FASCISTS CAPTURE 3,000 REFUGEES

Pitiful Conditions In Besieged Basque Capital Described

Women Aboard Refugee Ships in Rags and Children Crying for "Something to Eat," Insurgent Communique Announcing Capture of Three Vessels Declares—Fascist Forces Rapidly Tightening Grip About Bilbao.

Hayday, Franco-Spanish Frontier, June 17.—Insurgents reported today their ships had captured three Government shiplads of three thousand refugees fleeing besieged Bilbao, many of them children "crying for something to eat."

The insurgent besiegers, with their army reported to have effected the crossing of the River Nervion at two places in the drive to bottle up Bilbao, said the three ships were taken when they attempted to slip out of the mouth of the Nervion into the Bay of Biscay.

The refugees, mostly women and children, were described as being "in a pitiful condition."

The vessels were said to have been taken to Pasajes. "They were gaunt and many of them sick," the insurgents said of the refugees.

"The women were in rags and their children cried for something to eat. Their great agony was shown by the lines in their faces."

Many of those captured, the insurgents said, were former inhabitants of San Sebastian who had fled that resort city in September just before it fell to the insurgents.

INSURGENTS ATTACKING HILLS AROUND BILBAO

Hayday, Franco-Spanish Border, June 17.—Insurgent besiegers of Bilbao were reported today to have crossed the river Nervion both north and south of the Basque capital.

Border despatches from both Government and insurgent sources indicated Generalissimo Francisco Franco's crack legionnaires were storming the dominant heights west of the battered city.

One column, after taking Las Arenas, where the Nervion enters the sea, was said to have forced its way across the broad estuary north-west of the city.

South of the city, the second main column moved northward on the highway from Amurrio, after taking the village of Arrigorriaga, five miles from Bilbao on the west bank of the Nervion.

The eastern heights overlooking Bilbao and the coastal plain stretching northward to the Bay of Biscay were already in the hands of the insurgents.

The northern column finished the cleansweep of the area east of the estuary before taking Las Arenas. The villages of Algorta, Lejona and Lujua were taken in rapid order.

The two forces, about equidistant from Bilbao, were moving to a junction west of the city that would sweep the Basques from the mountain ranges. Should the Basques hold those summits they could make Bilbao untenable for its conquerors.

The Basque defenders massed their strength to the northwest to cut off the insurgent advance guard and hold open the vital communication lines to Santander, some sixty miles to the west.

An official Government communique declared insurgent planes had machine-gunned the western roads along which the western stream—Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5.

Conflicting Theories Advanced In Disappearance Of New York Matron

Local Authorities Insist Mrs. Alice McDonnell Parsons Was Murdered While Federal Investigating Officials Continue to Act on Kidnapping Theories.

Sony Brook, N. Y., June 17.—Sharply growing differences of opinion between the federal men and Suffolk County authorities investigating the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Alice McDonnell Parsons, Long Island matron, was evidenced today as the government agents pursued a kidnapping theory, the others expressing the belief she was slain.

A Suffolk County official, who asked his name be withheld, said: "The federal men think it is a kidnapping," he said. "We think it is murder, and we are ready to proceed on that theory and to act quickly. There seems to be evidence enough to make it possible to present the case to a grand jury."

This official said robbery did not appear to be the motive, so far as the local men could determine, but declined to comment further along this line.

Even while this official was talking, however, reports were growing that the federal agents, still cling-

FAMILY FRIEND IS SOUGHT FOR VERDUN MURDER

Husband of Murdered Woman Declares Description of Man Last Seen With Her Resembles that of Old Acquaintance.

Verdun, Que., June 17.—Police scoured Montreal Island today for a suspect in the slaying of Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong.

Although they did not reveal his name, authorities were believed to have established the identity of the man for whom they searched.

He was last seen in the kitchen of the Armstrong home yesterday, just shortly before the battered form of the thirty-eight year old mother of seven children was discovered.

After Elsie Bruce, fourteen years old, an acquaintance of the Armstrongs, described the man she had seen with Mrs. Armstrong a few minutes before the murder, the shocked husband, summoned from his work as a crane operator, told police the description answered that of a friend of the family.

The suspect could not be found at home last night and a statement by Elsie that she had heard him complain to the murdered woman of "being out of work" and mention "committing suicide" caused police to intensify their search.

The murder was committed after the girl left the man and Mrs. Armstrong to go to a nearby store. Returning to the home, she discovered the body of the woman on the floor. There was a blood-stained hammer lying in a corner of the room.

THE WEATHER

SHOWERS OR THUNDERSTORMS
Pressure is high over James Bay and off the north Atlantic coast, with a shallow low centered over Lower Michigan moving northeastward. A moderate disturbance covers Alberta and west Saskatchewan. Showers and thunderstorms have occurred in many parts of Ontario, also in northern and eastern Quebec but it has been fair over the St. Lawrence Valley and the Maritime Provinces. Light to moderate thundershowers have occurred in many parts of the West where temperatures have been considerably above normal.

Forecast: Moderate south and southeast winds; mostly cloudy to night and Friday with some showers or thundershowers; not much change in temperature.

Northern New England: Increasing cloudiness, probably followed by showers tonight and Friday. Not much change in temperature.

Some searchers directed their attention to the kidnapping theory, had established secret headquarters twenty miles away from the trim little white farm house from which Mrs. Parsons vanished eight days ago.

And still another report had it that a person who represented himself as the kidnapper communicated with the Parsons family, promising to return the woman if the $25,000 ransom, originally demanded in a note, were paid and immunity from police investigation guaranteed.

Neither of these reports could be confirmed at once, since Earl J. Connelley, inspector in charge of the federal men, and Rhea Whitley, head of the New York office who has been working with him, left here yesterday on some undisclosed mission and were still absent today.

Their absence, however, did not hold up the search of the woods which has been going on since Monday.

Some searchers directed their attention to the kidnapping theory, had established secret headquarters twenty miles away from the trim little white farm house from which Mrs. Parsons vanished eight days ago.

NETHERLANDS LIFTS RESTRICTIONS ON GOLD EXPORTS

Amsterdam, June 17.—The Netherlands today lifted restrictions on the exportation of gold which have been in effect since September 30, 1936.

The Bank of the Netherlands, acting under authority of the Minister of Finance, stated it was prepared to allow unrestricted exemptions from the export prohibitions laid down on gold coins and bullion.

Informed circles said the new ruling would have no effect on Netherlands monetary policy, but would offer an opportunity for private holders of gold to sell their metal in London or New York for a better price than they could obtain in Amsterdam.

URGES PROFITS LIMITATION TO PREVENT BOOM

Increased Purchasing Power Among Masses of People Chief Need for Preservation of Prosperity, Economist Declares.

Kingston, Ont., June 17.—Dr. Isador Lubin, United States Commissioner of Labor Statistics, in an address prepared for delivery here today, advocated government checks against abnormal profits and rising prices to forestall a possible speculative boom.

Dr. Lubin told the second Conference on Canadian-American Affairs that if greater profits and prices accompanied continued gains in industrial output it might lead to another collapse such as that of 1929.

He suggested the taxing powers, legal imposition of minimum standards of employment and extension of collective bargaining as means of assuring a distribution of income which would be a safeguard against another economic collapse.

"We must devote our energies toward a balanced growth both within industry and agriculture," he said. "Without a continuous advance in the income of the farmer we cannot maintain a continued rise in the income of our industrial workers, for it is on this sector of our population that industry both in the United States and in Canada must depend for a large segment of its markets."

"The farmers of both countries must likewise realize that it is primarily among well-paid city workers, with a relatively high standard of living, that they can hope to find an outlet for their products at prices that bring profitable returns.

Mysterious Disappearance Still Unsolved

Suffering from loss of memory after being missing for a week, Miss Diana Battye, twenty-one year old London society girl, shown above in her latest picture, was discovered walking in a street near the home of Lady Cynthia Asquith, mother of Michael Asquith, to whom Diana's engagement was to be announced shortly.

General Profits Tax To Ease Burden Of British Armament

British Government Proposal Calls for Imposition on All Corporation and Individual Profits Over £2,000 Annually to Replace Much Condemned Tax on Increase of Profits—New Levy Expected to Yield £25,000,000 Annually.

London, June 17.—A Government proposal for a profits tax to pay for part of the rearmament programme was before Parliament today.

The plan for a five per cent. tax on corporations and a four per cent. tax on individuals making profits of more than £2,000 ($9,880) a year was advanced in a Government white paper yesterday.

The Government expects thereby to raise £25,000,000 ($123,500,000). The programme would substitute for the scheme proposed by Prime Minister Chamberlain when he was Chancellor of the Exchequer, that plan, which would have taken as much as twenty-five per cent. of the net profits of an industry, met strong opposition from businessmen.

Under the new proposal a taxpayer whose profits were less than £12,000 a year could make a further reduction to ascertain the taxable amount. The reduction would be one-fifth of the difference between his profits and £12,000.

A corporation with profits of £4,000 would reckon the taxable amount thus: It would deduct one-fifth of the difference between £12,000 and £4,000—that is, one-fifth of £8,000 or £1,600—and then take credit for a flat exemption of £2,000. The five per cent. tax would be paid on only the difference between £4,000 and £3,600, or on £400.

Public utilities and professions would be exempt. Denigration of industries would be considered, and interest on borrowed money could be deducted.

GOVERNMENT TO ASSIST BRITISH EXPORT TRADE

London, June 17.—A Government bill to establish an export guarantee fund of £50,000,000 ($247,000,000) was introduced in the House of Commons today.

Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, submitted the measure, designed to stimulate foreign sale of United Kingdom products.

Italian Merchant Vessel Attacked By Loyalist Aircraft Off Algeria

No Casualties Reported as Result of Attack by Spanish Government Planes on Italian Steamer Destined for Port Sudan to Clyde—Ship Slightly Damaged.

London, June 17.—Lloyd's agent at Gibraltar cabled today that the Italian steamer Madda had been bombed by Spanish Government aircraft off Oran, Algeria, but that she was not hit.

The Madda, a 5,181-ton steamer out of Genoa, was damaged, however, from the concussion of the bomb explosions. Her forepeak was reported flooded and her No. 1 hold leaking. Pumps were holding back the water as the steamer put into Gibraltar.

There were no casualties aboard. The Madda was bound for the Clyde, Scotland, from Port Sudan. The news came just after Italy and Germany had returned to the European non-intervention patrol of Spain under a safety guarantee plan for their warships in the patrol. They withdrew from the "Hands Off Spain" fleet because Spanish Government planes bombed their ships.

STRIKES HALT SHIPBUILDING AND SHIPPING

Five Largest Shipyards in New York District Suspend Operations as Result of Closed Shop Issue—Inter-Union Squabble Affects Coastal Shipping.

New York, June 17.—Labor issues hit shipping and shipbuilding in the New York area today, closing five of the largest shipyards in the region and threatening to affect more than a dozen vessels sailing out of Atlantic and gulf ports.

Closing of the shipyards was due to a strike of about nine thousand workers, tying up $30,000,000 worth of construction and repair work. The closed shop was the underlying issue, the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipyard Workers demanding it adamantly and the shipyard owners just as steadfastly refusing to grant it.

On the shipping front, the clash between the National Maritime Union, affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization, and the International Seamen's Union, American Federation of Labor ally, resulted in an N.M.U. threat to strike on ten ships of the Eastern Steamship Company. The strike was to be in retaliation against a sit-down of I.S.U. members in Boston.

In addition the N.M.U. announced it would take the offensive today to prevent sailing of the line's steamships Cornish and Sandwich from New York if I.S.U. men were aboard.

SUICIDES BOOST DEATH TOLL IN RUSSIAN PURGE

President of White Russian Soviet Socialist Republic Which Adjoins Poland Took His Own Life After Being Denounced for Treason.

Moscow, June 17.—Joseph Stalin's regime pushed its mass clean-up of opposition elements today after announcing that the President of one of the country's eleven Socialist Republics had killed himself.

With at least 151 persons executed within a year for alleged anti-government activity, officials disclosed hundreds of arrests had been made throughout the Soviet Union and hundreds of thousands had been ousted from the Communist party.

Alexander G. Cherviakoff, leader of the White Russian Soviet Socialist Republic, which adjoins Poland, was said by the Government to have committed suicide.

The official explanation was "family reasons." But he had been denounced at a Communist party meeting at Minsk, capital of White Russia, forty-five of his colleagues had been seized on the treason charges, and the former commander of the White Russian army garrison, Gen. I. P. Ubovitch, was executed June 12 with seven other high army officers for plotting to "dismember" the U.S.S.R.

(White Russia has nothing to do with the term White Russian used to describe Czarist opponents of the Communist regime. White Russia, a republic of the U.S.S.R., is one of three great Slav divisions of Russia proper, the others being Great Russia and Little Russia (Ukraine). The inhabitants of White Russia, of which Minsk is the capital, speak a distinctive dialect.)

A conspiracy to wreck Russian agriculture was alleged in the White Russian phase of the far-flung effort to stamp out anti-government elements.

The forty-five arrested at Minsk included N. M. Goloded, president of the White Russian Council of Commissars; ten former commissars of the White Russian republic; and many members of the White Russian Central Executive Committee.

The Minsk Communist party meeting, at which Cherviakoff was denounced, brought forth charges of a Polish plot to destroy livestock and crops. High-grade livestock was even inoculated with cholera germs, it was alleged.

M. I. Kalmanovich, only recently removed as U.S.S.R. Commissioner of State Farms, was accused at the party session of conniving with authorities in the White Russian Commissariat of Agriculture and Education to wreck local agriculture.

Roosevelt Intervention Offers Sole Possibility Of Solving Steel Strike

Johnstown Mayor Urges President Act in Impasse as Strikers Resort to "Most Dastardly Crime" of Kidnapping—Independent Steel Corporation Heads Reiterate Positive Refusal to Sign Any Agreement Providing for C. I. O. Bargaining.

The United States strike situation today at a glance follows: Johnstown, Pa.—Non-striker stabs two pickets at Bethlehem Steel Corporation plant; Company reiterates refusal to sign C. I. O. contract and charges "disorder and anarchy" brought into city where Mayor Daniel Shields asks President Roosevelt's intervention.

Washington—Philip Murray, Steel Workers Organizing Committee scheduled to confer with Secretary of Labor Perkins, then testify at a U. S. Senate Post Office committee investigation of steel strike.

FRENCH SENATE STUDIES BLUM FINANCE BILL

Cabinet Hopes that Measure Establishing Virtual Financial Dictatorship Will Pass Upper House Before Week-End.

Paris, June 17.—Premier Leon Blum laid before the Senate Finance Committee today the bill which would give him a virtual financial dictatorship, hoping for final parliamentary approval before the week is out.

Blum and his Finance Minister, Vincent Auriol, revamped the arguments, which won the Chamber of Deputies' sanction yesterday morning after an all-night session and a near collapse of the Government, for personal presentation to the Senate body.

Political sources forecast the Senate would second the Chamber's approval without bringing repetition of the governmental crisis, although some Senators were expected to oppose the measure and there may be amendments.

The measure would give the Government the right to take any financial action it wishes up to July 31, merely by issuing decrees and not waiting for parliamentary approval. Later parliament would have an opportunity to approve or nullify the action.

Blum and Auriol hold they must have the extraordinary power to meet the problem of an expected deficit of $1,760,000,000 in the regular and extraordinary expenditures for the year.

Far Flung Empire Prepares To Mark Centennial Of Its Greatest Queen

Laurel Wreaths and Great Bouquets to Brighten Queen Victoria's Statues Next Sunday, Marking Hundredth Anniversary of Day She Ascended the Throne.

London, June 17.—Laurel wreaths and great bouquets will brighten Queen Victoria's statues next Sunday—one hundredth anniversary of the day an eighteen-year-old princess was awakened to learn she was a queen. Wreaths will be placed at statues opposite Buckingham Palace, at Temple Bar and facing St. Paul's, marking the centenary of the young woman who now has more sculpture in her honor in the Empire's capital than any hero or king.

Yet one hundred years ago Victoria's coronation—a year after her accession—occurred with pageantry curtailed because conservative peers did not consider too much public acclaim "delicate" for a young woman.

JAPAN REJECTS FINAL APPEAL ON LIMITATION

In Rejecting Roosevelt Plea for Fourteen-Inch Maximum Gun Size, Japan Consents Proposal Will Not Achieve Real Disarmament.

Tokyo, June 17.—An authoritative source asserted today Japan had decided to refuse a secret proposal made by President Roosevelt for the limitation of naval armaments to guns of 14-inch calibre.

The substance of the Japanese reply to what was described as the United States President's "last appeal" was expected to be that Japan adheres to the point of view that reduction of gun calibres from sixteen to fourteen inches would not achieve real disarmament.

NEWSPAPER DENIES GUADALAJARA ROUT

Popolo d'Italia Denied that Italian Soldiers Had Retreated in Headlong Flight and Blamed Commanders for Withdrawal.

Rome, June 17.—Italy's black-shirted legions in Spain were not routed in the Guadalajara fighting of last March but suffered "hundreds and hundreds of dead" and two thousand wounded through a "grave error" by their commanders, the Popolo d'Italia said today.

In a long article devoted to the Guadalajara battle the newspaper denied Italian soldiers had abandoned their weapons and retreated in headlong flight which was described in the foreign press as a "Second Caporetto." (Caporetto was the scene of a rout of the Italian army during the Great War).

AUSTRALIAN BILL TO IMPLEMENT STATUTE

Canberra, June 17.—A bill approving the Statute of Westminster, the bill which recognizes the status of the dominions as defined by the Imperial Conference of 1926, will be introduced in the Australian Parliament by the Government.

The move was announced in the Speech from the Throne, read at the opening of Parliament today by the Governor General Lord Gowrie. An early conference with the states of the Commonwealth in regard to national insurance also was foreshadowed in the throne speech.

ABERHART REGIME IS HOLDING ONTO POWER

Alberta Legislature Will Tonight Prorogue Until Autumn When Major Douglas Will Come to Canada.

Edmonton, June 17.—The Alberta Legislature stood ready to prorogue tonight until the autumn when Major C. H. Douglas, British economist, may be here to supervise introduction of a Social Credit financial system.

The Legislature met with two violent factions in the Social Credit party, loyalists and insurgents. It closes with outward evidence of peace and the Aberhart Government safely in power.

Seven Social Credit members have not signed pledges to support the economic planning board established by the government and which hopes to hire Major Douglas in a month or two. But seven insurgents are vastly different from twenty to twenty-five who were at open war with the government when the House re-assembled June 7.

ST. HYACINTHE SILK MILL WORKERS QUIT

Refusal of Company to Implement Terms of Contract Caused Walk-Out of 250 Employees in St. Hyacinthe Factory.

St. Hyacinthe, Que., June 17.—Two hundred and fifty silk workers in this Bagot County town, employees of Consolidated Silk Mills, Ltd., were on strike yesterday as the result of a wage dispute with their employers.

Claiming the company had failed to recognize a signed agreement made last September promising increased wages, the workers, members of a company textile syndicate, left their machines after a committee had tried twice, unsuccessfully, to interview Marie Ekmont, manager, with whom they had made the agreement.

BRAZIL IS ADDED TO FAVORED COUNTRIES

Order-in-Council Places Brazil on Favored Nation Basis with Four Other South American Republics that Enjoy Lowest Tariff Rates.

Ottawa, June 17.—Brazil was added today to the long list of countries enjoying most favored nation treatment under the Canadian customs tariff by an Order-in-Council just announced.

The change puts Brazil, which has for some time accorded Canadian imports the benefit of her minimum tariff, on the same basis as four other South American republics which were previously on the most favored nation basis. These countries, on exports to Canada, receive the lowest tariff rate accorded any foreign country under any trade treaty. Previously Brazil had received the Canadian intermediate tariff, in many cases higher than the treaty rates.

The balance of trade in recent years has been about four to one in favor of Canada. That is, Canadian exports to Brazil have been about four times as large as Brazilian exports to Canada.

WAR PROGRAMME IN JAPAN CRITICIZED

Independent Newspaper Miyako Dissatisfied with Cabinet's Acceptance of Financial Demands of Army and Navy.

Tokyo, June 17.—The independent newspaper Miyako today criticized the cabinet's acceptance of the financial demands of the army and navy as "sacred and irreducible" and predicted difficulties in the execution of the five-year plan to increase Japanese productive capacity.

The paper asked why the Cabinet would not consider the possibility of lightening the armaments burden through diplomatic efforts and of adapting the national defence programme to the economic and financial capacities of the country.

Bethlehem Steel's quick "no" to a C.I.O. proposal for an exclusive bargaining agency vote among the 15,000 workers of its Cambria works in Johnstown, was accompanied by the charge that C.I.O. had brought "disorder and anarchy" to the city.

Johnstown now has a civilian "army" of four hundred men, in addition to the regular police force and in two hundred state policemen sent in by Governor George H. Emlen.

There has risen opposition, however, to the Mayor's plan to enroll three thousand American Legionnaires for the preservation of order. At Indianapolis, Harry W. Colmery, National Commander of the American Legion, said the Legion is not a strike-breaking organization.

The problem of the preservation of peace in strike-affected communities has been met in various ways—by vigilantes, state police and even—as at Monroe, Mich., last Sunday—by calling out troops.

At Lansing, Mich., the formation of a "Law and Order League" was announced yesterday in full page newspaper advertisements. Bay City, Mich., authorities solved the peace problem last night with baseball bats which they provided for use by fifty-three special police who were sent to see that no violence occurred at the Bay Manufacturing Co., a subsidiary of the Electric Auto-Lite Co.

Smith, the "model boy" grinned when he heard the foreman last night intone the verdict finding him guilty of first degree murder with a recommendation that "he be confined to state's prison for the rest of his natural life."

Justice Harris, however, need not follow the jury's recommendation. He will pass sentence next Tuesday.

INTERNATIONAL LABOR UNIONS LOGICAL SEQUEL OF INTERNATIONAL CAPITAL

Kingston, Ont., June 17.—The international character of the labor movement in Canada was a "natural development" from the "truly remarkable" international fluidity of capital today by Ernest Ingles, Canadian vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

When employers in a great many cases were international concerns it was natural their employees should work together in their common purpose of obtaining and making secure a decent standard of citizenship, he told the Conference on Canadian-American Affairs meeting here.

"Some political adventurers have recently made some political capital out of this," he said. "There is really nothing unusual in international affiliations."

It would seem there is no activity in the west which has not international characteristics. While wage rates in the United States were not always used in certain industries in Canada, they were a determining factor, he said. "The international character of the labor movement is of value to the workers."

Disapproving of frivolous conversation and happiest in the country life of Balmoral, Queen Victoria yet gave her approval to introduction of penny postage stamps in 1840, and the telephone, invented by Bell in 1876, was one of the wonders at the Crystal Palace Exhibition during her reign.

Photography benefited from the fact the Queen was frequently photographed, and moving pictures were brought to England in time for pictures to be taken of Victoria driving in London, electric light came about 1880, and the first Bentley Daimler automobile—in 1885—was also a product of Victorian times.

Victoria never realized her own position gave advocates of women's rights the strongest argument. So definitely anti-feminist she even opposed the marriage of widows, she was thoroughly disinterested in greater emancipation of woman, yet in 1882 her signature was placed on the "Women's Property Act," for the first time entitling married women to the management of their own money and land.

The Queen was never absorbed in literature, but compulsory elementary education came into being in England in her time. Kipling was never forgiven for calling her "The Widow of Windsor," but she complimented Browning on his wife's poetry and sent Dickens a volume of her own writings called "Leaves" inscribed "From the humblest of writers to the greatest."

Domestic life interested Victoria more than politics, even more than her inventions, even more than her greatest success. Three of her children will celebrate her centenary.

Radio will carry the sound of celebration to the corners of the Empire, airplanes will take letters in a few days to countries it took months to reach in Victoria's day—all of which might or might not amaze the conservative but conscientious Queen who just by doing her duty quickened England's interest in scientific and social discovery.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 17.—Supreme Court Justice Samuel J. Harris was faced today with deciding whether he will head the mercy plea of a jury which acted under a newly written state law in convicting Tommy Smith, nineteen-year-old newsboy, of the pocket-knife slaying of pretty Mary Ellen Babcock.

Smith, the "model boy" grinned when he heard the foreman last night intone the verdict finding him guilty of first degree murder with a recommendation that "he be confined to state's prison for the rest of his natural life."

Justice Harris, however, need not follow the jury's recommendation. He will pass sentence next Tuesday.

URGES PROFITS LIMITATION To Prevent Boom

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's carefully drawn military plans to occupy Bilbao only after the city had been completely surrounded might have been scrapped, insurgent officers said, to save the city from itself.

Along the insurgent front line, from Dos Caminos, just southeast of the city, to the Bay of Biscay, ran an excited rumor that the Basque and their Asturian allies were planning to destroy the rich industrial capital rather than let it fall into the hands of the insurgent invaders.

An artillery officer declared orders had been issued not to destroy the city with shells. "Bilbao will not be touched with our guns," he said. "We do not want to occupy a city of ruins. But if we see dynamites starting to work down, we will risk everything and send in all available troops to halt the destruction."

MANY FRANCO LEADERS CONDEMNED TO DEATH

St. Jean-de-Luz, Franco-Spanish Border, June 17.—Generalissimo Francisco Franco was reported today to have condemned Manuel Hedilla, former Fascist chieftain, to death for conspiring against the head of the insurgent Spanish regime.

Diplomatic dispatches said eighty other Fascist party chiefs were tried by court martial at the same time. Of these, fourteen were said to have been sentenced to die with their leader, twenty were given life imprisonment at hard labor and the others were ordered deported to Spanish Guinea in West Africa.

In addition to Hedilla, who worked down a general number of supporters to Franco's ranks, the Fascist leaders of Salamanca, Burgos, Toledo and the Province of Vizcaya were reported among those sentenced to die on charges that included "conspiracy against the security of the country and the state."

Diplomatic circles here advanced the opinion Franco would probably commute the death sentences to life imprisonment and, should the insurgents win the civil war, include the prisoners in a general amnesty.

JURY FAILED TO REACH VERDICT IN LIBEL CASE

Case of Montreal Man Against Quebec City Weekly News-paper Editor Put Over Until Fall Session of Assizes.

Montreal, June 17.—A deadlock jury last night ended the criminal libel trial of youthful Paul Bouchard, editor of the Quebec City weekly, "La Nation."

The jury was discharged by Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure after fifty minutes of disagreement, and the case moved down to the September term of the Court of King's Bench, after the foreman had reported a verdict appeared impossible.

Bouchard, writing in his weekly "La Nation" is alleged to have imputed to Real Denis a connection with the death of Prawas Gagalis, whose body was found below Montreal's City Hall steps the morning of the last civic election.

The twenty-nine year old Denis, who said he was one of Mayor J. A. Raynault's election workers, took the stand yesterday and said he had not been in charge of an election night garage meeting at which a man was assaulted.

The beaten man, he testified was Ernest Cardinal. Another witness, Berly Gerard Tremblay, testified he had beaten Cardinal at the meeting. Denis denied also that he had "raided" the Quebec office of Paul Coulin, Action Libérale Nationale leader and that he had ever been employed by or received money from Premier Duplessis.

PITIFUL CONDITIONS IN BESIEGED BASQUE CAPITAL Described

Within Bilbao, whose houses were destroyed by twelve-inch shells from the insurgent guns, Refugees said the scene was horrible, while the wounded pined beneath wreckage screamed for help.

General Fidel Davila, Franco's northern commander, ordered his artillery brigades to move up their heavy, long-range guns to new positions to cover the advance of his main body and to lay down a barrage over the town from the hills west of the city.

Santander advised said four of Franco's planes were shot down yesterday when they swooped over the besieged city, dropping bombs and leaflets.

Government losses were reported by the insurgents to have been enormous in yesterday's action.

FASCISTS TO PREVENT BILBAO DESTRUCTION

With Insurgents at Bilbao's Edge, June 17.—Insurgent shock troops, fully equipped for street fighting, were massed at the outskirts of Bilbao today for a quick assault at the first word the Basque defenders were dynamiting their capital.

As one pipe smoker to another—and on behalf of pipe smokers throughout the British Empire—permit me, sir, to say: 'We salute you!'"

Today another body of graduates will receive their degrees and bid adieu to their Alma Mater.

There is a great significance to such an occasion. The people of the Eastern Townships are justly proud of their University and rejoice in the splendid record of service to the cause of higher education which it can claim.

General satisfaction is expressed in the choice of candidates upon whom the University is today conferring the honorary degrees of Doctor of Civil Laws. These are the Venerable Archbishop R. W. E. Wright and the Rev. Canon G. H. A. Murray, both of Lennoxville; D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and president of the Quebec Central Railway; Dr. W. W. Chipman, of Montreal, and Major-General A. G. L. MacNaughton, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.

Graduates of Bishop's University are today holding positions of importance in many walks of life. They are scattered throughout the length and breadth of Canada and are putting to good use the knowledge and leadership which they received during their under-graduate days at Lennoxville.

PRESS COMMENTS

AN EASTERN EXAMPLE.

British policy in the Near East has provided a particularly successful example in Iraq. Great Britain has maintained her geographical integrity, assisted her internal stability, and on the whole, maintained a rigid neutrality as far as her internal questions were concerned. That is how Great Britain won the confidence of the Iraq people and at the same time also gave a healthy impetus to her relations with the whole Arab world. Today Great Britain is reaping the fruit of her wise handling of Iraq relations. The Arab Powers are helpful, and she is trusted to solve the problems of other Arab countries, as well. The example of British policy in Iraq should be followed by other countries, such as, for instance, France in the Syrian question.—Fatal Arab, Damascus.

A SICKENING WASTE.

The most discouraging setback encountered in the national climb from depression to recovery has been the epidemic of strikes that started six months ago with the walkout of maritime workers on the Pacific Coast. It has hurt more, dampened public morale the more, because it came when people could see the crest a short pull ahead. There is no telling what labor troubles, have cost the country this past half-year. Dollars cannot weigh the worry of families struggling to get by on strike "benefits" or relief when bread-winners have been called off jobs. The strike epidemic, fortunately, is subsiding. A stocktaking will give an idea at least of the dismal totals on the wrong side of the national industrial ledger and will serve to point a moral.—Los Angeles Times.

ANTI-TOWNSEND COUP.

Only a few weeks ago we had occasion to mention in these columns that Townsendism was about the only independent political movement that survived the campaign of 1936. Now a double disaster appears to have befallen the Townsend movement. In Chicago the staff of the Townsend National Weekly was "revolted" and has "taken over" this paper, which is the personal property of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, while from Washington comes the news that twelve of the national officers of the organization have resigned.—Baltimore Sun.

UNCERTAIN RECOGNITION.

I like to go out fishing
When every sparkling brook,
Is filled with lively hungry trout
Just waiting for my hook.

It surely is surprising
The way that my "Luck" goes,
For I have dangled baited hook
Close to a lean trout's nose.

And never tempted him to bite
—I vow it makes me furious,
For I've heard expert anglers say
Most fish are rather curious.

The big ones flirt around my hook
And really seem to smile,
Then with a bold defiant look
They swim away in style.

My hopes are blasted for I thought
Without a hint of doubt,
Those fish were just as good as caught
—Ah, but those were wise trout!

I do not wish to be a fish
But it just seems to me,
If a wiggling worm were my best wish
I'd sample it, by Gee!

Somehow it fills my heart with joy
When Summer days are fine,
To seek a brook, by a shady nook
With bait and fishing-line.

It peps me up like all "Get-Out"
When I go home to say:
"The fish I caught were little trout
—The big ones got away."

FURNITURE MAKING IN QUEBEC

Hon. J. H. A. Paquette, Provincial Secretary and Minister of National Health, had an important bill passed, at the recent session of the Legislature, to give the local furniture making school a proper legal status. The many friends of this thriving institution, started under such auspicious circumstances, were highly pleased at this official and beneficial action on the part of the authorities.

It is set forth in the law that it is to teach the art of furniture making and to open up new careers for youth. And it might well and truthfully be added that it will also develop Quebec's forestry industry, one of its most important, and will popularize the greater use of many domestic woods.

Progress made in this domain was particularly manifest at the Technical School's exhibition last fall but the most important thing proved at the display was that all kinds of excellent furniture could easily be built with only the exclusive use of Quebec domestic woods.

Furniture making is destined to become a very important industry. —La Presse, Montreal.

COMMUNISTS ACTIVELY STRONG

If you think that we believe we see numerous Communists in the world, in our country, in our province, in particular in Montreal and Quebec, we would respond that you are mistaken. The number of members of the Third International of Moscow is relatively small. It does not in the least frighten us.

If you think that we believe we see Communists unleashed in order to exercise their influence in ten different surroundings at the same time, we respond that you are right. It is the activity and the power of penetration of the apostles of Communism which cause us concern. In that sense, yes, we see Communists everywhere.—L'Action Catholique, Quebec.

COMEDIAN REFUTES DRINKING CHARGES

W. C. Fields, One of Screen's Top-Flight Comedians, Roared Denial to Charges that He Drank Two Quarts of Whiskey Daily.

Riverside, Calif., June 17.—W. C. Fields, one of the screen's top-flight comedians, roared a denial today to charges he drank two quarts of whiskey a day.

"Nonsense! It is a lie," shouted Fields in answer to statements of Dr. Jesse Citron that the actor's excessive drinking made his hospital case hard to handle. "Why, I never drank two quarts a day, not even in the good old days. Right now, I'm a teetotaler."

It was Fields' half of the inning as he came into court to defend himself in a $12,000 medical fees suit brought by Dr. Citron, who ministered to him for a month last year when the actor was critically ill. The film comedian has filed a counter claim for $25,000, alleging that a sleep-producing drug not recognized by the American Medical Society was used in his treatment.

PHENOMENON PUZZLES CITIZENS OF PICTOU

Explosion in Lake, which Threw Water About Hundred Feet in Air, So Far Unexplained.

Pictou, N.S., June 17.—Puzzled residents of Gairloch district, about eighteen miles from Pictou, reported today what they described as an "explosion" in the lake which threw water about one hundred feet in the air.

The huge column of water was accompanied by an explosive noise. Clouds of smoke or steam rose from the boiling lake and waves formed to a height of three or four feet, they said.

Hector MacKenzie, whose home is a short distance from Gairloch, reported they ran from the dinner table on hearing a loud noise outside and saw the water spurting high above the lake surface.

MacKenzie said he had walked around the lake shore after but found no clues to the origin of the phenomenon.

No theory for the strange occurrence has been advanced, but possibility that the disturbance was caused by a meteorite striking the lake has been advanced.

ROGERS BELIEVES IN "RIGHT TO ORGANIZE"

Federal Minister of Labor Stresses Value of Collective Bargaining to Settle Labor Differences.

Kingston, Ont., June 17.—Part of Canada's inheritance of British freedom, employees have the right to band together for collective bargaining with employers, Hon. Norman Rogers, Federal Minister of Labor, told the Kingston Liberal Association.

"I believe, definitely, firmly, in the right to organize," he said. "It is established by British law. I believe also in the usefulness of collective bargaining, but that is a question left by most governments to such adjustment as may be made between organized labor and their employers. There is no requirement by the government that there shall be such dealing but there should be no denying the right of organization."

Mr. Rogers believed that while maintenance of law and order was the prime function of governments, there also rests on them the duty to see conditions exist between employers and employees which can be justified on the grounds of economy and morality.

"It is an established principle that employees should have freedom to associate together for all lawful purposes and have a basis for collective bargaining with their employers," Mr. Rogers said.

"That is not a new doctrine, it is an important part of our British inheritance of freedom in this country," the Minister continued. "It means the wage-earners through association may be able to promote their own welfare. It means they will not be denied the right which is granted to employers, a right in the principle of freedom and that all British subjects are equal before the law."

QUEBEC WOMEN DRAW IN COURT RULINGS

Appellate Division of Court of King's Bench Issues Important Decisions on Right of Married Women Separate as to Property.

Montreal, June 17.—Women of Quebec province won a point in domestic relations and lost another in verdicts handed down by the Appellate side of the Court of King's Bench.

Major pronouncement of the court was the opinion that wives with separate property settlements could take action for damages without the consent of husbands.

In the other judgment, though, the court laid down the principle that a married woman of separate property who pays the household expenses for a time cannot sue for return of her money, even if the marriage contract provides this is the husband's responsibility. The decision was given in Dame Hermine Farley's attempt to obtain $5,851 from her husband's estate.

HALF THE CAST FOR FAIRY TALE PARADE CHOSEN

Members of St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys' Association Will Meet at Centenary Headquarters at City Hall this Evening.

Half the cast of 350 for the Fairy Tale Parade, which will be a feature of the approaching Centenary Celebration, has been selected and the members of the different snowshoe clubs desiring to take part in this scene are requested to forward their applications to Centenary headquarters at the City Hall, Leon Trepanier, stated today.

Members of St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys' Association will meet this evening at eight o'clock at the City Hall to be assigned the parts they will play in two episodes in the historical pageant planned for the jubilee fête.

Enthusiasm is running high among English and French-speaking citizens as the Centenary Celebration approaches. Centenary headquarters at the City Hall is a busy place, and the attractive five-week programme is being developed nicely.

Last night Leon Trepanier addressed several hundred students at the St. Charles Seminary and outlined to them the highlights of the celebration. These students are leaving tomorrow for their homes in various parts of the country, and as a result of Mr. Trepanier's message, will be in a position to spread word of the colorful programme that is being prepared for the occasion of Sherbrooke's one hundredth birthday.

Tenders are being received by the executive committee until tomorrow for construction of the $6,000 stage on the Exhibition grounds. The stage must be ready for use by July 15th.

Tom Leggett, assistant director of traffic for Montreal, is spending four days in Sherbrooke for the purpose of studying the local traffic situation. Thousands of tourists will be in Sherbrooke for the Centenary and Mr. Leggett will recommend the best methods by which these can be accommodated and the traffic situation best handled.

Mr. Trepanier said today that Police Director Fernand Dufresne, of Montreal, had offered to assist the Centenary organizers by placing men from his department at their disposal should that become necessary during the fête.

DATING BUREAU TO IMPROVE BEHAVIOR

Superintendent of Oklahoma Training School for Girls Reports Improvement in Conduct After Establishing of Special Privileges.

Tecumseh, Okla., June 17.—A dating bureau at the Oklahoma Training School for Girls was promised today and the prospect of nights out with their boy friends had 240 inmates on their best behavior.

A plan of Mrs. Creighton Burnham, superintendent, approved by the State Board of Affairs, is this: Thirty of the more eligible young girls with exceptional records will move into a trim cottage set apart from the rest and the superintendent will arrange dates with nice young men.

"Already," said Mrs. Burnham, "the idea is providing incentive for better behavior. Why some of our most incorrigible girls have decided they want to be 'angels'."

And how about the supply of young men?

"Why," said Mrs. Burnham, "we have had applications from three young men, already."

GOVERNOR GENERAL ADDRESSED ENGINEERS

Lord Tweedsmuir Urges Canadian Engineers to Keep Their Constructive Powers in Harmony with Nature.

Montreal, June 17.—Montreal's industrial plants and more important edifices were inspected today by visiting engineers, in the city for the convention of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

Examination of their profession's contribution to the building and progress of the Canadian metropolis was to conclude the convention proceedings here. Tomorrow the five hundred Canadian delegates and representatives of engineering in a half-dozen other countries move to Ottawa for a day's sitting before disbanding.

Last night Lord Tweedsmuir, addressing the Institute's annual banquet urged the Canadian engineers to keep their constructive power in harmony with nature.

Having to deal with nature in its wildest form in the Dominion, the engineer should be something of an artist, he said. His belief was that the introduction of human interest through man-made scenery dignifies, rather than spoils, a landscape.

MOB SCENES AT GREAT WEDDING IN HOLLYWOOD

Marriage of Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond Shattered Every Movie Colony Record for Excitement and Extravagance.

Hollywood, Calif., June 17.—Hollywood's "perfect pair," Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond, began their married life at some secret spot today, after a wedding that shattered every movie colony record for excitement, extravagance and mob scenes.

They will have a Honolulu honeymoon, sailing June 26. More than 15,000 persons massed around the fashionable Wilshire Methodist Episcopal Church last night when the ceremony took place. Three hours before the appointed time, automobiles choked every street for a mile around.

The jam delayed the bridesmaids forty minutes. Inside the church, approximately one thousand top-ranking stars and celebrated film figures were getting restless. Men began to saw their necks on stiff, formal collars as they craned around for some sign that the slender tapers, burned in the chancel. The middle aisle, bounded by pink silk ribbons along the whole length, also was lined with seven candles on a side.

It was the quintessence of formality, the very epitome of rigid correctness. Friends estimated it cost $25,000. White-gloved ushers — Harold Lloyd, John Mack Brown, Allan Jones, Basil Rathbone, Warren Rock and Richard Hargreaves—escorted feminine guests to their places.

Nelson Eddy sang "I Love You Truly" as the bride's mother, Mrs. Amy McDonald, took her place. The bridesmaids were Ginger Rogers, Fay Wray, Mrs. Richard Hargreaves, Mrs. Warren Rock and Mrs. John Mack Brown.

Came the bride, thirty, a year older than the bridegroom. She wore a single-ring service. The Rev. William Martin officiated. As he intoned the Lord's Prayer, near the end, a dull roar from the thousands outside echoed in the church. The flash of photographers' bulbs flared against the stained glass windows.

The bride couple kissed, a medium-long kiss. Raymond, his corn-silk hair shining, smiled as she came closer. He held out his arm. She gripped it firmly.

Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers, whose wedding is scheduled for this month, leaned forward in their seats. It was a single-ring service. The Rev. William Martin officiated. As he intoned the Lord's Prayer, near the end, a dull roar from the thousands outside echoed in the church. The flash of photographers' bulbs flared against the stained glass windows.

The bride couple kissed, a medium-long kiss.

FRANCO IS NOT INTERESTED IN SPEECH MAKING

He Is Short Like Mussolini and Moustache-Adorned Like Hitler, but Vastly Different from Either of Them.

Salamanca, Spain, June 17.—Insurgent Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Bahamonde is short like Mussolini, moustache-adorned like Hitler, but vastly different from either of them.

He is "El Caudillo" — (The Chief). Franco has made almost no speeches since the insurrection which he hopes will lead him to dictatorship of all Spain broke out last July 18th. In almost a year his only utterances have been to decree his will to his followers.

Te generalissimo is a well-built and muscular man with black hair greying at the temples. He is forty-five, younger than most of his generals and cabinet heads. His carriage is straight and soldierly. His face is oval and his skin dark. He is a "real Spaniard."

Francisco, key coal, appears able to relax easily. The morning after he issued the decree creating his State party and dissolving all but two others, he was out in the garden of his headquarters bouncing a ball with his daughter.

What his followers like to point to is the Franco seldom wears or talks of "I." The word that occurs most frequently in his writings and speeches is the word "España" — Spain.

Until the insurrection any military man might have envied his career. Lieutenant at twenty, captain at twenty-three, major at forty-eight, and the youngest colonel in Spain's army at thirty-two. He suffered an almost fatal stomach wound and won two medals for valor under fire in Spain's bloody campaigns in Morocco.

As a general Franco spent several years as the head of the Zaragoza National Military Academy, until the Republican Government "exiled" him as military governor of the Balearics.

A "Centre-Right" government reinstated him as chief of the general staff of Spain's armies. Again he was yanked out of the highest post in Spain's army when the Popular Front Government came to power. Again he was "exiled," this time to the Canary Islands as military commandant.

There, Franco dropped his role as a soldier of Madrid and became the leader of the insurgent uprising for a "New Spain."

Only after more than nine months of civil war did Franco add the title of chief of the Spanish state and generalissimo of the insurgent armies. Politics flourished within several of the parties. Rivalry began to grow. Then Franco, as a general, realized the time had come to become a dictator.

The newlyweds were receiving a little conversational advice from the minister. First the husband was charged with his responsibilities, and then came the wife's turn. "You must love, honor, and obey your husband," droned the parson, "and follow him wherever he goes." The wife looked aghast. "Fancy!" she exclaimed, "and him a deep sea diver!"

STRESSES NEED OF MUNICIPAL BUILDING. Sherbrooke has the best location of any town or city in the Province of Quebec for attracting conventions, but the fact that it does not possess an adequate municipal building where such congresses could be held prevents many associations from holding their reunions here, Leon Trepanier, organizer of the Sherbrooke Centenary, stated to a Record reporter today.

"If Sherbrooke had a commodious convention hall it would attract, proportionately, many more gatherings than either Quebec or Montreal," he said.

He pointed out that three hundred delegates to the convention of the Canadian Order of Foresters are obliged to hold their meetings in the stuffy, uncomfortable hall on the third floor of the City Hall.

The construction of a municipal building that would contain a large hall for the holding of conventions and concerts is strongly favored by Mayor Emile Bross. Mr. Trepanier said that the city possessed a large amount of musical and dramatic talent that could not be properly developed owing to the lack of a concert hall.

There, Franco dropped his role as a soldier of Madrid and became the leader of the insurgent uprising for a "New Spain."

Only after more than nine months of civil war did Franco add the title of chief of the Spanish state and generalissimo of the insurgent armies. Politics flourished within several of the parties. Rivalry began to grow. Then Franco, as a general, realized the time had come to become a dictator.

The newlyweds were receiving a little conversational advice from the minister. First the husband was charged with his responsibilities, and then came the wife's turn. "You must love, honor, and obey your husband," droned the parson, "and follow him wherever he goes." The wife looked aghast. "Fancy!" she exclaimed, "and him a deep sea diver!"

REBEKAH LODGE NAME BOARD AT LENNOXVILLE

Sister Hazel Crosby Appointed Noble Grand for Ensuing Six Months—Change Date for Decoration of Graves.

Officers were nominated and elected for the ensuing six months at the semi-monthly meeting of Myrtle Rebekah Lodge No. 28, held last evening in the Lennoxville T.O.O.F. Hall, with Sister Estella Wellman, noble grand, presiding, as follows: Sister Hazel Crosby, noble grand; Sister Rhoda Hawes, vice-grand; Sister Beatrice Everett, P.N.G. recording secretary; Sister Gladys Dawson, P.N.G., financial secretary; Sister Margaret Spry, P.N.G., treasurer; Sisters Louise Waite, P.N.G., Beatrice Everett, P.N.G. and Brother Rufus Dunn, trustees. Installation will be held at the next meeting.

It was decided that no regular meetings would be held during the month of August.

The sum of $3 was donated to the Wales Home Auxiliary towards the upkeep of the Lennoxville home.

A letter from Grandmaster Ernest Tyler reminded the members that each year a day is set apart for the commemoration of members of the Order that have passed on, and he suggested that this be done. Regarding this matter, it had been previously planned to hold a Church parade and decoration of the graves of departed members, but owing to the fact that a programme of the same character was scheduled to be carried out by the Coaticook Lodge on the same date as had been chosen by Myrtle Rebekah Lodge, it was deemed advisable to postpone the date for the local event a week so that members from other lodges would be able to attend both services.

Letters of thanks were read for flowers sent to sick members and plans were made for the distribution of cheer to others reported ill.

General Notes. Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Pierce, of London, England, are guests of Dr. Pierce's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Pierce, at their home on Summer street.

Mrs. Philip Roy, of Ottawa, is visiting relatives in East Angus.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis, of Baltimore, Md., have arrived in North Hatley and taken up residence at "Kenozas," their summer home.

The Misses Barbara and Ruby Wells, of Newport, Vt., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Burbank, Orford Lake.

Mrs. Vincent Lyon, of Quebec, is visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. E. N. Lyon, London street, for a few days.

Mrs. B. Grime and Mrs. E. Kennet were hostesses yesterday afternoon at the former's home on the Beckett Road for a largely attended and most enjoyable meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Plymouth Church. Among the guests were two distinguished visitors from out-of-town, namely, Mrs. F. A. Johnston, of Ayer's Cliff, and Mrs. E. M. Wilson, of Waterloo, past presidents of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterial. Mrs. W. O. Rothney, the president, presided and Mrs. Nelson Lothrop took charge of the devotional period, her topic being "Service."

The afternoon programme proved most enjoyable. Mrs. F. A. Johnston's clever review on "High Lights of the Dominion Board Meeting in Toronto" and Miss L. Ranshousan's interesting paper on "Temperance" lending an educational touch, while the charming vocal duets by Mrs. Wright Gibson and Mrs. George Ogdston, "Scatter Sweet Flowers" and "Flowers in the Meadow," seemed especially appropriate as the audience was surrounded by gorgeous peonies and other blooms in their hostess' garden. Mrs. J. G. Ranshousan acted as accompanist.

Afternoon tea was indeed a luxurious feast on this occasion. Mrs. F. S. Rugg and Mrs. W. G. Cross doing the honors at the pretty tea table, which was covered with a handsome hand embroidered cloth and centered with a bowl of brilliant red peonies. Assisting at the tea hour were Mrs. J. Blake, Mrs. Kennett, Sr., Mrs. Frank Caunter, Mrs. F. Paterson, Miss Mildred Parsons and Miss Vina Brownlow.

The Misses Sampson, of North Hatley, were visitors in Sherbrooke yesterday.

Mrs. E. M. Wilson and her little daughter, Nettie, of Waterloo, are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Nelson Lothrop, and Mr. Lothrop, London street.

Mr. Alex. King, of Cochrane, Ont., who arrived on Tuesday to attend the last obsequies for his sister, Mrs. W. H. Ames, is visiting his brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. H. S. C. Moffatt, Newton street.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Smith and their small son, Bruce, Walton avenue, returned yesterday from Beebe, where they were the guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith.

Miss Norma Jamieson, of the Sherbrooke Hospital Staff, is sailing from Montreal on July 9th for London to attend the World Congress of Nurses, and afterwards will spend some time travelling on the continent.

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. Claude Bertrand, son of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Bertrand, Brooks street, who has received a medal from the French Government for laboratory work at the University of Montreal. Mr. Bertrand has concluded his second year in medicine.

Mrs. Irvin Smith entertained delightfully last evening at her home on Walton avenue in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Kennell, on the occasion of the ninth anniversary of their wedding day. Cards were played at two tables, and at the conclusion of the game the "bride" was presented with a lovely crystal sandwich plate. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, who was assisted in her pleasant hospitable duties by Mrs. E. E. Messenger.

Mrs. W. J. Humphrey entertained the members of St. Andrew's Auxiliary very delightfully yesterday afternoon at their closing meeting for the season at her home on London street. Mrs. H. L. Allen, the president, presided during the brief business period, following which adjournment was made until the autumn, and later assisted the hostess at the tea hour. Tea was poured by Mrs. Arthur Jobel, the table being charmingly centered with pink and white peonies in a crystal bowl and pink and white candles in crystal candlesticks.

Mrs. James Davey was hostess at a delightful luncheon yesterday afternoon at her home on St. Michael street for the benefit of St. Patrick's Guild. Cards were played at ten tables, the prizes for contract being won by Mrs. C. L. Bain, Mrs. J. E. Gallagher and Mrs. P. Wolfe, while at auction bridge the winners were Mrs. S. Batchelder, Mrs. L. Barlow and Mrs. L. St. Laurent, and at five hundred the fortunate players were Miss Astelle McNamara, Mrs. A. Moore, Mrs. Tom, Kingsley and Mrs. A. Webster. At the conclusion of the game afternoon tea was served by the hostess, who was assisted in serving by the Misses Astelle McNamara, Phyllis Little, Frances Davey, Shirley Hand, Lucille Crochetter, Reta Spry and Louise Corbell, the two latter of Lennoxville.

Miss Norma Jamieson was the guest of honor at a charmingly arranged surprise party given last evening by Mrs. Howard Moffatt at her home on Montreal street. Bridge was played at three tables, the prizes being won by Miss Jamieson and Miss Margaret Mason. The guest of honor's anticipated trip to England and the continent was the raison d'etre for the delightful surprise party, and she was presented with a "shower" of silk stockings. The latter, prettily wrapped in separate parcels, were loaded on a miniature "Duchess of Richmond," the boat on which Miss Jamieson has booked her passage, for presentation, and were accompanied by the affectionate wishes of her friends for a "bon voyage." Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Olive Harvey and Miss Alice Moffatt.

Granby, June 16.—A very pretty early June wedding took place at St. George's Church, Granby, Que., on Sunday, June 13th, at 10:30 o'clock p.m., when Grace Vivian Taylor, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Taylor, of Granby, and Mr. Herman Keyworth Stapleton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Stapleton, of Granby, were united in marriage.

Rev. I. M. Ledstone, B.A., rector of St. George's Church performed the ceremony and Miss Gertrude Wallace played softly during the entire ceremony. The church was decorated with lovely spring flowers for the occasion and the guest-pews were each marked with a bunch of lily-of-the-valley, tied with white tulle.

During the signing of the register the organ played, "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly" and when the bridal party were leaving the church Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, 25 Elgin street, the house decorations being a profusion of spring flowers. The table was centered with the wedding cake and the color scheme was carried out in pink and white.

LARGE CLASS CONFIRMED AT ROCK ISLAND

Confirmation Rites of Anglican Church Administered to Many Candidates by Rev. Philip Carrington, Bishop of Quebec.

Rock Island, June 17.—A very large congregation assembled at the Anglican Church, Stanstead, on Sunday morning, when the Bishop of Quebec, Rev. Philip Carrington, administered the rite of Confirmation to a large class of young people and adults.

The Confirmation service opened with the hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy," Lord God Almighty, sung as a prelude, after which the preface was read by the Bishop and the lesson of the day by the rector, Rev. George Harrington. The hymn, "Come Holy Ghost Our Souls Inspire," followed, after which the candidates knelt at the chancel steps to receive the apostolic rite of the laying on of hands, followed by the hymn, "O Jesu I Have Promised."

The Bishop prefaced his sermon by expressing his pleasure in seeing such a large congregation present, and gave a most inspiring sermon to the newly-confirmed, as well as the congregation, taking his text from the lesson of the day, the eighth chapter of the Acts of the Apostles. The closing hymn was "Onward Christian Soldiers," after which the benediction was pronounced by the Bishop.

STARTS TODAY

READ EVERY CHAPTER OF THE YEAR'S MOST THRILLING SERIAL ROMANCE!

ANITA LOOS' SARATOGA

The young man, calling on an editor's daughter, was eager but polite. "Er, do you mind," he ventured, "if I imprint a kiss upon your lips?" "Crikey," said her little brother, who was passing through the hall, "you can run off a whole edition and Ena won't mind."

CHAPTER I.

It had been a stiff handicap. But she had won!

"And not at long last either," she said to herself.

"Two short years from Brookdale Farm to Southborough House and Carol Clayton's the girl who's done it."

She turned her head and her eyes went slowly around the lovely old garden. They stopped at the big stone house, covered with ivy, mellowed by the centuries into a beauty beyond the planning of its builders.

"Different," she said suddenly, "but in its own way rather fine, too."

The young man beside her who had been watching her and wondering, as he so often did, what she was thinking, laughed.

"Before you tell me what that cryptic remark may mean, I want you to make me one promise. Do you vow that always, all through the years, you will say things like that, which don't seem to connect up with anything? I wouldn't say it is your greatest charm but it ranks high. And as an asset in a wife—well, it is just possible some day I may be angry with you. But I'll never be bored. Having made this declaration, will you tell me just whom or what you were comparing?"

"I was thinking of home," she said.

She did not realize that in saying it so simply, there was a certain dignity—not anything which had to do with "good form" which had been taught her nor something which she had patterned from observing these new friends she admired, but something which was fine because it was real, a part of herself. Within an hour, however, she was to be humbly glad that she had said it and on other days—days when Duke Beasley's scornful smile and stabbing words were to infuriate her—she was thankful that on this night, of all nights, she had said it.

"Strange I've never seen it," he said.

"Oh, not so odd," she said lightly. "If you're going to talk about strange things, why not mention that each of us came thousands of miles from home before we even knew each other?"

"Allah be praised we did," he said. She put one of her hands to his and pressed it to her.

"You probably have seen Brookdale," she said. "It's rather unusual for anyone who goes to Saratoga at all, to miss it. It's so big and famous in its own, and if I do say it as shouldn't, when better horses are bred, they'll be bred at Brookdale."

"Well," he said laughingly, "I've not been at Saratoga or any other race track for quite some time. You know the reason why. But of course you're taking me to Brookdale."

"You mean you're taking me from Brookdale. I've gone a long way from home, but I'm going back to be married, of course. But temptation won't be put before you—I'll set the day out of season. How's that for strategy? Your mother trusts me, despite what she must have considered at first, my deep, dark past and I'm going right on being trust-able, to coin a word."

"Oh, I don't think the family would mind how if I did have myself a little fling at the tracks now and then. They know I've settled down to business."

"You're not going to take any chances," she said firmly. "It isn't all nobility and big-headedness on my part and don't you think I'm just taking this stand because of your mother. I'm not going to have a husband who goes in for horse racing or any other form of gambling."

"Please dear," he said, in mock meekness, "when I play bridge, will the best my skill can bring me be a pickle dish or an umbrella stand or some other atrocity called a prize?"

"Oh, cards are different—the way you play them. But racing is something else again. Take the word of a woman who knows. And you won't get around me by telling me again that you were just a college boy. You did let yourself in for a scrape. Never again."

"It seems to me I've seen you lay a few bets of your own."

"So you have. But I'm different. I will never get me. It isn't in my blood at all. I like to have my money on a race as well as the next one—unless the next one is you or some one like you. I've been with racing people all my life; that is until I made the break and came over here. I wanted something different. I've got it now and I'm going to keep it."

"But you said Brookdale was good—"

"Brookdale," she said firmly, "is a breeding farm and one of the best in the world. Just wait until Dad and Grandfather show it to you, but they won't boast, of course, but Carol loved Hartley. Of that she had no slightest doubt, as they sat together in the moonlight.

anyone who isn't a moron can see that they are proud of their place. And they have a right to be. Why, Dad and Grandfather through their work, know more about science than lots of your college boys. And the old place is lovely, too. We were all born there—all three of us, in the right order."

"I believe you but believing you I am wondering why you ever broke away and why they let you?"

She was silent for a moment thinking back to the time when she was a tiny girl.

"Always I wanted to go places," she said. "Of course, we did go lots of places—other breeding farms to check on methods and equipment and to race tracks. Dad and Grandfather went because it was their business and they always took me—because—well that was their business too. I liked it, but ever since I can remember, I have said to myself, 'I was going to have another life.'"

"Something must have made you say that."

"This place may be responsible. Of course, I'd never heard of Southborough House but I did hear some one read that old poem beginning 'the stately homes of England'—and right then and there, I knew what I was going to do. I was coming over here."

"And to be literary some more," he said teasingly, "like that king of France, you're going back again. However, did you happen to say you'd marry me and live in the States?"

"Fifth Avenue and Newport are good enough for me," she said. "In fact, I could be satisfied with less, but no more gyping for me. I knew what I wanted and I'm getting it."

"That explains you, but what about your father and his father? Didn't they want to keep their own ewe lamb at home?"

She laughed merrily.

"Promise me you'll call me that to Grandfather some time. 'Snort' isn't a refined word and I know it."

but it is the only one which will describe his answer. He really adores me, but he takes oblique ways of showing it, as you might say. Dad is different, although he doesn't talk much. Always they spoiled me. I suppose—they were better at training horses than one small girl. So, however, they felt in their hearts, they would have let me have my way. I thought there might be some opposition when I said I wanted to come over here to finish my schooling, but there wasn't. You see, Dad has always said he was going to leave off breeding horses and racing them and although Grandfather sniffs at such talk, he used to say the same things, so I'm told, when he was younger."

"I've noticed," he said, "that everyone thinks some other life would be better than his own. The far off hills are green, you know."

"Yes, but most people take it out in talking. I did something about it."

"Blessings on you for that," he said.

They sat in silence for a time. He was thinking she was the most beautiful girl in the world, as any engaged man should. But she was thinking of what her life would have been, had she stayed at home. As far as miles went she and Hartley Madison had lived comparatively near each other all their lives—and they had been worlds apart. It wasn't primarily a question of money. The Claytons had money. Rather fiercely as if she were defending herself, Carol was telling herself she would never have married a man because he was rich. She was marrying Hartley Madison because he stood for all the things she admired and had wanted all her life. In addition, she loved him. Nothing else would have mattered, if love had been lacking. Of that she had no slightest doubt, as they sat together in the moonlight. She was happy beyond her dreams. Had she not found her place in life?

But thought of Brookdale would not leave her. Suddenly, she jumped to her feet.

"Dearest, I almost forgot—it's so glorious out here with you—I want to phone Father. I haven't heard from him for a long time and I want to hear his voice."

"Of course, darling," he answered. "I'll wait out here until you have talked to him and you come back."

"Come with me," she said. "Don't you think it will be too utterly something or other for you to be introduced over the telephone—from one continent to another?"

Carol's telephone call will be the first inkling the folks at home have of her engagement. Are they going to approve of this match she has made? See tomorrow's installment for the startling results of her call.

Routine business was transacted and reports received, including one on the highly successful rummage sale held in the Town Hall. The annual contribution to the Fresh Air Fund was increased in answer to an appeal for funds. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by her daughter, Elain, and Miss Evelyn Kelly. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. J. Kelly. A vote of thanks was extended to the host and hostess and to the following gentlemen who provided the transportation: Rev. A. F. Nichol, Messrs. W. J. Kelly, R. Mayhew and S. R. Paine.

The Bridge Club met at the home of Mrs. Porter Farewell on Tuesday evening, June 8. Cards were played at two tables. The first prize was won by Miss Myrtle Neil and the consolation prize by Mrs. Farewell. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The Ladies' Aid of Knox United Church was held in the Sunday School room on Wednesday, June 2. There were thirty-one members and visitors present. During the business part of the meeting work, that is being done on the Manse was discussed. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. J. J. Stewart and Mrs. Clifford Campbell. McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

NO NEED TO FINESSE

Declarer Gives Opponent Possible Winner, to Force Return That Will Assure Slam Contract

By Wm. E. McKenney, Secretary, American Bridge League.

Coney Island, where New York's millions go on hot summer days for a dip in the ocean and a chance to enjoy unique showsides, this year is host to a championship tournament. There, at the Half Moon Hotel, June 18 to 20, the American Bridge League's South Shore tournament will be held.

Mrs. Lottie Zetosh, of New York, who will defend a title won last year at this event, may perhaps have a chance to display equal skill as she did in safely bringing in her small slam contract on today's hand.

East's jump to three spades, after Mrs. Zetosh, West, had opened, was natural. Four clubs was a cue bid. After that East felt that no further bidding was needed to assure a small slam, and so took the burden off partner by bidding it at once.

North's opening lead of the heart nine was designed to save his own hand. He did not bid his partner's hand. Declarer won the first trick with the king of hearts, drew two rounds of trumps and then cashed the remaining tricks in the heart suit.

If South held the club king, then it was possible to make seven on the hand, provided the location of the diamond queen could be determined. One line of play would have been to take the club finesse, and if that failed depend for the safety of the contract on guessing the diamond queen.

Mrs. Zetosh, however, saw a way to make her contract safe, and this was better than depending upon a guess. She played the ace and queen of clubs and pough North could make no lead that would not give the declarer all the tricks.

Today's Contract Problem

North is playing the contract at seven clubs. He wins the first trick in dummy, then ruffs a spade and learns that West holds five clubs. Can he make the contract despite West's apparent trump trick?

MRS. EUGENE MESSIER, ST. ARMAND.

St. Armand, June 17.—Mrs. Eugene Messier entered into rest here on June 10th, after an illness of about a month's duration.

Mrs. Messier, whose maiden name was Alma Groux, was born at Henryville, and lived some years at St. Alexandre. She spent some time training for a nurse in Montreal, and later in St. Boniface, Manitoba, but owing to poor health she gave up her chosen calling and acted as housekeeper for Rev. Father A. N. Langelier, prior to her marriage in 1918 to Eugene Messier.

Six children were born of this union, namely, Jean Louis, Mary Jane, Charles, Edward, Robert, Paul and Aline. Left also to mourn the loss of her untimely death are her sisters, Delia and Anna Groux and Mrs. Oscar Cazeau, all of Fall River, Mass., Mrs. David Morissette, of Long Island, N.Y., and another sister in Pawtucket, R.I., as well as one brother, J. Groux, of Detroit.

The funeral, which was very largely attended, was conducted by Rev. Father St. Pierre on June 12th, with interment in St. Armand Roman Catholic Cemetery.

The bearers were Emile Groux, of Swanton, Vt., George Tougas, of Sabrevois, George Boudreau and St. Alexandre, of St. Sebastien, Oliver Brault and D. Laroche.

Among those present were Mrs. Zetosh, however, saw a way to make her contract safe, and this was better than depending upon a guess. She played the ace and queen of clubs and pough North could make no lead that would not give the declarer all the tricks.

WINDSOR MILLS

Mr. George Fowler has received the news from Colorado Springs, Colo., of the sudden death of his brother, Joseph B. Fowler, in his eightieth year. He leaves a widow, daughter, son-in-law and one grand-daughter.

The anniversary services for the I.O.O.F. organization were held at St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday morning with a good attendance of Rebekahs and Oddfellows. The I.O.O.F. colors and the three links were used in the pupil and choir stall decorations. Mr. C. E. Force, baritone soloist, sang, "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The text of the sermon delivered by Rev. P. Pollitt, B. D., was, "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it; except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain." Psalms 127:1.

On June 6 in the absence of Rev. P. Pollitt at Conference, the services in St. Andrew's United Church were taken by Mrs. A. Jondreville, president of the W.M.S. Auxiliary, assisted by Mrs. D. Dunlap.
