NO SIGNALS RECEIVED FROM SUNKEN SUBMARINE

World News In Brief

London, Jan. 13.—(Reuters)—The Swedish vessel Divina, which yesterday collided with the Royal Navy submarine Truculent sinking the undersea vessel in the Thames estuary, will be placed under arrest this afternoon, it was learned today.

Wellington, N.Z., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Wellington's citizens fled into the streets this morning as three minor earth tremors set church bells ringing, dishes clattering and doors banging. No serious damage was reported—other than a lot of broken chinaware. The quakes began at 8:51 a.m. New Zealand time.

Washington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Western European countries have investigated $2,888,900,000 of their own funds in recovery operations since start of the Marshall plan 20 months ago. The Economic Co-operation Administration announced the figures and said the funds came from so-called counterpart currencies deposited by the countries to match American aid grants.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—(CP)—The railways told a federal conciliation board today that wages paid Canadian railway workers are higher, on a national average, than those paid workers in industry as a whole.

The railway statement, before a board hearing a dispute with two major unions, said average hourly earnings for all Canadian manufacturing at last May 1 were 98.6 cents.

At the same date average wage for non-operating rail employees, who now seek shorter working hours more pay and the check-off, was 103.2 cents.

North Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 13.—(CP)—A fire fanned by cold winds last night leveled a $100,000 sawmill in this north shore of Burrard Inlet and put 120 men out of work.

Flames destroyed the Lions Gate Lumber Company's main mill in 35 minutes. Seven above-temperatures hampered fire-fighters.

Poitiers, France, Jan. 13.—(Reuters)—A workman paving a street here found a buried suitcase containing a small fortune in money, jewelry and bonds. A 76-year-old former soldier has identified it as the case his wife was carrying when she was killed during an air raid on Poitiers in June, 1944.

Bodies Of Nine Members Of Crew Are Recovered But 52 Others Are Trapped In Hull

Traditional Navy Silence Covers Salvage Operations

By HAROLD K. MILKS

Aboard Tug in the Thames Estuary, Jan. 13.—(AP)—A yellow buoy bounced today atop oil stained waters covering the sunken submarine Truculent.

It bobbed and swayed in a grim dance of life or death for the 52 men in the battered submarine below.

The size of a beach ball, it was the only surface link with the sub, believed resting on the bottom in 54 feet of water. A slender cable ran from the buoy to the sub's leggy hull.

Grey skies and a general atmosphere of gloom pressed down upon the calm green sea.

The salvage ships Lifeline and Moor Fowl anchored near the buoy to begin salvage operations. Four warships squatted in a semi-circle nearby.

Their flags dropped ominously at half mast. Before plunging, the submarine spilled out three men mortally wounded with 15 others who survived.

Officials aboard the Lifeline would not say whether they had been in touch with the trapped men in the Truculent.

"I have been ordered not to talk," was the reply of officials and teen-age sailors alike.

But on our tug are many civilian seamen who know these waters well.

One dockyard expert on sea distances said he doubted there would be any more survivors.

"Each minute and each hour that passes makes it less likely," he said.

The submarine sank last night in less than 60 seconds after a collision with the tiny Swedish tanker Divina. The quick plunge would give little time to close off water-tight doors dividing the sub into compartments.

In the semi-circle of rescue ships, web-footed frogmen joined the destroyer Bristol. They are expert swimmers and underwater workers.

In the same semi-circle of ships, the destroyer Cowdray, has believed to have still aboard 10 survivors, including two dockyard workers.

Officers refused to permit newspaper men and photographers

Hope for Rescue of Those Still in Submarine Fades—15 Crew Members Escape.

London, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The Royal Navy announced this afternoon a rescue boat found the bodies of six more crew members of the sunken submarine Truculent. This raises the total of known dead to nine and leaves perhaps 52 others still trapped inside the hull in the Thames estuary.

Divers and frogmen tapped out hopeful messages on the hull of the sunken submarine, but as far as was known up to midday, received no response from the men believed trapped in the battered craft.

Chatham naval headquarters posted an official notice that "great loss of life is feared."

Word from rescue craft at the scene indicated hope was fading for the men still aboard the wartime raider which went to the bottom of the Thames estuary last night after she was rammed by the iron-clad prow of a Swedish tanker.

By this afternoon 24 of the 76 men who had been aboard when the 1,575-ton Truculent went down were accounted for. Fifteen were picked up alive. Nine were dead. In addition, all five men aboard a Lancaster rescue plane were killed early today in a takeoff crash at an R.A.F. station in Scotland. The plane had been ordered to pick up divers for the Truculent rescue operation.

Guided by the sub's yellow buoys, possibly released accidentally, the divers in their unwieldy equipment and the swift-moving frogmen in their web-footed rubber suits, crawled over the sunken craft, laboriously hammering out code messages.

The Admiralty ordered the H.M.S. Reclaim, latest type deep water rescue ship, to the scene with equipment capable of resurfacing any but the most badly-crushed submarines. Divers trained in rescue work were ordered into action.

The Reclaim's equipment includes a special underwater bolt-firing gun which can drive a rivet into a submarine plate without having had a hole drilled beforehand. A tube can thus be forced into the hull, compressed air pumped in and water forced from the compartments to permit refloating.

(When the United States submarine Squalus went down off Portsmouth, N.H., in May, 1939, a rescue bell was used. The huge bell was lowered from a surface

Floods Are Threatened In Mid-West

Chicago, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The danger of more flooding increased today in many midwest river areas of the United States as more rain splashed over a wide belt and threatened further damage.

Weather bureau officials said no break appeared in the warm, moist air which is causing the steady rains or drizzle over the lower Mississippi and Tennessee valleys. They said there was a possibility of heavier rains over the flood areas during the day.

Forecasters A. W. Walstrom at Cincinnati warned that with more rain forecast in the Ohio valley "all interests should keep alert to the possibility that additional rainfall may become heavy enough to change the (flood) picture." He had predicted last night the Ohio river in the Cincinnati district "will fall slowly in the upper portion," and "very slowly in the lower portion during the next 24 hours."

Meanwhile, more than 4,000 persons have fled their homes from the surging rivers and streams in

Freighter Arrives At Tsingtao

B. WAYNE RICHARDSON

Aboard Flying Arrow, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The Flying Arrow steamed into the communist port of Tsingtao today after bidding farewell to its United States destroyer escort eight miles out.

For at least the next week the American freighter will lie here repairing the damage of a shelling by a Chinese nationalist gunboat.

The warship attacked when this ship tried to enter the Yangtze on a voyage to blockaded Shanghai.

(Richardson's dispatch was filed as the ship was preparing to dock. Then he sent an informative message saying the ship's transmitter would be off the air while in port. The communists keep a tight control on all communications.)

The U.S. destroyer Bausell had sailed alongside the 350-mile Flying Arrow on the damaged mile voyage from the point off the Yangtze where the gunboat shelled her Monday.

The voyage northward was without incident. There was no trace of nationalist gunboats.

(The nationalists say their port closure—they don't call it a blockade—extends to all communist ports. Apparently, however, they are unable to operate effectively as far north as Tsingtao.)

Capt. David Jones had decided not to further endanger the ship by waiting around the Yangtze for a chance to slip into Shanghai.

He said there was danger that the swelling of water-soaked cargo in the No. 5 hold might cause an explosion.

The nationalist shelling set off a fire in the hold. It was there that the most damage to cargo was done. The cargo in the hold is cotton, rubber and caustic soda.

The 12 passengers and crew of 43 came through the baptism of fire without injury.

Taipei, Formosa, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Madame Chiang Kai-Shek returned to nationalist China today to help her husband save the remains of his shrunken domain.

They were reunited at Peach Orchard field, a nationalist air base an hour's automobile drive south of Taipei.

It was their first meeting since Madame Chiang left Nanking for the United States late in November of 1948 on a fruitless mission to enlist United States aid.

Since then the nationalists have lost four capitals—Nanking, Canton, Chungking and Chengtu.

Madame Chiang came from Manila in the Generalissimo's private plane.

Off For China

Sailing under the Golden Gate Bridge, the aircraft carrier Boxer leaves San Francisco on its way to reinforce the American Pacific fleet. The Boxer will rendez-vous with two destroyers at sea, and proceed to waters around troubled China, to join the Seventh Task Fleet in the Far East. The flat-top carries 90 planes and a crew of 3900.

Dominion-Provincial Talks Adjourned; Committee Takes Up Work Of Premiers

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Canada is a step closer to national unity.

The leaders of Canada's 11 governments put into motion at a three-day federal-provincial conference, concluded yesterday, machinery to provide complete Canadian control of the constitution—the British North America Act.

The frame-work of this new constitutional organization is in a formula for classification of federal and provincial governing powers. It was approved by the conference just before adjournment.

A standing committee of federal and provincial law experts was formed to take federal and provincial powers in six categories, each subject to a different system of amendment.

Altogether, it took six conference sittings since last Tuesday morning to narrow discussion to this grouping of constitutional provisions.

At that point the conference accepted a formal motion by Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia to create a standing constitutional committee representing federal and provincial governments.

On this committee will fall the work of classifying the terms of all constitutional legislation applying to Canada and saying what are those concerning Parliament only, one or two legislatures only, or Parliament and any or all legislatures.

This will be a difficult job because of its outcome will hinge the strength of guarantees sought, for example, for Quebec's particular system of education and the language rights of French-Canada.

Chairman of the standing committee will be Canada's Justice Minister, Hon. Stuart Garson. Members will be the provincial attorneys-general or their representatives.

In their hands was placed this formula:

That all Canadian constitutional laws be grouped broadly and be subject to amendment as follows:

1. Provisions which concern Parliament only—amendment by act of Parliament.
2. Provisions which concern the legislatures only—amendment by act of the provincial legislatures.
3. Provisions which concern Parliament and one or more but not all of the legislatures—amendment by act of Parliament and act of each of the legislatures concerned.
4. Provisions which concern Parliament and all the legislatures—amendment by act of Parliament and by such majority of the legislatures and on such additional conditions as may be decided.
5. Provisions concerning fundamental rights, for instance language rights, and amendment of amending procedures—amendment by act of Parliament and of all the legislatures.
6. Provisions which should be repealed.

As soon as this grouping was approved by the conference, Mr. Garson and representatives of the provincial attorneys-general held a quick meeting and agreed the constitutional standing committee would hold its first meeting in Ottawa at a date to be announced by the chairman.

UN Council Votes Today On China

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Defeat of Russia's demand for ousting of the Chinese nationalist delegation in the United Nations Security Council was expected today.

The 11-member council was scheduled to meet at 3 p.m. to continue discussion of the question which sparked a Soviet walk-out on the council yesterday.

Jakob A. Malik, Russian deputy foreign minister, returned to the council yesterday.

He repeated his demand that the council exclude Dr. Tingfu F. Tsiang, top nationalist delegate. Malik said Tsiang does not represent the Chinese people and therefore should not be on the council.

While Russia continued to press her campaign to open a seat on the council for communist China, the government of Mao Tse-Tung had not yet sent representatives here.

Only Russia, Yugoslavia and perhaps India were expected to vote for the Soviet proposal. Britain and Norway were reported ready to abstain and the rest fight the resolution.

Among the council members, Britain, Yugoslavia, India, Hungary and Russia have recognized communist China. United States, France, Ecuador, Cuba and Egypt

Critical Coal Shortage In US Reported

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The United States Chamber of Commerce today reported a "critical" coal shortage in 36 cities, hard on the heels of President Truman's new denial that the three-day mine week has created a coal emergency.

The Chamber statement apparently was prepared before Truman's indication to his press conference yesterday that he has no immediate plans to force full production in the coal fields by using his Taft-Hartley act emergency injunction powers against John L. Lewis' 480,000 United Mine Workers.

The Chamber reported that it had surveyed areas in 10 "principal bituminous coal using states," with this result:

"With an average of less than seven days' supply in dealers' hands in 36 average-sized towns surveyed. . . widespread suffering and hardship has been averted so far primarily because of the unseasonably mild weather."

In Chicago, the American retail coal association said Truman's statement "will surprise those citizens who are now burning wood because coal is unavailable."

Joseph E. Moody, president of the southern coal producers association, who has been saying all along that there is an emergency, commented that the President's statement hasn't changed his mind.

Before Truman's press conference, Moody had released figures to show that coal stockpiles were at the lowest level in at least 15 years.

The southern operators said there was no record of any time when reserves fell below the 22-400,000 tons they estimate are above ground now.

"If there's another strike," Moody said, "we'll go right through the bottom."

Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, leader of a group of eight Republicans who signed a resolution calling upon the President to use the Taft-Hartley labor law, said Truman "has a right to his own opinion."

The Republican resolution was due to come up today at a meeting of the Senate labor committee, but the Democratic majority on the committee was expected to vote it down.

Lewis has been biding his time since last spring waiting for a coal shortage to develop in order to make a favorable contract with the operators. Up to now the stockpile has been unusually high, which has strengthened the hand of the mine owners.

When the old contract ran out last July 1, Lewis cut the work week to three days. Then in September he called full-fledged strike. After 52 days he ordered the miners back on the three-day week.

Settlement Of Kashmir Issue Sought

Colombo, Ceylon, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Two of the British Commonwealth's foreign ministers today were reported to be pressing India and Pakistan to settle their quarrel over Kashmir.

Sources at the conference here of Commonwealth foreign ministers said foreign secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Canada's external affairs minister, L. B. Pearson, were exerting the behind-the-scenes pressure for a peaceful settlement of the princely state's future.

The dispute over future control of Kashmir already has brought India and Pakistan to undeclared war once. A truce negotiated by the United Nations now prevails but attempts to obtain further agreement have failed so far.

The ministers also were reported quietly discussing trade relations between India and Pakistan. Such trade has been at a standstill since Pakistan did not follow Britain, India and the rest of the sterling bloc in devaluing her currency.

U.S. Plans For Blocking Reds In East Are Outlined

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—A three-point strategy for blocking and some day reversing the spread of Russian communism in Asia emerged today from State Secretary Dean Acheson's declaration of United States foreign policy toward the Far East.

The strategy is aimed at bolstering non-communist countries in southeast Asia, trying eventually to drive a wedge between China and Russia and holding on to America's own western Pacific defence line—which does not include Formosa.

The policy was outlined by Acheson yesterday in an hour-long speech at the National Press Club. It was the first general administration statement on the Far Eastern situation since the Reds completed their conquest of China.

It contained one sensational accusation which comes at an apparently critical point in early Chinese communist relations with Moscow. This was that Russia is in process of taking over a vast area of north China, including Manchuria, Acheson predicted that this would bring down on the Russians the "righteous anger and wrath" of the Chinese people.

On this "important fact" as he called it and on the belief that Asia is caught up in a great revolution, any ferment, he laid out the three lines of his strategy for dealing with the situation:

- 1.—To promote the growth of nationalism and help satisfy the desire for economic betterment in the countries of southeast Asia from the best way of preventing them from going communist.
- 2.—To exploit—as Acheson himself obviously sought to do—the

Colonial Air Lines Will Not Have Licence Suspended

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The air transport board today announced a decision not to suspend the licence of Colonial Air Lines of New York.

The decision was made because the United States Supreme Court is expected to settle the issues between the board and Colonial when it tests the validity of the Canada-U.S. air agreement. The case will come before the court Feb. 17.

"Under the circumstances," the board said in a statement, "the board does not propose to take the action with respect to Colonial Air Lines which it considers would be justified."

The decision appeared to end the long dispute between the board and Colonial over Colonial's persistent opposition to an application by Trans-Canada Air Lines to compete on the Montreal-New York route.

At the same time, the department of external affairs announced completion of talks between the Canadian and U.S. governments over the difficulties of implementing the agreement.

It said the remaining sections of the agreement—giving U.S. lines the right to routes from New York to Toronto and from Great Falls, Mont., to Edmonton—would not be put into effect until after the court hearing.

The injunction restraining the civil aeronautics board of the U.S. from granting T.C.A. permission to fly the route will continue until the Supreme Court completes the validity case.

Colonial obtained the injunction last August when it claimed the air

Atmosphere Of Ottawa Talks Wins Praise From Duplessis

By WILLIAM STEWART

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—Premier Duplessis, after the close of the Dominion-provincial constitutional conference, said last night he looks forward to establishment of a Canadian tribunal of final recourse on constitutional questions.

He said in an interview it was the desire of Quebec province that such a court, "essentially Canadian and sitting in Canada," settle finally, according to the "spirit of confederation," disagreements which might arise between central and provincial authorities.

Premier Duplessis said he trusted that such a constitutional tribunal would operate under the guarantee that "third party" arbitration of a dispute provides.

He made the statement to Quebec newspaper men who reported proceedings of the three-day constitutional conference.

Premier Duplessis expressed pleasure at the atmosphere which prevailed at the conference. He said the conference had provided the opportunity for a "salutary" exchange of ideas among the leaders of Canada's governments.

"All was done in an atmosphere of courtesy and co-operation," he said. "Problems put forward for the attention of delegates were of

Kinnear's Mills Couple Marks Anniversary

Kinnear's Mills, Jan. 13.—Over 150 guests assembled at L. O. L. Hall, Kinnear's Mills, on Saturday evening, December 3rd, to honor Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter, on their 30th wedding anniversary.

As the couple planned to attend a Guild party they were very much surprised when upon entering the hall, they heard the wedding music played by Mrs. A. Harrow, and received congratulations and best wishes from their many friends and neighbors.

Dancing was enjoyed till twelve o'clock when Mayor G. A. Thompson presented the bride and groom with the numerous gifts and money from a decorated table. The table was centered with a lovely three-tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. James Johnson and decorated by Mrs. Mrs. Watts.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter (nee Caroline Wallace) were married on December 3rd, 1919, in Sherbrooke, by Rev. T. P. Perry.

They had one daughter, Fern,

CLARK GABLE'S MARRIAGE LEFT A LOT OF CONFUSION IN ITS WAKE

Hollywood — Hollywood is still talking about Clark Gable's surprise marriage to Ledyia Sylvia Stanley. There was so much confusion when the first news flash arrived in Hollywood that "Sylvia Stanley of Alderley," as she signed the marriage application, was not immediately identified as Doug Fairbanks' widow.

One M-G-M press agent, knowing Gable had been dating blonde producer Joan Harrison, even called Joan's secretary and asked if Sylvia Stanley was Joan's real name.

Clark and the bride first met 12 years ago when she was married to Doug and he was married to Carole Lombard. They were a frequent foursome. Best gag: Someone called M-G-M and asked if they had left for a honeymoon. A weary press agent said: "Yes, they just left on a motorcycle for a fishing trip in the High Sierras."

Kirk Douglas "thanked" the Hollywood Press Club for voting him "most co-operative actor of the year" by sending an orchid to every one of its 90 members. H. Bogart, voted most co-operative, continued to irritate the ladies by referring to them as "silly little wenches."

Betty Hutton in a national magazine: "I'll go on forever with lots of noise."

And an occasional broken bone. Beloved By All There were plenty of damp eyes in the audience when Frank Morgan's face flashed on the screen at the first sneak of the new Gable film, "Key to the City." It was Morgan's last role. Now that Guy Madison and Selznick have called it a day, agent Helen Ainsworth says to watch for a lot of big announcements regarding his film work as the "new" Guy Madison, with more mature rolls.

There's no argument about Universal-International's junket to Germany for the premiere of "Francis" being good for the morale of U.S. troops stationed there. The film will get a real Hollywood premiere in Weisbaden with lights and stars, Donald O'Connor, Yvonne de Carlo and Patricia Medina head the list of 26 Hollywoodites flying over Jan. 18 in a USAF DC-4.

It's Shelley Winter's story about the Indian squaw who had a husband named Short Cake. One day he died and, because they lived far from town, she was unable to call an undertaker. So she sent up a smoke signal which read: "Squaw Bury Short Cake."

Pat O'Brien plays another priest in "Dark Challenge." This time he has to reform Mickey Rooney... Sabina Thorne, daughter of writer Lenore Coffey, will marry Douglas Storm in Scotland in March... Prosperity note: Betty Grable and Harry James are trading in their 62-acre ranch for a 100-acre affair.

Rough Riders Keenan Wynn and Larry Parks will be among 500 starters in the annual Palmdale-to-Big Bear Lake "Hare and Hounds" motorcycle race.

It's on a 174-mile cowpath course which never touches the pavement, Keenan is a cycle fan from way back—he got his first bike 19 years ago. Last year there was a 40-bike pileup only two miles from the starting line. Keenan says he gives the field a two-minute head start to avoid the traffic.

Ish Kabibble of the Kay Kyser show, on the New York water shortage: "Last night I went to a swanky Manhattan party. It was so swanky, water flowed like champagne."

The Oscar Derby this year will feature more new faces than any time in its history. Great bets for nominations include such recent film newcomers as Richard Todd, Paul Stewart, David Wayne, Robert Keith, Frank Lovejoy and Ralph Richardson.

Milton Berle just put the final "30" on his syndicated column... There will soon be another "30" on his marriage to Joyce Matthews. She wants a career other than helping Mama applaud Miltie... Jackie Gleason about a couple known for their constant battles: "When they were married, they were mispronounced man and wife."

The pleasant evening was brought to a close by singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" and "Auld Lang Syne." The guests departed leaving behind them best wishes for many more happy years.

GILMAN'S CORNER

Messrs. S. Fuller, G. Fuller and Miss E. Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Allnutt attended the fiftieth wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sweet, of Gilman's Corner.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. William Mason and Mr. and Mrs. Murray Mason and family, in the death of their husband and father at Fordyce.

This community extends sympathy to the relatives of Dr. Pickel, who was a life long resident of Sweetsburg.

Mrs. E. Bruce Allnutt and Wesley, Ann and Peter Allnutt were Christmas Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Haslem Hooper, in Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hunt spent New Year's Day with Mr. and Mrs. Forest Hunt, of Bromo Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Austin Lee and daughter, Audrey, spent Christmas Day at the home of his mother, Mrs. W. Lee, in Sweetsburg. They were guests in Clarenceville the following day of Mr. and Mrs. L. Bullock.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Ladd were Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ladd and son, David, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Maro Ladd and son, Richard, of Megantic; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hooper, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Templeton, of Bondville; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Shower, of Cowansville; Mr. and Mrs. Sylvia Peron, of Sweetsburg; Mr. Gordon Ladd, of Waterloo, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Davis, of Montreal.

Mr. E. Bruce Allnutt and daughter, Janice, spent Christmas week-end in Vankleek Hill, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Allnutt.

Mr. and Mrs. Thornley, of Montreal, were New Year's guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller, of Clarenceville.

Mr. Charles Cromack met with a painful accident by having his thumb badly cut with an axe.

Mr. Crook, of Granby, spent the holidays with his wife and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Scott and family.

Miss Janice and Miss Ann Allnutt spent two days at Fordyce with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hooper.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Ladd were calling on Mr. and Mrs. George Hooper at Fordyce.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

BY BILLY ROSE

SHAKESPEARE IS SOMETHING ELSE AGAIN

A few years back, I got the nobby notion of reviving "Henry VIII," by one W. Shakespeare, and the day after the first three-line announcement appeared on the drama pages my office was crammed with well known actors who were willing to work for what ordinarily would have been their agents' commissions.

Subsequently, for reasons that have nothing to do with this piece, I pigeon-holed my plans for doing "Henry," but I sure learned a lot about show folks during the month I was huddling up to the Bard.

To mine out of ten of them, I found the parameters of William the Great are the chocolate sauce on the proffiterole, and during rehearsals they go about their business as if they were in a temple of worship. On opening night, as far as the cast is concerned, the theatre has stained glass windows, and I'm not exaggerating when I say the actors would probably kill anyone who tried to foul up the performance.

If you think I'm using "kill" carelessly, try this one on for sighs. Back in 1904, an obscure thespian named Robert Mantell, who had been playing desultory one-nighters in the Midwest, received word that a choice Broadway theatre would be available during the Christmas season.

He promptly cancelled his road engagements and brought his troupe to New York, but shortly after his arrival he discovered that the "choice" theatre he had been offered was the Princess, a small second-storey auditorium on Broadway between 27th and 28th Streets.

No more daunted than solvent, Mantell announced he would produce his production of "Richard III" on December 5, and when friends and co-leagues warned him that not a hundred people would climb a flight of rickety stairs to see a Shakespearean play during the holidays, he shrugged his threadbare shoulders and posted his rehearsal schedule.

Immediately, however, there was trouble. The stage crew insisted on a scenic rehearsal, and when the impoverished actor refused they decided to get even by lousing up his show on opening night.

On the evening of the 5th, a minute after Mantell began to declaim his way through the initial lines, a stagehand lunged at him from behind a cloth drop and almost knocked him into the pit. And a few moments later the same "accident" happened again.

When the act was over, Mantell quietly told the crew that he would kill the next man who tried to disrupt his performance—and half-way through the second act he darned near did. In the middle of a speech, he saw the outline of a hand behind the curtain trying to locate him and, never faltering in his lines, he drew his dagger and plunged the blade full-force into the drop.

When he went into the wings at the end of the scene, one of the crew grabbed him an said, "You've killed our head carpenter."

"I hope to Heaven I did," said Mantell. But when he examined the stagehand he found the wound was only a gash in the thigh.

To make sure no one would misunderstand how he felt, the actor went up to his dressing room and came down wearing the iron-studded glove that was part of his costume in the last act. "Any more trouble," he said, "and I shall brain each and every one of you."

The stagehands looked at Mantell, at the mailed glove, and at the bleeding man on the floor. And from then until the final curtain, the crew was as quiet as a Scottish meeting house after a call for contributions.

Next day, the critics hailed Mantell's performance as "the greatest 'Richard' since the days of Booth," and before the week was out he had been signed by the late William A. Brady, under whose management he went on to achieve recognition as one of America's leading classic actors...

Recently, Theresa Helburn of the Theatre Guild offered to let me buy a small piece of "As You Like It," starring Katharine Hepburn. "In all fairness," she said, "I think I ought to tell you that Katy's contract is only until June."

"I'm not going to brood about that," I said. "The play is by Shakespeare, and if it gets over, I doubt whether Hollywood will see her again until both she and the scenery fall apart."

R.C.A.F. Benevolent Fund Organization Outlined To Local Air Force Group

Members of the Sherbrooke Wing of the Royal Canadian Air Force Association who met in the New Sherbrooke Hotel last night heard Wing Commander Stanley Phillips, secretary of the Montreal committee of the RCAF Benevolent Fund, outline the nature, purposes and operation of the Fund.

Under the Fund's charter, Mr. Phillips said, the purpose of the money is "to relieve distress and promote the well-being of members or ex-members of the RCAF or of their dependents."

"The Benevolent Fund was originally founded in 1934 with the gift of a sum of money to commemorate the part played by Canadians in the flying services of the Empire during the First World War," he stated.

On April 1, 1944, a charter was granted under the name Royal Canadian Air Force Benevolent Fund. Upon the cessation of hostilities and the release of the greater proportion of RCAF personnel, these veterans resumed normal civilian functions in Canada and a few in Britain.

"In order that those requiring assistance should be properly taken care of, the Fund organized field committees.

"A chairman was appointed in each province with the power to form committees at discretion in the various centres of the province," the secretary declared. Sherbrooke's Fund chairman is R. L. Curphey.

Using the Montreal committee as an example, Wing Commander

Phillips illustrated how the Fund works. Formed in 1945, the committee is composed of citizens from all areas who are authorized to visit the homes of applicants and meet the need as it is evident. The members investigating enter the homes with no preconceived notions or concrete plans beyond a sincere desire to help, he said.

"In this spirit they are able to create an atmosphere in which the family takes the right decisions; problems become opportunities and as such are quickly resolved."

"The main object for granting assistance," Mr. Phillips stated, "is to re-establish the family concerned by relieving it of unforeseen difficulties that can and do arise in all families."

The Fund has also set up loans to assist student veterans and has awarded scholarships to students attending Joint Services Cadet Colleges, it was noted.

"The Fund has been built up by voluntary contributions from RCAF AF canteens and donations from interested civilians, and these contributions are continuing. The funds are invested in fully registered Dominion of Canada bonds only," Mr. Phillips said.

On the occasion of his birthday, Mayor Alphonse Trudeau this morning answered criticism of a recent address before the Public Works Department employees, which was contained in a resolution passed at a recent gathering of the Syndicate of Municipal Employees.

Commenting on the resolution which took him to task for his attack on the president of the Syndicate, the Mayor pointed out that the union in question only represented the public works employees and that the members of the other four organizations, the policemen, the firemen, the electric department workers and the City Hall employees, had all disclaimed any support for the attack.

In a press statement, the Mayor declared:

"I have no intention of starting a polemic on the subject of the declarations I made during the visit to the employees of the Public Works on December 11 and even less to criticize the resolution of the Syndicate of Municipal Employees which appeared in the Record on January 12.

"However, I feel compelled to establish the true facts.

"I said during my remarks that I regretted the absence of the president during this visit because I wished to make him blush before you.

"Why was Mr. Jeanson not present?"

"Because he knew I had criticisms to make of him.

"Why did he not preside over the assembly when this resolution was adopted, criticizing part of my remarks about Mr. Jeanson?"

He arrived late because he remained in the corridor. He knew his guilt and refused to accept his responsibilities, but he preferred to put into the mouth of others the malicious insinuations so that he would not have to accept the blame himself.

"Mr. Jeanson knows the criticisms I have to make of him and if he desires details, let him invite me to a meeting of the employees."

Population Of Sherbrooke Nears 50,000

If the basis of population increase of the past few years continues, Sherbrooke should have a population of over 50,000 by mid-summer of this year, figures compiled at the City Hall reveal.

The results of the 1949 city census, released this morning by City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers, show the local population to have been 48,686 during June of 1949, an increase of 1,555 over the total of 47,131 during 1948.

This growth, approximately three per cent, is in line with the population expansion of previous years.

Car Dealers' School To Be Opened Here

A field service training school for Chrysler-Plymouth-Fargo and Dodge-DeSoto dealers, for Sherbrooke and district will open Jan. 19th, and will consist of two three day courses, according to an announcement by J. H. Hickey, General Parts and Service Manager, Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited.

This school, which is held annually across Canada, is designated to keep Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge DeSoto and Fargo truck service men abreast of the latest servicing procedures using factory approved equipment and tools, under the instruction of factory-trained personnel.

Dealer service men attending the course receive practical experience on the dismantling and re-assembly of actual passenger car and truck units. Discussions are held in conjunction with the course, with sound slide films, charts and black-board drawings being used to enlarge upon and further explain much of the technical information.

"Response from our dealer service men has been exceedingly high in past years," Mr. Hickey said, "attendance is entirely voluntary, but again this year, we expect almost 100% participation."

Friday 13th, Medieval Relic, Frightens Many; You Too?

Today is Friday the (ugh!) Thirteenth. Black cats, ladders, broken mirrors and spilled salt are pretty well regarded in the same light as rent increases on this relic of Medieval uncertainty that still maintains a strong foothold in the Atomic Age.

You're probably telling yourself right now that this superstition bunk isn't for you; maybe for Joe across the street, but not for you! It's a five-to-one bet though that you're kind of leery of lighting a fuse on a match, of strolling under ladders and the rest. You just can't help feeling that way. Superstition has become so much a part of our lives that even the loudest scoffers think they're oh-so-daring, very much the devil-may-care type, when they smash a mirror and laugh.

Have you ever read the origins and explanations of most of our modern superstitions? Sure you have. Every so often they're published in cartoons, and advertisements. You read them, reflect on how silly it is for 20th Century man to worry over such things, and maybe chuckle. But you still toss that pinch of spilled salt over your left shoulder.

It's that old feeling way down inside every human being: Why tempt fate? Why stick my head into the lion's mouth even if he seems dead? I've got nothing to gain and everything to lose!

And after applying a little thought it doesn't appear too unreasonable after all. But think what could happen if it got out of control. Advertising firms would have a field day.

"Twelve thousand people had accidents in Bumpmobiles last year," an ad in the Record might read, "that's an awful lot of accidents.

Peterson Trio Is Heard By U. B. C. Students

On Wednesday night, students of Bishop's University heard Oscar Peterson's trio in a recital which received a huge ovation, from all. It was the first time a jazz combo had given a recital at the college and, judging by the reception, it will not be the last.

With Peterson at piano, Benny Johnson on guitar, and Austin Roberto on bass, the trio showed their adeptness in playing both classical and jazz selections.

Three piano solos started the program as Peterson played Gershwin's Summertime, Debussy's Claire de Lune, and variations on a theme from Addinsell's Warsaw Concerto. The trio then played Chopin's Nocturne in E flat Major, variations on a theme from Laura, and Rhapsody in Blue by Gershwin. Two of Peterson's own compositions, Summer Nocturne and Concerto for Trio, concluded the first half. The latter of these is a composition written in a classical vein but had one section which was almost pure jazz.

The jazz section opened with selections which had been recorded by the trio. These included I've Got Rhythm, Louise, Oop-Bop Sh! Bam, a vocal, East of the Sun, Poor Butterfly and Oscar's Boogie. The finale included a vocal rendition of Too Marvelous for Words and Dark Eyes. This latter selection was one of the numbers which the trio featured in Montreal night clubs and which brought fame to the group.

Brahms' Hungarian No. 3 was skillfully woven into Dark Eyes and provided a fitting climax as Peterson's hands moved so quickly only a blur could be observed.

The Students' Council held a reception for the trio after the concert at which refreshments were served, coffee being poured by Miss Isabel Hyndman, senior lady.

Friday 13th, Medieval Relic, Frightens Many; You Too?

Why tempt fate, Mr. Public, why sneer at the gods? Ride a Snorter Eight with fate on your side. Ride with an easy conscience! Snorter Eight—the car with good luck built in!

Or:

"A signed testimonial from Miss Clementine Dropkick, Sherbrooke, Que., reveals that Miss Dropkick has eaten Munchies Breakfast Food for 13 years without ever falling down stairs. Can any other breakfast food make that statement? Why eat unproved brands, Mr. and Mrs. Consumer? Those stairs are steep!"

Such methods might revolutionize the advertising industry, who can tell?

At any rate, today the cautions are treating superstition with respect. What with the weather and everything, they're all likely to meet in the hospital anyway.

In the U.S.A. the National Safety Congress listed 13 ways to avoid trouble on Friday the Thirteenth:

- 1—Keep your hands off the radio while taking your shower.
- 2—Be careful walking downstairs.
- 3—Start to work early so you don't have to hurry.
- 4—Open your garage doors before warming up the car.
- 5—Watch for children when you back out the driveway.
- 6—Keep your windshield clear.
- 7—Follow cars at a safe distance.
- 8—Don't speed.
- 9—Don't daydream at the wheel.
- 10—Don't weave in and out of traffic lanes.
- 11—Get in the proper lane ahead of a turn.
- 12—Don't jaywalk. Cross streets at corners.
- 13—If you drive, pass up that pick-me-up on the way home.

C. Of C. St. Francis Flow Control Group Sets "Concrete" Action Plan

Plans were set last night for "concrete and definite" action toward flow control of the St. Francis River, when the Flow Control Committee of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce met 22 strong in the Chamber offices here.

Under the chairmanship of Mayor Alphonse Trudeau, the meeting was among the most successful, the best yet ever had," said Gaston Taillon, Chamber secretary.

Objectives of the committee were outlined by G. M. Young, president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce:

"To regulate the flow of the St. Francis to help power plants up and down the river.

"To prevent floods.

"To beautify the St. Francis Valley and make of it a tourist attraction."

Toward these ends, members voted last night on a concerted plan of action that resulted in the appointment of four sub-committees. These sub-committees are charged with surveying and preparing reports on their respective fields:

1. Flow Control Technical Sub-Committee—W. Anderson, of the Southern Canada Power Company, chairman.
2. Reforestation Sub-Committee—Lucien Bedard, president of the Eastern Townships Forestry Association, chairman.
3. Flood Control Technical Sub-

Committee—Gaston Desmarais, president of the Eastern Townships Chamber of Commerce, chairman.

4. Beautification Sub-Committee—Mayor Alphonse Trudeau, of East Angus, chairman.

Each sub-committee is to convene every 15 days to consolidate progress. All sub-committees will gather with the central Flow Control Committee on February 16 to sort out facts and prepare an outline of action.

A. J. Philip, president of the Eastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade, and Gaston Desmarais, E. T. Chamber of Commerce, opened their files and told the committeemen what has been done already in flow control work.

Most important item of this work is a survey carried out by provincial engineers under instruction of Hon. J. S. Bourque at the request of the Flow Control Committee. The survey covers flood damages and methods of control.

Gaston Taillon was instructed last night to obtain this survey report from Mr. Bourque.

E. T. Committees Among Top In Xmas Seal Drive

Several Eastern Townships communities were leaders in the Christmas Seal campaign for the Anti-Tuberculosis Leagues and Committees of the Province of Quebec, it was learned here today.

Eleven committees surpassed their former total receipts. They were Acton Vale, Berthier, Bromfield, Chateauguay, Chouinard, Gaspé South, Jonquiere, Megantic, Richmond, Terrebonne and Three Rivers.

The Leagues and Committees outside of Montreal collected a total of $111,904.63 to compare with $105,960.52 the year before.

Gabriel Landry Is Found Guilty Of Reckless Driving, Sentence Jan. 17

After deliberating three quarters of an hour, an all French jury yesterday found Gabriel Landry, 25-year-old Sherbrooke man, guilty of reckless driving instead of manslaughter as charged. The jury was polled and each man answered in turn "Guilty of reckless driving."

Landry was arrested following the death of three-year-old Daniel Lacombe last June, as the result of injuries suffered when a truck, driven by the accused, went out of control, careened along St. Michael Street and veered across the sidewalk, striking the child who was watching his father working on the lawn in front of his home.

Mr. Justice William Mitchell will pronounce sentence on the accused next Tuesday, although defence attorney Paul-Emile Brazeau had asked that sentence be passed immediately in view of the fact that the accused had already spent two and a half months in jail. Before adjourning, Mr. Justice Mitchell commended Crown Prosecutor Roland Dugre K.C. for the very fair manner in which he had conducted the case, and Mr. Brazeau for his spirited and well planned defence.

Defence's case had rested primarily on the testimony of one of Lacombe's neighbors, Rosario Denault, a Crown witness who spoke to the accused at the time of the accident saying, "What do you mean driving a car when you have been drinking, going around killing people?" Denault claimed that the accused answered "That fool grabbed the wheel" meaning Mrs. Rousseau, one of the four other people sitting on the same seat with him in the truck.

On the day of the tragedy, Landry was attending a wedding reception and about four o'clock in the afternoon decided to go to the store for cigars. He took with him the groom and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rousseau, his brother, Emile Landry and the bride's sister, Alden Bloudeau. It was then that the child was killed.

Teen-Agers' Club Planned At Lennoxville

Once again the Lennoxville and Ascot Community Association plans to operate the teen-agers' Saturday night club in the Lennoxville town hall which has been made available through the kindness of the town council. During the winter of 1948-49 the top floor of the town hall was a popular resort for young people, where games, dancing and refreshments were enjoyed under the supervision of adult members of the Association.

At a recent meeting of the Youth Centre committee, L. F. Jenne, Randolph Lindsay and Bruce Clarke were appointed to act as general directors for the current year. Interested members of the adult community will be asked to take a share in the supervision, two to be in charge each Saturday night with responsibility for program planning and refreshments.

The first party of the season will take place on Saturday, January 14, from 8 to 11:30 p.m. and all young people, both French and English, from Lennoxville and Ascot will be welcome.

Newfoundland Jubilee Guilds Send Greeting

Among the many friendly greetings arriving at the office of the Quebec Women's Institute during the holiday season was one from the Jubilee Guilds of Newfoundland and Labrador, Mrs. J. A. Winter, St. John's, president, and Miss Anna Templeton, organizing secretary.

Since Newfoundland has come into the Confederation contacts have been made by that organization with Institute in other provinces and an exchange of information and ideas established. A copy of the 13th Annual Report of the Jubilee Guilds has been received at the Q.W.I. office and contains much interesting information on their activities.

Their motto is "Confidence, Courage and Unity," and their objectives are: Social betterment, education of the homemaker, and service to the community. Seven field workers are employed who visit the various districts, staying two or three weeks and giving instruction in weaving, sewing, cooking, home-nursing, recreation, and encouraging social work in general in the community. A marketing service is also conducted by the provincial organization for women goods made by the members.

The Jubilee Guilds are affiliated with the A.C.W.W. and are looking forward to closer ties with the Institutes throughout Canada.

Sherbrooke Daily Record

The Oldest Daily in the District
Established Ninth Day of February, 1897. With which is incorporated the Sherbrooke Gazette, established 1837, and Sherbrooke Examiner, established 1878.

The Record is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulation, its circulation being regularly audited and guaranteed.

PRODUCTIVITY KEY TO PROSPERITY

For the average American family, $12,000; for the whole United States, annual production amounting to one trillion dollars.

This was President Truman's prediction for the year 2000 A. D. as the nation stands near the midpoint of the Twentieth Century.

To gauge how optimistic his forecast was, you have only to note that total yearly output in the United States today is around $255,000,000,000, slightly more than a fourth of the figure he anticipates at the start of the 21st Century.

As for family income, there is probably some disagreement among economists as to where it stands today. Mr. Truman is said to have taken a 1950 average of $4,200 a year.

The questions arise: Is this a lot of dreaming or is it really possible? The President arrived at these spectacular estimates largely by projecting forward the same growth rate of productivity, or output per worker, that the country enjoyed during the years 1900-1950.

Since 1900 the country's "national product" has increased about four times — the very rate of change which Mr. Truman foresees for 1950-2000.

Because the trend has so far showed no signs of slackening off, we must conclude that Mr. Truman's trillion-dollar talk is not fantasy.

Mr. Truman himself acknowledged some of the pitfalls in his State of the Union message. He hung a big proviso on his bright forecast.

None of these tasks is easy. So if the country hits that trillion-dollar mark in 2000, it's safe to say it will not do it without feeling the same often severe growing pains it suffered during the last 50 years.

KNOWLEDGE MUST BE USABLE

Dr. Edmund W. Sinnott, president of Yale's scientific school, suggests that 10,000,000 amateur scientists be organized to help push back the frontiers of knowledge.

The gold mines around Yellowknife have already produced $20,000,000 in gold.

New farming wealth may come from the Valley of the Liard River, which flows into the Mackenzie River.

THE WAY THE SHOE PINCHES

An interesting sidelight on the reactions of some so-called socialists to the profit system when their own pecuniary rewards promise to be great has been presented by the Kingston Whig-Standard in telling about George Bernard Shaw, an outstanding intellectual socialist for more than half-a-century.

still at it last year. When it comes to his own personal business, however, the Kingston paper shows, it is a very different matter.

Caesar and Cleopatra, a play by Shaw, is now running in New York again, and Shaw supervised the preparation for his latest revival by letter, cable and postcard.

Mr. Shaw, however, would have no part of Theatre Incorporated. "I take no interest in non-profit enterprises," he wrote.

In other words, Socialism is a political theory Mr. Shaw admires, but when it comes to practice he rejects anything but the profit system.

PRESS COMMENTS

STILL PERSECUTION

Despite the pronounced ruling of the Supreme Court of Canada, one member of which declared that a Jehovah Witness had been subject to persecution by the police Montreal City proposes to proceed against 1,000 members of the religious cult on such charges as meddling without a license, obstructing traffic or failing to move when ordered by a constable.

What a force of 1,000 men or more who are police-minded can do to Jehovah Witnesses needs no elaboration, when they are given orders to track down the Witnesses, and get them for petty infractions of civic by-laws which have a nuisance value only.

It would still be persecution. The Supreme Court decision, and particularly the dissenting judgment of Mr. Justice Rand, may be given the interpretation that what Quebec Crown and police authorities are trying to do to the Jehovah Witnesses is a milder form of what Hitler did to the Jews.

BUTTER MILK

The Ontario Whole Milk Producers' League is considering a recommendation that there be a government tax on soft drinks, the revenue therefrom to be utilized in free distribution of milk in Ontario schools.

We think the League should consider another method of encouraging use of milk products. There are plenty of delicious milk drinks, malted milk, egg noges, etc., but they are not as readily available in urban centres as the various kinds of soft drinks.

Take butter milk as an example. It is one of the finest of all drinks, palatable, refreshing and nutritious. But, unless one goes to a dairy or orders it through a dairy, it is not easily obtained.

If half the sales effort and advertising that is put behind fruit juices and soft drinks were used to push sales of milk drinks, dairy producers would find a ready-market for a lot more milk.

IN ARCTIC AREA

Hugh L. Keenleyside, Commissioner of the Northwest Territories, believes that the experience of the modern town of Yellowknife, plus recent discoveries in science, have shown that it is quite possible to extend ordinary civilized community life right up to and perhaps beyond the Arctic Circle.

According to an article in Coronet, the Northwest Territories have the mineral wealth, hydro power and farming lands to support a population of several million people. It cites these developments.

The fisheries of Great Slave Lake although only three years old, are already producing 4,000,000 pounds of fish annually. Production will soon increase fifty per cent, giving this northern lake a haul equal to that of Lake Superior.

The gold mines around Yellowknife have already produced $20,000,000 in gold.

New farming wealth may come from the Valley of the Liard River, which flows into the Mackenzie River.

UNFAIR COMPETITION

Canadian shoe manufacturers are protesting a growing threat of competition from Czechoslovakia. Footwear produced there under communist slave labor conditions can be sold here, they maintain, at prices Canadian producers cannot match.

This is a matter, surely, in which the federal authority, after due investigation of the circumstances, can help. There are laws against dumping, and the Czechoslovak shoe exports appear to fall into that category.

"Try number six on that juke box, son," Scotty the bartender said in his quiet brogue accent.

"Play it twice, man. That Bing is good. He'll be an angel in Heaven some day with that voice. Give those angels up there a lot of competition, too. Just keep him away from horses and he'll be OK.

"Well, when Scotty says he'll tell you a story, you'll listen or you're crazy, for Scotty is the most entertaining bartender in town. But, most of all, Scotty is a human being.

"There's a yore couple," Scotty says, "comes in here quite often for the past year. Nice people, man and wife. No use tellin' you their names, I'll call the man Charlie, the girl Anne.

"I put the dime in the box and came back to the bar. I'll try to make it fast," Scotty said. "Before it gets busy here, so listen close, son, and if you can profit by it so much the better."

"Looks down in spirits when he does, too. I figure the money in the family is getting to a low point and I try to cheer him up. It's no good. Might as well try to cheer me up when my horses have all run out for the day.

"Well, he comes in last week one day and he's lookin' specially low, but he's talkin' a little, which is a fair sign for me when I'm analyzin' a man, which I can do, as you know, son. I pride myself on figurin' people out and what they have in mind and stuff like that.

"Put it away," Scotty says. "You bought that for your kid for Halloween, didn't you?"

"You can have the gun," she says. "I was supposed to get it in the first place. It's the money I'm worried about."

"The boss," Scotty said, "relieved me again and I met Anne at my hotel in the next ten minutes. Son, I'm a bachelor and I'm goin' to stay that way. No one ever gave me a goin' over like that woman gave me. Why couldn't I mind my own business?" she asked.

"Well I guess I'll be goin' to the bank," the kid says. "I might as well."

"By this time," Scotty says, "I've already put two and two together, which, by the way, son, is something you can never be sure of either. Always remember that two and two is not always four. It may look like four, fall like four, and make a noise like four, but,

The Doctor Says

ANTIHISTAMINE COLD REMEDIES MUST BE USED WITH CAUTION

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

By this time millions of people have tried one or more of the new antihistamine cold remedies. Some swear by one product and some by another. In others, the cold goes merrily on. Voices of warning have been sounded that these products may not be entirely harmless. It is all very confusing—and with good reason.

Colds are probably caused by one or more viruses which are living organisms. No one claims that the antihistamines act on the viruses, so what do they do? The answer seems to be that at the beginning some colds are partly allergic and the delicate lining of the nose and throat become highly sensitive to the proteins of the invading virus.

Histamines Appear

This causes sneezing, running of the nose, and the usual miserable symptoms. It is known that in allergy chemical substances known as histamines are produced; hence, giving other substances which neutralize or combat these histamines may help the symptoms of an allergy.

This is the reason for giving antihistamines at the beginning of a cold—in the hope that it will conquer the allergy part of the cold and allow the body a chance to overcome the virus. The Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry of the American Medical Association has recently pointed out that some users of these drugs become drowsy and have even fallen asleep while driving cars or operating machinery. This can be highly dangerous. And the Council said that we do not yet know whether they are entirely harmless when taken over long periods of time.

If the antihistamines can prevent, relieve, or shorten even some colds, a great step forward will have been taken. But until we know more about these preparations, remember that the advertisements you read are aimed at selling the drug.

His Worship Mayor P. H. Boivin Of Granby Expresses In His New Year's Greetings Optimistic Views For 1950

Granby, Jan. 13.—His Worship Mayor P. Horace Boivin, of the City of Granby, in his New Year's greetings to the people, said that 1949 had been a record year, in fact the most prosperous that Granby had ever had. More construction had taken place than in any previous years.

A new filtration plant will be inaugurated within the next few months, which will give assurance that there will be plenty of water of the purest quality in future.

Three new Roman Catholic Churches are in the process of construction and a number of new industries are expected to come to the city in the near future.

In the field of sport, Granby will have organized baseball. The Curling Club has enlarged its Club House, and installed artificial ice, and the membership has almost doubled. The ladies are also curling again and have re-organized their branch so that there are now upwards of 70 members.

The Mayor expressed his hopes that the new bus route between Newport, Vt., and Granby would aid in making the city a greater commercial centre. He also hoped that the railway system would improve so that all trains would arrive and depart from the Montreal Central Station.

He had hopes of a grant from the government that would allow for the cleaning up of the lake and building a protection wall around it, also that the Superior Court definitely establishes itself in Granby and that the Federal Government takes over the charge of the Airport, and the Zoological Gardens, so that they may become a very attractive and beautiful spot in the city.

He also hoped that there may be a National Art Gallery and Museum so that important exhibitions may be held here, and that an Arts and Trade School be considered by the Department of Youth as a Technical School.

That St. Joseph's Hospital be enlarged, with a Sanatorium for tubercular cases and become a great medical centre for the Province of Quebec and that 1950 would be the golden year of the twentieth century for Granby.

The Mayor concluded his message by wishing each one of the citizens a very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

PRODUCTIVITY KEY TO PROSPERITY

For the average American family, $12,000; for the whole United States, annual production amounting to one trillion dollars.

This was President Truman's prediction for the year 2000 A. D. as the nation stands near the midpoint of the Twentieth Century.

To gauge how optimistic his forecast was, you have only to note that total yearly output in the United States today is around $255,000,000,000, slightly more than a fourth of the figure he anticipates at the start of the 21st Century.

As for family income, there is probably some disagreement among economists as to where it stands today. Mr. Truman is said to have taken a 1950 average of $4,200 a year.

The questions arise: Is this a lot of dreaming or is it really possible? The President arrived at these spectacular estimates largely by projecting forward the same growth rate of productivity, or output per worker, that the country enjoyed during the years 1900-1950.

Since 1900 the country's "national product" has increased about four times — the very rate of change which Mr. Truman foresees for 1950-2000.

Because the trend has so far showed no signs of slackening off, we must conclude that Mr. Truman's trillion-dollar talk is not fantasy.

Mr. Truman himself acknowledged some of the pitfalls in his State of the Union message. He hung a big proviso on his bright forecast.

None of these tasks is easy. So if the country hits that trillion-dollar mark in 2000, it's safe to say it will not do it without feeling the same often severe growing pains it suffered during the last 50 years.

KNOWLEDGE MUST BE USABLE

Dr. Edmund W. Sinnott, president of Yale's scientific school, suggests that 10,000,000 amateur scientists be organized to help push back the frontiers of knowledge.

This proposal is very interesting but it probably would be necessary that another army of at least 1,000,000 be assembled to make something understandable out of the jargon.

Scientists are already too far behind as it is in digesting the mountains of information scholars continue to pile up.

THE WAY THE SHOE PINCHES

An interesting sidelight on the reactions of some so-called socialists to the profit system when their own pecuniary rewards promise to be great has been presented by the Kingston Whig-Standard in telling about George Bernard Shaw, an outstanding intellectual socialist for more than half-a-century.

still at it last year. When it comes to his own personal business, however, the Kingston paper caesar, it is a very different matter.

Caesar and Cleopatra, a play by Shaw, is now running in New York again, and Shaw supervised the preparation for his latest revival by letter, cable and postcard.

Mr. Shaw, however, would have no part of Theatre Incorporated. "I take no interest in non-profit enterprises," he wrote.

In other words, Socialism is a political theory Mr. Shaw admires, but when it comes to practice he rejects anything but the profit system.

If this is correct, and we have no reason to doubt it, our shoe manufacturers have a justifiable complaint. They will be expected to hold their own in a competitive world, but this implies reasonable competition, and it is apparent Czechoslovakia does not offer it.

"Looks down in spirits when he does, too. I figure the money in the family is getting to a low point and I try to cheer him up. It's no good. Might as well try to cheer me up when my horses have all run out for the day. You've seen me, son, on days like that. Why, my face is hangin' down to here."

"Well, he comes in last week one day and he's lookin' specially low, but he's takin' a little, which is a fair sign for me when I'm analyzin' a man, which I can do, as you know, son. I pride myself on figurin' people out and what they have in mind and stuff like that. You know how it is, son. If a bartender didn't do something like that he'd go nuts. He's just gotta do somethin'! Well, he talks a while and he drinks a while."

"And he's still that last mile from home," I say just to say something. "Don't interrupt now," Scotty says. "I only got a few minutes before the crowd starts comin' in. I can't get much out of him." Scotty says, "except that he's talkin' about banks and wishin' he had some of their money. Now after a man repeats a thing like that over and over it makes me think to think. Especially when he takes a rubber mask shaped like a pig's head out of his pocket and slips it on."

"What would they think if I walked into the bank with this on?" the kid says. "Put it away," Scotty says. "You bought that for your kid for Halloween, didn't you?" "That's it," he says. "I bought it for Halloween. What else?" And he laughs a little in a funny way.

"Now, son," Scotty says to me. "I've had a long and checkered career. I've done a lot of things and I know a lot of things and my eyes are wide open, so naturally I look him over closely. Sure enough, I see a bulge in his coat pocket that says somethin' is there that ain't much. So I go over to the window outside the bar and fix the Venetian blind so it won't let the afternoon sun get in my eyes. On the way back I drop somethin' on the floor next to him and when I stood to pick it up I make it a point to find out about what's in that pocket. Sure enough, it's a rubber mask. No cap either. I can feel it's a man's gun."

"Well I guess I'll be goin' to the bank," the kid says. "I might as well." "By this time," Scotty says, "I've already put two and two together, which, by the way, son, is somethin' you can never be sure of either. Always remember that two and two is not always four. It may look like four, fell like four and make a noise like four, but,

"You can have the gun," she says. "You were supposed to get it in the first place. It's the money I'm worried about."

"The boss," Scotty said, "retrieved me again and I met Anne at my hotel in the next ten minutes. Son, I'm a bachelor and I'm goin' to stay that way. No one ever gave me a goin' over like that women gave me. Why couldn't I mind my own business?" she asked. "Why couldn't I allow a man to go to the bank to make a deposit without buttin' in?"

"We went up to my room and there is Charlie snoring like he's supposed to after my special. The stuff has about worn off and we wake him. The dame goes for the billfold and unleashes about five hundred bucks.

"Our savings," she says. "With the strike on we decided it would be better to keep it in a bank. Besides, Charlie had a yen to buy a car with it and I know we can't afford it. And you think he's goin' to rob a bank, no wonder you're a bartender," she says.

"I apologized and kept my mouth shut all the time she's giving me this and Charlie keeps quiet, too. They started out into the hall. Then Charlie came back "Right," Scotty said. "Made like no one can make 'em but me. I'm just carryin' 'em over to one of the booths when the boss comes in. I tell him he's a friend of mine that got sick and I'd like to take him home if he'd take over the bar for about ten minutes. The boss agrees and I drive the kid over to my hotel and put him to bed. I pocket the gun and come back here. I'm happy as a lark, son. I've done somethin' as good as any preacher ever done. I've saved a man from himself. The Mickey, I know, is good for about six hours at least, but I forget that his wife might be waiting for him. Sure enough, she calls about midnight and I try to explain.

"He's over at my place, I tell her, sleepin' like a baby. All is well." "All is well?" she says. "You say all is well? What do you know about whether all is well or not? Where's all his money?" "What money?" I say. "I didn't search the man. Only for the gun. I've got that, ma'am, if you want it."

PUBLIC NOTICE

Public notice is hereby given that the Town of Magog will apply at the next session of the Legislature of the Province of Quebec for the passing of an act amending its charter, 1 Edward VIII, Chap. 7, and other statutes amending the same on the following matters: to change the name of "The Town of Magog" to "City of Magog"; to annex to its territory part of the Municipality of the Township of Magog; to impose summarily a fine for violation of traffic by-laws and confirm what has been done in the past; to impose a maximum annual professional tax of $100.00; to impose an annual personal tax of $5.00; to be able to sell by auction unclaimed lot or abandoned objects; to impose a sale tax of 1% in its territory; to impose an annual license tax of 10% instead of 5%; to buy, build or maintain immovables at a total maximum cost of $100,000.00, for municipal or industrial purposes and rent or sell them under certain conditions; to establish a different annual rate of contributions to redeem obligations that can be bought, and redeem by a new emission those which can not be bought by the by-laws; to abrogate the second part of its charter to remove all that concerns school matters and for other purposes. Magog, this 27th day of December, 1949. YVES FOREST, Attorney for the Petitioner.

NOTICE

The Honorable Antonio Barrette, Minister of Labor of the Province of Quebec, pursuant to the provisions of Section 5 of the Collective Labor Agreement Act (R.S.Q., 1941, chapter 163 and amendments), hereby gives notice that he intends to recommend the approval of the following amendments to the decree relating to the construction industry and trades which territorial jurisdiction comprises the Eastern Townships District. The notice of request of modification has been published in the Quebec Official Gazette of December 24th, 1949, in the following manner:

Pursuant to the procedure set forth in section 8 of the Collective Agreement Act (Revised Statutes of Quebec, 1941, chapter 163 and amendments), the Honorable Antonio Barrette, Minister of Labor, hereby gives notice that he intends to recommend the approval of the following amendment to the decree number 1519 of September 18, 1947, and amendments relating to the construction industry and trades in the Eastern Townships District.

That the words "or school" be added between the words "municipal" and "corporations" mentioned twice in subsection 1 of the "Special provisions" appearing at the end of Section II of the said decree.

During the thirty days following the date of publication of this notice in the Quebec Official Gazette, the Honorable Minister of Labor will consider the objections which the interested parties may wish to set forth.

GERARD TREMBLAY, Deputy Minister of Labor, Department of Labor, Quebec, December 24th, 1949. 26382-0.

OBITUARIES

MR. WILLIAM HILLIS, OF GOULD, QUE.

Gould, Jan. 13. - A resident of this district for nearly 30 years, William Hillis died on December 3 at the home of his brother, David Hillis, of Gould.

Mr. Hillis was born at Montreal in 1880, a son of the late Thomas Hillis and Mary Jane Lee Angle. At the age of 18 years he moved to Stornoway, Que., where he operated a farm for his father for a number of years before moving to Gould in 1920, where he resided with his brother George on a farm at North Hill for 29 years.

Mr. Hillis was of a quiet disposition and enjoyed the friendship of all those who knew him. He was in robust health until June, 1949, when he had a slight stroke while at work, from which he never fully recovered. He was out and around until stricken with a second stroke on November 23rd, when he was taken to the home of his brother David. He was tenderly cared for by his sister, Mrs. Aiaz Beaton, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. David Hillis, and also Nurse Christina MacLure and Nurse Mrs. John Smith, of Scotstown.

The funeral services were held at Chalmers' United Church Gould, at 2 p.m., December 5. Rev. F. R. Matthews conducted the service with Mrs. Ruel Annesley as organist. The hymns were "I Heard The Voice Of Jesus Say," "Peace Perfect Peace," and "Now The Labourer's Task is O'er."

Interment was in the Gould Cemetery.

The high regard in which the deceased was held was shown by the many flowers banking the casket.

The bearers were all close friends and neighbors of the deceased, Alex MacKay, George MacKay, Albert Noakes, Bryan Beaton, Harry Morrison and William MacDonald.

Those from out-of-town attending the funeral were Messrs. Dave and Howard Taylor, of Lachine, Que., Mr. D. R. Angle, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. MacLennan, of Sherbrooke, Mrs. Frank Smith, of Richmond, Mrs. A. MacLennan, Miss Isabel MacLennan, Donald MacLennan, Mr. George Hornblower, Alice and Henry Hornblower, of Stornoway, Mr. Jack Matheson, of Bury and Mr. John MacMillan, of Gould Station, Mr. George MacDonald, of Scotstown.

Those who survive and mourn his loss are his brothers, George and David Hillis, and his sister, Florence, Mrs. Alex Beaton, as well as a number of nieces and nephews.

MRS. BISMARCK TRUAX, OF WATERLOO.

Waterloo, Jan. 13. - The death of Mrs. Bismark Truax, of Waterloo, occurred suddenly on December 6, following a tragic accident, when she was hit by a truck while crossing the street on her way to a Missionary Society meeting. She passed away in the ambulance while en route to a Montreal hospital about an hour following the accident. Death was pronounced due to facial and head injuries.

The remains rested at Leo Paul Ledoux's Funeral Home in Waterloo, and the funeral service was held in the United Church on Friday, December 9, at 2 p.m. with Rev. N. D. Mitchell officiating.

The bearers were Messrs. Norman Copping, Spencer Matheson, Percy Tibbitts, Clifford Tibbitts, William Hackwell and Cecil Thompson. Interment was made in the Waterloo Cemetery.

The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, and included a beautiful wreath from the neighbors, silent tribute of their affection and esteem, as well as a large number of pieces from the members of the family and friends.

Mr. Mitchell spoke consoling words to the bereaved husband and family. The choir rendered a favorite hymn of deceased, "Rock of Ages," and Mrs. R. McLeay, as soloist, sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

Mrs. Truax was in her 74th year. Born in Montreal in 1876, she was formerly Edith Margaret Osborne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Osborne.

In 1914 she was married to Bismark Truax, of Boscobel, where they lived until seven years ago, when they came to reside in Waterloo.

She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Evelyn, Mrs. Hartley Graham, a son-in-law, Mr. Hartley Graham, and three grandchildren, of Asbestos; two step-daughters, Mrs. Cleve L. Cote, of Frankville, Ont., and Mrs. Gordon Emmett, of Waterloo, and two step-grandchildren, Veldon and Iona Cote, of Frankville, Ont., and one sister, Mrs. Annie Taylor, of Montreal.

A number of brothers predeceased her in recent years, one brother, Alfred, of Montreal, predeceasing her in September.

Among those from out of town present at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Graham, of Asbestos, Mrs. Cleve L. Cote, of Frankville, Ont., Mrs. Annie Taylor, of Montreal, Mrs. Arthur Martin, of Montreal, Mrs. George Walkie, of Windsor Mills, Miss Adie Truax, of Williamstown, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Osborne and Mr. Norman Osborne, of Windsor Mills, Mr. Allan Hackwell, Mr. Howard Hackwell and Mrs. Archibald Robichaud, of Boscobel, and a large number of friends from the surrounding district and Granby.

A Post-Nuptial Reception Was Held For Rev. and Mrs. C. Pelletier Of St. Hyacinthe By Their Granby Friends

Granby, Jan. 13.—A very happy bridal reception was extended to Rev. Charles and Mrs. Pelletier, at the close of the Wednesday service of the United Church. The happy couple were married in Toronto, Ont., just two weeks ago, and have come to take charge of the United Church in St. Hyacinthe.

The service on Wednesday was bilingual, there are many French Protestants in Granby, and at its close all were invited to come to the church hall, where refreshments were spread on a long table.

Rev. N. D. Patterson, pastor of the church, welcomed the young couple to Granby and asked them to accept a purse of money from their Granby friends, as a token of their good wishes for which they had come.

Mrs. Aubertin and both Rev. Charles and Mrs. Pelletier made suitable replies of appreciation.

Mr. J. G. Fuller also extended good wishes to the young people from the United Church of the service on Wednesday of the "Week of Prayer" was bilingual and Miss Nita Aubertin rendered a sacred solo in French.

THE KIWANIS CLUB

The Kiwanis Club was treated to a very fine film at its regular meeting this week, when "Neighbours in Enterprise" was put upon the screen.

The film was made in Lachine, and is the story of what one industrial company contributed to the development of the community, and this could be duplicated in a hundred Canadian cities and towns.

It shows the joint contribution that an industrial concern and its employees can make to create a truly Canadian pattern of life.

The sponsor of "Neighbours in Enterprise" was the Ayrer's Limited, and Mr. S. Simms, chairman of the program committee operated the projector. He was thanked by Mr. Fred Wallace.

The report on the sale of Christmas seals shows that the allocation of $1,600, will be realized.

The Doctor Says

ANTIHISTAMINE COLD REMEDIES MUST BE USED WITH CAUTION

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

By this time millions of people have tried one or more of the new antihistamine cold remedies. Some swear by one product and some swear by another. In others, the cold goes merrily on. Voices of warning have been sounded that these products may not be entirely harmless. It is all very confusing—and with good reason.

Colds are probably caused by one or more viruses which are tiny living organisms. No one claims that the antihistamines act on the viruses, so what do they do? The answer seems to be that at the beginning some colds are partly allergy and the delicate lining of the nose and throat become highly sensitive to the proteins of the invading virus.

This causes sneezing, running of the nose, and the usual miserable symptoms. It is known that in allergy, chemical substances known as histamines are produced; hence, giving other substances which neutralize or combat these histamines may help the symptoms of an allergy.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB

The first 1956 meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club was held in the Mackinnon Memorial club room, Monday evening, January 9. Miss Yvette Campbell, presiding.

The meeting was opened by the repetition in unison of the Mary Stewart Collect for women, following which the president extended New Year greetings and best wishes to the members.

The recording secretary, Miss Ethel Taylor, read the minutes of the December meeting, which had been followed by a very enjoyable program and party, under the convener-ship of Mrs. P. D. Mathias.

In the correspondence, read by Mrs. Lella Aikenhead, corresponding secretary, was an acknowledgment from the president of the Poole Club, of England, of the receipt of a Christmas box sent by the Sherbrooke Club. This letter also disclosed the locality of the club as well as the occupations of some of its members.

Mrs. P. D. Mathias, who had acted as convener for local Christmas cheer, gave her report and it was decided to combine the balances from this fund and from the adopted club fund into one.

Plans were made for a dinner meeting at Rockcliffe, in February, when the International Night meeting will be held.

Mrs. Percy Grey New President Of Plymouth Guild

The first 1956 meeting of Plymouth Guild was held in the church parlour on Tuesday evening with the new president, Mrs. Percy Grey, in the chair. The meeting was opened with prayer in unison.

The minutes of the December meeting were read by the secretary, and the retiring treasurer, Mrs. J. L. Pergau presented the financial statement. The secretary presented her annual report. The new treasurer, Mrs. S. W. Featherston, collected the tea money and annual fees.

Three new committees were appointed for the year, as follows: Membership - Mrs. R. A. Stevenson and Miss E. M. Hall; program - Mrs. Percy Rawlings; Mrs. T. J. Marshall, Mrs. Harold Rawlings, Mrs. Vina Brownlow and Mrs. George Lindsay; advertising - Mrs. C. Montgomery; posters - Miss Eunice MacIntyre; Mrs. James Mitchell was again named as social convener; Mrs. J. L. Gillam was named to take charge of dime cards.

The date of the annual church and congregational meeting was set for January 26, the Guild being in charge of the supper. A large committee was appointed to make and carry out arrangements for this event.

United Church calendars were distributed by Mrs. Alex Bayne. Mrs. R. C. Tait on behalf of the Guild, presented Mrs. C. A. Thornhill with a gift on the eve of her departure to make her home in Peach Lake, Rhode Island. In graciously thanking the Guild for the lovely gift, Mrs. Thornhill invited all to visit her in her new home.

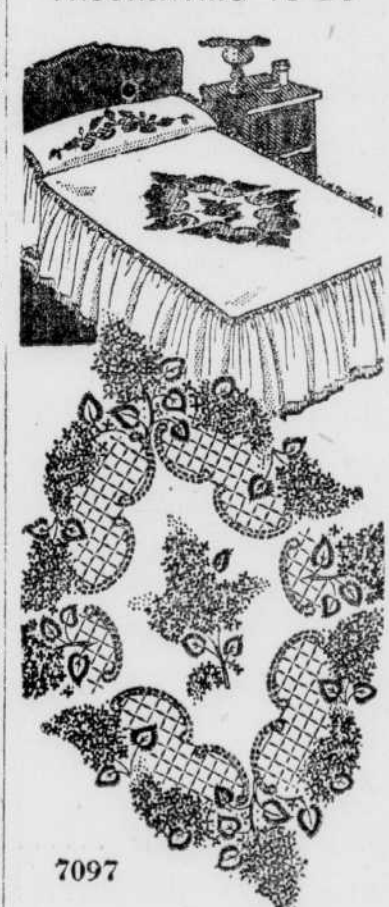

The hostesses, Mrs. G. J. Alexander and Miss E. M. Hall served refreshments assisted by a few friends.

Many Ways To Serve Canned Salmon

Good things come in small packages, it has been said, and one small tin of salmon is one of those good things. Hot or cold, plain or fancy, canned salmon can be served in a multitude of different ways, guaranteed to please the palate. One of our favorites is Salmon Omelette, and it will be one of yours, too.

Salmon Omelette 1/2 lb. can salmon, 2 oz. butter, grated cheese, buttered croutons, salt, pepper, 4 eggs. Flake salmon in small pieces, strain liquor. Put butter in frying pan and when melted add the salmon, salt and pepper to taste, and sprinkle lightly with grated cheese. Make an omelette with four eggs, adding the salmon liquor, and when it has formed, and is still soft, spread the salmon on it, roll up, and serve with buttered croutons. Serves four.

Glamor 'Tube' Leads Double Life

A knitted woolen tube, which any girl who is worth will find easy to make, is knit the time it takes because of the many roles it can fill in a wardrobe. It can double now as a chic strapless top for an ankle-length skirt and keep a topknit for the remainder of the winter. Come spring and summer, the tube can continue as a sturdy top for swim or sun shorts. Such a top takes only five ounces of fingering yarn, a circular knitting needle, and a little spare time to make. It is cast on enough stitches for the circumference of the body. The top should fit the body snugly. Girls who want an added safety measure for defying gravity can put in a casing at the top of the knitted "tube" and insert elastic.

Several tops in gay colors would provide clever changes for a single black skirt and a background for costume jewelry not when a wardrobe is apt to suffer from mid-season doldrums. For variety, a girl might use metallic yarn for knitting her "tube" trim it with seed pearls, or knit it in a simple design.

To transform the top to a helmet, all that needs to be done is to pull it over the head. When its winter duties are over, the tubular top can team up with trunks in matching or contrasting colors and continue right into the fashion swim.

Jewish Community Tendered Dinner To Local Couple

On Sunday evening, January 8, in the Mayfair Room at the New Sherbrooke Hotel, the Jewish Community held a dinner for upwards of forty couples, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rubin, who will shortly be leaving Sherbrooke, to reside in Montreal. Mr. Henry Echenberg acted as chairman.

The main address was given by Mr. Menasseh Smith, president of the community. Mr. Smith said that during the thirteen years spent in Sherbrooke, Mr. Rubin had been an ardent worker in and generous contributor to the various community causes, had ably assisted in the administration of community affairs and furthermore had been instrumental in the planning of the future Talmud Torah.

The next speaker, Mr. Phillip Rennett, president of the B'nai B'rith, added that Mr. Rubin had also been the chairman for the ambulance drive for Aid to Israel, and he expressed the regret felt by the community at the loss of Mr. Rubin, a past president and a valued member of the Lodge. At this point, Mr. Rennett presented Mr. Rubin with a testimonial from the Sherbrooke Lodge. Other speakers were Rev. I. Mittleman, Mr. Irving Steinman and Mr. J. Wener.

Mrs. I. Echenberg, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and Mrs. Abe Schacter, president of the Sherbrooke Hadassah Chapter, remarked on the wholehearted support given by both Rubin to all activities of both organizations and said her departure from Sherbrooke would mean the loss of a very efficient member.

Mr. and Mrs. Rubin were then presented with a cellophane, by Col. Sam Echenberg, on behalf of the community.

Mr. Rubin, on the part of himself and his wife, fittingly voiced their appreciation of this testimonial dinner and the beautiful gift and their sorrow at the severance of the friendly ties they had joyously enjoyed during their sojourn in this city.

Arrangements for the affair were made by Messrs. J. Wener, Soll Niloff, Henry Echenberg and Alex Powell.

Several friends from out-of-town were guests at the function.

DOROTHY DIX

Fiancee Worries

Should She Marry Man Who Must Live With Mother?

Dear Miss Dix: I have been engaged to a boy for three years and we are no closer to marriage than when we started. He is the sole support of his mother, who is a woman 53 years old, and he does not make enough money to support two homes. We could get married if I would consent to live with his mother, but I don't think that is a sound investment for a happy marriage, although she is nice. He says if I loved him I would be willing to make this sacrifice for him, but I say that it is because I love him that I am afraid of risk breaking up our marriage. What should I do?

DOROTHY DIX

NINETEEN. Answer: You will find the answer to your problem in your own heart. Look carefully into that and try to find out whether you love your fiance so much that the very thought of life without him is intolerable. If you feel that existence without him will be cinders, ashes and dust, then go ahead and marry him, notwithstanding the handicap of a mother-in-law. But play fair! Don't take your fiance at the expense of that of the man and his mother.

BETTER OFF ALONE. Of course, a marriage has a better chance of success if a couple can go off by themselves and set up their home. But there are many cases, like yours, in which a man cannot support two establishments and where it is necessary for his mother to live with them.

Whether this is a curse or a blessing depends, as a general thing, upon the spirit in which the young bride meets her mother-in-law. The mean mother-in-law is the exception rather than the rule. It is perfectly possible for the young wife to make a friend of her mother-in-law and to really find in her another mother. Mothers-in-law can be an ever-present help in times of trouble, especially when the babies begin to come, and an overworked and overtired young mother is glad enough to have a little assistance.

It seems to me that a woman cares very little for a man if she lets a little thing like a bugaboo of a mother-in-law scare her off from marrying him. But you are right about one thing, and that is that if you are going to let the idea of living with a mother-in-law keep you from marrying this man you had better break the engagement off now. It is folly for you to tie yourself longer to a man whose conditions of marriage you cannot alter and will not accept.

Dear Miss Dix: Will you please tell me how not to be a human doormat? We have two young children and a small but thriving business, but my husband takes everything and gives me nothing. He uses the car and I walk. He buys the best of clothes. The children and I wear bargains. He buys the groceries. I cook whatever he brings in. He selects all of our clothing even to the color. He supervises the arrangement of our furniture and I'm supposed to like it. He goes out at night. I stay at home. I enjoy going places, too, and my lonely nights are driving me wild. What shall I do?

SLIPPING. Answer: Perhaps your husband can be made to see how unjustly he is treating you, but unfortunately selfish people always consider that something they have a divine right to do as they please and take what they want.

Don't try to tell him, because if you do, he will fly into a passion and you'll begin crying and there will only be a scene. Write him a calm letter in which you set forth your grievance and mail it to his office. Then he can contemplate it in a cold silence that may bring repentance to his heart. Of course, if you had only yourself to consider, you could pack up and leave your petty tyrant, but you can't do that with two little children. You couldn't earn enough money to support them, and your duty is to them. And it is also your duty, for their sakes, to live in peace with your husband because the atmosphere of a discordant home poisons the very souls of children.

But how terrible is the crime of a man who browbeats a woman until he takes all the joy out of her life for her, and who wrecks what might have been a happy home by his selfishness!

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

the blind, the same as there is among any other group of people," said Mr. McClintock. "The main work of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is to help themselves. We blind do not want charity; we want the opportunity of making a living for ourselves; we need the education necessary to establish ourselves in a business or profession; help in getting started, and assistance in keeping going. The Institute has helped many blind get started and the results have been uniformly good. We need your help in securing enough money to keep this good work going, and we know that we can count on you people at the Boundary not to let us down."

Using stories of embarrassing moments among blind people, the speaker kept his audience laughing, but at the same time made them realize that in many ways the blind were no different from others. The drive for the Canadian Institute for the Blind will start the last of January, and this was the annual appearance of members of the Institute at the Rotary Club of the Boundary, members of which spearhead the local fund-raising committee.

Mr. McClintock was accompanied by Neil Tracy of Sherbrooke, and was introduced by Gordon Patrie. The thanks of the club were expressed by past president, Earl Heath, who also gave a report on the Rotary Children's room, which is covered in a separate item.

Vice-president, C. R. Darby presided at the meeting in the absence of president, Maurice Moore. Visiting Rotarians were Fred Davis, Edward Doubleday, Maurice Gray, Frank Jenne and Clarence Jordan, all of Newport. Music for singing was played by Paul Morel, who obliged with a piano solo, and the songs were led by C. R. MacLean. It was reported that seventeen baskets were distributed by the club to needy families at Christmas time in the various Boundary communities.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the Del Monty Hotel next Monday evening, January 16. Rotary Report Children's Room
Since the Rotary Children's Room was established in the Haskell Library, the sum of $1,317.82 has been spent there, according to the report made by Earl Heath at the last meeting of the Rotary Club of the Boundary.

The Rotary Club of the Boundary has appropriated the sum of $1,250 for the room during the past three years, and the proceeds of a concert sponsored by the club was turned over to the committee in charge. Books totalled $922.80; equipment, $362.02; and the expenses were $32.00.

The room now is well equipped and contains many reference books as well as children's classics and the modern books. Each month books are received from the Junior Literary Guild, carefully selected according to age groups. These books are proving very popular with the boys and girls, and circulate very rapidly. New editions of older books also attract the attention of the children, and the various reference books are used frequently by the young scholars of the Boundary.

During the year 1949, the sum of $326.23 was spent on books and material for the room, with expenses of $4.86, making a total of $331.12 for the year. Included in this sum is $82.00 spent for French books.

In reporting on the room, Mr. Heath stressed the cooperation and help of Mrs. Effie Poapst in picking out the books, seeing that needed titles were secured, and attending cheerfully and willingly to the wants of her young patrons. The books are circulating at the rate of from 50 to 80 per week, with the number increasing each month.

The chief need for 1950 is for more books of historical nature and new editions of the classics. The Junior Guild books for 1950 have been paid for and will come along regularly as they have in the past.

Earl Heath and Roland Roy make up the committee to look after the room, with the librarian, Mrs. Poapst, making a third member.

Junior Guild Books Arrive
Excitement, adventure and humor feature the four books for January from the Junior Literary Guild, that have arrived at the Haskell Library.

Carpenter Sees Lack Of Baseball Brains, But Game Has Never Taken Care Of Its Own, Says Bump Hadley

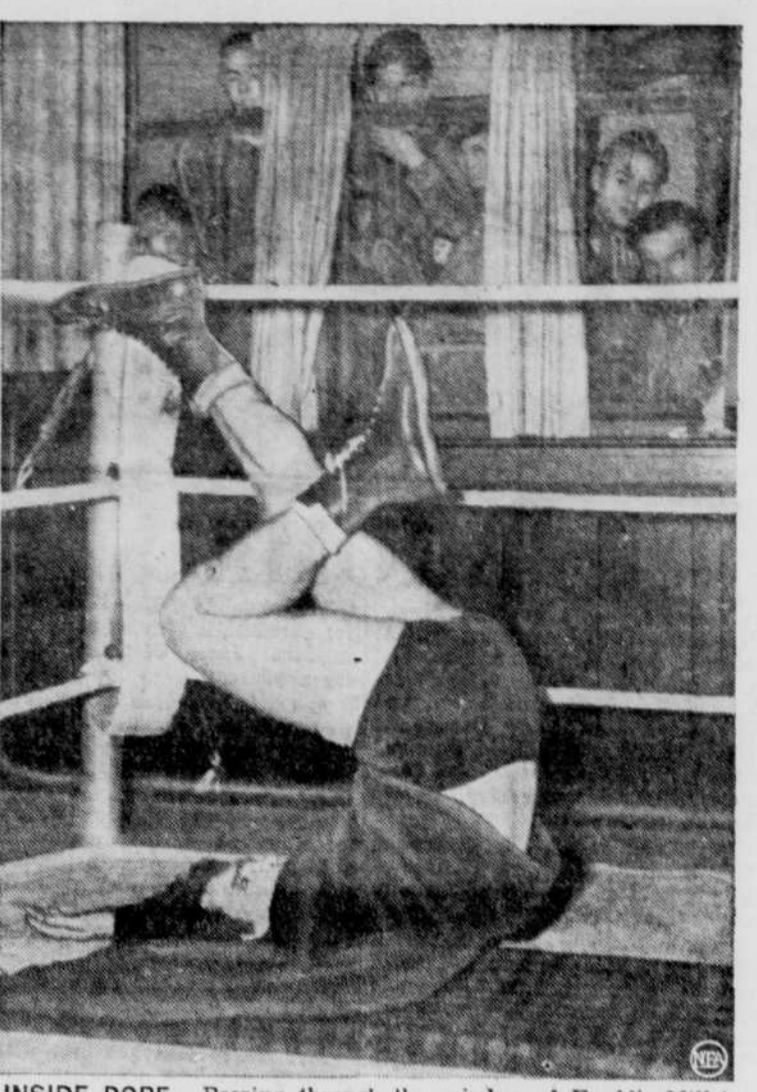

Pasadena, Calif. — Bump Hadley reminds us of Bob Carpenter's assertion that there is a shortage of baseball brains. The wealthy young owner of the Phillies suggests that star players, reaching the end of their playing days, should study the game, and be ready to help.

Bonus Rule Penalizing All Hands To Stay, Say Top Baseball Men

New York—(NEA)—Baseball's bonus rule penalizes everybody. It deprives the brighter prospects of proper seasoning in the minors. It handicaps clubs. The Phillies, for example, last season were playing 19 or 20 men against other outfits' 25.

Independent minor league owners, from D to Triple A, will see to that, they contend, because the bonus stipulation is in their favor. Tossing out the bonus legislation would be to the advantage of the more affluent organizations, they point out.

Brome-Missisquoi Farm Group Aims Complaints To Henri Gosselin, M.P.

Farnham, Jan. 13. —Farm Forum Representatives recently presented Henri Gosselin, M.P., for Brome-Missisquoi, with their resolution regarding farm price situation.

Lawrence Horner, spokesman for the delegation, thanked Mr. Gosselin for his support of the farmers in the House of Commons on Sept. 26, 1949, and presented to him the resolution drawn up at Sutton, January 3.

In reply, Mr. Gosselin expressed his appreciation that the delegation had been formed and pointed out farm groups must organize and present their protests to the Government and their elected representatives. Always in the past farmers have been slow to complain, the protests were weak and unorganized and by the time anything was done the policy had been established.

Farmers did not represent meat packers on committees which concerned the packing industry and he saw no reason why farmers should allow doctors and men with no knowledge of farm problems to represent them on agricultural committees. He felt, Mr. Gosselin said, that it was the duty of Farm Forums and farm organizations to keep the members posted and give them a chance to work.

Then, if given the opportunity, they do not support the agricultural industry to the best of their ability the farmers should see to it they are not re-elected.

In view of the present prices Mr. Gosselin further stated the present unsettled situation was a result of currency depreciation and increased production in both Canada and European countries. In an attempt to maintain the Canadian economy at its present level the Governments had set aside about one-third of the budget for subsidies.

Mr. Gosselin thought very shortly prices would more or less stabilize with butter at 58 cents, Wilshire Sides at $33/100 lbs., and beef at perhaps its present level. He could not comment on egg prices. He felt there would be a recession but felt it would not be as the last one and there were some things which could be done to improve the situation.

A sound Canadian economy was based on a prosperous agricultural industry, Mr. Gosselin thought, and this in turn was possible only by having a large and stable population which would consume large amounts of reasonably cheap food. He felt if farmers would increase their efficiency, support their farm groups and co-operatives, they could produce more food at less cost, sell it for less and still realize larger profits.

Both Mr. Gosselin and the delegates agreed that the principal of subsidies were not too sound but they were extremely necessary as emergency measures. The Member thought since subsidies were being used they should be in the form of cheap fertilizer and as a means of reducing costs and increasing efficiency rather than on the finished product.

He assured the thirty or more delegates present that he would do all in his power to get lower fertilizer prices and aid them in whatever way he could.

Even with the assurance of continued freight subsidies from Fort William to Montreal, the cost of feed grain was too high, it was agreed. It was suggested from the floor there be steps taken whereby the Eastern feeders could contract grain directly from the West much as foreign buyers do. By so doing much speculation and excessive commission profits would be eliminated.

Senators Stage Third Period Rally To Win Montreal, Jan. 13.—A terrific third period attack which produced three goals enabled Ottawa Senators down Montreal Royals 3-2 in a rugged Quebec Senior Hockey League fixture before 4,500 fan last night.

The Senators, by virtue of their victory, moved into a second-place tie with the idle Quebec Aces.

George Greene fired the winning marker late in the final period while both teams were on a short. Eddie Emberg and Jackie Leclair were the other Ottawa scorers.

Both Montreal goals came in the middle period with Lulu Denis and Gerry Desaulniers the marksmen.

Denis gave the Montreals a 1-0 edge at the four minute mark of the second period.

Bobby Fryday and Dewar Thomson were given assists. Desaulniers made it 2-0 about nine minutes later.

Emberg started the Senators rolling at the six minute mark of the final period when he lifted the puck over Jacques Plante after the Montreal goalie fell to the ice while clearing a drive.

Leclair knotted the count at 12:04. Plante's pay-off marker came at 14:45 with Emberg being credited with an assist on the play.

First Period Scoring: None. Penalties: Tudin, Malone, Robinson.

Second Period 1—Royals... Denis (Fryday, Thomson) 4:20. 2—Royals... Desaulniers (Callaghan) 13:12.

Third Period 3—Ottawa... Emberg 6:11. 4—Ottawa... Leclair 12:04. 5—Ottawa... Greene (Emberg) 14:56.

Penalties: Darnell, Fryday. result of Providence's 7-5 loss to Indianapolis Capitals and Hershey's 5-1 victory over the Indians.

Cellar tenants in the Western Section, Cincinnati Mohawks came through with their second win of the week, downing New Haven Ramblers 3-1.

The Reds, league champions, came from behind three times to tie the score after Indianapolis had gone ahead by a single goal, but the Caps forged in front with three late goals in the middle frame.

Loyal Wiseman and Freddy Glover tallied two goals apiece for the victors.

Although skiing was practically impossible until last week-end ski moguls predict a fair winter.

Weather permitting the Hillcrest Ski Club will hold two events—downhill and slalom—at Hillcrest Lodge, North Hatley, this Sunday.

This will be the first meet held locally this season and although the competitors have not had much opportunity to practise a large turnout is expected.

On February 3-4-5 the World Championship Sled Dog Races will be held at Lyndonville, Vermont.

Due largely to freakish winter weather the U.S. and Canadian skiers have had little chance to practice for the world ski championships.

The North American Ski Championships will be held at Banff, Alberta, February 25 to March 5.

THIS-AND-THAT: The class "C" senior downhill sponsored by Ptarmigan Ski Club and scheduled for Sunday, January 8th, will be held this Sunday.

Ayer's Cliff Blast Lennoxville 6-1

Ayer's Cliff, Jan. 13.—The Ayer's Cliff hockey team last night chalked up their second consecutive victory as they blasted Lennoxville 6-1 in a scheduled tilt of the Massachusetts Valley Hockey League.

There was no scoring in the opening frame, although the Cliff held the upper hand in territorial play.

The first line will consist of Fred Rider, former centre with the Valleyfield Juniors and the B.C.S. squads, Rider will be flanked by Al Meakin, a speedy left-winger from Ottawa, and Sandy Sanderson, holding down right wing, who played with the Bishop's squad last year.

Coach Eric Shields has had his boys practicing hard since the beginning of December.

Thetford Mines Wins S.C.P. Curling Trophy

St. Johns, Jan. 13.—The Thetford Mines Curling Club defeated St. Johns in the Southern Canada Power trophy playdowns to take the trophy back to Thetford.

The Magog Curling Club is next in line to challenge for the trophy and must travel to Thetford within two weeks.

Their two rink, skipped by Jean Paul Lafontaine and A. C. Jenkinson, emerged the winners with a plus seven score for the competition.

Following the match the members of the visiting rinks were entertained by the home club, which was greatly appreciated by the Thetford club.

Canadiens Down Aces 5-1 In Exhibition Tilt

Quebec, Jan. 13.—Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League defeated Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League 5-1 last night in an exhibition game before a crowd of 10,000.

Kenny Mossell led Canadiens with a pair of goals and an assist. Floyd Curry, Gerry Plamondon and Maurice Richard scored the Montreals' other goals.

Ludger Tremblay scored Aces' only marked about the middle of the second period from a wild scramble in front of the Canadiens' net.

First Period 1—Montreal... Mossell (Mackay, Leger) 13:56. Second Period 2—Montreal... Curry (Mossell) 4:28.

3—Quebec... Tremblay (Gamble, PrunEAU) 11:24. 4—Montreal... Mossell (Mackay, Leger) 15:15.

Bob Feller Expects No Salary Difficulties

Van Meter, Ia., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians' veteran right-hander, says he expects no salary difficulties this year.

"Of course, I don't expect a raise," Bob said. "And about the pay cut, well, that will be discussed when I return to Cleveland the first of next week."

Feller, 31, received $70,000 last season. He won 15 games and lost 14.

Marlene Bauer Voted U.S. Female Athlete

New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Marlene Bauer, the 15-year-old Los Angeles girl who amazed the golfing world with a string of brilliant victories last summer, has been voted the United States' female athlete-of-the-year in the annual Associated Press poll.

Sports writers and sportscasters gave the sensational young coast star 17 first place votes and a total of 73 points, compared to 13 first and 58 points for her closest rival, Louise Suggs of Atlanta.

Babe Didrikson Zaharias, still another golfer, placed third with 49 points, and Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont, Jr., U.S. amateur tennis champion, was fourth with 41 points.

Bishop's University Hockey Team Opens This Week-End With Two Exhibition Games With Megantic

Bishop's University's hockey team, an entry in the Intermediate C.I.A.U. league, will journey to Megantic this week-end to play two exhibition games with two of the local teams.

The first game will be played on Saturday night and the other Sunday afternoon at the Municipal Rink.

The College expects to meet stiff opposition and these exhibition games should prove to be an indication of how the team will shape up in league play.

Coach Eric Shields has had his boys practicing hard since the beginning of December.

The first line will consist of Fred Rider, former centre with the Valleyfield Juniors and the B.C.S. squads, Rider will be flanked by Al Meakin, a speedy left-winger from Ottawa, and Sandy Sanderson, holding down right wing, who played with the Bishop's squad last year.

Lynn Patrick Cautious About Surge Of His Rangers, Predicts Wings To Cop Title; McCormack Signs With Leafs

Coach Lynn Patrick sizes up his New York Rangers this way: "We're just not a high-scoring team."

High-scoring or not, it hasn't hampered the Rangers too much in their National Hockey League campaign thus far.

The 38-year-old pilot commented on the New Yorkers' progress by calling the tough Red Wings to win the league title for the second time, and predicted the Rangers would wind up in third place—behind Toronto Maple Leafs.

There's something to his prediction. The Rangers have only counted 79 goals in 37 games and have had 87 goals against them.

The Red Wings have tallied 121 goals in the same number of games and have had 82 scored against them.

If the Patrick reasoning is right, the Rangers are in for a tough week-end. They meet the Red Wings in two week-end games.

But there may be a few lifted eyebrows over the second Patrick prophecy—that the fifth-place

Maple Leafs will beat out his Bluebirds for second money.

True, it came on the heels of a 2-1 Toronto victory over the Rangers, who boast only one victory over the Stanley Cup champions this season.

But that left Toronto five points behind the New Yorkers, who have two games in hand.

The return of injured Captain Ted Kennedy to his centred spot pulled the Leafs out of a lengthy losing streak.

The signing of Johnny McCormack helped too—the 24-year-old Edmonton-born centre from the amateur Toronto Marlboros looked terrific in a three-game trial.

The Red Wings, too, are shaking off an injury jinx as they welcome back regular goalie Harry Lumley eight days after he sprained his ankle in an exhibition game.

A practice session today will decide whether he's ready to face the Rangers on Saturday.

The Leafs have only one game this week-end. They meet Boston Bruins at Toronto Saturday. In two other games, Chicago Black Hawks clash with Montreal Canadiens at Montreal Saturday and then play the Bruins at Boston Sunday.

Dodgers Hit Better Away From Home While Winning 1949 N. L. Pennant

Brooklyn, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Allan Roth, an obliging fellow with a slide-rule mind, pops up with figures showing why Brooklyn was a superior road club in 1949.

Roth, who used to keep tab on Dick Irvins' Montreal hockey players, discloses that eight of the 14 Dodgers "regulars"—those with at least 100 at bats—hit better away than at Ebbets Field.

As a club, the Dodgers batting average was .274 on the road, .297 at home.

Jackie Robinson, Carl Furillo, Duke Snider, Gil Hodges, Eddie Miksis, Mike McCormick, Bruce Edwards and Mary Rackley thrived out of town. Gene Hermanski, Roy Campanella, Pee Wee Reese, Spider Jorgensen, Billy Cox and Luis Olmo liked the home cooking.
