

GERMAN CAPITAL UNDER LENGTHY BOMBARDMENT

Berlin Citizens Underground For Over Three Hours

British Raids Designed to Cripple Essential Industries Rather than Kill Off Non-Combatants, R.A.F. Authorities Declare in Reporting on Series of Raids on Berlin—Mass Attacks on London Renewed.

Berliners today spent an uncomfortable three-hour period underground as the Royal Air Force, making a round trip of more than 1,200 miles, gave them a taste of something similar to the treatment the Luftwaffe has been giving London during the last forty-eight hours.

There was this difference in the R. A. F. raids, however. They were designed to blast military objectives only, not to kill or hurt civilians, because, for one thing, British authorities believe the quickest way to end the war is to destroy the enemy's military war effort, not frighten his women and children. Not that the British people showed any particular signs of fright. A number of them were hurt, some killed, many rendered homeless, but they were cheerful as soon as they shook off the momentary alarm of having their homes explode alongside them.

The most noticeable effect on the people's minds seems to have been to enrage them. A great popular howl, supported by a few newspapers, went up demanding retaliatory raids on Berlin, but papers like The Times and The Daily Telegraph and Morning Post soberly warned such tactics would not win the war because they did not fit in with military plans.

Observers estimated the Germans were employing 3,000 planes, about one-sixth of their operating force in their latest efforts against the United Kingdom, but noted that their losses again were extremely heavy. Yesterday alone fifty-five German craft were shot down while Britain lost thirteen and saved four pilots.

One bomb hit squarely on a laundry filled with girls at work. One body was removed from the wreckage immediately and volunteer forces searched for additional victims. Another bomb destroyed six houses. Still another tore up railroad tracks. The attack caught the town unawares, the people at first thinking the attackers were their own planes.

Today's assaults followed a thundering early morning raid on Berlin by British planes after five attacks on the London area within little more than forty-eight hours.

An Air Ministry statement said the total of German aircraft shot down yesterday had reached fifty-five, with British losses placed at thirteen. Of the Nazi total, forty-three were destroyed in engagements near the naval base of Portland.

In their first major drive of the war on the German capital, the Air Ministry announced, Royal Air Force planes dumped bombs on Berlin armament factories while other formations raided additional military objectives in the Ruhr and elsewhere in Northwest Germany.

Hardly had the British bombers returned to their bases before German fighters began raining fire bombs over a wide area of Wales and Southeast England.

Willkie To Urge Immediate Move On Passage Of Conscription Act

New York, Aug. 26.—(P)—Unless the United States Congress acts quickly on conscription legislation, it was disclosed today at Wendell L. Willkie's headquarters, the Republican Presidential nominee probably will make a speech soon urging its prompt passage.

In his acceptance address Willkie expressed approval of "some form of selective service. He himself had nothing to say for quotation since that time, but aides said that he favored immediate action.

Talking with reporters on defence legislation in general, Willkie called for a speed-up of military plane construction.

"I want to commend Senator Harry Byrd (Democrat-Virginia), for his inquiry as to why one hundred days have gone by since the President said we needed 50,000 planes," he said, "and only 343 planes have been ordered for the army, navy and marine corps. None will be delivered in this calendar year and some will not be delivered until 1942."

"Whoever is at fault," he said, "it should be remedied immediately. It is a tragedy for us to continue to dally along with defence."

HOPE FOR VOTE THURSDAY Washington, Aug. 26.—(P)—Spurred by pressure from leaders and President Roosevelt, opposing forces in the bitter United States Senate battle over compulsory military training, talked today of a final vote this week, probably Thursday.

Senator Morris Sheppard (Democrat, Texas), chairman of the Military Committee and Floor Leader for the Burke-Wadsworth bill, said an additional discussion would come from opponents, or those sponsoring amendments. The debate is now in its third week.

NOTED LONDON CHURCH VICTIM OF BOMB RAIDS

Church of St. Giles and Statue of Milton Hit by German Bomb During Raids on Saturday.

London, Aug. 26.—The old Church of St. Giles and the statue of Milton outside it were hit during German Saturday night raids on the "City"—London's financial district—it was disclosed today.

St. Giles Cripplegate is in the heart of the closely-built downtown section of London, only a few blocks from the monumental St. Paul's Cathedral and in the region of the Ancient Guild Hall.

First reports of fires spreading in London Saturday night said that only the charred walls of a downtown church remained, but censorship had hid the name.

British Victory In Battle Near, French Writer Claims

Madame Genevieve Tabouis Declares that Hitler's Timetable Is Badly Behind Schedule as Result of Series of Developments Among Axis Powers—Predicts that Tide of Battle Will Turn in Few Weeks.

Geneva Park, Ont., Aug. 26.—(P)—Madame Genevieve Tabouis, internationally-known French newspaper columnist, provided the highlight address as the Canadian Institute on Economics and Politics closed its nine-day session during the weekend.

Mme. Tabouis' interpretation of recent events and prediction of a British victory brought an uproar of approval unqualified in the ninety-year history of the Institute.

Speaking Saturday night, she said Hitler's war time-table was badly behind schedule and declared that "We must work strenuously for a few weeks—just a few weeks—and we can be sure of victory."

Mme. Tabouis said the invasion of the British Isles was to have taken place between July 25 and August 10 with a simultaneous attack from Norway on eight British ports by 2,000 boats supported by planes, parachute troops and tanks.

She gave three reasons why the attack was not launched: Failure to acquire the French navy, failure of Mussolini to live up to his promise regarding British Africa and a German-Japanese dispute over French Indo-China.

"Hitler is far from his plan of finishing the war in one year, after which, with a short interval for setting up a German-planned European economy, he planned to carry the war to the United States," she said. "The situation in Europe is far, far better than we think it is, and Hitler knows it."

"Germany is in a bad way what with the Russians and the Japs interested only in themselves and with Italy, a weak partner, doing nothing for Germany. If the British stand for a few weeks more the situation will change in their favor."

The new practice of sending planes singly or in twos and threes, instead of the original plan of mass attacks by scores and sometimes hundreds, of bombers on a single objective, has been less costly to the Nazi air force, these observers declared.

The former tactics enabled the R.A.F. to concentrate its defenses, and a burst from a British fighter's guns fired into the thick of a Nazi formation was sure to damage, if not bring down, at least one of what R.A.F. pilots called "sitting birds."

An Air Ministry statement announced fifty-five German planes were shot down yesterday. The Nazi bombers visited London twice and also raided the south of England, the industrial Midlands, the Northeast and Scotland.

From personal observation, the actual damage done in the London area was small. It is more difficult to calculate the effect of loss of sleep and "nerves" will have on the people and on industrial production after ten days or two weeks more of this.

One factor which must be considered is the probability that German night bombing will increase in accuracy as the night attacks continue. Until this month the Germans had done most of their bombing in daylight. It is natural for the bombardiers to be inaccurate on their first night sorties.

This accounts for the comparatively light damage done to military objectives, such as airports like Manston. One airfield, which Berlin reported was bombed heavily, still is being used by a fighter squadron with little loss of efficiency.

West Indian Public Opinion In Support Of Naval Base Scheme

(By The Canadian Press) Public opinion in the British West Indies, as reflected in the colonies' newspapers, favors the leasing of air and naval bases to the United States to assist in the defence of this hemisphere.

The newspapers generally welcome the proposal as tending to lift a measure of the burden from Britain's shoulders and at the same time strengthen the defences of the West Indies themselves. One paper suggested it would increase United States tourist travel to the Islands, since visitors would travel with a feeling of greater security.

In Bermuda, where the administration announced Saturday that Great Sound was to be made available to the United States for an air base, the Royal Gazette and Colonist favors the scheme. "There is absolutely no question of any loss of our British birthright, of our being ceded or sold or any interference with our generous measure of self-government," the paper said.

The Daily Gleaner at Kingston, Jamaica, declared: "So long as the present British connection with the British West Indies remains unaltered, we do not believe there would be any objection in the West Indies to the arrangement proposed."

"We perceive in this new arrangement an added protection and promotion of West Indian interests," the paper added.

"Any arrangements for the leasing of naval and air bases in these colonies, however distasteful to the peoples of these islands, will be loyally accepted if they serve to ensure American help for the Mother Country in this grave crisis of her history," says the Barbados Advocate.

An "ideal" naval and seaplane base could be developed at St. Rupert's Bay in Dominica, midway between the French possessions of Martinique and Guadeloupe, according to the Tribune of Roseau, the capital. "We should be willing to yield our pride and place no obstacle in the way of imperial defence," it stated.

MANY OFFICERS APPOINTED TO 3RD DIVISION

Several Senior Officers of Forces in England Recalled to Take Brigade Commands.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—(P)—The 3rd Division, Canadian Active Service Force, will have the benefit of experience of officers overseas. Weekly announcements of appointments by the Department of National Defence foreshadowed the recall of several senior officers from England to take command of the 3rd Division. Their places will be filled by advancing officers already in England.

Simultaneously with announcement of appointments to the 3rd Division the Department announced that Col. E. W. Samson, Assistant Adjutant and Quarter Master General with the 1st Division when it went over, had been promoted Deputy Adjutant General with the rank of Brigadier at Canadian Military Headquarters in London.

Three infantry brigades of the 3rd Division will be commanded by Brig. J. P. U. Archambault, Montreal, Lt.-Col. W. G. Colquhoun, Winnipeg, and Lt.-Col. E. W. Haldenby, Toronto. The last two will advance to the rank of Brigadier.

Brig. Colquhoun went over with the 1st Division and Brig. Haldenby commanded the 48th Highlanders in the evacuation of Le Havre.

Brig. Archambault, with distinction in the Great War which won him the B.S.O., M.C. and Legion of Honor with Croix de Chevalier, has held various staff appointments and since 1939 has been District Officer Commanding Military District No. 4.

Lt.-Col. H. O. N. Brownfield, commanding the 8th Field Battery at present overseas, has been promoted to command the Artillery Brigade of the 3rd Division. He is a graduate of the Staff College at Camberley in England. He has been an instructor at Royal Military College and held staff appointments at Saint John, N.B.

Lt.-Col. G. H. White of the Reserve Regimental Depot, British Columbia Regiment, now becomes Commander of the 3rd Divisional Engineers.

Washington, Aug. 26.—(P)—Justice Department officials completed their arrangements today for the tremendous task of registering and fingerprinting an estimated 3,600,000 aliens during the next four months.

The job will be started tomorrow in about 7,300 post offices and is scheduled for completion on December 26.

To finish on time, the Department must average 35,000 registrations daily, because, with Sundays and holidays excluded, the registration period contains only one hundred days until the deadline.

The Registration Law, enacted by Congress as a defence precaution, requires that every alien over the age of fourteen present himself at a first or second class post office or a post office in a county seat for registration and fingerprinting. Would-be citizens who have taken out their first papers must register like non-citizens.

Children under fourteen must be registered by parents or legal guardians, and in a county seat by one of the fifteen questions.

The registration questions cover personal identification; the manner of entry into this country; occupation; military service; membership in social or other organizations; and any activity in promoting the interests of a foreign government.

The penalty for failure to register or making false statements in connection with registration is $1,000 fine or six months imprisonment or both.

Solicitor-General Biddle assured the Senate in a recent speech that "if you have nothing to hide, you have nothing to fear."

VERDICT GIVEN IN AUSTRALIAN AIR ACCIDENT

Death from Fractured Skulls Ruled Cause of Death of Ten in Australian Airplane Crash.

Canberra, Aug. 26.—(C.P. Reuter)—A verdict of death by fractured skulls as result of the crashing of an aircraft was returned today at the inquest into the death August 13 of three members of the Australian War Cabinet and seven other persons.

The coroner was unable to ascertain the cause of the accident but there were no suspicious circumstances.

The Ministers killed were Geoffrey Street, Defence, J. V. Fairbairn, Air, and Sir Henry Gullitt, Vice-President of the Executive Council. Gen. Sir Bradenell White, Chief of the Australian General Staff, was among the others who died.

Wide Areas Of Reich Under Attack By British Raiders

British Planes Swept Over German Capital in at Least Four Waves Although Authorities Failed to Estimate Their Numbers—Heavy, Low-Lying Clouds Caused Trouble with Aim of British Raiding Craft.

Berlin, Aug. 26.—(P)—Hundreds of anti-aircraft guns thundered into action in Berlin early today as British warplanes swept over the blacked-out, cloud-blanketed capital and kept its residents huddled in underground shelters for three hours and four minutes.

So incessant and on-splitting was the cannonading it was impossible for observers to tell whether blasts of bombs were mingled with the gunfire. The planes came over the city in at least four waves but authorities did not estimate their number.

The air raid alarm, this city's fifth since the start of the war, coincided with the appearance of British planes over extensive areas of Prussia and Saxony, causing warnings in many cities. Leipzig, crowded with visitors to the famous fair, had a twenty-five minute alarm.

(Reports from Switzerland said the Germans had reopened the Basel Railway, frontier gateway between Germany and Switzerland which had been closed since June 30. Its closing was reported at the time to have been ordered to mask German preparations for attempted invasion of Britain.)

Those whose duties kept them busy above ground during the alarm in Berlin saw a spectacular display of flashes of gunfire and the blackness of the sky like Roman candles.

Heavy clouds, which hung only a few hundred feet over the city, obscured the enemy planes from view but the roar of motors was audible in the heart of the city.

The gunners apparently controlled their fire solely by sound-detecting devices.

Some spectators gained the impression the fliers were not sure they were over the city and were groping.

UNITED STATES WOULD ACQUIRE FURTHER BASES

Arrangement of Lease of Important Bermuda Section Raises Hopes for Early Action in Other Quarters.

Washington, Aug. 26.—(P)—Bermuda's announcement that she was ready to place an air base at the disposal of the United States encouraged expectations today that some official pronouncement would be forthcoming this week on the status of negotiations for additional defence outposts in other British possessions.

Thus far neither the White House nor the Navy Department has made any comment on Saturday's disclosure at Hamilton, Bermuda, that the Great Sound of the resort island would be made available to the United States on a 99-year lease for an air, and possibly naval base.

Besides Bermuda, Newfoundland, Trinidad, Barbados and the Bahamas have been mentioned as possible base sites. President Roosevelt, who has been conducting the negotiations, has not hinted, however, what locations are being discussed.

Senator Alben Barkley, (Democrat, Kentucky), commenting on the Bermuda announcement, said yesterday that the United States would accept "a whole string" of air and fleet bases guarding approaches to the Panama Canal.

Apropos of the Bermuda base, he said, "I think it's a very fine indication of the spirit of those who control Bermuda to offer it to us. He called such a base desirable "if not indispensable" for defence of the Atlantic approaches to the United States.

Asked how Britain should be paid for bases leased, Barkley replied that no official plan had yet been advanced. He noted, however, that unofficial suggestions included a reduction or cancellation of the British war debt, and the transfer of fifty "overage" American destroyers to the Royal Navy.

Hungary Calls Up More Troops As Negotiations With Rumania Collapse

Thousands of Additional Reservists Called Out Amid Reports that Rumania Is Rushing Troops to Transylvania Frontier—Reported Both Germany and Italy Exercising Strong Pressure on Rumania for Concessions.

Budapest, Aug. 26.—(P)—Thousands of additional Hungarian reservists answered a call to the colors today amid reports that Rumania was sending reinforcements into the disputed border Province of Transylvania.

The summons came with return of a Hungarian delegation from Turm-Severin, where negotiations with Rumania over Hungary's demands for a slice of Transylvania collapsed Saturday.

Reports from Bucharest said that the Rumanian Government was considering appointment of a new delegation to resume negotiations and attempt to satisfy Berlin's demands for quick settlement of the dispute, but informed circles there said that under any circumstances it was unlikely agreement could be reached before several months.

Official Hungarian circles said both Germany and Italy were exercising strong pressure on Rumania to make territorial concessions.

In addition to calling up additional army reserves, Hungary requisitioned thousands of automobiles for military use and took special air raid precautions, which included screening of street lights in principal cities and organization of fire-fighting units.

ITALIANS HINT AT ASSAULT ON EGYPT

Rome, Aug. 26.—(P)—Virginia Gayda, the Fascist editor, claimed in Il Giornale d'Italia today that Great Britain is exceeding the terms of the Anglo-Egyptian alliance by "invading and dominating territorial waters, ports, soil, cities and camps of Egypt to make them a single, formidable instrument of war against Italy."

"England cannot demand, and Egypt cannot allow," Gayda added, "preferred Egyptian neutrality and independence to become more and more every day a protective trench-work for British preparations and unexpected aggressive naval, air and sea eruption against Italian territory in Africa and against Italy herself."

He declared Italy "has the right and duty to take all defensive measures which the rules of war may impose."

(Egyptian ports and military facilities are placed at the disposal of Britain under the treaty of alliance but Egypt herself is not required to go to war until an attack is aimed directly at her.)

FOREST FIRES IN FRANCE NOW REPORTED UNDER CONTROL

Vichy, France, Aug. 26.—(P)—Huge forest fires which at one time threatened France's Mediterranean naval base at Toulon were reported under control today, but dispatches from the French Riviera said other fires were razing further east in the area around Nice.

The fires just west of Toulon were said to have swept through 10,000 acres of forest land before they were checked.

Political Spotlight Centred On Meeting Of Joint Defence Board

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—(P)—Canadian will be required to put them into and American representatives on the effect.

Appointment of the Board's personnel was announced simultaneously in Washington and Ottawa last Thursday and resulted from a conference last week-end at Ogdensburg, N. Y., between President Roosevelt and the Prime Minister.

Other events looked for today is the return of Air Minister Power, who visited the Maritime Provinces and Newfound last week on an inspection tour, which he made in his capacity as Associate Minister of Defence. It is expected he will hold a press interview soon after his return.

The Dominion Government also has under consideration the appointment of personnel of the Commission which will plan the machinery for unemployment insurance. An announcement is expected shortly after the return of Labor Minister McLarty, at present looking over the labor situation in coal and steel industries in Cape Breton, N.S.

The Commission will submit to the Cabinet detailed plans for developing offices across Canada which will combine employment bureau with arrangements for industry to collect unemployment insurance which comes equally from workers and employers and government action.

WAR BULLETINS

London, Aug. 26.—(P)—Mysterious sky-writing planes were reported over a Southeast England town this morning.

The planes first made what looked like a giant question mark, then followed with an arrow pointing down toward the town.

Ground observers were uncertain what the figures meant; and speculated over whether the planes were German or British.

London, Aug. 26.—(P)—German raiding planes dropped incendiary bombs over a wide area of Wales today and droned over Southeast England.

Berlin, Aug. 26.—(P)—The German Government warned Britain of reprisals today in case alleged attacks on Nazi first aid planes do not cease. (The British authorities have claimed the Nazi Red Cross planes actually are being used for scouting as well as first aid and ambulance work.)

NEW RULES ADD TO PASSPORT DIFFICULTIES

Registration and Finger-Printing Necessary Until After Labor Day—Applicants Urged to Wait.

For the next week it will be even more difficult to obtain a visa to enter the United States, according to Hedley V. Cooke, in charge of the American Consulate here, and, unless it is absolutely necessary, people are urged to wait until after Labor Day to try to get their visas or passports.

Most of this added trouble is due to the Alien Registration Act which becomes effective on August 27th, requiring that each applicant to enter the United States must execute a detailed sworn statement in duplicate and must be finger-printed at the local Consulate.

Within two weeks at most, Mr. Cooke said, it is hoped there will be regulations made especially for citizens of Canada and Mexico, whereby cards will be issued instead of visas and in the case of temporary visitors for less than thirty days no more formalities will be necessary than have been followed during the last two months.

These difficulties do not apply, however, to returning residents of the United States, and the Consulate will continue to give assistance in all cases of emergency and urgent business.

63 BLUECOATS WILL RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

Presentation of St. John's Ambulance Association Awards Will Take Place Here This Evening.

Certificates of the St. John's Ambulance Association are to be presented at 8:45 tonight at police headquarters on Marquette Street to sixty-three officers and men of the local force. The general public is cordially invited and it is hoped that as many citizens as possible will attend. Present will be Colonel Johnny Bourque, M.L.A., Maurice Gingras, M.P., directors of the St. John's Ambulance Association, representatives of the Safety League, and the Mayor and members of the City Council.

It is to be emphasized that every member of the police force will have at least a certificate for the completion of the first course in First Aid provided by the St. John's Ambulance Association. Other men will have a certificate for the completion of the second course and several will have third course certificates which qualify them as instructors. Thus every member of the police force will be qualified to render first aid.

Also to be presented at the same meeting are medals for courageous acts performed in the line of duty by the following: Lieutenant Alfred Chamberland, Detective Sergeant George Doudrias, and Constables Fernando Belanger and Albert Bell.

NO ADDITIONAL POLICE NEEDED FOR FAIR WEEK

The custom in former years of taking on additional men to aid the regular police force during Fair Week has not been found necessary this year, it was stated this morning by Police Director A. M. Maranda.

The police detachment on the Exhibition Grounds is to be under the command of Sergeant Arthur L. Heureux and will comprise at all times a staff of seventeen men. This is expected to be ample to keep a careful surveillance of the grounds and it is promised that close attention will be given to all unbecoming characters. Gypsies are to be considered as such, Director Maranda said, and will not be allowed on the grounds unless they are part of the regular show. As for pickpockets and sharpers, those who are issued a stern warning by the Director to stay away from Sherbrooke.

All in all the same courtesy towards people seeking information, and the same firmness in dealing with wrong-doers, which is characteristic of the Sherbrooke Police Force, will be meted out as customary during Fair week.

COMMITTEE PASSES THROUGH MONTREAL

Montreal, Aug. 26.—Mayor Florent LaGuardia of New York City and other United States members of the Joint Defence Board which is to review the common defences of this continent left today for Ottawa for their first meeting with the Canadian members.

The American members arrived here from Washington at 8:40 a.m. E.T. and left for Ottawa an hour and ten minutes later. After conferring at length with President Roosevelt in Washington Saturday they named Mr. LaGuardia as their chairman.

With him were Lieut.-Gen. Stanley D. Embick, Commander of the Fourth Corps Area at Atlanta, Ga., Capt. Harry W. Hill of the Navy War Plans Division, Comdr. Forrest P. Sherman, U.S.N., Lieut.-Col. J. T. McNarney, Army Air Corps, and John D. Hickerson, Assistant Chief of the State Department's Division of European Affairs and Secretary of the American section of the Board.

They posed for news photographers on the station platform but smilingly declined comment on questions of defence. Mayor LaGuardia turned aside reporters' questions on the proposed transfer of over-age American destroyers to Britain and Bermuda's announcement that the Great Sound would be made available to the United States as an air base with the reply, "That is not within the scope of our mission."

The chairman was wearing a blue serge suit and a light grey felt hat when he stepped off the train. He was met by H. M. Byington, United States Consul General, and Ric' Ford, Consul.

Mayor LaGuardia said he did not expect to make any public addresses while in Canada. "I did my job when I was here before," he said.

He was referring to his visit to Ottawa last June when he discussed defence measures with members of the Canadian Conference of Mayors. At that time his outspoken denunciation of totalitarianism was a feature of the visit.

Berlin Citizens Underground For Over Three Hours

The Daily Mail announced forty-five per cent of its mail contained readers' "Bomb Berlin" suggestions while the tabloid Daily Mirror featured a cartoon of a bomb bearing a tag labelled "To Berlin."

But three other influential papers—the Times, Daily Express and Daily Telegraph—maintained the R.A.F. should hew to the line of attacks on Nazi military objectives.

Such attacks, the Government said, were restricted out on a large scale Saturday night. Presumably they continued last night, for radio stations in four German cities abruptly went off the air and watchers on the Southeast Coast saw flashes of anti-aircraft gunfire and heard explosions indicating a bombing raid on Nazi long-range gun batteries along the French Channel coast.

Earlier, three loud explosions in the Dover area led residents to believe the German "Big Berthas" had opened fire again.

Of the two week-end series of night attacks on London, that of Saturday-Sunday appeared to have been the most severe. Several hundred bombs were dropped and caused at least two large fires, in the financial and warehouse districts. Sections of the city were roped off.

One bomb on the outskirts blasted the home of United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

The high explosive, incendiary and scream bombs dropped last night and early this morning caused only "small fires and damage to property" in the outskirts of the London area," the Government announced.

Britain added up a week-end bag of 104 planes for her defence forces. Of these fifty-four were downed yesterday, forty-eight by R.A.F. fighter planes and six by anti-aircraft batteries. British week-end losses were placed at thirty-two planes, with three pilots known safe of the thirteen shot down yesterday.

Britain's air war recapitulation listed 1,175 German raiders brought down since the start of the war: 1,101 since June 18, when the direct attack on England was begun, and more than 800 since August 8, first day of the mass attacks.

London was only one of the Nazi targets yesterday. The day's largest air battles occurred near the coast of Dorset, the area which includes the naval base of Portland. There Nazis launched two attacks, the first of which resulted in defeat for the main attacking force, when thirty-four of an estimated 130 Nazi aircraft were shot down and others were damaged severely. This foray and the subsequent one, in which "at least" three raiders were destroyed, apparently were aimed inland.

There were violent explosions and fire anti-aircraft fire in Northeast England, where a single raider's bombs killed several persons in one town. Other attacks were reported in the South, the industrial Midlands and in Scotland.

R.A.F. operations, as detailed by the Air Ministry, included Saturday night raids on Frankfurt (air station) and a synthetic oil plant, Stuttgart (the Daimler-Benz armament and armored car factory bombed more than an hour), Ludwigshaven (explosions caused by direct hits on a nitrogen plant), and Cologne (fires started in an electric power plant). Twenty airmen in Holland, Belgium and German occupied France also were attacked, and Milan and Sesto-Caende in Italy were bombed.

DAMAGE WIDESPREAD THROUGH ENGLAND

London, Aug. 26.—Massed German raiders, hurtling across Britain's coast along a thirty-mile front, blasted Dover, Folkestone and the South Foreland today after the first big British air attack of the war on Berlin.

The day's biggest battle was over Dover, the English Channel port twenty-two miles from the French coast. Four of the attackers were downed there.

Folkestone, a town of 35,000 population, bore the brunt of a heavy attack in which three of the German craft were shot down after creating scenes of horror among the population. Folkestone is Southwest of Dover and twenty-six miles from Boulogne, France.

South Foreland, sparsely settled sandy waste Northeast of Dover, was the scene of the day's third major attack.

The dull roar of bombs were heard at intervals throughout the battle all along the coast East of Dover to Folkestone.

The German attackers and British challengers battled desperately for almost two hours, the planes plunging so low over Folkestone that Royal Air Force men guarding barrage balloons opened fire on the raiding craft with rifles.

Before the British fighters downed their first three German planes in the Folkestone area, large apartment houses close to the sea front were bombed to the ground. A number of fires caused huge flames. Rescue workers searched in the ruins for victims.

Only a few bombs were dropped East of Dover. The action over Dover itself was confined mostly to dogfights high in the sky while anti-aircraft guns pumped shells incessantly at the raiders.

The crews of three German planes shot down off Folkestone were rescued by British motor lifeboats. A Spitfire which shot down one of them circled slowly over the victims until the lifeboat reached them.

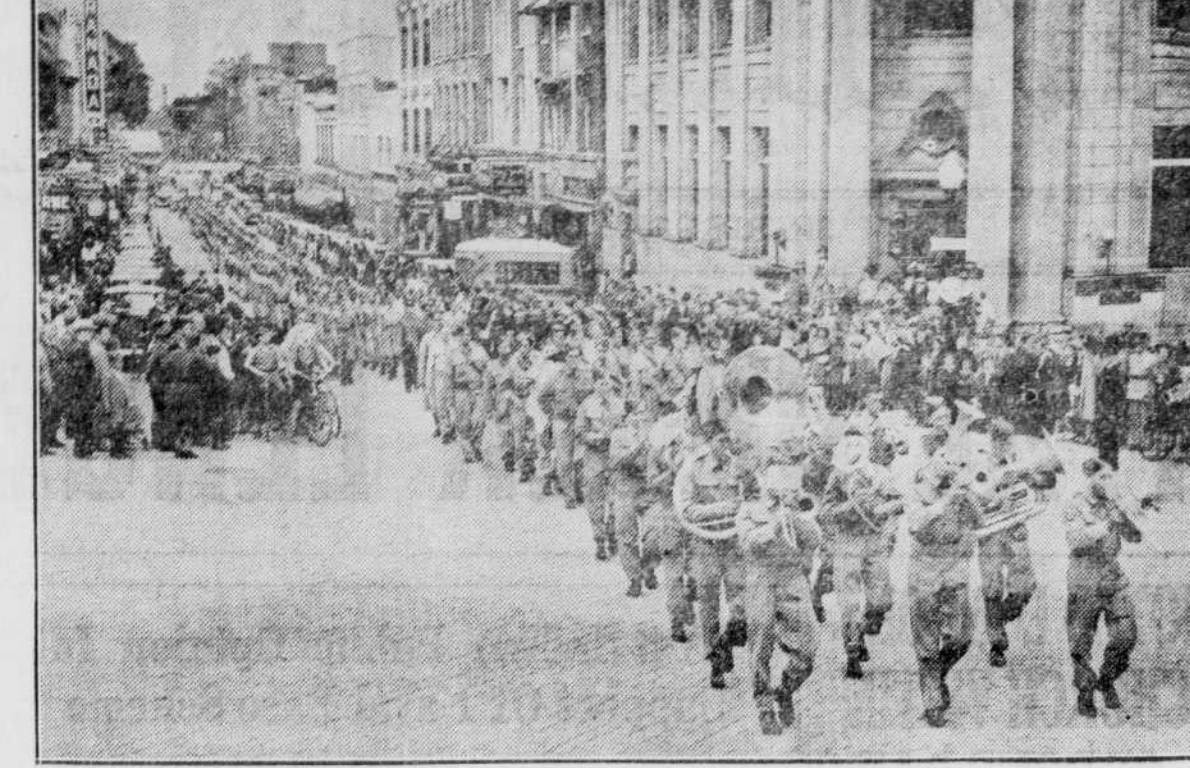

At Folkestone the Germans swooped out of the sun and the townspeople saw the bombs leaving their racks as the raiders dived within a few hundred feet of the rooftops.

Three other dive-bombers were shot down in fighting over the mainland.

As three escorting Messerschmitts turned for home they dashed by Dover for their daily "balloon-popping" and shot down two of the big carrying bags.

At least ten of the raiders were shot out of the German formations in one of the attacks two Ne-

CANADIANS TO PROVIDE FOOD FOR PRISONERS

Canadian Red Cross Prepared to Despatch 5,000 Parcels of Food Weekly to Prisoners of War.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—British prisoners of war in Germany will be supplied with parcels of food, purchased and packed in Canada by the Canadian Red Cross Society if a cable request from the London office of the Red Cross is ratified at a meeting of the National Executive Committee in Toronto today according to an announcement here last night by Jackson Dodds, a member of the National Executive Committee.

The cable from London, Mr. Dodds said, asked for the shipment of five parcels of food per week, at an estimated cost of about $500,000 a year and Mr. Dodds said the financing of this arrangement is expected to be discussed when the Central Council of the Canadian Red Cross Society meets in Toronto early next month.

In making public the cable request, Mr. Dodds said, "This is another important job which the people of Canada can do through the Red Cross to relieve the British Red Cross of some of the tremendous load which it is carrying as," he felt, "these food parcels for prisoners of war can be provided from our abundant supplies here in Canada."

While only 5,000 parcels are asked for at the present time, it is believed that if the experiment proves a success, the number will be greatly increased.

DEPUTIES EXCHANGE SHOTS
Buenos Aires, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Two Argentine deputies exchanged single pistol shots without injury today in a duel growing out of Saturday's vote refusing the resignation of President Roberto M. Ortiz, and then became reconciled.

The participants were Raul D'Amonte Taborda, a member of the Radical (Liberal) Party, and Miguel Osorio, Conservative.

such as that early today must not be merely retaliatory.

"If the opportunity to bomb ordnance works or electrical factories around Berlin presents itself, you may be sure we will take advantage of it," these informants said.

"But we are not going to bomb civilians or go in for 'terror attacks.' They waste bombs, gasoline and men. The result is a few hundred civilian dead who do not impair the German war effort."

While London surveyed the damage of the latest Nazi blows at this centre of Empire—one shortly before midnight and one shortly after—two morning papers reported the reprisal.

REGISTRATION NEAR PERFECT

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Alphonse Trudeau and Maurice Gingras Express Their Gratification at Registration Results.

Less than one per cent of Sherbrooke's total population failed to register during the three days of National Registration, according to Maurice Gingras, Member of Parliament for Sherbrooke. Mr. Gingras also stated that he had received two letters, one from Alphonse Trudeau, Chief Registrar, thanking him for his aid during registration and expressing his gratification at the splendid co-operation shown by the people of Sherbrooke, and one from the Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of National War Services, in which Mr. Gardiner thanked everyone who had had a hand in making National Registration a success and praised the manner in which this work was executed so quickly.

Mr. Gingras also expressed his personal appreciation of his fellow-citizens' generous reaction to the Government's appeal, and thanked the voluntary workers, the clergy of both Catholic and Protestant Churches and other that they were willing to do their best on every occasion in the present war," he said.

LENNOXVILLE

Rev. Carl Gustafson, of Scotstown, was the preacher at the morning service at the Lennoxville United Church on Sunday, when he gave a fine address on the theme, "Christ Makes Life New." Special music during the service was a lovely soprano solo by Mrs. C. Ross Healy, "They That Trust in the Lord," (Dover) and an air from the "The Organist." In his message, Rev. Mr. Gustafson pointed out that if we give to Christ our science, our courage, all we own and ourselves, a miracle happens, for God can make of our common possessions and ourselves something greater than we have ever imagined or aspired to—a life abundant.

The sweetstake held at the Lennoxville Golf Club on Saturday afternoon by the gentlemen members will be the means of providing two thousand cigarettes for soldiers in the No. 1 General Base Depot, under command of Lieut. Col. L. M. Watson, now in England.

While the men were active on the course, bridge was played on the spacious verandah by the ladies, after which all enjoyed the refreshing afternoon tea served by the hostesses, Mrs. Abbott, Mrs. S. A. Belmont and Miss Vera Davis. Mrs. J. P. L. Stewart, President of the Ladies' Club, did the honors at the beautifully appointed tea table, which was lace covered and centered with a pottery bowl of red and white phlox.

On Thursday afternoon a large number of letters turned out for the sealed hole competition, which resulted in a tie for first place between Mrs. C. J. Rose and Miss Kay Thompson, with Mrs. A. N. Flint in second position. Later the afternoon was pleasantly concluded with the serving of an informal tea.

Mrs. Nellie Whaley, who has been a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital for the past two weeks, has returned to Lennoxville, where she is gaining satisfactorily. Guests of Mrs. Whaley include her sister, Mrs. K. Boynton, and Mrs. Lloyd Meyrick and daughter, Patsy Lee, of Springfield, Mass.

Miss Helen Cooke is visiting friends in Scotstown for a few days. Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Reid and four children, of St. John, N.B., are spending a week with Mrs. Reid's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Sutherland, Main Street.

Mrs. Clifford Marshall, of Inverness, is the guest for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. B. Turner, Church Street.

SIGNS POINT TO SUCCESSFUL LOCAL FAIR

Quality Of Exhibits Are Of High Standard

Cool weather, which promised to continue fine, gave promise of great success for the annual Sherbrooke Fair which formally opened yesterday. With the midway in full swing, thousands were attracted to the grounds yesterday afternoon, while in the evening a concert in front of the grandstand by the Sherbrooke Harmony Band proved of interest to many music-lovers.

Today judging commenced in all departments, with a full programme being presented this afternoon and this evening on the stage in front of the grandstand. The harness racing will open tomorrow with the parade of prize livestock being held on Wednesday and Thursday.

A survey of the Fair this year indicates that entries in all departments are up to normal, in fact being above the average in certain cases. The Main Building is filled with exhibits from the various industrial firms of Sherbrooke and other Eastern Townships points. The cattle sheds are filled, while there are good displays of sheep and swine on the grounds.

Although in essence a minor part of any Fair, the ever-popular midway is in operation at the old stand with all the old favorites, merry-go-round, ferris wheel, and similar musical rides, the traditional sideshows with the fat lady, the snake-charmer, and the motorcycle riders. There are several new devices to interest old and young while many old-timers, as might be expected, are blooming out under highly modernistic names.

The agricultural and dairy products buildings have attracted a larger number of entries than usual, with the local automobile dealers taking advantage of the opportunity to present their wares to the purchasing public.

Featuring the performance on the grandstand this year will be the world-famous Roxyettes, one of New York's finest dancing ensembles, supplemented by a number of high-calibre vaudeville acts. These include "Billie Page" and "Conchita," an expert acrobatic routine, the "Farrars Trio" of comedy contortionists, "DeCosta and Lenore," novelty musicians, "Bobby Whaling" and "Partner," skilled trick bicyclists, and the "Flying Bebees," an agile flying trapeze troupe.

A new feature this year will be a team-pulling contest on Wednesday and Thursday.

In many ways tomorrow will be one of the greatest days of the Fair, especially insofar as the younger generation is concerned, when the children of the Eastern Townships will be the guests of the director for Children's Day. Wednesday is American Visitors' Day, several prominent officials from neighboring states being expected at this time, while on Thursday Premier Adelard Godbout has promised to be the guest-of-honor for Provincial Ministers' Day.

One of the features of the Fair this year, as it has been for several years past, is the Provincial Judging Competition, in which over 125 young people, members of the Quebec Junior Livestock Clubs, take part. This is the fourteenth successive year this has been held at the Sherbrooke Fair, a team being selected to represent the Province at the Dominion competitions in Ottawa and Toronto. In addition to the actual judging of cattle and swine, there will be written contests for theoretical subjects.

FAIR'S MIDWAY OFFERS FUN FOR YOUNG AND OLD

Here is the Midway at the Sherbrooke Fair with its multiple sights and sounds and smells:

At the entrance eager people crowd each other trying to buy "pink-cotton," a striped umbrella as a souvenir, fluffy dolls on sticks. There are stands selling pop-corn, others hot-dogs, ice cream and candy, pink lens made.

To the right are the games of chance, the "Wheel of Fortune," with its "choice of prizes," the "shy" booth where the days of baseball pitching bring their reward, the games of luck by which a housewife can win her groceries for a week or a fat ham, a fascinating pastime of catching ping-pong balls which, falling to a tray, entice the passer-by to have a try.

Next comes the "Palace of Wonders" with a voluble speaker declaiming the merits of his "World Fair Freaks."

On the stand beside him one glimpses the skin of the Alligator Boy and sees one of the Mystery Girls. Inside there are the amazing sights themselves, the World's Smallest Mother, Father and Two Babies, the Human Volcano, the Half Man-Half Woman, "Alive," the Headless Girl, all of them indescribable.

There is the Wall of Death, where Dare-Devil Hell-Riders defy the laws of gravity and the Monkey Show, which "makes you laugh, makes you roar."

There are the frightening Monsters of the Jungle, Man-Killers, and Snakes. There is Sweet Marie, the World's Largest Jitter-Bur.

This year the management proudly presents four girl shows. First of all are the Hawaiian Girls who, reminiscent of the Tropics, dance native dances to Hawaiian tunes. There are the Casino Francis and the Casa Manna, which live up to the nationalities displayed by their names. Last of all are the Arabian Follies, an all Negro show, with a Harlem band and dancing girls, as well as two blackface comedians.

If you still feel strong and have not eaten too much, you try the rides; the Chair-Plane, like the swing of Grandmother used but swung in 1940 style; the Octopus, with tentacles more exciting than any denizen of the deep; the ever-popular Ferris-Wheel, which is pleasantly thrilling, along with the Caterpillar and the delight of childhood, the Merry-Go-Round. There are baby cars and baby train for the children; there are the new Tilt-a-Whirl and Roll-o-Plane for those of hardy nerve who want a thrill.

As you leave the Conklin Midway you pause for awhile at the peep-show and down a few airplanes with an electric gun, you take a punch at the training bag and try to capture a prize with the tantalizing dipper in the Digger machines.

Then, completely satisfied you head for home.

Soldiers Move To And From Camp

Local Units Entrained For Farnham Camp

Swinging along to the liting strains of two of this war's top ranking songs, "There'll Always Be An England" and "Roll Out the Barrel," some four hundred khaki-clad officers and men of the Sherbrooke Regiment (M.G.), N.P.A.M., under command of Lieut-Col. T. R. MacKenzie, O.B.E., paraded along the streets of Sherbrooke yesterday afternoon to the Canadian Pacific Railway Station where they boarded the special train shortly after two o'clock for Farnham to spend three weeks under canvas. Over two hundred men under Capt. A. R. Tobin entrained at Magog.

The 35th Battery, R.C.A., another Sherbrooke N.P.A.M. unit, also entrained for Farnham on Sunday, while other Eastern Townships regiments slated to spend the next three weeks under canvas included the 72nd Field Battery of Coaticook and the 14th Field Battery of Stanstead.

Led by the brass and bugle bands of the Sherbrooke Regiment, under Director of Music Lieut. R. Havard, the unit moved off from the William Street Armory at one-thirty o'clock and marched up Montreal Street along Wolfe and Belvidere Streets to the station. Several thousand relatives and friends of the soldiers were on hand to say farewell, everyone in the large crowd appearing to be in the best of spirits, and the men happy and eager to start on their three weeks' adventure.

Lieut-Col. MacKenzie's six-foot-four military figure was easily spotted as he moved in and out among the crowd attending to last minute details.

Cameras clicked almost constantly to record the scene for future reference, and many of the men who hung out of the windows of the long train laughed and shouted cheerily as they moved away.

Among the officers on parade were Lieut-Col. MacKenzie, Major F. J. Samster, Captains H. L. Cleveland, F. B. Johnson, G. Ranshouan, W. A. Barrell, R. E. White and A. R. Tobin; Lieuts. F. E. S. Shelley, A. R. Walters, A. Havard and G. McManamy; 2nd Lieuts. F. A. Simpson, A. D. Bryce, J. S. Nightingale, B. C. Howard, L. G. R. Smith, F. H. West, H. S. Horsfall, G. D. Roberts, M. C. Soles, M. J. H. Blue, W. H. Bradley, L. E. O'Donnell and D. T. Asselin.

Other units spending the next three weeks under canvas at Farnham are the 4th Army Troops Company, corps of Royal Canadian Engineers, of Victoriaville; 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars; 20th Field Ambulance, R.C.A.M.C.; and detachments: 16th Field Company, Corps of Royal Canadian Engineers; Headquarters, 2nd Montreal Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery; Headquarters, 2nd Field Brigade, R.C.A. and 5th, 7th, 27th and 79th Field Batteries; Headquarters, 2nd

Les Fusiliers Return From 3 Weeks In Camp

Well over six hundred officers and other ranks of Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke, N.P.A.M., tanned and healthy after spending three weeks under canvas at Farnham Military Camp, returned to this city on Saturday.

Marching with heads high, arms swinging briskly in unison and feet resounding on the pavement, Les Fusiliers paraded through the principal streets of the city and were welcomed home by hundreds of citizens who thronged the line of march to see them pass in review.

It was an impressive sight as the head of the column swung around Strathcona Square corner and straightened out along Wellington Street. Clad in summer battle dress, the men carried themselves proudly erect and seemed conscious of the warmth of their reception.

So long was the marching column that while the leading company was filing past the corner of King and Wellington Streets, where the salute was taken by Col. Leopold Chevalier, Officer Commanding the 10th Infantry Brigade, the parade straggled away back as far as the eye could see along Wellington Street.

The Fusiliers detrained at the Canadian Pacific Railway Station shortly before one o'clock and after forming up under the Officer Commanding, Lieut-Col. Emile Levesque, E.D., paraded along Belvidere Street and down Frontenac to Wellington. After passing the saluting base the unit proceeded along the main thoroughfare and turned right at Aberdeen, climbing the hill to Alexander Street and then making its way to the Belvidere Street Armory via Ball and Mintie Streets.

Sherbrooke's French-Canadian unit went to Farnham in the early part of August, and while in camp the officers and men lived under army rules and army discipline. The men were drilled in every phase of infantry tactics, and the improvement in their general deportment and carriage on parade was plainly noticeable.

Accompanying Col. Chevalier at the saluting base were Mayor Joseph Labrecque, Col. Jimmy Bourque, M.L.A., Col. M. W. McAnulty, Officer Commanding the Sherbrooke Fusiliers Regiment, C.A.S.F., Lieut-Col. T. R. MacKenzie, Officer Commanding the Sherbrooke Regiment, (M.G.), Major C. G. M. Grier, Officer Commanding the 35th Field Battery, R.C.A., Col. E. B. Worthington, Honorary Colonel of the Sherbrooke Regiment, (M.G.), Lieut-Col. A. A. Munster, Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel of the Sherbrooke Regiment, (M.G.), Major Walter Scott, M.C., of Montreal, C.A.S.F., Recruiting Officer for M.D. No. 4, Director Arthur Maranda of the Sherbrooke Police and Fire Department, Rev. Canon H. B. Bieg, Chaplain of the Sherbrooke Regiment, (M.G.), Maurice Gingras, M.P., Rev. Fred Williams, Rev. Canon Napoleon Cadere, J. K. Flaherty and A. W. Reid.

MERCURY DROPS TO 34 DEGREES

Continuing the trend followed during the past week, weather conditions in this district were decidedly cooler early this morning—in fact, cooler than they have been at any time in August or July—according to the officials of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Lennoxville.

The thermometer during the night tumbled to 34 degrees, but this proximity to the freezing mark did not adversely affect general crops, it was stated.

Yesterday's maximum temperature was 63, and the minimum 43.

Scattered showers occurred yesterday in some sections of the Townships, but no heavy precipitation was measured.

Police Prepare Evidence For Inquest Into Munn's Murder

Provincial Police officers were today completing the compilation of the evidence they will have to present before a Coroner's Court under Dr. G. A. Bowen at Magog tomorrow morning when the inquest into the murder of Jeffrey Munn, 53 years old, of Hamilton, Ont., is re-opened.

Still confined to Provincial Police cells in Montreal are five persons—four young women and a man—who are being held as material witnesses for the enquete. The quintette were rounded up in Montreal during the police investigation into the slaying of Munn, whose mutilated and scorched body was found in a ditch half way between Magog and Georgeville on August 13th.

The inquest, which was opened the day after the body, then unidentified, was found and adjourned sine die for the police probe, will commence tomorrow morning at ten o'clock in the Police Station at Magog.

According to the police, Munn a retired farmer, journeyed to Montreal from Hamilton with several thousand dollars in his possession. It is believed that the motive behind his slaying was robbery.

Police have refused to divulge the names of the five persons held as material witnesses, but have stated that the four women are young and the man has been employed in Montreal as a gardener-chauffeur.

ARRESTED FOR THEFT OF CAFE

Armand St. Jean, arrested by Provincial Police over the week-end on a charge of stealing a calf from one Seal, farmer of Island Brook, was returned before Justice of the Peace Herial O'Bready at the Court House today and remanded to next Wednesday for trial.

THE SHERBROOKE FAIR

Once again Canada's Great Eastern Exhibition opens its doors to the people of the Eastern Townships and districts even further removed. Despite conditions created by this country being at war, the directors of the Sherbrooke Fair have determined to carry on as usual, although certain modifications must of necessity be made to the programme due to these conditions. Certain customary items have been discontinued while new features have been added. But through it all the directors have planned a fair that should attract the interest of all residents of the district.

The importance of the Exhibition to any community cannot be stressed too much, providing as it does a major commercial enterprise and at the same time an opportunity for the residents of the district concerned to hold a series of reunions.

But the Sherbrooke Fair is not for the people of Sherbrooke alone. It is essentially an Eastern Townships enterprise. The populace of Sherbrooke can materially assist in ensuring its success, but they cannot make the fair. It requires the co-operative action of all citizens of the district, especially in the agricultural classes. However, the growing industrial importance of the smaller towns and villages of the district is proving a major factor in the success of the Main Building displays.

This year, as ever, Sherbrooke and the directors of the Fair bid welcome to all citizens of the district.

WAR AIDS UNITED STATES TRADE

While war is rightly considered a serious menace to foreign trade in that it disrupts normal markets and marketing facilities, it also tends to boost certain lines which often more than offset losses in regular trade. This is illustrated by the United States, where war demands for warplanes, steel, machinery and other vital military supplies boosted exports thirty-five per cent to a $3,273,000,000 total in the first ten months of the Second Great War.

The Commerce Department reports that shipments from September 1, 1939, to June 30, 1940, went in larger quantities to the major parts of the British Empire, Latin America and the Far East. Gains in these territories overbalanced lost markets in the countries occupied by Germany and blockaded by Great Britain.

American imports increased nineteen per cent over the 1939 figures for the same period, and totalled $2,097,000,000.

While war products were sold in greater volume, foreign customers cut down on tobacco, fruit, automobiles and other non-essentials. Cotton exports picked up early in the war only to slump again.

Although France, Italy, Scandinavia and the Mediterranean countries were open to American goods for substantial parts of the ten-month period, the gain in British purchasing made the Empire the outlet for 37.2 per cent of all the goods sent abroad. This proportion was growing steadily, moreover, and in June reached 46.2 per cent.

The period saw the export of $183,100,000 worth of airplanes, mostly all to Britain and France, or three times the amount in the corresponding months last year. While shipments of firearms and ammunition did not get under way seriously until the end of the period, they totalled $26,600,000, or more than five times as much as last year.

LITERARY TASTE

By Grenville Kleiser.

It was good advice that Flaubert gave to Guy de Maupassant: "Whatever may be the thing that one wishes to say, there is but one word for expressing it; only one verb to animate it; only one adjective to qualify it. It is essential to search for this word, for this verb, for this adjective, nothing else."

We should learn to express our thoughts in words and sentences that are accurate, expressive, and beautiful, and if we do this our literature will live and grow, bearing on its spreading branches new flowers and fruits of beauty and truth made possible by our cultivation of its roots and care of its growth.

No country can afford to lose a precious heritage—and that is what we are in danger of doing. Only the craftsman can really appreciate the master's use of the tool; only the painter really recognizes the art of Velasquez or Whistler; only the composer or musician realizes the subtleties of Bach or Brahms; only the man with a practiced literary taste can understand the full beauties of our literature. But our literature must inevitably lose its hold on us if we fail to cherish its beauties.

What should we do? We should try, by reading with care and appreciation to recognize the rhythm and swing of a good sentence of varied type—brief, eloquent, terse, witty, poetic. We should saturate ourselves in the sound of well-constructed sentences.

We should watch carefully our own sentences to see how we depart from this standard of euphony. We must be careful about little slips of grammar, and never allow a word to pass if we are not sure that we are using it correctly. As we become fastidious in our choice of words, we shall soon form the habit of apt and good speech.

Our taste will be for well-formed sentences, well-turned phrases, well-chosen words—and thus we shall render a service to our literature in its way as great as that wrought by the writers and poets of whom we are so justly proud.

Expression is necessary to life, so why not make it as beautiful and effective as possible? It is comparatively easy to improve one's speech. Just a little more care about modulating the voice, enunciating distinctly, and speaking pleasantly.

And it is all so worth while.

The search for good speech is not arduous, but delightful. It is merely because we are unused to it that we find any difficulty about it, just as a sport, which at first beginning seems hard, toilsome, perhaps dangerous, becomes in time a sheer delight.

Just as practice and use make the difficulties vanish and enhance the pleasure of achievement in the world of sport, so it is with speech. As soon as we accustom ourselves to the sound of good and expressive words and phrases instead of the common meaningless ones in current use, we shall, like the man who is used to delicate flavors or fine shades of color, shrink almost with repulsion from what is coarse or stupid or ugly in speech.

The actual practice of good spoken English will be the only feature of its requirement that will cause any one any real trouble. As in sports one wants an opponent to try one's skill, so in conversation one needs a collaborator, one who will not only listen and sympathize, but who will talk as well, and talk to the best of his ability.

In the home circle such a person should be found; and this is one reason why English in the home should be not only more necessary but easier of accomplishment than it is anywhere else.

But should the unlikely happen, and the right person be not forthcoming, the next best substitution is a silent friend,—the pen.

To write instead of to speak is perhaps more laborious, but it has also a few advantages even over spoken conversation, and it answers so good a purpose that even those who can find a "talking companion" will do well to cultivate the pen also.

Writing allows one time to elaborate one's thoughts, to try words and phrases, to alter freely, to be sure of saying exactly what one means. It is impossible there to leave a blank for the sympathetic friend to fill in; you cannot say, "You know what I mean," and leave it at that. You have to SAY what you mean; and that is what makes the discipline of the pen so valuable to the man or woman who is anxious to learn this best means of self-expression, right speech.

The man who thinks for himself, instead of subscribing to the general and unthinking run of opinion about him, is looked at askance.

The man who becomes obnoxious that his company is inferior in moral worth, and tries to raise his own personal standard, is jeered at as a hypocrite or a prig.

The man who sets himself a higher standard of physical discipline and culture than his friends, has to expect a certain amount of sneering, and to be set down contemptuously as a "crank."

The man who tries to raise the general level of his conversation may, and probably will, be called on to endure a certain amount of criticism and even of censure. If he is vacillating, dependent for his comfort on the approbation of his fellows, he abandons the effort, and falls back into the old familiar hackneyed jargon of his associates. But, unless he is an utter weakling, he will not be content.

FROM THE PEN OF E. T. WRITERS

EVER READY, STRONG AND STEADY

By now Herr Hitler must know
A sort of forced respect,
Since Britons naught but courage show
And his advances checked.
He'll have to stage another show
And call his gang together,
To let them his intentions know
And order special weather.

But, England will be waiting still
To give the Boche the air;
(Our "Buddies" give us quite a thrill
When action they declare.)
So come along and do your worst,
Our men are here to greet you;
Long as our shores with you are cursed
We'll rally, to defeat you.

We'll spill our blood for freedom's cause,
Nor count it shed in vain,
And reek not fame, nor yet applause,
Our honor to maintain.
We'll ne'er run up the flag of truce,
Or show a yellow feather;
We plan to give the Huns the deuce,
And all shall hang together.

We'll flail them well with bombs and shot,
And anything at hand,
And all resources we have got
Are England's to command.
Then courage, every one of you,
Be calm, your nerves keep steady,
We'll show the Huns what we can do
As soon as they are ready.

Best call, and try your "Luck" again,
You "Plucky"? little guys,—
But, don't forget our gallant men
Are both alert and wise.

—E. Mabel McLaren.

HAVE A SMILE

The Germans were launching a big attack when a member of the B.E.F. received a peremptory income tax demand from home. In his first rest moment he wrote:
"Dear Sir—By all means let us settle this. If you would be so good as to send a representative to meet us here I should be very glad to discuss the matter."
Sounds like another "check" for the tax collector.

An American on a visit to London says that in some city offices business seems to come a full stop in early afternoon. Not a full stop. That's just the after-lunch coma.

A country paper in Iowa, with a passion for exclusive news stories, carried this editorial notice:
"We were the first in the state to announce, on the 11th instant, the news of the destruction in Des Moines by fire, of the mammoth paint establishment of Jenkins & Bros. We are now the first to inform our readers that the report was absolutely without foundation."

"Is that you, darling? M-may I bring three-friends home to supper?"
"Why, certainly, dear."
"I say, did you hear what I said?"
"Of course, dear, you asked if you could bring home three friends!"
"Then I'm sorry, madam; I've got the wrong number."

A South Side father said to his wife: "A man was going to send me a free ticket to the football game. Have you seen anything of it?"
"A ticket came by mail without any writing," his wife replied, "and I think Junior used it."
"Well," the father said, "that's the first time I was ever shut out of a game by an intercepted pass."

HERE AND THERE

If man could jump as well in proportion to his size as the frog-hopper insect, the broad jump record would stand at about one-third of a mile.

The ancient Egyptians made studies of the human anatomy about the year 1600 B.C., but not until some 3200 years later did man have an idea as to how his blood circulated.

On their respective postage stamps, Bulgaria has featured grapes, Newfoundland has shown codfish, and Colombia has pictured bananas. In each case, the stamp portrayed a prominent product of the country.

So sharp is the division where the Gulf Stream moves in toward the coast of North Carolina, 12 miles off Cape Hatteras, that the bow of a boat may be in blue water and the stern in green.

The Spaniards garrisoned what is now Old Tubac, Santa Cruz county, Ariz., in 1752. Old Tubac became Arizona's first Mormon settlement in 1822, the state's most important settlement in 1858, and virtually abandoned in 1861 due to Indian depredations.

LET US REMEMBER ENGLAND

This England never did, nor never shall,
Lie at the proud foot of a conqueror,
But when it first did help to wound itself,
Now these her princes are come home again,
Come the three corners of the world in arms,
And we shall shock them. Naught shall make us rue,
If England to itself do rest but true.

HITLER HOPES TO EXHAUST BRITAIN

(London Daily Express)
The pundits and the prophets are now saying that the invasion of Britain, with its ever-growing strength, is not likely. It would be folly to let this idea go too far. The ultimate aim of the Germans, whether they subjugate the whole of Europe or not, is the conquest and annihilation of this island. For Britain represents a bridgehead for liberating the captive people of Europe.

The knowledge that over a million and a half men are under arms, the news that the L. D. V.'s have passed the million mark, does not give a single person one hour's more comfortable sleep at night. If you imagine that Hitler would make one attempt to invade these islands, and that Hitler would attempt to land alone in triumphal seclusion for the rest of the war, you are making a mistake. When Hitler strikes, he will stake everything on quick victory. As soon as we have thrown out or beaten up one German expeditionary force, another will attempt to land. After that is defeated, there will be a third. Hitler is prodigal of the lives of his subjects. He has an army of five to seven million men under his control. He cannot move more than a tithe of them at a time to these shores. But he can use them for constant attacks in diverse places from the tip of Eire round the Channel and the North Sea, to the top of Scotland. He may hope to exhaust us, to wear us down, to jam our soldiers' rifles and cripple our munition supplies.

In the wealth of exciting news that fills the papers these days, most folks probably failed to notice the recommendations made by a special committee of the House of Commons detailed to study ways and means of controlling Fifth Column activities. The committee took its important task seriously and submitted a number of suggestions aimed at keeping Canada's aliens under closer control and preventing the country's war effort from being sabotaged by subversive action on the part of those who pretend to be good Canadians, but in reality are Nazi and Fascist sympathizers.

It is worthy of note that the report has so much impressed the Government that Hon. Ernest Lapointe has announced that all its recommendations will be carried out. One of these is aimed at making sure that no firearms, ammunition or dangerous explosives are in the lands of aliens, and already that matter is being attended to by the authorities.

One of the most important suggestions made by the committee is that urging that clerks of courts and judges should be instructed not to proceed with any more applications for naturalization for the present, and that steps be taken "to invest the important step of naturalization with greater solemnity and to impress upon those who apply the importance of the obligations they assume as British subjects."

We believe that this recommendation will be applauded by all loyal Canadians. We should not be too willing to hand out citizenship at this time, and certainly we cannot be too careful as to whom the privileges

HUMIDITY AND ELECTRICITY

(Hamilton Spectator)

There is reason to believe that humidity is more than a source of general discomfort during heat waves; it sometimes is blamed for setting up conditions in the conduct of electricity which usually are dangerous and may even prove fatal, as it is thought to have been the case in a sad event which occurred in Hamilton a few days ago. This hazard is due to no defects either in electrical appliances or wiring; experts say it is created by a natural law, a combination of heat and excessive moisture. Dampness under such conditions is always dangerous where electricity is concerned, and the question is therefore one which should receive the attention of every person who has a regard for safety.

When humidity is pronounced, it is then that even a low voltage may be sufficient to set up a hazardous condition in electric outlets. The average voltage in domestic services is 110; in two recent fatalities the voltage was considerably lower than that, although in the case which occurred in this city there has as yet been no official confirmation of the theory that humidity and electricity were the cause.

Housewives should be aware of this possible hazard because of the conditions which humidity may create in basements where laundry work is usually done. Most basements today have concrete floors, which make for sanitation and are rodent-proof. But concrete floors also help to contribute to the very condition here referred to. Such floors sweat during humid weather, as do walls and overhead water pipes. These things in themselves make for much dampness, which it is almost impossible to prevent. In addition, it is equally difficult for a housewife to avoid splashing water on the floor when she is engaged at her laundry tubs, changing the water, or wringing the clothes. She may actually be standing in water and her hands frequently touching electrical outlets. In such circumstances, the extreme humidity and the damp collar tend greatly to create a real peril.

But there is a simple precaution which, if adopted, will go far to minimize the hazard, if not entirely remove it. This consists of a rubber mat, placed, in front of the laundry tubs, or, better still, a pair of rubbers, which should be worn all the time work is being done in the basement during such weather. Many marvellous things have been done with electricity, but there are still aspects of it which are mysterious. As a force, it may sometimes be dangerous; and dampness is one acknowledged factor in the natural creation of a hazard to which many people may be unknowingly exposing themselves.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority

"POKER BRIDGE" WITHOUT RULES, IS SURE TO LOSE

This is the first of our series of articles showing that it does not pay to play poker bridge.

One of the first rules we learn in bridge is the Rule of Eleven, by which the lead of the fourth best of our longest and strongest suit tells partner the number of cards in the suit held by declarer higher than the one led.

The contract on today's hand was a normal one and West opened a club, the correct suit; he decided, however, that he would not lead fourth best, but would "fool the declarer" by leading the deuce. East won with the ace, and, of course, figured that South held four clubs and that a club continuation was hopeless. He led the king of hearts.

Declarer won and finessed the jack of diamonds, which East correctly ducked. A spade was led from dummy, South finessing the ten-spot. West won and returned a heart, but it was too late. Declarer was bound to make four spades, two hearts, two diamonds and a club.

Had the seven of clubs been led by West, East would have known that declarer held only three clubs, and would have returned the club immediately. Then the contract could have been defeated easily.

One Man's Answer to That Question: "I Wonder Why He Ever Married Her?"

Here is a man's idea of why it is often a shock to meet the wife of a likable, intelligent, and highly successful man—the kind of man that other men both like and admire. This is his explanation, in his own words, entirely unsoftened for our feelings.

"A man when he is twenty or twenty five, falls in love with Susie. Susie is pretty. She is even a nice sweet girl. The man marries her, never, of course, stopping to wonder what Susie will be like at forty."

"The guy is smart, and so even though it don't look at the time as though Susie was making much of a marriage—she was. Her husband climbs steadily by his own brains and ability."

"He climbs as he moves to higher and higher social levels. He lunches, plays golf, does business with men who are more and more successful."

"He belongs to the group by right of what he is and what he has made of his opportunities. 'Susie, naturally, is lifted right along with her husband. But she doesn't belong."

"If her husband had remained pretty far down the ladder—where he was when he married her—she would be adequate."

"But through luck, and none of her own doing, she is in a crowd that is way beyond her. It is just luck she married the man she did. If she hadn't married at all, and her advancement in life had depended on her own brains and effort, she probably would be supporting herself on a twelve-dollar-a-week salary and living in one room."

"But here she is—dumb little Susie—married to a highly successful man, the head of an impressive establishment, thrown with people who are really out of her class."

"It is not Susie's fault. It isn't even her husband's fault. If he had married a girl who could keep up, it would have been mostly luck. For young men of twenty don't choose wives who will be suitable companions when they are forty."

"They want a pretty girl—and never mind the brains. And that is what they get—for life."

"Hence the common remark about the successful man: 'I wonder why in the world he married her.'"

MUSIC LEADER PLANS TO SAVE CHURCH CHOIRS

British Director of Music Tracing Singing Evacuees to New Homes in Various Parts of World.

London, August 26.—(C) — Sir Sydney Nicholson, Director of the School of English Church Music, has started on a country-wide mission of salvaging English church choirs from the ruin wrought by war. Because of evacuation, thousands of choir boys are in districts where they receive no musical training and his job is to get them back in choirs.

When the East coast was a reception area he spent weeks there asking help from vicars, organists and schoolmasters for evacuated choir-boys. Re-education scattered them to the west and he has gone to the west country to try to find them again.

"It would be lamentable if these boys were lost to church music," he said. "They are its characteristic. We know that there were boys in churches before the Norman conquest, so there is a great historical tradition to be preserved."

He plans to learn from choirmasters where the boys have gone and fit them into choirs in their new districts. Boys from many famous London choirs were evacuated en masse to cathedral towns where they can continue to sing.

AYER'S CLIFF EXHIBITION A HUGE SUCCESS

Intermittent Showers Failed to Dampen Enthusiasm Upon Last Day of Stanstead County Fair.

Ayer's Cliff, Aug. 26.—Intermittent showers failed to dampen the spirits of those attending the Ayer's Cliff Fair, which ended its three-day show on Saturday with a record attendance and every event run off on schedule. The midway, grandstand performance, parades and races were carried out with undiminished energy and enjoyment.

Noticed among the crowd on the closing day were R. G. Davidson, M.P. for Stanstead, Waymer LaBrec, Secretary of the Cookshire Fair, W. D. Soles and J. A. Blanchette, the Member for Compton. Music was provided by the International Border Band, preceded by two drum-majorettes, Mary Beth Litchfield, of Newport, Vt., and Yolande Haart, of Beebe, who led their troop into the grounds at about one p.m. and continued to give performances until late at night. About the platform an admiring audience listened to Piper McLean and Drummer Jackson, who rendered several selections to the popular taste. The amateurs who participated in the vaudeville show gave a last excellent performance.

A great deal of interest centred on the cattle shows, where R. G. Davidson, of North Hatley, was the winner of the first prizes for the best dairy cattle on parade Friday and Saturday. In the beef cattle the winners were R. C. Morris, of Hatley, on Friday, for his herd of Shorthorns, and Wendell Curtis, of Stanstead, on Saturday. In the junior sections the final judging awarded the prizes for showmanship to: 1 P. E. Houle, Hatley; 2 Wendell Curtis, Stanstead; 3 Raymond Roy, Barnston. The poultry classes were particularly fine this year and chief among the winners were Mrs. Herbert Colt, O. Beaumont, Standish Bros., George Mosher, Warren Place, and F. L. Brown, of Ayer's Cliff, and William S. Smith, of Stanstead.

In the swine shows the principal winners were John Hunter, of Wary's Mills, K. I. Curtis, P. B. Buckland, and C. H. Massiah, of Stanstead, 2 Edgar W. Smith, M. B. Corey and son, East Hatley, and O. M. Butler, of Ayer's Cliff. The fancy work was represented by many different classes. In the regular winners' class the principal winners were Mrs. A. M. Searles and Mrs. William Robinson, of Ayer's Cliff, Mrs. Lee Webster, Rock Island, and Mrs. H. E. Bowen and Mrs. John Ride, of Hatley.

In the competition solely for women of 70 years or over, Mrs. D. L. Paul and Mrs. Frank Gother, of Ayer's Cliff, and Mrs. G. Morris, of Hatley, carried off the prizes. The two Dominion Textile special classes were won by Dorothy Cooper and Pauline Gother, of Ayer's Cliff, and Vivian Mosher, of Magog, in the section for girls of sixteen years and under, while in the women's division Mrs. Mildred Orcutt, of Hatley, and Mrs. Gordon Cass, Mrs. Lynn McIntire and Mrs. Tomiobaja, of Ayer's Cliff, were the winners.

There were two races, the last of particular interest as it ended in a decision rather than a definite win. Instead of holding the final heat, necessary to decide the winner, J. Ledoux, whose horse placed second in the final results, conceded the win to R. Biron, in order to spare his horse. Detailed results follow:

224 Class—$150 Purse. Fred Gratton, (Fraser) 1 1 1

YVAN COTE RETAINED E. T. TENNIS TITLE

Defeated Majella Charest In Close Contest At St. Francis

Defending Champion Played Steady Game to Win Crown for Second Time by 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2—One of Three E.T. Players to Capture Title Twice in Row.

Yvan Cote successfully defended his Eastern Townships men's singles tennis title at the St. Francis Club yesterday afternoon when he defeated Majella Charest 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 in a hard-fought contest that kept the final issue in doubt practically until the end of the match.

Cote becomes the third player to win the Sherbrooke Record Trophy, emblemator of the championship, twice in succession.

Cote played a remarkably steady game throughout and with the exception of the opening set was in command of the situation at all times, although Charest forced the pace on several occasions and gave the champion some anxious moments.

The first set went to ten games as Charest pressed his opponent and emerged at the top of a 6-4 score. Charest's stride began to weaken in the second set as Cote staged a strong rally to overcome his previous deficit and with a powerful forehand attacked even the count by a 6-2 victory.

Both players, meeting for the second time as finalists for the E.T. championship, battled it out desperately in third and final sets, but Cote had the edge over his opponent and took both by 6-2, 6-2.

By virtue of his second victory over Charest—he defeated him in last year's finals—Cote joins two

19-YEAR-OLD CALIFORNIANS TENNIS CHAMPS

Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder Win Men's National Doubles Title—Alice Marble and Sarah Paulfrey Gain Fourth Consecutive Women's Doubles Title.

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Although they have been operating as a tennis unit only eight months, Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder, a pair of 19-year-old Californians, today were the proprietors of the prized national doubles title—the youngest winners to hob up in 59 years.

They gained those honors in masterly fashion yesterday when they gave the much more seasoned Gardner Mulloy, of Coral Gables, Fla., and Henry Pruseoff, of Seattle, a 6-4, 8-6, 9-7 drubbing by storming the net at every opportunity and keeping the ball in play until their opponents cracked.

After Kramer and Schroeder defied tradition by making their first start in that national event a winning one, the long established team of Alice Marble and Sarah Paulfrey restored normalcy by gaining their fourth consecutive women's doubles title by defeating Mrs. Johnny Van Ryn, of Austin, Tex., one of the 1936 winners, and Dorothy Bund, of Santa Monica, Cal., 6-4, 6-3. Miss Marble rested about five minutes and then stepped out with Bobby Riggs of Chicago, and won the mixed doubles laurels from Miss Bund and Kramer by 9-7, 6-1 margins.

"I have played on some of the beautiful courses in the world," says a golfer. "But golfers as a rule are not moved by scenery." Although reverse is often true.

Other well-known Eastern Townships players, Pat Gain, of Richmond, and Johnny Hibbard, of Sherbrooke, who also captured the coveted crown two years in a row.

Sport Flashes

Odds on the Yanks to cop the pennant have dropped from 12 to 1 right down to 4-1 since they started to sizzle the last couple of weeks. And the guys who study things like that say the Indians never will recover from the beating Bobby Pelfrey took from the champs Saturday after he had a no-hitter just about in his hip pocket.

Around here they say Sammy Sneed is the "good thing" in the P.G.A. championship at Horseshoe this week, but Henry Picard's going to be awful tough in his own back yard.

Credit Ted Lyons, who's growing 40, with the trick of the week—that three-bitter against the Yankees which comes out here in a couple of complete.

Teddy Lyons, old and gray. Beat the Yankees yesterday. Let them down with just three hits. And left the sluggers throwing fits.

The doc have put an official "okay" on Bill Decorevont minus his appendix, and say he'll be ready to carry the mail for Northwestern this fall.

Up in Soc, Mich., the other Jay Sports Commentator, Porky Rousseau re-bounced a Detroit-St. Louis ball game in the afternoon over a local station, and worked a necky game a couple of hours later—which is really getting around.

The season's medal, with palm fronds to the fans down in Brexton, smallest town in the Bama State League, he club's been in the cellar just about all season, the grandstand burned down last month—and still the town led the league in attendance for June and July.

GOOD DESCRIPTION

Hartington, Neb., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Postmaster C. J. Dendlinger notifies Hartington children might not use the right word but they're good at description. A little girl came into the post office asking for "an empty letter." That was all perplexed employees could get her to say. Finally they discovered she wanted an envelope.

Winning Streak Of Yanks And Cardinals Is Finally Broken

It Took Ted Lyons and Bill Posedel, Two Veterans, to Prove New York and St. Louis Squads Not Invincible—World Champs in Third Game 5 1/2 Games Back of Indians.

Aging Ted Lyons and Sailor Bill Posedel deserve a vote of thanks. They proved to an anxious baseball world that the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals, possessors of two terrific winning streaks, aren't invincible, after all.

It took some courage for the old men to find that out. The Yankees, thirsting for blood, had just won six straight from Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians. The Cards had nine successive successes.

Lyons' 18 years of service in the majors stood him in good stead in the first game of the White Sox-Yanks double-header at the stadium before 70,740 yesterday. With his head and with his arm he handcuffed the Yanks with three hits to black them 1-0 in the opener. Posedel twirled a five hitter to give Boston Bees a 4-1 victory over the Cardinals.

The Yanks came back, with Ernie Bonham pitching a five-hitter, to blast the Sox 3-1 in the afterpiece, while the Cards outslugged the Bees 5-3.

The Yankee split, plus Washington's victory over Cleveland by 5-4, left the world champions in third place only 5 1/2 games back of the Indians.

That Washington victory was rookie Sid Hudson's 13th of the season and sent the tribe down to its fourth straight defeat.

Detroit Tigers also cut their second place deficit to 2 1/2 game by thumping the Athletics 7-3, as Buck Newson scattered nine hits for his 16th victory.

during which Johnny Foxx hit a homer with the bases loaded. The top clubs in the National League fared better than the top one in the American. Cincinnati Reds won a pair from the Phillies, 3-2 and 6-5, to stretch their advantage over Brooklyn Dodgers to 7 1/2 games. Jim Turner pitched five-hit ball to win the first and the Reds simply outhammered the Phils in the second.

The Dodgers split with the hard-punching Pittsburgh Pirates, losing the first 4-3 to Dick Lannahan's eight-hitter, but winning the second 8-1 as Fred Fitzsimmons spun a five hitter for his 13th win of the season and the 205th of his career.

BUFFALO TEAM HAS 25 DAYS OF .760 BALL

Bisons Defeat Rochester 7-6—Montreal Royals Hand Baltimore Orioles Double Defeat.

If the International Baseball League season had started just 25 days ago, Buffalo Bisons would be looking down on—instead of up at—practically all the rest of the clubs in the league.

For Bisons have been playing .760 ball for the last 25 days. But even that triumphant streak hasn't helped them move out of the second division, where they've roosted most of the season. They're only in sixth place today, even after knocking off the league-leading Rochester club 7-6 in an 11-inning thriller yesterday.

The nightcap was called on account of darkness in the seventh inning with the count tied at two-all.

Another victory run that can't be overlooked as the one Montreal Royals are weaving. By handing Baltimore Orioles a double defeat, 7-6 and 3-0, Royals reached six wins the last seven times out.

Jersey City grabbed a pair of victories in a doubleheader with Newark Bears, winning the first 4-3 in 10 innings and the second 5-2 in seven.

Syracuse and Toronto split a doubleheader, Leafs taking the first 6-3 and Chiefs the nightcap 1-0.

St. Hyacinthe In Possession Of Lead By Three Full Games

Gauls Turned In Two Straight Victories Over Week-End to Consolidate Hold on First Place in Provincial League—Quebec Also Won Two Contests.

With less than a week remaining in the regular schedule, St. Hyacinthe Gauls held a commanding lead of three full games today in the Provincial Baseball League.

St. Hyacinthe turned in two straight victories over the week-end to stretch their lead. They both were Red Sox, who fell into third place behind Quebec Athletics by the double loss.

Quebec also won both their week-end contests, besting the last-place Three Rivers in each. The two days' play was a total flop for the Trifluvians, who sank deeper into the cellar by losing 10-4 at Granby Saturday.

In the first game of the St. Hyacinthe-Granby series at St. Hyacinthe, Gauls backed the steady pitching of Scheler with a nine-hit attack for a 9-3 triumph. Five Granby errors helped the Saints, who featured their attack with a five-run rally in the fourth.

In the return game at Granby, the Saints smashed 14 hits for an 8-0 victory. Behind the fine hurling of Bruno Shedis, they were held scoreless for every inning but one—but in that one, the fifth, rallied for all their eight runs.

At Three Rivers meanwhile, Beaudin bested Art O'Donnell in a pitching duel to give Quebec a 3-1 victory over the homesters. The Athletics bagged the winning runs in the ninth when Jabb singled with two men on base to break a 1-1 deadlock.

In the night game at Quebec, the Athletics made the most of 14 hits and six Three Rivers' errors to trounce the Black Foxes 14-3. The Quebec attack behind the six-hit hurling of Yocke was featured by an eight-run rally in the third frame.
