not be made ready for this winter. Anyone having anything to donate can contact Mrs. Walker.

Home Economics - Mrs. T. Ride read the competition lists: Q.W.I. competition, J & P Coats and Expo Quebec; also our own County group exhibit list for 1978.

Welfare and Health - Mrs. A. Lord gave a tip that she had heard regarding taking pills; it is not advisable to take pills with milk due to the calcium content.

Mrs. Astbury gave a very full report of the County meeting held in Stanstead. In the report it was revealed that due to an error in adding the points of the articles in the exhibit our group has dropped to fifth place and Stanstead North to second place.

At this point in the meeting the President was honoured on behalf of our branch to pay tribute to Mrs. William Robinson who has had forty-two years perfect attendance. She was presented with an F.W.I.C. pin and a card which all signed. Mrs. Robinson joined the Institute in 1935 and has attended every meeting since that time in spite of broken bones at one time and other times when less loyal members would have stayed at home. The group is indeed very proud of our Louise and we feel sure that this is a record unequalled anywhere in the Dominion if not the world. Mrs. Ivy Hatch was present and took pictures of this memorable occasion.

It was agreed to purchase a cross for Remembrance Day.

Some plans were made for the next meeting with Mrs. J. Walker and Mrs. A. Lord volunteering to act as a committee to help plan the basket lunch.

The executive is in charge of arranging the special program for the December 2nd meeting.

The program for this meeting was that each member bring an old book and tell something special about it. This proved to be most interesting. The books were displayed for all to look over.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Pierce, the one hostess for this meeting was assisted by Flora Astbury and Elsie Whitcomb in the unavoidable absence of Mrs. B. Holmes who was the other hostess.

SUTTON — The Baptist Mission Circle observed the Baptist World's Day of Prayer on Nov. 7 at the Parsonage when nine members and one visitor were in attendance.

The President Mrs. H. Woodard in her introductory remarks stated that the theme for the prayer service was "A Future and a Hope." This was followed by prayer and the hymn "God of Mercy, God of Grace" was read in unison.

Mrs. H. Surtees gave a reading entitled "This is the day the Lord has made" and informed the members that this is the 30th year that the Day of Prayer has been observed, having been started in London in 1948. The purpose was to encourage European women after the war and later it was extended over the world since 1951. It is observed as a day of Thanksgiving now and is a challenge to help needy people around the world.

Mrs. O.H. Baker's devotional was entitled "A letter about our Life". Mrs. Baker gave an interesting account of Jeremiah's letter to the Israelites when they were carried away captive into Babylon. God's message to them was for them to work in the cities, make gardens and promised after 70 years he would restore their land. Today God is also concerned about us, he gives us hope because he is ever present with us, he wants us to face reality, use our talents, care for others and be responsive to new conditions that arise. Mrs. H. Robinson read an article on last year's prayer service of the African Union, the people there represented many countries, they joined hands and sang together.

Mrs. R.C. Gibson read an account of the European Union which was titled "A Future in Freedom and Fear". Christians living in Beirut live constantly in fear of torture and death, yet God in his mercy has spared many in a wonderful way, their faith is strengthened and in spite of hardships they considered it a privilege to offer some small service to their community in the Lord's name. Miss L. Bennett told of the Americas. People of Guatemala gave thanks for all the help they had received after the earthquake.

Mrs. C. Lawrence gave an account of the Baptist Women in the South Pacific as they are growing spiritually, some walked four or five hours to attend the prayer meeting.

Mrs. H. Woodard's article was on the North American Union. There are seventeen varieties of Baptists in North America and there has been an increase in attendance at these Baptist's World's Day of Prayer gatherings.

Mrs. N. Mudgett read a message from the National President Mrs. Mathis which said that Baptist Women's Day of Prayer crosses all lines that divide us. We gather in one Church. We have an increasing conscience to pray for one another. We need to demonstrate our faith and we need to give a generous offering.

The Lord's Prayer and other sacred music was rendered on the record player during the Service and following the meeting.

A short business meeting then took place and the hostess Mrs. Woodard served refreshments.

lead. The defense took three spades and shifted to a club which was won in dummy.

Some South players cashed the ace of trumps in case there was a singleton queen. There was, but it fell from East and West made a trump trick.

Smarter declarers saw that if West did hold a singleton queen there was no way to make the hand. But if East held her unguarded ladyship, a low spade from dummy would win. They led the low spade intending to finesse the jack. But when the queen came up they took their king, played the jack of spades, finessed against West's 10 and had their 10 tricks.

Remembrance Service

SAWYERVILLE — The Remembrance Day Service was held on Nov. 11th, with the first part in the Legion Hall, where Mr. Dodier, Mayor, welcomed everyone in French and English.

Rev. Kaiser, Rev. Simons and Rev. Jervis-Read all gave Bible readings and short talks on War and Peace and Remembrance and had prayers.

Father Hudon spoke a few words in French and closed this part with the benediction.

All went to the cenotaph for the rest of the service when wreaths were laid by the Town, several businesses and the many Organizations of the town.

The bugler was Mr. Kennedy from Bishop's College.

Several went to East Clifton to put on a service there, then all returned to the Legion Hall where a hot dinner was served.

Capt. Lionel Hurd extended thanks to all who came for the service and to the bugler, also to the Ladies' Auxiliary for the dinner.

Several members from the A.N.A.F. in Lennoxville attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Potter of Groveton, N.H., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Parker. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Armon McBurney and Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle McBurney. Mr. Rodney Parker of Kitchener, Ont., spent a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Parker and also enjoyed some hunting.

WE ASKED

thousands of owners, drivers and mechanics what they want most in a truck

THE ANSWER.

NEW S-SERIES FROM INTERNATIONAL

New S-Series is here. We started with a clean sheet of paper — and ideas from truck people like you. Ideas to simplify owning, driving and servicing a truck. Owners have a choice of three basic models with thirteen variations. Gas or diesel choice from 180 hp. to 360 hp. including the first 360 hp. big-bore diesel for 91.3" BBC conventionals. The strong cab has one-piece door frame. Zinc coated steel fights cab rust. Gauges have advanced electronics. Cross flow radiator with separate de-aeration system is center mounted to resist twisting. Many more new ideas help ease the cost of ownership. Drivers have a big, hand-somely appointed cab up to 90" wide. Heater and air-conditioner respond to personal comfort.

Comfortable seats keep the driver as productive as his truck. Mechanics will appreciate that standardization has greatly reduced the total number of parts. For example, standard cab design reduces cab components by up to 38%. The hood tilts open 70° for easy engine accessibility. Components are conveniently placed. Separate wiring diagrams for five component systems simplify electrical trouble-shooting. Dash mounted electronic gauges are easily serviced. See the answer at your IH Truck Centre. Learn how right a truck can be for your job.

Ring fight

The fighting was in a ring last night in Sherbrooke as 900 boxing fans turned out at the CEGEP to witness 22 local amateurs compete in 11 bouts. Boxers from the CEGEP boxing club were victorious eight times against their opponents from East Angus, Coaticook, Drummondville and Sherbrooke. Four men from the CEGEP club who have only been boxing since September, won their respective bouts. Mario Goulet, Richard Labrie, Jean-Louis Gagnon, William Tropper, Denis Fleury, Daniel Theberge, Ghyslain Lavoie and Marc Fabi were triumphant against their adversaries. CEGEP coach Jacques Bilodeau said the bout between Fabi and Yvan Desruisseaux was the best of the evening - the two men showed good technique in an excellent match. Pictured above are Denis Fleury (left) and Luc Valence going through their paces.

Beavers prepare to meet challenge

By LEN O'DONNELL
SHERBROOKE — The Beavers face a heavy weekend with three games on tap in four days. This evening they clash with the Sags of Chicoutimi, away, and on Friday they return to the Sports Palace to tangle with the Dynamos of Shawinigan and Sunday night they travel to Shawinigan to complete their week-end schedule.

Coach Delage has been putting his charges through their paces the past four days and is hoping for a better performance for the coming tilts. He had two new goalies at the workouts, Roger Belanger of Trois Pistoles, and Serge Guillemette of Windsor. He had not yet decided who he would call on for duty in the coming games. "I hope to have a full lineup ready for action as these games are crucial ones for us. I know the moral of the team has been low considering the way the last few games turned out but I am sure the boys will be ready and will go all-out in an effort to get on the winning side of the ledger," said Coach Delage. "I don't want to put all the blame on the goalies, D'Aoust and Riendeau. We are in a vicious circle and until we can get the defence and the forwards to come back with the play it won't change. The defence is getting caught out of position and, until this is solved, things won't change much. I know we have young players and the only solution is practice and more practice." "D'Aoust and Riendeau are playing under terrific pressure and this hurts their concentration. We have been working in an effort to solve our problems but it will take some time. We possess plenty of good players and once we can get our big problems straightened out, it will change," added Delage. Jean-Francois Brisson, who was suspended by Coach Delage for not reporting to St. Francois Jr. B, met with the local pilot and ironed out their differences and he will report to Coach Andre Boisvert - maybe along with a goalie since the Beavers have four in camp.

WHA - Bassett out for season

HARTFORD, Conn. (CP) — Harold Baldwin, president of the World Hockey Association, announced Wednesday night that John F. Bassett of Toronto, owner of Birmingham Bulls, has been suspended by the league for six months.

A WHA spokesman said the suspension results from Birmingham's signing of Ken Linseman, a 19-year-old centre who played with Kingston Canadians of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior series last season, in violation of a WHA regulation prohibiting the signing of under-age (younger than 20) junior players.

As a result of the ruling, the spokesman said the Bulls also are required to post a $100,000 performance bond guaranteeing the team will comply with all league bylaws, rules and regulations.

Bassett, principal owner of the Bulls, serves as the team's president and as its trustee on the WHA's board of trustees.

The spokesman said Bassett, while under suspension, will not be allowed to participate in the hockey operations of the Bulls. Responsibility for all such matters will rest with the team's general manager, Gilles Leger, and its coach, Glen Sonmor.

The spokesman, however, said Bassett will retain his seat on the WHA board of trustees throughout his suspension and will continue to represent the franchise in all non-hockey related matters, such as the marketing and business operations of the team.

BU teams outplay Johnson State College

Hussey paces Gaiters to win

LENNOXVILLE (BP) — Bishop's University basketball teams brought home twin wins from Johnson, Vermont, yesterday. The men won 91-71 over Johnson State College, while the BU women outclassed their opponents in a 94-31 decision.

Wayne Hussey paced the Gaiters with 19 points. Arnie Dolphin and Dave Thornhill added 12 each to the cause, while Trevor Bennett and Mike Hines scored 11 apiece. Ian McLean put away 10 points. In addition to Bennett's points, the lanky

All of Bishop's girls saw action against Johnson State. Linda MacPherson scored 20 points, while Wanda Hines and Inger Breida sunk 16 and 12 respectively.

WEEKEND TOURNAMENT

Bishop's is hosting both a men's and women's hoop tournament this weekend, beginning at 3 p.m. Friday and running until 5 p.m. Saturday.

The women's section will provide some tense competition as four of the dominion's top teams, Concordia, John Abbott, Ottawa Rookies and Bishop's, will try for top honor. UQTR, Guelph, Montreal Grads and host Bishop's will battle in the men's division.

Pomerleau nets three, leads Draveurs to win

Denis Cyr scored on a power play at 9:53 of the third period to pull Montreal Juniors into 5-5 tie with Verdun Black Hawks in Quebec Major Junior Hockey League action Wednesday night.

In the other game, Trois-Rivieres Draveurs defeated Quebec Remparts 6-2 behind Denis Pomerleau's three-goal performance.

John Phillips and Mark Hardy scored two goals each for the Juniors' other scoring against Verdun, while the home-standing Black Hawks got two goals each from Jean-Francois Boutin and Yves Richer and a single from Normand Aubin.

Montreal had a 32-20 edge in shots on goal before 2,537 fans and is 13-6-4 in the LeBel Division, a point behind leading Cornwall Royals.

Pomerleau sparked a Trois-Rivieres comeback at Quebec City with three second-period goals and the Draveurs got other scores from Mario Simard, Normand Lefebvre and Jean-Marc Bonamie. Claude Lafontaine and Michel Leblond replied for the Remparts.

Quebec outshot Trois-Rivieres 37-35 before 2,159. The Draveurs are 19-6-1 for 39 points to lead the Dilio Division, while the Remparts are 9-15-1 for 19 points in fourth place.

In games tonight, Sherbrooke Beavers visit Chicoutimi Sagueniens and Cornwall plays host to Hull Olympiques.

100-year-old colonial inn slated for demolition

1980 Winter Olympics underway

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — On the corner of Main St. in this mountain resort town stands a gracious, 100-year-old colonial-style inn, complete with sweeping lawns and spacious porches.

It may not stand there much longer.

Caught in the currents sweeping Lake Placid toward the 1980 Winter Olympics, that inn, the Homestead, is slated to be torn down to make way for a Hilton franchise.

For some town residents, the change is a disquieting augur of things to come, a symbol of the mixed blessings that will accompany the hoped-for economic benefits of playing host to the Olympics.

"We all had a kind of sentimental attachment for the Homestead," says Mary Prime, a resident of the village in which she has lived since 1922.

But Peter Roland, owner of the hotel, scoffs at such feelings. "Sentiment is great stuff, but you can't eat it."

As Lake Placid nears the end of its first season of construction for the Olympics, Roland and Prime agree that the problem is to accommodate the Olympics-inspired business without ruining the qualities for which visitors come to the area.

Lake Placid is the kind of place for which the word picturesque was made. It sits on the edge of a small lake surrounded by the ancient and beautiful High Peaks of the Adirondacks. Tasteful old homes and the rambling Lake Placid Club are reminders of the day when the area was a popular, fashionable playground of the affluent.

Main St., less than a 15-minute stroll in length, has pleasant outdoors stores, fancy dress shops, book stores and small restaurants. The town has one traffic light and a population of about 2,900 supported almost entirely by tourism.

But like most of the Adirondack region, with its rugged landscape and harsh winters, Lake Placid has chronically high unemployment and a generally sluggish economy. Many of its facilities—such as the only bobsled run in North America and the 1932 Olympic arena—are money-losing propositions.

Lake Placid wants the prestige and publicity of the Olympics and the millions of federal and state dollars that are enabling it to build up-to-date sports facilities. Its businessmen and community leaders who worked hard for more than a decade to bring the Olympics back here again envision lots more tourist dollars flowing into their town and businesses.

NEW PROBLEMS
But almost as soon as bulldozers and earthmovers moved into town this summer to set in motion a $70-million construction program, Lake Placid stumbled into problems.

Excavation, blasting and other construction work are scarring the wilderness landscape, causing serious pollution of an Adirondack brook and provoking cries of protest from environmentalists.

Construction isn't providing as many jobs as expected. Big chains are putting up hotels in town. Local merchants fear they will be unable to compete with national manufacturers in the marketing of Olympic souvenirs. There's discontent among motel owners over a plan to control prices during the Olympic period.

The organizing committee contends its "no frills" construction program guarantees that residents will not suffer heavy additional tax burdens to support facilities after the Games. But many of the facilities left over from the 1932 Olympics did turn out to be money losers.

Pine worries about pollution of pretty Mirror Lake in the middle of the village and about the tearing up of the Adirondack landscape for the Olympics housing, the ski jump and other facilities. She worries about the cost of groceries during the Olympic period. All this, though she sees the Olympics as the only way to give the village a new lease on life as a tourist and sports centre.

Roland, also a longtime Lake Placid resident, admits to none of Prime's worries. He gets slightly miffed at suggestions that the Olympics will ruin Lake Placid's character or hurt the surrounding wilderness areas.

Lake Placid will host the 1980 winter Olympics and residents have started to prepare for the expected onslaught.

Grey Cup fever is in the air

70,000 fans will be on hand for the 1977 Grey Cup at the Olympic Stadium in Montreal on November 27.

The biggest weekend in Canadian sports ... Grey Cup 1977, unfolds in exciting fashion on CBC television, November 26 and 27.

This year's entertainment package, designed for ardent football fans and "once a year" boosters alike, has the Grey Cup Parade at 12 noon on Saturday, followed by the 1976 Grey Cup Replay at 2:30 p.m. ... and on Sunday, the Grey Cup Programme at 11:30 a.m., followed by the 1977 Grey Cup Game at 1:00 p.m.

The dean of CBC sportscasters, Ted Reynolds, and humorist, Max Ferguson, will lead things off Saturday by describing this year's two-and-a-half-hour march-past of 20 bands and 36 floats as it winds its way from Montreal's Lafontaine Park to Dominion Square. The CBC will have a float entry marking its 25th anniversary in television and the parade marshal will be Sam Berger, owner of the Montreal Alouette Football Club. Larry Brown of CBC Winnipeg will produce the CBC English Division coverage of the parade.

Following the parade, Saturday at 2:30 p.m., is the 90-minute 1976 Grey Cup Replay, bringing back all the key plays which led to one of the most exciting Grey Cup finishes in history at Toronto's CNE Stadium. Fans will be able to relive the moment when Ottawa Rough Rider quarterback, Tom Clements, threw a last-minute touchdown pass to tight-end, Tony Gabriel, to gain a 23 to 20 victory over Ron Lancaster and the Saskatchewan Roughriders.

On Sunday at 11:30 a.m., a new feature this season, The Grey Cup Programme, will certainly heighten viewer interest as game time approaches. Affable host, Ernie Afaganis, will use all of his expertise, as he did at the 1976 Montreal Olympics, to bring fans the "people" side of the Grey Cup events and the "inside" information about the two teams.

As the pages of the Grey Cup Programme turn, viewers will see a CFL season flashback showing how the two teams made it to the big final, there'll be an assessment of each team by the opposing coaches, and highlights of Grey Cup Week Functions, including the Grey Cup dinner, Schenley Awards, and Miss Grey Cup Week functions, including the Grey Cup dinner, Schenley Awards, and Miss Grey Cup presentations. Larry Kimber of CBC Winnipeg is Executive Producer of the Grey Cup Programme. Larry Brown of CBC Winnipeg is Producer, and Brent Heywood of CBC Winnipeg and Michael Lansbury of CBC Toronto are Directors of the show.

Sunday, November 27, at 1:00 p.m., with a record crowd of 70,000 and the gigantic Olympic Stadium lending an atmosphere that hasn't prevailed before, the greatest sports spectacle in Canadian history ... the 1977 Grey Cup Game, will be on the air.

Host for CBC-TV's English coverage will be Tom McKee, who has been deeply involved in the relatively short broadcasting history of the Olympic Stadium.

Doing his eighth Grey Cup Game as CBC television's play-by-play commentator will be Don Chevrier, who anticipates the sensation of excitement at Olympic Stadium on November 27 will be even greater than the Super Bowl. Providing color commentary on the game will be two of the most famous names ever to appear in a Grey Cup line-up ... Russ Jackson, former Ottawa Rough Rider star quarterback, and Frank Rigney, former all-star lineman with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. CBC's Don Wittman and CTV's Bill Stephenson will be stationed at the team benches during the game to report on events happening there. As in past years, CTV will be sharing the Grey Cup coverage with the CBC.

This year's half-time entertainment feature will have a vital new look ... a tribute to fitness, recreation and amateur sport in Canada, featuring 2,000 men, women and children from age 7 to 103, demonstrating their ways of keeping fit. Each visitor to Olympic Stadium for the Grey Cup will receive a red, white or blue scarf publicizing the upcoming Commonwealth Games in Edmonton next year.

MELBOURNE RIDGE — The Nov. meeting of the M.R.U.C.W. was held at the home of Myrtle Johnston with Mary Johnston as co-hostess.

The meeting was opened by repeating the U.C.W. purpose in unison.

The devotional period was taken by Gladys Hopper starting with a poem and continuing with a reading on the meaning of being a Christian. She closed with a prayer.

Two of our loyal members were honored at this meeting by being presented with a life membership.

Mary Johnston, a long time member was the first. While thanking the members she expressed the feeling that because of her blindness she feels limited in her work for the U.C.W. She still does her share of baking for the teas and sale tables and for the Nov. meeting each year. It is a pleasure to have her at the meetings and to listen to her many stories that she tells so well.

The second member honored was Gertrude Marshall who was unable to be at the meeting because of a recent stay in the hospital. After the meeting was finished everyone drove to Gertrude's home and surprised her by presenting her with her pin. She was a member of the Plymouth United Church in Sherbrooke for many years before coming to Melbourne Ridge. We all wish her recovery to good health soon.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The correspondence was a letter from Gladys Hopper with thanks for sympathy extended.

Marg Smith reported sending a Christmas gift and letter to our foster child Lau Wing Keung.

Supply secretary reported some money on hand.

Literature secretary asked if members had any new books to put in the library as all the books there have been read.

The Friday tea at the Wales Home will be hosted by Gladys Hopper and Shirley Fowler.

The nominating committee are Marg Smith and Shirley Fowler.

Donations were made to the John Milton Society for the blind and the Fellowship of the Least Coin.

The list for Christmas cards to be sent was read and members were asked for new names.

The next meeting will be held at Ada Barrie's home.

The president closed by reading a poem titled, How do you play the game? Lunch was served by the hostesses.

were read.

The area vice-president, Mrs. Basil Prescott, then presented Mrs. Randall Williams with her Life Membership pin in the United Church Women.

The Pennies for Peace banks were turned in to the Treasurer.

A long discussion on Christmas activities followed and each member is asked to bring in two gifts, one for a woman and one for a man. These are to be taken to the Youville Hospital by the Visiting Committee.

The U.C.W. group will go out for supper and return to the home of Rev. and Mrs. Gaudine to sing carols and exchange gifts.

The slate of officers for the coming year was presented by Mrs. K. McBurney on behalf of the Nominating Committee:
