ON THE RIVER — Delmer Fearon remembers the winter months when the St. Francis was their only road to town from the farm in Ascot North which was settled by his grandfather.

Farmer - mayor has roots deep in Ascot's soil

By IVY PANKOVITCH
(Record Staff Reporter)

"Some council meetings can get pretty hot". He remembers one that lasted 'till two in the morning. He couldn't be prodded into recounting any lively incidents. "Meetings", he says "are serious business".

Delmer Fearon has been going to them for 21 years — 14 as a councillor and the last seven as mayor of the Municipality of Ascot.

Sitting at the dining room table, in the farm house where he was born, and his father before him, he talked to a Record reporter. Mrs. Fearon was resting on the chesterfield in the next room, just out of hospital, and watching Walter Cronkite with their grandson, who lives with them.

The house is perched on a hill, overlooking the St. Francis river, among lovely old trees.

Mr. Fearon has a hothouse where he grows 40 to 50 dozen different kinds of flowers. He has them all around the house in the summer and sold some last year.

The land was first settled by Mr. Fearon's grandfather 130 years ago. A framed plaque hung on the wall—awarded by the E.T. Historical Society to a "century property owner". Another with a centennial medal was given to Mr. Fearon for having done most to serve his municipality.

Mr. Fearon is a dairy farmer, with 200 acres of land and 50 head of cattle. He remembers when he carted milk with horse drawn vehicles, seven days a week, winter and summer. Today it is picked up at the door.

He went to a little red schoolhouse on Moulton Hill and later walked three miles each day to Ascot School.

His grandson, Peter Hodge, will attend the new Regional High School, next year just across the river, the same river they once used as a road during the winter months.

The Municipality of Ascot covers 29,400 acres with a population of 3,315. Council business includes roads, water, sewage disposal and lighting. Fire protection is provided by Sherbrooke, Waterville, Cookshire and North Hatley, and is now completely paid by the municipality.

Mr. Fearon admits that most complaints are about road conditions. When he first became councillor the roads were cleared with a wooden roller—and only the main ones at that.

Taxes, he says, are lower in Ascot than in any other municipality. Ralph Broadhurst has been secretary treasurer since before Mr. Fearon's time, and can readily identify any area by the lot number.

There used to be a lot of deer on the farm, the odd bobcat and a lynx was spotted only two years ago. They are pretty scarce now.

His son is not very interested in farming. Mr. Fearon has started to sell a few lots—one to a teacher at the new Regional school, which he sees as a great boon to the area. Building is on the increase. Traffic is going to be a problem and he says the roads will have to be improved.

In 21 years the population proportion of 60 per cent English to 40 per cent French speaking has been completely reversed. Although unilingual, Mr. Fearon says he gets along fine with the French speaking population.

Your weekend weather

It could even snow

Eastern Township residents have a wet and cold weekend ahead of them with a slight possibility of a repeat performance of last Friday's snowstorm.

Although the sun will be out for scattered periods on Saturday, East Angus Aeradio Station reports high temperatures will be in the low 50's and high 40's.

Precipitation is predicted for tonight and Sunday and lows in the 30's may bring one last snowfall.

Crime, religion, money and medicine in news

FRIDAY, April 18, 1969 — Mrs. Therese Chady, 41, of Richmond, was charged with the murder of her son Pierre when she appeared before Session Court Judge Benoit Turmel.

The incident dates back to last March 11, when the six-year-old boy was found drowned in the bathtub by his father.

This is the second incident of the sort to happen within a few years. Some years ago, a first child of the Chady family had died in similar circumstances.

Mrs. Chady received psychiatric treatment last year, suffering from nervous and emotional problems.

Canada can and should play a major role in reversing a western isolationist and reactionary trend in Africa that could lead to race wars and other serious problems in developing countries there.

Guy Arnold, director of the Africa Bureau in Britain, said former European colonial powers have forsaken responsibilities and have withdrawn to solve their own problems.

In an interview before he spoke to the Sherbrooke branch of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, he said Canada, as a leading member of the Commonwealth, may hold black Africa's last chance with white Europe in its palm.

Four men arrested in connection with the Tip Top Tailor break-in were ordered to stand trial by Sessions Judge Benoit Turmel.

Charges at their preliminary hearing were illegal entry of a commercial establishment, attempted theft, and possession of burglary tools.

Two of the men, Normand Lincourt and Richard Belavance obtained bail. Jean-Claude Turcotte and Dores Gattien were refused bail because of long records.

They are all from St. Hyacinthe.

15 years of tolls

SATURDAY, April 19, 1969 — Claude Gosselin, Quebec minister of lands and forests, said experts who helped design Amsterdam airport, the best in the world, agree Drummondville is a better site for Montreal's superport than Ste. Scholastique.

Speaking to the Lake Massawippi Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Gosselin attacked the federal government's decision to build the international airport north of Montreal, saying fog and weather conditions there make it a dangerous location.

He said Quebec government officials had engaged experts who helped to design Amsterdam and Paris' Orly airports to study the possible sites.

They reported, he said, that Ste. Scholastique was not the best location for the new superport.

Eastern Townships residents who have been looking forward to a drop ET Autoroute tolls may have to wait at least another 15 years.

Claude Gosselin, Quebec minister of lands and forests answered questions on the subject at the Lake Massawippi Chamber of Commerce meeting and said tolls paid presently aren't enough to pay the interest on the loan obtained to build the road.

Mr. Gosselin said the government is looking into the toll situation but doesn't think there will be a drop because it will take at least 15 years to pay off the loan.

Bulls fed and cared for at the Quebec department of agriculture Record of Performance farm at St. Hyacinthe.

cinthe brought the top prices at the 19th annual beef cattle sale at the Sherbrooke arena.

Thirty-seven animals were sold for a total price of $13,475.

The bulls were the first ever sold in Quebec after going through the systematic care at the station.

Baptist Society meets

SUNDAY, April 20, 1969 — The Conservative Baptist Society is holding its 10th annual missionary conference in the Sawyerville Baptist Church April 20 to April 27. The Sawyerville conference will hear Rev. Harold Salseth, a teacher of the Ruanguba Bible School, in the Congo, tell of his many experiences there. Mr. Salseth will speak Monday night.

An acute lack of housing became a major problem at the school last year.

City records big deficit

MONDAY, April 21, 1969 — A frustrated council blamed Sherbrooke's serious financial problems, revealed in the 1968 financial statement, on the provincial and federal governments.

eral governments.

Ald. Marcel Savard general administration committee chairman, in presenting the statement, said the total deficit of $1,101,960 presented "a grave situation but not yet a desperate one."

Ald. Savard said Sherbrooke wasn't the only city with similar problems and he would like to know what municipalities would have to do before the higher governments would listen to the cries for help.

Sherbrooke spent $20,464,487 in 1968, $728,209 more than it received in revenue.

The 1968 financial statement, presented at the council meeting, showed the deficit was $162,268 more than had been expected.

Ald. Marcel Savard said a belt-tightening program had not worked.

City revenues were $19,726,278 collected from nine sources.

The C. J. Brown Clothes Pin factory in Danville which has been operated since 1920 by the Brown family was completely burned to the ground despite the hard work of firemen.

According to Bill Brown, manager, and Chief of police Leo Gagnon, who were on the scene shortly after the alarm was sounded at 9:20 p.m. evidence shows someone had broken into the office and arson is suspected.

Medical relationship

TUESDAY, April 22, 1969 — "With the close relationship between the Sherbrooke Hospital and the University of Sherbrooke medical center, more active consultants have been appointed to the medical staff and greater pressure is being applied for the expansion program of the hospital," said C. C. Skinner in an address to members of the Hospital Corporation at the annual meeting.

Mr. Skinner presented the president's report, the 71st annual report of the Corporation of the Sherbrooke Hospital to its members at the Norton Residence.

"During the year", he said, "various meetings were held with representatives of the University of Sherbrooke to review the integral problems arising from the relationship."

The provincial vehicle license bureau on Dufferin Street in Sherbrooke will be closed all day tomorrow to allow movers to transfer operations to the new government building on Galt Street.

Director Antonio Pinard announced the measure. In the future all motor vehicle transactions will be handled in the building situated at 730 Galt Street Terrace.

Sherbrooke Rotarians heard five young contestants expose their views on different matters during the annual Oratorical Contest, sponsored by the Montreal Rotary Club.

Contestants were judged on presentation of subject, poise, pronunciation, gestures and vocal intonation.

The winner was 16-year-old Paul Trollope, of Sherbrooke High School. He will go on to the final contest in Montreal May 13.

Strike damages net jail

WEDNESDAY, April 23, 1969 — Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Dibble have returned from Nigeria and, until next November, they will remain in Sherbrooke to rest. Mrs. Dibble is the former Phyllis Statton, of Lennoxville. The couple and their family have been doing missionary work in Africa for many years.

Mr. Dibble was born in Nigeria, the son of American parents who went to the country in 1931. He estimated his total number of years of service in Nigeria as 24.

Three young men sentenced each to eight days in jail by Sessions Court Judge Benoit Turmel, for having caused material damages to the St. Georges Pavilion last August during a labor dispute.

They are Yvan Bernard, 20, Pierre Chappelaine, 21, and Guy Letourneau, 21, all residents of Sherbrooke.

Chappelaine chose to be tried immediately before Judge Turmel while the two others pleaded guilty to the charge.

Citizens from all walks of life will march May 10 to awaken Sherbrooke to the drama of the poverty of two thirds of the world and to raise $10,000 to finance an irrigation project in Peru.

The participants will ask for $1 a mile from contributors in their march for development.

Organizers, co-ordinated by Father Real Tremblay revealed their plans and motive at a press conference.

The marchers will leave St. Alphonse park, corner of Vermont and Paton Streets, at 8 a.m. They will attempt to walk until 8 p.m.

Spring Thing at Island Brook marks education turning point

ISLAND BROOK — A concert organized and produced by Elizabeth Parks, Dodie Goodwin, Jean Clarkin and Arlene Davies of Bishop's University was held in the Island Brook Town Hall one Friday evening. This is the second year that the Big-Brother-Big Sister Program has been developed in Island Brook. Leslie Buckle who worked in this locality last year was able to be present and take part in the program.

Mrs. Alma Quinn and Mrs. Ruth Morrow assisted the students. Mrs. Quinn introduced the students and welcomed parents and friends.

The program opened with "O Canada", appearance of the players and some Favorite Songs by the Island Brook Glee Club. In the cast of Tigger gets Unbounced were: Winnie the Pooh - Terry Kerr; Piglet (his friend) - Doreen Smith; Rabbit (another friend) Patricia Coates; Kanga - Donna Woods; Roo (her daughter) Pauline McCutcheon; Tigger (a bouncy animal); Eeyore - Freddie Martin; Christopher Robin - Lawrence Coates; Weather Man - Charles Lloyd; Indispensable Scenery - Joanne Salls; Subtle Sign Man - Dennis Salls; Most Distinguished Narrators - Andrew Burns, Danny Goddard.

From the Poet's Corner, a presentation of the Island Brook Coral Readers featured: Tiddley-Pom - Danny Goddard; Animals - Doreen Smith (director); Now We Are Six - Joanne Salls; Pussy Willow - Andrew Burns; Silly Pussycat - Patricia Coates, Pauline McCutcheon; The Wind on the Hill - Lawrence Coates (director).

Archie French thanked all responsible for the effort and time spent organizing the concert. He produced records of wages earned in the early days of the community saying times have changed greatly from the days of the Little Red School House to the Regional Schools of today.

During intermission there was a homemade candy sale.

The Dubeau family's music and singing were an enjoyable addition to the intermission and also in between plays.

A puppet show, Little Green Riding Hood, had as cast: Little Green Riding Hood - Sandra Dutton; Skeleton (Wicked) - Neil Burns; Father - Allan Woods; Wood Cutter - Joe Marshall; Grannie - Wendy Lee Henderson. The Three Bears featured: Go-Idlocks - Joanne Marshall.

Mamma Bear - Robert Lister; Papa Bear - Ronald Lloyd; Baby Bear - Roland Lloyd. Cinderella's cast were: Ugly Step Sister - Dale Coates; Cinderella - Kathy Burns; Coach Man - Paul Dubeau; Handsome Prince - Grant Lister; Fairy God-Mother - Hank Coates. A gymnastics display was presented by Island Brook Gym Team under Leaders - Grant Lister, Dale Coates, Roland Lloyd and Paul Dubeau. The Wizard of Wilville was narrated by Joanne Marshall and featured: Auntie Grumble, Kathy Burns; Wizard of Wilville, Allan Woods; First Rabbit, Hank Coates; first Townsman, Joe Marshall; First Townswoman, Sandra Dutton; Rabbits and townsfolk, Dale Coates, Grant Lister, Roland Lloyd, Ronald Lloyd, Wendy Lee Henderson and Neil Burns.

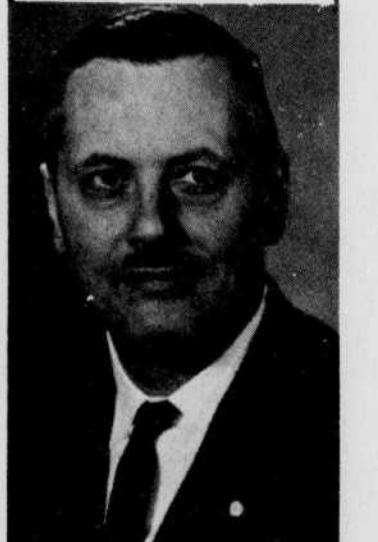

A highlight of the concert was a skit by Elizabeth Parks, Dodie Goodwin, Arlene Davies and Jean Clarkin, titled Rollicky Frolicky, Island Brook.

On behalf of the parents of the pupils attending Island Brook school, Mrs. Robert Burns thanked the girls for their dedication, in coming to our children and for the effort by which they endeavored to impart to them a taste for the things of culture. Thanks were also expressed to the teachers for all that they have done for these children.

Mrs. Burns said all concerned felt a sense of nostalgia at the closing of the little school where the grandparents of some of the children started their education; they have turned out to be pretty good people too.

We owe much to Mrs. Quinn and Mrs. Morrow, she said.

Mother, daughter banquet planned by Canusa Unit

DERBY LINE — Stanstead South Church, Canusa Unit, held its April meeting at the home of Mrs. Gordon Colby. Two guests were welcomed, Mrs. Ronald Quigley and Mrs. Richard Cheromcka.

Much of the evening was devoted to planning the Mother and Daughter banquet to be held in the church hall at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 14. A committee of Mrs. John Flood, Mrs. Roland Curtis, Mrs. Roy Davis and Mrs. Raymond Curtis agreed to be in charge of arrangements, with Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Roger Beadle in charge of the program and the hall decorations.

It was brought to the attention of the members that there is need of paper, crayons, coloring books and toys for the Sunday School nursery class. Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Flood were given authority to purchase them.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Colby, Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Edward Jenne.

Hellyer - Trudeau split on basic differences

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Paul Hellyer, in sharp disagreement with Prime Minister Trudeau's constitutional concept, is quitting the cabinet, the first minister to resign since the Trudeau government assumed office one year ago.

The 45-year-old minister, considered one of the strongest members of cabinet, announced Thursday he was resigning because he could not get cabinet approval for his housing program.

But he made it clear his difficulties went far beyond this. "If you boil it right down to fundamentals, I think it is the concept of federalism and perhaps the prime minister's view that housing and urban affairs are not areas of primary concern to the federal government."

He could not, he said, accept "a theory of federalism which—however attractive in principle—is not viable from the standpoint of meeting the needs of a highly industrialized society and making it possible to solve the real problems created by the technological revolution."

Mr. Hellyer said his interpretation of Mr. Trudeau's concept of federalism is 10 nearly-autonomous provinces held together by a weak central government.

With the same calm delivery with which the transport minister announced his April 30 cabinet departure, Mr. Trudeau said he was sorry to lose "one of our best ministers."

With the exception of Senator Paul Martin, said the prime minister, Mr. Hellyer perhaps knew more about the Liberal party, the people in it, and the problems of Canada than anyone else. Although Mr. Trudeau said he did not agree with Mr. Hellyer's interpretation of everything, "I respect his judgement."

"And I respect his integrity." Although Mr. Hellyer's resignation hit Ottawa with a slam—it is the first public break in the Trudeau cabinet—members of Opposition parties did not express any astonishment.

"He confirmed what we suspected," said Conservative Leader Stanfield. He said the Trudeau government had a "narrow, legalistic approach" to the constitution that made action on such matters as housing and pollution impossible.

The transport minister had no other choice but to resign, said T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party.

"Indeed he could not do otherwise and maintain his self-respect."

The minister made his announcement at a news conference he called on 30 minutes notice. By the time he spoke, there was developing speculation that he might take such a step.

He will remain in the Commons as the MP for Toronto Trinity, a riding he first represented here in 1949. With the exception of an 18-month break in 1957-58, he has been that riding's MP ever since.

It is "a working man's riding," he said, and he knew his constituents could not understand politicians who pass responsibility from one government to another. People lacking decent housing were impatient with arguments over the division of powers.

Cabinet wins foreign policy vote

OTTAWA (CP) — Two cabinet ministers most intimately concerned with Canadian policy on NATO, Defence Minister Leo Cadieux and External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp, have defended the government's plan to cut the Canadian military contingent in Europe.

They led a government counter-attack in the Commons Thursday against two opposition non-confidence motions tied to the country's new look approach toward the defence alliance.

Several speakers and several hours later, the government majority easily succeeded in turning back the confidence motions, one sponsored by the Conservatives and one by the New Democrats.

Then the House endorsed overwhelmingly a government decision, announced by Prime Minister Trudeau April 3, to keep Canada in NATO but to reduce its military contribution by an unspecified amount.

The vote was 116 to 67, with only one opposition member, Henri Latulippe (Creditiste-Compton), voting with the government. It marked the end of a two-day foreign affairs debate.

Today, the Commons was scheduled to resume debate on the government's omnibus bill to amend the Criminal Code, which, among other things, would legalize abortion under certain conditions and remove homosexuality between consenting adults from the list of criminal offences.

HOUSING AN ISSUE

However, the debate may be suspended in favor of a special debate on housing, Speaker Lucien Lamoureux accepted in principle Wednesday the motion of NDP Leader T. C. Douglas that such an emergency debate be held in light of the resignation of Transport Minister Paul Hellyer, the minister responsible for housing. But he said certain procedural difficulties would have to be removed first.

The opposition non-confidence motions defeated Thursday took the form of amendments to the government motion calling for concurrence in its newly-adopted NATO policy. The Conservative motion sought to condemn the government for leading Canada from "internationalism to isolationism." It was defeated 137 to 47, with the other opposition parties backing the government.

The New Democratic one called for complete withdrawal of Canadian forces from Europe and a re-channelling of defence expenditures into foreign aid. It was rejected 165 to 15—the New Democrats standing alone in favor.

Mr. Sharp and Mr. Cadieux, both of whom spoke warmly in favor of Canada's NATO ties in the period of public debate leading up to the decision on troop cuts, rejected a charge that the new policy means isolationism for Canada.

Former defence minister Douglas Harkness (P.C.—Calgary Centre) accused Mr. Trudeau of scuttling the Western alliance.

The prime minister, he said, was using French President Charles de Gaulle as his model. "Perhaps he will go slower but the final effect will be the same," Mr. Harkness said.

ARMAMENTS VARY

Mr. Cadieux told the House that in their present roles, Canadian forces committed to NATO require different equipment and different training from the forces maintained in Canada.

To help prepare them for a role the government believes appropriate for the future, said Mr. Cadieux, "we must start now to convert our forces from their present roles in Europe and to plan the reduction of the total number of Canadian forces which are stationed there."

Turning to continental defence, Mr. Cadieux said joint studies have already begun between Canada and the United States on a plan to modernize the North American bomber defence system.

Canada would seek early occasions to consult with the U.S. government on the best use of home-based maritime and land forces in defending the continent.

News in brief

Boost budget

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea said today it is increasing its defence budget 11 per cent and that continuance of United States spy flights off its coast is a "new provocation, threat and blackmail."

The report by the official Korean Central news agency repeated assertions that the U.S. Navy plane shot down by the North Koreans April 15 was deep in North Korean air space.

Three killed

MONTREAL (CP) — Three persons died in hospital Friday shortly after fire destroyed their suburban Verdun apartment.

The victims were identified as John Murphy, 31, his mother Mrs. Marguerite Murphy and Mrs. Mary Collins.

Trail dries out

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — A chorus of chugging pumps today sucked water from muddy basements in this flood-ravaged city, spilling it among machines working around the clock to clear debris.

The city moved to set priorities in the cleanup job, forced on it by a flash flood Wednesday which turned streets into rampaging rivers, chewing up pavement and damaging dozens of buildings.

Assured of provincial disaster funds, the city awaited word from Ottawa on requests from the city and Premier W. A. C. Bennett for federal money as well.

Lebanese Premier resigns post

BEIRUT (AP) — Premier Rashid Karami of Lebanon resigned Thursday night after four months in office, saying he could not achieve agreement on how much backing his government should give Arab guerrilla attacks on Israel.

President Charles Hlou did not indicate whether he would accept the resignation.

With the country tense after two days of rioting in which 16 persons have been killed and nearly 100 wounded, Karami told a special session of Parliament that some persons advised him to give unqualified support to the Palestinian guerrillas. He said others warned such support would provoke Israeli reprisals.

The rioters were mostly Palestinian refugees demanding that the government give full support to the Arab guerrilla organizations which have been raiding Israel. Karami said he had tried to help the guerrillas without endangering Lebanon's security.

Despite pressure from the 160,000 refugees in the country, the government generally has tried to avoid involvement in the Arab-Israeli fighting. The crisis threatened to cause a major split between Lebanon's Moslem and Christian communities, which are roughly equal in size and divide the posts of political leadership according to a detailed formula.

Karami, a 47-year-old Moslem, was serving his eighth term as premier. He took over in January from Abdullah Yafi, who resigned under the storm of protest that followed Israel's attack on the Beirut airport.

That attack was made in retaliation for an attack on an Israeli airliner in Athens by Arab commandos who Israel said were based in Lebanon. Since then the government has kept a close watch on the Lebanese - Israeli border and refused to let its territory be used as a base of commando attacks.

Beirut and other major cities were under curfew, and the 5,000-man army patrolled the streets and refugee camps. Police said 120 persons were under arrest after the riots, and that they were hunting leaders of banned leftist parties who were suspected of inciting violence.

Meanwhile, the Israeli army announced that one of its patrols killed six Egyptian soldiers in a commando group that crossed the Suez Canal early today to raid Israeli positions on the east bank. One Israeli soldier was reported wounded.

Mao continues as China president

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communist party's ninth congress has ended in Peking with no surprises.

Mao Tse-tung continues to reign as party chairman, and his chosen successor, Defence Minister Lin Piao, is still vice-chairman with the added designation of Mao's heir.

Some details of the 24-day meeting were broadcast by Radio Peking and the official New China news agency after the close of the congress Thursday.

It was the first congress since 1956 and lasted about twice as long as the last one. Most of the time apparently was spent reshaping the top echelons of the party, many of whose leaders were purged during the so-called cultural revolution that Mao launched in 1966.

Of the 97 members and 99 alternates elected to the party's governing central committee at the 1956 congress, only a handful survived the purge in which President Liu Shao-chi and other "counterrevolutionary revisionists" were ousted.

The ninth congress replaced the old committee with an expanded body studded with military leaders, old and young revolutionaries, "proletarian fighters" and even a former United States Air Force colonel, rocket scientist Chien Hsueh-shen.

The new committee has 170 members and 109 alternates with those closest to the top all members of the Mao-Lin Piao inner circle. The committee includes 73 military commanders, deputy commanders and army political commissars, and 32 army veterans, indicating a large voice for the military in the future.

Although the communique following the meeting did not name the dozen or so men and women who will exercise top authority, the seating of delegates near Mao throughout the congress indicated where the power will lie.

Lin presided over the closing session with the 75-year-old Mao on the rostrum beside him. Seated on the platform in the front row were Premier Chou En-lai; Cultural revolution leader Chen Po-ta; party veteran Kang Sheng; Mao's wife, Chiang Ching; her close associates on the purge committee, Chang Chung-chiao and Yao Wen-yuan; security chief Hsieh Fu-chih; army chief of staff Huang Yung-sheng; air force commander Wu Fa-hsien; Lin Piao's wife, Yeh Chun;

chairman of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, to the dinner meeting of the local business group last night. (Record photo: Gerry Lemay)

Federal-provincial co-ordination held vital to Canadian future development

By DICK VOKEY (Record Staff Reporter)

Lionel P. Kent, executive-chairman of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce last night sharply criticized the federal government for their repeated economic intrusions into provincial affairs.

Speaking to the Sherbrooke C. of C., he said the federal government will have to learn to work with the provinces in applying expenditures.

"With the provincial and municipal governments spending together more tax dollars than the federal government, their economic impact is equally as great and in many cases closer to home," he said.

Despite the fact that once the federal government through its great taxing and expenditure powers could shape the economic trends of the nation, now "consultation, co-operation and co-ordination must be the watchwords."

Mr. Kent said the senseless competition for areas of authority had to stop.

Mr. Kent said the most important problem of the day is inflation and a major contributing factor is the present imbalance in bargaining powers between management and labor.

He said the Canadian Chamber made substantial contributions to the Woods Task Force but were disappointed in some of the body's recommendations concerning bargaining.

However, Mr. Kent stressed the national body welcomed the reaffirmation of the basic soundness of the collective bargaining process.

The chamber's employer-employee relations committee is studying the recommendations and the general scene to report to the Labor Minister, he continued.

Mr. Kent said chambers across the country were largely responsible for amendments to proposed the Estate Tax Act, which they found too harsh.

The Canadian Chamber also exerted pressure on the federal government to introduce forthcoming tax reforms by White Paper rather than draft legislation so the measures could be studied thoroughly and at length before a decision was made.

Mr. Kent said the chamber is completely behind the universities and thinks financial support should continue.

"There is little doubt in the mind of anyone who has studied the pattern that our universities are being subjected to an organized, concerted attack on the part of the revolutionary elements." He said the Canadian Chamber should take actions to right the situation without alienating the mass of young people.

Mr. Kent said he and the Canadian Chamber are particularly proud that unlike most national-wide organizations the Quebec and other provincial chambers speak with one voice.

Vote critical to de Gaulle

PARIS (AP) — President de Gaulle makes another radio-television appeal tonight in hopes of reversing the tide of public opinion threatening him with defeat in Sunday's constitutional referendum.

"Advantage to the Nos," said the headline on the report of one opinion poll. "Sounding Shows Nos in the Lead," said another.

It was the first time since de Gaulle became president in 1958 that pre-election polls indicated he would lose. The unfavorable indicators included two taken by traditional Gaullist optimists—the government and the conservative newspaper Le Figaro.

Le Figaro gave the opposition 53 per cent but said 34 per cent of the voters are still undecided. De Gaulle's task was to counteract the apathy widespread among that group and bring the unconcerned or undecided out to vote for him.

Sharp edgy

OTTAWA (CP) — There was an edge in External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp's voice Thursday as the question of the next education conference of French-speaking countries was raised in the Commons.

"We don't need an invitation," he said of the conference next month in Paris. "We already have been invited."

Answering Commons questions by Rene Matte Creditiste—Champlain and Creditiste Leader Real Caouette, Mr. Sharp said the Paris conference is merely a continuation of one held in the Republic of Congo last year.

The same arrangements by which Ottawa and Quebec both attended that conference would prevail at Paris, he said.

The official issue in the referendum is establishment of regional governments and removal of what little power the national Senate has left. But the 78-year-old general made the vote into another plebiscite on his rule by saying he would quit if the referendum proposals were voted down.

De Gaulle's big problem

Labor Minister joins in Air Canada negotiations

MONTREAL (CP)—Preliminary talks Thursday between negotiators for Air Canada and its 6,300 striking ground workers were to be followed today by a meeting with Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey in Ottawa.

Mike Pitchford, chief union negotiator, said shortly after Thursday's 1½-hour meeting that the negotiating teams were to go to Ottawa at Mr. Mackasey's invitation for a meeting in his office.

They were to leave here at 8:30 a.m. aboard a transport department plane provided by the labor department.

Thursday's talks, the first direct negotiations since the strike began at 11:59 p.m. Sunday, were described by a union spokesman as preliminary to discussions of contract issues.

Federal mediators, who had had talks separately with each side since Monday, did not participate in the talks Thursday.

Mike Rygas, Canadian vice-president of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace workers, said the fact that further negotiations were scheduled was "the promising part of the talks."

Mr. Pitchford said "both sides made some progress" and neither side showed any "hard feelings."

The strike has grounded Air Canada's entire fleet of 108 aircraft since Sunday.

Air Canada's offer of a 23-per-cent wage increase in a three-year contract was rejected by a vote of union members last week. The union has asked 20 per cent in a one-year contract.

Wages under the old contract, which expired Dec. 31, ranged from $2 to $3.97 an hour.

The strike is costing Air Canada a net loss of about $580,000 a day in operating revenues and has resulted in the layoff of thousands of unionized employees, including about 3,000 pilots and flight attendants and some 2,200 passenger agents and communications personnel.

Alternative service for many of Air Canada's normal 18,000 passengers a day is being provided by Canadian Pacific Airlines, authorized to operate as many extra daily flights as possible during the strike, and regional air carriers.

The major railways have added extra coaches to main passenger trains.

Georges Pompidou, is regarded by many cautious Frenchmen as a likely and quite capable successor to the general.

No one seems to know why de Gaulle decided he needed a vote of confidence at this time.

His speeches and memoirs tell of various periods in his career, going as far back as 1940, when he felt "I had to ask myself if I must not leave (history)." The most recent occasion was last May 29, during the student-worker crisis, "when I was tempted to leave."

Then de Gaulle received the reassurance he wanted in a National Assembly victory that carried the weight of a referendum. But now the memories of student violence and the general strike aren't so fresh, and the middle class can't be bludgeoned with the Communist scare.

De Gaulle has been a supporter of public endorsement by referendum since 1945 when he went home to Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises after the nation voted to accept a constitution that he opposed.

Since his return to power in 1958 there have been four such votes, one approving the constitution of the Fifth Republic, two on Algeria and one approving the election of the president by universal suffrage.

De Gaulle has never gotten less than 62 per cent of the vote.

If de Gaulle is defeated Sunday and resigns, Senate President Alain Poher, a Centrist, would become interim president. The constitution provides for an election within 20 to 50 days. Any number of candidates could run, and if none got a majority, the two high men would compete in a runoff. The new president would serve a full seven-year term.

Jehovah's Witness couple first to wed in civil ceremony

By RICHARD SPALDING
(Record Staff Reporter)

Alain Lafond, of Ascot North, and Miss Denise Chretien, of Sherbrooke, were the first couple to be married in a civil ceremony at the Sherbrooke Court House, yesterday, by Prothonotary Charles Lemieux.

Yesterday's ceremony included the immediate families only. The couple was accompanied by two witnesses and the parents of both newlyweds.

Prothonotary Charles Lemieux read the provisions of the act, and reminded the couple of their civil obligations to one another.

After receiving the traditional "yes I do" acknowledgement, he pronounced them married.

Mr. Lemieux offered his congratulations to the newly united couple, and proceeded to the signing of the register.

The witnesses were Renaud Lafond, father of the groom, while Leopold Chretien, brother of the bride, acted as the other witness.

Mr. Lafond announced that a religious marriage would be held Saturday, since the couple belong to the Witnesses of Jehovah faith. Mr. Lafond explained that a marriage performed by the Witnesses of Jehovah was not recognized by Quebec authorities.

He added that members of the faith previously had to be married before a Protestant minister.

The groom was dressed in a dark grey suit for the occasion, while his bride was wearing a blue dress and coat ensemble. She wore white lace gloves and carried a purse to match.

Rummage Sale

HATLEY — (Special) — The United Church Women served a meat loaf dinner in the Vestry on April 16 with a fair attendance. Following the dinner, a business meeting was opened by Mrs. Drew with prayer.

It was decided to hold a rummage sale on April 26, with a food sale and tea and doughnuts. It was voted to buy a new vacuum cleaner.

A former sacristan of the Marie Reine du Monde Church, was released on bail, yesterday, pending his trial for arson, in connection with the February fire which completely destroyed the church.

Fernand Charbonneau, 19 years old of Sherbrooke, has been in jail since last February, in connection with the fire.

He chose to be tried before a judge and jury, and so will appear before the next session of the Assizes Court next Autumn.

The Crown did not oppose the motion for bail, for Charbonneau was judged capable of answering charges by psychiatrists.

He is represented by Sherbrooke attorney Reynald Frelchette.

TO TRIAL FOR MURDER
Mrs. Therese Chady, 41, of Richmond, was ordered to stand trial yesterday, by Sessions Court Judge Benoit Turmel, to answer on a charge of unpremeditated murder.

Evidence presented by Crown prosecutor Michel Cote included the autopsy report and declaration made by Mrs. Chady to police.

Defense attorney Yvon Pinard obtained a release from custody for his client. She was transferred to St. Vincent de Paul hospital, until she is admitted to a psychiatric establishment for treatment. Bail was set at $1,000 in cash, or $5,000 in property.

Mr. Pinard made his request for release before Judge Gaston Desmarais, of the Court of the Queen's Bench. He told the court that his client needed further medical and psychiatric treatment. Sherbrooke Psychiatrist Dr. Alexander Kindy testified that Mrs. Chady had been sick for some time.

Mrs. Chady's trial for unpremeditated murder will be heard at the next session of the Assizes this fall.

FOR ROBBERY
Jean Paul Dumas, of Cookshire, started after the runaway vehicle, finding it in the ditch, a little further down the road, with a man at the wheel.

Sergeant Roland Lanthier, of the Quebec Provincial Police told the court that the car belonged to the accused.

Attorneys Roland Lamoureux and Marc Andre Souci, appointed to the defense, tried in vain to establish the identity of the two men who robbed the establishment.

Sergeant Lanthier told the court Lacasse had reported his car stolen four days after the robbery.

Judge Turmel decided evidence heard was sufficient to send the man to trial for armed robbery.

Because of a heavy record for similar offenses, Judge Turmel turned down the defense's demand for bail.

The Crown was represented by Andre Langlais.

With PROGRAM 5 ending on CKTS Radio May 30, I will have to start a few things early in order to get them done. I have already been ahead of time for season and for insects. Now I want to spend this coming week talking about gardens.

There are a lot of different things that your child can do in this regard. He will need some guidance, though, in learning to wait for things to happen.

From last week's column, you will understand that I am working at "concept formation" again, here the idea of living plants as opposed to inanimate objects. I hope you can have your child plant a seed in a flower-pot. Tuesday I am going to discuss vegetable gardens, and getting the ground ready for the seeds.

Today's recipe

MUSHROOM MUFFINS — Fresh mushrooms combine with sharp cheddar cheese and crisp bacon to provide a variation on the muffin theme.

MUSHROOM MUFFINS
3 slices bacon
1/2 lb. mushrooms finely chopped
1 tablespoon bacon fat
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar
1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
2 eggs beaten
2 tablespoons bacon fat
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon bacon fat for greasing muffin cups

To make 1/4 cup. If not sufficient fat add vegetable oil to make 1/4 cup. Use this when bacon fat is called for.
Pour 1 tablespoon fat back into skillet. Sauté mushrooms over high heat 3 to 4 minutes.
Use 1 tablespoon fat to thoroughly grease 12 to 14 medium muffin cups.
Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar into medium size mixing bowl. Add grated cheese and bacon. In a small bowl combine eggs, 2 tablespoons bacon fat, milk and mushrooms.

Add liquid ingredients to dry mixture. Stir lightly only until mixture is blended. Do not over beat.
Spoon into muffin cups. Bake 20-25 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve hot or toasted.

HomeMaker

Carpet Muffles Noise
Carpeting in the kitchen muffles noise and saves breakage of dishes. You aren't as likely to skid as on a highly waxed floor and baby crawling around will be warmer. This carpeting can also be bought in tiles, which is a saving because you don't pay for wasted carpet and they can be reshuffled to regulate even wear. You can install them with double-face tape.

VITAMINS
Are you throwing vitamins down the drain? The liquid drained off canned vegetables contain 60 per cent to 80 per cent of the B vitamins, and 20 per cent to 60 per cent of Vitamin C. If possible, use this liquid as you would in soup, sauce, gravy, etc.

CHEMCELL . . The company will expand its facilities for the production of polypropylene fibres with the first phase of the expansion to involve new expenditures in excess of $6,000,000. The new facilities will be in an existing building in St. Jean, Quebec, which formerly housed Chemcells' upholstery fabric production facilities. These were phased out about six months ago.

CONNIE-BATHURST . . Sales for the first quarter totalled $79,042,000, up from $65,472,000 in the same period last year. Net earnings were $2,790,000 or 34 cents a share compared with $2,436,000 or 28 cents.

B.C. POWER . . Montreal Trust Co. is mailing out cheques totalling $303,050 as final settlement to shareholders of British Columbia Power Corp. The final payment, amounting to 6.35 cents a share, was approved by court order April 11. The total distribution after administration costs and amounts withheld for taxes was $44.26 a share.

Littler hearing told of investors' losses

MONTREAL (CP) — Three shareholders of the Walter M. Lowney Co. of Sherbrooke, Que., claimed in court Thursday they lost money on stock they sold after President Edmund T. Littler repeatedly denied a takeover by Standard Brands Inc.

Mr. Littler faces preliminary hearing on a series of fraud and conspiracy charges involving his alleged sale of shares to Standard Brands after buying them from various sources with assurances there would be no sellout.

Robert W. Hanwood testified he started selling 700 of his 800 Lowney shares on April 25, 1968, only after reading a Lowney announcement there would be no takeover.

He received $29,482.76 for the 700 shares—$18,274.24 less than if he had waited for the Standard Brands offer of $68.22 per share on May 10, 1968.

Mr. Hanwood said when the price rose because of takeover rumors he decided to sell and make a profit.

"I thought the price would drop back to normal if there was no sellout."

SAYS SOLD SHARES

Layton Dermer, a 73-year-old wool merchant, testified he sold his 50 shares for $41 each on April 30 because he was sure there would be no sellout.

And Gerry Shatz said he sold 600 of his 800 shares before the takeover bid and the highest price he got was $55 a share.

Both said they would never have sold if Lowney officials had not denied the sellout rumors.

Thursday's proceedings were delayed as the defence tried to block a prosecution move to recall a previous witness.

When he was finally recalled after an hour's debate, Peter McIntyre, vice-president of Commercial Trust, which handled sale of stock to Mr. Littler before the takeover, said a takeover had not been mentioned during Mr. Littler's negotiations to buy the stock.

AN OOMPAH WITH OOMPH — Stephen Goode huffs and puffs in a valiant effort to get a properly-toned grunt out of the school band's euphonium.

QUEBEC SCENE

QUEBEC (CP) — Political sources here say Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal will announce Sunday to residents of his home riding of Bagot that he will contest the Union Nationale leadership in June.

The convention, June 19-21, is to choose a permanent successor to the late premier Daniel Johnson, who died last September.

Bagot is Mr. Johnson's old riding, and Mr. Cardinal succeeded him as its representative when he won the riding in a by-election Dec. 4.

The 44-year-old minister joined the government in October, 1967, abandoning a university and business career. He became deputy premier in December, 1968.

Other candidates for the leadership are: —Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand, chosen party leader on an interim basis after Mr. Johnson's death; —Andre Leveille, a 35-year-old former union official and a backbencher in the national assembly.

MAY ENTER RACE

Judge Maurice Johnson, 40, of Montreal municipal court, a brother of the late premier, says he is thinking of entering the race. Premier Bertrand has the support of several senior cabinet ministers for the position of leader.

Cultural Affairs Minister Jean-Noel Tremblay, however, said two weeks ago he would support Mr. Cardinal if the former University of Montreal law dean became a candidate.

A Cardinal backer in the caucus said: "You'll be surprised to see the school band's euphonium. The 12-year-old junior high school student was playing the euphonium for the first time at a school concert Tuesday night.

Special squad

MONTREAL (CP) — The Gazette says the Quebec Provincial Police department has established a mobile force to handle the dismantling of explosive devices anywhere in Quebec province.

The newspaper quotes a "high-ranking provincial police officer" as saying Thursday the Seven-man Technical Squad of the Montreal police department has been picked to head the force.

Sgt. Robert Cote, head of the squad which dismantled some 20 dynamite time bombs during the city's recent rash of terrorist bombings, declined to comment on the report.

Close colleges

MILAN, Italy (AP) — The University of Milan Thursday closed five of its colleges until May 5. The decision came after the student agitators prevented Prof. Pietro Trimarchi from holding classes four times in the last 10 days. Trimarchi, a professor of law, punished a student earlier this year and since then he has been the target of insults, spitting and threats.

What's Your Car Care

Even if you can't tell your differential from your defroster, it's important to know what makes your car tick or stop ticking. Since the safety, pleasure and value of your car depends on keeping it in good shape, it's wise to keep up with the upkeep. This quiz is designed to test your car care quotient as well as inform you on how to care for your car.

Q-U-O-T-I-E-N-T?

- A spongy feeling when you apply the brakes is a sign that:
  - The rubber on your brake pedal is getting soft
  - Your shoes are wearing thin
  - There is something wrong with your braking system.
- If your tires show pronounced wear at the "ribs" on the middle of the tread it probably indicates:
  - They are overinflated
  - They are underinflated
  - Your hub caps are mounted improperly.
- Windshield wiper blades should be replaced:
  - After every heavy rain storm
  - Twice a year
  - Every two years.
- All but the following adversely affect gasoline mileage:
  - Worn spark plugs
  - Clogged air cleaner
  - Worn shock absorbers
  - Improper tire inflation.
- It is important to change radiator coolants periodically because:
  - Rust inhibitors in the coolant eventually lose their effectiveness
  - Overaged coolants create hard starting problems
  - Water only should be used in warm weather.
- Most likely source of deadly carbon monoxide entering the passenger compartment is:
  - Through a leaky gasoline line
  - Through a defective exhaust system
  - By keeping windows open in industrial areas.
- One sign that the shock absorbers are defective is:
  - More "play" develops in the steering wheel
  - There is a thumping noise in the rear tires
  - The car continues to bob after a stop.
- All but the following are part of a complete tune-up:
  - Service the distributor system
  - Lubricate the main bearings
  - Service or replace spark plugs
  - Check primary and secondary wiring system.
- Chief dangers of preignition or detonation in the combustion chamber include:
  - You'll get a traffic ticket
  - Serious overheating of the cooling system
  - Potential damage of the piston heads.
- All but the following should be checked every six months:
  - Wheel alignment and balance
  - Brake system
  - Ignition system
  - Dimmer switch.

This is the toughest car in the world.
Crafted to last.

How long can you expect your Peugeot to last? We don't know, but we do know that the oldest car still running in America today is a 77 year old Peugeot.

Built the way cars should be built, Peugeot perpetuates the art of craftsmanship.

Inflexible standards of precision and quality are Peugeot's manufacturing yardstick. Peugeot even makes most of the basic components to assure that everything starts out right.

Through the years Peugeot designers have come to know that those who invest in the long lasting craftsmanship of a Peugeot, expect the ultimate in driving safety and comfort. This is why you will find some more unusual features as standard equipment in your new Peugeot. Features such as sofa-comfort, deep cushioned, bucket seats that convert into beds, solid steel sliding roof, rack and pinion steering for positive control, and many more.

"The Toughest Car In The World" title is the name of the trophy awarded Peugeot by American automotive experts. We are grateful and proud too, for Peugeot is the only car ever to win the award twice.

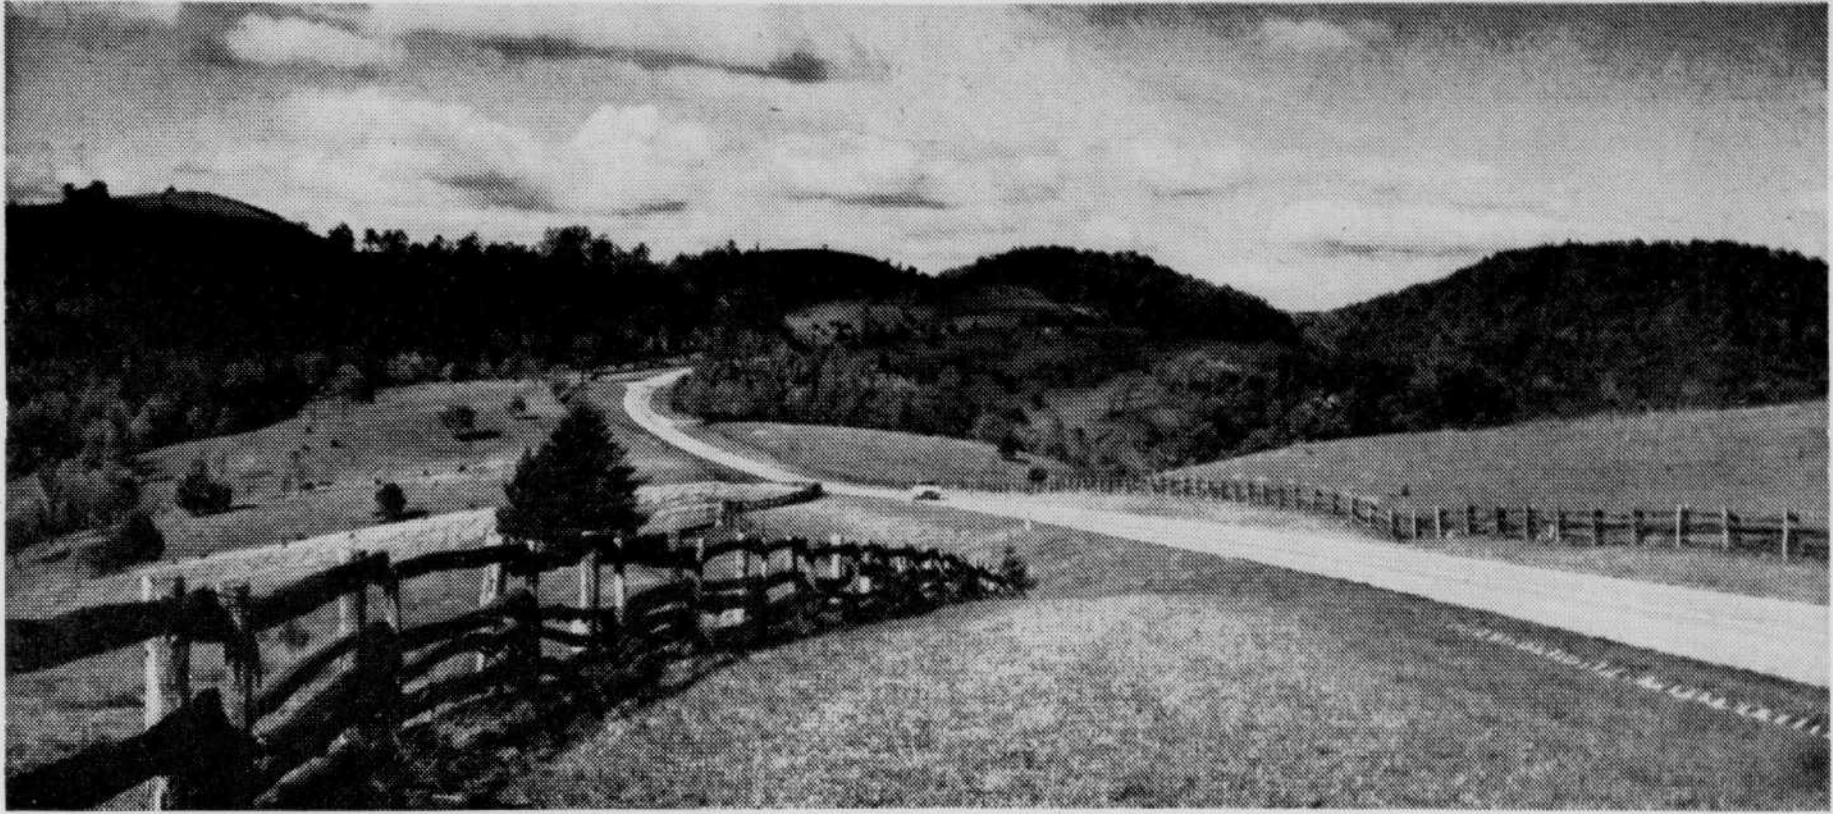

Peugeot.
The toughest bargain you can drive.

Make a Magic Carpet of Your Car

Can Lift You Above the Humdrum, Take You Out Of State of Tension

William Lyon Phelps, the celebrated educator and author, once remarked, "What I wouldn't give to read 'Huckleberry Finn' for the first time again." It was Phelps' way of yearning for the thrill of discovery, in this case one of America's greatest novels.

The typical motorist could well paraphrase Phelps' remarks, "What I wouldn't give to be driving for the first time." The thrill most of us felt the first time behind the wheel is hard to capture ever again.

Perhaps too much driving has jaded our appreciation of the miracle that is the automobile. Maybe too much time in traffic jams, too many through-the-windshield vistas of monotonous stretches of freeways have robbed us of our enthusiasm.

However, there is a way to bring back the joys of driving. Some time this year, get out of the traffic jams and off the super-highway. Take your family on some lightly traveled road. Even in the most populous areas of this nation, there still remain unspoiled stretches of green field, blue sky and water — just a few hours from home.

Travel through these areas with a light foot on the gas pedal, stopping often to enjoy the view and savor the fresh air. Make your car, not a conveyance to get you from here to there, but a kind of magic carpet to lift you above the humdrum and the state of tension.

Beware! Shower Can Make Roads Slippery

Summer showers, especially after a long dry spell, can make road surfaces as slippery as winter ice, a special safety bulletin issued by the Rubber Manufacturers Association warns.

The danger of skidding is greatest, says the trade group, during the first 15 to 30 minutes after it starts to rain; up to an hour or more in a light drizzle.

This is due to the little-known fact that rain tends to float up onto the road surface a greasy film of oil, gasoline and rubber residue which becomes a treacherous ice-like lubricant between the tires and the road until enough rain falls to wash it away.

The possibility of an accident on a wet road, says the Association, is between 5 and 10 times as great as on a dry road, in terms of the likelihood of a skid and loss of control of a car. In terms of stopping distance, it may take up to four times as far to stop on a wet road as a dry road.

Don't let it happen to you— Get our tune-up now!

A vacation is only fun if you get there. And a good way to make sure that you do is with our engine tune-up: a new set of Champion spark plugs plus other basic tune-up items your car may need. You'll enjoy dependable performance. Better gas mileage. Quicker acceleration for safer passing. (You might even re-discover that half the fun of your holiday is the driving!)

Periodic Checks On Car Brakes, Easy to Make

Brakes, like all-day suckers, have a habit of wearing away slowly. So, it's a good practice to test your brakes periodically to make sure they can stop your car safely.

Every week, test the hydraulic system by firmly pressing your foot against the pedal. If the pedal moves gradually towards the floorboard, you are losing vital pressure. Have the problem corrected immediately.

Periodically, test stopping ability in a flat, open area where no other cars or obstruction are present. Accelerate to 30 miles per hour, then apply the brakes with your hands off the steering wheel. If the car pulls to one side, you may have brake trouble.

In any case, have your serviceman perform a complete inspection of the brake system every six months.

STUDENTS ARE BEING URGED to seek medical facts and study recent clinical research so that objective data can be given to all. Poster contests and slogan contests in high schools and other student efforts are being encouraged, to turn the cold light of reason on drug abuse. And parents, teachers and all adults are being urged to call for drug education in the schools.

EVERY PARENT CAN AID by checking his child's whereabouts, knowing the identity of group drivers, and making strict rules about car use, experts advise.

CHECK LIST for trouble-free summer driving!

Let us check over all of the items on this list to put your car in top shape for summer motoring . . .

- ENGINE TUNE-UP—This is the best way to bring your engine back to life for carefree summer driving. Our tune-up includes a new set of Champion spark plugs plus whatever basic tune-up items we find your car needs. We check points, condenser, rotor, distributor cap, compression, wiring and electrical connections, coil and air filter.
- BATTERY—We'll check it for full power, make sure terminals are tight and clean.
- VOLTAGE REGULATOR—Let us check it. Over or under charging can ruin battery.
- STARTER AND ALTERNATOR OR GENERATOR—We'll remove any corrosion and check brushes.
- AUTOMATIC CHOKE—We'll check idle adjustment.
- CARBURETOR—We'll check, remove and clean it if necessary.
- FAN AND PULLEY BELTS—We'll check adjustments. If belts are badly worn they should be replaced.
- CRANKCASE—We'll change dirty oil—put in proper grade oil for summer driving.
- LIGHTS AND WIPERS—Summer storms can mean dark and dangerous driving. We'll make sure that headlights, parking lights, taillights, stop lights and directionals are all working properly. We'll also check wiper operation to see that blades wipe clean without streaking, fill windshield washer tank with cleaning solution.
- TIRES—We'll examine them carefully. Worn tires can spell trouble on crowded vacation highways.
- BRAKES—We'll check for proper adjustment—a slight pull to one side can slide you off the road.

Few facts about camping

If I had my way, all new campers would be required to start their new venture with a one week (training) course. They would go into the woods in groups and learn to pitch an old fashioned tent, build a fire and would have to get along without gadgetry. Have discussions, blessing and benefits of camping... on second thought, maybe they should make that a two-week course, (these lessons come very slowly).

If you are a new camper, you should start slowly as you may not like camping and it may prove more expensive than you expected. Camping is not cheap nor is the cost of equipment or camping fees. Many campgrounds have flush-toilets, laundries and bathhouses, but you will pay for these facilities, whether on private or public lands. To start with, keep everything simple.

Before you buy a tent, trailer tent or travel trailer, talk to your friends with camping experience, and shop around. The cheapest equipment is not always the most economical—you have to choose a tent, or trailer-tent or travel trailer of the right size and design for your family, to fit into a long-range camping program.

If you want to pay for the comfort of a recreational vehicle, by all means try renting equipment before committing yourself to a large investment. There may be a lot of difference between appearance in a travel-and-trailer show and its actual performance. Get the ideas of campers on the ground — all love to display their gear, compare notes and give free advice based on their own costly mistakes. The month of April is none too soon to check for your summer week-ends or vacation. The best way is through your local newspaper under trailer ads. Happy camping.

Drugs and Driving Don't Mix.

Drugs and driving don't mix says the National Association of Retail Druggists.

So important is respect for drugs in insuring highway safety that N.A.R.D. is providing fact sheets for driver education teachers in and out of high school, according to executive secretary Willard B. Simmons, who represents 40,000 independent drugstore owners.

Druggists are teaching the public the power of drugs. Drugs save lives, Simmons points out. He adds facts of interest to all drivers.

"When doctors prescribe some valuable medications they insist that no driving be done for a specified number of hours," he says. "Heed their advice and the advice of the druggist who reminds you of that fact."

In addition to urging respect for the life-saving drugs of daily life, members of N.A.R.D. are lending their professional efforts to schools to forward the work of drug education. The dangers of drug abuse are being brought to students' attention at the request of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs of the Department of Justice.

BARBITURATES, for example — known as "goofballs" and by other terms — produce slurred speech, impaired motor responses, sensory distortion and more. A person withdrawing from barbiturate abuse may have spasms and convulsions, particularly dangerous behind a car wheel. Barbiturate overuse plus alcohol can cause sudden death.

AMPHETAMINES — stimulants which have respected medical uses but are known as "pep pills" or "co-pilots" to drug abusers — can cause severe hallucinations on the road. Truck drivers, vacationers,

Car Inspections Serve to Make Motoring Safer

Results Becoming Apparent in Terms Of Fewer Accidents Chargeable To Mechanical Failures

There are several subjects which are more commonly discussed in recent years. Certainly not the least of these subjects is highway safety, and automobile inspection.

And usually, some questions are raised. Like — did you pass? The query is often posed by one who has recently been exposed to PMVI — periodic motor vehicle inspection. And the answer, in a surprisingly high percentage of cases, is no! However, the answer may not be so surprising, when you consider one expert's opinion.

In testimony before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, H. C. Stivers, then president of the Motor and Equipment Manufacturers Association, estimated that 42% of the cars on the highways have defects that affect the safe operation of the vehicle.

Supporting this figure is a study conducted by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. It reports that 42% of the vehicles brought in for inspection, voluntarily or in spot checks, do not pass the minimum requirements for mechanical safety.

The Institute's study was categorized in four groups: Vehicles up to one year old (25% rejection rate); two to five years (40% rejection rate); six to ten years (51% rejection rate); and 11 years or older (53% rejection rate).

In another report, the City of Detroit utilized a specially developed test lane to ferret out defects in automobiles. A voluntary inspection program of two weeks duration last May, involving approximately one thousand cars, showed that four out of ten cars were mechanically unsafe. Major defects centered around improper wheel alignment and steering assembly. Other components that inspection teams check closely for defects include shock absorbers, windshield wipers, headlight aim and wheel vibration.

Without question, they all affect the safe operation of a vehicle.

Annual in Ontario
Just across the border from Detroit, in Windsor, Ontario, automobile inspection has been an annual occurrence for the past six years. It's conducted both on a voluntary basis, and in spot checks during May.

The vehicle test equipment is owned by the Provincial government; tests are conducted by Windsor police. Police Chief Gordon Preston and his department are very pleased by the growing numbers of Windsor motorists who volunteer their cars for inspection.

Their most recent test period showed that of 4700 owners who voluntarily put their cars through the check lanes, almost half couldn't pass the test. Owners failing the test were instructed to have their cars repaired to bring them back up to the standards set down by the Provincial government.

However, the point is that by volunteering, motorists are showing their concern with the safety of their vehicles — moreover, they're doing something about it.

In the Windsor program last year, safety officials also ordered 327 vehicles through the test equipment — vehicles that were obviously in disrepair, and from appearances, unsafe. Fifty-seven were approved, 145 were rejected and had to have repairs made, while 125 were totally condemned.

Accidents Reduced
It would seem, after a lot of talk about automobile safety and vehicle inspection, something really concrete is being done about it. All states now are required to implement a program of vehicle inspection, within guidelines issued by the National Highway Safety Bureau — or take the chance of losing some of their Federal highway construction funds.

In some Canadian Provinces (like the law that was passed in Ontario effective November, 1968) motor vehicles must be inspected and certified safe before the vehicle title can be transferred to another owner.

Does that sound like blackmail? Consider the benefits. Under PMVI, accidents and, more important, fatalities are reduced.

A study by a New York consulting firm in 1967, found that in areas without an inspection plan the fatality rate was nearly 10% higher than in areas with a vehicle inspection program.

How to Get More Miles Per Gallon

Two drivers of the same automobile may get different gas mileage due to the differences in driving habits. Other factors include driving conditions and mechanical condition of the automobile.

It costs almost 50% more to drive 80 mph than it does to drive 50 mph. Cost of driving 60 mph is 25% higher than cost of driving 30 mph.

• Wet driving conditions: Slowing down under wet or snowy conditions conserves fuel. Wet pavement can reduce mileage by 1 mile per gallon.

• When parked, turn off engine. One minute of idling uses more fuel than restarting uses.

• Starting and stopping. Avoid "jack rabbit" starts, sudden stopping and racing on the green light.

• Windy conditions. Drive slower if you're interested in better fuel economy.

Here are some suggestions on care and mechanical condition of your car for better fuel economy:

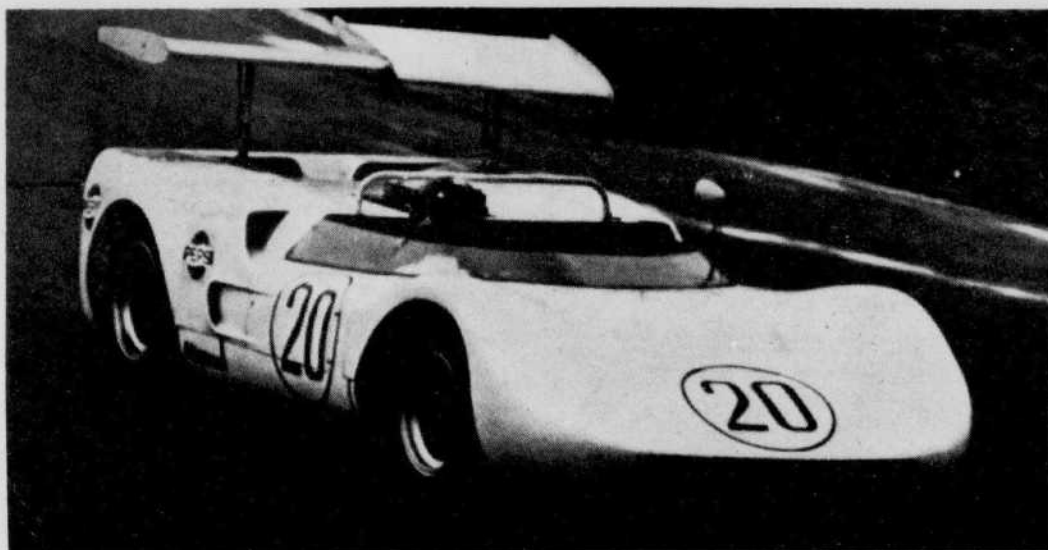

• Use good grade of gasoline recommended by the manufacturer of your automobile.

• Be sure the thermostat isn't stuck in the open position. A warm-running engine is more efficient (uses less fuel) than a cold-running engine.

• Be sure tires are inflated properly.

• Balance and align tires.

Guess What Tops List of Careless Car-Owner Woes

The tip of this coil was so badly eroded it had completely disappeared on one side. Plastic tape to the rescue . . . temporarily.

When the air filter is so badly clogged with dirt it can't be cleaned any more, you have two choices: buy a new one or ventilate it, as was done here.

This is an oil filler cap. It is supposed to breathe through a wire mesh filter. This one choked to death long ago and its engine suffered the consequences.

What do you do when the spark plug insulator breaks? Wrap it with some plastic tape and keep on driving . . . but probably not for long.

You're Right — It's Ignition; Tests Reveal Critical Fault in Every Automobile Examined

In planning your car maintenance, it's wise to know where trouble is likely to strike. A list of the most frequent causes of trouble is contained in a survey of the Missouri Auto Club in the U.S.

The Club's recently opened St. Louis diagnostic center tabulated defects found on the first 1,603 cars to pass through its lanes. According to the results revealed by F. B. Oldham, Club technical services director, these were the most frequent critical faults:

1. IGNITION — (points, condenser, dwell and variation, coil, timing, spark plug performance, ignition under load) — 1,500 defects or .94 per car.
2. FRONT END — (including alignment, front suspension pivots and shocks) — 1,450 defects or .90 per car.
3. BRAKES — (including brake lining thickness and condition, adjustment, hand-brake, drum or disc condition, brake hoses, pedal pressure, brake balance and progression) — 1,354 or .85 defects per car.

4. HEADLAMPS — (including candle power, aim, warning lights and retraction) — 1,055 or .66 defects per car.

5. TIRES — (including tire pressure, tread depth and walls) — 922 or .58 per car.

6. STEERING LINKAGE — (including steering box, tie-rods, steering arm and ball joints) — 402 or .25 per car.

The St. Louis facility, first of its kind ever run by an Auto Club, performs only diagnostic work. Repairs, if needed, are performed at area facilities with the Club making no recommendations on where to go.

The Club will perform rechecks of work performed, consulting, on request, with the mechanic doing the repair work.

SHORT TAKES ON CAR CARE

In cleaning your windshield, don't forget the inside. Tobacco smoke can put a film of residue on the glass and distort vision. So, if you smoke, periodically clean the windshield with a window washing solvent.

***
"Let's See How Fast She Can Go" — Famous Last Words . . . Drive Safely
***

What's a safe distance to follow another car? Experts recommend one car length for every 10 miles per hour of speed on dry roads. When roads are slippery, the distance between should be doubled.

Safety experts advise never driving more than three hours without stopping to rest on a long trip. Getting out of the car to stretch or stopping for coffee is recommended to avoid excessive driving strain.

***
Reckless Driving Can Really Get You Down . . . About Six Feet, Say
***

The average spark plug will fire 15,000,000 times in 10,000 miles of driving. The effects of the electrical charge wear down the plug's firing end. Plug manufacturers recommend servicing plugs at 5,000 miles and replacing them at 10,000 miles.

Overheating Can Be Forestalled By These Checks

While most cars made today have cooling systems that are "sealed" in the factory, a wise motorist still takes precautions against engine overheating. Here are some basic precautions to take to make sure your car keeps its cool.

Test the anti-freeze to make sure it hasn't lost its rust-inhibiting elements. If it has, drain and flush the cooling system before installing new anti-freeze.

Test the condition and tension of all drive belts as well as radiator hoses. Check the radiator and hoses for leaks. Also check pump gaskets and tightness of the pulley hub on the water pump.

Sports Car Roar From Sedan May Signal Trouble

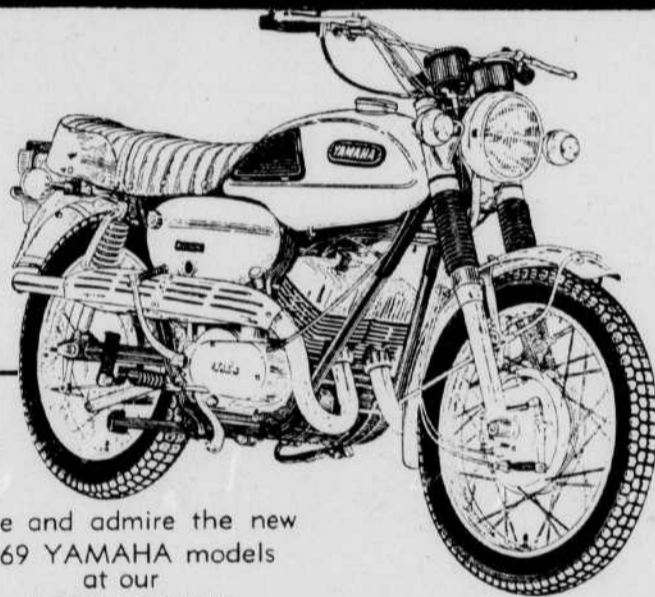

Has your family sedan started to develop a sports car "rap"? Instead of taking it to Watkins Glen or Lemans, better check your exhaust system. That deep-throated roar under the chassis undoubtedly means your exhaust system is defective.

Race Drivers Point Up Importance of 'Belts'

Young people, supposedly at odds with the older generation, have at least one area of agreement with their parents. Both are ignoring the life-saving use of car seat belts.

Champion Spark Plug Company, through its Highway Safety Program, queried nearly 12,000 high school seniors on seat belt wearing habits. In cars equipped with belts, well under 50 percent use the restraining devices.

Only 14.8 percent said they always use belts. Another 29.8 percent said they used them most of the time. The biggest percentage, 37.5, said they seldom used belts. Some 17.7 percent said they never used seat belts.

There was little difference in use between boys and girls, with less than a percentage point difference in their answers.

In addition to youngsters driving cars equipped with seat belts but not using them, large percentages are driving cars which have no seat belts. Of those driving their own cars, less than half of the vehicles are equipped with belts. Over 63.6% of all cars, including those belonging to parents, were equipped with belts.

The students' failure to wear seat belts was not because of their failure to recognize the consequences, the survey found. Almost two-thirds of them identified not wearing belts as a major contributing cause to traffic fatalities.

Estimates by the National Safety Council show that about one out of five fatalities could have been avoided if seat belts were being worn.

According to J. R. McGeorge, Champion's Public Relations Manager and Director of the Highway Safety Program, "In our presentation to school groups we have Indianapolis race drivers stress the responsibilities as well as the skills of operating a car.

"A race driver would no more think of operating a car without a seat belt than he would without a steering wheel," McGeorge said.

The 1968-69 Champion Highway Safety Program, to be conducted in schools throughout the U.S. and Canada, is stressing seat belt use as well as other safety aids.

An untuned car is horns in your ears.

Horns in your ears . . . a missed appointment . . . a tow-truck ride . . . a pounding head and a lot of other things to spoil your driving. That's what an untuned car is.

Untuned car trouble results from old worn spark plugs in an untuned engine. The cure is quick and effective. It's a Champion Tune-Up: a new set of Champion spark plugs plus other basic tune-up items you may need.

You'll feel the difference pronto. Trouble-free starting. Quicker acceleration for safer highway passing. More power. Dependable performance. And an average saving of over a gallon of gas per tankful—proved in United States Auto Club certified tests.

For trouble-free driving, get a Champion Tune-Up now—and every 10,000 miles. Because an untuned car is trouble!

Waterloo blood clinic date is set

WATERLOO — (Special) — Plans for the annual Blood Donor Clinic in Waterloo have been released, the date having been set for May 7. The clinic will be held at the Town Hall from 2 to 5:30 p.m. and 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Objective for the Waterloo clinic has been set at 225. In recent years, however, the number has fallen well below this mark, and so citizens are urged to come out in greater numbers to support this very worthy institution.

Mr. George Courville is in charge of the Clinic Committee, with Mrs. Lucille Paquette and Mrs. Andre Labbe as vice-presidents. Mrs. E. Godbout is in charge of the volunteers. As usual, soft drinks, coffee, donuts and biscuits will be served following your donation.

In May 1967, 179 citizens donated a pint of their blood, while last year the number dropped to 151. The objective of 225 pints seems only reasonable with a population of nearly 5,000 in Waterloo.

Police Chief says light no fires

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Police Chief Yves Pouliot has asked residents to abide by the law not to light grass fires inside the city limits and has warned them of the possible results.

Municipal bylaw 556 strictly prohibit private burnings.

Chief Pouliot said this morning he does not want to threaten the public but to only remind them of the ruling.

He said fires of this type can burn out of control endangering the lives and property of Cowansville residents.

Last year, he said, the city spent $2,000 putting out wild brush fires.

The fine is $100 for breaking bylaw 556.

Chief Pouliot and the fire department are sure residents will meet their responsibilities by not breaking this rule.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Working yachtman's race is famous

the week of

Travel

GEORGE TOWN, Exuma — Works sloops bolt from a standing start to open a typical race at the colourful Out

Island Regatta held annually in picturesque Elizabeth Harbour. Crew from some of the boats in this race rush to haul in anchor lines and hoist main jib sails in an effort to get underway ahead of the pack.

GEORGE TOWN, Exuma — One of the most spectacular events of the Bahamas calendar, the colourful Out Island Regatta, was held this sleepy seaside village April 17-19. The three-day sailing event is like no other in the world.

Competitors in the 16th annual Out Island Regatta are not sleek racing yachts with a European prince or Texas oil millionaire at the helm. They are work boats operated by Bahamian fishermen who know every lagoon and bay in the islands. The race affords the Bahamian skippers a chance to supplement their income with some of the $8,000 in prize money.

The featured event is a 13-mile race around Stoking Island across the harbor from George Town. Supplemental contests for other sailing vessels are in five classes according to size.

Yachtsmen whose vessels cost many thousands of dollars watch with admiration as the Bahamians in work boats show their dexterity. These commercial sloops are the craft that link the scattered islands of the archipelago.

Professionals and amateurs alike lose their "cool" at regatta time. Hundreds of yachtsmen wouldn't miss the event for anything and thousands of native Bahamians feel the same way. H. R. H. Prince Philip, a great sailor himself, arranged the itinerary of his 1959 trip to the Bahamas so he would be able to witness the annual race.

A unique example of Bahamian life, the regatta was initiated by members of the Out Island Squadron, a group of international yachtsmen who united to help finance the event as a means of preserving and improving the efficiency of the Bahamian work fleet. The move was started in 1954 under the guidance of American yachtsman and author J. Linton Rigg, and Bahamian world class sailor Bobby Symonette.

In announcing the Government's co-sponsorship of the regatta again this year, the Minister of Tourism, the Hon. Arthur A. Foulks, said he is heartened by the international publicity the event generates.

In the inhabitants of the small villages on Exuma, the race generates an excuse, as if one were needed, for feasting, dancing, music festivals and good-natured rivalry.

The Out Island Regatta has to be seen to be believed. Little decorum is observed and it has many of the aspects of a water carnival. There is only one vital rule: if two vessels appear to be in danger of colliding, the skippers are obliged to come about immediately. In the native Tugboat Annie tradition, however, Bahamian skippers, rugged individualists all, wait until the last split second before making the first move. An occasional splintered hull is the result.

The only requirements for entry in the regatta are that each craft be built locally of native materials, sailed commercially by a Bahamian crew and contribute to the support of the owner or skipper.

There is one other requirement: a good head of wind. There has never been a failure in all the years the race has been held.

Books

'A chronicle of alienation'

The Distemper of Our Times; Peter C. Newman; 558 pages; McClelland and Stewart; $8.95.

In publishing circles, Canada's most successful historian, Peter C. Newman is making history himself. It was he who wrote the explosive Renegade in Power which sold an astronomical 100,000 copies and became Canada's all-time political best-seller. As far as sales are concerned, it remains to be seen whether his new book tops that record. In terms of readers — at least, of the synopsis version — it has already set new records since the Montreal Star published the book in twelve instalments.

Newman describes The Distemper of Our Times as "a chronicle of alienation" between the politicians and the people of Canada, dating from the collapse of the Diefenbaker administration in early 1963 to Trudeau's assumption of power in April 1968. During these five unsettled years, according to the author, "Canadians were left with the feeling that much of what was happening had no meaning and all they could do was ask unanswerable questions: Is the country being governed by fools? Or is it governable? Has our good luck run out? Can't we just forget the politicians and get on with our LIVES? Oh God!"

The most in-sight public figure of that period — and chief victim of the turmoil — was the Rt. Hon. Lester B. Pearson. According to Newman, much of the tension that plagued Pearson's regime were legacies from his predecessor, John Diefenbaker. In the vivid prose that makes this book such fascinating reading, Newman describes the Diefenbaker years as resembling "nothing so much as the voyage of the Titanic — an inevitable rush to disaster, with the ship of state sinking at the end in a galaxy of fireworks, brass bands playing and the captain shouting hysterical orders to crewmen who had long since jumped overboard."

The Pearson period, in contrast, was more like the voyage of some peeling, once-proud, now leaky excursion steamer, lurching from port to port, with the captain making up the schedule as he went along, too busy keeping afloat to spend much time on the bridge.

This book is the highly readable back-of-the-footlights account of the personalities that danced across the Canadian political stage over the five-year period in question. Among other disclosures, it contains (A) the full text of the get-tough note sent by the USA to the External Affairs Department in the Mercantile Bank affair; (B) the full text of the letter written by Pearson to Diefenbaker in 1964, when the Rivard scandal was at the boil, informing the P.C. leader that Pearson knew about the Munsinger woman. This rare piece of Canadiana was neither answered nor acknowledged by Diefenbaker, and the story remained under wraps for another fifteen months; (C) documentation establishing that the leadership campaign of Pierre Elliott Trudeau which appeared to be "a people's movement spontaneously executed by a gaggle of happy amateurs" was, in fact, a highly professional, minutely planned campaign which left nothing to chance but the weather.

So meticulous were the advance plans for such "informal" events as a Breakfast with Trudeau meeting, that even the color of the tablecloths, the type of flowers and music to be played were all laid down in an advance Special Projects Report. Newman's accounts of the Great Flag Debate, the Rivard and Munsinger scandals are just a few of the engrossing chapters in this book. It is a first-rate book, certain to be one of the most widely-read and discussed political narratives of the year.

Jottings

BY BLUEBELL PHILLIPS

Mini-skirts and see-throughs, the outre in art, novels that are a couple of hundred blank pages between covers—arts (including dress design) and letters are undergoing a change and Very Stone House, PO Box 3007, Vancouver, B.C., not to be outdone, is presenting something new in the realm of poetry — (if not unique with Very Stone House, at least new to me!)—POSTER POEMS; i.e., illustrated poems on thin poster paper about 12x24 inches. Some of the poems, if they can be so called, may appeal to people who hate poetry but find wry enjoyment in balderdash. The 'blob' illustrations I found interesting and one poster poem, CALGARY CITY JAIL, was both simply and dreadfully true.

Whether I liked or admired the samples of poster poetry I received is not important: what is important is that a publishing house — if the publishing house will pardon my assumption — is doing in a modern way that the originators of the English nursery rhymes did when freedom of speech was more limited than today — using the poem to say something about something. What we inherited in nursery rhymes is the best: no doubt the best poster poems will have something to say to someone a hundred or two years from now.

In the meantime, they cost 50 cents plus 25 cents handling charge each. Let the venture-some venture!

At least in my opinion, these poster poems show more imagination than those in SEVENTY NEW POEMS by Kimball Flaccus, a collection of rather painfully neat in scansion and rhyme poems rather lacking in good red blood or even bottled burgandy. However, readers who are repulsed by the bottomless and topless in poetry may find Seventy New Poems a pleasant change of scenery. Available from the author at P.O. Box 186, Media, P.A.

DROMOLAND CASTLE near Shannon is now a luxury hotel.

ASHFORD CASTLE, County Mayo, is located on an isthmus between "noble expanses of water"

Irish castles for rent, complete or by rooms

DUBLIN — Among Ireland's castles are several which affluent visitors may rent by the week or longer complete with servants, horses and fishing streams, and a few which have been transformed into luxury hotels. Rates at the latter run from less than $7 Canadian for bed and breakfast, single, in the quiet season. Dinners are continental cuisine served with fine wines, which are extra.

These castle hotels are located in areas of great diversity and give the visitor a chance to absorb some Irish country life and at the same time provide him with an opportunity to follow his favorite hobby, whether it be horses, fishing, golf, shooting, or archaeological pursuits.

Ashford Castle at Cong in County Mayo, the most economically priced of the group, is a handy center for exploring western Ireland with its barren Connemara country, mountains and valleys around Clew Bay, and the fjord-like coastline from Galway Bay to Donegal Bay.

This castle, with its many wings, castellated towers, formal gardens, and idyllic setting on an island-dotted lake, is a romantic spot. Recent redecorating has created a serene and stately setting for a sumptuous sojourn. Its owner is the well-known Irish hotelier, Noel Huggard.

The rates are surprisingly low by North American standards — from under $7 to about $7.50 Canadian (add $2.50 for private bath) for room and breakfast, single during the eight months (March through October) it is open, the lowest rates prevailing in March and April. Ashford has 40 rooms, 26 of them with private bath.

The castle is situated on an isthmus between Loughs Corrib and Mask, which the Irish call "noble expanses of water". An underground stream edged with caves joins the two lakes, which offer the finest free fishing in Europe (salmon, pike and perch). The castle was a hunting lodge in the 18th century and pheasant and woodcock provide winter shooting. There are facilities for boat trips, tennis, croquet and putting, and in the neighborhood are interesting ancient ruins of castles, cairns and churches, including a 12th century Augustinian Abbey.

Dromoland Castle, eight miles north of Shannon airport at Newmarket-on-Fergus, makes a convenient headquarters for exploring County Clare, as well as Limerick and Kerry. Golfers have a choice of an eighteen-hole course on the grounds, and championship course at Lahinch and Killarney plus some pleasant nine-hole layouts. Dromoland's American owners have spent more than a million dollars decorating the hotel in opulent taste. Bowls of flowers on antique tables, shining brass, brightly decorated rooms and terraced gardens combine to create a king-of-the-castle mood.

The Fergus River and lakes in the area offer fine fishing. The hotel, open from April 1 to November 30, also offers riding, tennis, shooting and hunting. This is indeed a luxury hotel and the rates are lower than many top-flight North American hotels, running from $23 a night single, a figure that includes a generous full-course Irish breakfast. All of the 67 rooms have private bathrooms.

On the other side of the island only 40 miles southwest of Dublin is Kilkea Castle at Castledermot in the center of the County Kildare horse country. Close by are the Nass and Punchestown racecourses. Also nearby is the Curragh, a large plain east of Kildare town and the headquarters of Irish racing since ancient days. It is there that the Irish Derby is run at the end of June. Fox hunting and beagling are related Kildare sports for the horse set.

The River Greese, a fine trout stream, runs through the property and there are many nine and eighteen-hole courses between the castle and Dublin.

Kilkea boasts of being the oldest inhabited castle in Ireland and it is the subject of an old ballad of thirty verses which tells of the castle ghosts who ride the Curragh every seventh year on snowy chargers shod with silver shoes.

The castle, open the year round, is an Anglo-Norman edifice with turrets and moats. Its 52 rooms all have private bath and the off-season rates, bed and breakfast, run around $12 single. Dinner is around $5.

Former church palaces also make luxurious places to stop.

The Parknasilla Hotel, a former bishop's palace on Kenmare Bay, south of Killarney, enjoys a semi-tropical setting with palm trees, holly and arbutus. Diversions include boating, fishing and golf on the property and exploring stone age and early Christian antiquities in the neighborhood.

The Palace at Cashel in the inland county of Tipperary is a former archbishop's residence. This is a warm, relaxing place with its crackling fire reflected in well-polished antique furniture, its oil paintings (one by Augustus John), fresh flowers about the rooms, and thick Oriental rugs. It is a handy spot for vacationers bent on a riding, hunting, golfing or a fishing holiday. Most guests, however, are in Cashel to see the famous Rock of Cashel with its ancient buildings that rise high above the town.

If you can't manage a stay in an Irish castle, there are handsome mansions with overnight accommodation throughout the island. On a smaller scale, they are perhaps more easily appraised with their plaster work ceilings and walls, crystal chandeliers, window and doorway detail, carved mantels, stained glass windows and paintings.

What a few may lack in the way of modern heating they more than compensate for in the warmth and richness of their furnishings and it is amazing how cosy and snug and old-fashioned hot water bottle can be in the off-season.

Europe is excitement. A car is freedom.

That's what the Eur-Auto holiday plan offers you this summer. For the amazingly low price of $331 per person*, you get:

- Return airfare Montreal-Amsterdam
- 3 weeks use of a whistle-clean Hertz rented car
- 1000 kilometers of driving
- First night superior tourist-class accommodation in Surprising Amsterdam.
- And you start your trip in scenic, swinging Amsterdam, Europe's most surprising city. One surprise: its location. Amsterdam is close enough to Canada to make the airfare economical. Yet it's right in the heart of Europe so that everywhere you want to go is quick and easy to get to, especially since its spectacular new airport makes travelling in and out a breeze. Surprising Amsterdam: the smartest place to start your holiday.

From then on, all Europe is all yours. Plan your own route, at your own pace. Hit the big cities and the quiet country towns. Stay somewhere three hours or three days. Having your own private car gives you the freedom to discover the real Europe. And to really enjoy it!

By the way, you can get the same great Eur-Auto deal starting off in Frankfurt for just $351 per person*. Or from Vienna for $384 per person*. ## About television

NEW YORK (AP) — This Town Will Never Be The Same, Wednesday night's NBC special, was an earnest attempt to say something with meaning in dramatic terms about the death of a newspaper.

It did make a lot of statements, ones made every time a paper dies, about the public's loss. But the hour, by Ed de Blasio, was pretty shapeless and thoroughly unsatisfying from a dramatic standpoint. We were never able to care enough about the faltering paper or the people who worked for it—we didn't know them well enough—to become upset at their plight.

The story opened with labor presenting the newspaper's management with take-it-or-leave-it demands. From the outset, it seemed a foregone conclusion that the paper, with declining circulation and advertising revenue, would fold.

The story starred Barry Sullivan, playing the paper's middle-aged managing editor in a style reminiscent of Front Page.

The presiding over the newspaper's demise was not enough for an hour, however, so a subplot came along. A brash young reporter turned up some evidence that the managing editor's son was a drug pusher. Perhaps it was added to demonstrate that both the paper and its top editorial hand both had lost touch.

E. G. Marshall had almost a cameo role as the publisher who decided to scuttle his sinking ship. When the hour was over, nothing had been determined except that a newspaper was dead. The viewer left with the feeling that the program had stopped rather than that a drama had been concluded.

DO-IT-YOURSELF

WINDOW SHADES ARE EASY TO REPAIR

By MR. FIX

The sounds of a slapping, banging window shade gone berserk are enough to scare the daylight out of anyone. A shade that won't go up or down the way it should is a thorough nuisance.

Window shade rollers are simple enough to put right again if you understand how they operate. The wooden roller has a spring inside of it (it's hollow). The roller has a pin on each end, a flat one and round one. The flat one rotates, and the spring is attached to it.

When you pull the shade down the action winds the spring. With the shade down, ratchet pawls or catches at that end of the roller drop into place and lock the roller. This keeps the spring from unwinding of its own accord.

When the shade will not wind up the way it should it indicates a lack of tension on the spring. To wind it tighter than it is, pull the shade down about two-thirds of the way. Remove the roller from the window and wind the shade by hand. Hold it firmly and replace it in the brackets, then pull it down again.

If the shade snaps up out of control when you try to raise it, the spring is too tightly wound. Reverse the process outlined above. Raise the shade all the way. Then remove it from the window and unroll it by hand, about halfway down. Then put the roller back and the shade should go up easily.

If you pull the shade down and it snaps right up again the spring is not being locked in position. The pawls are supposed to stop and hold the rotating pin. If they are sticking they will not control the ratchet mechanism.

Remove the metal cap from the end with the flat pin. Then you can see the pawls. It may be only dirt that is making them stick. Clean them out and lubricate lightly so they will work freely.

Other problems are more easily solved.

If the entire shade falls out of the brackets, they are too far apart. Figure a way to get the brackets closer together. If they are on the outside of the window frame, move them to the inside. If they are there already, shim them with layers of cardboard. Sometimes the roller can be lengthened in effect by pulling at the fixed pin with a pair of pliers. The pin amounts to little more than a nail.

If the brackets are too close together the roller will stick. If they cannot be moved, try flattening them slightly with the tap of a hammer. Or try tapping that fixed pin, driving it a little farther into the roller. If this doesn't work, remove the cap and pin and sand or file down that end of the wooden roller.

Macdonald College

Something must be happening to my sense of taste. Had some maple syrup from Kingsbury, deep in Quebec's Eastern Townships the other day which I am ready to admit just about equals the best in the world. And that of course, comes from the old home farm.

The last boiling in the Morgan Arboretum was on April 17. Prof. Dan MacArthur reports a good year with 450 gallons of top quality syrup. That compares with 370 gallons last year. Eighteen hundred buckets were hung, and another 1200 taps were on plastic pipe-lines. With two or three hot days, and no snow left on the island of Montreal, the end of the season came fast. But, we hear, there is plenty of snow left in the Laurentians and the Townships. Step ladders will be needed this year to take the buckets off.

The Quebec Young Farmers Association seems to be headed for formal recognition. Under the chairmanship of Colleen Coates from East Angus, this action group has been meeting informally for two years now. And making a name for itself.

Last year, their do-it-yourself leadership camp at Spooner Pond brought them province-wide publicity. This year, Colleen says, it will be bigger and better.

With the focus again on personality and leadership development, this year's camp will be on an island in Lake St. Francis. But there will be a roof over their heads, instead of canvas. The camp will run for six days, July 27 to August 2; it will be open to young people between the ages of fifteen and twenty-one. Teresa Mellish, who is acting as secretary, says application forms are going out the first week of May to Young Farmers' Clubs in the province. Registration will be limited to forty.

Another achievement of this active group is writing of three new club projects. The Farm Accounting and Farm Management Project provides material for ten meetings in the management of crops, buildings, livestock, farm planning, accounts and budgets. The Tractor Project is mainly for the mechanically-inclined. The Car and Highway Safety project is aimed at keeping people alive and healthy.

These projects also will be ready in May, in plenty of time for fall organization.

I haven't quite figured out how this group fits into the official framework of the Young Farmers' Clubs and the 4-H Clubs. Certainly, they have had the whole-hearted support of Gaston Allard, who is in charge of youth work in the Chateaugay Valley.

The executive at present has ten directors, two from each of five zones. Working along with Colleen Coates, is Chris Judd as vice-president, Caroline Templeton and Clayton Murphy from the Chateaugay Valley; Keith Jenny and Winnie Tibbits from Brome; John Heatley and Roger Lister from Lachute; Jerry Barber who, like Chris, is from Shawville, and Braden Goodfellow from Sherbrooke.

The secretary is Teresa Mellish, whose official job is secretary of the Quebec Farmers' Association. Unhappily for the organization, Mrs. Mellish is resigning on the first of June, when her marital loyalties take her to far away places.

Another bit of organization news is John Reinber's Diploma in Agriculture Alumni. All around the country are members of the Diploma course who are farming. And some are not but their love is still there. Until recently they have had no way of keeping in touch.

At College Royal time, last February, John, who is a Diploma '66 Grad, called an open meeting and got things going.

Now they are talking about an annual reunion, and such things as offering small scholarship to the diploma class. You can contact John at Box 541, 51 Lampton Street, Ormstown.

Incidentally, John tells me he and his two young partners, Johnny Brown and brother Carl, have sold all of last year's 250 acres of corn. This year trio of young innovators will have quite a bit more.

Antibiotics Effective Against Candida Albicans

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—How is a yeast or monilial infection acquired? What is the best treatment?

A—The cause of monilial infections, a fungus called Candida albicans, is commonly found on the mucous membranes of normal persons. It usually causes trouble only in persons who are generally run-down or who have taken certain antibiotics that suppress the other harmless germs that normally inhabit the mucous membranes. The Candida albicans may then be said to grow with utter gay abandon. Individual susceptibility is thus more of a factor in infection with this fungus than close personal contact with it.

Several antibiotics are effective against this fungus. These include nystatin, amphotericin B, fluorocytosine and candididin. Some are supplied on prescription as a cream, others as oral tablets and some as both.

Q—I am a housewife, 29. I have had a fungus infection for three years. I douche with Nylmerate but I can't get rid of it. Is douching every day harmful?

A—The douche you are using is usually effective against Candida albicans and other fungus infections. If it hasn't cured you after three years, further studies should be made to determine what organism is causing your trouble at present. If it is still a fungus, you should switch to another fungicide. Douching daily is not harmful so long as there is a definite reason for it, but it is not advised otherwise.

Q—My son, 31, has coccidiodomycosis. What are the symptoms? Is there any cure for it?

A—This disease is caused by inhaling the spores of the mold, Coccidioides. Most victims recover and have a lasting immunity to the disease thereafter. In the early stages the temperature may reach 104. There is usually some pain in the chest and generalized aching. With good nursing care many victims recover without the use of any drugs but, if treatment is necessary, most of them can be cured with the antibiotic, amphotericin B.

Q—Is it possible to get arthritis from a blood transfusion?

A—Infectious diseases, yes; arthritis, no.

Get down to nitty gritty

Tradition stalls curling

Curling generally traces its origin to the Scots, who in typical British fashion have found it difficult to unwrap its ceremonial robes of tradition in the interest of promotion through innovation.

This was particularly evident to some 50 newspaper, radio and television reporters from Canada who watched the world championship in Perth last March, a stone's throw from Stirling where the first organized curling existed before the end of the 15th century.

And, although there is concrete proof, in the form of sunken hacks and long-slide deliveries, that the Scottish game has progressed considerably since Ernie Richardson of Regina first introduced that country to the takeout game about 10 years ago, it is still somewhat primitive by Canadian standards.

There are still few curling clubs in Scotland as they are known in this country. Curling is generally confined to ice arenas similar to Canadian skating and hockey rinks and a club is the traditional and theoretical formation of a group into an organized body for the purpose of participating in one or more set endeavors.

ICE TRICKY

As late as 1967, the last previous time the world championship was held in Scotland, players were still delivering from raised hacks that were clamped to the ice and "actually wiggled," according to former Canadian titlist Alf Phillips Jr. of Toronto.

The Scots have since adopted the sunken hacks, although the ice sheets still leave much to be desired by Canadian curlers accustomed to uniform ice conditions.

The ice surface at Perth Ice Arena was perfect for the draw game going in one direction, but almost defied a curler to reach the circle with anything less than back-weight takeout going the other way. An ice-maker explained that this was caused by the heavy concentration of freezing pipes at one end of the rink, which makes the surface harder at one end.

"It was so tricky that anything could happen to any stone at any time," said Ron Northcott of Calgary after skipping his Canadian rink to its third world title in four years.

But the most amazing facet of ice-making to the Canadian contingent was the manner in which the pebble was laid on the ice surface. An ordinary fire hose was used, first to flood and resurface and then sprayed directly into the air which forced the water to fall in a heavy mist to form the pebble.

BOGGLE AT COST

Nor is the game as popular in Scotland as it has become in this country during the last few decades. A small fraction of the crowds that watched the 1968 tournament in Pointe Claire, Que., was on hand to watch the event at Perth.

This is mostly due to the small interest in curling in that country because of what Scotsmen consider "an abominable price for throwing a wee rock down the ice."

Golfing, said to be expensive at about $75 a year but only half the expense of curling, is still considered the true Scottish game. Curling is mostly confined to the wealthier middle-class farmers and businessmen.

But there's a lot of tradition wrapped shroudlike around the game, and it's rare to find an ice arena without museum showcases of original curling stones in various shapes and sizes from 150 pounds down ward.

USED BRAMBLE BROOM

Some of these stones are nothing more than boulders with steel handles attached to the rock with mortar. And there are brooms from an earlier era made of bramble bush, although the Scots have long since given up the use of the broom in favor of a long-handled brush.

This also took much from the excitement of the game. The Canadians and United States team members, the only players to use the cornstraw broom in the eight-country tournament, created a special excitement at Perth with their rifle-like snaps of the implement.

The Scots played what appeared a much more subdued game, with the brushes unheard as they polished the ice and the only sound the skip's command of "hurry hoy, hoy, hoy," to encourage his men in their brushing.

Playoff Top Ten

Phil Esposito increased his scoring lead among Stanley Cup players Thursday night, but he's reached the end of the line.

Jean Beliveau scored the winner for Montreal in the second overtime period and now has five goals and five assists, good for fifth place among scorers.

Sherbrooke Hussars stage indoor track and field meet

ALPHA Squadron of the Sherbrooke Hussars won the Team Trophy in the First Annual Indoor Track and Field Meet, held in the William Street Armoury, Wednesday, April 23.

Instead of waiting for the cinder track at the Parade Grounds to dry out, it was decided to hold a meet indoors. The track around the drill floor is 110 yards long.

The contestants were divided into Open Class, and the "Golden Age Class," for those born before April 22, 1944. The program included eight track events and two field events. The open events were high jump, 12 lb. shot put, 40 yard, 220 yard, 440 yard, 880 yard and mile run. The "Golden Age" events were 40 yard, 440 yard and 880 yard run.

Twenty officers and men of the Sherbrooke Hussars were divided into sub-units: Alpha Squadron, Bravo Squadron and Charlie Squadron (Bury). Two representatives of 8th Medical Clearing Company and 17 cadets from Sherbrooke Hussars Cadet Corps, No. 2835 also took part.

In the Open Class, Cpl. Danny Lemay of B Squadron won two firsts and a second. In the "Golden Age Class", Sgt. Archie Quick of C Squadron won two firsts.

Ribbons and points were awarded to the first four places on the basis of five points for a first place, three points for a second, two points for a third and one point for a fourth place. Team standings were: Alpha Squadron 34 points; Bravo Squadron, 30; Charlie Squadron, 21; Cadets Squadron, 17; 8 Med Coy, 5.

The team trophy to be re-activated is the 53rd Regiment Military Tug of War Cup, dating from 1906.

in the E.T.

By NORM NICHOLL

JUSTICE? INJUSTICE? Where is the dividing line? Does it change from one district to another? Is it who knows who that aids in the final handing out of justice?

For instance in December 1965 a Magog resident came before the Sherbrooke courts on a jacking charge — a third offence — and previously had appeared on two convictions for spearing rainbow trout. At that time he was fined by Judge Turmel $500. That might be called justice by many.

December 13, 1968, the same person is brought before the court at Sweetburg (Cowansville) for jacking deer in that area. The fine imposed $100 for a fourth offence.

It would seem that after the third conviction and shelling out $500, the lesson might have been learned. It would seem that it was not and by changing the area of operations things would go easier if caught. Is the dividing line how many times a person can get away with breaking the law and if caught to hope that the courts will be lenient?

JUSTICE SHOULD BE the same in any court. Granted personalities of individuals involved will change but the basic principles of interpretation of the laws should be the same, whether a case is heard in any court in the province.

QUESTION? Why didn't the case history of the individual follow him from the court in Sherbrooke? Did the crown prosecutor take the necessary time to check them out before having the case placed on the slate of cases to be heard? Why is it that in one district a lawyer is working for the crown and in another he is defending the same individuals that he has prosecuted in another?

SPORTSMEN—CONSERVATION GROUPS — The case is now closed. However I urge you to keep alert. Use your influence, whatever it may be, to try and get our courts alerted. Granted the hearing of Fish and Game infractions perhaps is considered as menial by lawyers-prosecutors magistrates and what have you. But the men we turn to enforce these laws must be supported — the groups who work to conserve our wildlife must be supported. Justice must prevail if we are to continue to fish and hunt. If not, let us do away with all laws and return to the stone ages, where might was right.

ICE CUBE FISHING is reported to be in order for the first weekend of the 1969 fishing season. A check around the townships shows that high water and ice are the order for lakes and streams. Avid anglers will still be tossing the lures on opening weekend.

PROTECTION SERVICE and WILDLIFE SERVICE are now located in new quarters at 740 Galt St., West 3rd floor just up from the Belvedere So., intersection. The telephone number is 563-4460 - extension 250 for the Wildlife Service and extension 272 for the Game Wardens.

WILDLIFE SERVICE for the Townships has prepared a pamphlet for the main fishing lakes of the Townships. A map is also included covering an area east to Lake Megantic and the Chaudiere river. West to Brome and Roxton Pond. From the border on the south to Lake Kelly and Lake St. Joseph on the north. A table shows what game fish are to be had in each of the mentioned lakes. Anyone wishing to receive a copy may do so by dropping in, or writing, Louis Auger, Wildlife Service, 740 Galt St. West, Sherbrooke, or telephoning his office 563-4460 extension 250.

Canada's Ken Fulton fires blistering nine holes then fumbles in Byron Nelson Open

DALLAS (CP-AP) — Young Ken Fulton of Trail, B.C., shot a blistering 32 on the front nine Thursday in the $100,000 Byron Nelson golf tournament. However, he soared to a 41 on the back nine and is well back in the pack going into today's second round.

Fulton's 73—he was tied with Al Balding of Toronto as the top Canadian—was seven strokes off the pace set by Bert Greene. His front-nine 32 was matched only by Chris Blocker who had a 35 going home for a second-place score of 67. Tied with Blocker were Julius Boros and Bob Menne.

Other Canadian scores over the tough, 7,086-yard, par 70 Preston Trail Golf Club course were: Wilf Homenuk of Winnipeg and Wayne Vollmer of Vancouver with 74s and Bill Wakeham of Victoria at 78.

HAVENT WON YET

Greene is in his third year on the tour, while Blocker is in his fifth year. But they've yet to win. And, with Menne, the trio has a total yearly earning of $8,905, $7,062 by Greene.

Menne had the only eagle of the day, pitching to within 15 feet on the par-five third and sinking the putt.

Greene and Blocker each came home on a string of three consecutive birdies.

The rock-steady Boros, PGA champion, didn't miss a fairway, three-putted two greens going out, but came home in 31, four under par.

A group of six was tied at 69, one under. They were: Arnold Palmer, U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, Australian Bruce Crampton, lefty Bob Charles of New Zealand, Bob Lunn and Orville Moody.

Miller Barber, defending champion, blew to an 80.

Umps' Pal Now

AMARILLO, Tex.—(NEA) —As a big-league manager, Bobby Bragan was never known for his affection for umpires. But things have changed, now that he's president of the Texas League.

He has ordered new outfits for his umpires—slip-over mock turtle-necks in such colors as royal whiskey, midnight blue, cream and old gold—with slacks to match.

"I'm trying to give umpires some dignity," he says. "Besides, baseball needs more color."

Habs' Beliveau gets winner

Overtime jinx ends Bruins' hopes

BOSTON (CP) — That old overtime jinx hit the Bruins Thursday night, but it was a veteran all-star and a young goaltender who killed Boston's bid for their first berth in the Stanley Cup final since 1940-41.

Jean Beliveau, Montreal Canadiens' 36-year-old captain, rapped in a pass from right winger Claude Provost at 11:28 of the second overtime period for a 2-1 Montreal victory and the National Hockey League semi-final playoff series four games to two.

Rogatien Vachon, 23, who became starting goalie when Gump Worsley dislocated the little finger on his left hand in the third game, blocked 50 shots, 22 in the scoreless second period. He was unbeatable after giving up a goal to Ron Murphy at 2:29 of the first period.

Beliveau's goal, his second of the series, marked the first time in his 16-year NHL career that he has scored in overtime. The Montreal captain scored the tying goal in the first game of the series which Montreal won 3-2 in overtime.

The Canadiens, winners of the NHL's Eastern Division, now meet St. Louis Blues in a best-of-seven final series which opens in Montreal Sunday.

SWEET WESTERN SERIES

St. Louis, Western Division champions, defeated Philadelphia Flyers in their quarter-final in four games and then knocked off Los Angeles Kings in the semi-final, also in four games.

The Blues and the Canadiens met in last year's final with Montreal—minus Beliveau—taking the series in four games. However, this year the Blues are well rested while Canadiens have had a rugged series against Boston.

After Thursday's game, Vachon, said he was tired, but happy.

"I was so tired I just lay down between periods and tried to relax," he said in the Canadiens dressing room as coach Claude Ruel smiled for the first time since he arrived in Boston Wednesday.

"I was still lucky, there were several shots that just hit me and some that I didn't even see."

LINEMATE PRAISED

Beliveau refused to take much credit for the winning goal.

"It was a perfect pass from that old guy sitting right over there," said the Montreal centre, pointing to Provost. "I thought we'd lost possession of the puck to (Don) Awrey. I turned back ready to head for our end of the rink, then I saw Joe (Provost) come up with it."

"I had no time for a fancy shot. I just let it go."

It was the third time in this series that Canadiens beat the Bruins in overtime.

Serge Savard tied the game at 1:10 of the third period Thursday night, five seconds after Awrey had gone off for cross-checking.

Gerry Cheevers, who played outstanding goal for the Bruins throughout the playoffs, was screened by Bobby Orr on the shot.

STILL NOT CONVINCED
Meanwhile, Boston coach Harry Sinden was convinced he had the better team.

"It's rough," Sinden said. "At no time during the night did I think we were going to lose that game."

"We were getting stronger all the time, but..."

Ruel was almost in tears when Sinden went to congratulate him.

"Boy, that Boston is a great hockey team," he said, "but we're not too bad ourselves."

The coach held to his policy of no predictions when asked about the series against St. Louis.

"I never make predictions," he said. "All I know it is going to be another series and we're going home to rest."

In second overtime

Big John gets winner

BOSTON (CP) — It was a perfect pass from that old guy sitting right over there."

That was Jean Beliveau describing his goal at 11:28 of the second overtime period that eliminated Boston Bruins from Stanley Cup competition and sent Montreal Canadiens into the final against St. Louis Blues.

Montreal won the game 2-1 and the series 4-2.

The object of Beliveau's attention was veteran right-winger Claude Provost who told how he came into possession of the puck to set up Beliveau's goal.

"I thought we'd lost possession of the puck to (Don) Awrey," Beliveau said. "I turned back, ready to head for our own end, and then I saw Joe (Provost) come up with the puck."

"I gave a little yell and the puck was there. I had no time to think or make a fancy shot. I just let it go and it went in."

WAS NOT SATISFIED
It was Beliveau's fifth goal in this season's playoffs and his third against the Bruins. However, he still wasn't satisfied with his over all playoff production.

"I was satisfied with my first two games but in the others' I couldn't seem to skate, the tall centre said.

"But you have to give the Bruins credit. They're a great hockey club."

Beliveau, now in his 16th season, said he "felt better as the game went on."

"I was tired, but not exhausted—and I feel much better now."

Reggie Jackson homers twice, tossed out of game

Reggie Jackson wasn't doing much of anything until Dave Boswell fired two good pitches and Dick Woodson threw two close ones.

Boswell's two tosses resulted in a pair of homers by Jackson in Oakland Athletics' 6-4 victory over Minnesota Thursday. Woodson's pitches resulted in a black eye for the Twins' hurler, suffered during a brief bout with Jackson on the mound.

Jackson, who took only a .146 average into the game, charged to the mound after successive pitches by Woodson whizzed by his head in the fifth inning.

"There was a lot of velocity on those balls," said Jackson. "I was scared."

While Jackson was attempting to tackle Woodson, players from both benches streamed into the field in an attempt to separate the two fighters.

Jackson was ejected and Woodson was lifted for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the inning.

MURCER HOMERS TWICE

In other American League action, Bobby Murcer hit two more homers as New York Yankees trounced Cleveland 11-3 for the Indians' 12th loss in 13 games and Baltimore Orioles checked Detroit Tigers 5-2 on Dave McNally's five-hitter.

Washington's game at Boston was rained out.

Jackson said he "didn't want to fight" Woodson. "That's why I tackled him. I wanted to show him I meant business. I had to protect myself."

"I don't blame him," said Athletics manager Hank Bauer. "I would have done the same thing."

Asked if he thought Woodson was throwing at Jackson, Bauer replied: "Definitely."

Twins manager Billy Martin said Woodson "wasn't throwing at him."

Hap Emms threatens European World Hockey supremacy

TORONTO (CP) — Russia and other top European teams may find themselves facing a new threat in world hockey competition now that Hap Emms has taken over as head man of Canada's national hockey team.

Emms, the pipe-smoking, guitar-playing disciplinarian who for years has ridden herd on amateur and National Hockey League clubs, made no secret of the fact that he wanted guarantees of top players for the national team.

He got that backing Wednesday from Stafford Smythe, president of Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL, who said he could have three players from the Leafs' active roster.

"Any three I choose," said the 64-year-old Emms who once played in the NHL.

Now he's out to get similar backing from the talent-rich

Montreal Canadiens for the none-too-successful Nationals.

If he does it's just possible that the Russians, Swedes and Czechs may find themselves opposing a team made up of such players as Norm Ullman, Tim Horton and Dave Keon of the Leafs and Jean Beliveau, Yvan Cournoyer and J. C. Tremblay of the Canadiens.

WILL CONSIDER HELP

At Boston, David Molson, Canadiens president and a member, as is Smythe, of Hockey Canada which runs the Nationals, said Thursday he will give consideration to what help his club will give.

"I'll have to consult with general manager Sam Pollock before I can say anything about it," said Molson.

If Leighton Emms succeeds in getting Canada's team back on the winning rails in world championship competition, it will mark another milestone in a successful career that stretches back into Ontario junior hockey.

The former general manager of Boston Bruins of the NHL has run amateur teams in Barrie and Niagara Falls in the Ontario Hockey Association for more than 20 years. He still plans to direct Niagara Falls Flyers of the Junior A series.

It isn't the first time Smythe has helped the veteran hockey strategist. In 1953, when Smythe was in charge of Toronto Marlboros and Emms commanded the rival Barrie Flyers in the OHA Junior A, Emms borrowed the Marlboros' sweaters in the Memorial Cup finals.

He'd discovered the Barrie uniforms were the same color as their opponents in the final, after winning the championship, Hap wired Staff: "This is the only way Marlboro uniforms will ever get into a Memorial Cup final."

Emms ("I was named Hap as a kid because I was a sour-puss") is a master psychologist with an astute hockey mind. He plays the game to the hilt and expects his players to do the same.

Phillies blast Expos, Cards win

Last October, Houston Astros decided Nate Colbert couldn't help them. Six months later, they figured he couldn't hurt them either.

The rookie infielder, a former Houston prospect landed by San Diego Padres in the October expansion draft, beat the Astros 4-1 Thursday with his first major league homer, a three-run eighth inning wallop.

After Tony Gonzalez doubled with two out in the Padres' eighth, Houston reliever Jack Billingham walked Ollie Brown intentionally to get at Colbert—then flatted him with an inside pitch.

Colbert picked himself up and tagged the next pitch 420 feet into the left centre field bleachers, breaking a 1-1 deadlock. The homer was the first off Billingham in 58 games, including 50 with Los Angeles Dodgers last season.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati Reds edged Los Angeles 8-7, San Francisco Giants topped Atlanta Braves

5-1. St. Louis Cardinals edged Chicago Cubs 3-2 and Philadelphia Phillies rapped Montreal Expos 7-1. Pittsburgh was rained out at New York.

LOSE EIGHT OF NINE

Colbert's blast sent the Astros reeling to their eighth loss in the last nine games.

Colbert, who started the night with one RBI in 12 games, also poked an infield single against his former mates, raising his batting average to .272.

Brown's second inning homer off Houston starter Jim Ray gave the Padres a 1-0 lead but the Astros tied in the fourth when Denis Menke homered against rookie Al Santorini.

Ray, struck on the right elbow by Gonzalez' first inning liner, left the game in the third and Santorini departed in the seventh with a blister on a finger on his right hand. Veteran Jack Baldschun was the winner in relief.

Lee May drove in three runs with a triple and his third homer as the Reds chased left-hander Claude Osteen and built an 8-4 lead before surviving a late Los Angeles comeback.

May's two-run triple and a two-run single by Johnny Bench were the big hits in a five-run third inning explosion that sent Cincinnati in front to stay. Bob Tolan also homered for the Reds.

Bill Sudakis hit his first homer for the Dodgers, who wasted 17 hits—four of them by Wes Parker.

Emms ("I was named Hap as a kid because I was a sourpuss") is a master psychologist with an astute hockey mind. He plays the game to the hilt and expects his players to do the same.

Lake Memphremagog can be saved

M.C.I. now 600 strong, seeks membership

By CHARLES CATCHPAUGH

Six hundred men and women, deeply concerned over the rapid deterioration of Lake Memphremagog, are running one of the hardest campaigns ever seen in the Eastern Townships to save this body of water before it's too late. The lake can be saved, but only through the most stringent measures, which Memphremagog Conservation Inc. has already outlined, and has been able to encourage at various levels.

Saving Lake Memphremagog can in one sense, be considered a pilot project, which if proven successful, could spearhead an all-out effort to safeguard the lakes and streams throughout Quebec and other regions, which have not yet reached the point of no return.

Six hundred members though, as an MCI official pointed out, is not nearly an adequate number for such an ambitious project, which should involve every man, woman and child in the country. The aim is to activate concern, gain mass participation in combating water pollution, and the enthusiastic endeavour of everyone to make sure that the proper measures are taken immediately, which would save our waters.

The Memphremagog in past months, however, has become through the strong pressures of MCI to point out the facts, the target for criticism, and insinuations, that the cause is lost. This is far from the truth, but could be reality within a short period of time, unless the emergency measures needed are taken right away. It's no longer a yearly state of noticeable deterioration, but one rated in months, even weeks.

One of the most encouraging signs of hope is in the movement put forth by MCI which involves leaders from Quebec and Vermont. This group, already angered by the apathy of the general public, and more particular some governmental leaders, have stirred up action, and gained results that can be regarded as a beginning to the solutions, which are manifold.

In the desire to do its part, your record has taken a deep look into the various circumstances contributing to the present day crises, endeavour to help gain greater support for MCI and a broader concern over water pollution. As a step towards understanding the issues, a resume of the minutes of the last directors' meeting follows:

The various Committees reported:

Quebec Government: — a firm commitment has been obtained from the Quebec Water Board (Department of Municipal Affairs) that it will make a very thorough study of the condition of the Lake in co-operation with the Water Resources Board, State of Vermont in the summer of 1969.

The Quebec Water Board has been asked to include in its study the whole question of nutrient inputs (the cause of the algae bloom) and the effect of the water level on the condition of the Lake.

Vermont Government: — The standards established by the Vermont Water Resources Board these will be the basis for the classification of Lake Memphremagog water.

If the Vermont standards are followed, there will be public hearings in the summer of 1969 at which point MCI will attempt to have Lake Memphremagog classified as "Class A" water.

The 1935 Treaty between the U.C. and Canadian Federal Governments has been forwarded to the Vermont Water Resources Board with the request that it have the Treaty renegotiated.

Federal Government: — The Quebec Department of Health has asked the International Joint Commission to stay out of the act until "results" of this summer's study of the Lake are available.

The Department of Energy, Mines and Resources is establishing a water quality station at the Magog end of the Lake.

ke this summer and its findings will be made available to the Quebec-Vermont study.

MCI has received copies of the 1935 Treaty between the USA and Canada which authorizes Dominion Textile, in Magog, to control the level of the Lake between a high and low point differential of 3.7 feet. It is understood that the Textile Company uses the Lake as a water reservoir for its own power plant which it runs about one month, thus saving one month's Hydro bill. MCI will try to have this anachronistic Treaty renegotiated to establish more sensible high and low water level differentials.

Magog and Other Lakeside Municipalities: —

The MCI Directors resident in and around Magog have organized a meeting on April 8th, 1969 which has the support of all local civic and tourist organizations. The objective is to make the local population more aware of the real nature of the Lake's condition and its effect on the community and to obtain their support for and membership in MCI.

On motion duly made and seconded, it was unanimously resolved THAT THE Executive Committee be authorized to spend a maximum of $3,000 in the summer of 1969 to pay the wages and expenses of two college students to assist Jean-Louis Scott, Stanstead County Health Inspector, in performing inspections of private sewage disposal systems.

On motion duly made and seconded, it was unanimously resolved THAT MCI donate $250 to the Association Touristique Magog-Orford to enable that Association to undertake a poster contest in the local schools this Spring subject to the winning poster being made available to MCI for publicity purposes.

US Citizens Organization: — The new organization has not yet been incorporated, but the ground-work has been laid in getting the support of all other local organizations. Further meetings will be held with the Newport organization to encourage them to get going.

Municipal by-laws: The standard sanitation and building by-laws are almost in final form and the Brome County Rural Development Assoc. Inc. has undertaken to see that they are implemented in Brome County.

A. O. Leslie has undertaken to co-ordinate the implementation of the standard by-laws in Magog, Ogden and Stanstead counties.

Brief to the Quebec Water Study Commission: J. K. Leslie will finalize this with T. LeSautour for review by the Board of Directors prior to its presentation by C. Hebert.

Universities: A proposed "study of the pollution of Lake Memphremagog" prepared by Professor Raymond Desrochers of the University of Sherbrooke (Science faculty, Biology Department) was tabled. This proposal sets forth a comprehensive program to identify the sources and causes of eutrophication, at a cost of $5,800 to cover the wages of four (4) students related expenses.

On motion duly made and seconded, it was unanimously resolved that MCI accept the proposal of Dr. Desrochers and authorize an expenditure of $5,800 subject to the program being submitted to and accepted by the Quebec Water Board as forming an integral part of the joint Quebec-Vermont study of the condition of the Lake in the summer of 1969.

Other Community Pollution Organizations: R. B. Tyler undertook the responsibility for this new Committee to maintain contact with similar organizations in North Hatley, Lake Massawippi, Little Lake Magog, Brome Lake and Brome County Rural Development Association.

Publicity: a. No date has yet been set for the CBC TV Special on pollution which will feature Lake Memphremagog. Members will be alerted when the date is known.

b. A Press Release was authorized for Monday, March 3rd, 1969 covering the undertaking by the Quebec Water Board, the establishment of the Government Water Quality Station and other matters.

Special General Meeting of Members: On motion duly made and seconded, it was unanimously resolved THAT a special General Meeting of Members be held at 4:30 p.m., May 17th, 1969, in the city of Magog

SPRING THAWS SPEED DETERIORATION — Each spring the runoff of melting snow carries many impurities into Lake Memphremagog, which help worsen the water's condition. This year, higher than usual water levels, have done considerable damage to the lake, and everywhere, examples of natural runoff, such as seen here along one of the Magog River retainer walls, carry thousands of pounds in silt and waste to the waterways. Often, the waters reaching lakes in spring, such as Memphremagog, are contaminated with an abundance of fertilizers used in agriculture. It's simple, but harmful phenomena such as this that is helping speed up water pollution such as being battled by MCI.

DOWN THE DRAIN

should be concerned with today's steadily growing problem of WATER POLLUTION... it still isn't too late to save our beautiful lakes and streams, but action is needed immediately!

EVERYONE

can become conservationists, simply by supporting those associations and groups whose aims are to introduce measures that combat pollution.

MEMPHREMAGOG CONSERVATION Inc.

is one of the more active organizations engaged in "anti-pollution", its purpose being primarily to prevent further deterioration to Lake Memphremagog. This body has already taken drastic measures to preserve this lake, because it isn't too late! The battle can only be won with the total co-operation of everyone in the areas surrounding Lake Memphremagog. A lot of hard work has to be done, besides the many efforts already put into this worthwhile project, and and the anti-water pollution organization in your community!

This message is published as a public service by the listed firms, who believe it isn't too late to save Lake Memphremagog and other bodies of water, which will most certainly be ruined unless drastic conservation measures are taken immediately.

This week your Record is beginning a series of articles on the pollution problem that is facing the future of Lake Memphremagog. Through out the series we are asking that individuals who wish to express their views on this subject write to the Sherbrooke Daily Record. The views of the individuals are not necessarily those of the Record, nor of the firms sponsoring the series, but those of the individuals or groups submitting them. At certain intervals a summary of views will be printed and at the conclusion it is hoped that a program of recovery will be started.

There has been some bad publicity given this area on the pollution question, posing a threat to the livelihood of many.

From past records, residents of the Townships have been able to cope with problems and solve them through team work and logic.

Sir:

Regarding Pollution in Lake Memphremagog, vis-a-vis Georgeville, we have our problems; it lies in a basin of clay soil and the absorption content is nil. Septic tanks installed have a special problem to filter the outlets. In spite of this and contrary to publicity articles, Georgeville contributes about three per cent of the total troubles to this widely publicized lake.

The big troubles may or may not be corrected, Georgeville will be corrected. A lake with two cities on each end, and many larger communities all contribute to the pollution. That is to say the balance—ninety-seven per cent.

The largest factor, the pipeline, diminishes the overflow, thereby shutting off the only source known to man to remove phosphates, nutrients and pesticide, by a flowing process. The pipeline has no bearing on size or quantity of Memphremagog, but it does have extreme effect on the overflow at low water seasons.

A correction basin below the outlet to collect water to filter to supply cities, would help. The more they used the better, as it would draw out more nutrients etc.

M.I.C. publicity directed at the newspapers and the fashion in which tests were taken points a very bleak picture of Georgeville. Residents visiting outside say "oh, you are from that dirty place". Magog, Sherbrooke, and Montreal, all dump their sewers unceremoniously into rivers and lakes below and are the same people condemning us, while these places have no treatment at all. Georgeville at least has septic tanks, working or otherwise, at least some form of treatment.

Due to bad publicity, Georgeville tourists cancel out, business sales are off, property values in half. In one case in particular, A. G. Keet grocery in Georgeville has trouble selling at half price. This man, a school chum of mine, spent four long years in the army, marched into Germany, gave his best for his country. Now this? Does our country think this is a good deal, or "lest we forget". He had to assist to kill our enemy to preserve this freedom for this. Is this what Canada wants? Is this what Quebec wants? Is this what you want?

M.I.C. Set of By-Laws would, if adopted, close and evacuate the citizens of Georgeville.

SOLUTION: Stanstead Co. and Brome Co. separate and join U.S.A., State of Vermont. Reason: State of Vermont gives assistance to private and city disposal systems in money, that is to say on June 1, 1969 a $300,000 secondary, $70,000 paid by city and rest by state government. That is about $7 for each citizen.

Now, the Quebec government gives nil, Canada nil, only the citizens pay all and taxes are higher here than elsewhere in America.

Vermont state gives subsidies to farmers wanting private sewage treatment or private homes on the same basis. Thereby letting people live in their homes, by tax assistance. Very good grounds to opt out of Quebec and Canada—Citizens how about a plebiscite. Now?
