Ford returns with arm-reduction pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford returned from his Soviet summit meeting with an arms-reduction pact that an aide called "one of the most significant agreements since the Second World War."

The pact reached between Ford and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev in Vladivostok placed a numerical limit on the number of U.S. and Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles and submarine-launched missiles carrying multiple independently-targeted warheads.

The agreement includes bombers for the first time. It is understood that Ford is awaiting a written Soviet statement detailing the exact terms of the verbal agreement before announcing publicly the numbers of warheads and missiles systems involved.

"Ceilings on the strategic forces of both nations have been accepted," Ford told an airport welcoming audience Sunday night. "A good agreement that will serve the interests of the United States and the Soviet Union is within our grasp."

White House press secretary Ron Nessen, who praised the agreement as one of the most significant since the Second World War, said former President Richard Nixon "could not achieve this in five years" but Ford "achieved it in three months."

The agreement was called a breakthrough in strategic arms negotiations by State Secretary Henry Kissinger told reporters in Vladivostok that the total number of Soviet missiles, bombers and other delivery systems would be below current Soviet strength. U.S.

about "the dangerous situation" in the Middle East and reaffirmed an intention to bring about "a just and lasting peace." It called for resumption of the Geneva peace conference as soon as possible.

Ford began the 17,000-mile, week-long journey with a visit to Japan, the first by a U.S. President.

In his airport statement, Ford called Japan "one of the world's most technically advanced societies" and said he hoped that by working together, the United States and Japan "will be able to make a substantial joint contribution to resolving the energy crisis."

He said that South Korea, his second stop, was a battleground 20 years ago and was now "a showcase of economic development."

Ford said the talks with the Russians represented "the beginning of what I hope will be a productive personal relationship" with Brezhnev.

"We often agreed, but not always. When we did not, we stated our differences quite frankly," Ford said.

missiles in place in Europe would not be counted against the U.S. total, he said.

The Soviet Union has more and larger missiles, while the United States has more multiple warheads and intercontinental bombers.

In a joint communique signed by Ford and Brezhnev in Vladivostok, a Soviet port city on the eastern coast, the two countries said a long-term nuclear weapons agreement "would be a significant contribution to improving relations between the United States and the U.S.S.R., to reducing the danger of war and to enhancing world peace."

The communique also expressed the leaders' concern with a re-gained majority in the Commons, the government is expected to turn back the Conservative criticism and win its own motion in the same way that it defeated a New Democratic Party sub-amendment Thursday by a vote of 116 to 95.

The sub-amendment had the combined support of the Conservatives, Social Credit and NDP but it was not enough to upset the Liberals who now have 141 seats in the 264-seat Commons.

With the budget debate ended, the Commons will return Thursday to a heavy legislative program. Approval of the proposed petroleum administration act is considered of urgent priority by the government.

Need criticism Liberal says

QUEBEC (PC) — While Premier Robert Bourassa extolled the virtues and accomplishments of the provincial Liberal party Sunday, the new president deplored the "self-censorship" of party members.

Claude Desrosiers, a Montreal notary acclaimed to the post of president, told more than 2,500 delegates and observers to the party's 18th annual convention, self-censorship is practised in order "not to hurt the government."

"Perhaps we've depended too much on the government to become a vehicle for our thoughts and the reflection of our ideas," Mr. Desrosiers said.

He said lack of criticism from within the party could be one reason why there was so much reaction to the Official Language Act which made French the official language of Quebec province.

"If the debate had taken place in public within the party instead of within the parliamentary caucus we would've advanced a step."

LOSE SUPPORT
The Liberal party could lose the support of minorities such as the English-speaking population, to traditionally vote Liberal, he said.

The Official Languages Act, passed last July, was attacked by English groups as discriminatory and by French nationalist groups as not going far enough to establish dominance of the French language.

Mr. Desrosiers said he counted on the English-speaking delegates to achieve "an even larger participation within the Liberal party."

The premier cited government accomplishments, touching every base from the necessity of the James Bay hydroelectric project to an unemployment rate of 5.7 per cent in Quebec due to the "climate of confidence."

Other highlights were the 75,000 jobs "created" by the Liberal government each year for the past four years and the charter of human rights introduced in the national assembly by Justice Minister Jerome Choquette who said it is intended to end discrimination on basis of race, sex or religion.

BETTER INVESTMENT
Mr. Bourassa said the James Bay project is a better financial investment at current cost estimates of $12 billion than is Ontario's nuclear reactors at a cost of $32 billion. The Quebec project, to harness potential of five rivers in northwestern Quebec, was originally estimated to cost $3.8 billion.

He said one of the consequences of the independence demanded by the Parti Quebecois would be an immediate raise in the price of oil to $11 per barrel from $6.50 now being paid by the province through a federal-provincial agreement.

Premier Bourassa said the $11 price being paid internationally would be imposed on an independent Quebec, causing by itself an increase of 3.5 per cent in the inflation rate already at 10 per cent a year.

Among the resolutions rejected by the convention was one which asked for a no-fault insurance system already in existence in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

CHICOUTIMI — The hockey career of a local hockey player ended tragically Sunday afternoon, when the bus bringing them from Quebec City skidded off the road and overturned in a ditch in the Laurentian Park about 15 miles south of here.

Gaetan Paradis, an 18-year-old native of Drummondville playing for the Sherbrooke Beavers of the Quebec Junior Major Hockey League, lost his life when the bus taking the team to play the Chicoutimi Saguenens last night bounded off the slippery highway and crashed in a deep ditch.

About 15 other players were injured in the accident when the large bus left the road.

Fernand Leblanc suffered multiple fractures, including some to both wrists and his collarbone. He also had hemorrhaging of one eye. Robert Simpson and Floyd Lahache both sustained leg injuries. Alain 'Dino' Belanger had internal hemorrhaging in his fractured leg. The other Alain Belanger received an injury to his vertebral column.

Russ Langlois, driver of the Lessard Bus Line vehicle, had unknown injuries.

Sherbrooker Roger Roy, a scout for the Cleveland Crusaders, was accompanying the team and was in hospital under observation over night.

It is expected the players will undergo examinations again when they return to Sherbrooke by plane sometime today.

To minimize the risks to the team, the trip to Chicoutimi was made in two steps on the weekend. The team travelled to Chicoutimi, where they stayed overnight. The voyage resumed Sunday afternoon for Chicoutimi.

The road in the Laurentian Park section of the trip was covered with snow and freezing rain since the beginning of the afternoon, making the highway extremely slippery.

Around 5 p.m., the bus reached a steep hill, which descended for over four miles. According to information furnished by Real Vachon, agent at the half-way house in the Park, witnesses saw the bus accelerating as it went down the hill. The driver tried in vain to reduce the speed of the bus, but it went into a skid when the brakes were applied to slow the heavy bus on the slippery road.

The driver apparently chose to take the ditch in the skid. When the bus slammed to a stop in a ditch over seven feet deep, all the windows were broken and witnesses said the bus had gone end over end.

The driver Langlois and player Leblanc were taken to hospital in Chicoutimi by ambulance, while motorists supplied transportation for the remaining Beavers to the hospital.

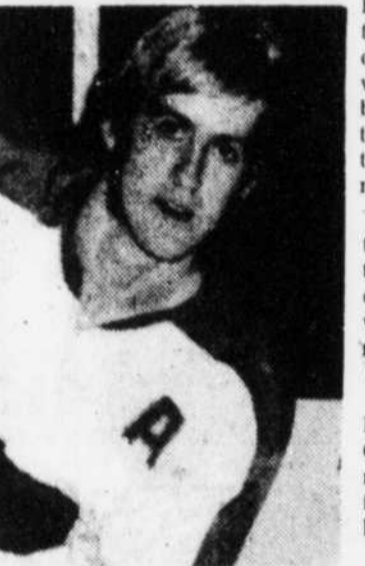

The Beavers management had feared the bad roads, apparently, and had even thought of the team taking a plane to Chicoutimi, it was learned. It was the most tragic accident which caused the loss of one life and endangered the careers of several players with promising futures, after the club had already accomplished the trip to that point under very hard conditions.

All the players fell into a nervous shock after the tragedy yesterday. Some wept as they talked about the occurrence in a hotel room. Goalie Nick Sanza summed up the feelings of the group when he said, "It's horrible, a real nightmare."

Even Peter Marsh, who was at his home in Baie d'Urfe because of a cold, displayed openly his sadness about Paradis' death.

Beaver coach Ghislain Delage requested permission from the league president to suspend the team's activities for two weeks and received it last night. The next game for the club was to be in Trois-Rivieres tomorrow night.

Funeral arrangements for Gaetan Paradis have already been made by team director-general George Guibault for the body to be flown to his home-town Drummondville for a Thursday service in St-Frederic Church.

DISCHARGE DRAFTEES
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Army says it has become an all-volunteer force "for all practical purposes" for the first time since 1940. The army's last 2,500 draftees were due for discharge by Friday, although a spokesman said an undetermined number of the men may have chosen to finish but their full two-year terms rather than accept early release.

CAPONE BROTHER DIES
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (Reuter) — Ralph (Bottles) Capone, brother of Chicago gangster Al Capone, has died in a nursing home at Hurley, Wis., at the age of 81. Al Capone died in 1947. A sister and two other brothers still are alive.

TUNA MEN FINED
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge has fined the top officials of the Samoan subsidiary of Star-Kist Foods Inc., $1,000 each and put them both on two year's probation for shipping contaminated cans of tuna fish which made more than 200 persons ill in 1973. About 173,000 cans of the contaminated fish were shipped from Samoa to the West and Midwest U.S. in January, 1973. Before the cans could be recalled, more than 200 persons became ill after eating the tuna, but no deaths were reported.

RUS CRASH KILLS 20
TEHRAN (Reuter) — Twenty persons were killed Sunday in a collision between a bus and a truck on the main road between Tehran and the northwest province of Azerbaijan. Reports reaching the Iranian capital said 18 other people in the bus, which carried 40 passengers, were injured in the pre-dawn crash near Zanjan.

TOKYO (AP) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, who was reported to have suffered a heart attack last May, is still recuperating in a Peking hospital, China's official Hsinhua news agency says.

Terrorists leave hijacked UK plane

TUNIS (AP) — On a promise of asylum from the Tunisian government, 11 Palestinian terrorists today left a hijacked British airliner they had threatened to blow up.

They used as shields the plane's three crew members who had been held hostage for more than three days.

The terrorists included four who hijacked the British Airways Super VC-10 in Dubai Thursday and seven brought here as ransom for the plane, its crew and more than 40 other hostages. The other hostages had been released after the seven arrived.

The principle of welcoming the Palestinians in Tunisia has been approved. Negotiations are continuing to determine the necessary arrangements. Information Director Abdelkrim Noussa said.

The guerrillas and their hostages left the plane less than an hour after the government announcement. The group got into three cars.

STILL IN DOUBT
It was not immediately clear whether the grant of asylum included freedom from prosecution for the hijacking or for the murder of a West German passenger Saturday.

The grant of asylum was the third major concession to the guerrillas. On Saturday, Egypt flew to Tunis five Palestinians being held in Cairo. The Dutch government flew in two others Sunday.

The remaining hostages, with the exception of three crew members, were then released in exchange for the seven prisoners.

The grant of asylum came moments after a third deadline had passed without incident. Ambulances, fire trucks and other emergency equipment were on the Carthage Airport tarmac, ready in the event the terrorists carried out their threat.

During the night, the captain of the jet reported to the control tower that the hijackers had wired up explosives and grenades for detonation at any time.

They were reported to have disconnected the devices when they heard of the Tunisian government's decision, but the hijackers were also known to be armed with pistols and sub-machine-guns. Ground mist was heavy at the airport, and it was not immediately apparent whether the guerrillas were still armed when they left the aircraft.

Brazilian development has established fixer

SAO PAULO (CP) — The way to get things done in fast-growing Brazil is to hire a "despachante," or think up a bigger project than the one currently in the works.

In her headlong, almost mad rush to grow, Brazil has necessarily developed some soft spots.

A despachante—Portuguese, roughly translated, for fixer or broker—won't help much in the broader job of managing an economy that may launch Brazil into the world class of fully-developed nations within a decade.

A despachante acts, for a fee, as an intermediary to help citizens save time in their dealings with slow-moving government bureaucracy.

Such a service is almost indispensable, particularly in this noisy, crammed city of 10 million—larger than New York—with its wall-to-wall skyscrapers and so many people crowded on sidewalks in mid-day that its often impossible to maintain a forward motion. Just keeping appointments with a bureaucrat can be a problem.

If there's a model of unstoppable growth, Sao Paulo, Brazil's industrial centre, is it.

Less than two decades ago, Sao Paulo held only two million people. Now, new people flock in at a rate of 600,000 a year.

Officials predict city streets will be burdened with more than one million vehicles by the end of this year.

SHOPPING NO PROBLEM

The rural-to-urban exodus has been more dramatic in Brazil than anywhere else—five times greater than in the United States, Russia and France. It has led to such things as a phenomenal growth in supermarkets—656 in 1964, more than 7,000 today.

"I see an economy that's running downhill so fast, it has to go faster just to keep up with itself," said a Sao Paulo businessman.

"There's a terrible sense of urgency," said another. "At all costs, we must be an industrialized nation. It's good that we've got the natural resources so that we can stand some of the beating."

"Some of it is due to the frustrations Brazilians feel at being asleep so long," said a Brazilian-born economist. "But despite the risks, we believe the challenge will be won because of our natural resources."

Brazil has natural resources in abundance, except for oil and wheat.

It's this frantic drive to develop these resources and prop up secondary manufacturing that has created concern among those who fear the consequences of too-fast growth.

Not long ago, a 100-year-old bridge on the main, government-owned railway line, about 40 miles from Rio de Janeiro, collapsed into a small gorge, along with several locomotives.

After a considerable delay, the bridge was repaired, restoring service on the main rail line. But they left the locomotives in the gorge.

"The fact is they were too busy doing other bigger projects to take time to retrieve those locomotives," said a business agent.

Instead of taking time to build a new rail line to replace the current obsolete one, everything is shipped by truck.

TRUCKS VERSUS RAILS

"This is a truck economy," commented one industrialist, "and it's because engineers haven't got time to build things like a rail line when there's trucks to do the job."

As a result, the 400-mile long highway between here and Rio de Janeiro—carrying an estimated 50,000 vehicles a day—is jammed with trucks hauling everything from milk to steel to liquid petroleum.

Engineers are currently engaged in a massive iron ore development in Carajas in the north that involves building a 1,000-mile rail line through unmapped country.

"Imagine the driving force that makes people do that, but leave a locomotive down there so they can move on to a bigger project," the industrialist said.

Greater Sao Paulo has about 40,000 industries, but the state of Sao Paulo which comprises a much wider area—the Ontario of Brazil—including several medium-sized cities, accounts for 55 per cent of the value of industrial production in the country.

To cope with this frightening urban sprawl, the government has been promoting industrial development outward from Sao Paulo's suburbs.

If it works, and the sight of new factories springing up almost daily through the state indicates that it will, São Paulo, Santos and Rio will be one gigantic megalopolis by 1985.

LOOKS LIKE THEY GOT WHAT THEY WANTED — Telemidia-Sherbrooke employees, now off the job for more than five months, set up their Christmas tree some weeks ago. At that time, unfortunately, there was no snow to complement the decoration. Last week's snowfall served to alleviate the problem. It is more than likely, however, that the workers would like their own differences with management to be resolved — despite the resolution their foresight seems to indicate.

Abitibi winner in Price battle

MONTREAL (CP) — Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. announced Thursday it will remove its offer to purchase shares of The Price Co. of Quebec City and tender the shares it now owns in that company to Abitibi Paper Co. Ltd., which has offered to purchase five million Price shares at $25 a share.

The announcement ends the war between Consolidated and Abitibi to gain control of Price. Consolidated refused comment except to issue a statement which said:

"Consolidated-Bathurst has announced it has instructed its agent C. J. Hodgson Securities Ltd., on its behalf, to withdraw its offer to purchase up to four million shares of The Price Co. at a price of $20 a share.

"The company also announced that it is tendering its 1,866,770 Price Co. shares through the facilities of the Montreal Stock Exchange to the Abitibi offer for five million Price Co. shares at $25 a share.

SHARES SOUGHT

The future of The Price Co. has been in question since last Thursday when Abitibi announced it would buy 4.83 million shares at $18 a share to gain a 49-per-cent interest in Price.

Consolidated countered the move Wednesday by offering $20 a share to gain 60-per-cent of Price and by acquiring 18 per cent of Price's outstanding stock from Associated Newspapers Group Ltd. of London, England.

Abitibi then raised its offer Thursday to $25 a share.

There was no immediate comment from Price Co. officials.

A spokesman for Abitibi in Toronto said it would comment later Thursday concerning Consolidated's latest move.

FEAR HQ MOVE

Throughout the struggle for The Price Co., fears have been expressed that if Abitibi gained control of the company, Price's headquarters would move from Quebec to Ontario.

Earlier Thursday, Paul Desmarais, president of Power Corp. of Canada Ltd., which controls Consolidated, said it had tried to gain control of Price to keep the company in Quebec.

Commenting on statements he made Wednesday, Mr. Desmarais said he was smiling when he said "if Abitibi makes a counter-offer superior to our offer to take control of The Price Co., we will make an offer to take control of Abitibi."

William Turner, Consolidated president, said Wednesday his company's offer to purchase Price stock had been requested by Price officials.

It is believed Price approached Consolidated as a last-ditch effort to keep its power base in Quebec.

Mr. Turner has been hesitant to comment on this issue because he admitted that some day Consolidated may want to take over an Ontario company.

The possibility of Abitibi gaining control of The Price Co. cropped up in the Quebec national assembly Tuesday when Marc-Andre Bedard, Parti Quebecois member for Chicoutimi, called for an emergency debate on the proposed acquisition.

Mr. Bedard said he feared a major repercussion if Price head offices moved to Ontario as the company has a $36-million investment in Quebec.

Gerard D. Levesque, vice-premier and minister of inter-governmental affairs, told the national assembly the government should not step in each time sales of private companies are discussed.

RUMOR DENIED

Mr. Turner has denied much speculation that the Quebec government was instrumental in Consolidated's bid to keep The Price Co. in Quebec.

Mr. Turner Wednesday had said Consolidated had gained "uncontested control" of The Price Co. with its acquisition of 18 per cent of Price's outstanding shares from Associated Newspapers Group Ltd. of London, England.

Associated was the largest single shareholder in the Price Co.

Consolidated's acquisition from Associated was by a common share exchange, rather than cash, said Mr. Turner.

By becoming the major shareholder in The Price Co., Mr. Turner said Consolidated had "repatriated a major Canadian company."

A merger between Consolidated and Price would create the world's largest newsprint company, with a combined production capacity of two million tons annually.

A spokesman for the Montreal Stock Exchange said trading remained halted on Price shares at both the Toronto and Montreal exchanges.

The Inflation Fighter

Better budget needs planning

A good budget can be your greatest asset in days of inflation. All it requires is a little planning, simple arithmetic and a lot of honesty with yourself. Here's how to do it:

—Divide your total yearly net income by 12.

—Divide your fixed expenses by 12, include rent or mortgage, loans, insurance and even planned savings.

—Subtract fixed expenses from the income.

What's left is for your day-to-day expenses, and it is here that you can do some juggling. But be sure to leave room for unexpected necessities. And be realistic and honest with yourself, or the budget will never work. Don't budget for ground beef if you know you'll buy steak.

Ideal warmup

After you start your car, run it for about 15 seconds or more before driving off. But don't warm things up too much because excessive time spent warming the engine, or unnecessary idling after warmup, hurts overall fuel economy.

While the car idles, remember, fuel economy is zero. If you drive at a moderate speed during warmup you will get better fuel economy than if you let the engine idle until it reaches normal operating temperatures.

20 per cent rule

Slow down your spending. Keep checkbook and credit cards in your pocket, and try not to go into debt buying big items on credit. You should never spend more than 20 per cent of your income on credit items, according to consumer economists. People who live on a static or very slowly rising income should avoid even that much credit spending, since they are liable to be caught in rapidly rising food and living costs.

Clothes line

Avoid unnecessary spending for clothing. A coordinated color scheme will make your wardrobe seem larger than it is. Try buying new accessories instead of new outfits. And don't buy fad clothing that will be out of fashion before you've worn it out. Buy clothing on sale or out-of-season, but don't consider any item a bargain if you wouldn't have bought it at the full price. So-called bargains that are seldom or never used are now expensive luxuries.

Can you rent it?

Many high-priced household appliances and tools are used only occasionally. Rug shampooers, floor polishers, sanders, cement mixers and chain saws often fit this category. In cases like these, where you're likely to use an item only once or twice a year, you would be wise to rent, or even borrow for the occasion. In some cases you could form an "appliance co-op" with one or more neighbors and buy, maintain and use items such as these together.

Broadhurst not back as secretary

ASCOT TOWNSHIP (BS) — R.S. Broadhurst did not reclaim his job Friday as Ascot Township secretary as he was ordered to do by a resolution passed by council at last Tuesday's meeting.

His reaction to that resolution will be heard by letter at tonight's convened township council meeting in the Huntingville town hall, at 8 p.m.

Contacted by The Record on the weekend, Mr. Broadhurst said that under council's conditions he could not go back as secretary and that the resolution was incomplete.

In the resolution Mr. Broadhurst on reinstalling himself as secretary would receive his salary retroactively from when he was dismissed. However, he would be expected to pay his own legal fees which he has incurred by hiring a lawyer to defend himself before the provincial municipal commission.

If the municipal commission supports Mr. Broadhurst in his appeal Ascot Township would be responsible for paying his legal fees, he explained.

Ascot council will receive a letter from Mr. Broadhurst's lawyer, Joseph Cassar, at tonight's council meeting outlining Mr. Broadhurst's reaction.

Grant given for roads

SHERBROOKE (RH) — Liberal M.N.A. for Megantic-Compton county, J. Omer Dionne, announced recently that a grant of $14,100 has been awarded his district for road repairs and construction.

The funds, which have been approved by the Transport Ministry in Quebec City, are to be used to cover construction cost of a 26 mile area beginning in the municipality of Newport Township.

Richmond Regional reports

Recent events at Richmond Regional High School were reported on by the principal at the last meeting of the Eastern Townships Regional School Board.

Principal Bruce Taylor reported that the evening of Oct. 23 was regarded as a 'make-up day' for Thanksgiving by the Richmond teaching personnel and a work study session, with guest speakers from Montreal, had been arranged.

Staff meetings were scheduled for October 31st and Department Heads from Champlain Regional College had been invited to meet the teachers on November 1st, 1974.

Parent-Teacher interviews were arranged for the evening of November 5, 1974. Principal Taylor noted that each student is responsible for obtaining information for his mid-term report from his teachers.

Principal Taylor revealed that almost 300 parents had attended a meeting in the school auditorium to discuss the possible application of strict Government norms and the effect on the house system.

The parents, including a high proportion of French-speaking parents, are planning petitions and representations to elected representatives in an effort to prevent the demise of the house system in the school.

AGRHS reports

Recent events at Galt Regional High School were reported on by the principal at the last meeting of the Eastern Townships Regional School Board.

Principal Frank Boushel reported that the Awards Night had been a success and expressed appreciation to guest speaker, Commissioner James Ross.

An Activity Day was held on October 23, with emphasis on participation. Mr. Boushel noted that a talent show had been arranged for that day and each school club had a display intended to attract new members.

The high absenteeism on that date was attributed by Principal Boushel to parents utilizing the time for medical appointments, etc., for their children.

Principal Boushel notified the Council that two orderly Fire Drills had been held during the month of October, on the 8th and 29th.

A schedule of proposed workshops and meetings for the teaching staff of Alexander Galt Regional High School for the two planning days of October 31st and November 1st, 1974, was distributed to the Council. Principal Boushel noted that the evening of November 1st, 1974 had been assigned for parent-teacher interviews.

The "Queen's Plate," the oldest consecutive horse race in North America, was first run in Toronto in 1859.

Winter winds bring discontent

By ROSA HARRIS
(Record Reporter)

SHERBROOKE — It's not that I don't like the winter, Mrs. Peter Reed commented while brushing snow off her shoulders Friday, "but it never fails to take me by surprise. I'm never prepared for it."

This was the most common reaction to winter, as ear-muffled and mittened Sherbrooke residents made their way through the snow and slush on the intersection of Wellington and Frontenac, where this week's Record survey took place.

Mrs. Reed was busy buying rubber boots for her four school-aged children. "Somehow, I believe we think that this year, it won't hit us till much later. I know it's my fault that I'm not prepared, but that's human nature."

She said that she herself doesn't go in for winter sports but that other members of her family are avid skiers and skaters.

"They have the right idea," she sighed. "If you can't beat it, join it. I wish I'd taken up those sports when I was younger. All that faces me now when the season gets underway are long days of heavy overcoats and cold toes. I love to see my husband and children making the most of the winter months."

She said she always enjoys the first snowfall even though it never fails to take her by surprise.

"Christmas excitement is really enhanced when the snow hits the ground," she pointed out. "Until the holiday season is over, I really love the snow because it seems to bring on the Christmas spirit faster. But by January, when everything is over, all we have to face is a good three months of the same boring climate. That's when I lose my patience with the weather."

Arthur Simon had not a good word to say about the upcoming winter season. "You picked the wrong time to ask me," he grumbled, "since my car wouldn't start when I was headed for work this morning. I think it's an omen — an indication of the shape of things to come."

He added that he usually mellowed toward the winter season by January or February. "By then I know there's no way out of it, and I can start pretending that spring is just around the corner. But I must admit, I daydream a lot about moving to the Bahamas whenever the first snowfall hits."

He maintained that the only winter sport he enjoys is hockey, "and that's from my living room. If I had to actually play the darn game, I'd hate it. I like to watch others exercise, but I can't work up the enthusiasm for it myself."

He reflected that it's the small nuisances that winter causes that most disturb him.

"Every time I hear car tires spinning or snow plows on the move, I know we're in for another bout with the white stuff. I hate to be a Scrooge, but I can't think of a single good thing to say about the weather."

Jocelyne Arthurs, on the other hand, can't get enough of winter, "and would like to see it last even longer than it now does."

"People look at me as if I'm crazy when I say something like that, but I happen to really love the snow. I used to skate a lot when I was a kid, and I've never gotten over the excitement I felt then when the first snow hit the ground. I was born here, and would feel at a loss if I found myself in a climate that didn't provide some kind of challenge. That's the way I believe people should look at winter — as a challenge to their nature to be fought every year. I find it exhilarating."

Miss Arthurs, who works in an office, says that the feel of the wind against her cheeks is one of the most pleasing sensations she has ever experienced.

"I guess some of us like the winter and some of us prefer the heat. I find that my weather over 65 degrees makes me wilted and uncomfortable."

She however, is in a decided minority, if the survey is any indication of the public's general reaction.

"I love Christmas, but I hate winter," moaned businessman Frank Mutch, "I must admit I'm a skier, but I can't spend all my time on the slopes. It's the periods of time between ski expeditions that get me down. I guess I'm better off than most people," he qualified, "at least I can get some enjoyment out of the long season."

He feels that people take the whole winter season too seriously. "You'd think we would be used to it by now," he remarked, "but everyone still complains about it — myself included. There's nothing we can do about it short of moving, and nobody really entertains that idea seriously."

All in all, Eastern Townships residents don't look forward to the November to March stretch.

"It's so long," Mrs. Reed emphasized. "If it ended in January, I don't think anyone would mind it so much. But as it is, it just seems to go on forever. Until spring, that is," she concluded.

Lennoxville Auxiliary meets

LENNOXVILLE — The last fall meeting of the year of the Lennoxville Retarded Children's Auxiliary was held in the Ladies Lounge of the United Church recently. The evening was convened by the President, Miss Dorothy Wallace, with the Auxiliary's Prayer for the Retarded.

Mrs. Robert Smith, the secretary, read the minutes and in the absence of the Treasurer, Mrs. Everett Moore, her report was read by the President.

In the treasurer's report donations to the Auxiliary's In Memoriam Fund were recorded. This fund is set aside to be used for very enduring gifts to be made as special projects of our Auxiliary to help those institutions who care for the retarded.

Several letters of thanks were read and business to attend to routine expenses was dispatched. The president expressed thanks and congratulations to all who helped with the bazaar in any way and thus contributed to its fine success.

Mrs. H. Pratt gave her report on the successful outcome of the drawing in which the Afghan was won by Mrs. L.W. Moore and the mohair rug by Mr. Gerald Frost, each of Lennoxville.

The convenor of the bazaar, Mrs. Helen Ross, gave her report and discussed many aspects of the plans and execution of such a big event.

Mrs. Jack Noble, convenor of the Donations Committee, presented her committee's outline for Christmas spending. After much discussion a plan for this was adopted.

The next meeting on the last Monday in January will be the annual meeting. Mrs. Helen Ross is convenor of the nominations committee. All convenors of committees are asked to present their annual summaries of activities then.

After the meeting a brief auction of several useful articles was held. Then the hostesses, Mrs. M. Butler and Mrs. H. Ross served delicious refreshments.

Greek youths remember assault

ATHENS (Reuter) — More than 100,000 youths demonstrated at Athens Polytechnic College Sunday to mark the first anniversary of a bloody assault on the campus by security forces.

The youths shouted anti-dictatorial and anti-U.S. slogans, and called for punishment of those responsible for last year's clashes in which 23 persons were killed and more than 1,000 injured.

Armed police ringed the U.S. Embassy in the city centre as the demonstrators marched to the embassy and the nearby special branch of the Athens military police.

School scene at ETRSB meeting

SHERBROOKE — A regular meeting of the Eastern Townships Regional School Board was held on Wednesday, Oct. 30, in the board office.

The Director of Education Services, Clarence Kendall, advised that the 'Comments on the Recommendations of the Poly Report' had been formulated by the Educational Policies Committee at its meeting on October 24, 1974.

Mr. Kendall prefaced his analysis of the Report by expressing the Committee's regret that the two high schools of the Eastern Townships Regional School Board were not visited by members of the Poly Group.

The 'Comments' of the Educational Policies Committee on the conclusion of the Poly Report were reviewed in detail by Mr. Kendall and questions or comments invited from the Council.

It was moved by Commissioner Colleen Wilkin and unanimously resolved that the comments expressed by the Educational Policies Committee reflect the opinion of the Eastern Townships Regional School Board and shall form the basis of a Brief to be sent to the Department of Education.

In response to an inquiry from Commissioner Knapp regarding the possibility of a visit by members of the Groupe Poly, the Director General advised that the group had been disbanded. He suggested that a visit from Mrs. K. Francoeur-Hendriks and associates would be of a greater value.

RENOVATIONS

Director General Wendell Sparkes reported that the renovations to the board office should be complete by November 5, including the installation of windows.

MAINTENANCE

The Director General reported that improvement continues in the cleaning and maintenance at Alexander Galt Regional High School and anticipated that the new cleaning equipment would be better the service.

LANDSCAPING

It was reported by the Director General that significant progress had been made by View Point Development during the last 10 days and gravel has been laid on the school bus parking lot.

Playing Fields

It was indicated by the Director General and Principal Bruce Taylor that further work on the playing fields at Richmond Regional High School would be improvable this year.

Bus Garage

The Director General reported that some delay had been experienced in the construction of the school bus garage while awaiting the arrival of the electrical contractors. It is expected that the garage will be completed in approximately two weeks and will be in use in the latter part of November.

Cafeteria

The Director General advised that a firm refusal had been received from the Department of Education to the Board's request for cafeteria subsidy. Mrs. K. Francoeur-Hendriks indicated that discussion will be held between the Departments of Education and Social Affairs to determine if funds could be made available in the future. Mr. Sparkes noted that boards were free to raise money for this purpose through taxation in the same manner as the Island Council of the Montreal School Boards.

SCHOOL BUSES

The Director General reported that although no direct acknowledgement of the Board's request for additional buses has been received from the Department of Transportation, he had been advised by Department of Education officials that the request, together with those from many other school boards, was being studied.

Suggestions from members of the Council, including a possible delegation to the Department of Transportation, were discussed. It was agreed that if an attempt by Director General Wendell Sparkes to obtain positive results from the Director of Transportation should fail, the Commissioners would be willing to approach local M.N.A.'s and other elected officials to obtain their support. The item will be on the agenda of the next regular Executive Committee meeting.

YELLOWKNIFE STUDENTS

Principal Bruce Taylor noted that a report on the R.R.H.S. Yellowknife Student Exchange in the Spring and Fall of 1974, written by Brian A. Woods, had been distributed to the Commissioners. Mr. Taylor advised that a letter of thanks had been received from the Yellowknife students and it was hoped that many more exchanges would be arranged.

FIRE REPORT

The Director General conveyed the regrets of Lennoxville Fire Chief John Nichol for not completing the Fire Department's report on AGRHS. It is anticipated that the report will be available for the next regular meeting.

Mr. Sparkes noted that he had been present at a recent Fire Drill at the School and had been impressed with the orderliness of the procedure. Principal Frank Boushel reported that the hoses referred to by Fire Chief Nichol at the last Executive Meeting had been located. These hoses had been purchased to water the skating rink and were not fire hoses.

WORK-STUDY

It was moved by Commissioner

Lorne Taber and unanimously resolved that this Board approves the Agreement made with Dettson Manufacturing Company Limited to supply welding students from Alexander Galt Regional High School to embark upon a work-study programme outside school hours.

It was moved by Commissioner Marguerite Knapp and unanimously resolved to charge the Ad Hoc Metier Committee with the development of guidelines for policies for work-study programmes to be presented to the Council of Commissioners for approval. Further, that no further work-study programmes shall be undertaken until such a policy has been accepted by the Council of Commissioners.

ATTORNEYS

It was moved by Commissioner Rudy Nelson and unanimously resolved that MacLaren, Hackett, Campbell & Langevin, be appointed the legal attorneys for the Eastern Townships Regional School Board for the school year 1974-75.

SEX EDUCATION

Commissioner Colleen Wilkin affirmed that the Committee had been responsible for the recommendations to the Poly report outlined earlier by Mr. Kendall. It was reported by Commissioner Wilkin that a social worker and 2 nurses had strongly recommended to the Committee the introduction of a Sex Education Course in the high schools.

The Director General supported the idea in principle and it was agreed that recommendations from the School Councils and Administrators would be requested and studied at a future meeting of the Council of Commissioners.

CHRISTMAS SCHEDULE

It was moved by Commissioner Fred Doyle and unanimously to replace the original draftee.

In 1837, the Militia was called up in the Papineau Rebellion. Volunteers enrolled in organized Units from Upper and Lower Canada.

In 1846, men from ages 18 to 40 designated 'first class' were to have training. Those in the age bracket 40 to 60, designated 'second class,' were to be held in reserve. The Governor could add volunteer units of the militia.

In 1855, a Volunteer Militia replaced the former system. This was the first occasion in which Canada made an attempt to pay her soldiers. It was enacted that they could be called out in aid of the civil power.

In 1867, there was a re-organization. The Sherbrooke Fifty-third Regiment and the Fifty-fourth at Richmond became the 7th and 11th Hussars.

In 1903, after the Boer War, many of the units were converted to cavalry.

In 1936, the 7th and 11th Hussars amalgamated, with Headquarters at Bury. In this change, a reduction in forces was made and the units became an armoured tank regiment.

In the Fenian Raids, local militia units were on duty, including the BCS Cadet Corp which carried the Colours. This Cadet Corps, of which we are very proud as being the oldest and finest Corps in Canada, now includes coeds in training.

Col. Denison then showed to the meeting a splendid collection of well polished badges of the troops defending Hong Kong. In these troops were many from the Eastern Townships, both in the POW Camps and in the liberation forces. He also had a display of 'flashes' from the regiments. Included in his display were propaganda pamphlets dropped by the Japanese upon Hong Kong, also pictures of the colony, the landscape and terrain of the POW Camp, and scenes from the Mid East.

A resolution of deep appreciation was moved by Capt. Hurd, who was, with the speaker, a Hong Kong veteran. The resolution was enthusiastically seconded by the whole meeting, in its applause.

Don Martin showed two pictures to the meeting: one of men in camp at Farnham in 1911; and the other of officers in St. Johns, P.Q. He also displayed the Drysdale silver cup won by his uncle, Capt. Holden, in a rifle competition of the 13th Squadron, Light Dragoons.

The earliest surviving art work of Vincent Van Gogh is a pencil sketch on paper entitled "Farm and Watershed," done by the artist in February, 1864, when he was 11 as a birthday gift to his father.

Military history of ET discussed

The Lennoxville and Ascot Historical and Museum Society met on November 11th, in the Douglas Hall of the United Church, with Mrs. Ken Herring, President, in the chair.

On motion of Mr. Tobin and Miss O. McKeon, the minutes of the preceding meeting were adopted. An acknowledgement of a letter of sympathy to Mrs. Marion Griffith had been received, also one of thanks from the Lennoxville Library for a donation towards its support. A letter was also received from the Granby Folk Lore Group inquiring about early costumes in the Eastern Townships.

The Treasurer's report included the $10 contribution to the Lennoxville Library, $5 to the Townships Sun and $73. for Incorporation fees.

Dr. Atto reported a visit that she and Miss Molony had made to the Richmond Open House in September; also that she, Miss Halls and Mrs. French, went on the Stanstead Historical Society tour to Chambly and to the Chateau de Ramzey. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Herring attended the Eaton Historical Society meeting in July.

Mr. Paige reported that the grave stones in the Greenwood (Waterville) Cemetery had been recorded by Mr. and Mrs. Patriquin, those in Compton Cemetery by Mr. and Mrs. Brand, and in Doak Cemetery by Mr. Waymer Labere.

Plans were made for the Christmas meeting on Dec. 9th, with Mrs. L.M. Watson, Mrs. Tobin and Miss Bigg offering to assist.

Mr. Herring reported that the Town of Lennoxville has named a Citizens' Committee to advise on future town developments.

The speaker for the evening, Col. Everett Denison, was then introduced to the meeting, the subject of his address being The Early Military History of the Eastern Townships.

It being Remembrance Day, at the invitation of the speaker, the meeting observed a minute of silence in memory of those from the town who had fallen in the two World Wars. Col. Denison also congratulated the Town on the Centapff Service held on Sunday, Nov. 10.

The speaker drew the attention of the meeting to the fact that in the early days in the Eastern Townships isolated settlements formed their own defence units. In 1793, a Militia Act was passed, the beginning of unit organization. The battalion was to be the basic unit.

In 1802, a Militia Act allowed the mustering of 1,200 'bachelors' for 20 days of training, each year.

In 1812, a Militia Act empowered the governor to call 2,000 men for annual training, forbidding the hiring of 'substitutes' resolved that the Christmas holidays for the Administrative and Support Personnel (Excluding Janitors) for the 1974-75 school year shall be from December 23rd, 1974 until January 1st, 1975 inclusive.

Hatfield to choose new cabinet

FREDERICTON (CP) — His mandate renewed and his opponents pondering the future, Richard Hatfield turns his attention to New Brunswick's next cabinet.
 But Monday's more balanced win by the Progressive Conservatives could make the 43-year-old premier's cabinet choices tougher than before.
 The Tories picked up new seats along the predominantly Acadian North Shore and Madawaska regions, once Liberal domain, and the next cabinet will likely reflect those gains.
 The election, the first fought on 58 new single-member ridings, broke the back of voting patterns which made Acadian regions traditionally Liberal and English areas traditionally Conservative.
 The Conservatives ended up with 33 seats, a gain of one, and the Liberals with 25. But the two parties traded seats with Tory gains in predominantly French regions and Liberal wins in the major urban centres of Saint John and Moncton.
 The New Democrats, Le Parti Acadien, and Canada Party failed to win the toehold they sought in the legislature.
3 MINISTERS MISSING
 Three members of the former Conservative cabinet won't be reappearing. Supply and Services Minister Carl Mooers did not run for re-election while Education Minister Lorne McGuigan and Treasury Board Chairman Jean-Paul Leblanc went down to defeat by the Liberals.
 The Conservatives wrestled a victory from the Liberals in 1970 by promising tax restraint and stepped-up economic development in New Brunswick and used the same formula on the hustings this year.
 The government plans to establish regional development commissions to purchase and service industrial land, continue its attempts to lure secondary industry and put new emphasis on agriculture and the fisheries.

 The Tories have also committed themselves to new tax cuts but they will need legislative approval sometime early next year.
 Under the proposals the provincial tax on residential property would be phased out in four years, the provincial personal income tax cut by seven per cent and the sales tax dropped from some items.
 Meanwhile, the Liberals are conducting a post-mortem on their campaign under leader Robert Higgins, a 40-year-old Saint John lawyer who succeeded Louis Robichaud after the Conservative win in 1970.
"OPPOSITION NOT MY BAG"
 Mr. Higgins made it clear before the election that "opposition is not my bag" but has not revealed whether he intends to stay on as party leader.
 Possible successors include Mr. Theriault and Joseph Daigle, the 39-year-old former provincial court judge who won Kent North for the Liberals.
 The New Democrats and Le Parti Acadien, which ran 13 candidates, are cautiously talking of the possibility of a common front in future elections. Neither party came close to winning a seat in the election.
 Euclide Chiasson, the 30-year-old leader of Le Parti Acadien, said one of the main reasons for forming the party in the first place was better representation for Acadians, who make up about one-third of New Brunswick's population. He said an amalgamation would not be accepted unless acadians had autonomy within the party.
 J. Albert Richardson, 37-year-old leader of the New Democrats, said the question would be discussed at his party's next council meeting.

Middle East chip on the world's shoulder

By Don Oakley

For Israel, nothing has failed like success.
 In the four wars it has fought in the 25 years of its brief modern history, the little nation has thwarted the combined military might of its Arab neighbors. But each costly victory has only set the stage for renewed conflict and in the long run has left the Arabs stronger and more united than they were before.
 Now a fifth Arab-Israeli war looms.
 Syria, next to the Palestinian terrorists, the most implacable foe of Israel, has been massively rearmed by the Soviet Union which remains seemingly immune from world opinion.
 In a significant defeat for the moderate King Hussein of Jordan, the Palestine Liberation Organization, whose goal is nothing less than the total obliteration of Israel, was recognized as the official spokesman for all Palestinians at the recent Arab summit conference in Morocco.
 On top of this, the Arabs have discovered the immense leverage they possess against Western capitals in the use of oil as a weapon.
 The current diplomatic consensus seems to be that unless Israel makes immediate and sweeping concessions to the Arabs — withdraws from the Sinai Peninsula and the Golan Heights, relinquishes control of Jerusalem and agrees to the setting up of a separate Palestinian state on the west bank of the Jordan — there will be another war, probably next year.
 The Israelis know, however, that to do all that in the absence of an iron-clad, internationally guaranteed agreement stipulating their right to national existence would be to sign their own death warrant.
 It was control of the strategic Golan Heights and the Sinai, won in the 1967 Six-Day War, that saved Israel from being overrun in the October War of 1973. To retreat to the pre-1967 borders would be to lose these vital buffer areas and place every city in Israel within short-range rocket reach of the Arabs.
 But though Israel could win the next war, and the next, the sheer statistics of population and resources dictate that sooner or later it will be overwhelmed if lasting peace is not somehow arrived at with the Arabs.
 To many in the West, the Arab demands seem reasonable. The territory seized by Israel since 1948 was never intended to be part of that country. There must eventually be a solution to the festering problem of the dispossessed Palestinians.
 But the world forgets that never have the Arabs even been willing to sit down with the Israelis in face-to-face negotiations, much less agree to formal recognition of Israel as part of a permanent peace treaty.
 It is elementary facts like these that make the current go-between efforts of the redoubtable Henry A. Kissinger the most challenging of his career.
 What do the Israelis offer? According to Premier Yitzhak Rabin, the only real solution to the Palestinian problem — which is central to the entire Middle East impasse — is to have two states, the Jewish state of Israel and the Palestinian state of Jordan.
 Jordan, called Transjordan before 1948 under the old British Mandate from the League of Nations and later the United Nations, was always part of Palestine. Half its 1.3 million population today is Palestinian, including those who lived there before 1948 and those who fled there after the establishment of Israel. A separate Palestinian state between Jordan and Israel, says Rabin, would be a "timebomb" threatening both countries.
 A willingness to compromise, unfortunately, has never been in excess supply in the Middle East. The recent upsurge in the prestige and power of the radical Palestinians, the continued refusal of the Arabs to negotiate directly with Israel and the failure of the Western nations to unite behind a demand for accommodation by both sides make the outlook in this volatile part of the world as foreboding as it has ever been in the past quarter of a century.

Patience Pays Off

Patience can be rewarding as the James Bay Crees and the Inuit have demonstrated in their recent dealings with two governments. In January, 1974, Premier Robert Bourassa of Quebec made public the terms of an offer advanced earlier in an effort to remove the Indian claims roadblock to his "project of the century." This action was in breach of an agreement with negotiators for the native people but Mr. Bourassa claimed justification on the ground that the Indians had been tardy in responding to the November proposals. To the apparent surprise of Quebec City and perhaps of Ottawa, the James Bay people remained unresponsive despite their failure to halt the project by a court injunction. But serious negotiations have at last produced an agreement in principle which appears from every standpoint a marked improvement on the original offer, described in January by Jean Chretien as a "fantastic opportunity."
 In one respect the victory is total. Quebec governments in recent times have declined to recognize native rights and the Bourassa government has proceeded as if there were no limitations on its freedom of action in an area where Indian title had not been extinguished. The Crees and Inuit have held, on the contrary, that government must observe procedures set out long ago in a famous imperial proclamation and reaffirmed in the Boundaries Extension Act of 1912. They have backed their claim with action in the courts. In fact, there has been a negotiation, not merely consultation. This negotiation has now led to an agreement in principle and the resultant settlement, in the words of a summary issued by federal Indian Affairs Minister Judd Buchanan, will "extinguish native title in the area." This is important to the Indian people, not merely because of the concessions won but also because such procedures show a decent respect for their human dignity.

The concessions are considerable. In terms of cash the settlement is 50 per cent better than the offer outlined by Mr. Bourassa. There is an additional benefit — 25 per cent of the royalties over a 20-year period on any development begun within 50 years of the settlement. But the Indians have steadily insisted that they are less interested in monetary compensation than in land and in the maintenance of a way of life. The agreement ensures them a much larger land allotment (although part is subject to provincial jurisdiction). In addition, however, they are granted an exclusive hunting, fishing and trapping domain of 60,000 square miles and also the exclusive use of certain species over the entire territory. They are to participate on a co-ordinating committee equally with government representatives in administering and controlling the hunting, fishing and trapping regime, and committee quota recommendations, in the case of moose and caribou, will be binding on the government.

What has been achieved is an agreement in principle. The Indians, for their part, agree to suspend legal action against the James Bay corporation. They will be free, however, to return to the courts if final agreement is not reached by Nov. 1, 1975. In the negotiations which will now go forward, much will apparently depend on modifications of the hydro project and remedial measures to minimize its impact on native communities and the Indian way of life. A fair and honorable settlement appears to be on the horizon. If realized it will be an important landmark because it preserves important rights, includes elements of partnership in development and incorporate many Indian ideas.

"Oh goody! It's twins!"

Jack Anderson's Washington Merry-go-round

 President Ford's associate counsel, Dudley Chapman, allegedly tried to conceal the fact that a secret White House fund was used to pay government aides to serve as "advance men" during the 1972 campaign.
 Chapman informed government auditors that the fund belonged not to the White House but to the Republican National Committee and the Nixon campaign committee.
 This has been disputed by the General Accounting Office, which has just concluded a secret investigation. "Contrary to Mr. Chapman's statement," the GAO found, the fund "was a White House account."
 The failure to disclose the existence of such a political fund in the White House until two years after the campaign period, charged the GAO, "appears to constitute a violation of the act."
 The case has been referred to Attorney General William Saxbe for action.

The secret fund, listed on the books as "The White House Subsidiary Account," was opened in October 1970. Since 1971, its treasurer has been Wilbur Jenkins, the chief White House administrative officer, a career employee, who confessed to GAO accountants that he "made bank deposits for the subsidiary account and signed the checks."

But Jenkins apparently was the fall guy for Nixon aides who really controlled the fund. He told the GAO auditors that Bruce Kehrl, then the White House staff secretary and later a minor Watergate figure, "approved and directed all such transactions."
 Exactly how the fund was manipulated is still a mystery. It was used to pay the political expenses of Nixon "advance men," including luncheons and cocktail parties that they arranged for political purposes.

We have learned that at least $10,000 in cash was slipped into the fund by Nixon campaign treasurer Hugh Sloan, who delivered the money secretly to Kehrl.

CIO's largest union.
 The district is now in the middle of a rerun of a 1973 election, which was thrown out by the courts after evidence of ballot fraud and election irregularities.

Sam Evett, the hand-picked candidate of the Steel Workers hierarchy, won the 1973 election for district director. But the evidence was strong that Edward Sadlowski, the reform challenger, should have won. A new vote was ordered.

Now Rauh has charged that the Labor Dept., which has always been allied with the old-line union powers, is secretly favoring Evett in many little ways.

In an emotional private appeal to Labor Secretary Peter Brennan, Rauh reminded him of the United Mine Workers case. In 1969, Rauh had warned Brennan's predecessor, George Shultz, to take action to prevent bloodshed.

But Shultz did nothing. Later, dissident candidate Jock Yablonski, his wife and daughter were murdered in their beds by allies of incumbent Tony Boyle.

Any violence in the Steel Workers election, warned Rauh, "will be on your conscience just as Shultz's failure to act will always be on his."

Footnote: United Steel Workers official Elmer Chatak, now on leave to manage Evett's campaign, denied that the "minor infractions" in the last election affected its outcome. He called Rauh's charges of new campaign irregularities "completely unfounded." The Labor Dept. told us they are working hard to ensure fair elections and are favoring neither candidate.

Watch On Waste: The National Science Foundation has just given out a $28,000 grant titled, "Techniques and Language Development for Human-Computer Interaction in Music Composition and Research." Stripped of the fancy language, the grant will teach computers to read musical notes. Presumably another grant would be needed to teach the computers to play an instrument or sing in a barber shop quartet.

Beware Watergate's double-edged blade

By Ray Cromley

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sen. George McGovern may have gone down to ignominious defeat in his 1972 race for president but he left a legacy that has given the Republicans fits this year. And it probably will do so for years to come unless the GOP makes drastic internal reforms.
 The campaign organization techniques developed by the ablest of McGovern's supporters have shown startling effectiveness. Watergate is usually blamed where Republican candidates face an uphill battle against neophyte challengers. But more often than not, a careful analysis indicates the Democratic strength comes from energetic, imaginative canvassing with throngs of enthusiastic amateurs, assisted by the sophisticated analyses so dear to both Nixon and McGovern specialists.

Corruption, including Watergate, is certainly an issue. But it has cut both ways. From studying regional reports it would seem that for every Republican candidate hooked in directly or indirectly with financial or political wrongdoing because of Watergate and associated crimes, a Democrat has been hauled up by a GOP campaigner over some local real estate, public utility, income tax or other scandal. And sometimes the purity issue has boomeranged.
 The fact is that many voters believe that all politicians of all parties, newtimers as well as old, are quite capable of hanky panky. Opposing candidates have sometimes been able to bring ridicule to those men who pompously claim to be "Mr. Clean." Deeply hurt, however, have been some of those Republican office holders who staunchly defended Mr. Nixon to the bitter end.

Watergate has had a strong indirect effect. In the middle of the crisis, the GOP lost its courage. The party gave in to defeatism earlier this year when nominations were made for House and Senate seats, presumably believing Watergate made victory seem impossible.

In all too many cases the Republicans nominated weak candidates rather than the first-rate men and women who could have cut the inevitable off-year losses. In some situations the party pulled in its horns, nominated no one and left the field to the Democrats. If the Republicans suffer greater defeats in 1974 than normal in an off-year election, it's largely their own doing.

Take Virginia, where Republicans hold seven of the House seats, the Democrats three. Not one Republican is challenging the three Democratic incumbents. The Democrats have candidates running against all seven Republicans. At the other end of the country, no Republican is running against Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii. The roster of weak candidates is too long to note.

This all seemed good strategy at the height of Watergate. Able men shied at becoming sacrificial lambs; volunteers seem apathetic about taking on a heavy load of work. What the leaders forgot was that the political climate changes more rapidly than the weather. The supposedly unbeatable Wilbur Mills, it turns out, could have been vulnerable in Arkansas if the Republicans had put up a heavyweight. As it is a GOP victory would be nothing short of a miracle. The same can be said for Sen. Warren Magnusen in Washington and Sen. Adlai Stevenson III in Illinois, and for scattered Democratic House contestants from New Jersey to California.

Russell-Boulanger wed

SUTTON — A pretty fall wedding was solemnized in St. Andre Catholic Church Saturday afternoon, October 19, 1974, at 4 o'clock, when France Louise, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boulanger, was united in marriage to John Lynn Russell, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Reid Russell of Waterloo and Austin.

Father Real Lareau officiating with Miss Theresa Sauvageau reading the Scripture Lesson. The organist was Miss Lucile Schank and the vocalist was Mrs. Celine Lacasse. Mrs. Lacasse sang "Que c'est Leu La Vie" and "Pour Vivre ensembles il faut savoir aimer." Miss Schank played the theme of "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride looked charming and pretty upon entering the church escorted by her father, Mr. Robert Boulanger to the tune of the Wedding March, wearing a white tregal peasant style long dress slightly puffed long sleeves rounded yoke, fitted skirt with added flair below the knee. Yoke and semi skirt trimmed with white lace and royal blue daisies, with royal blue ribbon at the waist. Her hair was styled in a spanish chignon held in a delicate white net. A few white daisies were in her chignon. Her bouquet was a crescent of white daisies trimmed with royal blue velvet. The maid of honor was Miss Sylvie Boulanger, sister of the bride. The bridesmaids were Misses Threasa Sauvageau of Toronto, and Miss Lucie Lariviere of Sutton, Miss Elyse Boulanger younger sister of the bride, was her flower girl. All attendants were wearing royal blue printed long dresses in winter jersey, turquoise and fuchsia velvet at their waist, blue and white daisies in their hair. They also carried blue and white daisies, baby's breath and gladiolus.

Mr. Keith Russell, uncle of the groom acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Richard Russell, of Waterloo brother of the groom and Mr. Richard Boulanger brother of the bride. The men of the wedding party all wore navy blue semi formal suits, blue shirts with navy blue plush velvet bow ties and blue carnation boutonnières.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Robert Boulanger was wearing a long turquoise silk jersey dress and jacket trimmed with ostrich feathers, and a mink stole. Mrs. Reid Russell, mother of the groom, was wearing a long dress of green jersey and a white crocheted lace stole. France and John had the honor of having their five grandparents attend their wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boulanger were there. Mrs. Boulanger was wearing a long powder blue wool dress a lame jacket to match and a mink stole. Mrs. Simone Chicoine wore a long silk printed dress with a squirrel stole.

Mrs. Bernice Russell wore a long dress of mauve turtel and white crocheted lace stole. Mrs. Alice Stone wore a long dress of flowered silk with a crocheted lace stole, all ladies of the wedding party wore accessories to match their dresses and carried orchid corsages.

for the evening. The receiving line was in the reception room upstairs. As each one congratulated the bride and groom, they were served a glass of punch.

Miss Sylvie Boulanger had charge of the guest book, and each guest signed as they filed into the dining room, downstairs, dining room, downstairs.

The bride's table was centered with a beautiful three tier wedding cake, made by Mrs. Douglas Mudgett and decorated by Mrs. Roland Gibson. It was flanked with fall flowers and greenery with tall blue tapers along the table.

At this table the bride and groom and their attendants, parents, grandparents, Rev., Father Lareau, and Mr. Bruno Coulombe were seated.

The wedding guests were all seated at small tables around the large room. A delicious turkey banquet was served. Dancing was enjoyed during the evening from the music of the Bavarian Orchestra.

Later in the evening the bride and groom left for a short wedding trip to Quebec City. The bride was wearing a brown and beige suit of double knit tweed, a rust colour turtleneck blouse, and a corsage of silk flowers to match. John also wore a rust colour suit, with turtleneck rust sweater.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell have now taken up residence in Toronto. On leaving the reception hall the bride threw her bouquet, and it was caught by Miss Debbie Russell, cousin of the groom.

Before their marriage Miss Boulanger was given two showers in Sutton, and one in Toronto also. They were given a mixed shower at the Horizon Motel, with over 400 attending. Relatives and friends attending the wedding came from Essex Jct., Vt., Richmond, Vt., Waterloo, Sherbrooke, Austin, Brome, West Brome, Chambly, Cowansville, Mansonville, Edmonton, Alta., Abercorn, Toronto, West Sutton, Montreal, and Sutton area.

Mr. Robert Sweeney was best man for his brother and the ushers were Messrs Al Bell of St. Lambert, Bill Turpin of Montreal and Marshall Hirst of Hamilton. The gentlemen of the wedding party wore striped trousers, frock coats, foulard ties and grey top hats, with carnation boutonnières.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at St. George's Club where the bride's table was decorated with vases of yellow mums and daisies, yellow candles and centered by a three tier wedding cake made and decorated by Mrs. Alan Goodfellow.

The bridal couple left for their honeymoon in Stowe, Vermont, the bride travelling in a green pant suit with matching hat, and a bronze orchid corsage. They have taken up residence in Montreal.

Guests attending were from Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Banff, Philadelphia and Cardiff, Wales.

Prior to her wedding the bride was entertained at a kitchen shower by Mrs. Lynda Bell and Miss Beverley Broadbelt, a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Barton Carr and Mrs. Clifford Allan and a pantry shower by Mrs. Allan Show of Dorval.

Sweeney of Montreal took place October 19th, 1974 at St. Peter's Anglican Church, Sherbrooke, the Reverend Canon John Franklin officiating, with Mr. Morris Austin at the organ.

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her mother, wore a long gown of ivory satin cut on princess lines with a small train. Her tulle veil was held in place by a coronet of pink sweetheart roses, and her bouquet was of roses and baby's breath with long velvet streamers.

The bride's sister, Nora Thomson, as maid of honour, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Lynda Bell of St. Lambert, Miss Beverley Broadbelt of Montreal and Miss Carolyn Show, cousin of the groom, of Dorval were gowned in

Fidelity Rebekah Lodge

AYER'S CLIFF — The regular meeting of Fidelity Rebekah Lodge No. 33 was held in the Lodge Hall on Monday evening Nov. 4. The Vice-Grand was in the chair in the absence of the Noble Grand Sister Edith Lepine, who was unable to attend.

One bill for supplies was presented and voted paid. Correspondence consisted of an invitation to attend a district meeting in Shawville on Nov. 23rd., also one from the Rebekah Assembly of Quebec with a proclamation to drape the charter in memory of Sister Edith Whitehead. This to be brought up under good of Order Sister Madeline Dezan.

The bank balance was given which was very satisfactory. The Round Robin was won by Sister Madeline Dezan.

Sister Fernande Dezan is to bring a basket to have each member place money in at each meeting. This is to be used to entertain with next summer.

The members decided to purchase their usual Armistice Spray to be placed at the Cenotaph on Armistice Sunday Service.

No further report was heard on our project owing to the absence of Noble Grand Sister Lepine.

Meeting was closed in ritual form and all retired to the lower hall where Brother Lawrence Dezan showed slides of some of the trips that he and Sister Madeline had taken, including their recent one to La Tuque. These were enjoyed by all.

Sisters Fernande and Madeline Dezan served refreshments, when a social hour was enjoyed.

Ann Landers Rec room wrecks friendships

Dear Ann Landers: May I say a word to that outraged hostess who was furious because her friend resented being entertained in her basement, so often referred to as the "recreation room"?

Count me as another one who is sick and tired of being ushered past the living room and taken down to the "recreation room". After spending $7 to have my hair done and $5 on a sitter, I want to know who in the hell they are saving the living room for? Some of the "fancy" furniture up there even has plastic slipcovers.

"Recreation rooms," "family rooms," "dens," etc., are fine and dandy for little kids with sticky fingers or teenagers who want to play music and dance, but when adults are invited to a home they should be entertained in the nicest room in the house — and that's usually the living room. Sign me — Tired of Black Holes of Calcutta

Dear Cal.: The poll is running five to one in your favor. Of course the hostesses who entertain in "Calcutta" wrote to certify themselves, but most women clearly prefer living rooms.

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to "Second Choice" (the woman who was engaged to marry a man who couldn't go to the bathroom without consulting his mother) was excellent. In my case, I would have been happy with the Number Two spot, but I was FIFTH choice. My husband had three sisters.

I should have caught on when Mama tagged along on our honeymoon. Money was scarce and since we were driving to visit his two sisters, "Why not take Mama along?" You would have thought she was the bride. He waited on her hand and foot the whole time.

From the day we returned from our honeymoon his out-of-town sisters were on the phone constantly. Letters arrived from one or both nearly every day. I never saw such a nutty family. Every vacation had to be spent with them. Finally, I said, "No more." So he went without me.

My mother-in-law passed away a few years ago, but the in-town sister has taken her place. Now she and my husband have to consult each other about everything. I admire a man who is thoughtful and considerate of his mother, but please, Ann, say it again, if he's a Mama's boy, forget it. — Low Lady on the Totem Pole.

Dear Lady: Thanks for the testimony. The questions that flash across my mind when I get letters such as yours are (1) how come you didn't recognize the signs during courtship, and (2) why did you stay?

Dear Ann Landers: Is it physically harmful to slap a small child in the face? Whenever I see this done I cringe. I realize that permissiveness is bad and discipline is important, but it seems to me that if a child needs to be punished physically, there are better ways. Please comment. — Against Violence.

Dear A.V.: I am opposed to slapping a child in the face for two reasons. First, it is never a good idea to hit a child on the head (a hard blow could impair his hearing), and second, a slap in the face can produce a severe loss of dignity — even to a very young child.

The Lord provided the ideal spot if it becomes necessary to get to the seat of the problem. It's the seat of the youngster. Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged by Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Beavers trounce Sorel Hawks 13-5 Friday

THAT'S NUMBER ELEVEN — Two Beavers, Jacques Rodrigue (27) and Sidney Veysey raise their sticks triumphantly after Joe Carlevalle scored the 11th Sherbrooke goal against Sorel

MORE ROUGH STUFF — Sherbrooke Beavers left-winger Jere Gillis gets the grapple on Ernie Whyte in a first period fight Friday night at the Sports Palace. It was the first of four such incidents during the game. The Beavers defeated the Sorel Hawks 13-5 in the contest.

SHERBROOKE (BP) — The Sherbrooke Beavers picked up another victory Friday night against the Sorel Hawks but suffered a staggering loss Sunday afternoon as a player lost his life when the team bus crashed 15 miles south of Chicoutimi before their game there last night.

The 5'11" Drummondville native, playing center for the Beavers since the beginning of the season, Gaetan Paradis had his hockey career and life terminated in the accident, less than two months before his 19th birthday.

Friday night, the Beavers handed the Hawks a 13-5 defeat in front of 3,842 fans at the Sports Palace. Sorel took advantage early in the game and scored two goals before the five minute mark.

But Sherbrooke came back and hit for five unanswered markers before the period ended. Team captain Michel Brisbeois scored first to put the Beavers only one down.

At 11:21, Paradis scored a beautiful goal while standing alone in front of the Sorel net from a corner pass. It was to be his last for any team.

Jere Gillis scored two and Francois Robert added another in the first period.

Gillis made his hat-trick complete early in the second period. Sorel scored twice more before the Beavers nullified them within the next six minutes. Alain Belanger (No. 10) and Jacques Rodrigue made those goals for Sherbrooke. Again the teams swapped scores before 16 minutes had passed. Fernand Leblanc tallied for Sherbrooke. Mark Green and Joe Carlevalle netted singles in the late stages of the second.

Green got his second of the night, as did Alain Belanger in the final period.

Pierre Mondou scored three goals for Sorel in the game, while mates Robert Ritchie and Michel Frechette made one each.

Sherbrooke's number 10 was in the action all over the ice. Besides his two goals, he was involved in two fights. Francois Robert and Jere Gillis made up the remainder of the Beaver fighting group, while Roger Seguin with two and Ernie Whyte and Donald Claude were the Sherbrooke outshot Sorel 58-31, with Richard Sirois holding his own in the local nets. Claude Legris and Daniel Coutu were the Hawk netminders.

The Beavers received permission for a 15 day break after their accident yesterday to recover, mentally and physically, before they will play league games again.

Habs drop tilt to Sabres in action packed thriller, Kings extend lead

Until recently, a few young clubs seemed to be having it their own way in the National Hockey League's new divisional setup. But the races grew suddenly hotter during the week-end.

In the First Division, second-place Atlanta Flames upset Philadelphia 4-3 Sunday to pull within two points of the leading Flyers while Boston Bruins had two victories—5-2 over New York Rangers Saturday and 7-4 over Vancouver Canucks Sunday—to pull within six points of leading Buffalo Sabres in the Fourth Division.

The Canucks, meanwhile, had their Second Division lead cut to nine points when the second-place Chicago Black Hawks downed Kansas City Scouts 6-0 Saturday.

In the Third Division, however, Los Angeles Kings widened their lead over Montreal to three points with a scoreless tie Saturday against Pittsburgh Penguins and a 4-1 win Sunday over Detroit Red Wings.

The Canadiens, meanwhile, lost 6-4 to the Sabres at Buffalo in a fight-filled match.

RANGERS BEAT PIRATES

In other games Sunday, the Rangers beat Pittsburgh 7-5 and Minnesota North Stars tied Washington Capitals 4-4.

In Saturday's other games, Vancouver and New York Islanders tied 3-3, St. Louis Blues beat Detroit 4-2, Philadelphia defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 6-3, and Minnesota downed California Seals 3-1.

Centre Tom Lysiak scored his 14th goal of the season and added two assists but teammate Brian Hextall won it for the Flames when he took a pass from Hilliard Graves and drilled a 10-foot shot past Philadelphia goalie Bernie Parent.

At Buffalo, Rick Martin scored his 13th and 14th goals of the season to lead the Sabres to their third straight win over Montreal this season.

A major brawl broke out in the third period when Buffalo's

Jerry Korab dumped Montreal's Mario Tremblay.

BOTH BENCHES EMPTY

"It was a clean check," insisted Korab who was immediately attacked by Canadiens' Doug Risebrough. Both benches emptied and referee Andy van Hellemond handed out 90 minutes in penalties.

At New York, the Rangers went ahead on third-period goals by Ted Irvine, Jerry Butler and Rick Middleton.

The Rangers were without defencemen Dale Rolfe and Ron Harris, both sidelined by injuries in Saturday's game. Rolfe is out for four to six weeks with a broken bone in his right foot and Harris for up to four months with a broken hip.

Henry Boucha's goal at 15:20 of the third period lifted Minnesota into a tie with Washington whose 36 shots on goal were a club high.

Bob Murdoch and Neil Komadoski had two assists each as Los Angeles trimmed Detroit to extend its road unbeaten streak to 10 games.

Phil Esposito and Don Marcotte scored two goals each to help Boston past Vancouver, stretching the Bruins' victory string to five games.

Champlain girls win again

LENNOXVILLE (BP) — The Champlain Regional College Cougarettes notched their fourth consecutive win of the season Saturday as they defeated Shawinigan CEGEP 39-19.

Diane Mullins scored 12 points for Champlain as the Lennoxville squad downed the Electriks for the third time this year. Pam Edwards followed with 10 points, while Maureen Hallam made seven. Sharon Helynyck, Sue Desaulniers, Cathy McGurk and Karen Gaudet added the remaining points for the winners.

Helene Beauregard had six points for the Shawinigan girls and was high scorer. The score at half-time was 19-6. Champlain has dealt the Electriks 82-19 and 61-19 losses in their previous meetings.

The hockey Cougars lost their game against CMR on Friday night for their third league loss of the year.

Bishop's University played two weekend matches as well. The cagers opposed UQTR in Trois-Rivieres, while the hockey squad faced McGill University.

The hockey team continued their winless streak as the Redmen hung on for an 8-7 victory over the Gaiters. Dave Dussault of Bishop's scored one of the two hat-tricks of the afternoon game. The other went to McGill's Jean Dion. Jimmy Moysey had two, while Phil Hermitte and Nicky Stephens counted singles for BU.

Bishop's netminder Davy Jones had his hands full with 23 shots from the Redmen, while the Gaiters tested the McGill goalie 19 times.

Champlain takes up the local action tomorrow night when the women's team faces the Sherbrooke CEGEP hoop squad at Bishop's. The game will be probably the most exciting to be played at home for the CRC girls this year, after their extremely close encounter last week.

In that game Maureen Hallam sunk the ball with two seconds remaining in double-overtime to give a 42-40 victory to the Cougarettes. Di Mullins was high scorer in that game also, with 18, while Hallam had 11. Pam Edwards, Cathy McGurk, Sharon Helynyck and Sue Desaulniers figured the rest of the Champlain scoring.

Carole Veilleux scored 10 points for Sherbrooke, with mates Lise Garand and Louise Simard getting nine and eight respectively.

CRC coach Sheila Clarke hopes the girls won't be as nervous in the game Tuesday as they were in last week's high pressure contest. She said her girls now know what to expect from the Sherbrooke CEGEP club, and will hopefully not take the outing into such tense moments.

Toronto Toros are off-and-on club

Coach Billy Harris can't explain the recent off-and-on performances by his Toronto Toros of World Hockey Association.

"It's inexplicable," said Harris. "One night, we will lose a game 8-2 like we did Friday and then we really play well."

The Toros were shelled 8-2 by Edmonton Oilers at home Friday night but hammered Quebec Nordiques 9-2 before 12,367 in Quebec Saturday night and smashed Indianapolis Racers 9-2 Sunday.

In other Sunday play, Houston

Aeros edged Edmonton Oilers 4-3. Phoenix Roadrunners downed Winnipeg Jets 3-1. Cleveland Crusaders defeated Quebec 3-1. Michigan Stags nipped Minnesota Fighting Saints 3-2, and New England Whalers outscored Chicago Cougars 9-5.

San Diego Mariners downed Minnesota 5-3 Saturday night. New England defeated Chicago 4-2 and Houston topped Vancouver Blazers 4-2.

TIES THE ROCKET

winger Frank Mahovlich scored two goals to run his major league lifetime goal-scoring total to 544, the same number Maurice Richard scored during his 18-year career with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

Mahovlich, who jumped to the Toros from Montreal this season, had 533 goals in 17 NHL seasons.

His next goal will put him alone in third place behind Gordie Howe and Bobby Hull in the all-time list. Howe, in his 27th season as a professional and in his second in the WHA, has 818 goals while Hull has 674.

Toronto now leads the WHA's Canadian Division with 30 points—eight more than second-place Quebec.

Frank Hughes scored his second goal of the game at 2:49 of the sudden-death overtime to give Houston its win over Edmonton before 15,362 fans.

Hughes beat veteran goaltender Jacques Plante with a 40-foot screened blast to give the Oilers their first loss at home after five consecutive wins.

KEOGAN SCORES TWO

Two goals by Murray Keogan paced the Roadrunners at Winnipeg. Dennis Sobchuk scored the other Phoenix goal with Veli Ketola replying for Winnipeg.

Gerry Pinder scored at 16:47 of the second period to break a 1-1 tie and the Crusaders went on to average a 3-2 loss to the Nordiques Friday night in Quebec City.

Rookie Steve West's goal in the second period was the winner as Michigan edged the Fighting Saints. Ninety minutes in penalties were assessed, including six majors for fighting and two misconducts.

Three goals by Wayne Carleton carried New England past the Cougars in Chicago. The win brought the Whalers' record to 13-4 for the year and they have a 13-point lead over Cleveland in the East Division. The Crusaders have a 6-6-1 mark.

Syracuse Eagles and Rochester fans clash in real old brawl

Syracuse Eagles, who occupy last place in the Southern Division of the American Hockey League, went into a flap Sunday night when they were goaded by the fans at Rochester.

When some of the Syracuse players climbed into the stands, a brawl developed and police had to be called to the arena to restore order.

Police said three patrol cars responded to a call for assistance, but there were no reports of arrests.

The only injury was to the Eagles' pride. They were trailing by five goals when the fans began to pester them by throwing articles on the ice. In the melee that followed, Gary Gresdal of the Eagles and Rod Graham of the Amerks drew game misconduct penalties and six others received majors.

Ron Garwaik led the Amerks to their 6-1 victory with two goals. Graham Barry Merrill, Jake Rathwell and Steve Stirling had one apiece and Cal Swenson scored the only goal for the visitors.

In other games, Nova Scotia Voyageurs defeated New Haven Nighthawks 6-4 and Richmond Robins battled to a 2-2 overtime tie with Providence Reds, Northern Division leaders.

In Saturday's action, Baltimore Clippers edged the Voyageurs 3-2, while Springfield Kings upset the Virginians 3-1.

Nova Scotia moved into a tie for third place with Springfield in the Northern section as Pete Sullivan and Mike Busniuk sparked the offence with two goals each. Mike McKegney and Don Howse were the other marksmen for the winners. John Rogers, Walt Ledingham, Rick Kessel and Rick Chinnick connected for the Nighthawks.

Providence emerged with a five-point lead over Rochester in the north as a result of their deadlock with Richmond. The Robins remained in a tie with Baltimore for third place in the south.

The Reds sorely missed the services of defencemen Joe Zannussi and John Bednarski, who were recalled by the parent New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, but they got superb goaltending from John Adams.

Centre Bob MacMillan's goal at 14:47 of the second period tied the game at 2-2 and neither team was able to muster a goal in the third or overtime periods.

Bob Craig got Providence's first goal. Rookie Steve Coates and centre Larry Fullan scored Richmond's goals.

Als win Grey Cup

Sonny Wade rallies team

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sonny Wade, a big, soft-spoken Virginian who would rather pass a football than talk, has once again proved himself the best second-string quarterback in Canadian football.

Coming off the bench for the second week in a row to replace first-stringer Jimmy Jones, Wade concocted a neat blend of running and passing to lead Montreal Alouettes to a 20-7 victory over Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup game Sunday.

The six-foot-three veteran of six Canadian Football League seasons exploited a succession of Eskimos errors to overcome a 7-0 first-quarter deficit in a game played in a steady downpour at Empire Stadium.

Montreal's only touchdown, by halfback Larry Sherrer, came after an Edmonton fumble, one of Don Sweet's Grey Cup-record four field goals followed an interception, another came after a fumble and a third was facilitated by a pass-interference call against the Eskimos.

The architect of Montreal's 23-10 Grey Cup triumph over Calgary Stampeders in Toronto in 1970, Wade just about disappeared from sight last season when he suffered a painful knee injury at the beginning of the season.

JONES INJURED

Used only sporadically in the first half of this season after recovering from surgery, he came into his own a week ago when, after Jones suffered a shoulder injury, he took over in the second half to direct the Als to a 14-4 victory over Ottawa Rough Riders in the Eastern final.

Jones got the call to start the 1974 Grey Cup game but, hampered by the soggy playing conditions, he was ineffective. At 3:29 of the second quarter he gave way to the 210-pound Wade. His first play was 14-yard pass to halfback Larry Smith and the Als were on their way.

Wade completed 10 of 25 passes for 139 yards, a respectable total considering the weather. Just as important, he was careful to avoid interceptions, occasionally throwing the ball away on long passes to keep the Eskimos off balance.

While Wade was performing his low-key heroics, the Eskimos also found themselves living through a repeat performance—an injury to quarterback Tom Wilkinson, the man voted the outstanding player in the CFL this season.

Wilkinson, whose first-quarter injury in last year's Grey Cup game was a major factor in Edmonton's 22-18 loss to Ottawa, hurt his right shoulder when Montreal defensive linemen Junior Ah You and Glen Weir hit him late on a passing play.

WAS LAST GASP

The Als were called for roughing the passer and, with the penalty moving the ball to the Montreal eight, Wilkinson finished the Eskimos' only touchdown march with a pass to running back Calvin Harrell. But the damage was done and Edmonton never came close to scoring after that.

Al's Dressing Room

VANCOUVER (CP) — Montreal Alouettes would like to deliver messages to Canada's football experts today.

Don't make them underdogs in Grey Cup competition.

The Als, Eastern Football Conference champions, went into Sunday's Grey Cup game four-point underdogs against Edmonton Eskimos. But instead of succumbing to the swell of popular opinion, the Montreal club emerged with a 20-7 win over the Western Football Conference champs.

"Underdog stuff doesn't mean much to us one way or another," said head coach Marv Levy of the Als. "The game isn't played in the newspapers and the experts don't play in the game."

It was the Als' second Grey Cup victory in five seasons, but the team's first since Levy became head coach in 1973. The Als last won the Grey Cup in 1970 at Toronto by defeating Calgary Stampeders 23-10.

WIDGER OUTSPOKEN

Linebacker Mike Widger, Als defensive co-captain, said he had effectively aroused his team-mates by showing them a column that appeared in a Toronto newspaper. The column had stated the Montreal club should not bother to show up to face Edmonton after its poor showing against Rough Riders when the Als eked out a 14-4 win in the EFC final.

"The turning point in the game was the way our defence played," Levy said. "It wasn't the injury to (Edmonton quarterback Tom) Wilkinson—he came back and played the second half and we shut them out."

Montreal defensive end Junior Ah You, chosen defensive player of the game, along with defensive tackle Glen Weir, had combined to put Wilkinson, the outstanding player in the Canadian Football League this season, out of action late in the first quarter with a shoulder injury. The official handed Ah You a penalty on the play for roughing the passer.

Ah You, visibly upset when some "visitor" to the Als dressing room stole his game sweater, became even more agitated at repeated questions about the Wilkinson incident.

"I wish people would stop bringing that up," Ah You said. "I didn't want to hurt him—Glen and I hit him together."

UNDERDOGS AGAIN

Ah You agreed with the Levy-Widger theory that the fact the Eskimos had been made favorites could have led to their downfall.

"Every time you're the underdog you probably try harder," he said. "We like to think we played better because of it. It could be they were overconfident."

Weir said he and Ah You hit Wilkinson "at the same time." "I didn't think it was late. I think he had just got rid of the ball," Weir said. "It was a clean hit, but the officials said it was late."

Sonny Wade, who guided the Als to their 1970 Grey Cup win, was selected the game's outstanding offensive player. He was injected into the game early in the second quarter when sophomore Jimmy Jones failed to move the team.

"Jimmy didn't have quite the feel of the game play—Sonny did," was Levy's explanation for the change Sunday. "Sonny had practised well all week and I decided to make the change; but you never think you can hold Edmonton to seven points."

Wade credited the Montreal offensive line for the success he enjoyed.

Esk's Dressing Room

VANCOUVER (CP) — The shoulder injury that sidelined Edmonton quarterback Tom Wilkinson for part of the Eskimos' 20-7 Grey Cup loss Sunday to Montreal Alouettes apparently hurt the team psychologically.

"When we lost Wilky, certain guys seemed to let down," said veteran defensive back Dick Dupuis.

"It's not because they like Wilkinson more than Lemmerman. It's just a psychological thing."

Wilkinson missed a few minutes of the first quarter and all of the second after he was hampered by Junior Ah You and Glen Weir of Montreal on Edmonton's only touchdown drive. Ah You was called for roughing and Wilkinson completed the drive, but didn't return until the second half.

Bruce Lemmerman, Edmonton's second-string quarterback, replaced Wilkinson, but had no luck moving the Eskimos.

Wilkinson is Edmonton's field leader and his loss obviously hurt his team's ability to move the ball.

"The momentum slowed up when Wilky went down," said Dupuis.

"He's the team leader," said coach Ray Jauch. "His loss hurt us in that sense."

John LaGrone, an eight-year veteran defensive tackle, watched the game from the sidelines with an ankle injury and also noticed the change in attitude when Wilkinson was injured.

"When you have a guy who has started for you all season and he goes out, naturally there is going to be a letdown."

Wilkinson came back at the start of the second half and only missed a few plays in the final 30 minutes. But he wasn't nearly as effective as he was before Ah You got to him.

"I should have pulled myself out at the beginning of the second half when I felt the shoulder didn't come around," said Wilkinson, whose injury in last year's Grey Cup played a significant part in Edmonton's 22-18 loss to Ottawa Rough Riders.

Wilkinson, named the outstanding player in the Canadian Football League this season, said the shoulder didn't hurt him, but he couldn't get any power behind his passes.

Jauch said "any time your No. 1 quarterback gets hurt, it's got to hurt you."

"The difference was simply that they forced us into giving them the ball."

Fumbles and interceptions led directly to 13 Montreal points and a pass interference call against the Eskimos helped Don Sweet get one of his four field goals for Montreal.

Lemmerman said there was no question that "the fumbles hurt us."

"But we should be able to bounce back. We just weren't able to move the ball like we should have."

Jauch, who has been known to bar reporters from the dressing room following a tough defeat, was extremely cordial with the press.

"It was disappointing, especially losing two years in a row. That's part of life. We'll just have to wait until next year."

Jets submerge defending champs

Miami Dolphins have been submerged by New York Jets—and now it's sink or swim for the defending National Football League champions.

Shocked 17-14 Sunday by the Jets, the Dolphins were thrust into a three-way fight for the Eastern Division title.

With just three games left in the regular season, the Dolphins find themselves tied with Buffalo Bills, 15-10 winners over Cleveland Browns. Each have 8-3 records.

The Patriots, 27-17 winners over Baltimore Colts, moved within a game of the top at 7-4.

Meanwhile, Minnesota Vikings became an uncertain leader in the NFC Central by losing 20-17 to Los Angeles Rams, leaders in the NFC West.

Green Bay Packers dumped San Diego Chargers 34-0 and Detroit Lions beat Chicago Bears 34-17 to leave both teams only one game behind the Vikings.

NOT FAR APART

St. Louis Cardinals and Washington Redskins are running 1-2 in the NFC East.

The Cardinals, who beat New York Giants 23-21, hold a one-game lead over the Redskins, who battered Philadelphia Eagles 26-7.

Dallas Cowboys kept their hopes alive by stopping Houston Oilers 10-0.

Cincinnati Bengals, with a shot in the AFC Central Division, defeated Kansas City Chiefs 33-6 and moved within a game of the division-leading Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Steelers face New Orleans Saints tonight.

Oakland Raiders who have already clinched the AFC West, lost a 20-17 decision to Denver Broncos.

In another game of no meaning, San Francisco 49ers humbled Atlanta Falcons 27-0.

Joe Namath pitched two touchdown passes to lead the Jets to victory.

The defeat stopped a five-game winning streak for the defending Super Bowl champions.

O. J. Simpson slashed through a rain-flooded field for 115 yards and the winning touchdown to lead the Bills' conquest of Cleveland.

"All my best games have been in the mud," said Simpson, a 2,000-yard runner last year.

Jim Plunkett, who had been intercepted 13 times in four pre-

Canadian Ski Patrol stresses safe equipment

From its annual survey of skiing mishaps, the Canadian Ski Patrol has noted that the adjustment, maintenance and care of equipment may be contributing factors in more than 50 per cent of all cases reported. In an attempt to control this problem, the Patrol's National Accident Prevention Committee has adopted equipment safety as a major theme of its 1974-75 program.

The key to equipment safety is often the skier himself. He should know what each part of his equipment is designed to do for him—skis, bindings, boots and poles. He should use equipment which is suited to his own style and skiing ability. And perhaps most important, says the Ski Patrol, the skier should know how his equipment works and how to keep it in good condition.

To ensure that there is maximum pleasure on the slopes, with minimum risk of injury, the Ski Patrol urges all skiers to give careful attention to each item of equipment. Ask the experts for advice. Find a ski shop where you will get the careful service you need in order to have your equipment work well for you.

Look after yourself—and your equipment—this winter. Safe skiing is fun skiing.

vious games, got back to his old form with a 194-yard passing day to help New England beat Baltimore.

James Harris threw an eight-yard scoring pass to Jack Snow, his second of the fourth quarter, to help Los Angeles beat Minnesota.

"The key thing," noted Minnesota coach Bud Grant, "was James Harris, who didn't miss any of his last 10 passes. If he throws an interception on either of the last two drives, the game is over."

Rookie Eric Torkelson ran 29 yards for a touchdown with a recovered fumble and Ken Ellis scored on a 38-yard interception return, sparking Green Bay over San Diego.

Levi Johnson scored on an 18-yard interception return in the early minutes to trigger Detroit to its win over Chicago. Errol Mann kicked two field goals for Detroit and moved within six points of the Lions' career scoring record.

South Africa's Bobby Cole and Dade Hayes cop World Cup golf championship by five strokes

CARACAS (AP) — South Africa's Bobby Cole worried his way to a double victory in the 22nd World Cup golf tournament Sunday.

Cole and team-mate Dale Hayes combined to give South Africa team honors by five strokes over the Japanese team and Cole captured the individual title by five shots over Japan's Jumbo Ozaki.

Liberated Long Island line . . .

Legendary railroad hero Casey would have flipped from behind his throttle to see a woman doing his job but engineers on the Long Island Railroad have only made occasional jokes about woman drivers in the cab of a diesel locomotive. An ex-Dominican nun, Maureen Shoreys, now "mans" the controls as an engineer trainee (left) and expects more women to join her since the LIRR has encouraged females to apply for formerly all-male positions. Maureen checks the gauges inside the cab (right) before moving the train onto the tracks from the turntable. Not afraid to grapple with a complicated locomotive engine, Maureen makes adjustments (below left) before getting underway. Also prompting stares from passengers is "Trainperson" (formerly called a "Trainman") Leila Goodridge (below center) as she signals the engineer. Leila collects tickets and looks after passengers' needs (below right) as part of her two-year apprenticeship. Following that, she will be promoted to conductor, the first woman to hold such a post in the history of the LIRR.

TORONTO (CP) — Press, radio and television editors need to revise old habits and organizations need to prove their worth to the community, a Canadian Conference of the Arts seminar concluded Monday.

Harry J. Boyle, author and vice-chairman of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission (CRTC), said "none of the media adequately represents Canadian curiosity about involvement in culture."

"The media always has, and perhaps always will do a bad job," he said. "It reflects rather than initiates. It follows old habits. The habit in the media is to regard Canadian output as struggling and somehow mediocre."

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Contribute to fund for Thanksgiving supplies for those less fortunate than you and your family.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): You can be very persuasive and should be able to get what you want under current rays.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): If you make it through the day, you'll look back with a sense of satisfaction by bedtime.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Basically quiet today, for some reason, you tend to be overtalkative—just plain gabby!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Make a schedule so that you won't neglect anything of importance. Eliminate non-essentials.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Let people know where you stand so that you don't get caught in an embarrassing situation later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Emotionalism works against your best interests today. Try to appear calm, even though upset.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Defer problem-solving until another day. Devote the present to meeting work deadlines.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your political ideas get others riled up. Perhaps it would be better to avoid such discussions.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Maintain your independence. Don't borrow money from relatives or friends. Make it on your own.

finesse your queen; plank down your ace; drop the king and make your contract.

Now suppose that East plays the king. It happens to be his correct play in this specific situation. You have never seen East before. You take a look. If East looks like a tough man you may play him for the 10.

But East happens to be a Little Old Lady. So you lead toward dummy, finesse the nine and wind up one trick short with the sad knowledge that you have found the female of the species to be as deadly as the male.

Suppose you are playing in a regional masters pairs and reach a fairly normal four-heart contract. The queen of spades is led and you let it hold. The jack of spades is also allowed to hold since you hope that maybe West led a five-card suit and the ace will appear, but this doesn't happen. The opponents have collected the first three tricks and your nice contract isn't going to make, unless you can pick up the entire trump suit.

East leads the 10 of clubs and you overtake your king with dummy's ace in order to lead the three of trumps. If East just plays the 10 you

Democratic state governors strong

WASHINGTON (CP) — Democratic state governors, seldom spotlighted as a strong, cogent force, are emerging as a muscular faction dedicated to shoring up party solidarity.

Meeting at Hilton Head, S.C., in their first conference since the Nov. 5 election—which left Democratic governors in charge of 37 of the 50 states—they showed a preoccupation with party unity and a bold determination to lead a solidifying effort.

Even with some of their important new members absent—governors-elect Edmund (Jerry) Brown of California and Ella Grasso of Connecticut—the Democratic governors showed a determination to speak in a strong collective voice, especially on internal affairs.

They passed a sweeping economic resolution calling for wage and price controls, tax cuts for the poor, a reduction in oil company profits and some mandatory oil conservation measures.

Then they took the advice of a panel of experts and called for a six-month observation period on the controls.

FOUGHT PRESSURE
They endorsed, unanimously, a compromise on permanent party anti-discrimination rules and, in doing so, closed ranks against pressure from powerful labor allies.

George Meany, boss of the AFL-CIO, sent three top aides to the conference to ask the governors to propose a flat prohibition against racial and other quotas in party activities.

The governors resisted, standing by the compromise language which called for action at all levels to involve racial minorities, women, Indians and youth in the selection of delegates to next month's party convention in Kansas City. The rules prohibit only "mandatory quotas."

In effect, the governors told the labor leaders "no more wrangling over wording."

John Gilligan, defeated as governor of Ohio, spoke for many governors when he said:

"If we go to Kansas City and tear ourselves to shreds before a national television audience over esoteric language no one understands, we are going to demonstrate our unfitness for leadership."

NIXON PROGRAM
Ironically, it was a Republican president—Richard Nixon—who paved the way for the new state-level muscle.

In a move to shore up Republican grass-roots power, Nixon introduced revenue-sharing which turned over to the governors new power and funds to initiate programs previously the province of the federal government.

With the new power within the party, the governors are hoping to be in a position to put their stamp on whoever wins the Democratic nomination for president in 1976.

Indeed, for the first time in more than 20 years, the candidate may come from their own ranks.

Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia is reported planning a mid-December announcement that he's available. Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, who ran once as a conservative, is pondering another try under his traditional democratic banner.

RACE OPEN

With Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts out of the running, the race for the nomination is more wide-open than it has been in 25 years.

The new solidarity of the governors may be indicative of a determination by Democrats generally to have done with the internecine strife which ripped the party in the presidential election years of 1968 and 1972. The warfare erupted again this year about the time Nixon resigned.

That situation prompted one

Democratic party theoretician to observe that when Nixon stepped out "he left a great political party in shambles—the democratic party."
