Vaneleek Hill, July 20th, 1858.
M. W. R. HIBBARD,
Dear Sir,— Having now fairly tested the Columbian Oil for myself, I can fully endorse your statements concerning it and with you, pronounce the Light which it produces far superior to that obtained from any material I have ever used. The saving of Expense, compared with other Oils is immense, and you may confidently recommend both the OIL and LAMPS, for lighting either Dwellings or Stores, as they speak for themselves.
Yours truly,
Signed, JAMES P. WELLS.

TRUE TIME.
AMERICAN WATCHES.
THESE superior Watches are made by the aid of new and original machinery, expressly designed to secure with a low price, a FINE SUBSTANTIAL and UNIFORMLY RELIABLE timekeeper. The movements are new in construction, have been pronounced by the highest authorities to be faultless in principle and quality, and have been proved by the most exacting tests to be unfailing in action. These watches are made entire from the crude materials, in a single establishment, by connected and uniform processes—the factory being organized upon the same system that has been adopted in the production of the unequalled American fire-arms,—which enables us to produce a movement at one-half the price of a foreign movement of the same quality. Each watch is carefully tested, and is accompanied with the maker's certificate and warranty for TEN years.
ALL FOREIGN WATCHES ARE MADE BY HAND, the American watches being the only ones made by machinery upon a uniform system throughout. Nearly all hand-made watches are defective, and are continually getting out of order. In many parts of the country it is impossible to find good watch repairers, and watch repairing is always uncertain and expensive. The introduction of American watches disposes of this difficulty, and country merchants, as well as watch dealers, can keep watches as a part of their miscellaneous stock, and thus supply their customers with a NEW STAPLE, which may be used as any other article, without mystery or humbug. Sold by the trade generally.

THE Subscriber, in returning thanks to his friends and the public generally, for the very large patronage extended to him during the last seven years, wishes to remind them that his Fall Stock of Plain and Fancy FURNITURE is now completed. It is the most extensive in Lower Canada; and he is now lowering his prices at least 15 per cent. below his former unusually low rates, which was admitted by all to be the lowest in the city; many admitting that his charges are much below the average auction prices, where parties take their own risks. All goods warranted to be what they are represented, if not, they can be returned within two weeks after the sale, and the money refunded. Having the advantage of buying for cash, and doing an exclusive cash business, he can afford to sell on a small advance over cost.

SYSTEM IN TRADE.
SOMETIMES parties thinking of purchasing five or ten pounds worth of Dress Goods, will feel undecided as to which Store they will purchase at, especially if they have only lately arrived in the City. In such cases they frequently take up one of the city papers and glance through the Advertisements. From the over complimentary style of one, and the pitiful soliciting tone of another, they will at once say—"Gentlemen you won't do—there is neither your system nor confidence about you." They pass on till they meet with some matter of fact, —broad and independant announcement. The inducement is favorably received, the bell rings, the carriage is ordered to the door in twenty minutes, and within one hour, the whole performance is gone through. Magnificent display of Merchandize; splendid acting of the accomplished Salesman; polite attention of the Storekeeper towards the closing scene, and the honest approbation of the man's conscience who sells, with a few pleasing looks from the Proprietor, the sale is made and the interesting performance is brought to a close.
Is it not remarkable, for instance, the stand which the NEW MART has made in this city. Its success has been mainly owing to system. Their advertisements are clear, demonstrative and business-like, and such as would induce any sensible customer to call. They not only announce but strictly adhere to the "one price system."
In a city with a population of nearly Eighty Thousand, not one person can come forward to say they have ever in one instance deviated from this rule. The manager pledged himself to this system and has kept his word to the letter. They import extensively from the best European Markets, so that those who desire the latest Novelties of the Season at the lowest remunerative profit, will do well to visit the New Mart, St. Lawrence Main Street.
The Gentlemen's Department, which they opened lately, has given general satisfaction in this city.

CUSTOM HOUSE RETURNS.—We publish under our commercial heading some particulars of the trade of Montreal taken from the Custom House Returns. We must, however, accompany them with words of apology to our commercial friends such as the Apostle offered to the beggar. Such as we have we give; but that is, unfortunatelv, very little, and of very little utility. The gross returns of imports are indeed specified, and the duty levied upon them; but as to any of those details which would be found useful to our commercial men they are, in respect to some trades, altogether, or almost altogether, useless. We have the quantities of vermicelli which have been brought to this port, and the value of the mace and so forth; but the moment we get away from the articles charged with specific to those charged with ad valorem duties and the free goods, we find nothing but the gross results, upon which it is impossible that any useful calculation can be founded. It may probably be said that the Custom House authorities get up their accounts in the manner which answers the purpose of their own business, and that they are not to be blamed if they do not keep accounts for other folks. Nevertheless the statistics of trade are of great importance to mercantile prosperity, and a little addition to the trouble and cost of filling up the forms at present in use would make a record, valuable not only for the original purpose, but affording the most useful guide to business men, in their transactions. Of course these observations imply no censure on our local Custom-House officials, who merely follow the forms prescribed at head quarters, nor, indeed, upon those who at head quarters make these arrangements. All that they do is to point out an improvement, which would be effected at small cost, and would confer great value on an amount of labour which is now, from its incompleteness, of hardly any value. We know that our merchants would regard with much favour such an alteration in the mode of keeping the Customs' accounts as would present the details of the importation in the leading article of hardware, dry goods, and similar commodities.

AN ILLEGAL ACT OF THE MINISTRY SET ASIDE BY THE JUDGES.—The "shuffle" is by no means the only occasion on which our present ministers have either wholly set aside and contemned the law, or have shirked and evaded it. It is remarksble, however, that so far as we know or have ever heard this has never been done, to serve the public—never out of a generous willingness give up any power they perhaps possessed in order to enlarge the sphere of popular privileges. On the contrary, the evasion or the defiance of the statute—the throwing upon others the expense of a law suit to compel right to be done—has always been with a view to some selfish end—to gratify their appetite for patronage, to satisfy some revenge, or to give favours to some creature of their own. The court sitting at Nelsonville has just done right, in one of the cases where the Government had inflicted great wrong, as we have now the best authority for saying, in open violation of the law. It is not very creditable to the professional reputation of an Attorney-General, who is also Prime Minister, nor to that of his numerous colleagues of the long robe, that their united judgment should be set aside by the courts of justice; but as we have said, it is more discreditable to them, when under cover of the false interpretation of law, they robbed the people of rights, which no one could ever pretend were intended to be taken out of the peoples hands. It is worst of all when the wantonness of the usurpation appears from the fact that, even taking the Ministerial interpretation of the law, they still had the option of doing what all must admit to be substantial justice, but chose the course which was just as plainly a substantial robbery. All these aggravations of the illegality of Mr. Cartier and his compeers, occur in the instance before us. It is the one already more than once described in our columns, in which a few parties, including the Ministry of the day conspired to foist upon the municipality of Dunham, in the County of Missisquoi, a set of municipal Councillors, whom the electors had determined they would not have. The mode of thus ousting the tax-payers of the power of choosing those who should expend their money was, it may be remembered, on this wise:—The Warden, a political partisan, omitted to give the usual notices of the time of the annual election, in the form required by statute. Nevertheless, the people met and elected the men of their choice. But no sooner had they done so than the Warden informed the Government that there had been no election, because of his neglect; and then the member took up the tale, and recommended a list of councillors, who had joined with the Warden to elect him, but whom the people had been very unanimous in voting out. The Government, if they had read the law aright, according to common sense, and as the Court has now read it, would have held that the popular election could not be thus defeated by the act of a single individual, the servant of the public. Or if they had had doubts, and had been disposed to remove all doubt and at the same time do justice, they would have appointed again the men chosen by the Township. But the scent of a piece of rascality was too strong to be resisted; so they interpreted the law wrongly, and availed themselves of their wilful blunder to do a manifest injustice. The remedy for this was a lawsuit, which has resulted in gain to the honest cause, and the reseating of the elected councillors. We may thank God that there is some appeal even from the arbitrary power of Mr. Cartier; but what a Government must that be, which, in defiance of every consideration which should sway men in such a position, forced a township into a state of anarchy for three quarters of a year; deprived it of its franchise and of its municipal powers, and unnecessarily and wantonly compelled it to go to all the expense and trouble of a law suit, unless it preferred to submit. We congratulate the municipality of Dunham on its success, and hope that its population will have sufficient self-respect to take the first opportunity of showing their resentment of such conduct.

THE EAST NORTHUMBERLAND BANQUET.—The banquet given at Brighton, on Friday morning last, to John R. Clark, the faithful reform representative of that riding in Parliament, was largely attended by the most influential electors of the east riding, as well as by gentlemen of influence from the adjoining counties. About 200 of the substantial yeomen of the district were enabled to obtain seats, in the only room in Brighton capable of accommodating so large a number; while at least half as many more went away, unable to be accommodated. Mr. Reney occupied the chair, surrounded by many well known reformers of the Newcastle district. A very effective speech was made by Mr. Clark, in replying to the toast of his health, and three hearty cheers expressed the satisfaction of his constituency with the conduct of their member during the last session. Mr. Wilson, of the West riding, the seconder of the Postmaster-General at the last election, proposed the Brown-Dorion Administration, and explained how the electors had been deceived by the Hon. Sidney Smith, but declared emphatically they could never be so deceived again. Dr. Hope, of Beleville, responded to this toast in a very effective little speech. Mr. McGee, M.P.P., of Montreal, answered to the Members of the Opposition in the House of Assembly, and was enthusiastically received and applauded. Mr. Oliphant, Mr. Diamond, and other gentlemen also spoke, and the banquet broke up about midnight, with successive rounds of cheers for the Queen, for the Brown-Dorion Administration, for Mr. Clark, for the Chairman, and for Mr. McGee.

MR. EVERETT AND THE NEW YORK LEDGER.—Mr. Bonner of the New York Ledger, who, by perhaps the greatest amount of advertizing ever done in the same time has managed to obtain an unexampled circulation for his paper, has just made a new hit. This is the securing of a series of articles from the pen of Hon. Edward Everett, for which he has given in cash the agreeable little sum of $10,000. Mr. Everett, however, does not enjoy personally this handsome payment for fifty-two articles. It is to go in the shape of a subscription to purchase Mount Vernon, the seat of General Washington, an object which Mr. Everett has been very active in promoting. That gentleman, it is understood, would not, for personal payment, have consented to perform the work. Of course there has been a good deal of joking about this arrangement, for Mr. Everett's reputation is of a classical character. His style of literature has been been hitherto remarkable for its severe elegance—commending itself to the learned and refined, while Mr. Bonner's forte has been in the production of what are called "sensation" stories, with titles which have been parodied in to the "Bloody Cartwheel"; the "Gory Cabman"; or the "Murdering baby and the innocent mother." The following is a very good hit at Mr. Everett's appearance among Mr. Bonner's corps; the parody being of course based upon the pretence that the classic is to fit himself for his present engagement by adopting the style of the periodical in which he is to figure:

HON. EDWARD EVERETT IN THE NEW YORK LEDGER, TO THE TUNE OF TEN THOUSAND.—[—Will probably run a good deal after this manner, at first, till Mr. E. gets his hand in.]

It was a dreary night in July, 1860. To a day of unusual heat had succeeded an evening of silent but deadly cold, on which the slightest yielding to the slumberous torpor, breathing abroad, was fatal. The amber moon rose noiselessly and punctually in the right quarter, and its reflected silver danced in the magnificent panes of glass of the lordly mansions of Park street. At the bay window of No. — shone a single taper. A lovely girl, on whose auburn locks some sixteen springs had breathed the last wind's breath, sat, or rather reclined in a patent chair of exquisite device, covered with yellow brocatelle, reading listlessly the Rime of Miles Standish. Her interest was profound. She had just turned two pages at once, when a low whistle started her attentive and beautifully modelled ear. Her name, "Anaconda!" was audible in the wind. She threw up the casement and stood upon the balcony. Black in relief against the snow, dazzling in moonlight, rose a cloaked figure, while the prelude of a barcarole tinkled from a guitar. "'Tis he! 'Tis my own Birmingham!" she cried, slipping on a pink velvet mantle and a hat of blue crepe with marabout feathers. At that instant, a figure moved rapidly from behind the huge trunk of a massive oak, unseen of Birmingham. A sudden ring out of wild bells into the wild night, the signal of conflagration, drowned the melodious tinkle of his guitar. A sharp cry, a scream, and the rapid retreat of nailed heels were all heard at once. The guardian of the night heard them, and (his name was Swallow) approached the scene. Two figures were prostrate, half buried by the drifting snow. Birmingham in his inky coat of cotton velvet, Anaconda in her roseate cymar of satin sheen. One was knocked over, the other fell over. The flow of blood was but limited, and confined to the antique cut nose of Birmingham, whose returning consciousness betrayed itself by a little improvisation upon his guitar. The lovely Anaconda groaned, and the mingled glare of the moon, and of the large fire in the vicinity, betrayed the ashen paleness of her cheek. Birmingham threw in the arpeggio of the trio in Lucia. The watchman, too, was musical, "Anch 'io, sono pittore," he cried: and the concerted harmony of that unequalled trio went up upon the night from the little group, till the pillow of every listener was drenched in the happy tears of a delicious melancholy. Finally, the noise woke up her stern old father. He could stand it no longer, but rose to find a match, which never, could obtain his sanction. He stroked his silvered beard, as he girded on a long knife, kept for "contingencies," he said, and surely, it ever here was one. Slowly he descended, and let himself out by a postern gate. The last strophe was being repeated, of the glorious trio; dwelt on, long and fondly, by the enamoured singers, as the aged Bank President emerged into the moonlight. Cerberus would have melted. Not he. "You!" he cried, "you, Anaconda, here and thus!"

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—The Librarian of the Irish National and Literary Association respectfully acknowledges the receipt of a superior copy of "Lamartine's History of the Constituent Assembly," from Hugh Cameron, Esquire, St. Francois Xavier Street. It will be gratifying to the friends of this Association, to be informed that it is steadily progressing, in numbers, resources and respectability. Though only a short time in existence, it has matured arrangements, which must conduce to its ultimate success; its office-bearers have been appointed, its Committees organized, and nothing has been left undone, which could secure the respect of the public and the appreciation of its own members. As a national society it is unexclusive, and its constitution provides that no power shall be permitted to erect a barrier, over which the right hand of fellowship and brotherhood cannot be extended. As a literary society, it continues to progress in usefulness, and holds a debate every Tuesday evening; while an essay is read every alternate week. Under such circumstances, and considering the countenance it has met from the public, as evinced by repeated donations of valuable books from gentlemen of all classes, there can be little doubt that this society may enter hopefully on the future.

ECONOMY OF THE TORONTO CORPORATION.—We understand, says the Globe, that the Corporation of Toronto do not intend to comply with the terms of the act which provides for the registration of debentures, by publishing the list in the Canada Gazette. The fine for non-compliance with the act is only five pounds, and the city fathers think it cheaper to be mulcted in that way than to pay £800 to the Queen's printers for printing the list. The conclusion is creditable to the arithmetic of the corporators, and we do not think that any magistrate would enforce a law so evidently unjust and absurd. If the law is to be respected, we must have a government who will pay attention to legislation, and not occupy themselves entirely with railway speculations.

AN OPPORTUNITY SELDOM TO BE MET WITH.—We seldom think it necessary to call special attention to the wares of our different advertisers, because we think the public are themselves the best judges of the quality or cheapness of the goods advertised for sale in our columns, and those who offer the greatest inducements will inevitably obtain the largest share of the patronage of our readers. We cannot, however, refrain from noticing and calling attention to the startling reductions recently made in the prices of Gold and Silver Watches, Gold Chains, Fine Jewellery, Electro-Plated Ware and Fancy Goods of every description, by Mr. A. Hoffnung of 170 Notre Dame Street, who is shortly about closing his business for the purpose of making a handsome plate glass front and other alterations in his store, previous to which he is desirous of selling off the whole of his present stock; hence the extraordinary inducements he offers. We can safely say that we have rarely seen a finer stock, embracing as it does many of the most beautiful novelties of the day, and certainly never such genuine bargains. We feel much pleasure in recommending all these in want of such articles to pay Mr. Hoffnung a visit and convince themselves of the truth of our assertions.

PUBLIC OPINION IN KINGSTON.

(From a Correspondent.)

KINGSTON, November 20, 1858.

The readers of the Herald would probably like to know, Mr. Editor, how the public pulse beats in Kingston just now, when rumors of Ministerial changes are so rife, on every hand. From our local journals, all more or less spell-bound by official patronage, persons at a distance could never suspect, the complete revolution, which a few months have wrought in this important constituency. A few weeks ago, when the Hon. Mr. Mowatt made a flying visit here to see his relatives, the opportunity was seized to express the real public opinion of the city,—at the entertainment given that gentlemen,—which opinion does not, as I said, find free vent through our present press. Another occasion presented itself last night, apropos of the visit of Mr. D'Arcy McGee, of your city.—Mr. McGee, it was announced a day or two ago, would lecture last evening, on his return from the Brighton Dinner, before the Mechanics' Institute, (and a splendid audience were present at the appointed hour to receive him). The lecture passed off admirably, without, of course, the slightest political animus; when it closed, the eloquent lecturer was attended to "The British-American," by a large number of influential gentlemen, who were resolved to entertain him publicly as one of the Members of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition. I am told by "mine host" Kent—that 176 gentlemen sat down to that magnificent supper, got up at one day's notice. Alderman Shaw presided, with Mr. Hickey, Merchant, and Mr. Smith, V. P. of the Mechanics' Institute, in the Vice-Chairs.—Among those present were several of the oldest and earliest political friends of Mr. J. A. Macdonald, and undoubtedly the respectability of Kingston, could not have—from every class of society—a better representation. Appropriate remarks were made by the Chairman and Vice-Chairman, in introducing the usual loyal and reform sentiments. Mr. McGee responded most effectively to his own health, as the guest of the evening; but as one of the reporters of the Globe happened to be present on the occasion, I will refer you to that journal, for an adequate idea of the real political triumph achieved for the reform cause here, last night. I will now conclude by saying that the universal belief here is, if the much-talked of break-up and dissolution do take place, Kingston "is safe" for her Majesty's Loyal Opposition—soon to be, as we all hope, Her Majesty's Loyal Canadian Ministry.

Yours truly,
FRONTENAC.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE PORTRAIT OF THE HON. CHARLES WILSON.

To the Editor of the MONTREAL HERALD.

SIR,—I notice in your paper to-day, a letter, which, though professing to be written in advocacy of the claims of Mr. De Feo, is evidently intended to throw a slur upon my character, by alluding to circumstances long past, and which, by a false colour given them, are made to reflect upon me. The whole is almost too paltry for notice; yet I should like, as it has been thus brought up, that the truth should be known. I therefore beg to say through your journal that I had nothing to do with the necklace, the cost of which your correspondent says was extravagant. The cost was £40, and it was voted by the Council unanimously at a time when I had no vote. So far from my successor having laid it on the shelf, he and his successor both wore it. At any rate such insignia are not thought unworthy of the chief magistrates of other cities, as may be seen in any engravings of English corporation ceremonies in the London illustrated papers.

As to the other point, I have not washed my hands of the loss sustained by Mr. De Feo, because I never had it on my hands. I did not employ Mr. De Feo, and I, therefore, was in no respect responsible for anything that he did or lost. I, however, after the picture was destroyed felt sufficiently for the loss experienced by the Artist, to offer him in the presence of D. Masson, Esq., Ex-Chairman of the Finance Committee, a sum of money partially to make good his damage, upon certain conditions, with which he did not think it worth his while to comply. He was at liberty of course to do as he choose; but I was in no way bound to do even what I did.

Yours,
CHAS. WILSON.

THE ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC OVERLAND.

[From the London "Morning Post." Oct. 27.]

By the enterprise of the people of the United States an overland route has at length been opened from the Mississippi to California. In the beginning of last year an act of Congress was passed which authorized the annual appropriation of $300,000 for a semi-monthly, or $600,000 for a weekly, postal communication between any point on the Mississippi and San Francisco, in the State of California. The permission having been obtained, a company of eight persons was at once formed, and in the short space of little more than a year and a half arrangements had been made by which the mail can be carried in twenty-eight days from St. Louis, Missouri, to San Francisco—a distance of two thousand six hundred and fifty-one miles. The vehicles employed are "good four horse post coaches or spring wagons," and as the region traversed is, for the most part, an uninhabited desert, posting stations have been established, at which travellers can obtain refreshment. Each vehicle accomodates eight passengers, and on the first journey six adventurous persons were foundwilling to pay twohundred dollars for this rough ride across the half of the North American continent. We mention the opening of this route not to move the jealousy of any four-in-hand club, or to excite the unavailing regrets of the rapidly decayng race of English stage coachmen, whose occupations the railways have destroyed. As America is celebrated fo r fast trotting horses and for fast locomotien of every kind, the cultivation of the art of driving along the praries, ravines, caverns and valleys of this long journey may be the means of introducing to our democratic cousins a taste which, whether aristocratic or not, still survives in the old country, and is gratified whenever an opportunity presents itself.

But our object on the present occasion is to show that this postal route must, in course of time, be followed by an extension of settlements across the continent. On this point our New York correspondent, whose valuable communication we published yesterday, observes:

I have said that the importance of this inauguration can scarcely be rated too highly. Setting aside the immense value of rapid mail communication, this line of stages, dotted with post stations, must invariably create a chain of settlements along the road, and in all probability prepare the way for that Pacific railway which is to give the nation possessing it so many advantages. A telegraphic line will undoubtedly follow, in a few months, the stage line, and tremendous efforts will be used to secure the passage of a Congressional act authorizing the construction of a railway over one or other of the routes which have been projected.

Whatever action Congress may take, we are very much inclined to believe, with Mr. Asa Whitney, that there are sectional differences in the way of an interoceanic line which no federal legislation can satisfactorily adjust. Each State through which the proposed line would pass, moved by jealousy or by some supposed interest, might not concur in the arrangements as to grants of lands, tolls, &c., which its immediate neighbor might deem to be expedient. But there would be another difficulty. It is impossible to conceive that the slave and free States would unite in one general and uniform system, so that the latter would sanction a line of this national importance, which would pass exclusively through slave territory, and thus tend to the extension of that "domestic institution" which the people of the North view with abhorrence and dismay. The report of the United Secretary of War, made in December, 1857, states:

The surveys of the different routes for a railroad to the Pacific have been completed and the results published. All competent judges agree that the route from El Paso to the Colorado, besides being the shortest possesses very decided advantages over others, in several important particulars.

The stage line follows this route; but it must not be forgotten that when the Secretary of War sums up in its favor such matters as the military defence of an extensive and exposed frontier, facilities for the movement of troops, and communications with arsenals, must have occupied his attention rather than considerations connected with the extension of settlement and the development of trade and commerce. The only nation which can compete with the United States in this great work is England, and the most competent authorities in America, notwithstanding the report of the Secretary of War have expressed a decided opinion that the British North American Territories afford infinitely greater facilities for the construction of an interoceanic line than any portion of the United States, whether the line should start from Michigan, where there is a railway communication from the Atlantic or start from the extreme South. In this country we have lately read many statements on the subject of a Pacific Railway. We have heard that the royal engineers who are now marking the line of boundary between British North America and the United States are also to survey the country with a view to a railway from Fort William, on Lake Superior, to the shores of the Pacific. We know, moreover, that the Legislature of Canada, by the incorporation of the Northwest Transportation Company, has taken a very important step towards opening the territory of which stretches from Canada to the Valley of the Saskatchewan and that the postal communication which, that company has established with the Rhd River settlement is intended to be followed by the construction of a railway. At the present moment three members of the Canadian administration—Mr. Cartier, Mr. Galt and Mr. Ross—are in personal communication with Sir Bulwer Lytton on the subject of the British North American railways. The provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have deputed certain gentlemen to represent their interests with the Colonial Secretary, and Lord Bury, it is understood, has proceeded to Canada to ascertain on the spot the wishes of the colonists, not only with respect to a uniform postal system, but with respect to the far more important question of that federative union which Sir Edmund Head has submitted to the home government. What moment; then, can be so propitious for the consideration of an inter-oceanic railway as one when all the British North American colonies have authorised representatives in this country to express their wishes, and to state the amount of support which they are willing to give to such an undertaking? The formation of the colony of British Columbia has already provided a terminus on the Pacific; the abolition of the Hudson's Bay authority in the licensed Territories will in a few months remove the great obstacle which has hitherto impeded the progress of Canada to the West, and the completion of the line from Halifax to Quebec will provide a terminus on the Atlantic, open throughout the year, and communicating with those Canadian railroads which reach to the inland seas of the south and west of the province. The prize which has to be won by the construction of this interoceanic line is not only the progressive extension of British industry and British institutions across the continent of North America, but the wealth of India, of China, of Japan, of the Eastern Archipelago, of the thousand islands of the Pacific—in a word, the most rich and valuable commerce of the most productive regions of the earth.

THE PACIFIC RAILWAY.

(From Harper's Weekly, Nov. 6.)

Mr. President Buchanan, it is averred, intends to make the Pacific Railway the leading card in the new game which commences in December, and will suggest a practicable scheme whereby that great national enterprise may be carried to a practicable conclusion. The public will await with anxiety the announcement of the opinions which he has formed on the subject. Every new event in connection with the opening up and settlement of the American territories upon the Pacific tends to show more clearly the necessity for the immediate construction of the railway by the general Government. Although the last accounts from Frazer River are not so warmly coloured as was anticipated, there is still no reason to doubt that gold exists in British Columbia, in sufficient quantities to attract thousands to its shores. The British Government have known its position for two years, and have made arrangements for the organization of affairs in the territory, which show their ideas of its importance. A Governor and Bishop every British Colony has, however small; but all are not blessed at once with a Police and a Department of Public Works. Mr. Palliser and his scientific corps are already in the territory; the engineer officers have gone to run the boundary line; and now Col. Moodie is appointed to superintend the construction of roads. These movements indicate that the Government of her Britannic Majesty are well pleased to have discovered that they possess, on the Pacific coast, a country which may be used as a counterpoise to the power of the United States; and they likewise show that, should any practicable scheme be submitted for the construction of a railway to the Pacific through British territory, it is not unlikely to receive Executive and Legislative assistance in England.

There is no use concealing from ourselves the fact that the British possess a route for a railway through the prairies watered by the Saskatchewan and other rivers flowing into Lake Winnipeg, which presents many advantages. It has coal, water, and a fertile soil, and a climate not more severe than that of Minnesota. Already the people of the State we have named have sent out an expedition overland through the British territory, and they contemplate the establishment of lines of steamers on the rivers, which will probably, without any railway at all, make the journey across the continent a quicker and easier one than that by the Isthmus. The Canadians are following in the same course. They propose to take advantage of the small rivers which unite the Red River and Lake Winnipeg with Lake Superior, as far as they can be made useful, and, where they are impassable, to make portage roads. This combined water and land route is from three hundred and fifty to four hundred miles in length. From the foot of Lake Winnipeg to the Falls of the Saskatchewan is some three hundred miles of clear navigation; and after that obstruction is passed, there are seven hundred and fifty miles of river traversable by a small steamer which, brings the voyage nearly to the base of the mountains. A company has been chartered by the Canadian Legislature, which is empowered to construct a railway, but which proposes, as a first step, to supply these lines of navigation with steamers. An English company has likewise been started to construct a railway across the continent, and in the present state of the English money market, and with the important national advantages which would flow from the possession of this great highway of the world, it would not be wonderful if the English should make a bold effort to outdo us. If it should be confirmed, as is said, that there is a pass through the Mountains in British territory only nine hundred feet above the level of the plains, we may look for a rapid rise in British Pacific Railway stock.

The difficulties which lie in the way of the construction of this railway in any section of country are very great, and they may be greater at the South than in the North; but, at the same time, there are none which cannot be surmounted by American energy and perseverance. One important advantage we possess in a more perfect knowledge of the country to be traversed and the establishment of post routes and construction of roads in many sections. We have had a start of some years of preliminary labour and know all the obstacles which must be encountered. Be the estimated cost large or small, the construction of the road is a matter of necessity. The link between the Pacific States of this Union and the parent communities cannot be surrendered to foreign hands. In one way or other there must be a railway to the golden lands, built by American hands and controlled by American heads. The miserable contests for sovereignty over the pestiferous soil of Central America will sink into insignificance when this is secnred.

HORRIBLE DEATH.—Yesterday afternoon, He B. Bull, Esq., Coroner, held an inquest at the James St. Police Station, on the body of Henry Lyons, a young man about 22 years of age, It appears that deceased was engaged in digging out a manure pit, yesterday, and was found lying on his face. The face of deceased was completely buried in the manure, amongst which he was working. He had started to work about eight o'clock. The party who had employed him said that she had not had him out of her sight more than five minutes. When she saw him lying in the hole on his face she caught him by the collar and pulled him out, but found that he was dead. Deceased was subject to falling into fits. The brother of the deceased testified as to the finding of the body of the deceased lying on its face in the pit he had digged. He also said that his brother had been subject to fits since ever he had known him. Dr. Ryall, who examined the body, said that he was of opinion that deceased died of apoplexy or extravasationof blood upon the brain, brought on no doubt by long and continued intemperance. The jury brought in a verdict in accordance with the facts and the medical opinion.—Toronto Paper.

THE NORTH-WEST TRANSPORTATION COMPANY, OVERLAND TO RED RIVER.—The Government, it is known, gave the Northwest Transportation Company, organized last session, £200 a trip for carying mails from toronto to Red River the sum asked for was £250, but we presume the state of Finances would not allow of the appropriation. Nevertheless the eight trips of the Rescue have resulted in very little loss to the Company, while much has been done in the way of establishing the all important comunication between this and the West.

On Friday last the first party in the employ of the Company started for the Red River by the overland route. They proceeded first to Collingwood then to Penetanguishene, and on by the North Shore of Lakes Huron and Superior. They are equipped with snow-shoes and all the other necessaries for a winter journey, and are charged to re-establish the old posts used by the Hudson's Bay Company's servants scores of years ago.

INSULT TO A BRITISH AMBASSADOR.—The London Times contains the following extract from a commercial letter:—"Sir H. L. Bulwer was passing through the streets of Pera, on horseback, preceded by his groom, on the 20th of October, being a hot day (the nativity of Mohammed); some of the Sultan's levy driving in their carriages, the horse of the groom touched one of their horses, and the rider struck him with his whip, and the groom used his whip also. Sir H. L. Bulwer endeavoured to separate them when the remainder of the eunuchs rushed on the Ambassador, and struck him several blows. The Ambassador was arrested and taken to the police station at Pera."

HALL SNEAKS.—The Yankees apply this not inappropriate name to that class of thieves who prowl about the streets, watching their opportunity to steal whatever they can lay their hands on from the halls and entrances to dwelling-houses. It is quite apparent that a number of these individuals follow their nefarious vocation in Toronto, as there have been frequent complaints of late of overcoats, umbrellas, and hats, being stolen from dwelling-houses in various parts of the city. The latest is that of a young gen tleman, who, while visiting some friends on Church-street, night before last, hung his overcoat on the stand in the hall; but, upon taking his departure, he was astonished to find that the article in question had been stolen.—The coat contained some papers, and a valuable meerschaum pipe, with the owner's name engraved on a silver plate, and in inscription to the effect that the pipe was the gift of a few friends on the occasion of his leaving Scotland. The police ought to keep a sharp look-out for such prowling thieves. They generally enter the houses ostensibly for the purpose of soliciting alms, and, when not observed, they steal whatever is within their reach, and make off with it.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE.—A Limerick paper (the Munster News) contains the annexed particulars:—

"The Star with seven miles of the shore end of the cable on board, has arrived in Valentia harbour, and Captain Kell will, no doubt, commence the laying of it without unnecessary delay. There is one rather dangerous reef of rocks lying about one mile and a half or two miles outside the mouth of Valentia harbour, called the Coastguard Patch. On this rock there are about 10 fathoms at low water, and about 26 fathoms all around it. Unfortunately, as the Agamemnon entered the harbour, owing to the wind being unfavourable, she was obliged to lay the cable over this spot. It is thought that the drifting of the cable over this place might have partially caused the injury which has stopped the working for so long a period. From this point, it will, of course, be removed and deposited in the most secure and level channel into the harbour. With the view of discovering such a channel, Captain Kell has for the last few days been closely sounding every approach to the bay, both on the Valentia and the Lough Kay sides of the Beginish Island. As there are already between four and five miles of the shore end of the cable laid down, the additional seven miles which will be added to it by Captain Kell, will render the rope quite secure against injury from the wash of the tide. It is understood that Mr. Healy, whose powerful magnetic electric machines have some time been used at Valentia, has undertaken to superintend the electric operations at Valentia for a short period. If the next accounts from Newfoundland should show that the reversals from Mr. Healy's instruments have been received from Valentia, no time will be lost in despatching a similar piece of apparatus to the station at Trinity Bay."

LA CROSSE.—The match announced to be played by the Montreal and Hochelaga Clubs, was entered npon Saturday afternoon, in a field at the rear of the Protestant Orphan Asylum, St. Catherine street. The match began about three o'clock, and was [illegible]ly contested till about five. The first two games were won by the Hochelaga Club; who, had they succeeded in gaining another would have carried away the laurels, as the winners were bound to make three in five. The prize was delayed however, by the Montreal Club winning the next game and then another. With this last, which seemed to the Hochelaga Club not to be fairly won, the playing finished, and as each Club claimed two, and wanted but another to secure victory, it appeared to be the general desire that the remaining game should be contested as soon as possible. Both Clubs played admirably, and a game more stubbornly disputed we never remember to have seen.

CLEVER CAPTURE.—From information previously received, Detectives O'Leary and Colombe proceeded on Saturday morning to the Quebec boat, and just as the passengers were about to leave, succeeded in capturing a man named Owen Farrell. Their prisoner, of whose passage to Montreal they had been notified by telegraph turned out to be the man who lately stood his trial for a theft committed while employed at the St. James' Club House, in this city, but on which charge he was acquitted. After his arrest the Detectives found in his possession three well-filled carpet bags, a trunk, hat box and other articles. He was placed in custody and a telegraphic message despatched to the Quebec police informing them of his capture.

FIRE.—On Saturday morning, about half-past nine o'clock, a fire broke out in the pipe-factory of Mr. Henderson, Colborne Avenue. The fire commenced in the upper part of the building, the whole of which was destroyed. By the active exertions of the Neptune Fire Company, assisted by a number of the Montreal, the lower portion was saved, with but slight damage. The fire was put out by the use of the engine, as the water plugs were too far away. The alarm did not extend generally throughout the city. We did not learn whether Mr. Henderson was insured or not.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY.—The anniversary of Scotia's Patron Saint is to be celebrated by the two national societies in the usual way: by walking together in procession to church to attend Divine Service; and in the evening the Caledonians give a Promenade Concert and Ball, at which addresses will be delivered by several gentlemen. We are sorry to hear, that in this latter jubilation "in honor of the day," the St. Andrew's Society refuse to join,—and we still more regret the reason—because the evening's amusements are to end with a dance. Surely this is a very harmless species of entertainment, especially agreeable to the young, and which should not be looked upon with jaundiced eye even by the very old. Surely it is far more innocent than the revels and orgies with which, up to a late date, St. Andrew's day used to be celebrated by the members of the very same Society that now repudiate even the dance. Why, if our Scottish reels and strathspeys are to be prohibited or forgotten, we shall expect to find the next generation forgetting or ridiculing our old national traditions, and poetry and songs—forgetting the heather hills, and the mountains, and the burns and the valleys to which such blessed memories, and charms, and remembrances attach.

It is really a great pity that two Societies should not work together with the utmost harmony, and that the elder should not give in a little to the younger, in consideration of its hotter blood, and naturally greater go-aheadism.—Transcript, Saturday.

We advise every one who suffers from Dyspepsia or debility in any of its forms, to use the Oxygenated Bitters, a medicine more favorably known than any remedy ever discovered for the positive cure of these troublesome complaints. c-DC-277

In justice to Davis' Pain Killer, I must say that I never sold an article which gave such universal satisfaction to all who used it. I never kept a medicine which met with such a rapid sale; its virtues are the topic of conversation in many places in this vicinity. W. W. ROBERTS, Druggist, La Porte. Ind. c-DC-277

Trade and Commerce.

HERALD OFFICE,
Nov. 20th, 1858.

The Fall business may be considered over for the season. The Brig "Messenger," from Liverpool, arrived since our last review, and is now the only sea-going vessel in port, as the "Woodfield" cleared yesterday.

On reviewing the Markets, we find that prices have generally ruled low, and the importer will have a small margin on the right side.

Sales have been much lighter than usual; but a steady business may be expected this winter, as stocks through the country are by no means so heavy as in former years. Trade has, however, been more healthy, and buyers, we believe, intend to meet their payments as they mature.

SUGAR—For several weeks past the Sugar market has been steady. Inferior grades have been somewhat lower, but Bright and Prime samples command full prices.

TEAS—Low grades of Twankay have been in request, and the market, on the whole, is somewhat firmer.

OILS are still low. Cod, however, is more in request, good Gaspe having been sold at quantity at 50 cents per gallon.

FISH—Prime Table Cod has been sold at $3,95@$4.

LIQUORS—Brandy without change, and little doing at 15s.@16s. 3d. per gallon. Gin is firm at our quotation—7s. 4d.@7s. 6d. Rum—Very little doing in market, and held at 7s. 6d.@7s. 9d. for O.P. Scotch Whisky dull of sale. Ale and Beer—English Ales are becoming exceedingly scarce, there being but trifling importations this year.

For our review of the Stock and Produce Market, see Brokers' Circular.

On reference to our first page will be found the monthly return of imports at this port, for the month ending November 1, 1857, compared with the same period of this year, by which it will be seen that our imports continue to decrease, as the following will show:—

PORK AND BEEF CIRCULAR.

Montreal, Nov. 19, 1458.

The supply of Pork in most parts of Canada being considerable this fall, it is of importance that it should be sent to market in the way that will realize the best returns.

1. Hogs may be sent by the car load alive, in which case they bring the full value in Montreal, being suitable either for butchers or packers, and the offal being more valuable in cities than in the country. A merchant might collect a car load or two, sending a person in charge of them to see them fed, and they could be sold at once on arrival, through experienced cattle salesmen.

2. Hogs may be sent forward in carcass, when the weather is sufficiently cold. In this way they meet with ready sale at full value, being suitable either for city consumption or for packers. When forwarded in this way, the animal heat should be entirely out of the carcass before shipment, and there should be no delay by the way, as a day or two of warm weather might injure them materially. Each carcass should be distinctly marked with the owners, initials, and the Bill of Lading should have the consignee's name in full, to prevent confusion.

3. Pork may also be barrelled as mess, prime mess and prime, in accordance with the law, or in the way popularly called one Hog Pork. In this case the Inspector re-packs the lot according to quality, making perhaps a proportion of all three grades out of it.

As pork [with the exception of some very well finown brands] will not sell here without Montreal inspection, we would advise packers to expend no more in labor and salt than is absolutely necessary. The whole will be correctly packed and properly salted here by the inspector for no more than he charges on the most carefully packed and salted lots.

There is a grade of Pork known as English or Irish Prime Mess that is saleable for vessels and exportation to Europe. This is made from Hogs averaging perhaps under 200 lbs., very neatly cut into four pound pieces and leaving out the heads and legs. Any one who would make himself acquainted with this grade, pack a good article, and put his own brand upon it would by degrees inspire confidence and get into a good business.

Hogs of a short round make, with small heads and limbs bring a much better price and pack to far greater advantage than those which have large heads and long heavy limbs, all of which are a great loss to the purchaser.

As several parties here purpose to pack Pork as soon as it arrives freely there will be an active demand for dressed Hogs all winter, and the net returns from them will be better than for barrelled Pork, for the obvious reason, that barrels, salt and labour are all cheaper here than in country places, and the Pork is properly cut and inspected when packed, so that all charge for repacking, resalting, &c., is saved. Besides packers here usually turn the hams and shoulders to better advantage than can be done in the country.

What we have said about the modes of sending forward Pork is to a considerable extent applicable also to Beef. Good cattle forwarded either alive, or dressed and frozen, will doubtless sell at fair prices all winter. In the latter case the carcass should be divided into sides, or if very heavy into quarters, for the convenience of transportation.

JOHN DOUGALL,
Commission Merchant.

COMMERCE OF THE UNITED STATES.—The following will show the total foreign imports and exports at all the ports of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1858:—

|---|---|
| Imports for the Year 1857-8...... | $282,613,150 |
| Exports for the year 1857-8...... | 324,644,421 |

This shows an excess of exports over imports of $42,031,271, an amount just about equal to the exports of domestic specie. Included in the exports of domestic produce for the year were $131,386,661 value in cotton against $131,565,859 for the previous year, a remarkable coincidence of figures. We annex a comparative summary of the imports for the last fourteen years.

1845, $117,254,564; 1846, 121,691,797; 1847, 146,545,638; 1848, 154,998,928; 1849, 147,857,439; 1850, 178,138,318; 1851, 216,224,932; 1852, 212,945,442; 1853, 267,978,647; 1854, 304,562,381; 1855, 261,468,520; 1856, 314,639,942; 1857, 360,890,141; 1858, 282,613,150.

There is a falling off in round numbers, of ninety-two millions in dutiable goods, and a gain in both free goods and specie. The total imports are $78,276,991 less than for the previous year; but in dutiable merchandise, the total is less than for any previous year since 1852. We also annex a comparative summary of the exports for the same period:—

1845, $114,646,606; 1846, 113,488,516; 1847, 158,648,622; 1848, 154,032,131; 1849, 145,755,820; 1850, 151,898,720; 1851, 218,388,011; 1852, 209,642,325; 1853, 230,452,250; 1854, 278,241,064; 1855, 275,156,846; 1856, 326,964,908; 1857, 362,960,682; 1858, 324,644,421.

The falling off in the exports is much less than the decrease in imports, for while the latter have declined $78,276,911, the exports have decreased only $38,316,261. Of this decrease, only $27,555,680 are in domestic produce, while the specie exports have fallen off $16,503,775, and the reshipments of foreign produce have increased.

This is entirely owing to the revulsion in business which prostrated so many houses engaged in foreign commerce, and unsettled the very foundations of credit. In short, the breaks were put on and screwed up to the tightest pressure, and everything which could be checked was brought to a stand still, during the continnance of the panic, and moved very slowly for some time afterward.

The panic has been followed by an extraordinary plethora of money, and the liquidating process received a marked impulse. Few were buying, but many were paying up old scores, until the amount on credit in Europe was reduced to a lower point than for many years. Even when buying began again, it was less on credit than formerly, both because credit was less easily obtained, and money was so plenty here as to render the cash alternative less burdensome, and in view of the low rates, more desirable. Our foreign commerce is once more rapidly reviving, and the current year's foreign imports will show a large gain over the last. The receipts for customs for the year 1856-7 were $63,875,905,05, but as a larger part of the dutiable imports for the year that were warehoused awaiting the reduction of duties under the new tariff, the average would not furnish reliable data. For the last year, under the new tariff, the receipts were $41,789,620,96, averaging 20¼ per cent. npon the dutiable imports, but an unusually large proportion of this amount was collected from the marketing of the warehoused imports of the previous few months, the stock of goods in bond at the close of the fiscal year being far less than at its commencement. We see no reason why the imports for the year that is to succeed that now current, should not bring us far heavier imports than any previous year in the history of the country.—New York Journal of Commerce, Thursday.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

For the information of the public, we will publish some notes of eminent Physicians on the Plantagenet Water, which will be followed, from time to time, by the certificates of its merit in many cases of disease.

"With regard to RHEUMATISM, there appears to be a very general concurrence, as regards the value of the Plantagenet Water, among medical men in this Province."

"GOUTY AFFECTIONS.—The allied nature of this disease to the former, points to an analagous mode of management; and there can be no question, that Gouty as well as Rheumatic affections have derived great benefit from the use of the Plantagenet Water."

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement, in another part of this paper, for N. H. Down's Elixir, that great medicine for coughs, colds and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs. Be sure and get that signed with pen, N. H. Downs, and numbered, for all others are counterfeit. Price 50 cents, and one dollar per bottle. They also have a nice trial bottle for 25 cents. All honourable druggists have it for sale. 4-m DSC-240

One trial at once establishes its superiority, and it is now the only article used by those who cultivate the graces. This, with Bogle's celebrated Hyperion Fluid for the hair, may be had of all Druggists.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Sir James Clarke, Physician to Queen Victoria, and one of the most learned and skilful men of the age, in his "Treatise" on Consumption, says,—"That Pulmonary Consumption admits of a cure, is no longer a matter of doubt: it has been clearly demonstrated by the researches of Laennee and other modern Pathologists."

The mere fact that such a disease is ever curable, attested by such unimpeachable authority, should inspire hope, and reanimate fallen courage in the heart of every sufferer from this disease.

The remedy which we offer has cured thousands. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry not only emanates from a regular physician, but has been well tested in all the complaints for which it is recommended.

None genuine unless signed I. BUTTS on the wrapper.

Sold by all Druggists.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Anxious to protect the sick against counterfeits of his all-healing remedies, Professor Holloway has caused the words "Holloway, New York and London," to be impressed as a water-mark on every leaf of the paper on which the books of directions, used as wrappers, is printed. If this trade-mark does not appear when the pages are held to the light, the article is spurious. Upwards of ten thousand cures of neuralgia, tic-doloreux, and spinal disease, accomplished by the use of the Ointment, have been reported from various parts of the United States within the last eight months. In all these cases the Pills are said to have facilitated the recovery of the patient.

QUERU'S COD LIVER OIL JELLY.—Doubt not its curative properties! It is the last nnd best improvement on that most beneficial of remedial agents—Cod Liver Oil. That person who has been so fortunate as to have Queru's Cod Liver Oil Jelly administered to him, will not hesitate to admit it is the sine qua non without a rival in the whole range of materia medica. The patient must be far gone indeed, who does not immediately rally under a remedy so favorable and healing in its effects. We have seen a patient who could not speak above a whisper, find her voice on taking a teaspoonful of it, and to her astonishment do that which she was wholly unable to do for many hours before—enunciate her words clearly and distinctly.—It contains eighty-five per cent. of Oil. Approved by the New York Academy of Medicine. PENFOLD, CLAY & CO. No. 4 Fletcher-st., N.Y., Wholesale Agents.

FROM THE CLERGY.

Rev. J. G. Stearns writes: I consider it the best remedy I ever knew for Dyspepsia.

The late Rev. Dr Granger repeatedly expressed his belief that he owed his life to the timely use of Perry Davis's Pain Killer. During his recent visit to the Missions in Burmah, he had a severe attack of the CHOLERA, and was immediately relieved by its use.

Rev. A. Webster, Editor of the Christian Era, writes: "I have used your Pain Killer for many years, in my family, with much satisfaction."

Rev. J. Phillips, formerly of the Orissa Mission, India, writes: "My wife is using your celebrated Pain Killer for a rheumatic affection from which she has suffered for years, and with better effect than any other of the various remedies she has tried; I am using it for dyspepsia and kidney complaints, with good success." Sold by all druggist in Montreal. du-DC-271

☞ The greatest preservative of beauty known to modern science, is Professor Wood's Hair Restorative and Cosmetic. Among the most important features of female beauty, are a luxuriant head of hair and a fine complexion; both of which should be guarded as sacred treasures, for either may be lost by neglect, or preserved by the use of the above named article; delay is dangerous. We seldom undertake, editorially, to endorse what are called "Hair Restoratives," as knowing full well that the great majority of such preparations are entirely worthless. Exceptions there are, nevertheless, and among these we have never hesitated to express our conviction that the article known as "Wood's Hair Restorative" is entitled to a proud pre-eminence. This article has told its own story in numberless instances of prematurely gray and bald heads, and the certificates in regard to its amazing efficacy have been alike numerous, unsolicited, and emphatic. When Senators of the United States and others [of the highest standing, socially and politically] openly declare that "Wood's Hair Restorative" is all, and more than all it pretends to be, we cannot do otherwise than believe them. The article can be had at all our Druggists. See notice elsewhere.—Galway Republican.
