US PRESSES PLAN ON ATOMIC POWER

General Support Forthcoming From Western Nations For Scheme To Divert Atom To Peaceful Use.

United Nations, N.Y. — (AP) — The United States pushed new plans today to set up an international agency to foster peaceful use of atomic power, with or without Russian co-operation.

State Secretary Dulles outlined the four-point proposal in a major American policy speech in the United Nations General Assembly Thursday afternoon.

Developing the ideas set forth in President Eisenhower's speech to the UN last December, Dulles called for :

1. Creation of an international agency to include "nations from all regions of the world." Dulles said it is hoped the agency will start work "as early as next year."

2. Holding of an international scientific conference under UN auspices next spring to consider the "whole vast subject" of the peaceful use of atomic power.

3. The opening in the U.S. early next year of a reactor training school "where students from abroad may learn the working principles of atomic energy with specific regard to its peacetime uses."

4. Invitations to a "substantial number" of foreign medical and surgical experts to work with atomic energy techniques in American cancer hospitals.

Dulles' proposals brought immediate expressions of approval from many other UN members. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate, called for a quick meeting of the UN steering committee to put the proposed plan on the assembly's agenda as an "important and urgent question."

The top-level UN executive group, in a hurried session after Dulles spoke, broke its five-day-week plan and scheduled a meeting on the atomic plan for Saturday.

The 15-member committee, which decides whether to include items in the agenda, includes the U. S. and Russia. Debate on the agenda item may show what position the Soviet Union intends to take in the later assembly debate. Russia's Andrei Vishinsky declined to discuss the speech with reporters.

Dulles disclosed that the Russians on Wednesday asked for new talks on Eisenhower's original proposal, although they had given it a cold shoulder in all previous talks. Dulles said the Russians took the step when they learned he would talk about atoms for peace.

"The United States remains ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union," Dulles told his intent audience. "But we shall no longer suspend our efforts to establish an international atomic agency . . . I would like to make perfectly clear that our planning excludes no nation from participation in this great venture."

Canada threw her support behind the American proposal in a policy statement by External Affairs Minister Pearson, who told the assembly the plan could succeed even without Russian co-operation. The Canadian minister said his delegation hopes the plan "will prove to be an important step in the liberation of atomic energy from its military bonds . . . for the benefit of mankind.

Britain's Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd said his country would join such a group, and unofficially, it was said that all seven countries so far consulted by Dulles have agreed to come into the agency. Besides Britain and Canada they are France, Australia, Belgium, Portugal and South Africa.

If Vishinsky does not tip his hand on the American proposal at the steering committee meeting, delegates expect to hear the Soviet stand early next week, when the chief Russian delegate may speak in the general policy debate inaugurated Thursday.

The assembly turned its attention this afternoon to final consideration of the work program recommended to it by the steering committee. The debates on the agenda promised to reveal whether Britain would boycott the political committee on the Cyprus question raised by Greece, and whether France would show up for debates on the status of Tunis and Morocco.

Kingston, Jamaica —(CP)— A select committee of members of Jamaica's legislature Thursday proposed moves that would give the island colony immediate control of its internal affairs under a constitution similar to that of the Gold Coast in West Africa.

The committee from the House of Representatives, or Lower House, recommended that the British-appointed governor, Sir Hugh Foot, be removed along with three appointed members of the executive council, or cabinet.

Paris — (Reuters)—Chief commissioner Jean Dides, foremost expert on Communist affairs at police headquarters here, has been suspended after being found in possession of documents about national defence, the ministry of the interior said Thursday night.

The ministry said in a statement that the police chief's suspension was in connection with an investigation opened by a Paris military court about "leaks" of secrets involving the external security of the state.

Hysteria In Japan Over Atom Death

By JOHN RANDOLPH

Tokyo —(AP)— Japan plunged into almost hysterical mourning today over the death Thursday night of a 40-year-old fisherman who has become the symbol of the country's hatred and fear of atomic weapons.

Newspapers and radio broadcasts were virtually turned over to news of Aikichi Kuboyama's death. Much of the comment was anti-American, but not violently so.

Kuboyama was one of 23 fishermen accidentally dusted by radio-active ash from United States H-bomb tests at Bikini March 1. Japanese doctors said he died of jaundice resulting from radiation sickness, and Japanese physicians who performed an autopsy fixed radiation sickness as the fundamental cause of death.

A U.S. army doctor who watched the autopsy, Lt.-Col. James L. Hansen, said he "could not disagree" with the preliminary findings. He added, however, that he would want to await a complete pathological examination before making final judgment.

Some scientists have said Kuboyama's jaundice could have resulted from a hepatitis infection introduced through blood transfusions.

No American doctors were allowed to examine carefully either Kuboyama or the other fishermen, all of whom are still under treatment here.

The U.S. ambassador, John M. Allison, sent his personnal sympathy to Kuboyama's widow, along with a cheque for 1,000,000 yen (about $2,700) "to make life easier for you and your children in the future," he wrote.

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki said after a special cabinet meeting that a tentative damage claim of 5,000,000 yen for the Kuboyama family was discussed.

The U.S. has offered Japan $1,000,000 in damages for the 23 men and for other losses resulting from the H-bomb tests. Japan is reported asking $5,000,000 to $7,000,000.

Ban Urged On Sunday Sports TV

By RAE CORELLI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Sackville, N.B. — (CP) — The United Church of Canada called on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation Thursday to quit telecasting commercial sports on Sunday because it keeps young people away from church.

The final night sitting of the 1954 biennial general council gave rapid approval of a series of resolutions submitted by the evangelism and social service session committee.

The 375 delegates from 11 conferences across the country agreed to dissolve the 16th council by 10.30 a.m. EDT today. Some left for home Thursday night.

The resolution on televised sports climaxed a day that saw the council split over the rightness of Ontario's Lord Day Act, approve the appointment of an assistant secretary to the board of pensions and adopt a radically new super-annuation scheme that spelled more money for retired clergymen and broader coverage.

The council took note of CBC football telecasts on Sunday from Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa and said this was harmful to observance of the Lord's Day "in a way that is either contrary to the law or approaching an infringement of it."

It said the telecasts reached some areas of Ontario that had voted against Sunday sports and now there was the possibility that hockey would follow in the winter.

Telecast sports, it said, "attract many children and young people and thus interfere with their attendance at church and Sunday school." It wanted the CBC chairman and board of directors to "heed this protest from our communion."

The council also took note of drinking which it said was "symptomatic of a deeper problem in man and society" and reaffirmed its stand for "voluntary total abstinence."

The council also proposed an increase in the taxes on beer, wine and spirits. It protested the sale of liquor on trains and issued an "urgent request" to "governmental authorities" to ban liquor advertising. It also condemned

Duplessis Denies Reports Provincial General Election Planned This Fall

Quebec — (CP) — Premier Duplessis Thursday night quashed rumors he plans to call an early election to seek support in his fight for provincial autonomy.

"I have said and I repeat there was never a question of a general election in Quebec province in 1954," the Union Nationale leader said in an interview. He added he does not expect an election before 1956, and probably not before 1957, when his party's five-year mandate ends.

The rumor of a provincial election was circulated after Prime Minister St. Laurent attacked the Union Nationale party in a week-end speech and accused it of using provincial autonomy as a "screen."

In denying the election rumors, Mr. Duplessis also reaffirmed his intention to protect provincial rights from what he described as federal encroachment.

"In 1944, we received from the electorate of Quebec province a mandate that was clear and precise to safeguard the constitutional rights of Quebec province and not to consent to arrangements of a compromising nature," he said.

"In 1948, following the Canadian intergovernmental conference of 1945-46 in Ottawa, where we squarely refused to exchange our constitutional rights for federal subsidies, the people of the province of Quebec, despite an ardent struggle by the provincial opposition and their federal chiefs, not only renewed our mandate, giving us the order to safeguard the constitutional rights of the province, but were so clear and positive about this subject that the opposition was practically reduced to nothing and the Union Nationale nearly doubled the number of its members in the legislative assembly.

"We are fully aware that it is unnecessary to ask a new mandate to continue the work given to us in 1944, renewed in 1948 and triumphantly reiterated in 1952."

In Montreal, meanwhile, the Gazette in a Quebec dateline story quotes "a source close" to the premier as saying Mr. Duplessis was rebuffed three times after offering to meet with Mr. St. Laurent and Finance Minister Harris to discuss federal-provincial financial problems.

The source said Mr. Duplessis first agreed to meet with Mr. St. Laurent after a delegation from the Montreal board of trade, the Chamber of Commerce of Montreal and the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the province of Quebec asked if some arrangement could not be made in the personal income tax field.

The organizations were among several which asked that a new Quebec income tax be made deductible from federal income tax payments. The Quebec tax is equivalent to 15 per cent of the federal tax. Under existing legislation only five per cent of Quebec payments can be deducted from federal taxes.

The source added that Mr. Duplessis offered a meeting for the second time when the federal government was preparing its last budget. A Liberal member of Parliament approached the premier to obtain his assurance that he would be willing to meet Mr. St. Laurent. The member then returned to Ottawa, but no further word was heard.

A Montreal businessman later suggested a meeting between Mr. Duplessis and Finance Minister Harris, the source said. Mr. Duplessis agreed to the meeting and the offer was transmitted to Mrs. Harris but nothing more was heard about it.

Pledges U.S. Support For Freer Trade

Washington. —(AP)— President Eisenhower told the World Bank and International Monetary Fund today that the twin institutions have "the assurance of our support" in efforts to strike restrictions from Free World trade.

Eisenhower, who is on a western tour, chose Treasury Secretary George Humphrey to read his message to the opening session of a joint six-day meeting of the bank and fund governors.

Humphrey is attending also in his capacity as United States governor on the two 57-country institutions. And since the governors are all financial leaders from their countries, the annual parley amounts virtually to a finance and trade conference of the Free World.

Humphrey and the other listed speakers today, fund manager Ivar Booth of Sweden and The Netherlands finance minister, Johan Van de Kieft, all stressed in their prepared remarks the strengthening of national economies for convertibility, or free exchange, of their currencies. But none set a hard-and-fast schedule for a return to free convertibility and trade.

Chairman van de Kieft said "the growing awareness that mistaken internal fiscal and monetary policies" are at the root of unbalanced international trade is one of the most important developments of recent years. The approach to convertibility "must, of necessity, be a gradual one."

Humphrey declared that "genuine progress" had been made in the last year in sweeping trade restriction aside and strengthening economies.

Currency convertibility "has become a nearer prospect."

The U. S. had taken and would continue to take its part in trying to remove trade barriers, as advocated in Eisenhower's foreign economic policy message to Congress last March, he said. It was "worthy to note" that the U.S. had already reduced tariffs under its reciprocal trade program so that last year "only 45 per cent of the total value of our imports were subject to any im-

Rush Lures Suspect In Bank Theft

Keewatin, Ont.—(CP)—A suspected bank bandit was lured into a trap here by a policeman who posed in the darkness as a girl bringing him a getaway car.

The trap was sprung Thursday night at what police said was to have been a girl friend's rendezvous with the suspect on the outskirts of this tourist town in the northwestern Ontario lake country.

As the man approached the parked car he was captured by two policemen who were waiting in the bushes. Inside the car was Bob McGarva, an Ontario provincial police constable. His disguise was a woman's bandana; he depended on the darkness to keep his secret.

Police charge that the man they arrested is the bandit with the sawed-off shotgun who carried out a $5,000 robbery Tuesday at the Keewatin branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

The girl they describe as his sweetheart, 21-year-old Rhoda Joyce Millard of Denman Island, B.C., was arrested in St. Boniface Wednesday with what police say was part of the holdup money—$1,500.

They said she told of the planned rendezvous on the Keewatin beach road while she was being returned to Keewatin under escort to face a charge of receiving stolen money.

Sgt. Barney Richardson of the OPP said the suspect had two guns with him when captured, a sawed-off shotgun and a .38-calibre revolver. He was also carrying a large sum of money.

Saigon, Indochina — AP— Premier Ngo Diem of South Viet Nam late today tossed out his old cabinet and formed a new one of 22 members amid rumblings that a bloody week-end may be in prospect.

Diem retained 11 of his old ministers but admitted for the first time four ministers each from the powerful Cao Dai and Hao Hao sects.

Warwhoops End Rally Of Indians

Montreal. —(CP)— The North American Indian Brotherhood wound up its 11th annual powwow Thursday in a flurry of warwhooping dances and barbed resolutions.

Some 80 delegates from tribes across Canada saw their Iroquois Caughnawaga reservation—where the three-day meeting was held—deck themselves in feathers and warpaint for a stomping corn dance and a spectacular eagle dance.

A special welcome was danced for Col. H. M. Jones of Ottawa, director of the Indian affairs branch of the federal government's immigration department, and the white man's representative at the convention.

The resolutions were aimed at both the Canadian and United States governments and plumped for a better deal for Canadian Indians.

One resolution questioned the right of the Canadian government to tax Indians for income earned outside the reservation, on the grounds that some Indians—such as those on the west coast—are able to earn a satisfactory income from such reservation occupations as fishing.

Chief Paul said brotherhood lawyers are preparing a test case for the courts on the income tax issue and another on bringing goods duty free into Canada from the U.S.

He said Indians have decided to bring the case of Louis Francis of the St. Regis, Que., reservation before the Supreme Court in an appeal against a lower-court decision handed down last month.

Francis was ordered to pay $123 duty on a refrigerator, washing machine and heater he brought from the U.S. The Indians say they should be allowed duty-free entrance of goods under the Jay treaty, signed between England and the United States in 1794.

The convention also asked that Indians entering the U.S. for extended periods be exempt from the American law requiring them to register as aliens.

"We are the first citizens of North America," Mr. Paull said. "We are citizens of the whole continent."

"Why should we be considered 'aliens' if we move across the white man's border?"

Six Federal By-Election Writs Issued For Nov. 8

Ottawa— (CP) —The second test of strength in the federal political field since last year's general election will be held Monday, Nov. 8, in six federal constituencies.

The date of by-elections to fill vacancies in the House of Commons was announced Thursday by the Prime Minister's office.

Five of the contests will be held in the central provinces—three in the Ontario ridings of York West, Toronto Trinity and Stormont, and two in the Montreal constituencies of St. Lawrence-St. George and St. Antoine-Westmount. The sixth is for the Selkirk seat in Manitoba.

Progressive Conservatives candidates have been chosen in all six constituencies. Among the five Liberal candidates named to date is one cabinet minister, Transport Minister Marler, seeking a Commons seat for the first time since his appointment to the cabinet July 1.

The Liberals have not yet nominated a candidate in Toronto Trinity, but are expected to do so within the next week or two. Two CCF candidates have been named but no Social Credit candidates have been chosen yet.

Chief interest is centred on the contest in St. Antoine-Westmount where Mr. Marler, former Quebec Liberal leader, is opposed by Egan Chambers, a Progressive Conservative, for the seat vacated by Finance Minister Abbott when he became a Supreme Court justice.

Setting of the by-election date for Nov. 8 has raised speculation that there may not be a fall session of Parliament this year. Early this month Prime Minister St. Laurent said the cabinet had not decided whether there will be a fall session.

Fall sessions normally start in mid-November. If the cabinet decides against that, Parliament

The main by-election issues, apart from local questions, are expected to be taxes, unemployment, immigration, defence and the state of the country's economy. The dispute over federal-provincial relations between Mr. St. Laurent and Premier Duplessis of Quebec also is likely to be reviewed in the Montreal campaigns.

The by-elections will be the second since the general election of Aug. 10, 1953, which swept the Liberals back into power. In four by-elections last March 22, the Liberals retained Verdun and Gatineau in Quebec and Progressive Conservatives held Peel and Elgin in Ontario.

In Quebec St. Lawrence-St. George was vacated by Defence Minister Claxton to become an insurance company executive. Nominees there are Claude S. Richardson, Liberal, and David L. de Volpi, Progressive Conservative.

Stormont was vacated by Transport Minister Chevrier, who became Canadian president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority. It will be contested by Albert Lavigne, Liberal, and Donald R. Dick, Progressive Conservative.

The former member in York West was Rodney Adamson, Progressive Conservative, killed in an air crash at Moose Jaw, Sask., April 8. In Toronto Trinity the former member was Liberal Lionel Conacher who died at a Commons softball game last May.

There is a three-way contest in Selkirk among Progressive Conservative, CCF and Liberal candidates.

Enumeration of voters will take place from Oct. 4-7, with voters lists printed by Oct. 23. Nomination day is Oct. 25.

Present Commons standing: Liberals 168; Progressive Conservatives 50; CCF 23; Social Credit 16; Independent 3; vacant 6. probably will reconvene early in January.

Tax Agreements Asked By Provinces, Garson Claims

Winnipeg — (CP) — Justice Minister Garson says Progressive Conservative leader George Drew stands with Quebec's Premier Duplessis in representing tax rental agreements with the provinces as a federal government plot to centralize all taxing authority in Ottawa.

The Justice Minister spoke Thursday at a nominating convention which chose John Shansky, a lumber company executive, as the Liberal candidate in next month's federal by-election in Selkirk riding.

"Mr. Drew and Mr. Duplessis both seem anxious to restore a system which prevailed before these tax agreements," Mr. Garson said. "But this would be so terribly damaging to all of the other provinces, that Mr. Drew and Mr. Duplessis do not like to discuss this question in terms of the other province's interests.

"So they represent the tax agreements as being a great scheme by which the federal government seeks to centralize all taxing authority in power in Ottawa and then they attack this straw man of centralization.

". . . These tax agreements did not come into being because the federal government wanted to centralize the functions of government or the taxing powers in Ottawa. They came into being because the federal government wanted to centralize the functions of government or the taxing powers in Ottawa. They came into being because the great depression revealed a weakness in our federal system which placed, and especially under depression conditions, an intolerable burden upon those provinces which lacked the accumulated wealth of the central provinces."

Mr. Garson said the demand for the tax rental agreements originated in Manitoba, not Ottawa. He said the agreements between the federal government and all the provinces except Quebec have transformed Manitoba from Canada's highest provincial taxpayers to the lowest.

Probe Sabotage Theory In German Tank Blast

Bitburg, Germany —(AP)—The known death toll from Thursday's explosion at a storage tank for jet fuel near here was set today at 30, as French and German detectives investigated whether there was a possibility that sabotage caused the disaster.

Twenty-two Germans and eight Frenchmen lost their lives and five persons this morning were believed missing. Eighteen suffered severe injuries as the tank blew up during a demonstration of fire-fighting equipment on its concrete roof.

West German federal police, who joined French security agents in the investigation, said the "possibility of sabotage" will be thoroughly explored.

The 120,000-gallon tank was located near the Luxembourg frontier of the French occupation zone. It was operated by a company of French soldiers under the auspices of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Bitburg is a terminal for the NATO pipeline which reaches across France to the Atlantic supply ports. French authorities are in charge of the line but the United States Army has a share in the jurisdiction over fuel reserves.

French authorities, still trying to piece out the tragedy, said a German firm was demonstrating fire-fighting apparatus as a crowd of Germans and some French looked on. Many were reported standing on the tank.

Suddenly the tank blew up with a thunderous roar, sending a column of black smoke nearly two miles into the air. Flames shot up 1,000 feet and licked out from the wreckage to threaten adjacent storage tanks all filled with highly volatile jet fuel.

French, German and American rescue and fire crews moved in. While the injured were being cared for, workmen drained the biggest tank in the area into a small river.

Three hours after the explosion the fire was under control but it continued to smoulder. The blast tore a hole 35 feet in diameter in the tank's hick roof made of steel-reinforced concrete.

French military police confiscated the cameras of several German newsreel and television photographers, but returned them after several hours.

Daddy Ringtail

Teeny Tiny

By WESLEY DAVIS

Eany Meany is the bug with wiggledy and kickledy legs. He s very eany, and very meany. He has two cousins who live at the zoo, but they aren't meany at all; just eany. They are so eany that their names are Teeny and Tiny.

One day Teeny and Tiny were crawling along and crawling along the Elephant Path. They were crawling along through the Great Forest, trying to go for a little vacation with Eeany Meany to teach him not to be so meany. But those little bugs, Teeny and Tiny, were so very little that they couldn't crawl very fast, or very far, and they were very tired.

They were sitting down on a leaf to rest, when Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, came walking by on the Elephant Path.

"Oh, Daddy Ringtail!" called Tiny in his tiny voice.

Daddy Ringtail lay down on his stomach on the ground, the better to listen with his ear up close to Teeny and Tiny while they talked. They explained that they were going for a visit with Eany Meany, their cousin, but they were now too tired to go all the way by themselves.

"I'm tired!" said Teeny, in his teeny voice, because he was very tired and very teeny.

Daddy Ringtail said he was sorry he couldn't carry them on their way to visit with Eany Meany, their cousin. Daddy Ringtail had to go the other way to the zoo to visit with Uncle Bunkum, but Daddy Ringtail said: "Maybe if you took turns carrying each other—Teeny can walk a part of the way and carry Tiny, because Tiny is much too little to walk all the way alone. And Tiny can walk the rest of the way and carry Teeny, because Teeny is much too little to walk all the way by himself."

And so the two little bugs, Teeny and Tiny, said they would do it. Neither of them was very heavy, you know, and that's the way they came at last to Eany Meany's house — carrying each other. It was a happy thing, all right, all right, to have helped one another that way. Happy day!

Fluorine Poison Is Major Danger For Dairy Herds

At the recent annual convention of the Canadian Veterinary Medical Association held in Otawa, Dr. D. G. Dale of Macdonald College presented a paper on fluorine poisoning of dairy cattle. The information was the result of a study conducted during the past year by Dr. Dale of the Department of Animal Pathology and Dr. E. W. Crampton of the Department of Nutrition.

Veterinarians were advised to be on the look-out for symptoms of this type of poisoning which can result from the feeding of mineral supplements that contain too much fluorine. The authors have discovered a number of affected herds in the Province of Quebec, and feel that the problem may be more widespread than is at present realized. They suggest that the solution to the problem may be the enactment of legislation that limits the amount of fluorine present in animal feeds.

The more easily recognized symptoms of chronic fluorine poisoning in cattle are a marked staining and pitting of the incisor teeth frequently accompanied by recurring attacks of lameness.

Farmers would be well advised to consult their veterinarians if such symptoms are present in their animals.

Magog Man Hurts Himself In Fall

Euclide Gaudreault, of St. David street in Magog, was rushed to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, in Sherbrooke Wednesday on doctor's orders, after having suffered a head injury when he fell on the sidewalk.

Mr. Gaudreault was walking near the Dominion Textile Building, when he slipped on the sidewalk and fell down, injuring his head. Dr. Armand Voyer, of Magog, examined the skull wound around 7.15 last night, and asked a Magog patrol car to bring the man to hospital in Sherbrooke.

Magog Lions Club Accords Tribute To O. T. Webster

Magog, Sept. 24. —The members of the Magog Lions Club paid tribute to O. T. Webster, a former secretary, who passed away on September 10, by observing a silence in his memory at their regular meeting Wednesday.

The annual drive for funds for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind was reviewed by William H. McKenna, who said donations were coming in very slowly but hoped the latter part of the campaign would prove more satisfactory.

A report of the club's dance to raise funds for the blind drive was given by Robert Smith.

Although the Easter Seal drive is a long way off, plans for the campaign must be made early and Albert Baggott was named chairman of that committee.

Robert E. White produced o news clipping from the Arkansas Democrat at Little Rock, which he received from Dr. Morley Alexander McKelvey. The clipping stated that Dr. McKelvey and his family were taking up their American citizenships, and that Dr. McKelvey himself was staff physician and psychiatrist at the Arkansas State Hospital. He was one of the charter members of the Magog club, of which there were originally 39. Receiving Dr. McKelvey's letter was somewhat of a coincidence, as last evening was the first time that the club's charter had been hung in a permanent place since the Battles House was destroyed by fire in 1944. Members noted that only six of the members named in the charter remain in the club.

The charter members were: Ernest Bradley, president, who is still associated with the group, as well as E. A. Swoger, Dr. C. Harris, W. H. McKenna, J. Cunningham and E. A. Smith. The other members whose names appear on the charter are: L. A. Parent, H. L. Bibeau, A. W. Lang, G. Abbott, R. Brien, J. Boardman, R. Beaudry, Dr. G. A. Bowen, A. Dion, C. Chamberland, J. T. Connor, L. Cabana, T. Desautels, R. Ethier, D. P. Goyette, E. Gerin, G. Gray, M. Dostie, J. A. Lavallee, W. W. Levesque, Dr. J. C. Lecompte, R. Ouellette, A. Martel, Dr. M. A. McKelvey, F. W. Waldren, E. Sewell, A. Russell, Dr. H. L. Ormsby, E. Robinson, F. E. Patch, P. St. Jean, D. Martin and C. C. MacPherson.

A letter of appreciation was received from Mrs. John Boardman thanking the local club for their expressions of sympathy on the death of John Boardman in England.

President Gordon Meek reminded the members of the charter night being held at Derby, Vt., on October 3, where another Lions Club is being formed. He also voiced the possibility of conducting a golf tournament.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, October 13, at the Chateau du Lac.

Sponsoring Group Is Organized For Teen Town Club

Parents of members of Teen Town, the teen-age club which provides a dance party for teenagers of the city alternate Saturday evenings, as part of the youth program of the Y.M.C.A., met last evening and organized a sponsoring group to accept certain responsibilities for and work with the club executive and its committees.

All parents of Teen Town members will be drawn into this sponsoring group and given their opportunity to assist the teenagers in an effort to improve their activities.

An executive committee with Mrs. Jack Grundy as chairman, and including Mrs. E. Diamond, Mrs. W. H. Griffith. Mr. W. H. Johnson, and Mr. A. Price, was elected and authorized to act as a scheduling group as well as consultants to the Teen Town executive.

Adequate chaperones for all the Teen Town dances will be scheduled by the parents from their group, and the program committees of Teen Town will be free to call on these parents to assist in the planning of the parties for which they have been scheduled, if desired.

The meeting was held at the invitation of Ed. W. Bryant, chairman of the Boys' Work Committee of the local Y.M.C.A., and was addressed by general secretary J. Ed. Shortt, who opened the subject and led the discussion.

It is hoped that one of the results of this move will be the development of closer relationships and better understanding between teenagers and their parents.

HUNTINGVILLE—

L. A. Fall Plans Include Supper

Huntingville, Sept. 24. — Mrs. K. W. Hunting entertained the Ladies Aid at her home on Tuesday, September 22, the meeting being called to order by the president, Mrs. Parker Lyonnais.

Ten members and four visitors were present at the meeting. The new programs, which were made by Mrs. Fairbrother and typed by Mrs. Spaulding, were distributed and the two ladies were extended a very hearty vote of thanks.

Mrs. Spaulding reported that a very successful salad tea and dance were held during the holidays. Mrs. Emily Hunting, the treasurer, gave a report on the financial standing of the society and also on the cost of the new storeroom which has been built recently.

Final plans were made for a chicken pie supper, which is to be held October 1. Mrs. Parker Lyonnais was appointed convener.

Mrs. E. Harrison was appointed social convener for the remainder of the year. Mrs. W. Critchley, convener for the sunshine boxes and cards, reported that several boxes, cards and flowers had been sent out during the holidays.

A vote was taken to have three new benches made for the hall. Plans were made for a Christmas sale to be held in December to which each member will donate two articles.

A quilt is nearly ready to be raffled and tickets were distributed to the members to be sold. The meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction after which tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ross Hunting and Mrs. Emily Hunting.

Answers Still Slow

Only 689 Attempts At Solution Of Record Crossword Received In Week

Another week has gone by and still the reception of our Crossword Puzzle contest, is not getting much warmer.

Only 689 entries this week and that's not too good. You would think with the unfavorable weather we have had for the past few days, there would be lots of people ready to sit down to a quiet few minutes of "puzzling."

The reception was poor, but that was not all, there is no winner either. Those puzzles are tricky things sometimes and you never can tell when the chance you take may be right. We have several fans who seem to be a bit disgruntled over some of the results. We're sorry about that, for we would like everyone of you to think you are getting the fair chance that we do give you. We don't make up the puzzles, we only correct them, so try to keep on for a bit more, will you?

And don't forget the important sales slips from Au Bon Marche that will double your money. This next contest will offer forty dollars without the slip, and a whole eighty dollars with it. Now that is not to be sneezed at, is it? Some of you were complaining that the money wasn't high enough, so maybe now we will get some more entries.

We received very few letters this week, but here are two of them. The first one pleased us, for this contestant doesn't seem to care whether or not the money offered is big or little.

"Things are slacking up, eh? Maybe the money isn't big enough, but believe me, I would welcome ten dollars just as much as I would fifty dollars. As the saying goes; Let's all be thankful for small mercies. 'By gum' I will keep trying as long as I can afford five cents postage. So, here's hoping the puzzles keep coming. I always tell myself, 'Better luck next time.' She signs herself as a Transplanted Old Country Reader. We aren't quite sure exactly what that means, but anyway, we were glad to hear from her.

We have a reader from Lancaster, N.H., who is not quite certain about the validity of the word "truck" in the puzzle two weeks ago. No one probably remembers back that far, but we will tell this particular reader that we agree with her completely, when she says a truck would be rather strange for a woman to include in her wardrobe. But the catch is this, after getting so worried about this one word, the contestant had read the wrong answer. It was 15 across and not 13 across. Glad we discovered that though, as we were beginning to wonder ourselves if some-

Crowds Enthuse At Presentation By Gene Autry

By ALAN J. OXLEY

A crowd of nearly three thousand persons, the majority made up of youngsters, flocked to the Sherbrooke Arena last night to meet their idol of stage, screen and radio, Gene Autry, with his famous "Hit Show of 1954."

Autry's appearance caused a crushing stampede at the Arena entrance and it was well after eight o'clock before spectators were seated. The show got under way at 8 p.m., a great moment for thousands of cheering youngsters as he brought his four-footed stage and screen pal to the stage for the opening.

Gene brought with him the great western songs that made him famous and the troupe of stars who have appeared with him on screen and radio. Fred Martin, Jerry Scoggins and Bert Dodson, better known as the Cass County Boys and rated one of the top musical trios in the nation, appeared with western songs which make any young-

Queer Doings Last Night On Local Streets

There was a young man in plus fours and a sporting cap playing golf on the corner of King and Wellington streets early yesterday evening.

But there was a lot more than that, as the Sherbrooke business district was invaded by virtually the whole of Bishop's University, out to watch and participate in the annual initiation proceedings for the new first year students at the university.

The unusual, and in many ways bizarre, activity at Sherbrooke's main intersection—which started at 8:30, and didn't die down until two hours later—was really only the windup of male initiation ceremonies which each year introduces new resident students at Bishop's to university life.

At the three main residences out at the university itself, Divinity House, Norton Hall and Old Arts—some 55 of the freshmen had already been tried in three courts for having committed various grievous offences, and had been sentenced according to the seriousness of their rather dubious deeds.

That was what all the activity at the corner of King and Wellington was about. The freshmen were simply carrying out their sentences — accompanied, of course, by an appreciative audience comprising the remainder of the university student body, and most of the freshettes.

They arrived in Sherbrooke in the regular Lennoxville-Sherbrooke bus at irregular intervals. They disembarked — under the careful scrutiny of responsible seniors of the university—and began to perform their various assignments.

Five of them, dressed in the purple and white pea caps, and sporting the huge cardboard nameplates which are standard freshmen and freshette rig at the university for the first term, scrambled around the stores, ascertaining the prices of the goods displayed in the windows. They had to scramble together, because they were all tied to one another.

Another hapless one was found carrying a live duck about, which he was supposed to sell for a fixed high price. One of the female members of the university finally took pity on the bird, and bought it for four dollars.

Another fruitlessly fished for a goldfish in a bowl on the sidewalk near the traffic lights; a few feet from him, another freshman sat by a lamp post, whistling a strange tune which he hoped would charm a worm on the sidewalk.

Several of the initiates visited the nearby hotels, giving talks on temperance, and other timely topics, while throughout the evening, a straight - jacketed student ran yelling about the downtown district, chased by an equally voluble white - coated asylum attendant.

At two of the corners, demonstrations of the very best techniques in waterless shaving were given by two hapless, and beardless freshmen replete with lather, towel, and razor.

A rubber crocodile on the end of a string followed its master down King hill, emitting sharp squeaks to the amusement of

Lucky-$$ To Invade New District Soon

One of our Crossword Puzzle contestants sent in her puzzle this week, and enclosed a little note, which we found quite interesting. She said she had tried to find a Lucky Dollar to send along with her puzzle entry but didn't think we had deposited any in her district. She lives in Megantic and when we looked back on our record, we found we hadn't put one there for quite awhile.

You people in the Megantic area should be very pleased with this conscientious reader for reminding us of our oversight. And we will promise you there will be a Lucky Dollar somewhere in your district in the near future. We won't say how near, or where. That is for us to know and you to find out, but we will keep our promise and the rest is up to you.

Megantic isn't the only place where there will be Lucky bills, so don't the rest of you give up. There are still eleven dollars floating around all over the Eastern Townships and Sherbrooke.

On each publishing day until further notice the RECORD will select and publish a serial number taken from a Bank of Canada one dollar bill. Persons having possession of these "Lucky Dollars" may redeem them for ten dollars each.

The bills whose numbers have been selected will have been put in circulation throughout the Eastern Townships immediately before the serial numbers are published.

Winners must produce the "Lucky Dollars" within two weeks of the first publication date of the serial number, and the winning bill or bills must be accompanied by the regular weekly Record Crossword puzzle (or reasonable facsimile) at least 50% correctly completed.

If you have in your possession a dollar bill bearing a serial number published in the RECORD, telephone "Lucky Dollars," the Sherbrooke Daily Record, LO 9-3636 and arrange an appointment to exchange it for your reward.

If you live too far distant from the Record to make this convenient, send your "Lucky Dollar" and the crossword solution, to "Lucky Dollars," c/o the Sherbrooke Daily Record 119 Wellington street north, Sherbrooke.

The Record will not be responsible for "Lucky Dollars" delayed or lost in the mail.

All serial numbers not matched by the deadline automatically become inactive, and no payoff will be made on them. All "Lucky Dollars" and all other dollar bills submitted by persons who do not qualify for the reward will be returned to the owners after the serial numbers become inactive.

Employees of the Sherbrooke Record Co. and their immediate families are not eligible to win rewards for "Lucky Dollars."

COMMENTS ON PUZZLE NO. 69

EXPLANATION OF MORE DIFFICULT CLUES:

ACROSS:

8. STRIFE is the more comprehensive answer. STRIFE in various forms can make front page news, and STRIKE is merely one instance of STRIFE, which is contention or struggle between opposed persons.
12. RATTLE is best. On many farms (fruit farms, poultry farms, etc.) you do not expect to find CATTLE. No farm, however, with its tools and implements, could be without its share of RATTLE.
22. "TOIL" the dictionary describes as "hard labor". As opposed to working leisurely, results may well be less than they would have been WITH TOIL, or hard labor. Without a TOOL means with one's bare hands and few jobs are done with just bare hands today so that results surely must suffer. There is no "may well" about it.
28. SIGH is best. A letter bearing no signature would definitely be regarded as incomplete; thus, when you have FINISHED a letter you will not SIGN it — you already did that by way of FINISHING the letter. You MAY, of course, SIGH when you have finished it.
29. LUNCH is best. Certainly the average man wouldn't make his whole LUNCH one of bananas. He might eat a whole BUNCH, however, since the BUNCH may be just two or three or he might eat them over a period of several days.

DOWN:

1. SHAVE is best. SHARE is vague. What kind of SHARE? Also, the clue does not say the SHARE is not fair, but merely "unsatisfactory". A man receiving his PROPER SHARE has no reason to grumble but may not be satisfied. A man is entitled to expect a satisfactory SHAVE, and may well grumble if he doesn't get it.
3. You certainly don't expect him to PLAN such moves, since this would normally be beyond his powers. It is quite customary for chess players, for purposes of study, to PLAY over master games, which are rich in brilliant moves.
4. They may of course be taught how to "do" STEAK (i.e. cook it). Not all authorities will justify the use of STEAM in this way ("taught how to STEAM"). Furthermore, for universal approval it should be "how to STEAM fish" (or whatever it is). STEAK, therefore, is the fairer selection.
5. BITTER is best. A serviceman is not subjected to especially strenuous training unless he is physically qualified to benefit from it; thus it is PRACTICALLY CERTAIN to make him FITTER. It is possible a man takes the more rigorous forms of training in the wrong spirit; thus it would be fair to say that it MAY make a man BITTER.
6. REBELS is an excellent answer, and particularly apt since there is obvious reason for wanting to stop them and the clue mentions "stop". Why stop REVELS unless they are injurious or riotous and the clue does not specify this. Also, it would be more a matter of stopping the REVELLERS, since the REBELS, being abstract, could hardly be tackled direct!
13. Advice may be sought before LEASING property, or before MAKING A WILL (not LEAVING the property). You do not actually LEAVE your property until you die.
21. FACT is the more comprehensive answer. When a PACT is concluded, it becomes an accomplished FACT — part of history, in FACT. Thus FACT EMBRACES PACT.
25. HOE is best. "MIGHT prefer not to" is an understatement for HOD. A faulty Hod would be actually dangerous and a menace. He surely WOULD prefer not to use it. There is no "might" about it. A man using a HOE in the garden might not be bothered at all by the handle being loose.

Two Gentlemen Of Color

If all the laughs and grins they have fathered were placed cheek by cheek, nudging each other to keep in line, they would reach from here to the moon. There would be fat laughs and thin laughs, deep-throated laughs and laughs that were more reserved, white-haired laughs and laughs of the juvenile variety. And when the line got near the Old Man in the silvery orb he, catching the contagion, would break into his celebrated chuckle: "Amos 'n' Andy are at it again," and he would wink — towards the American Southland.

Amos 'n' Andy have been at it again for 25 years. The black-face couple, in their earlier days on the air, might almost have been called The Misters Radio. They have not kept their heyday following but there are some who have been loyal listeners for the quarter century.

At one time Amos 'n' Andy were so popular that things looked bad for the medical profession. They were so popular that anyone with a claim to humor made listening a rite. Those were the days when the telephone lines in New York and many another city were all but mute six evenings a week from seven to seven-fifteen or was it just before the hour? Anyway, it was a misdemeanor, if not a crime, to ring a friend during that interval and dying persons of any consideration did their best to prevail on the impatient reaper, when he had the nerve to appear, to wait around a while.

Amos 'n' Andy feel they are now entitled to a five-day, or a five-night, week. Those who will lead their procession of guests will include Jack Benny, Edgar Bergen, Charles DeWood McCarthy, evidently a newcomer to the air Frank Sinatra, Gracie Allen, Bob Hope and, oh yes, George Burns. It is to be doubted if any of these have been more regular in their auditions than Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll, creators of the famous program.

How do the negroes feel about Amos 'n' Andy? Some enjoy the laughs on themselves but others, naturally, are not so much "amused." "The show may not bring us respect," said one colored leader, "but it has helped bring tolerance."

That's something. A humorist has remarked that you cannot be amused at a thing and at the same time want to hurt it. The respect will come in time — when we all grow, mentally, out of the diaper stage.

"But who wants to grow up; who wants to be too perfect? Think of our children and our children's children. (we like this optimism) Would it be fair to them if they were left with nothing to strive for?"

Come ovah heah, Kingfish; there's something for yo' to ansah.

The Envelope That Grins

When one writes a letter, not expecting to mail it for a few hours, it's a good idea and elementary wisdom, as many have found out, to leave the envelope unsealed. After-thoughts have a habit of coming.

One man we know is well aware of this. But can he leave the envelope open? He finds it well-nigh impossible.

"There, that's done," he says to himself as he seals and stamps the thing. The act gives the final boost to his sense of accomplishment. The job is finished; off his mind, or so he pretends.

Then, the thought. He might have put a certain line or sentence in a much better way.

The missive, sealed, grins from the table. Is there a smell of sulphur in the air? The smug envelope is yanked open. The stamp hasn't been used as postage so it may be retrieved. The envelope though, is a loss but its price is nothing compared to the exasperation, the kicking of oneself.

When we do it, this kind of thing isn't really so bad, even if we do it time and time again. If it were the other fellow it would be unintelligent, to say the least.

Death Prepared In The Arctic

The Arctic! Mountains of ice and deserts of snow with cold the lord of all. Great reaches inhabited by Eskimos, seals, walruses and polar bears. This was the conception.

Nothing ever came out of the Arctic save a slow-moving floe or a towering berg, a plodding vessel returned from a supply journey of months, and wintry blasts which brought the shivers. Periodically, there were romantic tales of polar exploration but, in general, the Arctic was the one portion of the globe which could most safely be disregarded.

Now, the picture has changed. The disconsidered Arctic is the potential seat of danger of the Third World War.

The magazine Aviation Age, considered to have secret information sources behind the Communist borders, has confirmed that Russia has based almost her entire long-range bomber force on airfields along the Arctic Ocean coast. One of the largest bases is being built on the archipelago of Franz Josef (Fridtjof Nansen) Land, 3,600 air miles from Detroit. Another includes several large airfields on the two neighboring islands of Novaya Zemlya.

"Like the United States," the magazine remarks, "Soviet Russia views the polar regions as the main avenue for aerial warfare in the event of World War III." It needs only a schoolboy's glance at an aerial map to show why both countries have come to the same conclusion.

One more part, an almost forgotten part, of the world yields to Progress. The polar bears, walruses, blue foxes and ringed seals; the gulls, buntings and terns are having their domain invaded. Arctic mosses and lichens are giving way in places to long airfield runs.

And some day aerial avenues in the long-slumbering Arctic may be alive with bombers zooming towards Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburg, New York, Washington and, quite possibly, Montreal Ottawa and Toronto. All nine cities are within radii (Erie, Pa.) of about four hundred miles.

MUSEUM CARS REVIVED
(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

—Anyone planning a late September automobile trip through Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont or New Hampshire should be warned. Otherwise their goggle-eyed amazement at encountering a strange procession of ancient automobiles on the highways may be enough to make them lose control of their own modern vehicles.

September 18 to September 25 will see more than seventy different makes and some 250 individual models which have long disappeared from the country's highways, abroad again, participating in the Glidden Tour. This is the major event of the year on the calendar of antique car collectors throughout the United States. It is sponsored this year by the Veteran Motor Car Club of America, which conducted the original Glidden Tours soon after the turn of the century to prove that the automobile was here to stay.

ROYALTY AND PRESS
(Brockville Recorder and Times)

It turns out that the Duke of Edinburgh, during his recent tour in Canda, had more difficulty with the country's working pressmen, than was revealed publicly at the time. Perhaps the Duke was pestered unduly by reporters and photographers; but in some instances his non-co-operative attitude produced the very result he least desired.

Note, in contrast, the singular lack of trouble experienced by the Duchess of Kent, in this respect. Her charming co-operation with representatives of all mediums of public communication resulted in an enjoyable tour and excellent press all-around. In the Duke's case, we should say that the fault was not wholly on the side of the press.

TONGUE ON SWIVEL
Fort William Times-Journal

Thousands of men on the the North American continent must have grinned when they read what happened to a matron in Miami, Florida. She entered a drug store and slipped into a pay telephone booth at 11 p.m. She was still talking at 11.45 according to the druggist. But after that he forgot all about her and closed the store at 12.30. Later the lady had to knock on the store window to attract attention and secure her release. Although the woman was talking for more than an hour and a half, there will be many a man ready to wager she was neither hoarse or out of breath.

SPECIALISTS' SNEER
(Chicago Daily News)

We happened upon an item in a Wilmington paper which relates that a speaker before a gathering of clubwomen had accused them of being "pitifully" and "deplorably" ignorant of the history of Delaware. Our own ignorance of the history of Delaware prompts us to deplore this popular custom of sneering at anybody who lacks some special information possessed by the sneerer.

Physicians get patronizing toward all who don't know a tibia from a fibia.

Lawyers think poorly of those who think a tort is a little cake.

To a sailor, only the uncivilized confuse a marconi rig with wireless, and others, from actors to zoo keepers, hold it pitiful and deplorable that their learning is not universally shared.

In this big and complicated world there are bound to be a great many things to remain ignorant about.

The price of knowing much about anything is to remain in the dark about a great many other things, doubtless all interesting in themselves, but surely not touchstones for separating the "pitiful" and "deplorable" from their betters.

A HIMALAYAN PEEK
(Toronto Telegram)

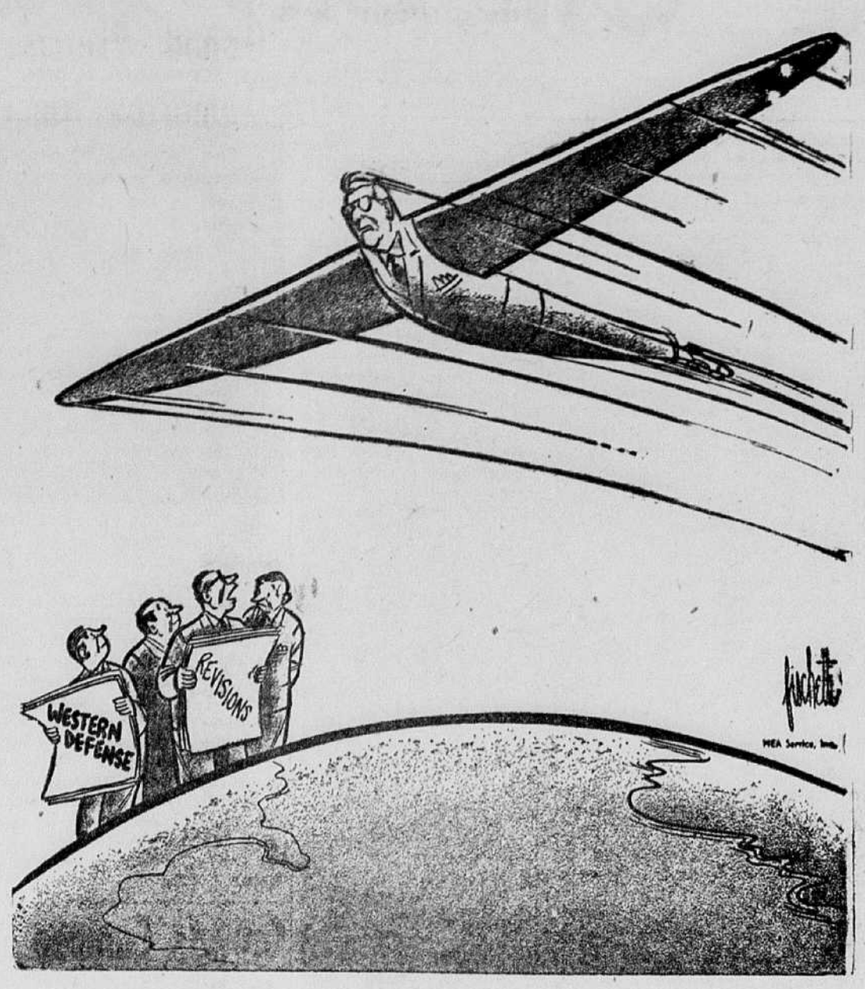

The Soviet New Times states that Western mountaineers in the Mimalayas are spies sent by capitalist intelligence agencies to peek into the mysteries of Red Tibet. According to this farseeing magazine new mountain climbing teams are being frantically assembled in the United States, and to bring with them plans for bases under the guise of hospitals, sanatoria and the like.

No doubt the Russians have concluded that successful British and Italian teams have got away with much valuable espionage data in capturing the peaks of Mts. Everest and Godwin-Austen, and have blueprinted the hospitable summits as future air bases. Or can it be that the Reds, who in 1952 fainled in a well-planned but highly disastrous attempt to beat the British team to it, are sore at the success of the West and the resultant propaganda to their disadvantage? Is so, they can derive satisfaction from the knowledge that their "explanation" reaches a peak of absurdity which no one will try to better.

EXPERT SHOWS WAY TO PLAY TOP BRIDGE

How should you play today's hand at a contract of three no-trump? West leads the four of spades, and dummy's ten holds the first trick. Your opponents are two pretty good players who are not going to make any obvious mistakes.

You can expect to win two spades, two hearts, three diamonds, and goodness knows what in clubs. It's clear, however, that you have to work on the clubs to make your contract.

Probably your instinct is to lead a diamond to the ace in order to begin the clubs from your own hand. This is all very normal and all very wrong.

If you lead a club from your hand, you will probably finesse dummy's ten. East wins with the queen of clubs and returns a spade, clearing the suit. Now West gets in with the ace of clubs in time to bury you beneath an avalanche of spades.

It doesn't even do you any good to make a better guess in clubs by going up with dummy's king. East will win the next trick with the queen of clubs and clear the spades. West will then have the ace of clubs and an established spade suit.

There is no right play on paper, but there is a right play at the table with flesh and blood opponents. This was made when the hand was actually dealt, by my friend and bridge partner, Lee Hazen, a distinguished attorney as well as a great bridge player.

After winning the first trick in dummy with the ten of spades, Hazen casually led the ten of clubs towards his hand. This is a key play.

East was a good player, but he wasn't a mind reader. He naturally assumed that declarer had the ace of clubs, so he quickly played his low club in the hope that South would misguess the finesse. Don't blame East for failing to put up the queen, for not one good player in a thousand would do so.

West had to win the first club with his ace, and now the defenders were washed up. West couldn't lead another spade up to the ace-queen, and any shift would give South ample time to develop his clubs while he still had the ace of spades.

South actually made an overtrick by catching the queen of clubs under dummy's king, but the contract was in no danger after Hazen had made the correct play at the second trick.

It's important to note that Souh didn't care whether West won the first club with the ace or queen. He just wanted West to win the first club trick, and his play was the best way to assure this.

You, South, hold: Spades K-Q-8-7-5, Hearts K-4, Diamonds A-Q, Clubs Q-9-7-3. What do you do?

A—Bid two no-trump. You are too short in diamonds and too long in your partner's suit for a penalty double of two diamonds. Game is very likely, since you have 16 points in high cards, and your partner's response shows at least 10 points. You can show your strength and stoppers in diamonds best by bidding no-trump.

Six persons are confined to hospital as a result of a series of traffic accidents during the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Camille Lamontagne, of Sherbrooke, and Mrs. Maruice St. Pierre, of Windsor Mills, are in the St. Vincent de Paul hospital as a result of a collision near the city limits Saturday. Mrs. Ovila Forand and twelve-year-old Bobby Bowker, of Granby, and the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henri Parent, of Adamsville, are in the Dr. G. W. Runnels Hospital, Granby.

Sherbrooke Country Club caddies took part in the annual competitions Saturday. Twenty-two lads entered class "A" competition where Harold Baker turned in the best eighteen-hole gross with an eighty-three. Charlie Laverdiere came second. In "B" class, Gordon Pettigrew paced the field with a low gross of fifty-four for nine holes. Arnold Baker was runner-up with sixty-three.

Ore Production Boom Increases In Saskatchewan's Wilderness

By WILF CHISLETT

Uranium City, Sask.—(CP)—Headframes of uranium mines are rising above the barren wilderness in Saskatchewan's northwest corner as ore production increases.

Although some of the color has left the province's mining boom, four companies are either producing uranium ore or are getting ready for it.

The federal government's Eldorado Mining and Refining Co. has been processing ore at Beaverlodge lake since June of last year and now has three of its own producing shafts. It also handles ore from Rix-Athabasca uranium mines which four months ago became Canada's first private uranium producer. Nesbitt-Labine Uranium Mines near Eldorado is stockpiling ore as a shaft is sunk.

The Eldorado mill has an ore capacity of 500 tons a day and this is being extended to 800 tons to handle ore from other mines, but the actual production rate of refined ore is a secret.

A fourth coming, Gunnar Uranium Mines, is outlining an ore body which its spokesmen describe as "fabulous."

Uranium City is 475 miles north and slightly west of Prince Albert.

The Gunnar firm, which recently issued nearly $20,000,000 in bonds to finance development, expects to have a 1,250-ton mill in operation by late fall of 1955. The company says it has enough surface ore to last four years before having to go underground.

Scores of other firms are in various stages of development. Some still are proving up claims. A few are approaching the mine stage. Mining men say the future of Saskatchewan's uranium area has "unlimited" possibilities.

"We've just scratched the surface," is a phrase frequently heard.

More mines are expected to low. But when, and how big they will be, are unknown.

Geologists report plenty of high-grade ore in small lots on the surface. But really good underground ore bodies are few.

On that basis, provincial government officials are inclined to be hopeful but skeptical of possibilities.

"We'll be lucky to get 10 producers," said Malcolm Norris, director of prospecting services for the provincial department of mineral resources.

Don Sheridan, who handles the information sent in by mining companies and government geologists, says even that estimate may prove high. He says the number of producers may be "closer to five."

By that, he means five mines which have enough ore to last at least 10 years. He added, however, that five mines would amount to a sizable industry, possibly employing thousands.

Radioactive finds are scattered thickly around Uranium City in an area roughly 50 by 100 miles. But a good showing on a geiger counter doesn't miss a mine.

Mr. Sheridan says uranium mining in the province still is a gigantic "if."

Perhaps new and larger ore bodies will be discovered as prospectors push farther from the centre of activity around Uranium City.

Whatever the future, the government expects the high interest shown in the last three years to continue for some time to come.

Uranium-mining profits depend on the grade. Under the old method of calculating payments, Eldorado paid $14.50 a ton for ore which yielded one-tenth of one per cent uranium oxide. The average grade in the Uranium City area is .15 to .25 per cent with some recent finds reported as high as .6. New contracts now being negotiated are reported to be considerably in excess of the $14.50 figure.

Uranium mines also have a steady market. The United States has contracted to buy all Canada can produce until 1963.

Saskatchewan's industry still has a few major problems. The main one is transportation. How roads are going to be built into mine camps is uncertain. 21,000 of the 26,000 staked in Saskatchewan last year will have returned to moose pasture by 1955.

The provincial government has offered to pay one-third the cost of a road, provided the federal government and the mine will share the rest. C. A. L. Hogg, deputy minister of natural resources, says so far the federal government hasn't shown interest in the proposal.

BATTLING THE BEETLE
(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

An appeal has been issued in the United States as well as throughout the Empire for funds to repair Westminster Abbey the fine woodwork of which is crumbling under the hungry maw of xestobium rufovillosum, or in plain English, the death watch beetle. The insect has a hard head, and scientists say that it bangs its head against the woodwork as a sort of Morse code for communicating with another bettle, hence the ticking noise that can be heard, and has for some reason or other been associated with impending death to the listener or some member of the family. Westminster Abbey is not only an English srhine, but it also means something to all English-speaking people, and the appeal will no doubt enlist the help of Americans as well as all people of British stock.

Years mean nothing in the birth and care of a Gothic structure like Westminster. Like others of its kind, it was hundreds of years in building. Its repair is no job for a handyman in a hurry. But ironically, part of the Abbey's present trouble is due to some medieval builder in a hurry.

It seems that the oak is vulnerable because it was cut from trees a mere 60 to 80 years old. The solid heartwood of a 200-year-old oak will resist the beetle. But it took centuries to find this out. Now the problem is to find such oaks.

resident and university spectators alike.

A demonstration of pants pressing, minus the essential electricity was given by a hard-kneed student in front of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, who knelt on the pavement for most of the evening, applying a cold iron vigourously to an old pair of flannels.

Another further down King street stood anxious watch over a tiny plastic car, parked in an empty parking space he had to hold the space for four hours.

All the while, the other 200 or so Bishop's students were watching, laughing, and running about from one freshman to another, regardless of red lights, or whizzing, downtown traffic.

Municipal police, smiling tolerantly, interferred little with the festivities. Two were on duty at the intersection, and another patrol car remained parked on the farther up King street, but no action was needed.

The only freshman who seemed likely to scandalize the native Sherbrooke residents who stopped to stare and chuckle—tired easily after galloping about both Wellington and King streets most of the night in nothing more than female underthings, inquiring at the top of his voice: "who took my skirt?"

The whole crowd broke up of its own accord about 10.30, with only one cracked head reported during the night's activities. For the freshmen, it was all over, but for the freshettes, this afternoon is the big test; resident initiations for the co-eds are taking place inside the campus confines.

Cardinal Hits At Immigration Bars

Mont Laurier, Que. — (CP) — Paul Emile Cardinal Leger, Archbishop of Montreal, said Thursday night fear of a broad immigration policy by certain people might be due to an inferiority complex or lack of Christian and humane charity.

He told the delegates attending the French-language Roman Catholic social life conference in this Laurentian community 100 miles north of Montreal that inflation, unemployment and housing shortages are not caused by the influx of immigrants into this country "as some like to think, but perhaps by the maladjustment of our national economy.

"We are blaming immigration for our own faults. We must not forget that our country was built up slowly and steadily by immigrants."

Cardinal Leger stressed that the true Christian must not look upon the immigrant as a stranger and rival but as a brother since the unity of the country is dependent on a charitable co-existence between the two, respecting the individual's rights and liberties.

Sherbrooke High School Exercises Tomorrow Night

The annual commencement exercises of the Sherbrooke High School to be held tomorrow evening will be featured by an open house at the close of the formal ceremonies when the parents and friends of the school will be given an opportunity of inspecting the various class rooms and of meeting the members of the teaching staff.

Rev. S. G. Garland, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, will deliver the address to the graduating class, while the musical portion of the program will be under the direction of Anton J. Diel, director of music for the Sherbrooke Protestant Schools, who will sing, accompanied by Mr. Diel who is a talented pianist. A girls' choir, under the direction of Mr. Diel, will also be heard in two musical selections, the accompanists being Miss Lois Mackenzie, of the High School staff.

Forty of the forty-eight candidates who wrote the school leaving examinations in June will receive their diplomas tomorrow night, representing an average of over ninety per cent.

Refreshments will be served after the open house.

HEARING POSTPONED

The preliminary hearing of Douglas Paulette and Graham Emery was postponed this morning until next Friday at the request of Crown Prosecutor Roland Dugre. Both men are charged with an $850 robbery at Simard's clothing store on Galt street on the night of the 13th-14th of September last.

Armand Nadeau appeared for the defendants and asked presiding Judge Redmond Hayes for a reduction of the $2,000 bail previously set by Judge Edouard Boisvert. The request was refused.

The night session also put through an amendment to a Lord's Day resolution. The amendment was submitted by Dr. A. E. Kerr, the president of Dalhousie University.

The change asked provincial governments to "resist all efforts of secular commercial interests to exploit Sunday" and referred to the general council executive a resolution urging the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada to go to court over the Lord's Day Act of Ontario. The resolution asks that the United Church itself investigate the possibility of a court action if the alliance fails to act "within a reasonable time."

port duties."

Rooth said international trade problems could not be considered solved "until the currencies of the great trading countries are convertible, and until world trade is conducted with a minimum of restriction and discrimination."

Jefferson City, Mo.—(AP)—Underworld vengeance caught up with convict Lee Donnell whose throat was slashed and his tongue cut out by a fellow prisoner in the Missouri penitentiary riot.

The 29-year-old Donnell turned state witness at St. Louis in 1953. He testified before a grand jury there which indicted him and four others for a hold-up. He had been fearful of his life since.

Sharp Advance Registered In Potato Prices

Housewives' current headache, Potato prices, is still bounding skyward. Today's price is still over two dollars for a seventy-five pound bag, and the quality is far from satisfactory.

Again we can blame the weather. This year's extremely wet harvesting months have caused havoc in the potato fields. Dealers on the Landsdowne Market this morning are not a little worried over the situation. Some say if the weather keeps up at it's present rate, potato prices will continue to rise rapidly.

When one thinks of the 95 cents or a dollar paid last year in comparable months, the current price is outrageous. Some say its got a chance if the weather changes and farmers can gather the crop still laying in the fields. Others offer no hope and call the situation "grim," likely to get worse if conditions remain.

Today's meat prices remain stable and butchers expect no change until the Fall season begins. Detailed prices follow:

HYSTERIA IN JAPAN

Much of the criticism of the U.S. appearing today in papers here took two forms:

1. Hostility toward the American atomic weapons program—partly a result of resentment over the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, partly from fear of the future and partly fired by left-wing sentiment.

2. Hurt feelings over what many Japanese consider the cold U.S. reaction to their emotional grief and to the fate of the fishermen.

Home And School Association Met At Scotstown

Scotstown, Sept. 24. — The September meeting of the Home and School Association met in the High School with a very small attendance. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Richard Cook.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Several items of business arising from the minutes were discussed. A donation of $5 was voted to be given to Dr. Martin for his service rendered in the medical check-up of the pupils last spring. The sum of $5 is to be given to the Dental Clinic, and $5 for school fair prizes. Mrs. A. Murray reported that dental work, amounting to $316, had been performed on the pupils, by Dr. Gron. It was decided to have the secretary-treasurer send out reminders to the parents who had neglected to pay for the dental service given to their children.

Cards of acknowledgment of gifts were read from Mrs. M. Smith and Mrs. G. Runge, of Gould, for gifts of appreciation given from the association to these ladies for their services given at the Dental Clinic. There was a lengthy discussion on whether or not there should be an initiation of the Grade VIII pupils into High School this term. It was the wish of all parents at the meeting to have it restricted to one evening of harmless fun.

The nominating committee reported that Mr. George Riglar has accepted the position of president for the coming year, no vice-president has yet been obtained. Mr. Rodney MacDonald reported that Grades X and XI will be attending the Pope Memorial High School in Bury, and Mrs. Milton Goodwin is acting principal in the Scotstown High School.

Mrs. Charles MacRae was elected to find ladies to help in various ways at the School Fair which will be held in the near future. Mr. Cook reminded every one present to invite a friend to attend the October meeting.

Softball League Comes To Close At Waterloo

Waterloo, Sept. 24 — The Waterloo Softball League came to a close over the week-end when the strong Waterloo Bowling team won the best-of-seven series from the Roxton Mill and Chair boys, four games to two. Winning the trophy two years in a row, the Bowling team is the first in the history of the league to achieve this feat.

Paced by the excellent and steady pitching of Real Dufresne the hard hitting Roxton team were held to a minimum of hits and the excellent fielding of Ronald Nantel in particular, assisted by Cubby Smith, Gaby and Rollie Meunier and Joe Moore, the Bowling team, coached by Armand Lemay, had little difficulty in gaining the final nod over their adversaries.

The games were seven innings, and the first game went to the Roxton, 4-3 after 8 innings. The second game was won by the Bowling 3-2, also after 8 innings.

The Roxton boys showed their power in the third game when they ran rough-shod over the team from the Bowling lanes by a 9-5 score, but this was their last gasp, for Lemay's team took life and won the final three games 7-6, 10-5 and 6-5 behind some excellent pitching and fielding.

Other stars for Bowling were Pete Hulet, who did the catching and some pitching as well, Jean Courtemanche, Scotty Gibbs, Louis Bonneau, Guy Hopkins, Andre Leger and Lemay himself, who donned the glove on several occasions during the regular season and the play-offs.

The Waterloo representatives will now meet the Imperial Tobacco Softball team from Granby in a two out of three series for the Granby-Waterloo championship, opening in Granby on Saturday at 1 p.m., then moving to Waterloo on the same day at 4 p.m. This series should be full of thrills for the softball lovers and should prove to be a most exciting affair.

Sixty-Seventh Annual Convention Of Eastern Baptist Churches Meets Here

The sixty-seventh annual meeting of the Eastern Association of Baptist Churches, being held at Sherbrooke and North Hatley, officially opened last night at the Portland street church.

Moderator for the three-day meeting, which will be attended by delegates from many of the convention Baptist churches throughout the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, will be Andrew Moffat.

Although there were devotions and other activities in the afternoon, the opening of the annual meeting took place in the evening, starting with the hymns of the church at 7.30. Rev. E. J. Vincent conducted the meditation period, then led the congregation into singing "How Firm a Foundation."

In welcoming the delegates to Sherbrooke, Mayor Emile Levesque said, "During my two and a half years as mayor, it has been my privilege to welcome many groups of all natures to our fair city, but there are few whom I have greeted with greater pleasure than I do to the Ontario and Quebec Convention of Baptist Churches.

"Your membership rolls," he continued, "contain some of the oldest names in Sherbrooke and as long as I can recall these names, the McCaws, the Blakes, the Milfords, the Holgates, among others, have been prominent in any enterprise for the advancement of the social and spiritual uplift of the citizens.

"May your stay here be a pleasant one and may you receive inspiration from your deliberations that will assist you to carry on your work in the future," concluded His Worship.

Immediately after the mayor's address, the vice-president of the Sherbrooke Ministerial Association, Captain Frank Taboika of the Salvation Army, added the best wishes of the Association to the Baptist delegates. L. G. Barnard replied on behalf of those attending the three-day convention.

Dr. A. J. Johnston made the introduction of new pastors, which was followed by the appointment of scrutineers. Rev. Keith Daniel, speaking from the pulpit, addressed the congregation on "The Foundation of Life." The evening programme ended with a hymn and benediction.

Yesterday afternoon, Rev. H. S. Dunn conducting devotions, followed at 3.15 by the Convention Board reports, with the church edifice, the camp committee, and the historical committee, Rev. C. E. Amery, pastor of the Baptist Church of Sherbrooke, sang a solo. Principal speaker was the Rev. Jaraslav Zeman, of Toronto, who spoke on "Home Missions and Their Value."

A film depicting denominational work brought the afternoon session to a close.

Today, there is day-long program, commencing at 9.15 a.m. with devotions, a memorial service conducted by Dr. M. F. McCutcheon, and Communion service by Rev. F. C. Amery. In the afternoon, there will be another four-hour programme, while this evening commencing at 7.30, the congregation will hear an address by the Rev. Keith Daniel on "The Building of Life."

The annual meeting of Eastern Association of Baptist Churches will finish on Saturday afternoon.

CROWDS ENTHUSED

ster "wish he were a cowboy."

The Autry show might have gone relatively smoothly if it had not been for one Pat Buttram. Gene assures us that this fellow was well on the way to becoming a minister before he became part of the troupe. But it's hard to believe that Pat's name was very nearly Rev. Maxwell Emmett Buttram of Alabama. However, Pat as he is better known, is really serious backstage. When we met him behind the scenes last night he gave us quite a surprise. He's college bred and soft spoken, infinitely different from the husky buffoon he portrays.

Nevertheless, whatever the time or place he'll never refrain from the occasional wisecrack and he still calls Gene "Mr. Artery."

Youngsters got a first-hand glimpse of the almost extinct Jemez Indians from their New Mexico reservation, "Land of Enchantment." To the rhythm of throbbing native drums, the Indians, decked in feathered costumes made entirely by hand, gave exhibition dances. The buffalo dance, portraying their greatest of game animals, the eagle dance and Chief Tony Whitecloud and the hoop dance, slipping willow hoops over his body to the rhythm of the chanting.

Rufe Davis, a man—that's what they called him—who got tired of picking cotton at the age of sixteen, then appeared to turn the auditorium into what sounded like "old MacDonald's farm." He's the "one man barnyard symphony," one of the most successful entertainers in show business with his down to earth barnyard comedy antics. There's no doubt that he went over big with the audience, let alone the youngsters, for tears flowed freely till he was finally dragged off-stage.

A tight-rope act; surely deemed by public applause last night to be the highlight of the evening, brought Hubert Castle into the limelight. Hubert, who by now has convinced us that his centre of gravity is in the soles of his feet, gave a performance which brought the crowd to their feet. His backward flip through a hoop, accomplished successfully, was evidence of his wonderful tight-rope ability.

For a twelve-hundred pound horse, a samba, a waltz and a march is quite an order. Champion, Autrey's wonder horse, delivered all in fine style. This handsome chestnut stallion, which has a unique insurance policy for $25,000, has played throughout the nation and has appeared nine times with the World's Championship Rodeo in Madison Square Garden, New York.

Champion's exhibition would not be complete without his offspring Little Champ. He's well on the way to becoming Champion the second and although he's not as conscientious as his "old man" his education is remarkable.

So ended a great western show with youngsters cheering you can bet the tales were good and tall this morning. Some inner feeling now prompts us to predict a boom in the sale of youngster's "cowboy kits."

Tom Park, Stocky Canadian From Hamilton, Breaks Official Record For Catalina Channel Swim Trip

San Pedro, Calif.—(AP)—Sturdy Tom Park, who comes from a Canadian family of champion swimmers, has broken the official record, for the Catalina channel swim and deposed titleholder Florence Chadwick.

Miss Chadwick, an indefatigable type, no doubt will try to regain the record.

Park, 31, a professional wrestler and service station attendant, avoided any advance publicity or announcement.

He simply went into the water at Catalina Island's Emerald bay at 4:06 a.m. Thursday, struck out and reached the rocky Palos Verdes peninsula on the Southern California mainland 13 hours, 25 minutes and 31 seconds later. An official AAU timer was aboard the boat that accompanied him. The distance is figured at 21 miles.

Didn't Say Much

Park didn't talk much, before or after. At the start he said: "I want to break the record and then talk later." And at the finish: "First thing I want to do is get something to eat."

Park broke Miss Chadwick's official AAU record, set Sept. 21, 1952, by 22 minutes. The famed feminine swimmer was clocked in 13 hours and 47 minutes.

Park, who is only 5 feet 6 but weighs a husky 180, had smooth swimming most of the way, with the seas calm and windless. His only nourishment en route was orange juice and honey. But the last mile was tough. He hit cross-currents near shore and was carried two or three miles off course. It took him two hours to make the last mile.

The Canadian, whose home is Hamilton, Ont., has been practicing long swims in the Pacific this summer besides doing some wrestling and working in a service station. He has been living in nearby Long Beach with his wife, Kay, and their children, Laurie, 6, and Renee, 4. His wife was on the boat that accompanied him during the swim.

Quebec Braves Blast Athletics 8-1 To Tie Series 1-1; Meet In Drummondville Tomorrow Evening

Quebec — (CP) — Quebec Braves Thursday night quashed Drummondville Athletics 8-1 to even their best-of-seven final series in the Provincial Baseball League at one game apiece.

Matt Peoplis had the game under control all the way as he allowed only five hits on the Quebec mound. One was a bases-loaded single by Hank Biasatti in the ninth that brought Ken Hartman home from third base and spoiled Peoplis' shutout.

The Braves collected 11 hits off starter-loser Mike Munsinger, Georges Carpentier, who came in the third, and Gerry Lefebvre, who took over in the eighth.

Mike Fandozzi, Julio Palazzini and Pedro Alomar spearheaded the Quebec attack with three hits each. Fandozzi and Alomar got two runs apiece and Palazzini one.

The third game of the series is scheduled for Saturday night at Drummondville.

Two Top Passing Quarterbacks To Match Abilities Tomorrow As Als Play Hosts To Toronto Argonauts

The respective passing ability of the two top quarterbacks in the Big Four Football Union will be matched against each other for the first time this season when Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes clash Saturday.

Nobby Wirkowski and Sam Etcheverry will be the guiding forces behind the powerful offences of these two clubs as they encounter each other for the first time this year in a battle to decide sole possession of first place.

It is the East's really first big game and will go a long way towards telling how powerful a club coach Frank Clair of the Argos has developed in his rebuilding campaign. The first-place Alouettes, who lost their first game last Saturday after winning four straight, have already established themselves as the class of the league in more than one-third of the schedule.

Two-Point Lead

They lead the Argonauts, who have won three and lost two, by two points. A win for Toronto will move them into a first-place tie and keep them ahead of the thirdplace Hamilton Tiger-Cats no matter what the outcome of the Ticats' game against the trailing Ottawa Rough Riders Saturday.

Hamilton, however, can create a two-way tie for the runner-up spot with a win over the Riders in Ottawa if the Argonauts lose. The Toronto club has a two-point margin over Hamilton which has won two and lost three. The best Ottawa can do is tie the Tiger-Cats for third place by beating them.

In the west the co-leaders of the Western Interprovincial League, Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Saskatchewan Roughriders, both see double action along with the third-place Calgary Stampeders and the last-place Edmonton Eskimos.

Winnipeg, tied with Saskatchewan with five wins, two ties and two losses each, moves out on the road to play Edmonton Saturday night and Calgary Monday night. The Saskatchewan team is also away from home for its two games, tangling with Calgary Saturday night and then moving into Edmonton for a Monday night encounter. British Columbia Lions are idle both nights.

Will Test Ability

Calgary's two games will further test the odd feature of their ability to win this season only at home. The four games they have won have been all played on their home grounds and their four losses were all encountered on the road. They lead Edmonton by two points but have played two more games than the Esks.

The action in the Ontario Rugby Football Union is confined to a single game Sunday in Toronto between the second-place Sarnia Imperials and the Argonauts' farm club, Toronto Balmy Beach. The Beaches are still winless after four games, and trail the Imps by six points. Sarnia has a 3-2 record and are four points behind the leading Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen who have played two more games in winning five and losing two.

A passing duel between Wirkowski and Etcheverry is bound to unfold in the Argonauts—Alouettes game at Montreal. Both teams have good ground attacks this season but the passing of the two quarterbacks are the big weapons for each club.

Adios Harry Cops Little Brown Jug In Three Straight Heats To Win $26,345.84 In Annual Racing Fixture

Delaware, Ohio. —(AP)— Adios Harry, stalwart son of Adios, came out of the east Thursday to take pacing's biggest prize, the ninth anual $69,332.06 Little Brown Jug.

And the brown colt, owned by J. Howard Lyons of Harrington, Delaware, didn't see any of the other 14 entrants, as Morrie Macdonald, Canadian born driver, gave him a three heat buggy ride in front of the pack.

The maroon and white silks of Adios Harry led all the way in two elimination heats and in the payoff dash over the Delaware county fair's half mile track as he picked up $26,345.84 of the lot, $13,886.41 coming on the winner-take-all finale.

Arrayed against the victor in the fifth and final heat of the two division race were Queen's Adios, owned by Castleton farm of Lexington, Ky., and another son of Mighty Adios, and Phantom Lady of Walnut Hall farm of Donerail, Ky., one of the season's fanciest fillies.

World Record Tied

Each won a heat in the qualifying dishes, the Lady tying the world record for the 3-year-old fillies on a twice around track as he copped the opener in 2.01 2-5. But the drama was packed in the final heat as the three winners came back for the big payoff. Adios Harry took the lead at the start, and despite determined bids by the others, held on easily to win by a length over Phantom Lady in 2.03 2-5, with Queen's Adios another length back.

Of the 15 3-year-old sidewheelers in the field, 11 took a share of the purse, biggest ever offered for a pacing event or for any harness race on a twice around oval.

The Payoff

Here's the purse payoff:

Adios Harry $26,345.84; Queen's Adios $9,106.49; Phantom Lady $6,239.89; Dale Frost $5,546.56; Meadow Pace $4,853.29; Ensign Lad, Meadow Gold and My Scotch Belle $3,446.00 each; Cimarron's Forbes $2,773.28; Earl's Ensign $2,079.96, and Excellent Chief $1,386.64.

Each of the 15 starters, survivors of 700 original nominees, paid $950 each to get into the big race staged before a roaring throng of some 42,000.

The new king of the three-year-old pacers had spent all his racing career on eastern tracks until Thursday when he showed his flying heels to the best in the business. Macdonald, 46, and a native of Delaware, Ont., Canada, also was making his first appearance in the "Jug."

Thus it was that a driver from Delaware, Ontario, plotted a horse from Harrington, Delaware, to victory at Delaware, Ohio.

Among the big disappointments were Diamond Hal owned by the S. A. Camp farms of Shafter, Calif., and driven by Joe O'Brien of New Glasgow, N. S., and Charlottetown, and Meadow Pace of the same stable.

Diamond Hal, after finishing first or second in stake events the last six weeks, finished seventh in both heats of the first division, while Meadow Pace, the winter book favorite, finished fourth and second in the two second division dashes after being bet down to a 4 to 5 favorite in the opener.

Leclair To Centre Richard, Olmstead

Montreal—(CP)—Coach Dick Irvin of the Montreal Canadiens Thursday picked rookie Jackie Leclair to centre his big line of Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Bert Olmstead for Saturday night's exhibition game against the Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League.

The usually pessimistic Irvin said the 25-year-old Quebec City product, acquired in an off-season trade from Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Hockey League so far has been the outstanding rookie in camp.

Duck-Hunting In Southern District Opens On October 2

Ducks That Wear Turbans In The Desert

We make a big hullabaloo about duck shooting in this country. Every year several million duck stamps are sold. Ducks Unlimited collects in the U. S. and spends in Canada several fat fortunes to make duck breeding marshes.

Armies of duck-shooting gents rise up to scream frustration when the shooting seasons aren't tailored to their liking or to shout hallelujah when the word comes of a fine hatching season up north. Nowhere else in the world are so many sportsmen so concerned over paddle-footed birds.

But the ducks we have aren't a patch on the tremendous concentrations that occur elsewhere on this globe — and some of them in what would seem to be the most unlikely places.

It's reasonable enough that down on the wind-torn flats of Tierra Del Fuego on South America's tip, or in the grain fields just north of those barren lands, waterfowl, mostly geese, would show in tremendous numbers. There wing clouds are so big that even Van Campen Heilner, who has probably chased ducks and geese to more odd corners of this earth than any other man living, was open-mouthed at the flights.

And any thoughtful man would realize that the sub-Arctic areas of Europe and Russia must raise thousands of birds just as do our Canadian tundras and northern marshes.

But who would expect ducks in the desert, in the lands where the camel is a work animal, not a zoo curiosity?

They're there, in eye-popping multitudes. Take Iraq, for example. That land, once called the Garden of Eden for good reason, contains many square miles of desert, true, but it also holds the two mighty rivers that presumably cradled civilization, the Tigris and the Euphrates.

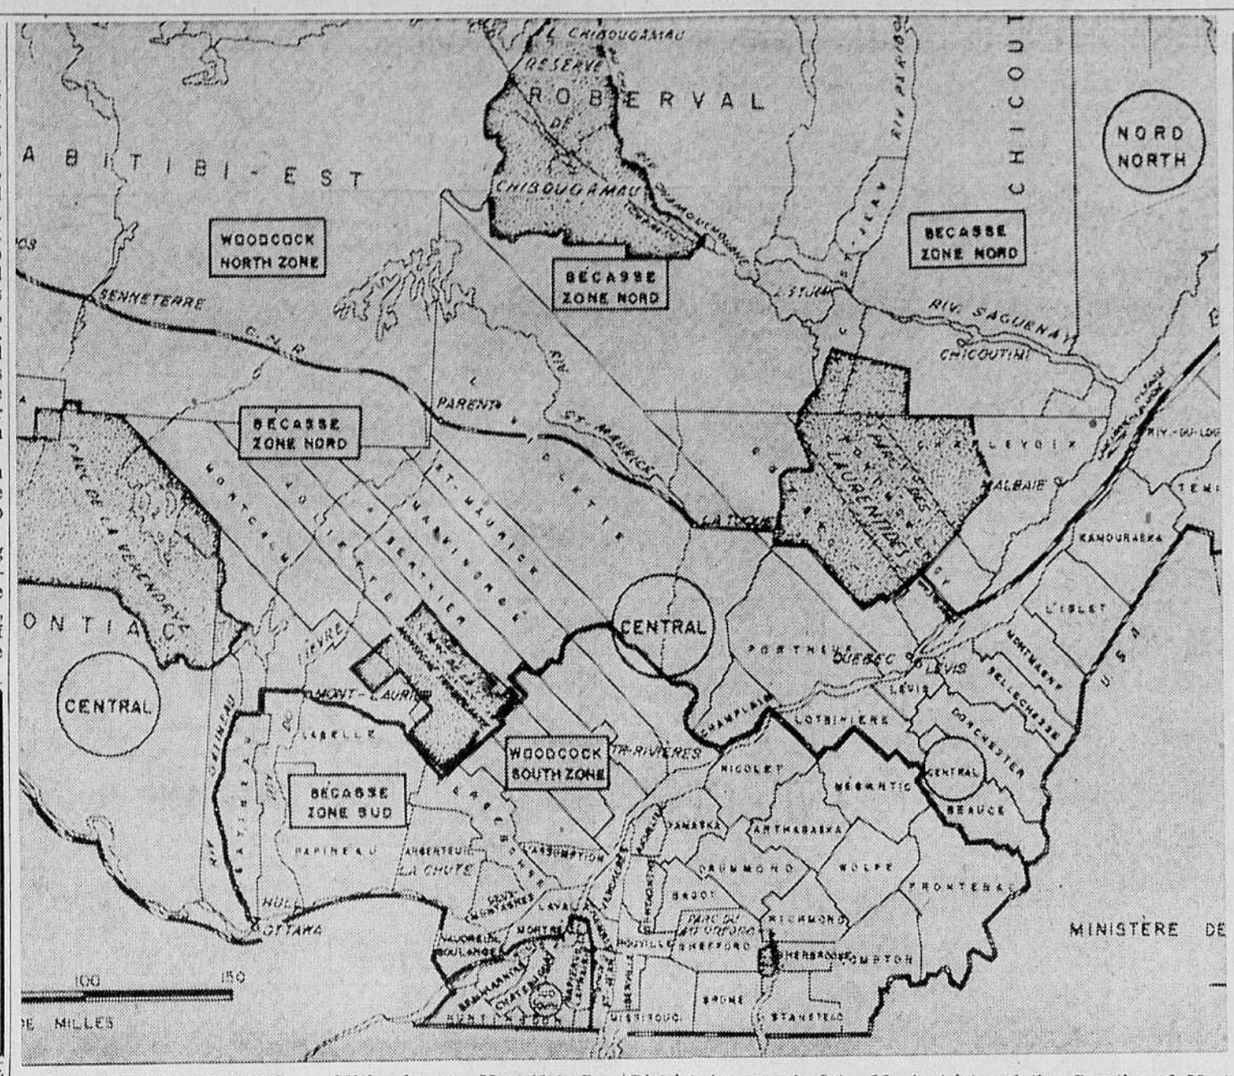

In their course to Basra and the Indian Ocean they wander down a flat flood plain, once largely the floor of the Persian Gulf, and have formed huge marshes, to be measured not in acres or even square miles, but in hundreds of square miles.

And those marshes are the winter hangout for untold millions of assorted ducks — some of them our familiar mallards and pintails, some odd species that never fall to an American sportsman's gun — and equal numbers of European or gray lag geese. This is country where guns fired at waterfowl can sizzle flat-iron hot in an hour's shoot, where it's a bad day if a party of four doesn't bag two, three, or even four hundred birds.

I've never seen those marshes when the big flights are in, but it must be a sight to give even the most hard-bitten duckshooter pause.

When I flew out to Iraq to hunt Asiatic wild boar last April, the millions were gone. Only thousands remained. Yet when Jules Gindroux, who manages the affairs of Trans-World Airlines in Basra, and Bob Angorly, who is the keeper of the Royal Game Preserves for Iraq's young sportsman-king, took me out to Bob's shooting box by the marsh edge, there were bunches of ducks in sight everywhere you looked across the sky.

And behind us was desert dust and gravel, cut only by the tracks of camels. Ducks don't mind a little desert, not when there's water on it.

Bullet Speed, Weight, Energy Is Important

The printer was up the other day, and during our confab he asked me: "How come your copy has all those numbers and decimal points in it? Gives our typesetters fits . . . "

The answer to that is that shooters by and large like numbers. They dote on ballistic information, bullet weights and speeds and energies, want 'em all and want 'em right. The shooting game, after all, is a relatively exact science. It's a game of engineering, where results aren't guessed at, but can be proven in the mathematical terms of measurable performance.

Either the bullet drops 11.4 inches or it doesn't. The rifle groups its shots into one-and-a-half inches or it doesn't. The result is that shooters are inveterate collectors of dope. Or mebbe date is a prettier word.

With some gents this doting on data shows up in the form of card files, or booklets such as those I keep which record every shot ever fired at a target. This isn't string-saving, because such load and sight-setting data is exactly what you need every now and again. With some of the powder-and-projectile-minded the amassed information shows up as great stacks of outdoor magazines and shooting journals, all neatly piled up as to dates and indexed from Ammunition to Zipper.

Ask a magazine collector what the bullet diameter of the slugs used in the .35 Smith & Wesson automatic was (the answer isn't .35) and he'll blow the dust off a back number midway of the pile and have the answer for you straightaway. (It's .321 in case you're curious).

I notice that in recent years this packrat tendency to pile up gun information is cropping up in a new form, that of collecting the annuals like The Gun Digest, which John Amber puts out every fall from Chicago.

At the club last Wednesday I bumped into a pair of shooters who were trading back numbers of that publication like a couple of gids swapping those ball-player cards that come with bubble gum.

Not surprising, because there's considerable dope in those two-buck volumes, not only just the ordinary ballistic dope you can get for free in a publication like Winchester's Ammunition Handbook, but all manner of extraordinary stuff. Like the story on the Hawken rifles which Jim Bridger and the other Mountain Men favored back in buckskin days, (or the why's and wherefore's of French proof marks, or the methods of modern gun engravers, and as complete listings of all modern sporting weapon models as are printed in any one chunk.

Robin Roberts Posts His 23rd Win Of Season As Phillies Win Two From Pittsburgh To Tie Redlegs

Philadelphia— (AP) —Philadelphia Phillies defeated Pittsburgh twice Thursday, scoring their third and fourth victories in 22 hours. They took a 7-6 victory in the ninth inning of a game suspended Aug. 15 and won 4-2 in a regulation game. Stan Lopata's three-run first inning homer sewed up the second game.

Robin Roberts pitched the one inning necessary to win the suspended game, gaining credit for his 23rd win of the season and his second in two days. The pair of victories moved the Phillies into a virtual tie with Cincinnati Redlegs for fourth place in the National League.

The suspended game resulted when the second part of a doubleheader on Aug. 15 was halted by the Pennsylvania curfew law. An inning cannot be played after 6:59 p.m. on Sunday in Pennsylvania. The score was 6-6 at the end of eight innings.

Roberts, who has lost 14 this year, allowed one hit in the Pittsburgh ninth and the Phillies delivered with a run in the last half of the ninth. Richie Ashburn singled, moved to second on a sacrifice and to third on another single .He scored when the Pirates' infield failed to complete an inning ending doubleplay.

Herman Wehmeier earned his 10th win against 11 setbacks in the nightcap. Ashburn had walked and Mel Clark singled before Lopata rapped a pitch out of the park.

Strength In Number Of Pitchers Won't Mean Much When Giants And Indians Clash In World Series

Cleveland—(AP)—The world series "war of nerves" already has begun between Al Lopez and Leo Durocher, the rival managers, as the Indians and Giants gear themselves for the big fall classic opening in New York next Wednesday.

Neither manager would say today who will be his opening day pitcher. The guessing is that Sal Maglie (14-6) will open up for New York and Bob Lemon (23-6) for Cleveland, but nobody knows for sure.

Some observers seemed to think Early Wynn (22-11) would get the Indians' starting assignment over Lemon because Lopez designated Early to pitch today's game against Detroit and work Lemon Saturday. The Indians' pilot denied such intention.

Word came from New York that Durocher won't decide between Maglie and Johnny Antonelli, (21-7) the young southpaw ace, until the Giants work out Tuesday.

"If Maglie starts for them," Lopez said, "I'll probably pitch Lemon because he's a lefthanded hitter. If Antonelli opens, I'll go with Wynn, who bats from either side."

Anyhow, it will be Lemon and Wynn, or Wynn and Lemon with big Mike Garcia (19-8) pitching the third game.

Reservations For Olympic Games Start In April

Melbourne — (CP) — Admission prices for the 1956 Olympic Games here will range from £5 (or $11) for the best seats at the boxing finals to five shillings (45 cents) for the cheapest seats at the wrestling and weightlifting.

The chairman of the Olympic Games organizing committee, W. S. Kent Hughes, said overseas and Australian reservations for the games will start next April.

He said tickets will be sold from 4,000 places under a box-office scheme covering every town and city in Australia.

"Blocks of seats for every Olympic program will be reserved for overseas visitors," Kent Hughes said. "Australian banks will act associated with them overseas and the airlines will do the same."

Philadelphia A's To Be Discussed By Club Owners

Chicago—(AP)—American League club owners will meet in New York Tuesday to discuss the Philadelphia Athletics situation, league president Will Harridge announced Thursday.

Harridge significantly pointed out the owners would meet with Roy Mack, one of the Athletics' controlling clan.

Earl Mack has been in favor of disposing of the Athletics, while his brother, Roy, has been bitterly opposed to moving the club from Philadelphia.

Ottawa To Have Replacement For John Gramling

Toronto — (CP) — The Canadian Rugby Union has cleared the way for Ottawa Rough Riders to obtain a replacement for quarterback Johnny Gramling, due to report to the United States Air Force Sept. 24.

Dr. W. A. Campbell, CRU president, said the CRU executive has agreed to a request for reinstatement into the constitution of the clause permitting the replacement of an import player who is called into the armed services.

The CRU's action is particularly significant for the Rough Riders because of Gramling's expected departure, but it also allows any other club to obtain a replacement should any import be called into the armed services.

Montreal Royals Meet Syracuse In League Finals

Montreal Royals and the Syracuse Chiefs, third and fourth respectively during the regular campaign, open the International League's final playoff series Saturday night in Montreal. The winner of the best-of-seven set goes into the little world series against the American Association champion.

The Royals moved into the finals Thursday night with a ninth-inning 4-3 victory over Rochester Red Wings. The victory gave the 1953 Governor's Cup winner and little world series champions the best-of-seven series, 4-2. Syracuse previously eliminated Toronto by the same margin.

Dixie Howell's pinch single, high off the right field scoreboard in Montreal, scored Dick Young with the winning run and broke a season-long losing streak to Jack Faszholz. The Rochester righthander beat the Royals four times during the regular season play and twice in the playoffs.

Ken Lehman, losing pitcher in both of Rochester's victories, allowed only one hit in five innings after going to the relief of Joe Black. Lehman was credited with the win.

Giles Reverses Umpire's Decision

Cincinnati —(AP)— President Warren C. Giles of the National League Thursday upheld Cincinnati's protest of Wednesday's ball game with Milwaukee and ordered it resumed today at the point where the Redlegs had two men on base with two out in the 9th inning.

The game will be finished before the regularly scheduled scheduled contest between the Braves and the St. Louis Cards.

The Redlegs were given a penalty third out in the 9th after Bob Borkowski fanned on a wild pitch with one out and ran for first base. Catcher Del Crandall threw to third baseman Eddie Mathews to head off a runner and when that failed Mathews threw to first, hitting Borkowski. The ball rolled into right field.

Gus Bell and Wally Post, who were on the bags, scored for Cincinnati.

The four umpires ruled that Borkowski had drawn a throw by his illegal presence on the baseline and declared Bell out as a penalty.

Virginia Dare, the first white child born in America, was born on Roanoke Island, Va., which now is part of North Carolina.

Some Dogs Are Badly Affected By Toad Saliva

By JOE STETSON

"Killed by a hoppy toad! Who are you kidding?"

Jack brushed the statement off with the scorn of one who was not going to be taken over with the ease of a rank amateur. The statement seemed so ridiculous to him that he didn't even consider the possibility.

What Jack didn't know was that dogs are especially susceptible to the skin secretions and the saliva of the toad. This is the toad's protection against members of the dog family who would otherwise be a constant menace to the species. In fact, without its special protection, the toad might become an item on the canine menu, at least for hungry dogs.

True, there are relatively few dogs seriously affected by toads. The odor of the toad's secretion is obnoxious to a dog, and little if any of the poison is contacted. Should a dog be too careless or indiscriminate, however, he might get a sufficient does of toad poison to make him extremely ill and in rare cases the contact might be extensive enough to cause death.

Extreme toad poisoning causes nausea, vomiting, and heart failure. Should the rare case be encountered, it should be remembered to keep the dog warm until treatment can be given to restore normal activity. The veterinarian (in cases where the vomiting is severe or consciousness is reduced, he should be called) can give treatment to counteract the poison.

It is rather unusual for a dog to continue to press his case against a toad once he has gotten a sample of what is in store for him. Puppies are particularly curious about toads and will continue to pester them up to a certain point. The point is usually reached when the repulsive fluid is secreted. Once the lesson is learned the particular toad and all toads have an established immunity.

It is the over-zealous puppy who is more apt to come to grief before he has learned his lesson well. The dog who considers the toad's reaction as a personal affront and appoints himself a committee of one to make war on all toads has had it.

Don't worry about the hoppy toad. He is never the aggressor and wishes only to be left alone, but should his defense prove too effective, you'll know how and what to do about it.

Cheapest Part Of Fishing Rod Very Important

Relatively speaking, the cheapest part of any rod is the ferrules. A manufacturer usually has more of an investment in the varnishing and thread winding operations than he does in the all important "joints" of a rod.

Other than the fact that ferrules allow a rod to be broken down into convenient sections for carrying, these unobstrusive plugs and joining sockets serve no function.

But oh, the ferrules that don't work! And the ferrules that break! This researcher recommends nickel silver ferrules, and I'll tell you why!

Nickel silver is an alloy consisting of nickel, zinc, and copper. When cold drawn to a hard temper the alloy's ultimate strength is roughly 15,000 pounds per square inch. So even very thin wall sections are super strong when used in a rod.

When polished, a bright silver-like finish is obtained, and it retains that lustre for about a year. Slow oxidation will take place on the surface until it gradually turns a pearl gray in color. But this can be polished again.

The zinc in this alloy gives it a greasy, self-lubricating property which permits easy joining and disjoining of the ferrules even if you neglect to keep them oiled.

Probably the second most used ferrule metal is brass. Hard drawn, bright plated brass is commonly found on low grade rods for reasons of economy. But I have seen brass ferrules on very expensive rods also.

If critically made they are acceptable, but the fatigue life of brass is short compared to nickel silver. Hard drawn brass tends to crack with age and its resistance to corrosion is poor unless it is plated.

Brass, however, is not nearly as poor as aluminum which enjoyed a recent vogue.

Closely fitted aluminum members are characteristically difficult to assemble, and in some cases practically impossible to dismantle, unless surface-treated or lubricated. Aluminum alloys with anodized surfaces have been used in the manufacture of ferrules since the close of World War II, but have enjoyed no widespread acceptance. The hard surface is extremely thin, and although performing quite well when new, wears rather rapidly to expose the untreated metal below.

Ice on Baffin Island's mile-wide Highway Glacier has been clocked and is reported to have moved about 1,000 feet in five years.

Durelle Decisions Gordon Wallace

Moncton —(CP)—Yvon Durelle retained his Canadian light heavyweight boxing title Thursday night against a second bid by Gordon Wallace of Brantford, Ont.

The three judges unanimously favored the champion from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., in the 12-round bout.

Durelle then made a surprise announcement that he is retiring from the ring.

He weighed 167, three pounds more than Wallace. The challenger gained an early lead but ran out of steam in the middle rounds. His rally near the end came too late.
