AMPUTATED.

The boy John Noonan, who had his leg broken in McGill street on Tuesday, by a coal cart passing over it, was progressing well until yesterday, when mortification set in, the limb had, therefore to be amputated, just below the hip joint. The operation was performed at the General Hospital, yesterday afternoon by Dr. Howard, and the poor little fellow is now doing well.

ARCHBISHOP TACHE.

We are informed that Mgr. Tache, late Bishop of St. Boniface, Manitoba, has received intimation from Rome that he has been elevated to the dignity of an archbishop, still retaining the appellation of St. Boniface. Mgr. Tache arrived in this city a few days since; also Mgr. Guiges, Bishop of Ottawa. Both the reverend gentlemen are on their way to Quebec, where a conference of bishops, presided over by the Archbishop of Quebec, begins on Tuesday next. There will be now four Roman Catholic archbishops in the Dominion.

HO FOR MANITOBA!

The Government has decided to send 200 men immediately to Red River on account of the Fenian invasion. The quota from this city will be 60 men and orders have been received to enlist that number of good men at once; the conditions being similar to those of the last enlistment. Query.—Is hard labor on St. Helen's Island included amongst the conditions? Lt.-Col. Smith left for Ottawa last night and will probably be placed in command of the expedition. The quota here will doubtless be filled up immediately and ten times as many could easily be obtained. We wish the boys all success.

FIRE.

About half-past one o'clock this morning an alarm was given from box 67 caused by a fire in Jordan & Bernard's lumber yard, Water street, between Brock and Barclay streets. The fire, which was doubtless the act of an incendiary, had gained considerable headway before the alarm was given, and when the reels arrived three piles of lumber and a small shed were in flames. The fire was in a very dangerous locality there being a number of wooden sheds and houses near it. The firemen worked with their accustomed vigor, and after a contest of nearly an hour the fire was mastered. The loss will be about $1,500, covered we believe by insurance. During the fire a man named Dean, foreman of Adam's tobacco factory fell from a shed about twelve feet high and broke his left arm.

ATTEMPTED RESCUE.

About 9 o'clock last night, three well-known rowdies, Archibald Santinno, George Lyman, and George Trowles had a row in a house of ill-fame on Ontario street, between St. Constant and St. Dominique streets, and beat two of the girls, Tellerid Boivin and Marie Corbill, unmercifully, one of the girls being said to be dangerously wounded. The trio were arrested and taken to St. Charles Barroee Street Station, and from thence sent, handcuffed, in a cab to the Central Station, in charge of sub-Constables Jones and Callahan. The cab was followed by a number of rowdies, friends of the prisoners, who kept up a lively bombardment with stones on the carriage; at the corner of St. James street and St. Lambert's Hill a fierce attack was made on the carriage; but, owing to the pluck of the policemen and assistance reaching them, the rowdies were beaten off, and the prisoners taken to the Station in safety. In the melee sub-Constable Jones received a severe blow on the back of the head from a stone, inflicting a flesh wound about two inches long; fortunately for the constable the stone struck his shoulder first, and so broke the force, or he would undoubtedly have had his skull fractured.

THE CAB QUESTION.

Last May during the carters strike we advised several much needed reforms in the cab laws, conspicuous amongst which was one compelling cabs to carry lights. This is an improvement which is greatly needed; the majority of our cabs have lamps—often very handsome ones—but whoever sees them lighted? On a dark night it is positively dangerous to cross any of our principal streets, especially Craig street, for the Committee of Light, with unparagonable economy, only furnish just enough lamps to make the darkness visible. The late fatal accident to Mr. Tetu may be attributed wholly to the fault of Craig street being imperfectly lighted and to the fact of the cab which knocked him down not having a light. Accidents occur constantly which are caused entirely by carters driving recklessly on dark nights without a light to warn passengers of their approach.

The law relating to carters needs several amendments and we suggest the following to the consideration of the Police Committee:

Cabs to be compelled to carry lamps—lighted.

Cabmen to be compelled to keep constantly pasted up in some conspicuous part of their vehicles a printed tariff, having also on it the number of the carriage.

The question of carrying lights is one of great importance to public safety and immediate action ought to be taken about it.

TO LEASE FOR A TERM OF YEARS.

Water-power and Premises, with Sixty (60) Horse-power Tyler Wheel, Buildings and Sheds; also Saw Mill adapted for Custom work.

These premises were formerly occupied as a Stove Foundry, and are well adapted for the Foundry Business, having a good Moulding Shop, Mounting Shop, and Pattern Sheds, or they are advantageously situated for an Agricultural Implement Manufactory, or for the manufacture of Sashes and Blinds, in connection with Planing Machines for dressing lumber. The facilities for getting lumber in the rough to these premises cannot be better, as they are situated on the main road, with direct water communication with all the large lumbering districts on the Ottawa, and lower districts on the St. Maurice. As nearly all the lumber from these districts pass through the Chambly Canal to the markets of the United States, the lumber should be brought to the door. There is a large and thickly populated surrounding country to supply with building material, which is compelled to draw its supplies from a great distance, at a great expense. Enterprise of this kind cannot but do a thriving and paying business. The property will be leased on liberal terms, the object of the proprietor being to get business started. POETRY.

THE FAVORITE POEM OF ABE LINCOLN.

Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud? Like a swift, fleeting meteor, a fast flying cloud, A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave, He passes from life to the rest of the grave.

So the multitude goes, like the flower or the weed That withers away to let others succeed; So the multitude comes, even those we behold, To repeat every tale that has often been told.

For we are the same as our fathers have been; We see the same sights our fathers have seen— We drink the same stream, and we view the same sun— And run the same course our fathers have run.

They died, ah! they died; we, things that are now, That walk on the turf that lies over their brow, And make in their dwellings a transient abode, Meet the things that they met on their pilgrim road.

Yes! hope and despondency, pleasure and pain, We mingle together in sunshine and rain; And the smile and the tear, the song and the dirge, Still follow each other, like surge upon surge.

"'Tis the wink of an eye," 'tis the draught of a breath; From the blossom of health to the paleness of death; From the gilded saloon to the Bier and the shroud— Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?

AN IRISH CONFEDERATION.

(New York Herald.)

A large meeting was held last evening in St. John's Hall, Jersey City, under the auspices of the Temperance Association, of which Mr. Thomas Duggan is president, Gen. Thomas F. Burke was expected to deliver an address on the necessity of organization, but as that gentleman was not seriously ill an address was delivered by Mr. Thomas Clarke Luby on the same subject. At the close of the address a club of the Irish Confederation was formed and a large number of these present stepped on the platform and signed the roll.

N. B.—All kinds of Jewellery neatly altered or repaired.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS, ST. JOHN, N.E.—Syr: Having while at your establishment, carefully examined your prescription, and the method of preparing your Compound Syrup, I felt anxious to give it a fair trial in my practice. For the last twelve months I have done so, and I find that in Incipient Consumption, and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, it has done wonders. In restoring persons suffering from the effects of Diphtheria, and the cough following Typhoid Fever, prevalent in this region, it is the best remedial agent I have ever used. But for persons suffering from exhaustion of the powers of the brain and nervous system, from long continued study or teaching, or in those cases of exhaustion from which so many young men suffer, I know of no better medicine for restoration to health than your Compound Syrup.

If you think this letter of any service, you are at liberty to use it as you see fit. I remain, yours, &c.

EDWIN CLAY, M.D. Pugwash, N.S., Jan 14, 1868.

Proclaim the Glad Tidings!

That the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY AND PILLS of the Eminent Indian Medicine-Man, Doctor Lewis Josephus, of the Great Tribe of Shoshonees, British Columbia, is working the most marvelous and astonishing Cures the world ever heard of. Never in the annals of Canadian Medical History has such success attended the introduction of any medicine heretofore.

WHY?

SIMPLY BECAUSE the numerous valuable, active, medicinal, vegetable ingredients, (some of which we will mention, such as the Extracts of Wild Cherry Bark, Podophyllum, Juniper, Quassia, Smartweed, Dandelion, Hyoscyamus, Compound Extract of Colocynth, Jalap, Scutellaria Aloes, Capsicum, &c.) which enter into the composition of the combined medicine, are such and so harmoniously classified and compounded, that it is made the most searching curative in the known world, and cannot help but act on the system in a very satisfactory and desirable manner. No matter what your ailment may be, or of how long standing, it will find the spot and astenish you by the rapid manner in which you are restored to perfect health and full vigor.

This medicine is pleasant and safe to take, and is warranted and may positively be relied upon to make a permanent cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys Digestive Organs, &c. &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from Impurity of the Blood, excepting the Third Stage of Consumption. Further information, with full directions for using the Great Shoshonees Remedy & Pills, and containing Testimonials and Certificates of Cures, can be obtained by securing the Treatise, the Hand-book, or the Almanac and Circulars from any respectable Druggist in the Dominion—free.

Price of Remedy in large Pint Bottles, $1.00. Pills per Box, 25 cts.

THE six o'clock STAR is delivered from the office of publication by careful carriers. Terms, $3 per annum—in advance.

PROBABLY it is understood, but it may be as well to say, that we shall be most happy to aid in every way the good work now going on for the benefit of the Chicago sufferers. Our advertising columns are at the service of all efforts in that direction.

THE subscription of a firm of millionaires to the Chicago Relief Fund occasioned considerable talk yesterday. The firm in question has made its millions by the trade of the West, yet its subscription only equals what many private gentlemen have given; and looked at in the light of the givers' means, it may fairly be termed paltry.

THE Sarnia (Ont.) Canadian tenders the following advice to farmers:—

"Our advice to our agricultural friends is that they bring in their wheat at once, during the continuance of the present high prices, for all reports go to show that before long there must be a glut in the western market, as the means of transport to the eastern railroads is not nearly equal to the supply of grain. The average receipts of grain in Chicago for some time past has been about 1100 car-loads of 350 bushels of wheat per car per day, while the shipments have not reached near that amount. The amount of grain stored in Chicago on September 30th was given as about 6,000,000 bushels. Reports also reach us of enormous quantities of grain having been received at all the other large grain depots, so that before long there must be a fall in prices. Every available craft on the lakes is engaged in the transport of grain, and freights have advanced enormously. So, farmers, be warned in time; bring in your wheat while you can still command the high prices for it. Surely $1.15 to $1.20 is enough to satisfy you. Remember that last year you would have been only too glad to get $1 in the latter part of the fall, but you could not get it; and the crops of last year were a long way behind this."

A MEMBER of the staff of the North American Journal has been making a tour through the North-Western States of the Union, and in the Journal of a late date he published his notes of travel. From these we clip the subjoined:—

"Within the last few years, an element of population, which had previously been comparatively little known in the Western States, has been flowing there in considerable volume. We refer to English-born immigrants. Last year nearly seventy thousand natives of England were landed at the ports of the United States; and the English immigration for the first half of the present year has been even more extensive than it was during the same period of last year. A large proportion of this English immigration is making its way to the Western States. They have a great advantage over the newly arrived German immigrants, for they speak the language of the country, and quickly adapt themselves to the ways of the people. These English immigrants are principally miners, agricultural laborers and mechanics. The miners easily find employment at the iron and coal mines in Missouri, Illinois and other States; farm hands are always in demand in unlimited number; and mechanics of intelligence and ingenuity are never long idle in any western town. No class of immigrants is better liked in the West than the English. There is an idea in the world that there is a deep prejudice against England and Englishmen in all parts of the United States; and it has undoubtedly been so in time past. But certainly the English immigrants in the Western States are not troubled with any popular prejudice against them. On the contrary, they are regarded as no less desirable than the Germans themselves, who are everywhere in the highest favor."

The above contains statements well worth the serious consideration of the people and Government of Canada. We strive vainly to procure population and spend nearly a hundred thousand dollars annually in the endeavour—but we have no patriotic national policy. We rather prefer large importations than thriving industries, and will pay any sum for a foreign article rather than use that which is home made. Not so with the States, there the truth is acknowledged: to procure population you must offer lucrative and diversified employment; this they do, and native industry, combined with native ingenuity, produces for the wants of the nation. The result is national prosperity and astounding progress. Fancy seventy thousand English born emigrants settling in one year—not in British colonies—but in a foreign land, and then realize if you can the relative values of one-sided "Free Trade" and a policy which develops a country's resources and encourages home industry.

IT SEEMS that there really is another "Fenian Raid." We had hoped that the experience of Pigeon Hill had not been lost upon the "Brotherhood," but events now transpiring only confirm what we stated years ago, viz.: that as long as Ireland has real or imaginary grievances, and Canada is British soil, even if only nominally, real or pretended "patriots" will annoy our borders, their excuse being that in striking at the Dominion the blows are felt in the Mother Country. Thus far the plundering hordes have been all array in their calculations—Canada's sons having been murdered, her homesteads burned, her treasury depleted, a feeling of insecurity engendered, all without exciting more than a mere passing notice at the hands of the Home Government.

We can place but little reliance on American promises to prevent these raids. Though it grieves us to say it, yet it is too true that there is a party in the Republic which delights to see anything tending to annoy British subjects. We have seen our solemn protests against these infamous organizations pook-pooked by the authorities at Washington. We have seen the British Minister go through the shameful farce of thanking the President for services rendered by our own flesh and blood. But Fenian Raids represent a mere tithe of what this country has to submit to by reason of her Downing Street attachment. In a thousand different ways does that connection militate against our progress and growth. Canada has within her borders the elements of a great nation, but, vulgarly speaking, she is snubbed at every turn. This is a fact recognized and commented upon on both sides of the Atlantic. Hints in plenty have been thrown out in London that it was time we took a place in the world, and, latterly, these notifications have assumed a form unmistakably practical. At this moment, though a mere dependency, we are made to bear the most burdensome responsibilities incidental to an independent power, and our anomalous condition makes us suffer for things of which we have no more knowledge than the man in the moon.

Our duty in this matter is plain and simple. We are fitted in every way to claim the independence which the mother country is anxiously waiting to give. This done, we are no longer as the red clo' before the maddened bull, and Britain's haters are divested of their favorite target. Being independent, we could form what alliances we chose, and our very spirit and pluck would command the admiration of the nation now in so many different ways our bane.

A good deal of sickening sentimentality in connection with the change we advocate obtains among people who really should know better. These shallow-brained sticklers fail to see or wilfully blind their eyes to the fact that in striving to carve out in bold characters high up on the Temple of Fame the name of a coming Great Northern Power whose people shall be proud to be known the world over as CANADIANS, we are embarking in as noble a cause as ever sent a thrill of genuine joy through human breast.

We cannot but admire the hearty spirit with which Ontario goes into the great question of Railway building. City, town, village—all seem thoroughly alive to their duty in this respect, and, being once convinced of the soundness of the scheme submitted, the aiding hand is proffered promptly and frankly. A great feature in Ontario's mode of aiding railways is the fact that whatever sum is decided upon is given as a bonus; stock-taking by Municipalities or Corporations meets with little or no favor. We would have the same policy pursued in this Province. Montreal has wisely resolved to devote One Million Dollars to aiding Railways, and we earnestly advise that she follow the example set by Ontario in the matter of distribution. Let her first be thoroughly convinced of the need and practicability of the lines she is asked to aid; let every care be taken to ensure good location, so that, as far as human foresight can see, there shall be little cause for after recriminations or regrets; let her satisfy herself that the Boards of Directors are composed of men of tried integrity, and that the management is in the hands of men known to have allied themselves inseparably with the advancement and well-being of their country;—in a word, let her be certain that the projects are sound, and then let her give her aid promptly, liberally, and once for all. If the schemes are good, she will reap benefit enough from the facilities they afford; if they are sickly, it were better that she threw the money in the St. Lawrence than take stock in them. The Corporation has more than it can attend to now, and assuredly we ought not to further hamper the machinery by converting the City Hall into a stock-jobbing establishment. And then there is the aroma of "jobs" inseparably connected.

With the exception of one, little that is definite and reliable is known of the roads Montreal is asked to help. The North Shore to Quebec is not yet located. We hardly imagine the Directors will commit the egregious blunder of running the line by the river bank, and so have to compete with two great highways—the St. Lawrence River and the Grand Trunk Railway. Montreal will do well to be satisfied on this point before granting one cent. The Northern Colonization scheme is in much the same state as the one just referred to, though we expect in a short time to see full surveys, plans, and estimates. The whereabouts and value of the land grant is also to be determined. Until all this is done, Montreal cannot be expected to think of a grant of money to the scheme.

The only road that Montreal can at present wisely help, is that which brings the Capital within four hours of this city, and is of a character which may be termed indispensable. The Montreal and Ottawa City Junction Railway is bona-fide in every way. It is destined to benefit immensely both the two cities, and a large portion of the Province; it rescues the seat of government from its backward isolation; it puts a back-bone into a splendid tract of country hitherto utterly without means of communication; it encounters no engineering difficulties, pursues almost an air line, competes with no existing highway, railway or water-way; it is heartily endorsed on all hands; every preliminary has been settled, and only a liberal vote from Montreal is needed to set the work in motion which shall, in eighteen months, see a direct railway route from this city to Ottawa.

At the Council meeting on Tuesday the million dollar question may come up. A clique has set its mind upon taking a million dollars from the people to give to the chaotic Northern Colonization scheme. This is preposterous in the extreme, and we may as well tell the gentlemen who are laboring so hard for the MILLION DOLLAR JOB that they are laboring in vain, and will only befool their names if they persist. MONTREAL'S MILLION is to aid railways—not one, nor two, but as many as show good reasons for asking such aid. We hope the parties we allude to will be warned in time; they cannot afford to go against PUBLIC OPINION, and will show their good sense by falling into line.

Gould, Mr. Tibbs, Mr. Russel, Mr. Stephenson and others will assist on the occasion, and we are also to have the Mendelssohn choir, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Gould. So much real talent, with Mr. Boscovitz besides, will undoubtedly afford an unusual musical treat to all who by their presence, lend their support to their noble and generous efforts.

ACCIDENT AT THE MILITARY HOSPITAL.

James Fleming, a laborer, working yesterday at some repairs being made at the old Military Hospital, Water street, fell from the giving way of a bar of iron to which he held for support. He lies at the Hospital. It was found that his jaw was broken, and also several ribs. He is moreover dreadfully bruised on the legs and body. He escaped rather slightly when the distance from the scaffolding to the ground 27 feet, is taken into consideration. Fleming is an English emigrant and arrived with two sons but two weeks ago.

LOVE'S REDEMPTION;

The Baronet's Wife.

CHAPTER LIII.

SETTING THE SNARE.

That Miriam had some strange purpose in securing the services of Granger Mr. Ravel was sure, and he felt anxious to know what the purpose was; but there was not much hope of getting any information out of the detective, unless he chose to give it voluntarily.

"How did you find out where Lady Selton was?" Archie inquired, giving Miriam her old title. "Had you been on the watch?"

"Not I, sir! No more than I am always on the watch. I happened to be in Park-street one day, keeping my eyes on a certain man as I have been in queer places with a certain butler, whose master put me on to look after him, when a smart girl—a black-eyed, pretty one, with ribbons in her cap, beckoned me over, and told me her mistress wanted me."

"And the lady who had sent for you was—"

"Just so, sir. She was—and when I went in, she says to me in her straightforward way, 'Are you employed by any one one to watch me, Mr. Granger?'"

"So I says, 'No, my lady; and if I were it would only be by those who meant well by you; for any other had better not apply to yours obediently, John Samuel, and then she talked to me about one thing and the other; and at last I was put on to watch Mrs. Digby."

"What has the result been?"

"That's got to come. Mrs. Hurst, as she tells me to call her, is quite satisfied."

"Shall I be tempting you to break a confidence, Granger, if I ask you to tell me the exact nature of your mission?"

"As you are likely to hear everything yourself, Mr. Ravel, there's no danger of my breaking confidence much. What have I to do; see who Mrs. Digby's friends are—where she goes to—what she does, and what she says as far as I can get to know. The first two are easy enough; but the last isn't a nice thing for a man like me—for Mrs. Granger has a spirit of her own."

Archie could not find the connection between Mrs. Granger's spirit and her husband's work; but the detective kindly elucidated.

"I was considered a respectable man, with a good moral character as men go, Mr. Ravel, and I never intentionally deluded a confiding feminine. When I was younger I had my temptations, and they do say the melancholy suicide of Corporal-Major Jones—one of the handsomest young men in the Horse Guards Red—might have been laid down at the door of your humble servant; but if the young girl—which she was a milliner—did show what I might call a preference for John Samuel, was I to blame?"

"Certainly not, Granger. But what on earth—"

"I know; but it has to do with the subject in this way—fancy me, at my time of life, talking of my savings to a girl as young as my eldest daughter, and telling her there is nothing like a middle-aged butler for steadiness and perseverance. I hadn't any idea the girl would get so fond of me; but I suppose there's something about some men that women take to, and I don't mean any harm to her."

"Your sentiments do you credit, Granger. I may infer that the young person is in Lady Gunter's service."

"You have hit it, sir. She fetches the beer every evening at half-past eight, and I am generally drinking a glass of ale at the bar when she comes in. We just walk round the houses once or twice, and I pick up a good deal of information. Lady Gunter talks to her maid, you see, and her maid talks to this one, and she tells me—that's how I get round it."

"Would it not be more direct to talk to the lady's maid herself?"

"You might as well ask me to talk to the mistress. Nothing less than our friend, Mr. Miller, is good enough for the lady's maid. If I had to give rich people my advice when they wanted to do anything on the sly, I should tell them never to trust their servants—for the servants trust each other, and then the masters and the mistresses might just as well have their affairs published in the Court Journal."

"It ever I want to do anything on the sly, Mr. Granger, I will remember your advice."

"Now there's that Captain Chandos," the detective went on, "you wouldn't think what a deal of interest Mrs. Hurst takes in him. I am finding out his character for her, and a pretty character it is. One of the biggest blackguards in a gentlemanly way you can imagine, and never once for the last ten years has been without a writ after him. I could open the old general's eyes a little; but then he might not care to have them opened." Mr. Granger added, reflectively,

"Is the little lady indiscreet?"

"If that's the term for it, I should say very much so. It's wonderful to me how careless people get as they go on. They must think servants are blind not to notice what it means when they are always meeting each other out of doors, as if by accident. By the way, Mr. Ravel, I should call in at Park-street, if I were you. I don't think her ladyship—would be very angry."

"Have you mentioned that you have seen me visit Mount-street?"

Granger nodded assent.

"It had to be told in the order of the day, and whether she was puzzled, pleased, or angry I could not tell."

"I had better see for myself," said Ravel, giving him a sovereign, and leaving him to a contemplative study of the Grecian here. "I daresay my visits are open to misconstruction for I can scarcely explain the motive even to myself."

"He had unpleasant impression that Miriam would think him very weak or very stupid; but he went to Park-street nevertheless, and sent in his card. He was shown in to the morning-room, and kept waiting some few minutes. He did not like the reception—it chilled him."

Miriam came in, grave, reserved, beautiful as ever, and in the quiet touch of her hand, the calm composure of her smile, he felt that for the time at least, the affectionate familiarity of their intercourse was at an end. He resigned himself to the change, as he would have resigned himself to anything she chose to do.

"Are you glad to see me, Miriam?"

"Yes, Archie, very glad; because I want you to do me a service. Bring your friend Captain Chandos here."

"He is no friend of mine, Miriam. He is simply a disreputable man-about-town, and I won't bring him."

"I want him, Archie. I have a use for him. I know his character perfectly; he is a worthless reprobate, who has no right beyond the step of an honest man's street door, but he will suit my purpose, and I want him."

"Then you must tell me the purpose. I have too much regard for uncle's good name and your own future, to let the fellow be seen at your house, or alone with you in public."

"The end will justify all things, Archie, and I want this man to help me to the end."

Whatever her purpose was she was firm, and Archie yielded, as she knew he would, though he did so with an ill grace.

"I thought I should be able to do without you," she said, with just enough of the old tenderness to melt him; "but I have missed you sadly."

"And when I have brought this fellow to you I am to be exiled again, I suppose," he grumbled. "I should not have known you were here had it not been for Granger."

"Have you been to your club lately?"

"Not for the last ten days. I hate clubs."

"When you feel sulky, you should add. I shall not exile you again, Archie; but we must meet on a different footing. I have had time to reflect since we parted, and I see that good and thoughtful as you were, there were times when you were almost too glad that I was free from every claim. It is best not to flinch from the truth. Wisest for you to know that I can never give my slanderers such confirmations of their rumors as to be your wife."

"Never! Not even if heaven forbid that I should wish it—Sir Henry were dead?"

"Is it kind of you to press the question? It is the knowledge that the thought is always with you which makes one reluctant to have you near me."

"Well," he said gently, "I will not speak of it again. Now about this introduction. It could be managed best by meeting him somewhere when he is out with the sweet Cecilia, and he is with her constantly."

"They are at the gardens on Sunday, in a variable."

"The Zoological or Kensington?"

"One or the other. Granger will let us know. He is in constant communication with the house."

"He is an invaluable man: one of the best of his kind. Why did you ask me just now if I had been to my club lately?"

"I sent a letter to you this day week."

Mr. Ravel had a bad habit of letting his letters accumulate, and he confessed it ruefully.

"I never do take my letters if I can help it," he said. "There's such a heap sometimes, that I haven't the courage to sit down and answer them all at once, and it wouldn't be fair to answer a few and leave the rest, so I leave the lot. I wish people would understand that I like them just as well as I don't; I don't write to them. I hate writing to them: they send me long strains about nothing, and say they are mine truly, or mine affectionately, or mine obediently, when they are nothing of the kind. They are simply fond of scribbling nonsense when they have nothing else to do."

"Mine was not a long letter, Archie," Miriam smiled, "and I shall take care never to sign myself yours affectionately in future."

"Yours! Why, if it had been as long as that dreary, virtue-rewarded Pamela, and as un decipherable as a Greek manuscript, or my own fantastically obscure calligraphy, I would have read every line of it. Do you know, I never could write well, Miriam. I believe some people never can write well. A fellow once brought me one of my own letters to ask me what it was all about, and for the life of me I couldn't tell him. I could not tell my own scrawl, and I had forgotten why I wrote to him."

"You should write with more pains."

"Pains! I write with agony. I would keep an amanuensis, only it isn't pleasant to have a fellow prying into your secrets. Of course, you will say he need not have my private letters, and perhaps he wouldn't act fair. But I am so lazy in spirit that I am sure he would soon have the lot."

Mr. Ravel's face wore a happier look than it had worn for many a day this morning. He resigned himself to the dream that Miriam and he could never be more to each other than they were at present, but hope would not be banished while she was near him. There was a momentary sense of jealousy in his heart when she asked him to introduce the handsome, dissolute soldier; but it was only momentary. He had a dim idea of her true purpose.

The introduction took place after the lapse of nearly a fortnight, and then it was by Mr. Granger's agency. The pretty housemaid with the ribbons in her cap told him her mistress was going to a flower-show at Chiswick with Captain Chandos, and Archie took Miriam there. Lady Gunter could not repress a start when she met Miriam face to face.

"I have conquered her," thought General Gunter's wife, as Miriam held out her hand with a tranquil smile. "She is helpless now, and resigned to her defeat. I knew I should break her proud spirit at last."

Mr. Ravel, much against his will, did the civil thing for Gerard Chandos, and would, in obedience to a sign from Miriam, have given Cecilia his arm; but the little lady would not have it yet. She wanted to talk to her sweet friend.

"I suppose it is a truce, my dear Miriam?" she said, linking her hands on the arm of the woman she had so bitterly wronged. "It was a hard battle for a poor little thing like me to fight; and you cannot blame if I did my best to win."

"I quite exonerate you, Lady Gunter. You were not to blame for the line of conduct Mr. Grey chose to take. You were not answerable for Sir Henry's line of conduct. I am glad to see that the general has done you justice."

"Then we are friends?"

"Is there any reason why we should not be otherwise?"

"None! But I did not know what you might think; and, seriously, I am half afraid of you—except that you are too proud and strong to think a helpless morsel like myself worthy of anything more than your contempt."

Miriam did not reply. There was an undercurrent of appeal in her enemy's voice, and she was glad to find that her power over the little traitress was not gone.

"Will you dine with me to-day?" Cecilia went on. "Will you come and tell me all that has happened? I have heard so many stories of you that I expected to see you looking very different; but you do not seem to have suffered."

"Why should I seem as if I had suffered? Miriam asked with a low laugh. "I have two thousand a year and my liberty, and I have an offer of marriage from Sir Henry Selton. It is a change from the prospects of eight years ago."

"And you refused Sir Henry's offer?"

"Yes."

"You are a strange creature, Miriam—I never could quite understand you; but I think I was nearer the truth than you chose to admit when I thought you only cared for Selton's title."

"Perhaps you were right, Lady Gunter,—perhaps you know me better than I know myself! Does your invitation for this evening include Mr. Ravel?"

Of course. He is your true lover, and I like him better than I did. What do you think of Chandos?"

"He is handsome."

"You will be charmed with him. He has been my devoted for more years than I care to remember, and I must beg of you not to take him from me."

"It would be cruel, as you are such old friends. How long have you known him?"

CLOTHING.

STEWART OF NEW YORK—RAFTER OF MONTREAL—Why has Stewart's, of Broadway, New York, become so noted throughout this continent? The fact is owing chiefly to the immense extent of the building, the accommodation it affords to customers, and above all the signal success of its proprietor.

This position wasn't gained in a lucky moment or in a year, toll persevering, courage and integrity were necessary. Just like great chiefs whose names became as a spell to the armed hosts; those men passed through years of upward mountings, facing obstacles without number, ere they arrived at that eminence which entitles them to a note in history.

Commerce is a kind of commercial warfare, in which Stewart, of Broadway, and Rafter, of Montreal, are taking active parts. As a great clothier to the million it's more than probable that Rafter's trade exceeds that of Stewart, of New York. It is most likely, too, that had Stewart started in Canada he would not have secured the success which has attended Rafter's trade, and that he would have crossed the lines years since.

Integrity and largeness of views are marked characteristics with both in their style of doing business.

RAFTER includes every class of our people in the varied and extensive arrangements laid down for the conducting of trade, at his large Store, No. 463 Notre Dame street. From the Governor and Suite down to the honest working mechanic, everything required in the line of Dress is to be had.

His large Store, as a great Clothing Depot for Ready-mades or to order, may be looked upon as one of the first in this Dominion. Gentlemen will be suitably provided with the latest styles known to the fashionable world. The working tradesman and his children will also be well suited (with no less courtesy), and at a rate of charge which will be nearly as moderate as the wholesale prices.

His fair rule of "allowing any garment to be returned, if not found to give entire satisfaction," is calculated to secure the greatest confidence with the public.

In the visiting season of Americans Rafter's store becomes so like a Broadway Mart, that it is not unfitting to note their similitude and to allude at the same time to Stewart's as one of the most celebrated throughout the Union.

BOON & WOODWORTH make the BEST FITTING CLOTHES. Try them.

McMILLAN & CO., AGENTS, MERCHANT TAILORS, 252 ST. JAMES STREET, Next door west of the Clava Hotel.

McM. & Co., beg to announce that they have opened the new store, No. 252 St. James street, where they purpose carrying on business as Merchant Tailors. It will be remembered by many of their former customers that for a lengthened period they did probably the largest first-class Tailoring Business ever done in Canada. They consequently possess a knowledge of the business in all its details, such as can only be acquired in the management of a business similar to that alluded to.

Their acquaintance with the most celebrated makers of goods in England and elsewhere, together with the arrangements they have perfected for a regular supply, will enable them to offer the newest and most reliable makes of goods.

Their ability to manage the artistic and mechanical departments of a first-class business will not, they think, be questioned by those acquainted with them. In the fitting of pantaloons they flatter themselves they can combine elegance with perfect comfort. Attention will be given to Boys' and Youths' Dress, Ladies' Riding Habits and Servants' Liveries.

Their prices will positively be moderate. Fixed prices strictly adhered to. An inspection of their goods and a share of your orders respectfully solicited.

INSURANCE. FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE.

WESTERN ASSURANCE COMPANY, OF CANADA.

HON. JOHN McMURRICH, President. BERNARD HALDANE, Esq., Man. Director.

Table with 2 columns: Year, Amount. 1865: $97,849; 1866: 125,281; 1867: 171,980; 1868-7 mos.: 125,405; 1869: 288,801; 1870: 344,950; 1871: 346,928.

Though the past year has been unusually disappointing to fire insurance companies, involving the Western in losses to the extent of 68 per cent. of the receipts, yet the shareholders of this Company have had the handsome dividend of 12 per cent. and the sum of $30,000 has been cleared beside. These results, though not so favorable as might at one time have been anticipated, are highly encouraging. There is now a fund of $200,000, in addition to the paid-up capital, set aside, to which additions are being regularly made, giving every reasonable guarantee of safety, and placing the Company in a position where no ordinary kind of adversity will be able to interrupt its progress. The percentage of expenses to total receipts last year was as low as 17, showing that the strictest economy is practiced, and that business has not been obtained at too dear a rate.—M. net y. Times, Sept. 1st, 1871.

WESTERN ASSURANCE COMPANY. Insurances effected against loss or damage by Fire. Inland and Ocean Marine at usual current rates. Losses liberally adjusted and paid in full on proof of claim.

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS. [From St. John's News of Friday.]

The highest price for butter in the Granby market is 20c. per lb. A match of football between the Lennoxville College and the school resulted in the latter winning. The school is about to send a challenge to McGill College. The St. Johns Good Templars have called a meeting to raise funds for the Chicago sufferers. The Sweetsburg office of the Agricultural Insurance Company has been removed to Montreal. At Sherbrooke the buildings of the Paton Manufacturing Company are finished; they are large, and a great improvement upon the old fabric in convenience and safety from fire. In Robinson Village a very successful Sunday school festival took place last week. The Rev. Mr. Parkyn and other clergy took part in it. In Bedford great complaints are made of the scarcity of small change, and the stores suffer much from the deficiency. Rain is much wanted before plowing can commence in the Eastern Townships. In Granby, on last Friday night, a fire destroyed the engine-house of Mr. Miner's tannery, which would have destroyed the village, had it not been stopped by the stone wall. Mr. Miner is making a junction railway from his works to the Stanstead, Shefford and Champlain Railway. The Rifle Association, at a meeting on Thursday, chose Hon. C. Dunkin patron, and Major Gilmore, President. At Pigeon Hill a Musical Convention of the Eastern Townships has been held for the promotion of choir singing. Mr. Lewis presiding. Dunham is warned against selling his hay crop, as the American market for cattle is rapidly decreasing, and a large quantity of fodder will be needed at home. At Stanbridge Ridge the potato rot is making great ravages; the crop was very plentiful. John H. Odell has made and sold 350,000 bricks this summer. In Warden, a few nights since, a set of rowdies attacked Mr. Foss, whom they beat with sticks. He escaped, and went for assistance to an adjoining house, and on his return he found the fellows had gone off, taking a feather bed and bedding with them.

THE ATHLETIC MEETING AT WILLIAMSTOWN. The Caledonia Gathering held at Williamstown on Wednesday last resulted most pleasantly. The friendly deputation from this city, comprising Mr. A. W. Ogilvie, President of St. Andrew's Society, Col. A. A. Stevenson, President of the N. A. International Caledonian Society, and many others, arrived at Williamstown at 12:30 and were handsomely entertained at the Town Hall before proceeding to the spacious grounds on which the games were held. The attendance was very large, Glengarry, Prescott, and the neighboring townships being well represented. The Committee of management performed their duties most efficiently, and everything connected with the celebration passed off most agreeably.

Mr. James Fleming, the Scottish athlete, was greatly admired for his physique, and distinguished himself as became his training in the games requiring the greatest strength. He carried off the first prizes for putting the heavy and light stone, and throwing the heavy and light hammer. The first prize for the hop, step and leap was taken by Bowie, of Montreal; and for the running long leap, by McDonald, of Glengarry. Though an excellent dancer, Fleming was vanquished in the Gillie Callum by Niven, of Montreal. John Reid, of this city, also won the prize, a gold medal, for the best English poem. Though first in the athletic feats, Fleming but slightly distanced the youth of Glengarry, who owed their inferiority chiefly to want of practice.

A ball took place in the evening, at the Town Hall, which was most successful. The representatives of Montreal were thoroughly treated with the greatest consideration and courtesy by the Glengarry Caledonian Society.

THE EVENING STAR is undoubtedly the cheapest newspaper in Canada, containing most news, and managed with more ability than any other in this city. But The Recollet House is the place for first-class Dry-Goods at the lowest prices, and for variety of styles, and magnitude of stock, is behind none. The Fall trade is just opening, and Brown & Claggett have secured such a lot of the very latest novelties that must place them in the van of all other competitors. The Departments are all stocked with goods to meet every want, and at prices to suit every purse. Having a resident buyer in London, they have always placed in the hands of the Montrealers such goods as were fashionable in Europe almost as soon as they appeared in London. Therefore, we would say to the tens of thousands that read our newspaper buy your Dry-Goods at the Recollet House. Patronize Brown & Claggett, who, although only three years in business, nearly come up alongside of our oldest houses. Having facilities for buying goods cheap, which our oldest firms have not, and being determined to sell cheap, which our oldest firms do not. The public will decidedly find it to their advantage to visit the palatial Dry-Goods Store of B. & C., corner Notre Dame and St. Helen streets.

Tortoise Shell and Pearl Odor Cases for sale at Richmond Spencer's drug store, corner of McGill and Notre Dame streets.

HABERDASHERY.—We beg to call attention to our stock of Haberdashery. Call and see H. P. T. Patton & Co., 415 Notre Dame street.

Napoleon Weeping. The unfortunate exile who has seen the end of his Imperial Greatness, wept when he found himself so mercifully dealt with by his Antagonist and Captor, King William of Prussia. History seldom chronicles such leniency on the part of a Conqueror. Not so in Medicine, for the Great Shoshonee Remedy and Pills have no respect of any reigning disease in the human body, for this combined medicine roots out completely all acute and chronic maladies, and converts the system into a sound tabernacle for humanity to live in. Sept.

BIVANES.—McDonkey's oyster room is now open. Oysters cooked in every style, on the shortest notice. Buetouche, Malpeigne, and New York oysters received daily, at 133 St. James street, opposite St. Lawrence Hall.

The new Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., is connected by street cars with the New York Depot.

Mutilated Limbs (if no bones are broken) made good as new by Johnson's Anodyne Ointment.

The Corporation will probably hear from the legal adviser of a gentleman who came near breaking his neck last night through the outrageous neglect of the Road Department in connection with works going on in La-gauchetiere street, between St. Dominique and St. Constant.

Another Coal Mine Catastrophe.

An explosion occurred in the coal mine near Pittston yesterday. Eleven miners were injured, but no deaths reported.

SPORTING.

Lacrosse.

The match for the championship between the Shamrock and Montreal Clubs, the proceeds of which are for the benefit of the Chicago sufferers is definitely fixed for Thursday next 19th inst.

ROUND TOWN.

The steamer Quebec, Richelieu Company's line has been brought off from the bank on which she grounded. Rev. Pere Fabre, attache to the Bishop's Palace, repairs to St. Isidore next Thursday to establish the ceremony known as La Chemin de la Croix.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

The steamship Percision, from Halifax, arrived at Father Point at 9 o'clock this morning, bringing 7 cab n and 55 steerage passengers.

THOSE FOOTPATHS.

The Police report several accidents occurring in Centre street near Frances, and in Conde near Centre, owing to the miserable state of the sidewalks.

PROMPT AND PROPER.

Messrs. Jordan & Bernard this morning sent a cheque for $50 to Chief Bertram, of the Fire Department, as a token of appreciation of the services of the Department at the fire in their lumber yard last night.

CLOTHING THE POLICE.

The contract for winter pants for the police was yesterday awarded by the Police Committee to Messrs. J. Patton & Brothers; that for caps and mitts was given to Mr. McIver, and for boots, to Mr. Thompson.

PAVING ST. JAMES STREET.

The Road Committee has made up its mind to adopt the Ballard pavement for St. James street, and has advertised for tenders fornishing the blocks. This style of wooden pavement differs from the Nicholson in these particulars: the blocks fit close and slide into each other—like dovetailing—the top being bevelled to make a foothold for horses; it is laid on a gravel or solid earth bed, instead of a wooden floor, as the Nicholson.

THEATRE ROYAL.

The regular season under the management of Mr. Ben. DeBar closes to-night, the Coleman children appearing in "The Rising Generation." We cannot allow the season to close without thanking Mr. DeBar, in the name of the theatre-going public for the excellent taste he has displayed during the season in catering for the public amusement.

OBITUARY.

We announce with much regret the death, at 11 o'clock this morning, of the Hon. Thos. C. Aylwin, lately one of the Judges of the Court of Queen's Bench, of the Province of Quebec, in the 67th year of his age.

SEVEN CASES NEW GOODS JUST RECEIVED at Harper's Centre Dollar Store, containing four thousand different articles, new, useful and ornamental. Nothing like them in the Dominion.

Harper keeps steadily on attending to his own business, not minding the empty cry for trade of the Two-pence Ha-penny Store that cries "No! No! No!—No Dollar Store for him."

We would call attention to the fact that Mr. S. McConkey (opposite St. Lawrence Hall) has added to the many attractions of his popular restaurant by opening a joy-ster stand where fresh supplies of the luscious bi-valve can constantly be obtained.

THE WEATHER.

Temperature in the shade, by standard Thermometer, observed by Hearn, Harrison & Co. Opticians and Mathematical Instrument makers, 212 & 214 Notre Dame street: 6 p.m. yesterday, 57°; 8 a.m. to-day, 49°; 1 p.m. to-day, 52°; Max., 58°; Min., 45°; Mean, 51° 2/3. Standard Barometer compensated and corrected—6 p.m. yesterday, 30.42; 8 a.m. to-day, 30.30; 1 a.m. to-day, 30.28.

A Rifle Company is to be formed at the following places: Portage LaPrairie, Kildonan, St. Boniface and St. Charles. Although the department will give no information, it is pretty certain that they are alive to the state of matters in the West. It is rumored that active preparations are going on, and it said that so great was the number of applications, that vice McKinley resigned.

The resignation of Lieut. Meig and Wm. Donohue are hereby accepted. To be Major—Capt. J. C. Crawford, 3rd Batt., from 5th Oct., 1871. Lieut. L. Dussault, Portneuf Batt., is confirmed in his rank.

Weather very dull.

LONDON, Oct. 14.

The Times states that the Lord Mayor has received seventeen thousand pounds sterling as the result of two days subscriptions to the Chicago Relief Fund, and that lists have been opened for the reception of contributions at Birmingham, Bradford, Hanley and other towns in the manufacturing districts.

The Times has also a leading article in which it reviews the Chicago conflagration and the great fires now ravishing the West, adducing the prompt action of the United States authorities in suppressing the attempted invasion of Manitoba, it draws the conclusion that England and Englishmen are herein furnished with every incentive to labor and to give for the alleviation of the suffering caused by the calamities in the West.

Nearly all the railway, express and steamer lines have announced their readiness to transport contributions for the Chicago sufferers free.

The steamers Esmania, Cambria, Italy, and Wyoming, from New York, and the Siberia, from Boston, have arrived out.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.

It commenced raining here at six o'clock this morning, falling quite heavily for two hours and since then drizzling showers have prevailed. Never was rain more grateful. The dust from the unsprinkled streets and the ashes which covered the burnt district like a pall of snow have filled the air since the fire, to the discomfort of everybody.

The atmosphere, too, has been hot and dry that breathing was difficult, and parched lips and bloodshot eyes—and every one compelled to be out of doors, attested the furnace-like heat. The apprehension felt by the waterless inhabitants of the unburnt portion of the city in regard to future conflagration has been greatly relieved by these showers.

ROUND TOWN.

Gen. Arnold, U.S.A., is in town. The Allan steamers Ottawa, from Glasgow, and Iberian, from Liverpool, arrived about noon to-day.

A chimney ablaze from No. 26 Colborne avenue brought out the reels of the Eastern Division yesterday evening.

The annual match of football—Town vs. Gown—will be played on the University grounds early this afternoon.

The Quebec did not arrive yesterday, having ground on her upward trip. The Trois Rivières took her place.

The collection taken up at all the services to-morrow in Christ Church Cathedral will be devoted to the relief of the Chicago sufferers.

The Rev. S. J. Hunter will deliver the first of a course of sermons to the young in the Ottawa street W. M. Church to-morrow night at 6.30; subject "Commencing Life."

At a general meeting of the Caledonian Society last evening a committee was appointed to make arrangements for celebrating "Halloween," and report at a meeting to be held on Thursday evening next.

The Police Committee yesterday passed a resolution recommending that the $500 reward offered for the arrest of the perpetrator of the Gault outrage be paid to the detectives. The report will be presented on Tuesday and we hope passed at once.

The Rev. John Wakefield will preach at 11 a.m. and the Rev. W. Hansford at 7 p.m. to-morrow at the Sherbrooke street Wesleyan Methodist Church. Annual Missionary meeting on Tuesday evening.

The children of St. Paul's Church met last evening for practice in their lecture room. The singing was excellent. It is to be hoped that this will eventually have the effect of rendering church singing more repulsive with life and energy.

The Boscovits Concert, on Monday evening next, is exciting the most lively interest among our citizens generally. An extraorinary rush will undoubtedly result, the end to which the proceeds will be devoted, and the excellence of the entertainment itself, being in all respects of no ordinary character.

BRUTAL ASSAULT.

The girls, Marie Sontaine, 19, and George Lyman, 21, whose arrest and attempt at rescue we recorded in our first edition, were brought up at the Recorder's Court this morning, and committed for two months with hard labor for the assault on the girls Vitaline Boivin and Marie Corbelle. The keeper of the house, Tebride Boivin, was so brutally beaten about the face and kicked about the body that she was unable to appear. Dr. Laplante certified that she is in a very dangerous condition, and as the woman is suffering from consumption, it is very probable the injuries to her chest may result fatally. Sontaine and Lyman were also fined $20 or two months for assaulting Sub-Constable Departe when he endeavored to arrest them.

NEWS BY MAIL.

The Legislature of New Zealand has voted $7,500 as a bonus to Mr. Small for having introduced woollen manufactures into that colony.

A gentleman writing to England from New South Wales states that the churches there are the arenas for female vanity as they are at home, no lady caring to go there without the well-appointed piquet of lace-bordered handkerchief, velvet-bound prayer-book, and white satin bonnet, with feathers.

The Scotch settlement in New Zealand have been putting up their machinery beyond Duaden, and describe the country as very beautiful and their prospects as very flattering. The roads were bad, and required eight or ten horses to a wagon; but horses are so cheap there that the number did not matter much. Everybody—man, woman, and child—ride in that country, and ponies only cost five or six shillings each. The sun rises in the east and sets in the west, but he goes home by the north instead of the south, as with us; and the "man in the moon" shows the back of his head instead of his face, and does seem like an old acquaintance turning his back upon us. The heavens and the familiar constellations of Europe are all changed, making night much more foreign than day is.

Constitution Peddling in the various States of the Union has been free lately. Nebraska has been the first to come off and the "ism-mongers" have been rebuked by the Republican constitution being rejected. This act proposed woman-suffrage, Maine liquor law, and a number of prohibitions, against the tyranny of which the good sense of the people rebelled. The Pennsylvania amended constitution, will be voted upon next week. This proposes a representation to the minority, the curbing of large corporations, the power of one third of the Legislature to submit to the vote of people at large any law they may deem dangerous to public liberty, and the meeting of the Legislature Chambers once in two years, instead of annually. The Ohio amendment is nearly the same, differing in the bi-annual meeting of the Chambers.

CANADA.—At a meeting in the Board of Trade Room, St. John, N.B., $3,000 was subscribed for the Chicago sufferers. The storm of Thursday night last did great damage in Nova Scotia. The telegraph wires are all down, the railroads much damaged, their banks washed away, and the shipping at Halifax, Sydney, C.B., and around the coast suffered greatly by its fury. At a meeting of the Board of Trade in Kingston, Ont., resolutions of sympathy with the Chicago sufferers were passed and $3,000 subscribed. Committees were appointed to raise further sums. At Frelighsburg, two of Mr. J. Lagace's sons, aged 9 and 15, were out shooting, when the younger one was accidentally shot dead.

CHICAGO ITEMS.

Dexter's owner, Mr. Robert Bonner, gave $10,000 on the 11th inst., "towards relieving sufferers who are in any way connected with the newspaper or news business."

Gen. Sheridan made an appeal through the Associated Press to the people of the country, to dissuade those who are anxious to visit Chicago from mere curiosity from coming. Thousands of this class are here now, without shelter or accommodation, and they must be fed and cared for the same as the sufferers.

THE PHENIX CITY.

Chicago to Rise from its Ashes Speedily.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.

The Tribune appeared this morning for the first time since the fire, with the following leader:—

Cheer up! In the midst of calamity without parallel in the world's history, looking upon the ashes of thirty years' accumulation, the people of this once beautiful city are resolved that Chicago shall rise again with vigor. With $200,000,000 or $300,000,000 of our hard-earned property swept away in a few hours, the hearts of our men and women are still brave, and they look into the future with undaunted hearts. As there has never been such a calamity, so has there never been such cheerful fortitude in the face of desolation and ruin.

Already contracts have been made for rebuilding some of the burned blocks, and the clearing away of the debris will begin to-day if the heat is so far subdued that the charred material can be handled. Field, Leiter & Co., and John Farewell & Co., will commence business to-day. The money and securities in the banks are safe. The railroads are working with all their energies to bring us out of our affliction. The $300,000,000 of capital invested in these ruins are bound to see us through. They have been built with special reference to a great commercial want at this place and cannot fail to sustain it.

As Chicago must rise again, we do not believe the calamity that has fallen upon us. The world has probably never seen the like of it; certainly not since Moscow was burned. Ten or twenty years may be required to reconstruct our fair city, but capital will rebuild it, and fire-proof will be forthcoming. The losses we have suffered must be borne, but the place, time and men are here. Commerce at the bottom, and work up again. We have credit in every land, and the experience of one building of Chicago to help us.

Let us cheer up, save what is yet left, and we shall come out right. The Christian world is coming to our relief—the worst is already over. In a few days more the dangers will be passed, and we can resume the battle of life with Christian faith and Western grit. Let us all cheer up.
