END GERMAN BARS BIG - FOUR DEMAND

World News In Brief

Seoul—(P)—South Korea warned today that additional Indian troops "will not leave here" until this republic is assured of future safety for 76 Korean war prisoners now en route to India.

The Koreans did not spell out the implied threat to use force if they consider it necessary.

Cologne, Germany—(Reuters)—German police here today found the body of a man believed to be wanted by London police for questioning in connection with the death of two women in a home for the aged last week.

The police said the man, a British citizen, had shot himself through the head.

Open Appeal On Murder Conviction

Montreal.—(CP)—Hearing of an appeal by Fortunat Dubuc, 55-year-old farmer from St. Isidore de la Prairie, Que., convicted of the strychnine murder of his wife, commenced here Monday.

Dubuc, arrested April 8, 1953, as he prepared to marry a 16-year-old former domestic servant, was sentenced to hang Jan. 15. Execution of sentence was postponed pending hearing of the appeal.

The well-to-do farmer was convicted by Court of Queen's Bench last October of murdering his wife in January 1953 at their farm a few miles south of Montreal.

He was arrested when police, suspicious of reports that the woman died of a heart attack, ordered the body examined. They said they found traces of strychnine in the remains and later located a half-empty bottle of poison in Dubuc's house.

Dubuc denied murdering his wife and claimed police had misunderstood an alleged confession he made to them.

At Monday's hearing Alexandre Chevalier, Dubuc's lawyer, said two wills made by Dubuc's wife in Montreal in February 1952 should not have been admitted in evidence at the trial.

He also said the trial judge erred in his summing up for the jury in failing to refer to testimony of some witnesses who had said Mrs. Dubuc was suffering from a heart ailment at the time of her death.

The Crown will answer defence arguments today.

Ending Of Border Restrictions Seen As Single Point That May Be Gained From Parley.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
 BERLIN—(P)—The Western Ministers may propose to Russia immediate steps to make life more bearable inside divided Germany by lowering barriers between the Eastern and Western zones, it was learned today.

Such an easing of border restrictions is considered one positive gain which might be salvaged from the wreckage of Big Four efforts here to unify Germany and make a German peace.

American officials said Foreign Minister Molotov probably would be asked to agree to a meeting at once of the high commissioners of Russia, the United States, Britain and France for the purpose of removing or lessening barriers between the Communist East and Free West.

Points that may be taken up include:

1. Reopening of interzonal crossing points. This would facilitate especially truck transport.
2. Elimination of the "death zone," a quarter-mile-wide strip of plowed land on the Soviet side of the East-West zonal frontier. Any German caught in that area without permission is liable to immediate gunfire from Communist police.
3. Restoration of telephone service and streetcar lines between divided East and West Berlin.

One line of reasoning is that if the European Defence Community, now awaiting French approval, is finally set up, the position of the West will become so strong that Russia will give up hope of ever taking over West Germany, and may then be induced to consider a reasonable German unity program.

In this connection, it was noted today that the Big Four conference battle for France appears ended after a clear-cut French rejection of every major proposal made by Russia in the last three weeks here.

It is not known, however, what damage Foreign Minister Molotov may have done to the cause of the European Defence Community treaty, so far as it is brought up for ratification by the French Parliament.

In what was doubtless his major speech of the conference, Foreign Minister Bidault Monday analyzed bit by bit the Soviet package deal for a European security pact which would neutralize Germany, push American assistance out of Europe and make Russia the sponsoring power in a "Molotov doctrine" for the Continent.

Bidault turned it all down, quietly and firmly.

There remains the question whether the Western Big Three can pull out of the conference some hope of ending the Indo-China struggle this year. This may come up Wednesday night, on the eve of the conference adjournment, when Bidault dines with Molotov at the Soviet embassy.

At that dinner Russian "good offices" may again be offered to stop the war, which has been draining France's military manpower and treasury for seven years. Such an offer was tendered privately near the start of the conference, also at a dinner at the Russian embassy, but never has come out into open debate of the Big Four.

Through much of Monday's meeting Molotov offered to talk about things to which the West objects—for example, about the relationship of the United States, Red China and Canada to his proposed new European bloc, or how fast occupation troops could evacuate a neutralized Germany. He even offered to "study" whether his European peace pact would outlaw the North Atlantic treaty alliance.

Today the ministers again were to debate the Austrian independence treaty question, with little hope of agreement.

Wednesday they will meet in restricted session to see if anything can be agreed on about a Korean peace conference with Red China. The West says that also might grow into negotiations about Indo-China.

Russian sources still insist France should be giving more attention to Molotov's first offer on Indo-China.

France would like desperately to end the Indo-China war, set off in 1946 by the Moscow "rained Ho Chi Minh" but not at the price of unloading that southeast Asian gateway to a Communist flood.

Record Jet Opens Flight To Pole

Manby, England—(Reuters)—A record-breaking RAF Canberra jet bomber left here today on the first leg of a proving flight to Canada, the Arctic and the north magnetic pole.

The bomber, which had been delayed 24 hours because of a fuel system defect, made a short hop to Lyneham in South England to test the repairs before flying Wednesday to the Azores. She will return there for the flight to Ottawa.

Until now the plane has operated at exceptional heights in temperate and tropical climates, including record flights last December between London and Cape Town. Its speed is secret, but is reported to be around 600 miles an hour.

The new tests will check its efficiency in cold climates and around the magnetic pole. It will end its 14,000-mile trip next month with a final 3,340-mile non-stop flight from Montreal to Manby, with only sufficient fuel for 10 minutes' surplus flying time.

Hanged For Slaying On Main Street

Stratford, Ont.—(P)—Reuben Norman walked to the gallows early today repeating the 23rd Psalm and was hanged at 12:23 a.m.

The 27-year-old former paratrooper was hanged for the non-day murder of Jean Marie Satchell 17, Feb. 2, 1953. He shot her nine times on a shopping street in the heart of Stratford with an automatic pistol after a brief argument.

Norman was declared dead at 12:36 a.m. today.

L. H. Morgan, sheriff of Perth county, quoted him as saying: "I offered myself to my country and now am called to a greater service. I realize it is an undue burden on you people and I thank you for your execution and I asked God to bless you all."

Sheriff Morgan said Norman repeated the 23rd Psalm verse by verse after his spiritual advisor, Lieut. Walter Ernest of the Salvation Army, as they walked to the gallows.

Press representatives were barred from the hanging.

The federal cabinet Monday rejected a plea for clemency for the condemned man.

Norman gave himself up to police immediately after he shot Miss Satchell.

The defence was based entirely on the question of his sanity. A jury found him not mentally fit to stand trial May 19, 1953, and he was committed to the Ontario Hospital at Penetanguishene.

Another jury Nov. 11 found him fit to stand trial.

Norman did not enter the witness box but said later: "I cannot deny the events took place at my hand. . . I was mentally ill."

Immigrants Get Unsecured Loans

Vancouver—(CP)—Immigrants settling in Canada's third largest city may apply for interest-free loans without security to help them "develop their talents and offer a worthwhile contribution to Canadian progress."

A special committee has been set up by the Vancouver coordinating committee on citizenship to allocate the loans from a $50,000 fund. The committee is headed by Dr. Vladimir Krajina, professor at the University of British Columbia.

The co-ordinating committee is made up of 15 ethnic groups each of which has donated $250 to the loan fund. Dr. Krajina said the $50,000 objective would probably be reached by the end of the week mostly as donations from established immigrants.

"We are not asking for interest or security," Dr. Krajina said. "We have faith in our fellow countrymen and are confident they will ever penny will be returned to us."

He said a board of directors will be set up to administer the fund.

Eisenhower Resists Fresh Liabilities In Indo-China

By JACK BELL
 Washington—(P)—President Eisenhower was described today as standing firm against increased urging from both France and Britain for broader American participation in the Indo-China war.

The president is said by informed sources to have told Republican congressional leaders that the only manpower commitments he intends to make are for 200 armistice-services mechanics already sent to Indo-China, plus permitting civilians to volunteer to fly French planes. Shipments of American material are reported being stepped up.

The president told a press conference last week that he could not conceive of a greater tragedy than for the United States to get heavily engaged in an all-out war in that area.

Informed sources said the president has indicated that because of their interest in Malaya British leaders have joined the French in urging more American help for Indo-China's anti-Communist forces. This conceivably could include naval and air units.

Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and State Undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith were to face Senate foreign relations committee members in a closed session today in what would develop into a searching review of U.S. military strategy as it affects foreign policy.

In this connection, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said in an interview that he believes members of Congress need to know more about the administration's "new look" military program.

Johnson is not a foreign relations committee member but some Democrats on the group are known to share his views.

State Secretary Dulles, due to report to congressional leaders of both parties followed his return from Berlin late this week, has said the U.S. will depend primarily on the threat of "massive retaliation" to prevent any aggressor from starting a war.

Reds Claim Indo-China Victories

Saigon, Indo-China—(P)—The Communist invaders of Laos today claimed their troops had won a victory over French Union forces only five miles from Luangprabang, the pagoda-studded royal capital.

The Vietnam radio claimed their troops had captured the French commander of a Laotian battalion in battles for villages near Nambac, north of the capital. The Communist-led troops overran the villages, the broadcast said.

There were no French communiques on the situation.

But on another front, the French announced today their forces broke out of their north-western Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu to drive encircling Vietminh troops from two hill positions.

The French claimed they inflicted "heavy losses" on the Communist-led forces and admitted "neutral" losses on their side.

By this attack the French seemed to indicate that they are going to carry the battle to the 36,000 rebels who have been threatening, but never yet have attempted, an all-out assault on the heavily fortified French post just north of the Laotian border.

As the infantrymen—French, Senegalese, Moroccan and Foreign Legionnaires—hacked their way through the jungle into the hill positions of the Vietminh, French mobile artillery moved in to close range and blasted away for hours. French fighters and bombers joined in with heavy strafing and napalm bombing.

Three Held For Jewel Robbery

New York—(CP)—Police from Montreal are expected in New York soon to question three Canadians arrested by FBI agents in a midtown hotel Monday, here, less than 24 hours after they were arrested from Montreal, in connection with a jewel robbery in the Canadian city.

The FBI identified the three as Bernard W. Tetrault, 31, Sam Duchony, 25, and Morris Turvich, 25, all of Montreal. They were held in $25,000 bail on charges of transporting stolen property.

The FBI said $15,000 worth of jewels were found in Turvich's pocket. They are alleged to be part of a $63,000 haul from the Diamond Industry of Montreal.

Montreal police said the three are well known to them. An FBI spokesman here said Turvich is a "known received of stolen goods."

It was not revealed whether the three would be charged with the robbery itself.

Police Break Up Violence In Italian General Strike

Rome—(P)—Heavily-armed riot police quickly smashed the first outbreak of violence today in connection with a Communist-called one-day general strike in Rome.

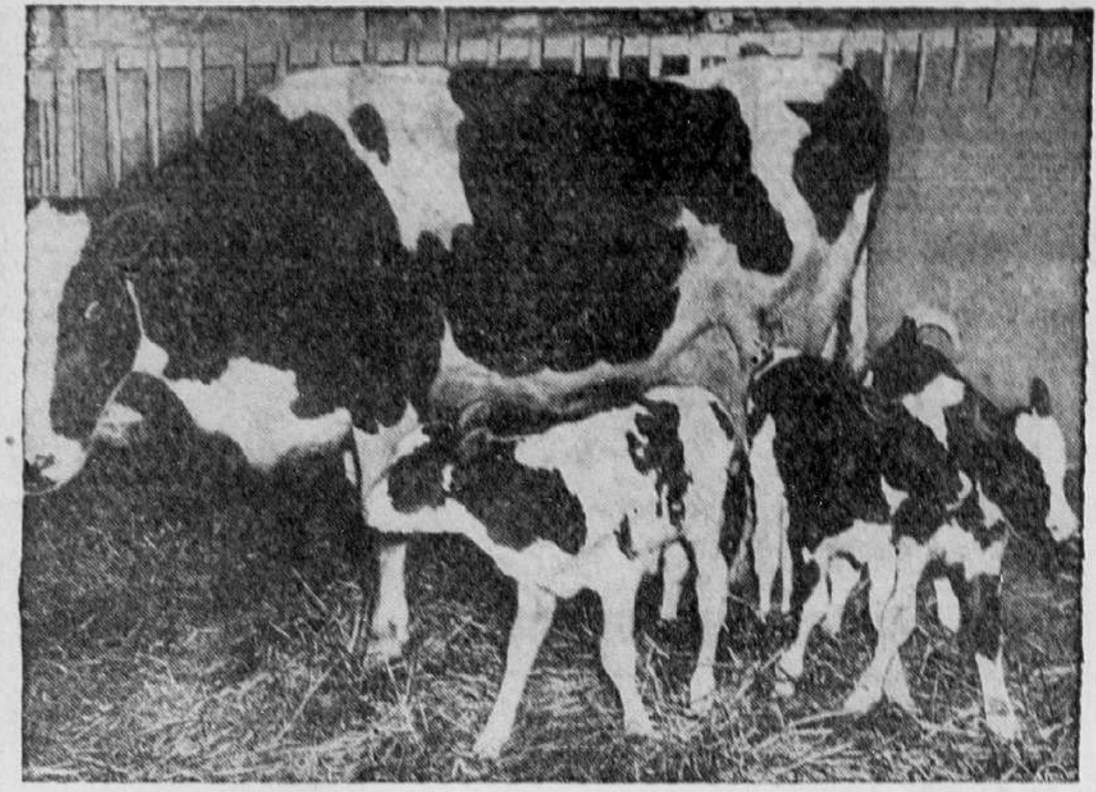

A commissioner of police was injured by a flying stone. At least 60 demonstrators, including women, were taken into custody.

Flying squads of police in their riot jeeps dashed into the crowd of several hundred demonstrators as they marched through one of downtown Rome's main streets, snarling mid-day traffic.

The Red-led walkout had twin aims—to boost wages and to harass the shaky new government of Premier Mario Scelba.

The strike was staggered in timing and appeared only partly effective. Bakers led the walkout, banking their fires at midnight. Only Monday's hard bread was available on market counters.

At 8:30 a.m. buses and street cars halted in the first of two shutdowns of 2½ hours each—one in the morning and one in the afternoon. Sufficient buses continued to operate, however, to avoid ODDS ARE HIGH—These triplet female calves, born on Merle W. Wygand's farm near Somerset, Pa., are somewhat of a rarity. Records reveal that the odds are 40,000 to three against triplet calves of the same sex being born. The calves are less than one week old.

Government Faces Dual Censure Vote On Unemployment Situation

Ottawa—(P)—Rising unemployment in Canada has prompted two motions of want-of-confidence in the government. The government says employment will return to normal by spring.

The motions were proposed Monday in the Commons by the Progressive Conservatives and CCF parties.

Progressive Conservatives suggested a parliamentary committee to investigate unemployment and recommend remedial measures.

The CCF motion asked the government to take immediate action to "prevent further economic distress."

The motions touched off a day-long debate to continue today. As amendments to a government motion to have the House go into committee to consider departmental estimates, they were technically non-confidence motions.

The unemployment debate, first in the Commons in years, follows a series of meetings between labor leaders and the government in which the labor leaders have suggested total unemployment may be as high as 580,000.

Labor Minister Gregg said Monday that at Jan. 21, 524,000 persons were looking for jobs through the government's national employment service—183,000 more than at Dec. 10 and 140,000 more than a year ago.

The bureau of statistics estimate of unemployment was 280,000 at Jan. 23—90,000 more than in early December and 93,000 more than a year ago.

Acting Prime Minister Howe said he expects employment to return to levels of the last several years "as the season opens up."

"I can assure the house that the government is doing everything it believes can be done to improve the situation," he said. "We are not panicking. We believe that we have the situation in hand."

Capital investment was expected to reach $5,800,000,000, a three-percent increase over the 1953 record.

Canada's exporters could expect "another good year" and the high level of consumer purchasing should continue.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra), who proposed his party's motion for a Commons committee, said unemployment is a serious problem and now should be faced.

The government had given little hope that it would deal with the situation at an early date.

Later, Mr. Green agreed to a suggestion by Speaker Rene Beaudoin to change his motion to have the Commons industrial relations committee do the job.

Clair Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South), proposing the CCF motion, said the PC proposal would shelve the issue.

"You won't find any solution in a House committee," he said. "This demands action."

He said the government should plan definite steps to provide jobs, cope with seasonal unemployment in the same way it "staggered" production seasons during the war, and appoint a royal commission to recommend new industries for various sections of Canada.

He also urged that special assistance be given families affected by unemployment and that a sharp increase be made in unemployment insurance benefits.

Vancouver—(P)—Details of a theft and stolen goods ring reaching as far east as Ontario were given in police court Monday by a suspect who admitted robbing 22 homes in less than five months.

Marshal Walkow, 26, charged with breaking and entering, confessed to stealing goods worth $10,000.

Letters, which Walkow admitted writing to buyers of stolen goods in Manitoba and Ontario, were read in court. They listed his prices for stolen radios, toasters, clothing, toys and other articles.

They said he had shipped certain articles to the "fences"—both of whom are women—by rail freight collect.

The trial is continuing.

New World Is Opened To Life Term

Joliet, Ill.—(P)—"I couldn't sleep a quiet last night waiting for today. It was like being reborn. I sat there chewing tobacco and I'll bet I was awake 50,000 times."

Monday was the big day in Herbert Spring's wasted life.

He walked out of prison, spry, curious and giddy. He strolled freely into the wonderful warm winter day—a truly free man for the first time in 46 years.

A murderer, he had been behind bars since he was 21, except for two brief, harried flights from detention. He escaped for three days in 1919, and got away for one day in 1920. After that, a day-by-day ticking off of a life sentence.

"When they put the key on you it is like the living death. You must realize that this is the only world you have before you and you have to get accustomed to that," Spring said.

In all the long years of his imprisonment, he received only one letter and one visitor.

The letter and visit came from Ross E. Kimball, operator of the Interior Equipment Co. of Fairbanks, Alaska. Kimball had read an article about Spring's work on the prison's flower gardens, and moved by the man's plight, decided to help him.

For Spring, the new world of sleek cars and television and wide-open doors will be centred in Fairbanks. Kimball will be waiting there for him, ready with help and a job.

Spring was sent to prison for the murder of a woman at Freeport, Ill., during a drunken spree.

Queen Lauds Goodwill Of Two Powers

Canberra—(P)—Queen Elizabeth today unveiled a towering monument dedicated to the United States for helping to defend Australia during the Second World War, and spoke of the "great goodwill" between the British and American people.

The 258-foot stone column dominates the skyline of Australia's federal capital. It tops the city's tallest buildings, which are about 100 feet high.

The Queen was accompanied by the Duke of Edinburgh, American Ambassador Amos J. Peaslee attended the ceremony as did Australia's Governor-General, Sir William Slim, and Prime Minister Robert Menzies.

The Queen said Australia especially remembers the "timely memorial she uncovered a tablet from the United States which flowed the battles in the Pacific ranged close to these shores. That aid was given without reserve of human life or wealth."

The mutual respect and affection, and unity of thought and purpose between the British and American people "will always give pause to those who may think to disturb the tranquility of the world."

The memorial was planned by the Australian-American Association and built with $63,000 contributed by Australian people and $50,000 subscribed by the Australian government.

It is an eight-sided aluminum-plated shaft topped by a sphere and an eagle with wings raised in the victory sign.

When the Queen unveiled the memorial she uncovered a tablet with the inscription: "In grateful remembrance of the vital help given by the United States of America during the war in Pacific 1941-45. Unveiled by Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, February 16, 1954."

When the Queen finished, she stood erect and still as a band played the American national anthem.

Amos Peaslee, United States ambassador, in reply said: "The United States of America accepts this tribute from the Australian people with gratitude and humility."

Interrupt Film On Martin Luther

Winnipeg—(P)—Shouting "Vive Quebec," a group of armen interrupted a showing of the movie Martin Luther at a theatre here Monday night.

The picture has been banned in Quebec Province.

The disturbance occurred in the middle of the picture and lasted about 10 minutes. About 15 men wearing RCAF uniforms were involved. When they were asked to leave they refused at first and police were called, other theatre patrons were called, and the theatre closed.

The men then walked out shouting "Vive Quebec." Manager Frank Willis declined to comment on the incident except to say: "We don't want to start any religious trouble around here."

Close Vote In Alberta By-Election

Innisfail, Alta.—(P)—Three counts of the ballots cast in the Red Deer Alberta provincial by-election Monday will be necessary to declare a winner.

The Social Credit and Progressive Conservative candidates ran so close in the voting that it will be necessary to eliminate both the Liberal and CCF nominees to gain the clear majority needed under Alberta's single-transferable-vote system of counting.

The final first count figures: Donald Prescott, Social Credit, 2,746; W. J. C. (Cam) Kirby, Progressive Conservative, 2,587; George Roth, Liberal, 947; and Auburn C. Pyre, CCF, 650.

In the second count, Mr. Pyre will be eliminated and the second choices on his ballots distributed to the other candidates. But his ballots, even if they all go to Social Credit or Progressive Conservative candidates, will fail to give either a majority.

On the third count Mr. Roth will be eliminated. With only Mr. Prescott and Mr. Kirby left, one is bound to have a majority.

Election officials said the second count should be available Friday and the third Saturday.

The result was a change from the 1952 voting when the late David Ure won the seat for Social Credit on the first count. Then Mr. Ure, Alberta agricultural minister until his death in a highway accident in December, polled 4,907 votes and his lone opponent, Mr. Pyre, 1,496.

About 50 per cent of the 14,000 eligible voters marked ballots in the second by-election called by Premier E. C. Manning since the 1952 provincial general election.

In the other by-election since 1952, Mrs. E. F. Robinson retained Medicine Hat for Social Credit. That by-election was to fill the vacancy caused by the Oct. 29 death of her husband, Dr. J. L. Robinson, industries and labor minister.

In the legislature now are 51 Social Crediters, four Liberals, two Progressive Conservatives, two CCF and one independent Social Creditor.

All-cargo Planes For Canada Soon

Toronto.—(CP)—Hugh Johnston, Trans-Canada Air Lines executive, told a meeting of the Canadian Fruit Wholesalers Association here Monday that all-cargo aircraft may be flying across Canada within two years.

Mr. Johnston said that in 1954 TCA expects to move 21,000,000 pounds of air freight. He said TCA is using three Bristol aircraft capable of carrying six tons. These planes, he said, are the first, exclusively designed for the transport of freight, to be used by a scheduled airline in North America.

G. H. Baillie, vice-president of the eastern region of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said that some time next year the CPR proposes to introduce to Canada a new mainline service of stainless steel passenger trains which will be more "advanced than anything you are likely to see in North America for some time to come."

Rome—Canada's Prime Minister Flew out of Rome Today

Rome—(P)—Canada's prime minister flew out of Rome today on the flight leg of his round-the-world good-bill tour after a hectic three-day visit in the Italian capital.

Prime Minister St. Laurent's RCAF C-5 transport plane roared off Rome's Ciampino airport for Bahrain, British-protected island in the Persian gulf, where he'll spend the night before going on to Karachi, Pakistan, Wednesday.

Italy's new premier, Mario Scelba, who welcomed the Canadian leader to Rome Friday night, was at the airport with members of his cabinet to see the Canadian party off.

Russia Seeking To Resume Trade With Canadian Firms

By C. R. BLACKBURN
 (Canadian Press Staff Writer)
 Ottawa—(P)—Soviet Russia wants to revive trade with Canada, a trade that now is virtually nonexistent.

Ambassador D. S. Chuvahin, who came here in October, told a group of parliamentary press gallery correspondents Monday night that his country is ready to start negotiations "right now."

He said a commercial attaché will join the Russian embassy within a month and handle all details if Canadian authorities are willing to negotiate.

He said Soviet authorities "regard favorably" a statement last Jan. 4 by Trade Minister Howe that Canada is willing to enlarge trade with Russia.

Mr. Chuvahin, short, portly and affable, is the first Russian ambassador since 1945 when the embassy's cipher clerk, Igor Gouzenko, fled his job and delivered to Canadian authorities documents which resulted in the espionage trials of 1946. Canada recently appointed John C. Watkins, former minister to Norway, as ambassador to Russia.

Mr. Chuvahin, in good, conversational English, read a brief statement to the effect that his country is ready to do business with Canadian importers and exporters.

But he declined to reply to questions on any subject other than trade and he had nothing to say regarding payment and the relationship that could be achieved between individual business people in the two countries. Such questions would be answered by the trade attaché.

However, he said Russia can sell Canada manganese ore, diesel fuels and petroleum products, cotton and probably many other commodities.

Russia would be ready to buy freighters, textiles, agriculture machinery, butter, meats and raw hides, and other commodities. She might even buy some wheat if that were desirable to maintain a good trading relationship.

For many years there has been virtually no trade between the two countries.

In the first nine months of 1953, Canada exported $466 worth of commodities to Russia and $128 worth in the corresponding period in 1952.

In the similar period of 1953 Canada bought from Russia goods to the value of $433,964 and in the first nine months of 1952 the figure was $1,665,766, almost entirely composed of undressed furs.

STANBRIDGE RIDGE—
Forum Studies Product Grading
 Stanbridge Ridge, Feb. 16.—There was an attendance of 19 at the Farm Forum meeting, held at the Wilbur Clough home.
 After the broadcast, which was on the topic of "Grading Farm Produce," most members agreed that, in our area, where most of the farm income comes from dairy products, sufficient grading was already done, in the factory or processing plant.
 Such items as maple syrup, apples, pork, beef, eggs, etc., are also graded.
 When the farmer has other products to sell, such as garden produce, he usually sells locally, not in urban areas, and therefore grading would only present problems, to him, in time, money and lack of equipment.
 The minutes and "Green Leaf" were read and those members present, who attended the annual Winter Conference, expressed their pleasure in that event.
 The next meeting will be held at the "Rectory" with Rev. Mr. Kettleborough, for the host.
 Refreshments were served and a social hour and television were enjoyed.

City Council Refuses Incorporation Of Witnesses Of Jehovah In District

Despite strong criticism by Alderman Wesley Bradley, Q.C. and City Attorney Albert Rivard, the City Council last night turned down a petition signed by some eighteen people, asking for the incorporation of the Witnesses of Jehovah in Sherbrooke.

The demand that they be recognized as an association called the "Sherbrooke-Lennoxville Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses," was flatly turned down by the council although Mr. Bradley and Mr. Rivard maintained the council could not turn them down in virtue with the law.

Mr. Bradley told the council, "I believe the council in this case acts as a registrar, since a group of citizens grouped in an association must appeal to the city for incorporation, this does not mean we share their ideals."

"The City Council has the powers to approve the incorporation to people who merit it," Alderman Carrier Fortin told the assembly. "The Witnesses of Jehovah do not respect the religious beliefs of other citizens. Society has no privilege of according an incorporation to them."

"Can the city refuse it on legal grounds," asked Alderman Everett Nicol.

Albert Rivard, city attorney "According to the law, I don't think we can turn them down."

Ald. Nicol then asked the council to continue with routine business, since no one seconded a motion by Alderman Bradley for according the incorporation.

The council also officially thanked the Hon. J. S. Bourque, minister of lands and forests, for the work done by the government near the Joffre bridge. Alderman Carl Cairnrand told the assembly that thanks to Mr. Bourque the road from the bridge to the East Angus highway was traced without costing the city a single cent.

Harry Walker New Member Of 'Y' Executive

Two Canadiens Running Israel Tourist Agency

Montreal. — Two young Canadians have been running Israel's biggest tourist organization for the last three years.

It all started when Lionel Druker, 29-year-old law student from Sydney, N.S., met Arthur Goldberg of Vancouver and they decided to "put Israel on the map."

Druker, the senior partner, fell in love with the country when he left his studies at Dalhousie University and joined the Israeli forces in the Arab-Israeli war. He made a name for himself, and although only in his early 20s became officer commanding the Army's tank division. Later he organized Israel's first armored officers training school.

When the war ended in 1949 Lionel returned to Canada but the plan to start a drive-yourself automobile service for tourists had already formed in his mind. His meeting with Arthur Goldberg clinched matters and the partners returned to Tel Aviv.

With financial aid from Canadian Zionist organizations the veterans—Goldberg also fought with Israeli troops during the war—rounded up 14 cars and the young new business began in the same state.

Since then the company, known to more than 70,000 tourists as Sightseeing Limited, has spread to three specially designed tourist buses.

The business is described as "one of the most successful investments in Israel," and Mr. Druker, who recently attended the Canadian Zionist Organization's 32nd annual convention in Montreal is acknowledged as the country's "Mr. Tourist."

Mothers' Drive On Polio To Be Held February 26

An appeal to mothers to join the "Mothers' March on Polio" to be held in Sherbrooke, Coaticook, East Angus, Phillipsburg and districts as well as Montreal and other Quebec communities on Feb. 26 was made today by Mrs. Gaspard Fauteux, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec and Commander-in-Chief of the mothers' "march" in this Province.

The drive to raise funds for the Canadian Legion March of Dimes programs for fighting polio in Quebec is being organized by the Canadian Legion branches in their communities.

In her message to mothers, Mrs. Fauteux said:

"Being a mother, I feel with you a lively anxiety on the subject of the growth of polio among us. I am very happy to be your Commander for this 'Mothers' March on Polio.' I strongly urge you to join it because by doing so you will help unfortunate victims of polio, both adults and children."

"We can be truly thankful that the Canadian Legion March of Dimes has been in the forefront of the offensive against polio in our Province during the past eight years."

"This year, to help the work of the fund, I ask all mothers to join the 'Mothers' March on Polio,' that is, to give one hour of your time, from 7 to 8 o'clock on the evening of Feb. 26 in order to visit your friends and neighbors to receive their contributions. Their signal of welcome will be a light at their front door, on their verandah, or in their front window."

Mothers joining the drive will call on a limited number of homes between 7 and 8 p.m. only on Feb. 26. Volunteers, who may be single women as well as mothers, are asked to contact the Legion branch in their community as soon as possible.

Feet And Wheels In Gingerly Pace On Glassy Roads

A slow drizzle last evening and a continuing melt today saw ruts back in the roadway and the streets in places a glassy-looking snare. Buses crept along slowly and found some of the hills hard going; one had to back three times before securing enough momentum to make the grade.

Motorists in many cases, edged along and pedestrians walked gingerly.

Winter, officially, still has more than a month to go but the thermometer, well in the thirties this morning, pointed to spring. The trees were grey, however, and there was none of that sunny softness and none of the zephyr-like breeze that herald the approach of the newborn season.

The forecast for the entire Canadian East was milder but who! The West is in the grip of one more cold spell and the cold often works East about the same pace as the passage of a train.

Edmonton and Saskatoon both reported 19 below. So, don't begin to begin to look for mothballs and think of shedding the winter coat for some time yet. You may be grateful for it before this week has passed.

Seeks To Locate Mr. A. Maybury

Mrs. Norah McGovern, nee Glen-son of 384 Erie Street West, Windsor, Ont., is inquiring into the location of a relative of hers who is presently said to be living in Sherbrooke. His name is Alexander Maybury, son of Alexander and Elizabeth Maybury, of Montreal.

If anyone should know of this person's whereabouts tell him that it is urgent that he get in touch with his cousin, Mrs. McGovern, immediately either by writing to the above given address or by telephoning Clearwater 2-2958 in Windsor.

"MERRIE ENGLAND" BROTHERS - Shown above are Mr. Don McPherson, left, and Mr. Fred Sangster, right, who play the parts of curiously unlike brothers, Big Ben and Long Tom respectively in the Sher-Lenn Operatic and Choral Society's production of Edward German's "Merrie England" to be presented at the Lennoxville High School auditorium Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights at 8:15 p.m.

Mr. McPherson, who has sung with various church choirs throughout eastern Canada, and is now with the Plymouth United Church choir first joined the Sher-Lenn Society in 1932 to sing in the chorus of "The Pirates of Penzance". Last year he appeared in the principal role of Poo-bah in the Sher-Lenn's production of "The Mikado".

Mr. Sangster has sung in the Sher-Lenn for four years, appearing last year as the Mikado in "The Mikado" and the year before as the Pirate King in "The Pirates of Penzance". He has also been a soloist with the Plymouth Church choir for many years.

Tickets for "Merrie England" are $1.50 each and are on sale at Hart's Jewellery Store in Sherbrooke and at Clark's Drug store in Lennoxville. Proceeds are in aid of the Kiwanis Fund for Crippled Children.

Ducks, Diamonds And Automobiles Are Discussed As Local Optimists Meet

Program Chairman Ivan Dugre reported that a film on the Ford Industry would be shown at the meeting next Monday evening. It was also announced that John Branswell, Scoutmaster of the St. P. troop will be guest speaker at the same meeting. His talk will support the observance of National Scout Week.

The members went on record in expressing their regret to all those connected with the Social Club which burned down Sunday evening.

Guests at this meeting were Gerry Miltimore and Hal Robinson, of the Waterville Optimist Club. Both gentlemen invited the members of the Sherbrooke Branch to a dance being sponsored by the Waterville Optimists to be held at the Pleasant View Hotel, North Hatley, next Saturday evening. Money made at this dance will go towards the construction of a playing field for the youth Waterville.

Seated at the head table with the President were: Joe Gilbert, Maurice Hudon, Richard Rousseau, and George Garard.

Dedged Wolf Cub of the Jungle, Akela states, that it is the aim of the 7th Pack to top off the winter season by holding a toboggan run planned for the very near future.

The St. Pat's Pack in the meantime, is working ahead in preparation for a Parent's night.

From Lennoxville, comes word of a mass investiture ceremony in which some 20 boys promised to stand firm as Wolf Cubs to both God and Queen. Akela reports that the Pack has now reached a total attendance of 58 boys. It appears to be that Cubbing seems to hold a prominent place in a boy's life. A Father and son Banquet has been planned for February 22, for troop and pack alike.

Last week, at the Minto Rink in Lennoxville, a closely contested hockey game was iced between the St. Georges and 1st Lennoxville Troop. After the typical three periods of play, the St. Georges group emerged with a 5-4 victory. Scoring for the victors were Scouts Bray, Gary Winslow, Bruce Gilman and Willard Bailey. Assists were credited to Bray, Gilbert and Bailey.

Skipper reports that the Troop has use of the Minto Rink in Lennoxville each Monday evening. Any Scout hockey team wishing to challenge this team is asked to Contact Skipper Ernie Trussler at 2-6944. The Troop and Pack have not been carrying on regular meetings because the Church hall is being reconed.

The various units all report satisfactory meetings with the time distributed between instruction and game periods. In the Packs, 1st star work seems to dominate, while the Troops seem to be striving ahead in 2nd Class subjects.

Many tests have been passed during the past week, but no badges given out yet.

The Boy Scout Week Committee, under Chairman Henry Crochere, has completed plans for the forthcoming Boy Scout Week, commemorating the birth of Lord Baden Powell, Scouting's Father. Several Church Parades, "Father and Son" banquets and "Patrol Leader and Sixer 'get-togethers'" have been planned, as well as other items of interest to the public and Scouts.

To keep abreast with the latest news of Cubbing and Scouting in Sherbrooke, across Canada, and throughout the world, tune in the Boy Scouts Program broadcast over Station CKTS every Saturday afternoon from 5:05 to 5:15.

Alan Trussler

Congratulations are extended to Tammy Beaulieu of the 3rd (Plymouth) Troop who was recently invested into the fold of Scouting, not only in his own Troop but also into the worldwide brotherhood.

The Scout hockey team is preparing to ice a game this week, providing the opposition is to be the "B" team from St. Peters. Skipper announces that plans for a sleigh ride are progressing.

Last week the "faithful followers" of the 7th (St. Pauls) Troop beamed with contentment after completing an excellent repast at Armitages, thanks to the Troop. It is understood that a worthwhile moral may be secured from this. "I pays to attend Scout meetings regularly, for in time you'll be rewarded."

At their recent meeting, a new recruit, Harry Hayward, was invested into the Pack as a full

Mexicans Either Rich Or Poor, With Middle Class Lacking, Lions Club Told

Movies have left the public with the impression that the inhabitants of Mexico are tough hoppers, living in despair amongst thievery and barbarism, but that is not so, members of the Sherbrooke Lions Club were told last night by their president, Jean-Louis Gauthier.

Mr. Gauthier, who arrived back in town last Friday from a six-week tour of the United States and Mexico, told the members he found the people like "you or I". But, unlike America, there is no middle class. Either they're rich or they're poor.

A Mexican farmer (considered in the poor class although some ranchers are wealthy) earns two pesos a day for tilling the land, the equivalent to twenty cents in our money, asserted President Gauthier.

The great majority of the Mexican people are poverty-stricken, and, Mr. Gauthier reveals, "one would have to live with the Mexicans to know how poor they are, and how much they depend upon the tourists to gain livelihood."

Mr. Gauthier continued to tell of his travels by motor through the high and scenic mountains, sometimes reaching peaks of 8,500 feet. "It is so beautiful and breathtaking, you are tempted to stop and take pictures every five minutes," he added.

Upon entering the country you are presented with pamphlets on "what to do" and "what not to do." Mr. Gauthier recalled one clause, which asked tourists to avoid drinking water because it is contaminated. "Out of curiosity I drank some and it wasn't bad. Anyway, it can't be worse than the Sherbrooke water."

In keeping with an old club tradition, Gerry Villeneuve, new club member, gave his "booster talk." Two guests, Maytro Pouliot of the Department of Veterans Affairs and Arthur Cyr, of St. Johns, were welcomed to the meeting by the president.

Second Fire By Acetylene Torch In Recent Weeks

A slight fire broke out last night about 9 p.m. when an employee at the Larabee Coach Line garage on Belvedere Street set fire to a bus on which he was working.

A body repair man working with an acetylene torch, cutting steel, set fire to the side of a bus which in turn caught on to another.

The fire department was called immediately and the fire was extinguished within half an hour. Damage was very light.

This is the second fire of this type this year. The Castonguy garage which burned down in January was also set afire by an acetylene torch. Chief Percy Donahue wants to warn all workers using this tool to be very careful for it is quite easy to start a fire which may cost them their lives.

The Christmas Spirit -- 365 Days

There are so many people who are trying to give more than they get. It may be a country doctor, working at all hours, out of whom one has to pry a bill. It may be a taxi man rushing an emergency case to a hospital: "Don't bother; I'll collect later." And he never does.

It may be a milk man who buys tickets, sacrificing his tobacco money, for a family he knows to be up against it. It may be the boss of a business who makes things easier for his employees. It may be a trust company officer whose kindnesses run far beyond the path of duty. It may be a person in her nineties who writes letters of faith, encouragement, to many friends.

Or it may be a dear little woman who works by the day, doing far more than the usual household stint, who refuses stoutly to accept the usual wage but cuts it almost in half.

It may be the cheery bus driver who holds the bus when he sees a running figure half a block away. It may be the nurse who gives her best attention always to the old with few days left. It may be the neighbor who helps when there is illness.

It is, indeed, a good thing that there are men and women in all walks of life who are trying to give more than they get, to whom the gift of kindness seems to come naturally. With some of them the spirit of Christmas is confined to no one season but radiates throughout the year.

The Ever-Amazing Syngman Rhee

Syngman Rhee, the president of South Korea, has reportedly offered a division of troops to the French fighting in Indo-China and, at almost the same time, he has threatened once more to continue the war in Korea; if necessary, without United Nations help.

Rhee is 79, the same age as Churchill. He has had a life of struggle all his adult years. He was a reformer before he reached manhood and when he was 22 the then Emperor of Korea had him arrested.

Rhee was subjected to torture in prison for six months. The story tells how his neck, arms and legs were gripped and contorted by wooden stocks and silk cords so that he could neither stand, sit or lie down but "could only roll from one agony to another." He was left a physical wreck, as some said, but his spirit never gave way. And the "physical wreck" is still alive.

To the western world Syngman Rhee has often been pictured as an obstinate old man. Those who know him testify that his is a strong mind, with a far-sighted intelligence, and that he is simply a man who knows what he wants and thinks he knows what his country needs.

"Where's The Ice Cream?"

The wife of a harbor pilot sometimes has to be a patient woman.

William O'Higgins, operating out of Cork, kissed his helpmate goodbye not long ago and said he would be back for supper in a couple of hours. He planned to pilot a Dutch liner out of port but rough seas prevented a cutter from taking him off. He wound up by making a trip to Halifax and New York and was away three weeks.

We wonder how Mrs. O'Higgins greeted her husband when he returned. Hers was probably the phlegmatic welcome that often comes from those inured to a life of hazards.

It could not, however, equal one celebrated occasion. A husband left home one Saturday afternoon saying he was going to get some ice-cream at the corner store. It was ten years before he returned. His wife was sitting in the same chair when he broke in with the penitent expression of a prodigal returned. Long explanations followed.

"Now, John, don't fash yersel," was the quiet rejoinder, "where's the ice cream?"

SECRETARY'S WIFE SOLVES CASE OF THE MOVING MILESTONE

Washington — (NEA) — "Milestone," the Georgia plantation of Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey near Thomasville, 33 miles north of Tallahassee, Fla., where President Eisenhower went to shoot quail, takes its name from an old road marker on the place. It's a standing joke in the family that Mrs. Humphrey has now moved the milestone around to two or three different places, in order to give it the proper rose-bower setting. So it no longer is any good as a road marker, for an accurate measurement of mileage.

When Nils Lennartson, Treasury Department information officer, was first told that his boss was taking the President to the Georgia estate, he said, "What's a 'milestone'?" Is that the thing like a government job, that's hung around your neck?"

Patience, it was explained to Mr. Lennartson that what he was thinking about was a "milestone."

"Oh!" said Mr. Lennartson, still a little incredulous. "Then what's a 'milestone'?"

"Down East in Maine, where you come from," it was explained to him, "they call 'em 'finger posts.'"

"Oh!" said Mr. Lennartson again. "Now that you put it in English, I get it."

Two Tickets To Georgia

Secretary and Mrs. Humphrey have been so busy in their new Washington life that they have been able to visit their Georgia estate only once in the last two years. That visit was supposed to be for a three-day weekend, but it was stretched to five days under unusual circumstances.

Mr. Humphrey, who was then the politically unknown head of the M. A. Hanna industries of Cleveland, likes to hunt, and this area abounds in quail, doves, wild turkey, deer, possum, racoon and fox. Mrs. Humphrey likes to hunt, too. On the third day of their visit, they were stretching their stay to the last possible minute in the field.

Just as the moment came when they knew they would have to leave for the long drive to the railroad, to make an evening train north, a big covey of quail was sighted. With his jaw set, Mr. Humphrey turned to Mrs. Humphrey and said, "We're going to miss that train." They stayed for two days more.

Not being able to get back to Georgia often enough, Secretary Humphrey figured out a smart move in inviting President Eisenhower to go down and hunt with him. When the boss goes along, any employee is justified in playing a little hooky himself.

Secretary Humphrey Is Dead Shot

The Secretary is a Deadeye Dick shot. When President-elect Eisenhower, his designated Secretary of Defense C. E. Wilson, Mr. Humphrey and a select staff were returning to the U. S. on the cruiser Helena, after their pre-inauguration trip to Korea, there was some skeet shooting from the fantail. The Secretary of the Treasury-to-be outpointed all the others in the party. Shooting is said to be what gives him his good eye for figures.

While Mrs. Humphrey is a pretty good shot herself, her principal interest in Milestone is in the flowers. The 600-acre estate, and all the surrounding country for that matter, is at its best in early spring. The dogwood is prolific under the pines, and the huge pink Cherokee roses, with single blossoms as big as two hands, grow wild and climb all over everything. Mrs. Humphrey says she never has to worry about her husband cutting out any of the dogwood undergrowth. It makes good cover for the game.

The Humphreys have owned Milestone for about 25 years. The main house is a one-storey rambler, with five round, white columns in front to give it the southern air. This house is principally one large room which serves as living room and dining room. There's a kitchen and cook's room at one end.

Near the main house are three cottages. Two of them will sleep eight people. The third is a kind of dormitory which is ordinarily used by the Humphrey grandchildren.

In addition to the main plantation of some 600 acres, which is largely hunting preserve with fields for the stable of ponies and mules and dog kennels, Secretary Humphrey has other farms in the area where he raises cotton, corn and peanuts.

Snowy Owl Makes Southward Trip Every Four Years

Toronto. — This is a "snowy owl winter," with the big, ghost-like birds of the Arctic migrating south in search of food.

Every four years the snowy owls are starved out of their tundra home by the disappearance of the lemming, an arctic rodent. Every four years the lemming virtually disappears in a plague or in mad migrations to the sea.

And in these bad years the snowy owls are forced southward, most of them to stay.

Some fly as far south as Texas, Georgia or southern California, feeding by day on mice and rats. A few have even turned up in Bermuda. Most of the migrants settle on the eastern coast of the United States or in the Great Lakes region.

James Baillie, assistant director of ornithology at the Ontario Museum of Natural History, says Ontario and Quebec observers this winter have spotted some of the biggest flights of the owls ever seen in this part of the country. In the Toronto area alone, 17 birds were sighted in one day around Christmas.

With five-foot wingspread and a froth of white feathers covering them from claws to beak, they're impressive creatures and often frighten superstitious people by their ghost-like appearance. Accustomed to the long Arctic night in the north, they see equally well by day.

In their flight south, some of them stop in farmlands of the Canadian provinces. Others continue to the open country of the middle United States.

Known as "garlant" to ornithologists, the snowy owl differs in several respects from his cousin, the horned owl. He has a completely rounded, smooth head; the horned owl, like most other types, has ear tufts. The garlant's lifespan is only five to 10 years.

South of the Arctic, he feeds in the daytime. Though lemmings are his bread and butter dish, he won't pass up a hare or a fat ptarmigan.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

The death toll in yesterday's disastrous fire at Montpelier, Vt., has been officially placed at eleven. An explosion was believed to have set off the fire.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Local military circles will learn with interest the promotion to Lieutenant-Colonel of Kennan B. Jencks, of Sherbrooke, who prior held the rank of major.

M. T. Armitage, local alderman in the north ward since 1931, today announced he would not run for re-election.

TEN YEARS AGO

Forty-five planes, including four Canadian aircraft, failed to return from an assault on which more than 120 tons of explosives a minute were dropped, during the biggest raid of Second World War on Berlin.

Shore birds of the north and wild ducks also are his prey.

Unaccustomed to humans, the snowy owls are ridiculously tame and are easy prey to wanton hunters.

In the winter of 1926-27, Mr. Baillie says, an estimated 1,500 birds were slaughtered in Ontario and Quebec.

Dr. C. H. D. Clarke, supervisor of wildlife, Ontario lands and forests department, says the birds are not protected by law anywhere in Canada. Audubon Societies in some U.S. states, however, have succeeded in getting protective legislation passed. Dr. Clarke doubted, nevertheless, if the snowy owl would ever become extinct.

G. Marshall Bartman, executive secretary of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, said the federation, which represents some 27 naturalist clubs across the province, has been trying for years to get protective legislation for the birds.

He said the owls are "in no way injurious to man, rather they are beneficial and of great interest to naturalists."

Youngster Joins In Perilous Trip

Aldeburgh, England. — Fifteen-year-old Patrick Cable was sitting in the theatre when the sirens wailed.

Pat knew what it meant. Five previous generations of his family in this east coast port had answered the urgent call.

The Royal National Lifeboat Institution, which operates the lifeboat service around the British coast, has a rule that no one under 18 may join the lifeboat crews.

But Pat joined the dark shapes leaping into the lifeboat. "I got aboard before anyone recognized me in the darkness," Pat said later.

The lifeboat fought its way to the disabled steamship Kentbrook and helped rescue 14 men aboard.

As dawn broke and the rescue ended successfully, cowboy Bill Green turned around to congratulate his crew. His eyes bulged at the 15-year-old. Later he said the youngster had proved himself to be "one of the best—he'll make a fine lifeboat man."

"I hope the gentlemen in London will understand," Green said.

LET RULE BOOK END ARGUMENTS

"Please answer a question on the new game of bolivia," asks a Chicago reader. "If the player ahead of you discards a deuce, are you allowed to pick up the deck with a pair of deuces from your hand?"

No, this play is never allowed. When a player discards a wild card, he freezes the park. His discard may not be picked up by the next player even if that player has two deuces to match a discarded deuce or two jokers to match a discarded joker.

A similar question is asked by a Birmingham player. "In our game," she writes, "we have adopted the house rule that the discard pile is always frozen. This means, of course, that you always need a matching pair to pick up the previous discard. Hence the discard of a wild card has no special meaning. In these circumstances, should I be allowed to pick up a discarded deuce with a pair of deuces from my hand?"

The answer is still no. In this kind of game, a wild card becomes a stop card for one play, very much like a black three (although in other respects a wild card is quite different from a black three). The next player is not allowed to pick up a discarded wild card.

I must make one reservation on this ruling. Once you start to adopt house rules, nobody can stop you from going as far as you like. If all the layers in a game are willing to agree that a discarded deuce may be picked up by the next player with two deuces (or a discarded joker with two jokers), they are entitled to follow that rule. There is no need to ask the local police department for permission.

Even when you play house rules, it's still a good idea to have a rule book somewhere near the card table. The rule book will help you settle arguments on any point that isn't covered by a house rule.

Q—In the game of bolivia, what are the minimum meld requirements?

A—If your previous score is minus, you need 15 points. If you have 0 to 1495, you need 50 points. If you have 1500 points to 2995, you need a meld of 90 points. (These are the rules of regular canasta also.) From 3000 to 6995 you need a meld of 120 points. If your previous score is 7000 or more you need a meld of 150 points.

JUMP TO NO-TRUMP WAS CLEVER PLAY

Perhaps you're not fond of South's jump to two no-trump in today's hand. Such a bid should show at least one sure stopper in the unbid suit, and South's four hearts headed by the ten-nine hardly constituted a sure stopper.

Nevertheless South's bid of two no-trump was the best available bid. If North had a singleton heart he would probably rebid some suit, and if North had two or more hearts, the suit was unlikely to be dangerous.

When West opened the six of hearts, South had to decide for or against holding up the ace of hearts. The "normal" play of the experienced declarer at no-trump is to hold up an ace of an otherwise unstopped suit. In this case, however, South very properly put up dummy's ace of hearts at once.

It was reasonable to suppose that West had only one or two of the missing high hearts. (If West had all three he would have opened the king rather than a small card.) If the hearts were divided four-three, the suit was no threat, since the opponents could take only three hearts and the ace of clubs. If the suit were 5-2, however, it was vital to take the ace at once in order to block the suit.

When South knocked out the ace of clubs at the second trick, West had no way of defeating the contract. If West led a low heart, East would win with the queen but would then be unable to continue the suit.

If West instead laid down the king of hearts, he would drop his partner's queen and be able to take the jack of hearts, but then South would have a second stopper in the suit. Either way, South would be sure to make nine tricks.

South would have lost his game contract if he had played a low

Burglary Scare

By JOYCE N. MARTIN
McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
WNU Features.

Deputy Bill Riordan just couldn't get Ellen Maybury's face out of his mind. It had been there ever since the night he went to her house about the burglary scare. It had struck him then that she had the whitest skin and the saddest, deepest eyes he'd ever seen. Somehow, he couldn't help feeling that she really was lonely and that all she wanted was someone to talk to for a few minutes.

"Well, Riordan, how do you think you're going to like being a Los Angeles County Deputy Sheriff?" The desk sergeant was speaking.

"So far so good, I guess," said ex-Marine Corporal Bill Riordan, taking his uniform out of his locker. Only there's one thing that bothers me..."

"Yeah."

"Maybe it's just because I was stuck in the jungles all those months and never saw a white woman the whole time. But—strictly off the record—what's a guy to do when he answers a prowler suspect call and a lady with very long eyelashes invites him in to talk to her?"

"A worried lady, and it turns out there isn't any prowler at all. Never has been, in fact. And the lady is just, well... lonesome, and needs someone to talk to."

"Oh," laughed the desk sergeant. "That you'll soon get used to all our lady wolves. We seem to specialize in 'em' way out here in the foothills. They're so thick you practically have to fight 'em off. But it can be done. By the way," he added more seriously, "you don't happen to mean Mrs. Maybury, do you? If so, there's a 'ot' I can tell you."

Deputy Riordan swung past the door and stepped into the radio patrol car. So that was it. Every time the department knew that Ellen Maybury was a widow who lived alone. Knew her husband had been lost "flying the hump." Knew that she phoned the sheriff on the slightest pretext, using the flimsiest of excuses, just so they'd send an investigator on whom she could weep her wiles.

Deputy Riordan hoped he wouldn't be the one on patrol duty the next time she sent out a call. Even as he was thinking it, the radio call came through. "Car 33, 3706 Charlton Hills Road. A prowler."

"Car 33, WILLCO," he clicked back.

Prowler, indeed! There never had been a break-in or a robbery in the Charlton Hill neighborhood. There probably never would be. He thought savagely, something ought to be done about this scheming woman and all her false alarms.

Deputy Riordan flashed the red spotlight around the yard of the little English cottage. All doors and windows closed. Everything in its place. Angriely he punched the door bell. There was no answer. A strange, alert feeling seemed to fill his veins. He rang again. Then he tried the door. It was unlocked. "Mrs. Maybury," he called. "Where are you?" There was only a muffled sound from the den, off the hallway, she was slumped across the wicker settee. Her teeth were chattering so that she could not speak. From head to foot she was trembling uncontrollably. Her face was whiter than ever, her fingernails blue, her eyes pleading.

Deputy Riordan hadn't been through the Guadalcanal and Bougainville campaigns for nothing. He knew malaria when he saw it. He lifted the frail, trembling girl and carried her over to the bed. He found the quinine on the bedside stand. Then he reached for all the blankets he could find and piled them on top of one another.

The sad deep eyes were looking gratefully up at him.

"I've known for some time this would happen, and I was afraid to tell you. So I always phoned the sheriff. I'm sure all of you thought I was out of my mind, imagining burglars and prowlers. But I

IT'S YOUR DEAL ...

TOWIE IS THREE-HANDED BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD

We are often asked if there is a good way for three players to play bridge. There is, indeed, and the name of the game is towie.

Deal the cards out as usual to four places at the table. The three players pick up their hands and sort them in the usual way. The fourth hand belongs to the player who isn't there. Turn up six cards of the fourth hand, leaving seven cards face down. Then bid in the usual way, skipping the turn of the absent player.

If the six exposed cards of the dummy happen to be fairly high cards, each player may want to bid for the privilege of winning the dummy. If the six exposed cards are quite low, perhaps nobody will be anxious to bid. The highest bidder gets the dummy.

No contract of less than game is played. A contract of two spades doubled is a game-going contract, but in practice no such hand is ever played. Somebody always thinks of some more profitable place to play the hand. Most hands are played at four or more of a major, at three or four no-trump or at a slam.

If a hand is not bid to a game, each player arranges his hand by suits, and all four hands are stacked together. There is a cut but no shuffle, and the cards are then dealt by the same dealer, five at a time, five at a time again, and then three at a time. This sort of deal, called a "goulash," usually produces weird distributions. Six of dummy's cards are again turned up, and the bidding proceeds in the customary way.

Each player has a separate score. At the end of the rubber, each score is added. The high score collects from the two lower; the middle score collects from the bottom player. The bonus for winning a game is 500 points. There is an additional bonus of 1000 points for winning the rubber.

The best way to win is to score games and slams with your good hands, for you will then collect from each of the two opponents. If you suffer a penalty for an overbid, you will lose to both opponents.

If you defeat an opponent, the other opponent will receive the same score that you do. Hence it pays to win a hand all by yourself rather than share your victory with a partner; but it doesn't pay to overbid and lose to both opponents, unless the sacrifice is small compared to what you would lose if you just passed.

In any hand that is played, the opening lead is made by the player to the left of declarer. The dummy is then put in the next playing position, as in normal contract bridge.

didn't want anyone to know the truth."

Deputy Riordan said, "I don't know why you were there. Or what you were doing. But I know the place you've been, and not so very long ago either. The jungles... right?"

She smiled wanly. "I guess you can call it a souvenir of my Red Cross field worker days. They say it'll pass in time—that the spells will be more and more infrequent. Until pretty soon there won't be any at all."

Then Deputy Riordan said a most unexpected thing. "I'm not going to call you Mrs. Maybury ever again," he announced. "I'm going to call you Ellen. And you'd better start calling me Bill. Because, whether you know it or not, this is the beginning of a beautiful friendship. People with malaria should definitely not live alone. Ellen, I'll make a deal with you. I'll play Nurse's Aid when ever you have your recurrences if you'll agree to take care of me when I have mine—every few months. Is it a go?"

"An Evening Of Plays" Presented By Stanstead College Dramatic Club

Rock Island, Feb. 16.—An "Evening of Plays" was presented by Stanstead College Dramatic Club at the Haskell Opera House on Friday evening to a most appreciative audience.

The first presentation was "In the Window," by Conrad Selzer, the curtain rising portraying a male and female mannikin figure in a store window on a street in Broxton-on-the-Mud.

The window dresser had arranged the male figure in evening attire and was in the process of finishing the other figure in evening wear. Completing this he departed from the store for the night, just about the time the lamplight or lighted the street lamps.

As the clock struck midnight the waxen figures came to life on the street before the window. Seating themselves on a bench they discussed the injustice done them by being models in this "Broxton-on-the-Mud" place when they had been made in Paris. Finally "he" declares his love for "her" and they plan to never return to the shop window, but to return to Paris to be melted down and be remade into more modern "figures."

About this time, "she" sees the window dresser coming along the street and is frightened about not returning to the window, but "he" is determined in their former arrangement and they stand together in the street. The window dresser is dumfounded to see them there and more so when they tell him of their plans.

"He" takes his cane and hits the window dresser, knocking him down. They drag him into the store, placing him in their places in the window, and in his hand place a sign "One free with every purchase."

The cast included Graham Lough, the window dresser; Owen Wheelock, the male figure; Miss Jean Vivian, the female figure.

The second presentation, also by Conrad Selzer, was "The Husband of Xanthippe." The scene portrayed the courtyard of Socrates' home on an afternoon in the year 406 B.C.

As the curtain raised Socrates was talking with his friend, Phaedo, a pupil, Apollodorus, and another pupil, Critobulus, who were advising him to leave his wife, Xanthippe, because she was always nagging and criticizing him. As she calls to her husband, he bids his friend and pupils depart. As they do so, she enters and berates him for the company he keeps.

Socrates is again joined by his friend, and as they are seated on a bench on the courtyard, Socrates confides that he is to be arrested, tried and condemned to death. He could clear himself of the charge but feels that he is aged and will find peace with death.

The two pupils enter, having heard the news and they offer to Socrates a cloak to hide his identity and a purse of gold with the offer of a mode of travel to another country, thus escaping from the charge to be made.

And as he refuses to take advantage of the offer, the guards are heard at the gate, with Xanthippe swearing her husband is innocent of any wrong. As she calls to Socrates, he answers, "My wife calls," and thus ends the second play.

The cast: Socrates, Michael Gerrie; Phaedo, Robert Amaron; Apollodorus, Helmut Kunert; Critobulus, Tommy Houghton, and Xanthippe, Miss Betty Ann Colt.

Ancient Legend Holds Secrets Of Fire-Walkers

By J. C. GRAHAM Canadian Press Correspondent Auckland, N.Z.—An old legend is used by inhabitants of Beqa in the Fiji islands group to explain how descendants of an ancient chief can walk without injury across red-hot stones.

According to the Fiji legend the chief of the village of Sawau many years ago was fishing for coals when he discovered a "little man" who pleaded for his life with the promise of "great riches."

The "little man" promised immunity from fire, and the chief put the offer to the test. They built a pit filled with stones, lit a great fire over it, and when the stones became white-hot the chief and the "little man" walked over the searing stones without harm.

So the chief spared the life of the "little man," and the chief's descendants ever since have been fireproof from the ankles down.

The present fire-walkers brought their own stones with them from the islands, two tons of large boulders. In a typical demonstration here a fire was built in a pit containing the stones, and the Fijians tended it throughout the afternoon and evening.

At the stones became hot, some split, hurling chips of burning rock out of the pit.

As the time for the demonstration drew near they dragged out the embers with hooked poles to the accompaniment of loud cries and chants. Then with apparent ease, 10 islanders in ceremonial garb walked into the pit and ran slowly over the red-hot stones.

The crowd was even more excited than the Fijians at the spectacle and pressed closer until several were forced into the pit. Although wearing shoes, several were badly burned on the feet.

To finish their performance, the Fijians threw thick bundles of green leaves into the pit, rushed back in and sat down amid the steam and heat.

After the ceremony the feet of the performers were examined. They were covered in ash, but showed no sign of burning.

It has been stated that a bequest of $100 had been made by the estate of the late Fred Barker, to be used in the upkeep of the cemetery.

Advertisement for Students Build Dent-Proof Auto Body Of Plastic. Text: "Winnipeg.—A plastic auto body that won't dent when pounded with a heavy timber has been produced by a group of students at the Manitoba Technical Institute using cheese cloth, some fibre glass mats and liquid plastic. The body, a snappy sports roadster in coral red, was mounted on a standard small-car chassis and placed on display in a Winnipeg department store. The weight of 12 men standing on the body causes no strain. The builders are students in the institute's body repair class working under instructor Alex Tait. To make a mould, the boys took six rear fenders from a metal scrap heap and shaped four fender and door openings. A scrap hood helped provide the hood and two old door panels were cut to make the rear panel. The students tack-welded the pieces together and braced them with angle iron. To give a smooth, professional touch they plastered the inside of the mould and sandblasted it smooth. A coat of vibrin liquid plastic sealed the plaster and prevented chipping. Most difficult job was to develop a "releaser" to prevent the plastic from sticking to the mould. This was made by mixing liquid plastic to a consistency like syrup. Glass mats, tailored to fit the mould and dipped for the prompt action of the Bury Fire Brigade. MR. & MRS. CLARENCE GOODWIN, and MR. & MRS. ROSS GOODWIN. But she was mine, I loved her so. Ever remembered by ISHMAEL COREY (father), MRS. ISHMAEL COREY (mother), CHELSEA LAMPMAN (daughter), Farnham, Que.

COOKING SWEET POTATOES
Cooking sweet potatoes in the oven or kettle without peeling saves vitamins as well as time. Tests show that when baked or boiled without peeling, sweet potatoes retain from 60 to 83 per cent of their vitamin C. Many people add a little sugar to the boiling water to give the potatoes a sweeter flavor.

In The Women's Sphere

If you find yourself dreading company, chances are you try to put up too good a front. The hostess who is willing to let guests take her home and family "as is" doesn't dread entertaining. It's the woman who feels she has to do things up brown for guests who thinks that entertaining is more trouble than it is worth.

MODERN LIVING RUTH MILLET

SOME WOMEN FIND HUSBANDS EASILY — CONFIDENCE THE KEY?

A 50-year-old career woman who has never married writes: "I notice in the papers that older people are continually marrying and I have heard of grandfathers and white-haired grandmothers, some of them marrying for the third time.

"And yet we women who have never married just sit and wait for someone to come along, and no one ever does.

"Why is it that the person who had married once can so easily marry again while we who didn't find a husband when we were young still can't find one when we are older?"

"I've never seen this question answered, so would you try to answer it for me and all the other unmarried women who get by-passed by older men looking for a second wife?"

Perhaps the reason is that by 40 or 50 the women who have never married loses all faith in her ability to get a husband.

Whereas, the woman who has managed to get one husband never doubts for a moment that she could get another.

Confident Woman Doesn't Wait—She Goes Hunting!

That may be the main difference. For men not only like women who are sure of themselves and of their attractiveness to men, but the woman who is sure of herself doesn't sit around and wait for a man to find her. She goes out looking.

In your own letter you say that of your life has never brought you in contact with marriageable men.

A divorcee or widow who wanted a husband would have quickly sized up the lack of matrimonial opportunity in such a job and quit it promptly.

She wouldn't have hoped against hope. She'd have changed jobs pronto, being quite sure of her ability to get a husband if she could just meet some eligible men.

It's probably as simple as that.

Mrs. Guy, A. George played the wedding music and Mrs. H. C. MacLean sang "I'll Walk Beside You" as a prelude to the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The church was attractively decorated with a profusion of evergreen trees, daintily trimmed with silver, also red lighted candles on the altar. The windows were banked with evergreens around red candles and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ankle length gown of white nylon tulle over slipper satin, with a fitted lace bodice, a high Peter Pan collar and long sleeves ending with points over the hands. The skirt was very full and trimmed with narrow bands of satin, between which were bands of tightly shirred tulle. Her finger-tip veil of tulle edged with lace matching the bodice was held in place by a Victorian crown of pearls. She wore a three-strand necklace of pearls and pearl earrings and carried a cascade bouquet of red and white roses.

Miss Beverley Bockus, of Knowlton, a school friend of the bride, as maid of honor, was in an ankle length strapless gown of old rose net over taffeta, with matching stole and mitts. Her headdress of matching shirred tulle was made in crown effect and she carried a large nosegay of assorted flowers.

The bridesmaid, Miss Phyllis Clark, sister of the groom, wore a gown and headdress of aqua blue, identical in style to that of the maid of honor, and carried a small nosegay of mixed flowers.

Mr. Rupert Clark, brother of the groom, was the best man and the ushers were Mr. Howard Jewett, brother of the bride and Mr. Robert Young, a friend of the groom.

Mrs. Jewett, mother of the bride, wore a two-piece crepe dress of navy blue, trimmed with black velvet, with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Clark, mother of the groom, wore a gown of teal blue crepe, with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the town hall where the bride and groom received their guests under an archway of evergreens with silver decorations and pink and white bells.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake made and decorated by her sister, Mrs. Donald Cousins, of Bolton Centre. On either side were long white tapers in silver candlesticks and vases of pink roses and white carnations. Seated at the table, besides the bride and groom and their attendants, were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Jewett, parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Clark, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Clark, grandparents of the groom, and Mrs. A. I. Thayer, grandmother of the groom, Mr. Thayer being absent due to illness, and Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Hopkins.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Roland Clark left for a motor trip to Niagara Falls, Buffalo, N.Y., and other points of interest for their honeymoon, the bride wearing a beige wool serge suit and white nylon blouse, with a beige top coat and dark brown velvet accessories.

Out of town guests were from Knowlton, Waterloo, Cowansville, Swetsburg, Sutton and Bolton Centre.

Q.—Dear Claire: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a brand new fragrance medium by Houbigant called Liquid Skin Sachet. It smoothes on the skin very easily and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. ### J. N. Woods Of Cowansville Addressed Farnham Home And School Association

Farnham, Feb. 16.—The Farnham Home and School Association held its monthly meeting in Grace United Church hall on January 23. Mr. G. P. Hawke, president, was in the chair.

The business period covered various points of interest to the members, including a decision that the Association canvass the membership for contributions to the Student Loan Fund, at Cowansville. This decision was taken in view of the fact that Farnham children receive their High School education at Cowansville and several of our boys and girls have been helped through this fund.

Miss L. Hall, principal, was authorized to purchase records to the amount of $10 for use in the school, the selection of which was left to the judgment of the teaching staff.

The different committees gave their reports and of special interest was that of the health convener, who reported a larger number of children, this year, taking advantage of the hot soup or chocolate furnished daily by the Home and School Association as an addition to their lunch.

The members were privileged to hear an address on consolidation and centralization of schools, by Mr. J. N. Woods, principal of Cowansville High School, who gave authoritative information on the subject. Since Missisquoi County alone in the Province of Quebec, with the exception of Gaspé, where distances are so great and population so scattered that it would not prove feasible, remains outside the movement toward centralization, Mr. Wood's talk was of considerable interest to parents and teachers.

Mr. Wood outlined the procedure to be followed by local school boards and/or ratepayers, who wish to become centralized, or conversely strongly object to it, as laid down by law. He pointed out the advantages and possible disadvantages to local school boards and ratepayers resulting from centralization. It has brought bigger and better equipped schools to large areas, better paid teachers and improved additional methods to a greater number of children.

A discussion period followed Mr.

Wood's address and the members took advantage of the opportunity to clarify many other obscure details covered by the law.

Mr. W. F. Cutterson thanked the speaker and a social hour followed the meeting, with refreshments served by the committee in charge.

ICE CARNIVAL HELD

The annual winter ice carnival, sponsored by the Farnham Home and School Sports Club, was held under ideal conditions on Friday evening, January 29. The crisp sub-zero weather probably restricted the spectator attendance, but a good number of children and young people were on the ice in a colorful array of costumes.

Prizes were won by the following: Best costume, Susan Turner; best boy, Timmy Longtin; best girl, Audrey Longtin; best lady, Velma MacLeod; pre-school age, Donald Lunn; funniest costume, Bobby Stewart; best skating couple, juniors, Lyndol Hawke and Aletha MacAskill; best skating couple, seniors, Margaret Ban and Marvin Mooney.

The prize for fancy skating in the event for Sports Club members only was won by Kay Nagano, while Yvette Mady won in the open.

Guy Laumailier carried off the prize in the puck-carrying contest. Spot prizes were won by Madeline MacCafferty, Carmen Rodrigue and Mary Bell.

Following the presentation of prizes, refreshments were served by the social committee under Mrs. J. J. Demster, in Grace United Church hall.

FULFORD—

Miss Sylvia Gaylor spent a few days in Foster with her grandmother, Mrs. Clara Gaylor, who is confined to her bed from the effects of high blood pressure.

Mrs. Antoinette MacKinnon has returned from Montreal, after spending three weeks with her sister, Miss F. Brousseau.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Badger, of Waterloo, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Badger and Miss Eva Badger.

Mrs. C. Sparke and Miss Minnie Wiles spent an evening with Mrs. L. Fessenden.

Kitchen Holders

In making holders of heavy cloth for the kitchen, leave one end of the four sides open. This makes a pocket into which to slip the hand as a sure protection against heat and steam.

Sports Of Sorts

By GLEN BROWN

One of the compensations of being mixed up in this hurly burly of sport is to meet a team of the calibre of the St. Helen's girls' basketball unit in the District of Bedford School League. For you people who haven't heard of St. Helen's, it is a girls school in Dunham, and one of the best managed educational institutions in the area. To play St. Helen's is to have an old-fashioned magical carpet of affability, good sportmanship, keen play, and sincere good will rolled out for you all in one evening.

Thursday night Knowlton High Seniors with their affable coach Doug Flewelling, and your commentator, in the role of the whistle tooter, took a run over to Dunham to complete an engagement with the defending champions of the Reglin Trophy game. St. Helen's won the game by a 26-20 count, in one of the finest games I have seen in the last two years. Smart passing, fine competitive spirit, and fast all around play highlighted the athletic part of the evening, but things didn't stop at that. After the customary cheers, the girls of the home team thanked the Knowlton coach, and not only that, but they actually made it a point to thank the officials. Following this each Knowlton girl, was whisked off by her St. Helen counterpart, and treated to a luscious feast of cake and what nots in the girls' lounge. Then on leaving all of the girls crowded the door to wave their erstwhile opponents a fine farewell.

St. Helen's are ably coached by their new gym mistress, Doreen Varcoe, who moved out from the Old Country to Canada last September, and this is her first taste of basketball. Quite a contrast between this Canadian winter and those she experienced in Kent.

The team is built around several veterans of the last few years with Joan Rosetti, a Montreal girl of eleven years experience with St. Helen's captain and king pin of the team. Joan is a fast moving two-way player who seems to set up most of the plays for her wings and has an uncanny knack of picking off opposition plays and turning them into scoring opportunities for her own outfit. Flanking Joan are Holly Higgins and Susan Langton, two free wheeling forwards, who can pass nicely but never quite making the big time. All the provincial champs, except Mimeault, are in 11th grade at St. Mike's, run by a Roman Catholic order of sisters. Louis is one grade behind the others.

Dick and Guy are natives of Corner Brook, Nfld. They moved to Riverbend with their families after the war. Armand was born and lives in neighboring Alma. Louis was born at Kenogami, also in the Lake St. John district, but now lives in Riverbend.

Besides curling, the four play on St. Michael's hockey team which last year won the regional school championship. In the summer Dick likes a round of golf, Louis and Guy are tennis enthusiasts while Armand is "the best home-hitter" on the local softball team.

Quebec Schoolboys Set Sights On Dominion School Curling Title; Rink From St. Mike's Riverbend

Quebec — Four Quebec teen-agers, who play the ancient game of curling as if they had been doing it all their lives, aim to walk off with national honors Sunday at the schoolboy championships in Hamilton.

The boys from St. Michael's High School in Riverbend, a northern Quebec town, in the Lake St. John region, will represent Quebec.

Fifteen-year-old Dick Silver and his crew earned the trip to the Dominion finals on the basis of five wins and one loss in the three-day provincial playoffs last week-end.

Making up the team with Silver are 19-year-old lead Armand Landry, second Guy Noel and mate Louis Mimeault, both 16.

Overseeing the foursome is coach Mark McKenna who when he isn't training the team sits behind the principal's desk at St. Mike's.

The boys have played as a combination for four years, previously winning some local competitions but never quite making the big time.

All the provincial champs, except Mimeault, are in 11th grade at St. Mike's, run by a Roman Catholic order of sisters. Louis is one grade behind the others.

Dick and Guy are natives of Corner Brook, Nfld. They moved to Riverbend with their families after the war. Armand was born and lives in neighboring Alma. Louis was born at Kenogami, also in the Lake St. John district, but now lives in Riverbend.

Besides curling, the four play on St. Michael's hockey team which last year won the regional school championship. In the summer Dick likes a round of golf, Louis and Guy are tennis enthusiasts while Armand is "the best home-hitter" on the local softball team.

Sherbrooke Intermediates Host To Windsor Tonight

Third Place In Massawippi Valley Loop At Stake In Tonight's Tilt; East Angus Travels To Butterfields

Third place in the Massawippi Valley Hockey League will be at stake this evening when Roger Gingués' Sherbrooke Intermediates will be hosts to Windsor Paper Makers at the Arena at 8:30. In the other tilt on the agenda in Mac Wilson's circuit Butterfield will receive East Angus at home.

In tonight's game the locals must win if they wish to finish in third spot in the standing. It is the final tilt of the schedule for the Gingués' squad and they hold a slim one point lead over their closest rivals, Coaticook Canadiens, who also have one tilt left to complete their dates.

The Canadiens face Brompton in their last game while in the other postponed fixture Butterfield must pay a visit to Brompton to finish off the schedule. The playoffs are slated to commence Thursday evening with all six teams taking part in the event.

If Sherbrooke should win tonight's tilt the Coaticook team can't touch them even if they win their last fixture. They will be one point shy of third position. The Windsor team already has the top spot in the standing sewed up and second-place Brompton can't touch them, although they have two games left to play but should they win they will still be four points short of the Paper Makers drop tonight's engagement.

Victoriaville Ties Warwick In Playoffs

Victoriaville.—The semi-finals of the Bois-Francis Hockey League is slated at three games each when Victoriaville posted a close 6-5 win over Warwick in the sixth tilt of the playoffs. The seventh, and deciding game, of the series will be played Thursday evening in Victoriaville.

The winner of the event will meet Richmond in the finals, who eliminated Asbestos in the other half of the semi-finals. The finals are slated to commence this week-end.

Fitzgerald led the winners with two goals while Metivier, Bellevue, Laurin and Lemire accounted for the others. For Warwick Kirouac, Roux, Therrien and Provencher registered the goals.

Kirouac put the Warwick squad out in front in the opening seconds but Fitzgerald evened the count and then Metivier put the home club back in the lead again. Bellevue and Fitzgerald extended this when they counted before the end of the frame.

Roux and Therrien batted home two goals to reduce the margin 4-3 but Laurin tallied to extend it to 5-3 with only seconds left in the frame. In the final period Provencher opened the scoring but Lemire finished off the scoring as he tallied just after the half-way mark.

Miss Laframboise retained her top ranking of 1951 and 1952. She won the Canadian junior title for the third consecutive year, and for the second year without loss of a single set. She was given No. 10 ranking in the senior rankings issued a week ago.

La Beach Shipped Home By Aussies

Melbourne.—(AP)—Lloyd La Beach, who has been in Melbourne exactly four days to run in the world professional footracing championships, is being sent back to the United States by the sponsors of the championships, the Victorian Athletic League.

The league decided La Beach, who is nearly 140 pounds over his normal running weight, is not fit to compete in the remainder of the championships.

La Beach, who represented Panama in the 1948 Olympics, turned professional to run here in 1951. He was scheduled to arrive Jan. 6 for the professional championships but did not reach here until Feb. 11—17 hours before the first heat of the world series was scheduled to start.

In the 75-yard and 130-yard races his showing was pathetic. He finished a bad last on both occasions.

Mythe Satisfied With Refereeing

Toronto — Conn Smythe pulled a switch Monday and defended the refereeing in the National Hockey League—even when Toronto Maple Leafs are playing.

Smythe, managing-director of the second-place Leafs, interrupted his Florida vacation to watch the Leafs battle New York Rangers to a 3-3 tie Sunday night. The Rangers scored two goals while the Leafs were two men short.

Ordinarily, Smythe would have been boiling. However, he said here that he could find "no fault with the officiating."

Red Sullivan Out For AHL Record

New York — Centre George (Red) Sullivan of Hershey Bears is headed for an American Hockey League record in assists.

The 24-year-old 150-pounder from Peterborough, Ont., also is favored to take the league scoring title, provided the parent NHL Boston Bruins don't recall him for their drive to clinch a playoff berth.

Sullivan scored 11 points last week and that was the margin by which he led the AHL. Sullivan had 22 goals and 63 assists for 85 points according to statistics released today. Ab Demarco set the league record of 76 assists with Buffalo in 1950-51.

Sullivan has 15 more games left to overtake Demarco's mark.

In the runner-up scoring spot was Jack Gordon of Cleveland Barons with 24 goals and 50 assists for 74 points. Teammate Eddie Olson had 26 goals and 47 assists for 73 points.

Slovinski's 32 goals topped the league in that department. Larry Cahen of Pittsburgh was the bad man with 137 minutes in penalties.

Jacques Plante of Buffalo led the goal-tenders with an average of 2.69 goals against him in 57 games. Emile Francis of Cleveland had the most shutouts, four.

Wes Santee Isn't Satisfied With His Running Although He Holds Second Fastest Indoor Mile Mark

East Lansing, Mich. — (AP) — Wes Santee, the Kansas cowboy, has corralled the second fastest competitive indoor mile in history, but still isn't satisfied.

Santee loped around the eight-lap Michigan State College dirt track in 4:04.9 Monday night as the feature of a meet involving Kansas, Illinois and Michigan State.

The cocky Kansas said afterwards that he's sure he can go a faster mile when he gets on a board track. He wasn't too satisfied with his time, and expressed confidence that some day he'll crack the four-minute barrier.

Santee's time will stand as the world indoor record for a dirt track. Only Glenn Cunningham's national 4:04.4 of 1938—on a

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
New York. — (AP) — It is a good deal less than fair to criticize John Landy, the superb Australian distance runner, because some sort of alibi always comes singing across the Pacific every time he fails to run a mile in four minutes.

The alibi seldom comes from Landy, himself. The trouble is that the Australian people, especially the avid track fans, are so terribly anxious that one of their own should win the distinction of cracking the historic four-minute barrier that their disappointment shows through each time Landy misses.

In his latest try at Sydney the Aussie star was clocked in 4:05.6. He was running on grass, which is conceded by track authorities to be somewhat slower than specially prepared surfaces. Only a few years ago the time he set would have been a world record and it was an outstanding effort in every respect.

Yet it was marred for American enthusiasts by the dispatches which emanated from the start that Landy had been forced to make his run against a "head" wind, and which quoted the opinion of an Australian track official that this unusual wind added "six or seven seconds" to the runner's time. Let's face it, this was being slightly ridiculous.

There is no question that such a dry, hot wind as blows in Australia at this time of year is a handicap to a mile. We watched Landy run under such conditions at Melbourne last year, and it was obvious that the necessity of bucking the wind in the final spurt for the tape, when he was tired, cost him some yards.

But as it also was obvious that the track was oval shaped, and that Landy must have had the same dust-laden breeze at his back a good part of the time, no one suggested that he had been robbed by a head wind. Neither was an attempt made to estimate the number of seconds he had lost. It was only noted that conditions were poor and that Landy's time undoubtedly suffered.

That, we believe, is what the public should have preferred to read this time. It is no disgrace not to have run a four-minute mile — not yet, anyway — and those who insist upon providing alibis for such a great athlete as Landy are only doing him a disservice. We were pained to see him decried as "the man who always seems to have an alibi."

Terry Sawchuk Chasing Lumley In Race For Goalkeeping Honors; Howe Extends Lead Over Richard

Montreal. — (CP) — Terry Sawchuk of Detroit Red Wings is putting a hefty squeeze on Harry Lumley of Toronto Maple Leafs in the race for the Vezina Trophy, emblematic of goal-tending supremacy in the National Hockey League.

Until Monday night, Sawchuk was tied with Lumley with a 1.73 average after trailing the burly Toronto goalie in a close chase since mid-November. Each played 54 games; each let in 93 goals.

But with Detroit's 3-2 win over Chicago Black Hawks Monday night, Sawchuk fell to an average of 1.73.

The goalie struggle was only one feature of the NHL figures released today.

Gordie Howe, Detroit's favorite adopted son, has again been up to the tricks that have made him the league's top point-getter. During the week he copied five goals—one of them Monday night—and one assist for a total of 64 points. His latest six points were scored in three games, best showing of the week.

RICHARD ASSISTS TWICE
Maurice Rockett Richard of Montreal Canadiens failed to get a goal but provided two assists for a total of 54 points and second place.

Canadians themselves dropped from second to third place in team standings—recalling what Richard fans have said, that "As the Rockett goes, so go Canadians."

Toronto slipped ahead of the Habs, gathering four of eight possible points on one win and two ties. This gave the Leafs 64 points, one more than the Montrealers who had two ties, one loss and no wins. Toronto has one game in hand over Canadiens.

Detroit's two wins were enough to give Red Wings 74 points.

Lefty Newhouser To Try Comeback With Cleveland

Detroit. — (AP) — Lefty Hal Newhouser is going to try a pitching comeback with Cleveland Indians at 32.

He announced this Monday, seven months after he and the Detroit Tigers agreed he was through after 15½ baseball seasons and 200 American League victories. He lost 147 games.

Then, Hal said: "This is the end. I'm through as a pitcher. I'm convinced I haven't got it any more."

Monday, his tune was different: "I know the Indians have one of the best pitching staffs in the majors, with fellows like Bob Feller, Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon, but I hope to make the grade—preferably as a starting pitcher, but if not, as a reliever."

An old pal is giving the often temperamental southpaw a new chance. He is general manager Hank Greenberg of the Indians, who was clouting home runs as a first baseman Tiger teammate of Newhouser's much of their playing careers.

Like A Rookie
"I'll be just like a rookie getting a tryout," Newhouser said. "I haven't signed any contract with the Indians and will not discuss one until I see if my pitching is still good enough to make the team."

Generally acknowledged the classiest leftlander in the majors in his heyday, Newhouser drew around $65,000 in 1944-45-46, when his won-lost record was 29-9, 25-9 and 26-9, respectively. And in both 1944 and 1945 he was voted most valuable player in the American League.

Stan Heath Suing Tiger-Cats And Carl Voyles For Sum Of $10,234

Hamilton. — (CP) — Bob Snyder, former coach of Calgary Stampede, says he informed Carl Voyles and the Tiger-Cat football club that quarterback Stan Heath was suffering an arm injury at the time the Hamilton Club acquired his services.

Before Mr. Justice J. L. McLennan, in Ontario Supreme Court Monday, Heath sued the Tiger-Cat club and Voyles, coach and general manager, for $10,234 for alleged wrongful dismissal.

Snyder said that Heath complained about his arm on returning to Calgary after a game at Montreal. The injury—not a serious one—would not have affected the player's status with Stampede.

"He would have received his wages of $8,500 from the Calgary club, regardless of the number of games he would have played," added Snyder.

Charles Dubin of Toronto, counsel for Heath, said that Heath had entered into a non-release contract to play for the Hamilton club for $9,500, and that the Stampede and the Tiger-Cats club had entered into a $5,000 bond, the exact nature of which would appear to have Heath returned to Calgary within a year. The playing agreement, it was alleged, was subsequently violated when the plaintiff was dismissed from the Hamilton club.

The defendants contend that a non-release agreement was not entered into with the plaintiff, or if it was it was not valid as the plaintiff had not been in fit physical condition.

The case is continuing.

BOSTON PERFORMS BEST

Boston Bruins made the best showing of the week, winning three games out of four tries. Boston now has 55 points compared to 50 for New York. Last week the margin was only two points in their battle for fourth and last playoff spot.

Chicago Black Hawks are last in the standings with 26 points, having won one of four during the week.

Richard still is top goal-getter with 32 goals and 22 assists. Howe has 26 goals and 38 assists.

Ted Lindsay of Detroit maintains his third-spot hold with 45 points, while Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, out with an injury, comes next with 46 points.

Undeclared Floyd Patterson Wins Tenth Straight, Beating Durelle

Brooklyn, N.Y. — (AP) — Undeclared Floyd Patterson scored his 10th straight victory Monday night by outpunching Yvon Durelle, former Canadian light-heavyweight champion, in an eight-rounder at the Eastern Parkway Arena. Patterson weighed 167½, Durelle 170½.

The 19-year-old Brooklyn Negro was a 4-to-1 favorite. Although he won a unanimous decision he was far from impressive.

The votes, all for Patterson, were: Referee Abe Simon, 5-2-1, and Judge Joe Eppy and Leo Brunbaum each 5-3. The AP scorecard had Patterson in front 6-2.

Patterson had the eighth round taken away from him by the referee because of several rabbit punches.

PATTERSON HIT OTTEN
Durelle, from Baie St. Anne, N.B., a 24-year-old soldier on leave from the Canadian Army, was only the third fighter to go the distance with Patterson since he turned pro after winning the 165-pound Olympic title in 1952. Patterson has won his other seven fights by knockouts.

The hard-punching youngster missed more often and was hit more often than in all his other fights put together. He found the awkward, bobbing and weaving Canadian hard to hit at times and at other times almost landed at will.

Patterson shook the strong-legged Durelle several times during the free-swinging battle but couldn't bring him down. He connected with some of his hardest blows but Yvon took them well.

Durelle drew blood from Patterson's nose in the second round. He traded willingly with Patterson throughout most of the fight.

Ives Hill And Draper's Corner Forum Meets

Ives Hill, Feb. 16.—The Ives Hill and Draper Corner Farm Forum met on February 8th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bernard, with a good attendance of members.

Mr. Haines Bernard was the chairman. The broadcast in regards to the grading of all farm products was heard and then the members were divided into groups for discussions, and came up with the following answers:

1. Yes, there are some products in our area, which are not sold by grade such as cheese and meat sold by local butchers. There are also some farmers who sell products to their own customers, which are not graded.

2. In some products such as maple syrup, eggs, potatoes and apples all feel that grades should be carried through from producer to consumer. But in the case of meats it would be impossible for the producer to grade.

3. All feel that grade names should be universal across Canada to avoid confusion in consumers minds. This would involve more inspectors, graders and grading stations.

The minutes of previous meeting were read and accepted. Clayton Bernard gave a report on the convention held at Montreal, which he and Mr. F. Green attended.

The "Green Leaf" was read. Ad-journment followed.

Films were shown one of which was on "Eskimos".
