

MECHANICS' HALL,

ON

Friday Evening, Feb. 20.

PROF. A. O'LEARY

WILL DELIVER

A LECTURE

ON

DIGESTION

OR

EATING & DRINKING,

And how to preserve the health in regard to the appetite; what we should and should not eat; when we should eat, and how food should be prepared. How to cure Dyspepsia easily and surely. How to obtain a good appetite. The use of animal food. The necessity of a nourishing and generous diet, especially for the young. Should we sleep after eating, and should we eat before retiring?

This Lecture is one of great importance and value to the young, and to those suffering from Dyspeptic symptoms. It has already been the means of relieving more nervousness and melancholy, and establishing more vigorous digestion and healthy appetite than all the Pepsin, and stimulating bitters, and tonics, and patent medicines ever invented or compounded by the arts of Pharmacy. Many and many a one has thanked me for this Lecture.

The subject will be illustrated by means of a great variety of material, Manikins, Skeletons, and Models of the Stomachs of Man and Woman—showing their relative size, position, formation, structure, etc.; a very interesting exhibition. A beautiful French Manikin will be dissected, showing the internal parts of the body as they appear in life. The dissection will consist of—

- 1st. Removing the right arm, near the shoulder.
- 2d. Removing the well-known Deltoid from the left shoulder.
- 3d. Removing the Pectoral Muscles from the left side of the Chest.
- 4th. Removing the Dental Muscle of the left side, and several of the Abdominal Muscles.
- 5th. Removing the walls of the Abdomen and Thorax entire—showing at a full, clear, bold view the Heart,

Lungs, Midriff, Stomach, and Intestines, with parts of the Kidneys, Spleen, etc., beneath—removing which the more deeply seated parts are brought to light in detail.

This dissection is invariably received by the audience with murmurs and expressions of delight and satisfaction, as it reveals at a single glance mysteries over which thinking people sometimes ponder for years without understanding—that is, the interior rooms, structure, and arrangement so wonderfully beautiful, of "the house I live in." The figures being prepared in Paris, expressly for such exhibitions, before promiscuous and cultivated audiences, are in every way chaste and unobjectionable, and appropriate as a study for the young, both ladies and gentlemen.

This LECTURE will be found much more interesting, amusing, and instructive than any preceding it, and will be the FIRST OF THE REGULAR COURSE OF 7 —two of which will be for Ladies only, and two for Gentlemen.

Card of Admission to Course, including Private Lectures, for one person, 50 cts.

CHILDREN, HALF PRICE.

Single Lecture, 12½ cts.

Private Lectures, 25 cts. each.

TICKETS TO BE HAD AT THE DOOR.

On the reverse side of the Card to the Course is a very convenient Catalogue of the choice Paintings, showing their numbers, etc. These Cards are to be had at the door, and also at the Examination Rooms, during the day.

Private Examinations, and advice as to Health, Habits, Business Pursuits, etc., daily, after 10 o'clock, A. M., at Rooms 9 and 10, DONEGANA HOTEL.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

PROF. O'LEARY has been remarkably successful in his Lecture Course in this city. His audiences, not small at first, have grown with each succeeding Lecture, and the people have given him their undivided attention. The subjects he treats upon are those which most nearly concern every man, woman, and child in the community, and he has the happy gift of conveying his ideas in language at once forcible, clear, and eloquent, and yet delicate and chaste. His Lectures are calculated to be in the highest degree beneficial to his hearers. Our citizens will cordially welcome him again to this city, should he conclude at some future time to repeat his course here.—Rochester Express.

He is thoroughly conversant with the science on which he speaks, and his Lectures are replete with mirth and instruction.—Portland Advertiser.

PROF. A. O'LEARY has just concluded a course of very interesting and instructive Lectures in this city. He goes from here to Indianapolis. During his stay here he has made hosts of friends. We commend him to the press and public wherever he may go. He is every inch a gentleman.—Broad Axe, Richmond, Ind.

MR. O'LEARY has been lecturing in this place for nearly two weeks, and is said to have attained a success beyond anything ever before known in the history of our city.—Thrice Weekly Journal, Augusta, Me.

THE BEST and most exciting Course of Lectures ever delivered in this city, without any exception, is that now in progress by PROF. O'LEARY.—Lowell Advertiser.