Increase Economic Pressure On Germany

Two Nations Decide Upon Joint Action

British and French Treasury Chiefs Discuss Policy of Close Co-operation in Financial and Economic Spheres — Marked Easing Is Reported in General Food Reserves of Great Britain with Rationing Postponed.

London, Nov. 15.—Great Britain and France have agreed upon "close and continuous co-operation in the financial and economic spheres," the Treasury announced today as Paul Reynaud, French Finance Minister, conferred with Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The meeting came as Britain, grimly marking off her sea losses in the accounts of war, honored two aviator heroes and tightened her combat position along the home, military and diplomatic fronts.

The Order of the British Empire was awarded to Flying Officer Reginald C. Gravelly, who rescued his observer from his flaming plane, and Sergeant Fred Henry Gardiner who despite an eye wound, guided his damaged plane back to his base and succeeded in extinguishing a fire that broke out after he landed.

Gravelly began his air career with the London busmen's flying club, saying sixpence a week and obtaining half an hour's flying tuition each fortnight. He quit his job as clerk with the London Transport Board to join the R.A.F. two years ago. He and Gardiner are 25 years of age.

On the home front there was an encouraging report in well-informed quarters that except for butter, bacon and possibly sugar, the British Isles are well supplied with foodstuffs and that there is no immediate necessity for a rationing system, certainly not before January. It was predicted that when instituted rationing will affect only bacon and butter.

There are heavy stocks of bread, flour and other derivatives of wheat and cereals, it was learned. The supply of fresh meat is sufficient for use at home and by the expeditionary forces. Fats, fruits, vegetables and milk are available in abundance. To increase supplies of butter, the Government has contracted with New Zealand to take up all of next season's exportable surplus and a similar deal has been made with Eire.

While Britain thus assures itself against stringency on the home front, the blockade will be drawn in an increasing tightness in the Reich. It was stated, in the continued hope that this means above all others will force an early peace.

Lord Finlay, chairman of the Contraband Control Committee, issued a statement declaring that neutrals were obliged by every tenet of international law to submit to search. This obligation is centred on the British Government and extends to exercise to the fullest its rights as a belligerent, he said, warning neutrals that resistance to control was a highly illegal act.

The Air Ministry announced new daylight reconnaissance flights over Germany, many of them penetrating to a depth of more than 200 miles in the face of "active opposition" by German air fighters. All objectives have been reached in the Northeast and the desired information secured and the desired information Continued on Page 2, Col. 2.

General Staff Opposition Prevents Hitler From Launching Great Drive

By GERAUD JOUVE
(Havas Staff Writer)

Amsterdam, Nov. 15.—(C.P.—Havas)—Opposition of his general staff has so far prevented Adolf Hitler ordering an offensive either in the Western Front or in the air against Great Britain according to reports today from German sources.

These sources said Hitler's political entourage was strong for immediate action as a reply to the "attempted assassination" of Hitler at Munich. On the other hand, the military chiefs of the German army have firmly held that no Western offensive can be attempted so long as uncertainty continues over Russian intentions in Northern and Southeastern Europe.

It has been noted that certain sections of the German press have expressed guarded sympathy for the Finns. Nazi diplomacy has given way to the Soviets in the Northeast and the Southeast, even going so far as to condemn a proposed neutral Balkan bloc which Germany formerly approved in order to please Italy. But resistance in the general staff to this Nazi self-effacement is now openly being expressed, the reports said.

The Berlin correspondent of the Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant reported that the chaos of vague rumors about Germany's intentions is likely to be clarified by next week. This correspondent said that the German public was now resigned to the fact that peace would be impossible without large scale hostilities and suggested the possibility of a strong German blow against Britain before Christmas in time to permit the Germans to announce a Christmas truce with the advantage on their side.

He likewise reported general astonishment at the absence of quick results from the inquiry into the Munich bombing and predicted "finishing public interest in the affair as the investigation drags out."

GRANDSON OF FORMER KAISER REPORTED IN ENGLAND

London, Nov. 15.—The News-Chronicle said today that Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, grandson of former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, "is in England under surveillance."

"When the war broke out he was ill and here he has remained," the paper said.

Other sources said the Prince was liable to internment as a German but the authorities allowed him his freedom. He was reported staying with friends in the country.

LONDON NIGHT LIFE CRIPPLED BY BLACK-OUTS

Increased Travel Difficulties and Restrictions on Operations of Amusement Places Undermines Business.

By GUY E. RHODES,
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 15.—This town's night life practically has ceased to exist since the war broke out. Blackout restrictions have made travel through the streets pretty arduous except on moonlit nights. Taxis are not as plentiful as they used to be, buses are less frequent and most places of entertainment are under some sort of restriction.

Half the movie houses in London stay open one week until ten p.m., then close early the next week. A few night clubs remain open and a few theatres in the suburbs have legitimate plays and variety.

Pub owners complain bitterly that the rush of trade which swamped them in the early days of the war has been succeeded by a slump that has forced them to discharge members of their staff and has eaten so far into their earlier profits that they are now in a bad way.

PRINCESS LOST CASE AGAINST PUBLISHER

London, Nov. 15.—Princess Stefanie Hohenzollern-Waldenburg, former political representative of Viscount Rothermere in Europe lost a breach of contract suit today against the British publisher who testified he paid her $51,000 ($225,000) for less than six years' services.

The court termed a portion of her testimony "nebulous and unreliable." She contended Lord Rothermere had agreed to pay her $5,000 a year for life.

GERMANS RELAX CONTROL
Krakow, Nov. 15.—(AP)—German authorities administering conquered regions of Poland turned over to Polish police today the task of looking after the interests of the Polish population. German police, it was explained, henceforth will be charged primarily with safeguarding Germans and their institutions in that region.

LONG HOLIDAY
Basel, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Neutral Switzerland today took her first prisoner of war, a yawning German soldier. Officials who found him asleep on his rifle in the last coach of a train from Germany awakened him and told him he would be interned for the duration of the war.

Heavy Toll Of British Shipping Reported By German Submarine

Berlin, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Sinking of 26,000 tons of enemy shipping was claimed by the German command today as the work of a Nazi submarine which returned to its base escorting an unidentified prize vessel.

This announcement was contained in a communique which noted sinking of a British destroyer by a German mine and destruction of a British freighter by an "explosion"—losses reported yesterday by the British admiralty.

There were "no special events" on the Western Front, said the communique, the text of which follows:

"In the West no special events except minor local artillery activity.

"The British Admiralty announced loss of one destroyer which ran on a German mine. The English freighter Matra (8,600 tons) was destroyed by an explosion.

"One of our U-boats sank 26,000 tons of shipping and brought in one prize vessel."

Roosevelt Likely To Halt Transfer Of United States Shipping Registry

Washington, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Following strong indications by President Roosevelt that he would refuse to permit transfer of eight United States liners to Panamanian registry, the Maritime Commission and the Works Progress Administration offered assistance today to seamen made idle by the Neutrality Law.

The W.P.A. raised relief quotas in five coastal cities so that 5,000 sailors may be added to the rolls. They will be assigned to waterfront improvement and similar projects.

The Maritime Commission offered facilities for training 8,360 officers and crews of ships tied up by restrictions in the Neutrality Law. While in training, the seamen will receive $36 a month and officers $125, plus food, clothing, quarters, medical care and transportation.

The Commission's proposal was criticized last night by the Maritime Federation of the Pacific Coast, an organization of several unions, mostly affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations. The Federation objected on the ground that "no seaman will receive relief unless he first enrolls in the Maritime Training Service."

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters yesterday that granting the request of the United States Lines to transfer eight ships to the Panama flag so that they might continue service in the North Atlantic combat zone would violate the spirit of the Neutrality Law. State Secretary Hull recently expressed a similar view.

Some tankers have been transferred to Panamanian registry, but that was done before the law was enacted, he said, and was water over the dam.

UNITED STATES EXPEDITION TO POLE DEPARTS
Boston, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Without fanfare, the first half of the first Antarctic expedition sponsored by the United States Government in 100 years sailed away from Boston today on the first leg of the long journey to the Southland.

Just before dawn the motorship North Star—loaded with everything from food to phonograph records, from sled dogs to a 27-ton snow crane—cast off her line at the harbor and slid down the harbor en route to Philadelphia.

All the good-byes were said, the farewell ceremonies completed, yesterday, and with the declaration that he believed Little America might provide a new and "safer" base for a United States-Australian air trail, Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, the expedition's leader, gave the signal for the takeoff.

The North Star's next stop was to be Philadelphia to pick up some airframes. After that she will head for Panama, then for New Zealand and finally for the expedition's west base in the Antarctic.

Next week, the second ship in the expedition, the barkentine Bear, will follow the North Star on the 12,000-mile journey.

Empire Statesmen Impressed By Conditions On Western Front

With the British Expeditionary Force in France, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Anthony Eden, Dominions Secretary, and the five ministers representing the Empire overseas returned to England today after four days of strenuous investigation of conditions on the Allied front.

Since they left the British zone on Monday the ministers, including Hon. T. A. Crerar, Canadian Minister of Mines and Resources, have inspected a sector of the French front, including part of the Maginot Line. They were up at seven yesterday morning, spent the forenoon in the French Maginot Line—they passed over ground which had been under German shellfire the night before—left the Maginot Line after lunch, and reached a town in the vicinity of British general headquarters at 10.15 last night.

They were, by high spirits, they sat around a table in a small French hotel and had dinner. Each minister was wearing in his buttonhole a bronze medallion—the emblem worn by French fortification troops, which shows a gun protruding from a fort with barbed wire in the foreground.

On the way back to the train, Mr. Eden said: "To visit the Maginot Line is to realize how much we owe the French army and the French nation for having constructed it."

During their visit to the French line the Ministers passed through a maze of tank traps, barbed wire entanglements and other obstacles, and actually motored along a road some considerable distance in advance of the Maginot Line proper.

The weather was misty. Had it been clear they could easily have seen the German advance posts across No Man's Land. Through patches of mist they could see ground held by German troops.

GEORGIA GOLD VEIN PRODUCES VALUABLE ORES

Bonanza Lode Assayed at $60,000 to the Ton by State Geologist — Warns Against Gold Rush.

Dahlonega, Ga., Nov. 15.—(AP)—A new gold strike, baring a lode of bonanza ore which a state geologist said assayed $60,000 a ton, was disclosed today by operators of the Consolidated Calhoun mine three miles south of here.

State Geologist Garland Peyton described the strike as "a vein of quartz, two inches in thickness and of unknown depth, so thoroughly impregnated with gold over approximately ten inches that it appeared as one continuous ribbon of yellow metal."

Peyton, habitually cautious in estimating mineral wealth, asserted the vein was the richest he had seen in 25 years in Georgia and "is definitely to be classed as bonanza" with an apparent richness comparable to the famous Comstock lode near Virginia City, Nev., which yielded $20,000,000 in gold between 1853 and 1890.

The geologist hastened to warn that the strike "should not create a gold rush."

Reduced Air Activity As Bad Weather Interferes In Western Front Action

Front-Line Operations, Although at a Minimum, Appear to Be Shifting from the Saar Sector to Wooded Foothills of the Vosges Region—Patrol Activity Holds Little Relation to Offensive.

(By Axel de Holstein, Havas Staff Writer)

Paris, Nov. 15.—(C.P.—Havas)—Front-line operations, although at a minimum, appeared today to be shifting eastward from the Saar sector to the wooded foothills of the Vosges between Bitché and Wissembourg.

There was little fighting to speak of. This morning's official communique reported "reduced activity during the night," whereas Tuesday's second communique advised that "there was great patrol activity, particularly in the zone east of The Saar."

Bad weather, with near-zero ceilings, reduced air activity yesterday. A number of planes went aloft on routine reconnaissance flights, but not a single air battle was reported.

Operations on the ground were proportionately minor. During the night there were a few patrols. Most of what little activity there was still was confined to the sectors to the west of the Saar and northeast of Bitché, along the eastern flank of the Oriental salient. An evident eastward shift was in progress, it was said, however, toward the Vosges foothills, which form a sort of connecting hinge between the Lorraine and Alsace fronts.

About 100 German and French patrols are operating in the few miles of "No Man's Land" stretching between the Maginot Line and the Westwall, French military experts said.

In 1914 the frequent reference to patrol operations would have been interpreted as a positive indication that an offensive was in the offing. But 1914 the Allied and German positions were separated in many places by only a few yards of shell-pocked terrain and there was no room for numerous patrols unless they were paving the way for a large-scale attack.

In 1939 the situation is entirely different. Except at a few points where intensive artillery barrages have been laid down, the landscape is much the same as it was before September 3. In the zone east of the Saar for instance, there are numerous clumps of trees and irregular valleys which permit patrols to operate to a considerable extent without encountering the enemy.

German and French patrols operate both day and night. From the advance positions on both sides, small groups of men slip out of pillboxes or trenches and fade into No Man's Land to check up on the unoccupied zone between the lines. They feel their way through the numerous thickets and make almost daily investigations of every deserted farmhouse and barn.

The few evacuated villages and hamlets between the opposing armies are checked by both sides. If it is a daytime patrol, they might occupy some of the buildings to ambush a scouting party from the other side. But by nightfall they withdraw to prevent the enemy from seeing them.

When patrols meet, whether it be in the day or in the night, there is no time to bring automatic rifles or machine guns into play.

TRIPLETS PROVED A SAVING FOR MOTHER

Sedalia, Mo., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Elmer Coon saved money by having triplets instead of just one child.

When she went to the hospital Dr. A. L. Walters told her if she had twins he would omit the charge for the second baby; if triplets, he would make no charge at all; if quadruplets, he would pay the assistant's fee, and if quintuplets, they would "split the pot" on whatever the babies earned from photographs and advertising.

The physician said he wasn't surprised at triplets; if quadruplets, he would be disappointed there weren't two more. "I hoped there would be five," he said, "and Callender, Ont., would have a real rival."

NO MONEY—SCHOOLS CLOSED
Toledo, O., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Faced by a $800,000 deficit, the Toledo Board of Education last night ordered all public schools closed November 23 for the remainder of the year. New revenue will become available after January 1.

Gloucester, Mass., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Five boys accused of theft have been ordered to place the stolen articles in a trailer, tow it through the streets and return the articles to the owners en route.

Paasikivi said that during the twelve days the delegation was in Moscow on the third and last visit it had met only three times with Soviet officials. Joseph Stalin was present at two of three meetings and was "very active," Paasikivi added.

Meanwhile, civilians removed from Helsinki as a precautionary measure during the Moscow negotiations were urged officially not to return because "the causes which inspired the removal remain unchanged."

PATCHED-UP PEACE OPPOSED BY AUSTRALIA

Canberra, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Prime Minister Robert Menzies told the Australian House of Representatives today that "urgent war aims are a victory followed by world security, abandonment of armaments competition, and a prosperity in which Germany would share."

"No patched-up peace or compromise can assure the world enduring peace," Mr. Menzies said.

He added that Germany had not launched a big offensive in the first ten weeks of the war because she apparently still hoped to divide the Allies and then conquer them separately.

ATE HIS HAT

Santa Maria, Calif., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Journalist Harold E. Borum offered to eat his hat if his students ever got the high school paper out on time. The students did it and called on Borum to down the straw upper. They forgot that he was a chemistry teacher, too. He connected a brew that reduced the straw to sandwich-spread consistency, spread it on crackers and ate it.

Royal Air Force Plays Important Part In Canadian Coastal Defence

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Canada and her adjacent trades routes are being fully protected and training of additional personnel is proceeding rapidly, a Defence Department spokesman said here in an address.

The Royal Canadian Air Force, youngest of the country's fighting and defence services, is protecting the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard with the active co-operation of the Canadian navy and artillery, the spokesman declared in his broadcast speech last night carried over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. It was the fourth talk in the Government series on Canada's fighting services.

The air force is also maintaining a constant vigil over Canada's trade routes and those adjacent to its shores of vital importance to the Allies in their present struggle, he said. Day and night operations are undertaken from air bases and air-dromes in the Maritime provinces and British Columbia.

Destroyers scout the seas and shore batteries watch for attacks on vulnerable harbors while R.C.A.F. planes patrol a zone extending 100 miles out to sea on the lookout for enemy raiders.

"Despite the length of the coastline for which the navy and air force are jointly responsible, Canadians may rest assured that their firesides are being well protected," the spokesman said.

"Besides the harbor terminals, which to a hostile power are more desirable objectives than stretches of barren shore, patrols are maintained over the Gulf of St. Lawrence, together with its two entrances at Belle Isle and Cabot Strait. Even the Gut of Canso, separating Cape Breton Island from the mainland, hears the drone of an airplane motor."

Flying schedules will be maintained during the winter with both flying boats and twin-engine bomber reconnaissance land planes.

Advanced R. C. A. F. bases have been established at strategic points on the west coast mainland, Vancouver Island and the Queen Charlotte Islands, the spokesman said, from which complete air supervision of the coastal waters and the approach to Prince Rupert can be maintained.

Because of the temperature climate, patrols are carried out off the British Columbia coast with flying boats and float planes almost exclusively throughout the year.

Batteries on the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard have been provided with the services of coastal artillery co-operation squadrons.

Fighter squadrons, equipped with single-seater aircraft, have been stationed in the Maritimes and British Columbia as a measure of protection against any air attack.

Increased British Demand Opening Larger Market For Canadian Cheese

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—The demand in the British Isles for food in a highly concentrated form will create a greater market for Canadian cheese, in the belief of Agriculture Department dairy experts here.

Canadian cheese exports to Great Britain have increased rapidly, and a Government premium on high grade cheeses has improved quality. The British Government has encouraged higher prices on British markets, which has meant a jump from 68 to 78 shillings for 112 pounds of cheese.

Uncertainty apparent on Canadian cheese boards at the outbreak of the war has cleared somewhat, Government officials said. Sterling is still unsettled on foreign exchange markets, but Government control of foodstuffs and prices has tended to settle the market a little. Cheese supplies in Canada, however, are short at the moment. There is practically no cheese available in the West and eastern exporters also have little cheese actually at hand.

Normally, cheesemaking ends for the season late in November, but there have been predictions that these factories will continue through this winter because of improved marketing prospects. On the other hand, it is pointed out, many farmers divert their milk to winter feeding of calves for the spring market and so have no supplies for the cheese factory.

For the first ten months of this year, Canadian cheese exports from Montreal and Quebec totalled approximately 76,850,000 pounds compared with about 67,401,360 pounds in the corresponding period of 1938. It is estimated that the total export for this year will be in excess of 80,000,000 pounds, compared with an export of 235,000,000 pounds in 1904, the peak export year.

Milk production in Canada has increased steadily in recent years, but much is used for purposes other than cheese making. Butter production this year is expected to total about 100,000,000 pounds, all of which will be used in Canada.

Butter consumption has increased from 25.79 pounds a year per capita in 1921 to 31.83 pounds in 1938 and slightly more than that this year. Ice cream consumption has sharply increased and condensed milk finds a ready market. In 1904 there was one small milk condensing plant, and there are now 71 large plants in operation.

The domestic price of cheese on local cheese boards has risen steadily since the beginning of the war. Eastern Ontario cheese board prices were about eleven cents a pound in the first week of the war and gained a cent or two within two weeks.

Now the price has climbed to between fifteen and sixteen cents. British buyers have been paying up to 15% cents, which would net the Canadian dairyman about fourteen cents ex-warehouse at Montreal under present exchange rates. The high English price is seen as evidence that buyers there expect further increases.

Two Nations Decide Upon Joint Action

On the diplomatic front, especial interest was aroused by the arrival yesterday of the Polish Premier, General Wladyslaw Sikorski, and his Foreign Minister, August Zaleski. The conferees last night with Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax.

Informed quarters of the possibility was suggested that Poland might, after an Allied victory, be compensated for her losses to Russia by new territorial acquisitions at the expense of Germany.

In connection with Russia, there was a report in diplomatic circles last night that the U.S.S.R. might try to obtain British aid to secure a more conciliatory attitude on the part of England, making such aid a condition of Anglo-Soviet trade arrangements.

Finance Minister Reynaud left by plane for Paris after today's talk with Sir John Simon.

Reynaud predicted last night in a broadcast to the British nation that the Allies, with time on their side, will win the war because their voluntary efforts will be greater than those of the "dictator-ridden Germans."

Reynaud reminded his audience that for years he had urged the creation of a powerful alliance because "I have never believed that the Nazi leaders would have led their people white for any other purpose than to dominate Europe by terrorism first and if necessary by war."

"Our enemy is formidable," Reynaud continued. "He is making frantic preparations. Time will be on our side if we use it. We must make freely an effort superior to that imposed by force on the German people."

"After a few hours spent in this country I am impressed by the unanimous determination of the British people to conquer and to obtain at last a peace which will really be a peace."

anything which may be termed a "gold rush" or be considered "an invitation to the uninitiated to stampede the district with a view to other possible discoveries." It was pointed out that all land in the Dahlonega area is under private ownership making "claim staking" impossible.

The new lode is in the same mine and in the same "shoot" where the first gold lode was discovered in Georgia in 1829. The mine was worked sporadically during its history, at one time yielding approximately $1,000 per day, but later was discontinued.

Major Graham G. Dugas, veteran miner, said discovery of the new lode was a result of renewed explorations begun last August.

Important Military Information Is Gained By Reconnaissance Flights

London, Nov. 15.—Reconnaissance flights over Germany involving acts of gallantry and resulting in the taking of numerous photographs of military objectives were described today.

Men on such flights in the past several weeks have returned with photographs of sixteen enemy air-dromes and of the well-defended ports of Emden and Hamburg, it was said. Many towns, harbors and military objectives were photographed from low altitudes.

Enemy territory on several occasions has been penetrated to a depth of more than 200 miles. Active opposition of German fighters and anti-aircraft fire was widespread. Nevertheless, British aircraft succeeded in reaching objectives and securing photographs and the information required.

More than 100 photographs showing enemy military objectives in considerable detail were brought back in a single flight in which an enemy air-drome was the objective. A British aircraft flew so low that it actually passed under two German bombers which were approaching the field. At other times it flew so high that the crew had to rely on oxygen to breathe.

The total distance flown on the raids was seldom less than 800 miles, of which nearly half was over the North Sea and the remainder over German territory.

Cesaire Gervais Appointed District Crown Prosecutor

Will Continue to Act as Defence Attorney in Audy Murder Case, However—Ashton Tobin Expected to Be Appointed Joint Prosecutor, While Liquor Commission Attorney's Post May Be Filled by Raoul Gagne—Leonidas Bachand Will Likely Re-assume Coroner's Duties.

Active as defence attorney in numerous criminal cases in this district since he began practising in 1922, Cesaire Gervais, K.C., will in future play a different role before the local courts. He will prosecute, where in the past he has defended. Mr. Gervais last night confirmed a report of his appointment to the position of Senior Crown Prosecutor for the District of St. Francis.

CESAIRE GERVAIS, K.C.

and it is only natural to expect that the Liberal regime will oust the U.N. appointees to make room for its own party followers. Unofficial but reliable sources today indicated that Ashton Tobin would be named to act with Mr. Gervais. He held the office of joint Crown Prosecutor in 1936 and his appointment would see a return to the traditional nomination of joint French and English-speaking Crown attorneys in this district, a practice discontinued by the Duplessis Government when Antonio Drole, K.C., and Roland Dugre were placed in office. Raoul Gagne appears slated to take over the work of Liquor Commission lawyer, a portfolio now held by Charles de L. Mignault. Maurice Delorme will likely be replaced as district coroner, which position he assumed when Eugene St. Pierre received a political post in Quebec City. Leonidas Bachand, coroner for many years under the Liberal regime, is expected to re-assume these duties, which he turns ed over to Mr. St. Pierre in 1936. Commenting upon his appointment, Mr. Gervais stated to a Record representative that he would continue to defend Conrad Audy at the forthcoming term of the Criminal Assizes. A special prosecutor will be named to handle the Audy case. Mr. Gervais defended Conrad Audy and his father-in-law, Louis Audy, when they were charged with the murder of Saul Gregoire four years ago. The two men were liberated for lack of evidence at their preliminary hearing, and a few months ago Conrad was re-arrested. Admitted to the Bar of St. Francis District in 1922, after graduating from Laval University, Mr. Gervais specialized in the practice of criminal law and was defence attorney in several murder cases tried before the local Court of King's Bench. Chief among these was that of Beatrice Bernard Chapdelaine, who was twice condemned to be hanged for the arsenic poisoning of her husband and was acquitted at a third trial held in Quebec City.

Mr. Gervais was made a King's Counsel in 1934 and the following year was elected Batonnier of the Bar. He was Minister of Public Works and Mines in the short-lived Gouibou cabinet of 1936.

An active member of the local Council of the Knights of Columbus, the new Crown Prosecutor has been Grand Knight for the past three years. Last August he was one of the delegates from Quebec Province to the national convention of the Knights of Columbus in Seattle, Washington.

TOURIST POST IN GOVERNMENT IS SUGGESTED

Dan McCowan, Naturalist and Author, Asks Greater Emphasis on Tourist Traffic in Address to Rotarians.

In order to attract a larger number of visitors to Canada the Dominion Government should establish the post of Minister of Tourist Traffic, Dan McCowan, naturalist and author, suggested last night in the address given before the Sherbrooke Rotary Club meeting in the New Sherbrooke House.

Mr. McCowan, who is now on a seven months' lecture tour, described the plant and animal life abundant in the Canadian Rockies, illustrating his remarks with colored films. Many of the beauty spots in the Rockies were also shown in the films.

Describing the habits of the many animals found in the mountains in the summer, were shown by the naturalist. The marmot spends seven months each year in hibernation, he said.

Views of Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth taken while they were in Banff during their tour of Canada early in the summer, were shown by the naturalist. Mr. McCowan accompanied the King and Queen from Banff to Revelstoke, B.C., answering their many questions concerning the Rockies and the Canadian West. In answer to a wish expressed by Mr. McCowan, the King and Queen said they would return to Canada some time in the future, bringing with them the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose.

Mr. McCowan was introduced by Rotarian Harold McConnell and thanked by Rotarian Arthur Kerridge, President Gerald Wiggitt presided and two new members, Harry Haight and Aurelien Noel, were welcomed into the club. During the meeting it was suggested, by Vice-President James Wark, president of the local Y. M. C. A., that the Rotary Club co-operate with the "Y," the T.O.C. and the Y's Men's Club to provide entertainment and social recreation for the soldiers quartered in barracks here. The suggestion met with the approval of the members and President Wiggitt announced that a committee would be formed, with Rotarian Thomas Keeley as chairman, to take the necessary steps.

Next week's meeting of the club will be handled entirely by members of the local Boy Scout troops.

Danville Still Raid Results In $50,000 Fraud Accusation

Three Residents of Townships and One Native American Arraigned in Magistrate's Court for Conspiracy to Defraud Through Operation of Still—Preliminary Hearing Next Week.

Charged with conspiracy to defraud the Government of Canada and the citizens of the Eastern Townships of approximately $50,000, three residents of the district and one native of the United States were arraigned in Magistrate's Court this morning and remanded for preliminary hearing next week.

The accused are Joseph Rosario Mathieu, of Marlboro, Conn., Leo Girard, of Sherbrooke, John Doyle, of Danville, and Cyrille "Red" Allaire, of Beebe, all of whom were arrested by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police as an aftermath of a raid on a house still near Danville on September 22.

Mathieu, Girard and Doyle are at present serving jail terms ranging from three months to a year for various infractions of the Excise Act to which they pleaded guilty on previous court appearances during the case. A charge of illicit alcohol was originally taken against Allaire but this was withdrawn this morning.

Following are the specific accusations prepared by Constable R. Biennu, of the Mounties, and read to the four accused this morning: That they conspired criminally among each other to sell, offer for sale and have in their possession illegally manufactured spirits as against Article 169 of the Excise Act and Article 570 of the Criminal Code; that they conspired to manufacture, without a patent, distilled spirits and fermented beer, to assist in the distillation, to build the still and to have the still and equipment in their possession; that through fraud, lies and deceit they defrauded the Government of His Majesty the King and the public of approximately $50,000 as against Article 444 of the Criminal Code.

Judge Lemay, in ordering the accused to appear next week, fixed bail last six weeks. A charge of illicit alcohol was originally taken against

Robbers Break Into Bank But Unable To Open Safe

A forced entry into the Brompton-ville branch of La Banque Provinciale and an unsuccessful attempt to break open the bank's safe early yesterday morning were brought to light today by Inspector Donat Mayer of the Provincial Police in a statement to press representatives.

Inspector Mayer stated that he had been called to Bromptonville yesterday by Notary J. A. Ouellet, manager of the branch, which is situated in his office on the main street. According to Mr. Ouellet, an intruder had been forced by a rear door into the cellar of the building whence the intruder or intruders made their way into the office. An inspection of the premises and inventory of the valuables revealed that the miscreants had gotten away with about twenty dollars worth of stamps but were unsuccessful in their attempts to smash open the strong box in which the branch's funds were deposited.

Inspector Mayer said that he believed there had been more than one man involved in the robbery as there had been considerable damage done to the safe. An outer casting of sheet steel had been pried off with a lever of some sort but the intruders had been unable to break open the iron box on the inside.

SPEAKER ASKS UNITED EFFORT IN SHERBROOKE

Mrs. Andrew Sangster Praises Red Cross as Non-Sectarian and International Organization in Plea for Support of Campaign.

"We can all do our part in helping to win the war, and in making things more comfortable for our men at the front by giving generously to the appeal which is being made across Canada at the present time," said Mrs. Andrew Sangster, speaking last night over CHLT on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross Society's financial drive.

Mrs. Sangster pointed out that the Red Cross Society is a non-sectarian and international organization, pledged to provide aid and comfort to soldiers in wartime and to the community at large in peacetime, and that it operates as an auxiliary branch of the Army Medical Corps. "There has been some criticism of the Red Cross Society using publicly contributed funds for salaries and administration expenses, but a large proportion of the services rendered are performed by unpaid voluntary workers," Mrs. Sangster maintained. "The high active executive positions are entirely honorary, that is, no salaries are paid."

Mrs. Sangster named the following objects for which the money received in the campaign is to be used: Building and equipping hospitals, as needed, in England and France for care and treatment of Canadian wounded; providing medical supplies for use by Red Cross workers in the theatre of war; provision and maintenance of ambulances and auxiliary services for first aid to Canadian soldiers who have been wounded; supplies for special hospitals; extra comfort to soldier patients; addition of recreation rooms, wards for special treatments and gymnasiums to Canadian hospitals in England and France; supplies for Canadian prisoners of war in enemy countries; support of international liaison offices for exchange of information on prisoners of war and casualties; provision of rest homes for nurses; raw materials for making up by volunteer workers across the Dominion; contribution of the peace-time programme and provision for emergencies arising from war activities.

Mrs. Jacob Nicol spoke in French, praising the Society and asking generous support of the campaign by the French-speaking citizens of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships.

E. T. CITIZENS GIVE SUPPORT TO RED CROSS

Total of $6,500 Subscribed in District Since Campaign Opened Monday—Sherbrooke Citizens Contribute $2,500.

The co-operation of district residents in the current Red Cross campaign has so far been very encouraging and approximately $6,500 has been subscribed in the Eastern Townships in the first three days of the drive for funds, officials in charge of the local headquarters said today.

Of the total sum subscribed to date, $2,500 was realized from Sherbrooke citizens and the remainder from residents in various communities in the Eastern Townships.

Aggregate objective of the campaign in Canada is three million dollars, of which amount Quebec has been asked to contribute $800,000. Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships have a quota of $20,000. D. J. Salls is in charge of the subscriptions in the Eastern Townships, with F. A. Briggs as joint treasurer.

The campaign, which opened on Monday, will continue until November 21. The money collected is used to aid soldiers, and because the worth of the Red Cross is so widely known and appreciated, other fund-raising campaigns in Sherbrooke have been postponed until the Red Cross drive ends.

CITY CONDEMNS THREE BUILDINGS

Condemning them as unsanitary and uninhabitable, City Health Inspector Joseph Masse this morning ordered the evacuation and demolition of three buildings behind the incinerator on the Brompton Road. The families were ordered to leave within 48 hours.

One of the shacks contained a family of nine and another a family of three. The third building was not occupied. It was explained by City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers that the shacks were in the Township of Orford, outside the city limits, but were situated on city-owned property bought some years ago for a gravel pit. The 12 ordered to leave would be looked after by the Municipal Relief Department, Mr. Deslauriers said, and habitation found for them within the city.

CENTRAL FIRE STATION SAID POSSIBLE HERE

Centralization of Branches in Properly-Equipped Headquarters Held Feasible, but No Such Move Now Planned.

A possibility exists that some time in the future all Sherbrooke Police and Fire Department branches may be centralized in one main station, it was indicated today by Director Arthur Maranda, in charge of the force, who expressed a belief that one central station, properly equipped, could successfully cope with any outbreak of fire in the city.

Such a move is not being considered by city officials at present, however, and the two sub-stations still in operation will be kept open. Stations two and five were closed some time ago.

Questioned concerning his views on the matter, Alderman Eugene Thibault, chairman of the Finance Committee, pointed out that although centralization of the sub-stations might become an actuality at some future date it would be necessary to spend a considerable sum enlarging the headquarters building on Marquette street and installing additional equipment.

Stations two and five, which have been closed as an economy move, remain standing and can be used again for police and fire department branches if needed.

Until a second bridge is built across the St. Francis river the centralization scheme would not be feasible, it was said, as it would be unwise to eliminate stations three and four, on which residents of East Sherbrooke depend to a large extent for fire protection.

Station five is now being used by the city as a point from which wood is taken to the needy. Wood is being stored at station number two. No employees of the department were affected by the closing of the two sub-stations.

AWARDED $242.87 IN SUPERIOR COURT

Leo Lussier, of Lennoxville, plaintiff in a $485.76 damage action against Dame Aurene Bousquet, of Lennoxville, was awarded the sum of $242.87 in a judgment handed down in Superior Court today by Mr. Justice Hector Verret.

Lussier claimed the $485.76 because of an injury suffered in 1937 when he was in the employ of the defendant, at Marche Julien Engr. Mr. Justice Verret ruled that there was common fault for the injury and cut the damage claim in half.

LITTLE DAMAGE IN FOUR FIRES

Colder weather yesterday, necessitating increased pressure on stoves, furnaces and chimneys, was blamed for four small fires, in none of which any serious damage was done.

First of the four was at the Hotel Dieu in East Sherbrooke, where a blaze broke out between the ground and first floors. The fire was quickly extinguished, with but light damage resulting.

Firemen were also called to extinguish chimney fires at 23 First avenue north, 69 Federal street and at a property in Collinsville.

THE SMALLER POWERS TALK BACK

One of the outstanding developments in the European picture in the past few weeks has been the tendency of the many small countries on the continent, taking courage from each other, to stick out their chests. Bent on maintaining their neutrality, they are showing a steady determination not to kneel under further in the matter of their independence and territorial integrity.

Finland's daring rejection of Russian territorial demands, the vigorous preparations of the Low Countries, Holland and Belgium, to defend their neutrality against aggression, if necessary, the reported new Balkan agreement tending towards defensive co-operation under Italian sponsorship all mark a hardening of political opinion on the continent.

It is rather significant that in all instances this attitude is the outgrowth of fancied or real dangers emanating from Nazi Germany, Soviet Russia, or both, while the Anglo-French allies have not inspired fear among the lesser states. Thus a large number of little nations in Southeastern and Western Europe, while not openly hostile to Germany, are decidedly on the defensive against the Reich. This represents what seems from this distance a moral gain for the Allies.

So delicate has become the position of some of these small states that it would not take much bullying to set them to using the arms which they have near at hand while there is a growing tendency among them to support each other.

Indeed, the way things have been developing the past few days it wouldn't be surprising to see the birth of coalitions which, taken as a whole, would present formidable military power.

These developments are coincident with bad news for the Dutch-Belgian peace proposals or, so far as that goes, for any other mediation offers in the near future. This lies in the Anglo-French announcement of their war-aims, which call for restoration of Poland, Czechoslovakia and Austria.

Since these three conquests represent the brightest jewels in the Fuehrer's crown it would take quite an imagination to visualize the handing over of the territories without a fight.

Nor, as a matter of fact, do the Allies expect Hitler to meet their terms. What the Allied war-aims announcement means is this:

Britain and France have in substance served notice anew that the appeasement stage is past, and that they have made up their minds to break Nazidom before they make peace. They don't want peace until they have achieved that—unless, of course, the unbelievable happens and Hitler meets the Allied terms without reservation.

BLACK-OUT EYES

With the war in its eleventh week and a good proportion of the population of Great Britain in bandages and sticking-plaster as a result of collisions in the black-out, a noted British optical expert has come forward with suggestions for the development of "cat's eyes." According to this gentleman, a person can teach himself to see in the black-out in twenty minutes.

Although the blackout has not yet affected Canadians may miles from the threat of an immediate aerial attack, it might be useful to study a lesson in this respect in case another hurricane should visit the district and play hob with the electric light systems similar to last fall.

First, warns the expert, do not expect to develop "black-out" eyesight immediately on leaving a brightly-lit home or office, as it takes twenty minutes for the human eye to get properly accustomed to complete darkness. While the eyes are being conditioned to darkness no light of any kind should be used, as even a single flash of a torch will spoil everything, making it necessary to start the conditioning all over again.

The second point is never to look directly at what you want to see in the darkness. If you hear a person approaching, the expert advises that you direct your glance a little to the left or right of where you think he is and you will see him more clearly than if you stare right at him. This is because of outer portions of the retina being more sensitive to dim light than the central portion.

He did not advise citizens what to do in the first twenty minutes.

EMPIRE UNITY EMPHASIZED

Another striking proof of the unity of the British Commonwealth of Nations in the face of a common enemy was the swearing into office at Ottawa of Hon. J. V. Fairbairn, newly-appointed Australian Minister of State for Air. Mr. Fairbairn, who is in Ottawa in connection with the Empire air training plans, was formerly Minister of Civil Aviation in Australia.

This is believed the first time in history that a minister of one Dominion has taken the oath of office while in another Dominion. A cable from the Governor-General of Australia to the Governor-General of Canada requested that Mr. Fairbairn, who was already an Australian Privy Councillor, be given the necessary oath of office. The oath, required by the reshuffling of the Australian Cabinet, was administered by Sir Lyman Duff, Chief Justice of Canada, in the presence of Lord Tweedsmuir.

The precedent created by the Ottawa ceremony should do much to facilitate the transaction of Empire business, permitting, as it does, the reorganization of a Government in face of an emergency without the Ministers affected being actually present in the national capital or even in the country. This is of especial importance in wartime when inter-Dominion conferences are held with Ministers often thousands of miles away from home.

THE SITUATION IN THE EAST

One indirect benefit of the present struggle in Europe seems to be the easing of the tension in the Far East, despite the announced intention of Japan to keep the present blockade of Tientsin until certain demands are met. This is generally considered largely a face-saving measure however, and reports from China indicate that actually the blockade of the foreign concessions in the Chinese cities are in no way as severe as they were a few months ago and that they may be further eased with the withdrawal of the British and French garrisons in China.

Any Anglo-Japanese rapprochement will have an important bearing on the situation in Europe, as Japanese friendship for the British Empire will create a problem for the Soviet officials and relieve any possible pressure on the Western Front or India.

Despite a certain clash of interests, Great Britain and the United States have been traditional allies and it would mean much for the future outlook of peace if the two were to come to some clear agreement again.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record. November 15th, 1909.

Another epidemic of hold-ups struck this district, one attempt being made on the C.P.R. station in Sherbrooke while the store of C. H. MacRae at Cookshire was the victim of the second attack.

The hostesses at the formal dance at the University of Bishop's College were Mrs. Parrott, Mrs. Frith, Mrs. Vial, Mrs. W. Duncan Steadfast and Miss Gill.

The Junior Business Men's Class at the Sherbrooke Y.M.C.A. named the following as officers for the coming season: A. B. Astle, J. Ernest Smith, A. L. Windsor, H. A. Sampson and W. N. Code.

The explosion in a coal mine at Cherry, Illinois, claimed the lives of at least four hundred miners.

Heavy demand occasioned by the drought of the past summer forced the price of hay to $11.50 per ton, with smaller offerings.

Interests connected with the Sherbrooke Street Railway purchased a large tract of land in East Sherbrooke with the possible idea of opening up an amusement park.

Court officials were complaining of the slackness in business, declaring that while there were many cases of the rolls, the contending parties seemed unwilling to proceed with the cases at issue.

PRESS COMMENTS

BREST-LITOVSK AVENGED

(London New Statesman and Nation) One thing seems clear; Russia has done a remarkably good stroke of business for herself. The German and Russian forces met on equal terms at Brest-Litovsk, where Lenin accepted the most humiliating peace of modern times at the hands of the Germans. By taking over the Russian parts of Poland, Stalin repays an old score; it was over these areas that Pilsudski, encouraged and financed by the Allies, carried out in 1920 one of the least justifiable military campaigns in modern history. By making friends with Germany at a critical moment, Stalin gets a little more than his own back on the democratic Powers, which had cold-shouldered Russia persistently for twenty years. If, as he believes, the Western democracies have tried to persuade Hitler to attack the U.S.S.R., he has succeeded in turning the tables and driving Hitler against the democracies. At the same time he promises a part of peace to the Soviet Union and places Russia in the strongest position for diplomatic or military intervention, if Germany and the Western Powers fight a protracted war of exhaustion in the West. Russia is still free to check Germany, if Stalin wishes—and he may yet do so. Certainly a cynical view, quite in the best tradition of past German and Russian diplomacy.

WOULD FIGHT TO AID CANADA

(New Glasgow News) There is still hope for Canada even were the British navy to fail us. If Canada were invaded by any European power, the great majority of United States voters now say they would be in favor of using American forces to aid us, according to a survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion. Seventy-three per cent of those questioned—a representative cross-section of voters in each of the forty-eight states—were in favor of using the United States army and navy to aid Canada in the event of attack. Twenty-seven per cent answered in the negative. The same large majority said they would fight to defend Cuba, the Bahamas, Mexico or any other territory commanding the approaches of the Panama Canal if any of these should be invaded.

"IMPATIENTLY EAGER"

(Glasgow Herald) Most of us have been eager—perhaps in some cases too impatiently eager—to learn of positive movement by British forces on the Continent. It has been easy to forget how many days passed in 1914 before any news of the despatch of the British Expeditionary Force reached newspaper readers. Twenty-five years ago the war in the West was, in its beginning, a campaign of rapid movement. Before British troops were engaged there were many reports of fighting in France and Belgium—many of them of a by no means heartening kind—to hold the attention of civilian onlookers and distract their attention from the single subject of our own war effort. Because of the changed conditions which the building of enormous fortified lines on both sides of the Franco-German frontier has imposed, there have been and could be no such stories of dramatic military movement to fill the first days of war in the West. We have had to be satisfied with reports of steady but—in the layman's eyes—unsensational progress in the region of the Saar, and for this reason the need for news about Britain's own effort on the Continent has been the more strongly felt.

TAKE EXACT NUMBER OF TRICKS BID OR YOU WON'T SCORE IN NEW GAME

This is the third of a series of articles describing WEM, the individual bridge game, played by any number of persons from three to six. No partners, no partnership bidding—you win or lose by yourself!

The object of play is to win the exact number of tricks bid for, no more and no less. If you bid null, in order to score on that hand you must not win a trick. If you bid one, two or more, you must make exactly the number of tricks bid in order to score. To make more than you bid is to go overboard.

SCORING. A player who bids null and does not take a trick scores five points. A player who bids a specific number and makes exactly that number of tricks scores 10 points plus the number of tricks bid. For example, if a player bids three and makes exactly three tricks, he scores 13 on the deal. If you fail to make your contract, you are not set and nothing is deducted.

A running score should be kept in plain view of all players. You will find it most convenient to use chips or matches to keep track of the bidding, spreading them in front of you to show the number of tricks bid by each player on the deal. In this way it will be plain to all the players just what each one is striving to win. If chips are not used, it will be necessary to use a score pad similar to that shown in the illustration.

Scores are totaled at the end of the last deal.

REVOKE. When a player revokes, he must correct the revoke if the next player has not played to

FRENCH PRESS

PREDICTS VOTES FOR QUEBEC WOMEN

(Le Soleil, of Quebec) The coming into power of a Liberal Government under the highly personal but not arbitrary direction of the Hon. Adelard Godbout will shortly mean for women the right to vote in provincial elections. Women are already voters under federal law, and they have for some time exerted limited electoral power in the municipal field. Soon, equality of political rights will be given them in French Canada, before the majority of French-Canadian women are really anxious for it.

In principle, nothing stands in the way of this expansion of a universal suffrage whose application remains imperfect even in American democracy. In practice, woman suffrage perhaps corrects the error of the equality of every citizen at the polls, since it institutes a family vote whose weight will be able in the most serious circumstances to swing the balance to the side of the good. In the majority of cases, woman suffrage will only reinforce male suffrage. For, as they already do in federal elections, women will understand the duty of voting in the provincial elections.

In this way will be corrected an anomaly from which the country has not yet suffered, but which allowed a small agitation which was exploited elsewhere against French Canada. Since the other provinces have extended electoral power to women, it is probably better that we follow the style, the advantages of which will soon compensate for its inconveniences.

CONVINCED HITLER IS A BAD "MENTAL CASE"

(L'Evenement-Journal, of Quebec) The English Government recently published the new official document of the atrocities committed in Germany since the arrival in power of the Nazis. The new White Book has only 39 pages, but there is in it which will disgust millions of decent men.

The treatment inflicted upon minorities, the strange conduct of certain leaders of the regime and the crimes committed in the concentration camps tell us much about the mental state of the Hitler leaders. We have proof that if Commandant Roehm was an abnormal being he was assassinated and replaced by another abnormality, Himmler.

It is enough to read the enormous speeches of the Fuehrer, of Streicher and of Dr. Goebbels—without considering the demagogical fantasies of Dr. Rosenberg—to convince us that Nazism is more than a simple machine for political exploitation. Since its origin until the present, National Socialism has been a disease, a physical blight and product of intellectual degeneracy. "Mein Kampf" is the product of a man torn by his nerves and by the Myth du XXe Siecle is the work of one mentally unbalanced.

ALL QUEBEC TOOK A HAND

(Montreal Le Jour) What is particularly pleasing to us, to us who for two years have fought without ceasing for harmony between the diverse Canadian nationalities and against the separatist and "laurentian" elements which did us, beyond our boundaries, an incalculable harm, is the discomfiture of chauvinism. We know that it represented an infinitely small and suspicious minority, but we had neither facts nor precise statistics to demonstrate it. Our former Prime Minister gave us a magnificent chance to estimate the numerical forces of his troops of morons, fanatics, sectarians and chauvinists, which his anti-participationist programme had got together in the last three weeks. These troops were beaten by the whole province. Canadian unity swept them all away.

In the future, we can appear before our compatriots in other provinces without bearing shameful stigmata on our foreheads. Quebec holds out a friendly hand, a fraternal hand, to those of our compatriots who do not speak our language but who would in all sincerity collaborate with us to the grandeur and the peace of our common country.

Yours truly,

MERCHANT.

HITLER'S CHARACTER

To the Editor of the Record. Dear Sir: It would give me great pleasure if you would print my seemingly justified suspicions regarding the character of Adolph Hitler.

In your paper, I read of the unsuccessful attempt to rid the world of this nationally-known maniac. Strange as it may seem, he was willing to let his enemies know, at such a time as this, that a certain class of people were no longer pro-Nazi. Nobody believes his accusations directed against the Jews and British. Another queer thing is that he finished his speech at the appointed time. He is not known for punctuality where oratory is concerned. The Burgerbrau cellar passed the rigid inspection of Hitler's guards. All other attempts were foiled by the same guards. Why did not the would be assassins make sure that Hitler was still delivering his speech? It would have been comparatively simple.

All this can lead only to the belief that Adolph Hitler knew of the carefully planned explosion beforehand. The seven veteran followers were perhaps dissatisfied with some of his actions. A possibility exists that he devised a plan of removing them, trying at the same time to swing world opinion more to his liking by blaming the cowardly trick on people who could not stoop so low.

BOOST TOURIST PROPAGANDA

To the Editor of the Record. Dear Sir: Now that we, as a province, have established our loyalty and wholehearted support of our Empire in its war to end all future wars, are faced with the necessity of curtailing expenses to meet an empty treasury, it is to be hoped that the question of curtailment of tourist propaganda will not be entertained.

Now is the time more important than any in the past to encourage tourist traffic from across the border.

In the past two years, we have benefited to the extent of some seventy-five millions per year in the flow of European competition, and now we are faced with the elimination of this competition along with a 10 per cent premium on currency in favor of our travel-minded neighbors.

MINTON LADIES HEARD ADDRESS ON WAR THEME

Minton, November 15.—Miss Florence Johnson was hostess to the Minton branch of the Women's Institutes for the November meeting which was attended by all the members and several visitors.

The meeting was opened by the singing of "O Canada" and the Mary Stewart Collect. The roll call was responded to by a short patriotic poem and the business was then attended to. After some discussion it was decided to offer six prizes of one dollar each in the North Hasty School, leaving the choice of subjects with the teachers.

Considerable time was given to the questionnaire recently issued by the Provincial President, Mrs. Cameron Dow, and plans were made for packing Christmas boxes and for an oyster supper at which the husbands and families of the members will be guests.

At the conclusion of a very full business session, the president, Mrs. Daintrey, introduced the guest speaker, Rev. F. R. Matthews, of Lennoxville, who with Mrs. Matthews, received a cordial welcome.

Taking as his subject "Remembrance," Mr. Matthews delivered an earnest and thoughtful appeal to his listeners to cultivate a sane outlook in these turbulent days. Only by this outlook can we hope to cope with those problems which can never be solved by war alone and which must be solved if the future is to hold anything worth while, he said.

Mr. Matthews was listened to with deep attention and his words could not fail to meet with response in the minds of those who heard him.

All present joined in singing "O God Our Help in Ages Past" and a wreath which had been purchased to be placed at the memorial, "for remembrance," was displayed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Homer Johnson.

General Notes

Tested Recipes

SOME NUTTY PROBLEMS SOLVED

Shopping for nuts may bring up one question, "It is better to buy nuts on the shell or out?" There is no one answer. It depends. Nuts in the shell are somewhat cheaper per pound and not so likely to get contaminated.

On the other hand, nuts already shelled save the time and labor it takes to get them out of the shell, and they take up less room in the storage cupboard.

In most recipes, the amount of nuts called for is expressed in terms of the shelled kernels. For that reason, when buying unshelled nuts for a particular recipe, it is useful to know how much they will weigh and measure after they are shelled. That information worked out approximately for six popular nuts follows:

Almonds: for 1 pound or 3 1-2 cups shelled kernels it takes about 3 1-2 pounds unshelled almonds.

Filberts: for 1 pound or 3 1-2 cups shelled kernels, it takes about 2 1-4 pounds of unshelled filberts.

Peanuts: for 1 pound or 3 to 3 1-2 cups of shelled kernels it takes about 1 1-2 pounds of peanuts in the Shell.

Pecans: for 1 pound or 3 1-2 cups shelled pecans it takes about 2 1-2 pounds of pecans in the shell. English walnuts: for 1 pound or 4 cups of halved English walnuts it takes about 2 1-2 pounds of unshelled nuts.

Black walnuts: for 1 pound or 3 cups broken kernels it takes about 5 1-2 pounds of nuts in the shell.

Nuts Must Be Fresh, Crisp

Greatest of all nut virtues are freshness and crispness. Most nuts are rich in fat, and if this becomes rancid, the nuts have a disagreeable flavor. To prevent this, it's a good idea to buy nuts in fairly small quantities and to use them quickly. Keep them in an airtight container in a cool, dry, dark place.

Although nuts are practically made-to-order for kitchen use, there's one precaution no cook should overlook. Be sure every bit of shell is separated from the nut meats. To bite into a piece of cake or candy and come upon a stray bit of shell definitely comes under the head of unpleasant surprises.

Nuts are often added to vary favorite recipes for breads, muffins, cakes, biscuits, waffles or cookies. There need be no change in the other ingredients. Use from 1-4 to 1-2 cup of nuts to each cup of flour.

In concoctions that have to be cooked for any length of time most cooks prefer nuts with a pronounced flavor. Nuts with distinctive flavors are also good in ice cream. Black walnuts and pistachio nuts are often added. About 1-2 cup of nuts to 1 quart ice cream mixture is a good proportion.

The regular meeting of the Y.W.C.A. Board of Directors was held on Monday afternoon in the Assembly Hall of the Howard Residence, presided over by the finance meeting at two o'clock.

Mrs. A. E. Rowell, the president, was in the chair and the devotional period was conducted by Mrs. A. J. Milligan, who spoke on Y.W.C.A. World Fellowship. Mrs. Arthur Hill led in prayer.

Miss Hazel presented the House and Memorial Building reports, which showed a very busy month on both premises.

The living room with its new draperies, venetian blinds and attractive slip-covers was greatly improved in appearance and all rooms continued to be well filled at the residence.

The assembly hall had been used for seven parties and teas as well as for a number of smaller meetings and the Sir John Sherbrooke and Duke of Wellington Chapters of the I.O.D.E. were planning to hold their monthly meetings in the assembly hall.

A "Y" Business Girls' Club has been organized during the month, and the Adult Education classes in French and the St. John Ambulance were well filled.

World Fellowship Sunday was to be observed on Sunday morning at Plymouth Church by a special service conducted by Rev. F. A. C. Dossie.

Miss Fraser reported for the Physical Department, showing a registration of 154 in the various classes. A class for English business girls was starting on Tuesday evening and a ball room dancing class for boys and girls on Friday night.

That October was a busy and very active month for the V.O.N., was monthly meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Clinic Room.

Rev. G. Ellery Read, D.D., was in the chair and after the adoption of the minutes as read by Mrs. M. L. McFadden, secretary, Mrs. J. G. Ranshouse reported on the splendid success of the annual "Thrift Shop" which was the major event in V.O.N. activities during the early days of the present month.

Mrs. Ranshouse stated that all articles sent in for the shop had been exceptionally good and that in every way the V.O.N. Thrift Shop for 1939 had been a great success.

Mr. F. E. Kerridge in presenting the financial statement for October stated that the total receipts were $197.72, while expenses amounted to $321.04.

The treasurer then announced that the total net receipts from the Thrift Shop amounted to $315.

Following this cheering statement a motion extending "hearty thanks to all those who contributed or helped in any way towards the success of the Thrift Shop and to the press for generous co-operation," was unanimously adopted.

On motion of Mrs. G. E. Read it was decided to hold the Thrift Shop again next year and Mrs. F. S. Rugg was appointed to take charge of advertising the same during the year.

That the kind offer made by Mr. S. A. Vineberg, of Fraser's, Ltd., to hold a percentage sale for the benefit of the local branch of the V.O.N., be accepted with sincere appreciation was also the unanimous decision of the meeting.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of Miss Edna Osborne, who was on duty at the Sherbrooke High School, the nurses' monthly report, was read by the treasurer.

The supervisor said that despite the fact that fewer visits were made in October than in the two previous months the volume of work continued much the same, because at time spent in school activities.

The report stated that thirteen hours were spent in the Lennoxville High School and nine hours in the Mitchell School assisting the doctors in the examination of pupils. In October 23 new patients were

HOME MANAGER OVERSHADOWS JOB HOLDER

Most young women today are better prepared to earn a pay check than to manage their husbands' salaries so that the income does for two.

In seeing that their daughters are quite capable of looking out for themselves many parents are neglecting to see that they are also capable of looking after a husband and family.

And yet most girls want, and intend, to marry. And the majority of them are young women—wouldn't it be necessary to add to the family income if they were the kind of managers their mothers were.

Education For Marriage

Parents really haven't any right to bring up a daughter to think that as a newlywed she must have as easy a life as her mother at fifty.

They ought to remind her once in a while of the budget years they went through trying to establish a place for themselves and for the family they didn't put off until they could afford it.

Today a girl's education ought to include practical training in cooking—not can-opener or expensive cooking, but the kind of cooking that a young couple on a slim budget can afford.

It ought to include such practical things as sewing (so that she can make draperies and slip covers) and taking care of a house.

It isn't sensible to see that a girl learns just one thing—how to earn a living—when what she wants most in the world is to marry a man who will earn it for her.

admitted, the total number carried during the month being 70.

During October 315 visits were paid, 30 of which were in Lennoxville; four Child Welfare Clinics were attended, five Well Baby conferences were held, two health talks were given to women's groups and four public health classes were conducted at the School for Leaders, by the V.O.N., who truly had an extremely active and busy month, the total collections amounting to only $81.50.

MARRIAGES

BELL—BLAKE

Frelighsburg, Nov. 15.—In the Bishop Stewart Memorial Church, Frelighsburg, evergreens, fall foliage, tinted pine cones and effective candlelight arranged with ferns and trailing larkspur formed a beautiful setting for a wedding which took place on Friday evening, November 10, when Avis Marjory, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Blake, was united in marriage to Floyd Graham Bell, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Bell. Guest-pews were marked with pom-poms of white ribbon and evergreen.

Rev. A. J. Marshall conducted the ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mrs. M. R. Whitcomb. Mr. Blake gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore a dainty gown of white chiffon over white satin and a floor-length veil caught in cup fasten with orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses. The bride's sister, Miss Marion Blake, the maid-of-honor was dressed in a frock of Queen's blue chiffon and carried an arm bouquet of yellow mums.

Mr. Wilfred Allen, of Foster, was groomsmen and the ushers were Mr. Rupert Allen, of Granby, and the bride's sister, Miss Muriel Blake.

The bride's mother was attired in a black silk crepe gown with black felt hat and wore a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother wore a velvet frock of tuscan grape color with matching toque and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held, following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Bell, where about sixty guests were present. The bridal table looked very attractive with its lovely lace cloth centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, yellow and white streamers attached to the chandelier and yellow candles in silver candelsticks.

After a week-end spent in Montreal, the young couple returned to spend the winter months with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Bell.

"They take away BABY'S TEETHING FEVER"

SO writes Mrs. B. — of North Sydney, then a Toronto mother says: "I used Baby's Own Tablets and the babies were always so good. No crying, pain or trouble when teething. In fact, I hardly knew they were cutting their teeth as they never were any trouble at night."

Baby's Own Tablets are quick, safe and effective, sweet-tasting and easy to take. Contain no opiates or stupefying drugs. Try Baby's Own Tablets not only for teething troubles but also for colic, constipation, upset stomach and other simple ailments of babyhood. 25 cents. Your money refunded if you are not satisfied.

AID MEMBERS HELD SESSION AT BISHOPTON

Addresses on "Democracy" and "Armistice Day" Featured Meeting in United Church Hall.

Bishopston, Nov. 15.—There was a splendid attendance of members and visitors at the regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church held at "Woodbine Bungalow."

The president, Mrs. de Gruchy, was in the chair and opened the meeting by reading the twenty-seventh psalm and conducting the devotional period. Rev. C. C. Gilbert offered prayer.

After the adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting as read by the secretary, Mrs. M. Porter, Mrs. C. C. Gilbert gave a splendid talk on "Democracy." Discussion on several items of business was heard followed by a left-over sale which netted a substantial sum.

A reading by Mrs. Angus Smith, "Armistice Day, 1939," was much enjoyed by all. The roll call was answered by "Which do I prefer—Spring, Summer, Autumn or Winter?" The Benediction and "God Save the King" brought the meeting to a close.

After adjournment a contest was held the prizewinners being Rev. C. C. Gilbert, Mrs. Angus Smith and Mrs. Gene McKenzie. The contest was in charge of Mrs. W. Bentley.

Lunch was served by Mrs. H. Kenzie and Mrs. M. Porter, assisted by Mrs. L. Weston, Mrs. Collett, Miss Atto, Mrs. Beaumont, Mrs. Skinner and Mrs. de Gruchy. The long face-covered table looked very attractive with its hand-painted Dresden rose bowl, filled with roses and sweet peas and tall green tapers in low crystal holders.

COMBAT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is often caused by uric acid in the blood. This blood impurity should be extracted by the kidneys. If kidneys fail, and excess uric acid remains, it irritates the muscles and joints causing excruciating pains. Plan to help prevent rheumatism by keeping your kidneys in good condition. Take regularly Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite kidney remedy.

St. Janvier Man Weak, Nervous, Rundown

"For a long time I was in a suffering condition with stomach gas," said Mr. Vaudry. "After my meals I would bloat up with gas until my clothing felt tight around my waistline and I had gas pains that were almost more than I could stand and would feel choked from bloating and couldn't get enough breath. And I was not only badly bloated with gas after meals, but also seemed full of a sour, acidous fermentation. I tell you, I certainly was in distress! I couldn't get the good out of my food, and gradually failed in strength and got weak and rundown, and was so nervous with suffering that I couldn't sleep right. I also had sluggish liver action, and was troubled with constipation and had to take strong physic, and I had sickening bilious spells and bitter taste in my mouth and a coated tongue."

Twenty Ingredients in This New Herbal Compound

MOSBY'S TONIC contains 20 ingredients, including 15 Roots and Herbs. PROVINCIAL OUTFITS ON SCORING SPREES

Braves And Saints In Tie For Second Place

Valleyfield Drubs Shawinigan Falls 7-2 in Wide-Open Clash Marked by Five Major Penalties—Saints Edge Out Verdun Bulldogs 7-6 to Spoil First Game in Verdun's New Arena—Lemay, Poirier, Lemay Line Figures in Five Goals.

Fans who like their hockey wide-open, with an abundance of goals and sufficient team rivalry to keep the action at top speed, could do worse than take in a Provincial Senior Hockey League game.

With an average of better than seven goals a game, the P.S.H.L. has been providing just such hockey this season. That there is plenty of rivalry was shown last night when Valleyfield and Shawinigan fought it out with fists and goals in the wildest game of the season.

Valleyfield won the game 7-2 to gain a second place tie with Boston Olympics and St. Hyacinthe. The Saints gained that bracket by beating Verdun Bulldogs 7-6 in the first game at Verdun's new arena.

Five major penalties were called in the last period of the Valleyfield game as all the players of both teams joined in a general melee. Police were called out to help restore order after the 10-minute donnybrook.

A fight between Sylvie Munday of the Cataracts and Joe Levine of the Braves started the battle. When it was over Munday, Levine, Tony Demers, Paul Goulet and Leo Carroll went to the penalty box with majors. Altogether there were fourteen penalties in the period.

As for the scoring, Demers, as usual, led the Braves, with a goal and three assists. Lionel Lafontaine, Marcel Despelteau, Jean Huguet, Ed (Chick) Gromoll, Henry Matte and Ray Mullins, got the other Valleyfield goals.

Herbie Delormier started the Shawinigan scoring in the first period and Joe Nelmes ended it with a goal in the last minute of play. Braves got four of their goals in the second period and three in the third.

St. Hyacinthe's power line of Albert and Tony Lemay and Gordie Poirier was to much for Verdun. This combination figured in five goals and built up too great a lead for the Bulldogs to overcome, despite a fighting third period rally.

The Saints led 6-2 at one time and that was just one goal too many for Verdun. Poirier picked up a goal and four assists, Tony Lemay two goals and an assist, and Albert Lemay a goal and three assists. Steve Nickartz, Bob Purdie and Gordie Waite got the other St. Hyacinthe goals.

Despite their six goals, no Verdun player had more than one. The Bourcier brothers, Conrad and Jean Louis, got one apiece and the others went to Paul Arcand, Alphonse Lalonde, George Bell and Bob Morin.

Arcand started the scoring but the Saints piled up a 4-1 lead before the end of the first period. Verdun spent the rest of the game trying to catch up, holding the visitors to 2-2 in the second session and out-scoring them 3-1 in the third.

Little Aurel Joliat, for years a star with Canadiens of the National Hockey League, made his debut as a referee in this game.

NEW BOOST FOR INTER-LEAGUE BASEBALL PLAY

Well-Known Major Loop Official Suggests Interlocking Schedule Somewhat on Order of National Hockey League.

New York, Nov. 15.—(P)—The trend toward inter-league play in the major leagues, gradually picking up momentum, was given a new push today by a suggestion which met with the approval of several of baseball's more influential citizens.

The sponsor of this plan, a well-known baseball official, asked that his name be not mentioned. But he got the idea that it might be brought up at next month's major league meetings, along with the suggestions of Larry MacPhail, for eight "World Series" right down the line between the two loops, and Gerry Nugent for a Shaughnessy play-off in the big leagues.

The new plan goes something like this:

1.—Cut the regular season play down to where each team, instead of meeting every other team in its own league twenty-two times each season, would take the others on in only eighteen games—nine at home and nine away.

2.—Then each team in each league would play four games with every team in the other league.

3.—The four games—two at home and two away—would count in the pennant standings, somewhat on the order of the National Hockey League.

"In that way," explained the sponsor, "you'd have some true idea of just how much better your pennant-winning clubs are than the other clubs in both loops. These inter-league games could be put on late in August, just when the interest of fans is beginning to fall off, and would be a definite shot in the arm to the gate."

For Fredrick, the National League's president, unofficially thought the idea a good one.

"At least," he said, "it's a progressive step. And baseball must keep on showing progress all the time, just like a business.

"The trend is definitely toward inter-league play, sooner or later." The Athletics and Browns, although not contacted on the proposal, can't help but take it, like a kid to a lollipop. Just think, they'd trade four games with the Yankees for four with the Phillies or Boston Bees.

Ring Down Curtain On College Grid Activities At Annual Rugby Dinner

Marking the end of this year's football season the annual rugby dinner was held last night at the University of Bishop's College and was followed by the presentation of awards to members of the team who have qualified. The banquet, which was tendered members of the team by the University, was attended by nearly all male members of the University and Lincoln Magor, president of the Students' Council, acted as toastmaster.

Following the toast to the King, proposed by the chairman and read by the National Anthem, Valdo Tulk proposed the toast to the Alma Mater, stating that during his junior years at the university he had listened to upper classmen propose the toast with mixed feelings and now found himself in the same position. Professor E. E. Boothroyd made the reply, referring to the Alma Mater as the great mother of all the students. The health of the mother, he stated, depended on the undergraduates living up to the standards set by the students of former days.

Under the baton of Sydney A. Meade, Jr., and accompanied by Hugh A. Morvaird at the piano, the Glee Club sang two negro spirituals and an old college favorite.

Speaking for the Rev. Dr. A. H. McCreer, Professor W. O. Raymond expressed the Principal's regrets at being unable to attend, and went on to propose the toast to the team. Dr. Raymond paid high tribute to the work of the team this year and pointed to the record of the points gained throughout the season. The work of the team represented a conscientious effort, he said, as was evident from their attendance at practices both in rain and shine. He went on to give several humorous descriptions of football and concluded with the good wishes of the Faculty for next year's team.

The reply was made by Douglas Bradley, captain of the squad, who thanked the Faculty for their sympathetic attitude to the outfit, and paid high tribute to the work of his team-mates. Bishop's was the best balanced team in the league, he stated, as was evident from the fact that honors for scoring were distributed throughout the squad. After thanking Coach Archie Cruikshank for his assistance, he praised the work of the line, stating that no one knew better than the backfield just how to run the line.

Speaking briefly Archie Cruikshank told the players that they would never play on a team with a better fighting spirit, and he complimented the team on their sportsmanlike type of play throughout the season. He expressed his pleasure at having the opportunity of coaching the Bishop's squad this year, and hoped that the team had enjoyed the season as much as he had. Again led by Sydney Meade, the students sang several of their favorite songs.

Arnold Schoch, in addressing a toast to the Faculty, thanked them for their co-operation in arranging lectures and lab. periods in order to enable the enlarged programme of student activities to be carried out. The reply, written by Rev. Professor F. G. Vial, received an enthusiastic reception as it was read by Professor Elton Scott. Prof. Vial spoke in a lighter vein of the importance of the team to the life of the college and referred to the accomplishments of teams of former years. The address, which was punctuated with bursts of laughter from the students, concluded with the writer's best wishes for the team, and was accorded a tremendous ovation.

Concluding the programme, Professor A. L. Keuhner, Faculty representative on the Athletic Board, presented the awards. Bishop's had an excellent team this year and was tutored by an excellent coach. The promoters, the commissioners agreed to reduce the minimum wage of wrestlers from $10 to $8 per exhibition.

Major "B" was won this year by George Cross, Merritt Bateman, Arnold Schoch and Ray Tulk. Awarded their major letters for the second time were Sidney Radley-Walters, Lloyd Lane, Geoff Scott, Jim Flintoff, Gordon Cooper and Douglas Bradley. Cross, Scott and Bradley had been in every minute of play throughout the season.

Edwin Parker and Lincoln Magor were given a special award of their letters as they had both been put out of the game through injuries after they had played fifty per cent of the time. Ian Hay was presented with his major letter which he won last year. Morse Robinson was qualified for his major letter but will not receive it until he successfully completes his first year. David Savage, Robin Lindsay and Dean Williamson were presented with crests, and Russell and Ray Tulk each received minor "B"s for their play last year.

National Hockey League's Great Warhorse Again Shown Rallying Force Behind Boston Club as Black Hawks Bow 3-1—Detroit Red Wings Stave Off Last-Period Rally to Best New York Americans 4-2 in Manhattan—Ken Kilrea Stars for Wings.

The Boston "locomotive" rolled along the "main track" again today after nearly two weeks of idling on a National Hockey League "sideline." Max Kaminsky forged ahead of a Springfield teammate, Norm Schultz, today in the race for individual scoring honors in the International-American Hockey League.

Kaminsky was credited with nine assists for a total of nine points in league statistics. Schultz, who shared the lead with Kaminsky last week, dropped back to a second-place tie at eight points with Deacon of Indianapolis.

Pete Besson, of Pittsburgh, with 14 minutes in the penalty box, headed the "bad man" division. Joe Lamb, of Springfield, and Marcel Tremblay, of New Haven, tied for second with 12 minutes each.

Another fact that spurred Shore to his rescue efforts was that Johnny Crawford, youthful Boston defence star, has been on the sidelines through injuries. There has been talk that Shore might even play in a few games
