Ruhr—"Pittsburgh Of Germany"

In Krupp plant today sorely-needed locomotives are repaired in shops that produced guns.

Today these huge automatic lifts load coal in all large inland ports in Europe.

Bombed Krupp plant, Essen—ruin more apparent than real.

France and her wartime Allies, Great Britain and the U.S., are at loggerheads over what to do about the Ruhr—the tiny, but all-powerful industrial heart of Germany. Their divergent views are near an open break since the U.S. and British Military Governments recently gave temporary management of Ruhr industries back to German trustees. The Ruhr was the Nazis' arsenal—and France fears rejuvenated heavy industries in German hands would hold a threat to France's future. The Ruhr produced 70 per cent of Germany's prewar coal, coke, steel and chemicals. Backbone of Hitler's war potential were the huge Krupp plants. Photo below shows the Krupp plants after wartime bombardment. But the destruction was not as complete as it looks. Bombing knocked out only about half the Ruhr's industry and only about a quarter of it was destroyed completely. Resumed production—vital to the Marshall Plan—is now under way, as shown by the other photos, taken recently. France, looking beyond the day when the Allied occupation forces withdraw, does not want that production in uncontrolled German hands.

Fussy About Money

Canadians are fussy about the type of money they carry in their pockets, says C. E. Campbell, chief of the Bank of Canada's currency division. Here he gives instructions to Miss Marion Rice of Brockville, supervisor, of the disposal of old $2 bills taken out of circulation. People on the prairies are particularly averse to handling these. In Montreal, Ottawa and other eastern cities, the 50-cent piece is looked on with disfavor. (CP Photo)

Keep A Stiff Upper Beak, Pal

Robins don't generally find stuffed olives on trees, so this frizzly fellow can't quite figure out if you should eat 'em or hatch 'em. This bird fell from its nest in Roseland, N.J., and has been cared for by Shirley Dunbar, 12, since. It's thriving on a diet of hamburger plus an occasional olive. Ellsworth Schell took this picture for the Newark, N.J., News.

Rare Game

Milverton Raised

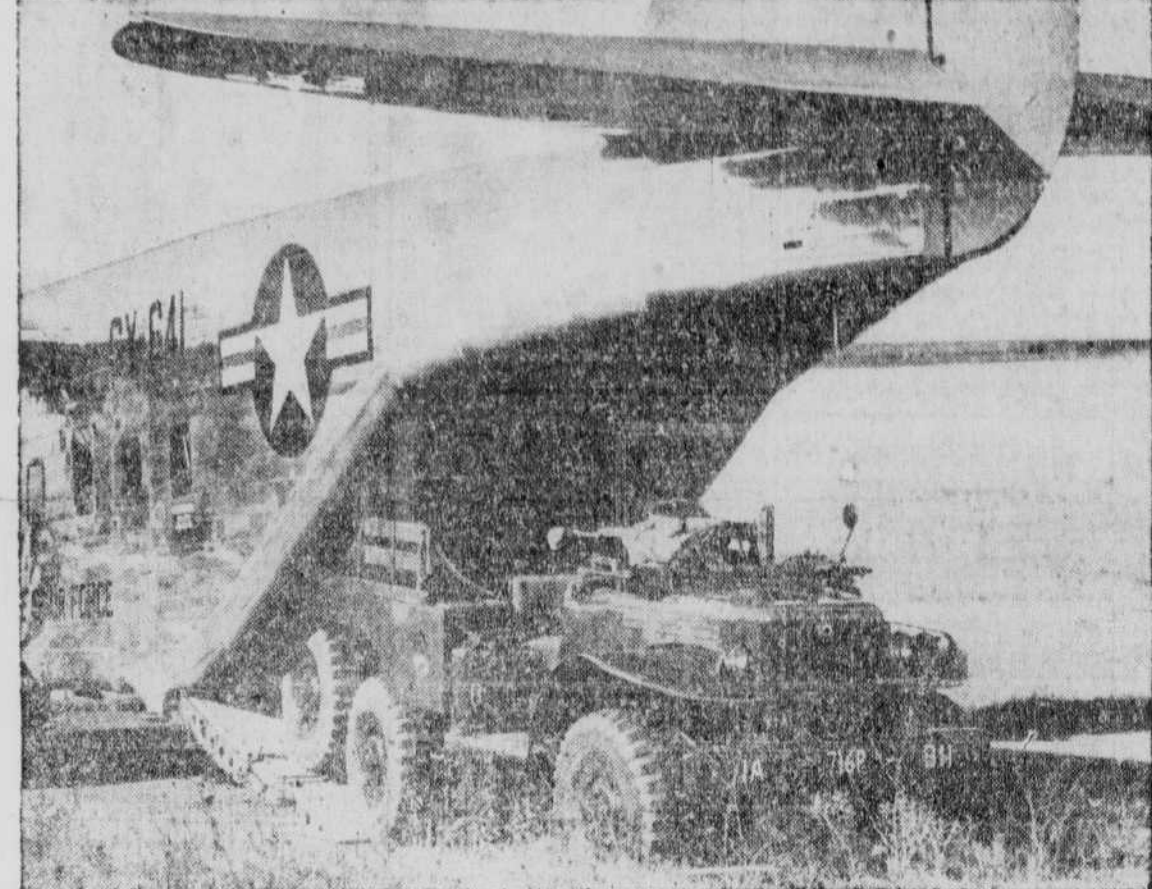

Following a collision with the oil tanker Translake in the St. Lawrence River, Sept. 24, 1947, the coal carrier Milverton drifted onto a shoal two miles west of Morrisburg, Ont. Twelve of the coal carrier's crew were killed in the accident, one of the worst in the history of navigation of the upper St. Lawrence. Since early this year salvage operations have been underway and this striking bow-on shot of the half-sunken vessel as it was partially floated this week shows the extensive damage to the ship. Eskimo Becomes Nun

Pelagie Inuk fulfilled an ambition of four years when she became the first Eskimo nun. The girl, shown left with the sister superior of the hospital at Chestfield Inlet, N.W.T., took her vows at the far northern outpost while Eskimos from the barren country surrounding the post looked on. The ceremony took place in August but is only last week that the Pope confirmed he had given permission for her to enter the order of the Grey Nuns of Charity of Montreal. (CP PHOTO)

"Flying Boxcar" Carries Payload In Assault

In its first public demonstration and test flight at Mercer Airport, Trenton, N.J., the U.S.A.F.'s new YC-122, better known as the "Flying Boxcar," gave spectators a thrill as it went through its paces. Shown in inset, above, the huge cargo plane has a gross weight of about 30,000 pounds, is 53 feet, 4 inches long, and has an 86-foot, 3-inch wingspan. Its two 1,350-h.p. engines give it a top speed of 250 miles per hour, with a ceiling of 25,000 feet. The YC-122 can carry 30 fully-equipped soldiers, as at left, or five tons of material. Below, a weapons carrier is backed into the plane's yawning cargo hatch.

Recoilless Gun

This unorthodox rifle developed by the United States Army weighs only 100 pounds but fires a shell capable of penetrating all but the most heavily-armored tanks. It is designed to give the infantry a readily portable gun capable of engaging and defeating armored vehicles. This Canadian Army photo shows Canadian soldiers testing the new weapon. (CP Photo)

Former Canadian Students

The name of Canada stands high all through the upper regions of Yangtze in China due to the large number of former Canadian students now on the faculty of the West China Union University. The university to a great degree is staffed and manned by Canadians and Chinese who have been trained in Canada. During a recent visit to the area, Canadian Ambassador T. C. Davis stopped at the university. He is shown here with members of the staff who trained in Canada. They are, left to right: back row, Dr. A. W. Lindsay, vice-chancellor, Dr. G. L. (Bert) Yang, Dr. H. H. Haich, Dr. S. D. Du, Dr. Y. T. Beh, Dr. L. C. Hsu, Dr. L. G. Kilborn. Front row, Dr. Stella Cheng, Dr. Helen Yeh, Ambassador Davis, Dr. Agnes Dwan, who has just returned from Canada, and Miss Pearl Chiang, principal of the child study centre. (CP Photo)

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD WRITER'S PROBLEM IS WHAT TO DO WITH A SPARE POOL

Hollywood—What do you do with a used swimming pool? I'm not kidding. The problem is giving gag writer Jack Douglas' ulcers, an upset stomach and has put handles on the bags under his eyes. He's become so nervous he rattles like a candy wrapper in a movie theater.

But maybe I'd better begin at the beginning. Two years ago Jack's house surrounded two sides of a swimming pool. It was very handy. But two years ago a fire started and in a flash Jack's swimming pool was surrounded by nothing.

For a while Jack and his family lived in a hog barn. It was well. He didn't have to worry about bringing home the bacon—it was there before they were.

Recently they built a new house on the same site but far removed from the scene of the fire. They had so much trouble they made

Mr. Blandings look like Frank Lloyd Wright. Jack thought it would be nice to have a fish pond in the patio of the new home and keep the old swimming pool for us fin-less fun-full folk.

Fish—Never!

To his horror he learned it would cost as much for a fish pond as for a swimming pool. He saw no reason to support these unglamorous versions of Esther Williams in a style to which he was not accustomed. Filet mignons—yes. Fish—never! So Jack built a new swimming pool.

Incidentally, he says, he didn't buy either the new house or the new pool. He says he won them in a contest run by the Bank of America. As soon as you send them the tops off all your paychecks, you win whatever you are building. It's called "Stop the Escrow."

Now Jack has a left-over pool. He thought he might dig it up intact and sell it to Sydney Greenstreet for a bathtub. Sydney came out to inspect it and said:

"It's no deal. I want something I can get all of me into."

Jack's wife wanted to convert it into a giant outdoor deep freeze but that was impractical because of the ever-present California sunshine. (Where did I leave my umbrella?)

No Pool Room

Jack's kids suggested that he put a roof over it so they could use it as a play house but Jack vetoed that idea. They're much too young, he said, to fool around in a "pool room."

It was a perfect spot for storing all those privately printed copies of Jack's book, "No Navel to Guide Him" (Adv.), but three local book-sellers twisted Jack's checkbook

Throne Shines As Bootblack Stand

After descending from what is probably the world's gaudiest bootblack stand, a customer is helped on with his coat by Genaro Esposito, enterprising Neapolitan bootblack. The stand is a throne, apparently "liberated" by Esposito that once stood in the Royal Palace of Naples. Police wink at his unorthodox use of the ornate relic and even overlook his overcharging. Miss Norris Addresses Bedford W.A.

Bedford, Dec. 2.—The bi-monthly meeting of the Senior W.A. of St. James' Church was held recently at the home of Mrs. W. B. Bradshaw, who was assisted by Mrs. F. N. Williams. Over 40 members and friends were present to hear a most interesting and instructive address on Japan, delivered by Miss Norris, of Montreal, the guest speaker for the evening.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Malcolm McCaw, with the W.A. prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. John Ewing, and adopted as read.

The president announced that the members of the Senior W.A. would attend a celebration of Holy Communion at the 9.30 service on Sunday, Nov. 28, at St. James' Church, in commemoration of St. Andrew's Day.

A plea was made for help for Japanese clergy, many of whom are on the verge of starvation. A motion was made that the secretary write for information regarding the adopting of a Japanese clergyman, and that food parcels or funds, for the purchase of the same, be forwarded to the missionary headquarters.

The president announced that at the next meeting of the branch the Rev. Dr. Watts, field secretary of the Missionary Society, would be the guest speaker. Dr. Watts has recently returned from Japan, and will speak on conditions as they are today in Japan.

The guest speaker, Miss Grace Norris, of Montreal was then introduced. Miss Norris visited Japan prior to hostilities, and having delivered addresses here before, she is well known in this district.

In her address Miss Norris stressed the fields of opportunity which Japan presents to the church, in stating that only half the people there have ever heard the word of Jesus.

She enumerated the different articles urgently needed there, such as second-hand clothing, soap and saccharine, and she stressed the need for parcels.

Miss Norris continued with considerable detail about the life of the Japanese, speaking about the government, the emperor, and the lack of business integrity of the Japanese people.

Mention was made of the painstaking care taken by the Japanese to utilize every inch of land. An interesting account of a visit to a silk mill was given, showing all the various developments from the time the worms are fed on mulberry shoots to the taking of the raw silk from the cocoons.

A picture of the home of the average Japanese citizen was presented, and several of their queer customs were brought out.

She concluded by saying that there were 52 denominations in Japan prior to the war, and it is hoped that the missionary work can soon be combined instead of having only certain denominations covered.

Mrs. John Ewing thanked Miss Norris on behalf of the W.A. for her interesting address.

The evening concluded with the serving of refreshments by the hostesses.

The Doctor Says:

BOTH MATES NEED EXAMINATION IN SEEKING CAUSE OF STERILITY

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

There are no accurate figures on the number of married couples who want children but are unable to have them. It is undoubtedly true, however, that today there must be hundreds of thousands, if not millions, of such barren marriages.

Until comparatively recently, involuntary sterility was always blamed on the wife. It is now known, however, that the husband is actually at fault in a high proportion of cases.

There are many possible causes for sterility in both men and women. Structural defects, past diseases, disturbances in the glands of internal secretion (hormones) and absent or abnormal sperm, or eggs, are among the possibilities. In many cases the difficulty, regardless of whether it is in the husband or in the wife, can be discovered and rectified either by medical or surgical means. In women, for example, the Rubin test which is used to discover whether the passageways by which the egg passes to the womb are open, has been of great use in diagnosing this cause of sterility.

May Be Temporary

In addition to the more definite causes for sterility in men and women, it is now recognized that in many cases the inability to conceive is not complete but temporary and merely caused by some minor ailment. A slight anemia, a vitamin deficiency, severe underweight or overweight, or other signs of being below par may be at fault.

When such things are corrected, fertility may be restored in some cases and the desired child is soon on the way. Considerable skill and experience is necessary to explore all the possibilities for sterility. Both husband and wife must be investigated if there is a real desire to find the solution. It cannot always be found, but in an increasing number of cases the results are turning out well.

Q—What causes excessive growth of hair on the arms, chest, and legs?

A—This varies widely from person to person and may be on an hereditary basis. When it increases greatly in an adult a tumor in one of the internal glands is sometimes responsible. This is rare.

For Second Time The Strathcona Prize Was Won By The English School

West Shefford, Dec. 2. — Those who accepted Mrs. Matthew's invitation to visit the English School on Friday afternoon were rewarded with a cleverly arranged, well conducted, interesting program of songs and recitations. With a salute to the flag, followed by prayers and the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past," the program began. The dramatization of the Scriptural lesson by the school with Florence Lang and Edith Brunton, in the leading roles was done with reverence, feeling and telling effect. To see these children conduct a Red Cross meeting with Florence Lang, in the chair demonstrated that the future will not be lacking in either leaders or workers for worthwhile causes. The singing of French songs by the teachers with Edith and Emma Brunton, and Florence Lang was particularly good. The school room recently renovated and redecorated under the personal supervision of the local school commissioner, Mr. William Lang, was most attractive. On the walls were placed samples of the children's work, which spoke more eloquently than words of the fine work being accomplished here.

Mr. Clifford Matthews, secretary-treasurer of the Township Board, was present. For the second time, Inspector H. D. Wells, has recommended this school for the Strathcona Prize in Physical Training. In making the formal presentation, the Rev. B. S. Murray, M. A., said: "At a recent meeting of the Protestant Local Committee of the Strathcona Trust, when prizes for Physical Training in schools were decided, one was awarded to this school. At the suggestion of Dean Laird, and on behalf of the Strathcona Trust, I present to this school these books to be placed in the library for your use."

"I join with Dean Laird in congratulating Mrs. Matthews and you, her pupils, on this excellent achievement. More power to you! May these books inspire you to prepare your minds and character to fulfill our ideal for Education — Mastery for Service."

Mrs. Matthews must be very proud of this additional recognition of her ability. In her you have a most gifted, capable and devoted teacher. I ask you to give her your co-operation. She appreciates your love, loyalty, and obedience. It has been team work that won you, your teacher, and the school, this prize. Keep it up.

"Wishing the pupils healthy, happy and successful school days he concluded with, "God bless you every one."

Later, afternoon tea was served by Mrs. Matthews assisted by the pupils. With the singing of "God Save the King," the program concluded.

Mrs. Hibbard Ingalls and son, Winston, have returned home, after spending several days with her sister, Mrs. Reginald Pibus, at Potton Springs, which Mr. Pibus entered the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, for emergency treatment.

Mr. W. J. Sparks, of St. Catherine, Ont., visited old friends and neighbors here.

Rev. T. W. Jones, D.D., and Mrs. Jones, Mr. Quigley, Mr. Lewis Lambourne and Mr. E. Lambourne, of Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Brooks and Miss Laura Brooks.

Miss Helen Parnell, R.N., of Montreal, was a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Parnell.

One afternoon the McConnell bridge near the school house collapsed just as a heavy load of gravel crossed it, but the truck following managed to come to a standstill by a quick turn to the side of the road.

Mrs. Jasper MacAulay, Mrs. Peters and Mrs. Lewis MacAulay were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Forand.

IT'S Libby's

It's the drink with the garden-fresh flavour of field ripe tomatoes plucked fresh from the vine. Extra delicious because Libby's use only perfect, sun-ripened fruit and process them the same day they're picked to retain their fresh perfection of flavour, and to protect those Vitamins A and C of which Libby's is an excellent dietary source. These are the Vitamins which are necessary for sparkling white teeth, and keen eyesight, which help promote radiant, buoyant health. It's a wise health rule to ensure that your family drink at least one glassful of Libby's every day. Serve it often, as a morning pick-up, a luncheon appetizer, a dinner time cocktail. It's delicious!

KNOWLTON

At St. Paul's Anglican Church, on Sunday evening, November 28, Rev. G. H. Watts, a returned Missionary, was the guest speaker and told of conditions in China, Japan and India. His address dealt with the terrible destruction by bombing during the war of churches and homes. Following the service, films were shown in the Church Hall. Refreshments were served by the Junior Guild at the close of the evening. Several visiting clergymen were present among whom were Rev. J. M. Lidstone, of Granby; Rev. F. W. Gedye, of Bromie; and Rev. Walter Bokus, of Foster.

Cheerio Mission Band met in the school room of the United Church one afternoon with the superintendent, Mrs. Harold W. Spencer, in charge. The meeting opened with the hymn, "Jesus Loves The Little Children," followed by the "Mission Band Purpose" repeated in unison. In the absence of the president, Barbara Duboyce, Glendon Coote was in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and six members answered the roll call. Mrs. E. H. Gray took up the first chapter in the study book, "Watch Goat Boy." Lloyd Coote took up the collection, which was followed by the hymn, "Jesus Loves Me." The Mission Band Prayer brought the meeting to a close, after which games and a "treat" were enjoyed.

The regular weekly meeting of the Canadian Girls in Training Group was held in the United Church Parlors under the leadership of Mrs. E. H. Gray and Miss Lorna McClay. The president, Trixie Sharman, was in the chair and the meeting opened with the C.G.I.T. Purpose repeated in unison. The devotional service included a prayer read by Trixie Sharman, a scripture reading by Mary Strange and a hymn, followed by prayer by Susan Clarke. The collection was taken up by Faye Armstrong and Nellie Marsh. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Nineteen members answered the roll call. The remainder of the evening was spent in practising for the Vesper Service to be held on Sunday evening, December 12. The meeting closed with "Taps."

The Sir John Fisher Chapter, I.O.D.E. held its regular fortnightly meeting in St. Paul's Church Hall, one afternoon. The regent, Mrs. LeRoy Shaw, was in the chair and conducted the meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. A. S. Douglass, and were approved and the treasurer, gave her report. The various conveners gave their reports and the afternoon was spent in sewing and knitting, after which tea was served by the committee in charge.

The Ladies' Circle held a most successful hot dish supper and sale of work in the United Church Hall, under the co-operation of the president, Mrs. George Coote. Proceeds were upwards of $80. Knowlton Lodge, No. 28, I.O.O.F., met in regular session one evening. The music given, Bro. Grant Windle, was in the chair and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Brother Stephen Morrison, and were approved. A report was given on the benefit dance held recently in conjunction with Colfax Rebekah Lodge, showing that $350 had been netted. The committee in charge is most grateful to all those who contributed in any way in making the event such a success. Knowlton's High School Intermediate and Senior Basketball teams were hosts to Cowansville High School teams. The local teams were the victors in both games. Following the matches a dance was held and greatly enjoyed by all present.
