

OUTREMONT HOCKEY LEAGUE

Alderman Owen J. Callary faced the puck for the first game at the official opening of the Outremont Hockey League, which took place on Sunday afternoon last. He was accompanied by Mr. Emile Lacroix, city manager, and escorted by officials of the league. The ice was in splendid condition, and, notwithstanding the severe weather a considerable crowd of spectators turned out to witness the games. First class hockey was displayed, and keen contests are looked for in the race for the various trophies.

The entertainment committee is hard at work in preparation for the first dance, which is scheduled to take place on January 24th. Information in regard to the function can be had from Mr. Douglas Rattray, chairman of the committee, at CALUMET 6713.

The next general meeting will be held on January 10th.

NORTH BRANCH "Y" NOTES

Inter-Racial Understanding

On Sunday afternoon forty members of North Branch Y.M.C.A. heard Dr. George Patterson speak upon the contribution which the Y.M.C.A. was making to inter-racial understanding in various parts of the world.

The meeting was presided over by W. A. Wilson and J. Burnham Toft. It was reported that the goal of one hundred and fifty dollars, North Branch's contribution to the Foreign Services Budget was nearly raised. The chairman stressed the fact that what his committee sought was a wider participation on the part of the membership in this phase of the association life. He sought a large number of subscriptions.

Vocational Programme

With over one hundred unemployed boys registered at North Branch Y.M.C.A. for recreational and educational activities a worth while program of activities has been drawn up in order that they might make use of this enforced leisure time to better prepare themselves for re-employment both physically and mentally. The social rooms of the building are open each day from one to four p.m.

New Year's Reception

Plans are being rapidly set up for the annual Open House on New Year's Day. The main features of this program are a Gym display by the Physical Department under the direction of Mr. W. A. Wellband embracing all sections of the members from Preps to Business Men. Ed. Holdon is preparing a special program of advanced Gymnastics for this occasion. Members of the Board of Management as usual will receive the guests as they enter the building and usher them to the various activities of interest.

Y.M.H.A. Notes

Silver Jubilee

Twenty-five years having passed since the Y.M.H.A. received its first provincial charter in 1910, the Association will celebrate the year 1935 with a series of unusual programs designed to bring the services of the Association further before the public.

Annual Ball

It is announced by the Social Committee that the Silver Jubilee Ball of the Association will take place on Saturday night, January 26th, at the Windsor Hotel, and will take the form of a supper dance instead of the usual dinner dance.

Course in Folklore

Rabbi A. I. Rosenberg, Jr., will conduct a special series of four lectures on Jewish folklore beginning Wed. night, Jan. 2nd, and continuing for three subsequent Wed. evenings. Club leaders, Sunday school teachers, Hadassah members, will find this series of lectures particularly useful.

Brilliant New Course

Prof. Frank R. Scott of McGill University heads a notable list of lecturers who will co-operatively give a brilliant new course on current economic problems at the Y.M.H.A. beginning Thurs., Jan. 10th. This course, entitled "The World in Revolt" will discuss the problems of the industrial revolution, democracy and its alternatives, the depression, the new world order, and related problems.

Prof. V. C. Wansborough, headmaster of Lower Canada College, and Messrs. Eugene Forsy, and H. C. Goldenberg, lecturers in Economics, McGill University, will also be heard.

Second Semester

Students in the Y.M.H.A. Night Courses are advised that the second term of the courses will begin on January 7th, and will continue through March.

CANADIAN MISSION NOTES

Sunday evening services of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon), held in hall at 5711 Park Avenue, featured talks on the life and mission of Jesus Christ and also that of Joseph Smith whose birthday anniversary falls on December 23rd.

The similarity of the doctrines taught by these two characters in the history of the world was stressed by the speakers and was in fact affirmed and declared as to be identical. The fact was reiterated that Jesus Christ himself established this church in these latter days directly through the instrumentality of the Prophet Joseph Smith.

Included in the services were a duet, "Silent Night", and a quartette, "An Angel From On High", the latter song dealing with the Mormon belief that an Angel actually appeared to Joseph Smith with a message concerning the Book of Mormon.

Elder James McCance of the local branch was in charge of the services and introduced the speakers.

Extras Play at Wealth, as Poverty Lies in Wait

Poverty and despair sit in the shadows behind the immaculately garbed men at the left and the beautifully dressed women at the right, a throng that well might grace a Gold Coast lavish social affair. The impression of wealth that they convey belongs only to the make-believe. They are the "dress extras" of Hollywood, gathered in a theater to face the elimination tests that cut their number from about 1500 to less than a sixth of that figure, so a living wage can be paid those surviving the ordeal.

Ten Foremost World Events During The Year 1934

- 1.—King Alexander I of Yugo-Slavia and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou of France are assassinated (Oct. 9) at Marseilles.
- 2.—Dictator Adolf Hitler subjects his Nazi party to a violent "purge," summarily shooting nearly 100 leaders (June 30).
- 3.—Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria is shot down (July 25) in the chancellery in Vienna by conspirators attempting a "putsch."
- 4.—Prince George of England marries (Nov. 29) Princess Marina of Greece amid pageantry which drew the attention of the world.
- 5.—Latter months of year occupied by frenzied attempt by both parties to influence coming plebiscite in the Saar. Agreement reached on Saar coal mines.
- 6.—Increasing aggressiveness by Mussolini, Italian dictator, marked the year, in militarizing youth of Italy from the age of 8 and in taking active hand in mid-European politics.
- 7.—Throughout the entire year Bolivia and Paraguay reeled back and forth in deadly and costly warfare over the Chaco, despite efforts of the League of Nations to mediate. No decision.
- 8.—C. W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black, English pilots, win the London-to-Melbourne international air race (Oct. 23) in 2 days, 22 hours, 59 minutes.
- 9.—After five nerve-racking days, 1200 coal miners emerge from the pits at Pees, Hungary, finally dissuaded from a sensational threat of mass suicide in protest against conditions of work.
- 10.—Dramatic rescue by planes from Arctic ice foes of 104 of the crew and passengers of the sunken Soviet ice-breaker Chelyuskin.

interesting 3 act play to be put on by the Wesley United Church Junior Dramatic Society, under the auspices of the Men's Association in the Assembly Hall on Tues., Jan. 15th at 8.15 p.m.

INTER-CHURCH BOWLING NOTES

The monthly session of the Wesley Carpet Bowling Bospicels will be held Thursday, in the Gymnasium of Wesley United Church, starting at 8.30 o'clock.

As this is the holiday season Bospicel, it is expected that there will be a large representative attendance from the various churches. The prizes being offered are in keeping with the holiday spirit.

General Health

By Dr. L. Goldman

TREATMENT OF BURNS

For practical purposes we have divided burns into three degrees. The first degree consist of just a reddening of the skin. The second is when blistering occurs and the third when the deeper layers of the skin are involved. There is another classification consisting of six degrees but I would rather consider the first one as the more practical one. Employing this classification the various burns which occur are treated accordingly. Up to this time we employed oily liquids and ointments, patients were swatted in bandages and every time this had to be changed the pain was excruciating. Then this treatment was so unsatisfactory that it would take a long time to heal if successful, most of the time they would die of shock immediately following a burn or if not, they would succumb later on. Should they survive, the number of deformities resulting from the contractures were very great. Lately we have been employing an aqueous solution of Tannic Acid. This is applied very often to the affected parts until a leathery crust is formed. The burned area is then protected. The absorption of toxic material from the burned parts is reduced and thus shock is also prevented. The parts heal quicker and better. Contractions due to scar tissue formation are reduced and the need for grafting skin is avoided. This treatment is so much better than the old ones that it is mostly employed now and thus the mortality of such accidents has been appreciably reduced.

MacVICAR MEMORIAL CHURCH NOTES

Christmas Sunday was observed in MacVicar Memorial Church last Sunday with special Anthems and Carols rendered by the Choir under the leadership of Mr. D. A. Hinchcliffe.

The Evening Service was particularly attractive and inspiring with the various selections of Carols new and old. Miss Marjorie Douglas, Soprano, sang beautifully and effectively "Jesu Bambino" and the Hallelujah Chorus was very ably produced.

Next Sunday, Dec. 30th, will be of special interest to all members and friends, being the closing services of 1934. In the morning at eleven o'clock, Dr. Potter will preach from the suggestive title "Build Greater" and at the 7.30 p.m. Service from the topic "Lead Kindly Light".

Remember the Watch Night Service in MacVicar Memorial Church on Monday night, Dec. 31, at eleven o'clock. The Temple Baptist, Fairmount-St. Giles and Outremont Presbyterian and many others will participate in this service.

FREE GIFTS AT JOHN'S HABERDASHERY

John's Haberdashery, at 204 St. Viateur St. West, wish to make known to their patrons that, owing to the splendid response to their Christmas sales, they feel justified in continuing their "Free Gift" offering over the New Year. They have a fine range of shirts, ties, pyjamas and wearing apparel of all description, for both men and boys, which will make useful and acceptable presents for the New Year.

LAST RESPECTS ARE PAID TO F. VIRGIL BENNETT

Many Members of North End Organizations Attended Last Rites of Noted Organist.

It was with deep regret that relatives and friends heard of the sudden passing on Wednesday, December 19th, 1934, of Frederick Virgil Bennett, for the past 12 years organist at the Church of the Ascension, Park Avenue. The late Mr. Bennett was the elder son of James and the late Clara Bennett, and was born on September 3rd, 1876, at Barrow-in-Furness, Lancashire, England. A little later the family moved to Birkenhead. Mr. Bennett began his musical career at the age of 16, as deputy organist at St. Luke's Church, Trammere, Birkenhead. He was a pupil of the late Mr. Millward Hughes. Later, he became organist of Bessborough Road Unitarian Church. He was very active in musical and Masonic circles while he lived in Birkenhead.

On September 2nd, 1907, he was married to Emily Morris, in Holy Trinity Church, Stratford-on-Avon. On September 28th, 1907, they sailed for Canada, and took up residence in Montreal. In December of the same year, he became Organist of the old St. Gabriel's Presbyterian Church, under the late Dr. Robert Campbell. Since then he has been organist and choirmaster at St. Cyprian's Church, and the old St. Luke's Anglican Church. In December, 1922, he was appointed Organist and Choirmaster at the Church of the Ascension, which position he has held since, first under the late Canon J. L. Flanagan, and then under the Rev. J. F. Morris.

Mr. Bennett was initiated into the Temperance Lodge, Birkenhead, 1903. On coming to Canada, he became a member of St. George's Lodge No. 10, of which lodge he was organist for the entire time of his membership with the exception of the year when he was Master. He was organist of the Grand Lodge of Quebec for the year 1932.

The funeral service was held from the Church of the Ascension. Among those present were members of his choir, members of his Lodge, and of the Women's Guild, of which Mrs. Bennett is President. The deceased is survived by his widow, née Emily Morris, his father, James Bennett, his four children, James Theodore, Clara, Frieda, and Frank, and his brother, Artis T. Bennett.

FAIRMOUNT-ST. GILES CHURCH NOTES

Yule Tide and Year End Service will be merged in a delightful and inspiring evening worship at Fairmount-St. Giles on Sunday at 7.30 when the minister, Rev. Burton H. Robinson will be assisted by Mr. Robt and the Junior Choir of 70 voices, in the following three numbers — "Joyous Christmas Bells" (Choral); Duet, "Jesus, the Children's Friend"; (George Petrie and Harold Taylor); Cornet Solo, Mr. Wheeler, Soloist of the Boy Scout Boys' Band. In keeping with the Christmas atmosphere the minister will give an address based on a modern book "The Mountain School Teacher".

The Minister's subject at the morning service will be, "Has God Abandoned", a brief review and analysis of present world conditions. Musical services will be in charge of the regular Church Choir.

The Mid-week Service on Wednesday evening, Jan. 2nd, will be in charge of the Men's Association when Mr. J. Ritchie Bell, of the Sailors' Institute, will speak and sing.

Fairmount St. Giles is planning to fully co-operate with the Great Meeting of Witness to be held in the Forum on Monday, Jan. 14th. Christmas Services last Sunday attracted very large congregations, and the Church Choir rendered very splendid musical services, which were greatly appreciated. At the close of the evening service nearly 500 people repaired to the Assembly Hall to witness the impressive dramatization of the Christmas Story by the Young People's Society.

Confessions of a Graphologist

Well-Known Character Analyst Reveals Highlights of His Experience—Fascinating Mailbag Includes Drama—Tragedy and Comedy!

By GEOFFREY ST. CLAIR

Mr. Geoffrey St. Clair, who is known throughout Canada for his weekly articles on Character from Handwriting (appearing in 100 newspapers), is broadcasting over Station CHLP every Tuesday, at 9:15 p.m.; Thursday, at 8:15 p.m.; and Saturday, at 1:30 p.m.

Your Editor has asked me to jot down a few of the many interesting highlights that have come before me in the course of practicing Graphology and writing about it. The difficulty is to choose a few from a wealth of interesting incidents.

Because a graphologist's mailbag teems with drama, tragedy, comedy—it is a reflection of people's hopes and fears, worries and life itself. Handwriting shows so plainly the character of the writer. Graphology is an X-ray that cuts through the verbiage, and gets right down to the very innermost nature of the writer.

A girl writes in tormented fashion pleading for advice on how to deal with her brother and father. They are making life miserable for her mother and herself, and threaten to do bodily harm if the latter do not do what they are told to do in regard to a sum of money that they possess and which the men want. The writing of the men shows greed and selfishness, with a brutal will that sometimes gushes over into violence.

A woman wants to know how she can regain the love of her husband—is he worth trying for? There are many letters of this kind—and sometimes it is the man who writes. Domestic troubles and misunderstandings appear very frequently in my mailbag.

Girls are anxious to know what their boy friends are really like—boys who want to find out if they can trust their girl friends. Girls who want advice on whether to continue going out with married friends!

People dejected and disheartened by the cumulative buffeting of a ravaging depression. Anxious to know whether the fault lies within themselves. People who are square pegs in round holes; tied down to work that is distasteful and makes them discontented. People searching for some ray of sunshine to lighten their future.

One case that did not result quite as my correspondent anticipated concerned a gentleman from Winnipeg. I told this story over the radio the other evening but it is worth repeating here. This man wrote to me asking me to analyse his own writing and that of his wife. He said that the domestic relations were rather strained, and both his wife and himself were very unhappy as a consequence. He added that he believed that his wife's temperament was mainly at fault, and he thought that if I were to send the analysis of her character, he could then show it to her, and thus bring home a realization of how she was wrecking the marriage.

Well, I analysed both writing, but instead of being able to confirm his view regarding his wife's blame, I was forced to suggest that he himself was more the guilty party. He was inclined to be domineering; would brook no interference and could not tolerate other people's views if they were at all at variance with his own. In addition, he had quite a formidable temper. I could well visualise the scenes in that home when he was laying down the law, and could easily understand the lack of harmony.

The sequel came some time later, when I received another letter from him, to which his wife added a postscript. He had been so shocked by my revelations of his character, that he was beginning to tone it down somewhat, and his wife thanked me for creating a condition which, she believed, would lead to a more harmonious home life.

Tragedy? Yes, there is lots of it. Recently I received a letter from a girl who was not quite 18 years of age. She had been married 19 months, and had one little baby girl. Her husband was serving a year's term in jail for stealing, due, she said, to his being short of money to provide for her and their child. She wanted some ray of hope for the future because, to quote her own words: "I love my husband so much."

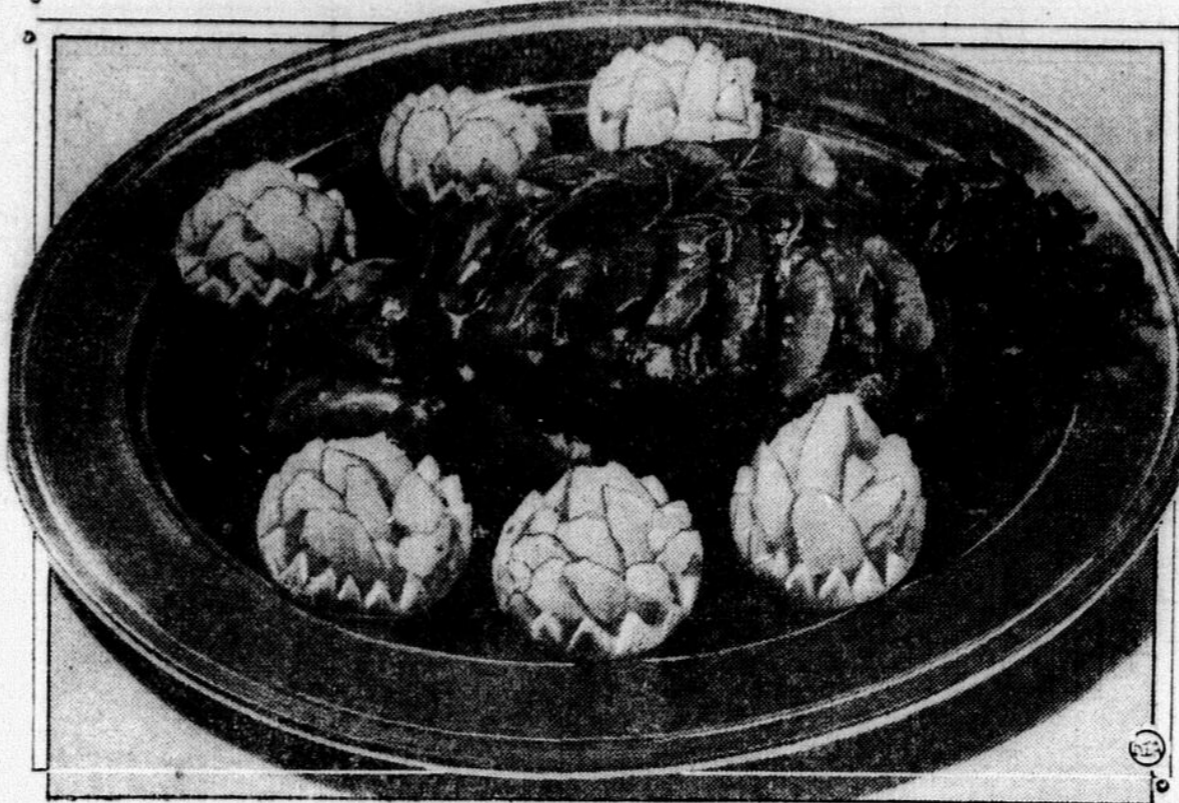

Occasionally, a comic note is struck. A man from the West wrote and asked me for an analysis. "Tell me the truth," he enjoined. Well, I did. I told him that he was selfish, self-centred, and had little thought for anyone beyond himself. That, and other things. Shortly afterwards he wrote again, and said: "Thank you for telling me the truth about myself. You have given me the biggest laugh I have ever had—and it was on myself. How you were able to tell me exactly what I am, I cannot imagine. But you certainly got me down to a T. And I am going to surprise you. In spite of the fact that you told me I was selfish—and I know that I am—I am sending you double your original fee. It is worth it to me to find someone with the courage to tell me what he thinks about me and to tell me the truth."

That was a broadminded attitude to adopt. Not everyone is able to accept self-criticism with such fortitude.

(Mr. St. Clair will contribute further articles from time to time to this newspaper).

Menu Ducks New Year Worry

Special Sauce for Fowl Enables Cook to Get Good Start

Roast duck takes on new savor when served like this, smothered in a delicious orange sauce garnished with cups of orange sections.

If you had roast turkey for Thanksgiving and roast pig for Christmas, how about roast duck for New Year's? One advantage about a duck dinner is that there are seldom many left-overs. Any bits of meat remaining, though, will make delicious salad combined with celery and oranges, while good sized slices may be reheated and served with a hot wild grape jelly sauce.

Here's the menu:
Cocktail of Canadian Rhubarb
Roast Duck with Peanut Stuffing
Orange Sauce
Rice Croquettes
Baked New Beets
New Cabbage
Salad of Mixed New Greens with Roquefort Cheese Dressing
New Year Pudding
Salted Nuts
Candies

Stew rhubarb without peeling in a small amount of water. Sweeten when removing from fire. Chill thoroughly and serve with a red maraschino cherry in each glass. A pound of rhubarb will make cocktail for eight persons.

A duck is prepared for roasting in exactly the same way as a turkey or chicken. It is served less well done than other fowl, although a domestic duck may be as well done as you want it without offending culinary conventions.

After cleaning and wiping dry, inside and out, fill with Peanut Stuffing
Three cups hot mashed potatoes, 1 cup soft stale bread crumbs, 1 cup chopped peanuts, 4 tablespoons minced celery, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, hot milk.
Combine dry ingredients. Add butter, melted, and enough hot milk to make quite moist.

If you prefer put three small onions, peeled but not sliced, inside duck. Steam for an hour and remove onions. Then fill the duck with peanut stuffing. Truss and put on rack in roaster. Rub over the outside with salt and pepper and dredge lightly with flour. Put in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for twenty minutes, basting every ten minutes with 4 tablespoons hot water and 1 tablespoon butter. Reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and roast for two hours longer, basting with the liquor in the roaster. Or put cover on roaster and roast without basting.

Orange Sauce
Three tablespoons butter or drippings of fat in roasting pan, 1 small carrot, 1 small onion, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup water, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 cup orange juice, 1 teaspoon lemon juice.
Add shredded carrot and onion to melted butter or other fat and cook, stirring occasionally until vegetables and butter are slightly browned. Stir in flour and when thoroughly blended, slowly add water, stirring constantly. Cook

TOMORROW'S MENU
BREAKFAST: Baked winter pears, cereal cooked with raisins, cream, crisp toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Creamed frizzled beef with potato chips, jellyed tomato salad, cream cheese and gingerbread sandwiches, milk, tea.
DINNER: Baked beef liver, Italian spaghetti, creamed onions, head lettuce, raisin pie, milk, coffee.

five minutes and pour through a fine sieve. Return to fire, season with salt, sugar and pepper and add orange juice and lemon juice. Heat but do not let boil and serve at once.

Serve duck on hot platter with garnish of orange cup filled with diced oranges.

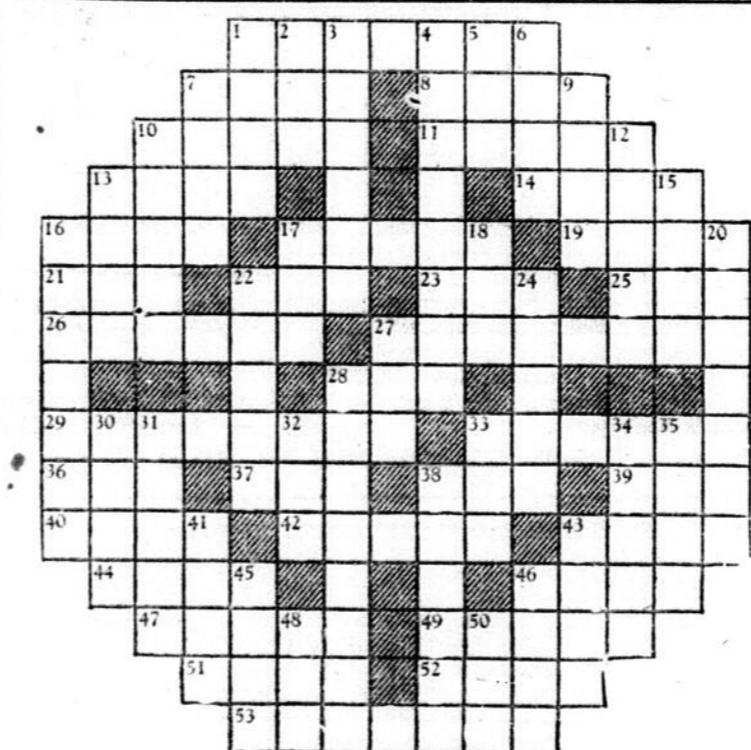

Bake beets instead of boiling them in order to preserve their color. Roll in parsley butter and serve. Shred new cabbage and cook in water to barely cover until water is cooked away—about ten minutes. Add enough sour cream to cover cabbage and season with salt and pepper and butter. Let boil up well, add the juice of 1-2 lemon to 1-2 cup cream and serve.

Use French endive and chicory with just a touch of chives for the salad. Crumbled Roquefort cheese is stirred into a well-seasoned French dressing to make the Roquefort cheese dressing.
New Year Pudding
Five eggs, 1 cup granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons granulated

gelatine, 1 1-2 cups grape juice, 1 cup blanched and shredded almonds, 1-4 pound candied cherries, macaroons, whipped cream.

Separate whites from yolks of eggs. Put yolks into a bowl and beat well with sugar. Soften gelatine in 4 tablespoons cold water and dissolve over hot water. Heat grape juice to the boiling point and beat into yolk mixture. Heat again. Beat whites of eggs until stiff. Beat in gelatine and almonds and pour hot yolk mixture over. Pour into a deep pan lined with macaroons and sprinkled with half the candied cherries. Let stand on ice for several hours or over night. Turn out of mold and serve topped with whipped cream sprinkled with remaining cherries.

Human Relations Clinic

Dealing With

Domestic Relations Problems

Conducted By

LYON W. JACOBS, K.C.

On the threshold of another year, our thoughts strangely crystallize in a manner which is wholly beyond human conception. We do not know—not one of us—just why, but there is a compelling desire, as the old year is slipping away, to shake by the hand all with whom we come in contact in the everyday walks of life, to wish them well. There is a warm glow of kindly human understanding and a depth of meaning in what we say, for the time being at least.

We draw near, so very near, if only for an all too brief space of time to that glorious day when "MAN TO MAN, THE WORLD O'ER, SHALL BROTHERS BE."

Having these sentiments in mind, I fervently pray that the coming year 1935 will bring food to the hungry, clothing to the naked, strength to the weary and solace to the sore at heart, and above all, employment to that vast army of noble men and women who have so bravely borne the heavy burden of the economic depression. When the bells ring out their merry peal through the land, may it herald the birth of a New Era, a world richer in brotherhood and justice, and as the last sounds of the chimes faintly die away, may we see the glorious dawn of a better realization of human happiness.

In conclusion, may I assure my many friends and readers that to have conducted the Domestic Relations Clinic from week to week has indeed been a pleasant privilege, and in the sincere belief that this column may have been helpful, I am strengthened to carry on.

LYON W. JACOBS.

PROBLEM
R. M.—I have a property, I desire to sell it to my wife, may I do so?

Answer: Our law prohibits sale between husband and wife.

PROBLEM
S. G.—I bought an automobile from an automobile dealer. This dealer has now gone out of business and cannot be located. It appears, however, that this automobile was a stolen automobile and has been reclaimed by the original owner. What can I do to protect my interests in this matter?

Answer: The original owner of this automobile is entitled to recover the same and you are bound to restore this automobile to him, subject however, to the condition that he reimburse to you the price you paid for it to the automobile dealer. Our law specifically states that if a thing lost or stolen be bought in good faith in a Fair or market, or at a public sale, or from a trader dealing in similar articles, the owner cannot reclaim it without reimbursing to the purchaser the price he paid for it.

PROBLEM
R. M.—I am a retail store keeper, I purchased tobacco from a producer. I have sold some of this tobacco to my customers but they have returned the same, owing to the poor condition of this particular tobacco. I have asked the producer who sold the same to me to retake possession of this tobacco and return to me the price for it. He refuses to do so. Have I any legal rights in this matter?

Answer: You absolutely have a legal right to take an action to set aside the sale of this tobacco to you. The fact that your customers have returned the same proves conclusively that there was a latent defect in this merchandise which renders it unfit for the use for which it was intended.

I would therefore advise you to immediately ship the remaining tobacco in your possession to the producer and follow up the same with an action for the cancellation of the sale and refund of the sale price. Your case is governed by article 1522 of the Civil Code which clearly states that the seller is obliged by law to warrant the buyer against such latent defects in the things sold and its accessories as render it unfit for the use for which it was intended, or so diminish its usefulness that the buyer would not have bought it, or would not have given so large a price if he had known this.

As a matter of fact it was decided by the Hon. Mr. Justice Guerin of the Court of Appeals in a case reported in Volume 60 of the Superior Court Reports, page 545 in the matter of Antil vs Bigras that latent defects in tobacco, becoming apparent by reason of the repeated refusal of customers to purchase the same and which could not be revealed with certainty before such sale to the customers was sufficient cause to institute an action for cancellation of the sale. Of course, it must be borne in mind that the seller is not bound for defects which are apparent and which the buyer may have known of himself. It therefore is necessary that merchandise should be carefully examined either at the time of purchase or on delivery for the purpose of ascertaining if the same has any defects or not.

Atlantic City Prepares To Fete Gigantic Crowd

Atlantic City, Dec. 23.—Hotels, supper clubs, grilles, restaurants, piers and theatres are preparing for a New Year's Eve celebration unequalled in gaiety as Atlantic City entertains the greatest throngs of holiday visitors since the boom days of 1929.

With good prospects of every beachfront hotel and many of the avenue establishments being filled to capacity, and with the fashionable cottage colonies of Chelsea, Ventnor and Margate reaching a new high for mid-Winter activities, the resort is welcome to the New Year promises to eclipse even those famous pre-Prohibition celebrations.

Dealers in confetti, paper hats, horns, whistles, streamers and assorted noise-makers report that sales are double those of last year and difficulty is being encountered in filling the orders that are piling in.

The riot of merry-making will climax Atlantic City's Seventh Annual Festival of Lights, which finds thousands of hotels, business establishments, public buildings and private homes illuminated with the traditional red and green lights of the Christmas season.

The Boardwalk has been transformed into an Arabian Nights scene by lighted Christmas trees, gaily decorated light standards and huge shafts of colored lights that bathe the hotels in a shower of brilliance. At City Park the fountain is a blaze of colors and all of the hotels fronting on the Park are shimmering in a glow of thousands of electric bulbs.

No expense is being spared by the hotels in their efforts to furnish their guests with elaborate programs of entertainment for New Year's Eve. At the newly re-opened Ritz Carlton a Broadway variety show will be presented, while Barney Zeeman and his Kentucky Cardinals furnish the dance melodies. In the Merry-Go-Round Bar Eugene Jolesnik's Gypsy Orchestra will provide the rhythm for the revellers.

Specially decorated for the occasion, the Cherry Blossom Room of the Hotel President will feature Harold McKnight's orchestra, while an ambitious program will mark the Hotel Dennis celebration in the St. Dennis Room.

One of the resort's most popular grilles is the Pompeian Room of the Ambassador Hotel, where Roger Kay and his orchestra will hold sway. The merrymakers will be provided with an early morning breakfast in addition to the usual supper.

The Chelsea Grill, one of the city's smartest dance spots, will feature Howard Lanin's band and eight acts of vaudeville. The Shelburne's new $50,000 bar will not be ready in time for the big party, which will be staged in the Miramar Room. Real pre-war champagne from the famous Shelburne wine cellar will be a feature of the evening. The brilliantly decorated Submarine Grille of the Hotel Traymore, the Seaside Hotel Grill and the smart Hotel Claridge dining room will also be the scenes of elaborate New Year's Eve celebrations.

"Y" RECEPTION NEW YEAR'S DAY

Traditional Gathering Meets At Southwestern Branch Next Tuesday Afternoon

The traditional New Year's Day reception will be held at the Southwestern Y.M.C.A. branch next Tuesday from two to six o'clock, it was announced recently by George Mooney, branch secretary. Many events of different kinds have been arranged for the afternoon when it is expected an overflow crowd of guests will fill the building.

Two basketball games will be held in the gymnasium between intermediate and junior teams. Two ladies' teams will also stage an exhibition encounter.

The leaders' corps will give a demonstration in the gymnasium, to be followed by a water-polo game in the swimming pool.

At four o'clock in the auditorium the girls' drama club will stage a play by Van Dyke: "The Other Wise Men." Tea will be served at its conclusion by the women's committee. From five to six-thirty dancing will be held.

During the afternoon the Emblem Club awards for the recent membership campaign will be made.

MOTOR GOSSIP

"The horn is intended as a warning signal to cars ahead and behind, but not one out of every hundred blasts carries any such significance to-day. If this abuse was brought under control, motorists would pay more attention to the brakes."

"The result would be more respect for boulevard stops, slower speeds in turning corners, less hurrying in congested traffic, and a decrease in the number of drivers constantly weaving their cars in and out of the lanes of traffic."

"Any program to reduce noise on our streets might also include a drive against open exhausts on motorcycles, backfiring of engines, and other unnecessary noises."

THIS WEEK'S PUZZLE SOLVED:

The Unsmiling Comedian

Hollywood, Calif.—The well-served fame of Ned Sparks, the sour-faced, frozen-panned comedian who plays one of the principal roles in Rudy Vallee's new Warner Bros. picture, "Sweet Music," is based upon hardship.

Sparks literally starved for his art. That was fully twenty years ago when he was a young actor on the New York stage.

"I speedily realized that I was not destined to cause the ladies to swoon with romantic ecstasy as they watched me make love to one of their sex," said Ned the other day, with no suggestion of a smile. "I also divined that comedy, and not romantic acting, was my special forte. The New York theatre was uproarious with comedians, all of them well established whereas I was virtually unknown."

He thereupon sat and sat and thought and thought and out of his profound meditations he evolved the original comedy technique which today is enjoyed by myriads of movie fans, and which has made Sparks one of the highest paid comedians in the picture business.

You'd be amazed if you knew his four-figure weekly salary, and he's always in demand, always has to reject roles because he has too much work to do already.

Therefore Spark's idea has repaid him handsomely in dollars and cents. But he has a hard time getting started.

"For two years I starved, trying to convince Broadway theatrical managers that this dead-pan type of comedy would make audiences laugh," Sparks continued. "But it was all in vain. I went from good hotels to boarding houses and finally to a $3-a-week room. Meals? Sure, I skipped plenty.

"But I still clung stubbornly to my idea, and finally my chance came."

The play was "Little Miss Brown," and Madge Kennedy, who later became well known to picture-goers, also was in it. Sparks essayed his fresh brand of laugh-making and was an instantaneous hit. In fact, he became almost a star overnight. Then came the call of Hollywood.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, December 30th, is "Christian Science."

The Golden Text is: "The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God." (Isaiah, 52: 10.)

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:

"And these signs shall follow them that believe: In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover." (Mark 16:17,18.)

"Some individuals assimilate truth more readily than others, but any student, who adheres to the divine rules of Christian Science and imbibes the spirit of Christ, can demonstrate Christian Science, cast out error, heal the sick, and add continually to his store of spiritual understanding, potency, enlightenment and success." (Science and Health, page 462.)

Coaches Dodge 'Inducement' Issue

Eddie Casey Says You've Got to Offer Football Players Something

The recent statement by Eddie Casey, retired Harvard coach, in which he intimated that winning football can be achieved in colleges only by shutting the eyes to scholastic requirements and offering "special inducements" to athletes, brought forth a number of enlightening remarks by members of the New York coaching fraternity to-day.

For example: Lou Little, coach at Columbia: "Say I couldn't be located."

Chick Meehan, coach at Manhattan: "Mr. Meehan is making a tour of the country."

Prof. Phillip O. Badger, chairman of board of athletic control at N.Y.U.: "No comment."

Edward A. Elliott, director of athletics at Columbia: "No comment."

Jim Crowley, coach at Fordham: "Please say that I am in Siberia."

Benny Friedman, coach at C.C.N.Y.: "Mr. Casey is a fine man."

Fashion Hints

One of the most unusually interesting formal gowns of 1934 is in the personal wardrobe of Gloria Swanson, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star!

The frock, and a cape to match it, is composed entirely of fur cloth, otherwise known as clipped chiffon. The material appears to be a soft fur — of a rose taupe shade. The lines of the gown are clinging and simple, depending upon the unusual material for its effect. It features a full length train.

The three-quarter length cape is lined in a rose taupe silk and is trimmed in fox of the same shade.

One of the season's most attractive woolen, metal combinations is found in the wardrobe of Jean Harlow, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star. The gown is an afternoon frock fashioned of a fine black woolen shot by gold metal threads. It is high waisted, moulds the figure and features four splits around the hemline. The splits are lined in gold cloth!

A combination black and gold metal cord featuring long black and gold tassels is worn as a belt — and narrower cord of the same type fashions the sides of a diminutive hat made in matching materials.

The Cossack type hat has taken complete possession of the fashion world because of its peculiar fitness for wear with the new tunic frocks!

Jeanette MacDonald purchased an interesting chapeau of this type during her recent trip to New York. It is fashioned completely of fine Persian lamb, its fullness caught in a bit at the front by means of an antiqued sterling silver clip.

Ex-King Alfonso says he has been a fool all his life. Oh, we don't know. He knew enough to get out while the getting was still good.

"We wasn't expectin' a present from the Smiths, but they sent us one, so Ma's got to hurry downtown an' buy them one that costs about as much as theirs did."

Here's How Paul Whiteman Spends All His Money

Music has been pouring a gold shower into Paul Whiteman's pockets for quite some time now. Where does his money go? What does he like to spend it on?

A lot of his money goes into a ranch near Denver—a ranch that jazz bought about fifteen years ago. It's the piece of ground on which Mr. Whiteman says he plans to spend his declining years. When, "I'm finished with orchestras,—or they are finished with me."

Stock, poultry, corn, alfalfa,—it all gets a good big part of his annual income, or whatever of it that's left over after paying expenses for the biggest item of all,—the Whiteman band.

The celebrated orchestra leader loves to buy clothes,—particularly shirts. He considers a $20 shirt a judicious investment. And he always owns a great many suits. But the article of clothing which gets more of his money consistently, than anything else, is shoes.

Once upon a time when Paul Whiteman got out of the United States Navy after the war, he was flat broke, and jobless. He scrimped and saved until he was able to get together the band with which he opened at the Hotel Alexandria, in Los Angeles, on his first important engagement. The "King of Jazz" has never forgotten that necessity forced him to lead that band—tap out the rhythm—in a pair of shoes that had big holes in them. And it was several weeks before he could afford to have them half-soled. That's why, today, he has what amounts to a complex—on shoes.

After all, shoes are part of an orchestra leader's working equipment. Usually the Whiteman closet has as many as thirty pairs of shoes in it. And the number has been known to get up as high as fifty.

A liquor dealer with a romantic tale about the age of the sherry can always intrigue him. Another thing he spends a lot of money on during the course of a year is good luck rings, which he gives away.

The rings are gold replicas of the one he always wears himself. It is a plain gold band with every known token of good luck, from a four-leaf clover to a rabbit's foot, engraved upon it. People are always fascinated with his ring. They want one like it. So just for good luck he usually sends them some. He's given away as many as 10,000 of these rings in the past three or four years. And even though he has the good luck rings made up in thousand lots by a New York jewelry firm, the rings are solid gold and they aren't cheap.

The major part of Paul Whiteman's fortune has always gone back into his band. It's the highest paid band in the country. Running a band is just like running any kind of a business—in a way. And he puts his money back into a big business as any other owner of a large and thriving business does.

Even back in the days when he organized that first band, and opened at the Alexandria, Whiteman made into the band. The boys worked for him on a co-operative basis, and they always made much more money than their leader did because he had to pay all expenses.

The Whiteman music library is famous. It is the finest collection of modern American music in the world. The library of manuscript orchestrations in original script is copied and used as a text by students all over the world. The collection is worth many thousands of dollars. And its owner is constantly adding to it.

Flying Frenchmen Will Strive For Points as Maroons Play Toronto Sat., Then Chicago

Canucks Out to Improve Standing at Expense of Amerks—Play Them Twice Over Week-end—New Year's Game in Gotham—Maroons Meet Canadian Section Leaders Saturday in Toronto—Play Chicago New Year's Night in Windy City.

Although defeated by Toronto on Christmas Day here Canadiens feel certain that they can pick up a couple of points at the expense of the Amazing Amerks when they meet them here Saturday night. The Americans don't feel that way about it, however, and will be in there battling every moment and trying hard to better their position in the league standing at the expense of the Canucks.

Cude played some sensational hockey on Tuesday and is right at the top of his form. If the forward lines hit it off right and luck stays with the Tri-color they may be in for a long streak of wins. They go the New York on Tuesday and will meet the Americans there in a return tussle on New Year's Day. Heres hoping they start the new year off right.

MAROONS
The Montreal Maroons, who turn more good players away for other teams to pick up than enough, will play in Toronto on Saturday and if they eek out a win over the Maple Leafs it will put them just that much nearer the league leaders.

The Big Red team defeated Boston 5-3 on Tuesday and presented a powerful attack that should at least give them an even break in Toronto if they can display it again.

On Tuesday the Maroons meet Chicago at the Windy City and should find some stern opposition in the leaders of the American section of the loop.

Montreal, December 26.—The figure skating championships of North America will take place here in Montreal during February 21 and 22, it has been announced at the Winter Club here by the secretary of the figure skating branch of the Amateur Skating Union of Canada which will conduct the meet, assisted by the United States Figure Skating Association. The free skating, which will be held on the evening of the second day, Friday, at the Forum, will recall the world's figure skating championships here two years ago, as some of the leading participants in that event will compete.

Book Reviews

BY HOWARD S. ROSS

INSIGHT INTO MODERN HINDUISM, by Hervey De Witt Griswold. Publishers: Henry Holt & Company, 1 Park Avenue, New York. Price, $2.50.

One of the most distinguished scholars among the missionaries to India tells of his experiences with the Hinduism of to-day. He learned to know many of the religious leaders of India and many inquiries about many more about whom other Western scholars know practically nothing. The book is valuable not only for its information about obscure sects, but also for its personal glimpses into the minds and ideals of some of India's most influential prophets and religious teachers.

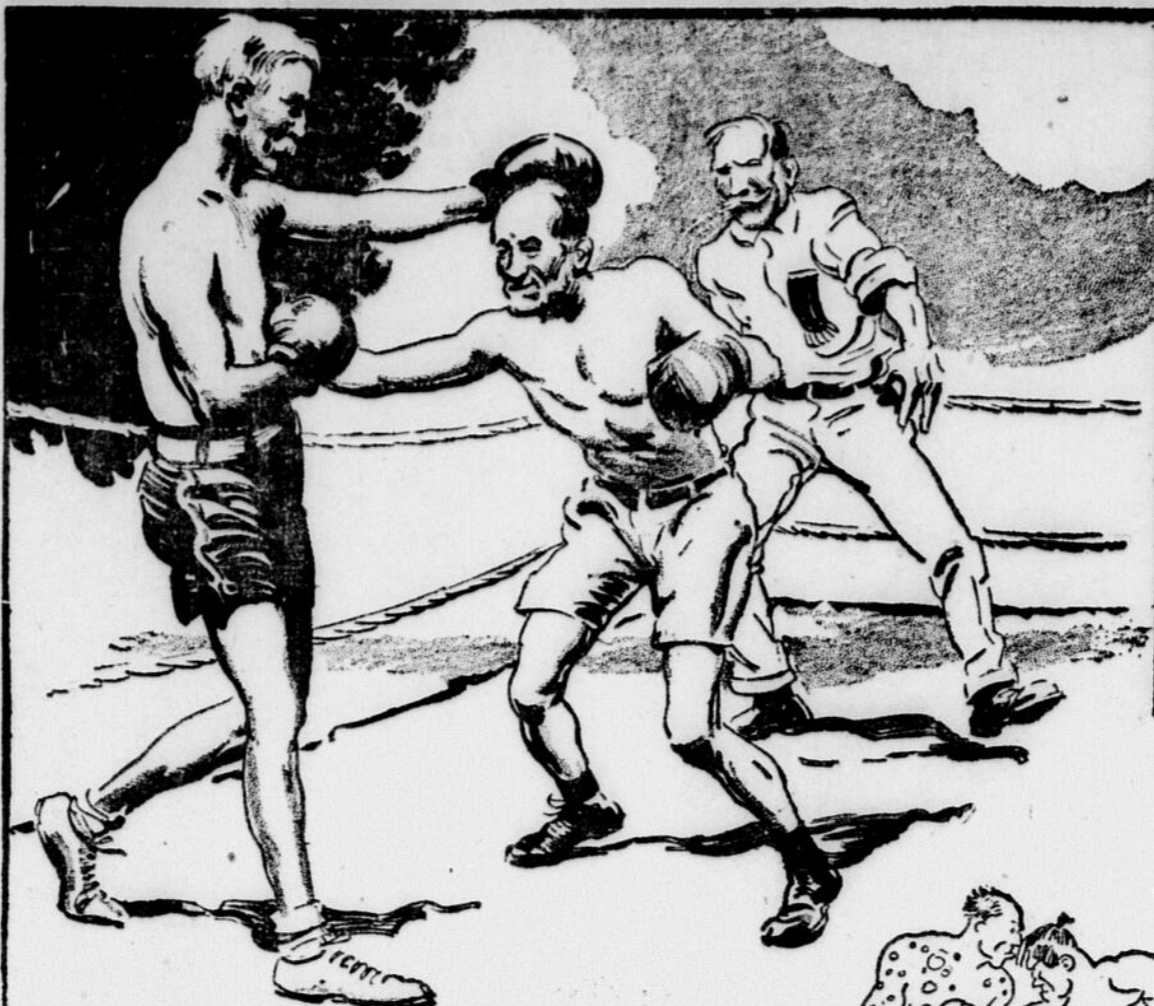

The opening chapters explain the religious genius of India and the vast inclusiveness of Hinduism—its Catholic and Protestant forms, and even its fundamental-modernist controversies. Then the greater part of the volume is devoted to biographical sketches of the men and women who from Vivikanada to Tagore and Gandhi, have made modern Hinduism what it is.

We are shown the soul of modern India as revealed by: Swami Vivekananda, India's apostle to the West; Ramakrishna, the illiterate saint of Bengal; Swami Ram Tirath, poet-monk of the Punjab; Dayal and Gupta, India revolutionaries; Chet Ram and his indigenous Christian sect; Jiddu Krishnamurti, Mrs. Besant's world-teacher; Shiva Narayana Agnihotri; Sadhu Sundar Singh and the riches of Sikhism; Dr. Kurtkoti and his naked Sadhus; Pandita Ramabi and the Hindu heritage; John N. Hyde and the ways of meditation; Mahatma Gandhi, India's prophet and saint; Rabindranath Tagore and "The Religion of Man" and Swami Dayanada Sarasvati and "Back to the Vedas."

The author was for thirty years in India and for most of that time was on the staff of the Forman Christian College, Lahore. During 1928 and 1929 he was a visiting professor at Columbia University, lecturing on Hinduism.

The Canadian championships, which Mrs. Constance Wilson Samuel has dominated for many years, as she has also the North American championships, take place at the Minto Skating Club in Ottawa about a month before, on January 25 and 26, Friday and Saturday. Canadian entries in the international championships will be largely governed by results in the national championships, but the feature of the competition at the Forum will undoubtedly be the rivalry between Mrs. Samuel of Toronto and Miss Maribel Vinson of Boston, who has been the outstanding lady skater of the United States for some time, and who has improved considerably during a season or more skating overseas.

Montreal's representation in the North American Championships is uncertain, particularly as Norman Gregory, the Winter Club's most qualified man skater is one of the officials in charge of the event, and consequently will not compete. Associated with him are Cecil McDougall, who had charge of the world's and Alan Howard, president of the Winter Club.

The intricate school figures for the international championships will be skated at the Winter Club "A Guardian For Every Home" on Thursday and Friday mornings and afternoons. The spectacular part of the meet, the free skating, when each performer skates to music for several minutes and displays every jump, spin and spiral known to him, will be at the Forum on Friday evening, when a huge turnout is expected. The world's figure skating championships two years ago are remembered as one of the most remarkable and popular events of that winter season, and the forthcoming championships in mid-February promise to rival them in the opinion of the social and sporting worlds.

As far as I know, learned men are the only ones who are permitted to go on repeating what they have once said.—Karel Capek.

JIU-JITSU And Its Application

— PERRIGARD —

THIS SCIENCE originated over two thousand years ago in the minds of the Samurai warriors of old Japan. Jiu-Jitsu then consisted of many unpleasant applications which were as disagreeable as the mangled translation of their Japanese names. It was not until about seventy-five years ago that Jiu-Jitsu was revealed to the public. Now the name is recognized by people throughout the entire world.

JIU-JITSU does not depend upon muscular ability. Leverage and balance are used to overcome force and strength. It is both a defensive and a competitive sport. Only the sportive elements are applied in competitions. All nerve pinches, blows, finger gripping, and facial attacks are definitely over-ruled.

For athletic men who intend to utilize this science as a form of physical culture, it is important that they master the knack of being able to fall with minimum injury. This is the only preparation necessary for competition in this sport. The old fashioned "toughing exercises" where practitioners butted each other, chest to chest, is not recommended.

In a fall, if the muscles are relaxed, and the ground struck horizontally by the arms at right angles to the body, before the body itself strikes the ground, the force of impact will become neutralized. This takes considerable practice, but is worthy in the end.

THE FIRST thing to learn in Jiu-Jitsu is how to grasp the opponent correctly. For most throws, one hand should grasp the collar of the opponent, and the other hand should grasp the coat-sleeve farthest away from the lapel retained. To obtain the greatest degree of leverage, the points should be far apart and lower than the level of the shoulders. The opponent is now in the position where he is able to be swung bodily, by, for instance the shoulder throw.

THIS THROW may be performed over either shoulder with the same ease, and should be practiced both ways. It is closely associated with a simple but effective arm throw where just the arm is grasped. Throughout the entire course of Jiu-Jitsu, the words of Professor S. K. Uyenishi the famous Japanese instructor, should be kept in mind when he said that the fabric of Jiu-Jitsu is based on utilizing strategy, agility and rapidity of movement.

Little Players Are Presenting Famous Old Play

All preparations have been completed, and the stage is set for the presentation of the adaptation of the famous novel "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" by the Little Players of the Air in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium tonight at 8.15.

This will mark the first appearance of the famous radio troupe in Verdun and they are sparing no effort to make it a great success. Miss Ruth Rodden, who distinguished herself as Jo in "Little Women", will play the title role, with Rita Girieux, Patsy Merchant, Eileen Noonan, and Emmet Pierson as the lovable members of the Wiggs family.

Miss Mary Jackson will play the part of Miss Hazy, while Wilfred Merchant will portray the pompous Mr. Stubbins. The mischievous Chris Hazy will be played by Eddie Triveau, Dorothy Hushion and Jerry McKee will shoulder the burdens of Miss Lucy and Mr. Bob, while William Merchant will play the thrifty Mr. Wiggs.

Between the acts the Junior members of the Little Players will present "The Dance of the Paper Dolls," a musical fantasy. Jane Richardson will appear in a novelty song and dance number.

The six-year-old Ruby Harper, already known to Verdun audiences, will appear in a delightful arrangement of "The Old Fashioned Waltz," and Catherine Parker will be heard in a novelty number. The whole performance is under the direction of Miss Moira Sheehy.
