Resigns After 30 Years of Service

W. K. Philps Gives Up As Sec. of School

W. K. PHILPS

Thirty years is a long time in any man's life, and it is for this period of years that Mr. W. K. Philps, a well known resident of the Town of Huntingdon, has served the public of this district as Secretary-Treasurer of the Huntingdon Protestant School Board. With one exception, Mr. B. W. Allen, Prince St., Huntingdon, the other members of the Board at that time, M. T. Robb, Dr. R. N. Walsh, E. C. McCoy and C. F. Hyde, have all passed away. Times have changed since then. In place of the two old buildings, there now stands a completely modern school, not over crowded and old-fashioned as the other was. The methods of teaching have changed and been improved. The staff with the exception of J. B. MacMillan, Principal since 1918, has naturally changed from time to time.

Mr. Philps remembers when teachers received $600 a year for salary, but now it is costing the Board from $2,000 to $2,500 a year for individual salaries. Through the years many interesting incidents have occurred which have involved much work on the part of the Secretary-Treasurer, such as the consolidation of the different school districts into one, opening up new subjects—manual training, household economics, and development and training in the sports field. Huntingdon High School now has a fine band under the direction of Mr. Don Moore, which not only as a form of pleasure, will benefit the students taking part.

It is therefore with much regret that the people of Huntingdon will receive the news that Mr. Philps has found it necessary to resign due to ill health, and which was reluctantly accepted by the Huntingdon Protestant School Board at a recent meeting.

The Gleaner is advised that another well known resident of the town, Mr. E. C. Martin, has taken over Mr. Philps' duties and matters pertaining to the school will be, in the future, handled by him.

Alleged Murderer of Three To Appear at Valleyfield, Friday, August 10th

Inquest Held in Huntingdon Court House, Wednesday, Aug. 1st

The Preliminary Inquest of Alcide Martin who has been held criminally responsible for the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Anthime Allen and Mr. Narcisse Cusson, of Anderson's Corners, will be held at the Court House in Valleyfield, on Friday, August 10.

Martin was arraigned before magistrate Maurice Fortin, at Valleyfield, on Friday, August 3rd, at which time the date was set for holding the preliminary inquest. This followed the inquest held at Huntingdon, on Wednesday, August 1st.

Coroner's Inquest

Some 200 people witnessed the proceedings at the County Building in Huntingdon, on Wednesday, August 1st, when Alcide Martin appeared before a Coroner's Inquest which was presided over by Doctor George Lefebvre of Huntingdon, Coroner for the District. Mr. George Andre Meloche, Crown Attorney for the District of Beauharnois conducted this inquest. Martin was represented by his attorney, Mr. Paul Aubut, of 28 St. James St., Montreal. The jury included: Jos. Brisebois, Foreman, Leo Lefebvre, Gilbert Brunet, Rene Billette, Fernand Daoust, Ernest Leduc and Romeo Leduc, substitute.

The first witness heard was Doctor Jean-Marie Rousell, Medico-Legal expert of Montreal. He stated that:

Mrs. Anthime Allen: this victim weighed in the neighbourhood of 160 lbs. and had many bruises on her face and five knife wounds about her body; she suffered cereba hemorrhage and death may have been caused by shock, hemorrhage and blows about the head.

Mr. Anthime Allen: About 67 years old, numerous wounds about the lips, cheeks, eyebrows, and the left eye. Wounds caused by a blunt instrument, probably a knife on the chest, Sectioned cartilages; perforation of the left and right lungs and death may have been caused by these perforations as well as internal hemorrhages to the chest and heart.

Mr. Narcisse Cusson: Numerous Ecchymosis on the face; injuries to the eyes, lips and most bones on the face were either fractured or bashed in. Death could have been caused by shock, or again, by these multiple fractures about the face and hemorrhages.

Circulation Officer, Leduc:

Traffic officer Eugene Leduc, of Valleyfield, told the jury that following a telephone conversation with the head of Provincial Police in Montreal, early Tuesday morning, he went to Ormstown and later to Anderson's Corners, where he made the terrible discovery of the three victims. He explained how he returned to Ormstown thereafter and phoned the result of his findings to Police Headquarters in Montreal.

Sgt. Det. Massue:

Sergeant Detective Gustave Massue, who was in charge of Provincial Police Headquarters during the night of July 30,-31st recalled the unusual visit he had with Alcide Martin at about 1:45 A.M. on Tuesday, July 31st. Martin told him "I want to give myself up to you . . ." Mr. Massue then explained that he called circulation officer Leduc in Valleyfield; Ubald Legault of Montreal, head of the homicide squad; and the other officers interested when such tragedies occur. To a question by Mr. Aubut, Officer Massue replied that Martin looked very normal to him at that time; he was not nervous and he did not seem to be under the influence of liquor. His shirt showed some bloodstains.

Sergeant Roch:

Sgt. Anatole Roch, member of the Provincial Police, recalled the interview he had on Tuesday morning, July 31st, around 9 A.M. with Alcide Martin in Provincial Police Cells in Montreal. Martin is reported to have told Roch at that time that he had killed his stepgrandfather, his grandmother and another man called Narcisse. Martin was reported to have on his person at that time the sum of sixteen or eighteen cents. The suspect talked slowly and distinctly. His eyes were those of a normal person. He did show some signs of fatigue and sorrow. He did not smell of liquor.

Mr. Legault:

Mr. Ubald Legault, head of the homicide squad in Montreal, testified that Martin told him on Tuesday, July 31st, around 9:30 A.M. that he admitted killing his grandfather, grandmother and a third party named Narcisse. The Detective reported that a pocket knife had been found in the car of the suspect. This instrument could have been used in these murders.

Mr. Meloche:

The Crown Attorney, Mr. G. A. Meloche then asked the suspect if he had anything to declare, warning him at the same time that his declarations could be used against him later on at the trial.

Martin rose and said in a meek voice: "I have nothing to say."

Members of the jury then unanimously declared that they believed Martin was responsible for the death of Mr. and Mrs. Anthime Allen and Mr. Narcisse Cusson.

Motor Cars in Quebec Increase Over 50,000

QUEBEC — Number of motor vehicles in operation in Quebec province has increased by more than 50,000 this year.

The Quebec Government announced today that 1951 motor vehicle registrations total 507,000, compared with 456,784 last year.

St. Lawrence Alloys Founder Dies

R. Turnbull, Beauharnois, Prominent in Metals Field

ROBERT TURNBULL

Robert Turnbull, founder of St. Lawrence Alloys and Metals Limited and well-known pioneer in the field of metallurgy died Monday evening at his home in Beauharnois, Quebec. He was in his eighty-second year.

Born in Carlisle, England, he received his education in Scotland. He was removed to France and soon became assistant and intimate associate of Dr. Paul Heroult—co-discoverer of aluminum. With Dr. Heroult, Mr. Turnbull pioneered the art and the science of metal alloys and assisted in alloy experimentation in steel centres of France, Germany, Great Britain, the United States and Canada.

In Canada he helped found what is now known as the Electro Metallurgical Company of Canada, and the Volta Manufacturing Company, both of Welland, Ontario, and founded several plants for the production of pig iron, steel and ferro-alloys in electric furnaces, during and after World War I. He also founded the Shawinigan Stainless Steel Industry at Shawinigan Falls, Quebec.

In 1936, enthusiastic about the possibility of ferro alloy production in Beauharnois, Quebec, he and his associates founded St. Lawrence Alloys and Metals Limited. In 1938, this Company was purchased by Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation. Mr. Turnbull remained as Plant Head until 1946 when he was retired as Consultant, which post he held at the time of his death.

A past member of the Mount Stephen Club, Rotary, and the American Electro-Chemical Society, Mr. Turnbull was an elder of Morningside Presbyterian Church, Toronto and attended St. Edward's Presbyterian Church, Beauharnois.

During his lifetime he was inter-

Chateauguay Street Becomes Two-way Street Once More On Monday, August 13th

Traffic Lights at Post Office to Come Down — Enforced 60-minute Parking on Chateauguay

The traffic lights which have been in the news for almost two months and which have been on a trial at the Post Office Corner, have been ordered taken down and for the time being no arrangement for installation of such has been made.

Huntingdon Town Council decided this at its regular meeting held on Monday night after a long discussion on traffic problems. Mr. Willard of Municipal Signals and Mr. Hamilton, a representative of a Parking Meter firm, were both present at the meeting to give their views. Due to the pressure of other important business, the discussion on the traffic problem was not taken up until the end of the meeting and thus ran into a late hour. Some business men of Chateauguay Street were present at the beginning, but one or two left before the discussion and only two remained until the end.

The proposition of making Chateauguay St. a two-way street with parking on both sides and a restricted period of 60 minutes was put before the council and the business men present. Before discussing this matter a report on a traffic survey made by Mr. Willard was read and he also gave his views on the matter.

In brief, Mr. Willard reported in his letter that he was of the opinion that no better method than the one now in use on Chateauguay Street could be used. He said that the street was definitely too narrow at its narrowest point for two-way traffic and would in his opinion cause a jam if parking was allowed on both sides of the street. If only one side parking was allowed, it too would present its difficulties as it would work a hardship on the shopping public and on those who had to deliver merchandise to the stores. Should a trucker have to deliver goods to a store on the opposite side of the street to that allowed for parking, it would entail a great deal of manual labour and possible hazards. Goods would have to be carried from the truck on one side of the street to the store on the opposite side. Police would have to check closely on this for if they allowed a truck to park outside of a store where no parking was permitted, it would start up the danger of blocking the street. The street as it is now when cars are parked on each side allowed only about 16 feet of road space between the parked cars and this was hardly sufficient for two cars to pass one another especially when approaching from opposite directions. The only other alternative would be to widen the street.

He suggested that both Chateauguay Street and that part of Prince now used for the traffic from Chateauguay, be termed as one-way. At the McCoy corner a series of traffic signals would be set up to control the traffic there and a different set of signals set up at the post office. These signals would allow traffic to move continuously by arrow signals which would show the direction a certain section of traffic could move. In addition to this a control box would be placed at the Fire Station and by the push of button would turn all lights at McCoy's corner red and leave the one at Prince green with a red against Bouchette. This device to be used in case of fire so that the fire truck could proceed without hindrance in either direction from the fire station.

He was challenged on this by Mr. Dave Zabitsky who countered that the business men wanted the people to travel on Chateauguay Street from either direction and not be switched off and down Prince. The claim was that too much business was lost by this method. Mr. Willard replied that he did not think the business men would lose any business as it would allow parking on both sides of Chateauguay the

New Method Raising Turkeys Introduced at Red Gables

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Catto, Huntingdon, Use Infra Red Lamps and Other Modern Ideas

What is made to appear a very fascinating business is one recently started by Mr. and Mrs. Noel Catto, of Red Gables Farm, on Highway No. 4 between Dewittville and Huntingdon. It is perhaps a little different to the general run of farms in this dairying district, for the Cattos are not interested in dairying. Their interest is in Turkeys — not just ordinary or garden type of turkeys, but those with a breeding and superiority about them. In turn, they hope to interest others in breeding these strains of birds as they feel that it will be a profitable item for all breeders.

This is not the only novel part of this business, for electricity plays an important part in helping to bring the turkeys to maturity with a minimum amount of loss to the breeder. It is a well known fact that turkeys are hard to raise without a great deal of loss due to a number of reasons. Mr. and Mrs. Catto have made a great study of the subject and have implemented a number of modern methods to overcome many of the difficulties.

At present the birds are taken from a hatchery and in place of being placed in brooders which has a number of hazards, infra red lamps are used to concentrate the heat where the birds need it and to maintain the temperatures in the brooder house as evenly as possible. Thermostat controls are used which keep the heating at a constant and even temperature with a minimum amount of worry on the part of the operator, barring an actual shut-down of the power system. Banks of eight lamps, each being of 250w, maintain a floor temperature of 90 degrees and the turkey poults gather at the points where this heat is radiated the same as they would around a brooder. As the temperature rises, one, two, three or more of the lamps go off; when it lowers, they come back on again. This of course is controlled by the thermostat. At night time and during very cold weather, this is extremely important as every poultry breeder is aware.

When the birds first arrive from the hatchery, they are handled quite a lot and they are taught to feed and drink. It is astonishing how quickly the poults learn to feed and drink and to know where to go for this purpose. Thus they thrive and develop quickly and gain strength with which to fight off disease germs. This is the important part of handling the birds quite often. By the feel of the birds, the person in charge is often able to detect irregularities that might otherwise escape attention and end in the loss of one or more. Each time anything unusual is noticed the poult is separated from the others and hospitalized. If the bird should die, a postmortem examination is made to determine the cause of death and all information gained is noted carefully in a book kept for the purpose. Most of this work is done by Mrs. Catto. All unusual happenings are noted in the book and these are constantly referred to in order that disease among the birds can be kept at a minimum and treatment can be applied quickly to prevent spread.

The birds are kept in an upstairs loft for the first few days of their lives and a litter of pine chips is kept on the floor. As they progress frames with wire are placed around the floor, roosts are built in and the feeding appliances are changed from baby feeding to the more adult type. All of this is done very gradually so that the birds hardly notice the changes and thus there is no sudden change from one thing to another. All of this trains the birds for the time when they will go out into the outdoor porches and finally on the range. About 300 birds are kept in each of the various brooder rooms with a total of 2,700 birds. Each room is well lighted with window space and the windows can be opened when the time comes that this can be done. As the sun gets warmer, this method of heating or augmenting the artificial system is used. The poults gradually begin to wander further afield from the banks of infra red lamps and to take a greater interest in what is going on. Being handled so often and being used to someone being around them, they are quite tame.

As time goes on, the poults are taken downstairs to another set of rooms from where they are free to wander out on the outside wire enclosures or porches. These are set up some distance from the ground and the floor is made of wooden slats set with a certain space between each so that no droppings remain on the floor and they can easily be rinsed down with a hose. Feeding troughs are set up outside and can be cleaned and replenished from outside, yet easily reached by the birds for feeding. A water trough is placed inside and has an automatic valve which keeps it constantly supplied with fresh water. An attachment is on the outside which allows it to be emptied and refilled or cleaned. The porches are high enough from the ground to allow a tractor with a cleaning attachment to go underneath and remove the droppings to keep everything in sanitary condition.

Before anyone is allowed to enter the poultry house, they must first step into a pan containing a disinfectant. This helps to prevent disease being carried in to the birds from the outside. Flies are kept out as much as possible and it was quite noticeable that there were very few in the houses at any time.

The strain of birds that Mr. and Mrs. Catto are specializing in are: Ryor Strain and Nor-York Strain. They have twenty years of con-

BIG ATTRACTION COMING TO HUNTINGDON WEDNESDAY NIGHT, AUG. 15th

Through the co-operation of the Huntingdon Agricultural Society and The Merchants Softball Club, the people of Huntingdon will be treated to one of their most enjoyable evening's entertainments in years. For this evening they have planned a game of Donkey Softball which is played with each player sitting astride a Donkey, but as it happens, half the time the players are sitting on the ground. When a batter hits the ball he does not run in this game, he rides in style around the bases, aboard his trusty donkey. Sometimes the donkeys do not prove to be so trusty and the rider ends up on the ground or else the donkey does not know which way the bases are layed out so he goes out to see his friend in centre field. All in all there is more fun than ten barrels of monkeys — so don't miss your chance, get your ticket now, you'll never be sorry.

BAGS BABY FOXES

Fire at St. Agnes Tuesday Morning

Early Tuesday morning the vacant store owned by Mr. J. B. Ouimet, St. Agnes was burned to the ground.

At approximately 1 A.M. on Tuesday, August 7th, a car passed the store and everything seemed to be in order. At about 1.30 the same morning Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Normandeau, living next to the store, were awakened by a terrific heat, and upon investigating found the store to be ablaze from one end to the other. Help was summoned from the neighbours and the Fort Covington Fire Brigade arrived, but were unable to do anything but prevent the fire from spreading. As the store burned the walls fell outward and this caused a garage, also owned by Mr. J. B. Ouimet, to catch fire and it burned to the ground. The heat was so intense that the end of Mr. Normandeau's house started to smoke but was kept under control by the small amount of help available. If this house had taken fire, it is very probable that this end of the village would have been destroyed as there is no water supply near it.

The vacant store which was burned was built by Mr. J. B. Ouimet in 1950 on the site of the old McGibbon Store and was left vacant. There were no furnishing in the store and no one was injured but the buildings were a total loss. The amount of damage and the cause of the fire are as yet undetermined.

PROPOSED PARK FOR ORMSTOWN WAR MEMORIAL

In the above photo can be seen the Ormstown Community War Memorial Centre project. Work on this park was started in June, the site on Church Street was formerly known as the Old Swamp, and is hoped to be completed in the fall. The ground is being levelled and a stone wall built along the edge of the creek. The Ormstown Curling rink is being renovated and is to be used in the summer months as club rooms for this centre, where social gatherings or entertainments will be held. This will not only rid the village of Ormstown of an unsightly section of land in the centre of the town but will provide the town with a public park.

In 1945 a successful $25,000 campaign was held during which this three acres of land was secured. Since then, however, this organization has not been dormant. The ladies' auxiliary of this group work at the Ormstown Exhibition each year in order to meet the deficits and to finance operation of the skating rink for the past five years.

Top Price Paid at Burnside Annual Sale is $1,750

Imported Animals Did Not Realize As High Prices As Expected

The fourteenth Annual Burnside Sale of R. R. Ness & Sons, Howick, Que., was staged on August 4. This was a sort of three-way feature sale in that 13 of the animals were specially selected in, and imported from Scotland for this sale; 15 were in-calf Burnside-bred heifers, whilst the balance were the products of other Ontario and Quebec herds. The latter consignments being on an invitational basis, as has been a feature of this sale for a number of years.

Vital statistics in connection with the sale being:

IMPORTED ANIMALS

1 bull calf at $625.00.

1 cow and 4 in-calf heifers, $5,925. —an average of $1,185.00.

7 heifer calves, $4,305.—an average of $615.00.

General average — 13 imported animals, $835.00.

BURNSIDE ENTRIES

15 Burnside-bred in-calf heifers, $6,595.00, average of $439.

5 Burnside entries bred in other Ontario and Quebec herds—5 at $2,005.00, average of $401.00.

The imported animals did not sell at such high prices as might be expected, quality and bloodlines of same considered, however, all of them went at fairly substantial prices. The average for Burnside-bred animals was $439.00 on 15 head as against $457.00 last year for the same number. Other consigned animals, 13 of them, made an average of $467.00, a little higher than was the case last year.

All in all, however, it should be considered a most satisfactory sale, efficiently and ethically run, with Tom Whittaker, Brandon, Vt., as Auctioneer, assisted in the ring by Thomas Hays of Hays Farms Ltd., Oakville, Ont. As usual Douglas A. Ness was in the box, reading the pedigrees and in general supervision of the sale.

There were interested spectators and bidders from Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Ohio States but the animals sold to the United States all went to three other states — Maryland, New York and Massachusetts. Harold E. Nock, Snow Hill, Maryland, an extensive purchaser two years ago, purchased 4 head for a total of $3,875.00; V. M. Hawkins, Jr., Sharon, Mass., paid $1,050.00 for an imported heifer, whilst Mrs. Sarah E. Jones, North Amherst, Mass., a long time Burnside customer, took 3 head.

John Belott, Elanore, N.Y., took 9 head for a total of $4,385.00, the other New Yorker who got 2 head at $735.00 being Thomas Norman of Saranac Lake.

Quebec breeders purchased 17 head for a total of $9,235.00, the furthest away purchaser from that Province being Isidore Gauthier, Chicoutimi, Lac St. Jean district. He paid $650.00 for the only bull in the sale, the imported Boreland Pearl Diver.

The top priced animal of the sale, Croftfoot Treasure (imp.) went at $1,750.00 to J. W. McGillivray of Knowlton, Que. Largest Quebec purchaser was J. G. Wilson of Lacolle with 5 head at $2,315.00. His daughter, Miss J. Wilson, who recently established her own herd, purchased 2 head.

Two head went to the final bids of Alex. Lemon for his employer, Col. S. G. Oland of Bedford, N.S. Only one animal went to Eastern Ontario—to J. W. Vallance, Maxville, but six head went to Central Ontario—5 to Mrs. P. Huyck of Kingston, Ont., and 1 to Le Moines Point Farm, Kingston.

The only Western Ontario purchaser was Gerald M. Brawley, Myrtle Station, Ont., who paid $700.00 for the imported calf, Willoxton Olive 3rd.

In the list which follows the first names of the Burnside-bred animals have been abbreviated to "Bside."

Dewittville

DEWITTVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lewthwaite, Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ward of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ward, of Huntingdon, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCleary, of Montreal, were callers this week of Mrs. Kenneth Pearce.

Wishes for every happiness go to Miss Jetta Goodger-Hill, who became the bride, on Monday, of Mr. Jimmy Bickford. The lovely lawn of the Goodger-Hill home, in the shadow of the stately stone house once owned by the late Mr. Dewitt, after whom our village is named, and with the nearby rapids lending accompaniment to the strains of the bridal march, made the perfect setting for this wedding.

Mr. Bill O'Hara, Miss Arline MacIntosh and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. MacIntosh and Donna spent a Sunday recently motoring to Whiteface Mountain, N.Y. The peak of this mountain is 4,872 feet above sea level. Although the eight-mile climb is somewhat tedious and cars are forced to fill their water tanks frequently, the breath-taking view of Lake Placid and the surrounding terrain is unforgettable. It is a truly humbling experience to find one's self amidst such vastness of mountains, rock and valley.

Mr. and Mrs. William Graham visited recently at Belmont Beach, the guests of Captain and Mrs. D. W. Brown and family of South America.

Mr. Lennox Sweetman returned to his home last week after working in McColm's store for two years. Lennox will be missed by the friends he made here and by all the store's customers who appreciated the prompt and courteous way in which he served them.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson, of St. Lambert, recently returned from Lagoona Beach, California, visited on Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pearce.

We are shocked at the price of raspberries — fifty cents a quart! Strange how we realize how well we like them as soon as the price goes up.

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. Sigmund Humberg in the sudden loss of her husband. Mr. Humberg was working in the hay field when he was stricken with a heart attack and died soon after. Although far from his birthplace, Mr. Humberg had many friends here and in the United States, who will mourn his passing.

Miss J. Sweetman spent Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. McColm. Other callers that day were Misses Irene and Lois Sweetman, Mr. Peter Perideau, of Montreal, Mrs. R. MacGregor, Miss E. MacGregor and Miss G. Marshall of Ottawa.

Mr. D. S. McColm, accompanied by Mr. George Biggar, of Calgary, enjoyed a trip to Gaspé and New Brunswick recently. They visited friends and relatives at several places en route.

Mr. George Biggar, Calgary, visited recently with his aunt, Mrs. Thos. Goundrey, and other relatives. He left on Thursday to motor home.

Miss Irma Hyndman, of Montreal, was a guest on Friday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. McColm.

New Method Raising

tinous pedigree behind them and the Cattos purchased the eggs from the Ryor Range at Watertown, N.Y. These were hatched locally, but it is the intention to have their own incubators as time goes on, as this is really the only satisfactory way of getting the results. It is the intention of the breeders to raise their birds for breeding purposes and to sell them to interested parties in flocks. During this process they will cull the birds for best formations and degree of true strain characteristics. Those not measuring up to the standards required will be killed off and sold for meat. In this way also it will be possible to have birds of various sizes and weights to suit all people's requirements. This will be quite secondary to the original intention. Later this side may be greater developed and then a dressing station would be established in one of the numerous buildings at this farm.

Mr. Catto together with his wife came to Red Gables in September, 1950, and first started experimenting with a flock of Bronze broad breasted turkeys. These birds did so well under their care, that they decided to start right in in the spring with the birds they intend to breed. Their loss in the poults was less than six percent which is considered to be excellent when raising turkeys. They expect to do even better than this as time goes on.

The power brought into the farm for the electrical installation in the poultry houses is done so by means of a special aluminum wire cable, possibly the only one of its kind used in this district at least. It is something entirely new and was supplied by the Aluminum Company of Canada, to Mr. Catto as soon as they heard of his venture. The infra red lamps and fittings in this connection were all supplied by General Electric and the installation and various circuits were worked out by Mr. S. J. Currie. Mr. Catto was greatly pleased with the co-operation he received from Mr. Currie. It required long hours of patience and figuring before everything was satisfactory and Mr. Currie did everything possible to see that a good job was done. In the case of the General Electric fittings, this is something entirely new and Mr. Catto believes that he is the only one in the Province of Quebec at least, that has an installation of this kind in operation. Thus it is only natural that a large number of business firms as well as individuals and government men, are interested in the outcome of his venture. Already a number have visited the farm and Mr. Catto is always ready to conduct a tour and give information in a most courteous manner.

Most of the work done on the farm has been done by either Mr. Catto or his wife. Both are greatly interested in the work they are doing and both are high in their praise of the success they have attained so far. As the birds are placed out on the range, they will require less and less attention. For the first few days and the weeks following, the birds demand almost constant attention and they get it. The electrical installation, being in a more or less experimental stage has required some anxious moments, but so far has proved quite successful. Greater acquaintance will prove that less worry will be required and thus the early strain will be relieved. Accompanying photographs will explain the various methods to better advantage, so that a much better idea of this new method of raising turkeys will be gained.

Mr. Noel Catto has received an invitation to address the New York State Turkey Growers Association on the subject of Infra-Red Breeding of Turkey poults. The occasion is the annual summer meeting which is being held at Riverview Turkey Farm, Mannsville, N.Y., on August 18th.

Suffers Accident

While working on his car at his home, Wellington Street, over the week-end, Mr. Edward Lowden injured his hand badly. He was under the car when the bumper jack slipped and the car came down on his hand which was on a block of wood, thus he was pinned under the car. Mrs. Lowden and George summoned the neighbours who helped to release the injured hand. Dr. George Lefebvre was called and he took Mr. Lowden to the hospital where he put over 15 sitches in the wound. Mr. Lowden's thumb was very nearly amputated and it is not certain whether it can be saved or not.

Increasing Traffic

A small news item which will be found on another page of this issue, says that there are 50,000 more motor cars in the Province of Quebec for 1951 than in the previous year. It also states that since 1948 this rate of increase has been apparent, thus in three years 150,000 more motor cars have been added to the number previously registered.

This town has been bothered by increased traffic for a number of years now and a suitable solution has been sought after. One-way traffic on Chateauguay Street has seemed to find a partial solution to our traffic problem, but has created others. Putting traffic one-way on Chateauguay Street has created a burden on part of Prince Street which has increased the hazards on that street. It has also been a bone of contention to a number of the Business men on Chateauguay street, who complain that they lose business by this street being one-way.

From the contents of the above noted news item, it would seem that Huntingdon must be getting its share of the increased registration of motor vehicles and thus its traffic problem is aggrevated. There is no doubt that besides those motor cars which are of local registration, we must be getting some from other points either passing through or doing business here. They all tend to add to our problem here and thus it requires a forward looking outlook on the part of the aldermen of this town. They must not look at the matter from the point of view of the present, they must look at it with the future in mind. Our citizens must also look at it in this way. Too many times only the present has been kept in mind with the result that much has been done that has meant money wasted. This is particularly so in the case of sewers. Years ago these were put in to take care of the then present requirements, when it would have cost little more to have made them larger and thus saved the greater expense that came in after years.

It will be better then in this present traffic problem to study the matter very carefully and to provide what is required both now and with an eye to the future. It seems to us that unless Chateauguay Street can be widened, which would mean that the stores on the south side would all have to be removed, that there is little chance of successful operation of two-way traffic on that street. The next question would be, where would the stores that were removed be re-located and what would the owners of these stores think of having to locate elsewhere? One problem creates another. Circulation of traffic along Chateauguay Street under the present one-way system seems to be the best solution at the moment. The traffic lights already installed temporary and those in contemplation, seem to establish a measure of control not obtained before. Possibly some less expensive installation can be secured, but there definitely seems to be a need for some such, for in looking ahead, the indications are not for less traffic in Huntingdon, but an increase. With that increase more control is going to be a necessity, we may as well face that fact now, as in a few years to come when we have frittered away a few more thousand dollars on employing extra policemen to control the traffic.

The initial cost of traffic signals may be high at the outset, but spread over the years it will be very small in comparison to having policemen on point duty. Furthermore such signals are on duty 24 hours per day and every day of the year. The few minor objections to the signals that have been heard, are mostly all a matter of adjustments that could be made if the signals are to be permanent. The objection to the cost could probably be adjusted by seeking figures from other firms or for some less costly installation. The main thing is not to make the mistake of thinking only of the present, but to keep the future in mind as well.

Credit is Due

THE results of the examinations in the High Schools across the Province of Quebec according to those published for High School Leaving have caused much comment in the press this past week. There are those who believe that too many students have failed in their exams this year in comparison to former years. According to figures published, only 68.5% of the pupils writing complete examinations passed this year and it is considered the worst failure in ten years.

In checking up on the type of examination paper set for the Grade 10 and 11 exams, we are informed that these papers were no harder than usual. They did however, require that the student must have applied him or herself to the work of the grade throughout the entire year. If attention had not been paid, then the paper would be difficult.

We would like at this time to take a look at the results obtained in Huntingdon High School in Grade XI. While one school in Montreal with a reported 38 pupils is said to have had only 4 of them pass, our own school scored a one hundred percent pass, none of the pupils receiving less than sixty. It is here that we think that much credit is due Mr. J. B. MacMillan, Principal, who teaches the grade in most subjects, and also to his staff. Seven students took the Grade XI examinations and all seven passed, all of them are very close in the marks and while two made exceptionally good marks, all did very well for this Grade. Thus Huntingdon High School does not figure in the arguments that have been going on about failures. In fact it has a very good record and one for all to be proud of. It is therefore that we feel great credit is due Principal MacMillan for seeing that his students paid the attention needed to their work and that they had a thorough grasp of the subjects that were taught. It is a great credit to the school and to the pupils themselves and more especially so in view of the wide comment that has been made public.

In Reverse

SOME time ago Mr. Abbott, in a very wise speech, called on Canadians to work a little longer – say forty minutes a day more, in order to guarantee that this country could produce all the new materials required for the armed forces, and still enough consumer goods, so that the public could maintain their present standard of living.

Actually, since then more and more Canadians have gone on a forty-hour week. The average hours worked at May 1st, 1951, in manufacturing were 42.5, in place of 42.6 a year ago. Average hours in mining dropped from 43.5 to 43.3. In the building industries, average hours worked dropped from 40.1 to 39.7.

Wages for the shorter hours were considerably increased. In the manufacture of durable goods, such as motor cars, the average wage per hour was $1.228, compared with $1,106 a year ago. Weekly wages were up to $52.31 from $47.45.

This is the reverse of what Mr. Abbott was asking for. Quite clearly, if hours worked continue to fall, while wages rise, it is going to be extremely difficult to maintain the standard of living, not to speak of adding to this a large production of armament.

Certainly, not all the credit control in the world could prevent a condition of this kind resulting in more inflationary price rises.

It is most desirable that Canadians should constantly be able to work shorter hours, and get higher wages – provided this process does not mean a reduction in the standard of living, or an increase in inflationary pressure. At the moment, any tendency to shorter hours and higher wages is positively dangerous.

Prices up, Profit Same

THE present level of prices is deplored by consumers and producers alike. Indeed it must be admitted that for the producer the high cost of goods on store counters is a more serious matter than for the consumer, sadly penny-pinched though he is today.

Fact is the cost of raw materials causes inventories to need a vast amount more money than they did, say one year ago. This enforced increased investment falls hard on all firms. Current credit restrictions make it difficult to obtain the additional capital and the profit on every transaction remains exactly the same.

For the producer today it is no longer possible to make a nickle by spending one dollar. To earn that nickle nowadays takes two dollars and that extra buck is hard to find.

April 13

On Saturday, Messrs. Wm. and Alex. Johnston succeeded in getting their drive of 4,000 logs out of Mud Creek, and they are now strewn along the river down to Henderson's boom, which is their destination. These logs come from Burke, N.Y., the trees having been cut for the sake of the bark.

Mr. Wm. Fennell has sold his fine farm to Wm. Gamble, of Franklin for $8,800.

April 27

Mr. John Younie, Tullochgorum, Co. of Chateauguay, who has been for some time back getting into the Shorthorn breed, with the view of rearing steers that would suit for shipment, has just disposed of his first lot through Mr. McIntosh, the well known cattle buyer, who sold them to Mr. R. Nicolson, St. Ann's Market, Montreal. The lot consisted of 8 three year olds, average weight of 1,200 lbs. each. They were bought by him in this part of the Province. Mr. Younie is well satisfied with his experiment and believes the rearing of such steers pays better than the dairy with much less work. They got no extra feed beyond plenty of hay. His experience with the Shorthorns is that they are easily kept and fattened.

May 18

Last week a woman died in Burke, not far from the line, from Smallpox. Great care was taken to prevent the infection spreading and no new cases have been reported.

The contract for building the new Episcopal Church in this village was awarded on Monday to Charles Levers of Athelstan for the sum of $5,350, the work to be completed next month.

Dogs belonging to Wm. Hadley, Thomas Chisolm, and Jos. Elliott killed five sheep belonging to Wm. Boyd of Westville, N.Y. for which the owners of the dogs had to pay $60. Rather dear feeding for dogs.

June 22

Mr. John Carr sails from Quebec on Saturday for Scotland, with the view of purchasing a Clyde horse. He will be accompanied by Mr. David Steel of South Georgetown who has a commission to buy horses.

June 29

Mr. Angus McNaughton, of the firm of McNaughton Bros., returned yesterday from a 6 week's visit to Manitoba. He was highly pleased with the country which he considers affords advantage super of those of the other Provinces and the young, especially, will find openings and a chance of rising there which they will not here. The prosperity of Winnipeg is past belief, there being from 700 to 1000 buildings in course of erection, many of them large, costly blocks. The rush of immigrants and amount of business done needs to be seen to be comprehended. Mr. McNaughton met a number from this District who, without exception, were doing well.

July 27

A letter from John Carr dated Glasgow, Scotland, July 13, 1882, informs us that he has bought two horses, one is a Clyde, aged 3 years and the other an English cart horse, aged 2. The Clyde is named Glenlyon and was bred by Peter M'Kissock, Glaik, Leswalt, Strainear, and has taken first prizes at Ayre and Maryhill. Mr. Carr may be expected home shortly, and we hope he will land his horses for which he paid high prices, safely. Mr. Robert Ness of Howick is now in Scotland in search of another Clyde, he having found purchasers for those he bought last year.

August 4

The weather for the past 10 days has been in a high degree favourable and haying is drawing near completion for many farmers, and should the weather hold good, will finish this week. A large crop or one of finer quality has never been cut.

Messrs. Bryson and McCormick are endeavouring to introduce the Hayloader into this district and have distributed a few on trial. Mr. Daniel McFarlane of Elgin who is using one, finds it to be a great saver of labor, the chief objection being that it piles the hay on the wagon irregularly, making it more difficult to separate into forkfuls in unloading. The principal of the apparatus is that of an endless belt attached to the rear of the wagon, and operated by its motion. The heat has advanced and the corn is progressing and other crops are looking well.

August 24

Several parties in Dundee have received notice from the Indian Department that their lands will be required for another purpose, and must be given up by the 31st of December next. These are parts of the land of which the leases have expired.

The water was let off the dam and the river opposite the village became what it was like 50 years ago—a series of shallow rapids. The repairs on the dam are extensive and will take some time to finish.

September 7

The Academy re-opened on Monday morning under the charge of the new Principal, M. Graham, who is not only a good scholar but has experience as a good teacher. He is a graduate of McGill and comes to Huntingdon from Lacolle Academy of which he has had charge for the past two years and given every satisfaction, the Board parting with him with reluctance. That he will maintain the high reputation of our county institution we have no doubt. The prospect of a large attendance is bright, the number in attendance at the opening being highly encouraging.

October 5

On Thursday morning last a comet flashed suddenly into sight appearing before daybreak in the east. It then had the appearance of a long, narrow bar of bluish purple light, but since broadened and now resembles a horse-tail in shape. The nucleus is well illumined but not brilliant. It is a most striking object and is seen to the best advantage before 5 o'clock in the morning.

The Week At Ottawa...

OTTAWA, (CP)—It has finally been made official and Canada has less than six weeks to complete preparations for its most important international gathering in years. Officials speeded up plans following the official announcement that the couucil of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will meet in Ottawa starting Sept. 15.

The council, consisting of cabinet ministers of the 12 Atlantic Pact nations including Canada, at its meeting here and another later in Rome is expected to make vital decisions on strengthening the forces of the pact nations, and to consider including forces of Greece, Turkey and perhaps West Germany.

The Canadian external affairs department said the meeting "will serve to emphasize the determination of all North Atlantic Treaty countries to maintain the momentum already created, in order that the strength of the North Atlantic area may shortly reach the point where it can hold at bay the forces of any potential aggressor."

Busy Week

During the week the political, military, vice-regal and other comings and goings were thick and fast.

Prime Minister St. Laurent returned from his holiday at his summer place at St. Patrick, Que., and promptly flew out again on a swing around the Prairie provinces to attend a number of Ukrainian-Canadian celebrations.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the U.S. Joint chiefs of staff, flew into town for high-policy military talks and some fishing. He told reporters that Spain could be made an asset to western military strength, that the U.S. Air Force is studying problems of building up staging areas for getting warplanes to Europe, that the U.S. chiefs don't think Russia has changed her "original intention of causing trouble." Later in the week he flew back to Washington.

The Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, and External Affairs Minister Pearson came back together from several weeks in Britain and Europe. Viscount Alexander promptly left again on a month-long train trip west. It will take him to Lethbridge, Vancouver and Victoria and a fishing trip on the British Columbia coast aboard the yacht of Clarence Wallace, Lieutenant-Governor of B.C.

Busy Defence Minister Claxton went to Washington for an arms conference concerned mainly with the rift between Britain and the U.S. over a common rifle. Before he left he made it known that Canada will defer further aims shipments to Europe until the rifle situation is clarified and she can chart her future course. Any decision by Canada to embark on production of a new rifle could take two to five years to fulfill.

Prime Minister St. Laurent was tanned and smiling but exceedingly reticent as he stepped off the train from St. Patrick. He talked about golf, the weather and kindred matters but parried questions about a federal by-election, the October visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, or a possible cabinet shuffle.

Seaway Prospects

Reports tried to pin the Prime Minister down on what Canada was going to do about the St. Lawrence seaway. But he said they would have to do their own speculating for a while until he finds out "what's been going on."

The cabinet meanwhile was reported to have set up a select committee from within its own membership to consider the seaway and hydro project and recommend what Canada should do about it. But if any hard decision had been reached at the week's end, no one was disclosing it.

Even while the cabinet was considering the matter, it was reported the cost of the project will go up another $35,000,000 if Canada decides to go ahead alone now that the U.S. again has shelved joint action. Government experts estimated this increased cost—necessary for an all-Canadian waterway on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence—would send the over-all cost of the development to the neighborhood of $740,000,000. Such an expenditure would be spread out over the five or six years it would take to complete it.

Build Butter Stocks

The cabinet did make a decision about butter. It was reported to have given the government's dairy products board power to purchase butter from foreign countries. And it was learned that negotiations are under way to purchase 10,000,000 pounds or more from New Zealand.

The cabinet is said to have agreed that the board, under Agriculture Minister Gardiner, should become the sole importer of butter, providing it can show an ability to buy sufficient to meet an anticipated shortage next winter.

By placing import of butter in the hands of a government agency, it was hoped to remove the possibility of widespread price speculation during seasonal production declines.

The national dairy council of Canada sent a letter to Mr. Gardiner urging that imports be made soon to avert the possibility of a shortage next winter. The letter said creamery butter stocks now are below those of a year ago.

The Bureau of Statistics issued its monthly cost of living index, and the news was the same as Canadians have been hearing all along. The index was up again—this time 3.5 points to a new high of 187.6. The bureau said that staple foodstuffs, mainly meat, eggs and vegetables, were primarily responsible for the June jump. It thought that food prices generally, however—except for meat—were going through their usual seasonal fluctuation.

ROUND BYRE AND RING

By Frank Napier

Busman's Holiday

L. E. ("Lorne") Franklin, well known auctioneer took a sort of "Busman's" Holiday, in that he attended the Burnside sale of August 4, on which day he and Mrs. Franklin were celebrating their 40th wedding anniversary. However, whilst the celebrating couple spent most of that day at Burnside and at the Huntingdon Chateau, Lorne was also scouting for top Holsteins for his October "All Canadian" Holstein sale. We understand that amongst his prospects is a top female from the herd of J. J. Murphy of Huntingdon.

Gets Top Sire

In addition to his purchases at the Burnside Sale of last Saturday Harold E. Nock of Snow Hill, Maryland, U.S.A., also privately purchased from R. R. Ness & Sons the bull, Burnside Aristocrat. The price was not disclosed but judging by the animal concerned it must have been a very substantial one indeed. Burnside Aristocrat, born August 1947, was reserve junior champion at the 1948 Royal Winter Fair, has won several other leading awards since then. His sire is the well-known Burnside Future Hope (approved in both Canada and U.S.A.) His dam is the equally well-known show ring winner and good producer, Carnell Tulip 12th (imp.).

Jersey Progress

We are in receipt of the following from D. M. Rowat, Glenness Farm, Dewittville and Secretary of the district Jersey Cattle Club:

About twenty years ago, when W. T. McEwen was invited by a Montreal Milk Distributor to buy a herd of Jerseys, he had to go to the Eastern Townships for that purpose. Mr. Wheeler went with him. They bought some good cows.

The Jerseys have made a considerable headway in this district since then. It is estimated that the Jerseys have made comparatively more headway in the District of Beauharnois during the past ten years than in any other part of Canada.

The Holsteins and Ayrshires, for fifty years, had put the Huntingdon-Howick district on the map. The Jerseys now are here beginning to make their presence felt.

Last week, Mr. George Mayrand, on behalf of the Department of Agriculture, Quebec, visited Glenness Farms, and bought on behalf of a Boys' Club in Abitibi, a bull calf, six months old.

The lineage on this calf is somewhat interesting. His blood is made up, to the extent of 3.125%, of a cow imported from Richmond, Quebec, which won the first prize at the Huntingdon Fair, 1938, as the best milk-cow, any breed — 3.125%.

The other 96.875 is a mixture of the blood of five Glenness bulls, all with outstanding background and successful progeny.

1—John of Glenness, four daughters only, all good type and qualified — 3.125%.

2—Brampton Radiant Lord, bought as a calf from B. H. Bull & Son for $400.00, grandson of Lord of the Isle and Favorite Volunteer — 6.25%.

3—Glenness Richard. His grand sire was Dreaming Flyer, half brother of Edgeley Dreaming Countess, she was Grand Champion in Canada and U.S.A. — 12.5%.

4—Seigfried Remus Tribune, bought from High Lawn Farm, Massachusetts, as a calf for $400.00. His ancestry tops for production — 25%.

6—Total score 100.00%.

Red and White Shows

Francois Boulais, Secretary, Quebec Ayrshire Society, reports that 10 "Red and White" Ayrshire Shows will be staged in various parts of Quebec this year. These "R. and W." shows being as follows: Roberval, August 3; Victoriaville, August 10-11; Montmagny, August 16; Ayers Cliff, August 23; Ste. Victoire, August 24; Bedford, August 24-25; Rimouski, August 25; St. Jean, September 1; Ste. Julienne, September 18; Shawville, September 21.

All 10 Shows will be staged by the Ayrshire Clubs in the districts concerned. It will be noted that the Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Club does not figure in that list. Special grants are made to each Club by the Quebec Ayrshire Society, from the grant to same by Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association. The balance of the prize money is furnished by the local Club concerned; the local Fair Association. It surely is that the Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Club could stage a "Red and White" Show at the time of Huntingdon Fair?

Cherry Bank Judging:

It is noted that Doneddy Royal in the "Red and White" Show series is P. D. McArthur of Cherry Bank Farms, Howick, Que. He will judge at St. Jean on September 1.

About Guernseys:

A copy of the July, 1951 issue of the Canadian Guernsey Breeders' Journal, official organ of Canadian Guernsey Breeders' Association (with headquarters at Guelph, Ont.) has just come to hand. The Editor D.V.S., who is also secretary of the association.

Guernseys do not figure to any great extent, if any, in this district. However, that breed is forging ahead in other parts, particularly in the Toronto district of Ontario.

A Canadian Record

It is noted that one of the judges Bridget, a Guernsey cow owned by Jack Fraser, Fraserdale Farms, Concord, Ont., has broken all Guernsey records for her class in Canada. Milked three times daily for 305 days she produced 800 lbs. butterfat to top the former record by 33 pounds. The previous record having been held for 26 years by her great grand-dam.

Top Guernsey Sale

The third annual Macdonald Farms' Guernsey sale, held at Courtland, N.Y., brought $120,050. for 46 head, representing an overall average of $2,610. The top selling animal was the 2 year old, in calf, heifer, at $13,500. The only Canadian purchaser was Jack Fraser, Fraserdale Farms, Concord, Ont. He paid $5,000 for the cow Sherlie of Marjaheim. That cow is therefore the highest priced Guernsey female brought to Canada in several years.

More Suffer From Alcoholism Than T B., Polio Combined

More people suffer from diseases that can be listed as chronic alcoholism than from tuberculosis and poliomyelitis combined, according to Gordon Bell, M.D., writing in the current issue of HEALTH, magazine of the Health League of Canada. Furthermore the vast majority of these conditions should be preventable.

"Most of the secondary disorders follow addiction, and secondary addiction particularly is one that usually has a considerable exposure to alcohol before even addiction develops", writes Dr. Bell. "In other words, we have a period for education and for prevention".

Dr. Bell points out that a person does not have to be psychologically abnormal to become an alcohol addict. He concurs in the opinion that secondary addiction could theoretically be acquired by anyone.

"Alcohol itself produces the changes, and factors from within the person or within his environment determine whether enough alcohol will be taken to produce these changes in any particular individual".

Conditions encountered in business promotion work, in military service and in some of the wealthier social classes may contribute to the development of alcohol addiction. Secondly addiction may also result from the use of alcohol to counteract some of the stresses and strains of adult life, he points out.

"The secondary addict that is very commonly encountered in all walks of business and professional life may use alcohol for many years before he becomes an alcohol addict", writes Dr. Bell. "Primary addicts, on the other hand, use alcohol to excess as their only means of adjusting to life from their earliest exposure to alcohol. They make no other effort to deal with their environment than to maintain a partial state of anaesthesia with alcohol".

Dr. Bell, who is medical director of the Shadow Brook Health Foundation and chairman of the section on alcoholism of the Health League of Canada, goes on to explain the four phases of secondary addiction.

First is the crucial phase, or the beginning of addiction, when a person finds that he becomes intoxicated each time that he starts to drink even though it may only be for one evening. This is the beginning of loss of control. This stage is followed by a variable period that may extend for years and which is chiefly characterized by rationalization and resentment. During this phase the patient resists the idea that he is drinking too much and if he presents himself for treatment it will be due to the influence of his family, physician, employer or friends.

The third phase in secondary addiction is the phase of anxiety. The patient now has become worried about his own condition, worried about his blackouts, worried about going insane, and concerned about his supply of alcohol. This usually is responsible for the patient himself asking for help. If help is not obtained he will rapidly progress to the fourth stage, in which his drinking bouts become closer and closer together and are of longer duration.

In this fourth phase there is drastic interference with the appetite and he is completely incapable of carrying on his work or domestic responsibilities. Providing the prolonged toxic effect of alcohol has not resulted in mental deterioration, such a patient is still a good candidate for treatment and rehabilitation. However, if in the fourth phase he cannot be helped, he will rapidly progress to premature death, insanity, or suicide.

School of Commerce Has Beautiful Setting in Adirondacks Near Malone

Situation Lends Much to Helpfulness to Students Taking Courses

Dr. J. C. Van Houten, back in the early 1920's, accompanied a friend on a drive from the New York City area to Malone. So taken with the Adirondacks, he remarked to his friend that some day he would live in this delightful area. His words came true, for in 1923 he founded the Adirondack School of Commerce in Malone. This private commercial school has established an enviable reputation for the turning out of graduates with a really superior commercial school training.

Over this period of years the school was located in Malone proper, but now the school is located on a delightful site known as the Frank Hannam property near Whippleville and but four miles or so south of Malone on the road to Mountain View.

Here the school stands in its own property and with its campus, is an attractive spot. We would judge that approximately three acres of the grounds are kept in trim order, being well landscaped with spruce, blue spruce, pines and several other varieties of evergreen trees. Entering the property is a lovely lawn surrounded by a well trimmed cedar hedge.

The real fine feature of the Adirondack School of Commerce is that Dr. Van Houten has always been able to turn out graduates in a shorter time than is the usual expectation of such schools of learning. He is quite convinced that in this new location a still further reduction in time to be spent by students will be possible, and that actually they will graduate with a still higher degree of accomplishment in the way of business training.

Some 3,000 young people have at one time or another attended the Adirondack School of Commerce. Not only have those who attended this school received benefit but those who may have given the graduates employment, or they themselves who have entered into business for themselves.

About the School Property

The location of the Adirondack School of Commerce is unique in that it is located but a few miles out of Malone and when at the school one gets a grip and love for the great out-of-doors in the foothills of the Adirondacks. The scholars will not only get a real good commercial school training, undisturbed by counter attractions or noises, but will have inculcated within them a love for nature and its beauty unfolded in an abundance. It being so located will not be found detrimental to those in attendance for close at hand will be found the ski jump and ideal skiing hills for winter sport. The fast flowing Salmon River flows past the front of the property and this little river is considered one of the best brook trout fishing streams of the State.

As the scholars who attend this Commercial School come from many places, Dr. Van Houten has built a guest house, known as "Alumni Lodge." "Alumni Lodge" is a delightful place for parents of boys or girls who may be attending the school. The parents may stay at this Lodge which has a southern exposure and its living-room has two picture windows looking out upon the Adirondacks. If Pop wishes to do a bit of hunting or fishing when visiting his son or daughter, he and Mother couldn't look for better accommodation. This Lodge provides sleeping accommodation for eight people. At one end of the Lodge is a kitchenette and dining table where snacks or a breakfast can be prepared. "Alumni Lodge" is modern in every respect in that it has an electric hot water heating system, electric stove, electric refrigerator, and the building itself is built along solar heating lines augmented with electric heating units and a fireplace built in the living room. The interior finish of the Lodge is of pine, and the sweet scent of same makes one realize you are most certainly living in the mountainous land of peace and tranquility.

Pierce Hall, the main class room building has accommodation for the teaching of upwards of 60 students at a time. The walls of the building have been insulated and so illuminated that eye strain has been reduced to a minimum and that is an accomplishment seldom observed in Commercial Schools that are usually located in some congested building on an upper floor. Pierce Hall is also heated through the use of electricity and its ventilation is automatically and mechanically controlled. In addition to the various offices within the building, Dr. Van Houten has other offices in Wheeler Hall which is the Administration Building.

The fourth building on the property is a combined garage, tool shed, etc., and accommodation for four saddle horses. Dr. Van Houten has not yet purchased the four horses he intends to have for the benefit of the students, but in due time they will be acquired.

It would be remiss on our part if we failed to mention that upon arriving at the main entrance one will always be greeted by "Mr. Chipps of Manitou the 3rd." This Mr. Chipps will be found to be none other than a 190 pound St. Bernard dog. He has an alarming bark, and if ever an intruder appeared about the property during the night the alarm would most certainly be heard. Mr. Chipps has the run of the campus at nights and has never been known to go beyond the fenced-in property. Never yet has he had to face up with any unwanted stranger, but he has given alarms that a fox or two had been paying unwanted calls.

"Old Glory" flies from a flag pole centered on the campus. Upon this flag pole will be seen 10 flood lights, beaming in all directions. Flood lights are mounted on all buildings and the switch for such illumination can be had from four different points. The beauty of the campus of the Adirondack School of Commerce is thereby made as inviting by night as by day.

There are many other fine features about this school property we might write about, but those who are contemplating taking a commercial course would do well to make it their business to call and view everything in general. When you have occasion to visit the offices in the Administration Building keep your observing eyes open, for here also is the home of Dr. Van Houten. The Doctor is very fond of paintings, he likes things that are up to date in every detail. Everything is electrified that it is possible to have. Mrs. Walker, who has been with the Adirondack School of Commerce for the past ten years has seen to it that the feminine touch to both home and school has been dealt with in good taste. The games room in the Administration Building is uniquely attractive, and no doubt will be used by many of the students and visiting parents, especially on days when inclement weather prevails.

As "Old Glory" flies high on the Campus of Adirondack School of Commerce, we feel quite confident in saying we quite well believe the graduates from such a school of learning will also rank high in the realm of commerce and prosperity

Tom Gard's Note Book

August — the month of picnics! Each weekend we try to have something special planned for the whole family — an overnight, if we are at the cottage and weather will permit, or a trip to some picnic area if we are home. Such excursions should be enjoyed by all young Canadians with such excellent beauty spots so close at hand.

It becomes the duty of every adult to learn and to teach safety measures with camp fires if this heritage is to be protected. Each year careless people cause serious losses through forest fires. At this time of year, when our forests are often tinder dry, cooking fires or camp fires should be built on solid rock or right out in the open on packed earth. Embers have been known to smoulder for days and travel many feet underground before they break to the surface if the earth is laden with decaying roots and bits of wood. If a large flat rock is not handy, the Gards use rolls of sod to form the sides of the fireplace and carry the weight of the cooking utensils.

Silhouettes

My teen-aged daughter is painting interesting silhouettes on glass and framing them with cardboard and black binding tape. She does a good job of it, too.

Son Jimmy, not to be outdone by his sister, brought home a set of "tin-can" jardinieres he had made during the craft period at his boys' camp. They were painted and ready for immediate use in his mother's "window" garden.

Foot Rest

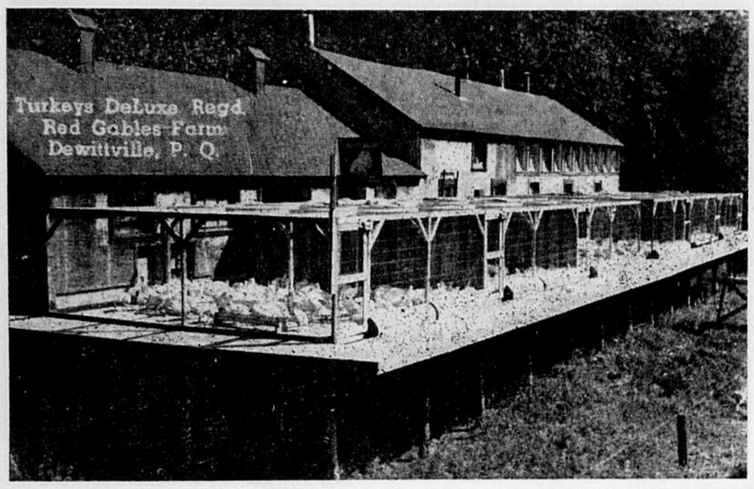

When I sit down to relax and put my feet up this winter, it will be with the aid of a new hassock made from a butter box. Just the finishing touches remain. The top has been carefully padded and covered with bright durable plastic. (All that remains to be done is complete the pattern being made with decorative tacks.)

ONE OF A SERIES PRESENTED BY

Molson's

AS A PUBLIC SERVICE

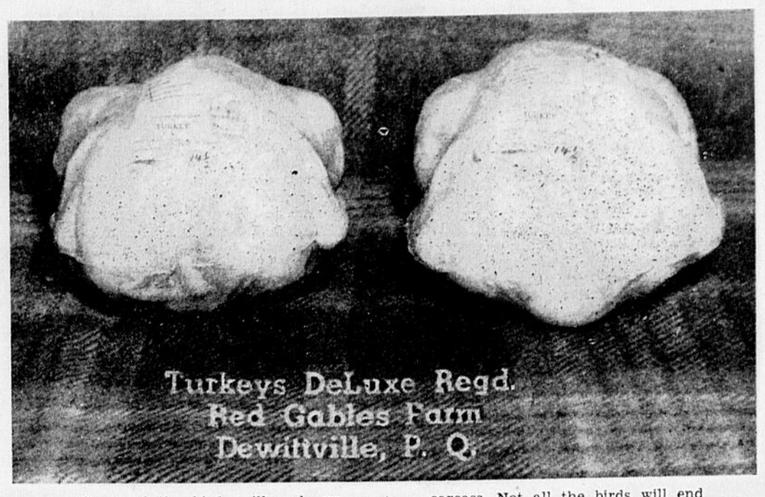

Turkeys De Luxe Reg'd, Red Gables Farm

The turkey poults are growing here and have been turned out into the porches where they will quickly develop into full grown birds. The feed troughs may be seen in front of each pen. The floor is made of wooden slats and spaced about 2 inches apart. This keeps the pens clean and the droppings are picked up underneath each day so that there is perfect sanitation.

Here is a close-up view of the birds in the inside of the house. The door leading to the porch is noticed in the rear. Banks of infra red lamps can be seen overhead and these are still used as the temperature drops below a certain required degree. Plenty of feed and water is always on hand and pine litter is used on the floor. It will be noticed how the birds have developed from the first photographs in this series.

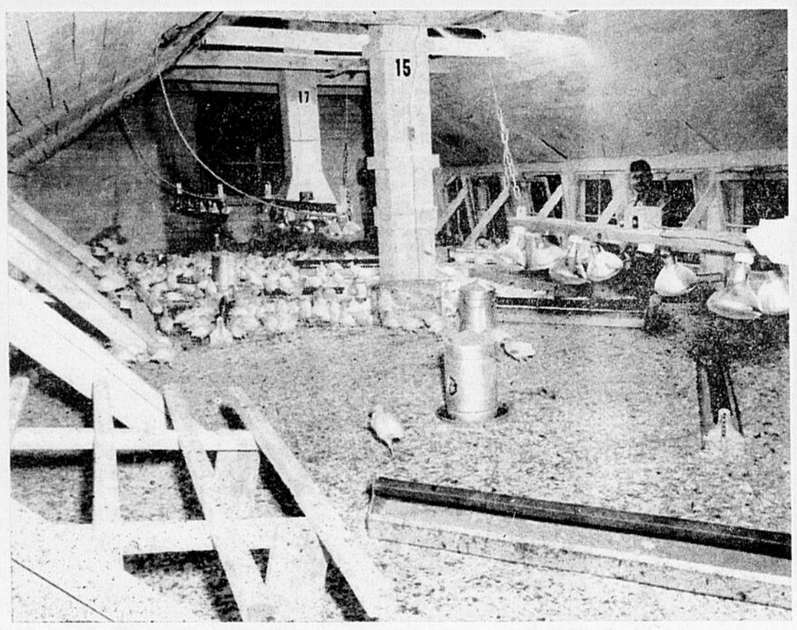

Some of the birds will end up looking like this and someone will be smacking their lips after a feed of roast turkey. It will be seen that these are fine specimens and quite large, with plenty of meat on the carcass. Not all the birds will end their days in this manner, however. The best birds will be used for flocks and breeding purposes. Only those which do not grade 100% for strain will be killed off for meat.

Raising Turkeys The Infra-Red Way

Shown above are Mr. Alex. Tessier and Mrs. Noel Catto at Red Gables Farm, on Highway No. 4 near Dewittville, receiving a shipment of turkey poults from the hatchery. Each poult is branded for identification purposes as soon as received. The poults were hatched from eggs supplied to the hatchery.

Here is the loft in which the poults are placed after the first few days of care and as they obtain more strength and ability to look after themselves. The banks of infra red lamps will be noticed suspended from the ceiling, the poults gather under these for warmth. Scattered around are the drinking fountains and feed troughs. The bar on the troughs is of a swivel type, this avoids the poults roosting on the trough as it immediately swings and throws them off balance. The roost will be noticed on the left. On the bank of lights in the foreground, the thermostat control will be noticed on top. Mr. Noel Catto, owner, can be seen just behind this bank of lights. In front of the post with No. 15 can be seen the small cage in which sick birds are hospitalized and kept apart from the others. Most of these poults have been pecked at and having nothing of a contagious nature.

Above, Mrs. Catto shows the method used to introduce the poults to drink and to eat. The heads are dipped into the water and into the feed. In an incredibly short time the poults are eating and drinking in natural manner. During the first few days they are kept in an enclosure as shown and sacks spread on the floor. Handling the birds make them very tame.

Artificial Turkey Breeding Experiment That Works

Fertility Estimated to Be Around 90 Percent

From an article in The Recorder-Times, Brockville.

An energetic farm couple at Addison, 16 miles northwest of Brockville, have found that their latest venture has resulted in them becoming celebrities of an unusual sort. Hard-working Ivan Mullen and his wife, Anna, are believed to operate the only turkey hatchery in Ontario featuring artificial insemination.

Mr. Mullen discovered this novel industry by chance. One evening while browsing through an American farm journal, he came across an article on the artificial insemination of turkeys. A turkey farmer for eight years, Mr. Mullen found the article more than just interesting reading.

Detailed information was not available. The Ontario Agriculture College assisted to the best of its ability but the information was not extensive. Artificial insemination of turkeys is new, and information was scarce.

Ivan and his wife went to Ottawa and were taught the technique at the Experimental Farm. Officials at the Farm told of what they knew then implied "the rest is up to you."

Today they are proud of their success of the operation. He currently informs the Experimental Farm on the additional knowledge gained through months of work in this hitherto "dark" subject.

"In this manner I can help others avoid some of the mistakes I made in the early stages," he said.

Mr. Mullen reports that fertility by artificial insemination is around 90 percent, although he has not kept an actual count. He said that the new method of breeding means that five males can provide service to 250 hens while in the normal breeding manner, 25 turkeys would be required for 250 hens. Damage to the birds is eliminated in the artificial insemination process. This means more money per hen.

Although Mr. Mullen has 1,050 turkeys on his farm he has at present 12 males for the purpose of breeding. Each has a band around its neck with a number. This avoids any confusion when a tom is needed for breeding purposes, as the bird can only be used once a day.

Started This Year

Mr. Mullen started this new industry in January, 1951. He has overcome many of the "ups and downs" and finds the business gratifying and interesting. The proud possessor of quality-bred turkeys, he is considering the idea of marketing broiler turkeys. They would weigh between six and eight pounds and would be killed after three months.

Although there is no market at the present time for turkey broilers, he believes it would not be difficult to enlighten the public. At present the chicken industry is engaged in an all-out campaign to inform the public on the qualities of broilers.

Experiment

On the top floor of a new cement block barn, Mr. Mullen showed the method of artificial insemination. On an "operating table" he designed himself, the tom was placed by Mr. Mullen and the semen extracted. Assisting in the operation was Mrs. Mullen, who has come to know the pecularities of both the male and female turkeys.

As her husband stated "they are temperamental, but we have had great success."

The "operating table" is equipped so that most of the tom's body is covered. The semen is placed in a small glass container, and then released into a syringe. While the tom turkey is placed on the table, the hen can be held between one's legs while the other party inserts the semen.

Six hens were bred from the semen extracted from the tom used for the demonstration. Had the operation been performed in the normal manner, only one hen would have been bred.

Although it has been stated that the semen should be diluted, Mr. Mullen at present uses the full strength. The OAC and the Experimental Farm do not know as yet what should be used to dilute it.

The main feature of artificial insemination is that fewer toms can do the same work, and that damage to hens is eliminated. The semen can be spread around to more hens in this manner, and every turkey farmer can be sure that his stock has been bred.

Mr. Mullen intends to carry on with both natural and artificial methods for another year. Likely he will drop the natural method if the industry is as successful as at present.

Synthesis of Cortisone Discovered By Merck & Co.

Scientists of Valleyfield Firm Find Substances Abundant in Nature

MONTREAL, August 6 (Special) — The synthesis of cortisone from a steroid chemical obtainable from four substances abundant in nature is reported by scientists of Merck and Co., Inc., in an article published in the August issue of the Journal of the American Chemical Society.

The substances are ergosterol, a product of yeast metabolism; diosgenin, extracted from a Mexican yam; stigmasterol, from soy beans; and cholesterol, from the spinal columns of cattle and from wool fat.

The scientists reporting the synthesis are Dr. John M. Chemerda, group leader, Dr. E. M. Chamberlain, Dr. E. H. Wilson and Dr. Max Tishler, Associate Director of Research and Development at Merck.

The journal report deals with the final steps of the synthesis, involving the transformation into cortisone of the chemical compound 3-acetoxy-11, 20-diketo-allopregnane. Laboratory synthesis of the latter compound from ergosterol, diosgenin, stigmasterol and cholesterol was announced by Merck scientists May 11.

In an explanatory statement released simultaneously with publication of the journal article, Merck and Co., Limited, announced that with the synthesis of cortisone from more abundant raw materials, "the availability of larger quantities of cortisone for the future is assured."

"However," the statement continued, "the recent achievement of converting such steroids to cortisone does not mean that cortisone supplies will quickly become plentiful, nor does it mean that the chemists work is done.

"Before large-scale production from new raw materials can begin, the process has to be improved, the supply of these steroids has to be assured, and additional facilities must be built.

"Cortone, the Merck brand of cortisone, will continue to be manufactured from the currently used raw materials until production from the new materials has been sufficiently developed to supply the full demand. At all times Merck will strive for the greatest possible production from all source materials.

"The production of cortisone by Merck is continuing at an increasing rate, with improvements in manufacturing efficiency being made constantly.

Cortisone for Canadian use is produced at Valleyfield, Que., where Merck and Co. Limited is presently increasing the capacity of its plant.

This Week In Quebec

QUEBEC, (CP)—First piece of business to be dealt with when the Quebec Legislature meets Nov. 7 will be a bill to provide pensions for Quebec citizens aged 65 to 69.

Premier Duplessis announced the session date at his last press conference. He had indicated earlier that pensions legislation would come before the two houses of the Provincial parliament.

Quebec's pensions law will supplement legislation already enacted by the Federal parliament.

This provides that the Federal government will bear the full cost of $40 monthly pensions, without means test, for persons aged 70 and more.

The Federal and Quebec governments will share equally the cost of $40 monthly pensions for persons aged 65 to 69 with a means test.

The session starting Nov. 7 will be the fourth of the 23rd Legislature and probably the last before general elections expected in 1952.

The late-autumn start of the session follows a 1950 pattern when the Legislature met in November to pass bills for the assistance of the fire-swept towns of Rimouski and Cabano.

Quebec's known mineral reserves were increased recently by discovery of iron, copper and gold deposits in the areas of Ungava and Chibougamau.

Premier Duplessis announced the discoveries during his press conference he revealed the new iron ore deposits will be developed at an estimated cost of $80,000,000 by the Quebec Labrador development company.

The discovery was made 170 miles northwest of the vast iron ore deposits blocked out in Ungava by the Hollinger North Shore Exploration Company.

In Chibougamau, Premier Duplessis said, 1,000,000 tons of copper and gold ore have been located by Campbell Chibougamau Mines Limited on Merrill Island, in Dore Lake.

Expenditures of "several million dollars" is planned by the company which has informed the Quebec mines department it plans to sink mine shafts to work the finds.

Barvue Mines Limited, which has rights to a recent zinc discovery in Barraute township in northwestern Quebec, has signed a contract for electric power supplies from Quebec hydro-electricity commission, said the Premier giving no details.

A two-man commission has been appointed to einquire into collapse of the $3,000,000 Duplessis Bridge at Three Rivers, Jan. 31.

Premier Duplessis announced appointment of two Montrealers. They are magistrate René Lippe who will be chairman, and J. Lucien Dansereau former chief Engineer in Montreal for the Federal works department.

The Premier said an order-in-council setting up the commission instructs the commissioners to proceed without delay and to report their findings to the lieutenant-governor in council within two months after the start of the inquiry.

Additional time may be granted if recommended by the commissioners.

Commission secretary will be Robert G. Clark, Three Rivers newspaper man.

Toronto Couples Build Own Homes

TORONTO (CP) — At least three Toronto couples are solving the housing shortage their own way. They're building their own homes.

In a survey recently a local newspaper found Mr. and Mrs. John Dennis working nights and weekends — and hoping soon to get into their new six-roomed house in North York.

Roman Sedzicki and Helen Muchowski plan to get married just as soon as the roof goes on their house in suburban Scarboro. At the moment they're at the mixing mortar stage.

Brighter Colors For Teen-Agers

LONDON — In any gathering in Britain this festival year, there has been a noticeable difference in the choice of colors worn by the mature fashionable woman as compared with those worn by the younger set.

Scarlet, gold, green and bright blue, with a variety of clear pastel colors have distinguished the clothes of children and teen-agers from the greys, soft greens, lilac and navy of their older sisters.

The clear and bright colors suit young people, but it is not often realized that such a choice as they now have did not exist in Britain until the British Color Council began its service of colors for children's wear in 1944, nor was there machinery in existence which would ensure co-ordination of color.

Today color charts for children's wear go to leading suppliers throughout Britain. "Color for Children 1952" were sent to members in March to leave plenty of time for dyers, manufacturers, designers, makers up, wholesalers and retailers to incorporate the colors in their 1952 ranges.

Colors on wool show a trend for darker hues than for some years. For teen-agers, the ranges include several colors that have proved good sellers in the women's wear ranges—Albany blue, peony red, Firth blue, and Manchu brown come in this category.

The knitwear range shows three of the now popular baby colors, rose, green and primrose with useful mixtures, junior grey, oatmeal and senior grey, with bright colors, and some dark tones, holly green, nigger brown and ink blue which are found particularly useful in color blending. Both pastel and lighter colors are included in the ranges for silk and rayon and cotton.

WILL CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Photograph of Mr. and Mrs. James Talbot, who were married at St. Anne's R.C. Church, Blackburn, Lancashire, England, on August 10, 1901, coming to Valleyfield, Que., three years later. Mr. and Mrs. Talbot will celebrate their Golden Wedding by a tea at their residence, 162 Cousineau St., Valleyfield, on Friday, August 10th, 1951, which will be attended by their two daughters and son-in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hébert of Valleyfield and Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilfrid Poirier of Montreal, Que., and their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Talbot of Valleyfield. 3 grandsons and 3 grandaughters and friends.

Mr. Talbot was employed at The Montreal Cottons Ltd. in Valleyfield, Que., for 46 years, before retiring in April, 1950.

Chateauguay Street Becomes

same as now and the flow of traffic would not be hindered. If two-way traffic is put onto Chateauguay you will not be able to have cars parked on both sides of the street as it is too narrow.

Mr. Tedstone asked Mr. Willard if he knew of any other town where the one-way method was used. Mr. Willard replied that he did not, but then in other towns they were not troubled by having such a narrow main street. It is unfortunate, he said that you have such a narrow main street.

Mr. Hamilton speaking on behalf of installing Parking Meters said that he did not think that the sidewalks were wide enough to have parking meters and if installed here they should be placed on both sides of the street. The problem was that the sidewalk on one side was too narrow and on the other they would have to be placed far in to avoid them being knocked down by trucks. If the town decided they wanted parking meters a survey would have to be made to determine the location of same. Mr. Hamilton, who said he was quite well acquainted with Huntingdon, felt that two-way traffic on Chateauguay Street could be worked out providing all those persons who are in the habit of parking their cars all day outside their business premises were forced to keep them off or observe the sixty-minute parking law. He said that the police would have to see that the traffic laws were obeyed to the letter.

Various aldermen asked questions and after some time it was decided to try out two-way traffic once more on Chateauguay Street and to enforce the sixty-minute parking law with parking on both sides of the street and a special space marked off for the unloading of trucks. This will go into effect on Monday morning, August 13th as a trial. It will depend upon the results of this trial as to whether the practice will be continued. Should it prove unsuccessful then it is highly probable that it will revert to one-way and the traffic signals will be installed as suggested.

Mr. Willard promised that the present trial lights will be taken down before the end of the week. He advised the council to retain the fixture as in all probability they would be needing it and the price may be changed in a few weeks. He offered to install the lights on the plan outlined for the price originally quoted even though it involved considerably more than first arranged, there would be an additional charge for the extra control box at the Fire Station. The council decided to have the lights taken down and returned and if later needed them they would again get in touch with Mr. Willard and would have to take their chances on any price increases.

Mr. J. Ross appeared before the council and complained of poor drainage near his property which resulted in his lot being flooded at various times. The council will look into the matter.

Mr. Brown, the nearly engaged part time engineer, made a report and said he felt that it would be noted that there was a little better pressure in the water. He advised that he would make 12 visits per month to the filter plant and for this he would want a minimum of $75 per month. He also wanted to meet with the Water Committee to find out just what was expected of him and what he would be expected to do. The Water Committee is to meet with him soon.

Several permits for various types of buildings were granted.

Mr. F. J. O'Connor through the medium of a letter from a lawyer filed a claim for damages in the sum of $291.40. This damage he claims has resulted from the laying of the sewer on Bouchette Street. The council decided that it would contest the claim if necessary.

Mrs. E. Chretien made a claim for damages sustained in a fall on Bouchette Street on August 2nd. The council ordered Chief L'Heureux to investigate and make a report.

Milk reports were read for samples taken on July 16th as follows: Monique 480,000cc and 3.5 butterfat; Pringle Bros. 5,400,000cc and 4.2 butterfat; Goodfellow 1,000,000 cc and 3.5 butterfat; Valleyfield Dairy 840,000cc and 4.0 butterfat; Belle Vallee 72,000cc and 3.6 butterfat.

Several water tax accounts that are in arrears were brought to the attention of the council and it was decided to shut off the water unless the bills are paid.

A Notice of Motion was given that a by-law will be brought in for the purpose of making a correction in the boundaries given in the map of Garden City and in order to rescind the previous by-law. The correction was brought to the attention of the council by authorities in Quebec.

A number of complaints were read regarding changes made in the valuation of various properties in town. After reading and considering each case, the council made a number of changes and the valuation roll was homologated with the changes as made.

Garden Party Splendid Success

Sponsored by Ladies St. Andrew's Church

A delightful social event last week was the Garden Party in support of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid held at the home of Doctor and Mrs. F. Gordon McCrimmon. Under an umbrella in the garden nook, surrounded by magnificent flocks and annual blooms, a table displayed hand-made novelties and useful articles for sale.

The five long tables placed on the lawn were filled several times for the supper of salads, cold ham, rolls, cakes, ice cream and coffee. A buffet with cake and ice cream supplied refreshment to late arrivals.

During the supper hour the Huntingdon Citizens' Band, conducted by Bandmaster Don Moore, played beautiful sacred and classical numbers which delighted the large audience.

Reverend Allan Reid, D.D., of Montreal West, as chairman, on behalf of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, cordially thanked the Band and other artists who contributed to the programme. He congratulated the hostesses on the hospitality extended by the perfect arrangements and service. Entertainment was provided by Miss Phyllis Baird in Highland Dances, instrumental music by the French Brotners of Athelstan; selections on the accordian by Miss Isabel Telfer and Habitant recitation by Mrs. Sherman Robb.

The garden, with audience seated by the flower beds in soft glow of colored lights, presented an enchanting scene in the spotlights coming from the Customs House across the street, engineered by Mr. Chester Oney.

Mr. George Montgomery, of Springfield, Mass., a former resident of Huntingdon, an uncle of Chester Oney, and many other visitors from out-of-town took advantage of the occasion to meet old friends, among whom were Mrs. Allan Reid of Montreal, Mrs. Gibson of Rockburn; Mrs. Reginald Graham brought her guests Mrs. Goldstein and Miss Dickson; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McHardy of Seymour, Conn., were with Mrs. W. D. McCormick, who has returned with them to Seymour. Mrs. M. T. Barrett of Philadelphia renewed acquaintances as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Barrett. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hallimore and twins, Lynn and Lea, assisted Mrs. F. Bruce with many duties. Mrs. Tilley Bridges of Holyoke was the guest of Mrs. Mary Harvey; Mr. and Mrs. R. McCleary, of Montreal, were guests of Mrs. Rennie and Mrs. McCoy. Guests of Mrs. Tinker were her daughter, Mrs. James Oldfield of London, England, and her sisters Mrs. Stanley Battye of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Herbert Shaw of Peterborough, England. Mrs. Gurdon of Kitchener, Ont., found many old friends who knew her as Gertrude Bulgeon at the Presbyterian School Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam L. Sellar, Mayor Cappiello and Mrs. Cappiello were present. Mrs. Gordon McCrimmon received a post card wishing them success from Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Rowat, who are holidaying at Boule Rock Hotel, Metis Beach. Dr. Gordon McCrimmon, who is Assistant Resident in Surgery at Montreal General Hospital, was unable to be present, although it was his birthday.

The ladies who sponsored the Garden Party are the members of Groups A and C, of the Ladies' Aid. Group A, Miss Frances Turner, convener, Mrs. Albert Howden, Mrs. Thos. Pringle, Mrs. W. E. S. McNair, Mrs. Geo. Beattie, Mrs. Grant Whyte, Mrs. Walter Donnelly, Mrs. R. D. McLean and Mrs. Cecil Stark, the two latter being on vacation. Group C: Mrs. Fred Bruce, convener, Mrs. Norman McCrimmon, Mrs. Kidd, Mrs. Chester Oney, Mrs. A. Smaill, Miss Isabell Ferns, Mrs. John Hunter, Misses A. and M. Barrie.

Tatehurst

TATEHURST — The Tatehurst Group of St. Paul's United Church held the July meeting at the home of Mrs. Duncan Brown with seventeen ladies present. The afternoon was spent quilting and finishing up some Red Cross work. Mrs. Stanley Elliot conducted the devotional period and Mrs. Morrison sang a solo, "Bless This House."

A report of the Bazaar was given, receipts were most gratifying. The president, Mrs. Geo. Elliot, thanked all who in any way helped to make the bazaar such a success. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. M. Brooks and Mrs. J. Rodger.

Next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Allan Cavers on Aug. 29th.

Horace Lamberton, Malone Gives Address at Rotary

Says Youth Should Be Given A Chance — Not All Are Bad

Huntingdon Rotary Club members were given plenty of food for thought after they had listened to the address given by Horace Lamberton, of Malone, N.Y., on Monday. The speaker was talking on the youth of today and the so-called delinquincy of youth. He started out by saying that much of the way in which youth behaved could be laid at doorsteps of the people in the community and the parents themselves. He made mention of a woman who had to be put into a taxi and taken home from a dance in a very sorry state. This woman asked those who were taking her home to be sure and not let her daughter see her in such a state. Such things he said are those which are set as examples to youth.

We decry the behavior of the few and label the whole of youth with the same brand and then they are all bad. If we were to analyse the subject and try to understand youth, we would find that the few did not make up the whole. In fact, he said, youth is very fair and if he had to be judged for any reason, he would as soon have a court of youth for he would be sure that their judgment would be much fairer than that of some adults. He blamed the adults for much of youth's faults, if youth is found at some cheap entertainment, it was because that was what was provided for them and they had no other choice. He declared that if two places of entertainment be provided, one a cheap type and the other a higher class, youth would prefer to attend the higher type.

The press came in for its share of criticism by the speaker. If any of you here want to make the headlines in any newspaper, he said, try committing a murder, rape, forgery or some such crime and you will be known about from one end of the country to the other in a short time. But what of those who make names for themselves in legitimate ways, they get a small corner somewhere. Would it not be better if we tried to find the good and had less to say about the bad?

Every one of the men here today are examples, they have had to make their way in the business world and decide the methods to attain their positions. They based their methods on the knowledge of those before, perhaps they improved upon it, but it was the examples of others that helped. So it is with the youth of today, they are watching you and trying to achieve like positions and do like things. If they go wrong, we cannot blame them.

If we want our youth to be good and upright, we must set them the example. The speaker said he once visited a school and the first of the teachers said that all the pupils were stupid and could not learn. Upon enquiry it was found that there were only about four or five in the whole school who could be placed in that category. But the adult blamed the whole school and thus the youth were all placed in one class. This is wrong, we must give credit to those who do well and try to live as proper citizens should. The average youth is very fair minded and reasonable, but we must not expect too much. As parents we are liable to see in our sons and daughters that which we wanted and expected. It is hard to figure it out when they do not quite measure up to the expectation, but this does not mean they are no good or bad. The speaker said he had experienced this very same thing in his own son when he was at a certain age. Time and time again he had parents come to him and ask his advice on what to do with a son or a daughter. They seemed to think that he could do much better than they could, but why. He mentioned a policeman who had arrested many tough criminals, yet who came to him and asked him why his son would not do what he asked. Asked what it was, he said he had asked him to mow the lawn and he would not do it.

In conclusion the speaker told a story of a Scotchman who had a splendid garden and a person came along and said that God had been good in providing such fine things in the garden. The Scotchman replied that if he had not attended to it there would not have been much for anyone. So, he said we should all think of our children like things growing in a garden, God provides the seed, but unless we attend to them they will not do much for themselves and in place of a beautiful garden, we shall have a wilderness.

The speaker also said that if he had anything to do with Communism, he would see to it that he planted his spys in schools. In all the stories of uncovering communists, he had never heard of one being uncovered by the press as being associated with the press. Both of these were good places for communism for each had much to do with the influence wielded over the public. That is why it is so necessary to have the good stories published and the best of teachers in our schools.

Notes From The Police Blotter

Wm. Hebert appeared before Maurice Fortin, at Valleyfield, on Tuesday morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of assault against his wife. He was sentenced to the time already spent in jail and bound over to keep the peace for one year. On the second charge of pointing a firearm at a police officer he was sentenced to time spent in jail and a fine of $25.00 and costs.

Herman Laprade, Athelstan Road was arrested on Sunday afternoon for reckless driving in Huntingdon. He was taken to Valleyfield for trial.

The police will offer no leniency for drunken or reckless driving in the Town of Huntingdon. Offenders will be handed over to Provincial Police and they will be punished accordingly.

Twin Cucs Grown at Herdman

Everybody must have heard of the Siamese twins, those twins who were born joined together. This week Mr. Royal E. Gamble of Herdman, Que., brought to the Gleaner Office an oddity in the vegetable world in the shape of (Siamese) twin cucumbers. The cucs were perfectly formed specimens, but they were joined together and had one stalk. They were about six inches long and about the same across. Perhaps this is another one for believe-it-or-not Ripley, but it certainly was so. Maybe others have seen this oddity, but it was a new one on us.

Beauharnois Man Finds Son He'd Never Seen in Philly

Philadelphia, Aug. 6 — Edward Riley, who left Philadelphia some 40 years ago, picked out the house where he was born and told his wife Bessie Mae, to snap his picture while he stood on the steps.

And so it was that Riley, now 63, vacationing in Philadelphia from his home in Beauharnois, Que., found the son he'd never seen and had a reunion with two sisters and a brother.

Mrs. Harriet Brennan, who lives in Riley's old home, asked his name and he posed for the photograph.

"Why," she said, "there's a Riley in this block, Joe. He lives right down the street."

Mrs. Brennan made the introductions and Joe's wife, Catherine, took a long look at the tall, thin man: "Why, you look like our uncle Bill."

"Well," the elder Riley related later, "we talked a while and then I knew Joe was my son. I didn't know how to tell him. Finally I said 'I guess you're my boy.'"

Edward Riley explained that he "just walked off" one day back in 1911, because he was "young and foolish." He joined the navy and went to the Orient. He said he heard from a friend later that his first wife and son (Joe), born after he left, had died.

Later the four exicted Rileys called Edward's brother, Bill, and his two sisters, Mrs. Edith Weikel and Mrs. Rebecca Emery. Monday night the reunited Rileys had a party.

Variety Show A Loss Financially

The two evenings of Variety Show sponsored jointly by the Huntingdon Rotary Club and the War Memorial Committee, proved to be a losing proposition to the two societies. It was unfortunate that the first evening was on the wet side and the show was transferred to the Skating Rink, while Saturday evening proved to be cold and not inducise to outside shows. However, a small attendance gathered at the skating rink on Friday evening and enjoyed the various acts and the wrestling bouts. On Saturday evening the show was put on at the Fair Grounds as scheduled and a much better attendance was on hand.

Huntingdon Citizens' Band provided musical numbers on both evenings and this was greatly enjoyed by all. The acts were of the variety nature. Perhaps the most enjoyed feature was the bout between Chief L'Heureux and the Masked Marvel and other contenders which did not appear to be too much of a cinch for anyone. The acrobatic act received generous applause and was perhaps to be considered the best of the vairety acts.

On Friday evening a busload of veterans under the guidance of Capt. Styles were guests of the promoters of the show. There were 28 in the group and they all seemed to have a real good time.

It was decided that the W.M.S. would hold a church service on Aug. 26th. Mrs. Porritt, President of the Montreal Presbyterial is to be the guest speaker. Instead of the annual food sale it was moved that all members would donate $1.50 towards our allocation. Mrs. May Cunningham read a few chapters of the Study Book, and Mrs. Chas. Correction

In the write-up which appeared a couple of weeks ago about the Street Fair on July 20th, an error appeared in regards to the fruit cake which was won by Mrs. W. McKay. This cake was made and donated by Mr. Eyland of Barrington, instead of Mr. and Mrs. Baxter.

BASIS FOR READINESS STRESSED BY HEMMINGFORD WOMEN

Discussions revealed the need of readiness in case of an Atomic War. It might be disastrous if the women of Hemmingford were not ready to care for 15 people to a home in the eventuality of an exodus from Montreal. This district would be a natural haven. At the meeting of the W.I. on Wednesday, August 1st, Mrs. C. E. Petch suggested that members seriously consider being taught home nursing. Mrs. M. B. Fisher read a list of articles required for a First Aid Box. Mrs. Anthony Lukas entertained the group in her most attractive home. In her upstairs work-room, where beautiful handwoven articles adorned walls and tables, Mrs. Lukas demonstrated weaving drapery on a large loom. All were fascinated by the blending of colours and patterns. Mrs. Mabel Keddy read "Gleanings from the Gleaner." A most interesting half hour was spent reminiscing.

Mrs. T. Clelland showed samples of buttonholes and pockets she made in the short course at Macdonald College. She offered to teach these to any teen-ager, along with the C.G.I.T. Lucky teen-agers of Hemmingford.

Plans for Book Club for members and friends were formulated by Mrs. Percy Barr.

Those who assisted Mrs. Lukas with refreshments were Mrs. T. Clelland, Mrs. Jules L'Espérance and Mrs. Hollis Rorison. The president, Mrs. Ernest Merlin was in the chair.

Korean Minister of Health Han Yunt Oh (right) expresses the appreciation of the people of Korea for Greece's generosity by shaking the hand of a Greek Orthodox priest, chaplain with a contingent of Greek reinforcements for the United Nations Forces in Korea. The crates in the background, on the Pusan waterfront, contain contributions from Greece of soap, medical and school supplies for the Korean people. Korean Minister of Social Affairs Huh Chung and Brigadier General A. C. Dascarolis, Greek commander, who made presentation of the gifts, appear in that order at the left.

Two large outdoor searchlights have recently been installed at the Canadian Customs port of entry at Dundee Lines. Their design and setting are expected to make the officers' duties easier in the handling of night highway traffic and also in coping with the heavy evening travel of power boats up and down the Salmon River. The searchlights are 1000 watts each and throw a wide searching beam so strong it is said that it is possible to read a newspaper on the west bank of the Salmon at least 300 ft. away.

The roof of the shed at Zion Church has recently been painted, thanks to the generosity and willingness of the boys of the Dundee Rifle Club, who in relays gave of their time to apply the much needed asphalt coating. The church management paid the cost of the material and the Club supplied the labor for laying it on with brooms. The appearance of the roof which was a galvanized one and 35 years old, is very much improved.

W.I. Meeting

Agriculture was the general topic considered at the August meeting of the Dundee Women's Institute this month. Mrs. Earl Gardiner was the hostess and she entertained at her home on Wednesday afternoon, August 1. Mrs. L. Currie presided and conducted the usual opening exercises. 11 members responded to the roll call, "Give a gardening hint." Mrs. McPhee in her treasurer's report showed an improved balance in the treasury. A report of the recent tea was given and it was a financial success as well as a pleasant social feature. More donations were received for the overseas box which is being packed. Mrs. Gardiner and Mrs. Smallman are to attend to this and they were authorized to purchase tea from Branch funds to add to the package.

Future plans were discussed and a committee was named to plan another tea, the date to be left to their discretion. A circular letter was read from Mrs. LeBaron, Provincial President, and the following action was taken: It was decided that we send for 25 copies of the "National Anthem" and "O Canada" with the purpose of learning the proper wording. The matter of donations to a Fund was tabled for the present. The Secretary was asked to write to the St. John's Ambulance Association for information in organizing Home Nursing Courses. A discussion followed as to what our community was doing regarding Civil Defence and the President and Secretary were asked to go before the Municipal Council with this.

Conveners' reports followed: Agriculture—An article read by Mrs. Stowell on "The High Cost of Meat;" Education—"Precept and Practice in Education Work" read by Mrs. H. A. Cameron; Home Economics—Mrs. J. Platt gave a recipe for a delicious and easily prepared supper dish; Welfare and Health—"Undulant Fever" read by Mrs. Gregor Leslie; Publicity—Mrs. A. H. Fraser gave a summary written by Mrs. Maude Kerr of the address given by Mrs. Sayre, President of A.C.W.W. at the recent Q.W.I. Convention. It is to be hoped that during the coming year the members will re-read what she read, for her message was most timely. A press article on Lady Nuttall, Quebec's representative on the A.C.W.W. Board in London was also read. The prize for the Household Hint was won by Mrs. Lester Fraser, which was to use molasses to remove grass stains. Mrs. Stowell judged the contest on the best tomato exhibited. There were only two entries and the award was given to Mrs. Earl Gardiner. Mrs. Stowell conducted an Agricultural Quiz which not only proved instructive and informative but furnished much merriment. After adjournment, the members enjoyed a delicious supper served by Mrs. Gardiner and a social time was enjoyed around the tea table.

Kindly Couple Aids . . .

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP)—Mrs. Sam Gerega, wife of a C.N.R. section employee, has a hobby that has brought happiness to herself and to hundreds of others who seldom have cause to be happy.

For the last 10 years she and her husband have been doing without luxuries, and even some necessities, to send food and clothing parcels overseas.

When the Second World War started, both made sacrifices to aid refugees from the Ukraine and other countries who had to flee their native land before Nazi invaders. And after the war ended, they continued sending parcels to those who fled from Communist oppression.

Mr. Gerega went without tobacco and other luxuries while his wife went without new clothing and movies, and scrimped on household expenses.

The reward comes in letters from those they have helped, many of whom have since come to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerega were both born in the Ukraine and both came to Canada in 1903. They were married in 1910.

OUTDOOR BARBECUE MEALS

There is nothing like the fresh outdoors to perk up wilted appetites and attitudes on a hot summer day. Many people are lucky enough to have outdoor fire places, but Mrs. Homemaker should not let it worry her if she hasn't one. A portable grill is an asset for any jaunt into the country or for a family picnic in the back yard. A strong wire rack well set on some sturdy stones will also serve the purpose. Take stock of equipment before planning the menu so that the preparation will not be too elaborate for the facilities.

The fire should be started about an hour ahead of time so that there will be a deep bed of glowing coals. Gloves and lots of pot holders help to save the cook's hands. Long handled forks and spoons are another asset. For a jaunt to the country a picnic chest filled with ice is wonderful for carrying perishables, but, for those who haven't one the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture suggest that everything should be kept in the refrigerator till the last minute and then wrapped in waxed paper or foil. In this way cold things may be kept cold. Salad greens may be placed in refrigerator bags, plastic boxes, aluminum foil or a vegetable crisper. Mixed salads should be placed in covered casseroles or quart jars.

Canned foods must have been invented with an eye on picnics, they are so easy to carry. Never heat them in an unopened can, because serious burns may result.

Lots of paper plates, spoons, cups and napkins are a necessity. A colourful plastic table cloth adds a cheerful touch and it is easily cleaned if things are spilled on it. No one ever remembers to take along steel wool pads, but they do make it so easy to scour picnic pots and pans.

Is there any music sweet as the "come and get it" melody around a barbecue grill? Whether it's an elaborate barbecue fire-place in the back yard or a camp fire in the country, everyone is sure to have a big appetite, so have plenty of good food. Once Mrs. Homemaker has taken stock of her equipment she may then plan her menu accordingly. She may plan to have chicken, which may be purchased as cut up chicken or broilers, all cleaned and ready for use, at the market. The broilers should be cut in halves or quarters for ease in grilling. Barbecued spareribs have that special barbecue tang that calls for more. To keep happy budget-wise, hamburger, wieners, bologna, luncheon meats or sausages may be used. To many families the favourite barbecue food is hamburgers. They can be fixed in a variety of delicious ways to suit any number of tastes. The home economists suggest that you start with good quality beef in order to have the best results. For those who like theirs plain, shape well-seasoned ground meat into patties. Place over hot coals and grill until done. Serve on toasted bun.

There are many other burger favourites. Relish burgers may be made by merely mixing drained relish into the patty before cooking. A generous helping may be placed on the top of the patty just before it is slipped into the bun. Mushrooms may be chopped and mixed into the ground beef for an appetizing mushroom burger. A little tangy cheese gives added flavour. Top the burger with cheese and cook for a few minutes until the cheese melts. For devilled hamburgers lightly toss ground beef with catsup, horseradish sauce, minced onion, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. Let everyone dress his own hamburges. Put barbecue sauce, mustard, cole slaw, onions, cheese slices, tomato slices and relish on the picnic table and let everyone serve themselves.

Then for the vegetables. Corn is almost a "must". It may be either boiled or wrapped in foil and thrust into the coals, or everyone may roast his own over the fire using a long stick or skewer: Serve it hot and dripping with butter. Potatoes, too, may be boiled or wrapped in foil, and thrust into the coals.

Of course, no meal is complete without a salad. A crisp tossed salad will please everyone.

For dessert, pies, turnovers or fresh fruits are excellent.

Picnics are always fun but don't let your good time make you forgetful. Always check and double check the fire before you leave to see that it is out.

The "Savings-Finder" is an ingenious device a Frigidaire dealer showed me the other day to prove that no homemaker need deprive herself of the enjoyment of a FRIGIDAIRE REFRIGERATOR. The dealer sets this household budget "slide rule" at the amount you spend weekly for food and up comes a series of figures which show, as absolute proof, that a Frigidaire refrigerator actually saves more money than you need to make the weekly or monthly payments. If any of you have been depriving yourself of a new Frigidaire, don't do it any longer, girls. Stop in at your nearest Frigidaire dealer's and see how today's high food prices make the famous Frigidaire savings more important than ever.

Summertime Is Partytime — particularly for your youngsters. And something they'll love for their party is a cake you've baked with SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR. Their eyes will grow big and they'll fairly gobble it up, for Swans Down cakes are just naturally party successes — with young and old alike. Confetti-light — melt-in-your-mouth and completely, utterly delicious. You make no mistake when you choose Swans Down Cake Flour for your cakes! You see — Swans Down is sifted over and over again, until it's 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. For special occasions or just for a special treat, first thing I think of is baking a Swans-Down-delicious cake!

Save That Good Meat! Next time you have odds and ends of meat to use up, try this tender Corn Meal Shortcake. The two-way action of CALUMET BAKING POWDER (first in the mixing bowl, then in the oven) makes the shortcake a dream of deliciousness — as it does all my baking.

CORN MEAL SHORTCAKE

2 cups sifted flour
2 1/2 tspns. Calumet Baking Powder
1 tspn. salt
1 tbspn. sugar
1/3 cup yellow corn meal
1/2 cup shortening
3/4 cup milk (about)
Creamed chipped beef, meat, fish or eggs.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift into bowl. Add corn meal. Cut in shortening. Add milk and stir until soft dough is formed. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 30 seconds to shape. Roll 1/2 inch thick and cut with floured 3-inch cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (425 deg. F.) about 15 minutes, until done. Split hot shortcakes and place creamed meat, fish or eggs between halves and on top. Makes 8 shortcakes.

I Like To Tell Success Stories about favourite buywords of mine. The success story of RED ROSE TEA AND COFFEE began with an ideal of quality — and now the Red Rose name is famous for flavour in thousands of Canadian homes. I know you'll agree with all the "Red Rose Fans" that Red Rose Tea is good tea from the moment you taste that first, flavourful sip! Remember, too, that because it's good tea, it actually gives more cups to the pound — its flavour goes a long, long way. And Red Rose Coffee is every bit as good as Red Rose Tea. Always fresh — always flavourful — once you've tasted this full-bodied coffee, you'll never be satisfied with any other!

For You Madam

Dundee Woman Appointed Chairman at Quebec W.I.

An art course is being added to the services offered by the Quebec Women's Institutes. This will be carried on by Miss F. Elizabeth Campbell of the Q.W.I. staff, who has much ability and is well qualified to give instruction in this skill.

Requested by the members themselves this extension to the Q.W.I. programme was approved by the Provincial Board at the recent annual meeting and already several classes have been arranged for the fall at various centres in this province.

"Painting for Pleasure", as the course has been termed by Miss Campbell, is elementary and practical and will last for five days, or a total of 20 hours to be divided into two three-hour or one four-hour session each day.

Speaking of her plans for this course, which is a new venture for the Q.W.I., Miss Campbell stresses the fact that it is only for people who are interested in painting, whether they have tried it previously or not. "More than any other course offered through the Q.W.I.", she states, "its success is almost entirely dependent upon the interest and enthusiasm of its members".

The Quebec Women's Institutes have appointed Mrs. Earl Gardiner, Dundee, Que., provincial convener of Education, to act as chairman in the province for the formation of listening groups, under the Canadian Radio Council. The Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, a member of this Council, is asking each provincial unit to take this step in the hope such groups can be formed for the evaluation of nationally distributed programmes, reporting through their national representative on the Canadian Radio Council.

Groups are composed of individuals who will listen critically at home to programmes in their interest field. A monthly meeting is held when a round table discussion is carried on and the evaluation forms, supplied for this purpose, filled in.

Branches of the Q.W.I. will be given the opportunity to take over this responsibility if they wish, as it can be readily incorporated in the regular monthly meetings.

Obituaries

The Late Mrs. Robert Logan

The burial service for the late Mrs. Robert Logan, which took place at the Ormstown Union Cemetery, on Wednesday, July 18, was conducted by Rev. J. D. Wilkie of Westmount, Que., and was attended by many of her former friends and neighbours. The late Mrs. Logan died on Sunday, July 15 in Toronto, Ont., where she has made her home for the past 25 years with her daughter, Mrs. Tucker.

The funeral service was held in Toronto on Tuesday, July 17th at 3 p.m. at "The Trull Funeral Home" and was taken by her old friend and Rector, Rev. Charles Carpenter, who spoke of his many years' friendship with the deceased and to him her life was so exemplified in the words of one of her favourite hymns, "The King of Love My Shepherd is." Before the service the organ played softly her favourite hymns, "The Lord's My Shepherd;" "The Old Rugged Cross;" "The King of Love My Shepherd is;" "How Bright Those Glorious Spirits Shine."

The beautiful floral tributes and the number of friends present at the Funeral Chapel witnessed to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

The late Mrs. Logan was in her 85th year and was born at Allan's Corners, Que., the daughter of Jane and William Blackett and was the widow of Robert Logan who predeceased her in 1923. Surviving are her son and two daughters, W. S. Logan and (Pearl) Mrs. H. J. McAdie of Westmount, Que., and (Violet) Mrs. E. R. H. Tucker, of "Armour Heights," Toronto, Ont.

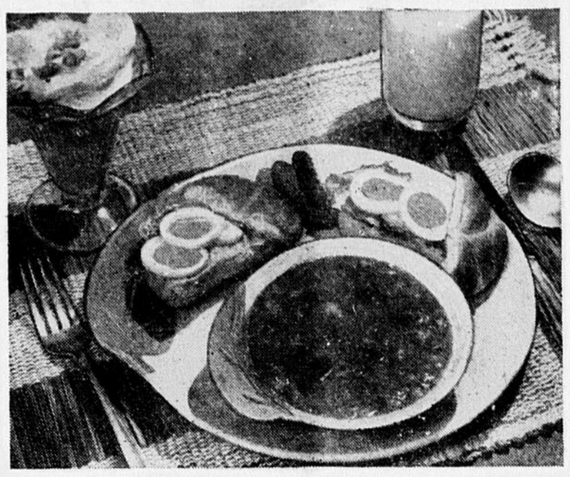

The Late Mrs. Joseph J. Stevenson

The community has lost one of its oldest members in the death of Mrs. Joseph J. Stevenson. Born in Havelock, Que., 85 years ago, she spent most of her life in Franklin Township.

A member of Zion United Church, she was always very interested in its welfare, also that of the Ladies' Aid of that church.

She leaves to mourn her loss, three sons, Charles, at whose home she died; Stanley of Kemptville, Ont.; Wesley of Toronto, Ont., and two daughters, Effie (Mrs. George Rennie) of Guelph, Ont., and Daisy (Mrs. Harry Moneypenny) of Franklin Centre, also 18 grandchildren and 24 great grandchildren.

Kitchen-Cool Meals

FIRST-RATE meals, that keep you and your kitchen cool, are mighty important on summer days. Let condensed soup help you beat the heat.

Ready in less than 5 minutes, soup is a real summer treasure. You merely whisk it across the stove for a quick warm up. And you know how well a satisfying dish like this goes with the popular cold foods. A big bowl of tomato or vegetable-beef is the perfect contrast to a crunchy sandwich or a chilled salad. Follow up with a refrigerated dessert—like melon or ice cream—and a cold beverage to round out this pleasant lunch or supper.

Insure yourself for summer meals by stocking a complete soup shelf. Have several cans of all the kinds you like best. Mealtime then can be a calm, refreshing pause for you and everyone who gathers round the table at your house.

SOUP SCOOPS

APPETIZER TRAY: Tall glasses of icy cold cocktail vegetable juices make a wonderful afternoon pickup; or serve the beverage as an appetizer before dinner. Put glasses of juice on a tray with a bowl of crisp potato chips and creamy pimiento cheese spread for dunking. Pleasant interlude on a hot day.

* * *

SPAGHETTI 'N ONIONS: Prepared spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese — mixed with plenty of browned onion and green pepper rings — is a supper to shout about. Cut rings about ¼-inch thick; brown in a little hot shortening in a skillet. Mix with the heated spaghetti.

* * *

PORK AND BEAN TIP: You'll find that pork and beans in tomato sauce are available in cans of two sizes. Here's the way to figure servings. The 15 fluid ounce can contains 1⅔ cups of pork and beans, enough for 2 or 3 servings. The 20 fluid ounce can has 2½ cups, enough for 3 to 5 servings.

It's Official Now

Canada's National Farm Radio Forum will shortly be the subject of an international inquiry, which was announced today by Floyd Griesbach, National Secretary from the Toronto headquarters.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization — Unesco — has appropriated the sum of $16,000 for the purpose of conducting research into the structure and effectiveness of Farm Radio Forum as a means of mass communication.

The National Office of Farm Radio Forum received word to this effect from W. Farr, Acting Director of Mass Communication of Unesco.

Farm Radio Forum recently celebrated its tenth anniversary. The study material, small discussion project makes use of radio, printed groups, and reports from the small groups which are summarized and reported back to the groups.

30,000 people took part last year in nearly 1500 discussion groups across Canada, which met each week during the winter months.

The project is sponsored jointly by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, the Canadian Association for Adult Education, and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

12-YEAR-OLD BOY SWIMS 300 FOOT CHANNEL TO SAVE YOUNG GIRL

George Shook Jr., of Welland, Ont., rescues non-swimmer Donna Cutler, 11, from Welland Canal

1. Young George, son of Captain George Shook of the Welland Fire Department, was approaching the west bank of the canal near the waterworks when he heard the frantic screams of a child. Running closer he saw 11-year-old Donna Cutler, struggling in the water near the opposite shore. Fortunately, George had his bathing trunks on under his clothes . . . and in no time he had stripped and was in the water . . . swimming at top speed.

2. Although the water was not over her head, little Donna was petrified with fear. She could not swim . . . and the intake for the Welland waterworks was only a few yards away. Within minutes, however, the strong strokes of George Shook Jr. brought him up to her. Exhausted and spluttering, Donna followed George's instructions to climb on his back. After his 300-foot swim the boy himself was tired — but at no time did he consider relinquishing his burden.

3. Slowly but surely George brought the girl in to shore . . . at times pulling for help at the long grass where the water became shallow. The rescue was complete by the time the city police arrived. To this gallant Canadian boy we are proud to pay tribute through the presentation of The Dow Award. Commenting on George's brave action, Mayor David Thomas of Welland said that the whole city was mighty proud of the young rescuer.

THE Dow AWARD

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Band Fund Now $1,456.50

Total subscriptions to Huntingdon Citizens' Band to date stand at $1,456.50 — $43.50 short of the fifteen-hundred-dollar objective.

Response to this drive for funds has been gratifying. The Town of Huntingdon wants a first-class band and will have it — however, the original objective in the drive for funds was set at a minimum of $1500. With so many people on vacation when the drive was going on, it is hoped that with their return they will remember to send in their contributions and not only make up the 40-odd dollar deficit but pass it in order that the Band will have some cash ahead.

Donations have been made by the following during the past week —

$10. — Huntingdon Theatre, O'Connor Theatre.

$5. — The Misses M. and A. Barrie, Miss Elsie Halliwell, Mrs. F. G. Braithwaite.

$2. — Mr. and Mrs. Austin Lefebvre, Mrs. George Sheard, A. M. Cappiello, Arnold Milne, W. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lefebvre, Archie Hampson, Mrs. H. R. Graham.

$1. — Mrs. H. M. Gardner, Mrs. Wm. Cairns, Jack Chambers, R. Galipeau, Roland Gauthier, Leandre Legros, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. John Stirling, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. H. Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. William Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Duheme, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smellie, Mrs. Robert Arthur, Ken Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rowat, Andrew MacFarlane, Alex Bergevin, Robert Helm, Gordon Foster, Gordon Jarvis, Mrs. A. Poitras, Miss B. Wilson, Mr. Silverburg.

Band Notes

Huntingdon Citizens' Band had a full schedule the past week — weekly practice on Monday, concert on behalf of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid on Dr. McCrimmon's lawn on Wednesday, a major part in the shows sponsored by the Rotary Club on Friday and Saturday nights at the Skating Rink and Fair Grounds, respectively.

Regular practice at the Legion Hall on Fairview Road on Monday of this week. "Our Director", a new march, was played for the first time, as well as a fox-trot.

Many have noticed and passed favorable comment with regard to the new gold-colored hat badges the bandsmen were wearing the past week. These were obtained by Bandmaster Moore in Toronto. Payment for the badges is made by the bandsmen out of their own pockets.

Bandmaster Don Moore was invited to play with the Malone Band on Thursday evening. It is understood from an outside source that his solo clarinet work was most appreciated.

Advertisements re. next week's schedule will be found in another section of this newspaper. Athelstan and Franklin have invited the Band to hold concerts in their localities while from an outside source of reliable authority it has been hinted that the Band will receive a call from a near-by town south of the border.

Just a reminder to any wishing to boost the drive over the top — do it NOW.

THE BULK TEA, raisins and crackers in the old-time grocery store have been superseded by sanitary packaged goods backed by the good name of their maker. The sliced, wrapped loaf of bread and the can of soup or fruit have eliminated hours of kitchen drudgery. Modern bathrooms, furnaces, and electric appliances, have swept away inefficient, laborious methods. The motor car has revolutionized our way of life.

Advertising has played a part in these advances, because advertising has made mass production possible, and mass production has brought the can of soup, the electric washer and the motor car within every family's reach.

This newspaper looks on its display and classified advertising as an important part of its service to the community.
