Levesque meets Young Liberals

Campaign fund reforms urged

Another round in the battle over control of the Provincial Liberal party campaign funds was staged at the local Reform Club last night when Rene Levesque, former welfare minister and MLA for Laurier, visited a meeting of the Eastern Townships section of the Young Liberal Federation to explain the views of the "reform" group on the issue.

Mr. Levesque is a supporter of an element within the provincial Liberal organization which is seeking the election of Eric Kierans, of Montreal, a former Health and Revenue minister, as president of the Quebec Liberal Federation at the annual meeting to be held in Montreal from Nov. 17-20. One of the main points in Mr. Kierans' program for overhauling the provincial Liberal party structure is that the campaign fund should be under the control of a special committee rather than under the supervision of the party's parliamentary leader.

Prior to the address by Mr. Levesque, Jean-Jacques Fontaine of Sherbrooke was elected E.T. regional vice-president of the Young Liberal Federation of Quebec.

Much had been said in recent years about the democratization of the Liberal party structure in this province, the former minister declared, but no party could be truly democratic if its finances were under the control of a single individual.

He expressed the belief that it was important to know the identity of large contributors to the campaign funds because this might explain some of the decisions made by the parliamentary chiefs of the party, especially when the party was in power.

Citing the decision of the federal government to defer the institution of its medicare program, Mr. Levesque suggested this might be the result of large contributions to the party war chest by private health insurance organizations who would lose much business if a state system were established.

He regarded as "flim flam" the arguments presented by Finance Minister Sharp and said he wanted information on the donations to the federal Liberal party by insurance and pharmaceutical firms.

He urged support of the slate headed by Mr. Kierans as the new executive of the provincial federation as the best means of applying the reform proposals adopted at earlier meetings of the Federation, because these changes could be effected only by men with clean hands and goodwill.

Traditional means of financing election campaigns followed by the major parties in Quebec were vestiges of an outdated feudal system which could not be reconciled with democracy and which were extremely dangerous for the interests of the people.

He stressed that the system whereby the parliamentary chief controlled the election fund by naming the trustee, who were solely responsible for raising and distributing the money had resulted in Quebec being deprived of many of its resources for the benefit of the party chest.

The meeting was presided over by Gilles Trudeau, president of the Sherbrooke County Young Liberal Federation.

Wagner would exempt

MONTREAL (CP) — Claude Wagner, former Quebec minister of justice says he believes Crown prosecutors and the minister of justice should be exempt from rulings of the Bar Association.

This would give them more freedom of action. The member of the legislature assembly for Verdun was fined $100 Nov. 4 by the council of the Montreal Bar Association and reprimanded for a breach of ethics unbecoming a member of the bar.

Nine members of the association decided that Mr. Wagner had made unsubstantiated charges against a Riviere du Loup, Que., judge during a speech at Drummondville, Que., in October, 1965.

The judge, Jean-Paul Beube, submitted a complaint to the Quebec Provincial Bar Association which turned it over to the Montreal group.

Mr. Wagner was minister of justice when he made the speech to a rural bar association. After hearing the judgment, he said he would take his case to the highest court in the land if necessary, to ask that the decision be revoked.

Mr. Wagner said Tuesday it is essential that members of the legislative assembly not be required to submit to the regulations of the bar council while acting officially "and if there is not an amendment to the law when I return to office, I will not enrol as a member of the bar."

Post strike gets few days' delay

OTTAWA (CP) — The mail will get through—at least for another few days.

The government temporarily averted a country-wide postal strike Wednesday night by appointing Mr. Justice Andre Montpetit of the Quebec Superior Court as mediator in a wage dispute involving about 50,000 federal employees.

The Montreal judge was expected to tackle his new assignment in Ottawa today. Revenue Minister Benson told a press conference he hopes the mediator can propose a settlement in "a matter of days."

Mr. Justice Montpetit was appointed a year ago as a one-man royal commission to investigate working conditions in the post office, following a wildcat postal strike in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia.

His report, made public last month and now under government consideration, blistered post office officials for ignoring employee grievances and criticized postal union leaders for making unreasonable demands.

ARE FAR APART
Mr. Benson told reporters that the government and the civil service groups are so far apart in wage talks that negotiators were unable to reconcile their differences without the help of an independent mediator.

"I hope the mediator can at least get these people into the same ball park," he said.

He said a civil service commission recommendation for a six-per-cent interim pay increase for the 50,000 Group D civil servants would cost the taxpayers an extra $17,000,000 annually.

"This is certainly not pique," he said, adding that a bigger settlement could be negotiated next year after collective bargaining machinery is set up by Parliament.

He estimated that the demands of the 29,000 postal employees alone would cost $100,000,000 a year. The other civil servants in Group D are customs officers, hospital workers and others in the lower pay brackets.

Both sides agreed to call in a mediator after two weeks of intensive meetings.

Mr. Benson said the unions made no commitment not to strike. The unions had mentioned various dates as possible strike deadlines.

LBJ's re-election is threatened by biggest loss in 36 years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The impact of a mid-term Republican breakthrough in Tuesday's U.S. election offers a fresh threat not only to President Johnson's legislative program but possibly to his re-election in 1968.

While the Republican party was surging to above-average gains in the U.S. House of Representatives in the non-presidential year balloting, it also was netting from the Democrats' eight governors' offices.

This cemented Republican governors into political power bases in at least 25 states which years since Barry Goldwater's crushing 1964 defeat by Johnson.

The fact that Republicans will control at least half of the governorships in the next two years doesn't mean they will be able to manoeuvre their states into the Republican column in the 1968 presidential contest.

But the mere fact that their party has broadened its base for attack on Johnson's executive branch makes the Republican nomination much more attractive to potential candidates than it has been during the two defeatful years from now—17 in excess of Johnson's loss of party strength in Congress was far greater than that sustained by any president two years into his first elective term since Republican Herbert Hoover's party lost 61 seats in the 1930 off-year election.

The Republicans nailed down a gain of 47 seats in the House to bring their total to 187. Democrats elected 248 members.

The president, resting at his Texas ranch, had no comment on House and governorship losses. He passed the word through an aide that he was somewhat surprised at the Republican gain of three in the Senate.

The Democrats still retain 64 seats in the Senate. But if the Republicans vote as a unit they now hold power they lacked before to kill by themselves any filibustered legislation, where two-thirds majority is needed.

Richard M. Nixon, former Republican vice-president whom Johnson sharply attacked a few days before the election, said results of Tuesday's voting were "the sharpest rebuff of a president in a generation."

SEES 'LBJ BACKLASH'
Goldwater said Republican victories were the result of an "LBJ backlash."

Politicians hold up pay cheques over deadlock on unification

OTTAWA (CP) — Thousands of civil servants will miss their two-week pay cheques today because of a political deadlock in the Commons.

Scores of federal contractors are awaiting overdue payments. Politicians are talking nervously about the possibility of closure or of a winter election.

The new crisis facing the minority Pearson government stems from the opposition's refusal to pass temporary appropriations for November until the Liberals agree to call immediate committee hearings on their controversial plan to merge the three military services.

The government refuses to approve committee scrutiny until after the Commons has followed its usual procedure of first voting on the principle of the unification legislation, which might not come for several weeks.

About 200,000 civil servants are scheduled to be paid in three equal groups today, Monday and Tuesday.

But due to the impasse in Parliament, the employees of 13 departments cannot be paid until the $372,000,000 supply bill for November is passed.

The employees of Parliament, of the prime minister's office and of 10 other departments will get their semi-monthly cheques on time because spending estimates of their departments were passed by Parliament earlier this year.

The 13 departments whose estimates still lack Parliamentary approval are agriculture, defence, external affairs, transport, trade, mines, health, finance, justice, northern development, works, state secretary and solicitor-general.

Government officials estimate there are roughly 100,000 civil servants working in the 13 departments that have run out of appropriations.

The 10 departments with authority to pay their employees are immigration, defence, production, fisheries, post office, forestry, Indian affairs, industry, labor, veterans' affairs and revenue.

Employees of Crown corporations like the CNR, the CBC and Air Canada are not affected.

Russia's Gromyko tells Martin:

Viet Nam not our baby

MOSCOW (CP) — Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko for a common ground that are members of the ICC. Mr. Gromyko said the Soviet Union came here after talks in Poland.

It was understood that Gromyko replied that the time was not propitious for increasing the role of the ICC.

An official Soviet announcement of external affairs, the ICC, which in theory is meant to keep peace in the world, has access to all Soviet "frank" normally means disagreement.

Gromyko demanded a withdrawal of American forces from South Viet Nam. But it was not clear whether he set this as a pre-condition for peace talks.

Canadian delegation sources declined to report Gromyko's remarks during the 2½-hour meeting with Martin.

They said, however, that "virtually all aspects of the Viet Nam problem were discussed."

Martin was scheduled to meet later today with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Canadian sources said the purpose of both meetings was to explore the possibilities for progress toward Vietnamese peace talks.

It was the consumer's price index is any indication, housewives will have to spurn clothes, doctors, new furniture, recreation and even reading to check rising costs.

It was these areas that pushed the index up by one-fifth of a point to 145.3 in October from 145.1 in September.

The rise continued despite a 1½-point drop in food prices as housewives boycotted supermarkets and a Senate-Commons committee began investigating the food industry.

They said Martin stressed in his talks with Gromyko that Canada hopes to close the gap between the parties to the Viet nam conflict in the search for a common ground that are members of the ICC. Mr. Gromyko said the Soviet Union came here after talks in Poland.

Food prices drop as the industry is challenged; all else is higher

OTTAWA (CP) — Food prices dropped in October with housewives and politicians making threatening noises, but almost everything else went up.

If the consumer's price index is any indication, housewives will have to spurn clothes, doctors, new furniture, recreation and even reading to check rising costs.

It was these areas that pushed the index up by one-fifth of a point to 145.3 in October from 145.1 in September.

The rise continued despite a 1½-point drop in food prices as housewives boycotted supermarkets and a Senate-Commons committee began investigating the food industry.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, monthly report Wednesday showed food prices dropping for the second straight month despite an increase in the overall index.

Higher clothing and housing costs in October again outweighed lower food prices, just as they did in September when food dropped a full point while the main index advanced to 145.1 from 144.9 in August.

Food costs make up 27 per cent of the over-all index, which was 4.3 per cent higher than in October, 1965.

CLOTHING HIGHER
The October index showed increases from September of 2.15 points for clothing, 1.25 points for health and personal care, seven-tenths of a point for housing, and two-fifths of a point for recreation and reading.

Transportation costs dropped one-tenth of a point while tobacco and alcohol costs remained unchanged.

Housing costs make up an important 32 per cent of the index, transportation 12, clothing 11, health and personal care seven, tobacco and alcohol six, and recreation and reading five.

Although the food index dropped to 145.6 in October from 147.1 in September, it was still almost 10 full points above that of October, 1965, when it stood at 135.7.

Interesting slides of Easter Island are shown in Danville church hall

DANVILLE — The meeting of the Men's Interchurch Fellowship was held in St. Augustine's Church on Oct. 30. A short service and business meeting was held, after which members were joined in the Parish Hall by a large number of visitors, who enjoyed seeing slides and movies of Easter Island, shown by David MacFarlane, science editor.

Mr. MacFarlane recounted the many experiences of his four month trip. Their ship, belonging to the Royal Canadian Navy, was the first to call at the island in 18 months. The island, only 64 square miles in area has 27 extinct volcanoes, and a very rough landscape.

Part of the equipment included 24 pre-fab huts, a water distillery-refrigeration unit, cooking unit and tons of supplies. There was no dock for the ship so all cargo had to be unloaded onto a boat. The natives soon learned to erect a pre-fab hut in 30 minutes.

The history of the island dates back to 400 A.D. There was a population at one time of 3,000 to 4,000 but was nearly wiped out by smallpox and other white man's diseases until only 111 people remained. Today, however, there are approximately 950 Polynesians, who are nearly out-numbered by their horses. They also have 2,200 sheep, a Chilean government project. They export approximately 80 tons of wool annually, which is their chief source of income. Meat is provided by 2,000 head of cattle.

One of the great occasions on the trip was a sau - sau; a cook out in Canadian terms. A large pit was dug and a fire of scrap wood provided hot coals over which stones were thrown, then layers of banana leaves and meat were placed alternately; and all was covered with earth and left until the meat was cooked. Festivities included music and dancing.

Among notable characters of the island is Father Sebastian Engler, who has been in charge of their religious life for the past 30 years. They have a six - grade school, with six teachers and 295 pupils.

The people are quite healthy. Medical doctors of the expedition found no cancer on the island, although there were quite a few cases of leprosy. The native chiefs were found to be rather inferior. Water supply is limited and "not safe" by our standards. Some gardening is done, although potatoes cannot be grown on the island.

The natives are a happy congenial group, manifested by the fact that there are no fights, no murders and no policemen. Of course no traffic accidents occur, as there are no cars.

Easter Island, to those on the Expedition, was a Shangri-La or Paradise, with ideal temperatures and a rainfall of 30 to 60 inches annually. Peace and relaxation was found there, life being much more tranquil than the hurry of life in Canada. Members hope that the island will remain as it is, and would like to visit it again.

Symbolic carving made from the various fruit woods were on display.

It was by far the largest meeting held by the group. A social hour was enjoyed, when the Young Mothers' Group served refreshments, under the direction of the president, Mrs. Meriv Taylor.

The next meeting will be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Nov. 20.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

EAST FORCES DUMPTY TO RUFF

Some people just hate to lead a card that they know will be trumped by an opponent. This is a natural prejudice but there are many times when you want to make such a play.

North and South arrived at four spades by what is sometimes called "Papa-Mama" bidding. In spite of the somewhat derivative name this bidding frequently is correct. South felt no feel like jumping to four spades after a single raise but he wanted to make some further bid and saw no reason to confuse things by bidding clubs, hearts or diamonds.

As for North he had a maximum raise to two spades and no reason not to go on to four.

After East forced dummy South played one round of trumps and led a club toward dummy. West played the nine spot. East realized that West was showing either four clubs or two because the nine could not be his lowest club. East also saw that the only chance to beat the hand would be if West held four clubs. East ducked the first club, took the second and eventually made the setting trick in diamonds.

South was very unlucky not to make his contract. Perfect defense was required to defeat him.

As a starter West got off to the lead of the deuce of hearts. If he had opened any other suit South would have romped home. East cashed the ace and queen of hearts and with a third heart forced dummy to ruff. Had East shifted to a diamond or a trump, South would have pulled trumps, gone after clubs and reached dummy with the fourth trump in order to discard his losing diamond on a good club.

Case of not reporting loans to

The case of a Sherbrooke man accused of theft by person required to account for some $20,000 was remanded to court for November 16 in Court of Sessions by Judge Benoit Turmel.

Night shopping on Thursday proposed

The newly appointed president of the King Street West Shopping Centre merchants association said this morning that stores in the city of Sherbrooke could remain open late Thursday evening if Monday or Saturday afternoon were to be considered holidays.

This transfer of working hours will be of benefit to the store owner, the store clerk and the customer, said Normand Bousquet. He stressed he was giving a personal opinion, and not speaking for the association.

For the customer it means additional time to shop. For the clerk it means a little extra cash and for the merchant it means additional business.

Mr. Bousquet said that the local merchants must get together and decide among themselves as to how they are planning to solve the problem of staying open late.

Mr. Bousquet said that local merchants should re-evaluate their stand taken in view of the opening of the Rock Forest Shopping Centre later this month.

Mr. Bousquet recently replaced Marc Pepin as president of the merchant's association. Mr. Pepin was forced to resign as he was transferred to another branch by his company.

Stanstead Council meeting is held

STANSTEAD — (Special) — The monthly meeting of the Stanstead Municipal Council was held on Monday evening in the hall of the Registry building.

The chimney inspector gave a report that 360 chimneys had been inspected plus several open fire places.

A sum of $25 was voted to the Canadian Legion poppy fund, and $100 to Weir Memorial Park.

The winter roads contract was read and approved by the Council.

A communication was read from the Minister of Municipal Affairs concerning the winter work program. The Parks committee will make a study of what needs to be done on the proposed parks and if necessary a special meeting will be called to make applications for work to be done under this program.

Mayor E. J. Struthers, gave a report of the County Council Union Congress held in mid-October at the Chateau Laurier in Quebec City which he, with Hugo Lapenna, Mayor of Beche, and Mr. Cloutier, Mayor of Barnston had attended.

Halloween night it was reported fire hydrants had been opened in the Municipality.

Had there been a fire this could have been serious. A notice of motion was given that in future if hydrants are opened an investigation will be made and a fine imposed upon the culprits.

Upon request of Fire Chief, John Boucher, the Stanstead council agreed, subject to approval of the Rock Island Town Council that when a public building is on fire, both departments will answer the call. One will fight the fire and the other department supervise and evacuate.

A list of these buildings, is to be made up by Mr. Boucher and Rock Island's Chief Wilfred Currier. The suggestion was originally made by Mr. Currier.

The police report for the month of October was alike for Stanstead and Rock Island. There were 138 calls at the control center of which 42 were emergencies; 56 traffic tickets were issued and 28 have been paid; there were 2,508 miles patrolled.

A salesman was at the meeting and gave a demonstration of a fire safety mask used for going into a smoke-filled atmosphere. This is used with an air compressor tank and is the latest device. Several of the firemen and the chief Mr. Boucher were present and discussed this equipment with the demonstrator. The Council left the matter of purchasing a couple for the department with the fire committee for study.

First meeting held of new Rock Island council

ROCK ISLAND — (Special) — The newly-elected Mayor and Council of the Town of Rock Island held their first meeting on Monday evening in the Town hall. The first official business was the swearing in of the mayor and council.

Mayor Lawrence Tilton appointed his committees: Joseph Cote, pro mayor; Gerald Clark, finance; Edgar Hill, police and fire; purchase and sales and representative to the International Water Co. Lawrence Tilton, Jr., maintenance, Real Poirier, parks, Gerard Surprenant, welfare and health.

A representative of Border TV was present and made a request to have the Border franchise to operate a cable TV for ten years. This was approved by the Council, with legal aspects to be studied.

A sum of $200 was voted to the Haskell Free Library and $25 to the Canadian Legion poppy fund.

In regard to the Town purchasing the Border Arena and notice of motion given at a previous council meeting to purchase it, Mayor Tilton asked for a special resolution to hold a closed meeting later this week.

Halloween night, three young juveniles were locked up by the police in the local jail, while there the three youths did considerable damage to the jail. An estimate of the damage is being made and the parents will be held responsible.

raps inaction on pollution

AYER'S CLIFF — (Staff) — Air and water pollution can be controlled but most people do not do anything about the problem until they get hot and cold garbage out of their kitchen taps. Then they are willing to petition their MP or MLA.

"Pollution is to step out for a breath of air and you're ready for medicare," said Christian de Laet, secretary general of the Canadian Council of Resources Minister last night at the Ripple Cove Inn here.

Mr. de Laet was invited by the Lake Massawippi Chamber of Commerce to discuss pollution.

People wherever they are will create waste said the speaker. This is no sin he said but the results of the waste can be disastrous.

If something is to be done about it, it will cost money. Both provincial and federal governments are ready to help if presented with a concrete plan. The price of not controlling pollution is even dearer.

It will mean a filthy Canada. It will mean that houses have to be painted every three years rather than every five years.

Mr. de Laet said the future of a river should be planned. If a river is to be used for fish then no sewage should be dumped. However, if it is to be used for power, do not plan to take a swim in that same river, he said.

If the decision is taken as to what is wanted from the river then scientific action can be taken. No government will order a municipality to change its plans for its river. Only in the national interest will a government order a change of plans said the speaker.

People must help themselves.

Clinic hits 75
per cent

The annual blood donor clinic at the Belvedere Street Armory is winding up its fourth and final day today. The 75 per cent mark has been met but blood is still requested. The objective is 2,000 donations.

Throughout the province of Quebec more than 15,000 new donors are needed to meet the demand of blood.

The blood clinic is open to day from 1:30 to 9:30 tonight.

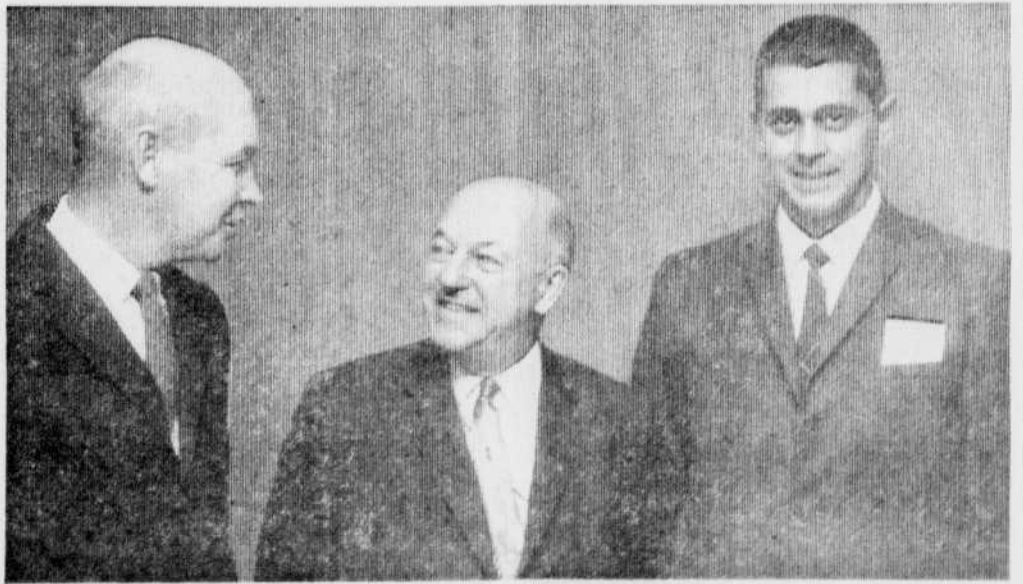

It is hoped, said a spokesman for the Red Cross Society this morning, that the City of Sherbrooke will do its part in supplying blood for the province.

Yesterday and today the clinic was staffed with Sherbrooke Hospital nurses and members of the Sherbrooke High Junior Red Cross, in addition to the regular nurses from Red Cross headquarters.

Mr. de Laet continued that everyone is a polluter. Said one person in the audience "I am not that bad." Mr. de Laet pointed out that everyone in Canada said the same thing.

Answering a question from a lady in the audience who asked, "how can water pollution be solved?" Mr. de Laet said, "very easy. M a d a m, a good case of typhoid fever."

Most people who buy a cottage are asked by their plumbers whether they would like to have a septic tank installed or just a pipe emptying out in the river. Most people, said the speaker, will settle for the pipe because it is cheaper and the money could be used elsewhere.

SPORTSMAN'S NIGHT — Guest speaker Paul Provencher is flanked by president of the Sherbrooke branch of the Industrial Management Club of Canada, Harry Tinker (on the left) and Guy Lafond, M.C. Explorer Provencher describes a trapper's life in the woods

"Gentlemen, I'm going to take you right into the woods with me," said guest speaker Paul Provencher to nearly 200 members of the Industrial Management Club, Sherbrooke branch at their regular meeting which last night was "Sportsman's Night" at the Le Baron Motel.

The author of "I Live in the Woods", noted raconteur and 20th Century Radisson, lulled his audience to pin-drop silence as he recounted with salty flavour the life he had known in the woods as a trapper and explorer for the last 40 years.

He spoke briefly on the torment he caused his father, a lawyer, when he told him that he preferred hunting moose to searching a legal title and would make his life at it by and by.

He did, but first obtained an engineering degree from Laval.

Mr. Provencher showed in the technique of his photography, and the spool of his yarns the cultivated man who yet retains a love for the primitive, free northern life.

One of his films of the Montagnais Indians of the northland was aglow with the quiet strength of the man of nature. From a technical standpoint it was remarkable to notice the brilliant color of the film he took over 20 years ago.

Throughout his narrative and his talk beforehand could be felt the undertone of the conservationist who practices what he preaches.

Anecdotes of howling wolves and wounded bear mingled with the nostalgic, the smell of campfire sizzling and a love of the outdoors life.

His easy switch from French to English showed an effortless Canadianism which fascinated all by its lack of self-consciousness.

Of special homey quality were his anecdotes about his wife and children in the northland life.

And of course all too soon, his talk and film was over and he had to make his way back to his home near Montreal and the company he now works for and which sponsored him, the Quebec North Shore Paper Company.

Heward Grafftey chides parliament

Heward Grafftey, Conservative M.P. for Brome-Missisquoi, reportedly broke parliamentary tradition when he received an overwhelming applause from the galleries after he demanded that the Commons cut out their nonsense and get down to serious business in solving the nation's problems.

There need be little surprise expressed over the reception given Mr. Grafftey's remarks by the limited number who were able to gain admittance to the House of Commons galleries. Their reaction is similar to that felt by the great majority of the Canadian electors, who have long felt that parliament is, as Mr. Grafftey says, becoming absolutely meaningless.

To paraphrase his remarks, the people of Canada are becoming sick and tired of seeing Parliament fritter away its time in arguing senseless questions of procedure when the country is facing so many acute problems.

The extent to which parliament has degraded itself is apparent from the present row which may precipitate an unwanted general election.

Unless something of a political miracle happens the Government will run out of funds required to meet its operating costs and pay the civil servants by the week-end.

But despite the crisis the MP's continue to argue some rather vague question of principle which is almost meaningless to the taxpayers.

More than the issue of appropriations is at stake.

The legislative order paper is filled with many other critical measures — revision of the Bank Act, medicare, transportation reorganization, even a baby budget — while the country is faced with dangerous inflation and labor troubles.

However, the Commons appear more determined to squabble over inconsequential matters of routine than they are in dealing with the tremendous backlog of work facing them.

Rough going ahead for President

Following its near-disastrous defeat in the 1964 elections it became obvious that there was only one way the Republican party could go — up — if it intended to remain a factor in the United States political scene.

This low ebb in the party fortunes coupled with the historical fact that the Opposition party registers some gains in the off-year elections led to the general assumption that the Republicans would increase their Senate and House representation and might also take a number of other important elective offices.

But the size of their gains in Tuesday's vote exceeded the hopes of the party's most enthusiastic supporters, making it clear that President Johnson may be in real trouble when he seeks re-election in 1968.

In fact he may find increasing difficulty in having many of his programs approved by the new Congress.

Theoretically the Democrats retain a substantial majority in both Houses, despite Tuesday's losses, but the advantage is more apparent than real.

Unlike the situation in Canada where party discipline is tight and the members of one party are expected to act in unison in support of or opposition to the cabinet proposals, the major American parties are a loosely-knit coalition of widely varying elements whose only common factor is the name.

Actual battle lines are generally between opposing ideologies, with right-wing Republican and Democrats forming a united front against the leftists of the two parties.

The history of the last Congress shows that President Johnson held an effective majority of only 20 to 25 seats. An increase of 40 seats in the Republican strength could easily wipe out this lead and endanger of the New Horizon project of the administration.

Election or re-election of Republican governors in many of the larger states widens the list of possibilities for the GOP leadership in the next election.

If the Opposition party fields a strong candidate who can unite the moderate and conservative wings of the party its chances of success two years hence are high.

Supersition aggravates food crisis

Violent outbursts of rioting in New Delhi, where scores of thousands of Hindus clashed with police, only emphasize a problem which is seriously hampering the drive to ease hunger in the needy areas of the world.

The significant fact of this rioting is not that the hungry people are taking their ire out on the government for its unwillingness or inability to provide them with adequate food. Rather they are protesting the refusal of the central government to prevent the slaughter of cows, which the Hindu regards as sacred.

Aside from its religious significance, the cow is probably the most useless animal existing in India.

The majority of them do not yield milk, most of them are too thin to serve as food, even if the people would eat beef.

Protected by religious law they live out their useless life.

Some experts believe that India's cattle population consumes more badly-needed food than does the human population. In fact, some observers say that if the redundant cows were destroyed, India would be on the road to nutritional self-sufficiency.

And, while revered, the cows for the most part are neglected, scrounging food where they can. Weakened by hunger they are easy victims of disease, which they carry among the humans.

But to the devout Hindu the cow is not the cause of India's hunger ills. Drought and flood, they say, result from the killing of cows in certain areas and are retribution for the slaying of the animals.

In other needy nations, religious or superstitious taboos deprive the human population of many items of food which the Western World accepts as its right.

Unfortunately, these beliefs cannot be removed overnight, but require years of work in changing the basic concepts of the people.

Auto age adds up to a list of grief

Dear Sir:
I realize that your column is not a pet peeve's department, but here are a few of mine:

1—We invite tourists to visit our fair province and our lovely countryside strewn with rotting, cancerous old-car graveyards, no concealing fences, no laws and no restrictions. Other businesses are subject to law and order; why does such an ugly public nuisance exist, serving as a spawning ground for rats, snakes and vermin?
2—Has anyone tried the new armless bandits at our parking lots, which charge you 25 cents whether you leave your car or not?

3—With Christmas and the holidays coming up isn't it about time that a few pedestrian laws were enforced in this city? They dart out, wander across, and angle in any direction on Wellington Street. Children are taught safety rules at school, and yet some mothers push babies or drag children across the street at will. I have seen children — spraddle legged with thumbs in their ears — daring a car to hit them.
4—Last but not least on my list of grievances is the gross overcharge on the autoroute. Most of us motorists have to fight it out with the trucks on old Route 1.

Mushrooming benefits seen

Expo an expensive proposition but, they say, it's worth it

By RALPH MAGEE

Expo 67 is shaping up as a Canadian cornucopia, which will pour a mixture of debt, inflation, wealth and assets over the whole nation.

Right now, Expo's prime backers — the Federal and Quebec Governments and the City of Montreal — appear headed for the financial hole to the tune of anywhere from $42 million to $103 million.

Expo's inflation contributions began early last spring when, under the Montreal construction decree, the construction trades, which had a no-strike agreement with the fair, won a 30 per cent wage increase spread over three years.

This was an important agreement for Canada as a whole, for it was fated to touch off a chain reaction of demands for 30 per cent labor rate increases in all sorts of other fields.

For instance, it inspired Quebec's longshoremen a few weeks later to call a crippling and costly strike, which was settled when the Canadian Government dished out another 30 per cent wage boost.

The 30 per cent fever so far has cost losses of untold millions in strikes. Settlements in these have spiraled wages to the point where price of products have had to shoot upwards.

Nobody has yet successfully estimated the total dollar value of wage, goods and services increases stemming from Expo scale, but it is calculated to be in the billions.

The presence of 7,500 construction men at site jobs has had the effect of making skilled labor scarce and more expensive in nearby areas. It is rated as another inflationary factor.

This staggering load on the debit side is said to be largely offset by huge financial stimulation which will come to all of Canada from Expo.

Dynamic Jean Drapeau, mayor of Montreal, for instance, says Expo ultimately will bring billions of dollars for his city.

The Province of Quebec has plunged $1.2 billion into a frenzied program of highway improvements to provide easy access to the fair. This has created jobs and prosperity with wide impact and will earn dividends far into the future.

Factories and suppliers in every other Canadian province have already benefitted from providing materials for $109.5 million worth of Expo-financed construction on the 1,000-acre exhibition site.

Of this, $18 million went into the Expo Expressway mass transit service which runs from Montreal through the site.

The Expressway is an example of the widespread benefits arising from Expo business. Its vehicles are being assembled in Ontario, using plywood and timber from British Columbia, axles and rails from Nova Scotia, trucks from Ontario, aluminum and wheels from Quebec, motors from Belgium and automated controls from Pittsburgh.

The permanent assets created by the coming of Expo are big and costly and will make their presence felt on tax bills for decades ahead. Montreal's $218 million Metro subway system and series of immense, spaghetti-like traffic interchanges are examples.

When you go back to the coming deficit of Expo you hit a grey area.

According to the Public Accounts Committee of the House of Commons, Expo will wind up $103 million in debt. This would be split up, with Ottawa meeting half of it, Quebec 37½ per cent and Montreal 12½ per cent.

But the $103 million figure mystifies Dale Rediker, Expo's Director of Finance and Administration.

He says there is an approved net investment in Expo of $82 million on top of the original $40 million provided to get the fair started. So this indicates a deficit of only $12 million.

BUDGET

"We live within our budget daily, and I have called Ottawa repeatedly to find out what their figure means," he said. So far, he's had no answers. According to the latest available information manual Expo estimates its total expenditures at $332.8 million. It expects revenue from admission fees for 35 million visitors, concessionaires' sales parking, charges to participants and concessions, entertainment and amusement, to total $125.1 million.

It expects another $71 million from sale of permanent structures like the administration building, Habitat, amusements, bridges, salvage from temporary buildings, transit systems.

It also expects $34 million from various sponsors.

It estimates total revenues of $250.1 million.

The excess of expenditures over revenues, therefore is estimated at $82.6 million.

With 69 nations, 10 provinces, the states of Maine and Vermont, four cities, 64 businesses or commercial organizations participating, Expo has induced further immense expenditure for their displays.

The estimated value of these structures is $130 million.

Whether Expo, at the end of its six-month run on Oct. 27, 1967 shows big masses of red or black ink, is anybody's guess.

What Expo officials are convinced about, though, is that the fair will have generated so many dollars all over Canada, will have opened the eyes of so many foreigners to the investment attractions of Canada that it is certain to be a success.

To this end, they point to the fact that with $16 million worth of admission passes already sold and another $40 million worth virtually sold, they are far ahead of estimates on advance sales.

They say the fair will bring 4,650,000 Canadians to see it. These people will spend $188 million in auto and train traveling costs. They will spend another $41 million in to-and-fro air travel.

And so on and on and on. Late next year everybody will know if they are correct. (TNS)

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — Before embarking on his first pilgrimage behind the Iron Curtain, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin held a press conference. When it was over, one of the participants summed up the briefing by saying: "You'd need a big truck for all the platitudes."

A good example of what he meant was Mr. Martin's great hope that his talks with the Soviet rulers might somehow facilitate the conclusion of a "universal non-proliferation treaty."

"There may be a chance," Mr. Martin said, "for finding a common ground now between the positions taken by Moscow and Washington."

This pious hope typifies the pretense so dear to official Ottawa that it is Canada's sacred role and duty to act as an honest broker between the super powers because otherwise they wouldn't be able to understand one another.

The fact in this particular case is that Moscow and Washington have been discussing the desirability of a non-proliferation treaty directly and for a long time. By now there isn't an aspect of this important issue — both in its propaganda, form which preoccupies the Geneva Disarmament Conference, and in its substance, which is discussed in private by Soviet and U.S. representatives — the two governments would not be aware of.

They will sign the treaty, just as they signed the partial test-ban convention, as soon as the Kremlin judges it expedient for the long-term purposes of its policy.

But France and China still out

Even then of course, the treaty will not be any more universal than its incomplete forerunner, for France and Communist China are still far from completion of their nuclear tests and will not listen to either Washington or Moscow, let alone to Ottawa.

Mr. Martin is therefore kidding himself if he thinks that he can "somehow" have the slightest influence on the shape and timing of the treaty the two big powers are now apparently agreed in principle to conclude.

I don't think Mr. Martin is kidding himself in this specific case. But he knows that a great many Canadians, after years of conditioning for the pleasing delusion of Canada's great peacemaking role, are expecting some such statement, so he obliges.

Besides, it sounds like a noble reason for making the trip to Moscow. (The hollowing of the whole thing was revealed by Mr. Martin himself when he said that he had discussed this issue at length with Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko quite recently at the United Nations.)

The chief item of Mr. Martin's agenda in Warsaw — namely a discussion "in depth" of Canada's and Poland's concepts of the role of the International Control Commission in Vietnam — is in the same category.

Mr. Martin knows as well as our frustrated men in Vietnam and Laos that Poland is Hanoi's agent and has no interest in allowing the ICC to perform even the limited tasks of observation and reporting which might be possible in a few areas, such as the so-called demilitarized zone.

Here again Mr. Martin is deliberately ignoring the facts which, though perhaps not as generally known in Canada as they should be, he himself knows only too well from the confidential reports he gets from our men who suffer the inhumanity of service on the useless ICC teams.

Why does not Mr. Martin lay these facts on the line? Because they would offend our Communist "friends" and destroy the fiction he wants to maintain about the ICC's alleged great importance in the search for peace in Vietnam.

Big boys by-pass the ICC

"The ICC," Mr. Martin declares solemnly, "provides contact for the (warring) parties" — and Canada believes that there is a role for the commission beyond the assignment it accepted in 1954.

You would have to look far for a more cleverly misleading statement, for it implies that the commission has done its job and that without it there would be no contact between the belligerents. This is nonsense, for both sides by-pass the ICC whenever there is an attempt to start negotiations.

As Britain's Foreign Minister George Brown recently put it, there is no lack of contacts, but lack of response from the Communist side to peace proposals.

In short, facts are irrelevant if they do not fit Mr. Martin's make-a-believe foreign policy. It's a policy which slowly but steadily pushes Canada away from her allies and into the outstretched arms of our Communist wheat consumers whose spies and subversives demonstrate what Moscow and its satraps mean by friendship and peaceful co-existence.

Said Mr. Martin: "It is important that Canadian-Soviet relations be improved." Then he added: "They are improved."

They certainly are. So much so that if Mr. Martin is not careful, there will soon be no room for further improvements even on exclusively Soviet terms.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY from The Upper Room

Although the doors were locked, Jesus came and stood among them, saying, "Peace be with you!" (John 20:26, NEB).

PRAYER: Loving father, help us to reflect the peace of Jesus. May He live in us and say to us, as He did to His disciples when He showed them His hands and side, "Peace be with you." In His name, Amen.

WHEAT KING AGAIN — Larry Hixt of Beiseker, Alta., Wednesday was named world wheat king in pre-show judging at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto. Larry is shown here with a sampling of the wheat that gave him the same crown last year. (CP Wirephoto)

World wheat, tobacco crowns named at fair

TORONTO (CP)—A 21-year-old Alberta farmer won the world wheat championship and a grower with 40 years' experience took the world tobacco crown as six champions were named in pre-show field crop judging Wednesday at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

The fair opens Friday. Larry Hixt of Beiseker took the wheat title for the second consecutive year with a sample of Chinook, a hard spring wheat.

Haram Atkins of Port Burwell, Ont., is the tobacco champion. It was the second time he was judged best in the world, having won the title in 1960.

Robert Fotheringham of Seaford, Ont., won the world hay title for the second consecutive year. Reserve champion was Ray Goltz of Falkenburg, Ont. Mr. Hixt was also named champion in the spring wheat class and Janet Thompson of Delia, Alta., was awarded the spring wheat reserve championship.

WINS OATS TITLE

Tom Rhatigan of Edmonton, was named world oats champion. Mr. Rhatigan, who won the title in 1953, grew his prize-winning sample on land that had been fallow for four years.

In the rye section, Ontario farmer William H. Winters of Renfrew was named world champion. Harry Gorsline of Demorestville, Ont., last year's world champion, won the rye reserve section.

Farmers from Wheatley, Ont., dominated the soybean section and Robert Shanks was named world champion. L. R. Bostick, also of Wheatley, was named reserve champion. Last year's winner was another Wheatley at 8 p.m.

farmer, D. A. Shanks. Grain judges, interviewed after the day's show, said they were impressed with the entries. Tom Ross of Edmonton said the kernels in all samples were plump, uniform and sound with no evidence of mildew or misty effects. "The competition was very close."

WHEAT OUTSTANDING

Dr. Neal Stokopf of the University of Guelph said rye entries were excellent and "wheat samples were outstanding because of the uniformity of color and size of the kernels."

In other competitions, George Luco of Lethbridge was named champion in the winter wheat section with a sample of the Wynatta variety. He was spring wheat reserve champion in 1964.

Reserve winter wheat champions in this year's judging were the Cooper Brothers of Marwich, Essex, Eng., who showed a sample of Capella Desprez.

T. Jugimoto of Rainier, Alta., won the international seed potato title with an entry of the netted gem variety. Reserve champion was Rene Pedneault of Chicoutimi, Que., with a Green Mountain strain.

No world title is awarded in the section because the competition in potatoes is limited to countries where potato imports are not prohibited under the Destructive Insect and Pest Act.

Progress report due on strike

OTTAWA (CP) — Mediator Carl Goldenberg of Montreal is due to report to the government next Tuesday on the progress, or lack of it, of his effort to achieve a voluntary settlement in the year-old railway dispute.

He went to work two months ago under terms of the parliamentary bill that ordered nearly 120,000 railroaders back to work after a seven-day national strike. The bill provided an interim wage increase of 18 per cent over two years.

Little information has leaked out from Mr. Goldenberg's secret sessions in Montreal with union and management negotiators, except that he has so far avoided bringing the two sides face to face.

The bill provides for compulsory arbitration if the outstanding issues cannot be settled in mediation by Nov. 15, although this deadline can be extended if there has been progress.

WOULD LIKE MORE TIME

Some labor informants report that Mr. Goldenberg has been brooding both sides toward a three-year wage agreement rather than the traditional two-year pact. This would give him more elbow room in achieving a total wage package that would be acceptable to union members.

There is speculation among railway union leaders here that the final deal will add six per cent to the package, making it 24 per cent in stages over the three-year period. Some of the more optimistic predict it could go as high as 27 per cent.

The unions, representing all railway workers except engineers and firemen, went on strike demanding an average 30-per-cent boost over two years. The bulk of the strikers were non-operating workers earning about $2.22 an hour before the interim settlement.

One big problem for the mediator is that several unions are pledged to refer any settlement proposal to a membership vote. Management negotiators are said to be insisting that any agreement worked out at the bargaining table be final and binding.

WANT TO HOLD LINE

The management fear is that any offer rejected by union members would automatically become the floor for new negotiations. The railways have already been forced by Parliament to accept a floor of 18 per cent and are determined not to let it go any higher.

On the plus side, railway workers will receive backtime cheques next Tuesday covering the retroactive part of the 18-per-cent settlement. Payment will average $150. The money might make union members more agreeable to the idea of accepting a final package without a vote.

Some labor people, however, are pessimistic about the chances of any settlement through mediation. They base this on a recent speech by CPR President Ian Sinclair which took a hard line against any wage boosts that exceed increases in productivity.

Both sides, however, appear anxious to avoid compulsory arbitration. This affords Mr. Goldenberg a chance to let the deadline pressure build up until the last minute, then push for concessions towards a settlement.

Don't forget fur when winter comes

Now that winter's almost here, the fur-fashion conscious female is rushing to her furrier to collect her new winter coat.

In our woodlands, the animals are also getting their cold-weather wardrobe ready.

In their choice of winter coverings, women seem to have something in common with wild life, but the comparison is all in the animals' favor. Their coats look better, fit better and didn't cost the best part of half a year's salary to acquire.

With all our technological advances in the fabric industry, and despite miracle fibres like nylon, terylene and acrylan, most women still feel the urge to imitate their most primitive ancestors.

The cave-woman probably didn't have too high an opinion of animal pelts as an item of clothing. They were bulky, none too fragrant and likely supported some diminutive wild-life of their own.

If she had the choice, it's a safe bet that she'd have settled for a nice acrylic-fibre coat with a touch of fake fur pile around the neck. But animals with miracle-fibre coats weren't in evidence so she had to be satisfied with the old seal or mink that hubby picked up on his hunting trip.

The modern woman, of course, couldn't care less about the warmth of fur, which is about the only reason that animals and cave-folks bothered with it. She steps from the thermostatically controlled warmth of her house into her heated car and from her car into the cosy indoor garage of her local department store.

There's not much chance of her freezing to death on her brief exposure to the outside air. Certainly not enough to justify slaughtering animals to provide her with a superfluous fur coat.

In fact, if the weather's too miserable and there's a risk of getting her fur coat wet or muddy she'll leave it in its poly dust bag and wear her old camel hair. After all, fur smells terrible when it's wet and costs a small fortune to clean. Better to save it for the theatre first-night when every one else will be wearing theirs—even though the temperature inside the theatre competes favorably with a steam bath.

During the summer, fur coats disappear into a mysterious limbo known as "storage," where secret rites are performed on them to prevent them from crumbling into dust like any other dead organism. But what could be more perfect for those cool summer evenings than a little fur wrap? This little fur wrap performs much the same function as grandma's woolen shawl, only not as adequately and costs hubbly a.

Today's recipe
CHEESE ASPARAGUS SOUFFLE
Some women find quick-cooking tapioca the answer to their soufflé problems. The result is a little more sturdy than with other thickeners—but results are good.

1 cup quick-cooking tapioca
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
1 cup chopped cooked asparagus
4 eggs, separated

In saucepan combine tapioca, salt and milk. Stir over medium heat until mixture reaches boiling point. Remove from heat. Add cheese and stir until cheese melts. Add asparagus and allow to cool while beating eggs.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Beat yolks until very thick and lemon colored. Stir tapioca mixture into yolks, to combine thoroughly. Fold lightly into stiffly beaten whites.

Turn soufflé into a 6-cup casserole and set casserole in a pan of hot water.

Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees, about 40 minutes or until the soufflé is set. Serve at once. Good with tomato sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Budget basing advice given

TORONTO (CP) — If you base a budget on what you actually spend, rather than on what you think you should spend, you might stand a chance of staying within it. Mary Gordon, a budgeting expert with the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, suggests beginning by keeping a record for a couple of weeks of where your money goes. Base it on take-home pay and have everyone in the family take part. Then divide your spending into fixed costs and variables. Fixed will include shelter, utilities, insurance, clothes (for the breadwinner only), time payments, annual vacation, income tax, school fees, Christmas planning.

The variables are food, household expenses, family clothes, personal allowances to cover spending money, club dues, gifts.

"Don't be too strict in budgeting, leave room for enough personal allowances."

List your fixed commitments, not forgetting payments you make only once a year or once every several years, and divide the total by the number of pay cheques you get in a year. That much money should go into a chequing account.

"Never borrow money from your fixed commitments, and try not to borrow from your savings," Miss Gordon says. "If you need to borrow from the money for your variables. That's usually cash."

"Don't cheat by adding things on a charge account, for instance. If you are flexible and go at it in a sensible fashion, you can keep a budget."

As broad guideline, Miss Gordon says, there are percentages to tell you whether what you spend in a category is about average. She emphasizes they are only guidelines, not rules. They will vary with where you live, the size of your family, the kind of job you have and how you live generally.

Shelter may cost 15 to 25 per cent of your spendable income. Miss Gordon says it should never go over 26 per cent.

"The total for shelter and time payments should not be over 38 per cent. That's the point at which the average family could run into difficulties."

Clothes for the breadwinner might cost eight to 15 per cent, depending on his environment and type of work. Food may cost 20 to 35 per cent. Miss Gordon says U.S. statistics indicate only three out of 10 supermarket purchases are decided ahead of

THE QUEBEC SCENE

Lesage offers compromise

QUEBEC (CP) — Opposition Leader Jean Lesage said Wednesday night he will propose a solution to a squabble which has divided the Quebec Liberal party.

One group would restrict his powers at the head of the Quebec Liberal Federation while the other wants him to maintain them.

Mr. Lesage did not say what his proposal to be presented at the federal annual meeting in Montreal Nov. 18-20, will propose.

He did say that it dealt with party structures and the question of the Liberal party finances.

One group, headed by Eric Nadeau, is asking that a seven-man management committee be set up to share leadership with Mr. Lesage and that the wall of secrecy be at least partially removed from party financing.

The management committee concept has been approved by the constitution committee of the federation and is to be submitted to a vote at the Montreal meeting.

However, the issue of the finances is a bone of contention between Mr. Nadeau and the three-man faction which officially opposes him.

Mr. Lesage said at the end of a Liberal caucus called to discuss the intra-party split that the proposal he will make deals mainly with party structures—on which the opposing parties are agreed—and that the section of financing is "only a tiny portion, on paper."

Financial report from Greenshields Ltd.

With more money in their pockets than they ever had before, Canadian consumers show no indication that they are pulling in their horns as far as purchases for the family and home are concerned, despite the "tight money" situation that prevails, the increased personal income tax that has already been in effect for some months and the talk that there will be a further boost in taxes when the "Mini-Budget" is brought down soon.

The third quarter of 1966 saw more goods sold by Canada's department stores than in either of the two earlier quarters. Not only were sales of $484,849,000 a new record for the period and an increase of $32,213,000 or 7.1% over the old record established a year ago, but they were nearly $200,000 above the second quarter volume of $465,177,000 and $80,000,000 above first quarter sales of $404,288,000.

With lessened demand for its product, the Canadian steel industry continued to curtail its output in the week ended Nov. 30, marking the fifth straight week that production fell below the level of the previous week and also was down from the corresponding week of 1965. The 184,205 tons manufactured was a decline of 2,333 tons or 1.3% from the previous week's 186,538 tons and was 10,173 tons or 5.2% below last year's level.

Results of FPE Pioneer Electric Ltd. for first quarter ended Sept. 30-66 were very satisfactory. B. W. Ball, President, told the annual meeting, Backlog of orders is the greatest in history and well ahead of a year ago. It will carry operations well into the current fiscal year (ends June 30). Incoming orders are in excess of shipments.

Plans to build an earth station to test the use of communications satellites to provide telephone, live television and other tele-communications services to Canada's Far North were announced by Bell Telephone Co. of Canada.

Activities at

Stanstead College

Some 70 boys, including the senior and junior football teams, travelled to Quebec last week-end where they clashed with the senior and junior teams from Quebec High. The seniors won their game and the juniors lost in two well-played games.

The junior score was 12 for Quebec and 6 for Stanstead. A Stanstead player fumbled the ball in the last few exciting minutes of the game which gave Quebec the victory. It could have gone either way, said Raymond Lester, the headmaster, who accompanied the boys and coaches.

The seniors won 13 to 0. The team returned the proud possessors of the Dunn Memorial Trophy, which, along with the Senator Howard Trophy, won recently in the Bishop's games, and the S.F.V.I.A.A. Trophy, won last week in the senior soccer games between Stanstead and Sherbrooke High, are in the trophy case.

The Dunn Trophy has been in existence the past 12 years for senior football competition between Quebec High and the College; it has been won six times by each school.

The soccer trophy has been out for six years and in previous years was won by Sherbrooke High; so it is a great achievement for Stanstead to have won it in a three game competition, the third played because of the in the previous two games. The trophies are given on the point system.

All in all this has been one of Stanstead's best autumn sports years. The athletic dinner and awards night will be taking place on November 22, when the guest speaker will be Robert Pugh, director of athletics at Macdonald College.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Coach Keys faced with problems as Roughriders prepare for big one Sunday, injuries force shift

REGINA (CP)—Coach Eagle Keys must choose between offense and defence as he prepares Saskatchewan Roughriders for the opening game of the Western Football Conference final against Winnipeg Blue Bombers Sunday.

The choice, Keys said, is between linebacker Wally Dempsey and halfback Ed Buchanan. Only one import spot is open. An injury to Cliff Shaw could alter his thinking, he admitted.

Shaw, a rookie, bruised a knee Tuesday in a workout on frozen turf and is a doubtful starter in the game to be televised by the CBC national network at 3 p.m. CST.

Shaw will join Glen Wahlmeier on the sidelines. Wahlmeier, a second-string centre and tenacious downfield tackler on punts, injured a knee in the final game of the season against Calgary.

Both Buchanan and Dempsey spent most of the season on the injured reserve list due to leg injuries. Keys said he possibly will not commit himself until just before game time.

COULD BE ANSWER

The weakness in the Canadian line corps could be filled by Don Bahniuk, who started the season with the club and continued to work out after his release. Bahniuk graduated from Regina Rams juniors.

Keys said he hopes for ideal weather but doesn't expect it. Bad weather would affect Saskatchewan's passing attack more than it would hamper Winnipeg's solid running, Keys fears.

Defensive ends Bob Taylor and Bill Whisler were singled out as the keys to the Winnipeg defence—and Keys said defence is the key to Winnipeg's success.

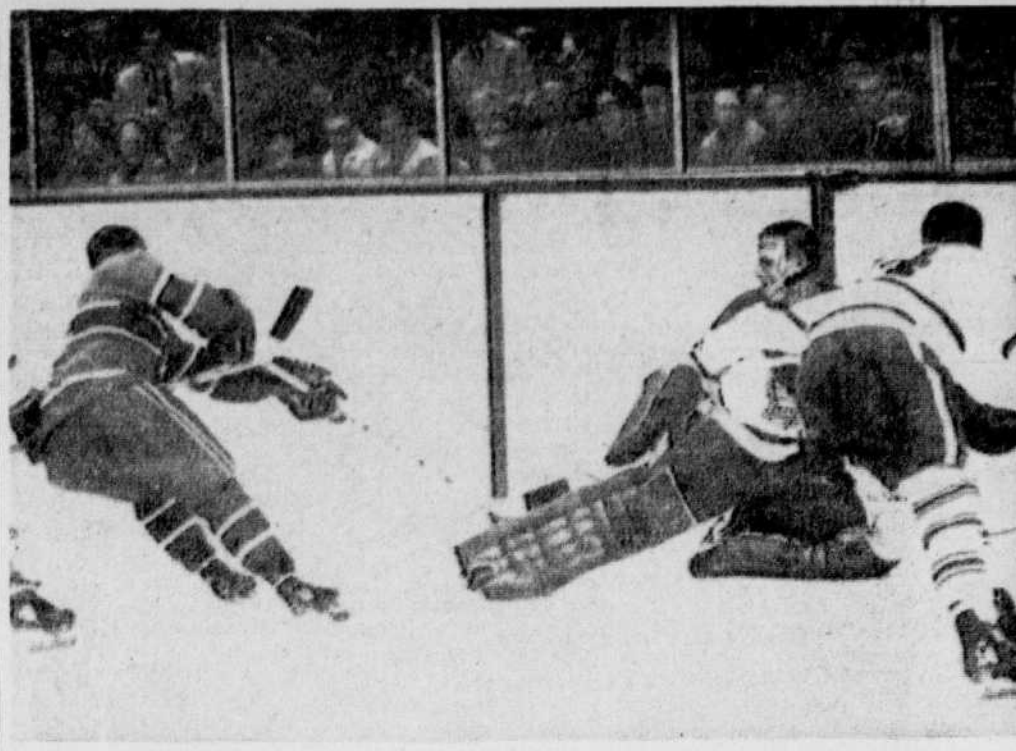

Despite his respect for the defence, Keys is not overlooking the Blue Bomber offence.

His assessment of Dave Raimy was concise: "He's the best halfback in Canada."

The Marek Trophy Bontpie is in full swing, with sixteen rinks competing. Playoffs will be held Saturday evening, with an Oyster and Bean supper planned prior to the final games.

GOAL — Yvan Cournoyer of Montreal Canadiens scores a power-play goal as he beats Toronto Maple Leaf goalie Terry Sawchuk in a National Hockey League game in Montreal.

George Armstrong paces Leafs to 3-2 win over Canadiens as Bruins-Rangers play to tie

Wayne Connolly first played in the National Hockey League six years ago, but he never could hold down a full-time job.

During his last try, a 26-game stretch with Boston Bruins in 1963-64, he had two goals and three assists—a miserable record that sent him back to the Western Hockey League.

In his fourth attempt to stay in the big league, and he appears this season to rate just as good a chance as any of his Boston team-mates.

The 27-year-old centre, a native of Rouyn, Que., scored the tying goal and assisted on another by Ron Murphy as the Bruins rallied late in the third period Wednesday night to earn a 3-2 tie with New York Rangers. Ron Stewart scored the other Boston goal while Reg Fleming, Bob Nevin and Harry Howell scored for New York.

In the other NHL game Wednesday night, veteran George Armstrong paced Toronto Maple Leafs to a 3-2 win over Montreal Canadiens by scoring one goal and assisting on goals by rookie Brian Conacher and Jim Pappin. Yvan Cournoyer and Dave Balon scored for Montreal.

COMES IN LAST MINUTE

Connolly's tying goal came with 34 seconds remaining in the game and just 55 seconds after he set up Ron Murphy's goal as the Bruins wiped out a two-goal deficit.

Connolly picked up a loose puck in front of the New York net and beat goaltender Ed Giacomin from about 10 feet out.

The centre's two points gave him seven for the season, including three goals, and tied him with team-mate Murray Oliver as the Bruins' highest scorers this year.

Howell's goal was his third of the season—all of them coming against Boston. He had only four last season.

The Bruins fired 26 shots at Giacomin—10 in the last period. The Rangers had 32 at Gerry Oliver.

NHL big 10

Phil Goyette of New York Rangers scored two assists in his club's 3-3 tie with Boston Bruins Wednesday night while Bobby Rousseau of Montreal Canadiens had one in Montreal's 3-2 loss to Toronto Maple Leafs as both players moved into a tie for third place in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Rousseau has four goals and eight assists for 12 points while Goyette has 12 assists to share the league lead in that department with Norm Ullman of Detroit Red Wings.

Ullman leads the scorers with a total of 14 points, followed by Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks with 13 points. Paul Henderson of Detroit slipped to fifth place with 11 points, but still leads the league in goal scoring with eight.

Rod Gilbert of New York took over as the Bruins' top assist against the Bruins Wednesday to boost his points total to 10 and move into sixth place.

INDIANS STOP BARONS 3-1

Jacques Caron looks like a football flanker in front of a goalie's net. He does a pretty good job of grabbing the puck, too.

The 6-foot-2 Springfield Indians goalie stepped 16 shots in the third period by the Cleveland Barons Wednesday night. Me a while his teammates whipped in two goals within five minutes for a 3-1 victory in the only American Hockey League game scheduled.

The win snapped a two-game losing streak for the Indians, who are second behind the Quebec Aces in the AHL's Eastern Division.

Randy Miller broke a 1-1 tie at 15:31 of the third period. Two minutes later Bill Smith whacked in a 20-footer from the left side.

Springfield outshot the Barons 14-7 in the scoreless first period and scored on Gerry Foley's short shot past Wakeley at 10:51 of the second. Bob Courcy tied it on a hard 20-footer that zipped into the upper left side of the Indians' goal.

The rain continued to drench the area Wednesday and the weather outlook is for rain and fog through Friday.

DOWNED ALS 24-14

Meanwhile, the Tiacs held their first full scrimmage Wednesday night since eliminating Montreal Alouettes 24-14 in the sudden-death eastern semi-final Sunday.

Sazio gave his crew the day off Monday and ran them Tuesday before working them for two hours Wednesday.

The field conditions, if unchanged for the CTV nationally televised game at 2 p.m. EST, would dampen any aerial attack by either club and limit

★ Gaults at Sports Palace tonight

Coach Roy shifts his lines, Victoriaville dominates scoring

Sherbrooke Beavers will be hosts to the Gaults of St. Hyacinthe this evening at the Sports Palace and Coach Roy's crew will be out to make amends for the defeat they suffered at the hands of Coach Savary's squad in St. Hyacinthe.

The other tilt on the agenda will see the league-leading Eagles of Drummondville moving down to Victoriaville to clash with the Tigers. This could be a tough battle but Lou Poliquin will have his players gunning for a win to stop the Eagles' winning streak.

Coach Roy has made some changes in his lineup for tonight's battle. Robert Dupre will be working between Rene Pepin on right and Gilles Carrier. Claude Cardin has been dropped to the next line with George Guilbault and Rejean Richer. Coach Roy is hoping these changes will benefit the club.

On the other line he will have Jim Beckman on right wing with Gaston Bouchard and centre and Rod Gaudreault.

Serge Aubry will be in the nets while his rearguard will be the same as the previously mentioned. A new defenseman is on hand but as yet nothing definite has been decided.

Following tonight's game the Beavers will be at home Sunday evening when Victoriaville moves in. This game is slated to commence at 7:30.

Coach Savary will have the same team who knocked over the Beavers Sunday in St. Hyacinthe and a close battle is expected. The Gaults have several young players on their squad and with their vets could cause plenty of trouble.

TIGERS SETTING PACE

Tigers dominate the scoring race as three players are holding down the top spots in the race for individual scoring honors. Jean-Pierre Malette is the top man with a total of 17 points comprised of eight goals and nine assists.

Johnny Mentis is next with 15 points while Andre Samson has 13. Roger Picard of Drummondville is fourth with 11 while George Guilbault of Sherbrooke and Rolfe Leclerc of Drummondville are deadlocked with 10 each. Malette's eight goals gives him the most in that department but Guilbault and Samson are right behind with six apiece.

Johnny Mentis has the most assists with 11, two more than his teammate, Malette. Serge Nadeau is the most penalized player in the league having spent a total of 30 minutes in the cooler. St. Hyacinthe is the most penalized club in the league with 125 minutes while Sherbrooke is next with 91, Drummondville 83 and Victoriaville 81.

Andy Payette and Claude Cyr are deadlocked for honors among the goalies with averages of 2.57. Grenier of Victoriaville is next with 4.28 while Serge Aubry has 4.86.

George Knudson gives Canada edge in Canada Cup, fires eight-under for one stroke lead, 12,000 watch

TOKYO (AP) — Pink-faced, effervescent George Knudson of Toronto smashed the Yomiuri course record with a sensational 64 today as he led his team into first place in the opening round of the four-day 14th annual Canada Cup competition, golf's biggest international show.

Knudson's 34-30 was eight strokes under par for the hilly, 6,962-yard course, and one better than the links mark set by the home pro, Hideyo Sugimoto of Japan.

It also was the lowest round ever in Canada Cup competition. Close on Knudson's heels for individual honors came Sugimoto, Arnold Palmer of the United States and Kel Nagle of Australia, all with 66s.

Knudson's 64, with the 70 of his teammate, Frank Fowler of Calgary, put Canada ahead, appropriately enough, in the Canada Cup with a low score of 134, followed by the United States, Japan, Australia and Nationalist China, all at 135.

Jack Nicklaus, who had trouble on three holes, contributed a 69 to go with Palmer's 66.

12,000 JAM COURSE

The largest crowd ever to see a golf match in Japan, 12,000, jammed the course. Play was so slow that Venezuela and Austria finished in almost total darkness.

Eastern Football Conference could turn into a water polo match if heavy rain continues

HAMILTON (CP) — Continuing rain over southern Ontario is threatening to give Sunday's opening game of the Eastern Football Conference final the aspect of a water polo match.

Coach Ralph Sazio of Hamilton Tiger-Cats Wednesday declared his home field is in "terrible shape" for the first half of the two-game total-point series against Ottawa Rough Riders.

Rain began drenching the field early Tuesday and three high school football games during the day churned the turf into mud for 20 yards on each side of the centre line.

Nearly a ton of water absorbed was spread over the wet area and covered by a tarpaulin, which cannot be lifted until the rain abates.

The rain continued to drench the area Wednesday and the weather outlook is for rain and fog through Friday.

DOWNED ALS 24-14

Meanwhile, the Tiacs held their first full scrimmage Wednesday night since eliminating Montreal Alouettes 24-14 in the sudden-death eastern semi-final Sunday.

Sazio gave his crew the day off Monday and ran them Tuesday before working them for two hours Wednesday.

The field conditions, if unchanged for the CTV nationally televised game at 2 p.m. EST, would dampen any aerial attack by either club and limit

Frank Clair named Canada's coach of year

EDMONTON (CP) — Head coach Frank Clair of Ottawa Rough Riders of the Eastern Football Conference has been named Canada's Coach of the Year in a vote by his fellow coaches.

The announcement was made Wednesday at the annual $100-a-plate dinner of Edmonton Eskimos. The Eskimo Alumni Association sponsors the award that carries with it the Annis Stukus Trophy, named for the man who coached the Eskimos when they returned to professional football after the Second World War.

The trophy was accepted on Clair's behalf by Bill McEwen, secretary-treasurer of the Rough Rider club.

The trophy was first awarded in 1961 when it was won by Jim Trimble, then head coach of Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Since then winners have been the late Steve Owen, coach of Saskatchewan Roughriders in 1962; Dave Skrein, British Columbia Lions, 1963; Ralph Sazio, Hamilton Tiger-Cats, 1964, and Bud Grant, Winnipeg Blue Bombers, 1965.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Montreal Winged Wheelers won the Interprovincial Rugby Union championship 35 years ago today—in 1931—by beating Toronto Argonauts 4-1 at Montreal. It was the Wheelers' first championship in 12 years, after winning in 1907 and 1919, but they dropped out of the big league soon afterwards.

Some of the early woes came as the result of the absence of Cormier, who joined the team midway through the season, and of Carriere, who was on a special navy course.

MacLeod says he would prefer a hard field for Saturday's meeting with the Argos. The Navy has good inside runners "but we've got hard blockers and they show to their best under dry conditions."

Shearwater's offensive line averages 210 pounds, the defence about 20 pounds heavier.

End one season... ..and begin another

Gaiters are popular at Bishop's

Bishop's University Gaiters, the name identifying varsity athletic teams on the Lennoxville campus entered intercollegiate competition, this weekend will be transferred from the football field, and carried into the Memorial Gymnasium, which signifies the end of one season, and the beginning of another.

Bishop's football team, the first issue of varsity athletics for the 1966-67 university term, packs all gear, offensive plays and what is hoped to be the tightest of defences, tomorrow morning as they leave for Ottawa. Saturday at 1 p.m., the Gaiters will be playing their last season game, an all-important one, as they attempt to wrest the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Football Conference Championship from Ottawa U. Gee Gees, defending champions, and the Western Division winners.

And while the Gaiters wrap up this illustrious, hard-fought grid season, another squad of Purple Men begin their athletic campaign in the Memorial Gymnasium, under Coach Garth Smith.

The masters of the aged hardcourt host Laval University in an exhibition basketball game at 3 p.m., which marks their first inter-university competition this year.

In Ottawa, the football Gaiters will have the help once again of their "man with the golden toe," Gary Mathers, kicking specialist who has helped out in a few tight pinches this year.

Mathers was suspended from further play during their last season game Saturday against CMR, for throwing a punch in a mild scuffle. A league ruling stipulates that the ejected player must sit out an automatic game suspension.

However, an appeal by Coach Bruce Coulter, to the executive board of the OSLAA, brought a new interpretation late yesterday afternoon. Danny MacLeod, from Royal Military College, President of the OSLAA, contacted Coach Coulter yesterday and announced that Mathers would be eligible to play in the championship game. No reasons were given, in the course of the conversation, for this decision.

Mathers is considered one of the many assets held by the Gaiter squad, and his toe has proven to be of tremendous value, especially in league competition against St. Pat's College.

His two field goals late in the game gave the Gaiters their first victory against St. Pat's, in Ottawa, 12-7.

Paul Taylor, the Gaiter centre injured against Macdonald College will also be in position against the Gee Gees. He had suffered torn ligaments in the knee. Two other players who started with the Gaiters, however, will not be on the roster. Ron Smith, also injured in the Macdonald clash, received stomach bruises and must remain sidelined along with Brian Gray, defensive halfback who was put out of commission with a kidney injury in the last trip to the capital.

The conference championship game will be played on Carleton University field Saturday morning. Bishop's will be at the site tomorrow afternoon for a three o'clock practice.

BASKETBALLERS PROMISING

Garth Smith, the head coach of the varsity basketball team, has expressed confidence in the newly-formed cage unit, but will have more comments after Saturday's exhibition against Laval.

Five of last year's squad have returned and form the nucleus of the team along with two new players, Brad Jones and Richard Purchell.

The returning five include Lionel 'Butch' Staples, Ken Flewelling, Pete Munzar, Dave Oldfield, and Nick Busing.

This nucleus, says Smith, will be strengthened somewhat by three other players from Junior Varsity ranks. As well, services lost through the ineligibility of John McDonald, must be accounted for prior to the league home opening next Friday. McDonald, the 6'7" leader of the Gaiters two years ago, has been refused permission to play this year because of a five-year eligibility rule, which was, ironically adopted to help out the smaller universities in the OSLAA.

Bishop's Sports Scene this weekend does shift; the competition is different, surroundings are different, but the name remains the same.

Shearwater Navy take on East York Argos in Eastern Senior championship Saturday

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP)—"East York Argos? Remember 'em well. They whopped us last year. Superior club, they deserved to win but not by nearly 40 points."

So says Petty Officer Gordon MacLeod, 34-year-old native of Toronto and coach of the Atlantic Football Conference champions, Shearwater Navy.

He plans to be less charitable to the Argonauts in Toronto Saturday when the two clash for the eastern senior championship at Varsity Stadium.

"We've got some definite ideas, but let's leave it a mystery for now," says MacLeod, a star halfback with the navy from 1953 to 1961.

The Argos will see only a few familiar faces from last year's Shearwater roster.

Discharges, injuries, postings and retirements clipped 16 players from last year's squad and MacLeod has done a remarkable patch job, cajoling some out of retirement and filling in with rookies who have produced.

HAVE POTENT FORCE

Shearwater is led by quarterback Bob Cormier, a native of Glace Bay, N.S., and a five-year member of the club.

His favorite target will be Montreal-born halfback Derek Carriere.

Carriere caught three touchdown passes last Saturday when the sailors from Shearwater Air Station defeated Halifax Buccaneers 25-6 for the AFC title. It was the Bucs only loss of the season.

Halfback Joel Fournier, of Midland, Ont., at 205 pounds, is the backfield workhorse. He's an eight-year veteran. Second-year-man Dick Clapp, a native of Belleville, Ont., handles the line-busting assignments from the fullback position.

The main striking force is rounded out by Toronto-born halfback Crawford Taylor, an outstanding runner in his third year with the club.

LOSE FIRST FIVE

Shearwater lost their first five games this year, one league game and four exhibition skirmishes against Blue-nose Conference college clubs.

In their last AFC scheduled games, however, they defeated Lancaster Ti-Cats 33-7 and Dartmouth Vikings 26-6. They bounced Lancaster 45-7 in a semi-final and the Buccaneers in the final.

A Prayer for Peace

God looked down and wept for the fools
Who are lost in their lust and greed.
Who, rather than follow the Golden Rule,
Leave their fellowman in need.

They will lie, and cheat, and kill and steal,
In order to master, be.
Instead of brotherly love, to feel,
There is only greed, they see.

God placed them on this glorious earth
To strive, and grow and love.
To do unto others as unto Him,
Till they join Him up above.

He gave them the birds and the flowers to love,
And the fields so green to till;
And theirs was the task to prove their worth
And earn their bread with a will.

He has told them to do unto others, here,
As they would wish others to do;
But when He looks down on this wonderful earth,
The selfless are all too few.

For instead of living side by side,
With those of a different creed,
The baser side of their nature wins,
And they lose to the sin called greed.

Then wars are fought and nations strive,
And God's own children die.
And only the mothers who bore them, weep,
And wonder the reason why.

Oh, God of Mercy, whose name is Love,
Look down in pity, we pray.
Teach men to love their fellowmen,
And cease to plunder and slay.

The First Danville Brownie Pack held the Hallowe'en Party in Trinity United Church Hall. The children were in a variety of gay costumes and presented a pleasant picture as they enjoyed the games prepared for them by their leaders. At the close of the fun period, refreshments were served by the leaders, bringing to a close one of the most successful parties ever held by the Brownie Pack. A great deal of credit goes to the Brown Owl, Mrs. Hilary Smith, Tawny Owl, Mrs. Wesley Walker and their helper, Mrs. Kenneth Frost for arranging the event.

The Richmond Divisional meeting was held in the Parish Hall of St. Augustine's Church, Danville on Oct. 29, with the Danville L. A. as hostesses.
