FRENCH CAPITULATE

GERMAN AND ITALIAN LEADERS TO DECIDE TERMS BRITISH EMPIRE DETERMINED TO CONTINUE FIGHT

Nazi Efforts To Invade Great Britain Expected To Follow French Move

Informed British Quarters Convinced German Attack on Island Will Come this Month or in July—French Capitulation After Thirty-Eight Days of German Blitzkrieg Supplants Interest in Possible Motive Behind Russian Invasion of Baltic States—British Navy, Time and European Famine Believed Likely to Eventually Overcome Reich.

(By GUY RHOADES, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

France's surrender to the German blitzkrieg thirty-eight days after it was launched overshadowed all developments in the European scene, although some puzzled glances toward the Baltic where Russian troops marched into Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

Uppermost in the minds of all observers was the question of what was going to happen to the United Kingdom, if and how soon it might expect a German attempt at invasion and how the attempt might come.

Sir Neville Henderson, last British Ambassador to Germany, who knows the Nazi mind as well as anyone, told a Lincoln audience that he expected an attempt would be launched this month or in July and urged that every able-bodied man and boy be taught to use a rifle.

British opinion generally recognized that the war had come to the little island's front and back doors and that it must make a fortress of itself. Already it is a tangle of barbed wire, a network of trenches and an armory of anti-aircraft guns. Above its towns and cities floats the aerial net of its balloon barrage.

Though the situation was more grim than at any time in modern history three potential friends, even more grim, crouched in the background as possible aids to the partially encircled island: Its navy's blockade, time and European famine.

How effective its blockade of Europe, virtually all Europe now, might be if the French were forced to surrender their fleet to be combined with the Italian navy and what is left of the German fleet, remained to be seen. How long enemy stocks of food and other essentials might last remained unknown. How terrible might be Europe's winter famine remained for the future to show.

Britain itself is believed to have—or to be able to obtain quickly—enough food and other supplies to last through a long war. The question is how well can its anti-aircraft defences maintain its wartime industries at peak work.

Sir Neville said he expected the blitzkrieg to strike at Britain in three ways, through an attempt to strangle Britain in a blockade, to bomb her into submission and to attempt an invasion by sea and air.

It is more than doubtful if a German attempt at effective blockade would work, as Britain still has a bigger navy than Italy, Germany and France combined. Further, Italy's navy and part of the French is tied up in the Mediterranean along with a strong British fleet. The combined Italian navy and a surrendered French fleet might be a match for the British Mediterranean Fleet, but they would still have to contend with the bottlenecks at Gibraltar and Aden.

An attempt to blast Britain into submission from the air would find a tough, aroused nation, possessed of excellent defences and imbued with the knowledge that life under the Nazis probably would be worse than death from bombs.

An invasion by sea would be an extremely difficult operation and, perhaps, might be drawn out for a sufficiently long time to force Germany and Italy into the European famine that almost certainly will strike next winter.

What Russia is doing in the three Baltic states is not clear. The Soviets are reported to have shoved about 500,000 extra men into those countries and to have moved in about 2,000 tanks already.

United States Vessel Endangered By Plane Operation Of Japanese

Chungking, June 17.—(P)—In spite of the fact that an estimated five hundred bombs were dropped, sixteen Japanese planes endangered the United States gunboat Tutuila yesterday, one projectile falling so close that the crew was ordered to take cover.

(The Tutuila, a 1,370-ton craft, built in 1927, carries a complement of fifty-nine officers and men.)

Lieut. Robert Germany, commander of the gun boat on Yangtze River patrol duty, said bomb fragments pelted the boat. Smoke billowing over the river from shore fires almost obscured the ship from view.

Three waves of planes roared over the capital in a punishing resumption of air sorties after a three-day respite.

VETERAN BURSAR OF COLLEGE PASSES ON

St. Hyacinthe, Que., June 17.—(P)—Canon J. Andre Dubreuil, seventy-seven, bursar of St. Hyacinthe Seminary, died here Saturday after an illness of several months. Canon Dubreuil was born at St. Cesaire de Rouville, Que., in 1863 and was ordained to the priesthood here in 1888. He was then appointed Professor of Mathematics at St. Hyacinthe Seminary and in 1890 he left to study in Europe. Two years later he arrived back in Canada and again joined the staff of the Seminary. He was titular Canon of Saint Hyacinthe cathedral since 1925. Funeral services will be held Wednesday.

SUGGESTS THAT LINDBERGH END NAZI CAMPAIGN

Chairman of United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee Answers Latest Blast of Flier.

Washington, June 17.—(P)—Replying to Col. Charles Lindbergh's remand the United States state making "gestures with an empty gun," Senator Key Pittman (Democrat, Nevada) has proposed the flier "cease efforts to create unfounded war fear and lack of confidence in our Government."

Pittman, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a radio speech Sunday night: "If Colonel Lindbergh desires to help in our national defence, let him throw aside all his false political advisers, and volunteer in the United States Government as an expert in aviation."

HEAVY SELLING ON FRENCH SURRENDER

New York, June 17.—(P)—News of the French capitulation brought heavy selling into the stock market today, although there was no such large scale liquidation as occurred while the German armies crashed through the Lowlands in May. Opening losses of $1 to $2 were extended to as much as $4 and $5 during the first hour, with biggest declines appearing in United States Steel, Bethlehem and Douglas Aircraft.

Conditions Of French Surrender To Be Determined At Conference Of German And Italian Leaders

Berlin, June 17.—(P)—Hitler and Mussolini will meet to formulate the attitude of Germany and Italy toward France's request for terms on which she would lay down her arms. A high command announcement today from Hitler's headquarters said: "The Premier of the newly-formed French Government (Marshal Petain) has declared in a radio address to the French nation that France must lay down her arms. 'He referred therein to the step already taken by him to inform the Reich Government of this decision and to learn the conditions under which Germany would be prepared to meet the French wishes.' 'The Fuehrer will meet the Italian Prime Minister, Benito Mussolini, for a discussion in which the position of the two states will be examined.'"

Advises Immediate Transfer Of Imperial Government To Canada

London, June 17.—(P)—The News Chronicle published a letter today signed Edward Peor, urging shifting the Empire's centre of gravity to Canada and placing the British Isles under military governance which "must be held as an advance base for civilization at all costs." Peor wrote the collapse of French resistance would leave the Isles the last outpost of Western civilization in Europe and the United States will in self-defence have to declare war on Germany and Italy. He argued that United States military help plus the Empire's production of aircraft and munitions cannot be sufficiently strong to undertake freeing Europe until spring. Therefore, he maintained, the Islands must be held. "We must at once cease to think of these Islands as the centre of the British Empire," he wrote. "We must think of them as the last stronghold of the Empire in Europe."

Russian Invasion Of Baltic States Adds To Uncertainty

Exact Position of Russia in International Position Still Uncertain After Occupation of Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia—Some See Move as Prelude to Break Against Ever-Growing German Might.

Stockholm, June 17.—(P)—Tallinn, Tartu and other large towns in Estonia were occupied today by Soviet troops who marched in shortly after the Government accepted Moscow's ultimatum.

Latvia was also entered by the Soviet soldiers. (The Berlin radio said Riga, Latvia's capital, was occupied.)

President Antanas Smetona, of Lithuania, was reported to have fled to Germany and been interned at Koenigsberg. The newspaper Aftonbladet said in a Kaunas dispatch that he was likely to be returned to his own country.

Soviet intentions roused much speculation among observers who argued that troop concentrations were considerably larger than necessary for domination of the small Baltic states where Russia already had bases.

Questions left unanswered were: Is Russia merely reaching out to regain territories she once held, or is she preparing to enter the war on the side of one belligerent or the other?

In each of the three countries the formation of new Governments was begun.

The German wireless, in a report on the Lithuanian situation, said that official confirmation had been received that Justas Palecki headed the new Lithuanian Cabinet, and would also become State President.

After the conclusion of the mutual assistance pact between Russia and Lithuania, Palecki was sent to a concentration camp for expressing pro-Soviet sympathies. He was released only after intervention by various people.

NO RESISTANCE TO OCCUPATION

Moscow, June 17.—(P)—Soviet Russian troops marched into unresisting Estonia and Latvia today, making a series of swift moves which consolidated Russia's position in the Baltic. News the Red Army was on the march was disclosed by the Russian radio only a few hours after the two countries had yielded to Soviet demands they permit unimpeded passage of troops and reorganize their governments. Lithuania capitulated to similar demands Saturday, and Russian troops already are occupying strategic points there. Tass News Agency announced the agreement of Estonia and Latvia to the Russian demands which, Tass said, were motivated by a need for "honest and conscientious observance" of mutual assistance pacts with the two Baltic states. The Soviet asked new governments "capable and willing to ensure honest implementation" of the pacts; and free passage of troops to "forestall possible provocative actions against Soviet garrisons" installed in Estonia and Latvia under the pacts signed last fall. (Estonia has an area of about 18,350 square miles and approximately 1,125,000 inhabitants; Latvia has an area of 20,000 square miles and about 2,000,000 inhabitants. Their total peoples do not equal the population of Moscow.) (Some dispatches to Stockholm interpreted the Russian move as the first step toward participation in the war. (The Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet reported Berlin opinion as "rather reserved" and said the Soviet action was not exactly "welcomed." Another Berlin dispatch, however, said it was felt that "Soviet intentions were known to the Germans in advance.") (Some Allied observers in London saw the signs of Russian action against the increasing threat of a Hitler-dominated Europe. But reserved judgment was the general attitude, and there was little press speculation. Tass reported "Ex-President" Antanas Smetona of Lithuania and several other Lithuanian officials had crossed the border into Germany and promptly had been interned by German officials. GESTAPO HELD CHIEF FEAR OF DUTCH ROYALTY

Fear of Internment by Nazis Reason for Princess Juliana and Children Leaving for Canada.

By DOUGLAS AMARON (Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Montebello, Que., June 17.—(P)—The threat of the Nazi secret police forced Princess Juliana of the Netherlands to seek a haven in Canada for herself and her two children.

The heiress to a vast Empire ruled by Queen Wilhelmina, came here upon the advice of British and Dutch officials who had learned at Berlin that the members of the Royal Family were on the black list of the Gestapo.

This information was revealed yesterday by a source close to the Royal Family who explained the fear of bombing or invasion of Great Britain was a secondary consideration to the lurking threat of the German undercover force.

The decision to send to Canada Princess Juliana and her daughters Beatrix, 2½ years, and Irene, nine months, was taken by the Queen and received the approval of King George and Queen Elizabeth and Prince Bernhard, the Princess' husband.

The Netherlands' ruler sought to save those close to her from the fate of Kurt von Schuschnigg, former Chancellor of Austria, imprisoned by the Nazis and reported in some quarters as driven insane and in others as lamed.

VERMONT REQUESTED PASS- PORT REGULATION CHANGE

Waterloo, June 17.—Speaking at the Junior Chamber of Commerce banquet here last night, Dr. J. D. Bachand, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., announced that the Government of the State of Vermont has appealed to Washington for repeal of the legislation enforcing all Canadians travelling to the United States to procure a passport.

Capitulation Of France Fails To Shake British Stand Against Germany

Uncertainty of Future of French Fleet Determining Factor in British Plans for Troublesome Days Ahead—Country Fully Prepared for Mass Nazi Effort to Subjugate Islands by Direct Invasion.

(By J. F. SANDERSON, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 17.—(C.P. Cable)—The capitulation of France will make no difference to the determination of this country to fight on.

Marshal Henri Petain's announcement that he had ordered fighting to cease while negotiations are started with the Germans has shocked this country but has not shaken the inflexible determination of the British Government and the British people to continue the war.

Prime Minister Churchill will make a statement in the House of Commons tomorrow when he is expected to reiterate the declaration that Britain will never sheathe the sword.

The big question of the hour is: Where do we go from here? This question can be answered only in the broad sense because there are too many missing factors and too many imponderables.

One of the uncertainties of the hour is the future of the French fleet. If it escapes the general capitulation order it would be of inestimable value to Britain. If it is handed over to the Germans—and it may be judging from Marshal Petain's broadcast—it would be a serious blow.

One thing is certain—Germany's attempt to subjugate this country is about to start. It may start at any minute or be delayed while the German forces get a breather after routing the French army, but there can be no doubt that it is only a question of time.

How this will be attempted is a matter of conjecture, but it has been known for some time that Germany has been practising combined land, sea and air operations off Norway. The danger points are believed to be Eire, the Shetland Islands and Iceland, perhaps in that order.

Germany probably will attempt to seize one or all of these outposts as bases for operations against Britain herself.

Meanwhile, with France out of the fight, American assistance becomes increasingly necessary if Germany is ever to be defeated. The industries of this country will become targets for the Nazi bombers and it remains to be seen whether anti-aircraft defences will be able to keep the factory wheels operating at their wartime pitch.

Need of assistance from Canada also is emphasized. With Britain left alone the factories, fields and mines of Canada and the other Dominions must shoulder a big share of the war effort.

What probably will happen in Europe is this: The British Navy, with or without the help of the French fleet, will redouble its efforts to protect this country and at the same time blockade not only Germany but the whole of Europe because almost everything in Europe must be regarded as German-occupied territory.

With the ever increasing assistance of the United States and the Dominions, everything will be concentrated at first on the blockade of Germany and Italy. That will not only weaken the enemy but give Britain time to arm herself for a decisive blow at some future date.

An authoritative statement said Germany has used up her resources "on a reckless scale."

It forecast that placing of the United States' resources at the disposal of the Allies would play an ever-weightier part in the war as Britain brings her full manpower to bear upon the Germans and Italians.

"The production of airplanes, arms and ammunition continues to increase at a great pace and the supplies from America now arriving in substantial quantity will soon be coming as fast as our ports can deal with them," the statement said.

The Financial News urged orders in Canada and the United States, paying for them "if necessary by the mortgage of the material resources of the colonial Empire."

The newspaper said Britain could replenish supplies through her sea power while the axis powers could not. "If we can hold on until autumn, Continued on page 2, col. 3.

Budget Proposals Occupy Centre Of Interest On Parliament Hill

Ottawa, June 17.—(P)—This is Norman Rogers who died a week ago today in an air crash. Thus Col. Hill centres for the most part around the statement Finance Minister Ralston will give the Commons, probably Thursday, showing how he proposes to raise new revenue for prosecution of the war.

As much as possible this is going to be a pay-as-you-go war, according to a Government announcement when the budget was brought down at the special session last fall. For that reason Canadians may expect new imposts.

Col. Ralston, after delivering the budget, moves to the National Defence Ministry, succeeding Hon.

IS PRISONER OF WAR

In the thirty-fourth casualty list of the Royal Air Force announced today by the Air Ministry it was reported that Flying Officer A. R. Ball, of Westmount, previously reported as missing, is a prisoner of war. Flying Officer Ball is known to many in the Rock Island section of the Eastern Townships, where he has a number of relatives.

Names of thirteen Canadians and a Newfoundland were among the casualties announced.

over how additional monies might be raised with a minimum of inconvenience to the public.

Col. Ralston likely will announce today the exact date on which he will bring down the budget, at the customary hour of 3 p.m. E.D.T.

He drew up the partial budget of the special session but because he did not have a Commons seat it was presented by Revenue Minister Isley who presently is rated as a likely choice to succeed Col. Ralston.

The excess profits tax, brought into being at the special session and effective last April 1 may undergo amendment with a view to equalizing the incidence of the tax on businesses with varying capital structures and carrying degrees of prosperity in the prewar period.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and all ministers having to do directly with the war effort kept in close touch with their offices, or remained in them, during the week-end as the grave events of war in France became known.

Air Minister Power, as Acting Defence Minister, and Col. Ralston, as Defence Minister designate and a former head of the Department, held conference with the chiefs of staff and the war cabinet.

Col. Ralston's appointment to the Defence post came last week and received general approval from all sides. Conservatives previously had gone so far as to nominate him as the man to replace the late Mr. King. When his choice as Defence Minister was announced by the Prime Minister the Opposition joined in the general desk-thumping applause.

The immediate business on hand for the Commons is resumption of the general debate on the unemployment relief and agricultural assistance bill, an annual measure which presently is in the resolution stage. The Senate does not meet until tomorrow night.

Referring to the statement of Henry Ford that his plant could produce 1,000 planes daily, the Financial News said "an order must be placed, whatever the cost."

Local circles deferred comment on the fall of the Reynaud Cabinet in France.

All observers, however, agreed that whatever the significance of the change, Britain would continue to fight against Germany.

The Daily Mail said: "The French Government know that Hitler is counting on their capitulation in the near future and is already shaping the terms he hopes to make."

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express editorially advised Americans to "learn by our folly," urging the United States to believe that "3,000 miles of Atlantic can save you" and to ignore "soft words of reassurance that come from Germany."

WAR—25 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAKES USE OF FLY PAPER IN PRISON BREAK

Bolton Centre Man Covers Shoes with Adhesive Substance to Scale 20-Foot Wall at Sweetsburg Jail.

Sweetsburg, June 17.—Combining ingenuity and agility in just the right proportions, Ernest Tilton, twenty-five, of Bolton Centre, scaled a twenty-foot wall at Sweetsburg Jail Saturday night and made his way to freedom, and an extensive police search has revealed no trace of the escaped prisoner to date.

Tilton, who was awaiting trial on a charge of theft of about $300 from a Bolton Centre store, had been in jail for ten days.

The escape occurred between seven and eight o'clock in the evening. Tilton was in the yard at the rear of the prison. To aid him in his acrobatic feat, he turned a bench on end against the wall and clambered over the twenty-foot barrier. He covered his shoes with fly paper to give him footing.

It is believed Tilton would have appeared for trial tomorrow, when Judge J. H. Lemay will sit in Magistrate's Court. High Constable Albert St. Martin and the jailer, Guy Martin, are leading the search for the escaped prisoner. Provincial authorities were notified soon after the break.

Kaunas reported to Stockholm that Lithuania had become "a giant Russian military camp" since Saturday. It was estimated "at least 500,000 men" were being sent into the country which borders East Prussia.

In setting forth the reasons for Russia's demands upon her Baltic neighbors, Tass quoted the Government representatives that an existing military alliance among Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia "directed against the U.S.S.R., is not only not permissible and unbearable but profoundly dangerous and menacing to the security of the frontiers of the U.S.S.R."

The Soviet statement referred to "secret conferences" and "intensification of the connections between the general staffs of Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania, and quoted last week's mutual assistance pacts with Russia as prohibiting alliances or coalitions "against one of the contracting parties" to the pacts.

LONG RANGE IN EXTENSIVE USE BY ARTILLERY

Second Divisional Royal Canadian Artillery Spending Active Days in Training at Petawawa.

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Petawawa, Ont., June 17.—On the largest artillery range in the Empire at Petawawa military camp, the 2nd Divisional Royal Canadian Artillery is rapidly learning gunnery tactics of the new mechanized warfare.

Six thousand tanned, young fighters are under canvas in this old camp of the First Great War. The majority are artillerymen but there also are the Royal Canadian Engineers, the 2nd Division and of the army taking special training courses.

Tents are spread over two square miles along the pines and sand dunes of this Upper Ottawa valley district and the whole area echoes to the tramp of marching feet and the occasional boom of guns on the range.

All the artillery and engineering units of the 2nd Division, and units up from all over Canada, are concentrated here for outdoor manoeuvres which will finish up their training in Canada for active service.

The camp staged a church parade yesterday with 5,000 soldiers in battle dress and sun helmets taking part in the largest demonstration since the camp opened three weeks ago.

Long lines of khaki men looked ready for anything, and much of the establishment has been rebuilt from the days of the last conflict and a new administration building constructed, but the same parade grounds and shooting ranges on which the gunners of 1914-18 practised are used by Canada's new legions.

Brigadier H. E. Boak, Camp Commandant, and his headquarters staff are putting the units through more rigorous training than most of them have received since joining up. Most of the units have been mobilized for seven or eight months.

The routine calls some times for whole companies to slog ten miles on route marches. Batteries work on the heavy guns throughout the day.

The camp has considerable artillery armament and it is used almost continually during week days. The batteries are mechanized and there isn't a horse in the camp.

Howitzers, anti-tank guns and field guns now move swiftly about the camp on huge rubber tires, pulled by a tractor or truck. On actual field manoeuvres, members of the batteries also ride in motor transport. The gunners' slogan is "Join the artillery and ride in trucks." But there still are the route marches to keep the boys in condition.

DEATH TOLL IN ONTARIO HEAVY OVER WEEK-END

Twenty-One Persons Met Violent Death Over Week-End With Traffic Fatalities Claiming Fourteen.

Toronto, June 17.—A violent death toll of twenty-one ranked the past week-end as the most tragic of the summer season in Ontario. Traffic accidents accounted for fourteen deaths. There were two drownings, two asphyxiations and a fatal plane crash.

The most serious accident occurred near Northwood, ten miles East of Chatham in Western Ontario where four children were killed when the automobile in which they were driving was splintered by a Canadian National Railway passenger express yesterday. Three adults in the car suffered serious injuries.

Wilhelmine Doolittle, ten, and her four-year-old brother, Wellington, were killed with Ruby Haskell, two, and her baby brother, Hugh, when the train smashed into the car at a level crossing. Isaac Haskell, of West Lorne, who was driving, his wife and sixteen-year-old Dorothy Doolittle suffered head and body injuries and both are in serious condition in hospital.

The accident was the second serious one in two days in the area. On Saturday, William Hewston, seventy-eight-year-old Detroit resident, and two of his grandchildren, Edward Hewston, seventeen, and Billie Hewston, seven, were injured fatally when their automobile went out of control near Wardville, thirty miles east of Chatham. The children's parents were injured seriously.

Aircraftman Chester Miles Wood, of London, was killed in the second crash of a Royal Canadian Air Force plane in a week. The thirty-three-year-old pilot crashed only last week was on a routine practice flight yesterday when he crashed in a wheat field near Concession, about ten miles southeast of the R.C.A.F. air base at Trenton. The plane spun to earth upside down and Wood was crushed between the wreckage and the ground.

Nazi Efforts To Invade Great Britain Expected To Follow French Move

They would be a help if they are destined to attack Germany from the rear, even though they probably have no friendly wishes for the Allies.

It is clear that the British Isles and the whole Empire are in for a rough time and that to win they have to give every ounce of effort they possess.

PETAINE ANNOUNCES ARMISTICE EFFORT

Bordeaux, June 17.—(P)—Marshal Henri Petain, France's new Premier, announced over the radio today that it is necessary to "try to end the fighting."

"I made contact with the adversary last night, asking him as soldier to soldier to seek with me, the means to stop the fight," the eighty-four-year-old hero of the First Great War said.

Petaine, whose indomitable defence of Verdun twenty-four years ago gave France her watchword, "They shall not pass," made his momentous announcement that France was seeking an armistice after a meeting of the new cabinet he formed last night in the Republic's darkest hour.

The cabinet convened to "await developments." There still was no announcement of any German reply to Petaine's request for an armistice.

The Premier said that France had entered into contact with Germany through the intermediation of Spain. He made his radio address at 12:30 p.m. (8:30 a.m. E.D.T.) after a series of conferences during which the military reverses and the future were discussed.

His announcement of peace overtures was no surprise, since the formation of his Government generally was accepted as a prelude to a request for an armistice.

He succeeded Paul Reynaud last night after Reynaud's cabinet had spent a day in long discussions.

So far as was known, fighting was still going on. A morning communiqué by the French High Command had said battle was raging "in the region of Louvain, Chateaudun, as well as on the line of the Loire and south of Avallon."

The nation was in the greatest peril of its life from the unrelenting advance of 150 German divisions, between 2,000,000 and 2,500,000 men.

Save for a few gunners, held to cover the retirement, the French had been reported in dispatches from Basel, Switzerland, as having abandoned the Maginot Line, once the symbol of their security from invasion from the East.

Last night's high command communiqué reported renewed Nazi attacks along the whole battlefront from the sea to the Swiss border area, but said the battle-scarred French troops stirred themselves to local counter-attacks in the region of Paris, near Laigle and La Ferté Vidame.

There the German advance was reported checked. But Southeast of Paris, the French said, the Nazis forged ahead, crossing the Seine River in the neighborhood of Melun and Fontainebleau, and pushing advance guard elements beyond Auxerre, in Central France, in the direction of Clamecy and Avallon.

South of the Plateau of Langres, armored and motorized German columns reached the region North of Dijon and the Saone above Gray (Dijon is 50 miles southeast of Paris and forty miles airline from the Swiss border; Auxerre is one hundred miles from Paris in a more

MISSING FLYER RESCUED FROM ONTARIO WILDS

Flying Officer Edwin Dixon Recovering from Effects of Six Days of Exposure.

Geraldton, Ont., June 17.—(P)—Flying Officer Edwin Dixon, forty-year-old veteran of First Great War air battles, is safe in hospital, recovering from the effects of six days' wandering in the rocky, bush country of Northwestern Ontario after his Royal Canadian Air Force plane was forced down.

Three miners on a week-end fishing trip in an outboard motor boat were hailed by Dixon from shore yesterday and they took the flyer to hospital at nearby Little Long Lac. He was suffering from exposure, lack of food and from severe insect bites. His condition was not serious.

Dixon was not injured when forced down last Monday while flying from Kapuskasing, Ont., to Winnipeg with a squadron of twelve R.C.A.F. planes. He told his rescuers fuel shortage forced him to "pancake" on a lake "some miles" from where he was found.

Dixon, formerly of Vermilion, Alta., and Edmonton, was not certain of location of the lake or which he left the plane but from his description it was surmised it was Big Long Lac.

southerly direction.

The High Command also disclosed French messages "in accordance with orders" in Alsace and Lorraine. A direct attack on the Saar front was reported checked. At Neuf-Brisach, however, the Nazis were admitted to have established a bridgehead with the object of encircling the Maginot Line.

Announcement of the new cabinet, after a series of conferences which lasted far into the night, came in the midst of an air raid alarm. No bombs were known to have fallen.

The new Ministry was formed after discussion of President Roosevelt's offer of material aid from the United States and of an apparently urgent message from Prime Minister Churchill.

The old Cabinet had met briefly first yesterday morning and an announcement was made that the United States Government "declares itself resolved to develop assistance to the full extent of its resources to the exclusion, for the moment, it is understood, of any declaration of war against Germany."

It was necessary for the Cabinet, the announcement added, to discuss further "in the light of information in its possession on the whole diplomatic and military situation, to what extent this reply of the American Government is such as to permit France to continue the struggle on its own territory under conditions which can usefully serve the common cause of the democracies."

As to the Churchill message, there were indications that the British Prime Minister himself might be in France.

Reynaud was said to have escaped narrowly a German bombing raid on an unidentified town as he travelled to interview Mr. Churchill in an interview between French Cabinet sessions. Whether they met was not disclosed.

Premier Petain, Commander of the French armies during the last war and known as "The Hero of Verdun," chose General Maxime Weygand as his National Defence Minister.

(Weygand, called to head the French forces after the German break-through near Sedan in May, presumably would remain in charge of the armies.)

UNITED STATES TO DEMAND SEPARATE PASSPORTS

Ottawa, June 17.—United States Legation officials last night said that passports will be required after June 30 for all persons, regardless of age, entering the United States from Canada.

Canadian passport officials, who announced recently a "family passport" arrangement enabling a man, his wife and all children under sixteen to travel together on one passport, could not be reached for comment.

BRITISH PRESS DEMANDS BOOST OF ARMAMENTS

Pledging of Material Resources of Colonial Empire Urged to Finance Greater Armament Purchases.

London, June 17.—(C.P.-Cable)—The Financial News in a front page article analyzing ways and means of meeting the Nazi threat urged today the placing of the "greatest possible" arms orders in Canada and the United States and paying for them "if necessary by a mortgage on the material resources of the Colonial Empire."

Urging expenditure of resources "absolutely ruthlessly" the paper said that Britain's chief strength lies in her sea power and the superiority of her economic resources.

The Financial News added that she can replenish her supplies through sea power while the Axis cannot.

Visiting At Hospital Is Very Costly

Montreal, June 17.—(P)—Seized with spell of weakness while visiting his brother in St. Luke Hospital, Saturday, Maurice Cote, twenty-one, of Granby, collapsed near his brother's bed and struck his head on the floor of the hospital room. When found he was suffering from concussion he was admitted to the hospital as a patient.

Cote's brother, Leo Cote, twenty-five-year-old municipal employee of Granby, was seriously injured fifteen days ago when he was struck on the head by the broken rim of an automobile tire. The mishap occurred at Granby and Cote, his skull fractured, was not expected to recover at the time.

Since admission to hospital, however, he has been showing signs of steady improvement.

LARGE NUMBER AT ST. JEROME CHURCH RALLY

Estimated that Attendance at Regional Eucharistic Conference Exceeded Two Hundred Thousand.

St. Jerome, Que., June 17.—(P)—The four-day St. Jerome Regional Eucharistic Congress closed last night, after an open air service attended by close to 200,000 persons from all parts of the Province, at which Mgr. Georges Gauthier, Archbishop of Montreal, pronounced a Papal Benediction.

Archbishop Gauthier pronounced the Benediction from a high altar constructed off the main Laurentian Mountains highway over the bowed heads of the huge crowd. St. Jerome itself was so crowded that thousands of motorists could only proceed slowly through the town.

The outdoor service climaxed a mile-long procession from the St. Jerome Parish Church to the temporary altar. The procession lasted almost three hours. Police reported that some fifty persons fainted during the course of the various services during the day.

Total Conscription And Formation Of An Eastern Townships Unit For Active Service Urged By 5th C.M.R.

Full Use of Man-Power, Wealth, National Resources, Business, Industry and Other Institutions Strongly Recommended for Prosecution of War at Veterans' Annual Reunion—Service Held at Cenotaph.

Resolutions favoring total conscription for the full prosecution of the war and the formation within the Eastern Townships of a unit for active service were adopted here Saturday by veterans of the First Great War in Sherbrooke for the annual reunion of the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles. A note of confidence that the Allies would be victorious in the present conflict sounded throughout the reunion, features of which were a business session, a service at the War Memorial, a banquet Saturday night and a parade to St. Peter's Church yesterday morning.

Adopted unanimously was a resolution presented at the business meeting which stated that the 5th C.M.R. favored conscription of man-power, wealth, national resources, business, industry and other institutions for the full prosecution of the war. Presenting during the banquet in the evening and also approved unanimously, the resolution regarding an Eastern Townships' unit read as follows:

"Whereas little or no opportunity has been given to the Eastern Townships to join the Canadian Active Service Force, be it resolved that the association strongly recommends and urges upon the Canadian Government that an Eastern Townships' battalion be authorized to mobilize for C.A.S.F. service and that in the formation of such a battalion due consideration be given to the present constituted Non-Permanent Active Militia unit."

Another resolution passed at the afternoon meeting stated that the fund of the 5th C.M.R. would be used for the purchase of war certificates, with no interest.

Headed by Lieut. H. L. Atto, M.C., of Lennoxville, the entire slate of officers of the unit was re-elected for another term. Vice-Presidents are Captain Joseph Harold, M.C., of Montreal, and H. McKenzie, of Toronto, while Harry Richards and Clarence G. Price, both of Sherbrooke, are respectively Secretary and Treasurer. C. Gosselin is Secretary for the Montreal district, with W. N. McArthur acting in the same capacity for the Ontario district. President Atto was in the chair for the business meeting and also presided over the banquet.

Approximately one hundred veterans from various sections of Quebec, Ontario, the Maritime Provinces and the United States were present for the reunion. During the business meeting a message stressing the seriousness of the present situation was read from General D. C. Draper, C.M.G., M.C., of Toronto, Honorary President of the unit. General Draper has left for service overseas.

In his message to the men General Draper declared "the situation is still clouded with uncertainty. But the issue is clear. Shall civilization be trampled beneath the heel of a dictator whose only god is war, or shall the free institutions of democracy triumph, so that mankind may continue to enjoy the liberty for which our fathers fought?"

"That, and nothing else, is the cause in this war. But many Canadians still do not appear to appreciate its real significance. They smugly look upon the war as something very remote, a conflict that is being fought in Europe, far from the peace that is Canada," he said. General Draper declared "we should consecrate all our resources in material, in money and in manpower. Final success cannot be achieved through half-hearted efforts and the sooner we all realize this the better. He praised the determined manner in which the English are carrying on the fight and wished that "here in Canada we could catch some spark from English hearts to set us on fire with

"We must awaken to the seriousness of the situation," the message urged. "It is no time for half measures, no time for disguising the real issue. Britain is engaged in a life and death struggle with a relentless and crafty foe, so that you and I may continue to live happily in this land of present peace."

"Should Britain and France fail, then your peace and your life and your possessions will be worth what Poland's were—and no more. Do you imagine, in such a case, that a country so rich in potential wealth as is Canada would be safe from the greed and cupidity and merciless greed of a triumphant tyrant? No, indeed," General Draper said.

"Let us all awaken now, before it is too late, to a true realization of our responsibilities. Let us solemnly resolve that all the resources which we command shall be used to support Britain and her allies in this war. Britain is looking to Canada, her oldest son, at this grave crisis in her history for the greatest measure of help she has ever been called upon to give. We must not fail her. Let us see to it that Canada responds fully, completely, unreservedly, wholeheartedly. For only so shall the peace that is Canada remain a peace perpetuated for prosperity."

"Just think of it for a moment. Think of your children's day and generation. Do you want them to be free, in a free country? Or broken by the torture wheel of a Nazi Canada? This is a war to the finish. At its end, either the freedom we cherish shall endure, or the savage creed of a godless autocracy will sweep religion, freedom, justice and happiness into the limbo of forgotten things."

General Draper was second in command of the 5th C.M.R. in the First Great War. His message to the veterans was read by Captain Harold.

Following the business meeting the veterans formed in front of the New Sherbrooke House for a parade to the War Memorial. The parade was under the command of Colonel W. Rhoades, Croix de Guerre, D.S.O. and Bar, M.C., of Toronto, Officer Commanding the unit at the end of the First Great War. Colonel Rhoades was mentioned in dispatches seven times for gallantry in action against the enemy.

The band of the Sherbrooke Regiment (M.G.) headed the parade to the King Street monument, where prayers for victory, departed comrades and those who have given their lives for the Allied cause in the present conflict were offered by the Rev. Canon H. R. Bigg, Rector of St. Peter's Church, Chaplain of the Sherbrooke Regiment, and a participant in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, No. 4, following a hymn by the band and the sounding of "Taps," a wreath was placed at the base of the shaft by Sgt.-Major Jack Leach, of Montreal, the first man to enlist in the unit.

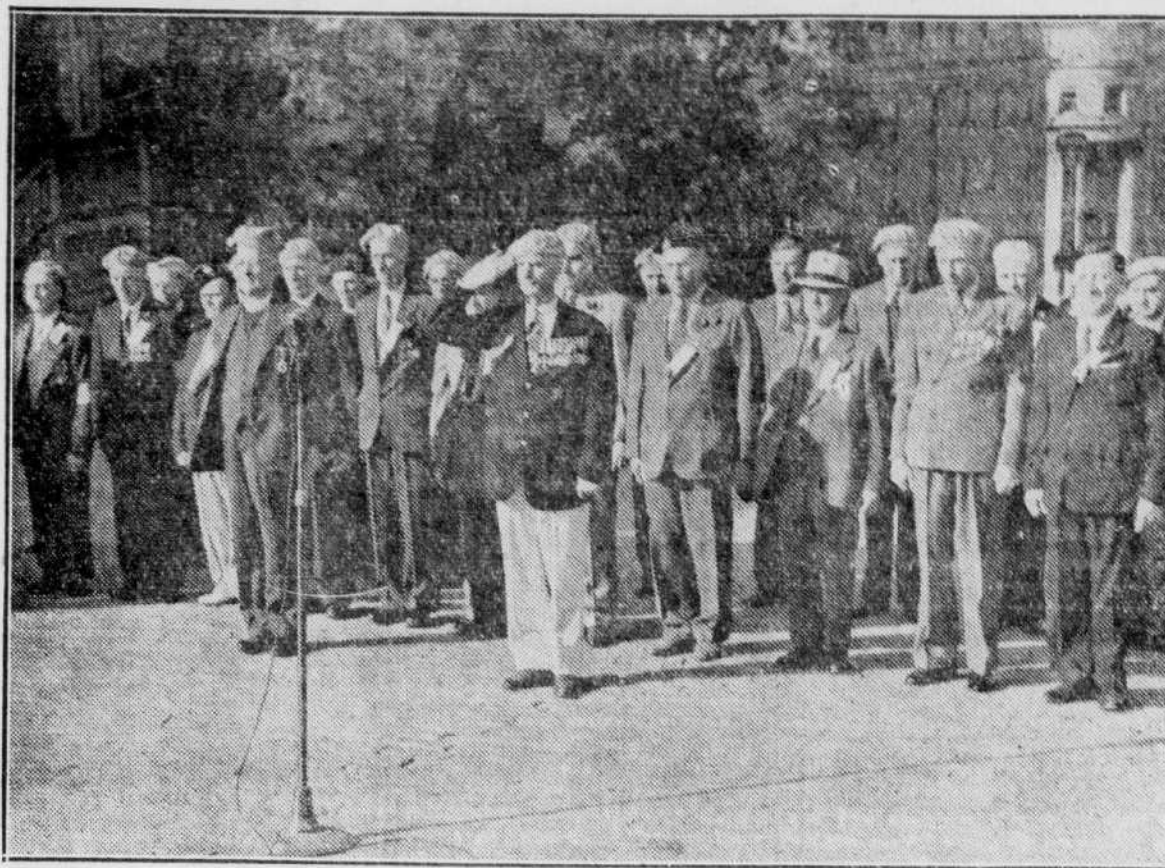

Speaking at the banquet in the New Sherbrooke House Saturday night, Colonel Rhoades declared "let the Huns have Paris. We're going to beat the pants off them. He said that Hitler was "lower than the belly of a snake lying in the gutter" and urged Canadians to be confident.

"Keep your tails up," he said. "We're going to beat the swine again and this time we're going to make a real job of it."

Confidence in an ultimate Allied victory was also expressed by Charles Hunter, of Boston, Mass., who served with the regiment overseas. The American public is awakening to the dangers facing the democratic

VETERANS CONFIDENT OF BRITISH VICTORY

Grave were the members of the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles as they stood at attention in front of the King Street War Memorial Saturday afternoon. They were remembering the last war and thinking once again of comrades who died so that the Empire might live. They were realizing, too, that the situation is serious, but they were confident that Britain will triumph.

Standing at salute is Colonel W. Rhoades, Croix de Guerre, D.S.O. and Bar, M.C., of Toronto, a gallant soldier who was in command of the 5th C.M.R. at war's end. He was mentioned in dispatches seven times for bravery in action against the enemy. To his left is the Rev. Canon H. R. Bigg, who offered prayers at the services, during which a wreath was placed on the monument.

REGULAR RATE TO BE CHARGED FOR CIRCULARS

Post Office Department Announces Half-Cent Rate for Local Distribution of Printed Matter to Be Cancelled August 1.

Having determined that the revenue derived from circulars mailed for local distribution to householders at the half-cent rate is not sufficient to take care of the added cost to the Post Office Department, the Department announced today that effective on August 1st such circulars will be liable to the regular printed matter rate.

The increased rate will doubtless act as a deterrent in the distribution of circulars, which are more of a nuisance than anything else and inevitably clutter up the streets.

The announcement, made in the Weekly Bulletin issued by the Post Office Department, read as follows: "It has been ascertained that the revenue derived from circulars mailed for local distribution to householders at the half-cent rate is not sufficient to take care of the cost of handling and the extra clerical work involved in making the necessary special arrangements for these mailings."

"In the circumstances, it has been decided to discontinue the half-cent rate for circulars mailed for local distribution to householders, effective August 1st, 1940. On and after the above date, circulars mailed for local distribution to householders will be liable to the regular printed matter rate of one cent per two ounces or fraction of two ounces to each separate address."

"Postmasters will please bring the above notice to the attention of patrons concerned."

C.C.F. URGES MOBILIZATION OF INDUSTRIES

R. L. Calder, K.C., Guest Speaker at Meeting of Local Co-operative Commonwealth Federation Supporters.

Instead of concentrating on an expeditionary force Canada should at once mobilize her industries and resources to make the greatest possible contribution of munitions and equipment to the armies now resisting Nazi and Fascist brutality. R. L. Calder, K.C., declared at a dinner here last night attended by local supporters of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

Mr. Calder, who contested Verdun in the C.C.F. party in the last Provincial and Federal elections, claimed the Federation had been proved the party with the most foresight by urging, since the outbreak of war, that what the Allies needed is not men but materials.

Describing the general lines along which it is planned to base the C.C.F. programme for the near future, Mr. Calder said that the immediate programme deals with measures for the alleviation of unemployment and the long-range policy aims at the establishment of co-operative organizations wherever monopolistic corporations obtain control of essential products.

"Quebec has long since solidified liquor," he said, "but the supply of coal is still in the hands of the private combines. Surely it is far more important that our people should be warm than that they should have cheap drinks." He pointed to works of the present New Zealand Government as examples of what the C.C.F. would try to do.

Mr. Calder claimed that the C.C.F. is founded on a scientific basis and its leaders are recognized as sincere men who devote their time without remuneration to the study of the country's problems. The programme, he concluded, was based on the interests of the Canadian people as a whole and though the party was by no means rich its policy would always remain honest and straightforward.

Mr. Calder was introduced by T. Bilodeau, President of the Sherbrooke C.C.F. Association, and thanked by the Secretary, Philip Pepin.

BOY CRITICALLY INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

Robert Losier, Ten Years Old, in Hospital After King Street Accident—Other Mishaps in Townships.

Aftermath of one of a series of accidents in different parts of the Eastern Townships over the weekend, Robert Losier, ten-year-old son of the street leading to the Vacation Colony, is in the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, his condition being considered critical.

The Losier lad was struck down this morning when crossing King Street West near the city limits about eight o'clock. Driver of the car was Elie Lalumière, of Sherbrooke, who stopped immediately after the accident. Brian's ambulance brought the boy to hospital where an examination by Dr. Richard Gaudet revealed probable fractured skull. He was still unconscious at noon.

Lee Heath, twenty-five, of Stanstead, who fell while climbing in a quarry at Richmond yesterday, received severe lacerations to his back and was ordered sent to the Sherbrooke Hospital after being given first aid by Dr. C. E. Manning, of Richmond, who is in the care.

FINE SERMONS ARE DELIVERED AT LENNOXVILLE

Rev. Mr. Matthews Preaches on Christian Conduct During War Crisis.

Two timely and inspiring sermons were heard by the congregations of the Lennoxville United Church yesterday, when their pastor, Rev. F. R. Matthews, gave them some advice on Christian conduct during the present crisis and exhorted them to what the Christians of earlier days had had to endure.

In the morning, Rev. Mr. Matthews spoke from his chosen subject, "The Divine Patience," which he based on the third chapter of the second epistle of Peter, the eighth verse. But, beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day." At this service the senior choir, under the direction of the organist and choir director, Miss Jean Sampbell, was heard in the anthem by Morrison, "Dream of Galilee," which included a lovely soprano solo part by Mrs. Austin H. Scott.

For the evening address, the pastor chose the subject, "The Message of the Church in Time of Trouble," and spoke from the third chapter of Malachi, concerning the coming of the Lord, the infidelity of the people, and the promise of blessing.

Rev. Mr. Matthews pointed out that the people must come together in prayer, must seek after God, where they will find the peace which they desire, and in turning directly to Him and trusting in Him, they will be given the certain assistance which He always gives to those who trust in Him. Instead of an anthem at this service, the choir offered the beautiful hymn, "As Comes the Breath of Spring," by Ritchie.

The flowers placed on the communion table were a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Allen MacKenzie.

QUALIFYING ROUNDS PLAYED

Due to the fact that gentlemen members of the Lennoxville Golf Club journeyed to Stanstead on Saturday, where they were the guests of the Stanstead Golf Club for a friendly game, the ladies of the local club held complete sway over the Lennoxville course. Qualifying rounds were run off, including the qualifying round for the Ladies' Trophy, and the qualifying round for Mrs. R. W. E. Wright's Trophy for Class "A" players. A

Many Attended Official Opening Of New Building At Stanstead College

Approximately Five Hundred People Inspected Main Building Constructed to Replace Former Structure Destroyed in Fire of May 28, 1938—Tea and Reception Enjoyed—Modern Features of Building Noted.

Stanstead, June 17.—Completed on April 1, 1940, to replace the former structure which was destroyed by fire on May 28, 1938, the new Main Building of Stanstead College was opened to the public at official opening ceremonies held Saturday afternoon, and approximately five hundred people took advantage of the opportunity to inspect what is considered one of the most modern and best-equipped educational buildings in Canada.

Members of the College Board of Trustees, through whose efforts the funds needed for construction of the new building were raised by means of subscription, planned Saturday's activities, which were under the immediate direction of a Central Committee convened by Mrs. E. C. Amaron and including Mrs. J. D. Ferguson, Mrs. W. V. Poupst, Mrs. L. G. McGilton, Mrs. Bernice McIntosh and Miss Elsie McFadden.

Visitors were received by Rev. E. C. Amaron, Principal of the College, and Mrs. Amaron, Dr. Charles W. Colby, of Montreal, member of the Board of Trustees, who headed the Campaign Committee, and Mrs. Colby, Miss Mary Flint, of Stanstead, Secretary of the Alumni Association, and D. W. Davis, of Derby Line, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

When the guests arrived, they were met at the entrance of the building and escorted to the reception room, where they were introduced to the members of the receiving line. With students acting as guides, the visitors made tours of inspection, visiting the classrooms, laboratories and dormitories of the building, then returned to the dining room, where tea was served. The building was open from three until six o'clock in the afternoon and tea was served from four until six o'clock.

Those present were unanimous in praise of the new Main Building and derived particular enjoyment from examining the modern features of the structure and also from renewing friendships and acquaintances during the tea hour. Clusters of spring flowers, provided for the day by ladies of the Border communities, lent a festive air to the reception and dining rooms.

Several months after the disastrous fire, the foundation of the building was laid in the fall of 1938. The work of construction was commenced on August 8, 1939, and completed on April 1, 1940. The building is of five stories, has accommodation for eighty students and contains seven classrooms, two laboratories, offices, dining room, reception hall, boys' playroom and an infirmary.

Every new feature of construction may be found in the structure. The walls are of murelume and the floors of asbestos tile. Made of metal, the stairways are lighted with glass bricks. The central structure of the building is of steel joist construction, and there is a cement slab between each of the floors.

Completely modern, the laboratories evoked great praise from the visitors. The labs and classrooms are equipped with indirect and automatically-controlled heating, and thermostatically-controlled heating, and ventilation is provided by a central system.

BRITAIN CARRIES ON

While the staggering blow to the cause of democracy delivered by the capitulation of the French land armies will force a drastic readjustment in the British plan of campaign, it will in no way deter the peoples of the British Commonwealth from carrying on the struggle against Nazi aggression. For days past, British leaders, from Prime Minister Winston Churchill down, have made it clear that the Empire will continue the battle, alone if necessary.

True, conditions of carrying on war have changed, but this is not the first time that the British people have been called upon to fight an almost lone-handed struggle against the forces of barbarism and anarchy, only to emerge victorious in the end. The days ahead are bound to be dark, with the struggle probably being long, but with united effort and confidence victory may still be brought out of chaos.

In any consideration of the future, the position of the United States plays an important part. For some weeks now, it has been apparent that there is a growing feeling in the great Republic that sooner or later, it must throw in the full weight of its resources, material and human, if freedom is to be preserved to the world. Just what effect the developments in Europe today will have on the United States is uncertain, but it seems probable that they will hasten participation in the fight.

Although victory is considered certain in the final analysis, the fight will be hard and calls for the unstinted effort of all Britishers in all parts of the world. People in every line of endeavor must redouble their efforts and then increase the work. This applies from the Government to the humblest citizen. Each and everyone must apply himself or herself to the task ahead. There can be no turning back.

Prior to departing on his last journey, Hon. Norman Rogers, Canadian Minister of National Defence, penned a message to the Canadian people which he was never destined to deliver, but it was a message of hope and inspiration in a trying hour. Commenting on the dark days which he saw ahead, the Minister said:

"In the faith we will fight on, we will resist, we will endure, we will take the offensive and we will win."

ANOTHER "OLD TIMER" IN HARNESS

Faced with one of the greatest crises in her history, Great Britain is looking to the "Old-timers," veterans of previous wars, to play their part in the protective measures designed to ward off the possible invaders. One of these is General Sir Hugh Elles, who was let out of the Army Council in 1937 by War Minister Hore-Belisha but is now back in harness as commander-in-chief of the British air raid precautions services because of his genius in large-scale military operations.

He is to educate on military lines the thousands of A. R. P. "staff" officers in case air-raids mean large-scale movements of civil defence workers from town to town.

His new title is chief of the operational staff of the civil defence services. Previously he was regional commissioner for the southwest.

In 1917 he led the audacious tank attack which broke the Hindenburg line; became known as the "Admiral of the Tanks" and in post-war days held high military posts.

Now at sixty, he is to command 1,250,000 men and have far greater power than ever he had in the army as a member of the Army Council.

From a secret headquarters he will instruct A.R.P. officers how to move large numbers of the "civilian army" from unaffected areas to others sorely in need of A.R.P. assistance.

The officers will learn from him the army method of moving men and equipment quickly, the army method of road conveyance, and how to work out swiftly alternative routes should the main route become impassable through enemy action.

Elles of the Tanks looks more like a university don than a soldier. His quiet manner and sound reasoning is known throughout the army.

ASPIRATION AND ACHIEVEMENT

By Grenville Kleiser.

Before you retire at night make a mental plan of the important things you intend to do the next day. When you have a well-made plan, and earnestly resolve to fulfil it, you will accomplish more in less time and with less expenditure of energy than you would otherwise do. The essential thing is to carry out your plan conscientiously.

Assuming that you have made it as a result of intelligent consideration, adhere to it strictly. Put purpose, resoluteness and faith into your work, that every day may be highly productive. Great achievement is the sum of many small acts. Devote your superior abilities to significant things, so that you may ultimately realize a great life purpose. Aspiration must precede achievement.

You are frequently subjected to mental tests, when you must choose what course to take. A mood of depression creeps over you, or a sense of disappointment would make you captive. Submit to it, and it will possibly master you.

Reason it out quietly and logically, and you can deprive it of its power to enslave you. Just as wrong thinking has brought depression or disappointment to you, so right thinking can emancipate you from its influence. Take ample time for meditation, that your thoughts may deepen and mature.

Realize that you serve your best ultimate interests by promptly ridding your mind of every discordant thought, and that persistent effort of the right kind will surely make you master of your moods and circumstances.

The worst thing that can befall you is to have nothing useful to do. From that moment life will be an aimless, aching void, and time a cruel torturer. The man who has not experienced the joy of hard work has lived in vain. A life of ease and sloth is a daily purgatory and a cause of widespread unhappiness.

It is incomprehensible that in this day of golden opportunity there should be anyone, in good health, with nothing to work and live for. The joy of work of daily conquest, of unexpected difficulties to overcome, of new enterprises—these make life interesting, worth while, and wholesome.

Find your right vocation, put your best abilities to daily use, work cheerfully, willingly, and courageously, and you will know the joy of true living.

Indecision and inaction are foes to progress. When you are in doubt about an important course of conduct take time to consider it thoroughly. Cultivate a judicial mind and weigh all sides of the matter. Form your conclusions slowly and deliberately. Be prudent in your decisions. It is well to think and plan before you act, but once the way is clear to you, go forward with promptitude, resolution and confidence.

Definite daily steps in the right direction will bring you at length to the desired destination. A progressive life demands initiative, effort and purpose. The law is use or lose. Today's opportunities will probably never come to you again. Other opportunities may come, but what they will be only time can disclose.

Be sincere in your self-judgment. If there is in you any moral imperfection, false pride, indolence, or indulgence, look at it fearlessly and resolve to conform your life to God's perfect plan. Do not defraud yourself by passing lightly over faults which you know should be eradicated from your nature.

Subject yourself to a rigid self-examination, and having found the weak and imperfect things proceed to substitute and develop the qualities which distinguish greatness of character. Know precisely what you are now and what you intend to be.

Know your true motives. Remember there is nothing finer than a spirit of sincere service, which gives generously without thought of recognition or return. True greatness lies in giving rather than in receiving.

The ratepayers having approved the required bonus, the Dominion Vault and Safe Company made arrangements for occupying the abandoned Canadian Pacific Railway shops at Farnham, thus materially relieving the unemployment situation caused by the removal of the main railway shops to Montreal.

These taking part in a concert presented under the auspices of the Aye's Club W.C.T.U. were: Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Lyon, Miss Cora Bangs, Miss Alice Buck, Miss Margarette Brown, Miss Bachelor, Mrs. W. E. Hurd and Mrs. Rand.

The following directors were elected at the annual meeting of the Dominion Lime Company, held at Sherbrooke: William Farwell, James Mackinnon, F. P. Buck, Calvin Page, H. R. Fraser, W. S. Dresser, T. H. VanDyke, P. W. Whittemore and R. H. Pope.

WAR DISASTER ON PARLIAMENT HILL

(Family Herald and Weekly Star)

In recent weeks the Allied arms have sustained serious reverses on the battlefield. Yet through all the tragedy shines a glowing picture of heroism, of devotion, of self sacrifice, of military skill which lifts up our hearts with gratitude and pride and strengthens our confidence in future victory.

But when Canadians turn for hope and comfort to what should be a happier scene,—to Parliament Hill where their representatives are gathered to lead and organize and inspire the nation to victory, they find a depressing scene.

For on that field another disastrous battle is being fought, unredeemed by heroism or self sacrifice,—waged apparently for political advantage rather than for the honor of Canada and the salvation of Democracy.

Mr. Hansell, the member for Macleod, truly described many of the speeches when he said of one partisan tirade that "such a speech as he made here tonight makes Herr Hitler laugh—and angels weep. I am afraid that much of today's proceedings in this House will form a very cloudy spot in the annals of Canadian Parliamentary debate in years to come."

Unfortunately those words express only half the truth. We, the common people of Canada are not worrying much about Parliamentary annals in years to come, but we are worrying, with indignation which grows harder and harder to suppress, about Parliamentary debate and action TODAY,—and tomorrow, and every day that passes with brave men dying in Flanders and noble ideals of patriotic service being stifled everywhere in Canada.

No party in the House can escape blame for the degeneration from the lofty patriotism which characterized the opening of Parliament to the vicious partisan warfare recorded in pages of Hansard for May 30th—the latest official report available, as these words are written.

The fifty pages of that report should be read by every voter in Canada, for no newspaper reports can give the terrible cumulative effect of speech after speech, question after question, retort after retort, disorder, neglect of the House's own rules,—and through the whole of it nothing but the rarest gleam to show that the majority realizes that it is responsible for all the leadership Canadians have in this desperate, urgent struggle for their own and their Empire's freedom.

It is some comfort that most of the party leaders on both sides have maintained some dignity, and that comparatively few members have shown themselves forgetful of the public will. But it is those few who are monopolizing the time of the House and daily re-kindling every old ember of bitterness they can rake from the political garbage of the last twenty-five years.

In trying to give a true picture to the 300,000 homes into which these words will go, it is pleasant to compliment most of the Western private members. Some of the smaller and newer groups have shown an honorable example to the older, bigger parties. They have, on the whole, justified Mr. Blackmore, the member for Lethbridge, in his statement that "our group, as I think has been noticed, is endeavoring not to speak except when we feel we can help matters along." And although their few short speeches on abstract economic theories might have seemed wasteful of precious time if these had interrupted a more useful debate, they were welcome interludes of good will in this one. Mr. Blackmore's quiet rebuke to some of the more virulent debaters was dignified and pointedly logical. "It is most interesting," he said, "that honorary members can rise in their places and devote thirty minutes or so to making demands that the Prime Minister should resign without any intimation that they are wasting time, but the very minute that Social Crediters begin to discuss matters of such vital moment as monetary science, we are accused of wasting time."

It was those silly and impractical demands for the resignation of a Prime Minister, newly elected with a huge majority, which precipitated the most unworthy scenes of this debate. But at least equally responsible was the unwillingness of some Ministers to give a frank account of their stewardships.

Since Parliament opened it has bombarded Ministers with questions about Canada's war effort, as was its plain right and duty. Some Ministers have shown such dexterity in avoiding straightforward answers, that they not only do an injustice to the rights of Parliament and the people, but also give weight to the accusations that they have plenty to conceal.

This Parliament has the greatest continuity and the greatest responsibility of any since Confederation—the common people of Canada have the right to demand that it be worthy.

AMERICAN REACTION

(Le Nouvelliste, Three Rivers.) In declaring war against Great Britain and France, Mussolini definitely pushed the United States on the side of the Allies. According to the words of Republican Senator Vandenberg, a candidate for the presidency, the United States are now "non-belligerents on the side of the Allies."

In an address translated and broadcast in seven languages, President Roosevelt sounded a call for the mobilization of all American energy to help the Allies. The future of the American people is at stake, he said. "Our entire sympathy goes to the nations now shedding their blood in fighting the armies of force and hate."

President Roosevelt did not spare Duce. "On this tenth day of June, 1940, the hand which held the dagger plunged it into the back of a neighbor," he said.

He said that his country would place at the disposition of the Allies all its immense natural resources even while preparing to face any eventualities. To partisans of isolation he said they were basking in an illusion.

This speech of President Roosevelt condenses the entire American opinion. In the last few days particularly the pro-Allies movement has gained force in the United States in such a manner that observers are prone to say that it is equal to the feelings in 1917 when the United States entered the war.

Even as non-belligerents, the United States can help the Allied cause prodigiously. Certainly, their initial effort will be in the field of aviation for that is the one in which they can act most rapidly.

Their economic power and superiority is also a most important factor. As dark as may be the situation in France, the Germans have not yet had a decisive victory.

Good advice to Colonel Lindbergh went by to keep out of Canada as long as he continues to expound his peculiar view about its entry into the war.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

HARD TO EXPLAIN VEGETARIAN HITLER

(St. Thomas Times-Journal) This man Hitler seems to be worse than the ogres we read about when we were young; even worse than the monsters who chewed up children if they did not go to bed. Somewhere in their makeup these people had a human streak and could be made amenable to reason, but nobody can do anything with this man. He's all unreasonable monster and nothing else.

Hitler has disturbed a lot of people, but none more so than vegetarians, and the editor of the Vegetarian News of London, in particular. Hitler is a vegetarian, and the News lets the cult out of any sort of responsibility by remarking that they will have to revise their ideas about vegetarian diet having a direct influence upon character. But it consoles itself with the thought that if Hitler had been a meat eater he would have been a great deal worse.

That will hardly do because Hitler's right-hand man, Goering, is a hearty trencherman, enjoying the pleasures of a table groaning with fleshly food, as his figure testifies, and according to Sir Neville Henderson he isn't such a bad guy, and if he has been Fuehrer there would not have been any war. Perhaps the vegetarian paper consoled itself with the same view that the late Mrs. Patrick Campbell took toward vegetarian George Bernard Shaw when she told him: "Heaven help us if you ever eat a beefsteak." Our guess is, too, that if Goering had been on one of those "vegetable plate" dinners he would be ten times worse than Hitler.

The Vegetarian News might have taken refuge by suggesting that it was the Fuehrer's bachelorhood that was wrong with him. Or even that he is a non-smoker and cannot bear the odor of tobacco, but we have an idea that vegetarianism and non-smoking go together. And there are innumerable fine "unattached" men.

FRENCH WOMEN AND WAR

(Manchester Guardian)

Women in France do not wear uniforms in wartime, but they are more directly affected by the war than the women of any other country.

The French peasant woman has always been a hard worker; now she works as hard, and as long as her working day always was, it is longer still. Always there is, apart from the question of money, a strong motive among the peasant women of France to do the utmost "to keep things in good shape." To quote a woman's letter from the centre of France: "My husband is so fond of the animals, I hope very much he will find them just as they were when he comes back." And here is a quotation from the letter of an elderly woman who herself ploughs her field whenever a neighbor lends her a horse. "My son would be so disappointed if he found I had made a mess of the field and the farm, and if he found all the implements going rusty."

In the last war France employed 400,000 women in her war industries, and it is expected that the figure will be much higher this time. Aeroplane works already em-

"HANDLE PARTNERS WITH CARE," URGES MASTERS' CHAMPION

This is the first of a series of six articles, in which Morris Ellis, winner of the masters' individual world championship, explains the technique of handling different partners.

The masters' individual contest is limited to 36 selected players, and each contestant must play with every other as a partner once and as an opponent twice. To win this event, therefore, it is necessary to be able to handle different partners. In presenting this series of six articles, Ellis explains that with a partner with whom you play regularly, you bid differently and make certain plays that cannot be made with strange partners. In other words, you should not put a strange partner on the spot.

When Ellis' opening lead of the queen of spades held the first trick, he knew that his partner held the ace. In case East also held the ten, Ellis would have liked to continue a low spade; his partner would win with the ten and return a club.

But believing that would put too much strain on a new partnership, Ellis, hoping that East had the diamond suit stopped, played the jack of trumps, picked up the trumps, but then had to let East in and the contract was defeated.

MARRIAGES

DUBUC-DU BERGER
The marriage of Berengere Du Berger, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Du Berger, to Mr. Charles P. Dubuc, of Sherbrooke, was quietly solemnized at eleven o'clock on Saturday morning, June 15th, in the Pauline Chapel of St. Michael's Cathedral, the Rev. Canon J. A. Bourgoing, of Roberval, uncle of the bride, officiating. The bride, who was unmarried, was given in marriage by her brother, and Colonel J. Arthur Dubuc, of Ottawa, acted as best man.

BROWN-BONNALLIE
The marriage of Eunice May, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bonnallie, Brompton Road, to Mr. Milton Taylor Brown, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Brown, Brompton Road, was solemnized at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, at "The Manse" of St. Andrew's Church, the Rev. J. R. Graham officiating.

The bride, who was attended by her sister, Miss Thelma Bonnallie, wore a smart Heaven Blue crepe afternoon frock, with hat to match, and her corsage was of Talisman roses and lily-of-the-valley. The bridesmaid was becomingly gowned in dusty rose sheer, with hat of the same shade, and corsage of sweet peas and baby's breath.

Mr. Merton R. Brown, of Montreal, brother of the groom, acted as best man. After the ceremony, an informal reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ross, the former of whom was the bride's maid of honor. The reception was held in the rooms were decorated with a profusion of summer blooms.

The bride's table, covered with an Italian cut-work cloth, was centered with the wedding cake, topped with forget-me-nots and sweet peas, the same flowers encircling its base, and also used in tiny crystal vases on the table.

Later, the bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip to Portland and Boston, via the White Mountains, the bride travelling in a tailored suit of Air Force Blue, with accessories to match.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Brown will reside on the Brompton Road.

Out-of-town guests included Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Boast, the Misses Jean and Lois Boast, Mrs. Linton Johnston, Miss Doris Johnston, Mrs. Merrill Taber, all of Richmond, and Mr. Merton Brown, of Montreal.

qualifying round for the special prize for the Nine Hole Competition given by Mrs. J. P. L. Stewart resulted in a tie between Mrs. A. N. Flint and Mrs. H. M. Brown. In spite of the interest which focussed on activity on the course the usual enjoyable bridge games were played on the club house Verandah, and later afternoon tea was served by the afternoon's hostesses, Mrs. Nelson Lethrop, Mrs. S. V. Banfill, Miss Margaret Kirby and Miss Stoddard.

General Notes
Miss Margaret Stewart's many friends are pleased that she has returned safely to her home here after a hazardous journey aboard the S.S. "Manhattan" from Italy.

Miss Stewart has been studying in Switzerland for several years, and arrived in New York last week where she was greeted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Stewart, who motored to the metropolis to meet her. After attending the New York World's Fair they returned to their residence on Main Street.

Several telegrams and letters of greetings from the State of Vermont, and the Lennoxville High School, expressed their pleasure at her home-coming.

way of life, he said, and referring to Canada's part in the war, urged that "more pressure" be applied to Ottawa, declaring that the Government "cannot do any too much." Mr. Hunter was introduced by President Atto, who also addressed the gathering briefly.

During the evening the veterans joined in singing a number of favorite war songs led by Miss I. Bushnell, who was also heard in vocal solos.

Later the gathering enjoyed films of scenes taken at previous reunions here.

Concluding their reunion, the veterans paraded to St. Peter's Church yesterday morning, where they heard the Rev. Canon Bigg declare "God is our hope and strength. Let us put our trust in Him and righteousness will eventually triumph." The parade to the church was under the command of Colonel Rhoades.

Rev. Canon Bigg, during the service, offered special prayers for the King, the Empire, her ally, France, Canada and the men serving in the armed forces at home and Overseas.

Junior Trade Groups Suggest Establishment of Bureau in Sherbrooke to Promote Tourist Business.

(By Record Staff Reporter)
Waterloo, June 17.—Establishment in Sherbrooke of a Provincial bureau charged with publicizing the Eastern Townships and promoting tourist trade was one of the principal recommendations advanced by delegates to the 1940 convention of the Eastern Townships Federated Junior Chambers of Commerce held in the Waterloo Town Hall yesterday.

Sarto Fournier, of Granby, was elected President to succeed J. Wilfrid Stebbene, of Sherbrooke, and other officers named were: Antonin Boisclair, of Actonville, Vice-President, and Jacques Lagasse, of Sherbrooke, Secretary-Treasurer. The 1941 convention will be held in Granby.

In the absence of Mr. Stebbene, the business meeting in the afternoon was under the presidency of Paul-Emile Brazeau, of Sherbrooke, and was featured by discussion on problems of the day and especially those relating to the Eastern Townships. A review of the past year's activities and of results obtained by the Federated Chambers since the group was formed was given by Roger Bouchard, of Coaticook, who also acted as Secretary pro tem.

Laxity on the part of Federal, Provincial and municipal authorities in gathering information and making known the advantages offered by the Eastern Townships was scored by Mr. Brazeau and by Armand Nadeau, of Sherbrooke, who suggested the Quebec Government be requested to open in the Queen City of the Eastern Townships an office whose staff would be charged with preparing leaflets and contacting other tourist bureau, the better to bring home to the rest of Canada and to the United States the beauties and facilities of the region.

Charles Gordon, of Sherbrooke, and Lucien Ledoux, of Waterloo, discussed the maintenance of winter roads in the Townships and sponsored a resolution asking for more financial support for the various winter roads' associations and especially the Eastern Townships Winter Roads Association which is responsible for the Sherbrooke-Waterloo stretch of Route No. 1. The need of a suitable road to Mount Orford National Park was also stressed in another resolution advanced by Mr. Gordon.

Among the features of the afternoon's programme were a parade and sporting competitions, the latter being held on the Fair Grounds. The delegates were welcomed to Waterloo by Lucien Ledoux, President of the Waterloo Junior Chamber of Commerce, and his staff of officers.

Crowning event of the convention was a banquet in the Town Hall where the guests included Dr. J. D. Bachand, Commissioner of Domestic and International Relations for the State of Vermont, Rene Leclerc, M.P. for Shefford, Carl Bullock, M.L.A. for Shefford, Mayor Horace Boivin of Granby, Mayor Sylva Lebrun of Waterloo and Richmond Pelletier and Roger Charbonneau, both of Montreal.

That Canada has a definite part in the struggle of the British Empire against the forces of Nazi aggression was stated by Mr. Leclerc, who maintained that even though the European situation seemed critical there must be no despair, and faith in the eventual success of the Allied cause must be held. He praised the members of the Junior trade groups for their interest in public affairs and urged them to continue in their activities.

Co-operation with the Federal authorities in ensuring that every Canadian does his or her share in winning the war was asked for by Mr. Bullock, who warned of the dangers of subversive activities and the need for a close watch on possible Fifth Columnists. Mr. Bachand, in turn, emphasized the bonds between the people of the United States and the Dominion.

Other speakers were Mayor Lebrun, Mayor Boivin and Joseph Plouffe while Gaston Ledoux acted as chairman. A large number of townspeople joined the members of the Federation for the excellent banquet and praise for the splendid organization of the convention was heard on all sides.

EARLY VEGETABLES EASY TO PREPARE, HIGH IN VITAMINS

Early vegetables are the first food harbingers of spring. First come the wild greens, dandelion and sorrel, also watercress and cowslip, or pokeweed and milk weed. Lamb's quarters, purslane, field cress and many others appear on the list of greens in some localities.

If the greens have roots or any wilted leaves, cut these off. Wash the greens through several changes of water. Always lift the greens from the water, to let the sand fall to the bottom.

When vegetables are served raw in a green salad, use them as soon as possible. They gradually lose some of their vitamins when held in storage. Keeping them in the refrigerator or other cold place will cut down this loss.

When greens are used raw, wash them quickly and put them in a cold place to become crisp. Don't let them stand in water.
If the greens are to be cooked, put them in a covered saucepan. If the saucepan is thick enough for them to cook slowly, use just the water that clings to the leaves and have a very low fire under the pan. Cook until just tender.

Panning Also Advised
Panning is another good way to cook greens with a pungent flavor. Melt some fat in skillet and add the chopped greens. Cover the pan to keep in the steam, and cook slowly for 15 to 20 minutes, or until tender. Sprinkle a small amount of flour over the greens, mix well, and then pour in some milk or cream. Season with salt and pepper. These panned greens will contain all the food value and flavor of the vegetable, as well as that of the milk.

There are many chances for the careless cook to lose some of the food values she expects to get when she buys or grows vegetables. The more water she uses, the more likely she will be to throw away the vitamins and minerals that have been dissolved in the cooking process.

BEDFORD GROUP MEMBERS GIVE TO BUY PLANE

Each Will Donate One Dollar or More Towards Purchase of Bomber by I.O.D.E.—To Collect Old Gold and Silver.

Bedford, June 17. — A special meeting of the Missisquoi Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held at the home of the Regent, Mrs. E. A. Chadsey, in response to a request from National headquarters of the I.O.D.E. in Toronto that a Chapter meeting be held at once to discuss means for raising funds for the bomber which was voted at the National meeting in St. John, N.B., to be presented to the Dominion Government, the cost of which is $100,000.

The meeting was opened with the prayer of the Order, after which the Regent asked the Secretary, Mrs. Richard Craighead, to read the minutes of the previous meeting, which was held at the home of Mrs. T. Montgomery at Phillipsburg, with Mrs. Edgar Naylor and Mrs. John Deuel as assisting hostesses. The minutes were approved as read.

The Regent read the letter from National headquarters explaining the reason for the calling of the meeting. A motion was made that each member of the Chapter subscribe $1 or more to the fund, in addition to the proceeds of the bridge party, were voted to the fund. Mrs. E. F. Currie was appointed to look after the collection of old gold and silver, the proceeds of the sale to be devoted to this fund. It was requested that all contributions for this cause be turned in as speedily as possible, as the bomber is to be paid for in a month.

A vote of thanks to the Regent was moved for her splendid work in raising funds for the carrying on of the Chapter's war work. The response of the townspeople to this worthy cause has been a source of great encouragement to the members of the Chapter.

The War Convener, Mrs. Harry Jones, reported that 447 articles have been shipped, not including boxes given to various boys, who had enlisted from this district, which totaled ten, all of which included a scarf, sweater, two pairs of socks and mittens. In addition a box containing a sweater, scarf and sewing kit had been sent to Miss Lillian Krans, of Pigeon Hill, who after doing heroic work both in Finland and Norway in driving an ambulance, is at present in France. Miss Krans drove the ambulance donated by the Canadian Government, while in Finland.

A letter was read from Pte. John Perry, of the Black Watch, thanking the Chapter for his box of comforts. In addition to doing the above work members of the Friday afternoon knitting group have made a number of sweaters for Major Saunders for members of his Dental Corps, the wool for the sweaters being supplied by the Corps. Major Saunders, who is Officer Commanding the Montreal District Dental Corps No. 4, is a former Bedford resident, also a veteran of the last Great War, and recently sailed for service overseas. The Chapter was very glad to accede to a request to knit sweaters for this unit.

The membership of the Chapter at the present numbers forty-three. New members are Mrs. L. Smith and Mrs. Aitken, of Phillipsburg, Mrs. M. Unwin, Mrs. Holland and Mrs. William Taylor. The Regent welcomed the new members and expressed the pleasure of the Chapter, at their joining.

Following the business meeting which concluded with the singing of the National Anthem, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Sinclair McIntosh and Mrs. A. S. McCaw. This was the last meeting of the Chapter until September. The weekly knitting meeting will continue to be held each Friday afternoon in the Social Club rooms.

MAGOG GROUP HEARS TALE OF LINER'S FATE

Story of Sinking of Athenia Told by Mrs. James Dolling, Passenger on Ship Torpedoed by Germans.

Magog, June 17. — A stirring description of the sinking of the ill-fated "Athenia" just after the war broke out was given at the Adventist Church by Mrs. James Dolling, wife of Rev. James Dolling, Pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Massena, N.Y. Mrs. Dolling was herself a passenger on the liner.

Mrs. Dolling left Canada on the Aurelia and went to England to visit her mother who was ill. Although intending to stay for a year she had been but one month in England when she was advised to return home at once. She tried to book passage on the Queen Mary but it was filled to capacity and she arranged to return by the Athenia.

Mrs. Dolling, who was a Salvation Army captain in the last war and served tea and food to the "Boys of 1914," now had the experience of again seeing soldiers everywhere. She boarded the Athenia on September 1st, the day war was declared and on the same day the ship was torpedoed.

There were 1,400 people on board, crowding the ship to capacity, Mrs. Dolling said. She had left her stateroom to go to her evening meal when the torpedo struck in the very part of the ship which she had just vacated. Life boats were launched and for fourteen hours the ship remained above water before it sank.

Mrs. Dolling and one other woman from her lifeboat escaped death when their lifeboat was caught in the propellers of the Norwegian yacht, the "Southern Cross." As a result of the ordeal she was ill for many days. Her clothing consisted of a pair of trousers, a white jacket and a pair of socks. She was transferred to the City of Flint and was later landed at Halifax where she spent six days in hospital before leaving for Montreal.

The address was very interesting and vivid. The choir sang "God's Tomorrow" and a silver collection was taken up to defray the cost of Mrs. Dolling's expenses.

SAINTS SNAP THREE RIVERS WIN STREAK

Gautreaux Conquer Drummondville By 8-6

St. Hyacinthe, Second in Provincial League, Pins 4-2 Defeat on League-Leading Trifluviens—Three Rivers Whips Quebec 4-3 in Afternoon Tilt—Sherbrooke Takes Early Lead to Top Tigers at Victoriaville.

All good things must end some time and the three Rivers' winning streak in the Provincial Baseball League proved no exception. But it held out long enough for them to add one more victory to it during the weekend.

St. Hyacinthe, in second place in the standing, snapped the streak last night by pinning a 4-2 defeat on the league-leaders, The Trifluviens' defeat came after they had stretched their string to eight straight by whipping Quebec, 4-3, in an afternoon match.

In other games yesterday, Quebec beat Sherbrooke Braves, 3-0, at Sherbrooke; the Braves went to Victoriaville for an 8-6 triumph over the last-place Drummondville Tigers; Granby whipped St. Hyacinthe, 8-5, and Drummondville lost to Granby, 6-3. There were no games scheduled Saturday.

At Victoriaville, which Drummondville used as their home grounds for the day, the Braves maintained their hold on third place with a victory over the Tigers. The Braves took an early lead with a four-run rally in the second frame on five hits, an error and a base on balls.

The Tigers came back with one in their half of the second but Sherbrooke scored another two in the third and two more in the seventh. Tigers were held scoreless by Pitcher Jack Kimble to single runs in the third and fifth frame, two in the eighth and another single in the ninth.

At Sherbrooke at night, Quebec whipped the Braves behind the seven-hit, shutout pitching of Bill Yocke. The southpaw hurler struck out seven men and gave up only one run while his mates meanwhile scored a single run in the first frame and added two more in the eighth.

Playing at home in an afternoon game, Quebec lost to Three Rivers by the odd run in seven. The Trifluviens were outlasted, 10-3, but made the most of six Quebec errors for the victory.

The Athletics rallied for three runs in the second frame to go into a 3-2 lead but Three Rivers scored single runs in the third and fourth innings for the victory. Anderson hurled the victory, keeping Quebec scoreless but for their second-inning rally.

Granby won both their day's contests. The Red Sox defeated the Saints at St. Hyacinthe in the afternoon behind the steady six-hit hurling of Ralph Howard and repeated at Drummondville on a five-run rally in the eighth frame.

Three Rivers had their winning streak broken when St. Hyacinthe scored single runs in each of the seventh and eighth frames after the teams had played even until the sixth inning. Each squad scored a single marker in the first and sixth frames.

"So you sneer at tradition, eh?"

"Lots of young people—and I'm not so old myself—think it's smart to sneer at anything that wasn't invented yesterday. I belong to a firm started by my great-grandfather. He established a standard of high quality that has become a tradition—and I'm proud of it.

Available in packages, pocket pouches and ½ lb. tins.
