Police Move To Enforce 20 mph Zone At Schools

Westmount's Police Chief Robert Byford has declared war against motorists who speed past school zones within the confines of the municipality over which he has jurisdiction.

In a special statement issued yesterday he warned that strict enforcement of the 20-mile-an-hour regulation in school zones in the city of Westmount would be made starting immediately.

Loyola High Boy Wins Semi-Final Speaking Contest

Tim Hogan, representing Loyola High School, placed first in the annual public speaking contest staged this week at the regular meeting of Westmount Rotary Club. The student thus qualified to advance to the city-wide semifinals during the first week of May.

The extensive elimination, in which hundreds of high school students participate, comes to a head May 14 when four selected contestants meet in the finals at the Mount Royal Hotel. The four will compete for $300, $200 and two $100 scholarships to their own institution. The contest is sponsored by the Montreal Rotary Club. The finalists (Continued on Page 9)

Results of a recent survey, the Chief said in his announcement, reveal that 70 per cent of a large group of vehicles checked while passing through the school zones were travelling in excess of the legal speed limit.

The zones are well marked by signs, Chief Byford said, and no alert motorist should be able to miss them.

Concluded the Chief: "The motoring public is warned that due to the accident hazard to children if police vehicles were used to chase the speeders — other means will be used to establish the speed of offenders who will then be summoned." (Continued on Page 9)

Next Week's Weather

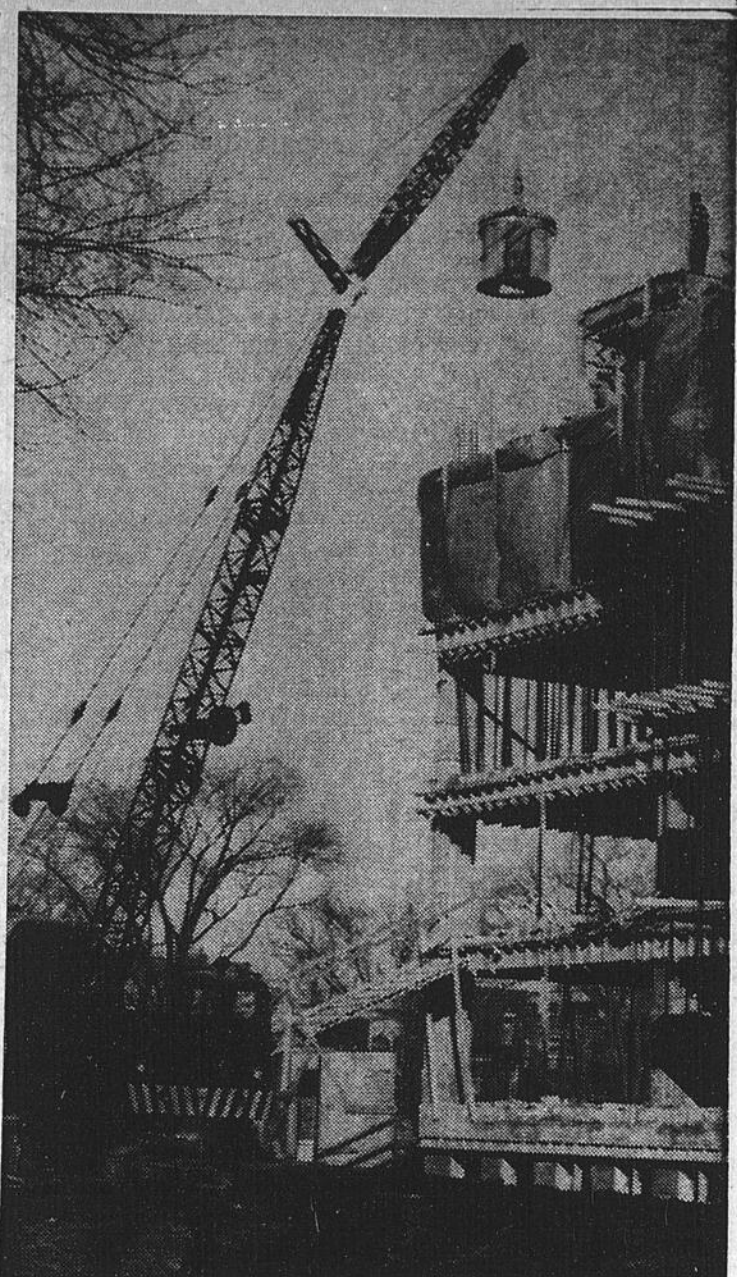

By ERIC NEAL

March 23 to 30

Sunny periods and quite cool, then clouding for ice storms or light snow.

A little of everything mid-week, wet mists, fluffy snow, sleet and warm, sunny intervals. Typical sugaring-off season weather.

Improving, with cold winds for the end of the week. Roads dangerous and ski conditions disappointing. Spring may be nearing, but the magic of rime frost and snow will again give us a fairyland tracery on trees and bushes.

Cage That Canine Warn Police Here

Chappie — cage that canine!

That's the message this week from Westmount's gendarmerie, and it means positively.

"Dogs running at large are an imposition on the goodwill of neighbours Chief Robert Byford said in a statement issued to the press.

"In addition" he said, "dog owners should consider the personal liabilities involved.

Complete co-operation on the part of dog-owners, the Chief added, is the only alternative to a complete crack-down.

Fines of $40 and costs are in the cards, the Chief hinted.

He also warned that every dog — regardless of age . . . must be licensed, and from May to September must be on leash.

Reader At 6 And A Bookseller At 12 Louis Melzak Makes Books His Hobby

By BLUMA APPEL

—Birmingham Photo

"My hobby? Books! My work? Books! I love what I'm doing, and what's more I make money at it." So says Louis Melzak who lives at 5055 Glencairn avenue.

Not many are fortunate enough to be able to make this statement. Louis Melzak, owner of the Classic Book Shop, is one of these blessed few.

One cannot really say that books were ever a hobby because before he was six he discovered books and started reading voraciously. His great hunger for knowledge created a serious dilemma. For finding enough books to satisfy his appetite was difficult until one day he discovered the University Settlement Library. Nine years of age by this time, it was a great boon to learn that he could get a choice of all the reading matter he desired at this one place. And so for years he read about six books a week.

IN BUSINESS AT 12

When he was 12 he realized his formal education would have to stop. The time had come for him to earn part of the family living. Times were difficult — and the need was great. So with an older brother of 14 and total capital of $180, the two young boys went into the book business in a tiny shop on Bleury street. His brother pulled out a few months later, leaving the younger brother to manage on his own.

The depth of the depression had just been reached. Experience he had none — but friends he had many. Men like Stephen Leacock and Charles Gordon Smith, editor-in-chief of The Family Herald and Weekly Star were daily visitors. They took great interest in the young lad and gave him their advice and guidance. The years passed, each one adding many friends, many customers, and many books to the shop. Eventually debunked was the myth that the bookseller was an unworldly and unbusinesslike man.

Today Louis Melzak with two shops in Montreal and one in Ottawa probably sells more books than anyone else in Canada. Although in business he is progressive and enterprising, he is still essentially the bookseller in the old tradition. He reads the books in his shop, continually adds to his already fabulous and unique library, and takes a personal interest in the tastes and reading habits of his clientele.

His private library contains many first editions, books dating back to within 25 years of the first printing in 1460, and a large collection of rare books on Canadiana. Mr. Melzak is one of the leading authorities on Canadiana and this has qualified him as the only Canadian member of the Antiquarian Bookseller's Association of England. But his most prized possession is the manuscript of Louis Riel's account of the Rebellion, written in his own hand.

ORIENTAL ART, TOO

Being a well rounded man, Mr. Melzak has many other interests as well as books. He is a collector of Oriental art and boasts of one of the finest collections in the country.

"I have always had a great interest in primitive art. These people who could not articulate in the form of writing as do our Western civilizations found expression in the art form. It is exciting to witness the primitive expression of their religious beliefs and superstitions in the beautifully carved pieces and masks."

Music too has always been an important factor in the Melzak household. His young son, Julian, who is 15, shows great talent on the violin and Brian, 13, plays the piano. His sons, like his wife who also acts as business associate, show the typical Melzak enthusiasm for books and the book business.

"I would be happy to see my sons in this business as it is a most gratifying work. It has given me a great sense of accomplishment and fulfilment to help the children who look for guidance — to start the man off in his reading — and to help develop the tastes of the reader so they may become independently selective."

Easter Seal Drive Of Rotary Clubs After $100,000

The Rotary Club of Montreal's annual Easter Seal campaign, designed to raise $100,000 to aid the city's crippled children, will run this year from April 9 to 23, Campaign Chairman Robert E. Meagher has announced.

"All the agencies devoted to assisting crippled children have reported rising costs during the past year," Mr. Meagher said. "If the handicapped are to get the kind of help and attention they deserve, Montrealers must respond to our appeal even more generously than they have in the past. And I am confident that they will," he added.

Organizations helped by the appeal include: The Province of Quebec Society for Crippled Children, the School for Crippled Children, Rotary's Cripples Aid Committee, the Rehabilitation Institute of Montreal, the Occupational Therapy and Rehabilitation Centre, and the crippled children's summer camps at Ayers Cliff and St. Alphonse de Joliette. Aid given to crippled children includes the provision of orthopaedic appliances such as braces and artificial limbs, training in how to use them, and vocational guidance to help the children to become useful members of society.

Bogus Collectors Reportedly Plague Blind Fund Drive

Warning that unofficial canvassers have been active in the west end area was voiced yesterday by James C. Bonar, general campaign chairman of the Combined Appeal for the Blind.

"Montrealers should make sure they are giving money to authorized canvassers, all of whom carry an official identification card (reproduced here)," Mr. Bonar said.

"Because this year the Combined Appeal for the Blind represents six organizations in one appeal, it is vital that every dollar of the $210,000 objective is received by the proper authorities," he declared.

Mr. Bonar noted that this year's appeal represents the following organizations—Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Montreal Association for the Blind, l'Association Canadienne-Française des Aveugles Inc., St. Lawrence Club for the Blind, Canadian Federation of the Blind and the Conseil Local de l'Association Canadienne-Française des Aveugles Inc.

MRT Changes Play Dates

Montreal Repertory Theatre officials have advised this paper that due to unforeseen circumstances, the scheduled opening of "The Love Of Four Colonels," planned originally for last evening, will be seen tomorrow and Saturday nights, and that the two nights missed will be made up on Monday and Tuesday, March 25th and 26th.

They asked that ticketholders call FI. 4683, if there is any information they may require regarding the switch of dates.

Stamp Trading Provides Excitement For Many West End Youngsters 8-16

By HAZEL CHANDLER

"I started by sticking them on my wall paper," said eight year old Jon Finkel, 342 Elm Avenue, when asked how he began collecting stamps. But as a member of the Junior Branch of the Westmount Stamp Club, he is now becoming a keen philatelist.

"The best way for a boy or girl to commence a stamp collection is to join our Club," smiled club president Martin Archer-Shee, who came to Montreal from Oxford, England, eight years ago, and now lives at 4557 Sherbrooke Street, West.

With an average attendance of twenty-five, the Club meets every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the Oak Room at Victoria Hall. Membership is free, and girls and boys between the ages of 8 and 16, from any part of the city, are welcomed. The one stipulation is: "Anyone falling behind in school work is automatically suspended."

Daphne Decary, 515 Grosvenor avenue, has been secretary for four years. She specializes in the collection of topicals, and has won prizes for her entries in club exhibits and the Westmount Hobby Show.

NO BARGAINS

The trading of stamps is an exciting feature of every meeting, but don't expect bargains from the juniors; alongside the stamps to be traded these budding philatelists include an itemized list of the value of each individual stamp! Philatelic Quizzes are also popular with the members; recent contest winners were: Lee Watchorn, 12, 25 Burton Avenue, and William Cochrane, 11, 351 Melville Avenue.

Past President Wayne Bun-gay, 4953 Coolbrooke Avenue, collects stamps from Canada, the United States, Israel, and the United Nations. "Israeli and United Nations stamps are particularly popular," he explained, "because of the small numbers issued, with the resultant high demand and rapid appreciation in value." Two United Nations stamps issued last January, to publicize the World Meteorological Organization, (weather balloon, symbolizing the globe and world-wide range of the W.M.O.'s activities) were designed by Mr. A. L. Pollock of Toronto.

"VERY POOR"

Latest Canadian vacationland stamps are considered "very poor" by Brian Visser, 30 Willow Avenue, and William Cochrane, 352 Melville Avenue; Bobby Debronski, 504 Grosvenor Avenue, James Kennedy, 371 Lansdowne Avenue, and Andre Robert, 339 Victoria Avenue, like them; but Paul Becker, 29 Willow Avenue, thinks that "Mr. Hyde (the designer) draws stamps of people very well, but not of sportsmen." Incidentally the Post Office Department pays but $300 to the designer of a stamp, whereas the Finance Department pays $1,000 to the designer of a coin. With the expert assistance of Mr. Lou Waller, Physical Director, Westmount Y.M.C.A., members are presently examining their collections to select stamps depicting sports. These will be mounted as a club entry in the (Continued on Page 9)

Metropolitan Government West End Communities Have Vital Interest in Duplessis Move

Montreal is soon going to have some form of metropolitan government.

That was indicated by Premier Duplessis in a week-end press conference at Quebec. The premier said he expects to bring the required legislation before the next session of the Legislature.

This announcement will be of considerable interest to citizens of Montreal and the surrounding autonomous municipalities. Tax-payers of the West End who long have advocated some form of over-all administration as the next best thing to secession, will expect better services and lower taxes. Municipalities like Westmount, Hampstead and Montreal West are interested principally because they fear the over-all administration will bring heavier taxes and poorer services than they are able to provide for themselves.

Mr. Duplessis didn't go into detail, but he indicated that "nobody would be exploited" and that the arrangement, whatever it turns out to be, would be "beneficial to all." He said he hoped there would be more discussion on the matter by public and voluntary organizations so that the government would have the advantage of many points of view before framing the legislation. We think this suggestion is good, that we should proceed with caution as every taxpayer in the Greater Montreal area will be affected by the change.

Over the years, West End organizations have shown a decided preference for the borough system under which Montreal's 11 municipal electoral districts would be converted into more or less autonomous boroughs. These, with present autonomous municipalities, would send representatives to a central council which would govern all matters of common interest such as through streets and roads, sewage, police and fire protection, transportation, town planning and zoning, finance, public health, public assistance, hospitals, etc.

The basic principles of such a system would be:

1. Complete autonomy of the borough and municipal councils, each with its own mayor and council, in all local affairs;

2. Administration of all matters of metropolitan import by a central council made up of members chosen by the boroughs and municipalities on a basis of population;

3. Supervision of all borough finances by the central council;

4. Central Council finances under the supervision of the Quebec Government.

This system, more than any other, would harness a vast reservoir of public spirit, capacities and abilities alike for the good of the local unit and through it for the whole metropolitan area. In no instance where the borough system has been tried has it failed. In New York, London, Berlin and Paris. Some of its successes have been spectacular.

What will evolve out of the present discussions no one can say at present. But something approaching the borough system would give us most of the advantages of autonomy as well as the economies resulting from central control of services necessary to the area as a whole.

Stones Into Bread

By

The Venerable

R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,

Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

Once Our Lord had taken on Himself our human nature it was inevitable that He should come under temptation. If He had escaped that experience He would have been something less than complete man. Not one of us is free from temptation, but in our case the temptation generally comes from within; as St. James says (1-14): "Every man is tempted when he is drawn away of his own lust and enticed." That is, our natural desires are corrupted by sin, and they lead us still farther astray. But in Our Lord's case His natural desires were not corrupted by sin, and there was no temptation from within. If He was to share in our temptations, to be "tempted in all points like as we are" the temptation must come on Him from without His own nature. It was His Father's will that He should undergo that universal human experience. So it happened, immediately after the great event of His Baptism, and His recognition as God's Son, and the Descent of the Holy Spirit upon Him, He was at once led into the wilderness "to be tempted of the Devil."

Jesus was man, and shared in all the relationships into which every man enters — with the material world, with the world of man, and with God. His three temptations cover all those relationships. First there was the temptation in His relationship with material things: "Command that these stones be made bread." There is nothing strange in that. We are continually turning stones into bread in this order: Stone — soil — plant — seed — food. But the Devil was tempting Him to by-pass the ordinary processes of nature, and to do it for His own benefit. The time had not yet come to perform such a miracle. A year later He was to do it by multiplying the loaves and fishes for the benefit of the multitude. Even in His hunger He kept His divine power under control. "He came not to be ministered unto, but to minister." In God's good time His hunger would be satisfied. In the meantime, in His relationship with the material world Our Lord did not allow the needs of His own natural body to overcome God's purpose for Him.

That is where Our Lord's temptation becomes an example to us. The word "alone" is important. Men must have "bread" and the other material gifts of God, but they must not be allowed to rule over him: "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." It is when we allow ourselves to be dominated by possessions that we become like the third soil in the Parable of the Sower: "The cares of the world and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word and it becometh unfruitful." (Mark 4:19).

By the Way . . .

A NUMBER of elaborate arrangements for saving trouble in kitchens are, I read, due to laboratory studies by General Motors and the Bell Telephone Company.

I like the description of ultra-sonic dish-washing, with soundwaves moving at 40,000 cycles a second, so that pretty well everything becomes invisible. I rejoice also in this titbit of haute cuisine. "The heating of the saucepan is by induction. Technically, the saucepan becomes the secondary of a transformer, and the heat is induced from a primary circuit into a secondary circuit and causes the saucepan to heat, the energy passing through the marbe top without heating it."

One advantage of this method is that if the saucepan has not enough water in it it melts away thus saving labour.

IRON DESTINY

(Collick and Norzier: $3.95)

MISS FAFFUAGE has never written more pungently than in this story of frustration, horror, and misery. The scene in which the blackmailing grandfather is tortured by the boy of 10 who has murdered a band leader is presented with a restraint which in no way diminishes its realism. With a mastery of characterization Miss Faffuage never slackens the tense atmosphere of violence, hatred, and lying. With admirable integrity she lays bare the minds of an almost sub-human group of social misfits.

Look-alike Individuals:

Leather-jacketed Maniacs On Motorcycles Seen As Young Rebels Without A Cause

Down any street, along any highway they come. Dirty and greasy, crazy and fast. Open throttles, hoarse cries, smug, smoked and smeared. Leather-jacketed motorcycle maniacs.

Out of the way, boy. There's not enough room for everybody and these guys are heading for hell. But, before they're off again in a cloud of dust, let's take a closer look at these young rebels without a cause.

You Hear Them Coming

A typical West End restaurant will serve as background. Sherbrooke street has been tucked in for the night. And then you hear them coming. Four abreast on gleaming black motorcycles, they screech to a stop, dismount and swagger into the restaurant.

They look alike. Same leather jackets; same cycle boots, helmets, gloves; same dusty goggles, same dirty necks. They talk alike — loud. And they walk alike — scuffing, shuffling. A blatant jukebox fills the air with a mad melody. Young ladies in jackets and blue jeans laugh just a little too loudly.

Do you get the picture? Slightly modified, it's the type of atmosphere which exists here, there and everywhere. Three of our four heroes exhibit long sideburns. The one exception is still hopeful.

Try to place this type of character under the microscope of hasty classification and you'll never understand the leather-jacketed boys. Why bother at all? Well, it's always an advantage to understand the fellow who's stepping on your toes.

Generally, "the black leather jacket with an eagle (or some such) on the back" is worn by a rugged 15 to 23-year-old specimen of mankind. He's hard to begin with and gets tougher with practice. He's fast, free and full of energy. Pent up, he turns to his prize possession, the motorcycle, as an emotional outlet.

True Value of Jackets

The motorcycle — its many sizes, colors and mechanical technicalities — is a story in itself. As is the cyclist's uniform. The black leather jacket, for example, should not be judged harshly. Its true value is realized when the rider and his bike separate at 60 miles per. At such times, practically inevitable, one is thankful to be wearing more than a nylon sweatshirt.

In other words, the speed demons might dress and look alike but each is still an individual. He has his own problems, his own character, his own life. You find the good and the bad, the weak and the strong, the big and the small. And that's exactly how the leather-jacketed boys should be understood; not classed as pimply-faced goons but, if judge you must, judged individually and on his own merits.

Question of Understanding

Well now! We've said much and nothing. Nothing much. It's just a question of understanding. Philosophically, we're speaking in turn. In actuality, though, it is sometimes difficult to understand the leather-jacketed motorcycle maniac. Especially in summer when you're cruising along a clear highway. And then you hear them coming.

Four abreast on gleaming black motorcycles, throttles wide open. Out of the way, boy! There's not enough room for everybody and these guys are heading for hell.

Happy Hungarian Refugee Shows Ire At 'Red' Story

By JONATHAN COMO

If John Fischer could speak better English, he would have uttered some choice swear-words. As it was, he muttered something in Hungarian and turned back to his newspaper.

We gathered by the expression on his face that John wasn't pleased with what he read. He verified our opinion by crumpling the newspaper — official organ of Communist Hungary— into a ball and tossing it into a waste basket.

Our curiosity aroused, we salvaged it, smoothed it out and urged our irate Hungarian friend to translate. If you recall, we introduced this remarkable young man in the Feb 14 issue of The Monitor. Brilliant, amiable, adaptive and sincere, Janos Fischer has operated our Scanagraver for two months.

Through sneers and with knitted brow, he grappled with the English language. The following are translated excerpts from the newspaper account:

'Cry For Help From Canada — Joseph Torok last year in December left Hungary. From Austria he went to Canada and from there wrote letters to the Hungarian Minister of the Interior. His first letter was sent from Ottawa on Jan. 15 and arrived in Budapest on Jan. 20. From his letter was distinguished a very dramatic cry for help. His second letter was posted on Jan. 19 and the Minister of the Interior received it on Jan. 25. This letter said that, for new Hungarian Canadians, it was "a bitter, hard life."

FIRST LETTER

Sir Minister of the Interior:

I ask your help! The Canadian Immigration Office is trying to prevent us (he and his wife) from returning to Hungary by the most ignominious way. They have taken away our documents. They threaten to fight with us.

They want false confessions... but have been unsuccessful. I shall not accept any offers. I would be a vagabond traitor. No, rather I shall die with my wife. We shall never be slaves and sycophants of the Canadian capitalists.

We hope for fast relief from our government... that we might get back to our Hungarian homeland as soon as possible.

York St., Ottawa, Ont.

Hotel room prisoners,
Mr. Torok and wife.

SECOND LETTER

Sir Minister of the Interior:

I ask you, for the workers in Hungary, to have my letters published in the Hungarian newspapers. The Canadian job opportunities and wages are very bad. Hungarians here have a very bitter and hard life. The poor Hungarians find themselves in the grip of the Canadian propaganda machine. Employers, seeking cheap workers, are transporting them off to the wilds of northern Canada.

Red Cross and government money, intended for refugees, is stolen... the Hungarian refugee camps look terrible. There are small rooms in which 50 or 60 men and women live together. The food is bad and scarce.

They want us to clear the forests in high snow, far from civilization, in very cold weather... about 25 degrees below zero. The country is full of wolves, bears and wild Indians."

And so on and on and on.

We watch him closely. As he plods through the translation, his eyes reveal his ridicule and contempt for the article. And it gets us to thinking. We in the western world don't concern ourselves when we hear of certain Communist propaganda manipulations. It's not until you've been scratched that you recognize the insidious poison.

John Fischer is one of the lucky ones who escaped the Communist venom by fleeing to the western world. And as he would probably phrase it if he could speak better English: "Damn glad of it, too."

Mounting tensions in the Middle East place an accent on preparedness and the ranks of the 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars are filled largely with westend citizen-soldiers who trekked to Farnham this weekend to take part in a full-scale tank training scheme.

The springtime cold and mud — old company for the rugged, heavily-armoured Sherman tanks, — added zest to the routines. Officers, NCO's and troopers alike lived and practiced tactics and vehicle drills under field conditions. The 17th, with its armoury on Cote des Neiges Road, is an armoured reconnaissance regiment — the eyes and ears of an infantry division in action. It operates in advance to sound out the enemies strength and movement. A 'recce' unit must be fast, sharp and equipped to fight out of any pocket in which reconnoitering could easily place them.

The scheme was in preparation for exercises this summer at Petawawa and the citizen-soldiers were sharpening their skills in wireless, mechanics, driving and other skills, and were getting paid for it. Any who would be interested in joining them have a special invitation from the OC Lt. Col. Julian R. Benbow, veteran of both Imperial and Canadian armies, to drop up to the armoury any Monday night to talk it over.

The weekend exercise at Farnham was under the direction of Major Douglas McMullan who was a member of the local regiment when it fought through Western Germany in World War II.

The 17th has been a local regiment since the days of the Fenian Raids when it was known as the 'original Montreal cavalry'.

Typical of West End residents on the weekend exercise was J. A. Ledoux who terms life with the 17th Hussars as "fine and exciting." The 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Ledoux, 5177

Earncliffe Avenue, is employed by the Bell Telephone Company in the installation dept. In line for promotion to corporal at the end of the month, young Ledoux has already spent 2½ years with the 17th Hussars and plans on re-signing when his three year term is up. "It's a wonderful man's life," he told The Examiner.

SPRING is here, and with it a decision to deal with the question "Is your canary egg-bound?"

This is a serious trouble and one that is not at all uncommon. You may find a hen canary that you expect to lay again, trembling and crouching in the corner of the cage. She is suffering, most probably, from what is commonly called "egg-binding".

She should be attended to at once.

Take the hen very gently in your left hand and put three or four olive oil drops in her beak. In serious cases put the same amount in the vent, using a flight or tail feather for this purpose.

If you haven't a spare feather, it is permissible to clip one of the long wing feathers, but on no account pull it out.

Place the bird gently in the cage, in a corner which should be covered with moss. Keep the surroundings fairly warm. In a short time the egg should be safely passed. The best prevention is to feed the bird dandelion leaves, water cress and boiled carrot at least three times a week when the birds are breeding.

A small piece of pork lard on the end of the perch is also useful, especially on a cold day.

IN THE MAILBAG:

Dear Sir:

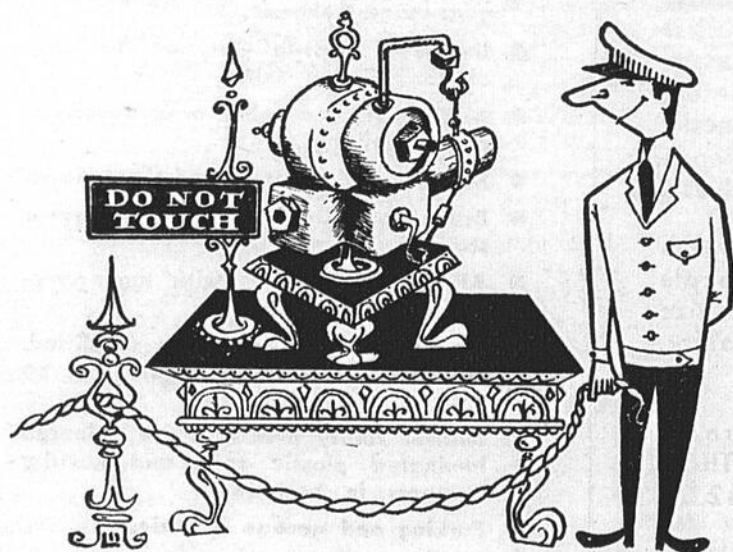

Will you kindly let me know what to do for the inside of cats' ears, to keep them in good condition. We have an old male cat that scratches the outside of his ears, which makes them all raw and sore. The younger cats (2) have not come to that stage yet.

Yours truly

(Miss) A. Aird,
3696 Evelyn St.,
Verdun, Que.

Answer: Many cats and dogs suffer from ear trouble. This usually is shown by the animals constantly pawing and scratching their ears. Looking inside the ear you will see a dull brownish substance it may not look much, but it is usually infested with mites. Clean the animal's ear with a cotton swab dipped in olive oil and remove as much as possible. Ask your Pet Shop for remedies that will further cure this condition.

For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king; he will save us."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker the following will be read (380:32-1): "Every law or the body, supposed to govern man, is rendered null and void by the law of Life, God."

Lenten Menu Suggestions

So many people think of Lenten meals as drab, unattractive things that are just something necessary to stoke up the old stomach so as to keep going until Easter. That may be true if you eat in some restaurants but you're all wrong if you include Macy's. Because Macy's make a specialty of preparing tasty, appetite-tempting meals during Lent so that you may enjoy your food and still stay on a restricted diet.

How's this for variety? Fresh caught fish, wonderful salads, a choice of several cheese dishes, eggs in every imaginable style including delicious omelettes, spaghetti and macaroni dishes, etc. What more could one want? Come in and let us prove to you that Macy's really has variety on the menu for Lent.

*Still snow on the ground, and the trees all bare,
Cold winds, and dark clouds in the sky,
But from the ground, a pale little flower,
Tells me, that Spring is nigh.*

*Though griefs, and the sorrows of life overwhelm,
And the heart may be frozen with dread,
Still, when we glimpse the Father's kind smile,
Spring is born, in the heart once so dead.*

In addition to the Montreal Association for the Blind, the other groups in the combined Appeal are: The Canadian National Institute for the Blind; L'Association Canadienne-Francaise des Aveugles, Inc.; The Canadian Federation of the Blind; the St. Lawrence Club of the Blind and Le Conseil Local l'Association Canadienne-Francaise des Aveugles.

Mrs. F. Barclay Robinson Heads Young Women's Christian Assn.

Mrs. F. Barclay Robinson was elected president of the Board of Directors of the Young Women's Christian Association at the annual meeting of the 'Y', which was held on Thursday evening. In the absence of Mrs. Seth Taylor, who has been president for three years, the chairman of the meeting was Miss Eileen Kerr.

Miss Ruth Low, Executive Director, in presenting her report to the meeting, said that the Montreal YWCA — "the largest activity building for women in Canada" had been the scene of greatly increased membership in the Art Workshop, Health Education, Residence and Camp, taxing both staff and building to capacity.

"Montreal, as a busy port city, asks much of its YWCA," the director said. "The 1956 Annual report shows the measure of its response. A comfortable residence for newcomers drew 11,885 guests, an increase of over 1400 in the year. These came from all over North America, British Isles, Europe, Africa, and the Far East. Sometimes a gentle exchange of fellowship turned into a major service as human needs were met — lost friends or relatives located, jobs found, new stimulating associations formed and faith restored."

Exclusive of the Cafeteria, Snack Bar and Residence, nearly 7000 sessions were held in the building with an accumulative total attendance of over 120,000.

Water Safety training was extended to many groups and individuals through the Red Cross, the Parks and Playgrounds Association, Tyndale House, St. Andrew's Youth Centre, Unity Boys Club, Negro Community Centre, and some Lakeshore groups. The greatest number of Life Saving awards in the Montreal district were won by the YWCA Ladies Swimming Club. For this they received the Rubenstein Trophy.

Camp, a veritable workshop on world fellowship with its many nationalities and creeds, had its largest enrolment for many years. Nor should the keen sense of responsibility among the teenagers be forgotten. Their willingness to work and co-operate with others made it possible to initiate the "Probie" group. These girls took every opportunity to prove their worth as Counsellors in Training for this incoming summer.

A booklet giving complete statistics and other data was distributed at the meeting, and a message from the retiring President, Mrs. Seth C. H. Taylor was read. Her words "Thus we face the new year with a sense of confidence, knowing we have kept faith with our community" hold a special meaning when we remember the services and their cost.

By wise spending the YWCA cut its Welfare Federation grant from 15.3% to 14.6%.

MISS DORIS NORMAN, who has been appointed dietitian-nutritionist in charge of the diet-teaching centre, the newest addition to the Montreal General Hospital's many services.

Miss Doris Norman Of Cote des Neiges Heads MGH New Diet-Teaching Centre

A diet-teaching centre has been formed at Montreal General Hospital as the newest addition to the hospital's many services.

The opening of the centre, which is an expansion of the hospital's Dietary Department, is announced by Miss Helen Smith, Director of Dietetics.

Miss Doris Norman has been appointed dietitian-nutritionist in charge of the centre. Patients referred to her by their physicians will receive a clear and simple explanation of the diets which have been prescribed as part of their treatment.

Afterwards, the centre will check on the patients' progress as far as their diets are concerned and report back to the doctor when required.

The centre is an innovation which recognizes the importance of diets in modern medical treatment and is available to all classes of patients. However, most of the work will be with public patients, especially those attending the out-patient department.

As work in the centre expands, it will also provide nurses, social workers, medical interns and students with an opportunity to gain added experience in the field of nutrition and diet-teaching. This knowledge will be of great value to them in caring for their patients.

Miss Norman was previously employed as a nutritionist with the Federal Department of National Health and Welfare. She has participated in several nutrition surveys and was, for six years, editor of "Canadian Nutrition Notes" — the official organ of the department's Nutrition Division.

As a member of the division's information section, she assisted with the production, printing and revising of information and educational material on nutrition.

Miss Norman is a graduate of Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., and was a dietetic intern at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto.

She obtained her Master's Degree from Tufts University and the Frances Stern Food Clinic in Boston. While in that city she acted as Nutrition Consultant with a medical team of the Y.W.C.A. Health Education Department.

Unity Down Nine Points To RCAF Ottawa

St. George Curling Rink Wins Trophy

St. George Curling Club rink skipped by Mrs. A. J. D. Wright won the Jackson Trophy curling competition.

The St. George rink defeated Mrs. C. Leggett of Pointe Claire 20-4 to chalk up the highest percentage in the one-day event.

Mrs. R. Defries of Royal Montreal skipped her rink to a 12-3 win over Mrs. W. M. Reid of Heather for second place.

Third place went to another St. George rink, skipped by Mrs. A. D. Newell. The Newell rink defeated Mrs. S. Bowman of Pointe Claire 23-6.

Fourth place went to a Pointe Claire rink, skipped by Mrs. J. G. Pattee. The Lakeshore foursome downed a Royal Montreal rink skipped by Mrs. D. C. Seath 19-5.

Two Minor Unity Club Cage Teams Seek Titles

Two Unity Club teams are still vying for cage honors along the play-off trail.

The Biddy team will meet Point St. Charles for the city western section of the City of western section title. The mid-gets having recently won the Montreal League now meet the Maisonneuve Optimists in a two-of-three series for the Montreal championship.

Olympic Club Fund Appeal For Track Meet

THE Olympic Athletic Club will compete in the Canadian Indoor Championships at Hamilton Saturday, and the club is making an appeal for funds in order that the Montreal team may be as large as possible.

President Irene Wall issued the appeal for funds and those who want to help may do so by contacting Miss Wall at P.O. 6-2542 or send donations to 1073 Moffat avenue, Verdun.

Verdun boys who will see competition in Hamilton are: George Livingstone, brother of runner and footballer Ivan; Tom Allan, George Martin, Payne and Dave Carter.

Five Unity Fighters Enter In G. G. Shows

Boxing Coach Cedric Mohammed of Unity Boys' Club announces that five boys from the club are taking part in the Golden Gloves Tournament.

They are: Walter Enefer, Gerald Enefer, Clifford Arthur, Henry Brisson and Billy Rose.

Six Footer Holt Scores 30 Points

Unity Boys' club senior 'B' basketball team, currently in battle with RCAF Rockliffe are wondering today how they lost by nine points, 69-60 as one of the flyers scored 30 points.

In the first game of the home-and-home, total points series, Unity had their hands full last Saturday night at Mont St. Louis gym in trying to stop the 6' 10" centerman Dick Holt from scoring more than 30 points.

Nine points is not such a large lead, but moving into your enemy's court and still having to face Dick Holt is too much.

At half time RCAF were ahead 34-31, which proves that the Montrealers were right behind the Flyers. This week the team under coach Maurice Mariasine worked hard for some kind of strategy to keep that big guy called Holt from scoring too many points. The teams play again in Ottawa Saturday night.

Early in the third quarter, Unity tied up the contest and went ahead by four points, but lost the lead in the last quarter when Holt used his height to good advantage and scored in easy fashion.

Unity, still suffering from over-exertion from the five game Provincial Tournament at Three Rivers, didn't have the pep to counteract the sharp-shooting Airmen who won their City title by a defaulted second game with Cornwall.

With a week's rest, the U.B.C. quintet will go all out to wipe out the deficit and try to capture the series. Last year, RCAF group defeated Unity by five points on the round.

In last Saturday's game, Ian McIntosh and Ulric Brown, Unity's big scoring guns all season, topped the U.B.C. scorers with 16 and 13 points respectively.

Teddy Rice, 8; Ron Hodgman, 6; Dave Barnard, 4; Harry Haukka, 4; Dick McGrail, 3; Grant Peterson, 2; Michael Barnard, John Reddon.

G. Kennedy Guest Speaker

The Father and Son presentation night will take place Saturday, March 30, at the Southwestern YMCA Auditorium at 6.30.

Point Cage Team Loses To Unity Lady Juveniles

The Unity Girls juvenile basketball team under Coach John Forbes defeated Point St. Charles twice in a home-and-home exhibition series.

In the first game at Unity, the local quintet won 24-18 and at the Point, Unity won 19-2.

Unity team was as follows: Joan Driver, Barbara Forbes, Mona O'Brien, Angela Gibson, Joan White, Lillian Jeffries, Ruth Driver and Millie Roguski.

The Sports Whirl

By George E. Jones

So far as money is concerned, the Grand National steeplechase run at Aintree, near Liverpool, is the most important of all sporting events, reports the April Reader's Digest.

Counting wagers, admission fees and concessions, the Grand National is easily a 50-million dollar contest. The prize for the winner depends on the number of entries but it is modest by American standards—about $25,000 in cash and a trophy worth $1,300. Still, it's the world's most exciting horse race!

If it is a sunny day, more than 250,000 persons will pay from 70 cents to $80 to watch the race, to see 20 to 66 horses jump over 30 fearsome obstacles and gallop for four and a half miles.

The betting is astronomical. In Britain alone over 30 million dollars is wagered. Money is also put down all over the British Commonwealth. The six-million-dollar Irish Sweepstakes, in which many Canadians have held winning tickets, is based on the race.

At Aintree any horse, however humble, can become famous—a saga of nags to riches. A one-eyed horse named Glenside won in 1911, and Tipperary Tim, who had a metal tube for throat, in 1928 beat a field of more than 10.

The winner in 1908, Rubio, was hauling a hotel bus when someone decided he had possibilities.

Moifaa, the New Zealand horse who won the race in 1904, was so big that it was said he looked like an undernourished elephant. The ship carrying him to England was wrecked, and Moifaa swam ashore. Next day, quite unruffled, he took the great jumps as if they were anthills.

Riders, too, are unorthodox. Many of them, reports the Reader's Digest, unlike most jockeys, are big men, even six-footers. Many are amateurs. Lord Manners, who won in 1882, had never ridden in a race before.

some 25 boys in attendance. The team has yet to be chosen so that anyone 12 years of age and under who is interested in playing baseball will be given a try-out.

Second Soccer League Bids For Verdun Stadium

Verdun is planning to expand its civic stadium to accommodate some 17,000 cash customers in the near future.

This fact came to light during the conference between National Soccer League President Johnny McCullough, on the one end and Mayor Ed Wilson and City Manager Bob French, on the other.

It's already in the blueprint stage. The prime subject of the conference was the possibility of fitting the city's premier soccer loop into the suburban stadium, in the event that Faillon Field does not become again available.

McCullough hasn't given up hope of getting the North End park back as a home for his seven-team loop, but, with the season's opening not more than six or seven weeks away, he has to do something to cover all eventualities.

He discussed facts and figures with the Verdun mayor and manager, and the trio came to a virtual agreement on the matter of terms.

As the Montreal League has already booked two nights a week there, it could become the centre of the game on the island.

In addition to housing the National League, which will probably use the lights, there is also the question of starting the projected Reserve loop there, in twilight sessions.

This league of the big teams' second evenings would act as a farm. It works in Toronto, and they are going to try it here.

Visiting Rugger Team To Play Westmount

BARBARIANS, famed British Rugby Club will arrive in Canada April 25 for the start of a six game tour that will take them from Montreal as far west as British Columbia.

The Barbarians will be an all-star team made up of players who have represented their respective countries in International competition.

The tour will open at Toronto April 27 where they will play two games and will conclude in Montreal May 14.

The local game will be played at the Westmount Athletic grounds with a 6.30 p.m. start slated.

Officials are leaving nothing undone in an effort to make the game a huge success. The band of No. 14 wing RCAC (Laval College) will also appear at the game by kind permission of W-C J. A. Gauthier, Officer Commanding.

Following the opening game at Toronto the team will play Ontario again April 30. They will fly to Vancouver and play three games on the West coast before returning to Montreal.

May 4 will see the visitors play British Columbia and on May 8 they will meet the B.C. team in Victoria and return to Vancouver for another game May 12 before flying back here.
