and departments of the university by Montreal schools, as well as arranging for tour guides, drawn from student volunteers. Mr. Anderson is co-producer of "Revuer's Choice," a selection of songs and skits from such past successes as "My Fur Lady," "Wry and Ginger," and "Reign or Shine," which makes its debut tonight, 8 p.m., at Moysse Hall. —Tedd Church Photo

Historic ceremony at Trois Rivieres as monument dedicated to Ezekial Hart

Alan Judah Hart of Westmount, descendant of the first Jew to settle in Canada, took part in a historic ceremony at Trois Rivieres yesterday when that city and the Canadian Jewish Congress dedicated a monument to Ezekial Hart, son of Canada's first Jewish settler, Aaron Hart.

Ezekial Hart, twice elected to the Legislative Assembly of Lower Canada in 1807 and 1808, was each time refused the right to take his seat in the house. He lived to see the passage of the Act of 1832 which granted full rights and privileges to all citizens — the first such legislation in the British Commonwealth.

Mr. Alan Hart represented the Hart family at the dedication, part of the current celebration of the National Bicentenary of Canadian Jewry.

Another Westmounter, Samuel Bronfman, president of the Canadian Jewish Congress, made the presentation of the Hart monument to the province's representative, Hon. J. Paul Beaulieu, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Mr. Lavy M. Becker, Bicentenary chairman, presided during the ceremony, and Mayor Laurent Paradis of Trois Rivieres accepted a commemorative plaque to be set in the city's Champlain Park.

Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

October 24 to 31

Morning frosts or cold mists, with bright days and clouding evenings. Tropical storms often pass near or through our regions at this time. Temperature range 30-55°F, but colder in the north. This is the time automobiles should be winterized.

Sunny intervals, with cold showers and some thunder; snow in the north. Becoming much colder at night.

Warming again, and improving generally for a clear, pleasant weekend.

$117,300 committed for power, lighting

A total commitment of $117,300 was made by Westmount City Council at a meeting Monday evening to cover the cost of new street lighting on Victoria, Grosvenor, Cedar, Montrose, Edgell and Lexington avenues, part of a two-year program for revamping the city's electrical facilities.

Assistant City Manager Norman Dawe stated later that preliminary work on these streets will be done this fall, the remainder to be completed in the spring.

The commitment provides for removal of existing standards in these areas, and installation of 124 new light standards, plus additional power supply.

At a motion in council, tender of Peter McCuaig Ltd., in the amount of $3,590 for electrical installation at Glen and Oliver street substations was accepted. This was the lower of two tenders for the work submitted before deadline. Alderman Bovaire explained, four contractors have been invited to tender taking out plans and specifications.

Commitment was subsequently made of $4,840, covering the cost of electrical installations at the substations, plus work to be carried out by the Light and Power Department, contingencies, and supervision.

Additional commitment of $4,635 was made by council for repairs to Bethune street subway. Alderman Gates stated that the original commitment of $10,600 was based on an estimate by Creaghan & Archibald Ltd. for a fixed sum of $7,000 for certain portions of the work, plus an estimated $3,500 for removal and replacement of unsound concrete. He added that the amount of unsound concrete that it was necessary to remove has proved to be double the original estimate.

FIVE YEAR GUARANTEE

Commitment of $3,500 was made covering the cost of repairing selected portions of "spalled" sidewalk on Sunnyside and Clarke avenues. Concern about the erosion of sidewalks has led the city to conduct research to establish the specific cause of the phenomenon as yet not pinpointed. The present work will be carried out by Metallcrete Floor Co. Ltd., who have placed a five-year guarantee on their work.

QUARTER CENTURY CLUB

City employees Harold Matiland Rowe and Edward Lewis Denbeigh of the Fire Department, and Thomas Mitchell of the Roads Department were nominated for admittance to the Quarter Century Club Monday night by Alderman Drury. An official dinner is to be given later in the year.

Acting Mayor for the months of November, December and January will be Alderman L. W. Bovaire.

mount hold their semi-annual political question and answer evening, Thursday, 8:15, at Victoria Hall. The meeting is open to the public.

MP's Heward Grafftey of Brome-Missisquoi, and Egan Chambers of St. Lawrence-St. George, will take the stand in the Green Room at Victoria Hall, and attempt to answer all questions from the audience. "It is audience participation which will make this 'political free-for-all' a success," pointed out a young PC spokesman. "At a similar meeting last March with MP's John McGrath of Newfoundland, Frank McGee of Toronto, and Henry Best, executive assistant to the Minister of External Affairs, a large and keen audience made a very lively evening."

To address underwriters

Mr. G. M. Morton, upper Belmont avenue, a long-time associate of The Manufacturers Life Insurance Company, will address the Niagara Peninsula Sales Congress today in Hamilton, Ontario, where the group is currently meeting.

A member of the Life Insurance Fraternity, Mr. Morton will speak to 800 Life Underwriters. He has been sought as an inspirational speaker at similar gatherings in many eastern United States and Canadian cities.

Penny Carnival tonight for members and parents

By MAURICE MARIASINE

Club members and their parents are invited to attend Unity's 1959 Penny Carnival which takes place this evening at 7 p.m. The funds derived from the carnival will be turned over to the Red Feather Campaign.

Fun galore is in store for the youngsters who attend. A variety of carnival games has been planned and a large number of prizes will be available for the more skillful and also for those holding lucky door prize tickets. Come and have your fortune told by Indian Lore Expert Louis Thomas.

As usual, the Unity Boys' Club will hold a Hallowe'en Party for its Club members. On Friday night, October 30th, the Unity Teen Hop will conduct a special Hallowe'en Dance with novelties, prizes and refreshments. Tomorrow afternoon, the younger set will romp and play at a party starting at 2 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded for costumes, best, original and most comical. Refreshments will also be served.

Musical Director Fred Johnston is at the Club every Tuesday evening from 6:30 p.m. to conduct rehearsals and auditions for the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade which provides entertainment for worthwhile organizations as a public service. On October 9, the Talent Parade entered at Lake Placid, N.Y. for a district Rotary Conference. Requests for future shows come from Binghamton, N.Y. and Boston, Mass. Local shows include the Fairmount Chapter of the Masonic Order and the Federal Training Center of St. Vincent de Paul. It is also expected that the group will return to the Queen Mary Veteran's Hospital to do a Christmas Show for the patients at that institution.

Danny Smith, well-known locally as one of Montreal's top dance instructors, is at the Unity Boys' Club on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday for the purpose of providing dance instruction in tap, rhythm and precision dance routines. Danny Smith is responsible for the tremendous success achieved by the Starlites and the Charleston Group who this year made such a big hit on Talent Caravan over CBMT and Canadian Talent Search over WCAX Burlington. Danny is in charge of the Unity Cuties, a precision dancing group and is also in the process of preparing a junior group for future variety shows. Club members who would like to belong to one of the dancing groups may enroll with girls' work supervisor Crystal Cunningham.

There is still time to enroll in one of the various arts and crafts classes. The following arts and crafts are being conducted regularly: woodwork, embroidery, puppetry, paper sculpture, creative crafts, copper tooling, figurines, art woodwork, painting and art. As soon as leaders become available, other selective classes will begin. We are still

Anthony Blair heads slate of new Junior Hi-Y Club

A new junior Hi-Y Club was organized at the Westmount, YMCA last Friday evening, with club executive as follows: president, Anthony Blais; vice-president, Ronald McJannett; secretary-treasurer, David MacRae; chaplains, Donald Guadagni and Peter Svendsen; program committee, John Tilley and Peter Svendsen; service committee, Donald Guadagni and Paul Latcur.

The club's advisor is Garry Norris, one of Westmount Y's Fellowship secretaries who is attending Sir George Williams College and is employed at the YMCA. Garry will help the group to plan and carry out their own programs, which will include among other things swimming and basketball.

Junior Hi-Y is a club program for girls or boys, who are attending the Westmount Junior High School or in grades seven-nine. The clubs have adults as their advisors and meet either in the homes of the club members or at the YMCA building. If there are any boys or girls who are interested in forming their own club; or parents who wish more information regarding the organization and programs of Junior Hi-Y groups, they are asked to contact Ron Watt, Youth Work Secretary at the Westmount YMCA — WE. 7-3916.

The Y's Teen Club will not be operating their dance tomorrow evening, however they will resume dances on October 31 at 8.45 p.m. This dance will be a "hat dance" with prizes awarded for the funniest hats with a Hallowe'en theme. The club executive and members are planning a few special events and would like all teenagers 15-19 years of age who are interested in assisting with program to come to the weekly meetings at the Y, Mondays at 4 p.m. Contact Club president Alex Ross for further information regarding membership in Teen's Club and its program.

Plans for this year's Annual Hobby Show are underway, with committees and members of committees, being selected during the next four weeks, in order to start making tentative plans for the event, to take place during the Easter Holidays 1960. If there are any teenagers who are interested in working on one of the many committees they should ask Ron Watt, Youth Work Secretary as soon as possible.

Capacity crowd gathers for Roslyn H-S meeting

The large gymnasium of Roslyn School was crowded to capacity Monday night when parents and teachers gathered for the first Home and School meeting of the season. Highlight of the evening was a talk by Principal W. A. Wilkinson, successor to Mr. George Penrose who retired last year after 25 years at Roslyn.

"The thought of stepping into the shoes of such a beloved principal as Mr. Penrose could have been frightening, if he hadn't told me he'd felt just the same way 25 years ago. His predecessor was at Roslyn for 24 years, I believe," said Mr. Wilkinson.

Mr. Wilkinson, whose dry sense of humor soon had the large audience chuckling, explained that he was not there to lecture parents, but to help them bring out the best in their children. To this end he had prepared and distributed a paper entitled "How to Study", and emphasized his points under four heads — parental interest, provision of essentials, place-time study habit, and plan.

Parental interest, he said, can be established by the home atmosphere; where mutual respect between parents themselves, and between the parent and the child, plays an important part. "Praise should not be lavish," he stated. "Show your love in care for the children, not in gifts."

Life is full of problems which must be faced, and you should be happy to face these with your child, but not for him," Mr. Wilkinson pointed out. "Only your child can do the learning. Be willing to look at what they are doing, and have them explain it to you.

"Attention to school work is attention to academic progress," he emphasized. "Children want and need direction and discipline. Paradoxical as it may seem, the aim of every parent must be to make themselves unnecessary to their children. A child must become independent of his parents, and the only way to do so is through bitter but profitable experience."

The rights of a child include a place of his own in which to study, Mr. Wilkinson continued, even if it is only an orange crate beside his bed. He has a right to proper food and rest, to adequate materials—but not elaborate—to a quiet study hour when someone else answers the phone and messages are out until study time is over. Finally, he said, a child has a right to recreation.

The place-time study habit can be set through the parents' co-operation in removing distracting influences for this period, he stated. And this is the place to hear the child's lessons, a place and definite time which parents must respect as his study hour.

The advantages of a plan or schedule for the hours after school were outlined by Mr. Wilkinson. The child should fill in this plan himself, with the help of his parent, and when he finds that other activities are eating into his home-work time, must decide what to give up.

"There is no pill or injection for learning," the principal concluded. "Don't be afraid to let him fail achievement. It's often the only way to learn."

HERE'S HOW IT'S DONE: Roslyn School principal, Mr. W. A. Wilkinson points out an item on a paper he has prepared entitled "How to Study" — an aid for parents as well as pupils. With him is Roslyn Home and School Association president Mr. W. G. Buchanan. The paper was the main theme of his address to parents at Roslyn School Monday evening.

Wins honors at Bishop's prize-giving

Eighteen-year-old Bruce Stovel, 494 Wood avenue, walked off with eight prizes and one scholarship at Bishop's College School's annual prize-giving day in Lennoxville recently.

Now a first year arts student at McGill University, Mr. Stovel is the winner of the Capt. J. Melville Greenshields Memorial Scholarship, and various prizes for academic, athletic and all-round ability.

His awards included the Governor-General's medal; the Lieutenant-Governor's prize for Latin; the Warren Hale Essay prize; the Vice-Chairman's prize; the L/Cpl. Gerry Hanson prize for history; the Sixth Form prize for English; and the General Proficiency prize for passing McGill Junior Certificate exams with first class honors.

Mr. Stovel was also the recipient of a Bishop's College School tankard, one of only four students in the school to be thus distinguished.

The several honors accorded to Mr. Stovel followed the completion of his first year as a student in the Province of Quebec. He had previously attended the University of Toronto School, entrance to which is only acquired after passing stiff examinations.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Stovel, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Robb, for many years residents of Westmount.

Over 500 students and parents were present at the annual BCS prize-day which co-incided with dedication of a new school chapel.

WE SAY YOU SAY

Criticism of schools begins in the home

HOW do you send your youngsters to school?

Principal of a school in this area — unidentified here because the penetrating observations apply almost universally — this week took advantage of a "meet-the-teacher" night to tell off nicely the big attendance of parents.

Kids arrive at school sloppily dressed. Sloppy dress means sloppy habits, including of mind. A sloppy student can't be a good student.

Kids arrive too early. Inadequate breakfasts and certainly inadequate lunches are indicated. What's worse, they wear themselves out for classes at too-hard, unsupervised play on school grounds.

Kids are, surprisingly enough, not getting enough play. Parents who insist on too many extracurricular classes in ballet, art, music, judo, and what-have-you are depriving young people of the need to relax, play games, hobnob and explore as they please which is their right in out-of-school hours.

Kids aren't doing homework. They aren't given a quiet place to study, they are not denied radios, TV and telephone sessions for stated periods, and parents aren't hearing their work.

Before castigating the principal, the teachers, the curricula, the school system, how about some probing of the situation at home.

By the way . . .

I HAVE been deeply moved by the number of election candidates who have accused their opponents of "trying to win votes."

The accuser is apparently always completely convinced that he himself would never stoop to such a despicable trick. The last thing he wants is a vote.

THEY SAY!

There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, that it behooves all of us not to talk about the rest of us.

— Robert Louis Stevenson

No bad manners during K's visit

Dear Sir:

After having read a Canadian newspaper article referring to the bad manners of Americans in their reception of Khrushchev on his recent visit, I can state as one of the crowd in New York which saw Khrushchev, that there was no display of bad manners. Rather, this was a subdued, undemonstrative audience which had not become so brainwashed by TV and press coverage as to think that the leader of the country which has swallowed up ten countries since World War II had genuinely come here seeking peace, except under his terms, called co-existence. Khrushchev has said that the choice for America (and Canada) is co-existence or war but what he really means by co-existence is takeover of our countries by any means short of a shooting war. Communist tactics may change but the Communist aim of world domination is unchanging. It may be sweetened by a visit of the head man of the U.S.S.R. to the U.S., but underneath the affable exterior is a ruthless determination to further the cause of international Communism throughout the world.

We need to see this, to face it squarely, and to see how the hate, greed, fear and selfishness of each of us, which creates confusion and division in our countries, are the strength and essence of Communism. As long as Khrushchev can keep our minds occupied by our own personal schemes, ambitious causes and petty jealousies, he and his friends can take over the nations of the world one by one, while we are caught in the web of our own small world.

As a Canadian from the Town of Mount Royal, who has been living in New York for the past eight months, I have seen what a unique position Canada holds in the eyes of the rest of the world. We are, because of our location, closely tied economically, culturally and militarily with the U.S. and incidentally, very highly regarded by Americans. We are an important member of the Commonwealth, NATO, the UN, and because we have had no act of aggression against any other nation in our history, the newly-independent countries of Asia and Africa look upon us favorably. The challenge to each one of

Familiar figure to local students celebrates thirtieth anniversary

By JANE BARTLETT

Bill Green, custodian of Westmount High School, and good friend to more students who have passed through its halls than he cares to remember, celebrated an anniversary this month: it was exactly 30 years ago that he left the Westmount Police Force and joined the Westmount School Commission, where he started as custodian of Roslyn School.

Veteran of two world wars and hundreds of colorful adventures, Mr. Green was born in Blackburn, Lancashire, England. He was 16 years old when he first donned the uniform of the British army, travelling to the front in France, later to Ireland during the rebellion of 1916, then on to Malta, where he served for two years.

Returning to England, he found unemployment and general depression, and was soon on his travels again as a fireman aboard ship, with the hope of settling in Australia when and if he arrived there.

The trip was an eventful one — New Zealand, Australia, Tasmania and Tahiti — but he was fated not to become an Australian. His fellow-firemen were determined to land, however, and jumped ship "down under," leaving Bill Green the only fireman on the ship.

"We were 55 days getting to Tasmania," recalls Mr. Green, "and was I seasick until I got used to those tropical storms!"

Arriving in Montreal in 1925, where his sister lived, Mr. Green promptly joined the Westmount Police Force, remaining with it until 1929.

"A lot of walking," was his succinct comment on this phase of his life. "We'd do three hours out on the beat, work 14 hours on the night shift, 13 in the day. And the night shift had to answer fire-calls with the Fire Department as well."

In 1929, on a Saturday in October, Mr. Green walked his last beat, and on Sunday joined forces with the Westmount School Commission, whom he has served ever since.

He spent his first year at Roslyn School, and in 1930 moved to Queen's School, where Mr. A. W. Seaman was principal, and "one of the best men I ever worked with".

Mr. Green has never been one to do things by halves. In 1939, with the outbreak of war, Mr. Seaman left Queen's School, a new principal arrived and one day later Bill had enlisted in the Royal Montreal Regiment, RCASC.

us and to our nation as a whole is clear — are we going to be brainwashed by Communist-inspired ideas, live in division amongst one another in our own land, be blinded by our greed to the ideological weapon of trade offered by Khrushchev, live so in fear that we grab at vague disarmament proposals as our only hope, and allow our pride and smugness as a nation to destroy the indispensable unity with the United States.

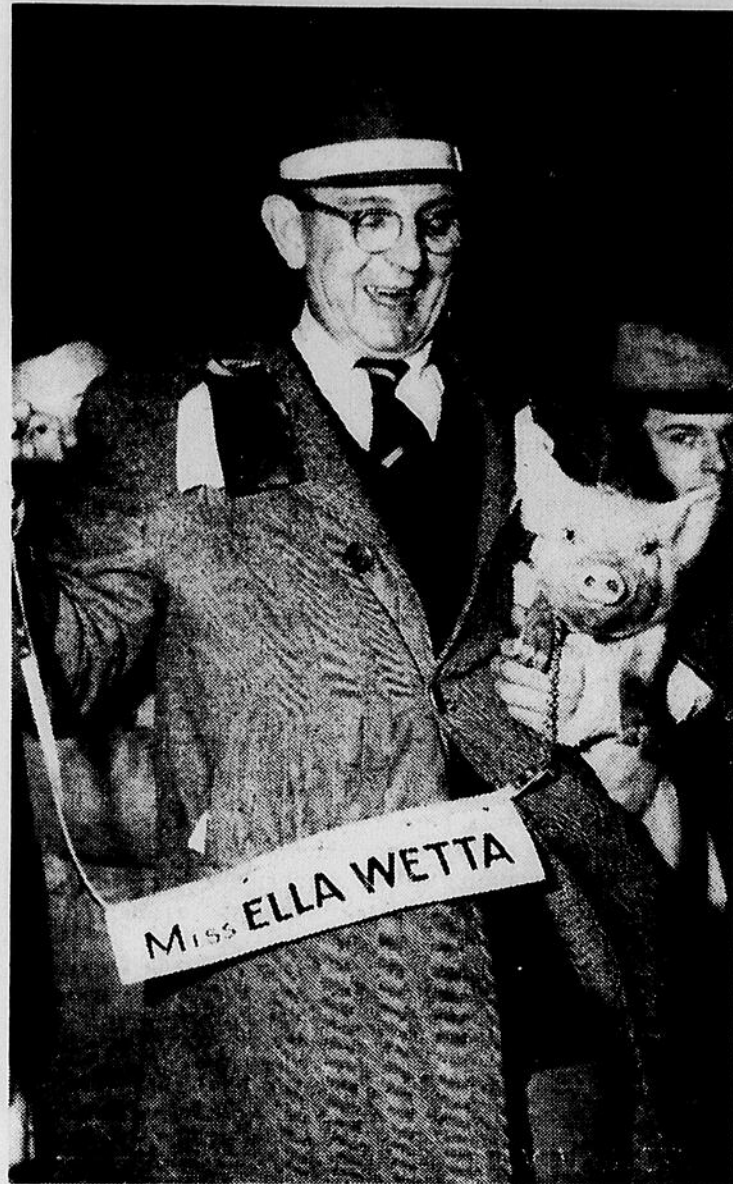

Or, are we going to truly live a positive alternative and accept absolute moral standards of honesty, purity, unselfishness and love under the guidance of God, so that He shall truly "have Dominion from sea to sea."

The choice is quite clearly put before us in the words of William Penn who said "men must choose to be governed by God or they condemn themselves to be ruled by tyrants."

Let us choose God's way and make Canada the nation she is meant to be with the destiny she is meant to have.

Yours truly,

SHEILAGH M. HICKIE.

Bill Green and friend

As a member of the Army Service Corps, he travelled to and from Britain on hospital ships and vessels carrying prisoners of war. And these were no lowly cargo boats—the Queen Mary, the "Queen Lizzie," the Athlone Castle, and four others, none of which were sunk during his voyages.

"The only trouble we ever had was outside Liverpool," says Mr. Green. "We were mixed up with a convoy, stuck in the middle of the Mersey, with Jerry dive-bombing all over the place. We just sat tight until it was all over, and came out safely."

His Atlantic crossings did not end with World War II; he continued until 1946 with the Army Service Corps, bringing British war brides across the ocean to Canada.

Westmount couldn't seem to do without him, however, and in 1946 W. R. Bertram, superintendent of the school board, wrote asking him to come back to Westmount High School as its custodian.

With the close of another chapter in his life, in which he had seen little of his family except daughter Joan, who was a member of the Army Show which toured England, Canada, and the front, Mr. Green spent a well-deserved, month-long holiday at home, then taking up his duties at WHS.

In the past few years, Mr. Green has also been custodian of the Alouette Majorette squad. An avid football fan himself, he travels to Grey Cup games when the squad attends, and one year found himself in charge of a grunting piglet, "Miss Ella Wetta," which was presented by the Mayor of Edmonton to the then Miss Alouette.

His daughter Joan, now living in Long Island, N.Y., now has four children; another daughter, Olive, one; and son, Bill Junior, a member of the Westmount Fire Department, three.

UNICEF's goblins set for Hallowe'en

If an apparently fresh kid knocks on your door this Hallowe'en and shakes a can in your face while mumbling something about a "shellout"—don't get annoyed.

The youngster may not grasp the full meaning of his mission. But if he is wearing a small black and orange UNICEF tag, he is on a work of mercy.

He will be one of several hundred West End and Verdun youngsters abroad in the neighborhoods this Oct. 31. The pennies, and the larger coins he collects, will go towards purchasing milk and medicine for children in the deprived areas of the world.

Adam Sherriff Scott top art show choice

By VALENTINA RAHR

THE BALLOT BOX at the exhibition of the Independent Art Association was opened last night, and the results were announced. First place went to Adam Sherriff Scott, RCA, Western avenue, for his oil painting "Kelp Gatherers"; second place to Miss Alice Rawstron, Grosvenor avenue for "Peonies"; and third place to Harold Boyes for "Bath Rock, Mass". The show will continue until tomorrow at the T. Eaton Co. Ltd. on the ninth floor.

RT. HON. LORD SHAUGHNESSY, Metcalfe avenue, is president of the Royal Commonwealth Society, Montreal Branch. "Canada now contributes 50 million dollars a year in goods and services for the countries of south and southeast Asia under the Colombo Plan" stated Dr. O. E. Ault, director of economic and technical assistance branch (E T A & B) Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, to a meeting of the Royal Commonwealth Society recently.

"Canada's aid is given in goods and services. In the bilateral aid programs, (that is, the Colombo Plan), to the West Indies and Ghana, no money is given as such. Projects are agreed upon with a high Canadian content, and the resultant machinery, locomotives, construction equipment, etc. are sent to the country concerned. Services are provided by experts who are needed to build, organize, construct, study or direct the project. Trainees also come to Canada to study our methods or to take professional courses or post-graduate work at our universities.

"We now have over 400 fellows and scholars in Canada under our aid program, from 23 countries. Next year we shall have a further 125 under the Commonwealth Scholarship Plan. We have 60 Canadian experts abroad, and have requests for 50 more. These experts remain in the assisted countries for a period from 3 months to 5 years. The range of need is very wide. Sharing our resources, our knowledge, our accumulation of experience with others," concluded Dr. Ault "is a great national pride." Lord Shaughnessy chaired the meeting.

YVES THERIAULT, Victoria avenue, versatile Canadian bilingual writer, took part in a panel discussion with Jean Simard, novelist, and Naim Kattan, journalist and critic, at a meeting of the Anglo-Canadian and French writers held recently at St. Saviour des Monts. Later on during the week, poet Frank Scott, Clarke avenue, conducted a panel discussion on Anglo-Canadian literature.

In connection with "Le Bal des Oiseaux" to be held tomorrow in the Ballroom of the Windsor Hotel, Mme. Diesel shop in Glen yard in CNR plan

The Canadian Pacific Railway has awarded the contract for construction of its projected new rail diesel car serving shop at Glen Yards, in Westmount, to the Robert M. Miller Construction Company Limited, of Montreal.

The agreement for the $233,500 project was announced two weeks after the closing of the call for tenders, which were accepted from August 20 to September 17.

The shop, a one storey, steel frame building surfaced in concrete and with a flat metal roof, will measure 260' by 47'. It will function as a maintenance centre for work on RDC "Dayliners" in operation on CPR lines. Services Dayliners will receive in this shop will be the customary ones received previously. They will be inspected, lubricated, have their transmission apparatus checked, be watered, etc. However, fueling or repairs, in this garage-type establishment will not be done. RDC stands for "rail diesel cars."

Foundations for the service shop will be laid this fall, and the entire structure is expected to reach completion by the spring of 1960.

McGill plans, SGW swamped as college enrollment soars

In a discussion of "Changing policies for university entrance — Where does your child fit in?" held at Westmount Junior High, Colin McDougall, registrar of McGill University had this to say:

"A policy of limited enrolment will have to be followed if we are to maintain our present educational level, and to prevent McGill from becoming an unmanageable colossus."

Forecasts predict that by 1965, due to the "baby boom" of the forties, McGill student capacity should be at least 14,000. "Not more than 9,500 or 10,000 students can be handled if we are to fulfill lege Board Tests, would show the capacity of a student to meet the work requirements at McGill.

To maintain its tradition, McGill would still keep open about 1,000 places for students from foreign countries, and 1,000 places for students from other provinces, he explained. No Canadian student able to meet the entrance requirements has ever been turned away from McGill.

TURNED AWAY HUNDREDS

Douglass Burns Clarke told the meeting that Sir George Williams College has been watching McGill to see how they would handle the "battle of the bulge," but that the emergency condition had already reached Sir George last year. "We are operating on a 'first come first served basis,'" he said.

"We cannot think in terms of ten years from now, or what will happen in 1965. Last September we turned away hundreds of applicants. The emergency conditions exist now. Watching McGill, we are tempted to raise our entrance requirements also, to cut down the number of students."

Mr. Clarke told how students come to them for advice on what they can do for a lifetime, what should they do, what are they fitted for? "No one can tell," he commented. "The most perishable of all commodities is youth. It is unpredictable. Personality changes, tastes, attitudes change rapidly.

What should a student do, what course to take, is he fit material for a college training? If you can tell us how a student will react when he first fails in love — will he brood and stop his studies? — will he become fired by ambition and work harder? — then I can tell you what kind of a risk he is.

"There are other factors involved. How will he react in a family crisis? financial reverses? other emergencies; in case of his father's death; in case of a broken home. His whole general motivation counts to show what kind of a risk he will be, and not only how many marks he gained in a test."

Mr. Clarke went on to say that for the present no changes are contemplated for entrance requirements — that they would rather take in more and make sure that they really got the ones who belong in college, than take in less, and perhaps miss out the one who should be at college.

COLIN M. McDOUGALL

McGill's future. A process of selection will have to be installed," he stated.

Although the process of selection is still in the hypothetical stage, a process of limited enrolment will follow along these lines:

1. Transcript of school studies, to be ready by Easter or March, to be shown by applicant;
2. Recommendation from the principal of the school attended;
3. Results of examinations written not later than winter or early spring, such as the American Col-

'Canadians for Canadian museums' stressed as Gyde Shepherd begins curatorial studies

Gyde Vanier Shepherd, 23, of 431 Mount Stephen avenue, is one of two curatorial students to begin studies at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, in co-operation with the National Gallery of Canada. The announcement was made this week by Dr. Evan H. Turner, director of the Museum.

Lack of professional Canadian staff over the years has forced museums to give their key posts to non-Canadians.

Grants from The Canada Council have permitted two curatorial trainees to begin studies at the Museum here. After two months, they will transfer to the Royal Ontario Museum and finally, complete their academic year at the National Gallery in Ottawa.

Also studying at the Montreal Museum is Miss Marie-Louise Funke, 34, of Morrisburg, Ont.

Mr. Shepherd, nephew of Governor General George P. Vanier, has studied in Canada, the United States and England, majored in history and political science at McGill and Oxford Universities, and has the Lord Beaverbrooks Gallery in Fredericton, N.B.

Prof. Constable will hold seminars for the two trainees in each of the cities where they study. In addition, he will accompany them in New York to introduce them to the operation of the international art market.

While here, Mr. Shepherd and Miss Funke will work under Dr. Turner, Associate Director Edward Cleghorn and Miss Ruth Jackson, the Museum's registrar-cataloguer.

They will also be required to undertake some academic work at McGill's Fine Arts Department.

At the Museum, the students will do research, cataloguing and marking, install exhibitions and assist in the selection of material for the Gallery XII exhibitions, following the procedures of hanging and dismantling an exhibition.

Mr. Shepherd and Miss Funke were selected over four other applicants for the course. Each received a $2,000 grant as well as travelling expenses.

Prof. Constable said he has been aware of the "extraordinary shortage" of competent Canadian museum staff since 1928, when he was asked by the trustees of the National Gallery to undertake an extensive study of art in Canada. His recommendations became a virtual blueprint for the development of the National Gallery.

In 1955, he was retained to make a second survey and suggest how museums in Canada could be developed and expanded. Handling of treasures will be considered important, as well as following One of his recommendations was that Canadians be trained to run this nation's museums. The Massey Report advocated a similar policy.

With Alan Jarvis, until recently director of the National Gallery, Prof. Constable took up the problem with The Canada Council. The council agreed the question was within its terms of reference.

The course at present runs from Oct. 1 to June 1—the regular university year—but it is hoped to extend it in 1960-61 for a full 12 months. It is also hoped that Canada Council will help the trainees in further studies in Europe.

been active in college art circles.

Director of the course is Prof. W. G. Constable, internationally-known art authority. He has been director of the National Gallery of London, the Courtauld Institute of London, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, an advisor to the National Gallery of Canada and, in the past, the Montreal Museum. He is also a distinguished author.

Times Russian correspondent to speak on Soviet challenge

Eminent Russian correspondent to the New York Times, Mr. Harrison Salisbury, addresses the Temple Emanu-El Forum Wednesday evening at 8.30 p.m. on "A New Look at the Soviet Challenge".

A newsmen of stature in the field of foreign correspondence, and author of "American in Russia", Mr. Salisbury's records indicate a long history of prominent news-coverage.

Formerly editor of the University of Minnesota Daily, he covered the Chicago gang wars for the United Press during Prohibition, and the Income Tax Evasion trial of Al Capone. During World War II was London manager of the United Press, and covered North Africa and the Big Four meetings.

He accompanied Eric Johnson, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, through Russia in 1944, and in 1945 was foreign news editor for United Press, joining the New York Times as Moscow correspondent in 1949. In Russia for 5 years, he has covered the Soviet Union extensively, visiting the Ukraine, Leningrad, Stalingrad. In 1953 he covered Soviet Central Asia — the first time an American correspondent visited this area. In 1957 he made a prolonged tour of Soviet satellites, including Yugoslavia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Poland, Bulgaria and Albania.

This year, Mr. Salisbury spent four months revisiting the Soviet Union, including a long visit to Mongolia, and was one of the newsmen to accompany Vice President Nixon to the Soviet Union. Lately he represented the New York Times on Khrushchev's American tour.

MR. MONROE ABBEY, 519 Clarke avenue, Montreal, chairman of the National Bicentenary of Canadian Jewry, will present the proclamation of faith and thanksgiving to Mayor Sarto Fournier at Montreal City Hall, Wednesday at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Adelaide Hoodles, who founded the Women's Institute, at Stoney Creek, Ontario, in 1897, also introduced the teaching of domestic science in Canadian schools and was one of the founders of the National Council of Women. —Quick Canadian Facts

McGill plans welcome for 50,000 visitors

McGill students are planning to welcome 50,000 citizens of all ages to the campus for the third Open House in the university's history, on Oct. 23 and 24.

Plans for the mammoth event were announced by R. Jamie Plant, law 3, Chairman of the Open House Committee which has the active cooperation of professors and researchers.

In issuing a welcome to the public, the student Chairman stated that "we want to show citizens, and particularly the young, the facilities McGill has to offer in education and research, and how the university is adjusting to the needs of modern society."

"We, the members of the Open House Committee, believe that the advantages of higher education will be graphically displayed in the Open House exhibits and, as well, ways and means of financing a college career will be detailed through an explanation of the university's bursary-loan system.

"Student guides will tell McGill's story in both English and French. On the opening afternoon special arrangements are being made to greet high school students. Members of the faculty will be on hand to explain the work of the various departments and divisions, and discuss career opportunities."

Westmount Public Library re-opens Monday: expansion will accommodate 100,000 books

Westmount Public Library staff are preparing for an influx of eager viewers and hungry book-borrowers when the library re-opens its doors to the public Monday.

It is a very different library that visitors will see — more room for browsing, cheerful terra-cotta and pale oyster decor, re-arrangement of books and librarians' desks. Biggest feature is the completely new children's library. Total expansion is aimed at eventually accommodating 100,000 books.

The summer and fall months during which the library was closed for renovations was no holiday, states Miss Kathleen Jenkins, chief librarian. Staff members had to pack every book in the library into some 1500 cartons, which were stacked to the roof of the reference department. It was a standing joke among librarians that most of the cartons bore the labels of two well-known Montreal breweries, who had donated them.

This work fell to Miss Jenkins and her eight staff members: children's librarian Miss Catherine Fraser, Miss Margaret Good, Miss M. Martna, Miss Muriel Brown, Mrs. Margaret Rollit, Mrs. Nora Bryant, Mrs. Helen Clayton, and Mrs. Mary Nicholls. Ten thousand feet of steel shelving in the newly located book-stacks provide for expansion, and re-arrangement of librarians desks will facilitate greater supervision in the stacks and in the reference department, Miss Jenkins states.

"It's amazing how well the old building has fitted into re-planning," she added, "although there was a great deal of renovation work there that we couldn't foresee, resulting in

The old children's library has been converted into offices and workrooms for the staff. inevitable delay."

J. C. A. Laferriere:

Ability of society to forgive plays big role in prisoner rehabilitation

A jail can be either a human warehouse or a rehabilitation centre, and the architectural aspect of prison has very little to do with the heart of the problem, according to J. C. A. Laferriere, Deputy Director, Federal Training centre, St. Vincent de Paul.

Speaking to members of Westmount Rotary at the club's weekly luncheon meeting Wednesday, Mr. Laferriere explained that in a human warehouse, any change of attitude from bad to good on the part of the inmate is purely incidental.

Being sentenced, he said, does not create the same impression on every individual. Age, family situation and relationship, first or repeated offence, nature and circumstances of the offence — all these will be influential factors. For the "old fish," he continued, imprisonment is but the consequence of a calculated risk; for the young first offender, being sent to prison often causes feelings of fear, sorrow, despair and in some cases sincere remorse.

Borrowing a phrase from the former warden of Wisconsin State Prison, John C. Burke, Mr. Laferriere said: "What counts in a prison is "a strong and practical educational system for the rebuilding of men."

In the old order of things, he explained prison schools and educational systems were merely tolerated. Today they are, and must be, insisted upon. No prison and no reformatory can claim to offer protection to the public unless it conducts within its wall a strong and practical educational system for the rebuilding of men.

Giving him human and decent treatment is one step towards changing his interior dispositions but . . . if, on the other hand, from the moment of his first offence the young inmate is left to feel that he is rejected by society it will be extremely difficult for him to adopt a wholesome attitude towards this society, he said.

Through the Citizens' Participation plan, Mr. Laferriere continued, which is the complement to our local treatment program, citizens on the outside are called upon to do exactly what good parents do when their children have done wrong.

The inmate choir which your Club has been sponsoring so generously for the past three years, provides our inmate population with living examples of good citizens. This, in fact, is more eloquent than any verbal teaching. It is a type of training that will last for life.

Bulbs and buildings

By
The Venerable

R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

The city will be a lovelier place next Spring because the Guides lit upon the idea of planting Golden Tulips to mark their Golden Jubilee; but the tulips will be no more interesting to see than were the Guides in their uniforms getting the ground ready for the bulbs on the third Saturday in October. I did not realize that twenty girls could do so good a piece of digging even with the help of a lone Ranger.

There are all kinds of ways in which the Guide Association could have marked its half-century, and some of them might have left more permanent effects; but none could exemplify the ideals of Guiding better than the planting of bulbs, which in six months are to spring into Golden Tulips. They will be a reminder of the Guide Association to their fellow-citizens; they will also be a reminder to the Guides themselves that they have used their own muscles and their own funds for the beautifying of their own City. Not a cent will come back in return. It is self-sacrifice for the sake of sheer beauty. If you will it is just plain extravagance. But someone has said that extravagance is a part of religion. Compare this with the attitude of the Councillors and real estate operators who would take the most precious asset of our city, as far as beauty is concerned, and cover it with steel and bricks and mortar simply to enrich the operators. No one pretends that it will beautify the city. There is no hint the city will be better off. There will merely be more people crowded between Cote des Neiges and Peel street. Most people would say that there are too many already. The best that any Councillor has been able to say is that the defenders of the Mountain are making a mountain out of a mole-hill. If it were possible to do such a thing many cities—who envy Montreal—would be glad to work such magic. A natural park like Mount Royal is a thing to envy.

Naturally the real estate operators want to go through with their scheme. They are not concerned in the city as it will be a century from now. They are concerned in a lovely situation for so many apartments at so much per month, with a total net revenue of so much. No one can blame them. Their business it to make money.

But when it comes to a show-down I prefer Girl Guides who create beauty with no return to builders who ruin beauty even at a profit.

Temple Emanu-El youngsters to hold procession of scrolls

Saturday Morning, at 10.30 a group of over 50 boys and girls entering the Temple-Emanu-El religious school, kindergarten and primary departments will participate in the procession of Scrolls led by confirmants and high school graduates of last year. Dr. Stern will present the member of the consecration class with miniature Sefer Torahs. A reception in honor of the consecrants will be held in the social auditorium.

Russian correspondent of the New York Times opens Temple Brotherhood season with an address Wednesday evening at 8.30 p.m. in the new Temple Sanctuary. Admission per person — $1.50. Ladies invited. The meeting is open to the community. Admission tickets may be obtained through the Temple office, WE. 7-3575 or through the following co-chairmen Peter Zinman, RE. 7-0756 or Lou Pont, HU. 8-5949.

Temple Emanu-El Youth Group will be hosts to the following Youth Groups from New England: Beth Israel Youth, Hartford, Conn.; Temple Sinai Youth, Boston; and Tifereth Israel Youth, Malden, Mass., on the week-end of October 30-November 1. A program of religious, educational and social activities will be followed. A special youth service will take place Friday evening, October 30 at 8.15 p.m. in the Temple Sanctuary following a Kid-dush reception.

Christianity offers new vision of Asia

"The Christian religion is the only one which offers new and real vision to the peoples of Asia," stated Rev. Sun Chool Chough of Korea at a press conference prior to his appearance at Wesley United Church Friday evening.

Mr. Chough is one of a four-man mission team which arrived in Montreal Friday to begin a two-month stay in Canada, under the auspices of the United Church of Canada, telling of the work which they are doing in their homelands. All four were at Wesley Church.

Mr. Chough's church in Seoul, Korea, is connected with the United Church, and was founded in 1898. In a land which has been the battleground of many wars and invasions, including the Japanese and Communist Chinese influxes, he spends a great deal of his time among refugees.

Koreans traditionally have followed the old religions of Shamanism and Buddhism, or subscribed to the ethical code of Confucius. Both the traditional religions have lost their vigor and become decayed, Mr. Chough feels, and Christianity, which co-incides with the coming of Western culture, is the only replacement which has proved acceptable. He believes that Christianity is now one of the strongest influences in Asia.

EASIEST CONVERTS

Also in Asia, Rev. Timothy Tam of Hong-Kong faces the problem of refugees from Communist China, the bulk of which are non-Christians.

In his missionary role, he finds the easiest converts among those who subscribe to moral or ethical codes, such as basic Confucianism. "Christianity offers a way of life, a belief and hope in God where before none existed for these people," he says.

Mr. Tam is a second-generation Christian, the son of a minister. His church is a member of the inter-denominational China Union of Churches.

Asked whether the many schisms and sects of Christianity confuse or bewilder converts, Mr. Tam stated that these are explained as due to the far-flung nature of the Christian Church. He states that in teaching Christianity in China, he attempts to interpret it within an Oriental framework.

SEARCH FOR TRUTH

Rev. Roy Neehall, who works among many Hindus and Moslems of the East Indian population of Trinidad, describes his work as "a search for truth".

"In approaching these people, the Christian worker must start at their religious level, not his, and lead them to the fuller revelation," he stated. "What these people believe in is not bad; it is merely, in our belief, and incomplete revelation of God as compared with Christianity."

"Educated Hindus, for example, believe in one God, but many manifestations of that one God. It is very difficult of the uneducated Hindu to distinguish between the God and the manifestation, and so they come to worship the manifestation," he added. "Our work in Trinidad is two-fold: the going work of the church among Christians, and the work among non-Christians."

The United Church of Canada has had a great impact in Trinidad, he stated. There has always been a strong connection between Canada and Trinidad in trade and industry, but the Canadians who came representing the church stayed.

"Some of our best candidates for the ministry are converts," he said. "We have not been gaining new members en masse — perhaps 100 a year — but most of our evangelistic work is done by these people, by ordinary members in daily contact with the non-Christian population, who impart the oral tradition and the Christian way of life."

Out of 410 parochial schools on the island of Trinidad, 356 are carried on by the Presbyterian Church of Trinidad, which is directly connected with the United Church of Canada.

NOTED MUSICIAN

Senor Henrique Sukuakueche of Angola, Portugese West Africa, is a preacher of note, and a fine musician whose organ performances and choral work are famous in his home land.

Mrs. Lovell Baker and her husband, missionaries of Dominion-Douglas United Church, visited Angola last year and were treated to a "singing welcome" by Sr. Sukuakueche and his Currie Institute Choir, a popular form of welcoming honored guests in that country.

"It was as much of a thrill as attending the Milan Opera," stated Mrs. Lovell, who was present at the press conference.

Sr. Sukuakueche was unwilling to enlarge on his musical achievements, but disclosed that he was working towards ordainments as a minister, and might extend his two-month stay in Canada to study further. He places a high value on education, and admitted that he had recently sold his organ to finance the university tuition of his two sons.

FACES FROM OTHER LANDS: A four man mission team drawn from far-flung parts of the globe arrived in Montreal Friday, under the auspices of the United Church of Canada, to begin a two-month tour of Canada, during which they will give public lectures, speak to

Westmount Baptist God's constancy is sermon theme

Rev. E. J. Bailey of Westmount Baptist Church will discuss "Christ and Buildings" Sunday morning at the regular service.

The theme of the sermon deals with the importance of building to man in this age of great cities, constantly changing, related to Christ's statement that change and decay do not affect God. On one occasion He replied to a request to view the wonderful building of the temple of Jerusalem, saying that the day would come when not one stone should be left upon another, a prophecy that was subsequently fulfilled.

Golden Age anniversary

At 11 a.m. Sunday The Golden Age Group, at St. James United Church, 463 St. Catherine street west, will observe their second anniversary. Reverend Norman Rawson will be in charge of the service. Reverend William Morris will preach the sermon and has taken for his topic, "This Wonderful Life".

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH URNER GOLDSBOROUGH, photographed following their wedding recently in St. James United Church. Mrs. Goldsborough was formerly Miss Olive Gwendolyn Bamford, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Bamford and of the late Mr. Bamford Sr., of Westmount, and Mr. Goldsborough is the son of Mrs. Joseph Charles Goldsborough and of the late Mr. Goldsborough of Baltimore, Maryland.

Miss Olive G. Bamford weds Mr. Joseph U. Goldsborough

The marriage of Olive Gwendolyn, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Bamford, and of the late Mr. Bamford Sr. of Westmount, to Mr. Joseph Urner Goldsborough, son of Mrs. Joseph Charles Goldsborough, and of the late Mr. Goldsborough of Baltimore, Maryland, was solemnized on Saturday at two o'clock in St. James United Church. The Reverend Norman Rawson officiated with Mr. Gifford Mitchell at the organ. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tucker sang a duet. The church was arranged with standards of white and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Harold B. Dolphin, was in an original gown of white Italian Rhodia brocade, fashioned on simple lines with a high neckline and long sleeves, its shaped bouffant skirt sweeping into a French dip hemline. Her veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet of stephanotis flowers and she carried her mother's prayerbook decorated with stephanotis flowers and trailing ribbons.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Kenneth U. Lunny, and Mrs. Frank P. Brady, who were gowned in bouffant frocks of Empire blue silk organza, with matching velvet wing caps, and carried colonial bouquets of shasta daisies. Miss Dawn Dolphin, niece of the bride, wore a white sprigged nylon frock over yellow taffeta, with matching velvet bandeau and carried a nosegay of yellow shasta daisies.

Mrs. Bamford, the bride's mother, was in a mist teal blue gown with matching satin hat and a corsage of white orchids.

Mrs. Goldsborough, was in a deep midnight blue taffeta frock with a cerise hat and a corsage of white orchids.

Mr. Allan H. Burns, Jr., acted as best man for Mr. Goldsborough and the ushers were Mr. Frank P. Brady, brother-in-law of the bride, Mr. T. Yates Goldsborough, uncle of the bridegroom, Dr. Stephen Van Lill, Mr. Edwin C. McFeeley, and Mr. William Pitt, Jr.

The reception was held at the Naval Officers Club, where white and yellow poms were used to decorate. Mrs. Miriam Simon played the piano.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Goldsborough left for the United States, the bride travelling in a matching costume of willow green wool under a pastel mink stole. Upon their return, they will reside in Baltimore, Maryland.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Joseph Charles Goldsborough, Mr. Allan H. Burns, Jr., Dr. Stephen Van Lill, Mr. Edwin C. McFeeley, Mr. William Pitt Jr., Mrs. Katherine Herbert, Mrs. Helen DeVerter, all of Baltimore, Maryland, Mr. T. Yates Goldsborough of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bamford Jr., of Ottawa, and Mr. Wesley Bamford of Chicago, Illinois.

Autumn

Each Season has its beauty
Why should we mourn for June?
When Autumn, with its glory
Of color, is in tune?
Goldenrod and asters nod,
A magic sheen of rusty sod.
Of Summer leaves, there is no dearth,
And logs, are gleaming on the hearth;
Why look for Spring or Summer air
With all this splendor everywhere?

Book Lovers Forum marks 15th season

October 28 will mark the opening lecture of the fifteenth season of Temple Emanu-El's Book Lovers' Forum. Mr. Walter O'Hearn, managing editor of the Montreal Star, will review "The Watch that Ends the Night", by Hugh MacLennan.

The meetings this season will take place in the beautiful new sanctuary of Temple Emanu-El, 4100 Sherbrooke street W. All meetings commence at 2.45 p.m.

On November 25 Rev. R. J. Berlis will review "Elizabeth the Great", by Elizabeth Jenkins.

Other lecturers this season will include Rev. Edgar J. Bailey, minister of Westmount Baptist Church; Mr. Robert A. Speirs, headmaster of Selwyn House School; Rabbi Harry Joshua Stern, spiritual leader of Temple Emanu-El, and Dr. Douglas Wilson of the editorial department of the Montreal Star.

At the meeting on October 28, the general chairman, Mrs. Harry Joshua Stern, will preside, and co-chairman of the day will be Mrs. M. Edmund Gordon, program chairman.

Book Lovers' Forum was founded fifteen years ago by Dr. Harry Joshua Stern and Mrs. Stern for the purpose of studying current literature and for bringing together into a cultural fellowship women of various denominations. Book Lovers' Forum is of city wide interest, with a membership of almost seven hundred. Non-members are always welcome.

The members of the executive committee of Book Lovers' Forum include Mrs. Harry J. Stern, general chairman; Mrs. Josef Aron, vice-chairman; Mrs. Joseph M. Bambiger, publicity; Mrs. M. Edmund Gordon, program; Mrs. William Gross, membership; Mrs. Abbey Sankoff, hospitality, and Mrs. Maurice Schwartz, secretary-treasurer.

Noted artists donate work for VON sale

Fleur Cowles, the famous American magazine personality who was President Eisenhower's Special Ambassador to the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth, will be one of the contributors to the sixth annual VON Art Show and Sale. The show takes place, with Mrs. Charles E. Frosst, of Westmount, as chairman, at the YW-CA, 1355 Dorchester street west, on Wednesday, November 4, from 11 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Miss Cowles, who now makes her home in England, has an exhibition of her paintings on at a New York gallery this month. Earlier in the year she held an exhibition of paintings at a London gallery. Her contribution to the Montreal show is an unusual and striking flower study, framed in silk and gold leaf, and she has donated the painting to be sold to aid VON work here. Montreal women met Miss Cowles when she spoke here a few years ago on the "Propaganda War in the Far East". She has just published a new book this year on Salvador Dali, and her writing career has included the work of a foreign correspondent, a newspaper columnist, and magazine editor.

With entries now closed for nounced that some 75 artists the show, the committee announced from the West End of the city will be among the 200 taking part. Entries have come from Canadian points as far away as Fort Churchill, in Manitoba, and one artist who specializes in flower painting, in New York, will be sending two oil paintings to the show.

Well-known artists who will be helping the VON this year will include H. McRae Miller, RCA, Adrien Hebert, RCA, and Oscar de Lall, RCA.

The clothes that Men like!

Fashion Page helps you solve the old problem

by JILL BUTTERFIELD

Shimmering sheath dress of black jersey woven with a gleaming gold lurex thread. Simple, relies on fabric for an undoubtedly stunning effect out of proportion to price —

Photographs by NORMAN EALES

Dreamy, languorous short evening dress in primrose yellow nylon with a finely tuckered bodice and cold-shoulder stole. Attractive, effective—

IT is a well-known fact that men are fashion blind. I have been to parties where almost every woman was in a high-priced black sheath dress and almost every man clustered around the one girl who wasn't.

How do you reconcile the clothes you like to wear with the ones he likes to escort? It is a question that worried Sheba to the end.

Normally daytime's no problem.

You can take care of the boss, maybe even try out a few fashion gimmicks the main male might never like, but at night-time that old question keeps coming back like a dirge.

I've asked the smartest, the necessarily anonymous (they never like to let you know they notice more than your eyes) men about the night-spots just what they like.

Now I know night-spots are not national. But even if your normal date is a shandy and a cinema (and a box of chocolates if it's Friday) you still have the many occasions when you want to go gay.

So here are the results of my research — with pictures to help.

TOP SHAPE — the full skirt — winning by seven to three over the slim one (although those that like them arrow-narrow are pretty fervent about it).

Men like skirts which swish and swing stiffened by masses of petticoats (though these should be a hidden virtue).

Waists must be there ("nice to get hold of") defined by belts, cummerbunds or clever shaping.

NO BLACK

TOP COLOUR — white. Our male census thought it good for all ages. Didn't consider it an ingenue's exclusive.

Liked, too, orange sherbet ("the colour French girls wear. It's sizzling on a blonde"), pale primrose ("because it's so clean-looking"). Out (surprisingly but unanimously) — plain basic black.

TOP TOP — dozens of different answers but all agreed that the "mind-your-eyes" strapless bodice is out unless it's prettied with frills, tucks or draping.

Apricot crystal organza (other colors too) makes a frilly bodiced dress. Note wide belt, jewel-buckled.

The girl with an almost bare bosom is a riot — but only when she's with somebody else.

TOP FABRICS — the stiffened sheers (net, nylon over net and organza). Coming up, fabrics with "interest" — moires, two-texture satins. New loves — anything with glitter — lots of it, woven in.

When
falling in love gets a habit

by Corinne Calvet

"MY problem," said Corinne Calvet, who wore glass slippers, a white satin negligée, and looked exactly like a girl who knew no problems, "My problem is that men spoil me.

"Why, even a newspaper seller in Hollywood gives me a paper every time I pass and refuses to accept my money. You see, that is his own small way of making a fuss of me. Spoiling me."

Miss Calvet smiled a dry martini smile and said: "I have a dreadful habit of falling in love and marrying young men. Both my husbands were in that class.

Oh yes, the psychiatrist . . .

"Money-wise, I am not a rich woman. I moved out of the Dorchester — $325, with tips, for four days was too much. This apartment cost me $110 a week.

"We went through the inventory this morning. It took hours. Four china ashtrays. One cracked. Two chipped. Why do they do that? It bores me.

"Oh yes, I've been to a psychiatrist. I usually go along after one of my marriages has broken up or a love affair has gone wrong.

"You know, my dear, men like to make excuses for their failures in love. They blame the woman, of course. Say all sorts of unkind things. They're untrue, but you can't help wondering. So you go along to get unravelled. Although I have never been unravelled.

Please go, they say

"You see, I'll be damned if I'm going to pay out 75 dollars a session indefinitely. So each time I feel bad, I take the G.I. Test. That's a 150-dollar standard expository examination, based on the Government's test to assess the mental condition of troops. The result is supposed to tell you how long you'll need treatment.

"But the doctors say: 'Don't bother us, Miss Calvet. We've got really sick people on our hands. Please go away. So I never find out.'"

FOOTNOTE: Miss Calvet is here in London to make "Bluebird's Ten Honeymoons," with George Sanders. Then a Broadway play: "The Headshrinker."

Sayings of the week

"I never look back into the past. That's why I hate to do my autobiography. When I start a film today, I'm just eager to do the best possible job. I always work very hard. There is no point in always glamorising the good old days." — JOAN CRAWFORD.

"People are too sensitive these days. Nobody wants to be the villain. In the good old days we could always have a German heavy. Not now. Doctor Adenauer would complain.

"Now we're on the point of losing the Russians, with all this good will going around. I suppose we'll have to depend on the Red Chinese in future." — ALFRED HITCHCOCK.

J. F. McGill at congress of Carmelites

Mr. John Farrell McGill, of 5162 Earncliffe avenue, Snowdon, Montreal, is in Philadelphia this week to attend the International Congress of the Discalced Carmelite Tertiaries.

Mr. McGill was asked to go to this Congress to represent the English speaking Tertiaries of Montreal and Canada. This invitation he received from Father Charles of Ste-Therese OCD secretary to the Most Reverend Father Anathasius of the Rosary OCD Superior General of the Discalced Carmelite Order.

This Congress is being held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia, and attended by over 400 Carmelite Tertiaries from various parts of the United States and Canada.

The Third Order Secular of our Lady of Mount Carmel and St. Therese of Jesus, is an order of lay persons who, though living in the world, desire to aim at Christian perfection in the way most suitable to their state in life but according to the spirit and under the direction of the Discalced Carmelites headed by the Father General in Rome.

The Very Rev. Fr. Albert of the Blessed Sacrament OCD Superior Provincial and His Eminence John Cardinal O'Hara, Catholic Archbishop of Philadelphia will meet each member attending. Mr. McGill will be bringing back to other members of the Third Order in Montreal special greetings and the Apostolic Benediction of Pope John XXIII, sent to the Carmelites in Philadelphia through John Cardinal O'Hara.

Westmounters participating in 'Hallowe'en for UNICEF'

You all are invited to join the fun and excitement of Hallowe'en by participating with the children, in their campaign to help other children, and to deposit your pennies and coins in their UNICEF "treat-box," Saturday, October 31, when they call — else the Goblins will get you, if you don't!

The merchants of Westmount, the fifty-three mothers who are offering their homes as depots to each child in his own neighborhood, where he and she can get their "treat-box" (look for the UNICEF poster in the windows) teachers in schools and Sunday Schools, who are posting lists of depots in their classroom — all are showing great enthusiasm and cooperation to make the project a success. Six young people's groups are supporting the cause of UNICEF as one of their projects and will be helping on Hallowe'en as will the Guides, Brownies, Scouts and Cubs. The Westmount Public Library, the Y.M.C.A., Grindley's Pharmacy, American Drug Store, Anthony's, Steinberg's, Green avenue and Sherbrooke and Victoria St. branches, have posted lists of depots. The Toronto Dominion Bank, Studio 16, Continental Can, Bathurst Paper Box, Westmount Printing Co. and Young's are all doing their large part.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the amount collected for the United Nations Fund (UNICEF) jumped from $970.00 in 1955 to $44,000 in Canada in 1958—which was brought about by a terrific volunteer effort. The expenditure for the Westmount drive to date is $4.00 for postage. Your pennies and coins contributed Hallowe'en night are brought back to the depots in the "treat-boxes," counted at the bank and shipped to the United Nations Committee — UNICEF branch and will be used to provide milk and medicine

Westmount Examiner, Friday, Oct. 23, 1959 17

THERE'S HOCKEY IN the air and it has come at the right time, when the frost really hit on the weekend. The hockey will be amateur with the Metro league unfolding four games on Sunday with such district clubs as Verdun playing at home to Canadiens of Grockville; Snowdon Ponsards and N.D.G. Monarchs playing away. Both clubs will be at home at the Forum on Monday. Alex McLeller ended up with 10 teams and only one section. Quebec and Cornwall did not make it. Of course the Metro Special Junior League, (players of juvenile age) will operate again, but not for several weeks. In Verdun, The Playground Juvenile league will be in action next Tuesday with three games. They have gained two new entries this year. They will show two of their clubs prior to the Leafs' Sunday game with Canadiens and every junior game thereafter.

NICK COSS, of Saint Laurent, club more in order to help himself. scout for Detroit telephoned to say that Ron Harris of Grants in Verdun juvenile league will play his hockey out of Edmonton this year with the Oil Kings. Nick said that Skinner and the Red Wings think that Harris has a lot on the ball and will make a good hockey find for the American club. He might have played for Hamilton but the club is only allowed one transfer from branch to branch, so Harris went out West.

It nice to know that some juvenile player has made good and not with Canadiens. It would also be nice if the pro clubs would give some kind of a grant to the club the player last played for. It would help the amateur club in such a way that he would have enough to carry on for another year, hoping that he'll have another in that year or two hence.

The pros could help the amateur clubs a lot more than they do. With Canadiens, having everything in an amateur way sewed up, other NHL clubs, who would like to help in some way have their hands tied by that gentlemen's agreement and it may be a hard fast rule of 50 miles, everything belongs to Canadiens. There will come a day when the pro will have to help the amateur

FROM HOCKEY, the talk is football in more ways than just the pro. Amateur clubs, like those in the juvenile and bantam league are battling for their lives to make a playoff berth. In the intermediate section of the QRFU, Verdun need one more win as their rivals, Lakeshore have two games left to play. But, Verdun club officials say that even if they lose that last game with Lakeshore, they have beaten the Flyers three times, tied once in five starts.

In juvenile action, Point hold the best cards. If they win their remaining games they can keep Verdun in the playoff, otherwise Rosemount may step in front of the Braves. At the same time, St. Lambert are the team to watch. They have won the last three games out in their drive for a playoff spot. Strange as it might seem they have held their opponents to 13 points. No matter what four teams make that lucky circle it will be an interesting series. Point stand an excellent chance of winning the title won by Ville Emard Rams last year, who have been ousted, although they still have one more game. Another favoured to win the title are East End.

In bantam football, Verdun are a sure bet for the playoff. Lachine are the best in this race and Saint Laurent are still fighting for a playoff, but will have to work hard in their remaining games. In midget, Saint Laurent Spartans seem to have it all their own way and their overage players next year will make a juvenile club happy over their find.

Pee wee and mosquito are also supplying lots of anxious moments as their schedule draws to a close. One thing which league officials could weigh next fall is that their schedule seems to be a little too long. For my money, pee wee and mosquito should be almost finishing their season now, instead it will go to almost the week before the Grey Cup. In fact, it would be a good idea for all minor sections to shorten their schedule by at least two weeks. I'm sure they'll find it to not so long with a more interesting finish, owing to the shortness of the season.

In junior, it is Maple Leafs all the way. They have had an easy season, at least that's the way it seems when the Leafs play. Start easy, like against McGill, 6-0 at the half, and the game ended 25-0. The Leafs won't have that chance against an Ontario club. They will also miss that game with the Maritime. It has been one sided in the past, but a game that helps the winning club. It does and does not mean better competition but it helps a great deal. If the Ontario winner is AKO from Windsor then you can bet they'll be good. They are just about due for a winner for they have been hanging on during the past few years. Leafs have a long way to go. They could lose it right in the QRFU series.

Als, Riders upset experts; tough games coming up

The Almost Right Football Selection Club took it on the chin, just like the experts when Montreal pulled of a 4-3 win over Toronto and Ottawa came through with a 17-16 squeaker.

Our sports editor had two wrongs, but still leads with 15 rights and nine wrongs. Tom Maltby, our plant super gained a split and his count is 14 rights and 10 wrongs.

Ziggy Bielinski, the engraver, two selections lost on the weekend and now has a 12-12 record while Nat Bernstein, editorial staff member, split by picking Ottawa to win and Montreal to lose. He also has a 12-12 count.

The schedule goes into back-to-back games in two week-end stands. Hamilton will be playing Montreal twice, and what if the Cats decided to play it easy to ease up injuries so they will have sound men for the playoff. Montreal would make the grade.

But again, Ottawa and Toronto face each other twice, and that could be a little tougher series to pick than Cats and Als. So, here are the Almost Right selections for Oct. 24 games:

Bielinski picks Toronto and Montreal to win on Saturday. Bernstein and Jones like Ottawa and Hamilton and Maltby takes Toronto and Montreal. There certainly is a wide choice this week.
